JET CRASHES NEAR SPOKANE

44 Feared Dead As Tanker Hits Mt. Kit Carson

SPOKANE (AP) — A Strategic Air Command KC-135 jet tanker with 44 persons aboard crashed 20 miles northeast of here on Mount Kit Carson Monday. A U. S. Air Force spokesman said there were apparently no survivors.

Rescue and crash teams converged on the area where the wreckage was spread over a wide area.

The plane was reported missing on a flight from Ellsworth Air Force base, near here. The air force said there were 40 military personnel and four crew members aboard, all members of the 28 Bomb Wing, Ellsworth.

First reports of the wreckage came from two volunteer searchers. Mrs. Clyde Rainwater said the pair, Bert Smith and Robert Hammer, spotted the wreckage about nine miles from her ranch.

She said the men told of finding three bodies in a 500-yard-deep ravine.

The Fairchild spokesman said "it is hardly conceivable that there could be any survivors."

Macmillan Urges Understanding Of Britain's Position on ECM

Churches Must Unite to Get The $750,000

SHREWSBURGY, Eng. (Reuters) — Leaders of four Welsh churches met here Monday to discuss whether they can unite and share a gift of £250,000 ($750,000).

Sir David James, a Welsh-born millionaire, offered the money to the four non-Anglican denominations in Wales — Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist — on condition they achieve unity within a year. He later extended the time limit to 10 years.

The leaders Monday decided to consult their own ministers and churchmen and meet again in about a month.

Sir David, 74, a grain merchant and movie magnate, lives in Sussex, England.

Bankers Find Inflation Load Too Heavy

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — Central bankers the world over feel they are being saddled with too heavy a load in the battle against inflation while getting little or no help from governments, Lord Cobbold said Monday.

The ex-governor of the Bank of England expressed this grievance to the royal commission on banking and finance as he underlined the need for constant interlocking of monetary and government fiscal policies.

Avoiding specific reference to any country, Lord Cobbold said monetary and fiscal policies —the taxing, spending and borrowing actions at all levels of government — must be complementary, or at least not contradictory. Too often they were at odds.

It makes no sense to drive along a highway with one foot on the accelerator and the other on the brake, he said. Yet that was what happened when monetary policy is restrictive and fiscal policy expansionist.

U.K. Entry Would Be "Subject to Safeguards for Commonwealth"

By ALAN DONNELLY

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan, bidding for Commonwealth understanding if not support, put the case Monday for British entry to the European Common Market.

His speech, on the opening day of a momentous Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, contained no new facts or trade assurances for Canada and some other member countries which have been close to the Common Market negotiations at Brussels.

A conference communique said Macmillan put the case for joining the European Economic Community's six-nation trade group — "subject to satisfactory safeguards for other Commonwealth countries."

From the Canadian government's viewpoint, this appears to be a less precise pledge than others made in the past which promised protection to "essential" or "vital" trade interests of Commonwealth members in the British market.

WILL GIVE VIEWS

For the next two days the Commonwealth leaders, starting with Canada's Prime Minister Diefenbaker, will tell Britain just how satisfactory they consider the safeguards worked out so far at Brussels.

Canadian officials were busy revising the text of Diefenbaker's speech today—now in its eighth draft—in the light of the case presented by Macmillan.

It's expected Diefenbaker will base his argument on the squeeze facing Canada's $900,000,000-a-year export market in Britain from the trade terms as they shape up so far in Britain's uphill negotiations with the six EEC members at Brussels.

It seems likely he will also express the hope that these terms can be improved when Britain's chief Common Market negotiator, Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath, returns to the Brussels conference table in a month.

Heath, who reviewed the state of the Brussels talks in a lengthy conference statement following Macmillan's speech, was with Diefenbaker Monday night at a dinner given by Canadian High Commissioner George Drew.

Two other top British cabinet ministers, Home Secretary R. A. Butler and Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys, were also present.

British entry to the Common Market, which Macmillan seems determined to bring about if at all possible, is bound to affect Commonwealth ties in some measure.

An impact of trade ties is inevitable since the Common Market countries have made clear they do not want the whole Commonwealth coming into the trade bloc by the side door.

But the Commonwealth's unwritten constitutional ties also are involved—to a degree that will depend on how far European political unity progresses.

A main theme of Macmillan's argument Monday was that Britain would be more valuable to the Commonwealth inside Europe rather than outside looking in, for both political and economic reasons.

He said Britain's main value to Commonwealth members lies in its market for their goods and the capital resources it can provide for their expansion. Britain's value as both a market and as an investor would be greater as a member of the common market.

He said Britain no longer can isolate itself from political developments on the continent, as it had done before the last two world wars. If Britain had played a larger role in Europe before those wars, they might have been avoided.

The conclusion of Macmillan's statement was greeted with an unexpected round of hand-clapping and table-thumping applause. Some delegates described Macmillan's speech as "impressive and skilful."

U.S. PLANS MORE TESTS

New Series In Atmosphere Start Sept. 22

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday night the United States will resume its nuclear test series in the atmosphere over the Pacific sometime after Sept. 22.

The announcement came in an AEC-defence department statement saying the restricted area around the Johnston Island test site would be re-established effective Sept. 22.

There was no word from the commission on exactly when tests would be resumed.

But the AEC said "the tests will include a few high-altitude events and a few in which the devices will be dropped from an airplane."

DOCTOR SOUGHT IN ABORTION CASE, FOUND

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI announced the capture in Europe Monday of the New York physician sought since the abortion death last June of a teen-aged girl.

Dr. Harvey Lothringer, 41, was seized in the tiny sovereign state of Andorra that lies on the border between France and Spain. The FBI has been seeking him since his disappearance three months ago.

The physician vanished a few days before the dismembered remains of 19-year-old Barbara Lofrumento were found in the sewer of Lothringer's combined home and office in the borough of Queens.

Harvey G. Foster, head of the FBI here, said Dr. Lothringer was arrested in the company of his office receptionist, Theresa Carillo, 24, a former airline hostess whom authorities described as his girl friend.

Negro Churches To Be Rebuilt

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Plans were being made today to raise $25,000 to rebuild two Negro churches that burned to the ground in this racially troubled southwest Georgia area where an FBI agent was attacked by a white farmer in the latest outbreak of violence.

The farmer, 58-year-old Virgil Edmund Puckett, was held in an Albany jail on a charge of assaulting a federal officer.

Civil rights leaders pledged to help rebuild the churches in the nearby Sasser area and intensify their Negro voter registration campaign.

"It really makes you want to cry deep down in your heart," said Negro athlete Jackie Robinson after inspecting the ruins of the churches Sunday.

The former baseball star contributed $1000 to the campaign and sent telegrams to boxers Archie Moore and Floyd Patterson asking their support.

No Land, Housing At Agassiz for Migrating "Sons"

AGASSIZ, B.C. (CP)—A Sons of Freedom Doukhobor delegation was told Monday there is no accommodation, land or housing for them in this peaceful Fraser Valley village 80 miles east of Vancouver.

Seven men and five women came here as a delegation from the upwards of 750 Freedomites now stalled at Grand Forks on a march to Agassiz.

They asked if they could lease land for a campsite for their large group.

Acting Reeve Lew Davis of Kent municipality, of which Agassiz is a part, and medical health officer Dr. R. C. Swan said they doubted that the Doukhobors would be able to camp here.

Dr. Swan said he would recommend against Freedomite camping because of sanitation and health problems. Mr. Davis said a municipal building bylaw prohibits the erection of shacks.

A draft resolution was prepared for presentation to Monday night's council meeting which said council is absolutely opposed to any influx of Freedomites into Kent.

The large group of Freedomites started a week ago on a trek to this community near the Mountain Prison where many of their number are serving sentences for arson and bombings.

Harold Hickson, former Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Fraser Valley, told the delegation the sect would not be welcomed here.

He said if the marchers came he would seek to have the inmates of Mountain Prison moved and have the children taken away from them, as they once were when their parents refused to send them to school.

Peter Koldinan, spokesman for the delegation, said later the federal government will be asked to release the prisoners.

Asked on what grounds, he replied: "Mothers and kids. What more grounds. Destitute, homeless and penniless."

Strong Force Watching Marchers

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—RCMP were out in strength and ready for anything while a chilling rain kept Sons of Freedom Doukhobors huddled in their tents on a farmer's field here Monday.

An officer said seven squad RCMP Doukhobor squad are keeping a round-the-clock watch on the refugee-like band of 600 Freedomites.

"The situation is no clearer than it was when they got here five days ago," he said.

"They could decide to stay here for a week or a month. Or they could decide to move out and be on the road within half an hour."

Two moves made Monday by leaders of the Freedomite cavalcade added to the uncertainty.

HEAD FOR AGASSIZ

Two carloads of Freedomites headed for Agassiz in the Fraser Valley, apparently to arrange for accommodation for the main body near a Freedomite prison there.

They are due back Wednesday when the Sons say they will continue their 400-mile westward trek from the British Columbia Kootenays.

RCMP said a delegation of Freedomites also asked police to make arrangements for their children to go to school in the Grand Forks area.

Police referred them to the school board.

"It doesn't make sense but then these people seldom do," said RCMP. "They say they're moving out in two days, then they say they want their kids to go to school here."

About 150 children, most of them school - aged, tagged along with the Freedomites when they abandoned their shack-town settlement at Krestova, 100 miles northeast of here, nine days ago.

About half of the youngsters are staying with friends and relatives in the Grand Forks area. The rest are roughing it with their parents in 60 tents and lean-to shelters.

Police found no evidence of arson in the ruins of a wooden highway bridge which went up in flames 13 miles east of here.

Highways department officails posted guards on a ll river crossings in the area. They said it was possible that Freedomites set fire to the bridge.

The 300-foot long bridge was first noticed burning at 2 p.m. Saturday. The middle span burned first and much of the structure fell into the Kettle River. RCMP expressed the opinion that if the burning was connected with arson, then any evidence had either burned or fell into the river with the structure.

During the hours that followed, two hoses were played on either end of the bridge to prevent the fire from spreading into the nearby forest.

With a long history of terrorism, Freedomites have burned and dynamited bridges, homes, railway tracks and power poles in the Kootenays.

Sixty-seven Sons of Freedom are serving terms up to 28 years at Agassiz' Mountain Prison for bombings and arson.

Telstar Must Be Tee-total

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Fred J. Tooze of Evanston, Ill., re-elected president of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Monday, said Telstar, the communications satellite, must be kept free of alcoholic beverage advertising. Delegates to the 88th annual convention adopted a resolution to that effect.

Drinking, Speed Blamed in U.S. Train Wreck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Excessive speed and drinking by two engine men were cited by the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission Monday as factors in the June 10 fatal wreck of a Northern Pacific Railway train near Missoula, Mont.

The main cause of the accident in which a 2½-year-old girl died and 272 persons were injured, was "culpable human failure and not machanical failure," the commission said in a report of the accident.

Investigators said the train's speed recording device showed it was travelling 87 miles an hour at the time of the derailment. The railroad's regulations limited maximum speed on the two per cent grade where the derailment occurred to 30 miles an hour.

The report said blood samples showed "that the physical condition of the engineer was substantially impaired and that the fireman may have been somewhat affected" by alcohol.

Douglas Jung's Father Passes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Funeral services will be held today for Jung Yick Ching, 86, father of Douglas Jung, who was the first Chinese member of parliament. He died Sunday.

Mr. Jung came to Canada in 1900 and worked in Victoria until 1955 when he moved here.

His son was elected Progressive Conservative MP for Vancouver Centre in 1957 and was defeated when he sought reelection last June.

He is now on the immigration appeal board.

Mr. Jung is survived by his wife and two other sons.

Workmen Plunge To Death

VANCOUVER (CP) — A cable supporting a three-ton beam snapped Monday, dropping two workmen to their deaths in a gravel silo Monday.

The victims were identified as Lawrence Houle, father of two, and Miles Moore, employees of a trucking firm.

Police said they were standing on either end of the steel and concrete beam on top of the silo, one of six under construction in the Marpole area.

When the cable broke, they were thrown to a platform 40 feet below. The beam, guided by tracks in the sides of the hopper, crashed down on them like a huge guillotine.

They were riding the pre-cast beam to set it in position inside the silo.

Martin Blames Ottawa, Banks For B.C. Hospitals' Distress

VICTORIA (CP) — Health Minister Eric Martin said Monday that bank restrictions and the federal government were to blame for hospital financing difficulties.

He was commenting on a threat from the hospital employees union of a walkout if hospitals failed to meet payrolls.

Vernon Jubilee hospital last week told employees they would have to wait for pay until delayed B.C. Hospital Insurance Service payments are made. Other Okanagan hospitals complained that they were not getting big enough advances from the BCHIS.

William Black, secretary of the union, said Sunday that he had written to Mr. Martin telling him if any B.C. hospitals fails to meet a payroll there will be a walkout.

Mr. Martin said it was the responsibility of hospitals—not government—to meet payrolls. He said Vernon had received more money this year than ever.

The provincial government makes advances on BCHIS payments totalling $5,900,000 a month. Hospitals submit their claims and the balance is made up later. The federal government later reimburses B.C. for its share in hospital insurance.

Mr. Martin said current problems are partly due to banks refusing overdrafts, which formerly helped hospitals meet expenses until final BCHIS payments.

"But the real solution would be federal government participation in advances to meet interim payments," he said.

Hospital administratoors at Trail, Kimberley and Castlegar say they are in trouble because the BCHIS advance payments are insufficient.

Trading Stamps Cost $278,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Super-Valu stores paid out $278,000 for its brief fling in trading stamps earlier this year.

This was shown Monday in the annual report of Kelly Douglas and Company Limited which operates Super-Valu stores.

The stores introduced the stamps last January but discontinued them after legislation was passed restricting such schemes.

The report said the net cost to the company was $139,031. It paid for this loss by using a $100,000 reserve for contingencies and taking the remaining $39,031 off income retained in the business.

In addition to its own net cost, Kelly Douglas said there was an income tax adjustment of $139,000 bringing the total to $278,000.

Kelly Douglas reported a net income for the year ended June 2 of $1,038,656 compared with $1,039,858 the previous year.

'Causing Great Hardship'

VERNON (CP)—Albert Tetz, a representative of the Hospital Employees Unioon, said Moonday Vernon Jubilee Hospital's failure to meet its payroll caused great hardships among certain workers.

"This is a hard time of the year, especially with school resuming," he said in an interview. "Most workers are parents too, and have certain commitments to meet."

He said no further statement on union plans will be made until after a special meeting with union secretary William Black Wednesday.

"I'll only say this, it's not good and shouldn't happen again."

ANNOUNCED FRIDAY

Eighty members of the union were affected when administrator L.T. Muirhead announced Friday the hospital could not meet the $20,000 payroll until money was received from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

Mr. Muirhead said Monday there was a high level of cooperation between the hospital and the union and Registered Nurses Association. So far the nurses have given no indication of any action they might take.

He said besides the payroll the hospital owes $34,000 to suppliers to the end of July, making a total of $54,000 in liabilities.

Finance chairman A.W. Howlett said the shortage was due to a $70,000 cut in the hospital recently announced by BCHIS.

"The situation has been building up for some time. As the government constantly cuts hospital operating expenses, we are forced to dip into our reserves.

"Now our reserves are gone."

The hospital's promise to pay its employees by Sept. 15 is based on the hope that a government grant in the neighborhood of $25,000 will be received this week.

Health Minister Martin and North Okanagan MLA Hugh Shantz were to discuss the matter Monday.

"If anything comes out of it, the hospital board will be the first to know," Mr. Shantz said.

BCPC Seeks Withhold Access to BCE Documents

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Power Corporation today applied to the B.C. supreme court for a ruling to deny provincial government lawyers access to documents of the former B.C. Electric power utility which the government took over in August, 1961.

The application, made by counsel Douglas McK. Brown before Chief Justice Sherwood Lett, said alternatively the court should rule that both parties in the case should have equal access to the documents.

B.C. Power is challenging before the court the validity of the government's takeover legislation under which a total of $172,000,000 was paid for BCE. The former utility now si merged with the B.C. Hydro Authority into a central power authority, the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The application came as the hearings resumed for their 59th day.

Chief Justice Lett said he saw merit in Mr. Brown's argument but asked for some authority on whether the corporation could be granted complete inspection as requested by Mr. Brown.

Mr. Brown told the court a receiver had been appointed for BCE for the purpose of the litigation and therefore the documents remain in the possession of the court. Yet the defence — in this case the provincial attorney-general, the B.C. Electric Company and the Royal Trust Company — had freedom to "rout around in the files."

"It has reached the stage that we are prejudiced beyond measure by being denied access," said Mr. Brown.

"We don't seek possession. We seek inspection."

Six at School on Hunger Strike

NANAIMO (CP) — Six Doukhobors have gone on a hunger strike at the Brannan Lake School for Juvenile Male Offenders.

School officials said the strike began Sept. 3, apparently in sympathy with the some 700 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors who are on a trek from the Kootenays to Agassiz in the Fraser Valley. Agassiz is the site of a new federal prison where scores of convicted Freedomite terrorists are serving sentences.

Officials said that since Labor Day the youths, all aged 16 and 17 years, have only been drinking water.

Said one school official:

"They're only looking for public sympathy."

There were no immediate indications if steps would be taken to force-feed the hunger strikers.

SPUTNIK IV?—Kenneth Gevers holds a big chunk of metal found in a Manitowoc, Wis., street, and believed to be a fragment of the Soviet's Sputnik IV, which disintegrated over Eastern Wisconsin. The metal was sent to the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—After Joseph Feenan underwent successful surgery for gall bladder trouble, a solicitous nurse brought him the gallstone that was removed Saturday so he could see what it looked like.

Feenan, vice-president of the Passaic County Mosquito Commission, was speaking at his bedside telephone when the nurse left the stone, in a cup.

Feenan finished his conversation, looked into the cup and, thinking it contained a pill, promptly swallowed his gallstone.

Doctors at St. Joseph's Hospital assured Feenan the stone would not trouble him again, and the patient was sent home to continue his recuperation.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Julius Caesar got full credit Monday for helping to provide water for the thirsty people of modern Jordan.

The engineering skill of the ancient Roman conquerors turned up in foreign aid testimony before Congress.

As told by William S. Gaud, chief aid administrator in the Middle East, U.S. experts got the idea of reviving some of the old Roman cisterns and wells in the now arid land.

They started digging and excavating and came across an enormous Roman reservoir which will hold 30,000,000 gallons of water, Gaud said.

The ancient cistern was in perfect condition, Gaud said, "and for a total cost of $17,000 we got a little aid from Julius Caesar."

He told the subcommittee that the cistern now is in use, irrigating a large part of Jordan.

Scriptures Famine Seen as Challenge

The world's famine of scriptures is a challenge which the Christian Church dare not fail to meet, declared Rev. J. A. Raymond Tingley, Vancouver, district secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, addressing a rally of the Nelson Branch of the Society Sunday night at Bethel Tabernacle.

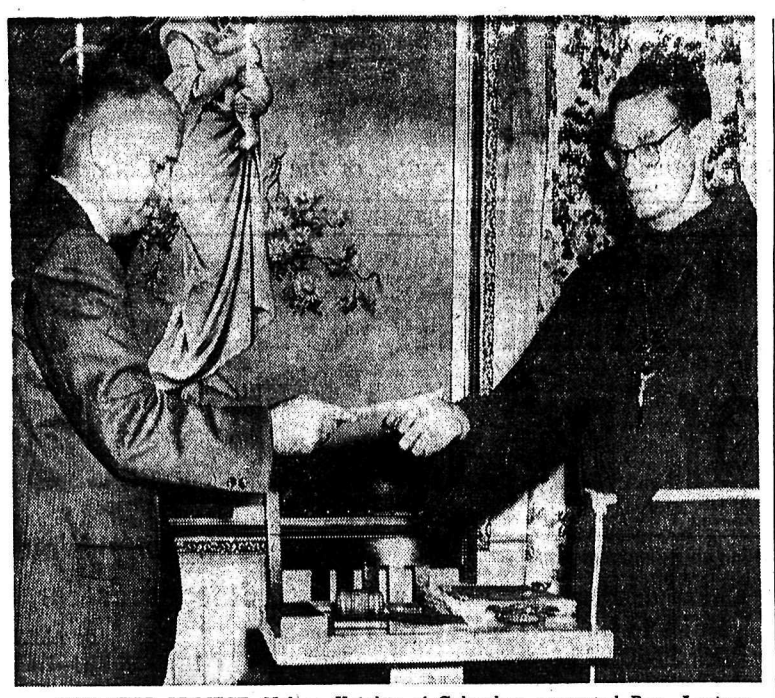
Mr. Tingley who is making his annual trip through the province expressed concern that in the face of an unprecedented and ever-increasing demand for scriptures, funds are not available to enable the society to translate, print and distribute gospels, testaments and bibles which are desperately needed by all of the missionaries in their world-wide work.

The secretary spoke of the urgent appeal for $350,000 to produce 300,000 bibles and 300,000 testaments for Indonesia to meet the famine of the word which exists in that country, and which has persuaded the government of the country to lift an embargo for their import. He said that at the end of last year Indonesia declared that no more scriptures could be imported and the Bible Societies have undertaken to establish in that country a printing press for their production. However, he continued, this plant will not be in operation for two years, and in the meantime the five million Christians in Indonesia have prevailed upon the government to life he restrictions temporarily and funds are urgently needed to meet this situation before it is too late.

The secretary made clear that the work of the Bible Society is essential to all churches in their missionary outreach, and must have increased support to meet an annual deficit of $1,500,000. He said that this deficit results from the Society's policy of providing the scriptures far below their cost in order that the poorest may have God's word in their own language. He told of the production now under way in London of the Umbundu-Portugese bible, which will cost about $7.00 per copy to print and which must be sold in Angola for little more than $1, since the average weekly wage is less than $1.50.

Through the showing of a motion picture "Unto the Hills," the congregation saw the churches at work in the vast land of New Guinea where more than 700 languages and dialects are spoken, and where millions exist without even a gospel in their mother tongue.

Mr. Tingley conducted the service Sunday morning in the Presbyterian Church and in the evening preached at Bethel Tabernacle prior to the city wide rally of all the churches, conducted by the president of the branch, Rev. Canon George Lang. It is pathetic, said the speaker, that in the kind of a world in which we are living with one million people learning to read each week and the Communists flooding the world with their propaganda, that millions who could find the truth that will make them free are denied the Gospel, because the people of Nelson and other places give so little to so great a work as that of the Bible Society.



FIVE-YEAR PROJECT. Nelson Knights of Columbus presented Rev. Aquinas Thomas with a cheque for $200 as the first part of a five-year $1000 project to furnish a portion of the Notre Dame College library, Sunday night. Section of the library to benefit will be the social sciences and the facilities will be available to all students. E. M. Jones is shown presenting the cheque.

Trekkers Find Salmo-Creston Cutoff Road Scenic Wonderland

By BOB BLACKMORE

The song goes "over the mountain and over the hill" and that's the way 100 happy trekkers went Sunday as a car caravan sponsored by the Salmo Chamber of Commerce pulled out of Salmo at 10:30 a.m.

It was a delightful mixture of barking dogs, waving children, laughing women and coughing motors that wound out of Salmo for the few short miles to where the broad expanse of gravel intersects the main highway. This is the start of the long-desired, almost mythical, Salmo-Creston cutoff.

On the right hand side of this super highway is a large sign proclaiming "No Through Road, open for 5 miles." Actually the road is open and almost completed for 10 miles but the construction company has a road block six miles up the road.

Although this is an inconvenience for the wandering tourist or back-of-beyond hunter it is a necessary evil. Without the traffic stopper, construction workers would be plagued with busy individuals telling them how to build the highway, or "borrowing a D-8 cat" to remove some downed game.

Beyond the gates the highway slips between the bald mountain tops and the lush green valley with the graceful finesse of a dancer and a few less curves. The scenery is breath taking in its magnitude and beauty, especially Sunday after a bite of early frost turned the hills into a patchwork of color.

The microwave tower about three-quarters of the way to the summit and 2000 feet above the road stands out clearly and a mile or so beyond this landmark the dust covered caravan came to a halt.

From here to the summit the trekkers were transported by truck or four-wheel drive vehicles although one hardy Nelsonite managed to herd his late model car clean to the top.

Although the trek detoured around a mile and a half of construction, this section is almost completed, with two rock cuts remaining to complete and a bit of gravelling.

Prior to the trek's arrival, a posse, as Frank Rotter, head of the day's operations, called them, had a camp set up on the lakeshore. It wasn't long before steaks were sizzling over an open fire and people were helping themselves to salads.

GOAT TRAIL

At the summit the road stops abruptly and on the Creston side begins a trail that would make a mountain goat airsick.

Only eight of a 30-man contingent from Creston arrived at the summit, and they spent the night in a mud hole two miles short of the top. The rest of the Creston people never made it. They, needless to say were hostile towards construction progress, or lack of it, on the other side of the pass and complained bitterly about lack of cooperation.

The majority of Sunday's trekkers were in agreement the Salmo-Creston cutoff will rival Rogers Pass for scenic splendor and engineering achievements.

The pretty alpine lake will undoubtedly entice fishermen and campers to spend a few days in the highlands and once the road is opened it will offer an access to a wonderland of big game hunting.

After the steak fry and a few worlds by H. V Herridge, MP for Kootenay West, people began filtering back to their cars, some walking, others riding, but all enjoying the last minutes of an enjoyable day.

Creston-Born, Mrs. W. B. Eddy Dies At 49

CRESTON — Well-known for her work in the Creston Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, and a native of Creston, Mrs. Beryl Eddy died in Creston Valley Hospital Sunday morning at the age of 49.

Born in Creston in 1913, Mrs. Eddy received her education, was married and resided there until her death.

She is survived by her husband, Wesley B. Eddy; her mother, Mrs. H. Nichols of Creston; a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Richards of Richmond; a brother, Art Nichols of Vernon; two sisters, Mrs. Jenny Fletcher of Fernie and Mrs. Edna McPherson of Kaslo and three grandchildren.

Toll Arthritis Takes Shown to Kiwanians

What happens to the joints in the body of a person with arthritis were shown to a Kiwanis Club meeting by Dr. W. K. Massey, who was speaking on behalf of the Nelson branch, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. The society is an agency of the Community Chest and conducts its campaign for funds in conjunction with the Chest's annual drive.

Dr. Massey showed X-ray pictures of normal and diseased joints in illustrating his talk. He explained that rheumatoid arthritis is closely linked to rheumatic fever. It usually attacks small joints in the fingers, wrists, toes and ankles, and is accompanied by pain and deformity.

The other common form of arthritis called osteo-arthritis, is a degenerative, rather than a painful type. It causes a lipping or bridging of the bones and occurred in almost all people, for it is a disease of advancing years. It affects the larger bones such as the hips. Bridging in the spine is common and stiffening of the fingers also occurs. Most people, wakening in the mornings suffering stiff joints, find they are gradually able to overcome the stiffness as they move about. It is not deforming nor painful. "You learn to live with it," he said.

There is no cure for arthritis, he said. Common drugs such as aspirin were used and physiotherapy gave relief from pain. He noted much of the CARS equipment at the hospital had been given by the Kiwanians. Cortisone had caused miraculous remissions but disappointed researchers because the patients failed to hold their gains. Some get results over periods of months or weeks, others none at all.

Guests were Capt. Robert Moffatt of the Salvation Army at Nelson and his new assistant, Lieut. Roland Oates, formerly of Hamilton; and Vernon Belford of Lethbridge.

In the Courts

A Kamloops man served one day in prison and was fined $100 Saturday in magistrate's court for passing a bad cheque on a Nelson garage in July.

Gordon A. Robinson gave a city garage a $350 cheque, drawn on a Creston bank, as down payment on a $900 purchase of a boat, trailer and outboard motor on July 7 last. The cheque was returned from Creston marked insufficient funds.

RCMP arrested Robinson in Kamloops and he was returned here for trial.

In other city court happenings:

Alex Terekoff of Nelson was fined $200 by magistrate William Evans after he was found guilty on a charge of impaired driving on the night of September 1.

Terekoff pleaded not guilty and was defended by Castlegar solicitor M. E. Moran.

For failing to stop at a stop sign, thus causing a traffic accident, C. H. Pollard of Harrop was fined $25. Pollard failed to stop at a stop sign on the corner of Vernon and Hall streets. His car ploughed into a vehicle belonging to a Winlaw man heading north on Hall Street causing about $75 damage.

In provincial court, for speeding up to 55 miles per hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone on the North Shore, Franklin Ward of RRI was fined $20.

For speeding up to 85 miles per hour in the 50-mile-an-hour zone on the North Shore resulted in a $75 fine for D. F. May of Kaslo.

Having no insurance on a motorcycle cost David Robinson of RRI a $10 fine.

Cranbrook Sets Charges For Utilities Work Outside City Limits

CRANBROOK — City Council last week threshed out the matter of city charges to developers of subdivisions both inside and outside city limits for its works department in constructing water and sewer utilities.

Result was establishment of a standard charge for use of equipment, material costs, plus 20 per cent, and regulation labor charge plus 30 per cent for projects inside city limits. Outside city limits the rate will be standard charge for use of equipment, material cost, plus 30 per cent, and labor regulation rate plus 40 per cent.

The city will not permit undertaking of these installations by private contract because of past experience of failure to conform in some cases with the basic standard the city has established.

Decision was made by the meeting to close the Municipal Tourist Camp Sept. 15, one month earlier than in past seasons, considering the light business it is now doing.

Extra-municipal water extensions and private water extension wer approved subject to preliminary deposit of the estimated cost.

Nine local improvements by - laws were given required readings, covering five blocks of concrete sidewalk and four blocks of curb to curb asphalt shoulders. These wer submitted prior to the Aug. 31 deadline for such applications with no more to be considered for the 1962 strets and sidewalks program.

DATE SET FOR CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP

KIMBERLEY — A workshop dealing with Christian leadership is scheduled for Kimberley September 14 and 15 under sponsorship of the Kimberley United Church Christian Eduaction Committee.

It will be led by Rev. R. A. Wallace of the Christian Leadership School at Naramata, and will be open to United Church adult and teen-age members and adherents of the entire East Kootenay presbytery of the United Church.

"The Word and the Way" by Dr. Donald Mathers will provide the theme of speakers and group discussions which will deal particularly with teaching methods and work of mid-week leaders.

Castlegar To Help In Park Development

CASTLEGAR — The village commission resolved to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in assisting the parks commission to develop Pass Creek Park.

Three days' work by the Castlegar works department will be allotted for the purpose of establishing a new road for the area, as suggested by Commissioner Murray Little at the meeting.

Mr. Little told the commissioners of present requirements in launching of the class three provincial park.

Other issue confronting the Castlegar Commission was the recent tour of Sherbiko Subdivision by highways official A. E. Staite and Norm McNabb, works sueprvisor, at which time there had been no provision made to establish cross walks for that area. On request from P. Popoff, Sherbiko resident, a letter will be sent to the department suggesting a single cross walk be placed at the corner of Kokanee Street to the motel side on No. 3 Highway mainly for the use of children attending Woodland Park School.

The department of highways will be contacted further in connection with widening of black top on Columbia Avenue, when they will be urged to remove utility poles between a garage and the theatre. Removal of the poles will facilitate beginning of black top operations by October 15 under the winter works program.

Along with the proposal of storm sewers for Castlegar, the department of highways wishes to include in their study plans for the village's future sewerage system in certain areas.

Anticipating more sidewalks for the village, an estimate on the cost will be procured by Norm McNabb for the areas from Spruce Street to the railway tracks and from Crescent Street to the ferry.

All loading zones in the downtown area will be limited to a 15-minute parking time.

The works report submitted by Supervisor Norm McNabb indicated that there were two "No U-turn" signs installed on Main Street and on First Avenue and 1 two-hour parking sign on First.

Provision for extra crosswalks have been made by the highways department and present crosswalks are being renewed.

Parking areas are being opened up. Completed are the ones on Pine Street and First Avenue, Columbia Avenue and on Maple Street.

Grading, blacktop patching, oiling, street sign repairs and maintenance to signs have been carried out during the month of August. There were four new water connections made, one break repaired and two standpies for fire protection were repaired.

Twelve building permits were approved in the amount of $37,750. These were for one commercial building, car ports, one patio. 12 traffic tickets were given out.

As a result of the fire report submitted by Comm. George Carr, a motion was carried that firemen be paid $1.50 for each fluorescent light replaced.

Protests Competition Of Private Rentals

KIMBERLEY — A Kimberley woman protested to Council the freedom of private individuals to rent suites in their homes without having to pay trades licence or commercial rates for water and light while still receiving the homeowner's grant.

Mrs. J. B. Parnell feels this is unfair competition for commercial apartment enterprises which are not eligible for the homeowners' grant while having to charge higher rates to care for additional expenses incurred by licences and commercial rates.

Mrs. Parnell was advised that the Trades Licence Bylaw is being amended to cover the situation except for the homeowners' grant.

Kimberley to Construct Six Retaining Walls

KIMBERLEY — Major reconstruction will be undertaken at the upper end of Spokane Street with building of six retaining walls to widen and improve Spokane Street and Jennings Avenue.

One bin-type wall will be constructed at the west end of Spokane Street near St. Mary's and five reinforced concrete walls are planned further up the hill.

The proposed construction will have the effect of widening the streets; providing better access for homes in the area and chanelling water to a new storm sewere which is proposed for the same area.

Total cost is estimated at $10,000. If the work is included in the city's winter works program, part of the cost will be born by the provincial and federal governments.

City works department was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of providing an access road to four new water hydrants in the Morrison subdivision. Approval of the property owners in the area will be sought.

AKM Has Important Role

Co-operation between municipal governments is an essential thing today and the annual meeting of the Association of Kootenay Municipalities at Nelson this year indicates that they are much in accord with regard to their own problems.

As might be expected the meeting was concerned mainly with money and most of the resolutions concerning finance were directed to the provincial government. Indeed, it would seem that the municipalities were frustrating their own best efforts by their attitude towards it. Mayor Clifford Swan's belief that local problems should have their place at the meeting has much to commend it. It would be perhaps to the benefit of all the delegates if the orthodox form of the meeting were suspended at times and the delegates went into informal conference where they could express opinions without the necessity of putting them to the test of resolutions.

Nevertheless the Association cannot always refrain from directing some resolutions towards the government and the much discussed Home Owners Grant is a subject which should be discussed fully before it is taken up with Victoria. As it is at present the general public is in the dark about its effects and how they would be brought about.

While it is possible to understand Mayor Downey's anger that Grand Forks is not included in the Kootenays' resolution concerning the Freedomites he might also reflect that this city has had more than its share of his so-called garbage. It is difficult to feel much pity for those who have been spared the company of the Freedomites, but the resolution is perhaps an example of futility. It is not likely to have an effect in any way.

But despite this the meetings were well worth while and it is to be hoped that the Association of Kootenay Municipalities will again honor Nelson in the near future by selecting it as their meeting place.

Mainly About Taxes

A motorist travelling across the North American continent will contribute to the public coffers more than he imagines, says CCH Canadian Limited, national tax and business law reporting authority. In fact, if the motorist smokes and he goes one way through Canada and the other via the States, it will be almost impossible to avoid paying taxes in every state or province he visits.

The gasoline tax in most provinces is twice as much in Canada as in the States. This is mitigated somewhat by the fact that the U.S. standard gallon is only four-fifths the volume of the Imperial gallon.

Highest on the Canadian east coast, at 19 cents a gallon, the gasoline tax drops as it goes west and is lowest, 12 cents a gallon, in oil-rich Alberta. In the northern states the rate varies between five and seven cents and tax-wise it would not pay to go south in the eastern states.

Cigarettes purchased would also add to the public funds in every province in Canada except Manitoba and Alberta. In British Columbia, Newfoundland and Saskatchewan the five per cent sales tax applies to all tobacco products.

North of the border visitors to the Dawson City Festival in the Yukon will pay no sales or tobacco tax. However, should they return via Skagway in the panhandle they will pay eight cents U.S. tax on 20 cigarettes. Their tax on a U.S. standard gallon would be eight U.S. cents in Alaska instead of six cents on the larger Imperial gallon in the Yukon.

Sales tax in the States averages between 2 per cent and 3 per cent. New York City levies a special 3 per cent sales tax, and as soon as the traveller leaves the city going into New Jersey or staying in New York state he finds that no sales tax is payable.

The highest sales tax in North America is in Quebec. In this province this tax rate is from 4 per cent to 6 per cent depending on the municipality in which the goods are sold.

Language Development

English is well on the way to becoming the world's common language. It is already the second language in many countries which have their own tongues. But as Sir David Eccles told an Anglo-American audience in Rome, the wide distribution already reached may be a risk as well as an advantage, the risk being the fragmentation of English into dialects not understood from one region to the next. A world language fails of its purpose if all those who speak it do not always understand each other.

Sir David's remedy would be the training by some central institution of a corps of skilled teachers of English as a second language, who will in turn train others to teach English in their own countries. But the Manchester Guardian points out that there is already some divergence between American English and English English — not so much as makes it difficult for the British and the Americans to understand each other, but just enough to raise some difficulties if both are to agree on a standard form for teaching to, say, Chinese and Uruguayans. The Guardian sees another difficulty:

There is also a problem of time. No living language stands still. We do not speak quite as our grandfathers did, still less as the first Elizabethans did. If the standard English to serve as a second language for the world is a fixed language, like classical Latin, the English spoken in Britain, the United States or Canada will tend to evolve away from it; it might come, paradoxically, that aliens may be able to reprove us for lapsing from standard English. But this will be only so long as they retain their own tongue and speak English as a second language. If they lose their own and take to English, it will become a living language to them — and begin to evolve again.

—Nanaimo Free Press.

Diners who have waited for what appears to be an interminable time to wait for their food order will applaud an innovation in a restaurant in Victoria, B.C. It is a time-stamped check on performance. When the waitress hands in her order she stamps the time on her numbered check. The finish time of preparing the order is also stamped on the check and the waitress signalled.

What a pity that customers cannot sit in at staff conferences discussing time lags in the preparation and serving of orders. It would be interesting listening to hear the excuses advanced as to why a steak piping hot off the skillet was cold on arrival at the diner's table.—Sudbury Star.

U.S. Gov't Official Warns Russia To Keep Off Cuba

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A high U.S. government official warned Sunday that any Russian attempt to set up long-range offensive missiles in Cuba would bring "the most serious consequences."

A Canadian university professor said talk of missile bases in Cuba is common and a Havana dispatch from a Reuters news agency correspondent told of passing by a truck carrying a huge, rounded case about 30 feet long and eight feet high, with Russian lettering on the side.

"I wondered what was inside," wrote Reuters correspondent John Bland.

Sunday, Paul Nitze, assistance secretary of defence for international security affairs, told a television audience that the Soviet arms buildup in Cuba is of a defensive nature so far, but still is of concern because "it helps Castro to consolidate his position and thereby increases the possibility Cuba could be used as a base for Communist penetration of the rest of the hemisphere."

He said if Russia tries to set up long range offensive missiles in Cuba, it "would have the most serious consequences."

A sharp rise in the flow to deliveries from the Soviet bloc started in July and included not only economic help needed by the Cuban regime of Premier Fidel Castro but also large amounts of military material.

INCLUDES MISSILES

The arms appeared to be mainly early-model ground-to-air missiles and electronic equipment. About 3,500 Soviet military "technicians" also arrived — possibly to train the Cubans in their use of the new equipment.

The Canadian returned to Miami from Cuba during the weekend.

Roy Officer, 29, who said he was a professor of geography at Waterloo University, said Soviet-bloc influence has reached almost every facet of life from clothing to literature to food, Officer said.

Talk of missile bases in Cuba is common "but my friends there complain that 'Fidel doesn't tell us anything.'"

Correspondent Bland told of driving to a big camp outside Havana where he said he saw several hundred Russians domiciled. Bland said he was trailed by three civilians in another car during his tour Saturday.

The camp, spread over many acres on the site of a former reformatory, was guarded by four-barrelled anti-aircraft guns of Soviet make.

REFUGEES ARRIVE

A record load of Cuban refugees arrived in Florida during the weekend aboard a fleet of small craft, leading to speculation that the Castro government, due to food shortages, may be relaxing efforts to stop the depature of Cubans.

The U.S. Coast Guard said 44 men, women and children arrived in Miami and 41 in Key West.

Senator Kennety B. Keating (Rep. N.Y.) said Sunday that reports are circulating in Washington that "a horse trade" with Russia in Cuba and Berlin may be in the wind.

In a television interview, he said "in brass-tacks language it would mean that Premier Khrushchehv has told President Kennedy, 'you lay off on Berlin. We'll lay off on Cuba. But if you press us in Berlin, then we will put the crews on you in Cuba.'"

Keating said the U.S. must make clear to the people of Cuba and the people of West Berlin, and to people everywhere, "that no such deal is in the cards."

President Kennedy's decision to ask Congress for brief authority to call 150,000 military reservists to active duty — if he should so desire — appears to be designed to stem a rising tide of home criticism of his Cuban policy rather than to spread fear in the hearts of Communists abroad.

Republicans plan to make the most of Kennedy's apparent inability to resolve the Cuban crisis in a manner satisfying to the American public. Criticism of what often is described as a "do-nothing" U.S. policy on the Communist build - up just 90 miles offshore is mounting in the American press.

In the Senate, Republic legislators are virtually telling Kennedy to furnish the troops and they will finish the job.

ON DEFENSIVE

Kennedy's Democrats find themselves forced repeatedly into defensive explanations of why the administration cannot oust Fidel Castro's regime and his 3,500 Soviet military technicians from Cuba without causing a possible world conflagration.

And no matter how often Kennedy emphasizes that the Communist build-up in Cuba is merely defensive and not a threat to the United States, Republicans appear to be receiving more public attention with the argument that the longer Cuba the more difficult it will be to root them out.

Democrats fear that with important elections coming up in November the Republicans by their criticisms may reap a harvest of congressional seats.

Thus the political signs point to the need for Kennedy to show a stiffening attitude towards Cuba. Though he has made clear this problem has to be handled in the context of the world threat to peace, the president has sought to ease home criticism by warning that American ships and planes are and that the U.S. will act to meet aggression if Cuba threatens the Latin American area with force.

SHORT-TERM AUTHORITY

Now comes Kennedy's request for authority to call up 150,000 reservists for one year of service if he finds this is necessary during the period when Congress is not in session and until the new Congress can get well organized next year.

This is similar ot the 1961 request which resulted in the call-up of 150,000 reservists for one year during the Berlin build-up. Virtually all of these men now are back of the reserve, drilling one night a week. There are about 959,000 of these so-called "ready" reserves available.

There is some question whether Kennedy would use his requested authority this time unless some extreme emergency were to develop. Many of the reservists called in 1961 later complained they were taken away from useful civilian jobs only to sit in camps and without access to the modern weapons they were supposed to get.

With an active service force of some 2,800,000 men, manning a huge array of modern craft and weapons, Kennedy probably could find all the manpower necessary, should he decide to fight Castro, without digging into the reserves.

Jesuit Weekly Denies Any Anti-Semitism

NEW YORK (AP)—The Jesuit weekly America said today "it is obviously ridiculous" to suggest that the magazine condones any form of anti-semitic feeling or activity.

This was the magazine's answer to critics who, it said, interpreted America's Sept. 1 editorial as a "veiled" warning to Jews that anti-semitism would arise if they did not stop pressing to take religion out of the public schools and public life.

In a new editorial in its Sept. 15 issue, the magazine's Roman Catholic editors said they had meant that "the activities of a few militant specularists might boomerang against the Jewish people."

The Sept. 1 editorial questioned whether Leo Pfeffer, general counsel of the American Jewish Congress, and other Jewish agencies were qualified to speak in behalf of the entire Jewish community in opposing religions practices in public schools.

WAGE COURT CAMPAIGN

"We are convinced they do not," said the Sept. 15 editorial, "and that the campaign they are waging in the courts these days does not represent the thinking and the aspirations of the majority of American Jews."

But unless that is made clear, the latest editorial continued, if "Pfeffer and his fellow campaigners succeed in winning Supreme Court decisions that strike down the Lord's Prayer and Bible reading in classrooms . . . Jews in general will be unfairly blamed for what will have been accomplished by a mere handful of militants."

Pfeffer commented in reply: "It is sad that intolerance should be practiced by those who not too long ago suffered from it and who in the future may again be its victims.

"It must never be forgotten, as the editors of America appear to be trying to do, that it was the Catholics and not the Jews who were responsible for the secularization of the American public school system."

By that, he said, he meant that most of the state court cases to take religious practices out of the public schools were brought by Catholics at the end of the 19th century and the start of the 20th.

Canada's Week at Seattle Fair Opens With Fan-Faring Trumpets

SEATTLE (CP) — Canada week at the Seattle World's Fair, with many smash-assured elements, opened Sunday to the sound ofo fanfaring trumpets.

It continues until Saturday and should give the big fair a home-stretch attendance shot in the arm.

Sunday night, while 700 persons filled the fair's playhouse for Gratien Gelinas' Bousille and the Just, 7,500 sat in the rain to watch a Canadian military tatoo go through its final paces.

The Montreal playwright and actor received warm applause for Bousille, performed in English.

Those at the tattoo rehearsal in the fair's Coliseum said they would be back tonight for the opening of the big tattoo. Everything Canada shows this week is free—except for Bousille.

Taking part in the tattoo are 650 military and RCMP personnel—the RCMP strutting its famed musical ride.

Canadian Ambassador Charles Ritchie opened Canada week Sunday and was given a gold pass to the fair as the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals blew a trumpet fanfare. The golden-helmeted band of the Lord Strathcona Horse followed with brassy music.

Today, the National Film Board will show some of its best documentaries and the RCAF's Golden Hawks will spill through their most exciting sequences.

The RCN has brought four destroyer escorts into the Seattle harbor.

Leopold Escapee To Work For Unified Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Baluba chief Albert Kalonji, whose "escape" from a Leopoldville jail was apparently arranged by the central government, has promised to work for a unified Congo federation.

Back in his capital of Bakwanga in South Kasai province, Kalonji sent Interior Minister Cleophas Kamitatu a telegram thanking him for his "intervention" and pledging loyalty to the central government.

Kalonji was serving a five-year sentence for arbitrary arrests of political opponents. He apparently was allowed to escape Friday because only he could swing his area to the support of the government.

To Land On Tristan da Cunha

CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — An exploratory party landed on volcano - ravaged Tristan da Cunha Saturday to determine whether the lonely South Atlantic island is again habitable, it was disclosed here today.

The entire population was evacuated after the island volcano erupted last October.

A British naval officer, quoting a report from the fishing vessel Tristania which landed the party on the island, said the volcano still is smoking slightly.

The party, composed of 12 of the former islanders, left England, Aug. 9 to return to the island, 1,750 miles southwest of Cape Town.

Most Accidental Deaths Occurred In Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Almost half the weekend's accidental deaths occurred in Ontario and more than three-quarters of the fatal mishaps across Canada were in traffic accidents.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local times Friday to midnight Sunday listed 41 persons who died accidentally in normal holiday activities during the weekend. Thirty-three deaths were in traffic.

Ontario had a total of 20 deaths and also led the other provinces in traffic fatalities with 17. Quebec had 12 traffic deaths, Alberta two and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick one apiece.

Altogether, Quebec had 13 deaths, Alberta three, New Brunswick two and Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan one each. There were no fatalitis in Newfoundland or British Columbia.

There were two drownings—one each in Prince Edward Island and Ontario. Ontario had a hunting fatality, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick each recorded a person struck by a train, a child suffocated in an accident at home in Alberta and boy accidentally hanged himself in Saskatchewan.

The survey does not include industrial accidents, natural deaths, known suicides or slayings.

London Has Attack of The Blues

LONDON (AP) — Blue rain mysteriously sprinkled a 30-mile stretch of countryside basking in the Sabbath sun near London.

From clear blue skies, and without warning, the blue rain showered the peaceful towns of Egham, Staines, Chertsey, Virginia Water, Wentworth, Thrpe.

It dried quickly. It left a blue stain that wouldn't wash off.

Scotland Yard solved the mystery.

A spokesman said it must have come from planes taking part in Britain's annual giant air show at nearby Barnborough.

The blue rain, it was explained, came from jet planes that had been equipped with blue dye to color their vapor trails, and make a more spectacular display.

Liberal Opposition Sharpens Its Guns

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal opposition is burnishing its armor and cleaning its guns in case the government survives votes of non-confidence in the early days of the parliamentary session opening Sept. 27.

The 100 Liberal MPs elected at the June 18 general election expect to line up teams to carry Commons debates on various subjects and to put forward the Liberals' position in House committees.

The Liberals will have a sort of double shadow cabinet—an inner core of men with experience and special abilities in particular fields, and a wider grouping from which to keep up the fire on particularly important questions which come before the House.

Apart from Liberal Leader Pearson, such veteran MPs and former cabinet ministers as Paul Martin, J. W. Pickersgill, Lionel Chevrier and Paul Hellyer form a nucleus around which the shadow cabinet is framed.

Mr. Martin can be expected to lead the attack on health and welfare, his portfolio oin the former Liberal government, and on foreign affairs in which he has had experience. Mr. Chevrier will put to use his experience as former transport minister on matters under that portfolio.

Mr. Pickersgill will keep an eye on citizenship and immigration, his former portfolio, and also on federal-provincial relations, a subject on which he has specialized in opposition ranks.

Mr. Hellyer, former associate defence minister, likely will share duties as defence critic with Charles M. (Bud) Drury, former deputy defence minister elected in Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount.

Mr. Drury may also double in brass on trade affairs with George McIlraith, a former parliamentary secretary to Trade Minister C. D. Howe and a veteran parliamentarian. Their team likely will include one of the two Rhodes scholars elected for the Liberals, John Davis of Coast-Capilano, who is a former director of economics for the trade department and was a senior economist for the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

CRITICIZE FINANCE

Walter Gordon, Toronto Davenport, head of the royal commission, will team with William Benidickson of Kenora - Rainy River, Liberal financial critic since 1957, on financial affairs although Mr. Benidickson may give more emphasis to the revenue department.

On agriculture, the Liberals will field a team which includes Hazen Argue of Assiniboia, their only Prairie farmer.

Arthur Laing (Vancouver South), an MP from 1949 until 1953, may speak on western fisheries problems.

Labor will be the responsibility of Allan J. MacEachen (Inverness-Richmond), an economist; James Byrne (Kootenay East), a mining foreman and unionist from the British Columbia interior; and John Munro (Hamilton East), Hamilton alderman and labor lawyer.

There are a number of other subjects to be assigned among the members including northern affairs to Mrs. Isabel J. Hardie (Northwest Territories).

Feeley's Court Move Causes Postponement Court

TORONTO (CP) — Gambler Vincent Feeley's court move to overthrow the Ontario royal commission on crime caused the commission to call off Monday's scheduled hearing and temporarily switch the trend of its investigation.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, the commissioner, announced the commission will proceed Tuesday with a new phase of its inquiry—the issuance of charters to social clubs in the province.

Mr. Justice Roach called off the day's sitting — at which Feeley was to have been the witness — right after being served with formal notice that the gambler would seek to have the Supreme Court of Canada reverse an Ontario Court of Appeal judgment Thursday turning down his attempt to have the commissioner disqualified.

It took less than five minutes at the start of the session for Mr. Justice Roach to inform counsel that the day was "wasted" and to announce that the commission will take up a new course until the Feeley appeal is disposed of.

Giant Telescope To Float 80,000 Feet Above the Earth

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Scientists will float a giant telescope 80,000 feet above the earth early next year, and, by means of television, view the universe as it has never been seen before.

Twin balloons will hoist the telescope into the heavens next February or March, when Mars is comparatively close to the earth.

At a distance of 1,000 miles, the 18-foot long telescope will be able to view an object about six inches wide. At the same distance, it will be able to distinguish two spots of light only 30 inches apart.

The entire apparatus, weighing more than six tons and dubbed Stratoscope II, will be launched from the new scientific balloon flight station at Palestine, Tex.

TO COST $336,000

The National Aeronatuics and Space Administration (NASA) is financing the first $336,000 flight of Stratoscope II to take a close look at Mars.

Once aloft, the entire balloon contraption — stretching in length to nearly the height of the Washington Monument — will sway to and fro like a clock pendulum.

The Washington monument is 555 feet, five inches in height.

But motors and special television cameras will keep the telescope pointed at a single spot in the universe.

Dr. Martin Schwarzchild of Princeton University, director of the project, hopes his heavenly apparatus will enable him to get a close look at the "white dots" on Venus and the "canals" of Mars.

He said the sightings may give support to the view that there is life on Mars, or raise serious doubts about it.

Electrical Workers Give Gov't First Consideration

MONTREAL (CP)—The president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO-CLC) said Monday the labor movement has kept governments and lawmakers aware that people are always a nation's first consideration.

Gordon M. Freedman of Washington said that is why he believes that Russia's boast of burying the West will work the other way around.

"I believe we will bury them (Russians) because in our two countries we are now, and have always been, more concerned about the welfare of our people than . . . throwing our weight around as nations."

He was addressing the opening of the organization's 27th convention, meeting in Canada for the first time in 39 years.

Today In History

Sept. 11, 1962 . . .

Gen. George Washington was defeated in the Battle of Brandywine by a British force under Sir William Howe 185 years ago today—in 1777. American losses in the engagement, named after the Brandywine River in Pennsylvania near where the battle was joined, were about 1,000 killed, wounded and prisoners compared with about 600 for the British. Howe followed up his victory and 16 days later entered Philadelphia.

1916—The centre span of the Quebec Bridge dropped into the St. Lawrence River near Quebec City while being set in place, killing 13 workmen.

1958—Robert W. Service, poet of Canada's Yukon, died in France.

The importance of planning, as stressed by Civil Defence, is further shown in that hospitals applying to be approved by the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation must now produce an acceptable disaster plan as a compulsory requirement under the standards for accreditation of Canadian hospitals.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Anderson-Riley Wedding Principals To Make Their Home in Cranbrook

In a stunning wedding gown of full-length white taffeta, her brunette beauty framed by a Bertha collar and fragile lace inset, Miss Donna Lee Riley walked down the aisle of Fairview United Church in Nelson to exchange marriage vows at the altar with Mr. George Eugene Anderson of Nelson.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. James W. Riley of Nelson and the late Mr. Riley, was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Calvin Riley of Calgary, to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Anderson of Nelson.

Rev. H. R. Whitmore read the double ring marriage service.

Guests sat in pews marked with flowers and white bows.

Preceded by her attendants in blue satin, the bride was lovely in her full-skirted gown, sprinkled with clusters of sequins, the shawl collar fastened at the front with a self-bow. Her bouffant scalloped veil was held by a small crown and she carried baby pink rosebuds arranged with fern and white net and tied with a large white satin bow and white satin streamers. White satin slippers completed her ensemble and she wore "something borrowed" — a ruby ring of a close friend, Mrs. Elsie Marshall.

Maid of honor Miss Marilyn McEwen was gowned in a blue satin sheath with overlay of matching organdy draped in a diamond effect. It featured a scooped neckline and was belted with self material, fastened with a bow at the front. Her hat of standup organdy and a large flower and her blue satin shoes were en tone. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with pink centre arranged with pink net and streamers of pink satin. The bouquet and her long white satin gloves offered a note of contrast.

Bridesmaids Miss Jacqueline Anderson and Miss Elaine Heddle were similarly gowned and their bouquets were of pink carnations with white centre tied with white and pink net and white satin streamers. They wore short white satin gloves.

Flower girl Miss Ronda Heddle wore a full-length frock of blue satin with overlay of organdy and matching organdy and net hat. She carried a pink and white net basket of pink and white roses.

Mr. Wally Anderson supported the bridegroom as best man and Mr. Frank Anderson and Mr. Ben Anderson were ushers. The men of the wedding party all wore black suits and tie, with white boutoniers.

At a reception held in the Eagles' Hall, the parents of the principals assisted in receiving the 130 wedding guests. The mother of the bride was gowned in turquoise silk shantung in sheath style, with matching jacket and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom chose a white brocade sheath with blue cummerbund and side bow of organdy, accented with a rhinestone clip. Her accessories were blue and she wore a corsage of blue carnations.

Mrs. Charles Healey, grandmother of the bride, chose a silk print in white and brown, with which she wore a white hat and corsage of white carnations.

The hall was decorated with streamers of pink and white, with the bridal table set under a canopy of streamers, paper roses and large white bells.

The bridegroom said grace before the guests sat down to the wedding supper. Master of ceremonies was Mr. J. J. McEwen. A toast to the bridesmaids by Mr. Wally Anderson.

The guest book was in charge of Miss Bette Riley, at a lace-covered table centred with a vase of pink dahlias. The wedding gifts were opened at a side table by the bride and bridegroom, who also passed their wedding cake to their guests. The three-tiered cake was ornamented with pink rosebuds and topped by a bride and groom.

BOUQUET TO MOTHER

During the reception, the bride presented her bouquet to her mother as a dedication to her father.

Dancing was enjoyed by the guests.

For a wedding trip to Vancouver, Williams Lake, Barkerville and Calgary, the bride changed into a fawn-colored linen suit with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink baby roses.

The newlyweds will make their home in Cranbrook, where the bridegroom has been transferred as manager of Bitco Sales and Service.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Bustard and four children of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson and daughter, Marguerite, of Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Crowell and Robert Inyokern of California; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Payne of Houston, B.C.; Mr. G. Gormley of New Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coutts of Cranbrook; Mr. and Mrs. G. Walls of Fruitvale; Mr. Ted Healey of Victoria; Miss Kitty Lee Welker of San Jose, California; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Riley of Calgary.

No Work If Hospital Employees Not Paid

VANCOUVER (CP) —The Hospital Employees Union Sunday warned hospital workers will leave their jobs immediately if payrolls are not met.

Business agent William Black said in a letter to health minister Martin if there is any recurrence of the failure of the Jubilee Hospital in Vernon to meet the payroll "we won't work." This applied to any hospital.

Jubilee Hospital announced last week that employees must wait until delayed payments are made by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service before they can be paid.

Mr. Black said if a private business was caught in a similar circumstance it would be declared bankrupt.

"This has embarrassed people, some supporting families from pay cheque to pay cheque."

He planned to meet with Okanagan Valley Hospital employees Monday.

Meanwhile, several hospital administrators said in interviews most hospitals have received reduced payments from the BCHIS.

Some said creditors were kept waiting, bank overdrafts increased or special loans made. But payrolls were being met.

They said they got or expected two-thirds less than they counted on in retroactive payments—special payments estimated twice twice yearly to adjust advance payments for patient care.

Doug Stevenson of Trail Tadanac Hospital said payments to his hospital are behind $20,000 and it is in "pretty dire circumstances."

Selwyn Simons of Kimberley Hospital said the hospital is not getting as much as it is supposed to in advances. Suppliers would would have to borrow from the bank.

John McGilp of the Castlegar and District Hospital said the hospital expected between $8,000 and $9,000 more than it got from the BCHIS.

Kenneth Conibear, executive secretary of the B.C. Hospitals Association, said advances to major hospitals were cut last year. Now the smaller hospitals seemed to be affected.

Nearly Run Into Grief on Rocks Off Iceland

Vancouver Couple Sail Atlantic, Cross Canada on Motor Scooter

MONTREAL (CP) — Some disciples of the Hemingway code take to sports car racing; others to big game hunting. But John and Sheila Rotgans of Vancouver are two adventurers who challenged fate by crossing the stormy North Atlantic in a 40-foot fishing boat.

The husband and wife and three hardy Britons took the Ice Bear, converted to a sailboat and aided by a 44-horsepower deisel motor, on her journey from Aberdeen through gales, dense fogs and icebergs to Sept-Iles, Que.

And despite some hair-raising moments and the breakdown of their two-way radio half-way across the Atlantic, the two were almost ready to start again by the time they had lost their sea legs in Montreal.

"Crossing the Atlantic in a small craft isn't so unusual" said Sheila, a doctor and the only womoan in the crew. "But most people take the safer and warmer South Atlantic route to the West Indies."

They took the northern route, a "desert" of sea where they rarely saw another ship, because it was shorter and they could refuel in Iceland.

SEATS FROM TAXI

Both seasoned sailors, the Rotgans originally wanted to sail back to Canada from their visit to England in their own 24-foot yacht. But they were forced to change their plans and instead teamed up with Cambridge law professor Dr. R. M. Jackson, owner and skipper of the Ice Bear, who owas looking for a crew to sail to Canada where he was to serve as visiting professor at McGill University. The other two crew members were Cambridge students.

The boat, commissioned for war use in 1938, was rigged with a jib sail, mizzen sail and two square sails "in the old windjammer style." The Ice Bear's steering cabin had some distinctive features as well—seats from a London taxi and windows from an old Daimler car.

Off Iceland's coast they found themselves in a fogbound forest of obelisk-shaped rocks jutting from the water. "I was more anxious then than at any other time during the trip," Sheila said. "I really thought we had had it."

Off the south coast of Greenland they ran into a 24-hour gale which whipped them 80 miles off their course. After this their radio broke down. They met a second gale in the Iceberg-ridden Belle Isle Straits. But there were no casualties on the 3,000-mile voyage which took exactly a month.

In calm weather the resourceful sailors augmented their all-canned diet with fresh codfish caught from the side of th boat. Sheila, chief cook and doctor, said she had to disgu canned food — "to prev grumbling" by male cr members. "I was always fal dling with fried onions or adding curry sauce to things like canned stew."

The worst aspect of the trip, Sheila said, was the perpetual motion. "I just wanted to stay still after a while."

But the Rotgans are ready to go down to the sea again. "Sometimes you think you're cured," John said. "But the sea is like a woman. You always go back to it." They have dreams of sailing up through the Queen Charlotte Islands in British Columbia.

The second long leg of their journey west, incidentally, was on a motor scooter — with their two cats which they were to pick up from friends en route.

Says Disarmament Beats "Shelters"

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Frances Herring, a 60-year-old grandmother who thinks fallout shelters are "silly" was among delegates at conference of Women for International Year which opened Sunday in the Laurentians.

Dr. Herring has taken five months off from her research job for the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California to attend conferences and visit groups which are working for peace.

Five Russians are representatives from Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are among the 40 to 50 invited guests who are meeting in closed sessions in the Laurentians followed by open meetings in Montreal Sept. 14 and 15. The Conference is sponsored by VoW.

Dr. Herring said she became interested in working with peace movements when a national survival program suggested that families build shelters.

"When you realize your children would be at school and your husband at work the shelters seemed silly," she said. "We want defence and security and the only defence is disarmament."

For Wednesday, Sept. 12, 1962

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — To achieve now, you must work assiduously; to maintain health, pace yourself properly. In considering new goals, plan carefully — using both foresight and hindsight.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Handle routine with alacrity. Don't be distracted by non-essentials. Maneuver practically, in decisive manner.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — A stretch of dullness, inactivity or indecision. Advance some of your ideas for consideration. Concentrate on essentials and side-track minor matters for the time being.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Fine lunar rays. Plan your course of action early. Avoid those who seem evasive. Your senses are acute, sharp, so be prepared to use gainful ideas to your advantage.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Through frank expression and co-ordinated effort you can best handle yourself and others now. If crises arise, either within the family group or without, preserve equilibrium, perspective, humor.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Present aspects suggest keen observance of conditions and situations before launching new projects. Make certain that you know what you are about.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — A day for re-appraisal. Are you headed in the right direction Methods correct? Scattering of energies could prove costly now. Emphasize Libra's innate sense of balance.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — "Curbstone" opinions make good conversation but don't risk the family fortunes on them. Consider the source, circumstances, authenticity, the worth of any activity in which you would engage.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Today begins a series of highly benefic Jupiter days. Look forward to many salutary effects. Day spells action, determination, aggressiveness. Astute planning advised.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — The person who investigates first, benefits most from opportunities. Use a practice arena for ideas prior to inserting them into schedule. Optimism!

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Your actions must be predicated on organized thinking now. Efforts properly directed can be the forerunner of much progress. Avoid lassitude.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — The sobering lessons of experience should govern your movements now. A cohesive program will run much more smoothly and more effectively than a spur-of-the-moment setup. Be realistic, calm.

YOU BORN TODAY are loyal, friendly, hard-working, roundly intelligent. Through discriminating use of your talents you can forge an enviable niche in this world. Others instinctively like you. You can perform admirably and consistently for your executives. It is not your nature to want to work alone. You thrive on a heavy schedule, produce under pressure. But watch out for "nerves." One of your strong points is taking something begun by another and expanding on it in great detail to substantial improvement. Birthdate: Richard Gatling, inventor of machine gun.

Heath also is expected to visit Bonn and Rome during the latter half of September for talks with Attilio Piccioni and Gerhard Schroeder, the Italian and West German foreign ministers.

Wills Steals Three; LA Holds Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Willie Mays and Chuck Hiller homered and Felipe Alou whacked his ninth consecutive hit Monday as San Francisco Giants beat Pittsburgh 4-1 for their sixth straight victory in the only day action in the majors.

Billy O'Dell beat Harvey Haddix in a pitching duel of lefthanders to notch his 17th victory against 12 defeats.

Alou singled twice and walked twice, thus running his consecutive hitting streak to nine, just one under the league record.

Felipe singled in the first, walked in the third, singled in the fifth and walked in the seventh—the latter off reliever ElRoy Face, who took over for Haddix, now 9-6.

Mays socked his 43rd homer in the first inning, scoring Alou ahead of him. The Giants added another run in the fourth as Orlando Cepeda doubled to lead off and scored on Jose Pagan's single.

Hiller hit his third homer, a solo shot near the right field pole, in the seventh.

The Pirates scored in the seventh. Donn Clendenon singled to lead off, advanced to third on two infield outs and came in on a wild pitch.

YANKS BEAT TIGERS

Hector Lopez, hitless in his 22 previous at - bats, singled home the winning run in the ninth inning as the American league-leading New York Yankees beat Detroit Tigers 3-1.

Lopez' single to centre scored Bobby Richardson after the score had been tied 1-1 from the fifth inning.

Yankees added another run on a force-out as Ralph Terry bested Hank Aguirre in a pitchers' duel.

Mickey Mantle, returning to the Yankee lineup after a leg injury kept him out of six games, erased a 1-0 Detroit lead with a 400-foot home run in the fifth. The towering drive was the 400th homer of Mantle's 12-year major league career. He is the seventh player to reach the 400-home run milestone.

Right-hander Ray Herbert pitched Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 victory over Kansas City Athletics.

Athletics scored all their runs on singles by Manny Jimenez, Haywood Sullivan, pinch-batter John Wojcik and Gino Cimoli. An error by first baseman Deacon Jones led to one of Kansas City's runs.

BOOTS THREE

Two of Chicago's four runs were unearned as shortstop Wayne Causey committed three errors.

Baltimore Orioles broke a 12th-inning tie to defeat Boston Red Sox 2-1. Pinch-hitter Dick Williams hit a bases-loaded single with none out to decide the game, largely a pitching duel between Baltimore veteran Robin Roberts and Earl Wilson.

Home runs by Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron powered Milwaukee Braves to a 5-2 victory over New York Mets as the new National League team matched one more mark for futility.

The two homers made it 185 against Mets this season, tying the league record set in 1955 by St. Louis.

Frank Robinson's eleventh-inning homer, his second of the game, gave Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

Robinson drove in three of the four Cincinnati runs off Ernie Broglio, whose record fell to 11-8.

Johnny Klippstein, who took over for starter Joe Nuxhall after the ninth inning, was credited with his seventh win

MISSES NO-HITTER

Big Los Angeles fast baller Dean Chance pitched hitless ball for 7 1-3 innings but had to settle for a 5-0 one-hit victory over Minnesota Twins when shortstop Zoilo Versalles beat out an infield hit.

The speedy Versalles slashed a hard grounder into the hole behind second base with one out in the eighth. Angels shortstop Jim Fregosi raced to his left and speared the ball but threw late and wild to first. Versalles wound up on second. That was Minnesota's only hit and Versalles was the only Twins base runner to reach second.

The Los Angeles win dropped Twins 3½ games behind New York and served to further tighten the battle for second place as Angels pulled to within half a game of Twins.

DODGERS SWAMP CUBS

At Los Angeles, righthander Don Drysdale became a 24-game winner and Maury Wills kept running full tilt at Ty Cobb's stolen base record as the league leading Dodgers flattened Chicago Cubs 8-1.

The victory protected the Dodgers' half-game lead over San Francisco Giants.

Wills, who has hit safely in seven of his last eight at bats, stole three bases and ran his season total to 89. This leaves him only seven short of the modern major league record established by Cobb in 1915. Wills has 17 games to play.

Dodger outfielder Tommy Davis hit a grand slam homer and drove in five runs, running his league-leading RBI total to 137. His grand slam broke the game open in the third and drove loser Dick Ellsworth (8-18) to the showers.

Drysdale (24-7) gave up only three hits, struck out nine and walked one. Manager Walt Alston lifted him after eight innings to give him a rest. Drysdale has won nine straight at home.

NHL Hockey Camps

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Coach Punch Imlach, amid rumors that he already has signed some of his hockey Maple Leafs, let it be known Monday he also plans to start trimming them early.

Imlach, who has reportedly signed captain George Armstrong, said he will start cutting the squad Friday folllowing an an exhibition game here with Rochester Americans, the National League Leafs' farm club in the American League.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks, Stanley Cup finalists last spring against the champion Toronto Maple Leafs, opened their 1962 National Hockey League training camp Monday with 26 players reporting to general manager Tommy Ivan and coach Rudy Pilous.

The only two absentees from the 28 invited are Dollard St. Laurent, veteran defenceman who was sold to Quebec Aces of the American League last week, and centre Bill (Red) Hay, recuperating in a Calgary hospital following the removal of a cyst from his back. Hay is expected here within 10 days.

Also missing from the first first day's practice, although in camp, was right winger Eric Nesterenko. He is recuperating from a hernia operation and will skate for the first time Thursday or Friday.

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion has set his personal target at 38 goals in the forthcoming National Hockey League season.

"I need 38 and I'm going to break my back getting them," said the 31-year-old right-winger with Montreal Canadiens.

Geoffrion, who keeps closer tab on individual records than most players, pointed out in an interview that it would tie him with the retired Ted Lindsay as the third top goal-getter in modern NHL history.

That excludes playoff scoring.

Geoffrion heads into the forthcoming season — Canadiens open camp Wednesday in suburban Verdun — with a 327 total and Lindsay, onetime left-wing star with Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks, has 365.

In front are retired Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal with 544 and Detroit ace Gordie Howe with 502.

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins held their first practice session of the year Monday at Boston Garden with 150 hockey fans looking on.

Goalie Bruce Gamble was the only absentee. He was en route from his home in Vancouver.

Bruins will meet Providence Reds of the American Hockey League here Oct. 3.

Bomber Defence Holds Ti-Cats; Hamilton Blows Early Lead

By WILF GRUSON

HAMILTON (CP) — The Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers swept to their sixth straight victory as they defeated Hamilton Tiger-Cats 16-10 Monday night in a fiercely fought Canadian Football League game before a crowd of 26,363.

For Tiger-Cats, whom Bombers beat 21-14 in overtime in the Grey Cup final last year, the loss was their first defeat in five games and left them in second place in the Eastern Conference standings.

Bombers, who now have won six games against one defeat, strengthened their grip on first place in the Western Conference. They lead the second-place Calgary Stampeders by five points.

Tiger-Cats, with three wins, a tie and a loss, trail the Eastern leaders, Ottawa Rough Riders, by a single point.

Bombers' deciding touchdown came on the first play of the fourth quarter and from then on they held off the desperate Tiger-Cats with their tough, hard-hitting defence.

Winnipeg took a 4-0 first-quarter lead but Tiger-Cats struck back with a converted touchdown and a field goal in the second quarter to go ahead 10-4 by halftime. Bombers closed the gap to 10-8 in the third-quarter with a field goal and a single and then went ahead again 15-10 on a converted touchdown at 25 seconds of the fourth quarter. They added a single point late in the quarter.

Speedy Leo Lewis swept around the right end from seven yards for the winning touchdown in a powerful drive of 66 yards in eight plays. Gerry James converted the touchdown, kicked two field goals from 33 and 31 yards and got a single on a 33-yard field goal attempt that went wide. Jack Delveaux and Dick Thornton booted singles for the other Winnipeg points.

Hal Patterson, Tiger - Cats' brilliant pass - catching end, scored Hamilton's lone touchdown on a 28-yard pass from quarterback Bernie Faloney. The ball was tipped into Patterson's hands when Kenny Ploen of Bombers tried to knock it down. Don Sutherin converted the touchdown and kicked a 39-yard field goal.

FANS WILD

The tense closely-fought battle between the two bitter rivals sent the vociferous Tiger-Cat fans wild when the officials called what coach Jim Trimble later termed a "judgment thing" in the fourth quarter.

It came on the kickoff following the Winnipeg touchdown. Bombers, with the fierce 20-mile-an-hour wind against them, kicked off short in an attempt to retain the ball. Ed Ochiena of Tiger-Cats made a dive for it and officials ruled he deliberately knocked it out of touch, giving possession to Bombers at the Hamilton 40.

Minutes later the crowd again roared its disapproval on another ruling against Tiger-Cats, who were called for no yards and given a 15-yard penalty on a Hamilton kick.

Winnipeg gained 144 yards rushing and 127 passing in rolling up 15 first downs. Ploen and second-string quarterback Hal Ledyard completed 10 of 27 passes and only one attempt was intercepted by the Tiger-Cats. Hamilton made only nine first downs and held to 45 yards on the ground and 129 in the air. Faloney and Frank Cosentino, who replaced him in the final minutes, tried 28 passes and completed 11 and two of them, both thrown by Faloney, were intercepted.

Runnels Nears AL Batting Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Runnels of Boston has virtually sewed up the American League batting championship and Tommy Davis of Los Angeles Dodgers has a commanding lead in the National League runs batted in competition. But the four other titles in the important hitting categories are still up for grabs.

With only three weeks remaining in the regular 1962 campaign, Tommy Davis heads the National League batting parade by only a single point over Cincinnati's Frank Robinson; Willie Mays of San Francisco has a four homer lead over Hank Aaron of Milwaukee in the senior circuit; Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota leads Los Angeles' Leon Wagner by two in the American League home run race and Norm Siebern of Kansas City holds a two RBI lead over Killzbrew.

Runnels, seeking his second batting crown, picked up three points to .335 in last week's games with 10 hits in 26 times at bat. Meanwhile, Chuck Hinton of Washington moved into the runner-up position oon a six point increase to .314. Hinton had 11 hits in 26 tries.

In the National League, Davis slumped three points to .339 while Robinson remained at .338. Davis had six hits in 23 attempts while Robinson collected nine hits in 26 trips.

Veteran Stan Musial of St. Louis remained in third place at .335.

Davis drove in four runs, giving him 132 for the year. Robinson is next with 123. Siebern and Killebrew each had two RBI, putting their totals at 106 and 104 respectively.

Killebrew has 37 homers and Wagner 35. Each hit one last week. Mays failed to connect and remains with 42 home runs while Aaron had a pair and lifted his total to 38.

Interest in intermediate hockey picked up in the Okanagan last season after the Penticton-Summerland Twin City Macs reached the Western Canada finals.

In his 12th season, Mantle has 26 homers this year.

Ron Laver Wins Tennis Laurels

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rod Laver, the little Australian lefthander, defeated Roy Emerson, another Aussie, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 Monday and won the for the coveted grand slam and a pot of gold that could go as high as $150,000.

Margaret Smith, another Australian, won the women's title with a 9-7, 6-4 victory over Darlene Hard, the sobbing defending champion from Long Beach, Calif.

The 158-pound Laver now has won the Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States championships — a feat accomplished only by Don Budge in 1938. It could result in a professional contract after the Davis Cup challenge round in December for anywhere from $75,000 to $150,000.

Laver is the seventh straight Australian to grab the championship. In fact, no native-born American has been in the final since Tony Trabert won the crown in 1955.

Laver and Emerson now have met eight times this year. Laver has won six of the matches. The victory was sweet revenge for Laver because he lost the final in straight sets to Emerson here last year.

Miss Hard not only had trouble with her service — she double-faulted 16 times — but she disputed numerous line calls and after a particularly upsetting call in the second set, marched back to the wall under the stands and wept openly. The tall, 20 - year - old Miss Smith looked on uncomfortably when Miss Hard came back to the court. But Darlene regained her composure.

Benedictine Abbey Kept Busy by Vaniers' Visit

ST. BENOIT DU LAC, Que. (CP)—It was a busy weekend here, even for a Benedictine abbey.

The visit of Governor-General and Mme. Vanier was the focal point of the weekend. And the appearance of a large segment of Ottawa's diplomatic community, as well as numerous Friends of the Abbey of St. Benoit du Lac, commanded attention.

They were invited to the abbey as part of its 50th anniversary celebrations. Since 1912 the monks have cleared much of the 600 acres of land raised pigs and cattle—they don't eat meat however—and established themselves in a beautiful spot.

Visitors also included John Quinn of Halifax, an Oblate lay monk—married with two children—who arrived Sunday night for a few days of meditation. His home monastery is Westminister Abbey in Mission City, B.C.

As the monks listened from benches, General Vanier reflected on mandkind's stride in science and apparent neglect of contemplative activity.

"A simple Christian who reflects on the situation in the world is seized with anguish . . ." he said. "The more men study the means, the more they forget the end."

At dinner Saturday the abbot, Dom Odule Sylvain, washed General Vanier's hands —a gesture of humility extended to each guest.

The diplomats and General Vanier attended a solemn conventual mass Sunday in the unfinished church of the abbey. It was celebrated by Msgr. Sebastiano Baggio, apostolic delegate to Canada and in effect the Vatican ambassador to Canadian Catholics, and sung in Gregorian chant by the monks.

Also present were Protestant and Jewish clergy and Metropolitan Athenadoras of the Greek Orthodox Church.

The guests later drank cider and ate at a buffet, some taking home bags of apples or slices of the roquefort and Swiss cheese the monks make.

Highly educated Dom Gustave Darjis, whose duties included the Christmas card business, keeping the locks in order, and guiding visitors, found it an enjoyable weekend, when he wasn't running the elevator or racing on an errand.

"It gave us a chance to talk with these people about their home, about faraway places like Japan (the Japanese ambassador attended) or India," said Dom Darjis, whose hometown is Bonnyville, Alta.

Commonwealth of Nations Seems Held Together by Mystic Cement

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth of nations, still holding together by some mystic cement, assembled today for its largest and perhaps most important conference in a mood of uncertainty and considerable tension.

Statesmen from 24 countries, including eight colonies nearing independence, drove to 253-year - old Marlborough House for the opening session of meetings that may have a big bearing on Britain's ultimate relationships with Europe and the Commonwealth.

After a round of formal handshakes, delegate posed for the usual group photograph, a ceremony now a ritual of one of these family summit meetings.

Then Prime Minister Macmillan, bearing the main weight of Britain's tormented search for a role in European affairs that will not jeopardize cherished Commonwealth links, extended a formal greeting to the representatives of the far-flung family of nations.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada, pictured by some British newspapers as playing a key role at the conference, spoke in reply as representing the senior Commonwealth country. Dr. Eric Williams of Trinidad, a sophisticated and well-educated man, also said a few words on behalf of the youngest member.

On arrival Friday, Diefenbaker whetted journalistic curiosity by guarded references to an "alternative" Canadian plan for Commonowealth trade expansion that may be produced if Britain does not join the European Economic Community.

REACTIONS VARY

This produced varied reactions. Newspapers hostile to British entry gleefully portrayed Diefenbaker as Macmillan's main opponent.

The Daily Express, a constant critic of the European design, says Diefenbaker will "lead the Commonwealth cause" this week in two major speeches, one stressing his fear that Canada may be forced into undue dependence on the United States, the other outlining the damage British membership in EEC would do to "Canadian newsprint, aluminum, lumber, fish and the big industrial complex in southwestern Ontario."

Other papers are more sceptical about Canadian "plans." The Daily Telegraph, favorable to British entry, says delegates are eagerly awaiting details of the reported Canadian initiative. It says they are unable to see what alternative Canada can produce other than a Commonwealth free trade area, "which for some years now has been recognized as a complete non-starter."

REPORT VAGUE

One vague report in conference circles, which Canadian informants declined to discuss, was that Canada has a "document" in being, sketching the broad outlines of a trans-atlantic trading area including the United States.

The conference, perhaps the most publicized in Commonwealth history and certainly the most momentous in relation to economic affairs since the Ottawa trade agreements of 1932, opened against a background of unusual complexity.

On the one hand those who profess to know the British government's innermost feelings are convinced that Macmillan and his colleagues will make clear their belief that Britain, come what may, must take the leap into Europe.

Against this there are signs that the government will need steady nerves to combat a steady and growing volume of anti-European sentiment both at home and in Commonwealth countries.

TALKS END SEPT. 19

Conference sources said that it already was generally agreed that the talks should end Sept. 19. There should be two sessions—morning and afternoon—daily except during the coming weekend.

The Conference was also expected to set up a meeting of the society — a conclave being attended by more than 10,000 chemists and chemical engineers — Lacy described research conducted at the Atomic Eenergy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratory.

Six types of clay were tested for their ability to remove radioacitve strontium-90 and cesium-137 from the liquid wastes of nuclear reactors.

Strontium-90 and cesium-137 are two of the three most-feared radioactive isotopes which also occur in the fallout from nuclear weapons explosions. Radioactive iodine is the third.

GIVES DETAILS

Lacy maintained that reactor wastes are similar, in general, to water supplies which would be contaminated by fallout in a full-scale nuclear attack, and he said:

1. All of the six clays tested show good ability to remove cesium from the wastes, and four of the six showed high efficiency in removing radioactive strontium.

2. The clays work by absorbing the radioactive materials—much like the action of a sponge — once they are added to a liquid containing the dangerous, radiant stuff.

3. An ounce of clay is enough to remove most of the strontium-90 from a gallon of water under some conditions, while cesium-137 can be removed three times as efficiently. The chemist said that the tests demonstrate that "in addition to its usefulness for the decontamination of radioactively-polluted water following a nuclear attack; this method has application in the disposal of radio active waste."

On the latter point, Lacy explained that absorption of the radioactive material by the clay reduces by many hundred-fold the volume of highly radioactive material that must be stored: that is, the clay helps concentrate the radioactive hot-stuff, so that less space is required to store it in underground tanks.

PM To Receive Record of Irish Visit

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker is to receive a photographic record of his March, 1961, visit to Northern Ireland.

Viscount Brookeborough, prime minister of Northern Ireland, plans to present the Canadian leader with a richly-bound album depicting Diefenbaker's tour of a new £1,500,000 government building in Belfast.

During his 1961 tour, Diefenbaker laid the foundation stone for the building.

Lord Brookeborough, who has no official status at the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers, was to make the presentation tonight at a dinner given by George Drew, Canadian high commissioner.

Others among the 30 guests at the dinner party will include British Home Secretary Butler, Commonwealth Secretary Sandys, Lord Privy Seal Edward Heathe, the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire and Sir Saville Garner, top British Commonwealth official who formerly was United Kingdom high commissioner in Ottawa.

Airlines Asked To Find Ways To Halt Crashes

DUBLIN (AP) — An aviation executive called on the world's commercial airlines today to find ways of reducing crashes.

Sir Hudson Fysh, retiring president of the International Air Transport Association, said:

"In this year there has been a number of unfortunate accidents and I wish to make the point that it is not good enough for us that our safety factor per passenger carried is as good as ever.

"I suggest that we should set a target of halving our present rate in 1963, and discuss ways and means as to how this can be done, starting with a careful analysis of the causes of all accidents over the past two years."

In five major air tragedies so far this year 543 persons have been killed.

The International Air Transport Association, representing 93 airlines from 70 countries, is holding its annual convention in the Irish capital.

Soblen Still Unconscious

LONDON—Dr. Robert Soblen, still unconscious four days after taking an overdose of barbitu rates, is suffering from "serious" brain damage and frequent convulsions, it was disclosed today.

Dr. C. G. B. Barnes, consultant physician treating the 61-year-old fugitive spy, said damage resulted after the barbiturates interrupted the supply of oxygen to the brain.

"The brain damage is now the most serious problem of Dr. Soblen's illness," Dr. Barnes said.

A Hillingdon Hospital bulletin Monday said Soblen's coma wa not as deep but he still was unconscious.

"Convulsions continue to oc cur frequently and constitute the main cause for anxiety," the bulletin said.

Dr. Barnes said the convulsions began soon after the spy's symptoms of heart fa tigue eased.

He said the convulsions were caused either by a hemorrhage on the surface of the brain or by a late effect of the barbitu rates.

Ontario Begged To Preserve Its Wetlands

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—Waterfowl conservationist Albert Hochbaum of Delta, Man., has made a plea for Ontario to preserve its wetlands.

"It is a tragedy to waterfowl when small marshes are drained," Mr. Hochbaum, director of the Delta waterfowl research station, said in an interview Saturday.

He said that in the United States sportsmen who concede it is a bad thing to drain the land "salve their consciences by saying that Canada is full of swamps."

While this might still be the case, he said, Canada's wetlands are threatened by the pressure of expanding population and communities.

"Game ducks on the prairies breed mostly on agricultural land. Thus drainage there can completely obliterate breeding. In Eastern Canada the ducks breed largely in marginal land not entirely suited to agriculture. Ontario with its vast size and so much rolling marginal land is extremely important as a waterfowl breeding range."

Mr. Hochbaum was on a visit to nearby Niska, site of a station similar to the Delta operation, which he has headed since 1938.

EDMONTON (CP) — A court order has declared Blake Mackenzie, 47, "presumed dead." The Edmonton pilot crashed in his plane in the Northwest Territories Jan. 5. Diaries found recently at the crash scene indicate he lived at least 52 days after the crash. No trace of him has been found.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying in the final half-hour perked up an otherwise lacklustre stock market Monday, cancelled many early losses and resulted in an irregular final tone.

No single major news item was responsible for the rally, Wall Street experts said. However, some believed the buying developed when the slow decline failed to accelerate and it didn't appear prices would drop any great amount.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 602.03, up 1.17 while The Associated Press 60-stock average gained .2 at 223.

Polaroid was the volume leader, gaining 5⅜ at 122¼ on 41,800 shares. General Motors was runner-up ⅜ at 54 on 33,500.

Ford gained ⅛, Studebaker ¼ and Chrysler ½.

Corning Glass, recommended by a brokerage house, was up 1¾. International Salt reported lower earnings and the stock fell 1.

Among Canadian stocks on the New York Exchange, International Nickel lost ¾, Walker Gooderham ⅝, Dome Mines ½, McIntyre Porcupine, Granby Mining and Distillers Seagrams ¼ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. Aluminium Ltd. rose ⅛.

American Stock Exchange prices closed irregularly lower. Off 1 or more were Venture Capital, Bell Telephone of Canada and Thriftimart.

Canadian Marconi lost ⅛, Shawinigan ⅜ and Fargo Oil 3-16. Preston gained ¼ and Scurry Rainbow Oil ⅛.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were mainly lower in active trading on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges Monday. Missing issues were heavily traded.

International Nickel fell 1¼ to 66½ among base metals and Macmillan fell ¾ to 18¼ among papers. Imperial Oil lost ⅜ to 43⅝ and Canadian Oil was down ⅛ at 40½.

Power Corporation added 1½ to 61 among utilities. Bell Telephone rose ⅛ to 51¼ and Bell Telephone rights added two cents to 89 cents.

Canadian Breweries rose ⅛ to 9⅝ and Pacific Pete added ¼ to 14⅜. Shop and Save lost ⅞ to 6⅛ and Hudson's Bay Company was untraded.

Among mines, Keeley-Frontier rose seven cents to 54 cents and Bornite Copper rose 2½ cents in heavy trading.

On index, banks were off 0.42 at 59.57, utilities unchanged at 131.5, industrials off 1.3 at 299.3, combined off 0.9 at 243.4, papers off 2.5 at 475.0 and golds unchanged at 79.29.

TORONTO (CP) — Extra-vigorous speculative action injected life into a slipping stock market Monday, swelling the trading total to its best this year.

Volume topped the 8,000,000-mark, highest total since Nov. 16, 1961 — receiving an added fillip from Nealon Mines' 2,000,000-share performance.

Nealon jumped 23 cents to 51 cents, having earlier touched 53 cents—its best this year.

Newnorth and Paramaque both showed trading totals of more than 300,000 shares, while Bibis Yukon raced through 473,000 shares. Price changes in these issues, however, were less spectacular.

Losses of one point or more went to Bank of Nova Scotia, Walker-Gooderham and Algoma Steel, while Canadian Oil, Consolidated Paper, Moore Corporation and Distillers Seagrams all fell ½.

Power Corporation countered the downward trend, gaining 1½ to 61. Canadian Hydrocarbons also bucked the trend, advancing ¾ to 17—highest since its listing in 1955.

On the exchange index, industrials fell 4.33 — biggest drop since July 17—to 548.00. Golds fell .40 to 94.37 and base metals dropped 1.04 to 184.11, while western oils advanced .14 to 107.33. Final volume was 8,101,000 shares, compared with Friday's 6,679,000.

Among base metals, Falconbridge dropped ¾, International Nickel ⅝ and Consolidated Mining and Smelting ¼, while Denison rose ⅛.

Among western oils, Calgary and Edmonton and Home A both declined ¼. Pacific Petroleum climbed ⅜.

Algeria's Deputy Premier To Nominate Legislature

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and regular army Col. Houari Boumedienne were Algeria's rulers Monday and preparing to nominate the nation's first legislature heavily weighted in their favor.

Boumedienne marched 5,000 men of his Communist-equipped army into Algiers Sunday, ending the chaotic, seven weeks occupation of the city by rebellious guerrilla forces of wilaya (zone) No. 4.

The regular troops were given a tumultuous welcome as they drove up and down the streets of the capital in flagrant violation of an agreement with wilaya 4's leaders to "demilitarize" the city.

The guerrilla leaders had run the city at gunpoint and sought to impose an unpopular Moslem puritanism. They also used their control of the capital to stall attempts to organize an orderly national administration, mainly because of their fear of being placed under Boumedienne's command.

They capitulated after a week-long civil war and evacuated the city several hours before Boumedienne's forces arrived.

STILL HAS OPPOSITION

Only the guerrillas of Kabylie Mountain wilaya No. 3 remain as an important stronghold of anti-Ben Bella politicians.

Some of Ben Bella's leading rivals were believed to have taken refuge in the Kabylie range east of Algiers, where the regular forces have not yet penetrated. The refugees included Mohammed Boudiaf, once Ben Bella's only opponent on the political bureau, who resigned in protest against the military invasion of the rebel held areas.

Ben Bella promised Sunday demobilization of two-thirds of the guerrilla forces and said the political bureau would go ahead immediately with ambitious land reform and industrialization plans to meet the growing threat of unemployment, poverty and hunger.

The political bureau set Sept. 20 as the "definite date" for the legislative elections already postponed six times since French rule ended July 3.

All the election candidates will be returned unopposed in a single-party ballot giving the voters a choice only of saying yes or no to the official list. All the 196 candidates to be announced by the political bureau later this week are certain to be returned, and Ben Bella will have a dominant majority in the national assembly.

Anthrax Outbreak In Buffalo Threat To Cattle Herds

OTTAWA (CP)—An outbreak of the virulent bacteria disease anthrax among western buffalo could threaten cattle herds, federal scientists said today.

But they suggested that the disease isn't as bad as hoof and mouth disease which broke out in Saskatchewan in the early 1950s and brought an immediate campaign of slaughter to wipe it out.

The anthrax outbreak has been located near Wood Buffalo National Park, world's largest game preserve, on the Alberta-Northwest Territories boundary. Burning and other remedial actions have been started.

One problem is that birds such as ravens and crows can carry the spores for 100 miles at a flight. Predators like foxes and wolves also can spread it although none of these carriers is affected by the disease.

But, unlike hoof and mouth disease or hog cholera, one sick animal can't pass the disease on to another directly.

It takes five to eight days for animals to sicken and they are dead within 48 hours. Vaccinations can be conducted for cattle herds.

However, scientists noted today, the bacteria can survive for years in the ground. They have lasted for 15 days at a temperature of 75 centigrade degrees below zero. One spore was recovered from an Egyptian tomb sealed 3,000 years ago.

One other worry for the Canadian wildlife service is the possible threat to a species of buffalo rediscovered only a year or two ago.

This is the wood bison, darker and larger than the plains buffalo imported into the park sanctuary. So far, the anthrax outbreak hasn't penetrated the park itself where the wood bison are isolated in the northwest corner.

This car will go 100 miles for a dollar.

On the highway, at highway speeds, the Volkswagen 1200 delivers around forty miles to a gallon of gas. (The average for city and country is 38 mpg.)

If you live where gas is forty cents a gallon, your full expense isn't hard to figure out. A penny a mile.

But then there's the oil.

(A Volkswagen never needs oil between changes.)

And the cooling system.

(A Volkswagen is cooled with air instead of water. There's nothing to rust, leak, or replace. And no anti-freeze to buy.)

Operating a car means money for upkeep.

(A VW needs less maintenance and fewer repairs than any car in its class. Our factory employs 5,000 full-time inspectors who see to it that every Volkswagen is built to last.)

And money for things like dented fenders?

(The Volkswagen is a sensible car. You don't have to replace half the body for the sake of a new fender. A few bolts, a few minutes, and the job is done.)

Visit your VW dealer soon and see the Volkswagen. And don't be afraid to give it a good test run.

It only costs us a penny a mile.
