Nehru Says India Will Not Be Cowed

India Expected To Reject Red China Peace Proposals

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Prime Minister Nehru strongly indicated here Tuesday night that India will turn down Communist China's border war peace proposals.

This came in a hard-hitting speech by the neutralist leader a few hours after his country and Britain signed a lend-lease arms agreement as India continued its military buildup.

With the undeclared border war halted by a Chinese-declared cease-fire, Nehru told a civic reception for visiting West German President Luebke that the Communist Chinese invasion has opened his country's eyes. India, Nehru said, will never be caught in a trap again.

Nehru said India must be prepared for a long struggle and might have to learn new fighting techniques. "But," the premier added, "there can be no question of our tolerating this aggression or being cowed down by China."

An external affairs ministry spokesman said China's account of events leading up to its "massive attacks" on India is a "complete travesty of the facts." However, the spokesman added that China's answer to an Indian request for clarification of Peking's cease-fire proposals has been received and is under study.

ASKED CLARIFICATION

Nehru requested clarification of what he called obscure points in the Chinese proposals of last week.

Peking declared a unilateral cease-fire in the fighting along the disputed northern frontier and said it would withdraw its troops 12½ miles from the line of control of 1959. India, however, has insisted on a withdrawal from the line of September, 1962.

The Anglo - Indian lend-lease pact for the free supply of British arms to India says India will not transfer the arms to another nationa without British consent and will offer to return them to the British government when no longer needed.

The wording of the agreement evidently was designed to allay Pakistani worries that Anglo-American military aid to India might be turned against Pakistan in its dispute with the Nehru government over Kashmir.

Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth secretary, signed the pact for his government and then flew to Rawalpindi, Pakistan for talks with government leaders there.

Princess Wilhelmina Passes

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Princess Wilhelmina, former queen of The Netherlands, has died at the age of 82, it was announced here Tuesday.

The former queen died peacefully in her sleep just before midnight in her palace near Apeldoorn, the secretariat of Queen Julianna announced.

She had suffered from diabetes and a heart condition and had been in retirement for years. A week ago a government spokesman said the state of her health was causing concern.

She reigned for 50 years, relinquishing the throne to her daughter, Juliana, in 1948.

'Sons' Start Christmas Fast

HOPE, B.C. (CP) — Sons of Freedom Doukhobors started "Christmas" celebrations Tuesday with a fast.

While about 600 adult Freedomites started a three-day fast, Mrs. Tania Rezansoff, 72, entered her 15th day without food. She has vowed to fast to the death.

Freedomite spokesmen said they celebrate Christmas Nov. 27, the birthday of spiritual leader Stefan Sorokin who lives in Uruguay, because they do not agree with the manner Canadians observe Dec. 25.

School authorities were informed Tuesday that children will be kept out of school during the three-day cleebrations which will be mainly marked with prayers.

Marie Shlakoff, one of the sect's spokesmen, said: "This is our Christmas — the birthday of our Messiah."

She said Freedomites do not celebrate Christmas Dec. 25 because of the commercialism and drinking associated with Canadian celebrations.

Mrs. Rezansoff, who suffers from Parkinson's disease, has rejected food since Nov. 13. For the last three days she has rejected even water and is growing visibly weaker.

Shrum Sees Hydro Power Top Export

MONTREAL (CP) — Gordon M. Shrum, chairman of the British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority, said Tuesday British Columbia's greatest export in the future will be hydro-electric power.

He told the Montreal Rotary Club a change is coming in the Canadian policy restricting export of power. The federal government had decided to reassess the policy.

"We're trying to export all other commodities, so why not power?" he said.

Mr. Shrum said there has been an aversion to power exports for 45 years and it traced back to contracts let to United States consumers in the Niagara Falls area before the First World War.

"All these contracts were for long terms and for low cost. In addition each contract had a renewable clause at the end of the period.

"In 1917, when industry expanded, Canada wanted that power back and there were some hard feelings and nasty words."

He said the situation is no longer the same.

"What is anticipated today is that surplus power will be exported to individuals."

DOLLAR UP

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian dollar 1-16 higher at 92 29-32 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling 7-64 lower at $2.80 15-64.

Macmillan Invited to Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is inviting Prime Minister Macmillan to Ottawa for top-level informal discussions on current international problems, it was learned Tuesday.

At the same time, George Drew, Canadian high commissioner in London since 1957, arrived here Tuesday night for briefing sessions in the external affairs department. His trip was officially described as "routine."

Mr. Macmillan is being invited to spend a day or more in Ottawa after his conference with President Kennedy in Nassau Dec. 19-20. Whether he will be able to accept the invitation, however, is not known.

It was reported here that Mr. Diefenbaker and External Affairs Minister Green would like to have a similar conference with Mr. Macmillan covering in a general way, the many problems on the international scene.

Parliament

Transport Minister Balcer announced that TCA is going to take over the licence for a Prairie service discarded by a private airline.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he expects the current session of Parliament will last to March or April — maybe an election hint.

T. C. Douglas, NDP leader, criticized Mr. Diefenbaker for saying the Commons should lengthen hours and shorten question periods.

Gilles Gregoire (SC—Lapointe) joined an NDP member in calling for the removal of Donald Gordon from the CNR presidency.

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) said the government proposal for a national economic development board is a "conversion" to Liberal policy.

JUST AN OLD SPONGER—Top tourist attraction at the Marine Museum in Key West, Fla., is an extraordinary man made of sponges shaped on a steel skeleton. Every year thousands of visitors hold hands with the glowering, bearded, nine-foot Sponge Man. His face is worked in rags and his glassy eyes stare from deep sockets. His right arm is flexed at the elbow, offering a rubbery handshake. He must be kept dry, because he would absorb 14 pints of water to every pound of his giant avoirdupoise. (Central Press)

Russia Adds to Fleet Of 12 Nuclear Subs

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia has a fleet of 12 nuclear-powered submarines now operating and is building more at a rate of five or six a year, the latest edition of Jane's fighting ships reports.

Jane's, annual reference book of the world's warships, says the Russian nuclear submarines are of three new types, including two armed with guided missiles and one designed as an attack or hunter-killer submarine.

Thirty Russian submarines in operation, 10 of them nuclear-powered, are equipped for missile launchings, Jane's says.

The present missiles have a range of only about 350 miles but improved missiles of the U.S. Polaris type, with a range of about 1,500 miles, probably will be fitted by the end of this year.

The Polaris can be fired from a submerged submarine.

The authoritative publication says the Soviet Union will start trials of a nuclear submarine armed with Polaris-type missiles probably before the end of 1963. It also says the nuclear icebreaker Lenin is "actually a parent ship for the nuclear-powered submarine Flotilla."

The total Russian fleet of conventional and nuclear submarines is believed to be 465 vessels, much higher than the United States total of 176.

But 26 of the American submarines are nuclear - powered, and the U.S. plans by 1967 to have 81 nuclear-powered submarines afloat, Jane's says.

The United States Navy "has a new construction record of which it can be proud and which must be the envy of all other nations," the reference book says.

"A summary of the strength of the United States Navy presents the most imposing array of warships the world has ever known in peacetime.

"It includes 58 of the aircraft carrier type, 43 of the cruiser type, 382 of the destroyer type, 339 of the destroyer escort type, 26 nuclear-powered submarines, 150 conventionally-powered submarines, 243 minecraft, 240 amphibious, 420 fleet auxiliaries, and 1,260 service craft."

The funds will finance the import of commodities for sale by the coalition government. In addition, U.S. aid projects such as refugee relief, technical assistance, road building, and teacher training will be continued.

Perrault Says Bennett Trying To Shift Blame

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ray Perrault, leader of the British Columbia Liberal party, Tuesday issued a statement in defence of Howard Green, Progressive Conservative External Affairs Minister.

"The Liberal party holds no special brief for the Honorable Howard Green, but the latest accusations against him by Premier Bennett are contemptible," the statement said.

Mr. Bennett said Monday Mr. Green has told the United States state department that it can get a better price on downstream benefit power provided under the International Columbia River Treaty than that suggested by B.C.

Mr. Perrault said: "Premier Bennett's irresponsible statements about Columbia development represent a frantic attempt by him to shift blame to the federal government for near-collapse of the entire Columbia development project."

Grey Cup-TV Issue Settled

OTTAWA (CP)—Settlement of the festering Grey Cup television dispute, one of the biggest battles in recent broadcasting history, was announced late Tuesday.

The publicly-owned CBC and representatives of the holders of the football classic's TV rights separately annouced agreement has been reached which will permit the publicly-owned CBC television network to carry the private CTV television network's telecast of the game without advertising messages.

Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors, has said the Board will not put its controversial Grey Cup TV regulation into force on the understanding signed documents verifying the agreement are produced today.

Resolution Left To Provinces To Decide

OTTAWA (CP) —Delegates to the federal - provincial tourist conference balked Tuesday at voting on a British Columbia resolution that would have cost the federal government millions of dollars.

The resolution, presented in the second day of the three day annual conference, called for a federal-provincial wildlife conservation agreement, effective April 1, 1963.

An accompanying B.C. brief called on the federal government to join the province in conservation projects that would cost a total of about $370,000 and invited the other provinces to submit their projects.

The delegates—most of them provincial civil servants — said they could not vote on the resolution because it involved policy.

The 49 delegates, representing industry as well as the two levels of government, decided to pass the resolution on to provincial and central government cabinet ministers for their information—without a conference vote or opinion on its worth.

Brazil Plane Burns On Hill Near Lima

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A Brazilian jet airliner on a flight to Los Angeles crashed and burned on a barren hilltop near Lima Tuesday, killing all 97 persons aboard, officials reported.

The Brazilian airline, Varig, said 18 of the 80 passengers aboard its ill-fated Boeing 707 carried American passports. The plane also carried a crew of 17.

Also aboard were several high-ranking Cuban officials, including Raul Cepero Bonilla, president of the National Bank of Cuba, a post which gave him ministerial rank.

Other victims included the Peruvian minister of agriculture, Maj.-Gen. Jesus Melgar, and his wife. Like Bonilla, they were returning from a regional meeting of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization in Brazil.

It was aviation's eighth worst disaster, the fifth major air disaster in five days, and the second within 24 hours involving Brazilian planes. Eighty - four persons died in the four other crashes.

The airliner was only minutes away from a landing in Lima when the captain radioed "this is an emergency." Nothing further was heard from the plane.

SPOT WRECKAGE

Ten hours later its wreckage was spotted on top of an isolated hill near the Inca ruins of Pachacamac, 15 miles south of Lima.

The plane was smashed to pieces and all aboard apparently met instant death.

The only pieces of the plane immediately identifiable were the tail section, part of the landing gear and a piece of wing.

Doctors, nurses and civil police who climbed the steep, rockbound hillside to the disaster scene found most victims burned or mutilated beyond recognition.

The flight originated in Porto Alegre, a southern Brazilian city where Varig has headquarters, but the major pickup of passengers was at Rio de Janeiro.

Another air crash in Brazil was reported Tuesday by the Baptist mission in Sao Paulo. A light plane used by American missionaries fell after developing engine trouble Sunday near Joazeiro do Norte in northeast Brazil. Three passengers, including two children, were killed and the pilot, Rev. Harold Reiner, 37, and his wife, Joan, 36, were injured.

Colombo Cut Disappointing

OTTAWA (CP) — Asian delegates to the recent Colombo Plan conference in Melbourne, while disappointed over this year's cut in the Canadian economic aid program, expressed understanding of the reasons behind the slash.

This was reported Tuesday by H. O. Moran, director-general of external aid, who represented Canada at the meeting of the plan's consultative committee on Nov. 12-14.

The committee is a ministerial level group but some of the 23 countries now participating in the Colombo Plan were represented by high-ranking administrative officials.

Canada's contribution to the program for economic development in south and southeast Asia was reduced by $8,500,000 in the 1962-63 fiscal year to $41,500,000.

The cut is part of the emergency program to reduce government expenditures and shore up Canada's foreign exchange position.

Good Year for Lumber Firms Anticipated

VANCOUVER (CP) — President T. N. Beaupre of British Columbia Forest Products Limited Tuesday forecast another good year for the forest industry in 1963.

Mr. Beaupre told the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association forest companies in the province have enjoyed a good year and the only thing that can upset this is a change in the economies of the countries in which B.C. goods are sold.

"There is nothing that could hurt us more than a recession in the United States or a collapse of the market in Europe.

However, he said he does not see this happening, at least not in 1963.

Five "Sons" Lose Appeals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five Doukhobors now serving sentences for terrorist activity in the Kootenay lost their appeals before the panel of three B.C. Court of Appeal judges.

They were William Konkin, serving 10 years for conspiracy to set fires and atempted arson; Pete Markin, six years for conspiring to set fires; William Stupnikoff, three years for attempted arson; Bill Goolieff and Peter Salikan, both serving 21 months for possession of explosives.

Merger Foiled

TORONTO (CP) — A roadblock was thrown Tuesday in the path of a multi-million dollar merger between two Canadian industrial giants.

Gunnar Mining Ltd., a key uranium producer, disclosed plans to purchase for $16,000,000 the assets of McNamara Corporation, huge Toronto-based construction company.

But, only hours after the announcement, the Toronto Stock Exchange issued a statement saying it had deferred approval of part of the deal.

Fulton Scores Bennett For Columbia Manoeuvres

VANCOUVER (CP) — Works Minister Fulton has called on Premier Bennett to end what he described as manoeuvring over Columbia River hydro project negotiations.

Mr. Fulton said in an interview Monday: "I have lost count of the number of different positions he has taken."

The federal minister was commenting on a proposal by the British Columbia premier that the United States appoint a mediator to help end the deadlock on Columbia negotiations.

Describing Mr. Bennett's proposal as another temporary manoeuvre, Mr. Fulton said:

"It seems Mr. Bennett is asking that the U.S. government solve a problem he alone has created by constantly changing the views his government held when the treaty was first signed.

"The important thing is to end this nonsense and get to work on this project."

Meanwhile, Liberal Leader Ray Perrault dismissed the premier's suggestion as double talk.

"The premier is obviously beginning to realize that the entire development of the Columbia River is now in the gravest jeopardy because of his politicking.

"What is needed now is that all the facts on the Columbia be placed in the open. . .

"The development of thermo power is going ahead in the U.S. and the premier knows more than anyone else that every day Canada's bargaining power in respect to the Columbia declines."

Robert Strachan, leader of the New Democratic Party, said the premier's suggestion of a mediator is an admission that all his statements have little foundation on fact.

"He has continually assured us that there will be no trouble getting five mills in the U.S. for the power, no problems in the way, no disagreement . . .

"Now, he has called for a mediator. Before he pursues this any further, I demand he tells us the complete story."

LONDON (Reuters)—Eve gave Adam an apricot — not an apple — in the Garden of Eden, says one of Britain's top botanists.

The Biblical belief in the apple as the fruit of temptation was challenged Monday by Dr. Tatham Whitehead, retired lecturer in botany at Bangor University in Wales.

"The apple is not a native of Mesopotamia," he said in an interview.

The Garden of Eden is reputed to have been in Mesopotamia.

"The only edible fruits they had there in the days of the Biblical story were the apricot and the quince.

"Since Adam is said to have eaten the fruit with which Eve tempted him it certainly would not have been a quince (a hard, acid, pear-shaped fruit used as a preserve).

"The simple deduction, therefore, is that the fruit Adam most likely ate was an apricot."

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters) — During a recent campaign against illiteracy in Purwokerto, central Java, girl students were mobilized to stop pedestrians in the street and ask them to write a sentence in Indonesian on a blackboard.

An old man, apparently a beggar, was stopped. A girl asked "can you write?"

Replied the man, "write what?"

"Anything you like," said the girl.

With a quick glance at the girl's face and figure he came forward to the blackboard and wrote firmly (in English): "You are beautiful, baby."

Young Panel Discusses School Uniforms Issue

The pros and cons pertaining to school dress were heard by the Parent Teachers' Association Monday.

A panel made up of four pupils of the Junior High School gave their opinions of what they considered proper standards for school attire.

For school uniforms were Pam MacDonald and Dina Calbick, against were Andrea Sawczuk and Laura McEachern, with moderator for the panel R. M. West.

Mr. West's definition of a uniform was being alike in appearance, quality and quantity.

Miss Callbick's argument for uniforms were based on the expense of clothes that students now wear. She said that less expensive clothes would eliminate competition and thereby some students would not feel left out. Pupils would still be able to keep their self-expression and individualism, by wearing different colors and styles of uniforms.

Answering in her defence Miss McEachern stated that if pupils did not accept competition now they would never be able to. She also said students should get the most out of their clothes and therefore wear all they had. She objected strongly to wearing a uniform dress as she thought expression and individuality were limited to the value of the student's clothing.

Miss MacDonald included a few more points for uniforms. She said if students were so inclined to compete in clothes they could then channel it to their personality and scholastic abilities.

Miss Sawczuk's argument against school uniforms were that they eliminated individuality to the style of dress worn. She also pointed out that students are still growing and as there are not too many places to wear good clothes, they should wear these clothes at school.

$10 MAXIMUM

In describing the type of uniform that should be worn Miss MacDonald thought a maximum of $10 should be spent for the uniform.

The skirt length should be about the mid-knee, the neckline quite conservative, the skirt either pleated or if straight proper fitting, no makeup unless necessary, light-colored nylons and no extreme hairdos.

Miss MacDonald said boys should be well-groomed and their clothes tidy.

If school uniforms were approved they would not be worn until next year.

Esmat Mansouri, physical education teacher at the Junior High School, told the 75 parents present the towels used by the boys after taking a shower were "dirty rags."

To emphasize how strongly he felt he showed the towels to the parents.

Mr. Mansouri's aim is to supply the students with clean towels after they shower and he will purchase some on a small scale to see if his plan is feasible. The school would wash the towels.

Stay Asked In Trial

A stay of proceedings was entered by the crown in two cases being heard in County Court Tuesday.

In the morning before His Honor Judge E. P. Dawson, crown counsel G. B. Arnesen entered the stay against Nick Bill Sapriken, William W. Kinakin, George J. Perepolkin, John J. Voiken and Paul P. Chernenkoff, all charged with a gas line explosion near Glade last spring.

The only evidence by the crown were statements by the accused given to police after the explosion. In the past many accused have denied their statements in court and as a result most charges have ended in acquittals.

In the afternoon, Nick Bill Sapriken, a crown witness, refused to testify against Alex A. Sherstobitoff, charged with possession of explosives.

Besides Sapriken's evidence, the crown case consisted of Sherstobitoff's statement.

Sapriken testified at the preliminary hearing but refused to testify in county court. He is presently serving 14 years concurrently on two previous charges.

USHER DEAD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norman Usher, 66, president of the British Columbia district Telegraph Company Limited, died Monday. He is a past president of both the Vancouver Better Business Bureau and the Motor Carriers' Association of B.C.

Mrs. Bradshaw Standing, "Concerned Over Apathy"

A member of Nelson's first Parent-Teacher Association said that she is running for school trustee because she believes "education is everybody's business."

Mrs. C. E. Bradshaw was concerned over the apathy shown towards the school board. Seats on the board have been filled by acclamation since 1959.

A native of Nelson, Mrs. Bradshaw is a graduate of Nelson High School and Nelson Business College.

She was the first secretary of the PTA when it was formed at Central School in 1943 and following a two-year term was elected president for 1945-46. She served on the executive for several years.

In 1949 when the Nelson Fair was revived, Mrs. Bradshaw was asked to look after the school display for that year. She was then a director on the fair board.

She helped promote the PTA's annual Shamrock Tea and also instigated the group's bursary to help needy students in grades 9 to 13. The bursary is still active.

Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society has occupied a good deal of Mrs. Bradshaw's tmie. She was president of CARS in 1958-59 and has served on the executive.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Bradshaw was secretary to P. H. Sheffield, former inspector of the Nelson School District. In that capacity, she learned of many of the problems then plaguing the school district.

Mrs. Bradshaw feels the new schools being built in the district are a welcome improvement but are not moving as fast as they might. She expressed her regret over the crowded conditions in the district.

MRS. C. E. BRADSHAW

She feels that renovation of Central School is long past due.

She is married to former alderman and school trustee Dr. C. E. Bradshaw.

They have three children: David, with the Foreign Exchange Branch, Bank of Canada, Ottawa; Mrs. A. (Lois) Acheson, Victoria, and Leigh, a student at Central School.

Trail's West Entrance Under Study

TRAIL — Members of Trail's urban renewal committee and Mayor J. Palyga met Tuesday afternoon with the regional highways engineer, D. F. Martin, from Nelson. At city hall the completion of the western entrance to Trail was discussed. Attending the meeting was Donald Brothers, MLA for Rossland-Trail.

Mayor Palyga said the meeting was indicative that the provincial government was interested in the project and that it was a step in the right direction. The meeting, he said, was a forerunner to a meeting with the provincial highways minister.

GIVEN 30 DAYS IN OAKALLA

Because he failed to pay a $75 fine, R. E. Simmons of Nelson was sentenced to Oakalla Prison Farm for 30 days, Tuesday.

On Monday Simmons was given two days in jail and a $75 fine, or 30 days, for breaking his cognizance by driving a vehicle without a driver's licence. In October he was convicted of passing a worthless cheque and was then required to post a $300 cognizance.

Former Teacher Seeks Trustee Seat

A former school teacher has announced his intentions of running for the position of school trustee.

H. Keith Barkes, 310 High Street filed his nomination papers Monday. He is resident inspector for the Western Assurance Company.

Mr. Barkes is one of seven candidates to seek one of the three seats vacated by G. B. Arnesen, G. A. Anderson and D. F. Porteous, an aldermanic candidate.

Mr. Barkes who has resided in Nelson for five years was born in Regina in 1929. He received his education in Toronto and is a graduate of Vancouver Normal School.

After graduating Mr. Barkes taught school for two years in the Prince George area, ranging from grades one to eight.

He married the former Constance Miller of Regina in 1953 and they have three children, Susan eight, Barbara six, and David two.

KEITH BARKES

Mr. Barkes said, "It has been my feeling that there has been a tremendous amount of apathy regarding the position of school trustee since I arrived in Nelson five years ago. It is a most important part of community life and I am surprised that many more Nelson citizens have not seen fit to offer service in this capacity.

"Having been a school teacher I am particularly interested in curriculum. I feel that School District No. 7 is second to none with regards to the high standard of education and qualification of the teaching staff. They need the support of the community if they are to put their qualifications towards the desired end — teaching the children of our community. It is my desire to try to help towards this end."

Mr. Barkes is vice-president of the Lion's Club and this is the first time he has run for public office.

Completion of the extension of the concrete sundeck at Lakeside Park pool will be completed by the weekend.

City council agreed to complete the decking to the entrance of the bathhouse this year. It is being financed out of $2100 remaining in the parks capital budget, realized with the dropping of the Uphill Park Pool project last summer.

The fence will be extended around the boundary of the new concrete deck thereby facilitating traffic between the bathhouse and the pool.

A request for an increased transportation allowance by H. E. Mahood who monthly chalks up 225 miles in 11 days of reading meters on the North Shore was referred to the electric light committee with power to act.

Approval was given to a building permit of Mrs. P. H. Zubick of 710 Railway Street to add a 12-foot bedroom to her present dwelling. There was some hesitation earlier because the residence happened to be in a business zone under the new zoning bylaw.

City council and Kootenay Valley Hospital Improvement District agreed on a system of payment of the amalgamated areas to the hospital improvement district. Previous to amalgamation a certain amount of the taxation of the areas of Rosemont, Upper Fairview and South Nelson had been collected by the district to meet the principle and interest of the hospital bonds.

On joining the city, this payment was stymied temporarily as the city's payment was separate from the rest of the district.

Monday the council agreed that an assessment of the attached districts will determine the annual amount of payment. The whole enlarged city will bear the cost of the payment annually until termination of the bonds in 1977.

Only Ald. E. T. Bodard opposed the motion, as he wanted "the city's share to end in 1977," to be written into the motion. The rest of council felt natural termination precluded the necessity of insertion of the date.

By resolution council exempted the grounds and buildings except staff residences of Notre Dame College from taxation. Mount St. Francis was also exempted from taxation.

The move was made to assist the college in its development program.

Final reading was given to city administrator bylaw 1351 but only after a long discussion over the duties of various department heads. It was brought out that the bylaw doesn't necessarily mean an increase in the city staff. Possibly the duties of city clerk and city administrator may be contained in one person, city clerk administrator, as may be the duties of city treasurer and city collector in another person. City clerk C. W. R. Harper is also city treasurer and collector at present.

Final reading was given to Nelson licensing bylaw 1352. Before it becomes effective, the city licensing inspector must notify all license holders of the new bylaw.

Two readings were given to street traffic amendment bylaw 1355, amending bylaw 1333 and bylaw 1155. Under recent bylaw 1333, the time restriction of 4 p.m.—9 p.m. Friday is replaced by 4 p.m.—6 p.m. while the no right turns at the corner of Ward and Baker Streets section is deleted.

Only two readings were given as Ald. B. C. Affleck, opposed to the entire bylaw in principle, voted against it.

Installation of a filtration plant in the Gyro Park pool was referred to the incoming council. The resolution came out of an in committee meeting.

The city could not agree to a proposal that it should share half the cost of the well dug by Tony Dukart of Ymir Road. Earlier Mr. Dukart with other Ymir Road residents had petitioned council for water service but were told water service to that area was not contemplated at this time.

A full council was in attendance Monday.

Rebuilding Reported Begun in Krestova

TRAIL — The fire-ravaged Sons of Freedom Doukhobor capital of Krestova, abandoned when the majority of the sect marched west, is being rebuilt.

The rebuilding and renovation has been going on for some time, but has been stepped up in recent weeks, leading authorities to believe the radical religious sect will return to the Kootenay.

The Sons put most of their homes to the torch before they began their long trek to Agassiz in the Fraser Valley to be near brothers imprisoned in fireproof Mountain Prison for acts of terrorism.

The Sect, however, never got as far as the prison and is at present camped near Hope in a Seventh Day Adventists camp. They moved from a park site which became flooded.

Earlier the supreme court ruled invalid a Kent municipal bylaw prohibiting the fanatical Sons from entering its boundaries.

The municipality contains the prison.

RCMP here say there are enough homes left intact in Krestova to house the trekkers who burned some 250 dwellings during June and July.

Meanwhile, there were reports here of dissent in the ranks of the marchers. They indicate some want to return to their homes but are under orders from their leaders to stay with the march.

During the last 2½ months scores of Freedomites have returned to their Kootenay district homes or to homes of friends and relatives because their own dwellings were burned.

Some have stayed, but many have returned to Hope. Others have dug up their gardens and returned to Hope with the produce.

SEEK WELFARE

Welfare officials said there is evidence of visits by the Sons to the Social Welfare office in Nelson for social assistance and food vouchers. Shortly afterwards they have reappeared at Hope.

The government cut off welfare payments to the Sons while they were participating in the trek.

Many have returned and told welfre officials they wish to re-settle in the Kootenay.

In many cases they are given food vouchers.

Nelson regional welfare administrator W. J. Camozzi said in Trail Tuesday, often after giving a Freedomite a welfare voucher, a welfare officer goes to his home to see if he is really staying in the Kootenay.

"But, we have no way of telling whether or not that person leaves 10 minutes after the officer has checked."

He said the staff of his department would have to be increased immediately to keep an accurate check on the activities of the Sons.

HALF AN HOUR OF PLAY brought this beauty in to land. Mike Mackey, in company with Ken Wallace of Boswell, took the 21-pound Rainbow trout from the lake opposite Boswell recently. Mr. Mackey, an ardent fisherman who has a 30-pounder to his credit, took this one on a pearl-pink Lucky Louie plug, using 125 feet of 25-pound test wire line and 10-pound test leader. The lake fishing has been good of late.

Castlegar Hospital Cuts Out Nelson Clinic X-Ray Service

CASTLEGAR — Residents of the Castlegar Hospital Improvement District whose doctors have requested fluoroscopic examinations for them will have to have such examinations undertaken at Trail or Nelson.

Effective Thursday, this situation has been brought about by attempts by the hospital board to reduce the operating deficit of Castlegar and District Hospital.

This decision was announced by the board following its recent meeting. The board decided that X-rays taken at the hospital will not be read by Dr. W. K. Massey of Nelson Medical Associate Clinic. The fee-for-service of 28 per cent being paid to the clinic under the terms of the contract is in excess of the amount approved by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, according to statements made by the minister of health services at the time he met with hospital officials in September.

A committee of the board will hold further meetings with the clinic for the purpose of negotiating a new contract when official word is received from B.C.H.I.S. as to the amount they are prepared to approve for this service.

The administrator and a committee of one or two board members will meet with other East and West Kootenay hospital commtitees on Thursday and Friday at the Kootenay Lake General Hospital in Nelson. Purpose of the meeting is interregional negotiations with Hospital Employees' Union, Local 180, on the 1963 contract.

W. E. McNaughton, chairman of the Trail-Tadanac hospital board, and W. V. Nicholson, chairman of the Kimberley hospital board, will be spokesmen for the hospital committees.

Overcrowding at the Castlegar hospital was considerably relieved during the month of October as a result of the hospital board's decision to reduce the bed capacity to the original 32 beds for which the hospital was built.

Patient days for October dropped to 823 for adults and children, as compared to 932 days for the month of September. The saving in salaries and cost of supplies will help to reduce the deficit.

Date of the annual general meeting of the Castlegar and District Hospital Society was set for March 4, 1963. An effort will be made this year by the hospital board to increase the society's membership in view of the difficult economic position of the hospital.

Members must be registered and have paid their annual dues of $2.50 at least 60 days prior to the date of the annual general meeting to be eligible to hold office and to vote.

For Labor's Own Good

Whatever its demerits in the eyes of labor, the much condemned Bill 43 of the provincial legislature is an endeavor to preserve the rights of the individual. In any case, until it is repealed its provisions should be observed.

It is proper for Labor to campaign against it and to agitate for its repeal but of late something sinister is appearing in labor disputes in Vancouver and the Lower Mainland. There were the mystery pickets which appeared from nowhere and apparently were not officially sponsored by any unions, there were crowds of sympathizers for strikers who picketed strike-bound plants, and there was the unique experience of one store owner who not only had his premises picketed but his store invaded by hundreds of people so that business could not be carried on.

It is a truism that bad money drives out good and undoubtedly the bad labor leaders will drive out the good. There are indications that the worst element in labor and perhaps the communists, who feed on trouble, are employing these tactics. If they continue, the more responsible citizens in labor will find themselves being involved in such actions against their will.

This kind of unorthodox strike action closely resembles the protection racket of the United States. It is an indication that industry will be subject to these illegalities if it does not bow to labor's demands. One agitator, indeed, stated that the judges must be made to understand that they, labor, make the laws and give judgment accordingly.

Now there is surprise that the attorney-general has called a conference of management and labor to discuss the situation. Labor suggests that the minister of labor is being eased out, but the maintenance of law and order is the responsibility of the department of justice and no doubt Mr. Bonner is preparing to see these are maintained.

The law must be respected. There must be no evasion of it and no illegal action to nullify its effects. It is proper at this time to point out that any government worth its salt will not allow its authority to be challenged and the provincial government will enact new legislation if necessary to do so.

But this should be the last resort. Labor, except for a few individuals, is made up of sober, responsible citizens who do not want conflict. If their leaders can carry the spirit of conciliation into the meeting, and management meet them halfway, then the meeting with Mr. Bonner should not consider punitive measures but rather how best labor and industry can promote their own good and that of the province.

Disgraceful Show

The highly touted Kootenay International Junior Hockey League opened the season in Cranbrook in a highly disgraceful fashion.

Cranbrook Canucks played host to Nelson Notre Dame Knights in what was billed as exciting, fast-skating, wide open junior hockey action.

The two games proved to be the worst exhibitions of how to play hockey ever witnessed in Cranbrook and turned the stomachs of most of the better than 1200 fans who paid out good money in hopes of seeing the game as it should be played.

Instead they saw:

Tripping, kneeing, spearing, butt-ending, highsticking, boarding, grabbing, holding, fighting, arguing and blood-letting. The puck was incidental and most of the proceedings bore no resemblance to the sport of hockey.

We are not pointing the finger of blame at anyone. Such carryings on have to be a combination of factors.

However, we do feel that the league executive should clamp down on this hogwash before it goes any further. Either that or disband the league before it goes broke through lack of fans.

Coaches and players from all four teams should be told to play hockey or stay home.

The second game here must have sickened the hearts of every member of the Cranbrook Canucks' executive, who have spent much time, money and energy trying to get a classy junior team and league organized.

We know it sickened the hearts of the majority of the fans and it undoubtedly sickened the hearts of any of the more sensible players.

There are those who are quick to blame the refereeing for this type of performance, but both players and coaches must remember that the game officials are doing a mighty big favor by even handling these encounters. The players should be told to obey the referee whether the call seems right or wrong. The bickering with officials that went on was a major part of the disgraceful performance and unless the attitude of the players changes drastically they will be lucky to have arbiters for the next games in Cranbrook.

Another very important factor, too, is that over 200 youngsters who play in the Cranbrook minor hockey setup were watching their big brothers perform and it was a mighty terrible example they saw.

We feel that the Kootenay International Junior Hockey League has something excellent to offer sports-wise, but that something is based on playing fast, clean, exciting hockey. If the players and coaches cannot look at the picture honestly and understand this simple fact, then all is lost.

We hope those concerned are sensible enough to wipe the slate clean and come up with some decent hockey.—Cranbrook Courier.

Report From Victoria

By HON. W. D. BLACK, Provincial Secretary, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Minister of Social Welfare.

As in other sectors of our general economy, it is recognized that farming is more than a way of life. In fact, it is a highly complex industry demanding the application of scientific knowledge and skills not even visualized a few decades ago. This was one of the main reasons for the institution of a new approach to the 4-H Club program which took place over two years ago.

The former 4-H Club program had operated much in the same form since the inception of the "Boys and Girls Club" movement going back some 40 years. Although it had been a valuable influence in the rural areas of the province, it became evident that this movement had not been keeping pace with the progress in other activities of the agricultural field.

A little over two years ago, a new approach was authorized which we know today as the "Rural Youth Development Program."

Now in its third year, the program is becoming an example of good 4-H Club planning for the whole of Canada. The project has proved its worth for the young British Columbians who have chosen farming as their life career.

The program is designed to follow four main objectives which are intended to provide, first, opportunities for farm boys to start early in life to acquire materials and resources necessary for them to undertake a career in farming; second, training in the scientific and technical fields of agriculture; third, training in the economic and managerial fields of agriculture and to encourage wise decision-making based on sound principles. The fourth objective is programs that will recruit and train local leaders both for 4-H activities and for community affairs.

To meet these objectives, principles have been made sufficiently broad and flexible to allow for adaptation to the needs and resources of individual members, as well as fitting the program in with the over-all district extension program.

It is realized that hard and fast rules cannot always apply to a far-flung system. For this reason, the program leaves the basic rules to a particular locality that may be subject to a specific environment and conditions. Experience has shown that subsequent results are more effective.

More Centralization Would Slash Red Tape—Glassco Commission

OTTAWA (CP) — Creation of two central organizations to handle purchasing and to manage property for the federal government is recommended in the second report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization, issued Monday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The 200,000-word report takes a careful and sometimes critical look at seven fields in which the government provides itself with goods and services. It is divided into sections dealing with real property, purchasing and supply, transportation, telecommunications, printing and publishing, the "make or buy" problem, and legal services.

Key proposals in a long list of recommendations are that the public works department be reshaped as the central body in charge of property and that a department of purchasing and supply be fashioned out of the present defence production department.

The report, result of more than two years of study by teams of experts, goes into detail on how the government spends nearly $3,000,000,000 a year on supplies and services. These range from shoes to ships and from lawyers to charwomen.

Its authors are J. Grant Glassco, 57, Toronto chartered accountant and business executive who heads the commission; Watson Sellar, 68, of Ottawa, retired auditor - general of Canada, and Eugene Therrien, 56, of Montreal insurance company executive and lawyer. They recruited 197 specialists to make detailed studies of government operations.

Their initial report in September dealt with the broad issues of financial and personnel management. It set out a plan for stripping away much red tape and putting each government department on its own, free of cumbersome central control.

The first report is still under study and it is considered unlikely there will be any action until after the commission's final report is in.

HITS RED TAPE

One of the main targets of today's report, second of five, again is costly red tape. It stresses that many of the jobs being done by government can be handled at less cost by private industry.

But this time it suggests a solution of the problem lies in more, not less, centralization. It argues that department heads should be freed of the responsibility for many supporting services which are secondary to the main job of government.

On construction, for instance, the report says "there are discernible tendencies in some departments to get into the business themselves." This criticism also is directed against government activity in transport, printing, maintenance work and other fields.

The royal commission recommends a new role for the public works department as the government's landlord and builder. It would manage all civilian federal property, now valued at $4,000,000,000 and growing at a rate of $300,000,000 a year. It also would direct civilian construction, most of which now is handled by the using departments and agencies.

One of the department's big jobs would be to keep an inventory of government property and dispose of surplus land. The report says almost no attention is paid to surplus land disposal now and this could be a good source of federal revenue.

In its recommendation for a new department of purchasing and supply, the commission says:

"The purchasing function in the civil departments and agencies is so dispersed and fragmented that it is too often left in the hands of individuals with inadequate knowledge and skills."

It found that purchasing processes "are often unnecessarily complicated and time-consuming, and consequently expensive."

CRITICAL OF BIDS

The report has some harsh words for the government's system of inviting bids on supplies, contending it too often is overdone. As an example, it lists a case in which auto firms were asked to bid on an order for one horn button, four windshield wipers and three carburettor parts. The paperwork for this cost more than the retail price of the goods.

There was a complete lack of uniformity in buying practices. Suppliers often were so bewildered "at the inconsistency of practices and the elaborate formalities observed by different departments" that they refused even to bid on some items.

Departments bought items that were surplus in another department or agency.

Studying transportation, the report estimated that the government pays $200,000,000 a year to move its employees and materials, not including defence vehicles. It argues that big savings can be made by proper traffic management and calls for a traffic management group within the proposed purchasing department.

The review work done on travel expense statements was "detailed to the point of absurdity." In the defence department alone it cost $1,600,000 a year in salaries for the time spent reviewing every detail of such accounts. Other departments spent an average of $100 in clerical work on review of each account for moving a transferred worker's household goods.

The commission was critical of vehicle maintenance work, urging that most of it be shifted to private firms. Workshops were overstaffed, sometimes badly located and inefficiently used.

HITS MARINE COSTS

Some marine ventures were extravagant. The report urged that the health and revenue departments dispose of their launches and use private charters, saving $50,000 a year.

More co-ordination was needed in telecommunications, a field in which the royal commission found too much duplication by departments and agencies.

On printing, the report says more of the government's printing work should be made available to private printing firms and the Queen's Printer should be renamed the Queen's Publisher. The new role would remove him from control of the printing bureau.

The "make or buy" section finds strongly in favor of purchases from private industry. It stresses that government prices often do not reflect true costs.

In the legal field, the royal commission found that government regulations were enacted with "a somewhat perfunctory check" of the draft form. The volume of regulations often swamped the legal facilities available for reviewing them.

F. B. Pearce Writes

I am quite prepared to admit that men are different from women, physically, mentally and morally but I do not subscribe to the views of the gloating women who declare that men are the weaker sex. In particular I would like to say a few unkind words about an article written by Peg Bracken, a woman in New York, in the Saturday Evening Post.

The best defence is always attack so let's not consider her poor arguments but tell the unpainted truth in a manly way. Though their chivalry seldom allows them to say so, men know that women are shirkers. They may talk a lot but they don't do much and leave it all to the men.

Women have been putting it all over men all their lives. They have it instilled in them from the start. "You are a boy," and sister gets out of everything in the way of hard work. "Carry my books," says the adolescent girl practising slave owning, and the ever ready command of every married woman is, "Do this honey."

Sure, anyone can live to be old if she does nothing and don't tell me women today are overworked. Most of them have only to do a lick of housework and they must rest in the afternoons poor dears so that they can be bright and lively in the evenings when their gallant but tired husbands take them partying.

Peerless Peg says that men die because they refuse to go to doctors. Maybe so, but women love to go to doctors. They have an unhealthy pathological love of talking about their symptoms and if they can wangle it they love to go to hospital. They are determined to be the centre of interest if it kills them. Men will lie doggo in a hospital bed and be grateful for peace and quiet, but a woman will take it as another chance to score off the help, and of course women love to recount their hospital experiences and operations. I have often wondered why some doctor does not write a book called, "Your Operation and How To Describe It." It would be a best seller in a week.

Who are the men who live to a ripe old age? The bachelor of course. Don't take any notice of those who say married men do. It only seems longer to them.

Your bachelor saunters through life with no loving voices to say, "Do this and do that," and he does not get worn out early in life; and of the married men who lives longest it is the Door Slammer who outlives his wife. He is the dominant male. He is a man of decision. If he comes in late at night he does not creep silently to bed. He slams the front door loudly, clumps upstairs, takes his shoes off and drops them with a thud, clambers noisily into bed and proceeds to shove his wife over and take more than his share of the bed.

When morning comes his wife does not stay in bed. He does and when breakfast is ready he comes down and eats it. There is none of this nonsense of getting his own breakfast. Show me the married man who gets his own and I will show you a man who will die young.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding and all that I still agree with the poet when he says, "Woman, with all thy faults I love thee still."

Interpreting the News

By HAROLD MORRISON

Prospects of a lasting Caribbean peace have not been improved by Fidel Castro's just-revealed demands on the United States. What Castro asks, in the view of Washington, is that the United States assure his political survival. This the Kennedy administration is unlikely to do.

Castro's demands include one calling for United Nations inspection to confirm the dismantling of bases for guerrilla operations against Cuba. Castro mentioned Puerto Rico and other areas as alleged centres of activity directed against his regime.

In return Cuba would allow United Nations inspection of military bases in Cuba.

WOULD RAISE FURORE

Castro is well aware that what he asks would undoubtedly raise cries in the U.S. Congress that President Kennedy was protecting Cuba's Communist regime from its exile enemies.

In repeating his pledge to keep his troops out of Cuba if Castro agrees to UN inspection, Kennedy has emphasized the pledge deals only with "any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

He has said nothing about blocking sneak attacks by civilians armed with weapons obtained from non-military sources or the discouraging of saboteurs and guerrilla forces which may slip into Cuba under cover of darkness.

The heart of American policy on Cuba is to get rid of Castro, perhaps through some combination of economic and social pressures or perhaps through some form of internal political aggravation in which guerrilla operations would play a part.

CHANGES TUNE

Although Soviet Premier Khrushchev at first agreed to have his offensive weapons in Cuba removed under the eye of the UN, Khrushchev now appears to be siding with Castro in support of the Cuban contention that the UN has no right to violate Cuban sovereignty by inspection of its military bases.

The U.S. will continue to press for such inspection, but in a rather subdued way. There will be no great outburst—perhaps because of some secret understanding between Kennedy and Khrushchev to cool off the Caribbean crisis.

The U.S. appears sure to continue its aerial surveillance over Cuba and likely will keep the threat of an invasion hanging over Castro's head. The situation may continue virtually unchanged for a long time.

Fulton Delays Decision Till Friday

VANCOUVER (CP) — Public Works Minister Fulton said Monday he will wait until he returns to Ottawa Friday before deciding whether to enter British Columbia politics.

Mr. Fulton spent the day talking with officials of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association and personal friends about a move to draft him as leader of the B.C. party.

An aide said Mr. Fulton's decision will be made before a Progressive Conservative provincial conference here Dec. 6-8.

J. Fergie Browne, former member of Parliament for Vancouver-Kingsway, and Harold McQuillan, former MP for Comox-Alberni, have announced they will contest the leadership.

Great Scholars Vindicated Christ's History

To the Editor:

Sir — "In Bethlehem of Judea . . . in the days of Herod the King."

U.B.C. professors of philosophy to the contrary, the historical fact referred to above rests on extremely sound evidence. We need have no fear of meeting the Christmas season with faith, hope and confidence.

Bear in mind the statement of Francis Bacon, "that a little philosophy turneth a man's mind toward atheism." Listen instead to that brilliant scholar, Prof. Arthur Weigall, Curator and Custodian of the British Museum, London, England:

"From the early Epistles we obtain sufficient evidence not only to establish the historicity of Jesus, but also to reveal to some extent his character."

I cannot recall, in history, says Prof. Weigall, a well authenticated instance, like this, of a leader inspiring his immediate followers with such utter adoration. And the man, Jesus Christ, who for us men and for the world's salvation has taught us the true meaning and observation of the Christmas season.

Prof. A. E. Taylor, M.A., D. Litt. Fellow of the British Academy and Professor of Moral Philosophy in the University of Edinburgh, has more than vindicated the history of Christ in an essay, "The Vindication of Religion."

It is a great pity that the professors of philosophy at U.B.C. do not devote more time to the development of character and general behavior of some of their charges, who, belonging to select fraternity houses, go on binges of rowdyism which reflect great discredit on an institution of learning.

Maybe more of the basic moral teaching of Christ is needed, and a little less superficial philosophy. So, we shall continue to sing, "O Little town of Bethlehem," where Christ was born in the days of Herod the King.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Thursday, Nov. 29, 1962

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — You could make a wrong start but that is no reason for giving up or becoming discouraged. We learn tremendously from mistakes When We Will. News of interest indicated.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) —Impact of your strengthened efforts can solidify gains. Skilled action should bring progress in keeping with high hopes. Don't let opposition obscure your point of view.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — A bit of adventure would not be misplaced if it is to serve a useful purpose. It can teach, assist in many ways — and is responsible, rightly handled, for true progress, civilized growth.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — The result of determined, continuing effort will show soon. Has Yours been the highest of which you are capable? See beyond outer casings. Look for inner meanings.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Tempting dressings on old errors could deceive if you are not wary. Economy of speech is apropos now. Think things out well before making decisions.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — You may face some petty annoyances now. Shake these off with a cheery attitude and settle down to serious work. Give others the same type of assistance you would seek.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Some friction may be evident now. Be your practical self and problems will not magnify; they can always be simplified when you put your mind to it.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Astute judgment will be required this day; also self-restraint under pressure. Be tactful in speech, cautious in finalizing agreements. Some tricky spots indicated.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — A fine Jupiter aspect, but be cautious not to overstep legitimate bounds. There is a temptation now to exaggerate, underestimate, go to one extreme or another. Be a stabilizer.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Especially favored under fine Saturn rays: devotion to superiors, aiding co-workers, standing firmly behind true principles. Keep humor with you.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Think things out first, then speak up. The first try may produce excellent, quick cooperation. Stand your ground where you should. Forward — with a bit of dash.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Healthy competition about; you may discover some opposition. So try to act a mite differently. Keep at it, whittle down obstacles; that's what day needs — stamina.

YOU BORN TODAY: You like big undertakings, but often dislike the tedious details that go with them. You are a natural organizer but find some everyday matters distasteful. Do not spend too much on luxuries; it will be harder to trim down later. Put aside for that "rainy day" we all encounter. You can delve into new work with a vengeance, but usually take your own system with you. Here you must co-operate with others in the true way that permits them a say — even the final word at times. Sociability, art, seeing the world keep your interest. Study diplomacy, but be open, above board; the one complements the others when truth is respected. You could do well at sports, designing, developing, exploration. Birthdate: Louisa May Alcott, author; A Bronson Alcott, educationalist, philosopher.

Bride-Elect Marilyn Jacobson Honored At Community Shower

BONNINGTON — The Bonnington hall was decorated with cedar boughs and a lilac, white and pink and silver motif for a community shower honoring bride-elect Marilyn Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Jacobson of Bonnington.

South Slocan, Bonnington-Corra Lynn and Nelson were represented in the 70 women who attended the function. Co-hostesses were the women of Bonnington and Corra Linn.

Lilac and white mums with silvered cedar floral arrangements were echoed in the corsages presented to the bride-to-be and her mother, as well as those worn by the 6 young servi-teurs — Laurene Penniket, Arlene Ridge, Judy Biddlecombe, Connie Wassick, Jane Dowes and Anita Dunlop.

Seated under a large decorated patio umbrella, the bride, assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joan Jacobson, opened the many gifts arranged beneath the parasol. Her mother attached the ribbons from the parcels to a bride's hat.

Humorous telegrams, composed from the letters of the bride's and the groom's names, were read aloud to much laughter.

The bride's cake, decorated with pink rosebuds and silver leaves, and topped with a miniature bridal couple — the groom in Mountie red uniform — was embedded in white tulle, sprinkled with silver, and flanked by tall pink tapers in silver holders. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. C. H. Bland and Mrs. J. Gilker, both of Nelson.

The cake was served by the guest of honor.

Mrs. E. M. Payne, who has been staying with her brother, Archdeacon B. A. Resker, at Balfour for the past 18 months, has returned to spend a few months at her home in Worthing, Sussex, accompanied by Dr. Resker.

En route by train to eastern Canada, Mrs. Payne and Dr. Resker had an interesting time in Ottawa, where they visited H. W. Herridge, member for Kootenay West. Mr. Herridge secured tickets to the visitors' gallery for his guests who were present when the new member of Burnaby-Coquitlam, Tommy Douglas, was introduced to the House. Mr. Herridge entertained them at luncheon at the House of Commons afterwards. Dr. Resker, who is regional commissioner of the Kootenay Boundary Boy Scout Region, spent an afternoon at the National Scout Headquarters and was shown around the fine new building.

This is Dr. Resker's first visit to England in winter since 1926. On December 18, he hopes to preach at the church in Battersea, South London, where he was ordained 50 years ago on December 21. He plans to return to Vancouver via the Panama Canal in February and will be accompanied by a former school friend.

Mrs. Payne will return to Nelson in the summer to take up residence on Fifth Street, having disposed of her house in Worthing.

WHEN it comes to the sumptuous approach to fashion, velvet garnished with a lavish helping of chinchilla surely fulfills all requirements.

Here it is, Originala's glorious coat of "regal red" velvet, with its away-from-the-neckline collar of chinchilla. Fastened double-breasted, it flares along princess lines and is ready for a successful social season.

By TRACY ADRIAN

Velveteen and satin are combined in a beautiful ballgown by Philip Hulitar that is sure to be one of the triumphs of the social season. The bodice of blue velveteen is strapless and embroidered in multi-colored jewels. With it is a floor-length skirt of yellow satin with a back flare. A yellow satin wrap-around coat with a brown beaver collar completes the ensemble.

THE COAT with the inside story—the fur-lined coat—assumes new importance every year. This year it is very much a part of the smart costume scene.

Harry Frechtel does an outfit that is ideal for all but the meanest, coldest of days. Fashioned of exquisite Linton tweed, soft and supple, the full-length coat is lined in black-dyed nutria. The coat wraps over a slim, belted dress.

Arishenkoff First to Leave Mountain Prison to Learn Trade

TRAIL (CP) — The Times says Phillip Arishenkoff, 20, has become the first member of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect serving time in Mountain Prison to accept an offer to learn a trade.

Arishenkoff was serving a 15-year term in the special fireproof prison for convicted Freedomite terrorists. He was convicted for his part in the March 6 bomb blast that felled the 365-foot - high Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company pylon on the shores of Kootenay Lake.

The newspaper said Arishenkoff is now in the B.C. Penitentiary at New Westminster taking a carpentry course. He is also taking a grade seven school course which he wasn't able to complete while living in a Freedomite settlement in the Kootenay.

The offer to leave the federal prison near Agassiz in the Fraser Valley has been extended to the other prisoners, the newspaper said. Any Freedomite who shows the interest and willingness to leave and take a trade in other penitentiaries may do so.

The Times said Arishenkoff told prison authorities he wanted out of the prison because fellow sect members were "all wacky."

"If I stick around here much longer I'll be as nutty as they are," he said.

The newspaper quoted the youth's father, Mike Arishenkoff of Shoreacres, 32 miles north of here, as saying his son had "left the flock" but would come to his senses and return to Mountain Prison.

RCMP said the elder Arishenkoff went to see his son at the B.C. penitentiary once, but "Phillip refused to see him."

The newspaper said Mike Arishenkoff says he doesn't know why his son left Mountain Prison but believes he did so after a disagreement with other prisoners.

The elder Arishenkoff is quoted by the newspaper as admitting Phillip took part in the pylon bombing.

"I told him not to join in with the Sons of Freedom—that he was too young and didn't know what it was all about."

Mike Arishenkoff has written Attorney - General Bonner demanding Phillip be given a psychiatric examination. "the boy is sick," he said, and his proper place is with his "brothers" in Mountain Prison.

Winter's Best Time To Fight Mosquitoes

Winter—with the snow deep on the ground—is the time to launch the offensive in the annual war against mosquitoes, is the latest word from the Kamloops agricultural research station.

An increasing number of communities are demanding action to control the pest. This can be most easily done by treating pools and stagnant water with chemicals to kill mosquitoes in the wriggler stage.

But it doesn't necessarily mean waiting for the spring hatching period, says L. C. Curtis, of Canada Department of Agriculture's research station.

In rough areas where there is no danger to humans or wildlife, granular DDT can be spread on the snow, permitting treatment of breeding places months in advance of the hatching period. Pools and swamps, mapped out during the previous season, can be reached easily when the ground is frozen.

Treatment of dry ground the previous fall also is effective, Curtis points out.

The plan offers other advantages:

—Granules, because they do not lodge on leaves or twigs like sprays and dusts, are safer to use in areas browsing animals might enter.

—Over large areas, the treatment is more thorough than when it is confined to the few days when wrigglers are most easily killed.

At Kamloops, application of five per cent granular DDT at a rate of 20 pounds per acre proved satisfactory in controlling the pest, Curtis reports.

Granular DDT consists of a special clay that has been passed through a wire mesh and then impregnated with the insecticide. The DDT is released when the snow melts and the granules sink into the water.

Use of a hand seeder is recommended for applications in small, scattered areas; for large areas, granules should be spread from an aircraft or by means of an air gun mounted on a jeep. Granules containing 30 to 50 per cent DDT and used at a correspondingly lower rate than the five per cent DDT are recommended for most efficient application from a plane.

Some provinces have legislations governing the use of chemicals in water—including larvicides—and anyone planning mosquito control measures should make sure they will not violate regulations, Curtis warns.

Canadian Oarsmen Fall Apart; England Cuts Australia's Lead

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP)—Canadian oarsmen who look with disdain on anything but a gold medal in international competition ended the British Empire Games rowing program Tuesday with a measly third-place bronze.

It was the climax to the worst showing since crews from the University of British Columbia began taking on the best in the world in 1954.

The crowning indignity came in the final race of the three-day rowing championships on the Canning River when the four without cox, which looked like the best in the heats last Saturday, finished third in a three-country race behind England and Wales.

It was a close race, but the UBC oarsmen, who have been on the water almost daily since last May 1, were a dejected lot.

Their eight didn't even get to the final and the whole show was a crushing blow to men who have stood out since the B.E. Games in Vancouver in 1954 as the bread-and-butter athletes of Canadian teams.

CALLS IT DROP

Rowing coach Larry West of Vancouver tersely summed up the situation when he said it was "a drop from the past."

He was thinking of the days of glory when the UBC eight won the gold at Vancouver, the four without cox took the gold at the 1956 Melbourne Olympics and the eight won the gold at the B.E. Games in Cardiff in 1958 and 16 silvers at the Pan-American Games in Chicago and the 1960 Rome Olympics.

It was the second day in a row that the Canadian team received a serious setback. Harry Jerome of Vancouver departed for home Monday, giving the track team a crushing blow.

Track team manager Ken Twigg of Toronto officially withdrew the 440-yard relay team Tuesday. Jerome was the anchor man of the 440 and also part of the mile relay team.

(On his way home by plane, he stopped at Sydney, and said that he wants to settle in Australia. "When I finish my studies at the University of Oregon I intend to return to Australia and teach in one of your schools," Jerome told reporters. "I have enjoyed the Games and am sorry that I am leaving."

(Jerome said he had a ruptured thigh muscle and a severe cold and that a panel of specialists in Perth had advised him to withdraw from the Games and go home for medical treatment. He finished last in the 100-yard dash.)

LESSER LIGHTS SHINE

Australia's swimming squad picked up two more gold medals, but with track and field and the boxers having a day off, the lesser sports came into their own.

Rowing was th first of nine sports to wind up at the Games, and England claimed three of the six first prizes.

England had its best day of the Games, cutting some of Australia's lead in the top honors by winning gold medals in the women's 110 - yard backstroke swimming, the men's epee team fencing and the lightweight class in weightlifting, as well as rowing.

Canada had to settle for just two bronze—it's smallest daily bag of the Games.

The second bronze came in the epee team fencing when Carl Schwende of Montreal, Bob Foxcroft of Kitchener, Ont., and Peter Bakonyi of Vancouver lost to England 5-3 while Australia defeated New Zealand to take the silver medal.

England ended with a 4-0 won-lost record, Australia was 3-1 and Canada 2-2. Wales was 1-3 for fourth and New Zealand last with four losses.

In the final round, Bakonyi won both his matches against England, Schwende had one victory and two defeats and Foxcroft three defeats.

Murray Rose, 23-year-old Australian, set a Games record when he churned through the water in four minutes, 20 seconds to win the 440-yard freestyle final. He chopped five seconds off his own mark made in the heats.

There was a thrilling finish in the men's 220-yard backstroke final, with Julian Carroll of Australia nipping his compatriot Tony Fingleton by inches in 2:20.9, a Games record because the event is new to the Games.

Linda Ludgrove, 15, an English schoolgirl, halted the host country's supremacy in the pool, however, with a great finishing spurt that brought her the women's 110 - yard backstroke title in 1:11.1.

Like the rowers, the Canadian swimmers also had a bit of a rough day after winning a gold, three silver and five bronze—almost half the total they won in the last three B.E. Games. Tuesday they were shut out.

English rowers took gold medals and set Games records for the four without cox, paired oars and double sculls and collected a silver and two bronzes in the other three finals.

The veteran English four without cox, stroked by Chris Davidge, moved into the lead at the 1,300-metre mark on the 2,000 - metre Channing River course and led the rest of the way in a thrilling race.

The Englishmen finished a half-length ahead of Wales, a clean-stroking quartet, with the UBC entry another half length behind in third and last place.

A minor surprise was the victory of the Australian eight in the final. The Australians only qualified after a repechage but snatched a brilliant win over New Zealand by two feet.

Australia clocked 5:53.4 to improve the Games' best time.

Jim Hill of New Zealand, runnerup in 1958, won the single sculls.

New Zealand also won the coxed fours but England won the other three events—double sculls, coxless fours and the pairs.

Lowly Rangers Pick Up in Scoring Race

MONTREAL (CP)—In hockey as in many other sports, the team that scores the most goals should be winning.

But New York Rangers have netted 62 goals so far—tops in the National Hockey League this season—and rank fifth in the six - team standings, one rung above the lowly Boston Bruins.

If New York's scoring record hasn't made much of a dent in the team standings, it's beginning to show up in the NHL's individual scoring race.

Official statistics released Tuesday list Ranger sharpshooters as the big point-getters last week.

Right-winger Andy Bathgate, New York's top scorer, picked up six points with two goals and four assists. Earl Ingarfield chalked up five points, while Dean Prentice and Camille Henry had four each.

Bathgate now has 19 points. He moved up from a 13th-place tie last week to a tie for third with Detroit's Parker MacDonald.

Ingarfield and Prentice have 16 points and Henry 14.

Centre Alex Delvecchio of the league - leading Detroit Red Wings picked up a goal and an assist to maintain his scoring leadership with 22 points.

In second place is Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who boosted his total to 20 with two goals and two assists.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit still leads the goaltenders. With three shutouts to his credit, he has allowed only 36 goals in 19 games for a 1.89 goals-against average.

STAMPS BREAK LOSING STREAK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Calgary Stampeders ended a 10-game drought impressively Tuesday night with a 4-1 Western Hockey League victory over Vancouver Canucks before 2573 fans.

The Stampeders' first win in 11 games left them still deep in the Northern Division cellar. Canucks retained their two-point first-place edge over Seattle Totems.

Nearly Solid Western Backfield In First All-Canada All-Star Team

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Copyright

TORONTO (CP) — A nearly complete western offensive backfield—with George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes the lone exception—was named Tuesday in the first Canadian Press all-Canada all-star team and emphasized the West's football superiority over the East since 1954.

The selectors gave the West a 15-9 edge over the East in the choice of the 24 players for the offensive and defensive squads. The West landed eight players on the offensive team and seven on the defensive unit. Four eastern players were picked for offence and five for defence.

The West, which has won eight Grey Cup finals against only two for the East in the last eight years, also established its mastery in the 20-game interlocking Canadian Football League schedule this season by winning 12 games, losing seven and tying one. Last year when games between the CFL's Western and Eastern conferences were first played on a regular-scheduled basis, the East had the edge with 11 wins, seven losses and two ties.

FRC CONDUCTS BALLOT

Balloting for the all-star team was conducted for CP by the Football Reporters of Canada. The votes of the selectors—27 in the West and the same number in the East—were weighted to give equal balloting strength to the nine cities in the league.

OFFENSIVE TEAM

Half—George Dixon, Montreal
Half—Leo Lewis, Winnipeg
Half—Earl Lunsford, Calgary
Half—Ray Purdin, Sask.
Quarter—Eagle Day, Calgary
Centre—Neil Habig, Sask.
Guard — Tony Pajaczkowski, Calgary
Guard—Gerry Patrick, Toronto
Tackle—Frank Rigney, Winnipeg
Tackle—Bronco Nagurski, Ham.
End—Hal Patterson, Hamilton
End—Tommy Joe Coffey, Edmondon

DEFENSIVE TEAM

Half—Harvey Wylie, Calgary
Half—Jim Rountree, Toronto
Half—Don Sutherin, Hamilton
Corner l'backer—Jim Conroy, Ottawa
Corner l'backer—Gord Rowland Winnipeg
Inside l'backer—Tom Brown, B.C.
Inside l'backer—Wayne Harris, Calgary
Middle guard—Kaye Vaughan, Ottawa
Tackle—Don Luzi, Ottawa
Tackle—John Barrow, Ham.
End—Herb Gray, Winnipeg
End—Garner Ekstran, Sask.

Calgary Stampeders, losers to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the western final, led all the teams in the number of players selected from each club. The Stampeders placed six men on the team, evenly divided between the offensive and defensive units.

MEET IN FINAL

The Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, opponents in the Grey Cup final Saturday for the fifth time in six years, each won four positions with two men on both squads. Saskatchewan Roughriders were picked for two spots on offence and one on defence and Toronto Argonauts for one berth in both lineups.

Edmonton Eskimos and Montreal made only the offensive team, with one position each. British Columbia Lions and Ottawa Rough Riders missed out in the selections for the offensive unit but on defence the Rough Riders were chosen for two positions and the Lions for one.

Dixon, a dazzling runner who has been nominated as the East's candidate as the outstanding player in the country this year, was just one vote short of being the only unanimous selection. Oddly, the East's leading rusher and scoring champion missed out the clean sweep because he did not get one of the eastern votes.

He was a unanimous choice for The Canadian Press Eastern Conference all-star team, winning recognition for his spectacular contribution to the Alouettes who lost in the eastern final to Hamilton. The six-foot, 195-pound ground-gaining ace was practically the entire Montreal attack and without him it is doubtful that they would have made the playoffs.

WINS KEY SPOT

Day, a former National Football League performer with Washington Redskins after being dropped by Winnipeg, easily won the key quarterback spot over the Blue Bombers' Kenny Ploen and Ottawa's Russ Jackson, the first Canadian in 16 years named as quarterback on CP's Eastern Conference all-star team. Day, also the quarterback choice on the western all-star squad, was picked by 26 selectors, Ploen by 13 and Jackson by seven.

Day guided the Stampeders to second place in the regular schedule with his outstanding passing and ball-handling. He completed 156 of 262 passes for a completion percentage of 59.5 and a total of 2,494 yards. He clicked on 15 touchdown passes and had only eight tosses intercepted.

Wylie, the West's nominee as the outstanding Canadian player in the country this season, was one of the four native Canadians who made the team. Pajaczkowski was only one named to the offensive squad.

The three defensive players were Wylie, Rowland and Conroy. Wylie was picked by all but three selectors for the all-Canada team and Pajaczkowski was voted the outstanding Canadian player in the country last year.

Bombers Underdogs

TORONTO (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, here to battle Hamilton Tiger-Cats Saturday for the Grey Cup, found themselves beset by photographers and reporters Tuesday at their first workout.

Unable to practise in Varsity Stadium as planned, the defending Canadian football champions went to a University of Toronto practice field for a light run and their only official date with the press.

Coach Bud Grant said Monday this would be the only public workout for the team, but unless he is able to find a field with a fence around it, all his team's pratices will be public.

Jim Ausley, Bombers' general-manager, said Tuesday night the club would start looking for another field.

"I don't know where it will be, but we're going to look for one."

With reports of their injuries following the Western Football Conference best-of-three final Saturday in Winnipeg in which they defeated Calgary Stampeders in the final seconds of the final game 12-7, Bombers also found themselves in another unfamiliar situation.

Oddsmakers in Toronto have made them six-point underdogs for the game.

Trail Makes First Appearance Here

The team to beat in the Kootenay International Junior Hockey League, and possibly in the province, will place its undefeated record on the ice sheet of the Civic Arena tonight.

Trail Smoke Eater Juniors, along with Nelson minor hockey product Mike Laughton, engage third-place Nelson Notre Dame Knights, who will be seeking their first win over the Smelter City crew.

To date the two teams have met once, in Trail, with the hosts stopping Nelson 6-4.

Coach Ernie Gare expects his club will have to display the same type of hustle tonight as they did in Trail to match strides with coach Ray Hamilton's strong, spirited charges.

The Trail team is a coach's dream. Three good lines, a strong, eager bench, a giant size defensive corps with whistling shots, and an outstanding net-minder face the Knights tonight. The immediate impact of the Trail team is bigness. From the goaltender forward, size dominates the first impression, and mixed with talent gives Trail a junior powerhouse, capable of taking provincial honors.

The talent emerges through coach Hamilton's and the Trail executive's habit of loading their roster with top players from various centres, including Laughton from Nelson.

Coach Ernie Gare will be going with two lines and two spare forwards, as well as his regular four defencemen.

Vince Reidy will play goal while Tom Peirson-Brian Coccia and Hugh Hooker-Walt Chernenko form the blueline duos. The first line will be the potent trio of Danny Calles-Colin Patterson-Shelly Atwell. Sharpshooter Jack Littler will centre the second string while his wings will be chosen from Glen Wilson, Len Bosquet, Neil Jangula and Ernie Moisey.

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A coroner's inquiry into the hunting death of Robert Arthur Adams of Hammond was adjourned Monday pending further investigation by RCMP.

Police said Adams, 22, was walking in bush 25 miles north of here when he was mistaken for a deer and shot by another hunter. He was one of six in a party from Hammond.

Police say the name of a second body found in the Kamloops area will be released later. The man died of natural causes.

Nehru Seems To Be Caught in Own 'Isms'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru is caught in some of his own isms.

This aristocratic but democratic man has picked his precarious way between idealism and realism, passivism and activism, nationalism and internationalism, neutralism and isolationism, socialism and capitalism.

Now at 73, a philosophic agnostic, his road has been twisted out of shape by the Red Chinese. He must try to find a new one at the moment when he seems to be growing old rapidly.

Nehru, educated at Cambridge and far more at home in the English language than in any Indian tongue, moved most of his life in the shadow of two dominant men: His father, Motilal, a rich lawyer, and Mohandas Gandhi.

Yet, when they were gone and he felt almost alone, he emerged as dominant as either. He became the father of India as it began its independence in the 1940s with problems of poverty and illiteracy as appalling as any in history.

He could have been a rich lawyer, too. But he went with Gandhi. Nationalism — Indian independence—became his life. To achieve it he spent nine years in British jails for political activity and passive resistance.

He rejected communism and for India sought a middle way between capitalism and socialism under democracy because of his dedication to freedom, personal and political.

For this the Red Chinese reviled him. He ignored this and made excuses for their excesses, hoping they'd change. They didn't, as their invasion of India showed.

Neutral Nehru was a menacing challenge. If India prospered under freedom it would make a farce of the sacrifices the Chinese people had to endure under communism.

In India, where Moslems and Hindus, living side by side, have slaughtered one another, Nehru sought and achieved a secular state where all men are to be considered equally free and freely equal.

This, according to his best biographer, Michael Brecher, was Nehru's "most notable accomplishment," though Brecher criticizes him for poor administration, lack of decision and a wide gap "between words and deeds."

HAS USED FORCE

His passive resistance against the British in India was not a way of life. It was only a means to an end, his only weapon, when the British had all the weapons. He prefers non-violence but will use force when it helps.

This implies contradiction in him. There is plenty of that. There is also hypocrisy. He who has preached peaceful settlements to others uses naked force when it serves him, as in grabbing Goa from the Portuguese in India.

All his life he has denounced colonialism and imperialism but has practised both when it suited his purpose, for instance in seizing the Kashmir territory although the people might want to be part of Pakistan.

He sought to avoid foreign entanglement and the expense that went with it. In this way he could pour most of India's resources into its own development. That was why he kept down the size of his armed forces.

This was where his idealism got the better of his realism, as the Chinese invasion demonstrated. He now wryly admits: "We are getting out of touch with reality in the modern world. We are living in an artificial atmosphere of our own creation and we have been shaken out of it."

Overlapping in Federal Communications Rapped

OTTAWA (CP)—Overlapping and duplication in federal communications systems was rapped Tuesday by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

Its report, second of five, called for central planning and authority of the systems. The lack of it so far was described as "damaging to the public purse and to the efficiency of federal administration alike."

The report covers the administrative-as distinct from operational—facilities of the armed forces, the various networks of the transport department, the RCMP, the external affairs department and the CBC. All told these cost $52,000,000 a year to operate.

Excluded from the investigation were the CNR telegraph and other communications facilities, those of TCA and Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation.

In general, the three-man commission found existing government communications for administrative purposes to be "barely adequate for the present needs and inadequate for the immediately foreseeable future."

Defence communications were reported to be in better shape, mainly because financial limitations were less stringent. However, the report went on:

". . . But here the lack of unified planning and failure to take account of non-defence needs—both governmental and public—has inflated costs, curtailed flexibility, and may delay modernization or make it excessively expensive."

The commission praised the technical strength, engineering and efficiency of most of the systems, such as they are. But its blue ribbon went to the CBC.

The CBC makes extensive use of commercial facilities for its radio and TV networks, renting circuits for eight or 16 hours a day on contracts lasting five or 10 years. It calls tenders two years in advance, leaving suppliers free to integrate CBC and other services.

"In all aspects of this operation — planning, procurement, utilization and quality control—a consistently high level of efficiency was found. Adequate planning and control have ensured virtually full utilization."

The RCMP also won praise for systems "generally well managed and operated at a high level of efficiency" with a "lively, perhaps excessive, concern with economy" that may actually have limited the coverage and reliability of its radio service.

The report called for integration of the army, navy and RCAF teletype relay networks in a single automatic system. Cost of operating the three of them independently was "disproportionate to their combined traffic load."

Britain and India Sign Lend-Lease Arms Pact

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Britain and India Tuesday signed lend-lease arms agreement as India continued its military build-up despite the six-day lull in the Chinese-Indian border war.

The agreement, signed by Britain's Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys and Indian Defence Minister Y. B. Chavan calls for Britain to supply India with arms and military equipment "for the purpose of defending India against Chinese aggression."

Few details on the scope of the agreement were immediately available, but it calls for British observers to watch the use of British arms in action—as United States observers now are doing with American arms.

Under the agreement, India will not transfer the arms to another country without British consent and will offer to return them to Britain when they are no longer needed.

The wording of the agreement was evidently designed to allay Pakistan's fears that Anglo-American military aid to India will be turned against Pakistan in the dispute over Kashmir.

Sandys was to fly to Rawalpindi, Pakistan, Tuesday for talks with government leaders and Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs, in India with an American aid mission, is to go there Thursday.

Before leaving India Sandys and Gen. Sir Richard Hull, chief of the British imperial staff, had a final talk with Harriman and Gen. Paul D. Adams, chief of the U.S. strike command.

Both Harriman and Sandys have had extensive talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru, Chavan and other top leaders.

During their visit Adams and Hull have met Indian military chiefs and visited the Northeast Frontier area for an on-the-spot study of strategic problems.

The U.S. and Britain have been attempting to improve Indo-Pakistani relations so that India will be able to use an estimated 500,000 troops stationed along the Pakistan border in Kashmir against the Chinese, but their efforts are severely hampered by Pakistan fears about Western arms aid to India.

Giant U.S. Air Force C-130 transports began ferrying Indian troops and equipment into the border area Monday as India all but rejected outright the Chinese terms of a cease-fire and withdrawal along the disputed border.

Grey Cup TV Coverage To Be Allowed

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of the sponsors of the Grey Cup television coverage said Tuesday the CBC will be allowed to carry the match "on a non-commercial basis."

A statement issued by John Rowland, vice - president of James Lovick and Company Limited, which holds the Grey Cup telecast rights on behalf of two of the sponsors, said CTV television has been instructed to supply the CBC with "feeds" of the match.

Gov't Transport Bill Goes Under Critical Auditing

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's transportation bill, nearly $200,000,000 a year, has undergone some critical auditing by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

In its second report, released Tuesday, the commission says the government has gone overboard on some aspects of its job in moving employees and materials around the country and the world.

It takes a particularly hard look at the RCAF's Air Transport Command.

The report charts the sharp growth of this air fleet, noting that its carrying capacity now may rival that of Trans-Canada Air Lines and that it flies more overseas miles than TCA.

"This large and growing volume of traffic and the high incidence of scheduled flying by the Air Transport Command probably are disturbing to commercial carriers, whether their interest be air, sea or land transportation."

Turning to shipping, the report says the government has about 600 vessels of "almost every conceivable kind, from an aircraft carrier and icebreakers to sailing dinghies, outboard motorboats and canoes."

WOULD JUNK LAUNCHES

Several departments are involved in this fleet and the royal commission suggests that two of them be removed from the marine field, saving at least $50,000 a year. It urges that the health department be stripped of its two launches in Halifax Harbor and the revenue department dispose of three vessels used for quarantine officers at Saint John, N.B., St. John's, Nfld., and Sydney, N.S.

Pilot boats or water taxis would be used in place of these boats, ending costly outlays. One of the health department boats costs $15,000 a year to maintain and is used only about 50 times a year.

In another proposal, the commission says patrol boat operations by the RCMP, the fisheries department and the new coast guard are a duplication "which cannot be justified on any grounds." The coast guard alone should supply the service, the other two agencies leaving the field.

Harsh criticism is aimed at the federal government's policy of scrutinizing employees' accounts for travel and moving expenses.

"Review procedures are detailed to the point of absurdity," says the report, going on to describe how the defence department spends $1,600,000 a year in salaries alone for the work of reviewing travel claims.

Some departments spent $100 in clerical time on each moving expense account.

The royal commission says much of the red tape could be discarded. The present setup yielded no significant reduction in expense.

Pooling of cars among departments also was recommended as an economy measure.

BRIEFS

VERNON (CP)—B.C.'s Number One industry is the "all-cash business of tourism," says President Ellwood Rice of the B.C. Tourist Association. He estimated the value of the tourist dollar at $3.27 compared with the local dollar.

DIED AFTER RACE

VANCOUVER (CP) — High school student Bryan Dalrymple Hunt, 16, died after a 12-block foot race when he choked on food particles from his own stomach, an autopsy showed. Coroner Glen McDonald said he does not yet know why the race caused the youth to choke.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market started off on an uncertain note Tuesday but gradually generated enough steam to register another substantial advance.

Trading activity dipped from the pace of the last two days but remained brisk enough to register the fourth consecutive 5,000,000-share session.

Demand for steel issues highlighted the session. The industry is now producing at above 60 per cent of capacity for the first time in nearly seven months.

At the close the Dow Jones industrial average was up 5.99 at 648.05.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 1.4, more than double Monday's loss. It closed at 239. Standard and Poor's 500-stock average gained .37 at 61.73.

U.S. Steel gained 1⅜ and Bethlehem ¾ with both making the most active list.

Joining the steels in the plus column were rails, oils, chemicals, utilities, drugs, electronics, aircrafts and rubbers.

Motors, metals and airlines were mixed.

VERNON (CP) — A Crown prosecutor said Tuesday a middle-aged man read passages from the Bible to an 18-year-old Merritt girl before assaulting her.

J. R. Kidston was speaking at the start of the Assize Court trial of Russell Spears, charged with indecent assault.

Mr. Kidston said Spears, of Westbank, hired the girl as a house-keeper at Merritt June 30 and drove her to Westbank.

The assault took place on the trip, he said, adding Spears read passages from the Bible and made the girl read them.

Later the girl escaped from Spears' cabin to a nearby house and police were called, he said.
