WOMAN COLLAPSES AT THE SCENE OF FAMILY'S DEATH

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — A young mother collapsed in shock Wednesday after she encountered the scene of a car crash that killed her husband and their three small children.

Mrs. Helen Knaggs had given up waiting for her husband to arrive to pick her up from work, and was returning home with a friend when she recognized the mangled frame of the family's station wagon.

She ran screaming to the car, and crumpled at the sight of her husband's body in the car and the tattered remains of her children's clothing on the road.

Killed were Leonard Douglas Knaggs, 30, and the couple's children Timmy, six, Cindy, four, and Joey, 18 months.

Four young men in the other car involved in the collision suffered minor injuries.

Mr. Knaggs had never been more than a few minutes late in picking his wife up each night when she finished her shift as waitress at a cafe in nearby Surrey.

A friend of the family, Mrs. Mildred Pelletier, said Mrs. Knaggs was "very upset" when an hour passed and her husband did not come.

She accepted a ride home with Mr. Pelletier. They left on the only route they could take to the Knaggs home.

Wayne Wilby, 23, a tow-truck driver, said it was one of the worst accidents he had ever seen.

"It was horrible. I've never seen cars mangled so much before."

It took two trucks almost two hours to straighten out the Knaggs car and allow police and ambulance men to free the body of the dead driver. The children were thrown from the car in the impact.

Police said their bodies had been removed from the scene a few minutes before their mother arrived.

Mrs. Pelletier said Mrs. Knaggs worked at the cafe to get extra money so that she could buy the children clothes and a few luxuries. The family had bought the car recently to drive to Winnipeg for a relative's wedding June 30.

Treated in hospital for bruises and cuts were Ray Skelly, 21, Ray Yule, 21, Winston McRae, 21 and Rafael Jollet, 18, all nearby residents, all occupants of the second car.

Two SA Terrorists Executed; Jouhaud's Life is Spared

CP from Reuters — AP

PARIS — Two Algerian Secret Army terrorists, Claude Piegts and Albert Dovecar, were executed by a firing squad at an army fort on the outskirts of Paris early Wednesday.

Following reports of rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots heard from the Trou d' Enfer (Hell Hole) Fort just ouside Paris early Wednesday morning there had been speculation that one of the executed persons might have been former general Edmond Jouhaud, sentenced to death as No. 2 leader of the Algerian Secret Army.

This was discouted by his lawyer, Yves Perrussel. Awakened by a reporter at his home, he said: "You see, I'm still here. It was not Jouhaud."

Lawyers of condemned persons are required by law to attend an execution.

MAY SPARE JOUHAUD

President de Gualle indicated Wednesday he may spare Jouhaud's life for the sake of reconcilliation and France's own national interest.

A government spokesman reflected the president's attitude in reporting on a cabinet session which discussed Jouhaud's dramatic appeal for an end to the campaign of terror waged by the European Secret Army Organization against Algerian independence.

De Gaulle, the spokesman reported, said men and events should be judged from the viewpoint of the nation's higher interests.

But the spokesman avoided any direct connection between that remark and the death sentence now hanging over Jouhaud. Jouhaud's fate is in de Gaulle's hands alone.

Jouhaud, acknowledging with chagrin that Algerian independence now is virtually an accomplished fact, wrote a letter pleading with the self-professed chief of the Secret Army, former Gen. Raoul Salan, to join his appeal for a halt in its murderous attacks on Algeria's moslem population.

Both Salan and Jouhaud were captured and brought to trial for their roles in the short-lived generals' putsch of 1961 and for their subsequent leadership of the Secret Army. But while Jouhaud, the second in command, was sentenced to death, the chief got off with a life sentence because of "extenuating circumstances."

Jouhaud exhausted his last legal recourse earlier this week when the supreme court denied his application for a new trial. This meant that only executive clemency, commuting the sentence to life imprisonment, could save him.

A highly - placed official said de Gaulle apparently has not made a final decision on Jouhaud's fate.

There was still no sign of Salan's response to Jouhaud's letter.

ALGIERS (Reuters) — The extremist European Secret Army Organization announced in a clandestine broadcast Wednesday night that it is "resuming its freedom of action beginning tonight."

The move apparently opened the way for resumption of Secret Army terrorist killings and bombings in Algeria.

The announcer, who identified himself as the Secret Army high command spokesman, said negotiations between representatives of the Moslem and European communities had reached an impasse.

The announcer said "the talks started by the Secret Army have been sabotaged by the Gaullist administration.

"We find ourselves today in an impasse because we cannot accept that the future of the European community should find its only guarantees in the Evian (Franco-Algerian ceasefire) agreements and that it should come under the yoke of the Algerian army of national liberation.

"As a result, the Secret Army is resuming its freedom of action beginning tonight. We ask our commandos to resume operations aimed above all at economic objectives."

The announcer also said that former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud's letter appealing for an end to Secret Army killing in Algeria was false.

The letter from the former No. 2 Secret Army leader, under sentence of death, was made public in France Tuesday night.

The announcer added, however, that the reopening of negotiations between the Moslems and Europeans is always possible.

The Secret Army truce had been scheduled to last until tonight.

EXECUTIVES MEET

Earlier, the Europeans and the Moslm-led Algerian interim executive me5 kor the third consecutive day.

There were no terrocis5 killings reported in Algiers during the day.

A dark spot in the generally bright.picture in Algeria came from Oran, the western Algerian port city, which has been a hotbed of Secret Army activity and headquarters of a military faction that recognizes no truces.

Unconfirmed reports said between 10 and 20 civilians were wounded when police fired at cars in two separate incidents in Oran during the afternoon.

Later, the press service at Rocher Noires, the administrative headquarters near Algiers, said seven Secret Army gunmen had been killed and five others arrested in a security operation in Oran. One policeman was wounded.

DEMONSTRATE BELIEF ELEVATION SYSTEM FAILED — KILLING 130

PARIS (AP)—Air France officials demonstrated Wednesday their belief that a failure of the elevation control system may have caused Sunday's tragic jetliner crash that took the lives of 130 persons.

New instructions, it was learned at Orly field, have been issued to the line's Boeing 707 jet pilots on pre-flight testing of the movable horizontal tail surfaces which determine a craft's up and down direction. The instructions were issued Monday.

Previously, according to standard regulations, these controls were tested as part of the check list while the craft was standing still before the air terminal, and again at the end of the runway just before the takeoff run. Under the new instructions, pilots are to test the control surfaces again early in the takeoff run when the craft reaches a ground speed of about 110 miles an hour.

If anything seems amiss on this third test the pilots are immediately to cut their engines, brake the craft, and cancel the flight. At this point, the craft still has enough runway left to halt.

MAINTAIN SILENCE

Officials in charge of the investigation maintained a tight silence on their findings, but Orly field sources said investigators had virtually confirmed that the ill-fated craft had attained and even exceeded normal takeoff speed Sunday.

Their conclusion was that the engines were all functioning properly but that the pilot suddenly found his elevators would not work. This could be why the pilot braked the craft and vainly tried to halt its rush.

Airfield workers pointed out that under the previous preflight testing system, the pilot tested the controls at the end of the runway, but then did not employ them again until the actual takeoff when the plane was going about 180 miles an hour.

At such a point, considering the speed and the length of presentday runways, it is impossible to halt the craft without damage.

Collapses In Court

QUESNEL (CP) — A middle-aged man charged with attempted murder collapsed while being questioned by the crown prosecutor Wednesday at the spring assizes here.

Ivan Brown, about 45, apparently suffered a heart attack while being questioned by D. F. McNeill and was taken to hospital.

Brown is charged with the attempted murder of William Peter Galt at Cinema, 20 miles north of Quesnel, Christmas Eve.

Before Brown's attack in the courtroom, witnesses testified that Mr. and Mrs. Galt were visiting the Brown family Dec. 24 when the accused asked Galt for some money he said was owing to him.

The witnesses testified Brown was told it was not available. At this point, court was told, the accused said "Wait a minute, I have something for you." Witnesses said he ran back to the house and returned with a rifle.

Two shots were fired, one of which hit Galt's auto.

The trial will resume next Tuesday, either in court or in the hospital.

Commie Leaders Meet

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Top Communist leaders from seven European countries began "economic summit" meeting here Wednesday. The talks were announced several days ago but official sources would not confirm they had started until Wednesday evening.

Informed Soviet sources said the leaders met in the Kremlin.

Forecasts from Communist and Western sources said these topics would likely be on the agenda for the meeting of "Comecon," the Soviet bloc's council for economic aid:

1. A Communist counterblast to the Western European Common Market, including a restatement of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call last week for the formation of a world-wide "non-discriminatory" trade organization.

2. The drafting of a "tighten your belt" program for the Communist countries, dictated by a decision to try to keep ahead of the United States in the nuclear and rocket arms race.

3. Further consideration of the already-launched co-ordination of 20-year plans of Communist countries.

Will Be Ghost Town If Sands Not Developed

CALGARY (CP)—An Anglican minister told the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board Wednesday that if the Athabasca oil sands are not developed soon a community of 1200 may become a ghost town.

Rev. Peter Harris was the first witness heard at a hearing into an application by Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. of New York for the right to commercially produce oil from the sands.

Mr. Harris, who appeared on behalf of the town of McMurray, 150 miles northeast of Edmonton, and the community's chamber of commerce, said transportation is the basic industry in the area.

Completion of construction on the Pine Point Railway will mean an end to the transportation industry and allied business. The prospect then is that the community of 1200 will become a welfare problem and $1,750,000 invested in businesses will be lost.

He said development of the oil sands, which are believed to contain the largest reserves of oil in the world, will provide work for 2200 men during construction

THOMPSON RAPS NDP

WINNIPEG (CP) — Robert N. Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, says the New Democratic Party has failed to "strike a chord" in its federal election campaign.

"The NDP approach is just not going over at all," he said at a press conference here Wednesday before leaving to address an evening election rally in Minnedosa, Man.

Mr. Thompson said a weak point in the NDP platform is its obvious satisfaction in the current status quo of the Canadian government.

On the other hand, he said, enthusiasm is generally mounting in Social Credit principles.

"In Quebec, this enthusiasm is running wild," he said. "And in Alberta, if we don't take every seat, at least 15 of them will be ours."

Mr. Thompson said that in two years the Lesage Liberal administration in Quebec has doubled the debt in that province.

"The current dissatisfaction among the people there is not going to turn them back to the Liberals," he said. "Social Credit is their obvious alternative."

Legion Wants Red Ensign Recognized

HALIFAX (CP) — The Royal Canadian Legion decided Wednesday to have its Dominion Command organize a publicity campaign designed to have the Red Ensign recognized officially by the government as the Canadian flag.

The decision received almost unanimous approval from delegates to the Legion's 19th biennial convention.

Earlier Wednesday, the convention withdrew a resolution seeking government approval "without delay" of a flag recommended by a 1946 joint Senate-Commons committee.

The flag recommended by the Senate - Commons committee would substitute a maple leaf for the coat of arms in the Red Ensign. The maple leaf would be outlined in a white border and would be larger than the Union Jack in the upper corner of the fag.

Delegates approved a resolution which would have drug trafficking designated as a capital offence.

Queen Mother Arrives Today

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Mother Elizabeth flies to Montreal today to begin a 10-day visit to Canada.

She will be with about 100 other passengers on a scheduled flight of Trans-Canada Air Lines, the first time she has ever travelled on a commercial airliner with other passengers.

The first-class section of the DC-8 airliner will be reserved for the Queen Mother and 10 of her party of 16.

She will be greeted on her arrival at Dorval airport by Governor-General Georges Vanier, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Quebec officials.

Her principal engagements are concerned with the centenary celebrations in Montreal of The Black Watch, the Royal Highland Regiment of Canada of which she is colonel-in-chief.

She is due in Toronto June 16 to attend the Queen's Plate horse race.

It is the Queen Mother's third trip to Canada. The first, as Queen and accompanied by King George VI, was in 1939, the second, as Queen Mother, was in 1954.

Playing With Gun; Young Lad Injured

BURNS LAKE (CP) — An 11-year-old boy suffered leg, arm and head injuries when a .30-calibre rifle he and two others were playing with discharged.

Frank Walters was in serious condition in hospital here Wednesday night.

He was rushed to hospital by Clarence Durbin, a neighbor, who had to round up a ferry crew in order to cross Francois Lake.

The boy was playing on the floor with a brother and a cousin in his home at Grassy Plain, 30 miles south of here, when the gun discharged.

The bullet passed through his left leg and right arm and creased his skull.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walters, were visiting neighbors at the time.

EAST GUARD FLEES

BERLIN (Reuters) — An East Germa nborder guard climbed the East-West border wall and fled into West Berlin Tuesday night, police reported Wednesday. Shots were heard at two different parts of the border and at another point a man, woman and child climbed the wall in the opposite direction — into East Berlin.

JAIL FORMER NAZI

VERDEN, West Germany (Reuters) — Heinrich Wessel, 57-year-old former adjutant of Sachsenhausen Nazi concentration camp, was sentenced Wednesday to seven years at hard labor for aiding in the murder of 16 persons and the manslaughter of one. He has been under arrest for more than two years, which will be deducted from the sentence.

SIGN WHALE PACT

LONDON (AP) — Five nations Wednesday signed a four-season agreement sharing the permitted whaling catch in the Antarctic Ocean. The accord binds the five — Britain, Japan, Russia, Norway and Holland — to respect the limits my the International Whaling Commission and sets forth the percentages of the total catch allotted to each country.

LONGTIME AIR MYSTERY ENDS WITH DISCOVERY

TORONTO (CP) — The skeletons of hockey star Bill Barilko and Dr. Henry Hudson were found Wednesday in an 11-year-old plane wreckage north of Cochrane, Lands and Forests Minister J. W. Spooner of Ontario said Wednesday night.

Mr. Sponer said members of his staff had identified the wreckage as the yellow Fairchild 24 pontoon plane which disappeared with the two men aboard on a flight from Rupert's House to Timmins Aug. 26, 1951.

Part of the plane's registration number — CFXT — was still visible.

Skeletons of the two men were found in the wreckage.

The discovery in the Northern Ontario bushland, ended one of Canada's longest-standing aviation mysteries.

A helicopter crew of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, who spotted the glint of metal in scrubby wilderness, led searchers to the wreck about 45 air miles north of here.

CONFIRMS IDENTITY

Mr. Spooner said there could be no doubt the remains were those of the former Toronto Maple Leafs hockey star and his fishing companion, a Timmins dentist.

Frank MacDougall, Mr. Spooner's deputy, said relatives of the long-missing pair were notified immediately.

Suspicions grew that the mystery was near an end when helicopter pilot Gary Fields first detected the gleaming wreckage last Thursday.

No landing was made at the time. After the helicopter returned to its base at this community 40 miles north of Timmins, officials realized the wreck was on the line of flight the Fairchild, with Dr. Hudson at the controls, would have taken had it been on course during the 236-mile flight from Rupert House to Timmins.

HAD NO BEARINGS

The search, with additional helicopters and fixed - wing planes, began the next day. It was complicated by the fact that no bearings had been taken on the original sighting because it was in an area almost devoid of landmarks.

It was Fields who found the wreck again Wednesday.

He succeeded where all previous efforts failed. The original search, perhaps the most massive in Canadian history, had cost more than $250,000 and involved 1,345 hous of flying by 17 RCAF aircraft.

The incident prompted the lands and forests department to close 100,000 square miles of hinterland to non-resident fishermen and hunters.

The April before the ill-fated flight, defenceman Barilko had scored the winning goal in Toronto's Stanley Cup championship. During the summer he went to Timmins to fish with his friend, Dr. Hudson.

WOONSOCKET, R.I. (AP)—A junior crime wave of adult proportions was reported by Woonsocket police to have been solved Wednesday with the arrests of three youths, 13 to 14 years old. They were alleged to have committed 72 thefts and acts of vandalism in which losses totalled thousands of dollars.

As the youths were being led from the police station, after questioning, to be taken to family court, a policeman noticed a bulge in one of the boy's pockets.

Out came a small transistor radio belonging to one of the sergeants who had questioned the boy.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—Two weathermen who planned to play golf Tuesday called off the match when they both predicted rain.

But the skies were clear all day, and Maj. Charles Clay, meteorologist at Kincheloe Air Force Base, and Art Meyers, of the Sault Ste. Marie Weather Bureau, stayed at their charts.

OTTAWA (CP)—What's a guy supposed to do when he and a bird want to establish a home in the same place? Build a duplex?

No, the plans call for a single house, and builder Robert Campeau wants to put one there — in the Riverside Park development of Ottawa South.

But the bird, a kildeer, was there first, smack in the middle of where the house is going to be.

And this is no bird-brained bird.

Every time someone approaches her nest, she unleashes a variety of acts that would put the most proficient female sit-down striker to shame. She drags a wing, pretending it's broken.

When this wears thin, she goes on an exhaustion kick. This involves gasping and panting, with a distressing dose of screaming.

She has a mate who circles around her screaming blue murder.

For two weeks workers have watched her, wondering when they can begin pouring concrete.

"We'll just have to wait," says project manager Jean Marc Prud'homme. "It would be criminal to move the nest because the mother will never return."

Just how long the wait will be is anybody's guess.

BRITISH RECOMMENDATION FOR SOLVING PROBLEMS ADOPTED

PARIS (Reuters)—The seven-nation Western European Union Wednesday adopted a British recommendation for solving Commonwealth problems in European Common Market negotiations.

The union links Britain and the six Common Market countries—France, Italy, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The recommendation said:

1. "Exceptional provisions" should be worked out to cover a transitional period in favor of imported Commonwealth foodstuffs, especially from the temperate zones (Canada, Australia and New Zealand).

2. After this transitional period there should be product-by-product negotiations of tariff agreements "taking into account the world commodity agreements for foodstuffs which will be sought" by the market.

These points were part of an amendment proposed Tuesday by Conservative Maurice Macmillan, son of Britain's Prime Minister, and James Scott-Hopkins, also a British Conservative.

The WEU assembly ended its two-day debate on the state of Britain's negotiations with the Common Market and on Europe's future political structure, and began a debate on defence matters.

Earlier, the assembly recorded its preference for an integrated "democratic union of the peoples of Europe" instead of the inter-government "union of stags" favored by France.

The assembly recommended that the proposed European political union should "enable the competence of the European community to be extended to the fields of foreign policy, defence and currency," and that it should "take the form of a community institution, with an executive independent of the member states and responsible to an elected assembly and ministerial council voting in some cases by qualified majority."

The political union should in no case "endanger the community character of the institutions set up by the Treaties of Paris (coal and steel pool) and Rome (Common Market), the assembly said.

ACCUSES BETANCOURT

HAVANA (AP)—The Communist newspaper Hoy accused President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela today of a crime in putting down the rebels at Puerto Cabello and warned "the struggle in Venezuela has hardly begun." Half of Hoy's front page was taken up with the Venezuelan revolt.

SENDS CUBA TRACTORS

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Romania has shipped the first of 1,500 especially built tractors ordered by Cuba, Havana radio reported today. The tractors, designed for the Cuban climate, also are equipped for use with the automatic sugar cane cutters Cuba expects to build before next year's harvest is ready, the radio said. Romania supplied Cuba with 2,000 tractors last year.

Kootenay River Players Bring Home Top Scrolls

BARBARA DAHLQUIST

KENNEDY FACCHINA

Two mute witnesses to how large a bite "the small fish in the big pond" possesses hang in South Slocan today.

Just back from the inter-provincial circuit tour, including the B.C. One Act Drama Festival at Dawson Creek, are the seven members of the Kootenay River Players of South Slocan. Their drama booty includes two award-winning scrolls.

Mrs. Barbara Dahlquist, a thespian of high standing in the West Kootenay for the past several years, gained provincial recognition at Dawson Creek over the weekend. She was the sole woman awarded a scroll at the festival.

Her male lead in the play, "The Mask", Kennedy Facchina of Thrums, was one of three men awarded scrolls.

The two Kootenay River Players are recognized as the best actor and best actress of the festival. Scrolls are now presented instead of cups.

"THE BEST"

Their recognition is supported by the remarks of adjudicator Hubert Whittaker, drama critic o fthe Toronto Globe and Mail. In presenting the scrolls to the two main characters of "The Mask", he said, "This is it. They are a pair. They put on the best performance."

The play, itself, did not join the honored circle, as previously believed, mainly due to a technical error.

The only other member of the cast, Samuel Fisher, was highly recommended by the adjudicator fo rhis performance in a non-speaking role.

The two awards are the first ever won by West Kootenay thespians on the provincial level.

The adevnturous band travelled the 2,000 miles in two cars and a truck. The latter carried all their stage props. They travelled to Dawson Creek via the national and provincial parks and Edmonton, then returned via Prince George and the Okanagan Valley, arriving home early Wednesday morning.

B.C. Museum Director Invited To Nelson Opening

Director of Provincial Museums, Dr. Clifford G. Carl of Victoria has been invited to be the guest of honor at the official opening of the Kootenay Museum Association's Lake Street quarters June 16.

The museum unoficially opened several months ago but official opening was delayed until the more pleasant warm weather of the summer months.

Silverton Boy Drowns in Lake

SILVERTON — Michael John Warren, 4½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Warren, drowned in Slocan Lake Tuesday afternoon.

The tragedy occurred not far from the Selkirk Hotel, which is operated by the child's parents.

RCMP recovered Michael's body late Tuesday in the course of dragging operations. The boy drowned in 40 feet of water. An inquiry is to be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren suspected the boy had fallen into the water when they saw his ball floating on the water immediately out from the CPR wharf. RCMP said they believe the boy was trying to retrieve the ball, with which he had been noticed playing by several Silverton residents, when he slipped from the wharf.

Besides his parents, he is survided by two brothers, Richard and Brian, and three sisters, Wendy, Susan and Beverley.

Funeral service will be held in Silverton Friday afternoon.

Large Audience Hears Boys' Choir

During the recent Kootenay Music Festival, adjudicator Jan Van Der Gucht commented on how fortunate Nelson was to have such an excellent boys' choir.

This self evident truth was borne out Wednesday night as 50 voices of the Nelson Boys Choir under the direction of Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson entertained a nearly filled house at the Capitol Theatre.

The choir in its 31st year under Mrs. Ferguson's direction presented its final concert of the season. The proceeds from the program are destined for children's charities.

Spliced throughout the boys' performances were solos by some of the choir members and Meredith Pond, Greg Cook, Martin Horswill and Roland Anderson. Accompanist was Beverley Matheson.

The Junior choir started off and put the audience in a receptive mood with "Merry Minstrell" and "Dutch Sailor Song."

David McElroy was accompanied by the junior boys in Rogers and Hammerstein's "Doh-Re-Mi" from the Sound of Music.

"Alexander" by H. Brewer was the final selection by the juniors.

They were joined by the senior boys singing "The Tramping Song," a Hebridean air.

Part two of the program by the seniors included "Come Ever Smiling Liberty," by Handel and "Thanks Be to God." Soloist Ross Ogilvie sang "O for the Wings of a Dove" by Mendelssohn and Doug Walkley, Don Stewart and David McElroy combined to sing "Lift Up Thine Eyes." John Campbell sang "Angel Ever Bright and Fair" and Don Stewart, accompanied by the choir, sang a selection from the "Sanctus" by Gounod.

Following the intermission, Meredith Pond and Greg Cook presented a humorous number called the "Deaf Woman's Courtship."

Martin Horswill, filling in for David Herbison of Argenta, sang "Tell Me Not of a Lovely Lass" by Forsythe and he followed with Beethoven's First movement sonata, opus 10" on the piano.

Two tenor solos were presented by Roland Anderson; "Il Mio Tesoro Intanto" from Don Giovanni by Mozart and "La Donna e mobile" from Rigoletto by Verdi. He was accompainied by Mrs. Ferguson.

The senior choir returned with two bright numbers, "Charlie is My Darling" and "The Tiger." These selections won 90 points each at the music festival. Doug Walkley then soloed with "Trade Winds" and the boys sang an old Italian folk song, "Marianina."

Don Stewart and Ken McBride then teamed to sing "Cradle Sang" by Mozart. David McElroy and the choir then sang "Climb Every Mountain," from the Sound of Music.

For an encore, the boys rounded out a full evening of entertainment with "Juna."

More than 150,000,000 tons of rice is consumed each year, says the UN Food and Agriculture Organization.

To Explain VLA Changes

At the general meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion tonight an official of Veterans Land Administration will be in attendance to explain the changes in the Veterans' Land Act and the Small Holdings Act.

After the end of World War I the Soldiers Settlement Act was passed, to enable veterans to become full time farmers. It was felt that while basically sound the Act left much to be desired.

At the end of World War II the Act was re - vamped and the Veterans Land Act was passed. This had two sections; one dealing with full time farming, the second with small holdings.

The small holdings were designed to allow veterans to supplement their normal earnings and applied especially to those who were handicapped to some extent.

Originally the minimum required was half and acre, but this was later amended to read two acres.

Owing to the difficult terrain in this part of the country it was almost impossible to obtain suitable lots and difficult for a person engaged part time in industry to farm it properly.

About six years ago the Nelson branch of The Legion prepared a brief on the subject and presented it at a convention of the West Kootenay zone. This was approved and forwarded through the proper channels to the government at Ottawa.

For five years this resolution was forwarded to Ottawa and a short time ago the plea was heard and the acreage required was reduced to half an acre.

Since that time further legislation has been passed giving veterans a better opportunity of availing themselves of these benefits, and to inform those interested the Legion arranged to have an expert attend the next general meeting.

Subject: "LIFTING OF CHARTER AND EFFECTS"

Read Lauds IUMMSW, Details Suggested Senate Reforms

TRAIL — Mine - Mill union's decision not to endorse any political party in the present federal election was lauded here Tuesday night by Social Credit candidate Les Read.

Speaking in the Mine-Mill hall at a public meeting, Mr. Read held a copy of the latest issue of The Commentator, Local 480's newspaper. He quoted the local's president, Jerry Flanagan, as writing: "The Canadian Labor Congress will be self-destroyed and buried a long time before Mine-Mill violates the rights of its members."

Commenting on the oft-repeated remark that the CLC will try to raid Trail, the Socred candidate waved an election pamphlet issued in support of New Democratic Party candidate H. W. Herridge.

Mr. Read noted that Mr. Herridge is house-leader of the NDP, "a party fully supported by the CLC who are out to create trouble in Trail," and remarked on the fact that the election pamphlet "delights" in announcing Mr. Herridge's affiliation with the NDP.

"Mine-Mill has again shown leadership and unionist responsibility in this election by officially staying out of politics," continued the former mayor of Trail. "Certainly a union man in Trail cannot support a party which is out to destroy his union."

Speaking on Senate reform, the Social Credit standard - bearer said the Senate should not be abolished.

Mr. Read said his party proposed the following plan for Senate reform:

1. Senators should be relieved of office unless they appear at least 50 per cent of the Senate sittings.

2. Senate appointments should not be for life, but for a 10-year period, with possibility of re-appointment for a further 10-year period.

3. Federal government appointments to the Senate should be made on the basis of senatorial districts.

4. One half of all Senatorial appointments should be made upon recommendations by the provincial governments, providing closer co-ordination between federal and provincial governments.

Log Jam, Junior Club Site Topics at Meet

CRESTON — The final meeting of the Creston Rod and Gun club until next September took place last Monday evening with president Homer Eddy in the chair. Mr. Eddy introduced Herb Legg, Jr. as new secretary for the club. The previous secretary has resigned from the organization.

It was reported at the meeting that the Summit Creek log jam is now partially under control, with head waters flowing in several o fthe original channels. The bottom land surrounding the jam appears safe from possible flooding at the present time.

N. Gidluck reported on progress being made concerning the proposed site for junior members. He stated that the outlook at the present time was favorable and that Mrs. Snyder was very pleased with the Club's plans. No definite statements will be made until legal connections have been completed between Mrs. Snyder and the Club.

Clint Currier reported to the meeting that some 22 junior members had written examinations for their crests. Four of these members were from West Creston. Successful members will be presented with their crests at the first September meeting. The papers are now at Victoria for marking.

The crow shoot was poorly attended, however those participating were well rewarded for their efforts. Jimmy Lochhead stated that he is at present attempting to organizing a skunk shoot while the high water lasts. Further notice will be released concerning this matter.

The club is considering stocking the Creston area with pheasants sometime in the near future. Letters have been sent to various officials asking for further information.

President Homer Eddy told the meeting that he is still awaiting further details concerning the Duck Lake Project. He also stated that A. Sutcliffe will represent the club on Frank Shannon's committee, whic his investigating the matter.

Following adjournment, Homer Eddy and Jim Lochhead presented three interesting films to the audience. The films dealt with mittee, which is investigating the tenay districts and recent forest fires in the Kaslo district. The members noted timeliness of this film was because of the approaching fire season.

First Aiders Win $600 Prize Money

TRAIL — First aid proficiency has won three employees of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company $600 in prize money.

The money is the prize for winning the coveted Blaylock Rose Bowl — emblematic of first aid supremacy among all Cominco employees. This year it was won by a team representing the Con Mine at Yellowknife, N.W.T. Their win had a two-fold effect, marking the first time a Con Mine first aid team had won the trophy and the first time a team from other than Trail, Kimberley or Calgary captured top-honors. Members of the 1962 winning team are N. W. Boss, captain, G. G. Brisch and R. S. Smithies, coach.

A total of 11 teams were entered in the annual competition — six from Trail and five from other operations. Division winners were: Smelter Machinists, Scotty McKinnon, captain, Dieter Grieser and John Hanik, Coach, for the Metallurgical Division; Phosphate Repair, C. W. Evans, captain, Ira McAuley and Les Thorington, coach for the Chemical and Fertilizers Division; Tadanac Machine Shop, Sam Anselmo, captain, Doug Bagshaw and Renato Bomben, coach, for the Engineering Division. The division winners were each awarded $300 for their successful performances.

Team captains were advised in writing of placement and judge's commentary of their performance. Harry Howe of the Sullivan Concentrator Safety Department visited each operation to judge the competition.

Accident Victim Recovering

ROSSLAND — Described "in good condition" by his doctor, Ronald Roth of Rossland is recovering from injuries suffered when he was pinned under his 1962 model car when it careened over the bank out of control near the Kinnaird junction of the Blueberry-Paulson highway.

Mr. Roth, who suffered from multiple scratches, bruises, a fractured vertebra and fractured ankle, was owner of the car but was not driving at the time of the accident. Driver was Gerry Zanussi and the other passenger was Bill Robertson, both of Rossland.

The car, which early Sunday morning ran into the edge of new pavement and then went over the bank out of control was described by RCMP as a total wreck.

Mr. Roth was taken to Castlegar and District Hospital for early treatment and was then transferred to Mater Misericordiae Hospital in Rossland.

Discontent in West Kootenay, Too

Not very much is heard of Social Credit in the federal election and to most people its chances of electing more than a few candidates is slim indeed. While both British Columbia and Alberta have Social Credit governments there seems to be no great popular enthusiasm for the cause federally and it does not seem possible that the other provinces will respond favorably to the blandishments of Mr. Bennett and other Social Crediters.

In Quebec, which tends to vote Liberal and to stand solidly behind tradition, Real Caouette, the Social Credit star performer in that province, has been bringing politics to a boil. He has been campaigning with all the fervor of a revivalist with country-style barn dances throughout the rural areas and thousands of farmers and factory workers turn out to hear him.

Politicians are at a loss to understand this sudden interest in Social Credit in this French-speaking province. They can see that no one knows much about the Social Credit theories and yet the crowds show an increasing attendance at meetings. The answer is probably that the province is suffering from a discontent with the Liberals and Conservatives and are seeking an alternative, and it would seem they are more interested in Social Credit than the NDP.

Discontent is an important factor in elections. If the Conservatives lose it will be because of discontent with conditions at the present time. If the Liberals win it will not be because their policies are so different from their opponents but because there is no other choice.

We sense there is considerable discontent in West Kootenay, too. There is discontent of the forces that have been factors in the delaying of Columbia River development. There is discontent because many feel the greater good of the community at large is in conflict with special interests who would delay the development for years to come.

Our previous MP, now campaigning as an NDP candidate, has been a leader in urging people to block the High Arrow dam, and in so doing he has led people in Ottawa and elsewhere to believe that there is a unanimous opinion against the High Arrow in West Kootenay.

The fact is that people of the West Kootenay are not unanimously against High Arrow but rather unanimously in favor of development of the Columbia in order to secure a better future for themselves and their children in the area.

There is only a division of opinion as to how the Columbia should be developed. It took more than 16 years to get a treaty on paper that stood a chance of giving both sides at least part of their demands. To renegotiate would mean many more years. Years of floods on the Columbia at Castlegar and Trail, years of no flood control on the Kootenay River to protect Creston and Balfour.

The people of Kootenay West are awakening to the situation and discontent is showing. They want a man in Ottawa who will speak for them on this question of Columbia development, and one who will put his efforts into bringing about the signing of the Columbia River Treaty.

Same Hard Facts of Life

In the decade 1950-60, Canada gained a total of 84,356 professionally trained people from immigration and lost 42,014 professionally trained through emigration. So with a net gain of 42,342 to the pool of brainpower and skills, there appears to be every evidence that this country is ahead of the game.

But for business, for educators, and especially for the federal government which assumes responsibility for national well-being and growth, there are a number of disquieting trends at work under the surface.

First. The trend is toward smaller net gains in recent years. The number of professionals now coming into Canada is currently only about one-third as large as it was in the mid-1950s. The biggest declines have been among accountants, architects, chemists, draughtsmen, and engineers.

Second. The number of professionally trained Canadians who decide to seek work elsewhere is rising. In 1960 about 50% more than the number which emigrated annually in the earlier part of the decade left the country.

Third. During the past, immigration has contributed very heavily, in[illegible], to the pool of professionals be[illegible] in a number of professions, [illegible]comers were as numerous as new [illegible]uates. But now, in three areas—[illegible]neers, draughtsmen and nurses [illegible]here is a net migration loss and this means many more Canadians will have to be trained to meet this country's needs in these areas.

Slow growth in the Canadian economy has one predictable result: The better equipped take off in ever-larger numbers for the U.S. in search of wider opportunity. And there is no compensating inflow from the U.S.

The Economics and Research Branch of Ottawa's Department of Labor states:

"Looking at the outflow of Canadian professionals to the U.S., there is no denying that this movement constitutes a severe loss of Canadian talent and ability. The loss of a Canadian professional is not necessarily offset by the gain of a qualified professional from Europe or elsewhere since we are losing a worker who is acclimatized to this country and who is familiar with Canadian industrial techniques and ways of doing things."

Can we afford to export the professionally trained in growing numbers when the inflow is slackening?

Clearly, Canada has neither the educational facilities nor the reservoir of talent to do this for long and hope to survive with distinction.

Can we prosper in a violently competitive trade world without an increasingly skilled work force?

Plainly, the answer is no.

There is, in a free society, only one way to keep Canadians at home and to attract talented outsiders. It is this. Get this country back on the rails to rapid growth.

That is the biggest challenge before this country — and very much the business of all the politicians, whatever their party politics.

—Financial Post.

Package Deal

The package deal has reached Las Vegas, we are informed, and the traveller may have a winter weekend there at $11 a night. This is represented to include accommodation at a first class hotel, a midnight floor show and "unlimited access to the hotel's one-armed bandits." At the package price, this last presumably means the guest may go into the room where slot machines are kept and stand quite close to one, providing he makes no attempt to touch it.

CNR., CPR., and Pacific Coast Negotiate New Rates

EDMONTON (CP) — A CNR freight official said here Tuesday a reduction of 25 per cent in liveweight livestock rates on shipments between Edmonton and Calgary and the Pacific Coast has been negotiated.

The agreement involved the CNR, CPR and Pacific Meat Company of Vancouver and the rates will come into effect by the end of June.

Contracts between the railways and other coast packinghouses probably will follow, the official said.

The official added that the new rates will run as low as 91 cents a hundredweight. The previous rate was $1.23 a hundredweight on a 20,000 pound load minimum.

The new schedule will be $1.03 ½ a cwt on an 18,000 pound minimum, 99 ½ cents on a 21,000 pound minimum, 95 cents on a 26,000 pound minimum and 91 cents on a 30,000 pound minimum.

The new rates will apply only to five - car lots, each car charged according to its weight minimum.

The agreement still must be signed by Pacific Meat and then sent to the board of transport commissioners, the official said. Rate changes normally take effect 20 days after being received by the board.

H. D. McCallum, president of the Edmonton Livestock Exchange, said reduction of liveweight livestock rates between Edmonton and the west coast would be a good thing for the Edmonton market.

They would make liveweight shipments to the coast more competitive with dressedweight costs.

Under the current rates Edmonton packers say it is more profitable to slaughter and dress cattle here and ship the cattle to Vancouver for processing.

Packers in southern Alberta Monday expressed concern about reduction of 39 per cent in liveweight cattle rates between Calgary and Vancouver. They said the reduction jeopardized the Alberta. Packinghouse industry and the jobs of 2,000 workers throughout the province.

The reduction followed complaints by coast firms that unless a revision was made in liveweight rates the West Coast industry would be crippled.

In Calgary a CPR spokesman said Pacific Meat is the only one of four Vancouver packing plants which has accepted the new freight rate offer.

The same rate has been offered to Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. Canada Packers Ltd. and Clappison's Meats but they have not accepted it, said the CPR spokesman.

A spokesman for Canada Packers said the company did not request the measure, which he described as a "subsidy."

An official of Alberta Western Beef Company at Medicine Hat said the move by the railways was "discriminatory." It subsidizes the West Coast meat packing industries which compete with the Alberta buyers' market.

In Vancouver president Jack Diamond of Pacific Meat said he took exception to the term "subsidy."

He said under the old structure a 20,000-pound car of live cattle cost $1.15 a hundredweight or $230. Under the new rate structure, geared for heavier car loads, if a shipper can get 30,000 pounds in a car the rate is 91 cents or $273.

"If the railroad is making an extra $43 per car, they're not subsidizing anybody."

Interpreting The News

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Secret Army Organization appears to be running out of time in its desperate campaign to keep Algeria French.

Less than four weeks remain before the self - determination referendum in which the 9,000,000 Moslems in the huge North African territory are expected to swamp the 1,000,000 or so European settlers.

The referendum is scheduled for July 1. This is the date the Moslems have been waiting for —holding on grimly in the face of Secret Army attempts to provoke their retaliation and destroy the peace accord worked out with the French in March.

If the referendum goes off as scheduled, the way will agmost certainly be cleared for Algerian independence and the return from Tunisia of the insurgent provisional government, along with the 40,000 tough troops now stationed in Tunisia and Morocco.

FIRMER HAND

They can be counted on to put down terrorism with a much harder hand than has been used by the French-Moslem provisional executive now in control.

French officials say the military and political leaders of the Secret Army are seriously divided, with the politicians urging negotiations with the Moslems and the military wing pressing for continuation of the terror campaign.

The exodus of European settlers, which averaged about 1,000 a day during April and May, now is reported running at about 8,000 a day. Last Saturday alone 67 refugee planes took off from Algiers and Oran.

While this outflow could deal a damaging blow to the Algerian economy, now in European hands, it also indicates a lessening faith in the Secret Army's chances of success.

CALL TRUCE

Most encouraging of all, perhaps, was the Secret Army decision last Thursday to call a one - sided truce and its continued attempt to complete negotiations with the Moslem leadership even after the truce expired at midnight Monday.

While its exact strength has never been known, some French officials have estimated that it now has a nucleus of only 200 terrorists, actively backed by some 15,000 Europeans.

Only a few weeks ago the Secret Army warned of an action "hard violent, terrible and definitive" that would "change the course of events" before the July 1 referendum.

Now there appears to be doubt as to whether the organization still has the strength to mount such an action.

Liberal Candidate Dies In Hospital

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Albert Lavigne, Liberal candidate for Stormont in the June 18 federal election, died in hospital here Tuesday night.

Mr. Lavigne, 53, suffered a heart attack last Sunday.

Mr. Lavigne's death forces an indefinite postponement of the vote in Stormont.

Mr. Lavigne won the Stormont nomination in 1954 after Liberal member Lionel Chevrier resigned his seat to accept an appointment as president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority.

He captured the seat in the 1954 byelection, retaining it in the 1957 federal election. He was defeated in a bid to retain the seat in the 1958 general election by Progressive Conservative Grant Campbell.

Jouhaud's Execution Apparently Postponed

PARIS (Reuters) — Former General Edmond Jouhaud has apparently staved off his execution for the time being with an appeal to the terrorist Secret Army Organization to end violence in Algeria immediately.

Jouhaud, former No. 2 man in the Secret Army, appealed in a letter to his imprisoned chief, former General Raou lSalan, to order "OAS action to cease as soon as possible." Salan's reaction to the letter was not known.

Full dawn broke over Fresnes Prison without an announcement that Jouhaud had been executed.

The Supreme Court rejected Jouhaud's appeal against the death sentence Monday. The 24-hour grace period such rejection carries expired Tuesday night.

Although there is no mandatory time to carry out the death sentence, only President de Gaulle has the power to save Jouhaud. There was no sign that he would grant clemency. But with the dawn, the traditional hour for execution in France, it appeared that Jouhaud's appeal had at least won him more time.

SAVES HIMSELF?

There was almost unanimous reaction by legislators in the national assembly lobbies that the Algerian-born Jouhaud had saved himself from the guillotine by having written the letter.

The text of the letter, sent by Jouhaud, under death sentence, to Salan, sentenced to life, was released Tuesday night by Premier Georges Pompidou's office where it was believed to have been held for several days.

The letter also called on the government to grant a "wide amnesty" in an attempt to persuade the Secret Army to give up its "useless struggle" against French plans for an independent Algeria.

The publication of the letter stunned extremist right - wing legislators who learned of it during a debate on a motion, later defeated, censuring President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policies.

'ONE MUST GIVE IN'

Jouhaud, sentenced like Salan for his part in the OAS and the abortive Algiers military coup in April, 1961, told his former chief:

"It is not without deep emotion, a bruised heart, that I write these lines, but one must give in to realities, even if they are sad, painful and tragic."

The former air force chief of staff said the realities of the Algerian situation now ruled out the possibility of Algeria remaining part of France "for which we are all ready to die."

Algerian independence, Jouhaud said, "is an accomplished fact, which sickens us, which sounds the knell of our hopes but which must be faced up to with realism."

He called for an end to the "blind attacks against Moslems" which until recent days accounted for about 20 to 30 murders a day.

He also appealed for attempts to reach "a common ground of understanding with our enemies of yesterday . . . so that all Frenchmen can continue to live on their native land with complete dignity."

Lubrication for Money System

To the Editor:

Sir — In a contribution to the Nelson Daily News May 10 — E. R. Bobb of New Denver derides the old age and unfitness of the financial-economic system to which we are tied. But to discard it without first knowing what is wrong with it could be a mistake. I shall therefore try to point out where it seems to need a new mechanism and lubrication. On this subject a newspaper editor, voicing concern over the unemployment, asked where the money would come from for full employment. And here is what I wrote him, hoping it may help Bobb in his studies too.

Referring to your editorial "Where would the money come from" the answer is that the money would come from the same places they go to as usually in commercial transactions. It's a matter of circulation in the bank pages and speed. It's a case in which, in a general way, we are paying for our work with the same money over and over. Inactive accounts in the bank pages do nobody any good. They rather do a lot of harm. They strangle employment, sales and production, and enterprising developments, held captives by their worshipping captors.

But glut for money must have beset the designers and upholders of this monetary system too. For the stockpiling and interest profiteering by some, shirtcircuiting others, and the insatiable craving and tug-of-war for more of them, shows it.

St. Paul wrote that the love of money was the root of all evil. And the roots of that love today is making many lives miserable. But why not thin out the love for them? Why not mix in some repugnant element so people would stockpile them no more than, for example, meat and potatoes and enliven the economic lagging? But this it doesn't do.

For while still witnessing more and more automation to divert the payrolls away from employment. We might as well contend that unemployment is here to stay. But purchasing power will have to come to everybody whether they get a chance to press the production buttons or not in order to buy the output (or the whole economic gearwork would freeze up). The same money would likewise have to be regained by taxation for repeating circuits over and over from whosoever had them. The obvious remedy therefore would be to remove the income tax from incomes and collect directly from bank accounts and cash the necessary millrate per dollar per doy to cover all budget demands. To escape this leakage people would naturally turn to more hiring and buying to benefit themselves, in so doing benefit others. Taxes collected directly from bank accounts and cash would lubricate the monetary stickiness and accelerate circulation; and establish a built-in circulating tendency.

Free spending, or come and go of money has set business and industries humming occasionally in the past. But those prosperity spells could have been in continuous high gear if not for the potential difference between money and the things they'll buy. Therefore, tieing taxes on to them would more equalize their prospect, open congested markets and short circuited livelihoods and so make available for the spender and others, the plentiful means of life now denied many.

EDMONTON (CP)—Ira Manning, 85, of Edmonton pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday on a charge of operating a betting house in which he took bets on races in Calgary and at eastern tracks and was fined $75 and costs.

Victoria Police Still Seek Boy

VICTORIA (CP)—Police here say they have not given up hope in their search for eight-year-old Peter Woychesin, missing for 10 days from his home here.

An intensive police investigation began May 28 but so far all leads have failed to uncover the boy's trail.

The son of Peter and Barbara Woycheshin, Peter jr. is one of four children. He left the family home May 26 at 10 a.m. with his younger brother to play in a nearby park. Four-year-old Andy returned later but Peter was never seen again.

A police official said Tuesday night officers are double-checking with persons who knew the boy to see if any further clues can be found.

The boy's distraught mother said she was so upset at his disappearance she burned most of her cooking.

"There weren't any children his own age near here, so he'd go somewhere else and play."

Police, with the help of navy and civilian searchers, checked the sites of a dozen reported sightings of the boy. The park was thoroughly checked and the adjoining waterfront area was combed. A lake in the park was dragged and empty sheds in the area searched.

CHECKED REPORTS

Police also checked reports the boy was seen in Vancouver; had been abducted; had been seen with two known sex deviates and may hove gone on a boat.

Police chief John Blackstock said Tuesday:

"All these reports were checked out. We're still checking a number of leads but have nothing concrete."

Copies of the boy's picture have been sent to police units as far south as Portland, as far east as Lethbridge and to northern British Columbia.

SEARCHED SHIP

A Greek freighter was searched without success after a friend of Peter's told police the missing boy said he was going to "get on a boat."

Early in the search a prankster phoned the Woychesin home telling 10 - year - old Linda he knew where the missing boy was and hung up.

Trade Picture Shows Hope and Scepticism

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's prospects in the emerging world trade picture were viewed with both hope and scepticism Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Maurice Schwarzmann, economic minister-counsellor at the Canadian embassy in Washington, said current American legislation looking towards trade liberalization, seems, if passed, to open up encouraging prospects for the development of Canadian exports and of world trade relations.

He said observers in Washington feel confident that the main lines of the administration's proposals will pass Congress.

W. N. Hall, however, while also feeling that "a bill will pass," commented:

"All past records indicate that it is more likely the journey through the House and Senate will restrict the president's power rather than enlarge it."

NEED MORE TIME

Mr. Hall, who is president of Dominion Tar and Chemical Co. Ltd., Montreal, added:

"It is encouraging to find public opinion in the United States swinging towards ideas of freer trade, but I believe more time and more legislation will be required before we should consider this as a major factor liable to cause lower external tariffs in the European Common Market or in the United States."

D. G. Willmot, president of Anthes-Imperial Co. Ltd., St. Catharines, Ont., commented that while the current economic recovery is encouraging, "we have no right to look upon it as anything more than a short breathing spell. The Canadian manufacturer, in particular, must prepare himself for possibly even more difficult times ahead."

R. A. Kipp, president, Kipp Kelly Ltd., Winnipeg, commented that one quality is that of being a Canadian.

"I have found in practically every country of the world," he said, "that the word Canadian makes one quickly acceptable and this is something that cannot be bought. This quality should be zealously preserved and improved.

"Companies seriously interested in export must develop personnel who can meet their clients on a common ground of language and customs. This would certainly enhance the quality of Canadianism."

Hospital Association Asks Ottawa for More Revenue

By RON MacDONALD

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Hospital Association wants a number of federal government regulations changed to allow hospitals to increase their revenue.

The CHA's annual meeting passed four resolutions Tuesday concerning provisions of hospital care insurance plans set up in all provinces as a result of the 1957 federal Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act.

The assembly asked that the federal government pay for depreciation on buildings and interest on capital debts owed by hospitals. It asked that these payments be included in the amounts given hospitals by the government under the Federal Hospital Insurance Act.

Under the federal act, hospitals are reimbursed a certain portion of their expenditures annually by the federal and provincial governments.

The assembly voted that the federal government should not consider revenue from hospital parking lots and out - patient diagnostic care "offset" revenue."

'CAUSES HARDSHIP'

As offset revenue, the amount of money made by a hospital in one year from its parking lot and its treatment of out-patients is deducted from the amount paid to the hospital in that year by the federal government under the act.

The assembly said the inclusion of these items as offset revenue caused financial hardship to hospitals.

The board of directors of the CHA was instructed to study all provincial hospital insurance plans in operation in Canada and report the weaknesses and good points of each plan to the appropriate provincial hospital association.

The provincial association then would be able to work for improvement of the plan.

The CHA assembly voted to ask that hospital construction and renovation be included in provincial and federal government financial assistance under winter works programs.

An increase in the amount of construction grants to hospitals from the federal government was requested.

SEEKS SOLUTION

The federal government was asked to find a solution for the financial burden placed on hospitals for the chronically ill by those patients without enough money to pay for needed treatment.

Medical care for the chronically ill does not benefit from the various provincial hospital insurance plans, the assembly said.

Another resolution objected to hospitals being named sole beneficiaries of any legal sweepstakes established in Canada. It did not come up with a policy statement on whether it would instruct member hospitals to refuse money from sweepstakes.

The assembly reaffirmed that the CHA did not want hospitals to be forced to provide unemployment insurance for their staff. Under an arrangement with the Unemployment Insurance Commission, hospitals can provide coverage voluntarily.

Elected CHA president was Chief Judge Nelles V. Buchanan of Edmonton. First vice-president is A. H. Westbury of Montreal, second vice-president is C. E. Barton of Regina and treasurer is Dr. J. E. Sharpe of Toronto.

LEADERSHIP that is firm in principle; Leadership on the side of the average man; Leadership dedicated to helping the weak and oppressed, ranged against the self-interests of the powerful.

After 22 years of Liberal rule, John Diefenbaker restored the Government of Canada to the people. His policies are devoted to the interests of the average man; his program means fair shares in the nation's growth and prosperity for all parts of Canada. His purpose is one Canada, united, free and independent.

John Diefenbaker brought a new era of Social Justice and Human Betterment to the Canadian people, putting an end to the Liberal "six-buck" mentality which, in an era of uncontrolled inflation, meant distress and suffering to tens of thousands of Old Age Pensioners, Veterans, Disabled Persons and their families.

Until John Diefenbaker restored Parliament as the free voice of the nation, "divine right" Liberals rode rough-shod over Canada's parliamentary traditions and powerful bureaucrats flaunted the rights of the people.

Until John Diefenbaker brought a new deal to Agriculture, the Canadian farmer was denied markets for his produce, while his income fell below subsistence levels. Mountains of unsold wheat once loomed over the Canadian economy; today, Canada is the largest wheat for cash nation in the world.

The dead hand of defeatism was removed from Canada's Trade and Commerce Department. In 1961, Canada sold more goods abroad than she imported for the first time in nine years... an overall change of nearly $900 Million.

The Diefenbaker Government gave Canadians title to their own natural resources. After years of Liberal neglect and default, the people of Canada are today rightfully sharing in the wealth of their own inheritance.

The Government of John Diefenbaker gave the Atlantic Provinces new measures of equality and opportunity. While leading Liberal centralists recommended the expulsion of "surplus" Maritimers from their native provinces, and advised cutting off further aid to the coal industry, John Diefenbaker acted on the just claims of the Atlantic area for a fair deal.

Canada's Prime Minister spoke out for the captive nations of the world, enslaved by Communist colonialism; upheld principle in the Commonwealth by standing firmly against racial discrimination; gave Canada's Indian population the full franchise... a basic right long denied them. His has been the consistent voice speaking for those who must be voiceless because of tyranny, discrimination and prejudice.

John Diefenbaker has the continuing trust of the Canadian people; his courage, principle, wisdom and compassion are the qualities of leadership Canada needs to achieve her national destiny.

Richter Discusses Hydro Power Value

OSOYOOS (CP) — Agriculture Minister Richter of B.C. said Tuesday night only by the development of low-cost hydro power can the province take its rightful place in industrial development.

He said at a public meeting in support of Jack Shaw, Social Credit federal election candidate for Okanagan Boundary, that a grid system using Peace and Columbia River power would be under the full control of the provincial government.

Mr. Richter charged that B.C.'s two federal cabinet ministers, Justice Minister Fulton and External Affairs Minister Green, had not fought for the province's rights in Columbia issues.

Olmstead Joins Ranger Fold

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings, the have-nots missed the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring, Wednesday picked up three players each in the National Hockey League intra-league draft.

BRONCO HORVATH
. . . leaves Hawks.

ED CHADWICK
. . . traded.

Nine players in all were grabbed at the draft price of $20,000. Montreal passed on each draft call.

The outstanding veteran claimed was Bert Olmstead of Toronto Maple Leafs. The tall left winger was claimed by New York Rangers, and there was immediate speculation that Olmstead might become the successor to player-coach Doug Harvey, who resigned from the Rangers Monday.

Ranger general manager Muzz Patrick declined to comment.

The Rangers also plucked centre Bronco Horvath from Chicago Black Hawks.

The Bruins, who finished last in the 1961-62 race, were casting about for strength almost everywhere. They took two defencemen and a forward in the draft and in a post-draft deal acquired a goalie.

Detroit claimed three farmhands of other NHL clubs and Toronto took another.

BOLSTER DEFENCE

To bolster their defensive strength, the Boston club took Warren Godfrey, a one-time Bruin, from Detroit and Irvin Spencer from New York.

The Bruins also acquired Jean-Guy Gendron, a forward who had been shuffled around for the last few seasons among Boston, Montreal Canadiens and New York.

In the post-draft deal, Boston acquired goalie Bob Perreault from Hershey of the American Hockey League in exchange for goalie Ed Chadwick and defenceman Bob Ashbee, plus the loan to Hershey of an unnamed player.

Chadwick has been in and out of the NHL in recent years. Ashbee was with Kingston of the Eastern Professional Hockey League last season.

In the draft from minor league clubs Tuesday, the Bruins also obtained goalie Ed Johnston, a Montreal farmhand with Spokane of the Western Hockey League.

BERT OLMSTEAD
. . . wears Ranger blue.

CLAIM FARMHANDS

Three farmhand fledglings of NHL clubs were claimed by Detroit. They are Alex Faulkner of Newfoundland who has been owned by Toronto and played with Rochester of the AHL last season; Barclay Plager, a Montreal-owned player with Kingston of the EPHL last season, and Floyd Smith who has been with Springfield of the AHL but is owned by New York.

The last player taken before all clubs passed was Ed Van Impe, a Chicago-owned minor-league defenceman. He was claimed by Toronto.

Acquisition by New York of Olmstead set off a flock of rumors that the veteran from Sceptre, Sas.k, was claimed solely for the purpose of taking over from Harvey — sooner or later.

Patrick said that would be a matter "for my bosses," but that Olmstead could be considered a possibility for the job.

Two others have already been mentioned by Patrick as possibilities, both within the Ranger organization. They are Red Sullivan, former Ranger centre, and Emile (The Cat) Francis, one-time NHL goalie with Chicago. Both now are coaching New York minor-league teams.

Yanks Seize First, L.A. Closes Gap

By The Canadian Press

Don Landrum, a new player who had arrived on the field only a few minutes before, walked with the bases loaded in the ninth inning Wednesday to give Chicago Cubs a 4-3 win over first-place San Francisco Giants.

Landrum, an outfielder, acquired from St. Louis Cardinals in a four-player deal Tuesday, came into the field just as Cubs went to bat after Giants had tied the score 3-3 in the top of the ninth.

He was sent to bat for pitcher Dick Ellsworth with the bases loaded after reliever Don Larsen had walked Lou Brock, walked pinch hitter Bob Will with a wild pitch fourth ball, and intentionally passed Andre Rodgers.

Landrum worked Larsen for a 3-2 count, fouled off a pitch and then walked to force in the winning run.

The win went to Ellsworth who yielded 11 hits.

YANKS BLANK TRIBE

In the American League, Roger Maris and Johnny Blanchard hit back-to-back homers in the sixth inning and Ralph Terry pitched a four-hit shutout as Yankees seized first place with a 5-0 win over Cleveland.

Terry and Jim (Mudcat) Grant were locked in a tight pitching duel until Maris hit his ninth homer and Blanchard followed with his eighth.

In the first game of a doubleheader, Boston Red Sox edged Detroit Tigers 2-1 on home runs by Frank Malzone and Bob Tillman. Dick Brown homered for Tigers in the top of the seventh.

In the second game of the double-bill, the Tigers came back to earn a split with a 3-2 decision after 11 innings.

Norm Cash walked as lead-off man in the 11th and went to third on Dick McAuliffe's single to right field. Chico Fernandez lined to short but Dick Brown bunted down the first base line to bring home Cash.

At St. Paul, Minnesota Twins gained third place over Detroit in the American League, riding the five-hit pitching of southpaw Jim Kaat to a 7-0 victory over Kansas City Athletics.

The triumph pulled the Twins within eight percentage points of second place Cleveland and left them one game behind New York.

At Baltimore, Washington Senators survived a two-out, ninth-inning uprising to defeat the Orioles 2-1 with the help of a strong pitching performance by Claude Osteen.

The Senators scored the decisive run in the ninth on a homer into the deep right field corner by Joe Hicks.

Night action in the National saw Los Angeles Dodgers choke off a ninth inning Pittsburgh rally, beat the Pirates 5-3 and move within a half game of league leading San Francisco.

In the completion of a suspended game prior to the regularly scheduled contest, the Dodgers grabbed an 8-3 victory as Don Drysdale chalked up his ninth victory against three defeats.

At Philadelphia, the Phillies won both ends of a twi-night doubleheader from New York Mets 2-0 and 2-1, and extended the Stengelmen's losing streak to 17 — longest in the history of New York major league baseball.

The previous consecutive loss record was 16 straight defeats suffered by Brooklyn Dodgers in 1944.

CARDS NOSE OUT REDS

At St. Louis, Larry Jackson pitched out of a ninth-inning jam caused by an error on a double-play grounder as the Cardinals nosed out Cincinnati Reds 4-3.

BREAKS UP DUEL

In a late night game at Los Angeles pinch hitter Tom Burgess scored Leon Wagner on a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the ninth inning to break up a scoreless duel and give the Angels a 1-0 American League victory over Chicago White Sox.

In a late National League game, Lew Burdette recorded his first complete game of the season as Milwaukee Braves beat the hometown Houston Colts 6-3.

Sheffield Held To Tie by Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — England's Sheffield United dropped its first point in nine games on its 10-game tour of North America Wednesday night when the first division soccer team was held to a 2-2 tie by a fighting Vancouver all-star team.

A crowd of 10,274 watched the interesting game.

Two goals by centre forward Jim Blundell earned the tie for the Vancouver teams which halted Sheffield's touring win streak. Keith Kettleborough and Derek Pace scored for Sheffield.

Sheffield had the better of play throughout most of the game but made the mistake of using long, floating passes into the Vancouver goal mouth.

Play-For-Fun Softball

Dave's Diggin's

By Dave Grant
Sports Editor

For two years the Notre Dame College administrative body has persevered with one conspicuous gaping hole in its well figured executive assemblage.

Wednesday the possible reconstruction expert was signed as tender of the major operation, under the title of Ernest M. Gare.

To portray the situation is like describing a ship torpedoed, then sinking into unfathomed waters, just as port appeared on the horizon.

A few years ago Notre Dame, or as others picture it, "the institution on the hill," appeared destined for a place in British Columbia, and possibly Canadian athletic heights. An intramural system functioned with precision, attracting all to its appealing grasp. Basketball reached provincial heights, a permanent foundation was constructed for hockey, minor athletics blossomed and strong ties made in community sports.

The succeeding two years endorsed the college athletic reputation, then an unprecedented athlete, King of Kings, destroyed in one fell swoop that which took years to construct.

From then to now the level of athletic prowess has plummetted steadily. Participation in intramural activities is almost nil, with the exception of hockey and basketball.

It will be Gare's responsibility to restore sport circles to past heights, with emphasis placed on hockey.

An outlay of hockey scholarships may be established to promote the ice sport, hoping to attract star icemen. If plans are successful Notre Dame hopes to enter a Junior A league on a competition basis. Closest established Junior A league in B.C. is in the Okanagan, although Trail has a junior club.

Gare's affiliation with hockey stretches back over many years, with over a decade spent under the auspices of Nelson Maple Leafs.

It will be a tough grind to restoration, but then look at what Knute Rockne started with.

Mrs. Ronald Beattie of Trail and Mrs. Vera M. Knight of Cranbrook were elected directors and district representatives of the Canadian Figure Skating Association at the annual meeting in Kelowna June 2.

Twenty-six of the 30 established clubs in the province attended the meeting, which decided the B.C. Sectional championships would be held in Prince George in January.

It was learned late Wednesday night Nelson Maple Leafs held a private meeting behind closed doors to decide the fate of the annual midsummer hockey game. Leaf manager Cec Hughes earlier indicated last year's stars, Andy Bathgate, Glenn Hall, Johnny Bucyk and Metro Prystai would participate in the annual event, adding the faces of other renowned stars may light up the ice

A suggestion to the Leaf executive . . . why not hunt about the Kootenay neighborhood searching for old time hockey players, who would put on the blades for a short excursion on the ice?

Kiwanis Edge Lions 6-4

Kiwanis won their second Little League game Wednesday, edging Lions 6-4 at Queen Elizabeth Park.

The game was marked by tight fielding and hard pitching as Brian Fairbank and Terry Wickstorm matched pitches.

Fairbank went the distance for Lions fanning seven, walking one and allowing 10 hits. Wickstrom, although hurling for the winning cause, was bombed with 18 hits, including triples to A. Porco, B. Fairbank and B. Cunningham.

Wickstrom led the Kiwanis' batters with a home run and a triple, while T. Lippingwell clouted a double.

Kiwanis	102 201—6
Lions	110 101—4

Sandlot Scoreboard

A walk with the bases loaded was disastrous Tuesday as Yanks edged Red Sox 5-4 in Shrimp League match. The game was tied 4-4 in the final inning when the winning run was allowed.

J. Ferraro led Yankee batters with a triple while T. Arcuri smashed a two-bagger for Sox.

In a second Shrimp League game Dodgers whitewashed Indians 14-0.

Mark Severyn accounted for four runs with a double and a home run.

Living Costs Down In April

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs turned lower during April as the consumer price index fell to 130.1 on May 1 from 130.3 on April 1.

The decline of two-tenths of a point in Canada's price gauge, reported Wednesday by the bureau of statistics, was the sharpest monthly drop since early last year.

The May 1 index level of 130.1 — based on 1949 prices equalling 100 — compares with 129.0 a year earlier.

The price index was stable for four months after last Nov. 1 and then leaped forward six-tenths of a point during March, reaching the record level of 130.3 at April 1.

Declines in food and clothing prices were chiefly responsible for the April downturn, offsetting higher costs for housing, transportation, health, and personal care, recreation and reading. The tobacco and alcohol index was unchanged.

FOOD PRICES FALL

The food prices index tumbled to 124.5 from 125.8 as butter fell to 58 cents a pound from 70 cents, and lower prices also prevailed for eggs, fats, chicken, fruits and vegetables. Prices were higher for beef, some pork, lamb, veal, apples, fresh tomatoes and flour.

Housing costs, which represent 32 per cent of the household budget covered by the consumer price index, rose a half-point to 134.5 from 134.0 as home ownership costs moved higher while rents and household operation costs remained unchanged.

The price index of 30 industrial raw materials advanced to 252.6 from 249.6 between April 27 and May 25. In the same period the index of Canadian farm products at terminal markets rose to 222.2 from 219.7. Both indexes are based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

Midget Weapons Latest Threat

GENEVA (Reuters)—Disarmament negotiators were told Wednesday that nuclear weapons now are so small that enough of them can be hidden in one room to wipe out many of the world's capitals.

British delegate Joseph Godber told the 17-nation disarmament conference "a strategic nuclear warhead can now be contained in a cylinder" some five feet long and two feet in diameter.

Godber said: "Enough of these weapons could therefore be concealed in this very council chamber—in the walls, in the ceiling, under the banks of seats around us — to annihilate the capital cities of all countries represented in this conference and to annihilate them several times over."

Godber said there would always be enough Uranium 235 in existence to be put into a fast reactor to make several weapons—and both East and West have such reactors.

WOULD HAVE WEAPONS

He said the most important problem facing the conference is the difficulty of verifying the abolition of nuclear weapons. Yet, he said, under Soviet proposals, the end of the first stage of disarmament would see stocks of nuclear warheads untouched.

The Soviet plan, he said, provides for total elimination of nuclear delivery vehicles in the first stage — but Russia possesses for example more than 100 TU-104 civil airliners modelled on the TU-16 jetbomber and they could be rapidly transformed for military use.

He admitted the West could do the same but said it would be harder since its airliners were originally designed as civilian planes and had no bomber originals.

Paris Rejects Algiers Plan

PARIS (Reuters)—The National Assembly early Wednesday rejected a right-wing motion censuring President de Gaulle's plans for an independent Algeria.

The motion received only 113 votes, less than half the 51 per cent needed for passage in the 552-seat assembly.

The motion, as well as condemning de Gaulle's Algerian policies, attacked the government's "repeated" violations of the constitution and its foreign policy.

The motion was sponsored by 57 legislators, including known sympathizers of the outlawed European terrorist Secret Army Organization.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Wednesday recovered more than half of the losses taken in Monday's sharp selloff as trading quietened to the slowest pace in about two weeks.

Both results were reassuring to those who hope for higher prices and a gradual stabilization from the worst shakeout since 1929.

An estimated $5,000,000,000 of the $9,000,000,000 of quoted values erased on the New York Stock Exchange Monday was recovered, judging by the movements of the Associated Press average.

The rally was a logical outgrowth of the previous session when the sharp ups-and-downs were seen as a spasmodic attempt to form a base on which to build a recovery. This interpretation by analysts held true, for Wednesday, anyway.

Trading volume declined by nearly 2,000,000 shares from Tuesday with the final total total 4,190,000 shares compared with 6,140,000 in the preceding session.

TAPE RUNS LATE

A vigorous rally, with the ticker tape running late, launched the day's proceedings. Prices reached their crest late in the afternoon, thereafter shading off considerably, producing some losses in place of gains. Nevertheless, for the over-all list it was a decisive advance.

The Dow Jones industrial average—which at 2 p.m. was up as much as 13.85—ended the day with a net gain of 8.95 at 603.91. The AP 60-stock average gained 3.40 at 222.70.

Leading gainers on the Canadian list included International Nickel, up 1¾, and Walker Gooderham and Hudson Bay Mining, 1¼ each. Granby Mining moved up ¾ while Canadian Pacific and Dome Mines each added ⅜. Distillers Seagrams was down ½ and McIntyre Porcupine ¼.

NEWS BRIEFS

SUE AIR FRANCE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Air France has been accused in a lawsuit of wilful misconduct and gross negligence in Sunday's crash of a jetliner that killed 130 persons in France. The suit, seeking $250,000 damages, was filed Tuesday in federal court by Drs. Hope Harvey Payne Jr. and Robert Payne, both Atlanta dentists. They are sons of Mrs. Annette Nelson Payne, 66, a victim of the crash.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market climbed sharply during light trading Wednesday, as industrials gained almost 10 points on index.

Buying started from the opening and gained strength until the last hour of trading, when the rise stalled. Base metals and western oils both closed on the upside, with golds dipping slightly.

In the main list, advances were widespread but not as spectacular as last week's price swings. Algoma Steel gained 2⅜ to 44⅞ and Imperial Oil rose a point.

Shawinigan and Calgary Power both rose ¾. Best gain of the day went to Imperial Life, up 15 to 135.

On index, industrials advanced 9.15 to 566.13, base metals 3.23 at 190.07 and western oils 3.79 to 101.11.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were substantially higher on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, Wednesday although trading was light.

International Nickel rose 2½ to 68 to lead the advance. Pacific Pete at 13⅛ added ¾. Imperial Oil rose 1⅛ to 45½.

Shawinigan rose a point to 23¼ among utilities. Bell Telephone gained ⅝ to 52⅞.

In base metals, Hudson Bay Mining added a point to 54 and Noranda rose ½ to 30 in heavy trading.

Great Lakes at 16⅞ and MacMillan at 19 each rose ⅜ among papers. Price gained 1⅛ to 47⅝.

In Oil issues, Trans-Mountain Pipe Lines rose ½ to 14⅜ in heavy trading and Interprovincial Pipeline rose 1¼ to 76½.

Massey-Ferguson rose ⅛ to 11 in heavy trading and Hudson's Bay Company rose ¼ to 11½.

On index, banks were up 0.37 at 62.82, utilities up 1.3 at 135.5, industrials up 6.1 at 314.4, combined up 4.5 at 254.1, papers up 4.6 at 490.9 and golds unchanged at 76.73.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

A X E W D J E I Q Y U R E R D H J B P Q Y E
G J H A J D Y X H G W Q T. -- P Q Y X T R

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: IN THIS WORLD A MAN MUST EITHER BE ANVIL OR HAMMER.--LONGFELLOW

Woman Gives Best Replies To Troublesome Questions

MONTREAL (CP)—A woman gave probably the most direct answer to one of the most troublesome questions discussed at the two-day annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which ended Tuesday night.

The problem is how to give the public a better understanding of the private enterprise system and how to combat misunderstandings of it.

The answer came from Mrs. W. R. Walton Jr., of Toronto, past president of the Consumers' Association of Canada. In effect, it was to let no criticism go unanswered. She said:

"I believe the time has come when, through this association or other appropriate bodies, all the intelligentsia of industry should be available so that on short notice the appropriate person or group of persons could be called upon to speak to the public—from the platform, on radio, television, through the press and other media—so that no untruth derogatory to private enterprise would go unchallenged, no matter what the source of the untruth, be it private individual, government or politicians seeking political gain.

"By successfully defending the private enterprise system in this way public confidence would be regained and eventually industry could depart from the defensive and go on the offensive—the positive approach—so that those who decry the private enterprise system would think twice before attempting to destroy it by the promulgation of untruths or half-truths."

Mrs. Walton said business and industry, particularly the manufacturing industry, is neither well understood nor is the magnitude of its contribution to the economy properly appreciated.

"Because of this lack of understanding, critics of business are incessantly busy in the United States and Canada. Private enterprise is baited and ridiculed before the bar of public opinion whenever the opportunity arises.

"And what happens? Time after time these attacks, be they for political gain, personal publicity, union jockeying or competitive jealousy, go for the most part unanswered. By this silence or ostrich-like attitude of 'no comment' you appear to be pleading guilty as charged, no matter how fantastic the charge may be.

"The trouble is that unchallenged criticism takes root and grows and in the minds of many people becomes the truth."

ALLOW RECORDING

SOCHI, Soviet Union (AP)— Apparently prodded by the U.S. embassy, Soviet authorities relaxed their restrictions on Benny Goodman Tuesday night and allowed American companies to film and record a concert here by his band. The Russians had stopped an RCA Victor recording team and an NGC television crew from taping a performance by Goodman and his band Monday night in this Black Sea resort town.

REMOVE MASARYK STATUE

VIENNA (AP)—The last remaining statue of Thomas Masaryk has been removed from Czechoslovakia, the country he helped to found, diplomatic sources reported today. Masaryk became tha Czechoslovak republic's first president in 1918. The statue of Lanzhot was still standing at the end of 1961. Recently travellers reported that the statue was no longer there.

KILLS U.S. SOLDIER

DACHAU (AP) — West German police said one of their officers shot and killed an American soldier in self-defence here Tuesday. The police report said several American soldiers tried to break into a restaurant. When police arrived at the scene, one of the Americans attacked one of the policemen with a knife. The German drew his gun and fired a single shot that killed the American.

Dentist's Pretty Nurse Has Soothing Effect On Patient

VANCOUVER (CP) — That curvaceous nurse in the dentist's office is doing more than passing instruments.

Dr. Russell Haney, a psychologist from California, said at the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Association Tuesday the "confident female in the environment" will help soothe the frightened patient.

"People with strong fear responses often have strong security attachments to the female figure."

Dr. Haney's point was one of many mentioned to the 1,000 delegates to the convention as modern weapons in the fight to take the pain out of dentistry.

Others were psychology, tranquillizers, "white sound" and hypnotism.

FINDS DRUGS QUICKER

Dr. J. F. Reid of North Vancouver said psychology is slow and time-consuming and tranquillizers and certain drugs are quicker.

Dr. Everett J. Cassell of Seattle said "white sound," a sound similar to rain or a waterfall, coupled with music the patient chooses himself, can take his mind off pain.

Dr. Haney said children should never be promised rewards for being good at the dentists or told about the dentist beforehand.

Dr. D. M. Kotitz of Calgary hypnotized a patient and his partner removed a molar in a display of hypno-dentistry.

Under hypnosis Mrs. Amanda Beveridge, the patient, did not bleed or feel pain. She woke up feeling wonderful.

Queen Has Heavy Cold

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen has a heavy cold and did not attend the Derby at Epsom Downs Wednesday, Buckingham Palace announced.

The Queen had to cancel several engagements last month because of a cold.

On May 17, a temperature and sore throat kept her in her room at the palace and prevented her from visiting armed service units in northern England.

Three days later, she had to cancel a visit to a cricket ground in London and was unable to go to a flower show that evening.

The Queen, one of Britain's leading racehorse owners, had no runners in the Derby this year.

Prince Philip's Study Conference Successful

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officially, no conclusions are reached by the Duke of Edinburgh's Second Commonwealth Study Conference, which ended here Wednesday.

But individually, the 300 delegates to the 25-day travelling seminar obviously have concluded it was a tremendous success and that more such conferences should be staged to promote international understanding.

"The conference is the answer to a lot of frictions in the world today," said Michael S. Elder of Jamaica, one of several delegates questioned in a random sampling of opinion about the effectiveness of the project.

"It proves how everybody—of different race, color and outlook—can get together in harmony and discuss their problems, having their differences, of course, but coming to a common, ultimate conclusion for the good of all."

M. O. Elebesunu of Lagos, Nigeria, said "the very idea of the conference is most laudable because apart from the study of our subject matter, the idea of getting 300 people from all parts of the Commonwealth together appears to be the most effective way of creating understanding among nations."

PHILIP SPEAKS

The study conference, established at the suggestion of Prince Philip who was scheduled to deliver the closing address which was built around the theme of "human consequences of the changing industrial environment."

It brought delegates from 35 Commonwealth countries together in Montreal May 13 and took them, together and in separate groups, to communities across the country.

Their deliberations were held in private, with the intention of encouraging uninhibited debate, and no formal statements of the results have been issued.

Mr. Elder, 28, director and personnel manager of Seaforth Sugar and Rum Ltd., and amateur golf champion of Jamaica, said "the conference has made me very aware of our future planning for our companies; of certain steps we may take in mechanization and automation in Jamaica. It is coming, and now I am aware of the necessity for the correct planning as to how it is going to affect the human beings involved in this transition stage."

Mr. Elder said he had seen the effects of automation in the transit system and in a large industrial operation in Toronto, in industry in Owen Sound and particularly on the Prairie farms where "one man alone farms 300 to 600 acres himself."

Mr. Elebesunu, 49, controller of staff and buildings in the Nigerian ministry of communications, said he believes he has learned some lessons in community development which will help his country avoid some of the urbanization problems Canadian communities have had.

Nixon Wins Nomination For Governor

SAN FRANCISCO (CP-AP)— Richard M. Nixon easily won the Republican nomination for governor of California Tuesday in a primary election and will face Governor Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, in the general elections next November.

Republicans chose Nixon as their nominee for governor by a margin of about 7 to 3 over Joseph C. Shell, a wealthy state assemblyman.

Democrats gave Brown a 7-to-1 vote of confidence over three little - known candidates. His showing, in an election with little to attract Democrats, almost equalled the combined Nixon - Shell total. Democratic registration outnumbers Republicans 4 to 3.

Results from Tuesday's balloting, both parties picked their candidates, dealt a setback to Republican right - wingers who staged a well-financed drive to block Nixon's political comeback and to dump Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, who won a runaway victory.

Three members of the John Birch Society won Republican nominations for Congress, however, all in Los Angeles County.

HOLDS BACK PLEDGE

Nixon, narrowly defeated by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential election, described Shell as a good battler and expressed confidence the 43-year-old oilman would get behind him in the general election.

But Shell, who campaigned as a Conservative, held back any pledge of support except on his own terms — that Nixon embrace the principles he has espoused.

The vote from 11,477 of 31,212 voting districts: Nixon 331,933, Shell 161,944.

Brown, who conceded a few months ago that his popularity had slipped, showed surprising strength in rolling up a heavy complimentary vote on the Democratic ticket. He predicted he'll beat Nixon.

The vote from 9,616 voting districts: Brown 441,063, Alfred Hamilton 20,936; Phillip Moore, 22,536; and John C. Stuart 22,798.

Kennedy's Expensive Progress Plan Nearing Trouble Signs

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy's ambitious and expensive Alliance for Progress is creeping steadily ahead—toward signs of trouble.

It is difficult to find anybody at any level in Latin America who will say he is optimistic about the program. Many are gloomy. Some see the alliance heading toward a state of emergency.

In some cases, the alliance seems to be generating discouragement, disillusion and even fear that it will do more harm than good. The expectations it suddenly aroused are too great to be matched by performance. The program appears to have been vastly oversold as a U.S. effort and vastly undersold from the standpoint of what will be required from Latin Americans themselves.

EXECUTION TIMID

One of the best friends of the United States in Latin America told me:

"The concept of the Alliance for Progress was bold. The execution proved to be timid, bureaucratic, slow and even-self-defeating. The ideas expressed by President Kennedy when he announced the alliance were revolutionary. But we see nothing but the same old stale techniques, the same old programs.

The alliance was announced by President Kennedy almost 15 months ago. At Punta Del Este, Uruguay, last Aug. 5, a charter was signed. The program envisioned $20,000,000,000 in public and private investment from the United States and Europe over a 10-year period. The Latin effort was to be the equivalent of $80,000,000,000 in that period. The charter pledged the participating nations to accomplish social and economic reforms as a prerequisite for loans to speed development.

Are the reforms coming?

In capital after capital, a reporter is told that there is agreement in principle that reforms are needed. There is even legislation drawn up. He is told there is a growing realization that there must be land reform, tax reform, social reform, administrative reform and more equitable distribution of wealth.

LITTLE TANGIBLE DONE

For the most part, it seems to be lip service. Little tangible has been done. Laws get lost in congressional committees. Politics and politicians get in the way.

One hears, over and over, this criticism: The Yankees are running around in all directions and getting nothine done. Nobody knows how much money is available for what. Funds are "committed" but not "disbursed." The money is dangled before governments as bait for swifter movement on reforms, and while both sides wait the program languishes.

The Americans reply that the people they are striving to save are fighting them.

But many of those people, representing mostly the wealthy classes who control most of the governments, contend that the United States is wooing the left at their expense, that it is generating what can become an uncontrolled revolution. Some of them suggest that the United States advance money without insisting upon immediate reforms.

BANK ABROAD

Yet, billions of dollars are denied to the economies of Latin countries because of their own wealthy classes lack of confidence. The money is banked abroad, in Switzerland, Canada and other countries. It is not being invested by the Latins in their own countries.

Qualified sources estimate, for example, that from Colombia alone—a nation of 15,000,000 chronically on the edge of economic disaster—there are between $400,000,000 and $800,000,000 banked abroad by private Colombians. There is no way of checking how much.

More and more one hears that the alliance has got off to a shaky start, that it is time to take a new look and start afresh.

Bishop Critizes Legion Decision

HALIFAX (CP) — Delegates attending the 19th biennial convention of the Royal Canadian Legion were citicized Wednesday by a former president after they approved a resolution calling for drug trafficking to be made a capital offence.

The criticism was made by Rt. Rev. John O. Anderson of Winnipeg, suffragan Anglican bishop of Rupert's Land, who told the delegates they had "just passed legislation which makes you look silly."

Bishop Anderson said the "government's attitude has been moving away from capital punishment."

He also rebuked the delegates for tossing "citizens' rights around so lightly" in approving a resolution asking the governments concerned to impress on the Hutterites in the prairie provinces "the full responsibilities of Canadian citizenship."

The resolution was later amended to include the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors sect in British Columbia.

Basic objection of the delegates was that the Hutterites, a pacifist religious colony, are exempt from military services and certain taxes.

Jack Beaumont of Minnedosa, Man., termed this situation "wishy-washy." He felt the federal government, "which imposed this curse on us, should do something about it. I'm talking about the rules which other Canadians live by and which they don't."

Oil-Soaked Athabasca Sand Again Discussed

CALGARY (CP) — Another proposal for development of the oil-soaked sands on the banks of the Athabasca River in northern Alberta was heard by the province's oil and gas conservation board.

For 26 years the estimated 300,000,000,000 barrels of oil 280 miles northeast of Edmonton have resisted efforts of scientists to find a way to draw from the sand economically.

Industry spokesmen said Tuesday night the board was expected to give a favorable decision on the apparently unopposed application of Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. of New York to build a $124,340,000 plant to recover the oil.

They based this belief on the premise that many of Alberta's top producing fields were running out of oil at an alarming rate and no major new discoveries were being made.

The Athabasca oil deposit is believed to contain enough to supply Canada's petroleum needs for the next 800 years.

HAS PURCHASE OPTION

Canadian Pacific Oil and Gas Ltd. has been given an option to purchase up to 51 per cent of the common shares of Great Canadian, the first company to come before the board with an application for all-out development of the sands. Other companies and groups of companies have appeared before the board to propose pilot projects only.

Great Canadian's original application went before the board two years ago but was deferred until June of this year. The board ruled that a new hearing would be held only if the company could show substantial new evidence of technical, economical and financial feasibility. This apparently has been done.

The company's method of separating oil from the sand was developed by Dr. K. A. Clark of the Alberta Research Council. Known as the hot water flotation process, it was pronounced technically sound in 1949 at a small plant built by the Alberta government and a private company.

The sand is first mixed with water and heated. The resulting pulp is then flooded with more hot water, causing the oil to rise to the surface as a froth, which is removed.

The froth is purified, leaving heavy crude which is refined before being injected into a pipeline.

Seoul Police Arrest 200 Demonstrators

CP from Reuters-AP

SEOUL—Some 200 university *students were taken into cus*tody by police here Wednesday after demonstrating outside the U.S. embassy for early conclusion of a status-of-forces agreement between the United States and South Korea.

The demonstrators were among 2,000 University of Korea students who earlier demonstrated in defiance of a government ban on street protests.

A status-of-forces agreement would give South Korea jurisdiction over U.S. military personnel who commit offences while off duty.

During a brief rally near the university campus the demonstrators adopted a resolution denouncing "barbarous acts of some inconsiderate Americans."

The U.S. Army has charged two lieutenants with severaly beating a South Korean caught stealing at a front-line base late last month.

The South Korean government in a formal protest Monday against the beating also asked for a status - of - forces agreement.

The U.S. contends it cannot conclude such a pact with South Korea because its troops are here as part of a United Nations force.
