White Paper On Defence Demanded

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was asked in the Commons Friday to make public its white paper on defence and stop "leaks to the press by bits and pieces."

Defence Minister Hellyer said he hopes to have the white paper published early next year before the tabling of defence department estimates for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

He was replying to Gordon Churchill, former Conservative defence minister, and to NDP Leader Douglas.

Mr. Churchill complained Friday — as another MP had done Thursday in the Commons defence committee — about press reports appearing to set out defence policy.

Mr. Hellyer said he wanted to compliment the press on its interest in keeping abreast of defence matters.

He also told Mr. Douglas that no new problem arises from the fact that the RCAF in Europe is unable to store nuclear arms at its two French bases. Two others are in Western Germany.

Mr. Douglas had asked specifically about a Canadian Press story Thursday that half the RCAF strike froce of low-level bombers in Europe may be switched to a non-nuclear role.

Martin Presses China to Sign

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — External Affairs Minister Martin appealed to Communist China Friday to sign the partial nuclear test-ban treaty and join in disarmament talks.

In his second United Nations speech of the day, Martin described as premature Peking's call for a summit conference to eliminate all nuclear weapons.

But he said Canada welcomed "this evidence of Peking's interest in the elimination of nuclear arms" and hoped the Chinese would accept the test ban treaty as a first step in that direction.

The Canadian minister spoke during a disarmament debate in the General Assembly's 111-member political committee. Earlier in the day he had dealt with South Africa's racial policies in the special political committee, which also includes all UN members. The first speech was delivered in English and the second in French.

Home Trying To Form Gov't

Interviews Key Ministers Then Must Disclaim Peerage

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — The Earl of Home sought Friday night to form a government at the invitation of Queen Elizabeth.

Lord Home, 60, did not immediately accept the Queen's invitation to become prime minister apparently because there was no absolute certainty that all his cabinet colleagues would serve under him.

Recommended for the succession by retiring Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Home held interviews with key ministers in a Conservative party badly shaken by a spectacular two-week leadership struggle and the dramatic series of moves that brought him before the Queen Friday.

Home, foreign secretary under Macmillan for the last three years, was reported confident of success, after which he was expected to announce plans to disclaim his peerage and seek a seat in the House of Commons.

INTERVIEWS RIVALS

Among the first leaders interviewed by Home were his three main rivals for the leadership: R. A. (Rab) Butler, 60, deputy prime minister and most experienced man in the govern-leader in the House of Lords. chancellor of the exchequer, and Viscount Hailsham, 56, science minister and government nearly seven years, longer than

It was a day of high drama starting with the resignation of Macmillan, who has ruled temporarily into the hands of any British premier in this century.

The Queen, accepting the resignation, went to hospital to visit Macmillan, who is recovering from a prostate gland operation last week. Having taken his advice, she then called Home, 14th holder of an ancient Scottish earldom, to Buckingham Palace.

Ironically, the effective reins of government fall once more ship but they were apparently Butler, who twice has been cruelly disappointed in his quest for the premiership. He was passed over for Macmillan when Sir Anthony Eden, now Lord Avon, resigned in 1957.

REACT STRONGLY

Supporters of Butler—including many cabinet members—reacted with fury last Thursday night when they learned Home would be offered the premier-stymied by the fast-moving action Friday.

Most Conservative comment for publication was guarded but one backbench MP, Robert Jenkins, reflected the widespread dislike of the idea of recruiting a premier from the House of Lords in the face of a driving threat by the Labor party.

"With Home, we have handed the general election to the Labor party on a plate," Jenkins said.

Attlee Mystified By Home Choice

LONDON (CP)—Lord Attlee, former British Labor prime minister said Friday night he does not think the Earl of Home, as successor to Prime Minister Macmillan, would be "able to stand up long to those tough guys" in the House of Commons.

Attlee said in Geneva he could not understand the choice of Lord Home as prime minister.

"The Conservatives must hate each other," said Attlee, who was attending the annual conference of the World Parliament Association in the Swiss city.

"I cannot understand how they could turn down an experienced and extremely able man like (Deputy Prime Minister R. A.) Butler for a certainly amiable and charming, but completely unknown, person like Home. . . .

"He is an extremely nice person, but I don't think he would be able to stand up long to those tough guys in the Commons."

Swiss Foreign Minister F. T. Wahlen said of Home and his appointment:

"I have known him personally for a long time—he is a great personality. But I think the appointment will mean a swing of the pendulum to the left."

The Soviet news agency Tass reported the appointment without comment and the government newspaper Izvestia ran a one-paagraph item under the headline "latest news."

Official Washington obviously was relieved that Britain has a new prime minister and happy that the choice is Home.

The U.S. state department would say nothing which might be construed as interference in the intra-party battle which has been raging within Conservative ranks.

Unemployment At Lowest Since 1957

VICTORIA (CP) — Unemployment in British Columbia last month reached its lowest level since 1957, Trade Minister Bonner said Friday.

Mr. Bonner said in a statement that as of Sept. 21 there were 23,000 jobless in a work force of 619,000—or an unemployment rate of 4½ per cent.

The minister said the figures are contrary to the normal seasonal trend, the unemployment rate being down from the five per cent of a month earlier.

However, return of students to school and the end of some seasonal forms of employment produced a drop in the work force of some 27,000 to 619,000 from 646,000.

Algeria Ready For Cease-Fire

ALGIERS (AP)—Government sources said Friday that Algeria is ready to negotiate a cease-fire in the undeclared Sahara frontier war with Morocco. But officials emphasized any cease-fire agreement must be followed by withdrawal of all Moroccan forces behind the lines they held a month ago.

President Ahmed Ben Bella's diplomatic trouble-shooter M'hammed Yazid, headed for the United Nations assembly in New York to press Algeria's case behind the scenes. Yazid was the Algerian delegate at now-suspended peace talks in Marrakech, Morocco. He is expected to concentrate on intensive lobbying in New York to win over some Afro-Asian delegations reported still unconvinced by the Algerian charge of "aggression" against Morocco.

Meanwhile in Marrakech, King Hassan II of Morocco called for a cooling of passions so that a peaceful settlement might be achieved.

Deadlocked Over UN Seat

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations General Assembly deadlocked Friday in trying to choose between Communist Czechoslovakia and Commonwealth member Malaysia for a seat on the Security Council.

After five inconclusive secret ballots, the 111-nation assembly put off further ballotting for a week in the hope that private consultations would produce a compromise.

In recent years similar deadlocks have been resolved by splitting the two-year term allotted to the six non-permanent members of the 11-nation council. Three non-permanent members are elected annually.

No difficulty was encountered in electing Bolivia to take over the seat occupied by Venezuela and the Ivory Coast to the seat occupied by Ghana. Their two-year terms expire Dec. 31.

But neither Malaysia nor Czechoslovakia could muster the required two-thirds vote in the contest for the seat being given up at the end of the year by the Philippines.

Hammarskjold Personal Notes Published

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The personal notes of the late United Nations secretary - general Dag Hammarskjold were published here Friday almost unedited in a volume called Road Signs. The final notes indicate he had a strong premonition of death.

Hammarskjold, who died in an air crash is Africa in September, 1961, left the script behind in his New York apartment with a note to a close friend, Leif Belfrage, saying he could publish the personal notes "if you deem them worthy." Hammarskjold added that he had oriirginally written them without any thought of publication, but gradually changed his mind.

The notes consist largely of poems, some dating back to 1925, aphorisms and prose poetry. A central point is his quest for God. Hammarskjold — outwardly the image of the impeccable high official — gives the impression that he looked upon himself as a chosen martyr, if not a saint or even a new messiah.

Boy Tells Of Strapping

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A 12-year-old boy testified Friday that a school teacher strapped him 18 times on each hand as punishment.

Thomas James Goodwin said the teacher, Bryan William Kirwan, strapped him and made him stand in a hallway for an hour because he had let the air out of tires of the teacher's car, pasted a notice on one window and put paste over another.

He was testifying at the trial of Kirwan, charged by the boy's father, T. B. Goodwin, with assault causing bodily harm. Kirwan pleaded not guilty.

The boy said he had let the air out and used the paste on June 27, the last day of school before summer holidays.

The teacher had arrived at his home at about 1 p.m. and took him back to school. He was made to clean up the mess and put air back in the tire.

Then he was taken into the school and strapped and made to stand in the hallway. After that he was permitted to return home. The hearing was continuing.

Magistrate D. M. MacDonald adjourned decision on an application by defence counsel Harry Thomas that Mr. Goodwin be cited for contempt of court because of statements attributed to him during a television newscast Thursday.

MISSION (CP) — Sharon Lee Cauette, 2, died Friday when an explosion and fire heavily damaged the basement of a home in this Fraser Valley community.

The girl's mother, an aunt and three other children were rescued from the blazing building.

Youth Charged With Murder

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jorgen Christensen, 18, was charged with capital murder Friday in the fatal stabbing of a 29-year-old laborer in a downtown hotel Thursday night.

Christensen was remanded to Oct. 25 when he appeared briefly in court.

Police said witnesses reported that William McGregor of Kamloops was stabbed after he went to help a panhandler being kicked in the skid road beer parlor.

Witnesses said the man doing the kicking appeared to punch McGregor in the stomach, police said.

McGregor died in hospital an hour and 15 minutes after police found him lying in a pool of blood in the beverage room.

He was undergoing emergency surgery to a severe stomach wound.

Minutes after the slaying, police arrested a young man near the hotel and seized a knife.

Police said McGregor had just arrived from Kamloops where he is believed to have lived eight years. They said he was originally from Cornwall, Ont.

Parliament Friday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Royal assent was given to legislation clamping a trusteeship on five marine unions — when the government so decides.

Prime Minister Pearson said there is hope of a private trustee ship "in the next day or two" to settle the marine union situation.

A debate on Creditiste seating was adjourned, State Secretary Pickersgill calling for sanity in the matter.

Works Minister Deschatelets said the cost-sharing program for Trans-Canada Highway development is to be extended for four years, to 1967.

Stanley Knowles (NDP-Winnipeg North Centre) again was stymied in his bid to establish a $1.25 hourly minimum wage in federal jobs.

DISPLAY DOLLAR

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A 1911 Canadian silver dollar, of which there are only two in the world, will be displayed here Saturday. The coin, insured for $85,000, is on loan to the Royal City Coin Club, now celebrating its fourth anniversary. It will be returned to its American owner after the showing.

Gov't Action Being Considered Says McEachen

MONTREAL (CP)—Hundreds of members of the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) across Canada walked off their ships Friday and prepared to march on Ottawa to protest impending legislation to put five maritime unions under government trusteeship.

Hundreds more are to quit their ships today, raising the threat of the most complete maritime tie-up Canada has ever had to face.

In Ottawa, Labor Minister MacEachan branded the action "clearly illegal" and said government action is being considered. He did not specify what steps the government might take, or when.

The SIU protest is set for Monday on Parliament Hill. There was no indication what the embattled union has planned for its members after the demonstration.

Sailors asked about that point as they walked away from their vessels in Montreal, said they don't know when—or if—they will be advised to return to work.

Most indicated, however, they expect to get further instructions in Ottawa from union officials.

There was no comment on the situation from Hal C. Banks, SIU president facing ouster if the trusteeship plan comes into effect.

The burly Seafarers' president could not be reached by reporters. The call for the sailors to leave their vessels and march on Ottawa came officially from the Seamen's rights committee, operating from SIU headquarters in Montreal.

The work stoppage raises a new and potentially crippling threat to Canada's shipment of 22,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour to Russia, as well as the millions of tons of other cargo moved by ships from Canadian ports.

The wheat and flour deal already has been set back by the week-long strike of longshoremen in St. Lawrence River ports. That strike ended only a week ago.

By far the greatest number of the SIU's 16,000 members work aboard lake vessels plying the Great Lakes, but they also man tugs, barges, ferries and some coastal vessels on both coasts as well as in the Great Lakes ports.

Halting downbound lakers with thier loads of grain to be transferred through elevators to Russian bessels could make it impossible for Canada to clear anything like the total tonnage officials had hoped for before the winter freezeup, now expected in about six weeks.

NOT APPROACHED

kei Raialwayficials eoanpchr about the possibility of trying to haul grain the 1,300 miles from the Lakehead to ocean ports.

But one spokesman expressed doubt tm$t the railways could take up any significant portion of the slack caused by a prolonged SIU work stoppage.

Shipping officials had hoped to clear 60,000,000 bushels from St. Lawrence River ports before freeze-up. Only about 10,000,000 bushels have gone so far and aout 30,000,000 are in storage in various elevators waiting to be loaded into ocean-going vessels for Russia.

In addition to the grain, however, is the other regular cargo that moves along Canada's waterways. This, of course, would have to be considered in any emergency plans to get around the SIU stoppage by other ways of transportation.

More than 95 per cent of Canadian-flag shipping is under the SIU. The only major firm not having contracts with the SIU is Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

Here was the situation across Canada:

Ottawa—Government legislation to set up trusteeship for the maritime unions received royal assent—ready to become law whenever the government decides.

Halfax—SIU crews of two ships, about 32 men, walked off their ships at the noon deadline. The vessels were discharging grain from the Lakehead.

Sept-Iles, Que.—Officials of the United Steelworkers Union (CLC) said SIU ships arriving to pick up ore will receive no sympathy. One USW spokesman said the SIU action is "not a strike, but just the insanity of the leader of a hoodlum empire."

Quebec City—About 125 SIU members from five ships and two tugs walked out. A union official said more men will leave their ships as they tie up.

Montreal—Five ships tied up and six more expected to be idle by 8 a.m. today. Three more SIU-manned lakers were reported en route and the union said they will join the walk out.

Toronto—Sixty men walked off two SIU - manned ships. Three other vessels, each with 25 men aboard, were expected later.

Port Arthur, Ont.—The SIU said 200 members will leave moored ships today and head for Ottawa. A total of 10 vessels were affected.

Regina—Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd of Saskatchewan and L. A. Boileau, vice-president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, said the SIU action is a challenge to Parliament's authority.

Vancouver—The SIU said 200 members left Friday for Ottawa but it was up to each union man to decide whether he would go to join the protest.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A token cavalcade of west coast seamen drove eastward Friday night to protest impending federal trusteeship over maritime unions — and left not a ripple of disruption in their wake.

The plan as announced by Rod Heinekey, western vice-president of the Seafarers' International Union, was for a noon-hour deadline walkout on SIU-manned ships followed by a protest move on Ottawa by the SIU membership.

All accounts from non-SIU quarters said the attempt at a general tie-up in British Columbia fizzled. This summary of events was given by marine sources:

Mr. Heinekey boarded the freighters Skeena Prince and Haida Prince Friday morning and attempted to persuade SIU crew members to join in a protest trek to Ottawa.

Crew members, accounts go, insisted on taking a vote and only one backed up the executive stand — fellow seamen said he had intended to quit his job anyway to go east.

Two other union delegates boarded the CPR ferry Princess of Vancouver here and tried to persuade crew members to join the walkout. At the noon deadline the ferry sailed with her full crew.

MONTREAL (CP) — The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was unchanged at $1.07 25-32.

Pound sterling was unchanged at $3.01⅝.

Would Give Students Questionnaire

NANAIMO (CP) — The District Labor Council is seeking to get school board permission to submit a questionnaire to school students and trustees, inquiring into recent charges that teachers are politically brainwashing students.

Arnold Smith, secretary of the council, submitted the two questionnaires to the board Thursday. Trustees did not say whether the questions would be sent to the schools.

The Labor move follows recent complaints by lawyer Harold Hine that New Democratic party-minded teachers were indoctrinating youngsters in a socialist philosophy.

The questionnaire for trustees asks whether they know of any political influence in schools, or can they give further information on the matter.

The 10 questions the council wants the students to answer with a yes, no or don't know, include:

"Are you familiar with the word brainwashed? If so, do you feel you are being politically brainwashed by your teacher?

"Do you believe teachers are impartial in answering political questions? Are you satisfied that students are not required to read NDP literature?

"Is the B.C. Government News available in classroom or library? If so, would you like to see a government publication expressing the views of the opposition such as the federal government's Hansard?"

Bishops Plan English Text

ROME (AP) — Ten Roman Catholic bishops of English-speaking nations met Friday night to start planning for an English text to be used in the Catholic mass and sacraments. The 10 included Archbishop Michael O'Neill of Regina.

The prelates were called together by Archbishop Francis Grimshaw of Birmingham, England, on the eve of a major vote in the ecumenical council that substantially approved the use of local languages in the sacraments.

"The first steps are being taken toward a revitalization of the words of sacred worship," said Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan of Atlanta, Ga.

He and Archbishop O'Neill were among the prelates who met at the English Pontifical College in Rome.

The group agreed that liturgy experts should meet regularly in Rome to lay the foundation for changing the Latin liturgy into English. The experts will include biblical scholars, musicologists and a literary stylist.

Archbishop Grimshaw is chairman of the project.

Chambers President Of Kiwanis Club

G. E. Chambers was elected president of the Kiwanis Club and Gordon Sutherland vice-president at the club's meeting at the Hume Hotel Thursday night.

Mr. Chambers will succeed A. J. Hamson, the installation to take place in January.

Guests at the meeting were Stuart Pitts, who recently moved to Nelson from Port Alberni to become manager of Overwaitea Ltd., M. L. Craig of Spokane, formerly of Nelson, and L. D. Nicholson of Kimberley, also formerly of Nelson.

At a previous meeting, the Kiwanians heard Capt. Reginald Newbury speak on services provided by the Salvation Army. He listed the men's social department which operates rehabilitation centres in larger cities providing living accommodation, meals and work; the women's social department which operates general hospitals in larger centres and the well known Grace (maternity) hospitals, and unmarried mothers' homes, and homes for stranded women such as the Catherine Booth Memorial Home in Vancouver.

He also described Harbor Light work where alcoholics and drug addicts receive care and often become good citizens again. He also described correctional services for prisoners, children's villages where children from broken homes become members of "families" and learn, many for the first time, what home life is; and of young people's programs.

New Minister Welcomed

A large part of the Fairview United Church congregation gathered Thursday at an "open house" held in the church manse to welcome the new minister, Rev. J. Rae Allen and Mrs. Allen.

The open house, held in two stages, was an official welcome to the community and the church by the parish. The minister arrived in July, succeeding Rev. H. R. Whitmore, who moved to Victoria and the Wilkinson Road Church there.

Mr. Allan spent the last five of his 17 years as a minister with the "Little White Church in the Rockies," at Jasper, Alberta. He was born, raised and educated mostly at Carnduff, Saskatchewan, taking his university training at the University of Saskatchewan.

He supplemented his education with a year of post-graduate work in Toronto's Emmanuel Theological College, a school for United Church ministers.

The Allan's have three boys, Robert, 12; Keith, 11 and Darryl, five.

The open house Thursday was sponsored and catered to by the United Church Women, an auxiliary organization.

U.S. Boys Beat Trail Pair

TRAIL—Two 17-year-old California youths were accused of assault occasioning bodily harm after beatings were administered to a Trail man and a junior high school student.

Frederick Enockson and David Val Jischke were ordered transferred from juvenile court to adult court for trial when they appeared before Magistrate Parker Williams Friday morning.

Their arrests came within an hour of complaints to police by the victims, Charles Bloomfield, 15, and Leo Westerlund, 58, of Genelle.

The jailed pair told police they were cousins from Long Beach, Calif. They were picked up by police when stopped at a roadblock near Blueberry.

Bloomfield told police his face was pounded and a demand made for his wallet when two youths trapped him in a downtown alley. He managed to escape and ran to the city police office.

On Farwell Street, later, Mr. Westerlund was stopped by two youths, who asked for directions to the Alaska highway. As Mr. Westerlund replied, he was knocked to the ground with a hard blow to the head and struck again as he struggled to his feet. He suffered deep bruises and cuts to his face, a black eye and a badly swollen jaw. His dentures were shattered. Police were called by a woman who saw the assault.

Mayor, Associates Pay Tribute to News Publisher

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse headed nine speakers who bade farewell and paid warm tributes to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ramsden of Nelson at a testimonial dinner for the couple Thursday night.

The cocktail hour and dinner at Peebles Motor Inn was attended by 114 local and district friends of the couple, who will be leaving for Nanaimo soon.

Mr. Ramsden, publisher of the Nelson Daily News, will take a similar position with the Nanaimo Daily Free Press Nov. 1.

Mayor Shorthouse said Mr. Ramsden would be "long remembered by me" for the fair and accurate news reporting he demanded from the newspaper and for his broad outlook toward local and district affairs.

The mayor told of the couple's "splendid record in the community," evinced by their participation in local organizations and Mr. Ramsden's activities in the Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern British Columbia.

He recalled some of the history surrounding the couple, going back 30 years to when he first met Mr. Ramsden and the Kootenay Lake General Hospital nurse who was to become his wife.

"To me," he said, "there are two types of people in the world; those who want to be somebody and those who want to get things done. 'Cec' is a person who wants to get things done."

Two presentations were made. Harry Procter, administrator of Kootenay Lake General Hospital, made the presentation of a large Alec Garner painting to Mr. Ramsden, and Mrs. Ramsden received a large bouquet of roses from Mrs. T. C. Lambert.

Others to pay tribute included Mr. Lambert, who was master of ceremonies, R. D. Barnes, a life member of the Chamber of Commerce in Nelson; A. W. Gibbon, editor of the Nelson Daily News; Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood; W. A. Curran, publisher of the Trail Daily Times; Rev. Aquinas Thomas, president of Notre Dame University, and E. "Slam" Salvador, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C. of Creston.

Louise Barrons, wife of Earl Barrons, recently transferred to Kaslo from Nelson, sang solos: "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" and "You Will Never Walk Alone."

Communications were received from Hon. W. D. Black, MLA for Nelson-Creston; D. D. Morris, vice-president and general manager of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Trail; Robert H. Green of Victoria, News Publishing Company President, Rev. D. Cullen of Nelson, editor of the "Prospector," and Fred W. Leno of Nelson, who was out of town.

R. E. Nelson of Trail, appointed manager of the Daily News, and Mrs. Nelson, were introduced to the gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsden thanked the assembly for the tributes. Mr. Ramsden remarked that he had been fortunate in having the Nelson Daily News "as a weapon, or as a tool, as a means of getting some of the things done" that needed doing in the community.

He added that, "The community has been good to us, and in response to many invitations to return to Nelson, said emphatically, "We'll be back."

Third Collision On Bluffs

The third collision in little more than two weeks on the Amundson-Fletcher Creek bluffs about four miles south of Kaslo caused about $220 damage and no injuries Friday.

The accident Friday involved a truck owned by La Belle and Charleston Transport Company of Vancouber and driven by Steve Smith of North Surrey, and a small English car, driven by Z. Martenyi of Argenta.

About $200 damage was done to the car and $20 to the truck.

The accident, for which blame was attached to no one, happened within a few yards of two others, October 2 and October 13.

RCMP said the road at this point is exceptionally narrow. Two sharp curves and loose gravel add to the hazards.

The road is so narrow at this point that two cars meeting each other have about three feet clearance: one foot on either side and a foot between. A sheer cliff forms the outside of the road.

Boy Injured Slightly When Struck By Car

A nine-year-old Nelson boy who ran in front of a car in Nelson Thursday was slightly injured when the driver could not avoid him.

John Towler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Towler of 1501 Kootenay Street, was reported to have run in front of a car driven by Harry Wood of Nelson in the vicinity of the 1100 block, Stanley Street.

The car braked sharply and the left front wheel struck the boy, knocking him down and causing cuts and bruises to his face. However, the boy was soon on his feet.

Nelson city police said Friday the accident was unavoidable.

Kaslo Man Charged With Wife's Murder

Kenneth Command, 50-year-old Kaslo man being held in connection with the slaying of his wife Thursday, was charged with capital murder Friday in Nakusp and remanded to October 25 for trial in Nelson.

Command was arrested Thursday afternoon in a farmhouse near Nakusp by the RCMP where his wife, Mrs. Dora Isabelle Command, died after being shot in the heart with a .401 calibre rifle. She had been shot once.

The shooting occurred in the kitchen of the home of the dead woman's son-in-law, Adrian Dupis at Brouse, about three miles north of Nakusp. Mrs. Command is believed to have been living with her son-in-law and daughter.

RCMP are still carrying out an investigation into the possibility of there being witnesses to the shooting. It was not known Friday if anyone else was in the house at the time.

An autopsy was performed Thursday night at Nakusp by Coroner F. B. Maxfield of Nakusp to confirm the cause of death.

The couple were reported to have moved to Kaslo in about 1950 from Ontario, where they were married. Mrs. Command was born in Dorset, Ontario.

They have three sons and four daughters and the dead woman is survived by a number of brothers, sisters and her parents and five grandchildren.

The accused is said to have been a construction worker and illness had caused an extended period of unemployment recently. He had just returned from hospitalization in Vancouver for arthritis and was due to return for more treatments in about a week.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Command will be held Monday at 10 a.m. in the Roman Catholic Church at Kaslo.

Survivors include three sons: Harold of Nakusp, Norman of Kaslo and John of Kamloops; and four daughters; Mrs. Mary Ann Hascarl of Nakusp, Mrs. Isobelle Ferguson of Kaslo, Mrs. Judy Dupis of Nakusp and Miss Nancy of Nakusp.

Gyro Pool Plans Studied for Spring

Steps to rectify the present Gyro pool situation will begin this fall.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse urged the city engineering department to begin plans for the pool, which has been condemned for public health reasons, so a quick start on a new pool can be made next spring.

The matter was discussed at a Works Utilities Services (WUS) committee meeting last week and Tuesday council passed a motion urging the Parks committee to study the Selkirk Health Unit report on the need for a new Gyro Park pool.

Speaking to the Selkirk correspondence, Ald. J. S. M. Harts felt the general idea behind the note was to warn council to take steps and not forget about the pool.

The health unit said the pool has deteriorated to such a condition that it is now a public health menace. Attempts to keep the contamination count down, by frequent cleaning and hand chlorination, are inadequate and a new pool will be needed for 1964.

Ald. Harts reported that the Gyro Club is still prepared to donate filtration tanks for the new pool.

Mayor Shorthouse urged that plans be underway this fall, so actual construction could take place possibly in April under wniter works programing.

"Bolty" Pearson Ends 34-Year Career as Hospital Orderly

By RAY HELGESON

The corridors of Kootenay Lake General Hospital in Nelson are almost certain to be emptier somehow, now. Work will, of course go on as usual, the halls will be bustling and busy as usual, but there will be one ingredient missing.

And that ingredient will be Bolton H. Pearson, or just plain "Bolty", as this head orderly is known to everyone. He retired Wednesday.

His career as an orderly began and ended with Kootenay Lake General. It began in 1929, nearly 34½ years ago on an obscure note when he was hired temporarily as a janitor. The hospital administration at that time was so impressed with his ability and willingness to work that they gave him a permanent job as janitor which held held for a short time.

But he soon became the entire orderly staff at the hospital. He recalled that in those days, before the takeover by the Hospital Union, there was only one orderly and he was on call 24 hours a day. This changed in the '30s when an orderly was employed for each shift.

Soon after he started at the hospital he met his wife-to-be. She was then a nurse-in-training there. He married the former Miss Helen Gardner of Nakusp when she graduated in 1934. They have two children, William McKenzie of Edmonton and Jane, who is in Vancouver.

He stayed with the hospital the whole time and became head orderly about 15 years ago, heading a staff of four.

He belongs to the Sons of England Lodge in Nelson, but has had to decline invitations to join service clubs and other civic activities.

His wife will soon put anyone straight on this point.

"He has never had time for these things because he at first was on 24-hour call and later devoted most of his spare time helping others, including elderly folk. He spends much of his time helping out at Mount St. Francis infirmary still."

Heedless of her husband's modest protests, she recalled times when he gave away his suits when he had none to wear himself. He answered simply that he gave to those whom he thought needed them more than he did.

His future plans have been hampered by his doctor's orders to rest for a month.

Pensioners Deduction High On Agenda

KIMBERLEY — The Mine, Mill coordinating council representing approximately 6000 Cominco employees commenced pre-bargaining sessions in Kimberley.

A report on the union representation to the federal government protesting Cominco's deduction of $10 per month from C M & S pensioners following the government increase was one of the first items on the agenda.

Welfare Minister Judy LaMarsh told a Mine-Mill delegation to Ottawa that it was the intention of the government to increase pensions by $10 per monh and that "it is not the intention of the government that anyone should get the $10 other than those for whom it was designed."

The council approved measures to ensure that eligible C M & S pensioners receive the increase and an early meeting with Cominco is planned.

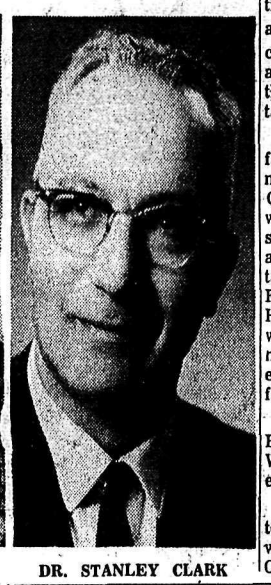
E. Kootenay Teachers In Conference at Creston

CRESTON — The East Kootenay Teachers' Association is holding its annual fall conference in Creston.

For elementary teachers the conference started Thursday with a mathematics workshop at which Mrs. Irene Richmond of the W. J. Gage Company of Toronto will be guest speaker. The program for the secondary teachers began Friday.

MRS. J. V. MURRAY



DR. STANLEY CLARK

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. V. Murray of Creston, the fall conference committee arranged for eighteen speakers coming from two provinces to address or give instruction in the various subjects of elementary and secondary education.

A main feature of the EKTA fall conference was the public meeting held in the Prince Charles Secondary School, at which Dr. S. Clark, formerly on staff at the University of Alberta, and currently executive secretary for the Alberta Teachers' Federation, was guest speaker. His topic, "Winds of Change," was presented in light of the many rapid changes with which education systems are presently faced.

The Prince Charles Senior Band, under direction of A. Whittred, entertained during the evening.

A coffee party was held later to provide parents and teachers with an opportunity to meet Dr. Clark.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The National Sugar Producers Union predicts that by 1970 Mexican sugar production will reach 2,700,000 tons. Present production is 1,600,000 tons.

Spokane Doctor, Wife Obtain Record Bag

INVERMERE — The Windermere District was a happy hunting ground for one well-satisfied couple from the United States who returned home content with trophies bagged in the Mitchell River area. In their ten-day trip with big game guide Elwood Goodwin of Edgewater and assistant guide Jimmy Goodwin they bagged a six-point bull elk, a 41-inch bull moose and a bighorn ram with a 41½-inch curl on one side and a 39-inch curl on the other.

Preliminary measurements of the ram showed it to be of trophy class, out official measurements for Boone and Crockett competition cannot be made for at least 60 days.

This was the third consecutive trip into this area made by Dr. and Mrs. Meckstroth. They said game seemed plentiful this year, especially goat, but the bighorn ram they shot was the only one they saw. Both the doctor and his wife fired at it, but the doctor gives the credit to his wife's shot.

Goes to University Under ROTP

KIMBERLEY — A Kimberley youth has been accepted by the Royal Canadian Navy to participate in the Regular Officer Training Plan and attend university as an officer cadet.

William David Eckford will combine a unversity education and a military career along with 184 other young men from across Canada, and is one of 94 to attend university. The remaining 91 will attend one of three Canadian service colleges.

Under the tri-service plan, cadets are educated at government expense to university level and upon graduation receive with their degrees commissions as officers in their respective services.

Engineering Consultants To Decide on Overpass

CASTLEGAR — Castlegar Village Commission will hire a firm of engineering consultants to advise on the desirability of an overpass to serve the Shewchuk subdivision.

This decision was made after a delegation of 21 subdivision residents spent nearly an hour trying to determine why they have been denied a pedestrian overpass after earlier approval by the commission.

One member of the delegation accused Chairman Aage Sylvest of "not thinking in the best interests of all concerned."

The delegates charged that one-tenth of the Castlegar grade one students are from the Shewchuk subdivision, and that they deserve more thought than they are getting.

One delegate said $10,000 of the village's $30,000 surplus is cheap insurance for 75 school children.

The delegation said rescinding of a motion to set aside $10,000 for an overpass is "against our wishes." They told the commission they have been waiting for 13 years for an overpass in the subdivision.

SEWERS LESS IMPORTANT

Another members of the delegation said, "it is more important to me that my children have safe access across the tracks than sewers."

Comm. R. C. Maddocks agreed with the delegate, saying: 'The matter of caring for the young people of the Shewchuk is more important than sewage problems."

"You should reconsider your previous motion to rescind the original motion," he told Chairman Sylvest.

"I stil feel," the chairman replied, "that the village would be best served by an underpass, but I will take the submissions of the delegates into consideration."

"I hadn't expected so many people to be opposed to an underpass," he added.

The delegates noted that an underpass near the Oglow subdivision would be no good to the Shewchuk residents because it would force residents to go out of their way to reach central Castlegar.

The delegation remained firm in its desire for a Shewchuk overpass, and pointed out that construction on it could be started this year, whereas it would be a few years before construction could be started on the other site.

A motion was then made by Comm. Gwilym Hughes asking that Associated Engineers be retained to submit a report and design for a pedestrian overpass to serve the Shewchuk subdivision.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Allan accepted the plaque on behalf of the commission and the citizens, commending the Red Cross for the work it has done since its inception during the Crimean War with the inspiration of Florence Nightingale.

Court Takes Boys' Drivers Licences Away

FRUITVALE—Seven juveniles charged with a liquor act offence were remanded by Magistrate Parker Williams for sentence and drivers' licences surrendered to the court.

The youths, all in the 16 to 17-year-old bracket, were involved in a wild drinking party in the home of one of their number whose parents were out of town, RCMP said.

The police detachment's attention was brought to the juveniles when a bottle of wine was stolen from a neighbor's home. One of the group pleaded guilty to the theft.

The youths will appear again before the court November 4 to receive sentence following a report from the probation officer.

Critical Period in Education Field

Speaking to the B.C. School Trustees' Association, Dr. Edmund J. Gleazer Jr., of Washington, D.C., executive secretary of the American Association of Junior Colleges, on the problems of junior colleges, said there is social dynamite in their development and that the whole matter of trying to gain some prestige for education beyond high school that is not of the university level is a vexing one all over the world.

From this it would appear that junior colleges will be the stepchildren of education, something better than high school but less than university and regarded by the general public as of little value unless they enable students to attend university.

Theoretically the junior colleges should serve to provide for those who do not wish to carry their education through university as well as those who do and those who would attend a vocational institute. Actually most people see in them an opportunity for weaker students to catch up and enter university at the third year. While this may seem admirable it defeats the purpose of the colleges which should be to provide society with trained personnel of lower rank than those with degrees.

This craving for degrees is worldwide in the new nations. Prime Minister of Kenya, Mr. Kenyatta, says that his country is suffering from "academic disease," and that all students want to take university courses where they will end up in a profession, while the country badly needs thousands of people trained in other ways. This is so, too, in the Philippines where there is a big over-supply of lawyers, with all kinds of technical jobs going begging.

This over-emphasis on the prestige of university has resulted in two-thirds of all U.S. students entering junior college with the avowed intention of transferring. Actually only one-third do and this leaves a large number of disappointed dropouts.

Dr. Gleazer says "There is an alarming shortage of semi-professional technicians. There are at present great islands of neglect in the training of our young people."

B.C. has only just begun to deal with the problem. It has established new universities, and vocational schools and authorized the establishment of junior colleges. While it may be desirable that the schools and colleges should be operating as soon as possible, the exact function of each should be defined before starting.

There should be sincere attempts to relate the programs of study to the needs of trade and industry on the lines of the apprenticeship system of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail, where the company and the school board co-operate in apprentice training. As a pre-requisite to the establishment of curricula there should be a thorough survey of the needs of the area from which students are drawn as well as in the province at large.

Above all there must be a reappraisal of our attitudes towards education. At the present moment only those who attend vocational school approach the matter realistically. They, at least, have no illusions of grandeur. They are out to learn a trade which they can practice, and with which they can earn their living, a most worthy aim for everyone.

"It's Their Mess"

Real Caouette and his twelve Ralliement des Creditistes have won an undeserved toehold on parliamentary respectability.

Parliament's committee on privileges decided to give the Creditistes provisional recognition in the House of Commons as a "group" which will rank below the eleven-member national Social Credit party bloc. Recognition as a "party" was not granted.

Expectations are that the committee recommendation will be accepted by Parliament.

The Creditistes are not entitled to even this rudimentary form of acknowledgement. Traditionally, parliamentary recognition is extended only to the representatives of properly constituted national parties, which have established themselves in national conventions, and whose candidates have presented themselves to the electorate in a nationwide federal election.

The Creditistes were not born of a national convention, nor have they ever contested a national election in the guise in which they now present themselves.

They simply comprise a breakaway group which still must be considered tied by custom, if not legality, to the national Social Credit party.

Mr. Erik Nielsen, the Progressive Conservative member for Yukon riding, aptly describes the situation when he says there is still one Social Credit party suffering from internal differences, and not two separate parties. It is the Social Credit party, not Parliament, that should have to straighten things out.

As Mr. Nielsen says, "It's their mess."—Calgary Herald.

Men of Decision

The word these days is "decision." To rise to the top it is as necessary to be "able to make decisions" as it is to wear executive-length socks. People who make whisky, rifles, men's talcum powder and other accessories of superior manliness all take pains to convince us that buying their products will show us to be men of decision.

The necessity of the ability to make decisions may be a little frightening to the ordinary mortal. But it needn't be if he knows the secret. That is that it doesn't matter a whit what the decision is. The man with the rifle can, if he likes, decide that a cow is a deer. He may be sued, but he has been decisive. The decisive man need never worry about that old question of whether the end justifies the means. To him the means is the end. Whatever is decided is good.

Mr. Pickersgill put the philosophy of decisiveness in a nutshell the other day. He said:

"The kind of decision we were talking about was our decision."

Exactly. And deciding to do nothing is a decision. It's as easy as deciding to roll off a log.

—Ottawa Journal.

'Gentle Alec' Named Leader

Home Termed Reluctant Premier

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — There are elements of humor in the origin of the boom that carried the Earl of Home to the threshold of 10 Downing Street Friday.

He told the Blackpool Tory conference just one week ago: "I'm offering a prize to any newspaper man who can find a clue in my speech that this is Lord Home's bid to take over the leadership of the Conservative party."

In the wild leadership scramble, some newspapers dubbed this courteous scion of an ancient Scottish peerage the "reluctant premier" who would accept the job only in the hope of averting a crisis.

There was considerable surprise three years ago when Macmillan appointed the comparatively unknown bird watcher-politician to succeed Selwyn Lloyd in foreign affairs.

But it wasn't long before Home's critics made a reassessment of the peer whose frail and almost off-hand appearance concealed toughness and determination.

SHARED HONORS

Home recently became a star in the Conservative constellation by virtue of Britain's role in the East-West test ban treaty, sharing honors with Macmillan. But there are Britons who are only now learning that his name rhymes with fume.

Alexander (Alec) Frederick Douglas-Home, 14th holder of an earldom created in 1604, a product of Eton and Oxford, is one of Scotland's great landowners. At Eton he met the girl who became his wife, the headmaster's daughter and they have three daughters and one son.

Thirty-two years in politics, Home does not aspire to crowd-pleasing oratory in the emotional sense but in personal affairs has an unassuming, friendly air that in younger days earned him the tag "gentle Alec."

Under the Peerage Bill passed by the last session of Parliament, Home would have no difficulty disclaiming his title to accept the premiership and it later could be taken up by his son, if the younger man wished.

AROUSED IRE

Home's chief service before the foreign ministry was 5½ years as Commonwealth relations secretary, when in a visit to Canada one of his speeches aroused the ire of Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express.

In a 1956 Halifax address, Home declared: "Canada should not fear United States domination through an influx of U.S. development capital. There is so much to be done that I should think there is room for all who have money."

The Express replied: "By what authority does Lord Home presume to advise the Canadinans in this fashion? He is not a public relations officer for American business interests."

Long-time correspondents in London credit Home with a deep and genuine personal charm and also humor at his own expense. They cite his comment about the spinal tuberculosis that afflicted him during the Second World War.

"The surgeons have done what was hitherto thought impossible —they put backbone into a politician," Home declared.

ENTERED COMMONS

Home began his political career when he entered the Commons for the first time in 1931 as member for the Scottish mining district of Lanark.

He had not yet succeeded to his father's earldom and was therefore permitted to enter the Commons.

Between 1931 and 1945, when he was ousted in the great swing to the Labor party, he occupied several ministerial posts.

In 1936, he was appointed paliamentary private secretary to Neville Chamberlain, then head of the treasury.

Home continued in this post when Chamberlain was prime minister and accompanied him on his fateful visit to Munich, a visit which became one of the best remembered events in the prelude to the Second World War.

He was taken seriously ill in 1940 and did not return to his parliamentary duties until three years later.

He returned to Parliament in 1950 and, when he succeeded to his father's title the following year, he went to the House of Lords as minister of state for the Scottish office—the first appointee to a newly created post.

BECAME SECRETARY

In 1956, he became secretary for Commonwealth relations and a member of the cabinet.

In answer to criticism of his appointment that he had never seen a Commonwealth country, he visited Australia, New Zealand, Canada, India, Pakistan, Malaya, the Central African Federation and Ghana.

Then came his controversial appointment as foreign secretary in 1960. He was widely regarded as a nonentity.

Many members of Parliament complained that the foreign secretary would be out of reach of their questioning by sitting in the House of Lords.

This, they considered, was a most undesirable development in modern parliamentary life.

But Macmillan argued this very point should be an advantage; free of the responsibilities of looking after an electoral district and standing outside the rough and tumble of daily political life, the new foreign secretary would have time to think.

Since then, few would question that Home has made his mark on British foreign policy. He brought a new sense of realism, and was commended for plain speaking and a straightforward approach.

EAGER FOR LINK

He was regarded as one of the members of the British cabinet most eager to link Britain with the European Common Market, but not at the expense of injuring the Commonwealth.

The first foreign secretary for 20 years to sit in the House of Lords, Home gradually weathered the storms around him with the easiest smile in present-day British politics.

But as he consolidated his position, it also became evident that beneath a calm exterior was a shrewd and purposeful personality — and a confidence hard to shake.

Home, a close personal friend of Macmillan, played a key part in the Conservative succession crisis which followed Macmillan's decision to resign after undergoing a prostate operation.

Known as having no personal ambitions in the leadership stakes, Home was entrusted the delicate task of telling the annual Conservative conference that Macmillan would not lead the party at the coming election.

Free Trips Only Interest MPs In Foreign Affairs

VANCOUVER (CP) — The only interest most members of Parliament have in foreign affairs is the free trips, Howard Green, former Progressive Conservative external affairs minister, said Thursday.

Mr Green told a Parent-Teacher meeting that even his best friends walked out on him when he discussed foreign affairs in the House of Commons.

"They reflect the attitude of most Canadians," he said. "Even children are more aware of what goes on at the United Nations than are their parents."

Unflappable Mac Has Final Say

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP)—Critics called him "supermac," "wondermac," "unflappable."

They sneered at him for being a poseur and a cynic. In his later years in power cartoonists pictured him as a fumbling fuddy-duddy."

But to millions he was, and remains, great. Friday, as Harold Macmillan stepped down as prime minister, Britons nostalgically looked over their shoulders to see what the "unflappable" years had brought.

They saw a nation vastly changed, in mood and philosophy, from that over which Macmillan had assumed command on a chill January day in 1957.

It had been a bitter winter. But more bitter still was the enmity with which many young nations of the world had regarded Britain then, licking its wounds from the disaster of Suez.

Suez, which had destroyed the career of Sir Anthony Eden, had made Macmillan his successor. Macmillan came to the head of a party in disarray and a nation divided, beaten and almost outcast.

REBUILT REPUTATION

His first great task was to rebuild Britain's reputation ruined by the Suez adventure. This he did. And he restored the fighting spirit of the divided Conservative party to the point where it won a spectacular election victory in 1959.

Today the basis of British foreign policy which lead to Suez has altered.

Britons have learned to accept their country's altered place in the world. The Conservative party has shed enough of its empire-mindedness to reconcile itself to the inevitability of former colonial territories becoming free and independent.

Macmillan's now famous "wind of change" speech in South Africa clearly showed where the nation stood.

Macmillan had six years and nine months of power.

SHARED TROUBLES

Those years had their share of troubles and triumphs, and they were crucial years for Britain's future.

Had the nation succeeded in entering the European Economic Community Macmillan almost certainly would have gone down as the prime minister who radically altered the course of British history.

But President de Gaulle's veto effectively thwarted Macmillan's grand design, and, to some, made him appear merely a gambler who had lost.

In foreign policy, Macmillan's most consistent aim was to seek ways to reduce East-West tension. Before 1959, he had established himself as a statesman of world stature dedicated to building a bridge between East and West.

In such a role he was called the "honest broker." He saw himself as an intermediary standing between the Soviet and American giants. He advocated a policy of negotiating with Russia—a policy which earned him the displeasure of some allied statesmen.

PURSUED POLICY

The easier state of international affairs, the big gain of the East-West nuclear test ban treaty, are seen by Macmillan's supporters as the results of the policy he pursued.

Looking back, Britons can say they became richer under Macmillan. But this prosperity, social observers have said, bred a new complacency among the British. Macmillan's phrase "you never had it so good" seemed to mirror the national mood, and opponents sneered at his emphasis on materialism.

But Macmillan offered no excuses. "Anyone who remembers the mass unemployment between the wars is not likely to see much merit in poverty and hunger," he snapped back.

Information Incorrect, Says Harding

To the Editor:

Sir — In the Nelson Daily News of Oct. 11, the Social Credit candidate for the Kaslo-Slocan has again given incorrect information to the residents of this riding.

As the N.D.P. candidate in the Kaslo-Slocan, I did not have the information regarding the land settlement price in the Duncan Area at the time of the Spring Session at Victoria as suggested by Mr. Campbell. The information came into my hands during the recent election. This can be verified by those concerned.

The suggestion by Mr. Campbell that the information was withheld by me until the election was announced is absolutely false. His suggestion reflects no credit to either himself or his party. Apparently he made no attempt to verify his statements. Mr. Campbell could easily have done this. He visited the party concerned during the election and discussed the compensation award. Why did he not then enquire as to when I received the information?

I can assure every resident along the Arrow Lakes and in the Duncan Dam Area that in the event of the dams being built I will be willing to assist them in any problem dealing with relocation and property compensation, etc.

RANDOLPH HARDING.

Old Paper Found in Greenwood

Sir — I have been collecting old newspapers as a hobby, and have come across a copy of "The Daily News."

This paper is dated Sunday, July 24, 1904, and is in very good condition.

The paper was found in an old farm house at Midway, B.C., and must have been lying there since 1904.

Thought this might be of interest to you as a news item.

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oct. 19, 1963

The United States imposed an embargo on Cuba three years ago today—in 1960—in an attempt to tumble the Castro regime. Canada was criticized by some U.S. sources for continuing to trade with Cuba and in reply it was argued that Canada always had traded with all countries regardless of political color.

1944 — Russian troops invaded East Prussia.

1945—The UN charter was ratified by the Canadian House of Commons.

BELLUNO, Italy (Reuters)—Rescue teams Friday dug out the bodies of nine more victims of the Vaiont flood disaster which devastated the Piave Valley near here nine days ago. About 2,100 persons are believed killed or missing in the disaster.

Sacrament Change Squeaks by Council

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican ecumenical council voted qualified approval Friday to changes in the Roman Catholic sacraments, such as baptism, penance and matrimony.

The changes will permit use of modern languages in the rites and will give extreme unction a new name, "annointing of the sick."

Proponents say such changes will make the sacraments mean more to Catholics.

The council fathers — cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and other prelates from around the world—voted for the changes in approving the third chapter of a council schema on liturgy, or public worship.

Only 30 of 2,214 prelates voted against the chapter. But outright approval came from just 1,130 council fathers. The other 1,054 fathers gave approval but with reservations.

The result was that the chapter failed to get a definite two-thirds majority of 1,477.

APPROVE AMENDMENTS

The council fathers already had approved 10 amendments to the chapter, one by one, by overwhelming majorities earlier in the week.

But the suggestions made by those who voted approval with reservations—"placet juxta modem"—now just go to the liturgy commission for further work and amendments.

The council then must approve the amendments, but no new vote is needed on the full chapter, which is regarded as approved.

A two-thirds majority vote of "placet" and "placet juxta modem" approves a chapter.

The most important of the amendments approved this week, and thus included in the full chapter for the balloting today, allows legal languages in the prayers for administering baptism, confirmation, penance, holy orders, matrimony and anointing of the sick.

Only a few key words of the sacramental rituals will remain in Latin.

SPEAK NATIVE TONGUE

For example, in penance a Catholic making his confession will hear the priest say the absolution prayers in the penitent's own tongue except for the words of absolution: "Ego te absolve, in nomine Patries et Filius et Spiritus Sanctus" (I absolve thee, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost).

In the case of baptism, the actual conferring of the sacrament in the words "I baptize thee, in the name of the Father . . ." will remain in Latin.

Another major change gives extreme unction the new name "anointing of the sick." The idea is to show Catholics they should not fear that the sacrament means death is near.

Vatican sources said work has been completed on another document designed to counter the use by anti-semites of scriptural references to the Crucifixion of Christ.

POINTS TO TRUTH

"The importance of the document is that it will point up, for the first time in an ecumenical council, that all the Jews of history—and especially the Jews of today—are in no way to be considered as part of something that happened 2,000 years ago," an informant said.

The document emphasizes Catholic doctrine that all mankind is responsible for Christ's death and that it is a serious sin to discriminate against an entire people because of wrongs committed by individuals.

It probably will not reach the council floor before the end of this session Dec. 4, the sources said. The text has not been made public.

PLANS WATER RATIONS

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China will sharply reduce its fresh water supply to this drought-stricken British colony next year, the Hong Kong government announced Friday. A government spokesman said Red China could only give 28 per cent of the normal annual supply owing to low rainfall in the neighboring province of Kwangtung where the water supply comes from.

Business Spotlight . . .

Mitchell Sees Wheat Sales As Prosperity Determinant

VANCOUVER (CP)—The new president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce says Canada has suddenly turned full circle to where "wheat is the determinant of our prosperity."

Says Howard Mitchell of Vancouver:

"Do you remember the days when everyone held his breath to see what kind of crop was maturing? How 50,000,000 bushels meant the difference between a prosperous year and a poor year for the whole country?"

Publisher Mitchell is not saying that Canada is back in that fix, but in an interview here he emphasized that recent wheat sales are indeed of profound importance.

And the importance extends far beyond economics.

Mr. Mitchell, who was elected at the annual meeting of the chamber in Quebec City this month, said the Canadian economy has in recent years become so diverse crop reports are just absorbed in the general news.

Sale of $500,000,000 in wheat and flour to Russia now means that scores of millions of dollars will be pumped into the economy through the Prairies.

"We have the situation of 19,000,000 Canadians producing the vital part of the food to sustain two Communist countries whose populations approach 1,400,000,000. In our relatively free economy, our production is doing this job."

He said the sale calls into question how much of Russia's need is due to drought and how much to lack of encouragement of farmers to grow all they can, as efficiently as they can, through being able to keep the product of their labor.

"But this may be the greatest single secret that a delegation of Communists, coming to Canada, would discover. If they were to transpose the terms of reward to their own countries, they might produce a great deal of their own food."

Another factor to ponder was the long-term ability of buyers to maintain enough foreign exchange to pay for the wheat. Only sales in large quantities to the West can guarantee this, he said.

"If, in the future they have the physical need for the food, but not the money to pay for it what do countries like Canada and the U.S. do about it."

The key to this problem and the key to economic relations with countries of East and West alike is open discussion, Mr. Mitchell suggested.

Interpreting the News

By ALAN HARVEY

As blood stains the Saharan sands, French hopes for friendly links in North Africa suffer another blow.

The undeclared war on the desert frontier between Algeria and Morocco, embroiling two Arab nations who boasted of their undying brotherhood, is a sad and pointless affair.

News of the clash between the two tatterdemalion armies will be received in sour, we-told-you-so fashion by French right-wingers who predicted upheaval would follow the end of the colonial era in Algeria.

The fighting is taking place around the disputed frontier posts of Hassi Beida and Tinjoub, near the formerly French-controlled desert of Colomb Bechar and Tindouf, long claimed by Morocco.

Underlying the struggle are potential mineral wealth and the personal clash between the strident, pushful socialism of Algeria's President Ben Bella and the feudal regime of Morocco's King Hassan.

Ben Bella, who emerged from a French prison to become the hero of Algeria's liberation, has gradually ousted all rivals to power. Like many a revolutionary leader, he apparently finds it easier to fix his people's eyes on foreign discontents than on the intimidating task of internal reconstruction after eight years of war.

So Ben Bella, clad in battledress, called in the Algerian National Assembly Wednesday for the "mobilization of all the energies of the nation." With unemployment running high, hundreds of ragged men lined up to enlist—and got their first square meal in a long time.

The struggle defers any further talk of the unity of the Maghreb — an Arabic word meaning the west. Even Tunisia, a much less revolutionary power, feels itself threatened in the new dispute.

President de Gaulle's hope for fruitful co-operation after "decolonization" seem temporarily in abeyance.

Bears Prefer Life in National Park

TERRA NOVA, Nfld. (CP)—Perhaps the black bears have heard about Newfoundland's decision to declare them a game animal.

Or maybe it's just the word of good eating in the Terra Nova National Park dump is getting around.

In any case, the animals are steadily increasing in number in the park 95 miles northwest of St. John's.

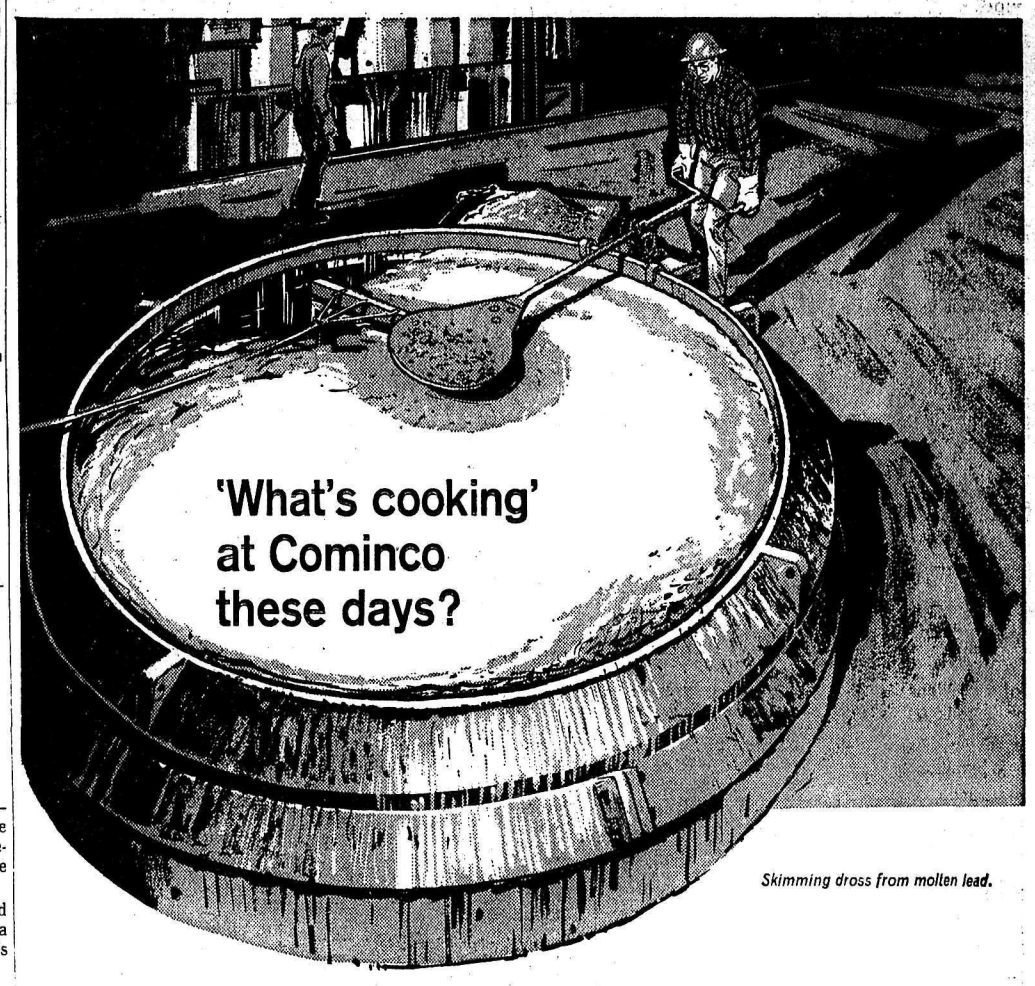
Officials are rather pleased since the bears are big attractions for camera-toting tourists. On the other hand, there's some concern because the animals are becoming dependant upon man for food.

The dump, located a few hundred yards from the Trans-Canada Highway, is a favorite gathering place for the bruins.

Most tourists remain in their cars after driving to within 100 feet or so of the animals. And park visitors are advised that when they're not preparing meals they should make sure their food is left in the car.

The black bear, native to Newfoundland, was formerly considered nothing more than a nuisance. But last year they were declared a game animal and licences for the season which began Sept. 17 are $10.

But of course the bears in the park are protected — and possibly that's why more are flocking there.



Skimming dross from molten lead.

In this particular kettle—lead, ultimately to be cast into "pigs" for use in Canada and shipment to world markets.

But there are many things "cooking" at Cominco these days, many developments indicative of the expanding operations of the Company.

In Canada, Cominco's growth is reflected by a major increase in fertilizer output, a three-fold expansion of pig iron production, an enlargement of chemical plants and an increase in available power by international exchange. The first Metal Products Research Laboratory devoted solely to research on uses of lead and zinc will be completed by the Company in 1964. A new mine at Pine Point near Great Slave Lake will bring one of the world's largest lead-zinc deposits into production by 1966.

Cominco's interests are global, too. A new project at the Douglas Mine in Montana will produce phosphate rock concentrate for our Elephant Brand fertilizers. In partnership with Indian industrialists we are building a new electrolytic zinc plant and chemical plant at Alwaye in Southern India. And exploration for new mines is being carried out in several countries.

Cominco is growing and changing—not only to meet but also to anticipate the diversified needs of industry and consumers for metals, industrial chemicals and fertilizers.

Modern Living In A Modern Age

Better Your Living in 1963

Old Kitchens Due for Change

Napoleon said an army "travels on its stomach" — and most mothers will tell you that the same thing is true of a family. Which makes the cook and her "theater of operations" mighty important, and is why so many families in setting up their schedules of home improvement, give top priority to the modernization or remodeling of the kitchen.

A good approach to the whole subject of "re-doing" the kitchen is to ask yourself this question—if you were buying a new home, what kind of kitchen would you want? Then compare this "dream room" with your present kitchen. The chances are the two rooms are not very much alike, but they could be.

Remodeling and modernization can change the size, shape and efficiency of your kitchen as well as its appearance, at a cost that may well be considerably less than you now think.

One of the first things you should do is make a list of everything you wish to replace, together with all of the additional appliances or fixtures you want.

Very early in your planning, it is a good idea to consult with specialists. There is an abundance of professional help available to you. You can work with an architect or kitchen designer, a kitchen cabinet dealer, a store which may offer you a complete "kitchen package" or the home economists of a utility company. Do not hesitate to ask for bids or estimates, especially if the job will involve major structural changes.

STEP-BY-STEP PLAN

Depending on financial or other factors, you can do an overall job of remodeling or modernization at one time, or can make your desired changes a step at a time, major appliance center by appliance center, until the job is finished.

If you take the latter course, be sure to plan ahead for the future installations of wiring and plumbing that will be required to complete the picture of your "dream kitchen."

The newest concept in kitchen planning is to analyze the kitchen according to work areas, which are basically three in number. (1) the stove or cooking area, (2) the sink or cleaning area, and (3) the storage area.

A dining and food planning area is often included. To plan a kitchen that is easiest to use, the first step is to decide exactly what is needed in each area. The best coordination of the work areas with one another will follow naturally.

Worth considering in planning a program of kitchen modernization are these basic characteristics of the up-to-date kitchen.

(1) Step-saving. Kitchens are planned for time-and-step-saving convenience. Appliances, counter space and storage units are grouped so that the housewife can quickly turn from one to another, enabling her to prepare a meal on a "turnaround" basis.

(2) Easy-to-maintain surfaces. Plastic laminates are used extensively for cabinets, wall surfaces and countertops. The housewife appreciates the advantages of a surface that can be kept clean with a damp cloth.

(3) Lighting where it should be. No homemaker likes to work in her own shadow. For this reason the trend is to get away from center lights and instead have them under the cabinets. The ideal arrangement is to have a light for every countertop.

MAJOR APPLIANCES

With respect to major kitchen appliances, manufacturers are offering a wider variety of units than ever before, and designing compact units that can be used for many chores, rather than several units for several different chores. Whether these units are free-standing or built-in, they have a built-in look for easy coordination.

Compact units mean less steps and more room for storage. The variety of design means that it is possible to find just the right major appliance for the needs of the family.

A good example of the trend to multi-functional units is the new type of range that does a number of cooking tasks, from baking and broiling to grilling to range-top cooking.

Kitchen Desk Ups Efficiency

A work-corner in the kitchen for correspondence, filing and all sorts of paper-homework is a tremendous contribution to housewifely efficiency.

If desk construction is in your new kitchen plans, arrange for a panel of pegboard backing. This will serve as a bulletin board, to post grocery lists and specials. A rack for magazines and a cookbook shelf will also be useful. A drawer deep enough to hold a standard office file will quickly organize such household necessities as tax records; two shallower drawers will accommodate paper supplies.

Corns on the foot are an admission that ill - fitting shoes have been worn.

Dynamiters Play Leafs Tonight

Nelson Maple Leafs, the only undefeated team in the Western International Hockey League, meet Kimberley Dynamiters in the Civic Centre Arena at 8 tonight.

The game, one of two league contests scheduled, is the first meeting of the teams who are currently tied for second place. Rossland is at Spokane in the other game.

The Leafs, fresh from their 9-6 victory over Trail Smoke Eaters in Trail Thursday, will be trying to cut down the Dynamiters and gain possession of second spot, or a tie for first if the red-hot Warriors are beaten by the Jets in Spokane.

Coach Bob Wiest of the Leafs, proud of his club's effort in their last game when they downed the Smokies playing shorthanded, hopes to ice a full squad for tonight's important game.

The Leafs played Trail minus defencemen Marsh Severyn and Harry Smith, and also without the services of forward Doug Kilburn. Severyn and Kilburn will be dressed for tonight's game, but because no word has been received on Smith's release from Trail, the big rearguard is not expected to play.

Forward Neil McClenaghan, who helped out on defence the last game, may also miss the contest because of a foot injury.

If McClenaghan is forced to sit out the game, Wayne Farenholtz will be dressed to fill out the lineup. Farenholtz played his first game with the Leafs Thursday and added an assist to the Nelson scoring cause as well as playing a strong game both offensively and defensively.

Along with Severyn, regulars Shorty Malacko and Dave Stewart will be on the blueline in front of either Gus Adams or Bruno Forlin. Adams and Forlin have been alternating in the Leaf goal so far this season, but Wiest wouldn't say Friday night which of the netminders he would use.

Mike Laughton and Bobby Kromm will be back playing with linemate Doug Kilburn for Nelson's first string. The trio has proven to be one of the club's best combinations and is continually a scoring threat while on the ice.

The second line will see Mickey Maglio, Howie Hornby and Alf Wakelam blasting shot at the Kimberley net, while Lyle Folkestead, Charlie Burdette and Al Romer will add their weight to the strong Nelson forward lines.

The Kimberley squad, playing its second game in as many nights, will bring many familiar faces, as well as some new ones, into the game.

Hugh Hooker tops the list of players well known in Nelson. The rugged defenceman starred with Notre Dame Knights here last season and has proven a valuable asset to the Dynamiters. Also on the blue line is Reo Touzin, a former Maple Leaf.

George Gibson, yet another ex-Leaf defenceman, will miss the game due to an ankle injury.

Andy Drobot, Wally Peacosh and Les Lilley, all well known WIHL veterans, combine for the Dynamiters strongest forward unit.

They are bolstered by Ken McTeer, Wayne King, Don White, Wally Souter and Dick Vincent and another former Nelson player, Bill Taylor, although it is not known if Taylor will be dressed for the game.

Bob Wardle in goal rounds out Kimberley's lineup for tonight's game, which the Dynamiters will be trying their hardest to win. The club is hungry for a victory, after dropping Friday's game to Rossland, and would also like to grab second spot from the Leafs. Kimberley would probably also like very much to hand the Leafs their first defeat of the season, but the Nelson club will have something to say about that.

FIGHTS

Montreal — Zora Folley, 209½, Chandler, Ariz., outpointed Billy Daniels, 193, Brooklyn, N.Y., 10.

Tokyo — Jose Medel, 117½, Mexico, and Tetsouro Kawai, 117¼, Japan, drew, 10.

Leafs in Second Place Due to BCAHA Ruling

Nelson Maple Leafs fell from sole possession of first place in the Western International Hockey League into a tie for second place with Kimberley Dynamiters Friday without facing another club on the ice.

The Leafs were handed the setback in the form of a telegram from the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association.

Nelson had rolled up a total of six points on three victories in its first three outings of the season, but now will show only four points in the standings because the BCAHA upheld a protest lodged by Rossland Warriors before the first game of the schedule.

Warriors protested the game because the Leafs used controversial defenceman Harry Smith before he had been released by Trail Smoke Eaters.

Smith is still out of the Nelson lineup due to the fact that the Smokies refuse to give him his release.

Reports from Trail Friday, however, said that there is a good chance Smith may be given his freedom, and the right to play for Nelson, very soon if current negotiations between the Leafs and Smoke Eaters continue.

WIHL STANDINGS

Rossland	2	1	0	16	7	6*
NELSON	3	0	0	22	10	4*
Kimberley	2	2	0	20	21	4
Spokane	1	1	0	18	12	2
Trail	0	4	0	13	39	0

*Rossland gain 2 points from Nelson due to protested game.

ROSSLAND (Special to the News) — Rossland Warriors walloped the highly touted Kimberley Dynamiters 7-1 before about 500 fans here Monday night and with the help of a B.C. Amateur Hockey Association ruling, waltzed through the back door into first place in the Western International Hockey League. The loss left Kimberley is a second place tie with undefeated Nelson Maple Leafs.

Ray Demore led Warriors to their second straight victory over the Dynamiters by scoring a hat trick. Bill Martin, up from last year's Junior Smokies added two goals to the Rossland attack while Norm Picco and Harold Jones notched singles. Veteran Ken McTeer tallied Kimberley's lone marker.

Warriors vaulted from third place in the standings, which they shared with Spokane Jets, into the lead by gaining two points for their well-earned victory over Kimberley, and another two points for a game they lost 3-1 to Neslon in their first outing of the year.

Rossland protested the game with the Leafs because the winners used Harry Smith for the game. Smith played without his release from Trail.

Friday, the BCAHA upheld Rossland's protest and the two points for the game were taken from Nelson and awarded to the Warriors.

DEMORE STARS

Demore was the sparkplug in the club's victory Friday. He scored the first three goals of the game, giving Warriors a 2-0 first period edge and a 3-0 second period advantage before McTeer came through with Dynamiters' only goal. Rossland led 6-1 at the end of the middle frame.

Warirors' young forward, Martin also had a good game, scoring twice as Rossland dominated the action most of the 60 minutes. Seth Martin, Warriors' net minder, was also a standout even though he was called on to make only 21 saves. Wardle in the Kimberley net had to stop 38 Rossland drives.

Dynamiters' goal came with Warriors a man short.

Knights Return To Action Sunday

Notre Dame Knights return to action Sunday in Spokane when they meet Gonzaga Bulldogs for the second time this season.

In their first outing, also in Spokane, Knights held the powerful Bulldogs to a 1-1 draw.

Since that game, Gonzaga has proven itself by defeating Trail Junior Smoke Eaters twice, once in Spokane and once in Trail. The U.S. club leads the league with five points, Nelson is second with one, while Trail and Cranbrook are in last place with no points.

Cranbrook sees its first Kootenay Junior International Hockey League action of the season this weekend at home against the Smokies Saturday and Sunday.

For the game Sunday, Knight coach Ernie Gare says he will have to juggle his lineup in an effort to make up for his lack of experienced defencemen. This has been the club's major problem since losing Walt Chernenko, Hugh Hooker and Tom Pearson.

Gonzaga has a strong club with 14 experienced players, 11 of them from last year's club.

To try and contain the Bulldogs, Gare will use his regular lines of Miles Deharnais, Danny Calles, Bob Durkin; Jimmy Shkwarok, Mike McAstocker, Charlie Cuzzocrea and Pat Riva, Bill Sloan, Ernie Moisey.

This leaves Shelly Atwell, Len Bousquet, Wayne Deharnais and Jim Murphy on defence.

Gare said he would also dress Gary Perno as a fifth defenceman and would have Jack Leggett in goal.

Canucks, who had some trouble getting a team together this year, now have players but the exact personnel of the squad is not known.

As well as a number of new faces, the Canucks also have a new coach, Fred Brown, who took over the reins from Carl Johansen.

Cranbrook will have holdovers from last year, Mel Knight, G. Kilback, Harry Brown and C. Heinemann and newcomers Jack Littler (last year with Notre Dame), Frank Raymond, Ken Johnson, Frank Fairclough of Fernie, Barry and Ron McKay, Fred Trimmer and a few others.

Team manager is Rick Spooner with Art Taylor ,equipment manager.

Nelson To Host Grass Hockey Meet Today

West Kootenay High School sports activities swing into full action today with two tournaments scheduled for Nelson and Castlegar.

In Nelson today, LV Rogers girls will host five district teams in the annual grass hockey tourney.

Teams have been entered from Stanley Humphries, the defending champion from Castlegar, two from J. Lloyd Crowe in Trail, Lucerne High School in New Denver, Salmo and Grand Forks.

The second tournament in Castlegar will feature seven teams in the annual boys' soccer competition.

LV Rogers, champions for the past six seasons heads the list of soccer entries, while teams from Castlegar, Trail, Nakusp, New Denver, Salmo and Grand Forks will endeavor to gain the prized Imperial Bank Trophy which Nelson has held so long.

Nelson's chances of retaining the soccer championship have been lessened considerably this year because of a new system of picking up teams at LV Rogers.

The new system, called the pool system, puts all players wishing to join school sports in one group from which all teams are chosen. The winning soccer team, chosen from the pool, enters the annual tournament instead of the former school rep team which used only the top players from the student body.

The new system, designed to encourage more participation, makes 75 players eligible for the rep team whereas under the old system only 15 players on the team represented the school.

NDU Pups To Start Hoop Season

The Notre Dame Pups play their first game in the Trail District Senior B Basketball League in Trail today. Game time in 6:45 p.m.

Pups played in the league last season, but only on an exhibition game basis.

The second string will have Sylvano Duregon, Fred Simister, Allan Melviott, Bill Duff and Alfie Vaagen.

Bell and Simister are both from Rossland, Flynn comes to Nelson from Port Alberni and Olinger from Kelowna. Farm last played for Gonzaga Prep, Duregon is from Trail and Melvicott is from Kimberley while Duff comes from Vancouver College and Vaagen is here from Prince Rupert.

The club goes into league action with only four practices under its belt because of a late start this season and a problem of rebuilding the squad.

Curling Response Encouraging

Officials said Friday that response to the Nelson Civic Centre's new curling system has been encouraging and is expected to be quite successful in its first year of operation.

To date, about 25 inquiries have been made by various interested individuals and groups.

It is hoped that the new system, once started, will include men's, ladies' and business curling clubs as well as a mixed league and a shift workers league.

A school league is also planned and will include entries from Notre Dame University, LV Rogers High School, the Nelson Junior High School and the Nelson Vocational School.

It was also reported the Civic Centre has acquired a new machine for cleaning curlers' shoes before taking to the ice along with other necessary equipment such as rocks, new hacks, measuring devices and lounge equipment.

SAVOYS MEET ITALICOS IN TRAIL SUNDAY

The Nelson Savoy Soccer Club, with four straight victories under its belt, will try to make it five in a row Sunday when it battles Trail Italicos in the last game of the first half of the 1963-64 WISL season in Trail.

The playoff positions for the 1963 fall cup competition will depend on the outcome of Sunday's games. The first place club will go against the third place club, while the second and fourth place teams tangle in the semi-final action. The winners of the semi-finals will then battle for the Fall Cup, top honor after the first half of the schedule.

Savoys will leave the Civic Centre at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, for the game in Trail.

Playoff Positions at Stake In WFC Action This Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Eskimos have learned how to win, but Taylor Field still sticks in Calgary's craw.

It's been one of the constant things in two years of Western Conference football frought with revolution.

By most other measures, Calgary is a good bet for victory tonight at Regina against the Roughriders in a game highly-charged with playoff hopes.

But with the exception of one Calgary - Saskatchewan playoff game there last year, Stampeders haven't drawn an easy breath at Taylor Field since 1960.

Edmonton's trip to Vancouver has historical precedent of a different sort. When they take the field tonight it will be with more than 30,000 fans watching, one of them chosen as the "two-millionth fan" to watch the Lions play in Empire Stadium.

He will receive an abundance of gifts from a new car down, as did his predecessor — the "millionth fan" — on Aug. 31, 1959 when 34,272 saws Lions edge Esks 8-7.

Both games have special significance in Conference standings. Lions, by winning, move within one victory of a first-place finish and bye into the WFC final series.

Saskatchewan, by defeating Calgary, force Winnipeg Blue Bombers to beat B.C. twice in their remaining games of the season to overtake Roughriders for the third and last playoff spot. A win for Calgary makes second place certain, keeps first-place hopes alive, and gives the club choice of venue in a semi-final series.

B.C. coach Dave Skrien says his team finished fourth last year because it couldn't adjust to winning. Skrien is taking no chances despite Edmonton's sorry 2-11 record on the season.

"It's a fallacy to assume a team is about to obligingly drop dead for you simply because you've beaten them twice before this season. In some ways the Eskimos have a lot going for them — no playoff heat, no pressure and nothing to lose."

Defensive coach Jim Champion spoke admiringly of Esks on the basis of films of their game last Monday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats, won by Hamilton 28-17. He said Ti-Cats were lucky to win, and halfback Jim Thomas of Edmonton was a standout.

"Thomas disturbs me," said Champion. "Inside a couple more years he will be all-star material and I am not very pleased with the way he is playing right now."

Bill Wakeham Still Winning

SYDNEY, Ausralia (CP-Reuters) — Canada gained an even split this morning in three foursomes matches against Britain in the final round of the Commonwealth amateur golf championships. Each country won one match and the third was halved.

Undefeated Australia meanwhile took a 2-1 lead over South Africa, the defending champions, in the other half of the day's competition.

Canadian winners were Bill Wakeham of Victoria, and Bert Ticehurst of Vancouver,, who defeated M. Lunt and A. Thirlwell 5 and 3.

Nick Weslock, 46, of Burlington, Ont., and Gary Cowan, 24, of Kitchener, Ont., both former Canadian amateur champions, halved their match with Sandy Saddler and Ron Shade.

Doug Silverberg of Calgary and Keith Alexander of Calgary lost 4 and 3 to Mike Bonallack and P. Green.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

RED COLONEL STOPPED

BERLIN (Reuters) — American military police Friday held up for 20 minutes a Soviet lieutenant-colonel in West Berlin in retaliation for harassment of an American vehicle in East Berlin two days ago, allied officials said. The Soviet officer's limousine with a driver and the lieutenant colonel was stopped by military police and two cars blocked its path.

Drunk Drivers Not Criminals Says Magistrate

VANCOUVER (CP)—Drinking drivers should be sent to jail but not branded criminals, Magistrate Bernard Isman said Thursday.

He made the comment during a courtroom exchange with prosecutor Jeremy Gratrix.

Magistrate Isman said he felt prosecuting drinking drivers under sections of the Criminal Code is wrong because the convictions become part of a criminal record.

"It is unfortunate that people engaged in legitimate pursuits are branded criminals under the Criminal Code for making the mistake of driving after taking a few drinks," he said.

Mr. Gratrix said he believed increased fines are reducing impaired-driving arrests.

"They have done nothing better than impose a hardship on families of persons involved."

THIRTY FLEE

CALGARY (CP)—A two hour blaze in a downtown rooming house Thursday caused extensive damage to a two-storey building and forced 30 persons to flee. No one was injured in the fire which was answered by nine rigs and watched by a crowd estimated at 500.

WOMAN ELECTED

REDCLIFFE, Alta. (CP) — Mrs. Madeline Bodner became this town's first woman councillor Thursday after civic election ballots were counted three times to confirm her one vote edge over incumbent Stan Baldry. The count was 191 to 190.

AWARDS OF HONOR for the year went to David Cole of Nelson, left, and David Weatherhead of Nakusp, chosen by the Canadian Circulation Managers Association on the occasion of the Nelson Daily News celebration of National Newspaperboy Day, today. David Cole, 13, plans to attend university. David Weatherhead, 14, plans to be a school teacher. The certificates state the holders "displayed qualities of integrity, enterprise, intelligence, devotion to duty and good citizenship in a degree that distinguishes them as outstanding among more than 55,000 newspaper boys who deliver daily newspapers in Canada." They are signed by the CCMA president, and by James F. Smith, News circulation manager.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market coped with profit taking Friday and managed to keep a pretty even keel. Trading was active.

Industrials poked their way into new high ground early in the session but late selling had marred the small advance with the result that the market barometers backed away from their best levels.

The Dow Jones industrials closed with a net loss of .17 at 750.60. Standard and Poor's 500-stock index gained .06 at 732.32.

Volume was a lively 5,840,000 shares compared with the exceptionally large 6,800,000 of the previous session.

Great Western Financial was the volume leader dipping ⅜ to 17½ on 276,500 shares.

INTEREST RISEN

After the close, the New York Stock Exchange announced that the short interest on the exchange had risen by 416,307 shares to a total of 6,633,210 shares from the month-ago figure and was the highest since Nov. 15, 1962. This is the total of stock borrowed to effect "short sales." Since the stock must be placed in the future with purchased stock, it represents a buying cushion under future markets.

The gain in the short interest was less than the 10-per-cent rise generally expected in the street.

Among Canadian issues traded, Aluminium Ltd. and McIntyre Porcupine gained ⅜, Distillecs Seagrams ¾ and Walker Gooderham ¼. Dome Mines and International Nickel fell ⅛ and Granby Mining ¼.

Prices on the American Exchange were irregularly higher. Brazilian Traction, Jupiter and Scurry Rainbow Oil fell ⅛ and Canadian Pacific gained ⅛.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market finally came to life Friday afternoon with base metals and Western oils taking the lead in moderate trading.

Earlier in the day the market was undecided, but at close of trading the industrial index was ahead .85, western oils 1.29 and base metals 1.17. Golds declined fractionally.

Among major industrial gainers, B.C. Sugar gained 1¼ to 42¼ and Canadian Industries Ltd. and Home B 1⅛ each to 18 and 15¼ respectively. Canadian Vickers rose one point to 20½.

After a weak start papers gathered strength during the day. Crown Zellerbach up one point to 57, and Abitibi and B.C. Forest ⅜ each.

Senior base metals moved ahead, Falconbridge ⅞, Noranda ⅝ and Geco Mines ⅜. Golds softened, Dome slipping one point to 28½.

Newnorth led active speculative mines, gaining 1½ cents to 16½ cents on more than 146,000 shares.

Senior western oils were strong, Union Oil up ⅜ and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas ¼.

Golds were heavy losers in the foreign market, Dickenson down 35 cents to $5.80 and Kerr-Addison 20 cents to $6.20.

On index, industrials advanced .85 to 660.03, western oils 1.29 to 122.78, base metals 1.17 to 211.96 ana golds dipped .56 to 86.74. Volume for the day was 2,917,000 shares compared with 2,864,000 Thursday.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of my dear father, ERNEST RICHARD MILLER who passed away suddenly October 18, 1962.
The tears in my eyes do not glisten,
My face is never sad,

That I think of my dear father I had.
His memories are my treasure,

God has him in His keeping,
But I have him in my heart.

He Brings the World to Your Doorstep . . .

This clean-cut young fellow is the last link in the long chain of communication that brings the news to your home. He carries perhaps the most vital commodity made in America — news as reported in a free press. He is your newspaper boy!

With him rides a sense of responsibility, a feeling for time —for business-like effort. All a result of training.

Actually he is a "Little Merchant." He is learning that personal enterprise is a challenging education in itself. By learning to serve you well, he serves his own future . . . as a better citizen.

Many of our newspaperboys find that a paper route can lead to a college education. Many are saving for it. Many regularly bank their profits . . . seeing the tangible rewards of accomplishment.

Each newspaperboy is given practical training in business-like procedures, in handling forms, etc. He learns responsibility and the ability to get along with people. He is encouraged to work for top grades in school.

National Newspaperboy Day
