USSR SUBS OUTFLANK DEFENCE SYSTEM

Shooting Follows Rejection Of Four-Power Talks

BERLIN (AP) — Gunfire rattled along the wall again Wednesday after Communist boss Walter Ulbricht of East Germany ruled out four-power talks to stop the shootings.

East German guards fired on a 17-year-old refugee swimming a canal to freedom. He reached the West unharmed, and West Berlin police did not reply to the fire.

Ulbricht's "no" to four-power talks, taking a line expected by Western diplomats, was in a speech to the Communist Party central committee on East Germany.

In the text transmitted by the East German news agency, Ulbricht rejected a note that was not even addressed to him, and to which the Soviet Union has not yet replied.

The United States, Britain and France proposed to Moscow this week that four-power talks be held in Berlin to seek ways of easing tension and stopping the frequent shootings along Berlin's wall.

NO CONCERN OF WEST

Ulbricht said this question concerned only East Germany and West Berlin and had nothing to do with the Western powers.

The Western powers do not recognize the East German regime, insisting that the Soviet Union is the only responsible power in East Germany.

Four-power talks were unnecessary, Ulbricht said, because all that had to be done was to stop "border provocations" from West Berlin, silence "revanchist and militarist propaganda" and muzzle RIAS, the U.S. radio in West Berlin which broadcasts in German.

The Communists continued fortifying the border.

At Klemkestrasse, on the French sector border, a 300-man labor brigade began erecting a concrete wall four yards behind barbed wire fencing built earlier.

Hope for Six Orbit Space Journey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Wednesday plans to try the next big step in its man-in-space program, a six orbit journey around the earth ending in mid-Pacific late this summer.

Navy Cmdr. Walter Schirra, a 39-year-old combat pilot, was picked as the astronaut. If he is unable to make the flight, his backup pilot, Air Force Capt. L. Gordon Cooper, 36, will be in the capsule.

The national aeronautics and space administration did not say flatly that the flight will be launched as a six-orbit mission, only that "we are hoping and planning for a six-orbit flight." The announcement indicated that events before and during the flight could lead to fewer orbits.

If the six orbits are completed, the flight will last nine hours. This compares with 4½ hours of the three orbits of astronauts John Glenn and Malcolm Scott Carpenter, the first U.S. spacemen to circuit the globe.

Officials placed the time of Schirra's flight only as "some time late this summer." Unofficial word was that it will come in late August or early September.

A spokesman, asked why a six-orbit flight was chosen, said the project experts wanted additional information and that six orbits is considered "a good bridge between a three-orbit flight and a one-day mission."

A one-day mission of 18 orbits is planned in the future. This would be one orbit more than Russia's record of 17.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Walter M. Schirra Jr. said Wednesday he is enthusiastic over the possibility of orbiting the earth six times when he rides into space this summer.

Schirra's selection as the pilot for the next U.S. orbital space flight was announced Wednesday by the national aeronautics and space administration.

"We have always felt the Mercury capsule had a capability of more than three orbits" — the number accomplished by astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter — Schirra told a press conference at nearby Langley Air Force base.

Schirra said three additional orbits would be a "great bonus," because they would save an additional launching.

X-15 SETS SPEED MARK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The X-15 rocket plane set a speed mark of 4,159 miles an hour Wednesday — unintentionally.

U.S. Space Agency pilot Joseph A. Walker surpassed the old mark of 4,093 m.p.h. while streaking into the fringes of space, so he could plunge back down with the stubby research craft's nose 23 degrees higher than its tail.

The manoeuvre was to test the X-15's stability in a technique future space craft may use to brake their return to earth.

Woodworkers Give Up Wage Hike Attempt

PORTLAND (AP) — The International Woodwarkers of America Wednesday gave up an attempt to win a wage increase this year.

Harvey Nelson, president of the Western region, said there would be no strike and no further attempt this year to negotiate a wage boost.

In a possibly significant move the other big lumber union—the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union—did not join Nelson in the statement.

The unions had indicated previously a joint statement would be issued, but when the Woodworkers called a press conference Wednesday, the Lumber and Sawmill Workers were absent.

Nelson said: "This decision was reached after lengthy consideration of the issues involved in negotiations and effect of a strike.

"The committees did not question the financial ability of a significant part of the industry to easily provide a wage increase, but felt that the probable length of a shutdown necessary to attain the increase would not be warranted at this time."

Expect Delay In Hong Kong Refugee Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The immigration department has bumped into an unusual problem which likely will delay the arrival in Canada of the 100 Hon Kong refugee families the federal government has agreed to bring to Canada.

The department said Wednesday that its officials in Hong Kong, the Hong Kong welfare department and social services agencies in the British colony are experiencing difficulties in locating eligible refugee families from Communist China.

Canada decided originally to give preference to refugee families who had arrived in Hong Kong since May 1. However, this date now has been changed to Jan. 1 to permit selection among a greater number of families.

It had been hoped that the 100 families would start moving to Canada by air by July 15. The plan is to fly them here at government expense on three chartered Canadian Pacific Airline flights terminating at Vancouver, Winnipeg and Toronto.

"Give to the Crippled — Not to the Cripplers"

Mayors, Citizens Disturbed At Vancouver Support Of Sons' Fraternal Council

Two Kootenay mayors and many citizens cried their indignation and disgust Wednesday at word that a Coast body was organizing to support the ruling fraternal council of the radical Freedomite sect, now facing charges of intimidation of the parliament of Canada and the B.C. legislature.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse of Nelson and Mayor Joe Palyga of Trail joined the voices of businessmen and citizens in condemning a group of social workers, teachers, university professors, students and lawyers protesting Wednesday the use of the section of the criminal code under which members of the Sons' fraternal council are charged.

A committee was formed at the protest meeting held in Vancouver to raise $25,000 for the defence of the Freedomite elders. News of the meeting reached Nelson Wednesday afternoon.

ACCORDED SAME JUSTICE

Mayor Shorthouse stated: "I feel confident the Sons of Freedom are accorded the same Canadian justice that other offenders of the law receive. They are entitled to no more or less than that."

Referring to the raising of $25,000 for the Fraternal Council defence, Mayor Shorthouse stated, "The people speaking of funds might well be advised to get Sorokin on their subscription list."

In 1952 Freedomite spiritual leader Stefan Sorokin left Canada with $90,000 in Freedomite funds and now lives a life of luxury in Uruguay. It has been estimated that over the years many thousands of dollars has been sent Sorokin by his followers and Freedomites today say they still send him money.

HANDS OFF

"The people concerning themselves with the state of Freedomite affairs are uninformed of the seriousness of the problems which face the interior of the province and the whole of Canada. In my opinion we can do well to leave the matter of the Sons of Freedom hearing the hands of those capable and responsible for carrying out justice."

Contacted in Trail, Mayor Joseph Palyga termed the stand those at the Coast have taken as "utterly ridiculous."

"If they (those attending the protest meeting in Vancouver) came into the Kootenays and lived for a while they'd soon realize just how ridiculous their stand is."

BIG LAUGH

In regard to the raising of defence monies, he stated, "That's a big laugh. These people have got more money than most people in the Kootenays will ever have."

He continued, "This has shown up very well in the bail money they have placed." Since the mass arrests of the sect members began last November approximately $400,000 bail money has been placed for the release of members charged with terrorism.

Mayor Palyga said, "I'm quite disappointed in the stand those people at the Coast have taken."

Adding to the din of indignation were comments of those interviewed in downtown Nelson. "What do those people at the coast know about the situation? They do not have buildings, tracks, bridges and towers blown up around them."

One man suggested a more humane way to donate money than to the fraternal council defence. "There are lots of worthwhile organizations to donate to. Like the Crippled Children. I say donate to the crippled and not the cripplers. They (Freedomites) take enough of our money away from us in welfare."

Many citizens asked why the Vancouver group didn't protest shortly after members of the Fraternal Council were arrested. "That would seem a more likely time to protest, rather than wait until weeks of court hearings have cost the taxpayers thousands upon thousands of dollars," was the consensus.

One Nelson businessman, himself a one-time victim of a terrorist attack, suggested the university professors were "lowering their status in the province by taking such an absurd stand."

Gov't Give Reasons In Medicare Fight

By SCOTT SCHILL

REGINA (CP)— The Saskatchewan government Wednesday released statements disputing reasons used by the province's doctors for failing to reach an agreement on the question of the compulsory medical care plan.

The cabinet and the governing council of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons ended closed discussions late Monday night and the next night the council rejected government offers to make the plan palatable to the medical profession.

The council said it cannot recommend to its 900 members — 700 of them practising physicians — that they change plans to provide only hospital-based emergency services after July 1 implementation of the medical care plan.

The government said Wednesday it hoped concessions and proposals made by it to the council would attract doctors to work under the plan after July 1.

It also said it hoped there would be more negotiations with the college and that the college would halt plans to provide only emergency service.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Health Minister James McGrath said Wednesday that Newfoundland, experiencing a shortage of doctors, will not deliberately try to attract doctors from Saskatchewan.

"We would be glad to have them," Dr. McGrath said in an interview, "but we don't feel that we should embarrass a sister provincial government by making any specific efforts to get them."

About 20 Saskatchewan doctors are reported to have moved to Alberta this year and it has been suggested that more might move to other parts of Canada.

Liquor Prices To Be Cut Back

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner said Wednesday price increases on imported liquors will be cut back once the exact impact of the new federal taxes are known.

The attorney-general said the 25 per cent across-the-board price boost he announced Monday was only a holding move pending formal recommendations from the B.C. Liquor Control Board.

Adjustments would be made once the board determined at what price level the new 15 per cent federal tax is to be placed.

Col. Donald McGugan, chairman of the liquor board, said new higher prices on the imported brands of liquor may well be cut back.

How Do I Resign?

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — A fourth-term Socialist member of Parliament has created a legal tangle by apparently wanting to resign from the Commons—and not knowing how to go about it.

His problem is: How do you resign from the Commons when there isn't a fully-constituted House to resign from?

Erhart Regier, first elected in 1953 and returned last week with a sweeping majority in British Columbia's Burnaby - Coquitlam constituency, wants to give up his seat in Parliament to make room for T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, who was defeated June 18 in Regina City.

The NDP constituency association for the Vancouver area seat voted 165 to 11 Tuesday to allow Mr. Regier to resign to pave the way for Mr. Douglas to stand in a byelection there.

Mr. Regier, who is coming here to bone up on the legal technicalities of the situation, says the final decision will be made at an NDP caucus July 12 in Winnipeg.

Women Evacuated As Jail Afire

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal women's jail on Fullum Street was evacuated Wednesday night following the fourth fire in 24 hours there. Like the others, it appeared to have been deliberately set.

The 58 prisoners and their keepers were transferred to provincial police cells after the fire on the fourth floor of the old building.

Firemen had little trouble putting out the blaze, but the women were transferred to the downtown cells to avoid further trouble.

Jail governor Albert Tanguay said damage from the two most serious of Tuesday's three fires would not be repaired.

One fire was set in a rubbish heap in the yard. It did little damage.

The next was in a closet where books are stored. The third was in the sewing and loom room, where the heaviest damage was caused. Total loss was estimated at $3000.

The women are to be transferred to a new jail this autumn within the confines of the province's Bordeaux jail in the north end of Montreal.

Meeting Seeks Aid For Sons' Fraternal Council

VANCOUVER (CP) — A committee of 31 university professors, ministers and members of the Society of Friends has asked the British Columbia government to provide defence funds for 70 Sons of Freedom elders charged with conspiring to intimidate the federal and provincial governments.

The trial of the Freedomites is important because its results could set a precedent in interpreting the charge, never before laid in Canada since it passed into law in 1882, committee spokesman Werner Cohn, a University of B.C. sociology professor, said Wednesday.

The committee told a press conference it would set up a defence trust if necessary and make an appeal for money to help the Freedomites pay for legal aid. An estimated $25,000 is needed. The preliminary hearing, now in progress, is expected to last one month.

The committee is seeking formation of a Canadian civil liberties organization and a committee to consider relations between Doukhobors and the Canadian government.

The committee said there is need for public concern about charges against the Freedomites. The charges each carry 14-year maximum sentences and could be applied in other political situations.

"There are already laws against murder, intimidation and bombing," said Mr. Cohn. "The charge of intimidating parliament could be levelled against many political groups — for example against a group that picketed parliament. It is a vague charge, and the results of this trial might set a precedent that would threaten civil rights."

The "sensational, unfavorable publicity" the 70 Freedomites have received would make it hard to find an unprejudiced jury and increases the need for the best possible legal defence, the committee said.

It also said in a prepared statement signed by the 31 professors that several of its members had studied relationships between the Canadian government and the Freedomites and think solutions cannot come by application of criminal law without considering and acting on the social and religious attitudes involved.

The committee's appeal to the B.C. government for funds to provide adequate legal funds to safeguard civil rights was indirect, and has not yet been answered, Mr. Cohn said.

"It is believed that the defendants, who are paying their own fees at the preliminary hearing, may have a few dollars but can't have very much, considering they're no longer breadwinning and their houses are all burned," Mr. Cohn said.

Dr. Soblen Whereabouts A Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen, 62, has mysteriously vanished on the eve of his imprisonment for life as a wartime Soviet spy.

The FBI hunted him as a fugitive Wednesday, but his lawyer said he may never be found alive.

Federal Judge William B. Herlands, who sentenced the gravely ill Dr. Soblen to life in a prison a year ago, gave him until mid - afternoon today to surrender, or else forfeit his $100,000 bail.

David R. Hyde, assistant U.S. attorney who obtained a bench warrant for Dr. Soblen's arrest, told the court:

"The facts indicate that the defendant is fleeing the jurisdiction of the court and has no intention of surrendering . . . his car is also missing."

LAWYER DISAREES

However, Dr. Soblen's lawyer, Ephriam London, protested:

"It is my belief that he is very ill, incapacitated or dead somewhere not far away. He is suffering from leukemia. Prognosis indicated that he would be dead about this time.

Dr. Soblen vanished a few hours after the U.S. Supreme Court's refusal to review his 1961 conviction, thus dooming him to end his life behind bars.

He was arrested Nov. 29, 1960, as a member of a wartime Soviet spy ring headed by his brother, Jack, 57, imprisoned for a seven-year term in 1957 for espionage.

WARRANT FOR LAPOINTE

MONTREAL (CP)—Police had a warrant Wednesday for the arrest of Paul Lapointe, leader of an organization promoting a distinctive Canadian flag, who has twice failed to appear in court as scheduled on charges of stealing Union Jacks.

Judge Emile Trottier issued a deferred warrant for Lapointe's arrest when he didn't show up for trial last Friday. A new trial date was set for Tuesday but Lapointe failed to make an appearance.

He was released on $950 bail June 13 after pleading not guilty to stealing the Union Jacks during the recent Montreal visit of Britain's Queen Mother.

Lapointe is president of the Canadians' National Rally for a distinctive flag.

UN APPROVES INDEPENDENCE FOR 2 NATIONS

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN General Assembly Wednesday overwhelmingly approved independence for two more African nations effective next Sunday.

They are the republic of Ruanda and the kingdom of Urundi, carved from the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi.

The vote on a resolution framed by the assembly's trusteeship committee in marathon session Tuesday was 93-to-0 with 10 abstentions.

The assembly defeated 46-to-24, with 33 abstentions, a Soviet amendment demanding that the Belgians withdraw all their troops by midnight next Saturday. The Soviet bloc abstained in the final voting. Cuba deserted the Soviet bloc and voted with the majority.

Liberals Demand Session For Financial Measures

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Newly-elected Liberal members of Parliament Wednesday unanimously endorsed their leader's demands for an immediate session of Parliament to discuss the government's financial emergency measures.

They pledged co-operation in "effective measures to protect the soundness of the currency" but they said it was "distorting the facts" to pretend that the emergency arose suddenly.

"Defensive emergency measures now are essential but they must not last beyond the emergency," the members said in a statement issued after their first caucus.

Liberal Leader Pearson, who presided told reporters after the one-day gathering that the Liberal party is ready for another election but that it will perform its duties as a responsible opposition.

It would support the measures it thought essential for the public good but vote against measures it opposed. If this brought down the government and forced another general election, "that will not be unwelcome."

Mr. Pearson held a post-meeting press conference in the caucus room adjacent to his private office.

"It did my heart good to see this room filled to overflowing again," he said.

If all Liberal senators were present with the 99 Liberal MPs, the caucus of the official position would total 165—more than the 25 senators and 116 MPs of the Progressive Conservatives.

Missile Attack From Submarine Could Come Without Warning

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The existence of Russian missile-launching submarines means that North America's defence system has been largely outflanked, officials said Wednesday.

They emphasized that this doesn't make North American air defence command obsolete because the air threat to this continent will continue.

But whereas the ballistic missile warning system and distant early warning radar line in the Canadian Arctic, Alaska and Greenland could alert North America to rocket or bomber attack, a missile bombardment by submarine could come without warning.

This is one reason why Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chief of NORAD, recently called for extension of the ballistic missile warning system.

It is also why the defence departments of Canada and the United States are pressing research into an underwater ocean surveillance system.

CAN LAUNCH MISSILES

Intelligence sources say Soviet submarines right now have a capability of launching nuclear missiles against North America's coastlines. They estimate their present maximum firing range at 350 miles with the distinct possibility of far greater range before long.

Even the present range means that a submarine could stand 350 miles off Halifax and lob a nuclear warhead into the seaport.

Some recent anti-submarine measures:

The rudiments of a stationary underwater submarine alarm system will be in place well off Canada's coasts by next year.

The system will be based on moored sonobuoys dropped by aircraft far out at sea in the likely channels of approach for submarines bent on bombarding North America.

Underwater experiments in the Canadian Arctic have shown it is possible to place warning barriers across narrow bodies of water.

RCAF Maritime Command helps to patrol the North Atlantic gap — the straits between Greenland and Iceland and Iceland and Scotland—which presumably would be the main exit route for Russian submarines headed for North America.

A $22,000,000 destroyer conversion program to fit the warships with helicopter landing platforms is scheduled to begin next month. The helicopters will carry underwater detection gear—sonar—which can be lowered into the water, and torpedoes. It is possible but not likely, that this program will be deferred by the government's announced cut in expenditures.

BONNER DENIES CHARGE OF INTERFERENCE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner denied Wednesday that he had interfered with the courts in commenting on a Supreme Court of Canada decision in the B.C. Electric case.

The attorney - general made the denial in a statement read to the British Columbia Supreme Court by Crown Counsel M. M. McFarlane.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett had asked for a check on the accuracy of Mr. Bonner's comments after Douglas McK. Brown, counsel for the B.C. Power Corporation, said they constituted an attempt to interfere with the court.

Mr. Bonner's comment concerned a Supreme Court of Canada decision Monday ordering the B.C. Electric placed back in receivership until B.C. Power's suit against the government is settled.

B.C. Power is the former parent of the BCE, which was expropriated by the provincial government last August and later merged with the government-owned B.C. Power Commission to form a single power authority.

B.C. Power was paid a total of $171,000,000 for BCE. The corporation, which claims the company was worth $225,000,000 seeks to have the take - over legislation declared invalid or to have the court set a fair price for BCE assets.

Mr. Bonner was quoted as saying that the order placing BCE back into receivership would have no effect because BCE no longer existed.

In a report to the Chief Justice, Mr. McFarlane said that Mr. Bonners' statements were made in a press conference.

He said the attorney-general had been asked to comment on the effect the re-appointment of a receiver would have on the day-to - day operations of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, created by the BCE-B.C. Power Commission merger.

Mr. McFarlane told the Chief Justice he had been instructed that Mr. Bonner replied: "I can't tell you. The effect has never been decided. Your opinion of its effect is just as good as mine. We had a receiver in before, with no interference so far as I know, with the day to day operations."

SAYS EFFECT DOUBTFUL

Mr. McFarlane added that the attorney-general had stated that the effect of the order is not apparent, that it had been contended before the courts that the BCE had ceased to exist and if that contention was correct the effect of the receivership was doubtful.

"I am instructed to say that this statement was made in answer to questions by the press and that the Attorney-General felt that it was his duty as a public officer to answer as best he could," said Mr. McFarlane.

The Attorney-General refutes and resents the intentions and motives attributed to him. I am instructed further to assure the court that he has at no time attempted or desired to interfere with the receivership or the courts, whose authority, of course, he recognizes and respects," added Mr. McFarlane.

The Chief Justice said he would consider the submissions by both Mr. Brown and Mr. McFarlane.

Chief Justice Lett also reserved his decision on a move by the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority to have itself taken out of the current court battle.

The chief justice said that to hand down decision on this application at this stage of the trial would be to indicate that he had reached a decision on the validity of the takeover legislation.

C. W. Brazier, counsel for the Power Authority, applied to have it struck out as a defendant on the grounds that it was an agency of the Crown and could not be sued except by government permission.

10 New Cominco Graduate Fellowship Holders Named

TRAIL — A list of 10 new Cominco graduate research fellowship holders for the 1962-63 academic year was released Wednesday by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

Currently working at universities across Canada on fellowships totalling $30,000 are ten company sponsored post graduate students continuing research and study in the fields of engineering, pure science and agriculture.

The following is a list of holders showing the university department at which they are working:

K. N. Street, of Vancouver, at the University of British Columbia in Metallurgy; M. J. Bibby, of Edmonton, at the University of Alberta in Metallurgy; L. V. Hills, of Vancouver, at the University of Alberta in Geology; M. D. Webber, of Miami, Manitoba, at the University of Manitoba in Agriculture; D. F. Williams of Winnipeg at the University of Manitoba in Chemistry.

G. A. Roeder, of Stratford, Ontario, at McMaster University in Metallurgy; R. F. Hunter, of Toronto, at the University of Toronto in Chemical Engineering; D. Gill, of Croydon (Chambly), P.Q., at McGill University in Mining· W. A. Miller, of Montreal, at McGill University in Metallurgy; and D. L. McKeown, of St. Laurent, Quebec, at Nova Scotia Technical in Electrical Engineering.

Earlier this year Cominco announced its fellowship program for the five-year period between 1962-67.

Consisting of 50 fellowships worth $3000 each, these will be awarded at the rate of ten a year. The student receives $2200 while $800 goes to the university department in which post graduate research is taking place. The fellowships are administered through the Canadian Universities Foundation.

Since Cominco began giving fellowships in 1944, a total of 180 have been awarded, worth $255,000.

World Flyweight Contender Quits

TOKYO (AP) — Sadao Yaoita, the No. 1 world flyweight contender who was scheduled to fight Pone Kingpetch of Thailand for the title Oct. 9, confirmed his retirement from the ring Wednesday.

Yaoita, 26, quit because of nerve damage to his left leg. He also gave up the Orient flyweight crown. Yaoita had a crack at the flyweight title in November, 1959, when he was knocked out in 13 rounds by then champion Pascual Perez of Argentina.

He had a 53-11-2 record, and had hoped to regain the title once worn by Yoshio Shirai of Japan.

Rod, Gun Asks Member to Take Bear Carcasses Off Ski Hill

A Rod and Gun Club member who shot a mother bear and her cub on the ski hill a few weeks ago has been requested by the club to either remove the remains or bury them.

The matter was brought up at the club's meeting Tuesday night by a member who is also a Ski Club member. He said that the Ski Club is concerned about the carcasses contaminating the water supply on the hill.

The member who shot the animals said he moved the bears to one side of the hill after shooting them and said that he didn't realize they were affecting the water supply.

When asked why he had left the bears there, he said they were so badly shot to pieces, that he left them. He said he went after them for their hides.

Persons who witnessed the shooting said the cub was shot first, then the female. They said another, larger cub, escaped, but did not know if it was wounded.

A game department official said no law was violated in the shooting but he had previously requested removal of the carcasses because of the unhealthy conditions.

The only violation, he said, was an unwritten sportsmen's code that says a hunter should not kill wantonly or maliciously especially when an animal's only instinct is to protect its young.

The official went on to say that this type of hunting is one that brings restrictive hunting legislation and closed seasons. It also puts sportsmen in a bad light with non-hunters and brings discredit to hunting organizations.

Morley to Attend Meeting Of Principals

Principal of the Hume Elementary school, J. M. Morley, is one of 60 principals meeting at the University of British Columbia for two weeks beginning July 23 to study "The Principal and the Developing Curriculum."

Mr. Morley's membership in this special course in leadership for school principals is being endorsed by Nelson school district 7.

The course has been arranged by the British Columbia School Trustees' Association, the B.C. Teachers' Federation, the B.C. Department of Education and the Faculty and College of Education at UBC.

Dr. J. F. K. English, deputy minister of education, is chairman of the planning committee.

Sixty school districts of the province will be represented. Each representative is principal of an elementary, junior high or senior high school.

The aim of the course is to discuss the changing school curriculum and to determine the principal's responsibility both in helping to set it up and in helping to administer it.

Much of each day during the course will be devoted to work in study groups designed to attack problems which members face in their own schools. Such subjects as supervising and improving instruction, appraisal, in-service training and developing wholesome staff relationships will be carefully studied.

Cranbrook Still Leads In Housing

Housing starts and completions continue to show an upswing for the first five months of 1962 as compared to a similar period last year.

Leading the building program is Cranbrook with 19 starts, 20 completions and 35 under construction as of May 31.

The figures are released by the Vancouver office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and include only those centres of 5000 population or more.

Home building throughout British Columbia is up 27 per cent compared to last year at the same time.

Following are figures released for Kootenay centres with comparable 1961 figures in brackets.

Cranbrook: 19 starts, (8); 20 completions, (0); 35 under construction, (14); Kimberley: 1, (1); 5, (4); 1, (2); Nelson: 3, (0); 2, (4); 3, (1); Trail: 2, (6); 1, (7); 23, (7).

Drug Use Disqualifies Crimson Satan

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Crimson Satan, hard luck 3-year-old of the year, was disqualified Wednesday as winner of last Saturday's $42,500 Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park because of an illegal drug detected in a post race urinalysis.

The Delaware State Racing Commission ordered the Richard's purse re-distributed as the result of a report by its official chemist.

The report said, " a substance in the nature of phenylbutazone was found in the urine sample of the horse, Crimsn Satan, winner of the sixth race at Delaware Park on Saturday, June 23."

Longbeach Church Celebrating 50th Anniversary

Consecration of All Saints Church at Longbeach 50 years ago will be observed tonight.

Rev. Cecil Day of St. David's Church (formerly St. Alban's) in Castlegar, will be preacher. He will be assisted by Archdeacon B. A. Resker, DD, archdeacon emeritus of Kootenay, Rev. Canon G. W. Lang, rector of St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral at Nelson, and Rev. W. Edington of the Kokanee parish.

ONLY 41 FIRES THIS SEASON

Nelson fire district reports a low to moderate fire hazard as of June 22.

With the exception of the Prince Rupert district, all districts report a moderate fire hazard. Prince Rupert is low and just below Nelson in result of fires.

To date, in the Nelson district there have been 41 fires compared to 110 last year. Last week, there were nine fires burning with a cost of $400. Last year, fire fighting costs were $22,850.

PAYS $10 FINE

Kenley B. Ryall was fined $10 and costs for speeding by provincial magistrate K. D. McRae.

Ryall pleaded not guilty but was found guilty. He had his driver's licence endorsed as well as the fine.

Scouts' Camporees, Field Days Success

Scouts and Cubs of the Kootenay-Boundary Region have been having a busy time of late. Two Camporees have been held, Nelson district holding theirs at Fletcher Creek near Kaslo with 10 patrols competing with each other.

Kettle River district had 11 patrols competing from Beaverdell, Midway, Greenwood, Grand Forks and Christina Lake. The Commissioner of this new district, R. Parks, was in charge of the camp.

Rover Leader W. Banigan from Robson held a meeting at the camp with about 12 boys over 16 years of age who are considering the formation of Rover Crews. The Regional Commissioner, Dr. B. D. Resker, visited the Camporees.

Assistant Regional Commissioner J. D. Flamank supervised a Basic B-Training course for Scout leaders at Camp Tweedsmuir and eight leaders qualified. Dr. Resker presented A.S.M. Steve Saprunoff of Trail with the much coveted Medal of Merit. Mr. Saprunoff has had 20 years as a leader in Trail and has been an enthusiastic scoutmaster and district camp organizer.

Nelson District held a successful Field Day which consisted of various competitions of scouting and cubbing skills. Scouters P. Deakin, R. Roberts and F. Aikins were presented with their wood badges by the District Commissioner E. K. Evans; their Gilwell Scarf and Woggle by Dr. Resker and S. M. Gordon Fleming.

J. Norman of B.C. provincial headquarters in Vancouver has been visiting the region and was in Kimberley where he made plans for the Cub Training course which is to be held at Wasa Lake in July. He and D.C.M. George Williams visited the Camp Site. He visited Trail and Creston also and helped in the office in Nelson.

The regional commissioner attended the Provincial Court of Honor in Penticton on June 9 - 10. Regional commissioners attended from Vancouver, Victoria, the Upper Island and the Interior (Vernon). Assistant P.C.'s C. F. Charlten and Ted Williams (Prince George) also attended with the P. Commissioner Brigadier Roaf and P. E. X. Commissioner Percy Ross. Many plans were made for the development of scouting in B.C.

Mrs. G. W. Elliott has been appointed pro tem secretary in place of Mrs. A. Hopkins who has resigned after about a year's service. No appointment has been made of an E.R.C. to office in Nelson, open every morning from 9 - 12 except Mondays.

Building Total Loss In Trail Store Fire

TRAIL — A perliminary estimate of damages to the Firestone store destroyed by fire here Tuesday remains at $150,000, assistant fire chief Charles Cowlin said Wednesday.

Owners of the store were not available for comment and value of contents is not yet known. The building was a total loss and two private vehicles being fitted with tires, a service truck, large quantities of tires and equipment, paint and a wide range of retail products were destroyed.

It is believed the stucco building caught fire when a contracting firm from Shoreacres was engaged in paint removal operations, using propane torches.

Mr. Cowlin said he did not think such a method of paint removal had been used in Trail before but he said the firm had used a similar method several times including a wooden building in Nelson.

The fire was under control about two hours after the department received the call about 11:20 a.m.

Formerly a garage, the building at Bay Avenue and Eldorado Street had accumulated oil and other inflammable matter in the woodwork, which contributed to the spectacular blaze.

At the height of the fire, thick, black smoke covered the entire downtown section and hundrds of spectators jammed the intersection.

Barrel Derby Set for July 7

Nelson Rod and Gun Club's annual barrel derby will be held July 7 with nearly $200 worth of prizes going to the winners.

First prize in the guessing contest will be a complete camping outfit for two.

At 5 p.m. July 7, the barrel will be set free at the Harrop ferry and will be timed until it reaches the west side of Nelson bridge. The closest guess to its time of arrival wins first prize. Winning time last year was 18 hours, 22 minutes, 31 seconds.

Other prizes for the event include: double barrelled .410 shotgun, movie camera outfit, complete spinning outfit and seven-power binoculars.

Receipts from the derby will finance club projects.

A steak fry is planned at the rifle range Aug. 4, it was announced at the club's meeting Tuesday night, with dancing to an orchestra to follow in the clubhouse. Each person brings his own steak, but coffee, buns and salad are to be provided.

Armed Service Vote Favors Liberal Candidate

If the Canadian armed forces had more to say about it, there would probably have been a Liberal representing Kootenay West.

In fact, the only poll that Liberal candidate Nick T. Oglow led was the service poll, recording 120 votes. Runnerup H. W. Herridge received 78, Peter Dewdney 54, L. A. Read 51.

Revised unofficial totals for each of the candidates now stands at: Dewdney, PC, 6165; Herridge, NDP, 9205; Oglow, L. 2757; Read, SC, 5323.

Tax Payments Slow, City Must Pay Interest Rates On Loans

ROSSLAND — Slow rate of tax collection is costing the city unnecessary expenses in bank loan interest.

Necessary services to citizens are being maintained although the city has been forced to borrow money because tax payments are so slow in coming in.

Alderman W. Wadeson reported on the situation at the recent council meeting. It was pointed out that continual borrowing to meet the requests of citizens for services will mean higher maintenance costs of city operations.

Tax collections are behind the rate of collections of other years up to this date, he noted.

Requests for garbage fee exemptions were heard from the West Kootenay Health Unit under agreement with council, referred to the finance and legislative committee, as were letters from Mrs. D. E. Manning, R. R. Lloyd and Mrs. K. Lloyd, all of whom claimed their exemption on no garbage, no sewer connection, therefore no need to pay the levy.

PAVING DELAY?

Dissatisfaction with the Blackline Paving proposal to alternate their time within the next month between Rossland and Glenmerry for paving contracts was expressed at the council meeting. A special meeting was held after the regular meeting concerning this matter which Mayor Harold Elmes thought was "the old runaround" by the paving company.

Alderman W. Keane reported that the unemployment situation at present is better than at the same period last year. Co-operation of the public in keeping projects going on into the summer has taken up some of the unemployed he said.

EQUIPMENT DESTROYED

Alderman P. Berry reported on destruction of the recently repaired equipment for Rossglen Park by vandalism.

"It is heart-breaking for my committee to plan and carry out these projects for the benefit of our residents and then have somebody destroy them," he said. "As the budget is restricted, it will not be possible to replace this equipment this year."

PROTEST $100 REBATE

Ald. Wadeson asked council and members of his finance and legislative committee to think of impact which the suggested $100 home-owners rebate would place upon the city's finances. He stated that in 1961 these grants had totalled $46,443. In addition the city had received per capita grants of $66,248, plus $4419 as taxes on public works property, he added.

Under the new idea, the city would not get any of these extras, and would have to find $15,200 to meet even the austerity budget we have this year, he reported.

To do this the mill rate would have to be raised at least 8½ mills over present mill rate. This would bring the mill rate over the restricted 50 mills for general purposes.

Ald. Wadeson asked that ways of protesting this idea be suggested. He also asked that consideration be given to joining with other municipalities of this area in entering a protest.

Mayor Elmes also spoke on this matter, stating that it is the council who must safeguard the taxpayer, and seek the finances to provide needed services for them.

"This we cannot do if government takes over and slashes our moneys so greatly," he added. "We have to find the extra dollars somewhere, we cannot ask our taxpayers to pay more."

JUNKYARD BYLAW

The proposed Junkyard Prohibition Bylaw was given its third reading and no alterations or amendments being presented the bylaw will receive final approval and adoption at the next meeting of council. When questioned, Mayor Elmes pointed out that the bylaw had been read at three separate meetings to permit any lodging of complaints about the coverage of the bylaw.

This is not the usual procedure for a bylaw as usually the three readings are given at one meeting, he commented.

This bylaw prohibits the construction, using of property and operating of a junkyard within the city limits.

Gaglardi Suggests Bridge As Cutoff Opening Site

TRAIL — Roads and bridges committee chairman Arnold Calder told the Trail Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting that he had received a letter from highways minister P. A. Gaglardi concerning the opening of the Kinnaird-Christina Lake highway.

Mr. Calder reported that Mr. Gaglardi felt that since the official opening of the highway would probably come with the completion of the McRae Creek bridge, the bridge site "would be a logical site at which to hold the official opening."

Chamber secretary Des Crowder reported that the chamber's tourist booth is open. He said that the tourist booth would use the same staffing arrangements as it did last year.

"We've got everything laid on to give as good an accounting of ourselves as we can," he declared.

$100 FOR YAHK BOOTH

The chamber decided to donate up to $100 towards the erection of a tourist booth by the Creston chamber at Yahk. This booth, to be located near the junction of Highways 95 and 3, would be for the purpose of influencing tourists to continue into the B.C. Interior by Highway 3 rather than entering the United States on Highway 95.

Although several chamber members felt that Trail would not benefit very much from the Yahk booth, the grant was authorized and the chamber's council was authorized to contribute any sum up to $100 as funds are available.

CONFERENCE REPORT

Rex McMeekin, who also chaired the meeting gave the group a report on his attendance at the Duke of Edinburgh's Second Commonwealth Study Conference.

In describing the conference as "an educational experience," Mr. McMeekin said, "The value in this conference lies mainly in the individuals who attended it."

Mr. McMeekin spoke of the various groups' travels across the country, emphasizing that the groups were not to "draw conclusions but to "set down observations and impressions" in their studies.

Speaking of the educational value of the conference, he said, "We've all had our minds stretched and once they're stretched, I don't think they'll ever go back to their former shape.

Mr. McMeekin spoke to the chamber on his impressions of the impressions visiting delegates had of our country.

CRITICS OF CANADA

He said that many of the visitors from the 35 Commonwealth countries and territories were "somewhat critical of our bicultural, bi-lingual society" being, Mr. McMeekin claimed, especially critical of the French-speaking people.

He said that many of the delegates were impressed with the Canadian standard of living but he said that many felt Canadians were living beyond their means.

Delegates were also found critical by Mr. McMeekin of "parochialism in education and particularly in unions."

He said that visitors were also critical of the United States' influence in Canada, particularly in labor unions.

Salmo Chamber Commerce Seeks 24-Hour Customs

SALMO — A proposal for 24-hour customs service at the international border is being followed up by Salmo Chamber of Commerce which also discussed the planned parking lot in the business section.

The chamber received a map from the department of highways showing the proposed site at the junction of highways 3A and 6. S. Rotter and A. Burgess head the parking lot work committee.

The Salmo chamber decided to circulate letters among local B.C. chamber branches and the Spokane chamber urging support of a proposal that the port of entry be kept open around the clock. If the Spokane group is in favor of the proposal, it will be asked to advise other Washington chambers.

Mr. Rotter, on behalf of the Farmers' Institute, asked support of cattle exporting at Nelway. He outlined a policy of one-day veterinarian service.

Kootenay West MP-elect H. W. Herridge and any interested chambers will be contacted by the Salmo group regarding this proposal.

In a letter to P. A. Gaglardi, highways minister, the chamber will ask the proposed completion date of the Salmo-Creston cutoff and the eventual location of the highway. It was felt that lack of this information was hampering progress in the area.

The chamber's proposal that a forestry camp for boys be established here has again been refused. In a reply to a letter from the chamber requesting the camp, Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands and forests, told the group that funds do not warrant the establishment of another such camp.

General chamber dissatisfaction with the letter was voiced and another letter requesting the camp is to be written asking reconsideration to the proposal. The chamber points out that a camp for the Salmo area has often been requested.

The membership decided to give support to the proposed swimming pool project. A committee consisting of chairman Bill Taylor, Carl Wilson, John Lodder and Ralph McMillan will review the information on hand and plan various sizes, etc. to be presented to the village council for approval. Costs of the proposed pool are to be kept down by the utilization of volunteer labor, it is hoped.

When definite plans are made, a public meeting is planned by chamber "so the project will be a full community effort."

A request from the chamber to the village council for financial assistance in the tourist program resulted in a $200 grant from the village.

Chamber members were advised by a letter from the department of highways that the road patching program in the Salmo area is now continuing and should be completed in the near future.

The dispatch from the department came as a result of a complaint voiced by the chamber on the general condition of roads leading into Salmo. The department said that inclement weather had delayed the program.

Quick Action Cuts Hatchery Losses

CRANBROOK — Fisheries Game Commission officials here are closely watching the Cranbrook fish hatchery remaining stock following the recent disaster there when the water supply from the city reservoir above the hatchery was temporarily discontinued without advance warning.

At the time there were 37,000 year-old fingerling rainbow trout in the hatchery ponds, and 190,000 cutthroat trout eggs in the troughs. Quick action in temporary water supply pending resoration of the regular flow cut the fingerling loss to about 19,000 fish and the remaining rainbows are now in process of planting by the commission in various East Kootenay lakes.

Survival in the cutthroat egg trough so far has been higher than expected, Also the stock was the entire take for the 1962 season from early spring. Acceptable hatchery feed for this variety of trout is unknown and they are planted in the free-swimming stage before they require feed. Some hatching is continuing and these also will be planted as fry over the next fews weeks in district waters.

TEST PREMIER LAKE

Premier Lake, treated to kill all fish three years ago to eliminate predator fish, is undergoing tests at present which show some degree of toxicity still, but there are indications it may be ready for stocking from a hatchery in late summer or fall. White Swan Lake, largest lake treated in East Kootenay, is still toxic from its second treatment last year but will probably be ready for stocking next spring.

When the ponds and troughs are all cleared at the hatchery from the spring planting program, it will continue to operate on any surplus available from other hatcheries in the province toward raising the fingerlings for fall planting if the treated lakes are free of toxicity for good sports fishing in the 1963 season.

Natal Hires Man for Waterworks Maintenance

NATAL —Natal Village Council accepted the application of Onelio Fraulin for water works maintenance man and garbage collector for the village at the last regular meeting.

A total of eight applications for the position were received and given consideration. Council also drew up an agreement covering wage and working hours, holidays, superannuation and other matters pertaining to the position.

Following a lengthy discussion regarding the exact date upon which the village assumes ownership of the Natal waterworks, it was agreed that collection of water rates by the village could commence this month.

Following a query from the Public Utilities Commission regarding council's intentions in the matter of providing water service outside village limits, it was decided to confine the service to Natal only, both at the present time and in the near future.

Instructions were received from the Department of Municipal Affairs outlining procedure to be followed in drafting a waterworks bylaw.

Council was advised by Civil Defence officials that a budget of $400 was approved for civil defence in Natal.

A member of the volunteer fire department, Alex Wasnock, was appointed to the position of fire chief for the village. His duties include thse of assistant fire marshal and civil defence co-ordinator.

Commissioner Siro Cimolini was appointed acting chairman for the months of July, August and September and Commissioner Lary Cheston for the months of October, November and December.

Sawmill Burns

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Wind-whipped flames destroyed a sawmill near Francis Lake 30 miles southeast of here Monday.

The fire at the Hemple sawmill started when an ember from the waste burner dropped into the mill.

Gusting winds prevented employees from halting the blaze. Sixteen men were employed at the mill with a capacity of 50,000 board feet a day.

Board Approves Relocation Jewett School at Meadow Crk.

RIONDEL — Trustees of the School Board of Disrtict No. 6 Kootenay Lake have accepted a proposal from the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority concerning relocation of the Jewett School at Meadow Creek and are now awaiting approval of the Department of Education. Approval was given at a recent meeting of the board held in Kaslo.

The present site will be required as a concrete aggregate zone for the proposed Duncan Lake project and provides for assistance in the building of a new classroom to replace the old log building, donation of trailer to accommodate an expected influx of children of construction workers and was unanimously regarded as a generous contribution towards solution of problems which the board would have to face when the project goes ahead.

Tenders for supply and installation of an oil-fired boiler at the Kaslo School were opened. Contract was awarded to Kaslo Plumbing and Heating, (G. E. Langille), with a bid of $4968. The only other bid received, in the amount of $5917, was from Vic Graves Ltd., Nelson.

NO BUILDING PROGRAM

It appeared that most of the board's tentative building program had to be shelved. At Kaslo, the expected future enrolment still does not warrant the building of an additional classroom.

The situation at Riondel is uncertain, both with regard to economic development and the still pending amalgamation question; it was decided to postpone the building of a classroom until this situation clarifies itself.

Improvement of lighting in the district schools will be done gradually through inclusion of appropriate amounts in the operating budgets for the next few years.

Mrs. M. E. Miller has accepted the position of relief teacher at the Kaslo school, effective September 1. A resignation effective the end of June was received from H. J. Taylor (Kaslo school).

For the J. A. Cochran school, the board has appointed Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Futcher from Comox as secondary teacher for mathematics and science, and teacher for grades 1 and 8, respectively.

CLEANED UP WALLS

The board was pleased to hear that a number of students from the Crowford Bay School have now repainted the wall of the J. A. Cochran school which they damaged last year.

The board was informed both by the superintendent of education and the Bluebell PTA, that the PTA has presented a petition to the minister of education regarding the integration of the Riondel and Crawford Bay schools. It is understood that the petition requests the minister to include Riondel in the School District No. 5 (Creston).

The Board was officially informed by the superintendent of education that J. E. Beech has been transferred to the position of assistant district superintendent of schools for the Surrey School District, effective August 1.

C. C. Wright, now district superintendent for Smithers, Burns Lake and Vanderhoof, will take over as superintendent for School Districts No. 5 and 6.

E. Kootenay Gets Final Election Tally

CRANBROOK — Final official tally for the June 18 election in Kootenay East has been completed and announced by returning officer Aaron Walde.

Count was: James Byrne, Liberal 5414; William Munday, NDP 4576; Murray McFarlane, PC 4475; Douglas Sadler, Social Credit 2673. Rejected ballots numbered 163. Of approximately 21,000 voters 17,301 or slightly over 80 percent balloted.

Now Is the Hour

Ever since recorded history there has been one nation which dominated the world. Today there are two colossi standing astride the Western world and other nations live under their shadow.

It is a very real thing, this shadow, for one has only to think of nuclear weapons to see how the policy of the United States affects other nations. Canada is divided in its attitude toward these weapons but this betrays the influence of the United States.

There is a tendency among those unfamiliar with Europe to believe that other countries there are not great powers today and that they have sunk into a position of insignificance. True, the U.S. and Russia have unequalled resources and the means to wage war but in patriotism and courage, the European nations, however small, are not to be despised. Through the centuries they have endured incredible hardships, fought bloody wars and never ceased to resist tyranny. Whatever their size they are still forces to be reckoned with.

It is this independence of spirit which impels de Gaulle to make France a nuclear power. A proud nation with a long and honorable history in peace and war she is not content to be regarded — as she sees it — merely a pawn in the game between the U.S. and Russia, but demands the right to do everything she can and use whatever weapons she chooses to protect herself.

It is an attitude which should evoke sympathy, for though the safety of the Western world depends very much on the strength of the U.S., in the event of war the countries bordering the U.S.S.R. would be called upon to protect their own borders from invasion. To do this France feels that she should have her own nuclear weapons at her own disposition — and who shall say she is wrong?

In this matter she comes in conflict with the U.S., but not with Britain, whose prime minister says he can understand her point. But this very conflict indicates the beginning of a resurgence of the spiritual strength of France where pride in the nation makes for high morale.

Nationalism in the best sense means pride in the nation and the endeavor to increase its greatness is not without value. It is something which Canadians might well consider. Our national morale has dropped to a low ebb. We are faced today with a separatist movement which threatens to divide the nation and the shadow of our economic troubles makes the days ahead look far from pleasant.

We are told that we have no flag, no national anthem and no rallying point. These things mean exactly nothing if we have not within ourselves the seeds of greatness. We cannot import leaders from abroad — a de Gaulle or a Kennedy — we must produce our own. It is said the hour brings forth the man. The hour is here. Where is the man? Who will speak for Canada?

The Queen's (Printer's) English

The Queen's Printer has just published, at $5, a sober-looking green book called "Canadian Government Style Manual for Writes and Editors." That title won't do much for sales. But if the book is read inside government (and outside too) the prose of bureaucracy is going to be re-introduced to the beauties and strength of the English language.

The last style manual was published in 1939 and was out of print by 1953 — facts we offer as a charitable explanation for some of the abominations done to the Queen's English by Her Majesty's own servants.

This manual should sweep through departments as a breath of fresh air off the Gatineau Hills. For it is not merely a handbook to narrow, arbitrary matters of style. The manual is remarkably permissive in these matters. For example: "The word Department is capitalized. This is the basic rule but few observe it. The trend is towards a less formal and more modest attitude in self-reference, especially in correspondence with the general public."

The real purpose of this manual is to quicken a sense of style in the broader sense of fitness between words and thought; style as not something superimposed by a grand arbiter but words natural and appropriate for the occasion.

Unlike many style manuals, it observes its own principles. Here are some samples of its clear-headed advice and readable style:

"To write correctly is not necessarily to write well, and the reader is more interested in how well than in how correctly an article is written."

". . . to tell a man that the secret of good style is to write clearly and concisely is as useless as to tell him that the secret of good golf is to hit the ball firmly and accurately."

"Many an article loses much of its effect because the clear stream of the discussion ends in a swampy delta."

"Beware of case, instance, nature, condition, degree, extent, level, character, characteristic and all other nounse ending in istic: these nouns have their proper uses, but they are so often a symptom of vague thinking that it is wise to eschew them."

"Do not glower glumly at a poor sentence. Take a scratch pad and experiment . . ."

This style manual may not replace Quiller-Couch or Fowler. But it descends in direct line and it fights the same battle.—Ottawa Journal.

Water for the Price Of Ham

A majority of the United States Supreme Court has sensibly decided that ham is still ham and not "imitation ham" even though a bit of extra water may have been added to it in the curing process. This, however, does not quite dispose of the question involved of fair warning to the consumer.

Not that the man of the household will complain if the meat in his sandwich or on his plate is a little juicier than usual; but the family purchasing agent is going to be displeased if she finds she is paying 80 or 90 cents a pound for water such as she could draw from the kitchen tap.

Drovers used to see to it that cattle had all the water they would drink shortly before they went on the stockyards scales. Though buyers doubtless made allowance for such practices, they did not assume they were acquiring imitation cows.

There is, however, another precedent that could be consulted, though it may not have come before the Supreme Court. A few years ago, oranges which were treated with coloring matter were marked, "Color added." If a ham has acquired more moisture content by the time it comes through the modern curing treatment than it contained when it came from the pig, should it not reasonably be marked, "Water added"?

Dollar's Move To Discount Shows Upturn In Imports

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—The dollar's one-year move from premium to discount was reflected Wednesday in figures showing a sharp upturn in Canadian import values in the first four months of 1962.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported a Jnuary-April import volume of $1,968,100,000, a rise of 14.5 per cent from a year earlier. Export values grew at a smaller 8.4 per cent to $1,856,700,000.

Thus Canada had a $104,200,000 trade deficit at the end of April—about 18 times higher than the $5,600,000 excess of imports over exports after April, 1961. For the whole of 1961 there was a surplus for the first time in nine years.

In April alone Canadian imports showed a year-to-year advance of 12.6 per cent to $492,700,000 while exports were up 2.7 per cent to $461,300,000. As a result, last year's April surplus of $11,800,000 became a $31,400,000 deficit this year.

The bureau did not estimate the part that dollar devaluation played in the higher import values. However, while in April of 1961 it required only 99 Canadian cents to purchase $1 American, this April it took just under $1.05.

May trade figures probably will reveal the government's May 3 decision to peg the dollar at 92½ cents in terms of United States funds.

Wednesday's trade figures contained no information on what commodities contributed to the change.

The trade figures by major areas for the January - April period this year and last, in millions of dollars:

	1962	1961
Exports
United States	$1,142.2	$917.2
United Kingdom	253.7	289.4
Other Cmwlth	92.8	115.4
All others	368.0	391.2
Total	1,856.7	1,713.2
Imports
United States	$1,415.3	1,197,2
United Kingdom	178.9	184.4
Other Cmwlth	78.6	70.0
All others	295.3	267.2
Total	1,968.1	1,718.8

Exports to the United States were up sharply. They rose in April by 19.7 per cent to $288,200,000 and were higher in the four-month period by 24.5 per cent.

Imports from the U.S. increased at a slightly slower rate. They were up 16.4 per cent in April and 18.2 per cent in the January-April period. The four-month trade deficit with the U.S. this year dropped slightly to $268,000,000 from $280,000,000.

Bishop Refuses To Take Action NDP Campaign

TORONTO (CP) — Rt. Rev. F. H. Wilkinson, Anglican bishop of Toronto, said Tuesday night no action will be taken against a priest who distributed 1,090 letters during the federal election campaign urging support for a New Democratic Party candidate.

Rev. Grahm Cotter took the action in support of Desmond Sparham, NDP candidate in Toronto Rosedale.

Bishop Wilkinson, in England when the incident occurred, said the matter had been brought to his attention and nothing further would be done.

Mr. Cotter, executive secretary of the church's diocesan council, said he felt the NDP was free from the cynicism of the older parties. He said he was speaking as an individual and not as a representative of the church.

Donald S. Macdonald won the seat for the Liberals.

Interpreting the News

By AL COLLETTI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The U.S. Supreme Court's outlawing of a 22-word prayer recited daily in a New York state school is bound to have far-reaching implications on religion in general as practised in public or in state-supported schools across the United States.

The decision Monday declaring the prayer unconstitutional clears the way for some minority groups to challenge the constitutionality of many religious practices commonplace in schools today.

These include recital of The Lord's Prayer, Bible reading, teaching "about religion" and holiday observances such as Christmas and Easter in the Christian faith, Purim and Hanukah in the Jewish faith.

The prayer the supreme court ruled unconstitutional was simple and non-denominational.

It reads:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

It was drafted in 1951 by the Board of Regents, a governmental body which has wide supervisory, legislative and executive powers over public schools in New York state.

The prayer was adopted in 1958 by the school district of New Hyde Park, a Long Island community about 20 miles from New York City.

The prayer was said aloud in the presence of a teacher at the beginning of each school day. Attendance was not compulsory.

The Supreme Court ruled the prayer was "an establishment of religion" by a government body which violates the first amendment of the bill of rights of the U.S. Constitution.

LAW IS PLAIN

The first amendment, ratified in 1791, specifically guarantees freedom of religion. It forbade the congress to pass any law "respecting the establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

In 1868, the 14th amendment made freedom of religion applicable to the states, prohibiting them from making or enforcing any law abridging "the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

Justice Hugo L. Black, born in Alabama and once denounced as a racist after the disclosure he had belonged to the Ku Klux Klan, delivered the majority opinion.

He was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1937 by the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his majority opinion, Black wrote:

"In this country, it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of the American people to recite."

Third Channel Advised For Britain's TV

By HAIG NICHOLSON

LONDON (Reuters) — A government committee report has recommended that the publicly-owned BBC be allowed to set up Britain's third television channel "as soon as possible."

The report to the government criticized British commercial television, alleging poor broadcasting and declaring it should be reorganized along less advertising-conscious lines.

The 11-member committee—headed by industrialist - public servant Sir Harry Pilkington—said if commercial TV "proved its capacity to realize the purposes of broadcasting" after reorganization, it also should be permitted by the government to provide another channel.

Committee members indicated their main yardsticks for the quality of broadcasting were public service and entertainment, with the accent on the former.

With London and provincial stations, the advertisting - free BBC and commercial TV's Independent Television Authority put out all the "telly" in Britain. Their two channels compete in most areas.

ARE INDEPENDENT

Both BBC and ITA have government-named ruling bodies but operate as independent organizations.

The report, not binding on the government, also contained bad news for advocates of setting up local commercial radio stations. The BBC has a radio broadcasting monopoly in Britain.

The report declared that one service—and one only—of local radio broadcasting should be planned and provided by the BBC with the revenue it gets from governmental licensing of sets.

The report also called for boosting the combined radio-TV annual licence fee to £6 from £4.

Other key recommendations included:

1. Rejection of plans for "pay-as-you-view" TV.
2. Color TV should be introduced as soon as possible.
3. Britain should switch from its present 405-line TV definition system to the 625-line one, the internationally agreed standard in general use throughout Europe.

APPEALS CONVICTION

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Ramon Novarro was sentenced Tuesday to serve 15 days in jail and pay a $250 fine on a misdemeanor drunken driving conviction. Municipal court in suburban Van Nuys granted a 30-day stay of execution pending an appeal. Novarro, 63, was arrested Feb. 20 after his car collided with another.

U.S. Marine Prefers Scott Guards

LONDON (AP)—The crack Scots Guards' newest recruit is a youth from Battle Creek, Mich., who says he refused to join the U.S. Marines "because they aren't smart enough."

David Elder, 17, had listened for years to stories about the Scots Guards. His father was once a lance-sergeant with the regiment.

"He and my uncle, another Scots Guardsman, used to tell me about the regimental history when I was a schoolboy," said David, born in Scotland.

"Before my father died in 1959 he said: 'It's tough when you are training at the Guards Depot—but after that the army is a good life.'"

Two years ago David's mother remarried, to Sgt. William Sabin of the U.S. Marine Corps.

MARINES 'TOO SLOPPY'

"My stepfather wanted me to join the U.S. Marines," said David, "but I told him they were too sloppy for me."

"When he and my mother saw I was keen to join the Scots Guards, they did everything to help me."

Using money left him by his father, David flew to Britain and headed straight for the Scots Guards Depot at Pirbright, near London.

David, who signed up for nine years, said it was worth every cent."

Chinese Defenders Take Red Build-Up Calmly

By FORREST EDWARDS

QUEMOY (AP) — Nationalist Chinese defenders on this bit of gun-bristling rock are taking the big Communist buildup on the China mainland five miles away calmly.

In the last three weeks, a top Nationalist commander reports, the Communists have increased their military might to about 400,000 infantry and more than 300 jet fighters in the mainland crescent that rings three sides of Quemoy.

That is 50 per cent above the pre-June 1 estimates of Communist strength in the area.

The Nationalists have an estimated 70,000 soldiers on the 50 square miles of this island. The only planes here are a few liaison - reconnaissance artillery spotters. Jet defence for Quemoy would have to come from Formosa airbases 150 to 200 miles away or—possibly—from U.S. Navy carriers operating in the shallow Formosa Strait.

U.S. HAS TREATY

U.S. jets would defend Quemoy only if the Communists attacked and then only if President Kennedy decided the attack was the prelude to an attack against Formosa itself. The United States has a mutual defence treaty with the Nationalist government but this does not extend automatically to the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Quemoy knows it can withstand any artillery bombardment the Communists can hurl at it. Its defenders express confidence that they can throw back any invasion attempted with what landing craft the Communists are known to have.

In 1949, the Nationalists virtually wiped out two divisions that tried an invasion. The Reds tried again the following July, and again the Nationalists killed or captured almost all of the invaders. Quemoy stoodd up under an intensive artillery bombardment in 1954, another in June-July 1957, and a six-week artillery pounding in the fall of 1958.

The bulk of Quemoy's defences are carved out of solid rock.

Layman Has No Idea What Inflation Can Do

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

What inflation can do to costs was dramatically illustrated by Henry Borden, president of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co., Ltd., at Tuesday's annual meeting in Toronto.

The company's Ponte Coberta power plant, which is expected to be generating power for the Rio de Janeiro system within a few months, was estimated in 1954 to cost 420,000,000 cruzeiros, exclusive of all dollar expenditure for imported components.

When work started in 1957 the estimate had grown to 965,000,000 cruzeiros; by 1959 it had exceeded 1,000,000,000 cruzeiros; and by now it is estimated at 2,300,000,000 cruzeiros (about $64,066,855 U.S.).

The current exchange rate of the currency is 359 to the U.S. dollar.

Although Brazil's over-all exchange position improved last year, reserves of foreign exchange have deteriorated since the beginning of 1962, Mr. Borden said, and the value of 318 to the U.S. dollar which had been stable for most of 1961, was fixed at the current 359 May 21.

TAKE NEW STEPS

New steps to control inflation, have recently been taken. Compulsory reserve requirements of commercial banks have been doubled; government departments have been requested to cut their budgetted expenditures by 40 per cent; and Congress has approved a bill authorizing the government to raise in 1962 a compulsory loan by a special surcharge on all income tax payments.

On the inflationary side, however, Congress also approved a 40-per-cent wage increase for all government employees — civil and military. In addition the Chamber of Deputies, but not yet the Senate, has approved a measure granting an extra month's salary, payable at Christmas, to all workers other than government employees.

On April 1 a general wage increase of 45 per cent went into effect in Brazilian Traction's operating companies. However, rates have been increased to cover this cost in most cases and, Mr. Borden said, the company is confident that this will be done in any remaining cases. Such rate increases, however, did nothing to improve the basic financial situation of the companies.

In this situation, because of the abolition of preferential rates for interest remittances and certain imports, the dollar income of the company is bound to decline unless substantial rate adjustments are secured.

Antibiotics Killed Germs

CHICAGO (AP) — Verdict: Death from a dose of antibiotic. The victims: Some common germs.

Exactly how did they die? And why do some bacteria become resistant to the same antibiotic so they can still harm humans?

Dr. George Chapman is performing autopsies on germs to get at the answers. He cuts the dead germs into thin slices and studies them under an electron microscope which magnifies oojects 25,000 to 30,000 times their natural size.

Dr. Chapman of Cornell University Medical College in New York City, finds that in two types of bacteria he's examined, the antibiotic gets inside the organism and destroys the nucleus. His pictures show holes inside the germs. Germs not treated with the drug are still intact.

Dr. Chapman described the changes in an exhibit Wednesday to the American Medical Association's annual convention.

A next step is to study strains of germs which resist the same antibiotics that kill their cousins. Do the resistant germs keep the antibiotic from penetrating their skins? Or does the drug get inside and still fail to destroy the nucleus? The germ autopsies in highly magnified pictures promise to give such answers.

By learning how a drug works, or fails to work, it could become possible chemically to design antibiotocs that killed resistant germs. Such resistance to antibiotics is showing up in several kinds of bacteria.

Combined Factors Produce Record Wheat Markets

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — A combination of factors has produced a record world market for wheat, with Canada, the United States and Australia sharing the largest exporting gains.

The U.S. agriculture department Wednesday estimated that in the 12 months ending June 30, world wheat exports climbed to a peak of 1,600,000,000 bushels, compared with the previous high of 1,518,000,000 the previous year.

Canada's share of the market rose to about 360,000,000 bushels from 343,000,000 a year ago, the U.S. share of 710,000,000 from 662,000,000, and Australian exports to 220,000,000 from 183,000,000.

The Canadian and Australian increase, said the department, came mainly in sales to Communist China, hit by poor crops and widespread hunger. A lot of the U.S. wheat was sold abroad for local currencies or under other special deals. Argentina, another big exporter, didn't get into the China market early in the year but now has a consignment, a shipment of 3,700,000 bushels to reach China before the end of June.

U.S. wheat production conditions are considered none too favorable compared with improved crop conditions for Canada.

The department said that based on conditions as of June 1, U.S. wheat production in the crop year starting July 1 would drop to a five-year low of 1,058,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,235,000,000 in the current crop year now coming to an end.

This would reduce the overall stockpile June 30, 1963, to an estimated 1,195,000,000 bushels from 1,345,000,000 this year.

Nevertheless, the United States still will have huge surpluses.

RESORTS TO CONTROLS

With President Kennedy's plans for stiff, long-range volume and acreage controls torpedoed by Congress, the agriculture department is resorting to a proposed continuation of temporary controls for another year.

There would be several changes. The maximum 55,000,000 acreage quota will be continued but all compulsory and voluntary measures invoked last year to trim 1962 production below the 55,000,000 acres will be discontinued.

However, the U.S. national average price support of $2 a bushel will be reduced to $1.82 if the farmers approve the new temporary marketing plan.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman estimated that if the United States produced only in accordance with supply and demand principles, the actual acreage that would be needed in the new crop year starting July 1 would be 10,000,000 acres.

Walter Ulbricht Dismisses West Proposal

EAST BERLIN (Reuters) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht has dismissed as unnecessary the Western proposal for four-power talks on shooting incidents at the Communist-built Berlin border wall.

In a speech to the central committee of the Communist party published in the East German newspapers Wednesday, Ulbricht said "creation of normal relations" in Berlin is the concern of the East German government and the West Berlin city government and not of the Big Four occupying powers.

Ulbright said "if the Western powers want to have negotiations and talks about the West Berlin question or the prevention of shooting then we must begin with talks about the observance of the Potsdam agreement (signed at the end of the Second World War) in West Berlin. That is the first point on the agenda."

The United States, Britain and France sent similar notes to Russia Monday blaming shooting incidents on the East Germans and calling for four-power talks in Berlin to prevent them occurring in future.

The notes were in reply to Soviet notes charging the West with provoking the incidents.

Democratic Party To Seek Seat For T. C. Douglas

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Democratic Party members in Burnaby-Coquitlam paved the way Tuesday night for their national leader, T. C. Douglas, to seek a Commons seat in the constituency.

The riding's NDP Association voted 165-11 to allow Erhart Regier to resign the Commons seat he won in the June 18 federal election to allow Mr. Douglas, defeated in Regina City, to stand in a byelection.

The resolution was passed by 94 per cent of voting members at the meeting. The resolution said Mr. Regier could resign "if and at such time he believes it necessary."

Mr. Regier told a reporter he hoped to seek election in another riding soon but added he expects to tak ea paid job with the NDP at national level until he gets back into the House.

LOST THEIR DEPOSITS

He said Mr. Douglas would probably be elected by acclamation. All the opposition candidates in the constituency in the June 18 election lost their deposits, the nearest trailing Mr. Regier by 10,000 votes.

The membership resolution allows leeway in case another general election is called in a few months. In that case Mr. Regier would not have to resign his seat.

The 46-year-old schoolteacher, first elected in 1953 and re-elected in 1957 and 1958 and at the last election, left for Ottawa Wednesday to check the technicalities involved in resigning when there is no House in session.

However, he said he would not make his decision until after a party caucus in Winnipeg July 12.

It was customary in ancient Egypt to anoint with oils on the head all guests entering the house.

Newlyweds Spend Summer Coast, Will Move to Nelson in August

Baskets of purple lilacs and yellow tulips decked the living room at the home of the bride's parents when Rev. H. R. Whitmore united in marriage at a double ring ceremony Judith Myrna Charlotte Fransen and Mr. John Albert Cross.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fransen of Sunshine Bay and the bridegroom is the only son of Mrs. J. Cross and the late Mr. Cross of New Westminster.

The bride was lovely in a ballerina-length dress of peau de soie in princess style, with side-panelled overskirts of lace. Her chapel-length veil was held with a tiara of seed pearls and sequins and was edged with lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Shiela Fransen, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a deep rose silk organza dress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and shasta daisies.

The groom was suppported by Mr. Thorold Fransen, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fransen chose a mocha-colored jacket dress, set off with pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a turquoise blue sheath of ribboneze silk, and a corsage of white carnations.

While the bridal couple left for Nelson to take pictures, a buffet luncheon was set out. Miss Elsie Anderson, aunt of the groom, and Miss Marnie McMynn of Trail assisted.

At the luncheon, a three- tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, was flanked by low bowls of white and mauve flowers. Supported by swan pillars ,it was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

For going away, the bride donned a blue and white silk sheath and blue bengaline coat ensemble. She had made both her wedding gown and her travelling outfit.

Before leaving for their honeymoon, the bride presented her bouquet to an old family friend, Mrs. J. Ellason of Nelson, who was to celebrate her 45th wedding anniversary three days later.

The couple left to spend their honeymoon at Naramata at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McMynn, whose daughter was room-mate of the bride at U.B.C. They also travelled to Seattle to see the Seattle World's Fair.

The newlyweds then returned to New Westminster where the bride is to continue her summer studies at U.B.C. She will be teacher at the Willow Point School this August.

The groom, who is employed as a carman apprentice with the C.P.R. at Vancouver, will be transferred to the Nelson shops in August.

Out of town guests included Mrs. J. Cross, mother of the groom, and Miss Elsie Anderson, aunt of the groom, of New Westminster. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Don Halverson, David and Mark of Enderby, who stayed with the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Anderson of Willow Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stovra are presently enjoying the Seattle World's Fair.

Mrs. Ingrid Johnson has just returned from a visit with relatives in East Kootenay and her son, Ralph, and family at Ralston, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Zokardonski have purchased the Reno Motel and other property from Mr. and Mrs. H. Stovra and have taken up residence there. Their former home is now occupied by the Eddie Bengart family.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Wolenski have moved their family to Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Uhren and son have purchased the Duval home and are now living there.

Otto Johnson will be employed at Clinton, B.C., and his younger brother, Chris, has left for Edmonton.

Feels Poor Job Has Been Done With Selling Health Profession to Public

VANCOUVER (CP) — The public image of the nurse is years out of date, Mrs. Isobel Macleod, director of nursing at Montreal General Hospital, told the Canadian Nurses' Association Wednesday.

The public loves to read about doctors and nurses and watch Ben Casey M.D. and Dr. Kildare on television but they really haven't an up-to-date picture of what nurses are trying to do in the broad health picture, she said.

"Some still think nurses scrub the floors," said Miss Trenna Hunter, director of public health nursing for metropolitan Vancouver.

She did not feel a good job had been done on selling the health profession to the public.

In a panel on common goals in health service, three doctors and two nurses answered queries from the floor on subjects ranging from drug addiction in the young to comprehensive medicare programs.

Dr. Morley Young of Lamont, Alta., a past president of the Canadian Medical Association, said the association had a committee studying physical fitness in the young, generally with references to alcoholism and drug addiction. He felt juvenile delinquency was greater today than years ago.

The panel had been asked what health services were doing with regard to education of the young concerning use of alcohol, barbiturates and drugs.

Miss Mary Richmond of Montreal said "you can automatize a great many hospital services to reduce costs but you can't automatize nursing."

However, she felt that nurses now were at a crossroads and the old traditional training methods would have to be changed.

Dr. T. F. Rose, a Victoria specialist in internal medicine, told the panel that some doctors may criticize nurses today as "little imitation doctors" or needle-wavers who should go back to bedside nursing.

"The nurse of old may have been a virtuoso of the bedpan but it's necessary to understand what the doctor is trying to do with the patients," he said.

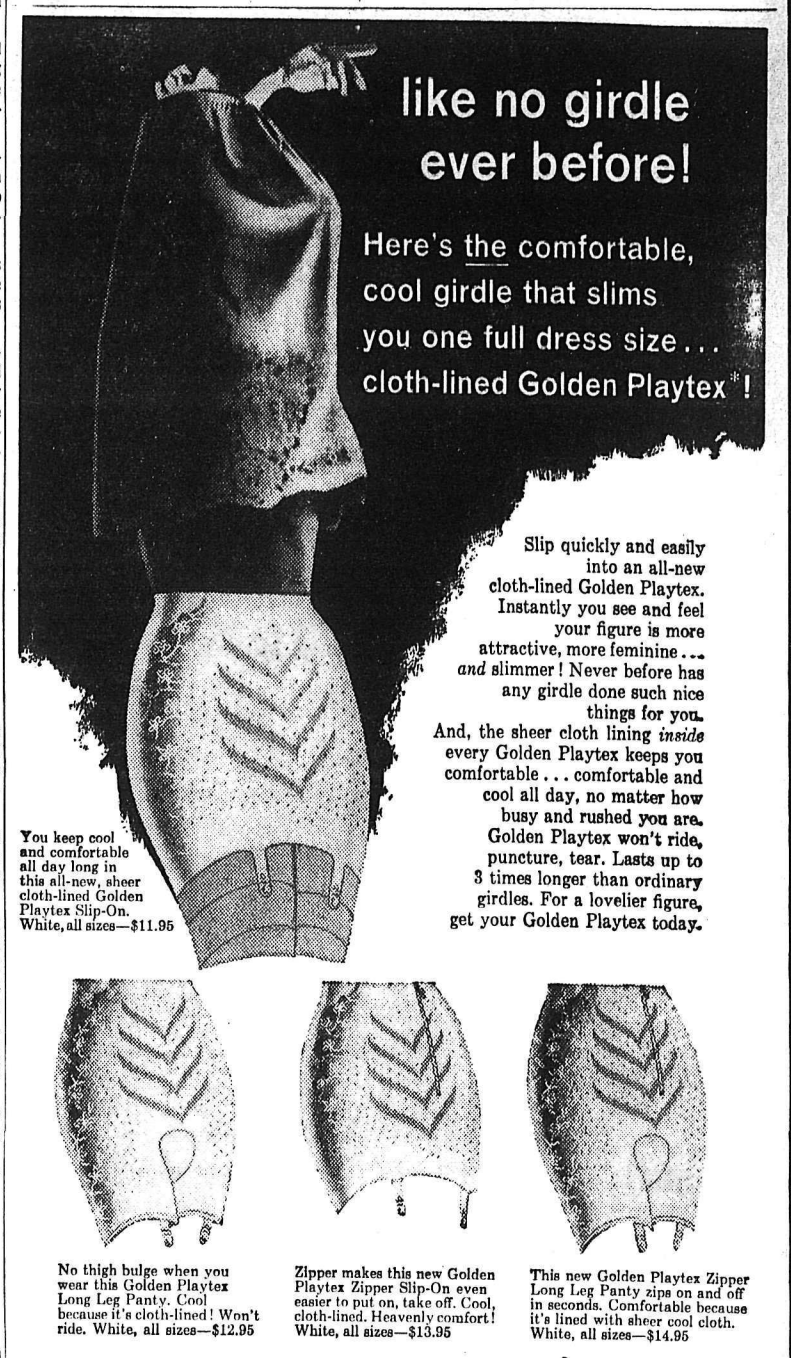
NATAL — A miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. B. Noegi (nee Janice Lynn) was held in the Michel Anglican Church Hall recently.

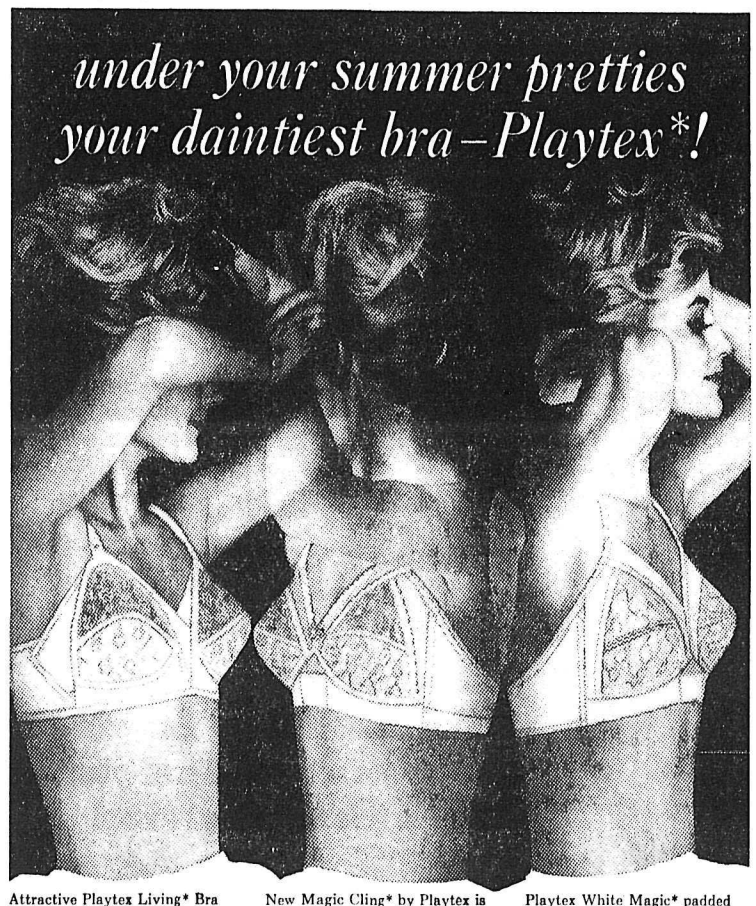
The evening was enjoyed by the many guests attending with games of whist and bingo being played.

In whist, Mrs. J. Jarina won first prize, Mrs. K. Bailey, second and Mrs. J. Galla Jr., third. In bingo, Mrs. R. Hughes took first prizes while Mrs. A. Carney won second and Mrs. L. Ungaro, third.

The honored guest was attended by Miss Catherine Corrigan, and was the recipient of many gifts.

The evening came to a close with lunch being served by the hostesses.





Couple Caught in Snarl With Vacuum Purchase . . .

Finance Companies Have Knuckles Rapped by Judge

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — County court judge Bruce Fraser Monday rapped finance companies for rtying to hide behind the law.

The case concerned purchase of a vacuum cleaner for $248, which Judge Fraser noted in his judgment was apparently worth $70.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson, then living at Hope, bought the machine two years ago from a door-to-door salesman for $248, plus $46 interest and a $3 registration fee.

The next day they decided against buying it and returned the vacuum to Compact Sales. But within a month of the first payment being due the Wilsons received a dunning letter from the finance company.

They wrote back to the finance company and explained. Rand Investments replied stating they had nothing to do with the Wilsons' deal with the sales company and that payments must be made.

The finance company suggested the couple ask the sales company for the vacuum back.

The Wilsons refused to pay and Rand sued.

Judge Fraser said the Bills of Exchange Act, on which the action was based, is being used for purposes never intended.

"Parliament should consider a simple amendment which would remedy the situation I have before me," he said.

"Similar cases are coming more and more before the courts. Finance companies attempt to hide behind the Bills of Exchange Act, he said.

Judge Fraser quoted past legal rulings which said all parties must act in good faith in a business transaction.

He said in this case the sales agency wound up with the cleaner and the $247 paid by the finance company for the contract.

The Wilsons had nothing but were expected to pay the finance company and also court costs of the legal action.

Legion LA Plans Picnic With Branch

NEW DENVER — The Ladies Auxiliary to The Royal Canadian Legion, New Denver - Silverton Branch, discussed arrangements for the coming joint picnic with Branch members at a recent meeting.

Sask. Doctors Still At Loggerheads

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan's doctors and the provincial government, were still at loggerheads Wednesday on the question of medical care insurance.

Marathon talks between the two groups were capped Tuesday night when both sides issued statements—the CCF government offering certain concessions, the doctors rejecting government proposals.

The doctors again asked the government to delay implementation of the plan, set for next Sunday. Premier Woodrow Lloyd said the government will not consider such a move.

Efforts to mediate the controversy have stalled over the July 1 implementation date, said Dr. Beatty Wallis of Prince Albert, a member of the governing council of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The council said it cannot recommend to its members that they make any change in plans to provide only emergency medical service after July 1.

PROPOSAL NOT ENOUGH'

The doctors said a proposal by Mr. Lloyd that a public statement on his proposals would be sufficient to allow doctors to practise privately outside the act is not enough.

The college said "it is obvious that it is virtually impossible for doctors to practise outside the present act. This has been the consensus of our legal advisers and their opinions were confirmed last evening by the cabinet."

The college said recent meetings with the cabinet were "frustrating." It said the cabinet "rejected out of hand every suggestion which the college made."

Mr. Lloyd said concessions to allow doctors to practise outside the act, and deletion or repeal of sections objected to were "beyond any which could have been expeected to us."

If the compulsory, prepaid plan goes into effect Sunday, doctors have said offices will be closed and only emergency service will be provided for the province's 925,000 residents at 29 hospitals in Saskatchewan.

OBJECT TO 'CONTROL'

The doctors object to what they term government control of the medical profession. They have urged extension of aid through government contributions to existing privately-operated medical insurance plans.

At a press conference Tuesday night Dr. Wallis said the premier and the doctors could not reach common ground.

"He (the premier) has not indicated that our meaning of practising outside the act and the government's are the same thing. The premier is circumventing the act. If we went ahead and practised, any citizen could take us to court."

The college statement said any regulation which would permit doctors to practise outside the act "would be contrary to the existing legislation." It said the regulation could be changed overnight by an order-in-council or disappear if challenged in court.

The future of the medical profession would rest "on the whim of the cabinet."

The college urged immediate action to remove "a bad act" from the statute books or alteration "to make it a just act."

Japan's Steel Exports To Be Unchanged

TOKYO (AP)—A spokesman for a major steel producer said Wednesday Japanese steel exports to Canada and elsewhere will not be affected by scheduled price cuts July 1 on the domestic market.

Tetsuo Abe, export section chief of Nippon Kokan Steel Tube Co., said export prices will not be cut.

The Japenese steel cut has been prompted by the tight money policy of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's government and will benefit Japanese industries only, he said.

Abe said he was bewildered by a report from Vancouver quoting Nippon Kokan as declaring that the price cuts were made to remain competitive in Canada despite tariff increases there.

He said his firm has no branches in Canada, none of its officials is presently there and consequently Nippon Kokan could not have made such a statement in Canada.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Friday, June 29

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — The tide of battle swings to and fro. Help yourself and others about you. Aries excels herein. Others are watching their interests avidly; so should you, in detailed, conscientious fashion.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Venus excellently placed. Tailor remarks and moves sagely to fit occasion. If stresses rise, ease off sufficiently to think and judge more clearly.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Good aspects should cheer you who are advancing creditably toward rightly predetermined goals. Prayer and patience a potent combination.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Do not panic if things seem wrong, out of hand. That's when a serene, calm mind and level-headed analysis are important. Never lose perspective, humor or compassion.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Sun's rays smile benignly; your efforts can shine too. Subscribe to activities that portray your true way of life, depict favorably superior methods and top-flight growing endeavors.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Study your routine. Align duties in order of true precedence. Knit together talents and opportunities to satisfy demands. In all, keep within the scope of your ability.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Venus munificent. Take advantage of the situation. Don't expect the unreasonable in returns, however. Avoid extremes; be happy. No need to rush; things can work out surprisingly well.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — You are not the type to give up. And others depend upon you, your admonitions. Family, loved ones lean for advice, encouragement. Be that gracious host as always, but all within sane health limits.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — You should be, basically are, thankful for your privileges. Serve well in Your best capacity. Never sell good will short. Art sponsored.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Unlike some planets, yours is now in benign aspect. So be patient with others. Precise observation, painstaking attention to "little" tasks will help you. Clarify "cloudy" areas.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — The failure of a procedure usually lies in the analyzing, long before execution of it occurs. This is true in both home and business affairs. Show your inborn skill.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Again stressed: building a store of knowledge before the imagination is given carte blanche. Refer to knowing heads; appreciation and surer structure is in the making.

YOU BORN TODAY are often eloquent orators, tenacious, deep as the ocean, and can be as changing in mood. Develop your adaptability. It, together with your wit and foresight, will lead you to unusual success. Cancer reaches the heart of things. You can teach litle ones easily — you understand their sometimes fearful, often bewildered thoughts. You can assist anyone out of difficulty but may find your own feelings so topsy-turvy at times that You need comfort and counsel. Birthdate of: Peter Paul Rubens, Flemish painter; G. W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal.

Two-Member Tangle Not Unravelled

HALIFAX (CP) — Official vote-counting in the two-member Halifax riding ended Tuesday with Progressive Conservatives declared winners. But there was still a possibility of a recount.

R. J. McCleave with 42,929 votes and Edmund Morris with 41,789 won the seats they held in the last Parliament. Liberals J. E. Lloyd with 41,445 votes and Gerald Regan with 40,601 were the closest opponents.

A spokesman for Mr. Lloyd, mayor of Halifax, said application for a recount will be "carefully considered."

With votes from election day and the service vote counted, Mr. Morris had a 545-vote plurality over Mr. Lloyd. Tuesday's count cut 13 votes from Mr. Lloyd and 214 from Mr. Morris to reduce the margin between them to 344.

The Book Corner

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two paperback books on Canadian economic, political and social topics have been issued by a fledgling Ottawa publishing concern, Policy Press.

One, by T. W. (Tom) Kent, former newspaper editor who now is special consultant to Lester B. Pearson, is called Social Policy for Canada.

It reproduces in book form a detailed paper prepared by Kent for the Liberal "thinkers conference" at Kingston, Ont., in 1960.

The other, Canada Can Thrive, is by Raymond Spencer Rodgers, 27 - year - old Ottawa free - lance broadcaster and founder of Policy Press.

Each book — the first the young publisher has offered to the public—runs 80 pages.

Kent, once assistant editor of the London Economist and later editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, argues that it is useless to struggle against trends at work in society.

EMERGING NATIONS

His basic proposal is that these trends—rising collective consumption, larger - scale organization, democratic assertiveness at home and the "assertive emergence" of new nations abroad—be exploited as much as possible to better the human condition.

Rodgers, who has a doctorate in public law from Columbia University and was Ottawa editor of Saturday Night for two years, starts his book with this arresting statement:

"The next five to 10 years may decide either Canada's decline or the foundation of a centralized federation which will last into history. Not only is Canada at the cross-roads; she is actually now taking the turn towards disintegration."

The trend can be reversed, he says, given vigorous leadership and greater centralization in various fields.

His most radical suggestion is for an integrated transport system, run by a Crown corporation, that would provide cheap, subsidized service for Canadian firms.

Two books on the Jews of Canada—who they are and what they have done in various fields — will be ready for distribution late this summer. Printed by Mortimer Limited of Ottawa, they are Who's Who in Canadian Jewry and The Jewish Directory of Canada.

James Fenimore Cooper, great-grandson of the famous American novelist, has always had a fascination for the Arctic, making many trips to the Polar Sea.

Island of the Lost (Longmans, Green) is in part the story of King William Island and how it remained undiscovered so long when explorers searching for the Northwest Passage were regularly passing nearby.

The story of the desolate island is interesting but not nearly as absorbing as Cooper's discussion of the expeditions of such men as James Clark Ross, George Back and Thomas Simpson.

Most fascinating of all was the Franklin expedition of 1946. Sir John Franklin left England with two ships, and as much polar experience as anyone of his day, to search for the passage to the Orient.

His ships were equipped to survive three Arctic winters, with varied diet, proper clothing, fuel and enough diversion to keep morale from lagging. But nature played a weird trick and the ships were frozen in for the whole three years.

Franklin had died, meanwhile, and his second-in-command decided to strike out overland, following sketchy and inaccurate maps. The decision was fatal to everyone. Years later the story was pieced together by subsequent explorers who found relics and talked to Eskimos who could recall the white men dropping in their tracks from scurvy and malnutrition.

BUCKET TROUBLE—Eleven-year-old John Ymaya of San Diego, Calif., was stuck in an empty, five-gallon paint bucket for an hour and a half before being "rescued." Application of butter and glycerine failed to free him, so firemen used a bolt cutter and metal snippers to cut him loose.

VOTE IN REFERENDUM

PARIS (Reuters)—Some 180,000 European and Moslem Algerians living in France cast absentee postal votes Tuesday in Algeria's self-determination referendum. Voting in Algeria takes place next Sunday and and Monday.

Pirate Broadcast Halts Scorched Earth Campaign

ALGIERS (Reuters) — A Secret Army Organization pirate broadcast in Oran Tuesday night ordered a halt to the terrorist organization's "scorched earth" campaign in the western port city, it was announced from Rocher Noir, the Algerian government centre.

As a result of the order, Christian Fouchet, French high commissioner in Algeria, and Gen. Michel Fourquet, armed forces commander-in-chief, left here by air for Oran Wednesday morning.

The Secret Army in Oran has been the most uncompromising of all the European units in Algeria. It had refused to follow a cease-fire agreed upon June 17 by the Secret Army in Algiers and Moslem nationalists.

The decision to halt the "scorched earth" campaign came only four days before a self - determination referendum in Algeria that is certain to lead to Moslem - dominated independence.

GIVES AN ORDER

In the pirate broadcast, Secret Army leader Paul Dufour said:

"I give you the order to interrupt the destructions which have been prepared and which could aggravate the calvary of those who are awaiting with anguish the moment to embark."

The "moment to embark" referred to the current mass exodus of Europeans from Algeria in the face of the independence vote.

The "scorched earth" campaign in Oran reached a climax during the weekend when the Secret Army set fire to the port's oil installations.

In an effort to stem the exodus the Algerian provisional executive, comprised of both Moslems and Europeans, named a commission Tuesday night to reorganize the Oran and Algiers administrations with the aim of ensuring that Europeans or Moslems will head city districts where they are in a majority.

National Income Raised by Labor Income, More Spending

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's national output, pushed mainly by sharp increases in consumer spending and labor income, rose to an annual rate of $38,616,000,000 in the first quarter of the year, up 1.8 per cent from the last quarter of 1961.

This estimate of the gross national product, made Wednesday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, compares with an annual rate of $37,932,000,000 for October-December of last year.

The bureau noted, however, that about half of the increased resulted from the statistical assumption that there will be a normal harvest in 1962, which would mean some $360,000,000 more than last year when there was a poor grain crop.

Ruling out farm output, the rest of the economy chalked up a gain from the fourth quarter of just under one per cent in gross national product — total value of goods and services produced.

Higher prices, mainly for capital goods, accounted for about one-quarter of the gain in total output, leaving a gain in volume of 1.4 per cent. Expressed in constant 1957 dollars, the GNP was estimated at $35,980,000,000 compared with $35,472,000,000 in the last quarter of 1961.

The first - quarter GNP, adjusted to discount seasonal fluctuations, was 8.6 per cent higher than the $35,560,000,000 rate in the first quarter of last year — low point of the business recession.

In his April 10 budget, Finance Minister Fleming forecast an over-all rise of seven per cent in GNP for 1962, which would push national output for the year as a whole to $39,423,000,000 from last year's $36,844,000,000.

The report said the major factor behind the first-quarter expansion was consumer spending, which rose to an annual rate of $25,312,000,000 in the first quarter from $24,600,000,000 in the previous quarter. The 2.9-per-cent rise was "one of the largest quarterly gains in recent years." There were "only fractional price changes" in the things consumers bought.

Behind the spending rise was an increase of nearly two per cent in labor income to $19,692,000,000 from the previous quarterly rate of $19,328,000,000.

SAVINGS DECLINE

Total personal income — including an assumed rise in farmers' income — advanced 2.1 per cent to $29,404,000,000 from $28,792,000,000. But with direct taxes as well as consumer spending higher, the rate of personal savings declined.

Government expenditures and home building provided the only other elements of support behind the first-quarter expansion in the economy.

Spending by all governments advanced 1.5 per cent to an annual rate of $7,496,000,000 and residential construction rose 4.9 per cent to a rate of $1,548,000,000.

A larger share of the economy's demands were met by imports. Imports of goods and services rose 1.9 per cent to an annual rate of $8,976,000,000 from $8,812,000,000, with most of the gain in payments for for tourist expenditures, interest and dividends and freight costs. Exports of goods and services fell 1.6 per cent to $7,832,000,000 from $7,956,000,000 and the balance of payments deficit increased.

PROFITS DIP

Corporation profits, which had risen steeply last year, dipped to $3,768,000,000 from the rate of $3,844,000,000 in the last quarter of 1961.

The report said the first-quarter gain in actual production was accompanied by a rise of nearly one per cent in total employment — discounting seasonal factors — and a rise of nearly two per cent in non-farm employment.

The labor force increased by half of one per cent and the unemployment rate, seasonally adjusted, fell to 5.9 per cent of the labor force from 6.3 per cent in the last quarter of 1961.

The index of industrial production rose 1.4 per cent during the first quarter to a record high of 182. Since the first quarter of 1961 there has been a steady increase totalling almost 10 per cent.

Manufacturing output showed a quarterly gain of more than one per cent—mostly in non-durable goods — while mining production rose 1.5 per cent, utilities three per cent and forestry five per cent.

Missing Baby Found in Negro Home

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A baby boy who disappeared from the nursery at Lockwood Hospital Friday, just 3 hours after he was born, was found Tuesday.

A Negro woman found with the baby was held by police without charge.

The Negro child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alquit Palm, was found at the woman's home—apparently well taken care of. She denied taking the child and claimed he is hers.

Policewoman Eddye Hamilton said a doctor was called Tuesday morning by a man whose wife told him she had had a baby. The husband was curious because it all happened so quickly and called the doctor to make an appointment for his wife.

When she did not show up, the doctor became suspicious because of the publicity about the missing Palm baby. He called police.

Miss Hamilton and Lieut. Arthur Peake went to the woman's house and found the child.

Member For Halton Requests Re-count

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Alexander Best, former Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Halton, said Tuesday night he will seek a recount of ballots cast in the riding in the June 18 federal election.

Mr. Best won the seat by 66 votes in the civilian count but lost by 32 votes on the basis of a strong service vote for Liberal Dr. Harry Haarley.

Mr. Best said there were discrepancies in the returning officer's figures.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
—by Byrne Hope Sanders

TORONTO, June 28th — Why wish you were there . . . when you could be? If you are hesitating about the cost of that "dream" vacation, there's good news for you at the BANK OF MONTREAL. The B of M Family Finance Plan can supply the ready cash to take the worry out of your vacation plans. A low-cost, life-insured FFP loan is the perfect way to get the things you want now and pay for them later by convenient monthly instalments suited to your pocketbook. So don't hesitate a minute—see the people at your neighbourhood B of M branch, and you'll be on your way come vacation time.

A DELICIOUS DISH FOR A RAINY SUMMER DAY . . . in fact, good all year 'round! . . . piping hot German Kraut made with the best-tasting sauerkraut I know . . . LIBBY'S SAUERKRAUT. Here's how:

German Kraut

1 28-oz. can Libby's Sauerkraut, 2 tbsps. bacon fat or butter, 2 cups boiling water, 1 tbsp. caraway seeds, 1 large potato. Place sauerkraut, water, bacon fat and caraway seeds in saucepan. Boil rapidly until most of the water is evaporated. Peel and grate potato and add to sauerkraut. Cover and simmer gently until potato is cooked. 6 servings.

Easy to cook, wonderfully versatile, Libby's Sauerkraut is low in cost and high in appetite appeal . . . no wonder 9 out of 10 cans of sauerkraut sold in Canada come from Libby's modern kitchens!

EVEN ON THE HOTTEST 'DOG DAYS' of summer, you'll feel much less like 'barking' after the soothing luxury of a CALGON BOUQUET bath, an inexpensive luxury, I might add! You see, Calgon Bouquet is the delightful bath powder that makes your bath-water silky-soft . . . and both water and soap rinse away cleanly . . . no sticky feeling . . . no bathtub 'ring'. So take my tip . . . when the heat threatens to get you down, do try the morale-booster of a bath scented and conditioned with Calgon Bouquet. You'll feel fresh-as-a-daisy and you'll look that way, too.

City Curlers Among Bonspiel Favorites

Two Nelson curling rinks which have carried Queen City colors to the provincial playdowns, will lead the contingent of Nelson rinks into the 18th annual Midsummer Bonspiel.

The two foursomes are Ron Nash's quartet and Rod Carmichael's rink.

Nash, who advanced to the fours in the 1952 B.C. playdowns, will ice his original squad of Milt Ryalls, Don Porteous and Don Benedetti. Carmichael, originally of Nelson and now out of Alberni, matched Tony Folk of White Rock in the B.C. finals before going down to defeat. He will have the same team, with Rudy Boates, George Barefoot and Herb Miller.

The pair of foursomes represent a small fraction of the 51 men's and 16 women's rinks entered in the competitions, which have attracted entries from Vancouver Island east to Seaforth, Ontario. Of the 67 rinks, 10 have Nelsonites at the helm.

ICE READY

Ice, which will double as a curling surface and a coolant, lies ready in the curling rink and hockey arena for the influx of bonspielers, who will begin battle at 8 a.m. Monday.

Entrants in the annual classic will have an opportunity to vie for seven championships, four men's and three women's, with the men's and women's world championships the pick of the crop.

At the final meeting before the week-long competitions Wednesday night, the executive finalized and confirmed plans.

Earl Nuyens, representing the Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce, ironed out the lone kink of the program. He explained the Jaycees' part in the bonspiel, with respect to their Thursday night's program. He pointed out the organization will sponsor a City Band concert, twist concert and climaxed by a hayride through Nelson.

Other highlights of the program are: Lions' Baker Street pancake breakfast, bonspiel mixer, giant square dance and midsummer hockey game between Allan Cup champion Trail Smoke Eaters and Nelson Maple Leafs.

Sandlot Scoreboard

Pat Severyn's single gave Dodgers a close 2-1 victory over Indians in a Shrimp League match Tuesday.

Bob Bobroske singled in Indians lone tally.

In a second shrimp match Red Sox blanked Yanks 4-0.

D. Gare hit a double for the Sox while Gerry Burdenie had the lone Yank hit.

Final standings:

Dodgers	10	2	0	20
Yanks	7	4	1	15
Red Sox	3	7	2	8
Indians	2	9	1	5

Play-For-Fun Softball

North Shore erupted for five runs in the seventh inning to defeat Homelite 5-4 Tuesday.

J. Misuraca, B. Lusk and B. Algar clouted home runs for the losers, while J. McDonald had a circuit drive for North Shore.

North Shore	000 010 5—6 7
Homelite	010 210 0—4 7

Grey-Palm whitewashed Royals 16-8 in a second B division match. R. Sutherland and T. Skeleton had home runs for the winners, while W. Cherenko and C. Symmonds smashed four-baggers for the Royals.

Favorites Advance In B.C. Women's Golf

VANCOUVER (CP) — The pre-tournament favorites gained berths in the semi-finals of the B.C. Women's Close Golf tournament here Wednesday.

Defending champion Janet McWha of Vancouver defeated Mrs. Lauris Innes of Vancouver 4 and 3. Gayle Hitchen of Vancouver defeated Marilyn Palmer, 15-year-old Kamloops school girl, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Margaret Todd of Victoria took the measure of Mrs. Mariom Garnet of Vancouver 2 and 1 and Mrs. Shirley Naysmith of Victoria defeated Mrs. Margaret Hutton-Potts of Vancouver 6 and 5.

Matched in today's semi-final are Miss McWha and Miss Hitchens and Mrs. Naysmith against Mrs. Todd.

The Hitchen-Palmer match held most of the attention Wednesday. Marilyn, youngest in the tournament, was plagued with putter troubles on the front nine but settled down coming home.

Gayle, a veteran Vancouver junior, led five up on the front nine with crisp drives and steady putts.

In the Todd-Garnet match, Mrs. Garnet forged an early lead and led 1-up at the turn. Mrs. Todd recovered on the back nine, mainly on the strength of fine putting.

Today's Hitchen-McWha semi-final promises to be the major game of the four-day tournament which winds up at the Richmond Golf and Country Club Friday with a 36-hole final.

Kinsmen Shellac Lions 11 - 3

Kinsmen's 11-3 victory over Lions ended the Little League season Wednesday night at Queen Elizabeth Park.

The game meant nothing to the league standings as Lions clinched the final playoff spot last week. Playoffs will be held in September.

Jim Shankland hurled the distance for Lions, scattering four hits, as he fanned nine, walked five and hit one batter. He gave up extra base blows to Terry McGovern, a home run, and John Gare, a double.

D. Johnston and McGovern split Kinsmen's pitching chores, allowing three hits and three walks, while striking out seven. McGovern pitched perfect ball in his three-inning stint.

D. Cherenko clouted a two-bagger for Lions.

Davis Brothers Keep Dodgers Close to Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Yankees are starting to make the rumbling sounds of a pin-striped pennant-conscious team. Using the New York trade mark of old, the big inning, they erupted for four runs in the second inning and scored a 7-3 win over Minnesota Twins Wednesday afternoon at New York.

The victory, paired with Cleveland's 4-0 loss at the hands of Detroit Tigers, pulled the Yanks to within two games of the Tribe, and only a game back of Minnesota.

Even so, the surprising Los Angeles Angels kept pace with the Yanks, downing Boston 3-0 to remain in a tie with New York in third place in the American League race.

In the Yankee Stadium clash, Roger Maris' 13th home run and a homer and a two-run single by shortstop Tom Tresh were the big blows for the home club.

SOX STIFLED

At Boston, Don Lee, with ninth inning help from Dean Chance, stifled the Red Sox on five hits.

In the National League at Chicago, Larry Jackson yielded just four singles — one an infield scratch and another a wind blown pop fly — as he handed the Cubs their ninth shutout loss of the season in pitching St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Cards swept the twin-bill by taking the second game 8-0 behind the spectacular pitching of southpaw Ray Sadecki.

Sadecki posted his fifth win in nine decisions via a five-hitter.

At San Francisco, catcher Ed Bailey walloped his second key home run against his former teammates in as many games and his two-run blast sent San Francisco to a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati.

The 390-foot smash over the right field fence in the sixth inning broke a 3-3 deadlock and maintained the Giant's National League lead.

In American League night action at Baltimore two home runs by Jim Gentile and a strong pitching performance by Robin Roberts gave the Orioles a 3-1 victory over Chicago White Sox.

Roberts, staging a strong comeback, took his fourth straight victory of the season. He yielded five hits.

In the National at Pittsburgh, Bob Skinner's third single of the night scored Bill Virdon with the winning run in the tenth inning and gave the Pirates a 6-5 victory over New York Mets.

Skinner's hit over third base with one out came off Mets' starter Roger Craig after Virdon had collected his fourth single of the game and Dick Groat had walked.

Richie Ashburn rapped the 2500th hit of his 15-year major league career in the fourth inning — a single off Friend. He singled again in the seventh, scoring on Thomas' homer.

At Washington, the Kansas City Athletics won their third straight, defeating the Senators 4-1.

At Los Angeles, Willie Davis knocked in two runs with a homer and Tommy Davis singled in two more as the Dodgers ended a three-game losing streak with a 6-2 victory over Milwaukee.

Chartered Banks to introduce high-speed electronic cheque handling:

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 : ⑈ ⑉ ⑆

These odd-looking digits and symbols will soon become quite common in many parts of Canada.

When imprinted on the bottom of a bank cheque in magnetic ink, they form a language that an electronic machine will read as it performs various sorting operations in the cheque-clearing process.

This new method, called MICR—Magnetic Ink Character Recognition—is still another step in the long evolution of banking from the days of the quill pen and hand-posted ledgers. It makes possible a faster, more accurate service to customers. It will not replace people; it will assist them, freeing them for more interesting tasks in banking.

You will make out and use cheques as you do now. Corporation and other bank customers who print their own cheques will, however, need to be sure these conform to the new sizes and specifications required for electronic processing.

The new electronic cheque sorters will be located at first in centres handling large volumes of cheques.

Some of the new-style cheques are in use now—you may have seen them. Within the next few months, the volume of these encoded cheques will increase, some printed by the banks, others by bank customers.

When MICR is in full operation the chartered banks will be better equipped than ever to perform the series of operations needed to clear each of the one billion cheques that Canadians write each year.

McKinley Upset By Hann in Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (CP) — Mike Hann, a little known English schoolmaster, eliminated last year's Wimbledon finalist, Chuck McKinley of the United States in the men's singles of the all-England tennis championships Wednesday.

McKinley, who was the top-seeded American in the men's singles with a fifth-place rating, bowed to the 23-year-old Briton 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Hann is ranked seventh among British players but was unseeded in the tournament. He is on special leave from his schoolmaster's job.

Top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia breezed into the third round with a 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, win over Tony Pickard of Britain.

But second-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia, the U.S. champion, had to come from behind to top West German Davis Cupper Wilhelm Bungert 13-15, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

BOTHERED BY MUSCLE

McKinley told reporters after his loss that he was bothered during the match with a pulled muscle in his right arm. He said he feared it was the start of a "tennis elbow" condition.

But the crewcut American added: "Mike was too good and that's all there was to it."

Other seeded players' results:

CHUCK McKINLEY
. . . tennis upset

Neale Fraser beat fellow Australian Geoff Pares 6-0, 6-3, 6-4.

Ramanathan Krishnan of India defeat Keith Diepraam of South Africa 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

Manuel Santana of Spain, scored a 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 win over Thomas Lejus of Russia.

MARATHON SET

Nicola Peitrangeli of Italy outlasted Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia in a marathon first set and went on to win 24-22, 6-2, 6-4.

Australian Bob Hewitt beat J. L. Ulrich of Denmark 9-7, 6-1, 5-7, 1-6, 6-4.

Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of the U.S. moved into the third round by defeating Pat Hird of Britain, 8-6, 6-4.

NHL Trade Terms Puzzle Puck Fans

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — Hockey fans undoubtedly follow closely the National Hockey League's draft but most are vague about its operations and the ramifications — such as loans, waivers and player status — that may crop up the following season.

As at the recent NHL annual meeting in Montreal, there are two distinct drafts. First, NHL clubs draft players from two minor leagues — the Western Hockey League and the Eastern Professional Hockey League. The players usually are owned by parent NHL clubs.

The following day NHL clubs draft from each other directly.

The draft price in each instance is $20,000. No protected list is involved in the first draft. In the intra - league draft each NHL club can protect 18 players and two goalies against the draft.

When the NHL draft ends, protected lists are automatically frozen for the following season.

STARS PROTECTED

In the first draft, clubs may be looking to increase their depth and also, in many instances, to strengthen their farms.

In the second draft, they probably are looking more for balance. They won't be able to grab big stars but they may be able to fill weak spots with acceptable talent — sometimes veterans — who for some reason were left unprotected. Again, they may be seeking farm - club strength or possibly player - coach material.

When an unprotected player is taken at the intra - league draft he automatically goes on the claiming club's protected list. If the list is already at the maximum, the club must name a player it is dropping.

This process sometimes leads to a chain reaction.

A player drafted from the minors the first day can be drafted the second day unless he has been put on the first drafting club's protected list. Otherwise, unless claimed, he is considered to have been waived automatically. He can be loaned to the minors next season without necessity of waiver, but if he is on the protected list waivers must be asked.

WAIVERS VARY

The waiver system applies in other instances as well. There are two forms: with right of recall of the waiver offer and without right of recall. The claiming club pays $20,000, same as the draft price.

Immediately the draft ends players of unprotected status are considered to have been waived without right of waiver recall.

An unprotected holdover can be farmed out next season at any time provided he has played in no more than five games. Waivers must be asked if he has played in more. Either type of waiver can be used.

Here are various player-status situations:

First time ever on a protected list: He can be sent to the minors any number of times without waiver. He must remain at least two weeks each time unless called back under emergency regulations.

First year in pro hockey and unprotected: Waivers must be asked if the player has played in six or more games and is to be sent down.

GOALIES EXEMPTED

Protected player: Waiver without right of recall of the offer is necessary to lend him to the minors. In effect the club asks to remove him from its protected list. He has unprotected status with the claiming club but can't be sent down by it except through the waiver process.

Goalies: Any goalie, whether protected or not, may be loaned to a minor club without being put on waiver.

Player trades: If two protected players are swapped each is considered unprotected with his new club but waiver is necessary to send him down.

When waivers are asked, clubs have 72 hours in which to file claims. If several file, the player goes to the club lowest in the standing at the time the waiver was sent out from NHL headquarters.

Amateurs can play in a maximum of five games without hurting their amateur status.

The WHL and the EPHL can trade and lend among themselves and also with the American Hockey League, which does not participate in either draft.

TWINS MAKING TROUBLE IN A. L.—Leading the way for the Minnesota Twins this year are soph infielder Rich Rollins, who has been topping the league in hitting; rookie pitcher Joe Bonikowski; pitchers Ray Katt and Camilo Pascual, and such potent bat men as Lenny Green, Bob Allison, Harmon Killebrew and Earl Battey. The manager, Sam Mele, former American League outfielder-first baseman, took over the Twins just a year ago.

Kramer Retires From Tennis

NEW YORK (CP) — Jack Kramer, boss of pro tennis for years, says he plans to get out of the professional game "for good" this fall.

In an article in Sports Illustrated, he says he plans to turn over his professional tour operations to the International Professional Tennis Players' Association about next November.

The reason: Because, says Kramer: "As long as I'm around, amateur officials all over the world can use me as their excuse for not going ahead with open tennis."

Until now, he says, amateur officials have opposed open tennis on the grounds that it would fall under Kramer's control.

"As a matter of fact, my intention has never been to take control of tennis, but simply to bring both factions of it together for their mutual benefit."

Kramer says there are other reasons too for his decision to pull out of the pro game.

"One is the knowledge that the public will no longer pay to see the amateur champions when I add them to my troupe.

"I can't really blame them. Today's amateur champions, so-called, are simply not worth the money. Without the benefit of years of toughening competition, they are no match for the established pros and each year's new crop looks weaker and weaker.

MAKE BIG MONEY

"Another trouble lies in the fact that the best amateurs are already making more money out of tennis than I could afford to pay them as pros."

"Professionals devoting their whole time to a game can reach a level of skill impossible to amateurs under the present set-up.

"The professional game provides the kind of competition and heroes a sport needs to excite youngsters and make them want to participate themselves.

Kelly To Have Head Start For House of Commons Seat

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Red Kelly, a soft - spoken, retiring person, probably will feel right at home when he takes his seat in the House of Commons later this year.

"He'll have no trouble getting acclimatized," says Bucko McDonald.

"Being a hockey player gives you a wonderful advantage in Parliament," says Howie Meeker.

Both of these chaps should know. Bucko spent 12 years as an MP — from 1945 until he retired in 1957 — following a big league hockey career with Toronto Maple Leafs where he built a reputation as a hard-hitting defenceman.

Meeker spent four years in the House while still playing with the Leafs. Now Kelly, a 15 - year National Hockey league veteran, will try to mix politics with hockey.

The nifty, play - making centre with the Leafs won the York West riding as a Liberal in the June 18 federal election and since then people have been aiming well-meaning advice at him.

MPs ARE FRIENDLY

"I certainly don't want to say whether he can mix politics and hockey," McDonald said from his Sundridge, Ont. home. "I never had to do it, so I wouldn't know. I went into politics after my hockey days were over.

"One thing is pretty certain though: He'll get along fine in the House. Politicians follow hockey just as any other persons do and Red probably will find that fellows from both sides of the house will talk to him. They were nice to me, regardless what side of the House they were on."

Bucko was first elected as a Liberal in the Parry Sound constituency in 1945, was re-elected for Parry Sound - Muskoka in 1949 and again in 1953. He now is director of hockey in his home town and coaches the intermediate team.

Meeker, sports editor of a radio and television station in St. John's, Nfld., represented Waterloo South as a Progressive Conservative from 1953 to 1957. As an MP he also played left wing for the Leafs.

'WONDERFUL IN'

His advice to Kelly:

"You can't do justice to either job."

"I never got in top condition as a hockey player, wasn't able to spend enough time in Ottawa to do the work of the riding, and neglected my family," he told reporters in St. John's.

"Red could do it for a year, but I expect he will have 25 personal problems a week from his district which he will have to look after and which will require a lot of leg work."

But, added Meeker, who later coached the Leafs; playing hockey was a "wonderful in" as a politician.

"After a big game, a cabinet minister would look over at me, then come over and say 'you couldn't beat the Rocket (Maurice Richard) last night, eh' and spend a few minutes reviewing the game."

Meeker was on the opposition side of the house, just as Kelly now is.

Meeker found that "all the cabinet ministers want to talk to you, which gives you an advantage that most private members just don't get."

Larkspur Will Run In Irish Sweeps

DUBLIN (AP) — Irish trainer Vincent O'Brien put the American-owned Larkspur through a hard workout Wednesday and said afterwards that the 11-4 favorite is now a certain runner in the Irish Sweeps Derby at the Curragh Saturday.

Larkspur, owned by Raymond Guest of New York, suffered a hock injury in his stall this week.

Britain's leading bookmakers cancelled a scheduled call-over for the race in London Tuesday night due to uncertainty about the Epsom Derby winner's fitness.

After the fast work-out Wednesday morning, O'Brien said: "I am confident Larkspur will run up to his best form on Saturday. His off hock showed no ill effects from the gallop."

Another fancied runner, the French-owned Arcor, had an impressive workout Wednesday. Arcor came second in the Epsom classic with French jockey Roger Poincelet aboard.

Larkspur's jockey will be British champion Scobie Breasley.

FIGHTS

By The Associated Press

San Jose, Calif.—Louis Molina, 140, San Jose, stopped Benny Medina, 140½, Fresno, Calif., 8.

Sacramento, Calif.—Ray Perez, 113, San Jose, outpointed Manuel Magallanes, 113¾, Los Angeles, 10.

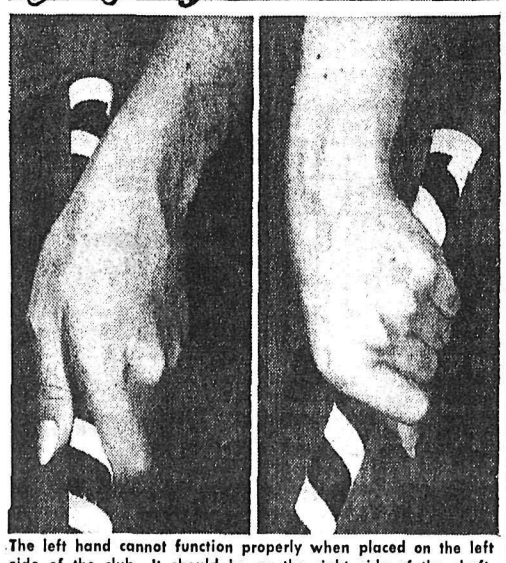
Tel Aviv — Alfonse Halimi, 116½, France, outpointed Pierre Rollo, 117, Italy, 15 (for European bantamweight title).

'BIRDS AFTER HUSKIES

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia's big eight-oared crew is going to take another crack at University of Washington rowers. The Thunderbirds, who have bowed three times this year to the rival Seattle school, will race the Huskies Thursday morning on Lake Washington. The race will be Washington's last before they meet a Russian crew July 4 in Philadelphia. For the 'Birds it will be their first race since May 26 when they finished a length behind the Huskies.

NICE VIEW—It's a nice view for Norm Cash, of Tigers, as he watches his 19th homer go into the outer seats in Detroit. Cash hit 41 last year while leading the A. L. in batting.

Golfing with ALEX MORRISON



The left hand cannot function properly when placed on the left side of the club. It should be on the right side of the shaft.

MOST of the inferior swings and shots are caused by the golfer's talent for giving himself the worst of it.

A good example is the placing of the left hand on the club. Countless players give this hand little or no chance of functioning properly. Even if the player doesn't believe in "Left Side Leadership" he should at least recognize the need to have the hands working in harmony with each other and the body.

But none of these basic needs can be met as long as the left hand is placed on the left side of the club.

Such a placement makes the left hand a liability instead of an asset to the swing.

The proper function of the hand can be had only when placing it over, more or less, to the right of the center of the shaft. This is a rule that applies to all right-hand players, all clubs and grips with some modification allowed for putting.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — An irregular stock market ended Wednesday with a burst of buying strength and some substantial gains by the most active issues.

The over-all list, however, was mixed, although most popular averages closed the session with slight gains.

Some technicians said the market "acted well" in handling early offerings without too much of a break in prices, remaining well above Monday's lows which are gradually assuming more significance. They added that the market's early ability to receive some fairly big blocks at only a slight drop in prices indicated a good reserve of buying power.

Early losses began to fade as the day wore on and interest warmed up enough in the final minutes to generate a buying wave accompanied by a late ticker tape.

It was a drab and cautious market most of the day. Volume fell to 3,890,000 shares from 4,630,000 Tuesday.

ENDS WITH GAIN

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had sunk as much as 4.05 to 531.71 at noon, ended with a net gain of 1.22 at 536.98.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .50 to 201.10.

The utilities were bolstered by gains of 1⅝ by American Telephone and ½ by Consolidated Edison.

Polaroid was the most active issue, rising 4¼ to 95¾ on 68,100 shares. Second was A. T. and T., up 1⅝ at 102 on 59,000 shares. Third was U.S. Steel, up ⅛ at 41¾ on 54,000 shares.

International Business Machines was up 13 at 333.

Du Pont and Eastman Kodak lost a point each.

Ford, up ¼, was the only auto stock to rise. Chrysler dipped ⅛.

Among Canadian stocks, International Nickel and Walker-Gooderham were each up a point and McIntyre Porcupine ⅞. Aluminium Ltd. and Distillers Seagrams were ahead ⅝. Hudson Bay Mining finished ⅜ ahead and Canadian Pacific ¼. Dome Mines and Granby Mining were off ¼ each.

Prices were irregular on the American stock exchange where volume fell to 920,000 shares. Shawinigan was up ¾. Brazilian Traction and Canadian Marconi were up ⅜. Jupiter Corp. fell ⅛.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market plodded slowly uphill Wednesday until the final hour of trading when it jumped smartly.

After the opening on the downside, industrials slowly gained momentum. In the last hour they moved sharply ahead, gaining almost four index points for a day's gain of more than five.

All other sections followed suit, although their index gains were less pronounced.

In the main list, advances of a point or more went to Power Corporation, Consolidated Paper, Walker-Gooderham and Investors Syndicate A. Abitibi, Dominion Foundries and Steel, Bank of Montreal and Shawinigan all rose ½, while ¾ gains went to Canada Cement, Canadian Celanese and Interprovincial Pipe Line.

Losers included Algoma Steel off ¾, Gatineau Power down ⅝, Imperial Oil off ½ and Traders Finance A down ¾.

On the exchange index, industrials rose 5.29 to 520.35, golds .69 at 97.23, base metals 2.68 at 180.48 and western oils .46 at 92.20. Closing volume was 1,764,000 shares compared with Tuesday's 2,252,000.

Among base metals, International Nickel climbed 1½ to 59½. Falconbridge rose ⅞, Labrador ¾ and Hudson Bay Mining ½.

Western oils saw Hudson's Bay advance ½ and Home A and Pacific Petroleum ¼ each.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were mixed at the close on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges Wednesday after a sharp decline in the morning and a slow uprising in the afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Banks moved higher after taking heavy losses in early trading. Banque Canadienne Nationale rose a point to 58½ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce added ¾ to 55¾.

Base metals were mixed. Aluminium rose ½ to 20¼ and Asbestos fell 1¾ to 27 in active trading. Noranda gained ¼ to 29 and International Nickel lost ½ to 58¼.

In mines Mount Pleasant rose 11 cents to $1.50 and Fox Lake, up six cents Tuesday, added two cents to 36 cents. Ajax rose 13 cents to 35 cents.

On index, banks were up 0.57 at 56.82, utilities up 0.2 at 126.7, industrials off 0.1 at 291.5, combined up 0.1 at 236.6, papers up 4.7 at 456.5 and golds up 0.22 at 76.31.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

H Z S V E U V X O K X B B E U Q O X V E N G
E G K S G H X Q S J J Q I G G E G F E G
C O I V X U. — J S M N G V S E G X

PUBLIC NOTICES

Government of the Province of British Columbia

Department of Recreation and Conservation

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, endorsed "TENDER FOR CONSTRUCTION OF A WORKSHOP IN KOKANEE CREEK PROVINCIAL PARK", will be received by the Deputy Minister of Recreation and Conservation, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 3:00 p.m. on Thursday, July 19th, 1962, and opened in public at that time in the Deputy Minister's office.

Kokanee Creek Provincial Park is approximately 15 miles northeast of Nelson, B.C., on Highway No. 3.

Plans, specifications and conditions of tender may be obtained, on and after June 26th, 1962, from the Provincial Parks Branch, 548 Michigan Street, Victoria, B.C., or from the offices of the Government Agents, Court Houses, Vancouver, Nelson, Cranbrook and Penticton, B.C., on deposit of the sum of $25.00 for each set, which will be refunded upon return of the plans, etc., in good condition within a period of one month from the opening of tenders, except in the case of the successful tenderer where the plans deposit is not refundable. Plans and specifications will also be on view at the offices of the Builders Exchange, Vancouver, B.C.

Each tender must be accompanied by a BID BOND in the amount of not less than 10% of the tendered price, payable to the Minister of Finance. On award and signing of the contract, the successful tenderer shall furnish a performance bond equal to 50% of the contract price.

Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied, signed with the actual signature of the tenderer, impressed with the Company Seal where applicable, and enclosed for mailing or delivery in the envelope furnished. The tenderer shall not add any identifying marks on the envelope.

No tender will be accepted or considered that contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions, and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Site inspections may be arranged by contacting Mr. G. C. Rathbone, Parks Regional Supervisor, Nelson, B.C. (Telephone: Nelson 352-2660).

Columnist's Mail Surprise To Columnist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Safety checks of 3,500,000 U.S. cars and trucks last year found one in six was a highway hazard . . . The most common defect: Faulty rear lights.

The teaspoon was introduced around 1650, when Europeans and North Americans began drinking tea.

One reason why Ireland must be heaven . . . Baby sitters charge an average of only 35 cents an hour . . . Some hotels even provide this service free.

Our quotable notables: "When you get to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Forest progress: A quarter of a century ago only 30 per cent of timber trees was used to make wood products . . . Now 80 per cent has a market value.

BATH FOR IDEAS

Inspiration: Many people sing in the bathroom, but Franz Schubert is reported to have composed one of his greatest works - his "Unfinished Symphony — while in the bathtub. (Presumably he ran out of hot water before finishing it.)

Quips from our contemporaries: Catholic Digest reports this sign in a Manhattan record shop: "Used Phonograph for Sale, for Sale, for Sale, for Sale."

How they got started: Actress Martha Scott was a school teacher, and she married another one, jazz pianist Mel Powell . . . Actor Michael Wilding was an artist.

Golfers might like this description of their favorite sport: "Golf is a game in which a ball 1½ inches in diameter is placed on another ball 8,000 miles in diameter. The object of the game is to hit the small ball and not the big one."

Do you worry about feeling inferior? . . . Forget it . . . Psychology tests indicate that smart people often feel inferior, those who are really mentally inferior rarely realize it.

Danes Worried At Coming Holiday Invasion

COPENHAGEN (Reuters — Sovereignty - sensitive Danes are afraid of a peaceable West German "invasion" of Jutland, scene of an off-and-on Danish-German border dispute for 600 years.

A three - pronged attack on the peninsula, whose 2,000,000 inhabitants make up almost half the Danish population, is seen from tourists, television and the Common Market treaty.

Tourist officials expect 850,000 West Germans will take vacations in Jutland this summer, crowding the Danes out of their own holiday sea fronts.

The summertime influx of West Germans has brought bitter comment — and legislation to prevent foreigners from buying land or property except under stringent conditions and close control.

The attraction of German television has caused a rush for German-language lessons.

About 80,000 Danes in southern Jutland are reached every day by German television. Many Danes consider the West German programs better and brighter than the Danish product.

Proposed Danish membership in the European Common Market would result in a considerable increase in external pressure, spreading the present cultural conflict in the border area all over Denmark, many say.

AMATEUR BALL MEET

KELOWNA (CP) — Eight of the top senior amateur baseball clubs in B.C. will be going after $1,200 in prize money at Kelowna this weekend in a three-day Dominion Day baseball tournament. Teams entered include Vernon, Merritt, Oliver, Kamloops and Kelowna of the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League with Hotels, Dufferins and Longshoremen of the senior Vancouver league.

DEFENDERS WILL PLAY

SEATTLE (CP) — Defending champions will be on hand in both men's and women's divisions when the 1962 Pacific Northwest golf association tournament at Vancouver July 9-14. Marianne Gable of Arcadia, Calif., the Seattle university student who won last year, is returning to defend her women's championship. The men, will be out to depose Harry Givan of Seattle, shooting this year for his sixth PNGA crown.

Automation Handles Lighthouse Operation

BONAVISTA, Nfld. (CP) — The big red and white lighthouse stands on the solid rock that is Cape Bonavista, defying the wild North Atlantic storms and spray that have been trying for 120 years to beat it into matchwood.

Until recently its 150-year-old light continued to revolve faithfully, flashing a warning to ships approaching the same cape that John Cabot first saw from the decks of the Matthew in 1497.

The lighthouse itself is practically as good as new but the old equipment was just about worn out, said M. T. Frampton, transport department superintendent of lights for Newfoundland.

Every two hours lightkeeper Clyde Purchase or his assistant had to climb through to the oil-burning light and hand-wind its revolving mechanism.

New parts for the light were impossible to get, and it now has been replaced by 1,800-watt electric bulbs, one red and one white, operating automatically.

BUILT IN 1942

Robert Oake, a Scottish master builder, built the two-storey lighthouse in 1842 from material brought from Scotland. It's made of wood but upward through its centre runs a stone tower. The oil lamp at the top had been used on Inchcape Rock off Scotland's east coast for 30 years before it was brought here.

On foggy days — nearly as common as sunny ones at the cape—Mr. Purchase also must make sure the foghorn is blaring. The horn used to be located on Cape Island, 150 feet from the cape proper. But in 1918 a storm washed away the narrow bridge to the island, stranding the lightkeeper and his family in the horn house. After that the horn was moved to the cape.

On clear days Mr. Purchase studies passing ships with a telescope polished to a high shine by the countless hands that have held it during the last 120 years.

The Cape Bonavista light was the fourth built in Newfoundland. In 1811 the first was erected at Fort Amherst in St. John's, and in 1836 two more were built, at Cape Spear and Harbor Grace in Conception Bay.

The originals of these have gone now, both buildings and mechanism replaced by more modern units.

Even the Bonavista light had seen changes in the scenery. Last year a bungalow was built for Mr. Purchase and his family. Bert Abbott, assistant keeper, moved into the lighthouse proper.

A good road runs to the light three miles from this small community and the building has electricity and telephone.

But water is still collected in special eave troughs and funnelled to reservoirs capable of holding 4,000 to 6,000 gallons. Drinking water is taken to the light from wells here.

SAVES 15 PUPILS—Credited with saving 15 elementary school pupils from possible injury or death, Mrs. Florence Walicek, 44, a school crossing guard, is attended by nurse Mrs. Agnes Kellerman at a hospital in Chicago. Mrs. Walicek pushed the children out of the way as an auto tried to pass a truck at the intersection. The auto hit her and a utility pole before rolling over twice. The slightly injured driver was arrested. Mrs. Walicek received a concussion, cuts and bruises and a possible fractured hip.

Cleaning Solutions Cause Disease

VANCOUVER (CP) — A skin irritation caused by modern cleaning solutions has become the most widespread industrial disease in British Columbia, the Workmen's Compensation Board reported Wednesday.

Compensation claims for 479 cases were filed in B.C. during 1961, the board's annual report showed.

Board chairman Ron Fulton reported though such claims were almost unknown 10 or 12 years ago, they now have increased greatly due to use of detergents, solvents and modern soaps used in degreasing operations.

He said the board is "obtaining medical direction for a new preventive program." Board doctors are engaging in field work to discover what safety steps can be recommended.

The board's report showed all types of industrial diseases were responsible for 1,177 claims in 1961. There were 152 cases of staphylococcus infection—the so called golden staph which hit hospital workers hard in 1955 but which is now on the decrease through new antiseptic techniques.

The report showed 73,517 injuries reported in 1961 of which 199 were fatal. This compared with 73,437 injury reports and 212 deaths from industrial causes in 1960. A total of $4,665,273 was paid by the board for medical aid in 1961.

Most injuries — 26 per cent of the total — were attributed to the forest industries. The construction industry contributed 21 per cent and other trades and service industries 19 per cent. The coal mining industry which once had a high rate, was responsible for only .05 per cent of the claims.

The forest industries lost 346,888 man days due to accidents, the construction industry and allied trades 213,793 man days.

Ont. Hospital Association Favors Blue Cross

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hospital Association Tuesday announced a pilot project of a new Ontario Blue Cross plan to provide coverage against the cost of prescription drugs.

The new scheme, believed the first of its kind in Canada to cover drug costs, would pay almost the total cost of non-patent or brand name medications prescribed by doctors. The deductible factor would require members to pay the first $25 or $50 depending on the premium.

Rates of 56 cents for an individual or $1.35 for a family a month would be paid for the $25 deductible plan and 41 cents an individual or $1.05 a family for the $50 deductible plan.

Stanley W. Martin, association secretary-treasurer, said costs exceeding the deductible limit would be paid without any ceiling.

Workmen Suffer Minor Injuries From Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department confirmed Wednesday that two workmen suffered minor injuries when the rocket intended to carry a nuclear device to high altitude was exploded shortly after launching from Johnston Island a week ago.

When first asked about the report, a spokesman referred to the statement made at the time of the launching and said "as previously announced, there were no injuries."

Several hours later, the spokesman said this:

Two days after the firing it was learned that two workmen "sustained minor scratches from debris from the rocket."

The injuries were caused when debris from the Thor booster rocket, which was destroyed deliberately after a malfunction had been detected, struck near the two workers and then ricocheted, the spokesman said. Parts of the rocket fell on Johnston Island and nearby Sand Island, with other parts falling into the sea.

The spokesman said the scratches suffered by the men "were so minor that they did not require treatment and were not reported to task force officials."

Whether the material which scratched the men was from the Thor rocket, or from the nuclear warhead which did not detonate but was shattered, also was not known here, the spokesman said.

The attempted shot June 20 was the second failure in the current series to send a nuclear device to a height of several hundred miles, then detonating it.

The payload was described as a megaton device, meaning it had an explosive power equal to at least 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

The announcement made at the time said that although part of the debris fell on Johnston and Sand Islands there "was no injury to personnel nor was there any danger from radioactivity."

British Pupils Take Eagerly To Phonetics

LONDON (CP) — A 43-letter phonetic alphabet introduced in some British primary schools recently to encourage reading is proving too much of a good thing.

Maurice Harrison, education director for the Midlands district where the experiment has been in operation since last September, says the progress of young children using the alphabet has been "simply fantastic."

"Our difficulty now with many of them is turning their attention away from books on to other subjects."

He said that one principal has been forced to ban the reading of books during afternoon classes. Teachers have been so impressed they are urging its general use in all local schools.

Because of the immediate success with children aged five and six, authorities now are considering an experiment to determine whether older children who were backward readers can benefit.

Big Game Hunters Are Big Game for RCMP

By JACK VAN DUSEN

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP has formed a five-man squad of wildlife crime - busters to work in uniform and undercover among Canada's waterfowl hunters.

The squad, first in the history of the force, will fan out this fall in search of the big game among offenders.

They will concentrate on the rapidly growing and lucrative practice of hunting waterfowl on a commercial basis—a practice strictly forbidden by federal law.

The Mounties, who will wear inconspicuous hunting jackets more often than their red coats, will be in the tradition of the force's long - established anti-narcotics squads — expert in their field and concentrating full time on the one type of law-breaking.

The five Mounties, handpicked from a pool of volunteers, have completed a three-week course conducted by the Canadian Wildlife Service.

WITHHOLD NAMES

Wildlife biologists gave them pointers on identifying migratory birds—protected by federal law in both Canada and the United States—and regulations governing their protection, game management and the methods used by law-breakers.

The RCMP declined to name the five men, presumably to avoid making them known to hunters. All have had at least four years' experience in the regular force and the oldest is 28.

They will be stationed in key hunting areas of Canada—these also were not disclosed—working individually and as a team.

Each of the officers will be able to call on other members of the force if he needs help. The five will be brought together as a special flying squad if major trouble breaks out in a given area.

The squad will supplement, not replace, enforcement now carried out by provincial and federal game wardens.

They will concentrate on major offences, such as the commercial hunting of migratory birds, the use of bait and live decoys, hunting of game outside the periods prescribed by law, and large-scale infractions of regulations on bag limits.

PREVENTIVE ACTION

An RCMP spokesman said one of the main reasons for formation of the squad was the growing problem of commercial hunting in the United States. The force wants "to get on top of it before it becomes a problem here."

Canadian wildlife officials say it isn't known yet whether commercial hunting has reached dangerous proportions in Canada.

They do say, though, that it is a problem here and that if allowed to get out of hand it could lead to destruction of migratory birds.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, with 139 full - time game management enforcement agents now, will add 17 this year and has a target of 205 agents by 1965.

Last year they made arrests and prosecutions in 5,000 cases.

One undercover agent working across the U.S. since 1954 in a string of four major operations unearthed 380 cases of illegal commercial hunting of game involving 20,000 birds.

Black Rain Has Singapore Puzzled

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — It rained black at the village of Jemaluang in South Malaya Tuesday, the newspaper Straits Times reported.

The black raindrops filled streams to their banks with churning black water. Scientists are trying to find out what caused it, the newspaper said.

WOMAN REMANDED

PENTICTON (CP)—Mrs. Patricia Dean Johnson, 29, Tuesday pleaded guilty to delivering and concealing the body of a child. The charge said that she disposed of a baby's body in a creek May 25. Magistrate H.J. Jennings remanded the woman in custody for eight days for a probation report.
