Building Materials Tax Draws Fire

OTTAWA (CP)—The mixed bag of tax measures in Finance Minister Gordon's first budget speech has brought mixed reactions from the country.

The budget — radical in spots — chose a variety of policy targets: more sales taxes to reduce the federal deficit, incentives to boost industrial growth, and bond measures to reduce foreign control of Canadian industry.

Biggest complaints welled up over extension of the 11-per-cent sales tax to building materials and to machinery used in manufacturing or production other than farming and fishing.

There were welcomes for the industrial incentives, especially the three-year tax holiday for new manufacturing firms in depressed areas and accelerated tax write-offs for new machinery purchases by most manufacturing and processing companies.

But there was a cautious, crossed-fingers reaction to Mr. Gordon's most radical new policy — a carrot-and-stick approach towards getting at least a 25-per-cent Canadian ownership in foreign-controlled firms.

There was resigned acceptance of Mr. Gordon's forecast of a $585,000,000 budget deficit in the 1963-64 fiscal year begun April 1—down $124,000,000 from last year.

"No one could be happy over the fact that there is no alternative to facing a large deficit," said B. T. Holmes of Toronto, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Association.

The Commons will have its say when the six-day budget debate starts. This is expected next week.

The stock markets—a sensitive barometer of business feeling—showed slight declines in industrial and base metal prices.

One of Mr. Gordon's main declared goals is a reduction in unemployment, and on this score the Canadian Labor Congress had some strong criticism.

CLC Secretary-Treasurer Donald MacDonald said the new sales tax on building materials and production machinery "means more unemployment."

Mr. Gordon said he expected the tax on building materials—estimated to add four to five per cent to building costs—will be offset in the case of homes by a planned reduction in the down payment on National Housing Act mortgages and a cut in the NHA interest rate to 6¼ per cent from 6½.

But the president of the Canadian Construction Association, T. A. Somerville of Toronto, said house costs will go up—$800 on the average—from the tax, compared with the new $500 federal subsidy to the initial owners of winter-built homes. The cut in the NHA rate "would likely have happened anyway."

VICTORIA REPORTED CRIME-RIDDEN

VICTORIA (CP)—A metropolitan police force was recommended for Greater Victoria Friday in a report that described the city as a happy hunting ground for criminals.

The report said Victoria heads six other Canadian cities of comparable size in the amount of crime committed and hinted at police approval of gambling and bootlegging.

The 25,000-word report was made by George Archer, former RCMP superintendent and retired chief of the Vancouver police, appointed to inquire into the efficiency and future needs of police forces in the area.

He recommended a metro police force covering Victoria and surrounding municipalities of Oak Bay, Saanich, Central Saanich and eventually Esquimalt.

Three Special Consultants Assisted With Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — The New Democratic Party charged Friday in the Commons that ghost writers from Toronto's Bay Street drafted the national budget presented to Parliament Thursday night.

Finance Minister Gordon, after refusing direct replies to opposition questions earlier in the day, made a Commons statement later admitting that three Toronto businessmen assisted him in preparation of the budget.

He said in reply to further questioning that two of the men were being paid by their Toronto investment firms while working in the finance department.

Mr. Gordon identified the three "special consultants" as David C. H. Stanley, of Wood, Gundy and Company; M. P. O'Connell, of Harris and Partners; and G. R. Conway, a post-graduate student at Harvard.

"Completely and morally wrong," said David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) when Mr. Gordon said Mr. Stanley and Mr. O'Connell continued to be paid by their companies after joining the finance department April 22, the day the Liberal government took office.

Douglas Fisher (NDP — Port Arthur) referred to the three men as "ghost writers" and T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said Bay Street had drafted the national budget.

Mr. Gordon said the three men took the oath of allegiance and the oath of office and secrecy.

He said he knew of at least one precedent for the cahe. He himself in 1941 had served the then minister of finance "in exactly the same way and on exactly the same terms that these three gentlemen have just been serving me,"

If governments were to get the best advice possible, they must feel free to call in experienced persons for advice.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked: "In the particular circumstances relating to the preparation of the budget, when matters of national importance in respect of which illicit profits could be made, is it not necessary that under no circumstances should individuals be called in from outside, who, no matter how honest and whatever their integrity may be, are placed in an impossible position?"

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Commons will have to look into the matter more fully.

Mr. Gordon denied the suggestion of Stanley Knowles (NDP — Winnipeg North Centre- that the three consultants had taken precedence over finance department officials and that this might be linked to the recent resignation of deputy finance minister Kenneth Taylor.

The minister said in reply to Paul Martineau, former mines minister. that the three consultants had access to the final draft of the budget before it was delivered in the Commons.

Mr. Douglas said he objects strenuously to non-government persons having information to which no person outside government service was entitled.

"It is whether or not we place any individual in a position where he can have information which can be personally gainful to him," Mr. Douglas added.

He was "appalled" that two of the consultants had continued on the payroll of their companies.

Mr. Douglas said Mr. Gordon was "trying to cover up" an "unfortunate situation."

George Nowlan, former finance minister, said the matter was "one of the most important subjects which could be brought before the House." There should be a debate in the "immediate future."

State Secretary Pickersgill, government house leader, said the government won't try to prevent "the fullest possible debate of this matter at an appropriate time."

He announced later the budget debate will begin Wednesday. The subject can be discussed thn, if not earlier.

Fireman Killed

Overcome by Smoke in Hospital Blaze

EDMONTON (CP)—A rooftop fire Friday in an old wing of downtown Misericordia Hospital resulted in the death of one fireman and caused the emergency evacuation of 74 patients.

Several firemen were treated for smoke sickness but no injuries were reported among patients or hospital staff.

The fireman who died was identified as Captain Robert J. Vint, 47, of No. 2 fire station, a few blocks from the hospital.

Witnesses said the captain was overcome by smoke while crawling between a ceiling and roof on the top floor of the three-storey hospital wing.

He appeared to be all right when helped from the area but became ill while being driven home to rest. He died shortly after being admitted to the emergency department of the Misericordia Hospital.

Girl Believed Abducted

MISSION (CP) — Police say a tracking bloodhound has led them to the conclusion that a pretty, blonde 12-year-old girl missing for five days has been abducted.

Police and dogs, the girl's frantic parents and 100 volunteers, have been scouring this Fraser Valley area since Sunday night when Alice Mathers vanished while walking home from a married sister's house.

Searching officers disclosed that a bloodhound brought into the case Thursday had followed the girl's trail from her sister's home to a highway. There the trail ended.

"We believe the girl was taken into a car and driven away," one RCMP officer said.

"The trail ended at the same spot on the highway in two separate checks by the bloodhound."

RCMP appealed for help from people who might have seen the girl walking home last Sunday night. Her trail led to a fence where she regularly stopped to look at horses. Then it continued down a back road to the highway and east on the highway for 300 yards, then stopped.

Photographs of the slim school girl have been sent to police detachments throughout the province.

Doctors Point Up Medicare Faults

TORONTO (CP)—The controversial medical care issue received a thorough going-over on the final day of the Canadian Medical Association's annual meeting Friday and the arguments seemed to depend on the source of information.

Saskatchewan's government-run medical care plan, discussed in a closed session of the CMA's general council Monday, was the chief topic at an open meeting again Friday.

The proposed systems of limited medical insurance in Ontario and Quebec also were outlined to CMA delegates.

Dr. I. W. Bean of Regina, a board member of the CMA's Saskatchewan division, said in a review of the first year's operation of medical care in his province that the doctors-government agreement of last July was "more of an uneasy standoff" than an agreement established with "equity and good faith."

While the doctors last summer "felt relatively secure" in winning as a concession the preservation of private health plans under the government medicare system, the plans have since been relegated "to the status of a 'clearing house' for physicians' accounts and enabled the government to use them as a means of keeping the total cost of medical care under so-called consumer control."

Dr. Bean said later at a press conference that the doctors had not realized at the time of agreeing to the system that the plans would become in effect collecting agencies between the doctor and the patient on the one hand and the government's medical care commission on the other.

"Maybe we were tired, maybe we were just stupid," Dr. Bean said.

Criticizing the effects of Saskatchewan medical care, Dr. Bean said the government had not achieved its own goal of universal coverage. He said eight to 10 per cent of the population were excluded from benefitting under medicare, although they pay taxes for it.

He said at the press conference that Indians, members of the armed forces and their families, blind pensioners, patients of mental and TB institutions and men receiving war veterans allowances were not covered.

He said the medical care provided for some of these groups by the federal government was not as full as that under the provincial system.

Columbia Work Can Start This Year, Says Bennett

CRANBROOK (CP) —Contract work on the Columbia River project can start this year, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Friday.

He said an impasse with Ottawa concerning the $450,000,000 project has been broken.

The attorney-general made the assertions as he addressed a meeting tendered the B.C. cabinet by the city.

Mr. Bonner said the impasse with Ottawa had been broken in last week's negotiations in Ottawa between Premier Bennett and Prime Minister Pearson when a draft agreement was drawn up and two steps remain.

The first step — agreement with the national government—had already been taken. Remaining was agreement with the United States government and then ratification of the treaty.

"Provided there is no obstruction, these steps can be completed quickly," Mr. Bonner said.

The provincial government had already spent more than $8,000,000 on the Columbia, completing sufficient engineering work to permit contracts to be called this year.

Later the cabinet left on a day-long tour which took them to Fernie and Kimberley.

"Supps" Not Likely To Be Reinstated

VICTORIA (CP) — Supplemental Grade 12 examinations in B.C. schools are out and the hue and cry raised by teacher, trustees and parent organizations isn't likely to bring them back, says deputy education minister Dr. J. F. K. English.

He told an interviewer Friday that as chairman of the provincial board of examiners, responsible for setting departmental examinations:

"I can say the protests will be considered but I don't hold out much hope that the board will change its mind."

The supplementals were designed to give students who fail Grade 12 university entrance exams in June a second try at passing them in August. They were eliminated after the University of B.C. announced it would not accept students who had to write supplementals.

Various groups, including the B.C. Teachers' Federation and the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation have protested the elimination, saying students who do not intend going to university but need university entrance standing are being discriminated against.

Dr. English said the supps were dropped mainly because the university did not recognize them, but there were other reasons. Of 8,569 supplemental exam papers written last August, only 712 passed. With such a failure rate supplementals were hardly worth the time and effort.

"We probably would have dropped them whether the university had accepted them or not," he said.

Christine Denies Was Asked To Get Secrets

LONDON (AP) — A British lawyer claimed Friday that playgirl Christine Keeler told him a handsome Soviet naval attache tried to get her to wheedle nuclear secrets from former war minister John Profumo.

The 21-year-old Miss Keeler immediately denied this, but the lawyer's statement gave a sensational new turn to the sex scandal threatening the life of Prime Minister Macmillan's government.

Macmillan's aides said the story of the reputed Soviet attempt was known previously to the government. The prime minister summoned his top security aides and a new inquiry into the case was considered imminent.

This was the series of events in a day that exposed the hard-pressed Macmillan to fresh political attacks:

Michael Eddowes, a former legal adviser of Miss Keeler, said she told him Soviet naval attache Yevgeny Ivanov asked her to vamp nuclear weapon secrets out of Profumo. He claimed he at once told the British authorities and added the information that Christine had old him she had not sought state secrets.

Profumo and the Russian shared Miss Keeler's bedroom favors in 1961.

NDP Wants Gov't To Wheedle Panhandle Back From U.S.

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal government is being asked to do some diplomatic muscle-flexing with its friends in the American administration to have the Alaska Panhandle returned to Canada.

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) placed a motion on the Commons order paper Friday calling on the government to enter into negotiations immediately with the United States to relocate the British Columbia-Alaska border.

The aim is to return to Canada the narrow coastal strip of Alaskan territory from about the 60th parallel to the 55th parallel—roughly 500 or 600 miles long—to provide Canada with tidewater ports for the development of the northern B.C. interior.

"Now that we have a Liberal government with such a penchant for amicable relations with the U.S. and a government in the U.S. with such a high degree of concern for fair play, it seems to be me an appropriate time to open this question for discussion and for solution," Mr. Howard said in an interview.

The boundary involved was settled by international arbitration in the 1800s when Canada's interests were represented by Britain.

"Historians agree we got diddled," said Mr. Howard.

Upwards of 60,000 square miles lie behind the Panhandle with the only outlet to shipping on the Pacific at Prince Rupert near the southern tip of the American strip.

The area is largely unexplored but there are indications of important mineral deposits. Some minerals have been developed such as asbestos at Cassiar. The southern end of the boxed-in area has some cattle ranching which could spread northward with ocean port facilities.

A 1936 royal commission on coal estimated that behind the Panhandle are coal fields with a potential of 900,000,000 tons.

Whether Mr. Howard's proposal ever comes up for debate in the Commons depends on the length of the parliamentary session. It stands behind a large number of other private members' motions on the order paper.

GIVEN FOUR YEARS FOR RAPE

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Alfred Patrick, 31, of Prince George and Vanderhoof, was sentenced to four years for rape, the stiffest sentence handed out by Mr. Justice H. A. MacLean at the close of the spring assizes here Thursday night.

The sawmill worker was convicted of raping a 22-year-old woman in neighboring Fort George Nov. 22 in what was described by the judge as a "bestial offence."

Walter Garnet Savord, 21, of the Chetwynd-Hudson Hope area, was given three years for the rape of a 27-year-old woman in Prince George Feb. 5. Savord, on probation for theft at the time of the offence, was married May 3.

Brochure on Pesticides As Health Hazards Asked

By IRA DRYSDALE

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Consumers' Association of Canada asked the federal government Friday for a "comprehensive brochure" on possible health hazards from the "continued use of pesticides."

The 16-year-old national group asked the government to publish the brochure "for consumers" in one of three resolutions on pesticides passed during closing sessions of a three-day annual meeting.

Another resolution asks the federal agriculture department and pesticides manufacturers for "better" labels to emphasize in English and French "the toxic properties, method of using warnings of improper use and of the need to wear protective clothing and masks."

The resolution said the CAC has received reports of damage to persons, crops and gardens "due to the incorrect use of pesticides."

The third resolution asks provincial governments to "permit the sale of all pesticides only through approved and licensed outlets."

Another resolution asks for amendment to a regulation under the federal health department's Food and Drug Act to require the list of ingredients to be printed on containers of all packaged food products.

It says consumers want to be informed of the ingredients of all products which may be contained in standard foods.

Now Time to Tackle New Challenges–Bennett

KIMBERLEY — "What you don't use, you lose," declared Premier Bennett as he reiterated his stand on the Columbia River power development before 250 people Friday night at the Kimbrook Motel.

The premier cautioned the audience that British Columbia may lose the opportunity of developing the Peace and Columbia unless there is action soon. He added that the development of atomic and other types of energy may be detrimental to hydro-electric power, since many of the power markets could be lost. Therefore, these rivers must be developed soon as part of the province's 30-million horsepower potential.

Mr. Bennett told the gathering now is the time to seek new challenges and opportunities and to find new problems to face and tackle. To do this the population of the country must be trained.

The premier told his audience that on July 1 "we have more to celebrate than just our nationhood, for on that day B.C. will become a province with four universities. It is not enough to train 17 per cent of the working force at university, the other 83 per cent is just as important." "Our aim is to educate all the people to use the talent God has given them."

He also said the concept of the Minister of Education, L. R. Petersen, QC, also being Minister of Labor was fitting in a world of automation progress and training.

Premier Bennett said a federal government suggestion that it can't afford to give provincial governments a bigger share of tax revenues "won't wash with me."

He said the federal government should get out of the direct taxation field, a small percentage each year.

The premier said the British-North America Act directed that all direct taxes should go to the provinces.

Next stop for the cabinet is Radium, and then on to Golden where the final meeting will be held before the group returns to Victoria.

In 1954, he became executive vice-president and when the Eddy Match Company purchased KFP in 1958, he was promoted to president and general manager.

He is a past president of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Vance has long been a Kootenay resident. He put himself through high school by working on sternwheelers on the Okanagan, Arrow and Kootenay Lakes, serving longest on the SS Nasookin, queen of the Kootenay Lake fleet.

B.C. Scout Leaders Training at Kaslo

Twenty-two scout troop leaders from all over British Columbia will spend 10 days near Kaslo on a specialized training course, starting today.

Known as Scout Gilwell course, it is run along the lines of a troop at camp, using the patrol system throughout. Course leader is deputy camp chief Jack Flamank of Crescent Valley.

An international course, the training is registered in Gilwell Park, England and is the same the world over, Mr. Flamank said.

Attending the course are troop leaders from Vancouver Island, lower mainland, Prince George, Kitimat, Okanagan and the Kootenays. Age of the leaders runs from 24 to 53 years and the average is 39.

The main idea of the course is to teach the men to be better troop leaders. They will be shown ways of training their own junior leaders, making them more efficient, thereby giving them added responsibility to become better citizens.

By properly training the juniors, it will also give the troop leaders more time to counsel and provide supervision, said Mr. Flamank.

The course will be held from June 15 to June 23 at Twin Bays, about seven miles south of Kaslo.

Attending from the Kootenays will be S. J. Atcheson, Cranbrook; N. V. Hindle, Nelson; H. J. Learmonth, Nelson; C. R. Munns, Kinnaird and Bjarne Thorshaug, Nelson.

Appeals Lost In Appledale Terrorist Cases

B.C. Court of Appeal in Vancouver recently rejected the appeal of two Appledale men now serving prison sentences on public mischief charges arising out of terrorist investigations here in 1962.

Angus Osachoff was sentenced by Magistrate William Evans in Provincial Court here last January to three years imprisonment on a charge of conspiracy to make a false statement and to three years, to run concurrently, on a second charge of making a false statement.

Alex Chernoff received a prison sentence of 12 months definite and 12 months indefinite on the same two charges.

The statements were given to RCMP in connection with the Appledale Roman Catholic Church burning in January 1962. Several people were implicated and brought to trial. All were acquitted.

Chernoff and Osachoff appealed both against the conviction and against the sentence. They lost both appeals.

The two convictions are the only ones on record in connection with terrorist activities. There were no other public mischief charges laid by the crown, against other accused, who testified their statements were false, and subsequently acquitted.

Garland Tells Rotarians of European Tour

A six-month European tour, entailing all aspects of living and culture, was outlined by senior member C. B. Garland, QC, at the Rotary Club luncheon in the Hume Hotel Friday.

Mr. Garland recently returned from a six-month trip to Europe in which he extensively toured London and Hamburg, and went on a return trip from Hamburg to Panama aboard a freighter.

He described living conditions, scenery, accommodations, money and politics. He was critical of British workmanship, but in return commended them for their "very good" television.

In a description of his freighter trip, Mr. Garland told of a humorous sidelight when the ship passed near Cuba. He said that United States planes buzzed the ship a few times, but were "satisfied, and did not bomb us."

Guests at the luncheon were W. H. Forest of Victoria; C. J. Alexander of Prosser, Wash.; Fred Williams of Prince George, and John Miller.

President John Morey informed the members that installation of officers will take place June 27.

Nelson Goes Over Top By 100 in Blood Clinic

For the first time in Nelson's blood clinic history the 800-pint quota has been surpassed by more than 100 donors during the two-day session.

Chairman Mrs. Stan Morris stated the 905 donors exceeded all other Nelson clinics, the next highest recorded in 1959 at 820 pints.

Mrs. Morris said donors hailed from district points such as Slocan Park, Salmo, New Denver, Silverton and Winlaw.

Numerous 10, 15 and 18-year donors returned and hundreds of new blood streams were tapped at the Royal Canadian Legion hall.

One man donated blood for the 40th time and a 25-year donor was welcomed back, Mrs. Morris said.

C. W. McBey, regional vice-president of West Kootenay, of Trail, visited the clinic Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Morris credited the clinic's tremendous success to the Gyro Club's concentrated campaign before and during the clinic. Credit was also given to CKLN, the Daily News and service clubs, with special mention to the Junior Red Cross, at the High School.

At 9:30 p.m. beds were being disassembled by the Gyros and nurses and the few remaining donors were draining the last pot of coffee.

The nurses will travel to Castlegar blood clinic Monday, Rossland on Tuesday and they will be in Trail Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

To Call Contract For Bull River Hatchery in Month

CRANBROOK (CP) — A contract for the Bull River fish hatchery, to cost more than $1,000,000, will likely be called within a month, provincial Recreation Minister Westwood announced Friday.

The hatchery, located 20 miles east of here in the East Kootenay, will be designed to produce twice as many fish as all other hatcheries in the province together.

The minister, here with the touring B.C. cabinet, said work should begin this year and the hatchery is expected to be in operation by next summer.

He also announced that a major campsite project will be built close to the hatchery to take care of an expected flood of visitors and also disclosed plans for a campsite at Fort Steele, 20 miles east of here.

Coal Pipeline Considered, Fernie Told

FERNIE (CP) — A 500-mile pipeline that would carry coal to the coast for export is being considered by private interests, Mines Minister Kenneth Keirnan said here Friday.

He said the economic feasibility of the project depended on a 20-year contract for 5,000,000 tons a year. He said his department had been involved in studies in the last four months, and had decided that the plan would work on a 20-year contract basis.

Mr. Keirnan said coal from the pits here would be ground at a special plant, mixed with water, and piped in solution. Estimated cost for such a pipeline is $100,000,000.

The minister made the disclosure when Premier Bennett brought his cabinet here on a Kootenay tour, and after Mayor James White had asked what the government would do to help the depressed mining area.

Council Wrestles Trailer Problems

Nelson's trailer policy was put to the test at city council Monday.

The city ordered Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Ryall to move their trailer dwelling from their 48 View Street property to a proper trailer camp.

A request to have a combined laboratory-living quarters trailer located at the Nelson Fish Hatchery at Cottonwood Falls was laid on the table.

Two years ago council allowed Mr. Ryall to have city services connected to his trailer at his property, with the understanding that by August 1963 Mr. Ryall had either completed or made a substantial start on building a permanent house on the property. During this time the Ryall family was permitted to live in the trailer.

Mr. Ryall informed council that during the past two years he had been trying to sell both the trailer and the property but had been unsuccessful.

He proposed that he be allowed to build additions to the trailer and make it into a permanent dwelling, but council rejected this plan and informed Mr. Ryall that on termination of the lease in August, he will be expected to remove the trailer to a trailer park.

SECOND REQUEST

Action on the second trailer request was delayed until council had conferred with its inhabitant, Desmond D. Anthony. The University of Alberta graduate will use the fully equipped laboratory to carry on a study of parasites of fish from Kootenay Lake.

Sponsored by the University of Alberta, Mr. Anthony, a native of British Guiana, will carry on his study during the summer months. The study will last three summers, with Mr. Anthony returning to the university for winter sessions.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse was opposed to allowing the trailer to be connected to city services at the hatchery site and felt that the city trailer bylaw should be upheld and the 40-foot trailer removed to a trailer park. He made a motion that the trailer be allowed to remain in the city trailer park during Mr. Anthony's stay here.

The motion was defeated, the majority of council feeling that this would be in direct conflict with the interests of private trailer parks.

Council was told that it was not essential for Mr. Anthony's study that he be located beside the hatchery. It was more a matter of convenience.

'Copter Pulls Nakusp Man From Columbia

REVELSTOKE (CP) — Royal Churchill, 29, of Nakusp will long recount how he was pulled to safety by a rope-lowering helicopter after being swept about three miles down the swirling Columbia River Tuesday.

Churchill was working with Roly Faucett, 53, of Sidmouth near here, using a small tug to break up log jams on the river. The tug capsized and was swept two miles down river as they clung to it.

Then it began to sink.

Faucett, a non-swimmer, made shore after Churchill gave him his life-jacket. Churchill, trying to beat the current, was swept another mile downstream before authorities managed to get a helicopter to the scene.

The pilot swung over the tiring boom man, lowered a rope and hauled him to safety.

Among Best Graduating Classes

Graduation Ceremony, Dance Banquet Held at Nakusp School

NAKUSP—"Evening in Paris" was the setting for graduation exercises of Nakusp Secondary School when 17 grade 12 students participated in the ceremony.

W. Craft, school board chairman, spoke to the graduating class on behalf of the trustees. J. Verkerk read a letter from Claude Bissell, district superintendent, who was unable to attend because of ill health. His letter brought greetings from the department, and best wishes for the graduates.

The class hisorian, Barrie Johnson, reviewed 12 years of schooling by members of the class, with emphasis being placed on the last year.

The Grade 12 class sang a French song "Dites-moi" which was well received by the large audience.

In his commencement address, J. J. Morey, manager of Kelly Douglas from Nelson, advised the students to give their best in whatever vocation they chose.

"Always give a little more than expected.

"When choosing a vocation, the students were urged to look ahead instead of putting too much weight on present financial gain, and lastly he pointed out that the students must like the work that they are doing.

AWARDS PRESENTATION

The cup for the best all-round athlete was presented to Mark Duncan.

Mr. Verkerk gave certificates of merit to the 15 students from grades 8 to 12 who had been on the honor roll at least twice in the last three reports: grade 12, Glenda Butt, Mark Duncan, Walter DeBoni; grade 11, Betsy Falkiner, Pauline Gensick; grade 10, Alan Hoshazaki, Bonnie Nishiamura, Joan Montalbetti; grade 9, Bill Dodge, Karolyn Kawahara, Clara Urban, David Walker; grade 8, Elaine Rathjen, Eddy Zak, Phyllis Zeleznick.

Jeanne Falkiner, in her valedictory address, thanked the parents and teachers for their guidance in the past 12 years. The graduates, she said, looked to the future with a feeling of excitement knowing that they must now stand alone in facing the future.

Rev. E. Rae gave the graduation prayer and the high school mixed choir of 40 voices, closed the ceremonies with three songs: "He's Got the Whole World," "Alma Mater" and "This Land Is Your Land."

BANQUET

Seventy-eight people consisting of parents, guests and grads enjoyed a banquet prepared and served by the grade 11 girls under the direction of Mrs. Levitt in the Nakusp Secondary school.

Glenda Butt said Grace. Walter DeBoni, as toast master, introduced the head-table and then had the students introduce their parents.

Barry Anderson proposed the toast to the Queen. The toast to the school board was made by Lynne Maxwell and replied to by Mrs. Ron Jordan, one of the trustees. The toast to the parents was given by Mark Duncan and replied to by Mrs. Dave Johnson.

Mr. Robison, in his toast to the graduates, referred to them as one of the best graduating classes to leave the Nakusp Secondary School. In his reply, James McCormack, for the graduates, thanked the teachers.

On behalf of the graduates, Keith McIntosh thanked Mrs. Levitt and the grade 11 girls for the banquet.

The graduation dance was held following the commencement exercises. It opened with the graduates and their parents leading the Grand March. The music was supplied by Harold Witt's Orchestra.

The "Face Facts" Budget

We seem to be losing sight of the fundamentals of things. This is so in the case of the country's annual budget which should be regarded merely as a means of raising money and its planned disbursement. Looked at in this light there can be little to quarrel with in the budget brought down by Finance Minister Gordon. Neither the personal nor the corporation taxes are changed and there is an attempt to decrease the deficit.

In almost every other case with the exception of the 11 per cent sales tax now to be levied on building materials and remanufactured goods the budget is used as a political instrument with, of course, the intention of promoting industry or correcting what are considered faults in the nation's economy.

There is a definite attempt to increase Canadian ownership in industry by favoring those companies with at least 25 per cent Canadian ownership — there is a two-year writeoff on new machinery and equipment bought in Canada, the withholding tax is reduced by five per cent for such companies and this tax is raised by the same amount by companies with less than 25 per cent Canadian ownership; while there is a 30 per cent tax on sales of Canadian company shares not sold through the stock exchange or amounting to less than $50,000.

All this, no doubt, is designed to combat what is considered inimical to Canada, the control of Canadian companies by foreign interests. How they will achieve this purpose remains to be seen but it is by no means certain that there will not be other effects.

Apart from this there are minor measures of interest such as a three-year tax holiday for new industries in depressed areas, a bonus payment to encourage the hiring of unemployed persons aged 45 or over and a crackdown on excessive expense accounts.

While it is satisfactory to reduce NHA mortgage rates by one-quarter per cent this is offset by the imposition of an 11 per cent sales tax on building materials. The tax will fall most heavily on individuals improving their homes without the aid of loans and this may well have an effect on lumber sales in this province. This imposition on building supplies and machinery for industry will undoubtedly be a counter agent to the avowed purpose of the budget in stimulating trade and industry growth.

Wives, Children, Pawns In Political Power Play

There comes a time when filibusters and other proceedings aimed at blocking legislation or publicizing the need for a change, can lose their effectiveness and cause more harm than good.

Such a point may have been reached in regard to divorce bills in the House of Commons. Most B.C. residents probably take little interest in the effort of two NDP members in the Commons to force a change in procedure by blocking the passage of divorce bills. These are divorces from Quebec and Newfoundland which have no provincial divorce courts — so why should the rest of Canada worry?

The St. John Telegraph has commented on this situation and points out that the situation should concern all Canadians when their fellows are being unfairly treated and a good many affected by the blockade.

"Mr. Frank Howard and Mr. Arnold Peters, the NDP members who originated the blockade more than two years ago, have announced they intend to continue the gambit in the new Parliament. By simply demanding discussion of each case in detail by the whole Commons, they have held up passage of 700 divorce bills and the figure will reach 1000 this year.

"Aside from all considerations of the merits of divorce itself and the present parliamentary procedure, it is time someone thought about the innocent pawns in this power play, the children of the broken families.

"Their mothers are legally tied to husbands who, in many cases, are making no effort to support their families. The cost of parliamentary divorce is high to begin with, and every time Parliament prorogues without handling a bill, a new petition must be signed and presented, with more costs involved.

"The mothers cannot remarry. They must find the money to support their children and pay for the endless divorce proceedings. Inevitably, many of the children are being deprived of things they need.

"These two members have stalled the machinery of Parliament too long. Their dissenting opinion has been clearly registered. If new divorce machinery is needed, let Parliament get about the business of setting it up; meantime let us have action, and at once, to relieve the plight of these hundreds of unfortunate Canadians."

—Penticton Herald.

Home Sweet Home

Two U. S. scientists in Antarctica have found that Adelie penguins, which cannot fly, can be transported hundreds of miles from their own rookeries and walk, with six-inch steps, unerringly back home. The scientists attribute this amazing navigational feat to a built-in "direction clock" within the birds.

Experiments which reveal this ability have been conducted, of course, in the realm of pure science. But it might some day be applied—to the advancement of society and the benefit of domestic felicity.

If this "direction clock" can be implanted in the Old Boys' Reunion celebrant, who dresses like a penguin with a black bow tie, and who clings to the lamp post as he sings "Sweet Adeline", the Antarctic research could pay off.

—Victoria Times.

Speakers

Here's a custom we Canadians could use. An Indian tribe in Brazil keeps long-winded speakers in their place by making each candidate deliver his speech while standing on one leg. Although this might give one legged candidates an advantage, it is still an idea worth importing into Canada at any pre-election time. The man who could balance himself on one leg for more than a minute and talk through his hat at the same time would deserve election as a well-balanced candidate.

Cuba Easing Pressure on Church, But Lack of Young Clergy Evident

By JACK BEST

HAVANA (CP) — There has been a noticeable abatement of tension between Cuba's revolutionary government and the Roman Catholic church.

However, some Protestant sects, principally the Jehovah's Witnesses, have recently been having a rough time. They seem to be getting much the same kind of treatment the Catholic Church got during the anti-clerical campaign of two years ago.

Today the Catholic Church feels itself under much less pressure.

"The situation has definitely improved in the last year or so," says a prominent priest. "The people demanded that the campaign against the church be stopped."

The country's troublesome economic situation may also have had something to do with the new policy, he suggested.

"With shortages getting worse, especially food shortages, they (the authorities) probably concluded that there was enough prospective discontent without tampering with something so close to the heart of Cubans as the church."

LOOK OVER SCHOOLS

Though Cubans generally are reputed to be lax at practising their faith, some 95 per cent are nominal Catholics.

"Religion is something sentimental with them, and therefore hard to root out," the priest said.

For their part, government officials have always denied any intention to wipe out the church. They have said their purpose was to weed out "counter-revolutionary" and "falangist" elements among the clergy and to relieve the church of responsibilities they felt were not properly within its sphere. This meant, among other things, expropriation of parochial schools.

Despite the improved church-state climate, ecclesiastical authorities are deeply concerned about the future. Fear of immediate further repressive measures has been replaced by anxiety about whether the church will be able to survive as a viable institution over the long period.

Of the approximately 200 priests remaining in Cuba—compared with 750 before the mass exodus two years ago—at least half are said to be over 60.

Nineteen of the priests are Canadians, from the Foreign Missions Society, Montreal. About an equal number of Canadians fled in the spring of 1961.

SHORTAGE OF PRIESTS

The entire littoral from Havana eastward to Las Villas province, a distance of 100 miles, now is served by Canadian missionaries.

In Havana itself, the Church of Charity, parish seat of Msgr. Eduardo Boza Masvidal, auxiliary bishop of Havana until his deportation in the fall of 1961, now has a Canadian as its parish priest. He is Rev. Jacques de Charette, and he and a single Cuban assistant minister to 40,000 parishioners.

About 120 Spanish priests remain, compared with more than 50 here little more than two years ago. The rest are Cuban.

Calculated on an estimated Catholic population of 6,500,000 there is one priest for every 32,500 persons.

Hardest hit by the shortage of clergy is Camaguey province in eastern Cuba which has eight priests to serve more than 1,000,000.

Both in Havana and the interior, clergy leave their cassocks at home and wear ordinary clothes in public. This is a practice that lingers from the recent past when priests felt it was dangerous to be seen abroad in ecclesiastical garments.

MAY ADMIT PRIESTS

Some church officials are optimistic about the future. One source, noting the apparent change in the government's mood, expressed guarded hope that it may be moved to allow more foreign priests into the country to relieve the shortage.

It is understood the Castro government has indicated a willingness to admit five more Canadian missionaries.

There is a trickle of Cuban priests returning from seminaries abroad. In Cuba itself, one seminary is operating. It is said to have about 40 students.

Catholic Action groups have started up again in Oriente province, apparently with the consent of the authorities. Catechism classes have resumed in some interior parishes. Priests are permitted to make sick calls; even, in some cases, to government hospitals.

"Best of all," said a church authority, "people are no longer because of fear."

OTHER SECTS ATTACKED

There is less talk now about a national church, something the government was promoting two years ago but appears to have abandoned.

"Neither the people nor the clergy would have anything to do with it," said aqualified source.

At the same time, however, several Protestant sects are under direct attack by the government. In addition to the Jehovah's Witnesses they include Gideons, Pentecostals and Adventists. They claim a combined membership of about 80,000 in Cuba, with Jehovah's Witnesses accounting for half.

The government accuses them of obstructing the revolution by counselling people not to work on the Sabbath—whether Saturday or Sunday — and not to carry firearms, which means refusing to join the militia.

"We are only doing our work," said a spokesman for the religious groups.

Some ministers are said to have been jailed for brief periods, and others have fled the country. Public activities of the sects have in effect been proscribed. Unable to carry on as accustomed, they have turned to door-to-door missionary work.

Other Protestant churches have escaped serious trouble, though ministers complain about being under pressure to avoid any mention in their sermons of matters touching on politics.

The principal Protestant churches are the Episcopalian, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist. They have about 60,000 active communicants.

Expected To Be Long Flight

Russ Orbit Fifth Man; Another Expected Soon

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched its fifth man into orbit around the earth Friday and Premier Khrushchev hinted at least one more cosmonaut may join the one already up in what may be another space venture lasting several days.

The United States announced the end of its Project Mercury one-man space flights two days ago.

The Soviet news agency Tass said "the pilot himself reports, and the telemetric system confirms, that he satisfactorily withstood the putting into orbit and the transition to a state of weightlessness and that he feels well."

The news agency reported the space craft was orbiting the earth once every 88 minutes from 112 miles to 146 miles from earth.

SPEAKS TO EARTH

The capsule was reported circling at a 65-degree angle from the equator and broadcasting to the earth on 20.006- and 143.625-megacycle frequencies.

In contrast to the austere radio announcements of previous manned space flights, Khrushchev broke the news of this one to Harold Wilson, visiting leader of the British Labor party, at a Kremlin meeting.

Wilson — remembering that the last Soviet manned flights in August, 1962, had two men aloft at once — immediately asked how many were up this time.

"Only one so far," said Khrushchev, spreading his arms wide apart to emphasize his point.

Tass said the purpose of the new launching is to continue studies of the influence of various factors of space flight on the human body and to continue study of conditions of a long flight. This indicated that the flight of Bykovsky will be a long one.

The last Soviet launchings—Aug. 11 and 12, 1962—saw cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich come close to one another while in orbit. They were christened "the heavenly twins." Nikolayev, the first off the launching paid, was aloft just short of four days.

Moscow radio said Vostok V was functioning normally.

The size and weight of Vostok V were not announced.

Blast-off of the fifth Soviet cosmonaut, a married man with a three-month-old son, came after a flurry of speculation in the West that the fifth would be a woman.

This possibility still remained since there has been no announced Soviet intention to end its first series of manned space flights as the U.S. did.

CROWDS GATHER

Moscow television showed his picture — young-looking, dark-haired and handsome. He was in military uniform with a peaked cap.

Vostok V was blasted off from a Soviet cosmodrome, probably the one at Baikonour, where the previous flights were launched. Baikonour is in arid Kazakhstan, the Soviet Far East republic.

Tass said the purpose of the present flight was to explore further the effects of space flight on the human organism and to test the piloting system in long flights.

Threatened Strike Hurts Coast Ports

By BRUCE LEVETT

VANCOUVER (CP)—For the second time in five years, longshoremen are taking a strike vote on the West coast, and cargo bookings — inbound and outbound—are reported falling off.

Roy Smith, chief negotiator for the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CLC), says a strike along the Pacific coast would tie up every port from the United States border to Alaska.

"The only possible exception might be Texada Island, which is shipping concentrates to Japan. We have no jurisdiction there."

Ship agents declined to speak for publication, pointing out that union leaders have pledged to renew negotiations once they have the strike vote result in hand.

However, they said a strike would halt the shipments of all such vital exports as grain, lumber products, coal, sulphur, potash, concentrates and fertilizer.

Incoming cargoes would be diverted to U.S. or other foreign ports and there would be little shipped in by rail. Railroads, fearful of having loaded boxcars tied up on sidings, would place an embargo on loads heading west and much grain would be diverted through Churchill, Man., or Great Lakes ports.

COST HIGH

Capt. George McKee, general manager of the Shipping Federation of British Columbia, one of the bargaining groups for the employers, estimates that a waterfront tie-up would cost the B.C. economy $2,750,000 a day.

Shipowners are aware that their vessels cannot load or unload in a strikebound port and that chartered ships eat up an estimated $1,500 a day in overhead expenses while riding at anchor.

For a 10,000-ton general cargo freighter, the tie-up cost starts around $1,200 a day.

Strike vote results will be known Saturday and both union and employer representatives are convinced a strike will be authorized.

The issues are the thorny ones of jurisdiction and automation, but both sides say they think their problems can be solved.

Both sides agree that however the renewed talks go, the issues must be resolved within 30 days if further economic upheaval is to be avoided.

In 1958, the 2,000-member union was out for 30 days on the issues of pensions and the 40-hour week.

Recalling that dispute, Mr. Smith said:

"We don't want a strike."

SEEK SURVEY FOR COLLEGE SITE

VERNON (CP) —School trustees here will ask the B.C. department of education for an independent survey before the final choice for a location of the Okanagan area junior college is made.

They are following an example set by most Okanagan-Mainline communities.

"Until now we have urged the need for a college in the Okanagan, regardless of site," J. W. Green, the board secretary-treasurer, said. "now we feel a survey should be made to find the best site."

Victoria Police Chief Resigns

VICTORIA (CP)—John Blackstock, city police chief for 13 years, tendered his resignation Thursday in a letter to the city police commission.

The resignation will take effect Dec. 31.

His decision came amid strong indications that the report by former RCMP superintendent George Archer recommends complete reorganization of the city police department for greater efficiency and drastic improvements in police station accommodation.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Don't count hours, watch the time, measure by minute standards, instead of valuing your opportunity to DO, BE, GIVE. Start and stay with the will and disposition to enjoy all things.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Neither be hasty in speaking nor over-anxious to "get on with it", under which pressure you could easily omit essentials, an dover-look vital details. Seek information; convert to best system.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — There are plenty of "green pastures" on YOUR side of the fence. But maybe you have not recently watered them with your talents turned on full! Ooutdoor activities favored.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Do you have the conveniences or smooth going you wanted, or that some about you seem to have? This will be your day for philosophizing, mastering the spirit — and the tedium of routine.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Fine influences! You can liven dull moments but keep within sane boundaries. There's a sort of elegance to this day that should brush off on the cheerful person. And YOU can give it further impetus.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — It may be difficult for you to put over your ideas and opinions. But, in discussions, do not be fanatical, and certainly start no disconcerting arguments! Emphasize Virgo's bigness.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — The cost of doing what you do well is nominal, the rewards long-lasting, bright. Don't overstress the luxurious or in other ways indulge tempting extremes.

OCTOBE7R 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Saddling yourself with foolish activities and wasting your time on fruitless interests are "don't" with a capital D. Be careful in water and land sports; travel; farming, home matters.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Planetary influences promise a happy go of things generally. You will delight in some of the perky activities an dassociations offered if you remain your usually congenial self.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Avoid discouragement, over-indulgences, lack of thoughtful taste in the little things that DO count. Enjoy a day of rest and REAL relaxation.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Doubt, fretting, carelessness in handling your affairs could pull down your record — and spirits. Don't let this day run you down hill and set you back during week head.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — With faith and confidence, carry out all thoughtful intentions and arrangements expected of the roundly able you. You can have tremendous impact on others; broad-mindedness needed.

YOU BORN TODAY are fluent in ideas and speech, often brilliant in tactics, organizing others and the activities you and they will under take. You may not stay with all the things you plan, but you can get a great number of them begun, and out on the line of action. Just do not give up before you gain the benefits and the pleasure of the finished task. Turn your vivid imagination and general mental prowess to the worthiest work and see the accomplishments roll in. No matter how humble or restricted your beginning, you can climb briskly out of any limitations, and reach as high as your incentive and education (usually self-taught) can go. It's your world for a wonderful series of achievements. Birthdate: Gustavus V, king of Sweden.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Here again is a "quality over quantity" admonition. Check all details, essential parts. Is something missing, or awry? It will be expected of you to perform ably.

MAY 22 to JULY 21 (Gemini) — Where there are fairly equally divided opinions, be careful not to overforce or press for hasty answers on either side. A businesslike attitude aids in more than business deals. Detect flaws.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Recall an old tack or manoeuvre that could inspire, invigorate this day. Not everything new is THE thing. Your planets now promote laughter, serenity, resoluteness, good will.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Ease up on striving, expansion, spending, if you have been in high gear. But an extra spurt here, a wise penny spent there are time, money savers. The manner bespeaks the man.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Old-fashioned common-sense will be needed in making good decisions. And self-reliance, plus a certain amount of flexibility will boost your stock greatly. Draw conclusions carefully.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Modern facilities tend to weaken one's will to do for himself. This day urges you to devise, create, re-design, generally mold a firmer, stronger pattern.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Friendly Neptune rays especially favor; doctors, nurses; research; confidential and educational affairs; managing children, oldsters, animals.

YOU BORN TODAY are a good and helpful friend who sees what is neede long before it is asked and takes care of it. You enjoy learning, but may shift from one subject to another too fast. You are both artistic and practical; can run a business or work project shrewdly; can also pursue a highly skilled avocation, as sketching, painting, archeology. You are ready to journey on quick notice, will labor tirelessly for loved ones, an interesting project. There is no set boundary for the Geminian: he makes new horizons daily.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

June 15, 1963 . . .

The basis of British liberties, the Magna Carta, was signed at Runnymede, on the River Thames, 748 years ago today—in 1215. Its great underlying principle was that the monarch should keep the law and was forced on King John by the barons of England. In addition it contained 63 clauses embodying provisions for the protection of the rights of feudal properties and against the abuse of the royal prerogative.

Presbyterian Assembly Ends Conference

Topics Included Church Unity, Smoking, Divorce, Nuclear Arms

TORONTO (CP) — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada began and ended on the topic of unity, and indications both times were that the church is moving slowly on the subject.

As the 89th assembly ended Thursday night, delegates rejected a suggestion that talks concerning unity with the United Church of Canada be started.

"It would be unwise, dangerous and futile," said Rev. J. L. MacLean of Victoria, a former moderator, who said the church should instead make a study of its own beliefs at the presbytery level.

As the conference opened June 5, Rev. Harry Lennox of Vancouver said after being elected moderator:

NOT NECESSARY

"I'm one of those who does not feel one big monolithic organization is necessary in the church." Human nature being what it is, a large church would more easily fall prey to a form of dictatorship.

Retiring moderator Rev. Ross K. Cameron of Toronto said:

"If there is to be a unity of churches, whether organic or not, I believe it must come in communities where the people themselves agree to work it out together."

The resolution on unity that was rejected Thursday night called for churches to institute informal talks with neighboring United Churches and for an intensive program of study on unity within the Presbyterian Church.

There have been no talks between the two churches since 1925 when the United Church of Canada was created by a merger of Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian congregations which voted to join.

Cigarettes also discussed Thursday as Rev. Lloyd Henderson, mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man., suggested a nation - wide campaign against smoking.

CMA CRITICAL

"Supporting the Canadian Medical Association is the least we can do," he said. The CMA, also meeting here this week, has been criticizing cigarette smoking as a cause of lung cancer.

Mr. Henderson's suggestion, which was approved, replaced a stronger resolution from the Hamilton and London, Ont., presbytery which would have had the church urge the Board of Broadcast Governors to prohibit cigarette advertising during prime viewing time.

The approval was added to a motion by Prof. W. W. Stanford Reid of McGill University, which stated that, pending the total abolition of them nuclear arms should be confined to as few nations as possible.

The motion passed without debate.

WANTS COMMISSION

On the question of divorce, the assembly decided that wilful desertion as well as adultery should be considered grounds for divorce. It would be recommended to the federal government that a royal commission consider such additional grounds for dissolving marriage.

A committee was set up to continue the study of marriage, divorce and remarriage.

A special committee reported that tensions in Montreal's Presbyterian College that caused the principal and one professor to submit their resignations to the 1962 General Assembly have been cleared up.

The assembly decided not to accept the resignations of principal Robert Lennox and Prof. Joseph C. McLelland.

The resignations were submitted when the board of Presbyterian College nominated for the chair of New Testament Rev. Sheldon MacKenzie, an alumnus of the college. The principal favored the appointment of Rev. J. Charles Hay, a graduate of Knox College, who had been sessional lecturer in New Testament for four years.

The assembly was told the issue is no longer relevant as both men have withdrawn from the picture.

Morrison-Matheson Vows Heard At St. Paul's-Trinity . . .

Boy Sopranos Sing at Evening Wedding Service

"Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven" rang out over the congregation in St. Paul's-Trinity United Church as 31 boy sopranos led the bridal procession down the aisle for the June 1 evening wedding ceremony at which Beverly Elaine Matheson became the bride of Mr. Neil Ross Morrison.

With Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson at the organ, the boys of her choir led the wedding party to the altar, where Rev. Peter W. Faris heard marriage vows exchanged between the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Matheson and the son of Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Morrison.

The bride was lovely in her pure silk faille gown, the bell skirt sweeping to graceful back fullness and a cathedral train. The bodice was styled with intermission-length sleeves and the low, scalloped neckline was exquisitely appliqued with re-embroidered alencon lace, which was also lavishly appliqued on the skirt and train.

Her petalled cap was outlined in seed pearls, and held a bouffant veil of silk illusion.

Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Carole Newby; bridesmaids were Misses Kem Morrison and Valerie Euerby. Betty Anne Matheson, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids were identically gowned in pink satin sheath styles, with matching satin bell overskirts. The junior bridesmaid was dressed in a pink satin dress with bell skirt also.

They carried cascading bouquets of light pink baby roses and ivy, with a[illegible]s in pink to match their gowns.

Mr. Garth Walker of Kamloops was best man and ushers were Mr. Elden Schorn, Mr. Brian MacLeod, Mr. Bill Harrison and Mr. Ross Barrett.

During signing of the register, Mrs. Ferguson's choir, for which the bride had often been accompanist, sang The Lord's Prayer.

The pink and white color theme was effectively continued in table appointments at the wedding reception, held at Peebles' Motor Inn.

Assisting in the receiving line, the mother of the bride was smartly gowned in a multi-colored silk print sheath with white accessories and white orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom chose a mauve orchid corsage to complement her gown of pink lace and chiffon over taffeta, with which she work pink accessories.

Crystal candelabra glittered with the glow of candlelight from white tapers on the serving table and tea table. The lace covered tea table was centered by a glass basket of pink and white rosebuds flanked by candelabra and the serving table, with sprigs of flowers gracing the tablecloth, was centered with a tall arrangement of pink and white rosebuds in a slim white and gold vase. Pink and white roses were featured in the epergne of the candelabra.

White dephiniums and pink peonies compelted the charming floral decor in the reception room.

The wedding gifts were displayed in the Orchid Room.

The wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and decorated by the bride's aunt, Mrs. S. Kozoriz, was arranged on a side table. The three-tiered cake was set on the same lace hand-made cloth as that of the bride's mother had been. Mirrors and pillars enhanced the cake decor.

Telegrams from Canora, Sask., Nanaimo, Kamloops, Vancouver, Creston, Calgary and Edmonton were read by the best man, Mr. Garth Walker.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. John Thom, who was toastmaster also.

Presiding at the tea table were the aunt of the bride, Mrs. R. C. Brown of Salmo, and Mrs. K. H. Grenfell.

Out of town guests included Mrs. S. Kozoriz and Rosalie of Canora, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Mathisen of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Ambrose of Creston; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Brown of Salmo; Mr. Garth Walker and Miss Madge Boley of Kamloops; Mrs. H. A. D. Greenwood and Susan of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. James Fair and Valerie of Salmo; Mr. Donald Oddie of Kinnaird; Mr. and Mrs. A. Morrison of Wenatchee; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kempston and James of Rossland; Miss T. Rossman, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Daly, Susan and Jane, Mr. and Mrs. G. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jackson, all of Trail; Mr. and Mrs. G. McMynn of Midway; Mr. and Mrs. E. Hallbauer and Mary Anne of Invermere; Mr. and Mrs. T. Jenkin, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. T. Jenkin, Jr., all of Trail.

For a honeymoon to be spent at Harrison Hot Springs, Vancouver and Vancouver Island, the bride changed into a turquoise knit suit with white accessories and white corsage. On their return the newlyweds will make their home at Kamloops, where the bridegroom is an announcer on radio station CFJC.

Ask Removal Federal Tax on Margarine

By IRA DRYSDALE

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Consumers' Association of Canada Thursday called for removal of an 11 per cent federal tax on margarine.

The tax was termed "discriminatory since there is no federal tax on any other food," the resolution says. The tax was a burden on low-income families.

In other resolutions during a busy, second day of the three-day annual meeting, delegates asked:

The federal government to continue investigation of increased sugar prices;

Association branches to work towards introduction of regular foot check-ups as part of public school medical examinations in localities where no such program exists;

Support of programs against water pollution;

The justice and trade and commerce departments to look into a practice in price labelling on certain items;

That the CAC inform its membership regularly on work being done by the federal government involving nuclear fallout;

That the association stress to the manufacturer "the importance of "functional design in upholstery and drapery fabrics.

FORECASTS NEW TREND

The 200 delegates and observers attending the meeting represent a national membership of about 20,000.

They worked through a variety of reports, discussions and resolutions before breaking up for an afternoon reception at government house and an annual dinner later.

At the dinner, R. D. Wolfe of Toronto called on delegates to "insist upon participation and representation at all levels of the food industry."

Mr. Wolfe is president of Oshawa Wholesale Limited which supplies IGA stores in Toronto and central Ontario and is a past president of the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association.

He suggested "we are now in the initial stages of a trend which will divide the retail food industry down the middle, and bring about the rebirth of the specialty food store."

He also predicted an end to stamp plans, premium plans, cents-off plans and buy-one-get-one-free deals.

Kitchen Efficiency Increased If Divided Into Work Centers

While many a woman deplores her small kitchen, others find that a kitchen can actually be too large. This is most likely to occur in older homes built before high construction costs reduced dimensions. Even with modern appliances, such a kitchen can wear out the homemaker with unnecessary walking.

The best way to handle too large a kitchen, the Canadian Gas Association advises, is to divide it into efficient work centers. Large kitchens lend themselves to so many attractive arrangements that there's almost no limit to what the homemaker can have.

By dividing the kitchen into three major work areas (1) cooking and serving (2) food storage and preparation (3) clean-up, the homemaker increases the efficiency and convenience of her kitchen a thousand-fold.

The three main work centres should form a triangle with distances between each center as short as possible. The rest of the kitchen can be devoted to separate areas for dining, laundering, sewing, family hobbies and activities.

The cooking and serving area naturally revolves around the range. Whether your range is built-in, hung on the wall, mounted on a cabinet or placed between cabinets, it will do your bidding automatically and efficiently, even in your absence.

Be sure to provide a serving cabinet on both sides of the range. If the range is built-in, provide work space beside both the oven and the surface burners.

FOOD STORAGE

The food storage and preparation center rotates around the refrigerator. The newest models offer generous freezer sections and are synonymous with convenience features that help keep the kitchen running smoothly. These include glide-out shelves, large meat, vegetable and fruit bins, egg and butter keepers, magic ice-makers, storage shelves on the door and automatic defrosting.

Again, counter and storage space should be provided on both sides of the refrigerator. The counters can serve adjacent work centers as well.

The clean-up center is the kitchen's right arm and should be planned for maximum efficiency. Careful planning here can mean the difference between chaos and serenity. This is where all the washing-up and cleaning-up go on, not only before and after meals but between meals as well. Plan at least a 24-inch counter on each side of the sink and locate the automatic dish-washer to the left of the sink if you are right-handed.

LAUNDRY CENTER

A big kitchen lets the homemaker include a smooth-working laundry center with either a separate washer and dryer or a combination washer - dryer. A counter for sorting and folding, plus a storage cabinet for laundry supplies, should be located adjacent to the laundry equipment.

Added conveniences could include a hide-away sewing machine, a desk for drawing up shopping lists and menu-planning, and perhaps a double oven and surface units, plus a separate area for dining and entertaining.

Decorate your kitchen in colors that suit your personality. Colors work for you just as surely as functional design and step-saving appliances. Color can keep you cheerful and stem fatigue. Color can be rich and warm, gay and sunny, cool and soothing.

In planning your color scheme, remember that dark colors make rooms look smaller, light colors make them look larger. Shades of yellow and red create a feeling of warmth while blues and greens are cool colors.

Encourages Parliament Adoption

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is employing a rarely-used device in its new budget to encourage the Commons and Senate to adopt it quickly.

Normally, most budget proposals become effective automatically on the date the budget is presented to the Commons, or on some specific date in the future.

In Finance Minister Gordon's first budget, however, important proposals are to become effective only when Parliament passes them.

In this category are three-year exemptions from corporation taxes for new manufacturing and processing business established in areas of slow growth, and two-year write-offs of the capital cost of new machinery and equipment for the plants. Another is a five-year write-off period for new buildings in areas of high unemployment.

Cub Win Hands Giants, Cards NL Lead; Snider Hits 400th Homer

BONUS BEAUT—The Phillies' $100,000 bonus beauty, Ray Culp, 21-year-old righthander, already has won eight games for the Quaker City crew after almost being sent back to the minors at the end of spring training. Culp was a 13-8 flinger with Williamsport last year.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco and St. Louis pulled into first place in the National League Friday night, winning their games by the slimmest of margins while the Chicago Cubs knocked Los Angeles off the top rung by downing the Dodgers 4-1.

Giants ruined a brilliant pitching performance by 39-year-old Hal (Skinny) Brown on Tom Haller's homer and went on to whip Houston Colts 2-1.

Haller was the only man to reach base against Brown in his seven-inning stint, and Giants had to wait until he left for a pinch hitter to get the eventual winning run across.

Cardinals used Curt Flood's single off the pitcher's glove to push across the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning and move on to a 5-2 triumph over Pittsburgh.

SPAHN HOT

In other National League games, Milwaukee's Warren Spah pitched a three-hitter for a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia and New York's Mets walloped Cincinnati 10-3 as Duke Snider became the ninth player in major league history to reach the 400-homer mark.

Charley Maxwell's ninth inning homer gave American League - leading Chicago a 3-2 decision over Kansas City and protected White Sox' slim one-game edge over second-place New York. Yankees downed Detroit 4-2.

Elsewhere, Minnesota used Earl Battey's homer for a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles Angels and moved into third place; Boston got homers from Dick Stuart and Roman Mejias in a 5-1 belting of Baltimore and Washington and Cleveland split a twi-night double-header that lasted over 7 hours.

Two homers by Jim King powered Senators to a 5- first game victory before the second of Willie Kirkland's two homers finally gave Indians a 3-decision over Senators in the 19th inning—the longest game in the majors this season.

Golf Club's New Clubhouse Well Underway

The Nelson Golf and Country Club's new clubhouse should be open for August 1 if construction progress continues at the present rate, golf club director Leo Atwell said Friday.

Mr. Atwell reported that the construction progress is "very good." He added that the foundation of the building is almost completed and two of the four walls have been set up. Next week the laminated beams for the ceiling will be laid in place.

Recently Mayor T. S. Shorthouse and aldermen were at the golf course to inspect the construction. Mr. Atwell said the mayor and aldermen agreed that the clubhouse was in an excellent location for scenery up and down the lake and is an incentive for tourists.

Outlaws Battle New Denver Here Today

Senior baseball action returns to the city today when Nelson Outlaws host New Denver-Silverton in a regularly scheduled Kaslo, Slocan, Arrow Lakes Baseball League game at the Civic Centre grounds at 5:30 p.m.

In their only encounter this season, an exhibition game at New Denver, the Outlaws were hard-pressed to take a close 5-3 victory from the strong host club.

In other league action this weekend, Slocan is at Kaslo and Winlaw is at Nakusp. Both are Sunday games.

Savoy Hotel To Battle Trail Italicos Sunday

The Nelson Savoy Soccer Club, third place finishers in the five team Western International Soccer League, hosts Trail Italicos in an exhibition game at 2:00 p.m. Sunday at the Civic Centre grounds.

The contest is one of two scheduled warmup games as the team prepares for its league semi-finals against the strong Spokane Spokes who finished the regular season in first place. Next week the Savoy club travels to Grand Forks for another exhibition workout, the final game before they tackle Spokane in the semi-finals.

The club will hold regular practice sessions every Friday, at 6:30 p.m. at the Civic, for the remainder of the season and anyone interested in playing soccer or joining the team is asked to attend.

Savoy Belts Ymir

Five rome runs by F. Jmaeff, J. Ocochoff, M. Bertram, W. Kooznetsoff and W. Chernenko were all Savoy Hotel needed and then some as the club clobbered Ymir 21-2 in Play for Fun League action Thursday. Jmaeff was also the winning pitcher.

Ymir's K. Murray took the loss and A. Grotkowski hit a triple for the club's lone extra base hit.

Says Big Trades Would Pack Parks

OTTAWA CP) — Jackie Parker says the trouble with Canadian professional football is the reluctance of club owners to make big trades.

In Ottawa for a television appearance, the former Edmonton Eskimo quarterback and perennial football all-star said owners fear a traded player might come back to haunt his old club but the fans would be packing the parks ot see the players in different uniforms.

Palmer, Nichols Share Thunderbird Lead

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP)—Arnold Palmer shot an even-par 70 to share the halfway lead in the Thunderbird golf classic with Bobby Nichols at 137 Friday while a painful neck injury threatened to sideline Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and Open champion.

There was some question that Nicklaus would be able to defend his U.S. Open championship in the tournament starting next Thursday in Brookline, Mass.

Palmer, maintaining the superlative golf which projected him to the No. 1 position in the world, missed a five-foot putt on the final hole which would have given him the undisputed lead in the $100,000 tournament.

The 27-year-old Nichols fired the best round of th etournament—a 66. Par for the 6,550-yard course is 35-35—70.

BALDING TWO BACK

Al Balding of Toronto was only two shots off the pace, adding a 70 to his opening-round 69, to tie with Player, 51-year-old Sam Snead, and six others.

Balding and the three other Canadians competing here all advanced into the third round, surviving the 146 cutoff point which reduced th efield to 87 pros and three amateurs after the second round.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, who matched Balding's 69 Thursday, slipped Friday to 73 for a 142 total. Al Johnston of Montreal was at 144, adding a 70 to his first-round 74. George Knudson of Toronto just survived with his 72-74—146.

OTHER THIEVES MAY STEAL WILLS' CROWN

NEW YORK (AP)—If Maury Wills doesn't look to his laurels, a few quick-stepping thieves may steal his crown.

Wills, the Los Angeles Dodger speedster who became king of the base stealers last year when he pilfered 104, has been slowed by leg injuries. That has created a wide-open battle for top honors in a department in which he focused interest with his amazing record in 1962.

Wills currently has stolen 15 bases. At this stage last year, the 30-year-old flash already placed 32 steals on an ever-growing list. Wills now stands third in the National League and fourth in the majors.

The present leader is Baltimore's newly acquired shortstop, Luis Aparicio, who has stolen 19. Two members of Cincinnati's Reds, Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, are 1-2 in the National League, with 17 and 16 steals, respectively.

Canadian's World Weightlifting Record Broken

TOKYO (AP) — A world weightlifting record held by Pierre St. Jean of Montreal was bettered by Hitoshi Ouchi of Tokyo's Hosei University Friday.

Ouchi lifted 275.578 pounds to establish a new mark for the junior middleweight snatch event. St. Jean's record was 267.861.

The record-smashing performance came during the all-Japan weightlifting championships.

BULLDOGS MAY MISS TOUR IF THEY JOIN LOOP

EDMONTON (CP) — Windsor Bulldogs probably would not be permitted to make an exhibition hockey tour of Europe this year if they join the International Hockey League, Art Potter, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said today.

The Bulldogs, Allan Cup champions this year, and Chatham, Ont., Maroons were admitted to the IHL at a meeting in Chicago Thursday. The league is a United States operation and is affiliated with the American Hockey Association.

Potter said in an interview that the Bulldogs and Maroons need the approval of both the CAHA and AHA to join the IHL. "They haven't got it yet," he added.

He said the matter now is in the hands of the Ontario branch of the CAHA.

The Bulldogs were picked a few weeks ago by the CAHA to make an association-sponsored tour of Europe, including about half a dozen games in Russia in November. Other bidders for the tour were the intermediate Rockets from Lacombe, Alta., and the senior Saskatoon Quakers.

Victoria To See Lion Games Live

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference announced here Friday that the team's home games will be seen live in a Victoria theatre this season.

The games will be fed into the downtown Royal Theatre through closed circuit television and will be projected by a special eidophor projector.

At a special Press conference Lions President C. B. Delbridge announced that profits from the venture will go towards development of minor football on Vancouver Island.

Season tickets for the eight home games and one exhibition game will go on sale immediately for $25, $20 and $16.

The cable vision circuit to Victoria will be financed by a department store, and a brewery.

Special cables installed by B.C. Telephone will carry the video pickup from Empire Stadium to the B.C. Telephone's communications centre in Vancouver and from there it will be carried by microwave to Victoria where special cables will carry the signal to the Royal Theatre.

Football fans in the theatre, which has 1500 seats, will watch the game on a giant screen 28 feet by 21 feet.

Commentary of the games will be handled by Radio Station CKWX with CHAN-TV doing the televising. The Lions home games are not televised in the Vancouver area.

Mr. Delbridge said though this equipment has been used for basketball and hockey, Victoria will be the first city in North America to have the eidophor coverage of professional football.

The profits of the venture will go into a trust fund to be administered by the Lions. The Victoria Touchdown Club will act as the liaison group between the Lions and Vancouver Island Minor Football.

Trail Edges Nelson in Exhibition Tilt

Trail's Kootenay Hotel, top eam in the Smelter City's GROW League, got behind the 8-hit pitching of B. Davidson to edge Queens Hotel 8-6 in an exhibition softball game here Friday. The Queens club is in first place in the Nelson Fastball League.

Reliever G. Kruse was tagged with the loss. He took over the Nelson mound duties from Paul Bjorenson in the sixth inning. The Queens chuckers also gave up eight hits and managed seven strikeouts.

Two home runs, by M. Divito and C. Maniago, helped the visitors to the victory. G. Towhey answered with a round trip blast for Queens. Al Dawson clouted a triple for Nelson's only other extra base blow, while Trail's Al Cronie replied with a three bagger for the Kootenay Hotel squad.

Queens Hotel has another exhibition game on tap for Sunday at 2:00 p.m. in Queen Elizabeth Park against Montrose Beavers.

Hitchens Sweeps to Second Straight Women's Golf Title

VICTORIA (CP) — Defending-champion Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver swept to her second straight B.C. Women's Close Golf Championship Friday, beating Mrs. Joan Lawson of Victoria, 4 and 3, in a 36-hole final at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

The 19-year-old University of B.C. student, daughter of assistant-professional Bob Hitchens of Vancouver's Capilano Golf Club, beat the 41year-old Mrs. Lawson by playing par golf on the first nine holes of the afternoon round to go six up, then fighting through a shaky last six holes as Mrs. Lawson scrapped back.

The match ended on the 15th green when Mrs. Lawson just missed on a long try for a birdie three, then missed again on a six-footer as Miss Hitchens won with a par.

The morning round was a thriller, as Miss Hitchens went one up only by sinking a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th. But Mrs. Lawson's putting touch deserted her in the afternoon, and near-perfect golf by the defending-champion gave her no chance to get back in the match.

Miss Hitchens won the first two holes of the second round with pars. The next two were halved and she went four up with a par on the fifth, five up with a birdie four on the sixth, and took the next two holes with pars to go seven up.

She made her first mistake of the round on the ninth, when her second shot hit the branches of a tree and Mrs. Lawson came to win with a par to be six down at the turn.

That one seemed to rattle the Vancouver youngster slightly. She put her second shot on the 10th out of bounds and took a penalty stroke and two-over par seven. Mrs. Lawson was conceded her birdie putt, and was five down.

The next two holes were halved in pars, and Mrs. Lawson won the 13th in par and the 14th with a birdie as Miss Hitchens flubbed a five-foot putt that would have given her a half.

However on the par three, 165-yard 15th, Miss Hitchens put her drive 10 feet from the pin and Mrs. Lawson overshot to go just off the green. Miss Hitchens rimmed her first putt, then sank the winner.

In the morning round, Miss Hitchens started off by taking the first two holes with a par and a birdie. Mrs. Lawson then sank a 25-foot putt for a birdie win in the third and took the fourth with a par to square the match as Miss Hitchens hit the water with her drive.

Miss Hitchens took the fifth in par, but Mrs. Lawson came back to win the seventh and eighth in par to go one up at the turn. Miss Hitchens squared the match on the 12th with a birdie, and went ahead to stay with her birdie on the 18th.

ACT Belts Kinsmen

ACT handed Kinsmen a 10-6 defeat in Little League baseball action Friday.

Both clubs used three pitchers durin gthe high scoring game. T. McLean, D. Johnson and A. Koehle took turns on the mound for the winners, giving up nine hits, walking nine and gaining seven strikeouts. For Kinsmen it was B. Shukin, R. Carmichael and D. Kienholtz. The trio was touched for eight hits, walked nine and fanned six.

Big hits for ACT came off the bats of McLean, who smashed a second inning triple, and Koehle who came up with a double in the fourth. J. Fraser connected for a three bagger for Kinsmen.

Canebora Heads Field for Today's Running of Plate

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

TORONTO (CP) — People—even horse bettors—can't argue with success. So, it isn't surprising that the morning line on today's 104th running of the Queen's Plate says it is E. P. Taylor's Canebora all the way at 3-to-1 odds.

Beer baron Taylor has dominated Canada's racing scene since he first started to pour some of his leftover money into the game in the late 1940s. Since 1949, the Toronto industrialist - sportsman has won seven of the 14 Plate races and bred another four who were purchased at his annual pre-priced yearlings sale.

The experts have put the finger on Canebora, a black colt who was offered to horsemen for $7,500 at Taylor's 1961 sale. There were no takers and, again, as has happened four times previously, Taylor will bank on a leftover to produce the big Plate payoff.

It will be a big one, too, the richest purse in Canadian racing history. The winning owner will receive $54,850 from a pot of $79,850, built up since December, 1961, when 303 yearlings were nominated for the Plate stakes at a price of $25 a head. Since then, with each succeeding nomination fee, the original list was whittled down and reached a final 19 on Thursday when owners paid $500to send a horse to the starting gate.

NEED TWO GATES

This will clutter things up considerably. Two starting gates will be necessary to handle the bulky field—just three short of the all-time Plate record of 22 in 1933—for the scheduled 5:19 p.m. post time.

Even at that, and in a race where there could be a considerable traffic jam, the Taylor colt has caught the fancy of the trained observers and the little guy who likes to bet a few dollars.

One reason may be that the Taylor stable has switched jockeys. ugo Dittfach of Calgary, who won the Plate in 1961 on the late Col. K. R. Marshall's Blue Light, yielded to import Manuel Ycaa, the colorful hard - riding Panamanian, for the 1¼-mile gallop. Dittfach will be aboard Taylor's other starter, the filly Breey Answer.

Canebora has the credentials to warrant top ranking. He won one division of the Plate trials at the suburban Woodbine track last Monday, beating highly-rated Royal Maple, owned by J. Louks Levesque of Montreal, by 1¾ lengths over 1 1-16 miles.

GIVEN FAIR CHANCE

The Taylor influence extends beyond his two starters. Another four in the field—Royal Maple, Son Blue, Menedict and Hop-Hop—were bred by the proprietor of the highly-successful Windfields Farm. And all are given a fair chance of beating Canebora or possibly ending in the money.

Royal Maple was purchased for $12,500 and has never won a stakes event. Wilf Farr of Weston, Ont., bought Son Blue for $5,000. op-op is owned by Larkin Maloney, Toronto construction magnate who won the 1955 Queen's Plate with Ace Marine, and Menedict is owned by ugh Grant of Bradford, Pa.

Grant bought the filly from Taylor for $15,000 and to date she has won $35,805, including the $25,000 Canadian Oaks last Saturday, the big race for fillies in Ontario.

EXPECT FAST TRACK

The weather forecast is for sunny skies with temperatures in the 60s. If this holds the track should be fast.

The experts aren't particularly high on two Western Canada - owned horses, Welcome Pardner, bred by Max Bell of Calgary, and the filly, Lady B Fast, owned by Paul Olivier, also of Calgary.

The race will be televised and broadcast by the CBC on its national networks starting at 5 p.m. EDT.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Record Rack

by The Sour Notes

MADAMA BUTTERFLY (Leontyne Price, Richard Tucker, Rosalind Elias, Philip Maero, Erich Leinsdorf conducting RCA Italiana Opera Orchestra and Chorus).

An outstanding recording feat of 1962, this handsomely bound giant package of three records, the complete Puccini score, and an accompanying booklet containing English-Italian libretto, won the "Grammy" award in its field last year.

With artists of the stature of Price, Tucker, etc., one expects great performances and he is not disappointed. Adding to the overall performance is the new process dynagroove which appears to be tailored made for opera. But the magnificent voice and dramatic versatility of soprano Price in an almost flawless interpretation overshadows the whole performance. Tucker as Pinkerton is in good voice while Leinsdorf's reading is precise, robust but improvisatory in spirit.

Highly recommended.

THE BARBRA STREISAND ALBUM (Barbra Streisand).

The sparkle in the Broadway visitor "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," Barbra Streisand comes to the whirl world highly recommended and loudly applauded.

In her debut album the Madagascar born, Rangoon raised, Brooklyn educated Miss imparts an emotional intensity with the subtle nuances drowned in dramatic tonality, particularly on blue torchers like "Happy Days Are Here Again." From the Helen Morgan role she delights in the novelty approach of Beatrice Lillie but the 20-year-old singer is more in the tradition of Fannie Brice who lampoons with a humorous lyric but also could weave a romantic aura with a warm note.

Excellent support is rendered by arranger - conductor Peter Matz on ballads, in most cases, all but forgotten.

Uncut gem.

THE GREATEST HITS OF THE GOLDEN GROUPS (Bobby Vinton).

This album could be interpreted as a tribute to that modern musical phenomenon, the one-shot artist who skyrocketed to fame on a smash single and as promptly returned to oblivion. Of the groups represented only the Platters have struck gold continuously with the stylus while the Five Satins, Heartbeats, Rays, Penquins, Imperials, Hearts have faded from the scene.

Vocalist Vinton's renditions do little to preserve the image of these artists. He fails to get the same amount of mileage out of the shuffling tempo, familiar lyrics that the original artists achieved.

Teen nostalgia.

ALOHA FROM* NORMAN LUBOFF (The Norman Luboff Choir).

The exotic lure of Polynesia is beautifully captured by the large, excellent choir of Norman Luboff in a performance which perfectly blends voice and native tempos.

Included are standards to appease the uninitiated, but the bulk of the program is concerned with authentic dialectic chants of Tahiti and Hawaii. The haunting voices and pulsating rhythms beautifully recreate the spellbinding mood of white sands, rolling breakers, enchanted moonlight in a performance which is a welcome addition to the musical library.

Pacific paradise.

PIANO BRILLIANCE OF JOE HARNELL.

New Yorker Joe Harnell presents slick piano stylings with one innovating twist, pops or pseudo-jazz arrangements of classical themes. Into this category fall melodies of Mozart, Paganini, Tchaikovsky, Godard and Rimsky-Korsakov. Of the group, Rimsky - Korsakov's theme comes off most favorably in the transition to modern sound. The themes are stated in a six installment of boy meets girl theme.

Harnell shows imagination, freshness, zest in modernizing the venerable notes of the masters.

Complementing this novel approach are six tunes of Vincent Youmans, flashing with jazz influence and warmth.

Updated classics.

15 EVERLY HITS (Everly Brothers).

Young Nashville artists Phil and Don Everly have earned several gold records with their inimitable blend of hillbilly rock and pops.

The brothers were pioneers in the realms of hillbilly rock which emerged eventually as the polished Nashville sound. Using "Bye Bye Love" as their battering ramp, the two guitar strumming singers flung the pops door open to Nashville artistry.

Listen closely on some of their early recordings "Wake Up Little Susie, Bye Bye Love, Bird Dog," and you'll hear the keyboard ramblings of Floyd Cramer as well as guitar sparkle of Chet Atkins.

Nashville trail blazers.

BOSSA NOVA GOES TO NASHVILLE (Harold Bradley his guitar and orchestra).

't's been said, "You may take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy." The same applies to melodies emanating from the country music capitol of Nashville.

A dozen popular Nashville ballads of late, hypoed by percussion, announced the merger of the Nashville sound and jazzy samba rhythms. It is a novel approach but like most novelties it soon wears thin. The result is a mixture of accomplished musicianship, country melodies and a light tempo.

Fads meet.

THE WORLD OF GILBERT AND SULLIVAN (D'Oyly Carte Opera Company).

The satiric shafts of Gilbert and Sullivan have delighted the English speaking world for almost a century and the epitome of G-S group is the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company.

Nineteen popular excerpts from H.M.S. Pinafore, Ruddigore, Pirates of Penzance, Iolanthe, Gondoliers, Mikado, Yeomen of the Guard, Patience, Princess Ida, Sorcerer. Heading the list of sterling artists is Martyn Green who renders splendidly some of Gilbert and Sullivan's choicest tid-bits of satire.

G-S sampler.

DON'T LET ME CROSS OVER (Carl Butler).

Western singer Carl Butler is a late blossoming star on the country music circuit. His beginning dates back to the hey-day of Wilf Carter and Co., but this is debut album for national exposure.

The Tennessee native works in the traditional manner the country vein which seems to flourish no matter how many prospectors have picked it over. His nuggets are small, most of them washed by the bathos of the country medium.

Back country woes.

CLEAN BEACHES

VERNON (CP)—A bacteria-free beach on Okanagan Lake is the result of improvements to Vernon's sewage treatment plant over the last two years. The beach was closed by health authorities in 1961 when the colony count rose far over the safe level of 240.

Highways Brief Brings "Slow-Down" Comment

CRESTON — The plea for construction of a Grand Forks-Midway route through Eholt drew a "slow down" admonition from Premier W. A. C. Bennett here Thursday.

J. D. McMynn of Trail presented the Southern Trans-Canada Highway Association brief to the British Columbia cabinet. It also asked for speedy completion of the Highway No. 3 program.

Premier Bennett, supported by Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, minister of highways, said he felt there was "too much emphasis on speed these days."

The association commended the provincial government upon the improvement of various sections of Highway No. 3, notably the Kinnaird-Christina and Creston-Salmo links.

But it declared that generally speaking "the atmosphere in Southern British Columbia concerning highways is deteriorating."

Mr. McMynn told the cabinet that local chambers had been urged by the Associated Chambers to withhold demands for local and access highway improvements, so that the major effort could be concentrated upon the completion of No. 3.

But, he said, "this waiting period has been stretched out too long and many local chambers are now cynical: their confidence has been shaken and their patience is wearing thin.

"They now press for local and access highway improvements because No. 3 does not appear to be getting the intense support expected."

Many people along No. 3, went on Mr. McMynn, "are confused and deeply concerned about the intention of your government to complete No. 3 into a first-class highway."

He sought completion, for instance, of the Richter Pass route from Osoyoos to Keremeos, which would reduce No. 3 mileage by about 25 miles.

But he placed major emphasis on the need for a new route, already surveyed, between Grand Forks and Midway.

He described the project as "the dark horse": in the entire length of No. 3 "this section stands out like a sore thumb."

"During the days of the wagon road," said Mr. McMynn, "there was good reason for going through Eholt.

"There is no longer any reason to route a modern No. 3 around this tortuous course.

"In fact, a motorist now travels further north than he does west, when driving westerly from Grand Forks over the existing route."

Mr. McMynn said many people now avoid the Eholt route during customs hours by travelling on a United States highway through Curlew, Washington.

Yet completion of Highway No. 3 up to standard "will encourage more people to travel the Canadian route, and bring more industrial and tourist dollars to British Columbia."

Mr. McMynn also presented to the cabinet a submission by the City of Lethbridge, which declared that regional industrial and commercial development along No. 3, in both British Columbia and Alberta, was "being *deterred by the absence of com*petitive highway facilities."

"While it may not have been the intention of the governments concerned to place the southern regions at a disadvantage industrially," declared the brief prepared by Lethbridge city industrial co-ordinator E. B. Ferguson, "nevertheless that is what has occurred."

Lethbridge said southern growers, food processors and manufacturers in both provinces, "have been placed at an unnatural disadvantage with their competitors in other regions of their respective provinces" by being denied direct, shortest route access to eastern and western markets.

"An adequate southern highway is vital to the survival of the economies of southern Alberta and British Columbia," Lethbridge declared.

More Active Alumni Group Sought for NDU

At a recent meeting, the Alumni Association of Notre Dame University decided upon a reconstruction of its membership and executive structure.

Miss Nola Landucci of Trail was elected administrator. Miss Landucci was empowered to improve communications with the Association's membership in order to induce a more active participation of the Alumni in the affairs of the University, which should be beneficial to both the institution and its Alumni.

Miss Landucci was a student at NDU from 1959 to 1961 and graduated from Gonzaga University in 1962. She is a teacher at Immaculata High School at Kelowna.

Beaverbrook Married Secretly

LONDON (AP) — Wealthy newspaper publisher Lord Beaverbrook, 84, was secretly married two years ago to Lady Dunn, 52, it became known Friday.

Confirming rumors, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said in its gossip column:

"The marriage of Lord Beaverbrook and Lady Dunn has been reported in Canada."

The account gave no details of the wedding—or why it had been kept secret for two years.

It was the second marriage for Lord Beaverbrook and Lady Dunn.

The first hint of the marriage was reported in the Fredericton Gleaner.

Over the years, Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook has donated a considerable amount of money to Fredericton institutions.

OWNS NEWSPAPERS

In addition to The Evening Standard, Lord Beaverbrook owns The Daily Express and The Sunday Express all printed in London, and the Glasgow Evening Citizen.

Seeking details of the wedding, callers at his lordship's London home were told: "His lordship is not in. We do not know where he is."

Earlier, a source close to Lord Beaverbrook said of the marriage reports: "It's quite true, but I doubt if there will be any details. They don't want to discuss it."

Lady Dunn is the widow of Sir James Dunn who left an estate valued at £31,000,000 ($93,000,000) when he died at the age of 81 in 1956.

CHURCH PRAISES PRESS, RADIO, TV

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec Roman Catholic Church hierarchy Thursday praised newspapers, radio and television for the way they handled the death of Pope John XXII.

The archbishops and bishops of Quebec said in a statement that the information media "gave a faithful and powerful echo of the events, witnesses and sentiments which marked the illness and death" of the pope.

Council Yields To Ratepayer

The steel bite of an earth-moving machine has awarded the victory laurels in a two-year battle over an alleyway to a private householder.

City council has agreed to close the alley which abutted the property of Robert Phillips of 1120 Mines Road, a decision Mr. Phillips has sought for the past two years.

Mr. Phillips wished the city to remove the alley way from his property. It infringed upon Mr. Phillips' property about three feet and council had included in its 1963 budget expenditure for making the alley accessible, without infringing on the private property.

But before this work could be carried out, Mr. Phillips had an earthmoving machine on his property where he is building. During its operation it eradicated the lane adjacent to his property, resulting in a four-foot drop in the lane.

Council believed it would be best to just close the lane way. At the same time his request for a sidwalk fronting his property was refused due to lack of available funds.

Budget Provides Food for Trout

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Gordin is making sure that British Columbia trout don't go hungry during the next year.

One tariff item in his Thursday budget deals with feeds for use exclusively in the feeding of trout. The tariff has been 15 per cent on imports from the Commonwealth and 20 per cent on trout food from other countries.

The two tariffs are to be wiped out until July 1, 1964, due to the demand for this particular feed which cannot be met by domestic suppliers.

The feed is used mainly for feeding trout raised in fish ponds in British Columbia.
