Sons Spend Night on Cenotaph Benches; Predict 'Something Big' To Come Soon

ANYONE, BUT ANYONE, CAN GO HUNTING—Blind attorney Arnold Sadler and his Seeing-Eye dog Heidi apply for and receive a hunting license from Mary Ellen Balzer, hardware store clerk in Seattle, Wash. Sadler is proving a point: that anyone, but anyone, even a blind man, can be licensed to go hunting in Washington.

Conservatives To Call for Nuclear Arms, Tax Cuts

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Calls for federal tax cuts and special business and trade incentives go before the annual convention of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada which opens here today.

And the 1500 voting delegates will be asked to recommend acceptance of defensive nuclear warheads for Canadian forces at home and overseas under joint Canada-United States control if nuclear disarmament with proper inspection is not reached by next December.

These proposals were included in a 24-page report of the resolutions committee, scheduled for discussion Friday and Saturday, which covered a wide variety of subjects including federal grants for provincially-initiated medical care programs, greater federal participation in housing. studies to further bilingualism and biculturalism, and new aid to agriculture and fisheries.

The report, issued Wednesday by committee chairman E. A. Goodman of Toronto, also includes a lengthy resolution praising Prime Minister Diefenbaker and affirming "unbounded confidence in his leadership."

Specific tax reform measures proposed a general personal and corporation income tax reduction of five per cent on existing tax rates.

The committee urged adoption of such tax assistance to business as a tax credit on capital investments, except land, of eight per cent in the year of purchase and eight per cent the following year, in addition to present capital cost allowances.

The resolution would abolish manufacturers' sales tax exemptions — except those relating to agriculture, food and food processing including fisheries — apparently with the aim of limiting the revenue loss from tax cuts. It urged "broad and liberal use" of customs and excise tax rebates on imported parts and components to encourage manufacture in Canada of goods with high Canadian content.

Trade with all countries was endorsed with the provision that no strategic materials be traded with Communist nations.

EXPRESSES REGRET

But the resolution expressed regret that the government's position on the European Common Market and steps to maintain a market for Canadian goods in Europe have not been placed before the people of Canada in a manner that would make clearly understood.

Among the specific suggestions in the trade field was one for a 150-per-cent deduction from taxable income for spending on trade fairs, foreign market research and foreign market exploitation by Canadian-controlled companies.

Another urged broad use of customs and excise tax on imported parts and components to encourage export from Canada of Canadian-manufactured goods by foreign-controlled companies.

Mr. Goodman indicated this meant to some degree protection for Canadian manufacturers from foreign-company competition but added that the committee felt it was essential that foreign-controlled companies in Canada manufacture not only for the domestic market but also the export market.

Socred Wants Recognition Of Red China

CALGARY (CP) — Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit party whip in the Commons, said Wednesday Canada should give diplomatic recognition to Red China.

The member for Quebec Montmorency said the idea was shared by himself and Robert Thompson, the party's national leader, but he did not want to commit the Social Credit caucus to it.

Dr. Marcoux, here for a speaking engagement Wednesday night, said diplomatic recognition should be extended to the country when it is agreed that its "despotic government" represents the people.

He said he and Mr. Thompson were of the same opinion before they went on a two-week trip to the Far East. They returned to Canada Tuesday.

At the same time, Dr. Marcoux criticized sales of Canadian wheat to Red China and suggested Canada extend its credit to "friendly" nations such as India and Latin America to buy wheat before selling to Red China.

Says Limits To Protecting Small Logger

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forests Minister Williston said Wednesday there are limits to what government policy can do to ensure the survival of the small logging operator.

"The government is in the position that it has already gone a long way to protect the established operator and looks at things from the point of view that one cannot legislate for every eventuality."

"If we are to continue our policy of as much free enterprise as possible further limiting legislation must be given most careful study."

Mr. Williston was one of several speakers at the opening session of the Truck Loggers Association annual convention who dealt with the position of the small logger.

Classical free enterpirse ended when the province adopted sustained yield forestry to ensure a perpetual supply of timber, he said. Income tax and succession duties designed to distribute the wealth, made it difficult for newcomers to the industry. A recent survey showed there still were a large number of operators cutting small volumes. In the 12 sustained yield units in the Vancouver forest disrtict, 53.4 per cent of the total number of licensees cut less than 100,000 cubic feet a year.

Gaitskell Critical But Not Hopeless

LONDON (Reuters)—The condition of ailing Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell, 56, remains grave but he is holding his own, a party spokesman said Wednesday night.

The spokesman said Dr. Walter Somerville, chief of the medical team, had just seen Gaitskell and told him:

"The position is still grave but in the hour since we last saw him he has been holding his own."

The spokesman said a team of doctors would examine Gaitskell in the morning and a bulletin would be issued.

The Labor leader's condition earlier was described in the nightly bulletin as "very grave."

The hospital bulletin said: "Mr. Gaitskell's condition has deteriorated further with the development of serious renal and abdominal complications."

Hospital attendants said Gaitskell was being given blood transfusions.

The word "renal" mentioned in the hospital bulletin means "of the kidneys."

The opposition Labor party said earlier Wednesday their chief's condition was "critical but not hopeless."

Gaitskell's wife, Dora, was at his bedside during the evening. His daughter, Cressida, 20, a student at Oxford University, visited him twice during the day.

Gaitskell has been in Middlesex Hospital for two weeks suffering from a complication of a virus condition that has brought on pleurisy and pericarditis — inflammation of the membrane around the heart.

F-L-A-S-H

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sons of Freedom Doukhobors slipped quietly out of a downtown park after midnight today, less than 12 hours after they arrived from Hope, 100 miles to the east.

Spokesmen said they were going to spend the night in the New Democratic Party Committee Rooms in another part of the city.

Mrs. Margaret Erickson, spokesman for the NDP, said the Freedomites would be warm and dry and away from a group of hecklers that surrounded the group in the latter part of the evening.

Fulton Says Okay if MP's Go Abroad

VANCOUVER (CP) — Federal Works Minister Fulton said Tuesday there is nothing wrong in general principle with members of Parliament and legislatures going to another country at that country's expense.

He was asked to comment in an interview on trips to Formosa and Cuba by Social Credit leader Robert Thompson and Cedric Cox, member of the British Columbia legislature for Burnaby.

He said he has made such trips himself.

As for whether an individual would be obligated to the host country in any way, he said that depends on terms of the invitation and arrangements made.

"It is desirable that MPs know what is going on in the rest of the world but they must take their own responsibility for what they say when they come back," he said.

Mr. Thompson visited Formosa with part of his expenses paid by the National Chinese government. Mr. Cox has been the centre of controversy here since he left for Cuba for a visit at the expense of the Cuban government.

Mr. Fulton is here as part of a trip throughout the province meeting B.C. party officials. He is expected to be elected provincial leader at the party's annual convention here Jan. 24.

He also said the federal government has no plans for housing the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, some of whom arrived in Vancouver Tuesday.

He has said in the past the federal government is willing to co-operate with the B.C. government in a solution to the overall Freedomite problem.

JUBA ASKED AID TO HOLD PAN AM GAMES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mayor Stephen Juba said Wednesday night he has asked the Canadian government to underwrite the full $1,300,000 capital cost of holding the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg in 1967.

"I don't want to say too much about it," he said in an interview on his return from talks in Ottawa.

Mr. Juba said he could not say to whom he spoke while in Ottawa, but said the outlook for holding the international sport event in Winnipeg "are very good."

Winnipeg first bid for the games with the international congress of the games when they were held in Chicago in 1958.

Mayor Juba said that at that time Canada was assured of the 1967 edition with Winnipeg getting first application.

He said that since then, several other Canadian cities have bid on the games, including Montreal.

But, he said, Montreal now is getting a World's Fair with the federal government putting up $20,000,000 of the cost of the exposition and Montreal Mayor Drapeau has stated some other Canadian city should get the sports attraction.

Drink Coffee and Sing Hymns While Sightseers Ruin Grass

VANCOUVER (CP)—While hundreds of curious Vancouverites tramped damp grass into mud, about 200 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors Tuesday night sat on chill park benches and sang hymns and drank coffee.

The Doukhobors, who moved into Vancouver from Hope, 100 miles to the east, during the day, said they were spending the night in downtown Victory Square.

But they forecast something big for Vancouver today when another 1000 of their number arrive from the snow-covered campsite they occupied since October.

Big Fanny Storgoff replied to some hecklers.

"Hi, Fanny! Take me to your leader," shouted one.

"Anyone who understands our views is our leader," she replied.

"Why do you want social welfare when you don't pay taxes?" said another. "I can't get social welfare and I have two children."

"If we get help I will refuse it until you get help, too," said Fanny.

Big Fanny Storgoff, robust spokesman for the Sons, declined to make any statement about future plans.

"We will go to the people, the government won't help," she said in making the forecast of something big for Vancouver. "Tomorrow or the next day everyone will know what we are going to do."

The vanguard of the sect that started trekking in September and that passed its previously-announced destination during the day arrived in two busses and more than a score of trucks and cars.

Members plugged dimes in parking meters around the square, one block in area and containing the city's cenotaph.

During the day and far into the night they sang the melodic Russian hymns and, periodically an English-Language song that said: "We are marching and no force can stop us now . . . we have our women and babes and the nations watch . . . let my people go."

Meanwhile, Mayor William Rathie said he does not know what is going to happen but made it clear "we are not going to be faced by the problem of 1,000 Doukhobors descending on Vancouver and do nothing about it."

"I don't know what we're going to do with them — it's against the law to pitch tents."

And Big Fanny made in clear she is not going anywhere to talk to city officials. If they wanted to talk to her they would have to come to the park.

The weather Wednesday night was drizzly and chill. The temperature was expected to drop to the low 40s.

But the Sons, a couple were said to be aged around 75, sat stolidly on their benches, staring back at the curious, singing or drinking coffee. Small groups went to nearby restaurants to eat. A public toilet, normally closed at 8 p.m., was left open during the night.

They had few comments for the spectators, most of whom stared as they would at animals in a zoo and a few of whom had outspoken comments.

The comments ranged from: "The poor confused people" to "They deserve everthing they get."

Police said they were playing the situation by ear. Plainclothes officers from the RCMP and city forces mingles with the crowd.

No spokesman would give any indication when they would move on.

But in Victoria, Attorney-General Bonner, who said the Doukhoubors were "being observed" by the RCMP, thought it was likely Vancouver Island was the trekkers' destination.

No one in the colorful group would confirm the information.

"What ferry? Who's going?" said Fanny.

Crowds gatherer quickly as the Freedomites dumped packsacks and hand baggage on the square's benches. Nearby office windows were jammed with the inquisitive.

Two officers from the RCMP's D—for Doukhobor plainclothes squad milled with the Freedomites on the lawns. They claimed they were also in the dark about where the Freedomites were going.

They also expressed amazement at the rapid morning move from Hope, although as early as Monday it was predicted when a Doukhobor choir sang farewell to the community 100 miles east of here—and its residents were thanked for two months of kindness.

The Sons had been in Hope since late October, camping first in a municpal site and later, when the Coquihalla River flooded them out, at a summer camp of the B.C. Seventh-Day Adventists.

Their 450-mile trek to the west from a four-generation stronghold in the Kootenay started last Sept. 2. The Doukhobors said they wanted to be near their brothers in Agassiz. Upwards of 60 are jailed in Mountain Prison near the Fraser Valley village for terrorist acts in the past.

Wednesday, the Doukhobor's buses rolled right past the Agassiz turnoff.

Big Fanny said those who hadn't come in the first contingent from Hope would be there later.

At the camp in Hope, frigid and wet, accumulated rubbish and temporary covers made for sodden tents, was burned.

Even for the Spartan Freedomites, the rigors of winter in the last few weeks had been al most too much. For a time they lost control of seeping toilets; many children had measles and chicken pox and some adults, hepatitis.

The Adventists had shut off most of the camp's taps this week to protect the summer-type water system.

Observers felt that after an afternoon in Victory Square, the Freedomites would take a ferry across Georgia Strait to Nanaimo, then head north to the village of Hilliers, a Doukhobor settlement for many years. A government lands service official in Victoria said he believed an acre available there was a cemetery.

Only Tuesday the provincial government passed an order-in-council that would prevent camping by anyone on lawns outside government buildings.

A busload of trekkers had already been to Victoria in an unsuccessful attempt to get government action in what they said was ther plight. They sat under the eaves of the legislative buildings after a gardener turned the lawn sprinklers on when they arrived.

Mrs. Storgoff and husband Fred were smiling and in good spirits when they arrived in Vancouver in the family truck. Fanny bounced someone's baby, then walked the square's paths among the pigeons. As others arrived they joined her and later took part in a long prayer meeting and hymn session.

Vancouver Island was apprehensive about the the Doukhobors' possible arrival. Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo said he would "wait and see" before he took any action.

Sidelights on Trekkers

Paul Scherle, commissioner of the village of Hope where the Sons have been camped since October, took movies as the vanguard left for Vancouver.

"After all, this won't happen again here — I hope," he said. "I won't miss them. . . . I didn't think they would stay this long, but nobody has been hurt around here.

Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose of Vancouver said police were playing the situation by ear. "We can't draw up any detailed plan of action, We have to keep a constant check on the situation and act accordingly as developments occur." The force was working closely with Mayor William Rathie, the health office and park officials.

Traffic superintendent Allan Rossiter of the Vancouver police force said there was some disruption of traffic around Victory Square due to spectators but nothing serious. "We treated them the same as tourists who visit the city."

CPR officials altered the company's police force in case the Sons decided to camp on the dock of the ferry that goes to Nanaimo on Vancouver Island.

Henry Christianson, caretaker of the Seventh-Day Adventists campsite at Hope where the Sons stayed, said he would miss the sect. "They are friendly people and I never had any trouble with them."

Edwin Bolwell, reporter for the Toronto Globe and Mail, was driving to Vancouver behind the Sons when his car slipped on the pavement and overturned 15 miles west of Hope. He was not injured.

The Sons have been plagued by sanitation worries since they left the Kootenay in September. At Victory Square a comfort station renovated two years ago at a cost of $38,500, was left open all night. Normally it is closed at 8 p.m.

Big Fanny Storgoff, spokesman for the sect, was offered transportation if she wanted to talk to civic, provincial or federal officials. "No, I don't want to go," she replied. "We have plenty to say to them, but if they want to hear it, let them come here."

It was reported that Russian-Canadians in the city were taking up a collection for the Sons.

CHEAP RACKET SMASHED

MONTREAL (CP) — A province-wide racket that preyed on the immediate relatives of dead persons has been smashed, police said Wednesday.

Two men have been arrested.

Police said the racket worked this way:

Names of dead persons would be clipped from newspaper death notices. Small packages of pills—worth about 10 cents—then would be mailed, in the name of the dead person, with a cash-on-delivery charge of $3.65.

Few relatives, being told by a postman about the package, would refuse to pay the charge, police said.

The money then would be collected normally from the post office .

Jodoin 'Fellow Traveller' Says Seaman's Boss Banks

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—Hal C. Banks of the Seafarers' International Union said Wednesday he would class President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress as a Communist "fellow traveller."

The charge — unsupported by any evidence—was made by the burly 54-year-old union boss as he faced questioning about SIU allegations of Communist infiltration of the CLC-affiliated Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers.

Mr. Banks claimed that top officers of the Canadian brotherhood put Communists to work as organizers among seamen on the West coast and the Great Lakes.

"I know quite a bit about Commies," said the Cadillac-driving waterfront union chief. "I've been fighting them for a long time — successfully."

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, before whom the SIU leader is appearing as a witness, said the SIU used to shout its anti-Communist war cry back in 1949 when it was fighting the Communist-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union.

NOT HAUNTED?

"Is it not possible that the ghosts of that past are still haunting you?" asked the Vancouver jurist.

"No it isn't," insisted Mr. Banks.

Mr. Banks said officers of the Canadian brotherhood — he mentioned President W. J. Smith, Vice-President Elroy Robson and Secretary-Treasurer Donald Secord — are "manoeuvring their personnel" on the Great Lakes "and there are Commies among them."

The SIU leader, expelled from the CLC in 1960 for raiding another union, said that Mr. Jodoin took part in brotherhood conferences.

Mr. Justice Norris asked the witness whether he considered Mr. Jodoin a fellow-traveller.

"I would class him as that," said Mr. Banks.

He said the SIU had a report by a brotherhood official in which the union admitted using Communists and drunks in its organization. Mr. Justice Norris promptly ordered Mr. Banks to produce the report by this morning.

ACCUSED BY LAWYER

The six-foot SIU president, in the witness box for the eighth consecutive day, faced stiff questioning from CLC lawyer Maurice Wright about the SIU's persistent campaign to brand the Canadian brotherhood as both a Communist-tinged and company-dominated union.

Mr. Wright accused the SIU of deliberate distortions and irresponsible statements in its two-way attack on the brotherhood.

Among allegations uncovered by Mr. Wright in his cross-examination of Mr. Banks on the SIU's own minutes:

1. The SIU believes that all telegrams sent to its headquarters via Canadian Pacific Communications are first funnelled across the desk of CPR president N. R. Crump.

2. The SIU believes that R. J. Rankin, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, entered into a conspiracy with labor leaders and seaway workers to boycott SIU-manned ships last July.

3. The SIU believes that the Canadian brotherhood sent "hopheads and sex perverts" into Montreal taverns, offering $20 to SIU members to quit their union and join the brotherhood, with the money put up by the big railway companies.

A Province Is a State When It Is Quebec

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

MONTREAL (CP) — There's a new word-game going the round in the Province, oops, pardon, State of Quebec.

It starts with a little teaser: When is a province not a province?

The answer — sometimes —is: When it's Quebec.

At other times, the answer wouldn't be 100-per-cent right.

It would depend on who gives the answer—the Quebec government's Office de la Langue Francaise or Premier Jean Lesage.

The office—a rough unofficial translation would be French language bureau — started the word-game in the latest of a series of memoranda on style published specifically for Quebec's French-language newspaper men.

The series is designed to draw attention to faulty French used in newspaper stories or on radio and to recommend correct usage.

It is prepared by Jean - Marc Leger, a former newspaper man and director of the office, a branch of the cultural affairs department.

The memorandum, in French, said quite plainly:

"The government of Quebec has decided with reason to eliminate the expression province of Quebec and, in a general way, the word province and its derivatives."

"This is an error," commented Mr. Lesage Wednesday. "The government of Quebec has not yet decided to eliminate this phrase.

"The proof is that the expression was used in several places in the throne speech (read in Tuesday's opening of the legislature)."

A check showed the word province was used 10 times in the speech.

Mr. Lesage went on to say he and other political figures in Quebec use the phrase "state of Quebec, whenever we can." It occurred once in the throne speech.

The memorandum went on to ask newspaper men's cooperation in spreading the use of the expressions "government of Quebec" — presumably instead of provincial government — and "state of Quebec"—instead of province of Quebec.

MUST USE 'FEDERAL'

In an aside about Ottawa, it added that newspaper men "shall remember that the presence of two nations in Canada prohibits the use of 'national' to describe the activities and organizations of the central government. In this case, one must use federal or Canadian."

In Ottawa, nobody would be quoted but reports said there were chuckles, puzzlement and derision.

One politically-minded person in Ottawa said the Quebec view indicated Mr. Lesage, a former federal cabinet minister, has no federal Liberal party ambitions.

One government official noted laughingly that Quebec's 1963 automobile licence plates carry the legend "la belle province"—the pretty province.

Mr. Leger, who couldn't understand what the excitement was all about, said the case of the licence plates was the kind of exception that was acceptable for tourist reasons.

Mr. Leger recalled—and Mr. Lesage confirmed it in Quebec —that the premier last October instructed government switchboard operators to answer "government of Quebec," instead of "provincial government" as in the past.

Mr. Leger said the word "province" in French has the connotation of an administrative unit, such as in France and Belgium, not of a political entity such as "a state, or semi-state, if you will, which has well-defined legislative jurisdiction."

He said telephone book listings and official letterheads carrying the words "province de Quebec" may be changed to "government du Quebec" at a later date.

Commissioner Challenges Mine, Mill Questioning

Terry Halliwell, President of Trail Rod-Gun

TRAIL — Terry Halliwell was elected president of the Trail Rod and Gun Club at their annual meeting Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were Richard D'Andrea and Mono Ferro as first and second vice-presidents and Hugh McLaughlin, secretary.

Directors of fish derby committee are Dave Duncan and Pat Archibald; director of Junior Safety Training, Ben Seifert, assisted by Rowland Cacchoni; director of big game competition, Roy Lavalley; director of publicity and programing, Gordon Read. Dave Lunn and Ceasare Alton are in charge of the Trail-Salmo Gun Club.

Two major projects are slated for the new year by the club.

Re-activating of the pistol club along with completion of the clubhouse at the trap shoot are planned for the new year. The junior safety traning will also be promoted.

Retiring president, Gordon Read said in his annual report, that because of the road access problem, hunting is becoming more restricted.

Mr. Read reported the convention for the clubs held in Kamloops last May was a complete success.

An all day zone meeting will be held in Trail, January 27, he said, and the annual banquet is slated for March 9.

Game biologist, Glen Smith of Nelson, illustrated with color slides the Columbia River development, Mica Creek, Duncan River, High Arrow and the impact on the wild life resources.

Prospecting Progress In Chamber Report

In his annual Chamber of Mines report, E. W. Florendine, traced the progress made since the prospectors and small operators blazed trails up to the 1961 airlift of 3000 tons of mining equipment to a remote area.

Mr. Florendine said the Newmont Mining Corporation lifted 3000 tons of mining equipment, the largest airlift of its kind ever undertaken to date.

The airlift took place at Granduc Mine, north of Stewart, B.C.

One of the main purposes of the Chamber, Mr. Florendine, secretary treasurer, of the Chamber of Mines of Eastern B.C. explained is to endeavour to bring together prospectors and mine owners with capital.

Operation in general in South Eastern B.C. shows claims were down considerably from the annual average in the Golden Mining Divinsion, mainly because of heavy snowfalls.

Mining activities in the Revelstoke Mining Division show a number of properties are of interest including place and lode locations such as McCulloch Gold Placer Mining Co. Ltd., McCulloch Creek, stripping and exploratory work where three men are employed.

Mining activities in the East Kootenay reported 640 men were employed at Michel Colliery with steady work throughout the year. Sullivan Mine, owned by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. provides lead and zinc to the mill and employs 1350 men.

There were five Place Claims in operation on the Moyie River Maus Creek, Wildhorse and Perry Creeks where 13 men are employed at intervals.

In 1962, 122 mineral claims have been recorded in the Trail Creek Mining Division.

The Osoyoos Mining Division during the calendar year of 1962 had 384 claims recorded.

Canadian Exploration Ltd. of Salmo produced 370,000 tons during 1962 employing 160 men.

The H. B. Mine near Salmo produced 470,000 tons with 115 men employed.

After reviewing mining, exploration and prospecting operations Mr. Florendine said it could readily be seen that the mining industry in South Eastern B. C. creates employment for a large percentage of the population, not only in actual mining but it provides a market for varied equipment, supplies and services of all kinds.

Further, he said the mining industry pays many millions in taxes (including Educational tax) to our Provincial and Dominion Governments and many communities owe their existance to mining.

The proof of this, Mr. Florendine explained, was the Sullivan Mine at Kimberley which is owned and operated by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. This mine evenually brought into being the establishment of the Trail Smelter, which lead to industrial development supported by other smaller productive mines.

A total of 1695 mineral claims were staked and recorded, last year and as regards assessment work in Nelson and Kaslo divisions only, approximately $105,000 was recorded.

Heart Ailment Victim Keeps Bench Vigil

VANCOUVER (CP) — An elderly Doukhobor woman who suffers from a heart ailment was taken to hospital to rest and warm up Wednesday while the others sang melodic Russian songs in downtown Victory Square.

Mrs. Anuta Barisoff, 75, and her husband, Zakar, 78, were among the 200 Sons fo Freedom Doukhobors who arrived in Vancouver from Hope, B.C.

She returned later and sat on a bench in the park, covered from the rain by a damp blanket.

"She could go anytime — like that," said Mr. Barisoff clapping his hands for effect.

The Barisoffs lived together for 50 years in the Sons communal stronghold of Krestova in the Kootenay. Their only belongings are in a few grocery boxes, a duffle bag and an old suitcase.

Mr. Barisoff said he came from Tiflis, Russia, in 1896 when he was 12 and worked in Saskatchewan. He came to B.C. in 1912.

He said the Sons are waiting for an answer from provincial Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"Bonner keeps promising to find a place for us," he said in Russian. "Bonner promised and promised but never did anything."

Present Brief At Hearing on Compensation

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials of the International Union Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) were accused Tuesday of presenting unsubstantiated evidence to support their brief to the royal commission on workmen's compensation.

Commissioner Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay said union president Harvey Murphy and secretary Al King were asking leading questions of witnesses and assuming as evidence testimony which had not been proved.

He said cross examination had showed that some points on which union witnesses were basing their evidence were not being backed up.

Murphy had claimed earlier that the Workmen's Compensation Board had approved a policy of the Howe Sound Mining Co. to hold annual medical examinations to enable the company to fire employees on medical grounds.

Cross-examined by J. A. Bourne, counsel for the B.C. Mining Association, Murphy admitted he didn't know who the doctor was or even whether he was a doctor or a WCB official.

David Sigler, compensation board counsel, said he did not believe Murphy's charge.

"I'd like to see matters mentioned here sufficiently substantiated," he said.

Mr. Murphy in reply to a question by commission counsel Victor Dryer soldiers wounded in the battlefield and workers injured in the course of their employment should receive equal treatment by the government.

He said widows' pensions and hospital facilities provided to the families of soldiers killed in action should be made available on an equal basis to workers who died from silicosis or accidents at work.

Questioned by Dryer whether he advocated a nationalized type of compensation system for workers, Mr. Murphy, however withdrew part of his previous statement and said he wanted industry to pay the cost of the compensation scheme he had in mind.

"Do you believe that the compensation pension of a worker who subsequently gets killed in a car accident should be passed on to his widow?" Dryer asked.

Mr. Murphy made no direct reply.

"If a worker on compensation pension is on the ferry to Victoria sitting in the cocktail lounge and the ship goes down, should his widow take over his pension?" Mr. Dryer asked.

"Yes, if the worker was on his way to Victoria to complain to the government," Mr. Murphy replied.

Mr. Dryer asked Murphy whether he thought that injured workers should get a joint survivor pension, so that if the pensioned husband died his wife should continue to get the pension during his lifetime.

Mr. Murphy said this was exactly what he wanted and said children should get pensions if both their parents die.

Lardeau Valley Pioneer Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Andy Daney, 93, pioneer resident of the Lardeau valley near Revelstoke, died here Tuesday.

Mr. Daney was born in Maine and came to the valley in 1891. He was connected with the mining business for many years and for 50 years held the mail contract for around the Ferguson area.

He moved here this winter.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters and a son.

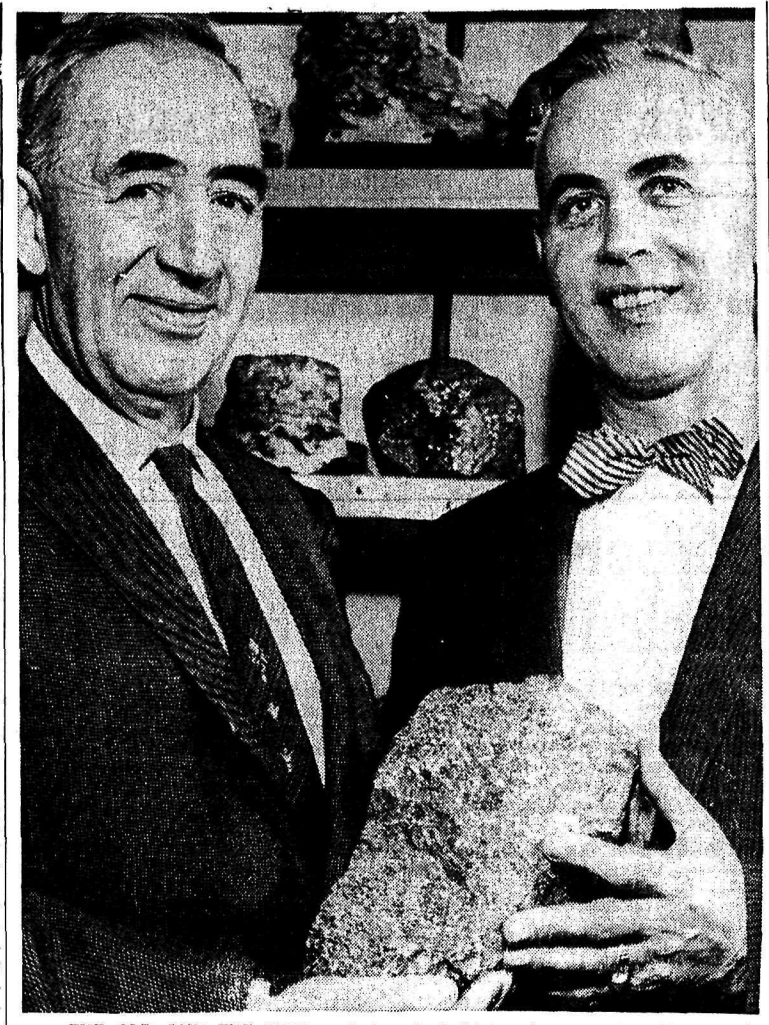
Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Full Probe into Reappearance of Secret Documents

LONDON (Reuters)—The British admiralty announced Wednesday a full investigation into the discovery of secret documents in government furniture auctioned to a firm in Wolverhampton, central England.

The firm's truck driver found the documents in a cupboard and they were handed to police.

Security officials examined the admiralty documents which arrived in London by registered post and the admiralty sent a representative of the director of naval security to Wolverhampton "to make further inquiries."



THE OLD AND THE NEW — Left is J. S. McIntosh, managing director of Sheep Creek Mines, newly elected president of the Chamber of Mines of Eastern British Columbia for this year. Retiring president, F. R. Thompson, manager of Reeves MacDonald Mine at Remac, gave an address prior to his retirement at the Chamber's annual meeting Tuesday night.

Power Line, A Shocker!

People in the electrical trades had a breakfast chuckle Tuesday morning, a gift of a layman's error in the Nelson Daily News.

Reporting the city's North Shore power discussions at council's Monday meeting, it was stated that the city expenditure for a major power line to service that area was between $280,000 — $300,000. The line is to carry 66 KV or 66,000 volts.

In the report the line was described as 66 KVA, its power being equivalent to about 50 kilowatts.

Rejects Kinnaird Liquor Plebiscite

KINNAIRD — Kinnaird's request to hold a liquor plebiscite at this time has been refused by the provincial government and the companies concerned will be notified by the village of this decision.

This was established at Tuesday's village commission meeting when Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary, advised by letter that further consideration would be given to the matter after three years has elapsed, following the defeat of the plebiscite which was held by the village in 1960.

New Respiration System Displayed

The second mouth-to-mouth respiration demonstration was given to three separate classes in the British Columbia Telephone Company Tuesday by two first aid instructors.

The practical demonstration was under promoters Fire Chief E. S. Owens and W. H. Childress, supervisor of Rescue and First Aid for the Kootenay area.

The classes lasted for two hours with two female sittings and one male class, consisting of 65 employees.

On Saturday the Daily News carried the complete explanation of mouth-to-mouth respiration method that the first chief and Mr. Childress had presented to the Rotary Club.

Several more demonstrations will be presented to service clubs and industries in Nelson.

Good Year Reported At St. Saviour's

The best year of operation in a long time was the report of Rev. Canon G. W. Lang to the annual general vestry meeting of St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral Tuesday.

In his last annual report — he takes up a new post in Regina in April — Canon Lang gave credit to the women of the church for the successful year.

For the first time in six years all commitments have been met and all bills paid with a surplus showing on the financial sheet, he said, and much of the credit for it lies with the women who have taken over a large share of the responsibility of the church.

For the men, other than the faithful few who do many things for the church, he reminded, "Christ will ask, 'What did you do for my body in the world.' "

He said he was also disappointed over the falling attendance at the bible study session and amazed at the number of small children attending church, not being accompanied by their parents. He also felt more people should be attending week day services.

"The brightest light in the church," he termed the Anglican Young People's Association which he was instrumental in founding, and he was pleased with the numbers of people making use of the Sacrament of Absolution.

He made special mention of the service rendered this past year by the following: B. E. Ryalls, organist and choir master; Mrs. Derek Turner, his typist; Ralph Pettet, Frank Lippingwell, lay reader, "the best any rector had," the church committee treasurer John J. Morey and the wardens.

Canon Lang said it was his policy to change Rector's Warden about every two years and in keeping with this policy he announced the appointment of Derek Turner to the position. He succeeds P. J. Deerward.

Elected people's warden was J. Phelps.

Canon Lang termed the ups and downs of his stay here as rector as happy years and thanked his people for the many kindnesses shown to him and his family.

To live is to grow and to grow means change said Canon Lang of his move to Regina.

Canon Lang said he had answered God's call to come here and now God had called him to work in another part of His Church. We must pray that those who have the choice of a new rector may be guided by the Holy Spirit to choose a man who will lead St. Saviour's to greater heights, he said.

PAY TRIBUTE TO ALD. BLAIR

TRAIL — City dignitaries paid their respect to Ald. W. O. (Bill) Blair who died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday evening, aged 47.

Mayor Joseph Palyga paid tribute to Ald. Blair saying:

"He will be a hard man to replace. Men of Ald. Blair's calibre are hard to come by. His keen interest in people showed up not only on council work but in the Boy Scout movement and St. John Ambulance."

Ald. Blair was born in Robsart, Sask., in 1915. He worked at Creston from 1933 to 1938 and for Bryan's Transfer in Trail from 1938 to 1940.

In July, 1940 he joined Cominco where his early service was spent in the antimony plant, boiler shop and the wartime heavy water plant.

In 1948 he went on first aid work and continued until 1960 when he became compensation clerk on the staff of the safety and hygiene department.

Remand Glade Men On Public Mischief

Two Glade men charged with public mischief were remanded for verdict to Monday morning in magistrate's court Wednesday by Magistrate William Evans.

Alex Chernoff and Angus Osochoff are charged with giving a false statement to RCMP and taking it upon themselves to name other people in the Appledale Roman Catholic Church burning, January 26, 1962.

As a result the police were misled and entered into an investigation. The false statement was sufficient to instigate a specific investigation from a general one, G. B. Arnesen, crown counsel, said.

The Crown has also laid a charge against Angus Osachoff after he named George Sbitney as one of the group involved in the Appledale Church fire. The RCMP were misled because of this allegation as Sbitney was able to prove where he was the night of the fire and never once confessed or made a statement saying he was involved.

Defence counsel, Sidney B. Simons, rebutted Mr. Arnesen's arguments saying there was no agreement made between Chernoff and Osachoff as indicated, therefore, no false statement was planned.

Mr. Simons said they had planned only to go into the RCMP detachment at Crescent Valley and make a statement.

Mr. Simons said the Crown must prove the statement was false and also prove there was intent to mislead a peace officer.

Cpl. J. D. Flamank read the statements of Chernoff and Osachoff in which they told him how they burnt down the Appledale Church.

Const. A. B. Godlien of Nelson and N .G. Schultz, court reporter were also questioned on the witness stand by both the crown and the defence.

In November of last year, Chernoff, Osachoff, Elie Popoff, Andy Popoff, Nick Chernoff and Peter Chernoff were acquitted in county court by Judge E. P. Dawson of arson charges arising out of the Appledale fire.

Evergreen Bonfire Tonight

About 4,000 Christmas trees will blaze merrily tonight.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse will apply the torch to the annual pile of discarded evergreens about 7:30 p.m. just east of the Okanagan Helicopters hanger, on the waterfront airstrip.

This afternoon city firemen will prepare the evergreen funeral pyre by pouring 45 gallons of gas and 200-300 gallons of residual oil around the lower half of the 50-foot high pile.

City trucks have been collecting the trees for the past week.

It is expected that close to 1,000 persons will gather for the bonfire which will be controlled by city firemen, aided by the militia, city police and Frontiersmen.

The Lions Club will serve hot coffee, hot chocolate and donuts during the hour long burning party.

CHIMNEY FIRE

The fire department quickly extinguished a chimney fire Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. at 315 Ward Street.

No damage was done to Frank Hugli's home. Fire Chief E. S. Owens said the fire originated from a dirty chimney.

Barclay Family Move into New Home Today

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barclay will move into a completely furnished home with all the comforts of the average family today, Fire Chief E. S. Owens, said.

Mrs. Barclay, who has been in Kootenay Lake General Hospital since Monday was released Wednesday to be with her husband and five children.

The Barclay family has received approximately $350 from Mayor T. S. Shorthouse's fund at City Hall, $100 from the Rotary Club; Fairview Safeway Store presented them with groceries; F. W. Woolworth has supplied the family with bedding and clothing and Kelly Douglas Co., Ltd., also sent a large grocery hamper to the Barclays.

"Without the assistance from the staff at CKLN," Chief Owens stated, "the admirable response to aid the burned-out family would have been considerably less."

"Snappy Service has also assisted with the delivery of goods to the Barclay home," the Chief said.

"So many citizens have answered in ald of the Barclay's plight they are just too numerous to mention," Chief Owens concluded.

Funeral services for three-week old Hope Barclay will be on Friday with Captain O. G. Moffatt of the Salvation Army conducting the services. Only the immediate family will be attending.

Council Jottings

City council got ensnarled in its own red tape several times during Monday's meeting.

Reason for the entanglement was the novel council-committee system adopted at the inaugural meeting, replacing the old system of three-aldermen committees.

Confusion over terminology, powers and functioning of the respective units of the system was evident. All the signs of the trial-and-error period, predicted by Mayor T. S. Shorthouse before the two main committee systems function properly.

Ald. J. S. M. Harts, chairman of the Works, Utilities, Services Committee (WUS) was dismayed at his role in the new setup, saying all he had to do was call meetings of WUS. He asked for more work.

The mayor assured him that with chairing the WUS and other future duties that will be assigned to him he will have all the work he desires.

* * *

A. G. Harvey was reappointed for a two-year term to the police commission. Mayor Shorthouse stated the commission's immediate problem is to find a successor to police sergeant J. H. Crozier whose resignation becomes effective at the end of the month.

* * *

Ald. Mrs. W. J. Van Maarion's request that the city council wire Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Premier W. A. C. Bennett urging them to ratify the Columbia River treaty immediately fell on reluctant and cautious ears.

The majority of council felt that this was strictly a political matter and if the city was to make any appeal to the two senior governments it should do so only after lengthy consideration.

* * *

Transit system chairman Ald. J. H. MacMillan reported on his exploratory investigation of the city's transit operation, stating some action must be taken to remedy this department's annual deficit.

"The transit system is costing us too much money," Ald. MacMillan declared, resounding the proposed solution of the past, smaller, economical buses to replace the city's larger vehicles. The present vehicles average one mile to a gallon of gas.

The mayor also indicated that a look at the fare structure would not be out of the question.

* * *

Referred to public works chairman in conjunction with the city solicitor was the notice of Civic Employees Union, Local 339, for commencing of collective bargaining for the 1963 contract. The union will be seeking a wage increase plus fringe benefits.

* * *

Referred to the city administrator was the year-old impasse over the proposed lease between the city and the B.C. Telephone Company. The lease is for a B.C. Telephone cable which bisects the city's prospective sewage plant site on the waterfront. The debatable point is who will bear the cost of repairing or replacing the cable if it breaks down. The telephone company is asking the city to share equally such cost but the city is adamant in its stand that the company should bear full cost.

* * *

The city of Nelson temporary loan bylaw, No. 1358, received its final readings.

* * *

A full council was in attendance for the special meeting. The next general meeting is scheduled for this Monday.

Fernie Ski Hill Dream Realized

Skiers Wax Boards To Give Fernie Hill Sendoff Saturday

FERNIE — A year ago a glowing account of Fernie's planned Lizard Range ski hill appeared in Kootenay newspapers and this Saturday the predictions of a superb ski hill and attractively located chalet will be realized when the $150,000 project of the Snow Valley Ski Development Ltd. receives its official grand send-off.

Skiers from all over the country are applying the wax and packing their gear for the trip to this Crowsnest Pass centre, heads of Kootenay municipal governments, chambers of commerce and government representatives are polishing up their speeches to send the ski development into orbit to join the ski course circuit of the Kootenays, Okanagan and Montana.

Situated 3½ miles from downtown Fernie and less than one mile from No. 3 Southern Transprovincial Highway, the hill is located on an east-facing slope of the Lizard Range, and comprises over two miles of runs. A 4500-foot T-bar lift serves the main hill, with a rise from the chalet at 3500 feet through a vertical rise of 1000 feet and a 450-foot rope tow has been installed on a gentle slope near the chalet for beginners and children. Two other trails off to the side take skiers down to the highway and above the main hill are huge bowls where skiers can enjoy high land skiing for several miles amidst an aesthetic setting, surrounded by matchless mountain scenery. There is a half-mile run from the chalet down to the highway, a drop of 200 feet.

The modern chalet, a 32 by 64-foot shingle and knotty pine A-frame building with windowed walls overlooking the ski slopes and parking lot contains a lunch counter, tables and benches, a juke box, hot air furnace, fireplace, first aid room and wash rooms. Electric power and a telephone are installed.

LUNCHEON IN FERNIE

Following a luncheon in Fernie at the Catholic Hall Saturday at 12:00 noon, the ribbon cutting will take place in this Canadian Rockies setting at the hill. Speaking at the luncheon will be Mayor Frank Sherring of Lethbridge and E. T. Dicks, president of Snow Valley, who has been a leading figure in development of this winter industry since 1959 when he was president of Fernie Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor James White of Fernie. Harry C. McKay, MLA for Fernie, and Mayor George Haddad of Cranbrook will speak at the ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2:30 p.m.

There will be free skiing all day for everyone and a free dance for all in the chalet at night. Refreshments will be served in the newly licensed dining lounge, "The Loft" and a smorgasbord is on the supper schedule. Free buses will take the public from the King Edward Hotel to the hill at 1:00 p.m. and return them downtown after the ribbon-cutting ceremony. The tows will operate from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. or later.

Activities will be covered by newspapermen, cameramen, radio and television crews from Lethbridge, Cranbrook, Nelson and other centres.

PA SYSTEM

A complete public address system has been installed recently by the B.C. Telephone Company at the ski hill. The system consists of three large outside weatherproof speakers, four indoor speakers, and an amplifier located in the chalet. In desiging the system the company utilized weatherproof speakers to extend the music and paging coverage to include the ski slopes and parking lot as well as the chalet. One weatherproof speaker is located at the 4800-foot level of the ski hill, another speaker is located halfway down the ski slope, and a third speaker has been installed outside the Chalet.

With opening of the ski hill and chalet, directors of the Snow Valley Ski Development Company are seeing their dreams of a lucrative secondary industry for Fernie come true.

CHAMBER PROMOTES

Fernie Chamber of Commerce has been promoting the development ever since Mr. Dicks, as its president in 1959, saw the ever-increasing popular sport as a possibility in providing a healthier local economy. As chairman of the Fernie winter Olympics committee he worked hard to further Fernie's cause.

Dave Morton and Eric Mansbridge, who succeeded Mr. Dicks as Chamber of Commerce presidents, both continued the effort to develop skiing. A committee to investigate possibilities was appointed in 1961 by President Mansbridge. It was chaired by Donald G. Bacon and from its efforts grew the new ski company, of which Mr. Bacon was elected vice-president.

Other directors are Mayor James White, Harry C. McKay MLA, F. C. Hislop, Dr. G. W. Leroux and Jack Crabb, President of Fernie's existing ski club, the Snow Valley Ski Association. James Ryley is secretary-treasurer.

Snow Valley Ski Development Ltd. was organized as a private company under the "Companies Act" of B.C. at Victoria in November, 1961.

The ski company has a 10-year lease with an option to buy approximately 335 acres from the Galloway Lumber Co. Ltd which owns the ski site.

The ski hill is approximately 1½ miles south as the crow flies from the original ski hill, Cedar Valley run. This was found to be too rigorous for the ordinary ski enthusiast.

The present slope varies in pitch from eight to 35 per cent, with terrain to suit every type of skier. Nursery slopes are 500 to 600 feet long for beginners and these are apart from the main runs to separate the tyros and experts.

The present site is cast in a fine stand of fir, spruce, poplars, cedars and other rich growth. A small stream skirts the west side of the hill to provide a water supply. There is a glorious view of the Elk Valley and Elk River, both north and south.

Richard Brown of Patterson, New York, supervised installation of the 4500-foot T-bar lift for the suppliers, Hall Ski-Lift Company of Watertown, New York, and Val Morin, Quebec. The lift cable, one-inch thick, weighs 16,000 pounds.

In addition to the main hill, an old logging road joins a swath cleared through the trees for a water line and meanders up the mountainside almost to the top terminal. The trail thus formed is on the opposite side of the lift from the main hill and ends near the lower terminal. Thus, skiers have a choice of two descents from the 4500-foot level.

THREE STATIONS

As well as the top terminal, there are three intermediate unloading stations on the T-bar lift for shorter runs. Skiers may also ski nearly a mile back to the highway either along the access road, down the power line or down a road which formerly led to an old farm. A ski patrol will cover the main hill and the upper trail.

A licensed ski instructor as well as rental of skis, boots, poles and so forth are available.

As many as 40 men, mostly of Fernie, have been employed on the ski hill and access road work at one time.

Fernie now joins the Montana-Kootenay - Okanagan ski circuit with hills at Whitefish and Libby, Montana; Fernie, Kimberley, Revelstoke, Banff, Nelson, Rossland, Vernon, Penticton and Kamloops providing a wide terrain for skiers to travel on a skiing holiday.

Said President Dicks of the economic value to Fernie:

"Besides those who would obviously benefit such as the hotels, motels, cafes and service stations, there are the ski equipment dealers, clothing stores, food stores, drug stores, banks, barber shops, pool hall, newspaper, liquor store, beer parlors, theatre, dance halls, novelty shops — in fact every line of business.

"And, of course, the more business money made, the more the city will spend to improve streets and other facilities. Therefore everyone in town stands to gain."

Ski visitors to Fernie are offered everything in the way of entertainment, including night skiing, dancing at the chalet and downtown, curling, theatre, skating, sleigh-rides, hockey, or just relaxation, watching television.

(See also information on page 10.)

McMynn Addresses Creston Chamber

CRESTON — J. D. McMynn, rates and contract engineer for West Kootenay Power and Light Company Ltd. and executive officer in the Chamber of Commerce movement, stated this area of B.C. was embarking on a most interesting period and suggested that Creston start now in promoting the tourist trade here in a big way.

Addressing the annual meeting and ladies night of the Creston Board of Trade Saturday at the Legion Hall Mr. McMynn urged the local board to press for full completion of the final links in the improved southern transprovincial highway. He said that if the Department of Highways had taken a real interest in finishing the Salmo-Creston cut-off it would have been completed by now.

A past president of the Associated Boards and Trade (and Chambers of Commerce) of Southeastern B.C. Mr. McMynn also spoke on the work of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in tax and unemployment insurance reform. He reviewed progress of highway construction on No. 3; spoke of package tours to interest vacationers in the area and told how small industries had been started which developed into large concerns.

Mr. McMynn had kindly agreed to be guest speaker at the last moment, when H. R. "Reg" Hammond, manager of the Calgary Chamber, was unable to be present due to travel conditions.

Re-zoning To Take Place At Invermere

INVERMERE — Certain portions of the village of Invermere will be re-zoned, it is reported by commissioner Jack Collins. Part of the residential area is re-zoned to encourage tourist accommodation.

Regarding works committee plans, Mr. Collins states that the village plans to invest in a hawing machine, a gravel screening plant and a combined front-loader and backhoe with a four-wheel drive. These machines are urgently needed if any concrete plan of improvement is to be carried out within the village and its properties such as the cemetery and the village dump. Expenditures of this nature will necessarily mean reducing costs in other areas of the budget, Mr. Collins explained and possibly a slight increase in the mill rate. This decision will be made when the 1963 proposed budget is reviewed.

A continuing program of maintenance is planned for the cemetery and every attempt is being made to provide water and to seed the ground in lawn grass. Failing a water supply, crushed granite would seem to be the best solution.

Bylaws passed or reviewed during 1962 have included the dog bylaw and cemetery bylaw.

Union Confers With Lawyer on Shutdown

CRANBROOK — International Woodworkers of America sub-locals at the Cranbrook plant of Crestbrook Timber Limited met Saturday evening to discuss the present situation of plant closure because of a supreme court injunction and how they can help reopen the plant.

The meeting approved efforts by its two business managers, Art Dumstrom and Elmer Atwood, in securing an interview with the representative of the law firm of Hislop, McKay and Lazenby to urge early court hearing of the civil suit by 24 Slaterville residents alleging damage to property from burner operations.

More than 60 Cranbrook plant employees of Cresbrook have been laid off since plant operations were forced to dicontinue November 30 by the court order. Logging employees, who are accustomed to budgeting on the basis of one to two months' idleness for woods spring runoff, have continued work during the plant closure, but mill, planer and yard have never been closed since the company operations began.

The agents will report on their efforts to a general meeting of the sub-locals following their interview with the petitioners' legal representative. The hearing in Civil Assize Court was scheduled for Cranbrook in early October, but was portponed then on request of the company lawyer, who is now endeavoring to have early hearing of the suit.

NO RESOLUTION ON PEARSON'S PROPOSAL

CRANBROOK — No resolution resulted, but the East Kootenay Liberal Association at its annual meeting at Kimberley Monday evening discussed the proposal by Hon. L. B. Pearson recently that nuclear arming of warheads be undertaken by Canada in keeping with its NATO comitments.

Asked concerning his attitude, Kootenay East member J. A. Byrne said he supported Mr. Pearson's stand solidly.

Mr. Byrne spoke to the convention in a brief summary of the 1962 session of parliament, and other speakers were Hugh Martin, president of the British Columbia section of the federal Liberal Association, Ron Fairclough, provincial Liberal organizer, and Marry McKay, MLA for Fernie.

In a narrow vote the meeting named M. G. Kinkhamer of Cranbrook president of the East Kootenay Association, which was contested by Ray Cooper of Creston. Named secretary-treasurer was Max Tenebein of Kimberley, and vice-presidents are the heads of the four provincial Liberal Associations in the constituency.

The meeting followed a buffet dinner prepared and served by the Kimberley Woman's Liberal Association.

CRANBROOK PYTHIAN SLATE INSTALLED

CRANBROOK — Pythian Sisters Temple 28 has completed its installation of officers in preparation for its 1963 program.

Mrs. Warren Parsons officiated as chief installing officer, assisted by Mrs. John Magro as grand senior and Mrs. G. W. Patmore as grand manager.

New most excellent chief is Mrs. James Allen, with past chief Mrs. Cecil Morrision. Senior is Mrs. S. G. Turner, junior Mrs. Ole Kjenstad, manager Mrs. Robert Haggard, secretary Mrs. William Nadain, treasurer Mrs. Ken Bridge, protector Mrs. Patrick Doyle, guard Mrs. Frank Romano, representative to Grand Lodge Mrs. Morrison and alternate Mrs. Patmore. Musician is Mrs. Les Kuhnert.

BOND OVERSUBSCRIBED

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's new $350,000,000 bond issue, books on which were closed at 6 p.m. Tuesday, has been oversubscribed, Finance Minister Nowlan announced Wednesday. The bonds, in two groups of one year and three years respectively, are for retirement of $250,000,000 worth of CNR bonds due Feb. 1 and for general purposes of the government.

Says Small Industry, Not Tourism Permanent

CRESTON — Terming the Creston Board of Trade's efforts to encourage new industry and show leadership as apathetic, Sig Askevold, guest speaker, told some 25 Lions Club members "that leadership must be found immediately if industry and business are to be located in Creston."

He felt the time was ripe for such leadership to secure small industry to replace those local industries now going out of business.

These remarks followed a history of the "ups and downs" of the Western Beeswax Candle Co., a local industry, of which Mr. Askevold is a partner, along with Gordon Leversage.

In outlining the pitfalls of such an operation, good financial backing is essential along with cost accounting. He criticized the Canadian banks and financing methods. He indicated that such an enterprise cannot borrow from a bank, cannot sell shares unless it has equity or capitalization, and said that some financial institution should be developed to aid small industry.

He was gratified at the support of local people and remarks made about the candle product, pointing out that Nelson and Creston were the best markets to date.

He felt the backbone of Canada was building small industries with payrolls. This, he said, gave permanency, while tourism was only seasonal.

Jaycees To Assist Hospital Society

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook's Junior Chamber of Commerce has accepted the invitation of Cranbrook's newly chartered District Hospital Society to spearhead a general drive through the district for members, and has named Donald C. MacDonald committee chairman.

Society membership has been set at one dollar, and when the volume of memberships warrants, probably in spring, a membership meeting will be called to name a directorate toward establishment of the improvement district necessary to promote, build and operate a new hospital.

Sixty-five-year-old Saint Eugene Hospital, owned and operated by the Sisters of Providence of Charity will no longer be operated by them after 1965, the Order has stated. Purpose of the new Society is to fill this vital need in the district.

Extent of the district will probably coincide with the school district, Yahk-Kingsgate to Wardner and Fort Steele and west to Wycliffe.

Still required is a survey of need by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Commission, whose approval in principal is necessary before any plans for the new hospital can be considered. This has been pending for over a year now.

Mr. MacDonald's Jaycee committee will convene the general drive to solicit members through every section of the district as token of public support toward providing a modern hospital for the area.

Northern Prejudice Dying

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP)—The Northwest Territories Council Tuesday took a look at racial discrimination, or lack of it, in the north, with these conclusions:

Some does exist. It is being gradually elliminated among old persons. It is largely non-existent among the new generation. There is no open discriminatio i the region's new industry. But the situatio bears close study.

E. J. (Scotty) Gall, member for Mackenzie North, said formal education was beating down the racial barriers to the point where high school students of different races were courting openly. Their parents approved, too.

But there was still some discrimination among older persons and Mr. Gall was "a little bit troubled" by this. He had seen "very few Indians inside the homes of white people."

SEES WARNING SIGNAL

I. Norman Smith, editor of the Ottawa Journal and a government-appointed member of the nine-man council, saw so-called civilization as a warning signal. There was no indication prejudce, he said, in the territories it might some day be a trouble spot.

Gordon Robertson, commissioner of the territories, said it was difficult to get an accurate picture of any discrimination in the mining industry because there was a natural reluctance to come out and talk about different races and anyway there was a constant turnover of miners.

Indians were employed in the mining industry—most of them above ground—but their numbers were relatively few.

John W. Goodall, representing Mackenzie River, said he detacted a feeling among some union men that Indians meant cheap labor in the eyes of management.

DISCUSS LOCAL PROBLEMS

The council talked about the racial question as it went through a full day in committee stage to amplify remarks made during Monday's replies to the commissioner's opening statement. Much of the day was devoted to local problems of employment, public services and radio reception.

Many of the heavier issues, such as education, health and welfare and constitutional changes, were put off until they can be considered jointly with the appropriations.

A report tabled Tuesday warned that the outbreak of anthrax that wiped out 276 buffalo near Fort Smith last summer may not be eliminated for years. While the epidemic appeared eliminated, the bacterial stores could exist for decades and spread to other wild animals. If wild caribou contacted the usually-fatal disease "it is frightening to think what could happen. . . ."

Council was also informed that steps will be taken to equalize social benefit programs in the territories and that low-cost housing programs, now operated separately for Indians and Eskimos, will be moulded into one program open to all residents.

Automation Answers Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Automation is lending a helping hand at the U.S. interior department to answer visitors' questions.

An automatic question-and-answer machine known as a Directomat which is designed to print and issue information at the push of a button has been installed on an experimental basis in a lobby of the interior building.

The machine features 120 questions on an illuminated panel, with a keyboard providing an equal number of push buttons.

One of the more popular buttons is for question No. 40—can I stake a claim now to land on the moon? The answer: No.

Exclusion of Britain in ECM Could Have Wide Effects

A great deal has been written about the entry and the effects of Britain in the European Common Market, not only upon Britain but on Canada and the Commonwealth, but so far not much attention has been paid to possible effects upon the world if she remains outside.

If Britain fails to gain entry it will be due to the opposition of France. It is not for economic reasons only that France wishes to exclude her but because de Gaulle sees in her a possible rival for the chief influence in Europe. With Germany largely crippled by the division of her country, de Gaulle would like to see France the dominant nation in Europe.

In spirit he is much in accord with Louis XIV and Napoleon. Like them he is a dictator and though he may perhaps restore to France some of her former greatness he will inevitably, as Louis and Napoleon did, also create an opposition which may well humble her pretensions.

The Common Market has functioned well since its inception but it still must be considered a temporary economic alliance, subject to the strains and stresses of racial and national antipathies. How long it will last depends on many factors but the seeds of discord may be sown by France when she excludes Britain against the wishes of Holland, Belgium and Italy. Its disruption will be hastened if the moderating influence of Britain is not felt.

Britain, if she is excluded, may become much poorer and this would not be displeasing to de Gaulle, but the Britons are the one people who can rise above adversity and a Britain with her back to the wall may well be a different kind of nation.

She might well revise her preferential tariffs and demand a greater share of the Commonwealth markets. She might even tell Canada that she can buy grain elsewhere in markets more receptive to the entry of British goods, but whatever happens she is not likely to supinely do nothing. To meet the threat of the Common Market, the Commonwealth might develop a customs union of its own where the good of all was put before the good of the individual nation.

The United States is keenly interested in Britain entering the European Common Market because she sees in it a unified Europe. These hopes have been dashed by France's uncompromising action. Almost inevitably the reaction will be unfavorable in Washington to France's stand, nor is President Kennedy likely to appreciate the rejection of the Polaris missile.

From all this, it would appear, the rejection of Britain's request to enter the European Common Market could have far-reaching effects; it would impoverish Britain, it would harm the Commonwealth, and destroy the U.S. dream of a united states of Europe, and it would disturb the present status quo.

Recognizing Old Age

A white-haired housewife asked the Milwaukee Journal "Why don't they call us just what we are and always will be, 'old men and old women'? What's wrong about being old? Nothing that calling me a 'senior citizen' is going to help. I'm not going to enjoy my old age any more because someone calls it a 'golden age.' That undertaker doesn't look a bit better to me since he started calling himself a 'mortician.' "

Many old men and old women share her sentiments. They feel that using these artificial terms for old age and old people is hypocritical effrontery, like flattering a woman on her beauty when she is well aware that she is unusually homely, the Journal comments.

However, old people will undoubtedly have to continue to bear this added burden. In fact, the word "retirement" is now under attack. A woman writes to the Christian Science Monitor suggesting a substitution of the word "releasement" because it means to "let loose again, to set free from restraint, to set at liberty, to let go."

We join many of the old and retired hereupon "release — set free — let go" what is known in impolite circles as the razzberry or Bronx cheer for all this business.

Mercenaries

Used to be when a child in the third grade or thereabouts was very very good the teacher would paste a gold star opposite his name on the class record of achievement hanging on the wall.

Times change. We read that there's a school in Valley Stream, Long Island, where third graders are awarded twenty supermarket trading stamps for each "A" on their report cards. Well, this is a materialistic age and maybe it's a good thing to get the kiddies attuned to it early.

Still, if this plan catches on all over the country we think parents who are hailing it as a cute idea may rue the day it started. For the little folk may get more interested in acquiring stamps than knowledge. And as they grow older they will be demanding more trading stamps ,and then lots of hard cash, and by the time they're high school seniors, who knows what?

But maybe that will be all to the good, if it results in stamping out those ubiquitous sales promotion gimmicks — as long as it doesn't stamp out education too.

—Wall Street Journal.

A Barrier

North Americans are abundantly familiar with featherbedding, short work-weeks and other devices for getting money without really trying. But it may be some European unions are more progressive.

The UPI reports from Austria that workers on Europe's highest expressway bridge are getting various pay premiums, such as for danger and for working in a high place. That's all right, but it seems the workers at the base of the bridge felt cheated.

So they demanded, and what is more they got, a "compensation for the lack of danger from working in high places premium," or as they say in German, a Hoehengefahrenzulageausfallsentschaedigung.

We are sure their U.S. brethren won't want to miss that one, with all its endless applications. And we doubt that even language will prove an unbridgeable barrier.

—Wall Street Journal.

F. B. Pearce ...Writes

The drop door on my radio was difficult to open so I took a hammer and gave the catch a coupel of taps with it. Promptly the volume shot up and the control signal lights which had not been working for some time blazed out. This only goes to confirm my father - in - law's theory that the only tool one wanted for a balky tractor was a hammer.

The other day I went downtown and bought a camera. I liked it very much but two days later I received a new mail order catalogue and there was my camera with all its points listed in detail and considerably cheaper, or so I thought. Actually two essential details were omitted, that it is a fixed focus camera and that its zoom range is smaller. I should have known that for I had an instructive lecture from a salesman who told me all about lenses in movie cameras and how if you wanted a good camera you had to pay for it. The one he liked cost $300 and he told me all about the eleven lenses it had.

In this case I was glad I did not get my camera from a mail order house. You may think you are getting a bargain but it pays to buy these things from those you know for they can explain the whys and wherefores of things and they will give better service.

Service in small stores like ours is entirely different from that in the larger departmental stores. It is a matter between friends. I went in to buy a sports jacket and my friends took all my measurements and entered them in their little black book so that in any future time they can refer to them if I want new clothes. This wouldn't happen in Vancouver.

I was interested to hear a man say that the small stores which did not advertise were benefitting by the advertisements of chain stores. He is not in newspaper work nor advertising but his idea was that the chain stores attracted people and other stores whatever they sold got some benefit because the buyers came to town. It is not an unreasonable argument since chain groceries are the hub of any shopping centre.

I am strongly in favor of advertising and I think stores selling the same kind of merchandise should advertise together. That would be like the yellow pages in the telephone books. Then one could choose which merchant to patronize on the basis of their offerings.

For the tourist's sake if the merchants during the summer season would take a whole page and list every store under its classification they would probably find their sales increasing. I have the rather quaint idea that it pays merchants to cooperate. But what am I doing advocating advertising? I belong on the editorial side of publishing.

Khrushchev Pours Scorn on Red China's War and Peace

CP from AP-Reuters

BERLIN — Soviet Premier Khrushchev poured scorn on Communist China's war - and-peace theories Wednesday, warned that communism would not win a nuclear war and drew a dire picture of the vast destruction a world conflict would bring.

In a major policy speech to the sixth East German Communist party congress in East Berlin, the Soviet premier also:

1. Called for establishment of West Berlin as a free city guaranteed by the United Nations with foreign troops remaining "for a certain time" under the United Nations flag.

2. Claimed he was victorious in the Cuban crisis, prevented the United States from attacking the island and thereby kept communism alive there.

3. Called for conclusion of a German peace treaty which "will not bring gains to one side and losses to the other." But he set no deadline, saying the Berlin wall had made a treaty a less pressing problem.

4. Assured the East German Communists Germany will be reunified as a Communist state and anti-Communist forces in West Germany "will be swept away."

5. Claimed Russian scientists have developed a 100-megaton nuclear bomb — equivalent to 100,000,000 tons of TNT — but added "this must not be exploded in Europe."

6. Predicted that the Red flag one day will fly over the whole world.

'DON'T WANT WAR'

Khrushchev told the gathering of world Communist leaders that a nuclear war would bring death to 700,000,000 or 800,000,000 people and would rub out whole countries.

"We don't want war, but we are not afraid of it," he declared. "If we were forced into war, we would defend ourselves and defeat the imperialists."

Then, in emotional tones, he declared the prime task of socialism is to fight for world peace.

Khrushchev reminded the 2,500 delegates that the United States has 40,000 atomic or nuclear warheads of immense power. He said a nuclear war would be a disaster that would produce no winners.

"Would the socialists win through a thermonuclear war" he asked. "No. You can't build socialism in atomic infested territory."

"A 100-megaton bomb — on France or West Germany — would hit you. This I only say to show you the effects. We tried out this bomb and that's what our scientists have calculated."

"The socialist powers are for peace coexistence, settlement of disputes by negotiations," he declared. "We are interested in peace, not in war, because socialism will win."

Khrushchev assured the East German Communists that Germany will be unified and anti-Communist forces in West Germany "will be swept away."

DEPARTS FROM TEXT

Departing from his prepared text at this point, he told the congress the future of Germany implement these guarantees, West Berlin could have for a certain time foreign troops under the flag of the United Nations.

"What other guarantees need there be to be good enough for both sides?" he asked.

He called for common sense from both sides.

The responsible statesmen of the West should learn from the lesson of the Cuban crisis that "the causes of international conflict have to be done away with," he said.

The Russian leader said the United States had lost the advantages it enjoyd in the past through its geographic position and had "become vulnerable to retaliation."

He said the West has not only failed to counter communism but had been unable to keep from losing its own standing in the world.

"We are optimistic about the future, he said. "We have no reason to be pessimistic, we need no war."

Khrushchev predicted that, while "we still have fights ahead," some day "the Red flag will fly over the whole world."

Turning to Cuba, Khrushchev said the U.S. has not only supported Cuban counter - revolutionaries but has wanted to invade the island.

"The aggressive forces in the United States had to retreat and publicly to declare that they renounced an invasion," he said.

Commenting on Communist critics of the Soviet stand on Cuba who said it was Russia, ot the U.S., that had retreated, Khrushchev said: "Yes, it was a concession we made for a concession by the other side; it was a mutual concession."

Russia never planned to launch a nuclear war against the United States. "We only wanted to halt the aggressive invasion of Cuba," he claimed.

And he warned: "The forces that protected Cuba still exist, and are getting stronger very day. It does not matter where the rockets are stationed. They can be used with the same effect against any object."

Khrushchev opened his address by saying Russia already has surpassed the economic development of Europe and "is treading on the heels of the United States."

Pre-Sessional Letter

By LEO T. NIMSICK
MLA for Cranbrook

By the time this appears in print, Mrs. Nimsick and I will be wending our way to Victoria to attend the 1963 Session of the Legislature.

The forecast for discussion at this Session varies from real hectic to very quiet, but regardless of the forecast, the outcome will be the legislation placed on the statute books, which will undoubtedly concern everyone.

My personal observations are that the Session will be one of the most interesting and important ones that I have been fortunate enought to attend. Some of the problems to be discussed have a province wide interest, and will affect not only the lives of people living today, but also the generations yet to come.

I would say that in this category the Columbia River Development will take top billing. More and more people are beginning to realize the importance of this undertaking, and are acquainting themselves with some of the facts. It is my opinion that many of this responsible for the negotiating of the present Treaty are now not too happy with it. This Session may bring out some new angles.

Number two on the list will be "The Sons of Freedom" Problem. No one disputes the fact that a solution is difficult, but this does not mean that we should do nothing to that end. There is no use putting your head in the sand, and hoping that when you pull it out, the problem will have disappeared. No doubt, we will hear more about this in the Legislature.

The promise of an extra $50 Home Owner's Grant will also receive its share of discussion. If this was granted directly from the Government it would not have created so much controversy, but the Grant is being made due to the withdrawal of the Per Capita Grant. Taxes will have to be increased by municipalities and villages to compensate for this loss, and while the home owners may gain a little on the overall picture, those not in this category will have to bear the extra burden.

If the home owner's grant totals less than the total per capita grant then the Government will not only have it as a vote catching gimmick but they will save money as well.

I expect that legislation will be brought in to solve some of our road access problems. This will be watched for with a certain amount of expectation by all lovers of the outdoors.

Highways will doubt be debated along with numerous other problems of particular importance to the different parts of the province.

If you have any problems of your own, which I may be of assistance with or if you have any suggestions or comments to make, I will be glad to hear from you. Just address your letters to: Leo T. Nimsick, M.L.A., Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C.

With the kindness of the editors and radio station, I will be sending in a weekly article which I hope will be interesting and informative.

Interpreting the News

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

General de Gaulle's bleak and uncompromising assertion of French national interest must be as harsh a blow to President Kennedy as it is to Prime Minister Macmillan.

All in one press conference, and in the grand style of a veteran actor from the Comedie Francaise, the general virtually barred the door on Britain's entry into Europe and rejected the Anglo-American agreement at Nassau.

He thus heaped bitter French sauce on Kennedy's "grand design" for the West, garnishing the whole unpalatable plateful with hints of what in an ordinary man would be dismissed as crude anti-Americanism.

Such a spirit is not rare in France. Between Frenchmen and Americans there is often a lack of cultural affinity. Frenchmen dislike the growing "Americanization" of Paris and tend to look upon Americans as "les grande enfants."

To the bewilderment of guests brought up on the North American approach, French dinner parties may well end with the flushed and gesticulating hosts blaming one or both of the two world wars on the United States, thereby standing the more familiar argument on its head.

CANADIANS EXEMPT

Canadians are usually exempt from Gallic malice, through no fault of their own. It may be no accident that it is cheaper to mail a postcard from France to Canada than to the United States.

De Gaulle's distrust of the U.S. is naturally more sophisticated than the dinner-party variety. Granted his mystic, perhaps misty, view of European grandeur, he simply refuses to accept U.S. leadership of the Atlantic alliance. What he wants is equality, or as near to it as he can get.

Given the strong U.S. support for Europe since the Second World War, de Gaulle's attitude seems to smack of ingratitude. In the era of interdependence, a measure of co-operation would seem more appropriate than de Gaulle's perennial hauteur.

Kennedy is understood to have a profound admiration for de Gaulle. He has said that he regards the new Europe as a welcome partner, not a rival. If de Gaulle insists on acting as a rival, the man in the White House may adopt a more aggressive mood.

France is the keystone of the European system, but Kennedy has the real power in the West as a whole.

Man Behind Britain's Power Shortage Defies Unions

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—The man behind the power shortage now plaguing Britain is Charles Doyle, founder-member of the unofficial National Committee of Power-Station Shop Stewards which is defying union leaders with a go-slow campaign.

Doyle, 58, a Scot by birth, spent 20 years in the United States and once was stranded in Canada when U.S. immigration authorities refused him reentry because of alleged Communist activities.

He finally was deported in 1953 and returned here with his American wife.

It has been learned that men of the special branch of Scotland Yard are compiling a dossier on leaders of the go-slow movement, including Doyle, "as a matter of routine."

Doyle, a soft-spoken man who wears dark-rimmed glasses and a pencil-thin moustache, was undismayed.

"I think it is a lot of nonsense," he said Tuesday. "I have nothing to hide. My life is an open book."

RECEIVED RECENT RAISE

The 128,000 manual workers in the nationalized electricity supply industry, represented by five unions, received a pay increase of 5½ per cent little more than a year ago. This was gained, under threat of strike, despite the government's "pay pause" then in effect, which insisted that pay increases be held to two per cent.

Much of the present difficulty arises from sharp divisions between those unions representing the "unskilled" workers and those speaking for the "craftsmen"—men who have served apprenticeships.

About 28,000 men actually are employed in the nation's power stations. Others do all kinds of jobs from digging holes in the road to reading meters.

Their present scale is complicated and involved but generally the average weekly pay for a workman ranges from &10 for a recruit to £12 at higher levels.

The unions finally agreed, shortly before Christmas, to demand a pay increase of four pence an hour. The electricity council offered 2½ pence and a chance to take the case to arbitration.

SUSPENDED AS RED

Doyle, in his years in the U.S., rose to international vice-president of the United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union but in 1947 the union banned Communists from office. Doyle was suspended.

The following year, when he crossed into Canada to attend a union meeting, U.S. officials refused to let him back. He finally succeeded in getting into the U.S. and gave himself up.

A series of legal battles followed and in March, 1953, he was charged with belonging to an organization advocating the overthrow of the U.S. government by force. Eight months later he was deported.

He came here and several years later turned up as a turbine operator at London's Battersea power station. In 1957 he was elected a shop steward and within 12 months had helped form the unofficial Committee of Stewards.

Forty-Five Killed When Pier Exploded

CUTTACK, India (Reuters)—Forty-five persons were killed and 29 injured—three seriously—when part of a pneumatic pier-sinking plant exploded near here Tuesday night, it was announced today.

Two airlocks on top of a railroad bridge pier burst and toppled to the ground.

At the time of the explosion 54 workers were inside the well of the pier, 72 feet below ground level. Th bodies of 42 dead were found inside the well.

The bridge was being built across the Mahandi River at Naraj, 20 miles from Cuttack.

MONEY RETURNED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two years ago, an unidentified Vancouver taxpayer sent the city $1,000 provided the money was used to help acquire old Shaughnessy golf course for parkland. Last Dec. 12 ratepayers rejected acquisition of the land and now he will get his money back.

Canadian Singer Pleases Russia

MOSCOW (CP-AP) — Canadian baritone Donald Bell made a successful appearance in Moscow's Tchaikovsky Hall Tuesday night, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Bell, 27, a native of Vancouver, presented a program that was varied and in good taste, Tass said.

He sang arias from Handel's operas Scipio, Xerxes and Acis and Galatea, Schuman's vocal cycle Dichterliebe, and five songs by Vaughan-Williams, as well as English and Irish folk songs.

"Though of medium power, Donald Bell's voice attracted by its beauty of timbre and richness of tone," Tass said. "The audience was impressed by the young singer's stage presence, delicate phrasing and faultless intonation."

Bell plans to return to London Jan. 31 following a series of eight concerts here and in Leningrad, Rostov and Donesk.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robison Mark 50 Years Married Life in Nelson

Married in Nelson and raising their family of eight children here, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robison celebrated their 50th year of married life in the Queen City Saturday.

Seven of their children, with their families, were able to be present at an afternoon reception and family dinner which they had arranged to honor their parents on the golden wedding anniversary.

Held in the IOOF Hall, the event was highlighted by an invocation given by Mrs. Percy Perdue and an amusing story of the couple's married life, told by T. H. M. Imming, master of ceremonies. Mr. Imming proposed a toast to the bride and groom of 50 years ago and thanked the Pythian Sisters for the supper they had served. A three-tiered wedding cake was cut, decorated by Mrs. Gordon Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robison received many cards, flowers and gifts from relatives and friends, including a large living room rug from their family.

Members of their family attending the anniversary event were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. York (Ethel) of Trail; Mr. and Mrs. William Robison of Trail, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Strutin of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nelson (Mable) of Richmond, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robison and children, Brian, Scott and Risa of Fruitvale; Mr. and Mrs. George Pommier (Alice) and children, Maureen, D'Arcy, Lionel and Susan, of Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Benedetti (Edna) and Arlene of Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Presley (Phyllis) and Gloria of Fruitvale. Mr. and Mrs. John Robison and Joan of Calgary were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robison have fourteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

PTA EXTENDS APPRECIATION FOR CONCERT

BALFOUR—A letter of thanks was sent to the Balfour Farmers' Institute for its donation to the Balfour School Christmas concert and party, when the Balfour PTA had its first meeting of the year.

Senior room teacher Mrs. J Keiran and junior room teacher Miss N. Makartoff were also thanked for their good work in making the evening a success for both children and adults alike. Appreciation was expressed for the musical selections presented by Mrs. F. E. Boyce, her pupils, and the Anderson orchestra.

Mrs. W. Nelson was hostess, with the next meeting being called for February 5.

Trail Council of Women Hears of Hospital Dilemma

TRAIL — "It is in the field of nursing where we are at odds with Victoria" Trail-Tadanac Hospital administrator Leo Levey told a meeting of the Trail District Council of Women.

"In 1955 there were 96 on our nursing staff, while last year there were 104," he said.

Mr. Levey was referring to the present financial difficulty the hospital is undergoing.

"With increased service, there is the inevitable increase of expenses, although we compare favorably in the size of staff with hospitals of the same size. In 1955 costs were $701,000 while in 1962 they were $957,000, with wages accounting for close to 70 per cent of the figures."

"Ever since the new hospital was opened we have consistently gone into the red on our operation," he said.

"This has forced the board to plough back into the operation of the hospital all the allowable reserves that have been accumulated during the past 10 years," he added.

Mr. Levey told the women present at the meeting that Victoria has overlooked two important factors in determining grants for the hospital — the type of care and area served, and the physical plant in which the work is carried out.

"All but the fourth floor is overcrowded," Mr. Levey pointed out. "The board is pressing the government to take a new look at the hospital, assessing its place in this area."

He suggested that the BCHIS should not judge hospitals on part of their service, but rather on their service to the entire area.

MYSORE PROJECT, HOMEMAKERS

Other ubsiness transacted at the meeting included discussions on the Mysore Project, in which the National Council is interested, and the study being made by a special committee on Homemakers' Services, with Mrs. R. Roberts, chairman.

A request was received from Knox United Church Women for a study on the whys behind the unduly early publicizing of Christmas and Santa. The federated societies in the Council are asked to discuss this in their own meetings and give their recommendations on the advisability of such a study being made.

Miss L. Schofield, on behalf of the Trail District Women's Progressive Conservative Association, gave a brief history of that organization, tracing it from its start in the early 1910's.

She was introduced by Mrs. Peter Dewdney who pointed out that she was the daughter of the late Mr. Schofield who was MLA for this area from 1907 to 1933.

Mrs. J. V. Rogers, Trail Branch Canadian Mental Health Association representative, spoke of that organization's coming annual meeting. Guest speaker will be Dr. F. E. McNair, newly-appointed head of the Kelowna Mental Health Clinic.

As Trail is the next possible centre for such a clinic, Mrs. Rogers urged as many as possible to attend this meeting.

She also reported that a total of 1200 Christmas gifts had been collected during the last drive. Mrs. Rogers voiced the thanks of the association.

RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. D. Dubokovic, chairman of the Laws Committee, gave the recommendations of her committee on how to deal with the proposed resolutions of the Provincial Council of Women.

The resolutions included ones asking for legal aid to be provided for types of cases on licensing of embalmers, improving facilities at Jericho Hill School, on impairment and compulsory chemical tests and on equal pay for men and women employed in the garment and needle industry.

Principals of Winnipeg Wedding Live at Nakusp

NAKUSP — Nakusp is the home of principals of a double-ring wedding ceremony solemnized in Westworth United Church at Winnipeg on Saturday, December 15, at 3 p.m. when Margaret Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. S. Roddick of Gretna became the bride of Mr. Harvey Douglas Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wilson of Silverton, B.C.

Reverend A. H. Simpson officiated, assisted by Reverend J. W. Scott of Eriksdale, Manitoba, cousin of the bride. During the ceremony, the soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Mizpah Benediction" and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white pure silk organza over taffeta, enhanced with appliques of lace and seed pearls. The bodice featured a boat neck and lily point sleeves. The bouffant skirt was complemented by a slight train. An irridescent crown held the soulder-length veil.

She carried a cascade bouquet of gold carnations and pine.

Miss Joyce Lowery of Winnipeg was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of deep blue velvet with scoop neckline and bell skirt and carried a semi-crescent of gold mums. A matching floral headpiece completed her ensemble.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Lloyd Wilson of Calgary.

Mr. Dennis Ayden and Mr. David Ayden of Winnipeg, cousins of the bride, looked after ushering duties.

A reception was held in the Bessborough Room of the Fort Garry Hotel. The bride's uncle, Mr. D. R. McKirchor of Winnipeg, proposed the toast.

The bride's travelling costume was a wool sheath dress of forest green, with matching mink-trimmed coat. She wore beige accessories and a corsage of two bronze orchids.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Nakusp, B.C., where they will reside.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of the Misericordia School of Nursing.

Hand-Carved Crest Made For Artists' Group

An agenda for those members of the Kootenay Arts and Crafts Group who paint and wish to go on field trips this summer was read by President Lance Stacey at a meeting of the artists at the home of Mrs. F. Blakeman, 818 Front Street, Monday.

A hand-carved crest made by H. Raubel and designed and finished by C. L. duBellier for the group, to be presented each year to a member who had done the most for the group during the previous year, was displayed.

Mr. Stacey presented the trophy to Mrs. J. Wrangler for the year just ended.

Many plans were discussed for the coming exhibition in March and also for the exhibits which are to be sent to Salmo in February.

A panel of judges chose the winner of the art contest sponsored by the group and open to all junior and senior high school students. The winner, to be announced later, was chosen from over 200 entries.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. W. Brown and Mrs. A. Orbeliani.

A beautifully appointed table with blue and white motif was focal point of the tea hour decor when Miss Eileen Mackenzie, 413 Carbonate Street, entertained members of Alpha Xi Chapter Beta Sigma Phi sorority in honor of Mrs. Jack MacMillan, a recent bride.

Mrs. Norman MacLeod, sister of the guest of honor, presided at the tea table with Mrs. H. D. Nuyens. Blue and white of the willow pattern in the teacups was repeated in the tapers which graced the table. Serviteurs were Mrs. T. E. Cartlidge and Mrs. J. Bowles. Mrs. MacMillan was presented with tea towels, each embroidered with the name of a chapter member.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's vigorous 1963 upswing finally ran into a sizable correction Wednesday. Prices took their biggest loss in more than a month. Trading was fairly active.

Chrysler fell 4⅝ to 81 on 168,800 shares as the most active stock.

Stocks fell back on a fairly broad front—steels, autos, oils, rails, utilities, tobaccos, aerospace issues, and chemicals.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 6.36 to 669.00.

The Associated Press average 60 stocks fell 1.8 to 251.00.

Of 1,303 issues traded, 720 declined and 337 advanced.

Volume eased to 4,260,000 shares from 4,540,000 Tuesday.

Chrysler toppled from a peak of 85¾, its highest since 1956, having risen from a 1962 low of 38½.

American Motors may have received some of the benefits of the cash released by selling of Chrysler. American Motors was second most active, rising ⅛ to 19 on 115,500 shares, having touched a 1962-1963 peak of 19¼ during the day.

Among Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific was up ⅛ while McIntyre Porcupine fell ⅞, International Nickel ⅝ and Dome Mines 1¼. Aluminium Ltd., and Distillers Seagrams each lost ½.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American exchange as volume dwindled to 940,000 shares from Tuesday's 1,140,000. Canadian Marconi gained ⅛ while Shawinigan and Jupiter Corp. each fell ⅛.

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto stocks shook off early grogginess Wednesday, pulling ahead by mid-afternoon and closing slightly on the upside.

Industrials and western oils both showed fractional index advances; golds and base metals each dipped.

In the main list, gains in a ⅛-to-⅜ range went to Atlas Steel, CPR, Canadian Breweries, Interprovicial Pipe Line and Massey-Ferguson.

Power Corporation advanced ⅝ and Consolidated Paper, Dominion Foundries and Steel and Royal Bank all ¼.

Losers included Distillers-Seagrams, Aluminium and Imperial Oil, all off ½. Dominion Bridge, which reported sharply reduced 1962 net profit, dropped ¾ to 19¾.

WESTERN OILS UP

On the exchange index, industrials were up .21 at 590.21, and western oils .33 at 117.16. Golds slipped .65 at 85.22, and base metals .24 at 196.36. Closing volume was 2,746,000 shares compared with 2,659,000 Tuesday.

Among base metals, Noranda declined ½ and International Nickel and Falconbridge ¼ each. Consolidated Mining and Smelting and Denison each dropped ⅛, while Hudson Bay Mining rose ⅜.

Among western oils, Calgary and Edmonton gained ½ and Dome ⅜. Home A slipped ⅜ and Home B ⅛.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were mixed Wednesday on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges. Trading was light.

In banks, Montreal rose ½ to 68¼ and Banque Canadienne two points to 79.

In oils B.A. rose ⅜ and 30⅜ while Shell was down ⅛ to 14⅛.

Hudson Bay Company was unchanged at 11½.

In a turnover of 5,634 shares, Massey-Ferguson rose ⅛ to 12½.

Among utilities, Bell was down ¼ to 54 and Shawinigan unchanged at 29⅛.

Among gainers, Canadian Aviation Electronics rose ½ to 26¾, Canadian Celanese ½ to 38½ and CPR ⅛ to 25⅝.

Dominion Tar fell ⅛ to 18½ and in a turnover of 5,675 shares, Nova Scotia Light was unchanged at 21.

In mines, 146,625 shares of Silver Summit were traded and the stock rose eight cents to 59 cents. Roberval, also in heavy trade, was up five cents to 20 cents. United Ubalski was up one cent to 61 cents.

On index, industrials were off 0.4 to 119.0, utilities 0.3 to 113.0 and the composite 0.3 to 118.9. Banks rose 0.8 to 129.2 and papers 0.1 to 110.9.

MINER IDENTIFIED

QUESNEL (CP) — A miner found frozen to death in the snow 24 miles east of Barkerville last week was identified by RCMP Wednesday as Skjalg Johans, about 40. He had tried to hike 10 miles from his remote cabin to Barkerville in sub-zero weather when he ran out of food.

Fort MacLeod Getting New Image, Plant

FORT MACLEOD, Alta. (CP) This southwestern border town of 3,000, hub of a rich agricultural area, is getting a new image.

Part of the change is due to two Alberta businessmen who erected a steel foundry on Macleod's abandoned airfield last fall.

The plant is turning out eight to 10 tons of steel castings a day, co-owner George Barrett said in an interview. Within a year he expects production to jump to 50 tons. At that time he expects to increase his staff to 100 men from the present 20.

Less than a year ago the business was simply the untried idea of Mr. Barrett and his partner, W. M. Thorvaldson.

"We're really rolling down here now," said Mr. Barrett with the enthusiasm of a man who has seen a pet project succeed beyond even his own expectations.

IS OPTIMISTIC

"In a year it should be the biggest business in the area. Anything that can be made of metal, we'll be making."

The plant, imported in pieces on four railway cars from Buffalo, N.Y., is turning out a wide range of steel castings and a few items made from other metals.

"We're into oil field, construction, machine shop, mining and farm implement equipment now," said Mr. Barrett, "and we have lots of orders."

The foundry was purchased from a defunct firm in Buffalo and assessed for import duties in 24 hours by customs officials who examined detailed photographs of all the equipment.

The idea was the result of a meeting between Mr. Thorvaldson, a Calgary petroleum engineer looking for a part-time job, and Mr. Barrett, an Edmonton steel foundryman.

The two men were persuaded to erect Barrett Manganese Steel Corporation on the Macleod airfield site for a number of reasons.

AMPLE SCRAP

The district provides ample scrap metal, is miles from major competition, provides low-cost power and ample quarters in an old hangar.

A factor harder to define is the atmosphere in Macleod, a town that is "bending over backwards for any industry it can get," said Mr. Barrett.

He said expansion will be limited as much by the time required to train new men as by markets. But the limitations of the business aren't serious enough to prevent the building of a second five-ton-an-hour furnace that will be in production this spring.

Just how big the operation will become remains unanswered. "We've got 1,000 tons of scrap in our backyard right now," said Mr. Barrett.

Quebec Pupils Space Minded

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Students at St. Patrick High School here are determined to break into the space age.

They have formed a rocket club and built nine experimental nine-foot rockets. None of them worked in a recent test on nearby Little Lake Magog where the youngsters have a launching site.

But they haven't given up. They're back at their drawing boards.

Finding out why the first attempt to fire the rockets failed provided most of the fun and excitement, says Rev. Guy Morin who promoted the club.

It was discovered the rockets didn't fire because the thin plastic diaphragm at the base was melting with the heat.

The students make the rockets themselves. However, they leave it to Father Morin to fill them with the correct proportion of zinc and sulphur fuel.

The 23 members want to assemble a rocket that will reach a height of 1,200 feet. They then plan to try to launch a three-foot solid fuel missile that should soar 10,000 feet.

PREDICTS PROSPERITY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver International Festival is in for a good year financially in 1963, manager GordonHilker predicted Wednesday. He said the festival has paid off all its debts with a $65,000 bank loan and expects to retire the loan after a three-week fund-raising campaign beginning Feb. 1.

HABIT FORMING — It's the 22nd contract signed by Stan Musial with the Cards and the 42-year-old all-time star indicated that if he hits well he'll be back again in 1964. Musial, who batted .330 last year, and has a lifetime mark of .333, reportedly signed for $70,000. Standing behind him is general manager Bing Devine.

CALGARY TAKES OVERTIME WIN FORM COMETS

SPOKANE (AP) — Milan Marcetta scored at 2:11 of the overtime period Wednesday night to give Calgary Stampeders a 3-2 Western Hockey League victory over Spokane Comets.

Both teams, last place in their divisions, scored twice in the second period of the tight game.

The victory brought the Stampeders who broke a four-game winning streak Tuesday night when they went down 4-2 before Seattle Totems to within five points of the third-place Edmonton in the northern division.

Spokane has 37 points three behind San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Cec Hoekstra and Gordon Redahl scored the other Calgary goals. Del Topoll and Gene Mekilok scored for Spokane.

Bruins Take Second Straight From Hawks

CHICAGO (AP) — The last-place Boston Bruins beat the National Hockey League - leading Chicago Black Hawks 5-4 Wednesday night, the second Boston victory in a row over the Hawks.

Last-period goals by Warren Godfrey and Guy Gendron overcame a 4-3 Chicago lead and provided the Bruins with their eighth triumph of the season.

Chicago remained two points ahead of the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

Gendron paced the Boston triumph with a pair of goals, just as he did in the 5-4 Boston victory over the Hawks last Thursday in Boston.

The hustling Bruins jumped off to a lead on Murray Oliver's goal early in the first period but the Hawks quickly took a 2-1 lead on tallies by Elmer Vasko and Stan Mikita. Boston's Jerry Toppazzini tied the score late in the first frame with a rebound from 10 feet out.

Gendron's first goal of the game put the Bruins ahead 3-2 early in the second period but a long shot from the point by Wayne Hillman knotted the score once again.

Eric Nesterenko jammed the puck under Bruin goalie Ed Johnston early in the last period to put the Hawks back on top before Godfrey and Gendron pulled it out.

SUMMARY

First period—1. Boston, Oliver (Bucyk, Spencer) 4:06; 2. Chicago, Vasko (Pilote, Hay) 9:38; 3. Chicago, Mikita (Lunde, Hull) 11:39; 4. Boston, Toppazzini (Godfrey, Burns) 17:21. Penalties — Lunde, 3:55; Westfall, 4:48; Boivin, 10:46; Maki, 12:24.

Second period—5. Boston, Gendron (Kennedy (5:20); 6. Chicago, Hillman (Lunde, McDonald) 11:32. Penalties—Westfall, :55; Vasko, 17:19; Fleming, 18:38; Williams, 19:46.

Third period—7. Chicago, Nesterenko (Murphy, Evans) 2:48; 8. Boston, Godfrey (Oliver) 8:13; 9. Boston, Gendron (Kennedy, Boivin) 14:04. Penalty — Gendron, 9:25.

Stars From Boston Meet to Compete Again

NEW YORK (CP)—The stars of last Saturday's Knights of Columbus track meet in Boston —including Bruce Kidd and Bill Crothers of Toronto—will compete in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden Friday, Feb. 1, it was announced Wednesday.

Kidd and Crothers both set meet records at Boston, Kidd in the two-mile run and Crothers in the 1,000-metre race.

They are entered in the Millrose together with the six other major winners—Ira Murchison in the sprints, Hayes Jones in the hurdles, Jay Luck in the 600, Bill Dotson in the mile, John Thomas in the high jump and Dave Tork in the pole vault.

Crothers is scheduled to run in the 880, instead of the 1,000 and Kidd will again run the two miles.

Valery Brumel of Russia, world record holder in the high jump, has agreed to compete.

Bing Crosby Golf Tourney Opens Today

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) Arnold Palmed never has finished the Bing Crosby golf tournament higher than fourth yet he and the weatherman are being watched most colsely as the 1963 edition opens today with $50,000 at stake.

For Palmer never had much luck in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, the Colonial at Fort Worth or the Los Angeles Open before winning them in his latest tries. He appears embarked on a campaign to beat the courses he hasn't whipped.

The weatherman seems up to his usual performance for the Crosby tournament. He predicts probable rain after sunny skies on opening day. Temperatures, however, are expected to be above normal so no recurrence of last year's snowstorm is anticipated.

Defending champion Doug Ford, who has finished out of the money in his last six tournaments, aims for a comeback in this event which he captured a year ago by beating Joe Campbell on the first hole of a playoff.

Gary Player of South Africa, winner of the San Diego Open last Sunday, ranks among the favorites. A year ago Player didn't finish in the Crosby money.

TIGER PITCHER MAY PLAY BALL IN JAPAN

DETROIT (AP)—Pitcher Ron Kline intends to ask Detroit Tigers for his release so he can accept a contract to play baseball in Japan, it was learned Tuesday.

The righthander was due here Wednesday and was expcted to meet with general manager Jim Campbell later this week.

Campbell said Kline had telephoned the Tiger office from his home in Callery, Pa., seeking an appointment.

"I've never considered this," Campbell said. "I've never even thought about it, so I don't know what my answer would be if he asks to buy his contract."

Kline, 30, who previously pitched with Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals and Los Angeles Angels, confided to reporters last summer that he was interested in joining a team in one of the two Japanese leagues.

On the Tigers' post-season tour of Japan last fall Kline had the best record of any Detroit pitcher.

But he had only a mediocre 3-6 record in the regular 1962 American League season.

It was understood he was offered a contract for about $50,000 by a Japanese team.

Collier Takes Over As Head Coach of Browns

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

CLEVELAND (AP)—Blanton Collier took over Wednesday as head football coach of Cleveland Browns and quickly made a major change from the Paul Brown regime: All the plays won't come from the bench.

"Pro football is much too complicated for any one player or coach to call all the signals," the 56-year-old Kentuckian told a press conference. "Basically, I plan to have the quarterback call the plays."

There has to be co-ordination and consultation between the quarterback and coach, Collier said. "The average quarterback wants and needs guidance. We will use checkoffs so as to be able to change the play at the line of scrimmage."

Collier, promoted from backfield coach to head coach under a three-year contract at an unannounced salary, retained the rest of the Cleveland coaching staff. Only Paul Brown will be missing—shelved in a club vice-presidency for which duties are still to be defined.

NAMED MANAGER

Harold Sauerbrei, a former Cleveland sports writer who has been with the Browns since 1954, became general manager.

Those were the announcements from Arthur B. Modell, club president, as the follow-up to the stunning news a week ago that Brown had been removed from the jobs of coach and general manager he had held for 17 years.

Brown was out of town, believed to be in Florida.

"Paul was the first man I spoke to after Art Modell offered me the job Sunday," Collier said. "We talked for some time and Paul told me: 'You have to accept the job. You have your family to think of. I understand it completely.' "

Modell said Collier was his first choice and the only man he talked with about the position.

"I could not possibly be more pleased that Blanton has agreed to coach the team," said the 39-year-old owner.

Brown was ousted, Modell has said, because of player dissatisfaction leading to the threat by seven players to quit if the same coach remained in 1963. The owner also felt the 54-year-old master coach didn't get the players to realize their full potential.

Brown on the other hand said he was fired because Modell wanted to take a stronger hand and become a "playing owner" in areas once ruled by the man who has been honored with the team name.

FORMER NHL PLAYER HEAD AUSTRIAN TEAM

OTTAWA (CP)—Larry Regan, former National Hockey League player, has been reinstated as player-coach of the Austrian national team at Innsbrueck.

Word of the reinstatement by the International Ice Hockey Association was received in Ottawa, Regan's home town, by Cecil Duncan of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Regan has dropped his damage suit against several hockey organizations but still is asking $3,700 from the NHL and Pittsburgh Hornets for one month's loss of salary plus expenses incurred in returning here to straighten out the matter.

The suit arose when he was declared ineligible to continue in the Austrian post. Regan last played professional hockey with the Hornets in 1961-62.

Anderson Asks Answers From Detroit Red Wings

EDMONTON (CP)—Al Anderson, general manager of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, has demanded answers from officials of the Detroit Red Wings concerning the future of Edmonton Flyers Hockey Club.

Questions about the Flyer' future were prompted by an announcement Tuesday that Detroit had bought an interest in Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League.

The Exhibition Association owns the Western Hockey League franchise for Edmonton under which Detroit operates the Flyers.

Anderson said Wednesday he has asked Sid Abel, general manager of the Detroit hockey interests, if Detroit plans to operate the Flyers next season.

"If so would the Red Wings change their tactics which have continually stripped the club in favor of Pittsburgh Hornets and which have collapsed (Edmonton) Gardens attendance," Anderson said in a letter to Abel.

The exhibition manager said Abel had not replied so he wrote Bruce Norris, owner of the Detroit Hockey System.

"If he does not answer my questions by Sunday I shall telephone him. My board must have answers immediately," caid Anderson.

He said he wants to know Detroit's intentions "right now."

"All I know is that there will be first class hockey here, with or without the Red Wings."

Danish MP Asks For Cancellation Of Griffith Bout

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A Danish member of Parliament has moved to prevent a Feb. 3 fight between Denmark's Chris Christensen and Emile Griffith, the world welterweight champion from New York.

In a letter to Hans Kaekkrup, minister of justice, Verner Sinnbach, a powerful opposition member of parliament and a leading foe of boxing, said:

"Does the minister of justice consider it possible, while an entire ban on professional boxing in Denmark is being contemplated, to halt the uneven match between the Dane Chris Christensen and world champion, Emile Griffith, who earlier has caused another boxer's death in the ring?"

Christensen's lawyer, Boerge De Wall, commented:

"There is, as far as I can see, no rule or law that can prevent this."

Haekkrup was not available for comment.

In the bout with Christensen, Griffith will risk his Austrian-recognized world junior middleweight title. His world welterweight crown will not be at stake.

Lion Star to Appear Before Commissioner

NEW YORK (AP) — Star defensive tackle Alex Karras of Detroit Lions said Wednesday night that he is flying to New York Thursday to appear before National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle to discuss admissions he had wagered on football games.

Karras said in taped television interviews that he bet on league games, but that the bets amounted to no more than "a pack of cigarettes or a couple of cigars and only with close friends."

In an interview with NBC, taped Sunday for a newscast Wednesday night, Karras was asked if he bet on ball games. He answered:

"I have bet on ball games."

Question: Have you ever bet on a ball game in which you were playing?

Answer: "Yes, I have."

In another interview, with Dave Diles of WXYZ-TV in Detroit, made Wednesday, Karras said:

". . . I never bet more than a pack of cigarettes or a couple of cigars and only with close friends. I never bet with a bookie or talked with one. I don't even know any bookies. . . ."

Bruce Kidd Named Outstanding Athlete

TORONTO (CP) — Bruce Kidd was named Wednesday as Ontario's outstanding athlete of 1962 by the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association.

Kidd, 19-year-old University of Toronto student who won two medals at the British Empire Games in Perth, Australia, last November, was the top choice of 33 of the 64 association members who cast ballots. He also was given 15 second - place votes and nine for third. Based on a 3-2-1 point setup, Kidd received 138 points.

In second place with 99 points was skater Don Jackson of Oshawa who won the men's singles title at the world figure-skating championships at Prague last year.

Jackson pilled 20 first-place votes, 17 for second place and five for third.

Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks' high-scoring left winger who equalled the National Hockey League record of 50 goals last season, finished third with 61 points.

Seventeen athletes representing 12 sports received votes.

They included:

The figure-skating team of Maria and Otto Jelinek of Bronte, who won the world pairs title at Prague, Gary Cowan of Kitchener, low individual at the world amateur golf championships in Japan last year, and George Knudson of Toronto, who won more than $20,000 on the United States pro golf circuit during 1962.

Football was represented by Bobby Kuntz, fullback for Hamilton Tiger-Cats, and Ottawa Rough Rider quarterback Russ Jackson.

OH, YOU KIDD!—In winning the Sugar Bowl three-mile race and this trophy, Bruce Kidd of the University of Toronto set a new mark of 13:37.9 minutes, cracking the record set 21 years ago by Greg Rice of Notre Dame.

SEALS BEAT FLYERS; TIE BLADES

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — San Francisco Seals defeated Edmonton Flyers 7-5 Wednesday night to tie Los Angeles Blades for second spot in the southern division of the Western Hockey League.

Both teams have 40 points, 13 less than the leading Portland Buckaroos. Edmonton Flyers remain third in the northern division.

Len Haley scored two goals and Ray Cyr, Orland Kurtenbach, Tom Thurlby, Danny Belisle and Camille Bedard added singles for San Francisco.

John Miszuk scored twice and Tom Burgess, Ray Kinasewich and Sid Finney once each for Edmonton.

Canada to Host International Hockey Tourney

QUEBEC (CP) — Lionel Fleury, first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Wednesday an international hockey tournament will be held in Canada in 1964.

The event will feature four entries — Canada, United States, Czechoslovakia and Sweden.

He said Russia has not been invited to participate because a Soviet team made an exhibition tour of Canada this winter.

The games will be played in different parts of Canada, he siad, but did not elaborate.

The tournament would be independent of the world hockey tournament and the world hockey championships.

Federal Government Donating Poppycock Sports — Warwick

KELOWNA (CP) — Grant Warwick says the federal government should make a grant of "at least $10,000" each year to Canada's world hockey championship representative.

The government now, he said, "is just donating money to a lot of silly, poppycock sports."

Warwick, now living in Kamloops, coached Penticton Vs of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League to the world championship in 1955.

In a telephone interview Wednesday Warwick was critical of the disbersement of a recent federal grant to amateur sport, including $50,000 to the Canadian Olympic Association.

NOTHING FOR TRAIL

No allowance was made for Trail Smoke Eaters of the Western International Hockey League, who will represent Canada in this season's championship in Europe.

Smokies have won the championship twice — once in 1939 and again in 1961.

Warwick said many Olympic competitors know before they leave Canada that they will only place seventh or eighth and that too much money is going to these competitors.

"Go over to Poland, Russia and Germany and ask them who the prime minister of Canada is," Warwick said. "They can't tell you. But they'll soon tell you who Bobby Kromm is and who the Warwicks are."

Warwick said the Smokies have a lot of prestige at stake.

"Get them over to the championship in a happy frame of mind so they can win for us," said Warwick.

A-BOUT FACES—A round-a-bout way to alter the faces of the two handsome biffers is recorded by the camera in these before and about pictures of Marcel Pigou and Luis Folledo. Pigou is at left in top picture and at right in the after-the-battle photo below. Folledo, who is the Spanish middleweight champ, won the bout in Paris on points.

PRESCOTT TAKES EASY DECISION

LEICESTER, Eng. (AP) — Johnny Prescott, unbeaten British heavyweight, easily outpointed Germany's Ulli Ritter in an eight-rounder Wednesday night.

Prescott battered the German in the early rounds with lefts and rights, then turned on the power in the last three rounds when Ritter's left eye turned into a mass of puffiness.

Prescott weighed 193½ pounds and Ritter 207½.

The Briton now has won 19 of his pro fights and drawn two.

Cerebral Palsy Victim Receives Hornsby Plaque

SEATTLE (AP)—The name of Rogers Hornsby is enshrined forever in baseball's Hall of Fame and in the heart of David Kosher.

The hall and Kosher each have a plaque as a visual reminder of the Rajah.

Few men penetrated Hornsby's hard counter core to become a friend. One was Kosher, a cerebral palsy victim who did not walk until he was 16.

Sports writers, encouraging Kosher's interest in athletics, introduced him to the Rajah when Hornsby managed the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers in 1951.

The brusque Hornsby took Kosher with him to the team's spring training camp as a clubhouse assistant. When Hornsby moved on the following year to manage St. Louis Cardinals he again took Kosher along.

CUBS HIRE KOSHER

Chicago Cubs, on Hornsby's recommendation, later hired Kosher as a scout. One player he signed for the Cubs was Ron Santo, the team's prized third baseman.

San Francisco's Giants hired Kosher from the Cubs. Last year the Giants cut their scouting force and Kosher was among those lopped from the payroll.

The recent death of Hornsby, added to the disappoinment of a job lost, left the usually jovial Kosher grief stricken and almost inconsolable.

A bulky package came in the mail to Kosher a week after Hornsby died early this month. With it was a letter from Mrs. Hornsby.

"My husband wanted you to have this," the letter said.

The package contained the personal plaque Hornsby was given when he was elected to the Hall of Fame.

For Friday, Jan. 18, 1963

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aires) — Observing the best of both traditions and new innovations, you can place today out front in many respects. Don't settle for less than "good," but don't overpress.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Favored among many things are: personal attainment, rementing healthy friendships and business associations, improving domestic relations, and general know-how. Keep at it!

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — You are an innovator — of business acumen, art, any number of projects and useful things. And USEFULNESS is always with what Gemini conceives. Shrewdness and elegance combined!

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — In romance, cultural matters, home and children's issues, be both discreet and dynamic to achieve. Illuminate your (and others') day with wit, compassion, verve.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Is what you have been devoted to, still the best course? Think this out, too often we go on in the same old way, fighting honest desirable advancement. Mind the little things.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Training, technical know-how, cleverness, instinctive and studied, and just plain common sense methods can achieve in a big way. Today belongs to the thinker.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Behind all stable, considerable attainment is accumulated knowledge, astute observation, and a willingness to accept and advance with the smaller items before taking on the big jobs.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — If you feel thwarted in some manner, study factors and persons involved in your day. There are always reasons, usually we should be talking it out instead of fretting within.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Waiting for "better opportunities" and wasting time? We do this regularly — most of us. If true to your sign's best, you will invent, recondition, and instill fresh impulses.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Incite others to enjoy the interchange of ideas and impelling enthusiasm for connoisseur-type progress you like. Reforms in the making, join the deserving, refuse mere change.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — New records can be established, and old treasures appreciated as they have not been for a long time. In a subdued atmosphere you may find most dramatic gains and approval.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Specially fine time for cultural exchange, distinguished action after animated, impartial thinking, and putting a new face on an old project of merit. Maintain high-level integrity.

YOU BORN TODAY: Capricorn, the conscientious, striving, sociable; adamant and stubborn, too. Like with us all, there are faults plus virtues. Once you conquer the failings there is no limit to the success and happiness (contentment important) you will enjoy. You never stand still. Will even change places of abode for better progress and living. 1963 calls for your ability to withstand pressures and accomplish against odds, expected and surprise ones (this Sign usually takes them as normal life if you forestall hurt feelings and super-sensitivity). Inspect before expansion and quell unrest, in yourself as elsewhere. Research, test, and research again, then you will avoid foolish errors. Could do well in finances, manufacturing, designing, originating. Stimulate the tender emotions, don't mind lost credits, work for work's sake, rewards. Stay With Constructive action. Birthdate of: Edwards MacDowell, composer; many actors, biochemists, promotion experts, organiaztion executives.

'Compact Horse' Stands 24 Inches —Runs 50 M.P.H.

By FRANK N. MANITZAS

RECREO DE ROCA, Argentina (AP) — The compact car has become a fixture. Meet the compact horse. He barely reaches a jockey's hip pocket.

The compact horses all come from the green pastures of this 3,000-acre estancia or ranch. There are about 400 of them mingling with assorted sheep, goats, prize Herefords, pheasants and even peacocks.

Presiding over this bizarre array, a Gulliver among equine liliputians, is the owner, Julio Falabella, who is six-foot-three and has to squat to sit on one of his horses. And his feet still touch the ground.

Falabella's family developed the strain by constant breeding of small horses. Now they are sold all over the world.

Falabella walked close to a handsome one — a five-year-old with white hoofs, a splotch of white breaking his grey-black back. He stands 24 inches high.

RUNS 50 M.P.H.

"This is one of my finest and healthiest midget horses," said Falabella.

"Look at him run. Pimpollito can do 50 miles an hour for two miles and never falter. He will live to be 40, and that is about 20 years more than a regular size horse."

In another pasture ran other midget horses: some black, some white, some beautiful palminos, others paints and many plain spotted or dotted brown or black horses.

"I see you can't believe it," said Falabella. "My grandfather Enrique Neutal started breeding horses about 1880, after he arrived here from England. Then my father did it and now I am.

"Why? Well, I guess you might say it happened the same way some people want to grow special roses. My grandfather wanted to breed special horses."

"This one is six years old," he said, patting a Palomino on the back. "She is what you might call average. At birth she weighed two pounds and now she weighs 70. There her over there."

Nearby, a month-old filly tottered and ran. She was unbelievably, smaller than the mare who didn't even reach Falabella's hips.

How was it done?

THREE GENERATIONS

"Well," drawled Falabella again, "you just take a small horse and breed it with another small horse. That's all. Just keep breeding small with small and after our three generations, we have come up with this.

"A problem, of course, is inbreeding. You have to watch the bone structure and I worry about the size of their heads at birth. But from then on, they are healthier than regular size horses."

To illustrate the difference in size, he placed a six-year-old underneath a regular horse. They didn't touch.

His midget horses (that is what Falabella calls them) are known throughout the world.

"We get letters every day." The price for a midget horse ranges from $300 to $600.

"It's a bargain," he said. "They eat less, you know."

Contacts Develop Among Churches

NEW YORK (AP)—New and unprecedented contacts have developed between the Protestant Episcopal (Anglican) Church and the Assemblies of God, the large U.S. Pentecostal body, it was disclosed Tuesday.

In a move kept private until now, officials of the two denominations have held two conferences in the last year to "learn from each other about Christian life and faith."

It is the first such liaison between the Episcopal Church, with its creedal and liturgical traditions, and th ePentecostals, with more informal customs of worship.

Although participants point out that no doctrinal agreement or ecclesiastical compacts were sought, the meetings marked a new aspect of the ecumenical movement for closer Christian relationships.

The Assemblies of God, founded in April, 1914, has 514,317 members in 8,273 churches in the U.S.

The Episcopal Church, part of the worldwide Anglican communion and tracing its lineage of bishops back to the 12 apostles, has about 3,500,000 members.

Supersonic Airliner Near at Hand

WASHINGTON (AP)—A long-awaited report on the outlook for a supersonic airliner recommends that the United States start building one immediately.

A Federal Aviation Agency advisory group, appointed in November 1961, said Tuesday the development program would cost $1,000,000,000, and that the planes would cost about $20,000,000 each if 200 were built.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Four Indicted In Negro Riots

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted four persons Tuesday in connection with desegregation rioting last fall at the University of Mississippi

The 23 members of the all-white grand jury have been looking into charges against at least 10 persons arising from the rioting which erupted when Negro James H. Meredith arrived on the campus last Sept. 30. One of those charged was former army Major-General Edwin A. Walker, who was not among those indicted Tuesday.

Unemployment Rise Seen Normal for This Period

OTTAWA (CP)—An increase of 72,000 in Canadian unemployment from mid-November to a total 414,000 at mid-December was reported Wednesday in a joint statement by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the labor department.

The month's increase—entirely among men—was described as "a formal increase for the time of year." The jobless total was almost the same as the year-earlier unemployment figure of 413,000 in December, 1961.

The unemployment rate climbed to 6.3 per cent of the labor force compared with 5.2 per cent a month earlier. The rate was 6.4 per cent a year earlier, when the labor force was somewhat smaller, and two years ago it was 8.2 per cent.

A seasonal slowdown in outdoor industries brought a decline in employment to 6,160,000 at mid-December, down 110,000 from a month earlier. The job total was 78,000 higher than a year earlier.

The month's drop in employment was greater than the decline in jobless numbers because many seasonal workers withdrew from the labor market.

The job picture in brief, with estimates in thousands:

| | Dec. 1962 | Nov. 1962 | Dec. 1961 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Labor force | 6,574 | 6,612 | 6,495 |
| Employed | 6,160 | 6,270 | 6,082 |
| Unemployed | 414 | 342 | 413 |

The report is based on a survey of 35,000 households across Canada during the week ended Dec. 15.

JOBLESS TOTAL RISES

"Unemployment normally rises between November and December because of seasonal declines in construction, agriculture and certain parts of manufacturing," the report said.

During the month the total of jobless men rose by 80,000 to 414,000, while unemployment among women declined 8,000 to 56,000.

More than three-quarters of the jobless—a total 319,000—had been unemployed for less than three months. Another 51,000 had been seeking work for from four to six months and 44,000 had been out of work for more than half a year.

Unemployment rose during the month in every region, but the largest gains were in the east with jobless totals jumping by 16,000 in the Atlantic provinces and by 30,000 in Quebec.

Compared with a year earlier, unemployment was higher in the Atlantic provinces and Quebec, lower in Ontario and the Prairies, and unchanged in the Pacific region.

The month's drop of 110,000 in total employment was shared among all regions. Compared with a year ago, employment was significantly higher in Ontario and British Columbia but other regions had only marginal gains in job totals.

Most non-farm industries had higher employment levels than in 1961. For the last three months of 1962, employment in service industries avraged 41,000 higher than a year earlier with smaller gains in trade, transportation, manufacturing and construction. But there were fewer jobs in agriculture and forestry.

Estimated mid-December unemployment by regions with November figures bracketed: Atlantic 70,000 (54,000); Quebec 154,000 (124,000); Ontario 93,000 (82,000); Prairies 51,0 (43,00); Pacific 46,000 (39,000).

December unemployment rates by regions, with November comparisons: Atlantic 11.6 per cent (8.9); Quebec 8.4 (6.7); Ontario 3.9 (3.4); Prairies 4.5 (3.8); Pacific 7.7 (6.5).

LONDON (AP) — The British government has issued its first detailed advice on the building of fallout shelters and other means of protection in a nuclear war. A civil defence booklet published Wednesday urges Britons to select "a suitable room" in their homes and stock it with food, water and other emergency supplies in a shelter "core." The core was described as a smaller, thick-walled refuge built in the living room or any other selected room as a fall-out shelter.

Chartered Banks Suggest They Could Oust Crown-Owned Bank

OTTAWA (CP) — The chartered banks indicated Tuesday they could practically put the Crown - owned Industrial Development Bank out of business if they could charge the same interest rates and accept the same security for loans.

And the banks sought freedom to do just that.

They told the royal commission on banking and finance that Parliament should wipe out the statutory six-per-cent ceiling on chartered bank interest rates and give the banks the power to take mortgages on industrial and residential property.

The IDB, a subsidiary of the Bank of Canada, was set up in 1944 to help fill a financial gap in Canada by supplying medium-term financing for small business unable to raise money elsewhere "on reasonable terms and conditions." It has no fixed rate on loans but now is charging 6½ per cent.

Earlier in the commission hearings, finance companies said they were losing business to the IDB—that the gap had been filled, and that the IDB, getting its money cheaply from the central bank, should not be competing directly with private enterprise.

Tuesday, J. P. R. Wadsworth, vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, said the IDB recently has made a number of loans that could have been made by the chartered banks had they been able to take similar security and charge the same rate.

Commissioner J. Paul Leman, treasurer and vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada, asked whether there would be any field left for the IDB at all if the banks were granted such freedom.

"There might be," said Mr. Wadsworth. The IDB was not affected by tight-money conditions to the same extent as the commercial banks, which in such circumstances might have to limit term loans to businesses.

The IDB could continue in the equity field — financing small businesses by purchasing their stock, said R. D. Mulholland, vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal.

Reporters Must Reveal Source

LONDON (Reuters)—A powerful British tribunal ruled Wednesday that reporters must give their sources of information if they are summoned to give evidence in its current inquiry into British naval security.

The three-man tribunal is investigating allegations in the press and elsewhere against cabinet ministers and government officials following a trial here last November, at which Admiralty clerk William Vassall was sentenced to 18 years imprisonment for spying for the Russians.

The tribunal opened its sessions to the public Tuesday after several weeks of secret sessions to investigate the press reports.

The tribunal chairman, Lord Radcliffe, ruled that no general rule of law privileges a witness from disclosing the source of information which he obtained as a journalist.

Tuesday a freelance reporter working for the London Daily Sketch, Reginald Poster, declined to name the source on which he based a report that Vassall, a self-confessed homosexual, bought and wore women's clothes.

Foster was directed to disclose the source of his information when the court resumed later in the day after a short adjournment.

Possibility Commonwealth PM Meet Discounted in Britain

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — Speculation about the possibility of a conference of Commonwealth prime minister in next two or three months was discounted Wednesdorsement Wednesday from Lord

The Whitehall approach, at least for the time being, is to "press on" with the Brussels negotiations for Britain's entry into Europe, despite French President de Gaulle's brusque bar-the-door statement in Paris Monday.

The suggestion of a Commonwealth summit meeting was raised Tuesday by The Daily Mail. It receives enthusiastic endorsement today from Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, one of the few British papers that has consistently opposed the European initiative.

Reme MacColl, chief foreign reporter of The Daily Express, says a conference of Commonwealth chiefs now is an "absolute necessity."

MacColl gives Prime Minister Diefenbaker a pat on the back, saying the Canadian leader sought to convince Prime Minister Macmillan at the Nassau meetings last month that the Commonwealth should hold another top-level meeting before the final decision on Europe is taken.

'POLITICAL INSIGHT'

"In the wake of de Gaulle's dramatic demolition job, we can look back on Diefenbaker's importunings as a remarkable example of political insight," MacColl comments.

"For if a new gathering of Commonwealth chief ministers was desirable a month ago, it now is an absolute necessity."

MacColl's article appears under the title "now is the time to step back to glory," in line with Beaverbrook's theme that the Common Market proposition is dead and that Britain's real opportunity lies with the "splendid alternative" of the Commonwealth.

The Daily Express is alone in visualizing the Commonwealth as an alternative to a European role for Britain. Other papers, many of them equally well disposed to the general concept of the Commonwealth, display dismay and resentment at de Gaulle's negative approach.

Some commentators extract limited comfort from indications that France may be isolated by the other five members of the European Six.

Belgium, Holland, Italy and West Germany have already criticized de Gaulle's stand and Luxembourg is expected to go along.

New Arthritis Cure Denounced by Doctor

WASHINGTON (CP)—A drug purported to be a secret cure for arthritis and reported still being offered by a doctor in Montreal was denounced Tuesday by Dr. Ronald W. Lamont-Havers, medical director of the United States Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Testifying at the opening of hearings before the Senate subcommittee on aging, Dr. Lamont-Havers said the deaths of two patients in a Montreal hospital were directly attributable to treatments with this drug.

Dr. Gerald Dorman of New York, board member of the American Medical Association, identified the drug as Liefcort, described before the committee as a hormonal preparation "which caused injury and even death."

Dr. Lamong-Havers said a six-year-old girl received the treatments and subsequently developed "tremendous" breasts and abnormal hair growth on her face. He said the medicine is barred from the U.S. by the Food and Durg Administration, but U.S. citizens still go to Montreal in large numbers for the treatments.

The subcommittee is investigating medical quackery, which witnesses from the AMA and the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation said is costing the sick and elderly a fortune every year.

Dr. Dorman offered as an exhibit Tuesday a copy of an article which appeared in Look magazine last May, containing an interview with Dr. Robert Liefmann of Montreal, described as originator of a drug treatment of benefit to arthritis sufferers.

Jack Moskowitz of Detroit, committee counsel, later said the publishers of Look magazine may be called to testify why they allowed the article to be published.

Dr. Dorman added that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and Canadian officials finally stopped promotion of the Montreal product. The witness testified also that Liefmann was wanted by U.S. marshals for having, at one time, shipped an alleged baldness cure into interstate commerce.

Miami Battle Still Rages Despite President's Plea

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The "battle of Miami" rages on among multi-splintered Cuban exiles despite President Kennedy's plea for unity.

About 30,000 Cubans assembled in the Orange Bowl here Dec. 29 heard Kennedy urge exiles "to submerge those differnces which may now disturb you, to the united end that Cuba is free."

Because of the differences mentioned by Kennedy, thousands of others did not hear his plea. They stayed away.

The schism separating some of the 200 anti-Castro bodies is profound. Deep-rooted division prevails particularly between former — and present—followers of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista and men who risked their lives to overthrow him only to split later with Premier Fidel Castro.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council, formed with U.S. cooperation to mount the April 17, 1961, Cuban invasion, is tacitly recognized by the U.S. government and some others as the ranking exile organization.

The council has bitter foes as well as staunch supporters among the 300,000 exiles, more than a third of whom live in Miami.

Rival groups ask such things as why Council President Jose Miro Cardona, as Castro's first premier, permitted the Cuban executions that brought grief to thousands of families.

Friends reply that whatever delusions Dr. Miro Cardona had about Castro's revolution, he became such an enemy of it later that he sent even his son on the expedition to invade Cuba. The son, Pepe, was one of the freed prisoners honored at the Orange Bowl ceremony.

Another, Enrique Llaca Jr., 27-year-old son of a leader of the exile committee that sponsored negotiations for their freedom, said about 100 of the invasion brigade companies were among exiles boycotting the meeting.

Llaca charged that Dr. Miro Cardona, who as council president was on the platform with Kennedy, was "using the brigade for his own benefit."

Llaca charged on Jan. 8 that the invasion brigade was let down and said "explanations are needed on some points."

He said neither U.S. nor Cuban leaders had been effective in action against Castro. Llaca said he and two comrades had resigned from the brigade.

"We must forc some action and we shall do so."

While "Batistianos" or Batista followers and "Arrepentidos" or "repented ones," as former Castro followers are called, are in the front lines of the battle of Miami, the rift widens.

For example, Cardona and Manul Ray, one - time associates in Castro's cabinet, and later working side by side as council chiefs launching the invasion to overthrow Castro, now are greatly at odds. Ray, former minister of public works, pulled out his People's Revolutionary Movement from the council after the expedition failed. Later he left the party.

Ray has formed a new organization, the Revolutionary Junta. Thus exile groups multiply.

Bake a Batch of breads
Rare indeed is the delicious aroma of home-baked breads and buns. Wonderful the satisfaction of seeing the crusty loaves come from the oven. It's not difficult to succeed in this ancient and satisfying task. Look up Weekend Magazine Food Editor Margaret Oliver's recipes for buns, breads, Sesame Roll-Ups and Jam Ripple Coffee Cake and you'll acquire her enthusiasm for them. This week in Weekend Magazine.
