Divorce Bills Die As Parliament Adjourns

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 24th Parliament adjourned for the last time at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday night.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he will see Governor-General Vanier today to recommend formal dissolution to make way for election of a new Parliament June 18.

Parliament ended with a final plea from Mr. Diefenbaker that the New Democratic Party group permit passage of 327 divorce petitions.

NDP spokesmen remained silent and the petititions died on the order paper.

Thereupon Veterans Minister Churchill, government house leader, moved formal adjournment to April 26. Naming a date is only a formality and does not mean that Parliament will resume sittings next week.

The House will come to its end with dissolution which will follow Prime Minister Diefenbaker's trip to Quebec City today where the Governor-General is in residence at the Citadel for Easter.

The Parliament ended in a complete impasse over passage of the 327 divorce bills.

REASON FOR ACTION

Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) and Arnold Peters (CCF—Timiskaming) blocked passage of the Quebec and Newfoundland divorce petitions on the grounds that the government had not lived up to a commitment to amend divorce procedures.

Mr. Churchill said the government had hoped to introduce certain proposals bit it had not been able to come up with any solution to a most difficult problem.

Mr. Howard and Mr. Peters stuck to their guns under a shower of government pleas, including one from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, that they allow the divorce petitions to go through.

Finally, tempers snapped on both sides.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he cannot place Parliament in pawn to the wishes of two MPs. The prime minister then left the Commons.

Earlier, the Commons heard a final attack by Erhart Regier, CCF-NDP financial spokesman, on the government's financial policies.

Then the legislative wheels began to spin rapidly.

PASS APPROPRIATIONS

The house passed an appropriation bill for $138,416,981 to cover final supplementary estimates for last fiscal year.

On the heels of that move, only 17 minutes was required for passage of an interim supply bill of $1,704,710,347 to pay the government's expenses until the end of October. By that time the new post-election Parliament likely will be in session.

The interim supply bill covered five months' expenditures. Recently Parliament granted two months of interim supply.

The end of the 24th Parliament leaves a number of government bills to expire, as well as the huge list of divorce bills.

Among the government measures dying with the session's end are all the tax-change proposals of Finance Minister Fleming's April 10 budget, the bill to retire Senators at age 75, and the plan to have an independent commission carry out redistribution of Commons constituencies—a job formerly done by partisan committees of the house.

The budget's tax changes will take effect, but in the next Parliament the government—whichever party is in control—would have to introduce retroactive tax legislation if the changes are to stand up.

Another government bill dying is one introduced only Wednesday by Postmaster-General William Hamilton to extend second-class mailing privileges to certain cultural publications.

Also killed by dissolution will be tax and tariff measures to partially implement the proposals of the royal commission on publications aimed at reducing the flow of Canadian advertising dollars to foreign magazines.

No Paper Friday

The Nelson Daily News will not be published tomorrow, Good Friday. Regular publication will resume Saturday.

Man Arrested In Boys' Deaths

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Wednesday night a man has been arrested in connection with the slaying earlier in the day of two young boys, aged 2½ and three years.

Their bodies were found in a warehouse in Suburban New Toronto shortly before 7 p.m. A squad of about 40 police officers — guided by Metro Police Chief James Mackey — was investigating.

Exact cause of the boys death was not established by the police who said there were indications of strangulation.

The boys were identified as Michael Atkinson, 2½, and Ronald MacLeod.

Coast Bridge Tolls to End

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bennett announced Wednesday that the British Columbia government will shortly eliminate all tolls on the Second Narrows Bridge across Vancouver's Burrard Inlet and hand the Lions Gate Bridge over to the municipalities concerned for no charge.

Mr. Bennett made the announcement in departing from the text of a prepared speech to the Board of Trade.

He said also that the government will pay one-third of the cost of a second crossing at the First Narrows.

The two bridges connect Vancouver with the expanding municipalities of North and West Vancouver, The Lions Gate Bridge, built in 1938 was purchased by the government for $6,000,000 in 1956. The Second Narrows Bridge was completed in 1959 at a cost of $23,000,000.

The premier said that if local authorities agree to take over ownership of the Lions Gate Bridge, they can retain tolls or make the bridge free. His only stipulation: Tolls could not be increased.

We are prepared to turn over the Lions Gate Bridge free of charge to the people of this area the moment tolls are removed from the Second Narrows Bridge," he said.

Removal of the tolls from Second Narrows was "very close at hand."

4 MacMillan Directors Go

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four directors were removed from the board of Macmillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. at its annual meeting Wednesday at the demand of chairman J. V. Clyne.

Mr. Clyne said the four, representing the Brooks-Scanlon-Foley family interests and all directors of the Powell River Company prior to its merger with Macmillan Bloedel, had sought to interest a select group of directors in delivering control of the company into the hands of a giant United States competitor, the St. Regis Paper Corp.

In reply Conley Brooks, grandson of one of the founders of the old Powell River Co. charged that the dismissal of the directors had to do with the elimination "of some of the final remnants of the former Powell River Company."

Wednesday's action was another in a series of corporate upheavals which have followed the merger in 1960.

Dropped from the board were:

Conley Brooks, director of MB & PR since the merger and grandson of Dr. D. F. Brooks, who helped found Powell in 1911;

J. S. Sample, grandson of another Powell founder, M. J. Scanlon;

G. W. O'Brien, son of Joseph Manning O'Brien, a former managing director of Brooks, Scanlon, O'Brien Co., Ltd. of Vancouver;

Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, whose father-in-law, Norman Laing, was on the original board of directors of Powell River and managing director of the company from 1911 until his death in 1926.

Herridge Says Gov't Will Repudiate Treaty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Bennett predicted here Wednesday night that the controversial Columbia River power development will begin during the current fiscal year.

Mr. Bennett, addressing the Vancouver Board of Trade, said he had no intention of reciting again all the many benefits which he was convinced would flow from simultaneous development of the Peace and Columbia rivers.

"But I do have this prediction," he told the meeting. "And it is that while the Peace River project is already under way, it is my opinion that because of the very friendly negotiations now under way the Columbia development will begin during the current fiscal year."

The fiscal year for both the federal and provincial governments runs from April 1 to March 31.

Ratification of a Columbia River treaty negotiated between the United States and Canada has been delayed because the B.C. government and the federal government have been unable to agree on financing the cost of the project.

B.C. wants to sell its share of downstream benefits in the U.S. but the federal government is against the export of power.

OTTAWA (CP) — H. W. Herridge, house leader of the CCF-New Democratic Party, predicted Wednesday that the federal government will repudiate the Columbia River Treaty with the United States before the June 18 federal election.

"I have it on good information that the government will ask for a renegotiation of the treaty before the election," he said in an interview on his formal retirement as the socialist group's house leader.

Mr. Herridge said Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, retired Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission and a severe critic of the present treaty, has accepted "a very large number" of speaking engagements in British Columbia over the next two months.

Mr. Herridge, MP for Kootenay West, has been a consistent critic of the Columbia Treaty. His riding includes the site of one of the proposed dams which would flood out some 3,000 persons, including some of the Herridge property.

He said he believes Gen. McNaughton's views about the treaty, which the retiring chairman made public April 6, have convinced the government that the present treaty arrangement cannot stand.

PLAN HAS NO FLOODING

"Gen. McNaughton has advocated a power proposal which would put generating systems on the Canadian side of the Columbia and do away with the flooding of Canadian territory," he said.

The treaty calls for three Canadian storage dams to help produce more power at U.S. generating points. The U.S. would return half that extra power in payment for Canadian storage.

Mr. Herridge said that under Gen. McNaughton's plan for diverting Kootenay River waters into the Columbia, Canada would generate great amounts of power on its own and get half of the American power besides.

"I can tell you right now that the government is not prepared to go for the plan which Gen. McNaughton says the Americans forced upon us," he added.

"This is the hottest election issue in British Columbia and the government knows it can't win a seat there with the present treaty intact."

May Work Something Out—Green

VANCOUVER (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green said it "may be possible to work something out" by way of federal - provincial agreement on the giant Columbia River project between now and the general election June 18.

But nothing could be done about ratification of the treaty with the United States until a new Parliament was convened, the minister said. Told of reports B.C.'s Premier Bennett might call a provincial election if there was no federal action Mr. Green gave a non-committal wave of his hand and said:

"I can't help that. We're running the government of Canada, not British Columbia."

The external affairs minister was careful with answers to questions about the Columbia and the federal election as he arrived by air from the east. He addresses a Canadian Club luncheon here today.

But what he did say about the possibility of a Columbia agreement tied in with a statement by Provincial Attorney-General Bonner. Mr. Bonner told the Victoria Times in an interview that the possibility of a major understanding exists and he expects announcement of a B.C. - federal agreement shortly.

Premier Bennett has been at odds with Ottawa not only on financing of the $458,000,000 project but has insisted Canada's share of downstream benefits be sold in the U.S. for cash. The federal position is that this power should be returned to Canada, as provided for in the treaty which has already been ratified by the U.S.

Kennedy Holds Out Olive Branch to Steel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Wednesday his success in suppressing a steel price increase leaves him as determined as ever to stress the need for stable wage-price decisions in the national interest.

Kennedy said he had no ill will toward the American steel industry, now that it has retracted its $6-a-ton price increase "mistake," nor any other segment of the American economy. But he said he expects all segments to pull together for the national welfare.

The president said he claims no wage-price fixing powers or even suggests they are desirable. But he expects, he said, that collective bargaining and business competition will operate in a way that will maintain prices at a reasonable level.

"We can attempt, it seems to me," Kennedy told his press conference, "to bring before the (private) parties in the most effective way possible, the public intrest that is involved, and must be involved, particularly in these basic industries."

MEETS WITH BLOUGH

Kennedy, in effect, made a public declaration of peace with the steel industry, just as he apparently did in private at a White House conference last Tuesday with chairman Roger M. Blough of U.S. Steel Corp.

It was Blough's firm that touched off the short-lived price hike after buttoning down a moderate new wage settlement with the steelworkers union. Blough made no comment.

The president stated that the U.S. administration never has been unmindful of steel industry needs for profits and funds for capital investment. He said the investment allowance features of a tax bill pending in Congress and depreciation policy revisions being drafted by the treasury department are intended to help fill these needs.

But Kennedy at the same time said industry as a whole, and the steel industry especially, is doing well.

J. Y. MURDOCH, FOUNDER OF NORANDA, DIES

TORONTO (CP) — James Young Murdoch, 71, founder and long-time head of Noranda Mines Limited and prominent in other business fields, died here Wednesday following a brief illness.

Noranda was founded in 1922 and Mr. Murdoch became the first president of the company which was to become one of Canada's richest gold-silver-copper mines.

He was made president of Canadian Copper Refiners Limited, Waite Amulet Mines, Pamour Porcupine Mines and Goldale Mines and a director of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Metals Equities Incorporated, Wright-Hargreaves Mines, International Mining Corporation, Hallnor Mines, Mordeau Mines and the Canadian Mining Association.

Third Ontario Session Ends

TORONTO (CP) — The third session of the 26th Ontario Parliament ended at 5:45 p.m. Wednesday with passage of the last items on a jam-packed legislative program.

The 54-day session was not the longest — the 1960-61 session lasted through 60 sitting days — but it was undoubtedly the busiest in the history of Queen's Park.

U.S. Plan Would Oust Nuclear Arms in 6 Years

GENEVA (Reuters)—A three-stage American disarmament blueprint under which nuclear weapons could be eliminated from the world in six years was presented to the 17-nation disarmament conference Wednesday.

The 10,000-word plan included several new concepts and proposals. But it was basically a development of the "program for general and complete disarmament in a peaceful world" laid before the United Nations last Sept. 25 by President Kennedy.

Western delegates and neutralist India welcomed the plan. Initial Communist bloc reaction was cool, with criticism directed toward the plan's emphasis of control of arms rather than outright immediate disarmament.

The plan gave the West a negotiating position at the conference, which began March 14, for the first time. Previously the United States put forth an outline and Russia a draft treaty, and Communist delegates insisted the Soviet plan was the only detailed basis for discussion.

CALLS FOR ARMS CUTS

Stage one of the American plan called for a 30-per-cent cut in nuclear delivery vehicles and major conventional armaments. All armaments would be slashed to 35 per cent of originally-declared levels during stage two.

But stage two could not begin until "all militarily significant stages" had adhered to the treaty, seen as a phrase including Communist China.

By the end of stage two, the armed forces levels of Russia and the United States could come down to 1,050,000 men each.

In addition to elimination of nuclear weapons, stage three would include dismantling or converting military bases to peaceful use, and reduction of arms, arms production and armed forces to levels agreed to be necessary to maintain internal disorder.

No Change In Nuclear Timing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy described the U.S. plan presented at Geneva Wednesday as a major effort for a breakthrough toward disarmament, but he saw virtually no prospect of calling off the imminent United States atomic tests in the atmosphere.

Kennedy volunteered his endorsement of U.S. efforts at Geneva in a press conference held shortly after the American delegation offered its plan to the 17-nation disarmament conference.

But reporters peppered the president with questions about nuclear testing, an issue in deadlock at Geneva while the U.S. prepares to follow Soviet suit by resuming in-the-air shots Kennedy said on this point:

1. No specific date has been set for the start of the U.S. test series, to be held in the Pacific, but the general timing remains as Kennedy previously announced. This schedule calls for the first explosion before the end of this month — or within some 10 days.

2. "Of course we shall proceed" with testing unless the Soviet Union agrees to the Western proposal for a test - ban treaty with international inspections.

3. Kennedy has not heard of a proposal, which a reporter said the Soviet representative at Geneva, Semyon Tsarapkin, had made to a women's delegation, offering to negotiate a test-ban treaty if the United States would close down one of its overseas missile bases.

Defected Diplomats May Quit Soviet

LONDON (CP) — Scotland Yard took out arrest warrants Wednesday for Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, British turncoat diplomats, if they ever show up from the Soviet Union.

The question was: How, where and when?

The Yard's move was based on reports that the runaways, who defected to the Soviet Union 11 years ago next month, were planning finally to quit the Soviet Union.

The arrest warrants for the pair charge violation of Britain's Official Secrets Act.

A spokesman of British European Airways in London said he understood they were aboard a Royal Dutch Airlines flight from Moscow to Amsterdam.

But when the plane arrived in the Dutch city the pilot told reporters no one named Burgess or Maclean was among his 15 passengers.

In taking out arrest warrants, Scotland Yard said it had reason to suppose the two defectors may either have left the Soviet Union or are planning to do so.

FOUND IN MOSCOW

But reporters found Maclean still in his Moscow apartment Wednesday evening. He declined to make any comment on Scotland Yard's action.

A friend of Burgess said he was holidaying somehwere in the Soviet Union but would return to Moscow in about two weeks.

In East Berlin, a close friend of Burgess said he was not there and declared it was "very unlikely" the two former diplomats would take any action together.

"I believe they do not get on all well together," the East Berlin friend said. "Moreover I am sure the Macleans do not want to return to Britain. From what I know, Guy Burgess might possibly have a different attitude if he ever had the chance."

Burgess and Maclean were 42 and 40 when they disappeared from their London home May 25, 1951. Maclean was head of the British foreign office's American department and Burgess was in London awaiting reassignment after a tour of duty as an executive officer at the British embassy in Washington.

Maclean's wife and three children joined him more than two years later.

RELEASE STATEMENT

It was not until February, 1956, that the two Britons revealed themselves in Moscow and issued a 1,000-word joint statement.

They declared they went to Russia to "work for the aim of better understanding between the Soviet Union and the West having both of us become convinced from official knowledge in our possession that neither the British nor, still more, the American government was at that time seriously working for this aim."

Education Mill Rate Again Cut in Nelson

The education mill rate for the city will drop almost one mill, the second consecutive rate drop for Nelson.

In announcing the drop, J. S. Livingstone, school board secretary, said that the budget for Nelson School District is $1,437,599. The city share after credit for federal taxes, will be $271,210, on an assessment of $13,570,670.

"We are now given to understand Nelson assessment for educational purposes in 1962 will be $13,565,130," said Mr. Livingstone. "It means that the mill will be worth approximately $13,566, and dividing the city's share of $271,210, this will bring the mill rate for educational purposes to 19.99 mills or a drop of .98 mills over the previous year."

Mr. Livingstone went on to say that the school board in 1961 reduced the mill rate 1.4, and only .11 mills was passed on by the city to the taxpayers. This year, with the mill rate lowered still further by the school board, it should be reflected in the city mill rate.

Rural area portion for this year after credit for federal taxes is $284,185 and the village of Salmo's share will be $14,516.

"Board policy and good management has produced two consecutive years in mill rate reduction for educational purposes in city and rural areas," he said.

"Nelson School District is one of the 55 boards whose careful handling of public finance has drawn mention by the Hon. Leslie R. Peterson, Minister of Education," he concluded.

In his announcement concerning government grants authorized by order-in-council for payment to each school district, Mr. Peterson stated that the education finance formula provides that for each district the provincial government pays the full cost of a basic education program beyond the amount which can be raised by a basic levy.

NEW METHOD

In the legislature last year, Mr. Peterson outlined a proposal whereby the amount allowable in the basic education program for operating expenses, other than teachers' salaries and auxiliary services, would be calculated at $2560 per approved teacher rather than by using varying standards for individual school budget items.

This new method of computing is being brought into effect this year and will allow school boards complete freedom to allocate the money in their operation budgets to the items where, in their opinion, it would do the most good.

Two important features of the lump sum method should be stressed, said the education minister. First, the amount of $2560 per approved teacher is allowed for operating expenses in the basic education program for each district regardless of the actual budgetting for these items by the district. This means that school districts which are budgetting below this figure have the advantage of applying the funds they gain to offset the amount they pay for teachers' salaries and auxiliary services.

Secondly, as the number of approved teachers increases from year to year, so will the amount allowed for operating expenses.

RECEIVE MORE

Mr. Peterson pointed out that under this method, 55 districts, including Nelson, of the 82 districts receive more than they would under the former basis.,

He said, "School boards are now, to a greater extent than ever before, autonomous bodies completely responsible for the management of the financial affairs of their districts, and realize that they must be prepared to answer directly to the local taxpayers for any future increase in school costs.

"In the balance of the districts rates have risen and I trust that during the year boards will seriously study their costs with a view to reducing their local school mill rates for 1963."

Gas Line Bombed

GRAND FORKS (CP) — RCMP were investigating an explosion of a terrorist bomb which Tuesday night blew out a four-foot section of the Inland Natural Gas Company's 10-inch gas line about five miles east of this Boundary centre.

Company regional manager Bert Evans of Trail said terrorists dug down more than four feet to place the bomb under the line. It went off about 9 p.m. and natural gas service in the Grand Forks, Savona and Nelson areas was disrupted.

Twenty-five company employees were called out to make repairs which were completed Wednesday.

While repairs were under way emergency gas was diverted into the line in an effort to keep up the dropping pressure.

The Inland Natural gas line was completed in 1957. Since then it has been struck four times by terrorists. The last incident involved blasting of the line near Nelson and cutoff of natural gas to the city in the spring of 1958.

Toastmasters Install Slate

A. Foster was installed president of the Nelson Toastmasters Club for the coming year, at their dinner meeting at the Royal Canadian Legion.

B. K. Arlidge was installed as administrative vice-president; M. Stewart, educational vice-president; R. H. Dill, secretary; D. Needham, treasurer and P. Deakin, sergeant-at-arms.

Laurie Lefeaux, past area governor installed the officers and Paul Deakin was awarded the speakers cup for the best speech of the evening.

To Attend Coast Meet

T. C. Lambert and William Kalyniuk of Nelson have been named delegates to attend the B.C. Association of Real Estate Boards annual meeting in Vancouver May 3.

The two were named at the annual meeting of the Kootenay Real Estate Boards in Kimberley Monday.

Mr. Kalyniuk is one of the four directors on the Kootenay executive. Others are Frank Baynes, E. E. Conroy and M. G. Klinkhamer, all of Cranbrook.

Elected president was R. M. Lytle of Kimberley. Marc Poulin of Nelson was elected vice-president and Fred Holmes of Kimberley, secretary-treasurer.

The possibility of a scholarship to further the educational program for the industry in B.C. was discussed. The scholarship would apply only to the Kootenay area.

President of the BCARB, P. D. P. Phillips addressed the group on continued education and higher standards as part of the plan to make the profession more exacting.

B.C. regulations and educational programs are the most advanced in Canada, he said, and $100,000 is to be raised in the industry this year for further educational purposes at U.B.C.

New Plane Expected Today

A small fixed wing float plane to supplement the operation of Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. in Nelson is scheduled to land on the West Arm today.

The plane will work as a general charter plane and also support the helicopter operation, which is expected to expand throughout the east and west Kootenay this summer.

Nelson will be the central base, maintaining two to be established in Revelstoke and Cranbrook.

Vandalism At Cemetery

The annual spring outbreak of vandalism at Nelson Memorial Park has taken on a new twist this year.

Ald. F. A. Beresford told city council Monday that he has received a complaint of children using the cemetery as a miniature golf course.

"They're using golf clubs to blast rocks at tombstones," Ald. Beresford remarked.

To aid police in apprehending the culprits, council recommended that persons who spot the vandalism taking place should contact the police immediately and let them do the pursuing, instead of trying to apprehend the children themselves.

More Space For Senior Citizens Planned

The crowded confines of the Civil Service room in the city hall has alarmed several members of the Senior Citizens Association.

Though the group as a body has not made any official complaint, and most likely will not, several members have been worried at the drastic reduction in space in comparison to their former quarters in the Civic Centre building.

"We are not as happy as we were in the other place," said one member. "We're crowded a little bit."

But the crowding appears to be temporary, as one member said that the city had promised that some of the material will be removed from the congested area.

Fraternal Council Sent Boys On Bombing Trip, Court Told

The Sons of Freedom ruling body was responsible for sending a teen-ager on a bombing mission which caused his death, assize court was told Wednesday.

Last Feb. 16 Harry Kootnikoff, 17, a Freedomite youth, was blown to pieces by a bomb he was believed to be carrying in his shirt while riding in a car through Kinnaird. Kootnikoff and four others were on their way to bomb the Kinnaird post office, court was told.

The four survivors, George W. Postnikoff, 23, John A. Evdokimoff, 20, Bill Goolieff, 20, and Peter F. Salikin, 20, were charged with illegal possession of explosives and convicted Wednesday in three minutes by a 12-man jury.

In a statement given RCMP by Evdokimoff, he said the Freedomite Fraternal Council ordered the bombing.

His statement said in part, "On the 15th of February, Harry Kootnikoff came to my place in Goose Creek and said we have to go and bomb something. I asked him who told him that and he said the Fraternal Council told him, but didn't say who. When read to the court the statement caused a flurry of conversation among Freedomites in the gallery.

Statements given police by all accused were read into evidence and said that the destination for the bombing excursion was the Kinnaird post office.

LAUGH AT PICTURE

At times the four young men were serious when certain evidence was presented while at other times they laughed.

Evdokimoff and Postnikoff laughed together when shown a picture of the death scene and surrounding area. In the foreground of the picture, among other debris, were pieces of flesh.

Later, however, when pictures of Kootnikoff's mutilated corpse were presented, Postnikoff refused to look.

Evdokimoff held the picture over his left shoulder to show Freedomites in the gallery. Fifteen feet behind was Kootnikoff's mother. Later two young Freedomite women asked to have the picture for a moment because Mrs. Kootnikoff wanted to see it. Their request was refused.

The four will be sentenced, along with other Freedomites convicted of terrorist acts this week, at 10:30 this morning by Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe.

Postnikoff, in his statement to RCMP, said, "Harry was putting the bomb together when it went off in the car."

As a result of the explosion all of the Freedomties are reported to have difficulty hearing. Goolieff wears a hearing aid and Salikin bears facial scars, graphic reminders of the premautre bombing which took the life of their partner in crime.

Goolieff said in his statement, "I don't know what Harry done with the bomb but it exploded in the car there on the lower road."

Cpl. G. M. Sproule of the RCMP Identification Branch, Nelson subdivision, presented 10 pictures of the death scene.

Const. R. Kostynski of the Castlegar RCMP detachment, told court of arriving at the scene shortly after the explosion to find Salikin lying on the pavement beside the car. He said the young Freedomite was badly injured and groaning.

Const. Kostynski testified that Postnikoff and Goolieff were nearby, both bleeding about the head and suffering from shock. Footprints in the snow indicated there had been a fourth live occupant. Blood accompanied the footprints, he stated.

Residents in the area told of hearing the explosion and running out to the scene. J. H. Proud, directly in front of whose home the explosion occurred, told court he saw one man in the back seat of the car, badly injured, and others outside the car.

He described Kootnikoff's body as a "mass of pulp."

Const. Paul Drescher of the Trail RCMP detachment told court he stopped the vehicle in which the five Freedomites were riding at 9:30 p.m. at Genelle, seven miles south of Kinnaird.

SEARCHED CAR

He testified he searched the entire car but found no explosives. He did not search the five physically, he stated.

Cpl. Angus MacDonald of Nelson said he found Evdokimoff, the boy who ran from the scene, in bed at the home of George Nevokshonoff in Castlegar at 5 a.m. Feb. 17.

Evdokimoff was holding a towell to his right ear and he took the injured lad to hospital, Cpl. MacDonald testified.

He also told court he found pieces of watch parts intermingled with remains of Kootnikoff in the back seat of the vehicle, indicating a timing device of the bomb.

Staff Sergeant W. G. Lambert of Nelson told of finding battery parts.

Const. R. M. Stevens of Castlegar testified that he examined the body in the morgue. He said he found pieces of plastic, metal and cardboard imbedded in the body.

He also found watch parts in the car.

As court stood to adjourn the four Freedomites smirked and smiled.

Jaycess Too Busy With Paint-Up For Clean-Up

The Jaycees handed Arbor Week back to the senior Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Representing the recently reorganized group, Thomas Smith told city council that Jaycees felt their "paint up" campaign during Arbor Week would command all their attention.

"They (Jaycees) feel that the senior chamber has experience in this. They'll leave the cleaning up to them," said Mr. Smith.

For the first time the Chamber sponsored the campaign last year, after the city was forced to drop the program because of economic pressure.

This year the senior chamber has not shown any great enthusiasm for the task. At a recent meeting the Chamber executive felt that the junior and senior chambers should combine forces to combat the problem.

Veterans' Welfare Gets Top Billing Zone Meeting

NATAL — The East Kootenay zone meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion was held in Natal with delegates from ten branches in attendance.

The meeting was opened by zone chairman O. Young of Invermere and the credentials committee reported 31 voting delegates, seven officers and two fraternal delegates registered.

Following reading of the minutes and correspondence, committees were named for handling resolutions, finance and sports activities. Reports from Zone Chairman O. Young and Zone Commander H. Broadhurst of Kimberley were given. The report of the zone commander fully covered provincial command deliberations and instructions on all Legion activities. Comrade Broadhurst stated that membership in 1961 only showed a small increase over the previous year but there had been increased financial aid in the form of bursaries, scholarships, track and field and other youth projects with more than $30,000 given for these causes at the branch, zone and provincial levels in 1961.

Branch reports showed continuing activity and interest in veterans' affairs and youth programs during the past six months, and it was indicated that increased participation in the Junior Olympic Training Plan of track and field events for both girls and boys can be expected this summer. All branches paid tribute to the help received from their ladies auxiliaries.

Committee work was completed in time for the banquet served on Saturday evening by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch No. 81. Highlight of the banquet came with presentation by the zone commander of a past commander pin to comrade E. Gummer of Cranbrook branch No. 24. Comrade Gummer has been active in legion work for more than 30 years without break. Entertainment and a dance completed the evening's program.

The parade was impressive on Sunday morning despite high winds. Veterans and ladies' auxiliary members, led by the Natal-Michel band, marched to the cenotaph for a remembrance service conducted by Padre Adam Crisp.

VETERANS' WELFARE YOUTH WORK

Reports of committees saw the meeting endorse four resolutions, three of which concerned welfare of veterans. During the welfare session attended by delegates to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the E.K. zone, a cheque in the amount of $200 was presented by the LA to zone commander Broadhurst. LA to Cranbrook Branch No. 24 also donated the sum of $50. Both of these donations are for use by the zone in youth activities, particularly the Junior Olympic Training Plan which will this year see winners in four age groups from the various branch meets taking part in a zone track and field meet to be held in Cranbrook on July 15 with winners in the two top age groups slated to participate in the provincial meet at the PNE in Vancouver late in August.

To Work on Cemetery Ridgeway Marker

CRANBROOK — East Kootenay Historical Association board of directors has met and named John Noble of Chapman Camp as president, and Mrs. Art Howard of Fort Steele vice-president, and confirmed appointment of James Nelson as secretary-treasurer.

Two major field projects for the coming months were initiated at the meeting, one in the Upper Moyie River drainage area and the second in Perry Creek district.

The Royal Canadian Legion, Cranbrook branch, will be asked to assist in sponsorship of the former which will be the dedication of a new headboard on the remote and lonely grave of John Ridgeway, placer miner on Ridgeway Creek at the Moyie headwaters, who was killed in a mine shaft there 70 years ago. Original pine marker with name and dates carved on it has withstood the years and is now being placed in Historical Association custody, and D. A. MacDonald has fashioned a new exact facsimile. Association research on Ridgeway from information on the marker has been highly successful. He was a Civil War veteran and a Pennsylvanian. In view of this war service, the Bonners Ferry American Legion post will be invited to participate in the ceremony in this centennial year American observance of the Civil War.

OLD TOWN

Second project involves heavy field work in restoration of the Old Town cemetery on Perry Creek. Old Town, of which only traces now survive, is second only to Fisherville as an East Kootenay community. It was a substantial gold mining community of the 1870s and even included a Hudson's Bay store. The cemetery has been relocated on a bench near the site of the settlement, measuring about 12 by 42 feet. About eight people are buried there, including Frank Perry, after whom the creek was named and who started the rush there as a diversion from Wild Horse. The Victoria Colonist records that Perry was found dead in the shaft of a mine Dec. 9, 1878. Actually his name was Francois Perrier.

JS & B Lumber Company Limited, which holds timber rights further up Perry Creek, has volunteered to help the project in clearing the area with a bulldozer, and also has donated the lumber for restoration work a historical association work party plans.

Chlorine Fumes Hospitalize Five Workers

CASTLEGAR — Five men were taken to Castlegar and District Hospital Tuesday when they suffered inhalation of chlorine fumes which escaped from a tank car being unloaded at the Celgar Pulp Mill.

The men were working at their various jobs when the fumes, which spread out over a large area, affected them.

The incident broke a 131-day accident-free record at the plant. The last accident was in December when an employee was injured by a rolling log.

An investigation into the cause of the escaping fumes was conducted Wednesday afternoon.

Three of the men affected were released from hospital after a check-up and were back working Wednesday.

The other two men were detained in hospital over night and released Wednesday.

Council Foresees Plebiscites On Two Long-Term Plan Issues

CRANBROOK — In anticipation of issue of the letters patent for the city limits extension, city council this week began consideration of the engineering firm recommendations concerning long-term planning for best use of the undeveloped area of the expanded site.

Approval was given this week of proceeding with the first four steps; land inventory and evaluation, and mapping to show physical conditions of drainage and flooding; preparation of zoning provisions for the new area, including temporary and final land use zoning so that new area can be serviced on block scale as its use is required; and detailed planning for streets and lots in the annexed area to be developed and served with utilities in the initial five years.

Also approved was preparation of an engineering plan for drainage of the flat northeast area in the new limits and improvement of Joseph Creek bed and course from south to north through the city.

With early need for trunk sewer extension for the increased city area obvious, city council also began study of the engineering firm conclusions concerning its financing. Debt service cost for the recommended installations and improvements is estimated by the firm at about $25,000 annually.

The report lists four methods of meeting this, an increase in city mill rate, a frontage tax, a sewer user rate or a special charge on each parcel of land, or combinations of these.

TO VOTE

Debentures for this major utility improvement will require a plebiscite of ratepayers, and method of debt servicing will be thoroughly aired before a decision is made.

City council also examined the proposed Columbia Natural Gas Limited agreement with the city for distribution of gas planned for this fall, and decided this should also be put before ratepayers in a vote, with the two matters to be considered by voters at the same time.

ICE BREAKUP TIME GIVEN

Progress in Formation East Kootenay Library Association

CRANBROOK — Signing of an agreement with the public libraries at Marysville and Kimberley was reported at the April directors' meeting of the Cranbrook Public Library toward current formation of an East Kootenay Library Association to work in cooperation with the East Kootenay Branch of the B.C. Library Commission, which maintains its book depot and headquarters here.

R. L. Davison of the Commission has been in East Kootenay recently meeting separately with boards of these three public libraries, and those at Fernie, Creston, Golden and Field toward forming the Association. Each public library named a representative on the Association board and they will meet initially late in May. Mrs. G. M. Robertson has been named by Cranbrook Public Library, and its president an dsecretary, Denis Horobin and Mrs. R. E. Dale signed the agreement.

Cranbrook librarians Mrs. Wilbur Abbey and Mrs. R. W. Slye reported circulation records fell again last month when 4,682 volumes were exchanged by members during March and 40 adults and 42 juveniles were added to membership list. Previous record of slightly over 4,000 volumes was set in February. Mrs. Slye also reported the library had arranged public book displays and a program on CKEK to mark Canadian Library Week.

Library stock has been increased lately with gift of 37 volumes, and the board book selection committee was instructed to draw up a list of recommended books for purchase this month.

Vice-chairman Mrs. Robertson presided at the meeting in the absence of regular chairman Mr. Horobin.

Park Caretaker, Airport Manager Named by Council

CRANBROOK — City council this week named Kurt Becher to continue as manager-caretaker this season of its Municipal Tourist Court at Baker Park on the same terms as before.

New appointment confirmed by the meeting was James Gillespie as manager of the Municipal Airport at a monthly salary of $250, duties of this office to be outlined by the standing committee for the airport. Mr. Gillespie is also manager of Kootenay Airways Limited, which has Cranbrook airport headquarters and office.

Application will be made by the city to the Department of Transport for extension to the city airport office of the existing telephone service between its Kimberley airport meteorological office and Cranbrook office of Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Concentrator Crew Passes Million Hour Safety Mark

KIMBERLEY — Workers in the Sullivan Concentrator have added another achievement to its enviable safety record.

This month they reached and passed the record of 1,000,000 man-hours free of a disabling injury. This means they have maintained a safety program in all operations at the concentrator since Nov. 3, 1960 — a total of 490 days. This is a record for all Cominco operations in Kimberley.

Concentrator employees will seek to better their record as they move into Cominco's 1962 safety month which commences May 1.

Tenders Open May 7. . .

Allen Named Principal New Elementary School

CRANBROOK — Jack Allen, present vice-principal at Central School, has been appointed by the Cranbrook School District board of trustees as principal of the new elementary school, to be located west of Third Avenue and South of Fourth Street south. Twelve applications were considered before the appointment was made.

Tenders for the eight-room elementary school for which plebiscite approval was given to a total cost of $146,000 have been called, setting a deadline of May 7 for opening of bids and award of the contract. The site has already been purchased and no clearing is required. The school will include an activity room and the board hopes for readiness for occupation this fall term.

Four tenders were received for a new 55-passenger school bus required to replace the 31-passenger bus now in service. The transportation committee of the board has made its recommendation, and the department of education will make the decision. This is expected for use next fall.

Preliminary registration for Grade 1 pupils in September at the Health Unit last week drew 230 enrolments, which is believed considerably short of the actual starting number. So that attendance boundaries can be set for these children, the board is extending enrolment period when children born in 1956 can be listed. Deadline of May 15 has been set for this when attendance areas in the city will be established.

KINDERGARTEN ENROLMENT

Registration of children born in 1957 also taken last week tallied 120 for the kindergarten the Cranbrook school district now offers toward preparing a child for school start the following year.

Two-year leave of absence has been granted Miss Doreen McKay of Laurie Elementary School to accept an appointment for that period with the Department of National Defence as member of the staff for aschool at Soest, Germany, operated for children of Canadian servicemen stationed there.

Resignations from teaching staff have been accepted from Miss Sandra Hale of Tenth Avenue School, and Miss Elaine Buck and Miss Donna McLeod, household economic teachers at Mount Baker School.

Statesman at Work

Delegates to the Geneva arms conference, as they bat technicalities back and forth like ping-pong balls, need reminding that they are discussing human survival; and it takes a man with unusual force of character to do the reminding effectively.

Howard Green, Canada's foreign minister, has been filling the role well, notes the Financial Post. As Canadians know him, he is earnest, sincere, unpretentious. At Geneva, and again at Ottawa in reporting the conference, he showed fundamental strength, the Post continues.

His message was that failure at Geneva will not be tolerable. Some agreement, he insisted, must be worked out. The words and personality of this quiet man got results. By all accounts, he helped to save the Geneva debate from an early collapse.

Of course he could not have managed it if he had been only, as some mistakenly believe him to be, an exhorter who gives good advice in the abstract. He was not like the man who suggested the destruction of submarines by bringing the ocean to a boil, leaving the details to others.

His Geneva speech showed that he and his staff had thoroughly searched U.S. and Soviet proposals, past and present, for practical points of agreement. He found seven items on which specific progress could be made.

Both the Americans and the Russians say they want rockets and satellites confined to peaceful uses; observation posts to prevent surprise attack; technical study of gas and germ warfare; no more production of fissile material for bombs; prohibition of the spread of nuclear weapons; a cut in conventional forces, and in missiles, in "the first stage". It is an impressive list.

Between agreement in principle and a workable treaty there is a wide gap which can only be closed by negotiation. Mr. Green's point, a valid one, is that a basis for negotiation exists now. Others may take the bleak view that disarmament is a lost cause but not Canada's foreign minister.

As he said to Parliament recently: "I become annoyed with this attitude of hopelessness, that nothing can be done, that we are going to be blown up and we might just as well do nothing and get blown up. That does not make much sense to me."

When he said that, the Post concludes, Howard Green certainly spoke for all rational men. Disarmament, he says, is feasible because it is absolutely necessary. His dedication to this idea merits our respect and thanks. It also deserves success. Mr. Green has been doing a job for all humanity of which Canada can be proud.

Western Nations Edge Toward Unity

How rapidly the union of European countries is progressing is brought forcibly to mind by the fact that it was only five years ago today that representatives of six nations — West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands — signed a treaty creating the Common Market and European Atomic Energy Pool. That agreement, known as the Treaty of Rome, since then has been ratified by each member country. Much more also has been done.

In those five years four of the 11 specific tasks set for the six nations in their program have been fulfilled and the others are progressing ahead of schedule. Britain is making formal application to join the Common Market, and the United States Congress is discussing greater authority for the president to bargain with the Common Market countries on reduction of tariffs.

Those six and other countries of Europe already were joined in the Coal and Steel Community, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development which superseded the Marshall Plan, the European Broadcasting Union, and the Conference of Post and Telecommunications. Since signing of the treaty there also have been instituted the European Economic Community, the Atomic Energy Community and the Free Trade Association. The Nordic Council and the Balkan Alliance have bound others. The trend is toward more and more union of all countries west and south of the Iron Curtain.

While progress has been rapid in recent years, the idea of European union has been growing steadily for about 300 years, since the "Great Design" of Henry IV of France. Fear of attack, especially fear of the kind of silent economic attack upon which the aggressive communist governments rely, has done more to move the idea toward full development than centuries of past discussion.

As surely as one can read recent history, the trend is rapidly and directly toward union of all western Europe — not politically, but militarily and economically.

Resistance

One wonders what the eventual outcome of passive resistance will be. In New York, recently, there were scenes strongly suggestive of Trafalgar Square, London, as the police carted off anti-nuclear demonstrators squatting on the sidewalk. From the press reports, the New York police lacked a little of the aplomb of the Metropolitan police of London in dealing with this extraordinary task; nor were the crowds as sympathetic as those of London. But our faith in the laudable qualities of London policemen was severely disturbed when we found that they had sneakily dumped some of the January demonstrators in the fountains of Trafalgar Square.

It plainly states in the regulations governing assemblies held in Trafalgar Square that the meetings will be held with decorum and that the fountains will not be defiled with foreign matter. Taking foreign to mean something alien to the normal contents of the fountains and not a matter of nationality, we find the heedless London police less majestic as guardians of the civic peace than we were hitherto prepared to believe.

Armchair General

The National Museum of Canada announces it has secured a chair which belonged to Benedict Arnold, the American general who defected to the British during the American Revolution. Citizens of the United States, well indoctrinated as to General Arnold's treachery, may wish for further details on this piece of early Colonial furniture. If it turns out to have been mounted on rockers it may put a brake on the rocking-chair vogue sweeping the States. However, most Americans will remain convinced that General Arnold's chair was a swivel.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

"Defectors" Return to Russia With Low Opinion of America

By ROBERT ELPHICK

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The government Wednesday produced two Russians who defected to the West but returned to their homeland after allegedly falling "into the hands of United States intelligence."

Soviet scientist Alexei Golub, whose defection in The Netherlands caused an international incident, and Soviet electrician Nikolai Vokhmiakov appeared at a press conference attended by 300 Soviet and foreign newspaper men.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, commented that "after experiencing for themselves the 'delights' of the capitalist world, the men who had defected were soon disappointed and returned home."

Bolub, a biochemist, stirred up an international incident when he sought asylum while visiting The Netherlands last year. His wife, Irina, insisted on returning home without him and last March 27 Golub himself went back to Moscow.

Vokhmiakov was said to have sought asylum at the United States Embassy in Rome while in Italy as a tourist.

RETURNS HOME

Golub told the press conference he requested political asylum last October in The Netherlands. Last month he said he voluntarily asked the Soviet Embassy in The Hague for assistance to return home.

"In my simplicity, I thought that by turning to The Netherlands authorities I acted rightly, but reality dispelled my illusions," he said.

"Instead of working in the field of science, I immediately fell into the hands of The Netherlands and later American intelligence agents, who tried to exploit my rash action to attain ends very remote from science."

Golub said he was under continuous police surveillance during his stay in The Netherlands.

Golub said that while in "solitary confinement" in The Netherlands, he was summoned for cross-examination by two officials of the Dutch foreign affairs ministry, who introduced themselves as "Glauber" and "Koster."

'SOUGHT INFORMATION.'

He said the questions which interested them made it clear he had to deal with intelligence agents.

Golub said Koster compelled him to write letters slandering Russian policy to various international organizations, and to make hostile statements in the "reactionary" press and over the radio.

Early in March Koster introduced Golub in a "clandestine" apartment, to "two officials of the United States department of state, who called themselves Symons and Brown."

Symons said he was an expert on politics and armaments, and Brown a biochemist, Golub added.

"I very soon realized that Brown had only a superficial knowledge of elementary biochemistry, but was very competent on questions of rocketry."

WAS IN U.S. 'CLUTCHES'

Golub said he found himself in the "clutches of U.S. intelligence officials" who subjected him to a more detailed cross-examination.

Vokhmiakov, an electrician from a mine in the Urals, told the conference he sought asylum from the U.S. embassy while in Italy as a tourist.

"From the very first days, I found myself in the hands of American intelligence agents who questioned me daily," he said.

From Rome, Vokhmaikov was flown to Frankfurt, West Germany, where he was placed in a special apartment and forbidden to leave it.

SENT TO BARRACK?

He said he was methodically pressed to agree to study at an intelligence school.

"On realizing that they could get nothing from me, the Americans lost interest and sent me to the Zirndorf camp near Nuernberg and placed me in a barrack surrounded with metal sheeting and barbed wire," he said.

"The entrance was guarded. Such was the political asylum I was given."

Vokhmiakov said he then went to Kaiserslautern and was enlisted in a U.S. company which guarded military warehouses.

He said he met Russians, Ukrainians, Poles and Yugoslavs from the Second World War there, many of whom advised him to return home.

Interpreting the News

By DAVID OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Former French Premier Debre headed for a country holiday amid speculation that he could be an heir to the presidency of the republic.

Debre will go down in history as a premier who held office longer than any of his predecessors in this century.

When he resigned Saturday to make way for former banker Georges Pompidou, a close confidant of President de Gaulle, Debre had been premier for three years and three months.

Debre's contribution to the fifth republic was more than staying power and faithful service to a rather aloof master.

Much of the detailed work on the republic's new constitution was his. He had, as the Guardian of Manchester observes, tried to transfuse British-type cabinet government into a French vessel.

FOR ELECTED CABINET

The idiosyncrasies of the powerful president tended to overshadow this.

Debre wanted to see the cabinet drawn largely from the elected body as it is in countries such as Canada and Britain.

As premier, Debre acquired some influence in handling most of the day-to-day business of government.

His departure from office is inextricably linked with the course of events in strife-torn Algeria.

Debre and other leaders of the Gaullist Union for the New Republic were in favor of a general election as a sequel to the Algerian settlement. De Gaulle decreed otherwise — the vote would not take place until the life of the current assembly runs out next year.

This is said to be one of Debre's reasons for resigning at this time. Some observers have also advanced the view that the former premier may have felt the three-year buffeting he took while in office was enough for any man.

UNPOPULAR

He has been described as de Gaulle's lightning conductor for the bolts unleashed by unpopular policies and methods of operation. He has been a frequent target in the Assembly, in the country at large and in Algeria. He has been, in fact, perhaps the nation's most unpopular premier of all time.

His immediate plans apparently are to return to his duties in the Council of State, a senior civil service body that drafts laws and advises on them.

Since he relinquished his Senate seat to become premier, he is expected to stand for re-election next year. But, as observers note, anything may happen under the Gaullist regime.

CIVIL DEFENCE

Since the dawn of history, human survival has been dependent upon preparedness. Individuals, families and communities have discovered that the effects of disaster were decreased when preparations were made in advance.

IT'S A TRULY FRIGHTENING EXPERIENCE that first time you're witness to an asthma attack, with its tormenting gasping for breath and wheezing. That's why I'm happy to be able to tell chronic asthma sufferers about the relief they can have by taking RAZ-MAH Capsules. (And, for young sufferers . . . Raz-Mah Greys Juniors). Raz-Mah Capsules bring almost instant relief and yet they leave no unpleasant after-effects. Seeing is believing, and I saw how wonderfully effective they are. That's why I recommend Raz-Mah to anyone suffering from asthma or chronic bronchitis.

WANT A WASH AS FRESH and soft as a Spring breeze? Believe me, it's easy with CALGON, the wonder water conditioner. Calgon conditions water so you need less soap . . . it gets clothes softer, more absorbent and really clean. That's because it prevents 'Hangover Dirt' . . . the film of soil, minerals, soap or detergent that sticks to your clothes. (Like the ring you get in the bathtub.) I've proved to myself, time and time again, that with Calgon my wash is never stiff or scratchy . . . colours never drab or dingy. Do try it . . . for brighter, cleaner laundry . . . Calgon water conditioner!

JUST LIKE A SPRING TONIC . . . here's a vegetable so crisp and tangy, it's like a breath of Spring. Yes, crisp, golden LIBBY'S SAUERKRAUT will spark your family's appetites just like a spring tonic. Serve it hot with meat such as pork or frankfurters . . . or serve it cold in salads, sandwiches. Libby's Sauerkraut blends deliciously with almost any protein sandwich-filling, such as sardines or cold meats. What's more, Libby's Sauerkraut is low in cost. No wonder 9 out of 10 cans of sauerkraut sold in Canada come from Libby's modern kitchens!

OES Distributes 7000 Free Cancer Dressings Locally

Cancer patients in British Columbia obtain free dressings from an Order of the Eastern Star cancer dressing station. Last year 15 patients in Nelson and district obtained 7000 dressings free, which ordinarily would have cost $1400.

Making the dressings for local patients has meant 600 hours of work for 31 members of the Rose City Chapter OES.

The Rose City Chapter is preparing for its Mother's Day tea and bazaar, held annually the first Saturday of May to raise funds for this purpose.

For the past four years in Nelson this service has been convened by Mrs. W. M. Ferguson and Mrs. P. Zacharias. From May 1 for the coming term, it will be convened by Mrs. Zacharias and Mrs. Joseph Holland.

Whether patients need few or dozens of cancer dressings per day, they are supplied by the 51 stations in B.C. Each station endeavors to keep its cupboards full for its own requirements and any surplus is sent where needed.

Rose City Chapter has made a total of 9400 dressings during the past year and the 7000 distributed locally have been supplied from this amount.

Besides supplying dressings, the Order supports cancer research and maintains the Erma Boyce Memorial Library in the Cancer Institute in Vancouver.

Leafs Invade Gardens, Without Goalie Bower?

By BILL MACDOUGALL

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs, back among friends after two Stanley Cup final whippings in Chicago, didn't whimper Wednesday despite the possible loss of their regular goaltender.

Assistant coach King Clancy, usually ebullient and cheerful, was tight - lipped and determined:

"We gotta win tomorrow night, that's all."

And the way Chicago Black Hawks mauled the Leafs in the Windy City Sunday and Tuesday, most observers were inclined to agree with him. The Hawks took 3-0 and 4-1 victories to square the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

Johnny Bower suffered a groin injury in the first period Tuesday night and the exact status of the veteran goaltender for tonight's fifth game is uncertain.

"I don't know about Bower yet," Clancy said. Will he play? "That's debatable."

DECISION DELAYED

He was left in Chicago overnight and was due here late Wednesday. No definite decision on whether he is able to play is expected until later today.

Bower was replaced by Don Simmons, an experienced spare goaltender Toronto has kept around since late in the regular National Hockey League season. He'll get the nod tonight if Bower is out.

The Leafs had another minor casualty. Coach Punch Imlach was home Wednesday with a slight touch of the flu.

Tonight's game is a key one. If Leafs lose, they face the prospect of having to win Sunday night in Chicago.

And if the Hawks lose, they have to win two straight, including the seventh game in Toronto next Tuesday night.

REGULARS REST

Most of the Leafs were given the day off Wednesday. Simmons, centre Billy Harris, wingers Eddie Shack and Bert Olmstead and defenceman Al Arbour joined a few reserves who haven't seen action in an hour-long light workout.

A couple of records could be broken tonight. Stan Mikita, the fiery Chicago centre who engaged in a stick - swinging duel with Toronto's Frank Mahovlich Tuesday night, is one point away from the play off records for most points and most assists. He has 19 points on six goals and 13 assists in 10 playoff game. Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings holds the points record of 20, set in 1955, and now-retired Fleming Mackell of Boston Bruins set the assists record of 14 in 1958.

Large Entry Posted For Kootenay Open

New champions may be in the making this year at the annual Kootenay Open badminton championships being held in Nelson this weekend.

Many past favorites among the 214 entries are absent and many of the titles will be up for grabs. Topping the list of absentees is perennial winner Bert Fergus, competing in a Mexican competition.

Entries in the annual competition stretch over B.C. from Pouce Coupe in the Peace River area to Victoria on the coast.

The tournament opens Friday with finals in the events being played Sunday.

Sea-Horse Compact 18

3 new Johnson compacts prove boating can be fun without being expensive

Johnson believes boating is for everyone. The three Johnson compacts are for people who enjoy fishing and small-boat fun. With a Johnson compact it's quite possible to buy both a Compact 10 and a boat for less than $700.00. Even less if you have a trade. Because the compacts are designed to be carried, excess weight has been trimmed away to make them light. Underwater exhaust, beveled gears and suspension drive stifle noise to make the compacts extremely quiet. The compacts have many standard-equipment features not always found in small motors, such as high quality baked-enamel finishes, fuel pumps, full gearshifts, thermostat controlled-cooling and complete corrosion proofing.

Visit your Johnson Dealer; find out which Sea-Horse Johnson made for you. A complete line of Sea-Horse accessories is also available. With almost a thousand Dealer's across Canada, service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.

Celtics Win NBA Title for Fourth Time

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Celtics captured an unprecedented fourth consecutive National Basketball Association championship Wednesday night, edging the Los Angeles Lakers 110-107 on the heroics of Sam Jones and Bill Russell in an overtime battle.

Boston led most of the way in the game played before a sell-out crowd of 13,909 in Boston Garden. But the Celtics had to beat down the tenacious Lakers in a five-minute overtime session.

Folley Stings Cleroux Scores Unanimous Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Zora Folley, the world's No. 3 ranking heavyweight boxing contender, stabbed away the bull-like rushes of Canadian champion Robert Cleroux and won a unanimous decision on 10 rounds Wednesday night.

Folley, of Chandler, Ariz., gave away a dozen pounds at 193-205, but his sharper punching built up a margin after Cleroux jarred him early with a body attack.

The Montreal mauler, ranked No. 4, kept moving in to be peppered and stung by the sharp-punching 29-year-old Folley.

The 24-year-old Canadian had hoped to use this fight as a springboard to a world title shot, but instead it was Folley who gained in stature with a one-sided verdict.

WINS NO. 58

Referee Frankie Carter scored the bout 11-0, judge Rudy Ortega 9-0 and judge Bob Mitchell 9-0.

Folley captured his 58th victory against five defeats and two draws. Cleroux absorbed loss No. 3 after winning 31 and fighting one draw.

A crowd of about 3500 watched the heavyweights at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

After jabbing in the early rounds, Folley solved Cleroux's rushing attack. As Cleroux shook his way in, Folley stepped back and slammed left and right hand counterpunches to the head.

SNAPS CLEROUX BACK

In the seventh, Folley banged repeated hard rights to the head that snapped Cleroux back.

There were no knockdowns. Folley dripped blood from the third round and Cleroux's face was red from the repeated jabbing. Often referee Carter ordered the Canadian to break clinches and at times had trouble making Cleroux back away.

Little League To Continue Operation

The crack of horsehide against maple once more will resound throughout Queen Elizabeth Park, as 27 interested people decided Wednesday night to continue Little and Babe Ruth baseball.

The 27, a large increase over the eight who attended the opening meeting Monday, voted unanimously to extend the minor baseball to its 11th consecutive year and attempt to restore the leagues to past heights.

Jack McMillan, an eight-year member of Nelson minor baseball, was re-elected president and Joe Amatto was elected vice-president. Mrs. E. J. Allan was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Don Hunter, while Art Morton, Bob Koehle, Jesse Seaby, Mike Laughton, Ted Allan and Mrs. J. Cherenko were named to positions on the directorate. Dave Ellwyn was named umpire-in-chief and Mrs. E. Richardson official scorekeeper.

It was decided that the league would open May 5, with spring training April 23 to 27. Little League will hold its training sessions April 23, 25 and 27, all beginning at 5 p.m., while Babe Ruth will hold its session April 24 and 26, also starting at 5 p.m. Bidding will take place April 29 at the Civic Centre.

Mr. McMillan indicated that five sponsors had been found for the Little League clubs. They are Rotary, Kinsmen, Lions, Gyros and Kiwanis, with a possible sixth sponsorship coming from Associated Canadian Travellers. The three teams operating in Babe Ruth last year were Algars, Hipperson and Whiteleys.

NEED EQUIPMENT

Mr. McMillan pointed out that in the past year many uniforms had become threadbare, and some new uniforms were needed. Secretary-treasurer Don Hunter explained that if new uniforms were purchased then the player fees and sponsor fees would have to be raised. A quick examination by the team coaches of their stored uniforms showed that the league could possibly suffice with the uniforms already bought.

Facilities at Queen Elizabeth Park have been repaired and await the 12-game two-month season. The infield has been rolled and dragged, rocks removed and the banks cleared. All that remains is the repair of the dugouts and stands and possibly constructing of an outfield fence.

OIL KINGS' OVERTIME WIN TIES MEMORIAL CUP SERIES

EDMONTON (CP) — Winger John Lesyshen scored at 30 seconds of a 30-minute sudden-death overtime period to give Edmonton Oil Kings a 4-3 victory over Brandon Wheat Kings before 3647 fans Wednesday night in the third game of the Western Memorial Cup final series.

Edmonton now leads the best-of-seven series 2-1. The fourth game will be played here Friday night.

Oil Kings had taken a 2-1 lead in the third session and appeared headed for victory. However, Wheat Kings pulled Goy in favor of a sixth attacker and tied the game at 19:29.

In the 10 minute overtime that followed, Edmonton again went into the lead at 7:20 and Brandon again pulled Goy and scored the equalizer at 9:45.

Defenceman Jim Eagle and forwards Roger Bourbonnais and Doug Fox scored the other Edmonton goals.

Ted Taylor scored twice for Brandon and Mark Dufour once. Taylor scored Brandon's tying goals in the third and first overtime periods.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally had enough momentum Wednesday to continue but a vigorous early advance by steels faded into an irregularly lower trend.

The ticker tape laggd in heavy trading at the start when steels were at their best. Over-night news of the "cordial" conference between President Kennedy and board chairman Roger M. Blough of U.S. Steel had led Wall Street to expect the president to have some good news for steel at his news conference.

Although Kennedy said he had no ill-will toward the steel industry, the steel shares began to slide from their peaks soon after the president's remarks.

Street resources said Kennedy's remarks were disappointing, since he took note of the fact steel earnings are at a record level and offered nothing new to relive what the industry regards as a "profit squeeze," merely referring to the tax bill now in Congress and depreciation revisions being drafted by the treasury. Certain features of the tax bill have been criticized publicly by industry spokesmen.

AVERAGE DOWN

The Dow Jones industrial average closed with a net gain of only 2.58, putting the Dow averages down at 691.01.

Big three motors closed mixed, along with nonferrous metals and chemicals. The final tone was higher for rubbers, utilities, rails, aerospace issues, building materials, airlines and electronics.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.00 to 253.70.

Volume rose to 3,350,000 shares from 2,940,000 Tuesday.

Among Canadian issues Dome Mines was up ⅝. International Nickel recovered an early loss and finished slightly higher.

Aluminium Ltd. lost ⅜.

Prices turned mixed on the American Stock Exchange after an early rise. Brazilian Traction was up ⅜, and Shawinigan ½. Scurry Rainbow Oil gained ¼.

MONTREAL (CP) — Brazilian Traction jumped 60 cents to $4.55 on a turnover of 20,000 shares to highlight a day of mainly higher prices on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges Wednesday. Trading was light.

Although company officials denied knowledge of any major news that would spur the rise, rumors that the company had reached an agreement with the Brazilian government on terms of nationalization were circulating.

Shawinigan Power added ¼ to 23 in heavy trading following a similar rise Tuesday. Calgary Power dropped ¼ to 22½.

Among industrials Canada Cement jumped 1½ to 31½.

Noranda was up ¾ at 61 among base metals and Aluminium fell ¼ to 26⅞.

Among papers, Price gained ¾ to 51½ and Bowater fell ⅜ to 6¼.

Hudson's Bay Company was unchanged at 13.

On index, banks were off 0.40 at 69.46, utilities up 0.8 at 138.2, industrials up 2.8 at 344.9, combined up 2.2 at 276.0, papers off 0.4 at 506.5 and golds up 1.59 at 78.25.

TORONTO (CP) — Trading dwindled to its lightest so far this year and industrials climbed more than one point on index Wednesday, as stock market traders seemed to be waiting for the upcoming holiday.

Highlighting industrials was the action of Brazilian Traction Light and Power Company, ch jumped 70 cents to $4.65 —its best ever — in extremely heavy turnover of 77,000 shares. Sparking the furious trading was a rumor that the Brazilian federal government had reached a settlement with the company in its longstanding nationalization bid.

Elsewhere in the main list, Price Brothers climbed 1⅜, Canada Cement one point, while Interprovincial Pipe Line, Imperial Oil, and Shawinigan all rose in a to ½ range.

Losers included Consolidated Paper, off ¼.

On the exchange index, industrials rose 1.39 to 622.15, golds .38 at 86.71 and base metals :74 at 207.70. Western oils dipped .01 to 116.25. Trading volume was 2,362,000 shares compared with Tuesday's 2,517,000.

Among base metals Noranda rose ¾. International Nickel and Falconbridge both fell ½.

Dome gained ¾ in western oils, but Calgary and Edmonton dropped ⅜ and Home A and B ¼ each.

Pearson Lashes at Five-Year Record

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — A scathing stem-to-stem indictment of the government's five-year record launched the election campaign of Liberal Leader Pearson Tuesday night.

In the waning moments of the 24th Parliament, Mr. Pearson savagely lashed at Progressive Conservative policies on unemployment, trade, deficit spending and the Coyne affair.

The mood fitted the atmosphere created by Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement earlier that the Commons will adjourn today or Thursday pending dissolution for a June 18 election.

Mr. Diefenbaker also announced the federal government intends to build a causeway between New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, a $105,000,000 project pledged by the Conservatives in the 1958 election campaign.

Mr. Diefenbaker's announcements were followed by introduction of government legislation for a five - man commission which would make recommendations on redistribution of federal electoral constituencies every 10 years, on the basis of census figures.

SEEKS COMMENT

The prime minister said the bill will die with dissolution but would serve as an invitation to comment and suggestions. Four senior judges and the chief electoral officer would be cabinet appointees under the proposed legislation, designed to remove the re-mapping of constituencies in line with population shifts out of partisan politics.

The 1½-hour Pearson attack on the Progressive Conservatives was mounted on a routine government bill to cover the final supplementary spending estimates for the last fiscal year. Approval still was needed today when the Commons resumed for the normal short Wednesday afternoon sitting.

"We've got deficits and unemployment, too, and this is the ultimate in government mismanagement," Mr. Pearson said.

Canada's financial affairs "are in a morass from which the government is unable to retreat with grace or emerge with credit."

It was "slanderous falsehood" by the Conservatives to contend the Liberals wanted to see no economic improvement. Liberal criticism, attacked as statements of doom and gloom, had been borne out by fact.

Finance Minister Fleming was accused of having consistently misled the Canadian people. He had failed "every single year to give a proper and true picture of the economy."

'FLEMING LACKS COURAGE'

The same fate awaits the forecast seven-per-cent rise in the gross national product this year, Mr. Pearson said, because Mr. Fleming lacked the courage to tell Canadians that the current economic revival is not as strong as anticipated.

The $745,000,000 deficit forecast in the April 10 budget came at a time when Mr. Diefenbaker was calling it one of "great and exciting expansion."

Mr. Fleming had the "political sword of John Damocles suspended over his head."

Unemployment had averaged 6.8 per cent during the government's reign, Mr. Pearson said. This contrasted with three per cent from 1946 to 1957.

The opposition leader added that while the government claimed higher employment, growth in the labor force had been slowed in the last year by reduced immigration and increased emigration. Otherwise unemployment would have improved less than it had.

SEES ADDED DEBT

Mr. Pearson said the budget deficits, liquidation of a special defence account and depletion of the unemployment insurance fund meant a $4,000,000,000 added debt for Canadians—$640 a resident.

Mr. Pearson called the government's attempt last summer to fire James E. Coyne as chairman of the Bank of Canada — Mr. Coyne resigned—"one of the most sordid and shameful episodes in our history." It had "besmirched" the Bill of Rights, degraded Parliament and tarnished Canada's name abroad.

Despite government claims about expanded trade, he added, Canada had slipped from her position as fourth-largest trader in the world to the fifth. The export increase of nine per cent in 1961 had been exceeded in six of 11 post-war years.

Moreover, the government had shifted its stand toward the British initiative to join the European Common Market after Mr. Fleming and Trade Minister Hees had acted initially like "petulent children."

The Commons also approved the fifth international wheat agreement and final parliamentary approval was given measures to extend deadlines for appealing customs appraisals.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Friday, April 20th, 1962

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Throughout the world with peoples hurrying in so many directions, and Faith and faith being clouded by material graspings and strife, the full significance of this Good Friday should just about be a total contemplation.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — If you have been adisappointed and feel tried, consider how disappointed Our Good Lord must be at the wild strivings and desertions from stability and compassion evinced world-wide! Prayer in order.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — The positions of all planets this Good Friday is noteworthy in that they hold warning signals, for all, to avoid bickering, thoughtless moves, provoking clashes. Use your ingenuity.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Note Gemini, and add tact and tolerance especially for those who have recently annoyed you. So often we can amend and we make greater gaps in understanding instead. A look into ourselves!

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Outline a few important thoughts for this vital day. Determine to understand your own motives and the desires of others about you. Then ask God for patience and strengthened good will.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Give the right things prominence, putting aggravations and misunderstandings in the corner. Remember your religious strength is for your whole being, brightening the future's meaning.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Here your inborn sense of the philosophical and able to see the humor at "the bottom of the barrel" can save an otherwise taxing trend. Out of the simple comes greatness.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — A quick review of past few weeks suggested. Has there really been sufficient self-denial to warrant pride in your known capacity? It is never too late, as You well know, to start afresh.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — You born close to change in Signs: careful deliberation, corrective measures favored. For All: Without sorrow, joy is not understood; without being sorry for errors, we cannot know the truth.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Odd how all planets on this day converge in positions to recommend an attitude that stresses respect for authority, renewal of past good-and-sometimes-broken promises, and inner striving for peace.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Laws, customs gradually improve to better man's respect for man: how does our regard for God's Will and our directives toward governing our traits stock up? Religion, morality always true guides.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Have you waited till late, like so many, to set up resolutions that would really put you in strong position of conscience? Here is a day for quiet reflecting, recanting, undoing to redo anew.

YOU BORN TODAY are a mighty combination of dignity, inner strength and ability to stride forward whether with the crowd, or alone if your insight tells you the path is right. Many reformers in this Zodiacal sector, and poets, essayists, And moneymakers. So Note your tendencies and keep your eyes toward goals of the intellect, the spiritual, the highly trained. Thus only will you really enjoy life, for anything uncouth or unsavory disturbs, displeases you. Music, public speaking, committee work for worthy organizations especially embrace your talents, offer pastime pleasure. Eat sensibly, getting regular rest periods. Don't keep too drastic a pace. Birthdate of: Napoleon III, French emperor; D. M. Craik, novelist; many sculptors, art critics, musicians, explorers.

East Germans Crash Through Red Barrier

BERLIN (AP)—Three East Germans crashed a gravel-filled truck through a Communist barrier into West Berlin Wednesday, but Communist machine-gun fire killed the driver and wounded one companion.

East German border police fired as the 24-year-old driver roared past them and through the wooden barrier at a midtown crossing point in the Berlin wall at 1 a.m. when traffic was light.

The heavy truck smashed into a house on the West Berlin side. One passenger, 20, was shot in the shoulder and the other, 29, escaped with bruises.

About an hour later, two East German soldiers tried to get through fences separating West Berlin from East German soil in the southwest part of the city. One man was believed wounded in the attempt, but his comrade made it safely.

FIRE GRENADES

Both soldiers were in uniform and carried pistols, West Berlin police said.

Just before the first escape was made, East and West police exchanged a barrage of stones and tear gas grenades across the wall.

West Berlin police said stones began coming from the Communist side—for no apparent reasons—at 11:25 p.m. The West replied with six tear gas grenades, which drove off the East Berliners.

A West Berlin newspaper reported that a lieutenant-colonel of an East German armored unit shot himself on the border when caught by an East German patrol in an escape attempt March 28.

MILITARY WOMEN

The number of women commissioned officers in United States military services increased from 1,525 in 1950 to 3,897 in 1960.

British Student Teachers Demand Change in Rules

LIVERPOOL (AP) — Britain's student teachers Wednesday demanded that colleges remove restrictions against bedroom co-educational entertaining.

Davie Batley told a National Union of Students conference here that rules preventing student teachers from entertaining members of the opposite sex in college bedrooms are narrow-minded.

"We believe the authorities should give to student teachers, whom they have carefully selected, a chance to prove they are not completely untrustworthy," he said.

"At the age at which most students enter training colleges, mixing of the sexes is both desirable and necessary."

Kenneth Wallis, another delegate, told the meeting that he knew of a college where girls were forced to remove the mattresses from their rooms before men could be entertained.

He cited another which banned fathers from visiting their daughters in college hostel bedrooms.
