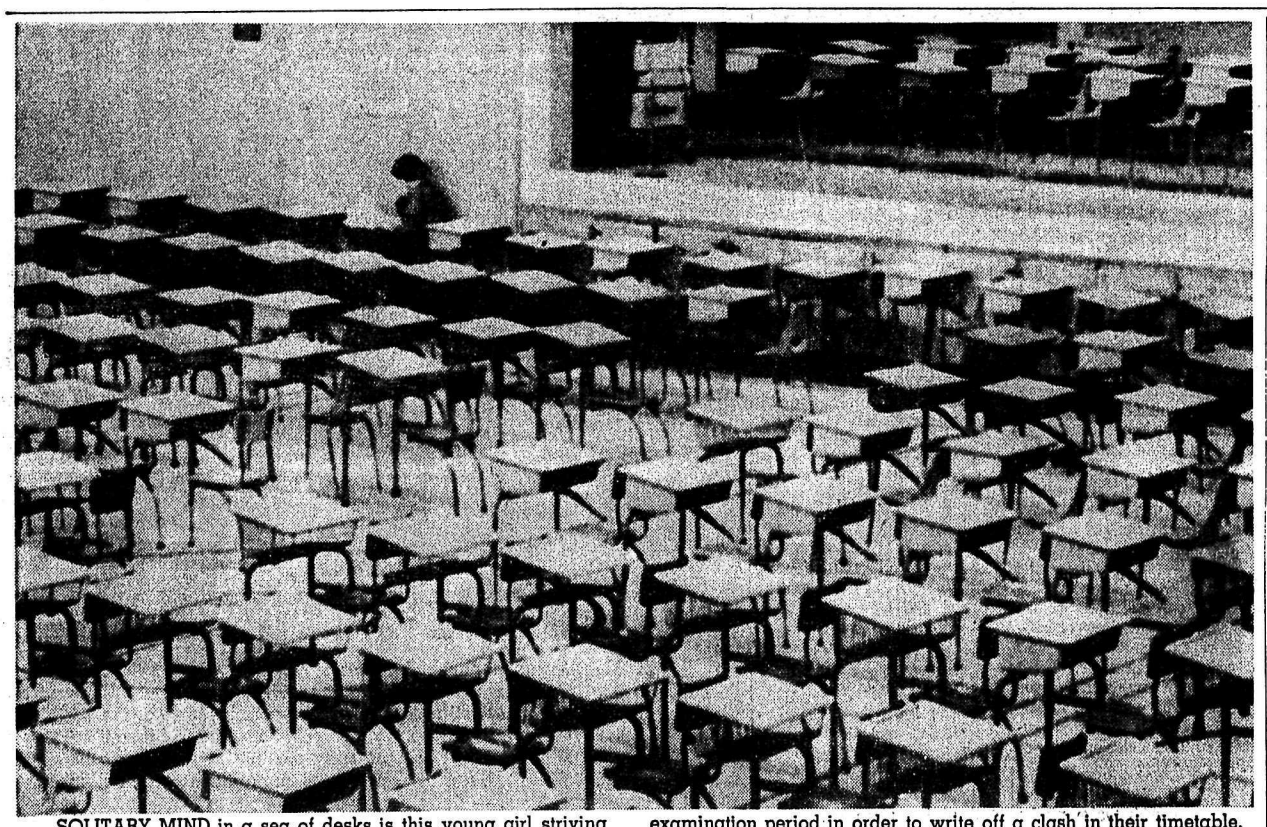
Robarts Quashes "Police State" Powers Move



SOLITARY MIND in a sea of desks is this young girl striving to tell her teachers what she knows. Some 600 students at L. V. Rogers High School are in the throes of Easter examinations. Some, like this student, continue writing after the scheduled end of an examination period in order to write off a clash in their timetable. About 3600 examinations will have been written by Thursday in the gymnasium where 300 desks have been set up.

Prigmore Acquitted

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A 12-man Assize Court jury deliberated for only nine minutes Friday before acquitting Glen Prigmore on a charge of criminal negligence in the fatal shooting of his son Nov. 22.

The boy, Gordon, 17, was killed in a hunting accident near Chase, 40 miles from here.

In a 30-minute charge to the jury, Mr. Justice T. W. Brown said "there was no conflict about the events of the tragic day."

The judge said the members of the jury would have to decide if the shooting "showed a wanton and reckless disregard for the lives and safety of others.

P. D. Seaton, Crown prosecutor, called for a conviction.

"Prigmore admitted knowing his son was in the area and also said he had shot blindly into trees where he had seen movement," Mr. Seaton said.

Defence counsel Norman Fetterly of Kamloops said the incident was just "a tragic event."

He said evidence showed the son had moved through the bush towards his father.

"Witnesses have also said fresh deer tracks led to the place where Gordon was shot."

"We will never know what made the boy leave the road, one-quarter mile from his father, and walk into the woods."

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar unchanged at 92 9-16 in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago 92 9-16. Pound sterling down 1-16 at $2.79 53-64.

MONTREAL (CP)—The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was unchanged at $1.08 1-32. Pound sterling was down 1-16 at $3.02 5-16.

Overrules Attorney-General As Bill's Implications Seen

By BOB EXELL

TORONTO (CP)—Premier John Robarts decreed sudden death Friday for alleged "police state" powers proposed in his government's Police Amendment Act.

The premier told the legislature, and then reiterated out of the house, that provisions of the act which had been widely condemned as oppressive would not go through the legislature.

In so doing, Mr. Robarts overruled a member of his cabinet, Attorney-General Frederick Cass. It seemed clear at the end of a day of fast-moving developments that Mr. Cass would not long hold his present job.

The bill introduced in the legislature by the attorney-general Thursday would have given the Ontario Police Commission the power to imprison persons indefinitely without trial.

QUESTION PROCEDURE

Immediately after the extraordinary powers of the bill became known publicly, persons at the legislature and, for that matter, throughout the province, began to ask how the bill managed to get through cabinet and to the floor of the house.

Premier Robarts refused to say whether he was aware of the full implications of the legislation. He indicated only that the bill had gone through cabinet in the normal manner.

A high Conservative party source said, however, that the government "boobed."

As the legislature began its morning sitting Mr. Robarts told the house that the legislation would be changed.

"I will just repeat that I have already told the press that I personnally would not tolerate any legislation which infringes upon or jeopardizes the basic, fundamental, personal rights and freedoms of the individuals of this province," he said.

PLEDGES EXAMINATION

The bill would be completely re-examined by the legislature's committee on legal bills.

Criticism thundered down on the legislature from a broad stormfront. "It carries us back to the spy inquiries during the last war," said John Arnup, treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada.

He was referring to powers that would be given to the three-man Ontario Police Commission to force a person to testify under oath without benefit of counsel. Refusal to testify would mean eight days in jail.

In the legislature, Liberal Andrew Thompson said Mr. Robarts was duty-bound to ask for the resignation of Mr. Cass —a move already forecast by one newspaper, the Toronto Telegram.

In the House of Commons Reid Scott (NDP—Toronto Danforth) attempted unsuccessfully to force an emergency debate on the proposed Ontario legislation. But the Speaker ruled it could be thrashed out in the budget debate now under way.

Favorable reaction came from a few quarters. Mayor James Bauer of Waterloo, chairman of that city's police commission, said that "when there is a serious threat to the public good, sometimes the government has to assume certain powers that normally should not be granted to them."

Magistrate Thomas Graham, a member of the Ontario Police Commission, said the extraordinary powers were necessary to curb organized crime.

Cyprus: All Quiet

CP From Reuters-AP

NICOSIA — Calm returned to Cyprus Friday in the wake of fierce fighting in which eight persons were killed and seven wounded.

Six Turkish-Cypriots and two Greek-Cypriots lost their lives in the fighting Thursday near the villages of Ghaziveran and Kalokhorio in northwest Cyprus, a British military spokesman said. Three Turkish- and four Greek-Cypriots were reported wounded.

British troops will patrol and ensure freedom of movement in Ghaziveran under an agreement reached Friday.

The majority of the 1100-member Canadian contingent for the United Nations Cyprus peacekeeping force was on the island or en route Friday but the UN force has not become operational and the Canadians have not been involved in the latest outbursts.

A United Nations command spokesman said Friday the build-up of the Canadian contingent will be completed March 29 with the arrival of the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure at Famagusta. Aboard will be 77 men and 54 vehicles and other equipment.

Legislature Prorogues

74 Bills Passed During Short 42-Day Session

VICTORIA (CP)—The first session of British Columbia's 27th legislature was prorogued Friday night as the Social Credit government won a battle to prevent it from reaching a record length.

Prorogation came at 7:44 p.m. after Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes gave royal assent to 74 bills embodying the government's 1964 legislative program.

The session lasted 42 days — three short of the record set in 1920 and equalled in 1962 and 1963 — but until the last couple of days there had been talk of post-Easter sittings.

The talk ended Tuesday when Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced to the house that three new bills were the last of any substance to be introduced by the government.

Before proroguing, members voted 36 to 13 to ask the federal government to ratify the Columbia River treaty "without delay." The opposition New Democratic Party voted against the government and Liberals.

AMEND ACTS

Key measures given royal assent were a new Mental Health Act and an amendment to the Revenue Act that will permit the government to invest up to 25 per cent of the share capital of the new Bank of British Columbia.

The opposition generally welcomed the mental health legislation and the idea of a new federally - chartered bank but aspects of both bills brought prolonged and sometimes heated debate.

The official New Democrat opposition, with 14 seats in the 52-seat house, objected strongly to sections of the Mental Health Act which made the superintendent of a mental institution final judge as to whether a mentally - ill person should be admitted to the hospital.

Under the old act the superintendent's decision was subject to appeal in the courts. Health Minister Martin said a recent court decision upholding the courts' right to order an admission threatened to inundate provincial mental health facilities.

The five - member Liberal group in the house objected stubbornly to the absence of any mention in the bank bill as to how much money the government planned to invest, and the government's reluctance to give the house details on the bank it was sponsoring.

TAKE OTHER STEPS

Other bills approved at the session:

1. Validated the 1961 takeover of the B.C. Electric Company and subsequent activities by the government and its agencies in power matters;

2. Provided for the removal of tolls April 1 from the government's last two toll structures;

Aside from new legislation, the two fields of government policy that attracted the most attention during the session were social welfare and parks development.

At every available opportunity the opposition struck out at welfare policies which were variously termed wasteful and short-sighted.

A speech during the budget debate by Recreation Minister Kiernan provoked a minor storm that continued until Friday, when his department's 1964-65 estimates were finally approved.

In his original speech Mr. Kiernan said he saw nothing wrong with well - controlled, limited mining and logging operations in large wilderness parks.

Conservationists outside the house and most opposition members objected vehemently to what they considered was an open invitation to logging and mining interests to despoil the parks.

Mr. Kiernan said later, however, that his remarks had been misconstrued and that the government had no present plans for going beyond present policies of trading timber tracts in parks for more desirable recreational sites.

The budget itself, which provided for record expenditures of nearly $400,000,000, provoked relatively little comment.

GIVE GREEN LIGHT

KELOWNA (CP) — Property owners in unorganized areas of four school districts have voted 1417-733 in favor of establishing a Kelowna hospital improvement district. When trustees are elected they will prepare a money bylaw for a new hospital and changes to the existing hospital.

Brothers Appointed To Mines, Oils Portfolio

VICTORIA (CP) — Three Social Credit backbenchers were appointed cabinet ministers Friday night.

Ralph Loffmark, member for Vancouver-Point Grey, becomes minister of industrial development, trade and commerce, succeeding Attorney-General Bonner.

And Dan Campbell, member for Comox, becomes municipal affairs minister, succeeding Provincial Secretary Black.

Mr. Kiernan's other portfolio — commercial transport — is moved to Mr. Bonner.

Mr. Black remains provincial secretary and social welfare minister.

Mr. Loffmark, first elected to the legislature in the 1963 provincial election, is a professor of commerce at the University of B.C.

D. L. BROTHERS

Mr. Brothers, a lawyer, was elected in 1958 and Mr. Campbell, a school teacher, was elected in 1960.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan, asked for comment, said: "I laughed and laughed and laughed, once for each new minister."

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said the changes are essential and an increase in numbers—10 to 13 — inevitable.

He hoped that with Mr. Black free of his municipal affairs portfolio he would be able to "dedicate far more of his time . . . to social welfare."

One of the first to congratulate Mr. Brothers in the Rossland-Trail riding was Burt Campbell of Castlegar, who welcomed the fact that the Kootenays now have "two capable ministers especially at a time when there are busy times ahead of us in the Columbia River development."

The former president of the Rossland-Trail Social Credit Association and candidate in the Kaslo-Slocan riding said, "This is wonderful news for the whole Kootenay area. It was a deserving appointment, for Mr. Brothers has been a good MLA and a strong government supporter."

Three Men Rescued from Crash Site

FORT NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Three men from Anchorage, Alaska, who escaped serious injury in a night-time crash-landing on a lonely lake were rescued and brought here Friday by bush pilot Sherwood Moffit of Dawson Creek, B.C.

They are: Frank Hern, 37, pilot of a single engine Beechcraft owned by Dr. Richard Stingly of Anchorage, and passengers Harold Bennett and Leonard Willbanks.

Brendan Behan Succumbs at 41

CP from AP-Reuters

DUBLIN—Brendan Behan, 41, bolsterous, bibulous Irish playwright-patriot, anti-British terrorist and incorrigible rebel against authority, died Friday night.

At the end he was a burned-out tippler, leaving a relatively small body of published and dramatized works. His literary career had promised to be brilliant rather than merely spectacular.

The chubby, pear-shaped little Irishman with the twisted grin and the puckish rebound from ever - imminent disaster long had suffered from diabetes and other infirmities that either arose from excesses or dictated a more austere life for survival.

Behan would periodically ignore the cautions and go on a bender with often spectacular results. His last major collapse in a diabetic seizure with complications of jaundice began a week before St. Patrick's Day.

Behan sank into a coma on the evening of St. Patrick's Day and the doctors began a despairing series of bulletins—condition very grave, extremely grave . . . .

The end came at 8:40 p.m. for the former revolutionary, reformatory inmate and Irish prison convict. He had been in a coma for five days in Meath Hospital, with his wife, Beatrice, at his side. One of his latest binges began with the birth last December of their first and only child, a daughter.

Physicians performed two emergency operations to help Behan's labored breathing.

Behan was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church Monday. He called himself a Catholic but a bad one.

Behan's wife was given a sedative and friends took her home.

Two of Behan's plays, The Quare Fellow and The Hostage, attained resounding success but his alcoholic didos in the latter years overshadowed his literary production in the public eye.

Behan was an unreconstructed Irish rebel to the end and a masterful distiller of irreverent prose. A publisher's jacket display on Borstal Boy bore these quotations from Behan:

"As regards drink, I can only say that in Dublin, during the depression when I was growing up, drunkenness was not regarded as a social disgrace. To get enough to eat was regarded as an achievement. To get drunk was a victory. . . ."

"I respect kindness to human beings first of all, and kindness to animals. I don't respect the law; I have a total irreverence for anything connected with society except that which makes the roads safer, the beer stronger, the food cheaper, and old men and old women warmer in the winter and happier in the summer. . . ."

Five Half Way Through 30-Day "Space Journey"

SEATTLE (AP)—A five-man crew has passed the midway mark on a 30-day make-believe journey in space to test life-support systems, special food and themselves.

They're trying to learn whether a ship-load of explorers actually can survive a long voyage into the far-out.

Their spacecraft is anchored to the ground in the Boeing Company plant in Seattle, and their quarters consist of two large chambers built to simulate those in a space station or a base on the moon.

The ship was designed and built by the company for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The men breathe air manufactured on board by chemicals which absorb carbon dioxide and turn out life-giving oxygen.

The crew uses the same water for drinking and washing over and over again. The supply system collects and processes water from body waste, drainings from sinks and condensation from their quarters.

Boeing scientists figure man on earth uses more than 400 pounds of water each day. Hauling enough for five men for a 30-day stay on the moon would be out of the question.

The men use the usual space-flight squeeze tubes for some of their food. The remainder consists of freeze-dried foods restored to their old shape and looks with water and heat.

The crew sleeps four hours and works eight at housekeeping, mental and physical tests, navigation and maintaining equipment.

Records are kept of each man's weight, pulse, temperature, water intake and output, heart action and blood count.

One of the few contacts the men have with the earth they "left" March 2 is a communication system so a doctor on the outside can interview each man daily.

There was an abort in the test's first takeoff last summer. The men were in their fifth day when the waste disposal system failed, and the flight had to be chopped short.

Belli Quits Bar Association

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lawyer Melvin Belli said Friday the Jack Ruby defence was "assassinated" by Dallas justice.

And he said he's quitting the American Bar Association because its president rebuked his courtroom outburst at Dallas.

"I would say those things again," Belli told a press conference after his discharge as lawyer for Ruby, convicted killer of Lee Harvey Oswald who was accused as the assassin of President Kennedy.

"It was we who were assassinated there" (at Dallas), said Belli.

Belli said he knew the Ruby case was lost as soon as Judge Joe B. Brown denied a change of venue from Dallas.

"If we could have moved to Austin or San Antonio, I would have walked my client out on the street," Belli contended.

In Dallas, after Ruby was sentenced to death in the electric chair, Belli said it was a "kangaroo court" trial.

B.C. House Votes For Columbia Ratification

VICTORIA (CP) — The B.C. legislature voted 36 to 13 Friday in favor of asking the federal government to ratify the Columbia River Treaty "without delay."

The resolution was moved by Donald Brothers (SC—Rossland-Trail) who said "an unholy trio is opposed to the treaty — the New Democratic Party, Saskatchewan and the Communists."

The remark drew cries of "same old smear" from the New Democrats.

Mr. Brothers said 74 per cent of the Kootenays voted against the NDP and H. W. Herridge, federal MP for Kootenay West, should speak for the majority.

"If he doesn't want to do this he should resign," Mr. Brothers said. "Herridge is leading the NDP on a kamikazi mission to doom."

Randolph Harding (NDP — Kaslo-Slocan) said Mr. Brothers was saying the most important legislation now before Ottawa should not be scrutinized.

"If anyone had the support of the Communists it is this member of the House," said Mr. Harding.

He moved an amendment to the resolution urging the treaty be ratified "after full and careful consideration" in the Commons external affairs committee.

The amendment was defeated 31 to 18 with the Liberals voting with the NDP.

Premier Bennett called the NDP comments "a red herring" and said the party was "trying to get off the hook."

" 'Without delay doesn't mean no discussion." he said.

The NDP members were not Communists, he said, but on this issue they were "fellow travellers"—they were following the same course.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan called government members "cheap politicians" and accused them of "false promises."

The Communists had supported the government and Mr. Brothers would not be in the House were it not for Harvey Murphy, Canadian president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers "and his commies."

"The Communists will get into bed with anybody," Mr. Strachan said.

And in This Corner . . .

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Alabama Supreme Court has upheld a lower court decision reversing the conviction of a man fined for catching fish with his bare hands.

T. H. Scott was convicted and fined $25 after state conservation officers said he was plunging his hands into Big Bear Creek and grabbing the fish.

The conviction was thrown out by the Court of Appeals. In refusing to review this ruling Thursday, the state Supreme Court gave no opinion but a similar case was dismissed recently on grounds the court called frivolous prosecution.

VICTORIA (CP)—Highways Minister Philip Gaglardi said Friday that police have not yet located his highways department car which disappeared from the legislature parking lot during the night.

Police said they suspect the car was taken by some youths observed in the parking lot Thursday night.

Mr. Gaglardi said: "Premier Bennett said to me 'That's an awfully sneaky way to get yourself a new car'."

Command Sentenced To 3½ Years in Prison

CRANBROOK — Kenneth Harold Command, 51, of Kaslo, was found guilty of manslaughter by an assize jury, deliberating less than two hours, before returning their verdict. Mr. Justice Angelo Branca, presiding at the assize session, sentenced him late Friday afternoon to three years' and six months' imprisonment.

In charging the jury Friday morning, Mr. Justice Branca told the jury it had four possible verdicts, guilty of capital murder, guilty of non-capital murder, guilty of manslaughter, or not guilty of any of these charges. He said in his opinion the evidence did not justify the capital murder verdict, and he outlined the differences of degree of the three "guilty" possibilities.

The charge followed the death of Command's wife, Dora Isobelle, from a rifle bullet, October 17, at a house in Brouse where she had gone from their Kaslo home while Command was having arthritis treatment at Vancouver.

Evidence had shown strife between the two when he discovered household furniture gone from Kaslo, had joined her at Brouse, and she had refused to rejoin him at Kaslo or at Nakusp where he suggested they settle.

Prosecuting the charge was T. C. Bowen-Colthurst QC of Victoria, assisted by Peter Graham, Cranbrook, and defending lawyer was Harry Rankin of Vancouver.

Last Chance On Centennial Project Offered

All interested citizens will have a chance Monday night to present their choice and reason for a centennial project in Nelson.

The round-up of project ideas will be heard by the club's project committee Monday night at 8 p.m., in the Royal Canadian Legion.

The panel discussion will be conducted by chairman H. Farenholtz along with G. B. Arnesen, P. D. V. Murison, A. H. Allan and M. Robson, all of the centennial project committee.

After Monday night, the committee will make the final decision on a project. There will be no plebiscite.

The club has narrowed suggested projects down to five but are still open for any further project suggestions.

Richard Parkyn received his bravery award from H. W. Stones at Burton ceremony.

Parkyn Receives Bravery Award

BURTON — For his brave, although unsuccessful endeavor to rescue young Michael McCormack from Caribou Creek into which he fell while fishing last year, Richard Parkyn received an award from the Royal Canadian Humane Association.

Residents from the area attended the presentation in the Full Gospel Church here as the 14-year-old boy was handed a certificate of bravery, a framed parchment.

Richard Parkyn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Parkyn of Burton. Michael McCormack, who drowned while fishing last August, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCormack of Burton.

H. W. Stones of Burton, who was instrumental in obtaining the award by writing to the association and telling of the attempted rescue, made the presentation.

He outlined the work of the association, which was formed about 70 years ago. Information is checked by committees, he said, before awards are given, to make sure they are warranted. Mr. Stones has been instrumental in obtaining many other awards for bravery in the Kootenays.

A special instrumental number was given by Rev. and Mrs. Jonat, and Mr. Jonat spoke briefly on "Awards and Rewards." A hymn and prayer closed the meeting.

Week-Long Water Pageant Program Preparation Completed

A full review of this summer's boat show and Water Pageant International July 5 to 12, inclusive, was given by the committee Friday in a publicity release prepared by Walter Davis, secretary-treasurer.

The committee said it felt the time for releasing a full story was ripe in view of the many questions being asked.

The outcome of thousands of letters mailed to both Western Canada and the United States has shown enthusiasm far beyond the committee's expectation, it said. Since its inception in September the program has been extended from one day for the water pageant, and the six days for the boat show, to an excitement-packed eight days.

The big show starts off with a Sunday parade featuring local and district bands, including the Trail Navy League Cadets and Wrenettes. This will be a fitting greeting to the visiting curlers arriving during the day. The Naval Cadets will climax their program with an impressive sunset ceremony. Ernie McLachlan and C. Van Pelt, co-chairman of city lighting, have reported all is ready for dressing the city routes with myriads of lights in boating motif.

Monday morning will see the opening of Baker Street's merchant museum which will include highly varied displays of artifacts, rare items and all manner of valuable collections. There will be something of interest for everyone. This museum, believed to be the first of its kind anywhere, will be under direction of W. A. Fetterley.

WEEK'S SHOW

Monday morning also marks the opening of the week-long boat show at Lakeside park. This will consist of boats, motors and boating equipment. North America's largest manufacturers, distributors and local merchants will display and demonstrate in this unique land and water show. The many entries are the result of thousands of letters sent to boat concerns all over the continent.

SPECTACULAR DAY

Wednesday is the big day. The many attractions will include a water show featuring water skiing, canoe tilting and log rolling. Also seen will be a helicopter fire fighting demonstration and a drop from these same machines of cash certificates to provide kiddie scrambles. Canada's high diver will plunge from the centre ramp of Nelson Bridge; the unique aquacar will perform from the ramp. There will be a fly past of ancient aircraft from Spokane, followed by a modern flight. Arriving by water from south of the border will be a flotilla of upwards of 100 boats. American boatmen are organizing this cruise-in to participate in, and enjoy the water pageant.

In the park visitors and residents will be able to purchase novelties and souvenirs manufactured by local artisans under the chairmanship of Z. Kujundzic. Spectacular park decorations are being planned by E. Marza, chairman of the committee, with a simulated lighthouse as its focal point. A Doukohbor evening meal will be served at the park, providing a rare treat for those who wish to enjoy a full day.

To improve staging facilities the floating band shell will be anchored just off shore. This aquatic stage is designed after the Hollywood bowl for ultimate acoustic qualities. The 40-foot wide stage opening will amply accommodate the pageant and many other functions to follow. Provision of the stage is made possible by donations from local and district industries and commercials.

Setting for the evening entertainment will see the park adorned in lights, with simulated bonfires along the beach. A flag pageant will open the entertainment. This will consist of presentation and placement on the stage of flags of many nations. Participants will be members of local sorority chapters garbed in appropriate costume.

To ensure full enjoyment it is planned that the pageant will be broadcast from the park over CKLN facilities under the chairmanship of A. R. Ramsden. Amplification will be distributed throughout the park.

Following miscellaneous entertainment, spectators will thrill to the illuminated water parade. A fabulous presentation is expected. Taking part will be floats from cities of Western Canada and United States, ethnic groups, local and district clubs, industries, organizations and individuals.

Many of the cities will present their queeens in this parade. From reports received the floats this year will far surpass in design and splendor those of last year. A gigantic fireworks display, coupled with a torch light parade on to the bridge, and featuring a 500-foot long Niagara fire fall will be a spectacle long to remember. During the evening finale, the parade of illuminated boats will serpentine on the lake.

Thursday will see a tour of the Slocan and Kaslo areas and other points of interest which has been arranged for the queens and visiting dignitaries. And still in the planning stage is a "Kootenanny" for the evening (a Kootenay Hootenanny) followed by a dance.

During Friday and Saturday the Midsummer Bonspiel and Nelson Square Dance groups have functions lined up for the visitors which will keep them occupied and happy.

Sunday will mark the return of the Nelson Regatta to climax the Pageant and Boat Show week. On tap is a series of American hydro boat races by five classes, including those in the 70-80 mile per hour range with 50 boats participating. It is expected the heats will take most of the afternoon.

An added interest will be a display by Nelson's world-famed Lady Bird — the famous craft of the "roaring twenties." It is being rejuvenated for this occasion under the careful supervision of Bill MacDonald, sanctioned by L. F. Gilbert, the owner.

Negotiations are still under way with the Russian embassy to have their $50,000 hydrofoil craft, Volga II, take part in the activities.

Arrangements for a military band, perhaps two, are practically complete for visits during the pageant week.

Many organizations and individuals are working earnestly toward a successful pageant.

A handsome 48-page brochure in the process of preparation, together with a pageant publicity campaign, will provide Nelson and area with more tourist drawing power than that derived from any other entertainment promotion, the release said.

In conclusion, said Mr. Davis, the foregoing program will give Nelsonites and guests a range of entertainment "not exceeded or eclipsed anywhere."

A TOKEN of appreciation for over 14 years' service on the Kootenay Lake Hospital Society is presented to director H. J. Witchell (right) by past chairman J. H. Coventry following the 71st annual meeting of the society. Mr. Witchell received the honorary life mimbership for his outstanding interest in the society's plant and property commitees. A life membership was also granted to H. D. Harrison, past president of the society, but he was out of town at the time. — Daily News photo.

Kaslo To Form Hospital Improvement District

KASLO — The green light was flashed Friday night to form a Hospital Improvement District in the next step toward building a proposed $400,000 hospital here.

About 175 Kaslo and district residents gathered at the hospital board meeting and gave unanimous approval to forming the district, as required by law, before making formal application to the government.

A letter received from Health Minister Miss Judy LaMarsh indicated that when the application for assistance was made to the Federal Government it would be received favorably.

The proposed 20-bed hospital would cost the raepayers about $140,000 which would be financed by debentures.

Board members elected to serve a two-year term on the Kaslo board were Mrs. Beryl Higgins (reelected), Herman Carlson and John Nugter.

Elected for a one-year term of office was Roy Kreuger (reelected) and Sam Nomland.

The group gave a thunderous vote of thanks to the hospital board for reopening the hospital following the six-month closure and a special thanks to the hospital physician Dr. L. Besecker.

Papers Signed For Senior Citizens Villa

With necessary documents signed, resolutions were passed by the Kiwanis Club Projects Society Thursday night required to speed negotiations for the federal government loan for the club's senior citizens' low-rent villa project.

Attending the meeting to assist when necessary was H. T. Fraser of Trail, manager, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Society chairman J. W. McClelland and secretary John Kristensen reported the certification of papers for the loan of $56,000 by the architect, David P. Fairbank, and the contractor Louis Maglio, as well as the committee, had been completed and were being rushed to Ottawa.

Aiding the $100,000 12-unit project will be a grant of $32,385 from the provincial government.

Guests besides Mr. Fraser were M. J. McElgunn of Creston, of the department of citizenship and immigration and Allan Ryall of Nelson.

Cheque Given To Choir Leader

Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson and her Nelson Boys' Choir were aided with a $450 cheque for their Easter concert trip to Victoria.

Rotary Club president Malcolm Brandon presented the cheque Friday on behalf of Nelson citizens.

Part of the donations of over $750 went towards printing a well-appointed program of the choir's March 31 concert. Included in the eight-page pamphlet are descriptions and illustrations of the choir and its leader. About 3000 copies were printed.

While in Victoria Mrs. Ferguson will be interviewed on CHEK television at 12 noon March 31 and on Victoria radio station 1190 during the same morning at 8:15 a.m.

Rumors Buzz In Victoria On MLA's Plans

VICTORIA — Is Kaslo-Slocan MLA Randolph Harding going to leave provincial politics for the federal field?

It has long been speculated that when Kootenay-West MP H. W. Herridge retired, Mr. Harding would allow his name ot stand for the federal NDP nomination. It is well known that Mr. Harding is Mr. Herridge's choice to succeed him as NDP standard-bearer.

During the present session of the legislature nearing its end here, cabinet minister after cabinet minister and many government backbenchers have tried to smoke Mr. Harding's intentions out. However, he sits back in his seat, smiles and doesn't deny his ultimate aim is a federal seat.

Man May Lose Other Leg

A second leg amputation looms for a young Nelson man.

Walter Popow, 21, was transferred to Kootenay Lake General Hospital last week from Swan River where he wandered around lost in a blizzard for 15 hours over three weeks ago.

Popow's leg was amputated five inches below the knee last week and it is now feared his other leg must be removed too.

There is the possibility he will be removed to a Vancouver hospital where further efforts to save his leg may be made.

Popow had travelled to Swan River to visit his uncle and look for a job when the accident occurred.

Unaware of the approaching snowstorm, Popow left the road about 2 p.m. and headed for his uncle's line.

When the blizzard hit, he was only a short distance from his destination but the blinding storm confused him and he wandered in circles until spotting a cabin which offered some shelter.

Popow had no matches and it was not until about 4 a.m. the following day he was found near frozen by some bush workers.

His feet, fingers and ears were frozen.

Popow and his wife, who is expecting her first baby next month, are living on social welfare.

Creston Approves School Referendum

CRESTON — The $280,000 school referendum was passed Friday night by a margin of 82 per cent of the vote with 573 voting yes and 122 persons no. There were five spoiled ballots.

Of the school construction the provincial government will pay $140,000. The referendum provides for construction and accommodation so the return of Grade 7 classes to the elementary school will now be in effect and overcrowding in schools at Erickson, Canyon, Lister and Creston will be relieved.

The referendum was called because the school population is increasing at the rate of four per cent per year and accommodations have become critical.

Classrooms will be constructed for Canyon (one), Erickson (two), Lister (one) and south Creston for a four-room primary school to look after Grade 1, 2 and 3.

The referendum contains provisions for reconstruction at Prince Charles, Crawford Bay and a building site for a future school in east Creston.

Equipment for new schools, new courses and improved heating and lighting systems will be provided for all schools.

The school district's share will be borrowed by selling debentures to be repaid over a 20-year period. Yearly cost to the district is $7000 principal plus interest.

Interest charges decline annually as principal of $140,000 is paid off.

There will be no borrowing until construction starts in the fall, it was reported.

Babic Again Wins Model Car Trophy

Previous winner of the Ted Allen Trophy, George Babic captured the trophy again for the best built custom car entered in the Nelson Model Association display.

he Nelson youth won the trophy for the best custom model entered in the senior division cars class. Mr. Allen will present the troph yto him today.

Models of cars, boats and planes are being shown in the Driftwood Room in the Hume Hotel today.

Mr. Babic also won first prize in the competition and senior stock car models in the senior division.

Wilf Playdon took first in the pickup senior division class.

The two-day exhibition has on display 84 car models and 17 models of boats and planes. The 101 displays represent approximately 1563 hours of work by the contestants.

Main purpose of the contest was to encourage model building in the Nelson district, club treasurer Jack Langill said.

Judges for the car models were Jim Milne, E. S. Owens, and B. B. Crawford. Boats and planes were judged by A. Farenholtz and George Babic.

Prizes are donated by local businessmen. Ivan Horie assisted the group.

Fruitvale Deficit $12,000

FRUITVALE — The Village of Fruitvale ended the year with a $12,000 deficit, an auditor's report revealed at a village commission meeting here this week.

Most of the deficit was attributed to the additional paving carried out in the year as well as the extra expenses incurred during the winter works program.

This program included construction of a 1200-foot sewer main, a new parks building and sidewalk construction.

SEEK STRICTER PARKING REGULATIONS

FRUITVALE — The village commission is seeking better enforcement against illegal parking in the village.

In particular, loading and unloading of goods consigned to commercial businesses on Main Street here has created traffic hazards and the commission wants its parking bylaws enforced better.

If necessary, the commission wants stricter parking regulations.

O. A. Jamieson has been appointed full-time works foreman for the village.

Commissioners are to study recommendations made by the SPCA for setting up a dog pound in the village.

The commission, however, up to now has felt it cannot take part in the setting up of a pound to serve the area from Castlegar, Rossland and Fruitvale and other communities in between.

The commission will have representation at a meeting being called in the Montrose municipal office March 25 to discuss joint efforts to have electricity rates reduced in the area to compare with those charged Trail residents.

SECOND WORST KILLER

Since 1953, cancer has followed apoplexy as Japan's most deadly disease.

Gaglardi Outlines Roads Programs

VICTORIA — Hon P. A. Gaglardi committed himself definitely to a program of work on the Rossland-Sheep Lake Highway, the Brilliant Bluffs section of the Castlegar-Nelson Highway, the Kinnaird interchange and Salmo Junction in a statement made Thursday morning.

Other highway work on which the minister could not definitely promise action were the Trail-Castlegar Highway and Trail arterial highway through Rossland Avenue.

Mr. Gaglardi said it was his intention to pave the first section (from Rossland five miles or so) of the Rossland-Sheep Lake highway this year.

He said he would also be paving a piece of highway known as "Salmo junction, Highway Three and Six," but he did not know precisely the extent of the work.

Mr. Gaglardi said he intended to begin work on the Brillant Bluffs section of the Castlegar-Nelson highway this year, on a day-labor basis.

He said he was "looking into" the possibility of reconstructing the Trail-Castlegar highway.

The minister, who said he was outlining his program at the request of Rossland-Trail MLA Donald L. Brothers, said the department would continue outstanding Rossland-Sheep Lake construction contracts and was aiming for completion of a gravel road this year.

Also to be built this year would be the Kinnaird interchange, a semi-clover leaf arrangement carrying traffic from the Blueberry-Paulson over the Trail-Castlegar highway to the new Columbia River bridge at Kinnaird.

He said guard-rails would be installed this year at dangerous spots on the Blueberry-Paulson, particularly in the McRae Creek canyon area.

Concerning Trail arterial highways, the minister said he still "would like" to start construction through Rossland Avenue this year.

"But the plan still isn't complete," he said, "and I don't know yet whether we shall be able to get at the work."

However, it may prove possible to start work on the East Trail arterial instead.

"I am not positive as to how much we can get done there," he said, "but I am certainly fighting for it and so is Mr. Brothers."

Approval Given For New Denver Dormitory Use

VICTORIA (CP)—Welfare Minister Wesley Black announced Thursday night that the cabinet "has given the green light" for the Social Welfare Department to make some use of the New Denver dormitory.

Mr. Black told the legislature the department has begun a study of possible uses of the $400,000 structure — a former tuberculosis sanitorium. Later it was used to house delinquent Sons of Freedom school children. It has not been in use for over three years.

Mr. Black, replying to a question by Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan), said he plans to head a delegation to New Denver for an on-the-spot investigation of the building and its potential.

"We hope to have the facility in use through the year," he told the House.

The question was raised by Mr. Harding during discussion of social welfare estimates.

RITES AT CRESTON FOR F. R. WAYLETT

CRESTON — Frederick R. Waylett, a long-time resident of Creston, passed away in Creston Valley Hospital at the age of 78 years. Funeral rites were held Thursday.

Born in Petrolia, Ont., on June 9, 1885, Mr. Waylett received his education at his birthplace before journeying westward. He was employed at various centres in different occupations before arriving at Fernie, where he owned and operated a store until he was wiped out by the fire of 1907.

He then travelled to Creston Valley and took up employment with the C. O. Rodgers Lumber Co. as warehouse manager. Mr. Waylett was married in Creston to Margaret L. Gross on June 29, 1922.

He was employed as janitor in the B.C. government building until his retirement in 1950.

Surviving are his widow, Margaret, at Creston; a sister, Mrs. C. R. Tallin of Winnipeg; and a nephew, G. P. R. Tallin, dean of Manitoba Law School at Winnipeg.

Funeral service was held Thursday from the Oliver Funeral Home in Creston, with Rev. F. Cline officiating. Interment was in the Forest Lawn Cemetery.

LAURIE SCHOOL BURGLARY INVESTIGATED

CRANBROOK — Forced entry of the Laurie Elementary School on South Second Street some time Tuesday night is being investigated by RCMP.

There was evidence of the door having been removed then replaced, and four dollars in cash was missing. There was no accompanying vandalism, however.

Columbia HID Trustees All Elected

TRAIL—Trustees for the three zones in the proposed Lower Columbia Hospital Improvement District have all been elected.

Thursday night in Montrose, R. Morandini was elected to a two-year term while Carl Henne was elected to a one-year term.

In Fruitvale Wednesday night Alec Graham and Jim Tarbet were elected.

Tuesday night Jim Little of Warfield and S. D. MacIsaac of Oasis were elected as trustees for Zone 1.

The trustees were elected as zone representatives to the governing board of the hospital improvement district.

Rites Held For Logger

CRANBROOK — Rites were held Wednesday for Adam Smith, a logger on a contract basis in St. Mary's Lake area, who died at St. Eugene Hospital after being taken suddenly ill. He was 54 years old, and had brought his family here three years ago, when they established their home on Marpole St.

Mr. Smith was born at Garthland, Sask., and grew up at McDowell, Sask. He logged in northern Saskatchewan until coming here. Surviving are his wife, Kathileen, at home; five sons, Garry, Geoff, Kenneth, Richard and Burton, all at home and six daughters, Mrs. Tom Pocha (Judy) Giscombe, B.C., Mrs. Larry Adams (Joan), Patricia, Opal and Janet, Cranbrook, and Nora, Vancouver. Three grandchildren, three brothers and two sisters, also survive.

Rev. A. C. Schindel conducted the funeral at the Pentecostal Church and burial was in the Cranbrook General Cemetery.

INQUEST INTO CHINESE DEATH ADJOURNED

CRANBROOK — Inquest into the death of Charley Mah, 64, found dead Sunday west of the railway track and station has been adjourned for the present, following viewing of the body by the jury.

He was born in China and had lived in this district 45 years, engaged in general labor and cafe work until three years ago. His home was on Seventh Avenue.

Funeral rites by the Chinese organization took place Wednesday morning at McPherson Funeral Chapel and burial was in the Chinese section of the Cranbrook Cemetery.

Zoning Regulations Upheld on Rotary Villa

CRANBROOK —Following two appeals against city zoning regulations, the zoning board of appeal has rejected appeal of the Rotary Club Senior Citizens housing project, and approved in part the appeal of Russell Anderson concerning his building on Eighth Avenue at First Street South which was under "Stop Work" order.

The Senior Citizens project was scheduled for Joseph Creek block on 15th Avenue and its plans set the buildings back 20 feet from the street, which is five feet less than the by-law minimum, and area of units, though conforming with CMHC minimum living area were lower than the city bylaw minimum. Zoning regulations were upheld by the board.

Second appeal dealt with reconstruction of the three-storey former recreation club under reconstruction by Mr. Anderson when the "stop work" order was issued. Grounds were failure to conform with width of the yard between the adjoining south property, and failure to provide off-street loading and unloading access for the building. Mr. Anderson will be permitted to continue the work as he planned, providing he makes the latter arrangements. The 50-year-old building is on the alley line, but offers front-yard space for this latter arrangement.

In considering these rulings, city council this week made a recommendation that verbal permission concerning these matters be given no consideration in future rulings.

Memorial Service At Creston for Creston Pioneer

CRESTON — A pioneer-historian of Creston and one of British Columbia's noted women, died after a 10-day illness in Vancouver at the age of 89 years. Funeral rites were held for Mrs. J. W. Dow with Rev. Lennox of the Kerrisdale Presbyterian Church officiating.

Mrs Dow, born in Derbyshire, England, December 24, 1874, was the daughter of a noted carriage manufacturer. She and her family were brought up by her father following the death of their mother.

After re-marrying, her father came to Winnipeg, Manitoba, where the youngsters joined him in 1880. Mrs. Dow had many memories of this period in her life including the Riel Rebellion, the early pioneer farming methods, the hardships of pioneer life, and the integrity and loyalty of neighbors.

The family journeyed to the Kootenays and Kaslo. In 1892 she was married to J. W. Dow in the First Presbyterian Church in Nelson.

Mrs. Dow was the first bona fide settler's wife to arrive in Creston from Kaslo. Mrs. Charles Rykerts was the first white woman in the valley.

Her memoirs recall the hardship and heartbreak of the men who dyked in 1893, to see their work undone by the record flood of 1894; to rebuild and see these dykes crumble in 1898. She recalls the fear of the great typhus epidemic in 1902, when CPR construction crews were stricken and died at Goat River Crossing. Creston at this time was known as Seventh Siding with a box car station and telegraph communication.

FIRST TREE PLANTING

In 1903, Mrs. Dow records the coming of the Great Northern from Rykerts to Kuskanook, of the celebration; of the planting of the first commercial fruit trees in the valley, using the same variety as did Charles Rykerts in 1888; of the appointment in 1899 of her husband as first Justice of the Peace.

These and many more human interest stories were written by Mrs. Dow, who with her husband, was instrumental in the first school being built with 10 pupils; of their land pre-emption in 1891; of the construction of the Presbyterian Church of which she was a member and held many important church positions; and of the land grants given by the Dows for community purposes.

Her son, Campbell Dow, first white child to be born in the valley, predeceased her in 1957, and her husband in 1949. She is survived by D. W. Dow of Cranbrook; two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Bundy of Vancouver and Mrs. S. A. MacDonald of West Summerland.

Funeral service was held from Simons and McBride Funeral Home.

Obsrvance was held in Creston last Sunday by Rev. Garvin of St. Stephen's Presbyterian Church.

Plan Revision Of Kaslo Street Light System

KASLO — Plans for street lighting revisions will be presented to the Kaslo Village Commission later Commissioner W. Higgins reported at this week's commission meeting.

Mr. Higgins said he had met Mr. Nixon, representative of an electric equipment firm, and plans are being formulated. He said that the engineering report on the waterworks system, with plans, would be presented at the next meeting.

An application for a building permit was received from A. Jacobs, for renovation of building situated on Front Street; Mrs. Y. Carney submitted an application for building permit to construct a new home on "D" avenue. Both applications were approved.

The B.C. Centennial Committee has asked the Kaslo Commission to appoint a local centennial committee to work in conjunction with the provincial committee in planning 1967 celebrations. A meeting will be in and where it is hoped a slate of officers can be chosen.

Commissioner Miller was acting chairman.

Financial statement for February was presented and the disbursements, amounting to $2046 were approved.

Dundass as its new president, with Frank Gibbs and Reg Dyer vice-presidents, Harry Voisey secretary-treasurer, and directors Mrs. Frank Gibbs, Mrs. W. F. Dundass, Mrs. Paul Zimmer, Harold Wilson and Charles Draper. Mr. Draper and Mrs. Charles Lafleur are audit committee.

Benevolent fund committee members are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hardy and Mr. Voisey; building committee Mr. Zimmer, Les Carson, Malcolm Gillis and William Claydon; entertainment committee Mrs. James Vigers and Mrs. W. J. Wilson; ways and means committee Mrs. M. G. Askew, Mrs. Gordon O'Connor, and Mrs. Harold Brown; kitchen committee Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. W. J. Thompson, Mrs. Walter Matson and Mrs. Alf Bakken, visiting chairman Mrs. C. A. Hardy, and public relations, Mrs. Lafleur.

Jaycees Entertain Their Bosses

CRANBROOK — Bosses and the city council members were guests of honor of the Cranbrook Junior Chamber of Commerce at its annual Bosses' Dinner meeting. President of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce, K. N. Stewart of Fernie, chose "Leadership in the Community" for his address to the meeting following the dinner.

Entertainment program continued with a half-hour film photographed and projected with commentary by Jack Mackill, conservation officer in the Windermere valley. Subject was—game birds of the area.

The club has undertaken the program for new members and membership renewals in the Cranbrook District Hospital Society (new project), with Aubrey Marcellus as chairman.

Fred Anderson, currently president, Keith Dixon, Hugo Hess and Frank Neads will prepare nomination to be presented to Jaycees in April for election of their new officers in May, for June installation. Members were reminded the Jaycette "Let's Dance" will take place tonight.

Natal Bank Manager Transferred

NATAL — A change in the management at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch at Natal has been announced recently.

R. W. Gurney, who had been bank manager for over three years, coming to Natal from Prince Albert in 1960, has been transferred to North Vancouver. He has been replaced by W. L. (Larry) Revitt, who came from Vancouver. Mr. Revitt's wife and two children will take up residence in Natal during the Easter weekend.

Mr. Gurney was active in community work during his few years stay in the district. He was the first president of the Natal and District Chamber of Commerce and in sports was an active member of the local curling club and was president of the Little League Association. Mrs. Gurney also was an active member of the Hospital Auxiliary, the Chamber of Commerce and had been secretary at the elementary school for the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurney have left for the west coast, leaving behind their son, Ross, who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gill to complete the school term as a student at Sparwood Secondary School.

Chamber Shows Preference For Skyway Over Dewdney

TRAIL — The Trail Chamber of Commerce streamlined its monthly meeting Thursday with a luncheon and breezed through a lot of important business in less than an hour and a quarter. President Joe Kobluk promised that the noon meeting would be cut to order and little time wasted.

Chember members voted to reverse its earlier decision on the naming of the highway between Salmo and Creston. With a small majority of only two votes, members approved the motion of the executive of the Associated Chambers at Kimberley recently to name the new highway the Kootenay Skyway in preference to Dewdney Pass. One member voiced objection to the vote on the grounds that several had abstained and he felt that they should be urged to do so in the matter. Another member felt that the new vote had only led to more confusion than ever on the naming of the highway.

CASTLEGAR-TRAIL ROAD

Arnold Calder, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, had some answers on district roads to information he had sought from Highways Minister P .A. Gaglardi. Some relocation surveys have been carried out on the road between Trail and Kinnard but the plan is not yet completed. Construction on this part of the Castlegar-Trail highway will start as soon as posible, promised Mr. Gaglardi.

On the question of the entrance to Trail from Castlegar, mapping has been completed and projection is now underway in the design and planning branch. He was not able to say anything definite on the east and west entrances to Trail other than that they would be included as soon as possible.

On the Rossland-Sheep Lake link he said the two remaining contracts were about 50 per cent completed, and that with a good construction season hoped to see the road opened in 1964 but was not sure this would include paving.

CELGAR ROAD

The take-over of the Celgar road will establish a north-south route between No. 3 and the Trans-Canada Highway, but this would take some considerable development to bring up to good highway standard.

Some 40 to 60 chamber members are expected to visit the area sometime in May. They will travel here from Victoria by chartered plane.

It was also announced that B.C. industrial cost accountants would be holding a meeting in Trail and would sponsor a special seminar open to businessmen April 11.

Two chamber members appointed to the unemployment advisory committee were Claude Watson and Sam Konkin.

R. S. Taylor, Trail city engineer, was accepted as a new member to the chamber.

Legion Hears Of Function of Scout Movement

SALMO — Function of the boy scout movement in Canada was topic of an address by guests at the meeting of the Salmo Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 217.

Guests of honor were J. S. Hamilton of Nelson, president of the Nelson District Boy Scout Council; Robert Adderley of Nelson, liaison officer for the district, and E. Hearn, vice-president of the district council and president of the Salmo Group Committee.

Requirements and responsibilities for the sponsorship of a local troop were outlined in a series of slides shown by the visitors.

An invitation to First World War veterans to attend a special commemorative observance of the 50th anniversary of the departure of the first contingent to leave Nelson in August, 1914, was received from the Nelson Legion Branch.

A request from the Salmo library for financial assstance received a favorable response and a donation of $25 will be made to that organization.

An application to become a member of the Ladies Auxiliary, received from Mrs. Alice L. Lewis of Salmo, was accepted.

Notre Dame News

By CLAUDIA GWINN

High on a hillside overlooking a frigid mountain lake and nearby snow-shrouded hills, an utopic setting in which to escape daily routine ,is situated temporary retreat quarters for the Nelson Diocese.

In this environment 22 Notre Dame girls vacationed spiritually during the past weekend. Rev. Ulric Ell, OFM, directed all social functions, acquainting each retreatant with herself and Christ. Ample opportunity was provided for meditation and prayer or consultation with Father Ell, to release the tension-bound life of the university student.

Other retreats for Notre Dame students are scheduled for the immediate future, following the pattern established by those conducted previously this term.

After a quiet, secluded weekend retreat, Notre Dame donned "a bit of the green" to celebrate the honest Irish tradition of St. Patrick's Day.

Dancing to the rhythm of The Gents, amid the shamrocks were such loyal Irishmen as the Schmidts, Santessos and MacMillans. Impromptu entertainment was provided by the harmony of Erin's lads and lasses singing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and an imitation of the Beatles by the band members.

ARREST REFUGEES

HONG KONG (AP)—Eighteen refugees from Red China were intercepted by Hong Kong police in what the newspaper China Mail called the first "large-scale refugee smuggling attempt of 1964."

Young Hunters To Have Check On Vision

TRAIL — A vision screening, conducted by members of the Kootenay Optometric Association, will be given to young members of the Trail Rod and Gun Club Sunday afternoon.

Sam Sherman, chairman of the club's Junior Firearms Safety Training Program, said around 40 youngsters are expected to take part in the operation, which will take place in the Montrose Hall.

Tests will include those for visual sharpness, color discrimination, eye co-ordination and field of vision. A check will be made to determine if the dominant eye is being used for rifle sighting. Trail optometrist, Dr. Jack Kendrick, will captain the vision team. The program is designed to detect visual defects that could lead to hunting accidents.

A Name for the Living

The Honourable (Flying Phil) Gaglardi thinks that the name "Kootenay Skyway" is a ridiculous thing to call the Salmo-Creston link.

We disagree. Conventional names like Richter Pass, Allison Pass, etc., have been done to death. We see nothing wrong in honoring our pioneers but it wouldn't hurt anyone to come up once in a while with a name for the living instead of the dead.

Today more than ever before dedicated bodies of men such as the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern British Columbia are striving to develop the tourist industry in the Kootenays to what it should be. The name Kootenay Skyway is a picturesque name and one that will be long remembered by all who have occasion to travel over the road itself and hear the name spoken.

What better way to publicize our beautiful Kootenay area than this? We think it is Mr. Gaglardi who is being ridiculous. The honorable minister's comments are highly insulting to the hard-working Associated Chambers of Commerce members in whose well qualified judgment and wisdom the name Kootenay Skyway has found overwhelming favor.

This is not to say that no other suitable names have been suggested. On the contrary, many fine suggestions have been put forth. The Wedding Pass, Elk's Head Pass, Bridal Summit, Dewdney Pass, the Salmo-Creston, and others. These are all fine names indeed.

We believe that Kootenay Skyway is just one notch better than all the rest.

Tass Hands It Out

The blast by Tass, Soviet news agency, against the Erhard regime in West Germany is attracting attention for reasons besides those Moscow may have had in firing it.

Diplomats describe it as the most violent attack yet to be launched against Bonn by Soviet propagandists. Not even the former chancellor, Dr. Adenauer, was subjected to such abuse, it is noted.

Using about 4000 words, Tass has accused the relatively liberal and flexible Chancellor Erhard of heading a government under which a "new Hitler" could come to power. Tass says West Germany aims to have the strongest army in Europe and to restore the "Reich." It charges that the Erhard regime is backing up the plans of the military for "revenge."

Those who have followed the tactics of Communists over the last decade or more will not be surprised that some of the slings and arrows that Adenauer survived have been made harder and sharper for Erhard. Communists fear moderates and liberals in power more than they fear arch conservatives, as a general rule. The latter they regard as preparing the fall of their own systems into Communist control. But the former they see as postponing, if not preventing the arrival of, the Communist millennium.

Actually Erhard has taken some risks to contain extreme nationalists and possible "revanchists" among his own countrymen. He has worked to keep European doors for British entry into the Common Market, and in other ways has shown himself a European as well as a German.

If a Western nation directed such an attack against one of the Warsaw Pact members, Moscow would be quick to charge that nation with stepping up cold-war tensions. It is fair to ask if Moscow now sees reasons for doing this with its right hand while its left goes on vamping the rhythm of the "detente."

Get a Horse

"Get a horse" used to be the derisive cry early this century when an automobile broke down or got stuck in mud. But carrying a horse in his car got Sherwood Pardee into trouble.

The animal is a miniature, but live, horse only about thirty-six inches high. Mr. Pardee, of Guilford, Conn., had taken out the back seat of an old car so the horse (not a pony?) could ride with him. This it was accustomed to do, often resting its muzzle on his shoulder as he drove.

But a Massachusetts state trooper gave Mr. Pardee a ticket for a traffic violation on the theory that the four-footed passenger interfered with his rear-view vision.

After all, now, with so many horsepower under the hood of a motorcar, can't a man carry just one more little horse in the car?

Cost of Dying

That is rather a startling innovation which the United States government has instituted in figuring out the consumer price index. In figuring out the cost of living, the cost of funeral services, coffins, and all other things that go with the service, will be included. Surely they will have to change the title of the index from "cost of living" to "cost of living and dying."

Style Book

The Examiner has been engaged for some months in the task of producing a new style book. This is a set of rules for spelling, punctuation, capitalization — a guidebook for writers, editors and printers.

A newspaper style book, like most things, becomes outdated. Word usages, no less than ideas, change. We like to keep up to date. Thus, the new style book.

One innovation we mention with pleasure. We have long felt we were in some way undervaluing the special quality of San Francisco by referring to it as the ctiy, with a lowercase "c." Begining now, this is The City, with capitals "T" and "C."

San Francisco is The City far and wide the world over; but more especially to all who know and love it.

John Steinbeck said in his book, Travels With Charlie:

"When I was a child growing up in Salinas, we called San Francisco 'The City.' I still think of it as The City, and so does everyone else who has ever associated with it."

So taa, attests Kaiser Aluminum News:

"To the people who live and work in central California, there is only one City. And they call it that — The City."

Henceforth in The Examiner, San Francisco is the city. — San Francisco Examiner.

Well, back to the old style book.

New Denver Sidewalks' Lack Cited

To the Editor:

Sir — There has been a crying need for pedestrian walks along Union Street, No. 6 Highway, through New Denver for many years and nothing done about it. In the meantime 6th Street has been scrafched over several times and a lot of money spent unnecessarily.

Now, I like to ask the Village Council, why has Union Street been ignored?

When can we expect the council and Public Works Department to attend to this matter?

If a child is crippled or killed on account of being forced to walk in the path of vehicles you dear New Denver readers will have to shoulder the blame with the Village Council. You voted them in or failed to vote them out.

GOLD MARKET

PARIS (Reuters)—Prices on the Paris gold market eased slightly in quiet dealings this week. Prices drifted aimlessly in slow dealings with daily turnover averaging 4,500,000 francs.

OTTAWA (CP) — Mint gold price: Week ending March 21, $37.813125; preceding week, $37.813125.

All Number Calls Is Economy Measure

MONTREAL (CP)—Gone for most people are the days when you could pick up your telephone, say Hello Nellie, and, after a few pleasantries, have operator Nellie connect you to your party.

Going are the days when you could tell your friends your phone number of Victor-something or Mohawk - something else. Now you have to say it's 1234567, or whatever.

The changeover to all-number calling—some say it's not as convenient as an exchange name—is essentially a money-saving move with overtones of the electronic age.

Marcel Vincent, president of Bell Telephone Company of Canada said at the company's annual meeting March 12 that the pocketbook of every telephone user would suffer eventually for lack of all-number calling, and serious technical difficulties would bedevil telephone organizations around the world.

A prime factor in the switch to all-number calling—ANC Bell calls it—was the simple fact that North American telephone companies were running out of numbers.

Bell says there now are more than 80,000,000 telephones in use in North America and the figure is expected to double in 15 years. ANC provides more available numbers than the exchange name, the basis of this theory being that it's difficult to work certain combinations of letters into the first two letters of an exchange name.

FEWER USABLE CODES

The letters provide only 540 usable codes. There are 800 with ANC.

Direct distance dialing — the system whereby the caller dials a series of numbers on long distance calls and does not have to go through the operator—also was a factor in switching to ANC. The supply of area code numbers began to run out.

One solution might have been to use four digits instead of three for area codes and create more areas. But, says Bell, that would create the need for more automatic switching centres.

Each of these centres costs several million dollars, Bell says, and telephone users ultimately would have to foot the bill.

All-number calling was first introduced to Canada in May, 1960. Bell says about 67 per cent of its 4,100,000 telephones in Quebec and Ontario have seven-figure numbers now.

ANC is also being introduced gradually in the United States and more than 100 other countries already have it. Bell says overseas dialing will be available within a few years.

Income Tax for the Worker

By C. A. MILLER

Appliance service men are often at a loss as to what they may claim for expenses. Their claim, if any, depends on their contract or verbal agreement with their employer. If the employer supplies a vehicle for their transportation and pays all the expenses except the employees' meals, he would have no claim at all. There is no difference between the employee carrying his noon lunch with him and the one that eats in a restaurant.

Should his contract of employment be that the employee use his own car and pay all his own expences, then he may claim as a deduction the operating expenses on the motor vehicle. If it is a light truck and not used for any other purpose, he would be entitled to claim all the expences on it, including tires, repairs and capital cost allowance (depreciation). The depreciation rate is 30 per cent of the undepreciated cost of the truck. This means that if the truck cost $2,000 and he claimed full depreciation last year of $600, he could only claim 30 per cent of $1,400 this year.

Should it be his own private automobile that he uses both for pleasure and on his employer's business he would have to determine what percentage of its use was for earning his income. If it was determined that the business use was 75 per cent *his expenses allowable as a de*duction would be 75 per cent of the total, including the capital cost allowance.

If the employer only pays part of the expenses, the amount received, should be added to the income, and then the total expenses would be deductable. If the employer pays all the car operating expenses but nothing for depreciation on the employees vehicle, the employee is not allowed to claim for this alone.

For personal replies pertaining to income tax problems, please enclose a self-addressed five cent stamped envelope and 25c in coin for each question you wish answered, and mail to Mr. C. A. Miller, care of the Daily News.

QUESTION: I service TV sets for my employer. Once in a while I sell a new set for which he pays me a bonus. I was told this was a gift and not taxable. Is this right?

ANSWER: No. It is a form of commission and should be reported.

QUESTION: I am employed as a service man on stoves, refrigerators, washers, etc. I have to buy my own tools. Can I deduct the cost of these or take depreciation on them?

ANSWER: No. You cannot deduct their cost or claim depreciation.

Promote From Within Woodward's Policy

VANCOUVER (CP)—"If we need a vice-president we'd be doing a bad job if we didn't have a man to put in."

Charles N. W. Woodward used the words to make it plain his Woodward Stores (1947) Ltd., Canada's fourth-largest department store organization, expects to find management talent within its own stores.

"Woodward's does not go to the States or anywnere else for its talent," says Mr. Woodward, chairman of the board and chief executive officers of the Vancouver-based chain which had sales of $136,000,000 last year.

The five or six top management personnel in the company can do any job in the store with the possible exception of accounting.

"You should have good men in training at all times, and you have to give them the executive positions to give them that training," says Mr. Woodward. "If you get too thin at the top, you are going to suffer some time."

Woodward's operates or has plans for department stores in Greater Vancouver, Victoria, Kamloops, B.C., Port Alberni, B.C., Edmonton and Calgary.

Employees are moved from store to store in British Columbia and Alberta to train them for positions in new stores.

New Spelling Helps Pupils Learn Alphabet

LONDON (Reuters) — Children are learning the English alphabet more quickly with a new simplified spelling system devised by Conservative MP Sir James Pitman.

Education Minister Sir Edward Boyle Thursday told Pitman, grandson of shorthand inventor Sir Isaac Pitman, that the initial teaching alphabet plan had proved itself enough to receive grants of £9,000 ($27,000) during the next two years.

A three-year experiment using the system in 126 British schools has shown great success. The cost of the experiment has been met so far by English and American foundations.

More than 8,000 children from 126 schools taking part in trials of the new system have shown that average gains of a complete year's education may result.

Pitman's alphabet consists of 44 letters giving much more phonetic spelling.

It is easier for children to learn and later enables them to transfer quickly to the traditional alphabet.

"The transfer from the 44-letter alphabet to the traditional one is exceedingly easy," said Pitman. "It needs no conversion course."

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The long-awaited "correction" of the stock market's latest climb to historic peaks was undertaken more emphatically Friday and the list took its worst loss since Jan. 29. Trading was fairly active.

The volume of 5,030,000 shares, however, represented a decline from Thursday's 5,670,000 when the retreat was much more hesitant. The contraction in volume was regarded as a bullish sign for the long run.

Analysts noted that all "Big Three" motors lost more than a point. They linked this to developments at the United Auto Workers Union convention and fear that the union demands in contract negotiations will bite deeply into profits.

The trend was generally lower also among steels, rubbers, mail order-retails, nonferrous metals, electrical equipments, drugs and oils. Rails were scrambled, but produced some big gainers. Baltimore and Ohio rose 1⅝ and Southern Railway 1¼.

Lehigh Valley Industries was the most active stock as it continued in speculative demand. It advanced ⅜ to 2¾ on 132,100 shares.

R. J. Reynolds announced development of a new filter cigarette and rose ½.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.43 to 814.93. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 1.4 to 301.7, the sharpest loss since Jan. 29 when it fell 1.9.

An estimated $2,000,000 was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the AP average. Of 1,335 issues traded, 629 fell and 431 rose.

Among Canadian issues traded, Canadian Pacific gained ¼, Aluminium Ltd. ¼ and Granby Mining ⅛. Distillers Seagrams fell 1⅛, Hudson Bay Mining 1 and Dome Mines and International Nickel ⅛.

Prices declined irregularly on the American exchange. Scurry Rainbow Oil fell ½ and Canadian Marconi ¼. Canadian Javelin and Jupiter Corp. gained ⅛ and Molybdenite 1-16.

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market closed the week in good order with the 113-stock Exchange index at its record peak of 133.94, up .17 on the day.

The 79-stock industrial index was ahead .21 to 142.84, just .04 short of the record 142.88 set in January. Base metals touched a high for the year of 85.64 during the morning, but slipped back to close down .08 at 66.18. Western oils gained .22 to 84.87 and golds declined .80 to 135.14.

Trading was brisk with the major support coming from the speculative sector. Turnover for the day was 4,407,000 shares compared with 3,968,000 Thursday.

Simpsons was an attraction on the industrial board, ahead ⅞ to 41⅜ on 6,017 shares following the announcement of a proposed two-for-one stock split. Zellers, which announced a proposed four-for-one split Thursday, was up 1½ to 40, but trading was light.

Automotive stock were the major losers, Chrysler falling 1⅞ to 49, Ford Canada one point to 179 and General Motors one point to 89. Banks were weak most of the day but partially recovered near the close. Nova Scotia was down ⅝ to 67½.

Among senior base metals, Geco Mines slipped ½ to 37½. Dome Mines dipped ⅜ to 30.

O'Leary was a standout among speculative mining stocks, up six cents to 19 cents on 177,915 shares. Bunker Hill advanced three cents to 33 cents and Calvert five cents to 72 cents.

Calgary and Edmonton rose ½ to 22½ and Dome Petroleum ⅛ to 15⅛ in senior oils.

MONTREAL (CP)—A sudden reverse near the close of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges brought prices which had been down all day to a slight increase Friday. The composite index advanced 0.3 to a new high of 134.3 and advances led declines 81 to 74.

Trading was active in the Montreal exchange and moderately so on the Canadian. Industrials turned over 204,500 shares and mines and oils 816,300 shares.

Industrials were the day's bright spot, with the index climbing 0.4 to 138.9. Asbestos rose ¾ to 20½, Du Pont ½ to 45. Southam dropped ¾ to 27¼.

Scattered gains in banks pushed the index up 0.3 to 120.5. Montreal climbed ½ to 62.

Papers were up 0.2 to 122.4 as Great Lakes rose ⅜ to 23. Utilities eased 0.1 to 123.5; Interprovincial Pipe Line falling 1¼ to 80¼ and Calgary Power ⅜ to 21½. Hollinger slipped ½ to 65½ in senior base metals.

Primary metals traded widely as Canada Iron Foundry dropped ½ to 29¼. Oils were mixed, Imperial dropping ⅜ to 45¾ and Pacific Petroleum climbing ⅜ to 11¾.

In trade and finance Simpsons advanced ⅞ to 41¼ following news of a two-for-one stock split.

Distillers Seagrams dropped ¾ to 52¾ in beverage issues. Salada Foods rose ⅜ to 11 in food issues.

In speculative mines on the Canadian exchange Blue Bonnets rose 10 cents to $3.30, Mount Pleasant two cents to $1.03 and Ajax ½ cents to 9½ cents.

United Obalski slipped two cents to 63 cents and Central Manitoba, McAdam and Monpre one cent each to 10, 56 and 14 cents respectively.

UAW'S Reuther Tells of Unemployment

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) The United Auto Workers president, Walter P. Reuther, said Friday Canada is having its second largest period of uninterrupted economic expansion during the post-war years but still is troubled by persistently high unemployment.

"While economic activity has reached new highs, Canada still is not making full use of her productive capacity to provide jobs for all who are willing and able to work," Reuther said in an address at the opening of the 19th constitutional convention of the Auto Workers.

"The growth of the economy has not been sufficient to create the hundreds of thousands of jobs that Canada needs, and as a consequence high unemployment has persisted throughout the entire recovery period.

"Canadians without jobs can take little comfort from the fact that industry has been able to reach new highs of production without the need for their services," he said.

"Moreover, with an exploding teen-age population entering the labor market in the next few years to seek jobs, unemployment will become even higher unless the growth rate of the economy is substantially increased."

Reuther said unemployment in Canada was 5.5 per cent of the work-force in 1963 and that this has slowed consumer spending.

The UAW president criticized federal economic policies in Canada in the late 1950s which, he said, were "in large part misdirected."

He also charged that because of government policies Canada's slowed-downed economic growth has cost the country a cumulative loss of output for the period since 1956 of $42,000,000,000 in 1963 purchasing power.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) President Walter P. Reuther told his United Auto Workers Union Friday it must find ways in 1964 bargaining to tie pensions to the cost of living, as wages now are.

This was among a broad scope of goals Reuther outlined in a report prepared for 2,906 delegates at the convention of the UAW.

Reuther also called for a program that would require the auto-makers to pay the full cost of hospital - medical insurance for retired workers instead of half, and for a uniform pension rate for past and future retired workers.

For those on the job and those unemployed, Reuther said:

"In the 1964 negotiations, we shall give attention to the need to create more jobs through earlier retirement, longer paid vacations, more paid holidays, a shorter work week, paid leaves of absence and cuts in excessive and unnecessary overtime."

Reuther told a pre-convention press conference that the UAW will seek a minimum gain of 4.9 per cent in economic benefits in contracts that will replace three-year pacts expiring Aug. 31.

Interpreting the News

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The U.S. administration's approach to the multiple hardships of Latin America has undergone sharp reversal since the death of President Kennedy.

The new approach is adding to Latin American concern about their big neighbor and increasing desires that Canada join the Organization of American States to help modify and offset United States influence in the Western Hemisphere.

When President Eisenhower was in the White House, the Latin Americans were worried about the "Big Stick" policies of State Secretary John Foster Dulles. That concern was abated by Kennedy, who denounced dictatorships; committed himself to discourage the reappearance of Batistas and Trujillos in the Caribbean and promised to promote the growth of freedom and democracy.

Now the Johnson administration apparently concludes that kind of idealism doesn't work. A meeting of U.S. ambassadors from the Latin American countries has been told there no longer will be "good guys" and "bad guys" as far as the U.S. is concerned. Except for blocking the threat of communism, it would be best that the U.S. stop meddling in Latin American local politics and allow these countries to work out their own destinies.

JOHNSON CRITICIZED

This indifference to Latin American complexities has been multiplied by President Johnson's cold approach when he spoke to the OAS membership last Monday. Many U.S. newspapers criticized him for a lacklustre speech while French President de Gaulle was receiving a tumultuous welcome in Mexico.

Wherever de Gaulle went, he spoke of the joy of being closer to Mexico; of his desire that Mexico and France increase their relations and friendship. He likely will repeat this kind of speech in other planned forays into Latin America. Meanwhile, Latin American diplomats and some U.S. newspapers said Johnson's policies appear to be bringing U.S.-Latin American relations to their lowest point in history.

The contrast between de Gaulle and Johnson is apparent, but it is somewhat visionary, for France is many miles away and the U.S. lies next door. No matter how warm and emotional Latin American ties with France may become, Latins know that through trade and other intercourse, their main concern must be next door.

DIPLOMATS SHOCKED

Latin American diplomats were shocked when Johnson denounced an OAS committee statement announcing that the U.S. and Panama had agreed to resume diplomatic relations and attempted to resolve their differences over the Panama Canal.

*The Latin Americans are try*ing to pick up the pieces of that shattered diplomatic operation. But there is a growing view among them that they cannot expect much from Johnson and that another John Foster Dulles approach may be coming.

For them to analyse the reasons for this reversal may be futile. But many are beginning to suspect that one reason is that Johnson wants payment for generosity—he wants their help to oust Fidel Castro from Cuba.

Castro took over from the beaten dictator, Fulgencio Batista. Now the Johnson administration appears to suggest that there isn't much difference between a dictator and a government selected by the electorate. This may encourage aspiring dictators but it may not be helpful for the flowering of Latin American freedom.

The U.S. - British - Soviet nuclear test-ban talks resumed in Geneva three years ago today—in 1961—after a recess of 3½ months. Before the Western powers had an opportunity to present what they considered to be major concessions, the Soviet delegate withdrew the U.S.S.R.'s previous agreement to establish a test-control organization under a single administrator. He insisted on a three-member council representing the West, the Communists and neutralists. A test-ban treaty finally was concluded in July, 1963.

1960—Eight Africans were killed and 200 wounded as South African Negroes protesting the pass-law system clashed with police at Johannesburg.

Church Must Get Active In Universities Says Speaker

The Church must consider the university as a total mission field, its role in this community of learning is that of a servant culture.

The Church must assist the university to be the best it can and the Church must at the same time serve personal and administrative responsibilities within the micro cosma of culture.

These were thoughts projected during an informal talk presented by Rev. John Paul Carter college work secretary for the Third Province of the Episcopal Church of the United States Friday morning. Father Paul was speaking at a reception held at the home of Mrs. J. S. McIntosh, 708 Eighth Street, who entertained the visitor from Virginia at a coffee party, with the Women's Association of Notre Dame College and the Service Club of the Church of the Redeemer as guests. He was giving a discourse on the commitment of the Christian Church to the cause of higher education (universities) and why this is so.

"If the Church is going to minister anywhere it has to serve the needs of the people in that place."

Father Carter stated that the Church tends not to face new institutions, despite the fact that institutions are today so much a part of 20th century living, with its universities, hospitals, governments. The central institution of them all, he feels, is the university, where people "get what they need to work with. This is the age of the university — the latter half of the 20th century."

"If we (the Church) are not committed to higher education, we had better get to work in it." He stated that the Church as an institution tends to be "pretty conservative, timid about manpower and scared about money."

He told of the active interest the Church had in one particular instance within his province, where church organizations got behind a drive to have a university established, and lobbied for it.

Father Carter is visiting universities across the country. He is from The Plains, Virginia, and his province includes the eastern seaboard states. There are eight Provinces within the Episcopal Church in the United States.

TOPS FOR EASTER — Perfect for Easter Sunday is this demi-chapeau by Mr. John. It's also a flattering choice for any gala afternoon or evening occasion. Fashioned of a cluster of orange and white silk roses, this little flatterer is designed on a base of green velvet and has an alluring nose veil.

Hat Changes Traced From 1900's Be-Feathered to '64 Spring Styles

By MARGARET NESS

Between 1784 and 1786, Marie Antoinette, the ill-fated Queen of France, was responsible for 17 changes in hat styles.

That's a record that's not likely to be broken.

Trend-setting designers today are pretty well limited by the changing of the seasons and if a particular basic style catches on it may last through several years with variations.

Still, a lot has happened to hats since the beginning of the 20th century, a period that has seen everything from skyscraper fashions to kerchiefs and, for a period, even no hats at all.

The 1900s rode in with enormous hats heaped high with feathers, jewels and flowers, the result of the Edwardian influence. Anyone who has seen the musical My Fair Lady will recall these handsome creations as designed by Cecil Beaton.

In 1907 the motion picture theatres flashed written requests on the silent screens asking ladies to remove their hats during the performance. No one could possibly see through, over or around those cartwheel sailors and feathered concoctions.

After the First World War, hats changed completely. The 1920s and '30s are identified with the cloche. Made of felt, it was skull-tight, off-the-face and side-manipulated. Usually it was worn with all costumes during every season and from daytime to after-five.

This spring Sally Victor reached back into that period. She created a whole series of off-the-face, side-swept hats and named them after the movie stars of that era. Included is a Norma Talmadge cloche in pale pink linen straw with the brim folding away from the brow and draped at the back.

There were other hat shapes in the '30s, including the Garbo slouch and the turban, introduced in 1939 and now a classic, but the cloche dominated.

Right up to the Second World War women, girls and children wore hats. Kerchiefs were then just quaint head coverings worn by European peasants.

The war changed all this. Girls and women in factories wore kerchiefs to protect their hair from catching in the machinery. It became part of their life. Materials were scarce and women began to go shopping without hats.

The year 1947 was a fashion milestone. Materials became plentiful again, Christian Dior introduced long skirts. Women wanted not only hats but they wanted either big hats or frivolous bits of what came to be known as half-hats.

However, they didn't go back to hats for all outdoor activities. The no-hat and the kerchief had achieved a certain status that continues right to this season.

The 1950s ushered in a certain simplicity in millinery and an interest in small hats. But gradually hats started getting bigger and by 1955 "mushroom" styles were balancing slim spring coats and suits. These were big but not bulky, and for spring there were lots of flowers and fruits.

In 1956 Emme of New York was softly laying the little hat to rest. The bulky look was definitely on the way in. It still had an airy feeling, however, and indeed, the larger the hat the lighter it was expected to look. This was achieved by swathings of tulle or organza or by souffle straws. Height of crown rather than brim width was the popular silhouette. This could almost be called the dome-shaped year, although many hats did achieve real width, some brims measuring 18 inches from edge to edge.

Hats were worn straight on the head or tilted forward on to the brow. And beige was the predominant color. Spring 1956 was again an important season for flowers.

The following year felts came back into the spring picture for the first time in many years. Flowers remained popular. Hats continued to get bigger and taller.

In 1959 the word "towering" entered the fashion vocabulary. White swept into vogue. The next year the word was "sky-high." There were ballistic domes, skyscraper toques, high-riding turbans and oversized cloches.

There was less weight and actual bulk, however. This was the year of pale neutral shades —a lack of real color in washed-out pastels.

The climactic search for hat height reached its peak in 1961. But oddly, it was dramatically and unexpectedly balanced by interest in the doll-like hat. This was a miniature shape that slid down over the forehead. For fashion writers the spring news was the lack of flowers.

This spring hats are mostly brimmed. The brims flare high off the face in exaggerated breton shapes and dive downward at the back. Or else they come forward in scoop peaks and roll high in the back.

Again, as in 1956, there is great interest in tulle and organza as well as light and airy straws. White felt is back and the color continues its sway over the entire fashion picture. More flamboyant pastels, including yellow, are popular. Flowered hats are included but are not dominant.

41-Member Girls' Choir Entertains At Willowhaven

Young voices of the 41-member Girls' Choir of St. Paul's-Trinity United Church joined in a tribute to the Irish when they entertained patients at Willowhaven Hospital this week with a program of songs and a skit.

Some of the patients joined in the singing, which included the songs of Erin and religious selections, under the direction of choir leader, Mrs. Nelson Hindle.

Refreshments were served to the girls and guests following the well-received program.

The program included: "Getting to Know You", by Rogers and Hammerstein, with Joy Olson as soloist; Shannon's "Irish Lullaby"; "Cockles and Mussels", with Carol Moore as soloist, "Gypsy Rover"; "Shure, They Call it Ireland", "The Happy Wanderer," "Fairest Lord Jesus," a Silesian folk tune, "The Heavens Are Telling," by Haydn; "Come Thou Font of Every Blessing" by Gluck and a German chorale, "Hosanna."

War at Home Awaits Army Truck Stowaway

HALIFAX (CP) — There'll be another Cyprus when he gets back," said Mrs. Beatrice Lane, wife of one of two army stowaways aboard the Cyprus-bound aircraft carrier Bonaventure.

Her husband, Cpl. Michael Lane, 31, of nearby Boutiliers Point and Pte. Charles Bell, 32, of Halifax were discovered aboard the carrier hiding in an army truck.

"I'll start another war right here" said Mrs. Lane when she was told that her husband was aboard the Bonnie.

The Lanes have six children, and are expecting another any day.

"He was speaking about going to Cyprus but I thought he was only kidding," she said.

ALSO HAS CHILDREN

She said her husband was a friend of Bell who has four children.

Lane and Bell were discovered hiding in an army truck about three hours after the Bonaventure left here Wednesday night. They had been serving as cooks with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and both were put to work in the ship's galley.

They said they boarded the aircraft carrier because they were anxious to serve wtih the Canadian contingent of the UN force on Cyprus.

Lane and Bell will be disciplined and they will be returned to Canada, an army spokesman here said.

South Slocan

SOUTH SLOCAN — Mr. and Mrs. R. Weist of South Slocan have been called to Regina by the serious illness of Mr. Weist's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Yeatman of Bracebridge, Ontario, are visitors here due to the illness of Mr. Yeatman's mother, Mrs. B. Yeatman. She is a patient at Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

Mrs. Violet Brewster left Monday night for a visit with her daughter, Phyllis, and family in London, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. J Street have returned from a visit to the coast, where they attended UBC open house, and enjoyed a visit with their daughters, Renee and Jean, and the latter's husband, Nick Fenger.

Mrs. N. H. Brewster of Trail, formerly of South Slocan, has been reported a patient in hospital at Calgary.

Mrs. I. R. Jones has returned home from Honolulu, where she spent a month with her daughter, Bernice, who makes her home in Hawaii.

Antarctica, the world's highest continent, averages more than a mile above sea level.

Heads Auxiliary Of Windermere Hospital

INVERMERE—Newly elected president of the Windermere Hospital Auxiliary is Mrs. Philip Geiger.

Mrs. Hal Bavin is vice-president, Mrs. Tony Luyendyk secretary and Mrs. Ron Veestra is treasurer.

Mrs. Robert Swindell is an executive member and Mrs. Werner Ryter heads the visiting committee.

Plans were made at the annual meeting to hold the spring rummage sale April 18.

'INVESTMENT' TOPIC OF TRAIL BPWC MEETING

How much the dollar is worth and why women should consider a secondary income were topics of a talk presented by Mrs. J. Calder at a meeting of the Trail Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. Calder pointed out that the "homemaker" is financier, doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, but is reluctant to take an active interest in the matter of investments. She will shop for bargains a the grocery counter but when it comes to the matter of investing the family funds, she leaves it up to her husband. This, in her own words, is not wise.

Neck Interest Noted in New, Soft Hairstyle

TORONTO (CP)—The layered look has movel up. It now is being worn above the neck.

The newest hair style is cut short at the back, longer in front and sides. It may be curled on rollers on the top and flattened to pin curl or waves on the back of the head and the neck. However it is done, back interest is important, bangs are disappearing, and waves and curls are back.

Toronto hairdresser Vicki Runge says the straight blunt cut has not caught on fully but has given way to a new, softer version of the styles women have been wearing for about five years.

She says the current cut complements this year's feminine fashions, even to being comfortable with stand up collars. "It keeps the ears covered and shows the back of the neck which is attractive."

By ALICE ALDEN

FABRIC INTEREST — The joys of spring are many, including a wonderful variety of beautiful suits in a wide range of fabrics and styles. A frothy new material of wool and acrylic fibre, which packs with wrinkle-free aplomb, tells the fabric story of this attractive suit. A hipbone-length jacket with elbow-touching sleeves tops a slim skirt. The wide neckline, with rounded cloverleaf lapels, is a perfect foil for jewelry or a fill-in scarf.

Rebekahs Have Birthday Party

The birthday of the founder of the Rebekah Lodge order, Schyler Colfax, was celebrated by Queen City Rebekah Lodge No. 16, which entertained Oddfellows and friends at a social evening.

Progressive whist was enjoyed by an estimated 60 persons, with Miss Jean Robertson, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. G. R. Pickering, Gordon Strong, Walter Fisher, Tom Nutter and Jim Robertson as winners.

During serving of refreshments, a birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Margaret Terry, who, along with Mrs. Ivan Lewis, was celebrating a St. Patrick's Day birthday.

Mrs. G. H. Preston, noble grand of Queen City Lodge, made a presentation to Miss Robertson, who is to be married soon.

Urges Secondary School Teaching Of Business Life

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. A. O. Lepine of Saskatoon said Monday young people should be told there is nothing disrespectful about making a profit.

She told other delegates at an arts of management conference young people think that if they go into a profession they will regain their integrity, but if they go into business they will lose it.

She said businessmen are not doing enough to counteract this public impression and a lot of potential recruits to the business world are being lost.

The conference is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Earlier in the day, L. D. Dougan, vic-president of Polymer Corporation Limited, recommended that concepts of the business world be taught at the secondary school level because teen-agers have a hazy impression of what business is and what it is for.

Cookies and Milk Energizing For That After-School Snack

By MARGARET CARR

Cookies have always been a popular after-school snack. Cookies and milk are not filling enough to cut supper appetites, yet they provide the energy children need before getting down to homework or serious playing.

Here are two recipes for good old-fashioned cookies.

CHOCOLATE CRUNCH COOKIES

One-quarter cup soft butter or margarine, ½ cup soft shortening, ¾ cup granulated sugar, ¾ cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 squares (2 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate, 1 tablespoon water, 2¾ cups pastry flour, 1 teapsoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teapsoon salt, ½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts.

Cream butter or margarine and shortening until light. Gradually cream in combined sugars until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, and continue beating until well combined. Add vanilla.

Meanwhile, over hot water melt chocolate with one tablespoon water. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Blend gradually into creamed mixture. Blend in melted chocolate and water. When all dry ingredients are blended in, fold in nuts.

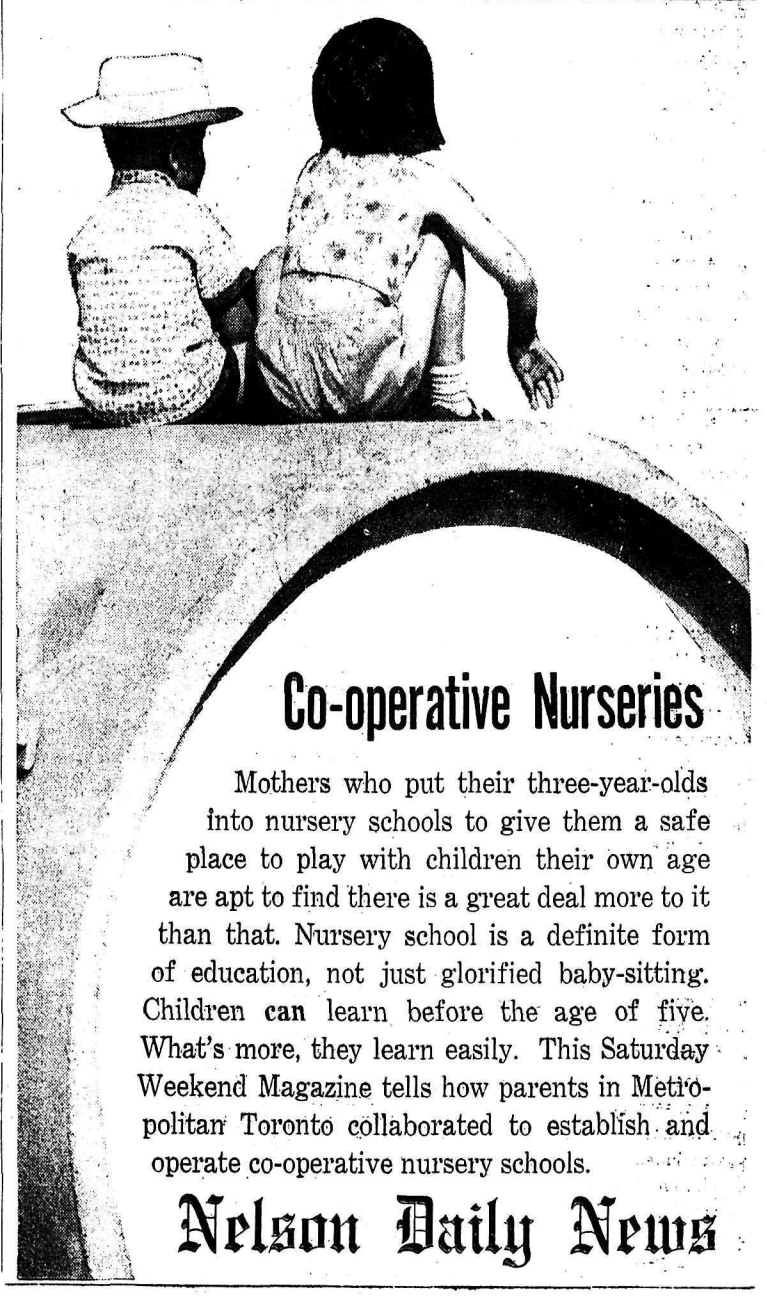
Drop by teaspoonsful on ungreased baking sheets about 1½ inches apart. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

MOLASSES-PUMPKIN NUGGETS

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup molasses, 1 egg, ½ cup cooked or canned pumpkin, 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 2 cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon baking sola, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon cloves.

Cream together shortening, sugar and molasses. Beat in egg. Stir in pumpkin, raisins and nuts. Mix and sift flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Add to pumpkin mixture. Stir until blended. Drop from teaspoon on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes.

Makes about four dozen cookies.



Modern Living In A Modern Age

Better Your Living in 1964

Rug Queries Answered

Q. Is it harmful to vacuum a new carpet?

A. Definitely not! Vacuum-cleaning never hurts a carpet, unless your claner has some mechanical defect. In fact, you might want to vacuum your new carpet more frequently than you would an older carpet, to take care of any "fluffing" or "shedding" — a perfectly natural condition for new carpets, meaning that loose bits of pile material come to the surface.

Q. How often should my carpet be professionally cleaned?

A. That depends on the use the carpet gets and the amount of soil to which it is subjected. Some carpets—those which are in constant use and in neighborhoods with a great deal of atmospheric soil—need professional cleaning once a year; others should be cleaned every two or three years.

Wide Choice

New Paints Ease Decorating Jobs

Painting a new home or redecorating an existing home is becoming easier, thanks to new types of paint and methods of applying it.

The home owner can choose from paints that are fast drying and virtually odorless and dripless.

Paint rollers help make the job of applying the paint easier and faster. But it is important to choose the right roller for a particular job.

COVERS VARY

Roller covers are available in a variety of materials and nap lengths. As a rule of thumb, the smoother the surface to be painted, the shorter the roller cover nap should be.

A normal plaster wall, for example, should be painted with a short nap roller cover. Stucco or concrete, on the other hand, requires a long nap roller cover.

The material used to cover the roller is also important.

A lambskin roller is recommended for use with oil base paints. Synthetic fibre covers are particularly adapted to painting with rubber or latex water thinned paints.

Saturate the roller with paint, squeezing out the excess along the corrugated roll-out area of the tray. Then cut in along edges first, with edging roller, trim tool or brush.

In painting a wall, roll the first stroke upward and the second down near the first. Then branch out with slanting strokes and fill in uniformly.

Until the middle of the last century windows were a taxable luxury item in England. Early American colonists also were assessed by the tax collector for their windows.

New Blind Styles Give Window Flair

Problems seem inevitable even in the best-planned houses.

One of the difficulties is making a window attractive and part of the decorating scheme while still taking full advantage of its purpose — the penetration of daylight and air.

Venetian blind designers have worked out solutions, with great flair and style to common interior problems . . . the old apartment with all the "uglies" set under the windows, the awkward position of windows and doors in the project house, space and budget limitations and the inclusion of a hobby in the living quarters.

Since most interior design problems are concerned with architectural inadequacies, the architectural elements of venetian blinds have been given full command.

They have been constructed as walls, panels and window coverings have been carefully manipulated to surmount the problems each room presents.

BOAC Employees On Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Union employees of the British Overseas Airways Corporation went on strike Friday in a dispute over the company's right to sublet some work and an economy layoff of 30 workers.

Members of the airline division of the International Association of Machinists struck the airline, which is government-owned, at Kennedy Airport in New York and in six other U.S. cities.

A union spokesman said 500 employees walked off their jobs in New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Miami and Washington.

The striking employees include mechanics, commissary and store workers and passenger and cargo personnel.

The Modern Home

Split entries are news in the house building world, and here is a little gem of a split entry house, having two bedrooms up, but space for future bedrooms down. This would convert this two bedroom home into a four bedroom home.

Open planning through the kitchen and dining area, with glass doors leading out onto the sundeck over the carport means that the family can live outdoors during the warmer months — the living room features an outside wall fireplace for lots of room for furniture arranging. All these are desirable features about this house.

As it is shown, it makes a good house, with lots of space for living, but completion of the extra room in the lower levels, changes it into a good family home.

Designed for N.H.A. approval, blueprints are obtainable from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd., 96 Kingsway at Broadway, Vancouver 10, B.C. Write for our new plan book, containing building and home renovation information, and price list for plans, enclosing 50c to cover cost.

Something for All Tastes With Comeback of Porches

Porches are making a comeback — but not just the old-fashioned front porch.

The reason: A porch is a delightful place to relax in rocking chair or hammock.

A porch answers a multitude of needs. It's a place to hold a child's party, feed your guests, pen small fry as they play or sit and chat when the house is roasting and rain keeps you off the lawn. It's an ideal place to serve family meals, whether you build it front, back or on the side of the house.

* * *

A roofed porch floor usually is of softwood. If the floor is not roofed over or not well ventilated, it should be floored with decay-resistant wood such as red or yellow cedar. Square edged boards laid with tight joints can be used. There may be a little shrinkage.

Shed roofs are usual for porches. Methods of bracing roofs vary but directions may be obtained at lumber yards or from public libraries. Rafters, joints and studs make it all sound complicated but it really isn't for one who has had a little home building experience.

A foundation for a porch usually is posts of stone laid in mortar and poured concrete. Wood often is used as piers for porches, but eventually the porch will sag.

It is easy to use screening. But firm screening is best for a no-sag look. Decide whether you'd like the porch to be a combination glass and screen porch eventually.

* * *

Glass offers the opportunity to use the porch on cool days and perhaps even through cold weather with the addition of heat. If you want to use glass windows, the method of applying the screening will be different, even though you do not put the windows in at once.

If the porch is tiny, there are many ways of giving it the illusion of space and more interest can be added without investing a fortune. Ivy-covered wall paper combined with pots of real geraniums is a charming touch.

The brick facings and brick faced wall papers may lend a terrace-look to a porch. There are shutters you can buy by the yard.

The shutters are printed on stick-on vinyl plastic.

Students Get Sex Lecture On Television

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Parents watched from the sidelines Friday, as thousands of Danish teen-agers in their classrooms heard a television lecture on sex.

Dr. Henrik Hoffmeyer of the Mothers' Aid Institution told the children the facts of life on contraception.

Girls and boys, aged 14 to 16, sat together listening and watching attentively as contraceptives were shown on the screen along with practical advice on their use.

The program was the final part of a biology series. It went on the air over furious protests by a church-dominated group.

"This is teaching schoolchildren and teen-agers to violate God's commandments—and how to see to it that there are no consequences," it said.

However, editorials in most newspapers agreed Dr. Hoffmeyer did a job that had to be done—and did it in the right way.

The schools reported that the children showed sincere and widespread interest, with no giggles and little embarrassment.

"A new responsibility is placed upon you when you turn sexually mature," said Dr. Hoffmeyer, who strongly advised against premature sexual relations.

No children watched the program without the consent of their parents.

Sexual instruction is a regular part of education at Danish schools, though on a completely voluntary basis.

TO RETURN FLAGS

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Three Mexican flags captured by the French under Napoleon III in the Mexican campaigns of 1862-64 will be returned by France as a goodwill gesture, it has been announced officially.

Canadians In Good Humor On Cyprus

NICOSIA (AP)—A grinning, sandy-haired Canadian sergeant straightened up alongside the engine of his scout car, wiped grease off his freckled hands and said, "It's a helluva way to spend a honeymoon isn't it?"

Sgt. Leroy MacAdams of Shelbourne, N.S., waited till he was 30 to get married, went through the ceremony last Friday the 13th at 3:30 p.m. and five hours later was in a plane en route to Cyprus.

"I woke up with this lot for my bride," MacAdams said, pointing to other Canadian soldiers assigned as part of the UN force to restore peace in Cyprus.

His new wife, Audrey Morrell, also 30, has joined the ranks of hundreds of other Canadian girls who have husbands in the Royal Dragoons and famed 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment known as the Van Doos.

A few men are oldtimers in the service of United Nations policing forces. The Canadians have had long experience in the blue beret ranks which separate Egyptians and Israelis in the sealed-off Gaza Strip.

"We don't know our orders yet," said Cpl. Ernest Babcock of Sackville, N.B. "But we had a pretty good idea how to handle these things when I was in Egypt in 1959 and 1960. It wasn't boring especially when my jeep ran over landmines and things like that.

Author Pleads Not Guilty

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Herman Taller, 52, who wrote the best-selling book Calories Don't Count, and his co-defendants pleaded not guilty Thursday to federal charges arising from Taller's dieting advice.

U.S. District Judge Jacob Mishler in Brooklyn released the defendants without bail.

They were indicted recently on charges of mail fraud, conspiracy and violation of the U.S. Food, Drug and Cosmetics Act.

Taller's book, which sold more than 1,000,000 copies, recommended safflower oil capsules as a means of losing weight. The U.S. government charged that the capsules were worthless for that purpose and alleged that the book helped sell more than $500,000 worth of the capsules made by a Long Island drug firm.

Pleading not guilty with the Manhattan physician were Edward Bobley, 51, president of the Cove Vitamin and Pharmaceutical Company Incorporated; his brother, Harry Bobley, 54, Cove board chairman; and Kenneth Beirn, 53, a director of a Cove subsidiary firm, CBC Pharmaceutical Incorporated.

Not guilty pleas also were entered for the drug companies.

Fighting Begins Again In Laos

VIENTIANE (Reuters)—Fighting has broken out again in central Laos, a right-wing military communique said Friday.

The communique said for the last 48 hours two mixed left-wing Pathet Lao and Communist Vietminh battalions were attacking right-wing positions of Ban Nong and Boua Lao, about 20 miles east of Keng Kok in central Laos.

Turk Warships Manoeuvre

ISTANBUL (AP) — Turkish naval units held manoeuvres Friday off the southern seaport of Iskenderun. Prime Minister Ismet Inonu, at the same time, met with the chief of general staff, Turkish radio networks reported.

Parliament has been summoned to a joint session this afternoon, one broadcast said.

Inonu conferred for half an hour with the military chief, Gen. Ecevdet Sunday but no announcement was made about the nature of the talks.

Following renewed fighting between Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots Thursday, Turkey warned again it would intervene unless attacks on Turkish-Cypriots cease.

Chandelier Swings Into Present Era

CHICAGO, Ill. (UPI) — Chandeliers, a symbol of past elegant eras, are swinging into favor again.

Some of the most imaginative ones come from Italy, where great attention has been focused on new materials and new ways of using conventional materials.

Part of the revived popularity of chandeliers is credited to wider varieties of use. No longer confined solely to gracing entrance halls and dining rooms, many can be in living or bedrooms.

* * *

This clears the table surface for other accessories and adds an unexpectedly interesting object beside a couch, chair or bed.

To select a chandelier, first study the room in which it is to be placed. A note should be made of the size of the table over which the fixture will be suspended in order to insure proper scale.

Bulkiness, the number of arms of the fixture and their placing contribute to the lightness or heaviness of its effect.

* * *

Generally speaking, a transparent or crystal look is more elegant, while an opaque effect, such as found in globe style, will be more casual.

Other sources of light in a room and placement of sockets are factors, too.

Bulbs that are too bright, as sometimes happens if the chandelier is the sole lighting medium, can overwhelm a delicate fixture.

Lack of an outlet in the right place need not be a deterrent to putting up a chandelier.

There are decorative chains and flush tubes that can carry wiring from a ceiling fixture to a socket without channeling into the wall.

For satisfactory results, all such installation techniques should be worked out before the purchase.

Home of Your Own

KITCHEN PLANNING

Never underestimate the importance of a well-planned kitchen. Keep the refrigerator and food preparation area close together. The sink should be between this area and the stove because water is needed both for cooking and preparing food.

A U-shaped kitchen with the sink at the base of the U and the refrigerator and stove across from each other is ideal. There should be plenty of cabinet space and working surface and for this you can find room between the sink and appliances. Bear in mind that all supplies and utensils should be stored at the point of first use. Adequate storage space for such things as brooms, mops and ironing board should not be overlooked. A housewife will find that carefully planned work centers, tailored to suit her individual taste, will make her kitchen a happy and convenient place to work.

BASEMENT ADVANTAGES

Should your house have a basement? If you are planning to build or buy a home, a basement is an important consideration.

If ordinary soil conditions exist, it is usually more economical to build a house with a basement in our Canadian climate. Storage space in the basement is cheaper than any you can provide above the ground and the same is true for furnace space and fuel storage. You may want to have laundry facilities in the basement or a recreation room or workshop. To have these things upstairs would mean building a bigger house with a larger floor area. A house with a basement will always be a good bet if cost is an important consideration.

SLIM RACK STOPS SHOW AT MARKET

Need storage? Want it decorative? The free standing L-shaped storage rack in a fine hardwood such as walnut may be your answer.

Basically it is a vertical panel with narrow platform base supported by two front legs. Adjustable brackets are inset vertically. You can hang shelves, cupboards, desks, vanities and other storage pieces on it without marring your walls.

A show stopper at recent furniture markets was a tall, slender L-shaped rack completely backed in walnut. Storage pieces can be affixed to the front.

The back is also of beautifully grained walnut, so that the unit can serve as a handsome room divider.

Such units also can dress up an unattractive wall, where they give the effect of walnut paneling — plus storage.

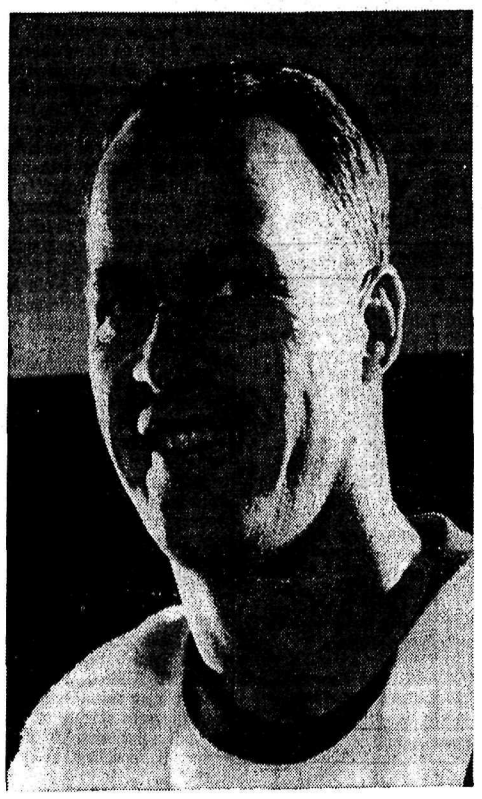
Howe Paces Red Wings In Powerful Stretch Drive

Can Catch Toronto In Weekend Games



GORDIE HOWE
. . . super star going strong.

By DAVE BETTS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quickly now, what's the hottest team in the National Hockey League and who's the most prolific scorer?

If you said Detroit Red Wings and Gordie Howe, move to the head of the bench.

In the second half of the season the Wings have fluttered their way into the heady atmosphere of the NHL's first division. If they can claw their way this weekend through the cloud cover spread by Toronto Maple Leafs, they could wind up with the best second-half finish of any team in years.

A double win in a home-and-home series with Toronto would elevate the Motor City Marvels to third place, a plateau almost undreamed of a few weeks ago when they were wallowing in a fifth-place fight with New York Rangers.

In 33 second-half games, the Wings have won 18, lost 10 and tied five for 41 of a possible 66 points, best record in the league. Montreal Canadiens were closest with 38 points.

HEADING FOR BONUS

With 14 goals and 27 assists, Howe has boosted himself into front position to receive $500 bonus money as the NHL's top second-half scorer.

His 41 points—reached Thursday with a goal and two assists—puts him in a three-way tie with Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull.

JOHNNY BOWER
. . . needs miracle.

However, the first - place Hawks play only one more game—against Boston Bruins Sunday. Howe and company have two more cracks at the record book.

Another Red Wing who could be helped by the schedule vagaries is centre Norm Ullman who has scored 17 times and assisted on 22 for 39 points during the latter half. Andy Bathgate of Toronto is fifth in second - half scoring with 37 points.

League president Clarence Campbell said Friday that in the event of a point tie for the second half the NHL will award $500 to each man involved. Conceivably, this could cost the league $2,500.

The Art Ross Memorial Trophy and $1,000 practically belongs in Chicago Stadium right now. The prizes go to the league's highest point man over the entire season. Mikita now has 89 points, Hull 86 and their closest rival—Jean Beliveau of Montreal—only 75.

Chicago's Glenn Hall is in the driver's seat in the race for the Vezina Trophy, the goalkeepers' academy award. With only one game left, Hall has had only 166 goals charged against him. Montreal's Charlie Hodge with 165 has to protect his one-goal lead over two games, and Toronto's Johnny Bower needs a small miracle in his last two contests to make his 168 goals-against record best in the league.

Gil LeMoel Rink Drops to Second In Mixed Curling

By ALLAN BAILEY

TORONTO (CP) — Manitoba capitalized on two key misses by Ontario skip Mac White Friday night to edge the Belleville rink 5-4 and stay in front of the field after nine rounds of the national mixed curling championship.

Ernie Boushy, the 30-year-old Winnipeg skip, guided his crew to an 11-7 victory over British Columbia in Friday afternoon's eighth draw.

Gil LeMoel led his Trail, B.C., squad, to a 9-6 triumph over Northern Ontario to remain in a second-place tie with the Quebec quartet skipped by Bill Tracy. Each has six wins and two defeats.

EDMONTON WINS

Glenn Gray moved his Edmonton rink into a three-way tie for fifth place in the standings with a 9-4 victory over Saskatchewan.

The loss fo Dean Miller of Weyburn, Sask., dropped his rink into fourth place, the lowest it has been since the tournament started.

TORONTO (CP) — Ninth-round results in the national mixed curling championship Friday:

SLAMMIN' SAM OFF TO FINE START

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead, still booming his shots off the tees at the age of 51, led the year's strongest golf field into second round of the $50,000 Doral Open tournament Friday.

His four-under-par 68 in the opening round Thursday gave him a one stroke advantage over Mike Souchak, Dave Hill, Bob Shave Jr., Bert Yancey, Joe Lopez Sr., and Ken Venturi. Ten others were only two strokes off the pace.

Arnold Palmer, still looking for his first victory of 1964, finished in a tie for 30th place after scrambling to a par 72. Gary Player had a 73. Jack Nicklaus shot a 70.

George Knudson of Toronto shot a 74, Al Balding of Toronto had a 75 and Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg carded a 76.

Canadians Grab Pup League Title

Canadians won the Nelson Pup League championship for the second consecutive year Wednesday as they edged the Rangers 3-2 in overtime. Gore was the hero of the day for the Canadians, picking up the winning goal in the extra session. He also notched an assist. Gorsline and McMullen were the other Hab scorers. Craig and Malcolm tallied for the Rangers.

In other minor league play at the Civic Centre, Wednesday, Leafs took a 2-1 lead in their best of five series, as they whipped the Wings by a score of 7-3. S. McClenaghan was a standout for the Leafs. He scored five goals and assisted on another. Kanigan, with two and Kennedy were the Wing marksmen.

Jim Boyce scored four goals and assisted on the fifth, as Comets overpowered the Totems. Bob Jeffs scored Comets' other goal, and picked up assists on two of Boyce's markers. Totems lead the best of seven series, 3-2, with one game tied.

Rod and Reel Club Looks to Banner Season

The Nelson Rod and Reel Club is being re-activated with a vengeance. Club president Harold Howell announced at an executive meeting Thursday that the organization which was in grave danger of being disbanded a year ago has launched a program intended to make it the biggest and best club of its kind in the Kootenays. Last year's sagging membership has already been boosted from 40 to 102 members. The club hopes to reach their objective of 250 paid-up members by June.

Local apathy toward the Rod and Reel association is believed to have stemmed from the limited scope of its activities.

"That's a thing of the past," said Mr. Howell. "This year we will run the gamut from turkey shoots to rifle competitions and fish derbies. In the past the club had nothing to offer fishermen. This season we will have a full slate of things to do for the angler. We will also provide free rifle shooting and loading instruction and fly-casting courses."

Mr. Howell also remarked that the club's shaky financial condition is well on the way toward being rectified, and that the club expects to operate well in the black in the forthcoming year.

The monthly general meeting of the club will be held in the small hall at the Canadian Legion building, Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. Members will be appointed to the membership, range, fishing activities and draw committees.

George Clerihew and Art Morton have been named to head up the fishing and draw committees, respectively. Other committee chairmen will be named at Tuesday's meeting.

All current members and prospective new members are asked to attend.

During intermission an eight-man "battle royal" will take place with everyone in the ring at one time. Limitations will be placed on each fighter. A take-off on the famous wrestling tag-team format, this is expected to provide some exciting and hilarious moments.

A grudge match is also slated between Roy "Sonny" Salsbury, Golden, and Phil "Cassius" Fisher, Lumby. A prefect in the boys' dormitory, Salsbury has been forced to listen to Fisher's poetry for the past week, and is determined to button him in the first round.

The finals for one or two sections of the NDU table tennis tournament will be played off before the boxing takes place.

Notre Dame University's Boxing Club will present its annual boxing card Saturday night, March 21, in St. Martin's Hall. Six bouts of amateur boxing will headline the smoker plus additional half-time entertainment.

A lineup of the bouts includes:

Bout 1—Albert Beitel, Kelowna, vs Earl Watkins, Kimberley.

Bout 2 — Al Hoglund, Hinton Trail, Alta., vs Jack Walkley, Kimberley.

Canuck Stane Experts Boost European Broom

By JOHN SHORT

CALGARY (CP) — European-style brushes have gained the respect of many veteran observers at the 1964 international curling championships, but it is considered doubtful that brushes will ever replace brooms in North American curling circles.

Ken Watson, three - time Canadian champion, said he believes brushes are superior in many ways. Brushes were used by Sweden, Switzerland, Norway and Scotland in the competition that ended Thursday night.

"For one thing," Watson said, "the brush never leaves the ice. For another, it's easier to apply pressure with a brush than with a broom."

He mentioned several additional benefits, including one of special interest to older curlers: Curlers don't work as hard using the brush.

Bob Magie of Duluth, Minn., skip of the U.S. entry, agreed with Watson. Hector Gervais of Edmonton, Canadian and international champion in 1960, said he found little difference.

CHANGED MIND

Magie previously believed brushes were inferior. "But I had my views changed this week," he said. "In fact, I see the day coming when skips will all use brushes in the house.

"You couldn't ask a man who has become a proficient sweeper to change to the brush overnight and you couldn't expect a top-level curler to tinker with success by changing."

Watson said he had compared brooms and brushes in an exhibition in Scotland.

"I delivered two rocks in succession and threw both intentionally short of the house. Using brushes, my sweepers coaxed one rock into the rings. Using brooms, they couldn't do it."

He added that curlers occasionally miss crucial shots when stones are slowed or misguided by straws beaten from brooms.

STATE WON'T JAIL LISTON

DENVER (AP) —The state of Colorado won't attempt to send former heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston to prison for carrying a concealed weapon.

Attorney-General Duke W. Dunbar said Thursday in a letter to Denver's assistant district attorney, Gregory A. Mueller, that it is questionable whether Liston could be charged with a serious crime—punishable by a penitentiary sentence—under a state law forbidding former convicts to carry concealed weapons.

The law says it is an offence punishable by two to 10 years in penitentiary for anyone convicted of a serious crime within the last 10 years to carry a concealed weapon.

Liston was convicted in St Louis in 1956, of assault with a dangerous weapon and sentenced to nine months.

Dunbar said the doubt of prosecution arises because Liston's conviction was outside the state.

Liston was picked up for speeding in Denver, March 10, and the arresting officer Patrolman James Snider, said the boxer had a .22 calibre revolver in his possession.

He was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, speeding, careless and reckless driving and driving without a valid Colorado driver's licence. He was released on bond and is to appear to answer the traffic charges April 10.

Lilley's Late Goal Gives Dynamiters Series Lead

KIMBERLEY (Special to the Daily News)—Kimberley Dynamiters showed a complete reversal of form as they hustled for a full three periods of hockey, and turned back the Spokane Jets 4-3, before 2100 fans here Friday.

The win gave the Dynamiters a one-game edge in their best of seven WIHL series. Kimberley now leads the Savage Cup playdowns three games to two.

Les Lilley scored the winning goal at 11:40 of the third period. Other Kimberley scoring was by Don White, Bill Steenson and Wayne King. Ching Johnson counted twice for Spokane. Charlie Collins was the other Jet marksman.

Individual star of the evening was Kimberley goaltender Earl Betker, who kicked out 45 shots 20 of them in the hectic third period.

Play was close throughout the contest with the first period ending in a 1-1 deadlock. Kimberley assumed a 3-2 lead in the second stanza and the two teams split a pair of counters in the third.

JOHNSON SCORES TWO

Ching Johnson got his first goal of the night when he picked up Collins' rebound and flipped it into the short side of the net. Don White evened the score when he polished off a pass play from Sauter and Manchester.

The second period was less than two minutes old when Wally Peacosh and Bill Steenson dazzled the Jets with footwork, in a beautiful exhibition of stickhandling and puck control, that allowed Steenson to pick up his second goal of the series.

Johnson got that one back when he stole the puck from Steenson and beat Betker cleanly with a drive from the blue line. The Spokane club was shorthanded at the time.

Goals from the sticks of Collins and King had the contest tied when league scoring champion Les Lilley finally shook his check, Buddy Bodman, who had covered him like a blanket all night. Hodges batted down McTeer's blast from the blue line but before he could make the play, Lilley swooped in and batted the puck into the twine.

The Spokane team swarmed all over Earl Betker in the final minutes of play but were unable to dent the Kimberley goaltender's armor.

The series resumes in Spokane Coliseum Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

Lineups:

Spokane — Goal: Kuntz; defence: McGowan, Hodges, Collins, McDouglad, McDonald; forwards: Gibson Bahr, Nadeau, Kenny, Goodwin, Johnson, Bodman, Morneau.

Kimberley — Goal: Betker; defence: Gallamore, Steenson, Taylor, Gibson; forwards: Beattie, Peacosh, Sauter, McTeer, Passmore, White, Lilley, Vincent, Manchester.

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Ontario athletes stand more than a fair chance of capturing most of the trophies at the Canadian age class indoor track and field championships here March 28.

Of the 271 athletes who will compete, 295 are from Ontario.

Quebec is sending 25, British Columbia and Manitoba 12 each Alberta and Saskatchewan nine each, New Brunswick six and Nova Scotia two.

SYDNEY (AP) — Wimbledon finalist Fred Stolle left this Australian city by plane for Rome Wednesday after rejecting a last minute appeal not to play tennis overseas before March 21 —the date set by the Australian Lawn Tennis Association.

By defying the ban on players going abroad, Stolle disqualified himself from this year's Davis Cup matches.

Top Flight Hydroplanes May Compete in Pageant

Fifty of the finest unlimited hydroplanes in the American Pacific Northwest may participate in a series of races at the International Water Pageant, at Nelson, this summer, it was announced Thursday.

I. R. Jones, who was returned by acclamation, as Kootenay Launch Club commodore, told the club's annul general meeting that discussions were under way with the Northwest Power Boat Commission, district 10 to try and complete arrangements to bring the inboard racing crafts into Nelson, to compete in five races July 12.

The club enthusiastically endorsed the suggestion, and offered to arrange for a number of trophies to be presented to the winners. Mr. Jones, in his remarks to the club, said that hydroplane races involving vessels of the type and quality proposed would put Nelson on the map, as far as yachting regatta circles are concerned.

The club took the opportunity to honor a long-time Nelson resident for a remarkable record of service. Mr. L. F. "Lou" Gilbert was made Honorary Life Commodore. It was pointed out that Mr. Gilbert has never missed, or been late to a general meeting, or a board of governor meeting, in the 60 years of membership in the Kootenay Launch Club.

In other club business, Gra Hall was elected club captai William Turner was returned mate for another season, a will handle secretary-treasur duties.

memo to advertisers

"Guestimating" an audience for your advertising?

Not if your ad is in a daily newspaper!

Guesswork just isn't good enough when your advertising must build sales.

Whether yours is a budget in hundreds or thousands of dollars, it's important to you and it should be thoughtfully and efficiently spent.

No one would think of taking just anybody's word for the condition of a bank's books. No sir! Special examiners must audit the books and detail the condition to a mathematical certainty.

It's the same with a daily newspaper's audience of readers. The advertiser-controlled A.B.C. audits our books every year so that advertisers may know exactly the size of the audience, where it is, and a lot more.

If you agree that facts about your advertising medium should be exchanged for your dollars, then ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

It'll be an eye-opener.

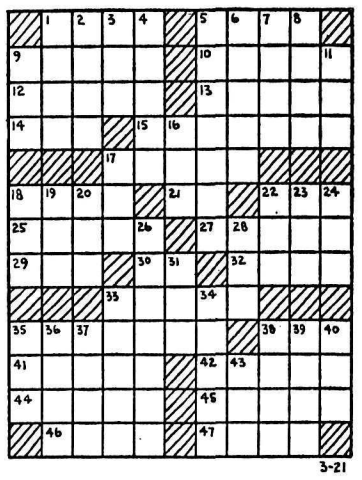
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Australia Looking to the Sea For Drinking Water Supply

By IAN McFARLING

MELBOURNE (CP)—As one of the world's driest and thirstiest continents, Australia is trying to convert sea water to household use.

Scientists working with the Australian Water Research Foundation have already cut the cost of removing salt from sea water by 50 per cent in the last five years.

They still want a major breakthrough, but are confident that within another five to 10 years desalinated sea water could be a paying proposition for ranchers in open pasture country where the ground water is brackish.

In this case the ranchers, running sheep and cattle, would use desalinated water from artesian bores. Scientists forecast that in the big coastal cities desalinated water would go into domestic taps with the help of perhaps nuclear power.

COMING SOON

This has already been predicted by the foundation's honorary director of research, Prof. C. H. Munro, professor of civil engineering at the University of New South Wales.

"Some authorities believe that nuclear - powered electricity generating stations with desalination as a by-product on a large scale are just around the corner," Prof. Munroe said.

But at present, he said during a foundation meeting in Aldelaide, the capital of South Australia, the only application he could see for desalination was in "luxury conditions."

"I regard a breakthrough in desalination infinitely more important than putting a rocket on the moon," he said.

The foundation picked South Australia for its first board of trustees meeting for 1964 as Australia's driest state in a country where the average annual rainfall is only 16.5 inches, compared with a world average of 26 inches.

Australia's run-off to store is even less—an average of 1 1-3 inches, compared with a world run-off average of 9¾ inches.

DEMAND RISING

Foundation scientists say that with the present rate of world population increase, the use of water is doubling every 25 years.

To meet the increasing urgency to find more water, the foundation is stepping up its research, backed by bigger fund-raising drives.

The foundation wants at least another $1,000,000 for 75 new research topics, such as improving the design of small earth dams, controlling the growth of slime in big closed water conduits and the effects of planting softwood forests on water yields.

Gift Selector Proves It's Not Fool-proof

PARIS (Reuters)—An overworked "mechanical brain" did its electronic best to select Christmas gifts on the basis of age, sex, weight and personal pleasures.

Now a leading Paris department store, which hired the electronic computer for the benefit of its pre-Christmas shoppers is trying to determine the machine's efficiency.

The number of customers trying to exchange the gifts selected by the computer indicates that it is not a fool-proof device. Complete statistics, however, are still lacking.

The machine was fed cards giving the details of the would-be recipient of the gift. With a whirr, buzz and click, taking 20 seconds, it came up with about 40 suggestions.

A man in his 20s was advised to buy his fiancee a filmy night-dress, baby - doll pyjamas or satin tights.

A wife, puzzled about a gift for her 35-year-old husband, was told to buy "six pots of honey with six spoons," two bottles of champagne and bathroom scales.

Mission to Push Canada, Scotland Trade

GLASGOW (CP)—A Scottish trade mission to Canada in the spring is being sponsored by the Council for Scottish Chambers of Commerce with the aim of increasing trade between the two countries. The trip is provisionally dated May 6-20.

The 75-member mission will fly from Prestwick to either Halifax or Montreal. Apart from these two cities, the itinerary will include an official visit to the British Columbia Trade Fair at Vancouver.

The idea was originally sponsored by the Edinburgh Chamber of Commerce, said the president of the Glasgow chamber, J. Crawford McKell, announcserved in the RCAF during the Second World War and later was a salesman in Toronto before moving to Alberta where he bought a hotel in the Waterton Lakes district. He is a former president of the Alberta Tourist Association.

Oxfam, organized originally to assist starving Greeks after their country was overrun by the Germans, has become one of the best known charities in Britain.

SALES SLUMP

REYKJAVIK (AP) — Cigarette sales in Iceland have dropped sharply since the U.S. surgeon-general's office issued its report on the effects of smoking.

PUBLIC NOTICES

Department of Public Works

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

LAWN CONSTRUCTION AND PLANT MATERIAL AND PREPARATION

B.C. VOCATIONAL SCHOOL, NELSON, B.C.

SEALED TENDERS endorsed "Lawn Construction, Planting Material and Preparation, B.C. Vocation School, Nelson, B.C." will be received by the Minister of Public Works, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 2:00 P.M. on Wednesday, the 8th day of April 1964, and opened in public at that time and place.

Drawings, specifications and General Conditions of Contract may be obtained by bona fide Contractors only on and after March 24th, 1964, from the Department of Public Works, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. for the sum of Twenty-Five ($25.00) Dollars for each set, which will be refunded upon return of plans, etc., in good condition within a period of one month of awarding of Contract, except in the case of the successful tenderer where the plan deposit is not refundable. Plans and specifications will also be on view at the following offices:

The Vancouver Builders Exchange, 2675 Oak Street, Vancouver 9, B.C.

MacLean's Building Reports, 1955 West 4th Avenue, Vancouver 9, B.C.

The Architectural Centre, 1425 West Pender Street, Vancouver 5, B.C.

Industrial Construction Centre Limited, 1027 West Broadway, Vancouver 9, B.C.

Government Agent, Court House, Nelson, B.C.

All enquiries relating to specifications and tendering procedures shall be directed to the Department of Public Works, Victoria, B.C.

Each tender must be accompanied by a Bid Bond in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the tender price. A Performance and a Labour and Material Payment Bond each in the amount of fifty per cent (50%) of the tendered sum and in a form acceptable to the Minister of Finance, must then be provided by the successful tenderer prior to the award of the Contract, all in accordance with the Conditions of Contract.

THE COMPLETE FORM OF TENDER INCLUDING SUB CONTRACTOR AND UNIT PRICE LIST FORMS MUST BE COMPLETED, SIGNED WITH THE ACTUAL SIGNATURE OF THE TENDERER, AND ENCLOSED IN THE ENVELOPE PROVIDED, OR IN AN ENVELOPE CLEARLY ENDORSED WITH THE FULL TITLE OF THE PROJECT.

No tender will be considered having any qualifying clauses whatsoever or which does not meet completely all requirements indicated above. The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Bonding of sub-contractors by the Contractor is recommended by this Department.

Tenders not available for opening at the proper time and place will be returned to sender.

W. N. CHANT,
Minister of Public Works.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Sunday, March 22, 1964

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—There is no monopoly on charity, personableness or loneliness. They all are with us daily; what you do about them now is important.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—A perfect blending of qualifications or interests is rare. Live with your day for the best there is to do and be, and you will have success in the tomorrows.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Take a little time for perusing old standbys in practice, hobby, and elsewhere, there may be a good bid you are missing by haste and ever-newness.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Enveloped in a plan, project? But do not neglect other chores your exercise, meetings, church duties. Some mystery to live with amiably till it clears.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Contrast—like it or no—is the incentive for future attainment not sought without it. Take matters in stride, with your smile eager.

AUGUST 24 to SEPT. 23 (Virgo) — You may have had, still continuing ,opposition not understood. Be patient while you hasten to learn the real whys. Defend, seek broad views, have faith.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — The imagination may play tricks if not guarded. Accuracy in writings, too! Good day for cultivation of desirable traits you have and must bolster.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Top favored: literary efforts, discovering nice little things about companions, family, nature, the comfort in religion. Speak softly as you go.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Today asks you to be tempered and ready to reconciliate, and to try for new grounds for agreement to prevent rifts and unpleasantness.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — You, too! Before you make that remark, or judge that person, are you being completely objective, and could you save a hassle or hurt by withholding the words?

JANUARY 21 to FBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Intuition, inventiveness (even in "small" items, as friendly gatherings) can lift day out of the ordinary. Modify eccentricity. Wonderful possibilities.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — The critic is often heard, the praiser is less fluent. You can do something about this. Excellent opportunity for your brainwork, quick, careful thinking.

YOU BORN TODAY: Are sometimes termed a dynamo, in the best sense of the word. No matter your age, you enjoy discovery, imporvement, travel, interesting stories (and can tell them!) Could head a large undertaking, including a big family. Many Ariens have several children and share in the joys of each one, everyone's life growing fuller daily. You do not mind opposing odds if the motive for the battle is wise; you do not like contention but will put up a quick, powerful attack once aroused. Rest and regular physical exercise needed to balance your mental agility. Choose cheerful, hopeful associates. Keep order, evenness in '64. Birthdate of "Van Dyck" (Sir Anthony), Flemish painter; many stage artists, humorists, financiers.

SINK OR SWIM FOR LINDBERGH—Jon M. Lindbergh, son of Lindy, is getting himself in deep—in the blue, not the red. At 31 (inset), he is president of the Jon M. Lindbergh & Associates, Inc., a highly skilled team of commercial divers at Coral Gables, Fla. He and his associates have tackled every kind of underwater job from blasting rock for a pier to helping recover a fizzled missile that plopped into ocean.

New Press Secretary Giant, Friendly Man

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Reedy is a friendly, pipe puffing giant of a man who is taking on the almost impossible task of trying to keep both the press and president happy about public relations.

Sunny, cigar-smoking Pierre Salinger resigned as White House press secretary Thursday to try for the Democratic nomination for the Senate in California.

Reedy has been at President Johnson's elbow as a sort of press attache the better part of 13 years.

Like Salinger, Reedy is a former newspaper man. At 46, he is eight years older.

On orders of Johnson and the doctor, Reedy is scaling down calories and poundage. From 265 or 270 pounds he is about one-third of the way to the 200 the doctor recommends.

Reedy was in hospital Thursday, recovering from gall bladder trouble and doing some supervised dieting, when he got word of the forthcoming change. He went to the White House for his first press briefing and Salinger's last.

Salinger announced his own resignation and the appointment of Reedy.

OFFER IN MANY WAYS

The old and the new press secretary differ in many ways. Salinger is short, rotund and has dark, slicked down hair. Reedy is taller, much heavier and his greying sandy hair sticks out as if he had been shocked.

Salinger has a Gallic temper. Reedy is easier going and seldom raises his voice. Salinger has a sharp, nimble wit. Reedy's humor is more on the dryer, drawling side.

Salinger gave a piano concert at six. He composes. He cooks. He is a gourmet, if not a trencherman. He plays mediocre golf and tennis. He took some flying lessons a year ago.

Salinger did things no other press secretary did.

He tried to mediate a New York newspaper strike. He voiced concern about newspaper mergers. He spent a day talking, motorboating and skeet shooting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Russia.

Two Women Try World Air Solo

NEW YORK (AP) — Two United States housewives with the adventurous spirit of Amelia Earhart have set out separately in small private planes to try to solo around the world.

Each denies she is racing the other to become the first woman to perform the feat.

Mrs. Jerrie Mock, 38, and the mother of three, arrived in Bermuda from Columbus, Ohio, on the first leg of her trip.

Mrs. Joan Merriam Smith, 27, a California navy wife, who took off from Oakland, Calif., Tuesday, arrived in Miami, Fla., Thursday after a stop at New Orleans.

She will set out Saturday for San Juan, Puerto Rico, the first overwater jump on her scheduled 27,000-mile flight.

ESCAPES EXECUTION—Charles Cauthen leaves the Courthouse in Spokane, Wash., a very happy man and "alive" again. He escaped jail in Georgia three days before his scheduled execution for a murder he says he did not commit. Washington's Gov. Albert D. Rosellini refused to grant extradition.

Cass May Lose Job Over Civil Rights Criticism

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram quotes high Ontario government officials as saying Friday that Attorney-General Fred Cass will probably lose his job as a result of a storm of criticism whipped up by his introduction of "police-state powers" for the Ontario Police Commission.

However, the paper says officials predict the attorney-general will retain his position "until the heat's off" and the government recoups some of its lost prestige.

Mr. Cass Thursday introduced legislation that would empower the police commission to throw a man in jail—without right to legal counsel and without a public hearing—and keep him there indefinitely.

The paper says Mr. Cass appeared to be in a state of near panic as he released the long-awaited police commission report on organized crime in Ontario.

He blasted former commission chairman, Judge Bruce Macdonald, for identifying persons linked with the Mafia on hearsay evidence, warned newspaper men of the dangers involved, then released the report in its entirety.

Bond Review

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most sections of the Canadian bond market dipped in light trading this week.

The 91-day treasury bills sold at 3.88 per cent, ahead .03 per cent, while the 182-day bills sold at 4.02 per cent, also up .03 per cent.

Short-term government bonds eased fractionally, with the 3¼ per cent bonds maturing Oct. 1, 1964, closing at $22.45, up three cents.

Day - to - day money was in good supply and increased by $25,000,000 to $137,000,000 this week. The day rate was unchanged at 3¾ per cent.

The long-term Canada market was down. The 4½ per cent bonds maturing in 1983 were quoted at $91.25 bid and $91.50 asked, off 37 cents on the week.

The new Province of Ontario $50,000,000 issue met with what bond dealers called "fair reception." The issue of five per cent due April 15, 1973 at $98.62 to yield 5.20 per cent, and 5¼ per cent due April 15, 1984 at $97.62 to yield 5.45 per cent.

Both the corporate and municipal bond market were quiet this week with prices generally unchanged.

Spring Is Here And So Is Snow

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Spring is here. But just try to convince the Maritime motorist, the Prairie farmer or the West Coast harbor pilot.

The Maritimer is too busy trying to cope with the effects of a raging blizzard that left up to 13 inches of snow on parts of the East Coast Thursday.

Western farmers had 10 inches of snow. But they're celebrating. Agricultural officials said at least five inches was needed to protect the soil surface and build water reserves.

Gale warnings went into effect Thursday in the Juan de Fuca and Georgia Strait regions around Vancouver Island.

Eastern Quebec, especially the Gaspe area, also greeted spring from beneath a shroud of snow. About eight inches fell in some parts Thursday.

SNOW EXPECTED

Several inches of snow are possible in southern Ontario by midday Saturday, with less snow elsewhere in the province.

The highest temperatures forecast—around Hamilton, St. Catharines and St. Thomas—was not expected to top 35.

In Manitoba, spring was to be greeted with light winds and sunny skies. But fresh snow covered the ground from Thursday, and temperatures weren't expected to exceed 15 degrees above zero, about 10 below normal.

Only one section of the western prairies, the Lethbridge area of southwest Alberta, was given a good chance of having "fairly mild" weather by this afternoon. Cold arctic air, laced across the new layer of snow by brisk winds, was the expected fare for the rest of the region.

More snow for the interior and more rain for the coast was the less-than-surprising prediction by the British Columbia weatherman. However, all B.C. temperatures ranged above zero with Vancouver and Victoria posting highs of 45.

TO EXHIBIT SOUTH VIET NAM AIRCRAFT

PHNOM PENH (Reuters)—Cambodian chief of state Prince Sihanouk sail in a broadcast Friday the wreckage of a light aircraft from South Viet Nam shot down over Cambodian territory Thursday would be brought here for exhibit.

He said nothing about the crew of the plane but alleged Americans were aboard armored vehicles participating in a Vietnamese military operation in the village of Chantrea about four miles inside the Cambodian border Thursday.

According to informed sources here, the aircraft—a reconnaissance plane — was flying over South Vietnamese forces which attacked the village, killing 16 Cambodians and wounding 14.

Sihanouk added that following this latest Vietnamese violation of the Cambodian frontier there was no hope of success for the Saigon government delegation which arrived Thursday for border talks.

The broadcast was made from the provincial city of Kratie where Sihanouk is on tour.

Sihanouk said he saw no reason to negotiate a firm pact with the present Saigon government or meet Premier Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh because the United States could change the government in South Viet Nam at any time.

He added that Communist North Vietnamese President Ho Chi-minh was a different case since he was well established in power.

Commonwealth May Play Role —Douglas-Home

LAGOS (Reuters) — British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home told the Nigerian parliament here Friday that the Commonwealth could play a "unique role in bringing harmony and neighborliness" to the world.

Douglas-Home was addressing a joint session of parliament on the final day of his three-day visit here.

For Britain, colonialism is dead, he told the packed national hall.

He added there is "no place in Britain's dictionary of political terms for 'neo - colonialism.'"

A crowd of students staged a demonstration Thursday outside the Lagos University teaching hospital while Douglas - Home was inside visiting patients in the wards. There were no incidents.

They carried signs painted with slogans reading: "Home, go home," "Away with apar*theid," and "Africa detests* British hypocrisy."

Uncouth Church Singers May Stay Says Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pastor Wayne A. Eurich says the John H. Chapman family ought to be kicked out of church because they engaged in boisterous and uncouth singing during services.

But a judge says no.

Superior Judge McIntyre Faries ruled Thursday that Chapman, 49, and his daughter, Mrs. Connie Ray, 22, may attend services at the Mar Vista Baptist Church.

Chapman's wife, Betty, 41, however, remains enjoined from attending church while the court hears further testimony. She is accused of singing too loudly and deliberately off-key during services.

An injunction was granted in August, 1961, against the entire family, but Judge Faries has refused to make it permanent, saying evidence of the uncouth singing, especially against the husband and daughter, was insufficient.

Eurich testified that Mrs. Chapman also disrupted services by murmuring the word liar and making faces.

Include Newsmen In Crime Probe Urges Tory MLA

TORONTO (CP)—Allan Lawrence, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Toronto St. George, said Wednesday newspapers should be included in the Ontario Police Commission's crime report recommendation to prosecute broadcasting stations for transmitting horse race results.

Commenting outside the legislature, he said he agreed with the recommendation "but I can see no reason why newspapers, especially our large metropolitan dailies, should be exempted from prosecution."

He said the detailed reports of results that appear in newspapers aid no one but bookies and bettors.

"Remove these reports and the bookmaking industry would be hard-pressed for their basic information," he said.

Loan Firms Wary of New Alberta Act

TORONTO (CP)—Major lending companies here were wary on commenting Friday on a bill now before Alberta legislature which would eliminate a legal device by which persons could sign away the rights given them by the Alberta Judicature Act.

The act says that when a mortgage is foreclosed and the property sold for less than the amount owing the mortgager, the mortgagee may not be sued for the balance.

Premier Manning said by the amendment the government wanted to make it clear that individuals cannot give up their rights under the act through waiver clauses which many companies included in their agreements.

F. T. Smith, manager of the mortgage department of National Trust Company Limited, said his company would not be affected in any way as they did not ask for personal covenants in Alberta mortgages.
