Man Injured Taking Bomb From Mail Box

CRUMPLED LIKE PAPER was the description one spectator applied to the condition of the right side of a 1961 vehicle which killed a Notre Dame University student and sent two of his roommates and an alumnus to Kootenay Lake General Hospital. Driver Brian Coccia, 19, of Kimberley was killed when he was tossed out of his father's vehicle and it rolled over him. Front seat passenger Colin Patterson was also tossed out of the vehicle through the doorway, seen above. Back seat passengers Neil Jangula and Doug Weir stayed in the car. The three survivors are expected to be released from hospital today.

Notre Dame Youth Killed In Car Crash

Hockey Players in Hospital To Be Released Today

Notre Dame University's brightest hour was darkened by a highway tragedy Friday evening.

A Notre Dame Knight hockey player was killed in a traffic accident and two teammates and an alumnus were injured near the Nelway border crossing as they were returning for the university's homecoming weekend and its Charter Day celebration.

Driver Brian Frank Coccia, 19, of Kimberley is believed to have died instantly when his father's 1961 vehicle rolled over him after leaving Highway 6 about 1½ miles north of Nelway at about 6 p.m.

Passengers Colin Patterson, 19, of Kimberley, Neil Jangula, 20, of Medicine Hat, and graduate Doug Weir of Kimberley are expected to be released from Kootenay Lake General Hospital today.

Patterson was the Kootenay International Junior Hockey League's top scorer, most valuable player, all star centre in the league's inaugural season just concluded. Coccia was a regular defenceman for the Knights and Jangula is a winger.

Room mates Coccia, Jangula, Patterson had returned to Kimberley Thursday after completing their final exams at Notre Dame. Purpose of the trip was to pick up the Coccia family vehicle to carry back their belongings from their dormitory room

The first year students decided to travel the loop south through Idaho, Washington, and re-entering at Nelway to avoid Kootenay Lake ferry.

A mile or two before the renowned "Black Bluffs" on Highway 6, the vehicle headed into what some drivers consider to be a deceptive curve. Reports indicate that the right wheel bit into the soft shoulder and the car rolled. Front seat passenger Patterson and Coccia were thrown from the vehicle while Jangula and Weir remained inside.

Dr. R. E. Miller of Salmo was called to the scene as was Rev. J. Postma, dean of men at Notre Dame, who administered last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

UBC Advised Cut Down on Expansion Plans

VANCOUVER (CP) — Education Minister Peterson says the University of British Columbia will have to re-assess its expansion program and he felt it might be a good idea for it to call a temporary halt to all new building.

The minister made the observation in an interview here on Thursday following a statement by UBC president Dr. John Macdonald that the university was not getting enough financial support for expansion.

Mr. Peterson said UBC will have to re-assess its expansion program now that the new Simon Fraser University is to be built. The Burnaby site for Simon Fraser had been chosen deliberately to ease pressure on UBC.

He felt UBC would not have to worry so much about getting more money for expansion of plant and equipment now that SFU is to be built.

100 P.C. Compensation Planned for Flood Victims

By ALLEN SACKMANN

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—A policy providing for 100 per cent compensation for residential property and 80 per cent for personal effects was established Friday by the Northwest Territories council for flood-stricken residents of Hay River and Fort Simpson.

Compensation costs will be shared by the territorial and federal governments.

The federal government, under a formula established earlier this month, will pay half of 80 per cent of the depreciated assessed value of residential property to a maximum of $5,000 with a $100 deductible clause.

The territorial government will assume the remaining cost, including the $100 deductible and payment of losses of more than $5,000.

"In the light of the disasters this year, the territory simply can't meet all of its financial requirements . . . we'll have to go to the federal government for some help for our own financial position," territorial Commissioner Gordon Robertson told a special council meeting here.

OBLIGATIONS HUGE

Mr. Robertson, also deputy minister of northern affairs, said the territories' obligations because of the flood were "mountainous."

"We don't even know of all the commitments we have undertaken, but we will shortly, I'm afraid."

He said the compensation for commercial property in the two towns would be established later Friday.

The commissioner said the basis for compensation under the council policy would be the assessed depreciated value of all belongings.

"I feel hesitant to say that we can assume 100 per cent of the depreciated value of personal effects and household goods," Mr. Robertson said. "We will pay 80 per cent and try our level best to do better."

Six Mail Boxes, Property Damaged by Time Bombs

MONTREAL (CP) — Terrorists struck with time-bombs placed in mail boxes Friday.

Explosions caused critical injury to an army explosives expert, shattered six mail boxes and damaged property.

Five more bombs were found in mail boxes and dismantled. Five suspected bombs were hauled to safety — mail boxes and all — to await dismantling.

Sgt.-Maj. Walter Rolland Leja, 45-year-old bomb demolition expert with the Royal Canadian Engineers, suffered serious injuries when a time-bomb he was removing from a mail box exploded.

Earlier he had dismantled one bomb and placed another in an open field to await dismantling or demolition later.

The army at first reported Leja had died on the way to hospital, saying its information had been received from Westmount police.

At St. Mary's Hospital, doctors amputated his left arm at the elbow, then worked on his chest and face injuries. He was on the operating table about five hours, the army said.

PLACE NO BLAME

Police did not attribute the bombings to any person or terrorist organization. However, an outlaw separatist group—le Front de Liberation Quebecois —has claimed responsibility in mailed press statements for a series of bombings in recent months.

One such bombing, at the rear of an army recruiting station here, caused the death of night watchman W. V. O'Neill, 65, April 20.

The series of bombings Friday kept residential Westmount on the alert for more than seven hours. Westmount, a separate municipality of about 32,000 is entirely surrounded by Montreal territory in the west-central part of the city. About two-thirds of its population is English-speaking.

About 3 a.m. the first of five bombs in mail boxes exploded. The explosions, within 20 minutes, were in widely-scattered points of Westmount, including one a stone's throw from the municipality's police station.

About 10 a.m., postmen making their rounds to empty mail boxes began finding parcels that appeared suspicious. Police were called and experts arrived on the scene to take charge.

PARTNER NOT INJURED

Lieut. Douglas Simpson, Leja's partner, was about 10 feet behind Leja when the bomb exploded. He was not injured.

An army spokesman said bomb disposal men in the army usually work in pairs, one doing the actual work and giving a running description of what he is doing to his partner.

One of the bombs that Leja dismantled contained four sticks of dynamite. The other, made up of three pounds of dynamite and a ticking mechanism, was carried to a vacant lot and dismantled.

Adrian Lunny, photographer for the Montreal Star who followed Leja and Simpson, said the explosion sounded "like a 20-pounder cannon being fired."

PTA Votes for Censorship Board

VANCOUVER (CP)— A deeply-divided B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation asked Thursday for government action to rid newsstands of obscene literature.

The most contentious issue of the group's convention made long debate and, finally, a 322-222 vote asking the province to set up a censorship board.

The board would:

Review any newsstand novel, magazine or comic which a citizen considers obscene;

Notify the distributor, asking removal if the board agrees the contents are objectionable;

Launch court action if the distributor does not comply.

Spokesman for the sponsoring Langley group said Alberta and Ontario already have set up boards, resulting in voluntary withdrawal of 150 publications. Some delegates expressed fear for the freedom of the press.

One PTA group said censorship is the responsibility of the parents. Another said many parents do not guide what their children read, so a government board is a good idea.

In other resolutions, the federation urged:

Appointment of a fulltime education minister;

Assumption of 80 per cent of school-building costs by the provincial government;

A royal commission on school finance;

Compulsory annual mechanical inspection of motor vehicles.

Candy, Pop Prices May Go Up With Sugar

NEW YORK (AP) — The rising price of sugar is reverberating in the stock market.

And new signs arose this week that wholesale markups in the United States soon will be reflected at the grocery store level in higher prices for candy, preserves, soft drinks, ice cream, syrups and other sugar-using items.

They may even lead to smaller packs of chewing gum, one producer said.

But nothing was in sight to match the doubling of retail prices that has hit some communities in Brazil, and severe dislocations in some other countries.

In the background is a tightening of the world sugar supply rooted in crop troubles and harvest difficulties in Europe, Cuba and other growing areas.

The shortage sent sugar issues spiralling on the New York Stock Exchange.

Gail Paterson Crowned Blossom Festival Queen

CRESTON — An official party consisting of Lt.-Gov. and Mrs. George A. Pearkes, Commander Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allan, Dr. and Mrs. A. Maskall and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Black attended the 1963 Blossom Festival Queen Pageant held here last evening when Miss Gail Paterson was crowned queen of the event.

The Lt.-Gov. and Mrs. Pearkes were welcomed by C. Carr who officiated as master of ceremonies during the evening.

Retiring queen Betty Hook presented Mrs. Pearkes, Mrs. Alan and Mrs. Maskall with corsages on behalf of the 1963 Blossom Festival Committee and outlined to the capacity audience, the highlights of her year as queen and the events which will fill the reign of the 1963-64 queen.

Mr. Carr introduced the three judges for the evening, R. Day of Kiwanis International, F. A. Beresford, District Governor of Lions Club and H. McNalley, outgoing president of the Bonners Ferry Chamber of Commerce. A program of dancing and music was followed by the crowning of Miss Gail Paterson as 1963 Blossom Festival queen by retiring queen Miss Betty Hook.

A reception for the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mars following the pageant.

Four Imprisoned For Stock Fraud

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Four men were sent to the penitentiary for three years and another for two years Friday for defrauding investors of $31,000 in a stock swindle.

Sentenced by Mr. Justice J. G. Hutcheson to three-year terms were Richard D. Shortridge, Peter John Haliday, David Friesen and Gordon Baxter.

Given the two-year term was Malcolm McCuaig, who was 75 on Wednesday.

Seaboard Fuel-add Limited was fined $5000 on each of seven counts of conspiracy and fraud and $2500 on a charge of attempted fraud.

Blind Navigators To Guide Rally Drivers

TORONTO (CP)—Blind and partially blind navigators following braille instructions will guide sighted drivers in an automobile rally here June 2.

The 60-mile Braille Rally will involve drivers from six auto clubs. The braille instructions and directions will prevent the drivers from peeking over their navigators' shoulders, as well as helping the navigators.

The experiment—similar to one using blind children as navigators in Quebec last year—has the blessing of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

"The response here has been overwhelming," J. E. Caruk, CNIB spokesman, said Thursday night. "This may open the door to a whole new interest in the blind."

Cooper, Found Fit, On Way to Hawaii

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (AP) — Gordon Cooper, whose 34-hour space flight may have put man years closer to the moon, took the applause of the world in stride as he sailed toward a Hawaii welcome today.

Due in Honolulu this afternoon, Cooper underwent a long series of medical tests aboard this United States Navy aircraft carrier to determine what—if anything—his 560,000-mile ride Wednesday and Thursday did to his health.

Preliminary examinations indicated that except for losing seven pounds and feeling a little giddy he was in as good shape as when he climbed into his capsule Faith 7 Wednesday morning for the blast-off into space.

His doctor, Richard L. Pollard, said Friday: "I cannot imagine anything serious developing."

ENDS MERCURY PROGRAM

Cooper's feat—22 orbits in 34 hours, 20 minutes, 30 seconds—apparently sounded the finale of the Mercury space program and opened the door to something far more fantastic—man on the moon within this decade.

The 36-year-old Oklahoma astronaut made a trip that approximated in length the distance to the moon and back.

However, it would take some 60 hours to reach the moon, in contrast to Cooper's 34-hour flight. The average speed in space flight to the moon would be about half that of earth-orbiting. This is largely because of the pull of earth gravity in a flight to the moon. Gravity has no effect on flight in orbit.

Parliament Friday

Prime Minister Pearson said the government has not yet reached a final decision on its stand on a multi-national or inter-allied nuclear force for NATO.

Justice Minister Chevrier said anti-combines investigators are checking sugar price increases but recent boosts seemed in line with higher world prices.

Annual reports were tabled, showing 1962 deficits of $43,919,454 for the CNR, $3,540,625 for TCA and 313,104,012 for the seaway authority.

Pauline Jewett (L-Northumberland) in the Commons sessions first speech, said the ambitious Liberal program will inevitably mean more government regulation.

Progress Seen on NATO Nuclear Force

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — After 2½ years, American proposals for some type of NATO nuclear strike force are beginning to bear fruit.

Diplomatic informants said Friday considerable progress is expected to be made during next week's NATO ministerial meeting here toward creation of an inter-allied nuclear force made up of existing sea and air units. This would be a forerunner to a NATO seaborne nuclear force on which action is unlikely to be taken by the alliance until December at the earliest.

The inter-allied force would comprise several American Polaris missile submarines in the Mediterranean, British Bomber Command and tactical air forces in Europe including the Canadian Air Division.

This force would be under the command of the supreme allied commander, Europe, who is an American general, and the nuclear warheads would be under American control, except for those in British Bomber Command.

Informants said the communique to be issued at the end of the three-day NATO meeting Friday will make reference to the inter-allied force. The communique, however, may be worded rather vaguely in this regard because French views will have to be taken into account.

NEW YORK (CP)—Tractor-trailer driver Alexander Pappa, 18, won a race with his own trailer in busy Lower Manhattan.

Pappa was struggling through heavy traffic Thursday with his 38-foot-long tractor-trailer unit when he had occasion to change lanes. He heard a loud click and his trailer went past him along one-way Church Street.

The driver pressed down on his accelerator and raced after the trailer, sideswiping a parked car in the process. He got his front-end unit in front of the runaway trailer and braked it safely to a stop, just 20 feet from the intersection with busy Canal Street.

Then he hooked on and was back in business.

William John Dinney of Lardeau died in Victorian Hospital in Kaslo Friday afternoon, age 80 years.

Born at Pelly's Island, Newfoundland in 1883, he came to Coleman, Alberta as a young man where he worked in the coal mines until moving to Nelson in 1922. Here he worked for a time as a miner and then followed the carpenter trade, working for a time with T. H. Waters and Co.

He married the former Florrie Carr at Coleman in 1911 and she predeceased him in Nelson in 1932. The following year he moved with his family to Johnson's Landing. He also lived for a time in Ainsworth when working for the Western Mines, also in Kalso and Lardeau. He retired about ten years ago.

He is survived by three sons, Claude, of Victoria, Ron of Vancouver, Pat of Lardeau; three daughter, Mrs. Mae Greenlaw of Howser, Mrs. Beth Anderson of Victoria, Mrs. Elsie Raper of Lardeau; one brother George of Vancouver, 16 grandchildren, two great grandchildren.

City Marksman Injured by Faulty Rifle

A faulty bolt mechanism in a rifle has been determined as cause of a freak accident to a Nelson sportsman.

A. C. Morton was firing the .22-calibre rifle in Nelson when the material off one of the pins holding the spring in the bolt fell off. This released the spring which flew back and struck him in the eye. He was treated by a specialist at Trail-Tadanac Hospital but it was found his eye was not permanently damaged.

Inspector J. P. Gibault of the Fish and Game Branch of Nelson said he had never heard of this happening before with this type of rifle, a repeater sports model. A life member of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, Inspector Gibault examined the rifle after the accident.

He said the newer models of this rifle have been modified. He suggested that if the pin is loose on the model such as that used by Mr. Morton, it should be riveted on each side.

MURDER CASE GOES TO JURY

CRANBROOK — The case of the Crown vs. Frank Martin Sam went to the jury Friday at the spring assizes in Cranbrook, being heard by Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan.

Sam is charged with the non-capital murder of his wife, Eva Sam, at or near Athalmer on September 1, 1962.

M. Provenzano of Cranbrook is crown counsel, while Henry Castillou of Vancouver is defending the accused.

Evidence so far since the case opened on Tuesday showed pictures of her beaten body on a trail between Athalmer and the Shuswap Indian reserve. Other evidence since the hearing opened dealt with a large and enthusiastic part in "the draw" in the general vicinity, during which large quantities of liquor were consumed.

In Friday's session the defendant took the stand and appeared uncertain of any of the happenings during and following the party which he and his wife had attended. Character witnesses testified that the effect of liquor on the accused usually had a cheering effect, while it had an opposite effect on the victim. Defence counsel Henry Castillou in his summation asked for one of two verdicts, reduced charge of manslaughter or acquittal. Crown counsel was M. Provenzano and Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan is presiding judge.

The jury went out to deliberate about 6:30 p.m.

A verdict of guilty of manslaughter was returned late Friday night by the jury. The accused has been remanded for sentence and court has been adjourned until Tuesday.

Possible Heart Attack Victim Found in Car

CRANBROOK (Staff) — Colin Cameron, 55, of Wasa, B. C., was found dead in his motor vehicle three miles east of here Thursday.

It is believed Mr. Cameron suffered a possible heart attack about 2 p.m., and the car went off the road and smashed against a boulder. The car sustained considerable damage.

Mr. Cameron was alone at the time. RCMP are continuing their investigation.

Noted Educator, Bishop Carter, To Speak at N.D.U. Convocation

Bishop Emmett Carter, guest speaker at Notre Dame University convocation ceremonies on Saturday, is looked upon as one of Canada's foremost experts in the field of education.

Emmett Carter was consecrated auxiliary bishop to Bishop John C. Cody of London, Ontario, with headquarters at Windsor. He is also titular Bishop of Altiburo, a North African diocese.

Educated at the famous Grand Seminary in Montreal, Emmett Carter was ordained in 1937 and raised to the episcapacy in 1962. After his ordination, the Bishop entered a brilliant career in the field of education. One of Canada's leading newspapers called his contribution to Quebec's English Catholic education "inestimable."

He was appointed in 1937 as inspector of the English classes of the Montreal Catholic School Commission. He accomplished this task in the vast Quebec educational system so well that in 1947 he was named as one of the members of the highly exclusive Montreal Catholic School Commission.

During the period from 1937 to 1947, he left one of the greatest testimonials to his work in Montreal — the founding of St. Joseph's Teachers College in 1939. From a handful of students in 1939, the enrollment reached more than 700 in 1962.

When Bishop Carter began his education career, progress in education, especially in English Catholic education, was at a low ebb. There was a woeful lack of competent teachers and inadequate facilities for providing them; English Catholics lacked proper representation in the education system; high school leaving exams were lacking in status; textbooks were poor.

When he left Montreal in 1962, the English Catholic educational system was so well reorganized that Emmett Carter was linked almost synonymously with it and beyond it. His interest was not limited to educating the young and training teachers. He was the co-founder and first president of the Thomas More Institute for Adult Education, the only permanent adult education institution in Canada at the time. This institute mushroomed from the 90 students it had when it opened in 1946 to nearly 1200 students.

During his years in the Montreal school system, Emmett Carter introduced many experiments. Five of the schools were placed in new programs in mathematics; new readers were introduced with emphasis on rapid reading; he successfully attempted to improve the teaching of French, essential in the province of Quebec.

When he entered the commission in 1947, English speaking schools totalled 47, with 516 teachers and 13,000 pupils; when he left, the schools numbered 65, with 1100 teachers and 32,000 pupils. Before his appointment as a Bishop, there was one more appointment given Emmett Carter, that as a supervisor of St. Lawrence College in Quebec City.

He has published several books and commentaries, among them "The Catholic Public Schools of Quebec," "Psychology and the Cross" and "The Modern Challenge to Religious Education." Among the many awards he has received is the Order of Scholastic Merit of the Province of Quebec.

His outstanding career is not unusual in his own family circle. His brother Alexander is Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie. Mother Mary Carter is superior of the cloistered Sacred Heart Convent in Vancouver and Mother Lenore is assistant-general at the Sisters of Providence Congregation at Kingston, Ontario.

Port-of-Entry Traffic Shows Sharp Decline

Vehicle traffic at Kootenay-Boundary ports-of-entry show a sharp general decline in February compared to February, 1962.

The greatest decline is registered by Canadian commercial vehicles entering the United States for 24 hours or more. That is because the Christina Lake cutoff had not yet been opened in February, 1963.

Figures are released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Also showing declines at various ports are U. S. private cars entering Canada for 24 hours or more.

Following are the various ports-of-entry and traffic recorded. February, 1963 figures are first and 1962 figures are in brackets.

Cascade City: vehicles entering Canada, 24 hours or more, 39 (118); commercial, 11, (19); vehicles returning to Canada after 24 hours or more, 29, (44); commercial 9, (311).

Kiwanis Club to Bear Cost of Church Signs

A new member, James Ferguson, was inducted. Mr. Ferguson succeeded Earl Barrons as assistant manager at the Bank of Montreal and will also succeed him as Kiwanis treasurer.

Gyro Club request for support at the Red Cross blood donor clinic June 13 and 14 won quick response, the club deciding to attend the clinic in a body as in previous years.

Kaslo and district ball fans will enjoy a variety of games Sunday and Monday, the big day of celebration, will include the queen crowning, a parade, with the Kootenay Kiltie Band and the Nelson City Band participating, with races for the kiddies and ball games for everyone.

May Day festivities guaranteed to induce gaiety and merriment through competitions, entertainment and traditional May pole dancing will prevail throughout the Kootenays this weekend.

The most eventful program is the Creston Valley Apple Blossom festival, which started Wednesday and continues through to Monday.

A pancake breakfast on the rodeo grounds starts off an action-packed Saturday. The giant parade at 12:30 p.m. is followed by a rodeo and blossom folk dance festival during the afternoon.

Saturday night boxing, a blossom dance at Wynndel hall, and square dancing are scheduled.

Curling, swimming, a scuba demonstration and a carnival are also part of Saturday's activities.

Grand Forks Men to Appear Again Sept. 4

PENTICTON (CP) — County Court Judge M. M. Colquhoun has disqualified himself from conducting the trial of three Grand Forks men charged with placing an explosive device and said he would arrange for another judge to hear the case.

He set Sept. 4 as the new trial date.

The judge made his decision Thursday following a motion by defence counsel Sidney Simon who said Judge Colquhoun might find himself biased as a result of evidence given in an earlier case involving Lloyd Storjeoff.

Storjeoff now is jointly charged with Fred J. and Bill N. Nevokshonoff in the bombing of a barn in the Grand Forks area in October, 1961.

Mr. Simon at first contended the court had no jurisdiction but Judge Colquhoun ruled that it had. But he agreed to the defence counsel's second motion that he should not permit himself to hear the case.

The Nevokshonoff brothers are already serving eight years each for bombing incidents in the Kootenays.

Building Figures Up at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK — City Building Inspector James Gordon reports 16 building permits were issued in April to a total estimated value of $143,750.

Major item was the addition to Amy Woodland Elementary School, now well under way, at over $90,000, while two new houses were also covered in these estimates in addition to a number of major or minor improvements to properties such as garage and carport.

Permits issued to the end of April for 1963 now tally $366,125, steeply higher than the tally of $231,400 for the same period in 1962.

With tenders for a large new commercial building at Eighth Avenue and Baker Street for Scott's Drug Store, and for an activity room building for Tenth Avenue primary school called for May, tempo of Cranbrook building is expected to increase even further as spring advances. About six May applications for permits for construction of new houses are now being processed.

Hearings To Open Tuesday

FERNIE — Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners will hold sittings in Fernie Tuesday and Wednesday to hear objections to the proposal of the Canadian Pacific Railway to discontinue passenger service between Lethbridge and Spence's Bridge.

Hearings will open in the Fernie Courthouse and then move to the IOOF Hall which will accommodate a greater number of people.

It is expected that briefs protesting the CPR move will be submitted from most communities along the line. Cranbrook City Council and Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce will both present briefs opposing the removal of passenger service.

Power Engineers Meet At Kimberley

KIMBERLEY — The western district conference of the Selkirk branch of the Institute of Power Engineers will reconvene today in the third day of addresses by speakers from a variety of centres, tours of Cominco operations in Kimberley and social intermissions.

Guests registered Thursday. Friday, the engineers were conducted on an underground tour of the Sullivan mine and women guests toured the surface operations.

The meeting was officially opened at noon Friday at a luncheon at the Kimbrook Hotel by Mayor Cliff Swan who outlined the history of Kimberley's mining and smelting operations.

He introduced national president of the power engineers, H. H. Wright of Vancouver, who spoke on the institute's history. He outlined the legislation that saw the organization of the institute in Toronto.

Mr. Wright showed how the Institute benefits engineers and outlined the educational program offered to keep all the engineers abreast of modern developments.

Technical chairman R. G. Service of Cominco operations in Trail introduced James Hutchings, chemical egnineer and western manager of Alchem, who spoke on the feed-water treatments during the past ten years, and Stan Zazula, professional engineer with Harvey Carruthers of Calgary, who spoke on automatic water analysis. This was followed by a question and answer period.

New Water Pressure System, Ball Diamond at Campbell Field

SOUTH SLOCAN — Work is progressing well on the installation of a new water pressure system and distribution grid for the South Slocan Sports Association property, Campbell Field.

The new system eliminates the need to draw water for the field through the pressure system of Mt. Sentinel Jr.-Sr. High School.

The water supply for the field was obtained by the construction in 1950 of a pumping station on the shore of the Slocan River, and then piped to a 30,000 gallon storage tank situated on the field. Half the capacity of the supply for the operation of the system is also buried below ground, running from the service installed near the entrance of the park.

NEW BALL DIAMOND

A new ball diamond, in use but not fully complete, has also been a project for the district members of the Association, and commenced last fall.

This was required, as the original ball diamond was part of the property sold to the school board for Mt. Sentinel School. A back stop has been installed, though the wire netting still awaits being attached to the frame. The ball diamond was laid out, using a transit, this weekend, with the foul lines well marked with orange posts.

Much assistance in the project has been given by the West Kootenay Power and Light Co., and the removal of considerable tree growth was done with the donation of equipment and time by Val and Laurence Koziancic.

In spite of the all this assistance and volunteer labour, Bob Dunsmore, spokesman for the workers, estimates the costs will run to at least $700.

Part of the Park is rented annually by the B.C. Department of Forestry for the establishment of a trailer-based suppression crew. Under the agreement, the crews stationed there have helped to develop the park in their spare time, under the direction of the association.

District organiaztions also system belongs to Alec Powell, as joint owner with the sports association, who in turn supplies Mt. Sentinel Jr.-Sr. High School with water, on monthly water rates to the Board of Slocan School District No. 8.

Volunteer workers from the Bonnington-South Slocan area have worked regularly every Saturday since early April digging the network of ditches for the plastic pipe distribution system, and the cement pit which houses the tank and pressure pump. Supply line pipes from the storage tank are of galvanized pipe. The power have used the park facilities under a rental agreement, for group picnics and sports days.

There will be no observance of the annual May 24 Empire Day, at Campbell Field this year, due to the work in progress at this time, but it is expected to hold a sports day later in the season along the lines of a Community Picnic held last year.

$35 SHAVE

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — Richard Cavalier was fined $35 and advised to do his shaving at home after pleading guilty to driving without due care and attention. He told the magistrate he was late for work, was shaving while driving and looked in the rear vision mirror after he nicked himself with his electric shaver. His car went out of control and overturned.

Unnecessary Ado About Sex

Sex keeps rearing its ugly head and on every hand there are those who point with ghoulish satisfaction to the decay of morals, particularly among our young people.

The latest alarmist is Dean Helen MacRae of the University of British Columbia. She says sex is the foremost thought of female students at the university.

There has, indeed, as the Rev. Mr. Mutchmore of the United Church says, been too much loose talk of sex being fun. It may be beautiful or it may be ugly, it may be fun, but now it becomes boring. Especially when we are expected to believe that our sisters, our daughters and our friends in university have suddenly changed their natures and from being happy, innocent and pleasant have suddenly become calculating sex-ridden people. We much prefer to believe that, as one young undergraduate says, that girls don't think of sex, but of boys.

Not that they spend all their time thinking of boys. They have other things to do and the fact that so many of them graduate with good marks shows, No doubt they have other dreams, those to do with youth, a handsome husband, marriage, wedding dresses and orange blossoms and all those things which make life so entrancing at that age. But in most cases they do not think of sex.

Nature hasn't changed very much. There are probably still the same proportion of people who are over-sexed but the great majority are still the decent, ordinary people we know. If it seems, as Dr. Remple of the University of Alberta says, sex problems are on the increase at universities, it may be because, as he also says, the students think the counsellors like to hear of sex troubles.

Personally we don't, and especially in connection with young people. To us the students at university with their youth and beauty recall our own palmy days when we too were once young and gay, when the sun seemed always to be shining and long before we ever believed with the poet that youth's sweetest manuscript could close.

The years pass and one generation succeeds another so that youth is always with us, never worse but, we hope, better than it was. But if we have no faith in it we must despair for the future.

Time Runs Out on Treaty

President Kennedy's statement that his conference in Hyannis Port with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada "will cover, I think, the entire waterfront" is assurance that ratification of the Columbia River treaty will be discussed. The president said that "distribution of natural resources," which applies to sharing of the benefits of Columbia River control, will be among the items to be considered.

The Diefenbaker government finally agreed with the British Columbia government that sale of downstream benefits in power within the United States, on long-term contracts, would be permissible. There is no reason for Mr. Pearson's new government to reverse that judgment. Mr. Pearson, indeed, is anxious to increase exports to the United States (including, one supposes, lumber), and power is a limitless export product. It has always been agreeable with the United States that Canada should have the authority to reclaim power when it is needed there, just as the Northwest wishes to do in transmission of surplus power to California. It is a sound economic principle that the fuel source is most valuable near the area of production.

The United States should, however, resist opening of the treaty, ratified two years ago by the U.S. Senate but not by Canada's Parliament, for renegotiation. The fundamentals of the treaty are sound and fair. Perhaps, if Canadians feel that the time limit for construction of their Columbia system dams is too restrictive, the time could be extended by a codicil to which the Senate and Parliament could quickly agree. It is to Canada's benefit to implement the treaty quickly. If too much time passes, and U.S. energy sources and flood control dams replace those in Canada, it will be the United States asking for renegotiation. Canadian storage becomes less valuable as time runs out.

—Portland Oregonian.

Positive Declarations From Lesage

It seems rather odd that Premier Lesage of Quebec should select London, England, as the sounding board for the most positive remarks he has made in some time on Confederation and separatism in Canada, and the fanatical terrorism rampant of late in Quebec.

Opening the handsome new Quebec House in London, Mr. Lesage said French-Canadian determination to make the Canadian confederation a partnership of true equals is a real force, and dismissed separatism and the current terroristic episodes as "passing phenomena".

The separatist movement in Quebec was described by the Premier as being of negligible importance. He spoke of his province's reliance on the Crown, its desire to stay within the Commonwealth, and said it would be the last to join the United States.

Actually, Mr. Lesage was stating principles known to represent the constructive Quebec viewpoint and tradition. However, his sizing up of the separatist movement in his London remarks must be deemed more courageous politically than anything he has said on the subject at home.

In London, the Quebec premier covered some of the burning issues in Quebec in a manner that should be quite encouraging to English-Canadians and should suggest to the latter that fairness, reasonableness and understanding will go a long way towards achieving the equality of partnership desired in Canadian Federation.—Welland Tribune.

Growing Pains

Air travel is often fraught with minor disadvantages, such as fountain-pens leaking and ears going out of action, but the news that passengers' waistlines are expanding in the new high altitude jets because of falling air pressure is more alarming. If the air companies don't act quickly they'll find themselves boycotted by figure-conscious models and over-portly business men, while their air hostesses claim danger money because of injury from flying buttons.—Punch.

Brief for Elimination Of Corporation Tax Heard

By STEWART MacLEOD

TORONTO (CP)—An elaborate argument in favor of the elimination of corporation taxes was made Friday by a metal processing company which said there is little justification for for maintaining this particular source of revenue.

A weighty brief from Anaconda American Brass Limited of nearby New Toronto told the royal commission on taxation that corporation tax is essentially a tax on activity, hitting harder at a profitable business than an unprofitable one. This meant that the dynamic sector of the economy suffered the most.

On business income above $35,000 the federal corporation tax is set at a flat rate of 50 per cent. The company brief said the ability-to-pay concept doesn't enter the picture.

"One cannot measure the ability to pay of an artificial person such as a corporation, any more than one can measure the ability to pay of a machine. In our opinion, therefore, income taxes can only logically be levied on natural persons."

CLAIMS TAXES FAILED

Corporation taxes failed in three important areas. They do not produce a steady yield, they have no regard for ability to pay, and they do not give direction to the economy.

A sales tax was suggested as an alternative, but the brief said this could be accomplished only over a long period. In the meantime the corporation tax must be made equitable and efficient.

First of all, the definition of "income" under the tax act should be broadened and clarified to include many of the acceptable accounting practices, said the brief. Either the act should make such a clear definition or allow it to be determined by "some independent and recognized standard."

Accounting procedures have been developed over the years for the express purpose of establishing income, yet the Income Tax Act won't accept them.

"Accounting principles are not developed irresponsibly or haphazardly, but rather to meet the needs of the user of financial data for a fair determination of income." It could be argued with force, said the brief, that if taxation rules vary considerably from accounting procedures, "the probability is high that the taxpayer is being treated inequitably."

OBJECTS TO METHOD

The brief particularly objected to the revenue department not accepting the "last in, first out" method of establishing inventory "in spite of its acceptability for commercial accounting purposes."

The brief also warned that special tax incentives—such as those introduced last year by the government—should be used with "great caution."

A tax incentive offered to taxpayers to spur any particular activity is "wholly unsound." It is "an attempt to produce incentive on the cheap" and results in discrimination against taxpayers not involved in that particular activity.

The special tax incentives introduced for research programs last year meant that taxpayers who were foresighted enough to begin research prior to 1962 get no benefits, "while the laggard who commences a research program in 1962 or after, is regarded." By the same token, the production incentives brought in offered nothing to the corporation that had exploited its sales to the full, while "the corporation previously running at half-steam has much more opportunity to benefit."

The News Interpreting

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

African leaders are gathering in Addis Ababa this week under the uniting drive of two forces: Geography and the powerful desire to end forever the continent's colonial age.

The meeting in the Ethiopian capital is designed to accomplish what has never before proved possible — an alliance among more than 30 countries whose differences are almost as vast as the continent.

If the goal is achieved, it could lead to immense pressure on the remaining white-ruled territories of the south—the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique; Southern Rhodesia and above all the apartheid regime of South Africa's Hendrik Verwoerd.

The meeting comes at a time when these white regimes are increasingly on the defensive. Excluding South Africa, 32 African nations now sit in the United Nations. All but nine have entered since the end of the 1950s.

Together with the Communist bloc they have put continual pressure on the white rulers, passing resolution after resolution demanding an end to apartheid, Portugal's ouster from Africa, British action to turn over power to the Negro majority in Southern Rhodesia.

COULD PUSH STRUGGLE

The Addis Ababa conference could push the struggle one step farther.

A resolution before this week's foreign ministers conference—preparing the way for the heads-of-state meeting starting next Wednesday, would set up a special fund for the support and training of liberation fighters.

The resolution, brought in by Sudan's Foreign Minister Ahmed Kheir, also would set up a complete boycott on trade with South Africa and deny airspace and territorial waters to South Africa's ships and planes.

The big question now is whether the 31 delegations at Addis Ababa can overcome the differences of race, religion, color and language—as well as those purely political and economic — that until now have dampened the dream of pan-Africanism.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

For Sunday, May 19, 1963

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Mixed influences. Some interests definitely seem "off" balance, not as colorful as once demed. Other matters will progress happily. Keep balance even, attitude thoughtful.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Small favors and help will be appreciated, so give, and you shall receive in large measure. This day could become too hectic, crowded with too much activity. Avoid such extremes. Make some time for relaxation.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — A shifting of certain situations indicated; perhaps conditions altering. You should be in on the movements, plans; add your foresight and opinions — modestly, naturally. But be in there pitching.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Hold the fort against unyielding, stubborn tendencies. These and other negative traits will be prevalent in many sectors now, but need not touch you if you remain aloof and stay with good sense.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Especially encouraged under present aspects: improving relations between heretofore opposing factions, level-headedness in ordinary Or emergency moments. Avoid: restlessness, impetuosity.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Day awaits Your move. Study situations and dispositions first. The wrong turn could cause a setback, but the right one could put you in the front of the field.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Note Virgo; your day has a similar outlook, but, in addition: emphasize more self-restraint, an unruffled demeanor and sufferance with the tardy and witless. Be sure-footed and heed your own tasks.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Hold out for the best, and give the same. Thus you can really enjoy a happy, useful day. Some quiet, reflective moments will soothe nerves, refresh the mind.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Jupiter auspicious. You should be able to go ahead under your own power, and assist others in a serene, poised manner. There will be a lot to this day if you master tranquility, promote confidence.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — The extension of your wonderful generosity and willingness to aid those in distress could lead to outstanding gains and satisfaction now. Sharpen skills.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Especially favored now: students, teachers, home-makers; agriculture, experimenting, exploring, writing, science and invention generally.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — You may begin the day well, but thinks like jealousy and stand-offishness could spoil the picture. Avoid these traits. Here is a day that should delight you if you remain fast against unwanted "intruders."

YOU BORN TODAY: A vast store of knowledge is usually amassed by the well-developed Taurean. And he, usually becomes dexterous with the hands and/or feet; may take up an avocation in sports, research, exploring new phases of an old subject and end up with an entirely new discovery. This is a Zodiacal area of great activity, will power, and a high order of regard for the truly best things. You are normally even-tempered, but become very angry when finally arouse

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Evolve a system of checks and balances in rating past efforts. Social and economic changes are looming up, so be sagacious in planning to meet them. Strive to learn more, see all sides.

Woman Has To Give Up Explosives

AURORA, Ont. (CP) — For 33 years Mrs. William Morning worked with dynamite and never had an accidental detonation. But now, because others lack confidence in her, she has had to surrender her licence to handle explosives.

The petite, grey-haired widow was forced out of business as a dynamite retailer when two councils refused to approve sites for a magazine.

Mrs. Morning took over the business in this town 25 miles north of Toronto when her husband died in 1960. She ran the business until the farm on which she stored the explosive and detonator caps was sold.

The new owner didn't care for the idea of having the magazine on his property and asked her to move. She managed to line up two sites, one in King Township and another in Whitchurch Township.

"I wanted everything to be open and above board so I went to the councils to be sure there were no objections," Mrs. Morning said.

Both objected. King said the site was too near a proposed residential subdivision, Whitchurch felt it would be a strain on the nerves of residents.

Mrs. Morning finds it difficult to understand their fears.

"My husband used to say that dynamite was nothing to worry about as long as it was treated with respect. I've always followed that advice."

Mr. Morning, an expert in handling explosives, did most of the bridge clearance work in the Toronto area after Hurriane Hazel in 1954. He was often employed to destroy dangerous buildings and bridges and remove stumps and boulders.

LIVING IN SEATTLE. Mr. and Mrs. Milton John Furness, Jr., were married recently at Seattle's St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Mrs. Furness is the former Carole Buckley, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Buckley of Nelson, and Mr. Furness is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Furness of Everett, Wash. Rev. Francis J. Greene, head of the department of journalism at Seattle University, of which the newlyweds were the first two graduates in journalism, officiated at the wedding service. The bride's gown was of hand-clipped ivory chantilly lace over antique taffeta, with court train re-appliqued in the chantilly lace. She was attended by her sister, Miss Naomi Buckley of Nelson, Miss Ann Furness, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Teresa Delahunty, both of Seattle. Mr. Thomas P. Owens of Seattle was best man and ushers were Mr. Norman Kempster of Olympia and Mr. Gene Esquivel of Seattle.

Mrs. C. R. Cotton Heads E. Kootenay Institutes

LISTER — Mrs. C. R. Cotton of Creston was re-elected as president of the East Kootenay District Women's Institute board at a meeting held at the Deer Lodge Hall in Lister.

An estimated 110 women attended, 30 of these coming from across the border, 16 from Grasmere and three from Invermere.

The provincial board was represented by Mrs. R. C. Palmer, provincial president, and directors, Mrs. Clyde B. White of Nelson and Mrs. J. S. Scott of Robson.

Other members elected to the board are: Mrs. H. Russill, Wynndel, secretary - treasurer; Mrs. D. McDonald, Grasmere, vice - president; Mrs. J. C. Helme, Lister; Mrs. F. Merriam, Wynndel, and Mrs. A. Lindsay, of Creston as directors.

Mrs. J. C. Helme was named for selection of a delegate to attend the next national convention at Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, next year.

Lorne Hobden, gave the address of welcome. Mrs. A. Edmunds and Mrs. Olive McClean of Porthill, Idaho, also spoke briefly.

Reports of the various Institutes were heard.

PROGRAM

Besides a skit on "Hats" by Grasmere Institute and a reading by Mrs. G. Jacks of Creston Institute, the program also included two young speakers.

Miss Lynda Joy, guest for the Wynndel Institute, and the winner of the K.P. contest for the East Kootenay in public speaking, spoke on the "Rights and Responsibilities of a Canadian Citizen."

Miss Laura Millner, guest of the Lister Institute, and a winner of the 4H speaking contest, outlined the history of the Women's Institutes, stressing that it is a world-wide organization and as such can accomplish more for world peace than any other group.

The handicraft, hobby and historical displays were exceptional. Of particular note was a scrap book entered by Lister W.I. The book was begun in 1829 and finished in 1849 by Dorothy Harvey for her son Joseph Harvey who is Mrs. Charles Huscroft's grandfather. Mrs. Harvey compiled this book while living at Wexford, Ireland.

Also noteworthy was a sampler made by Miss Effie Turner of Invermere. This is an entirely original piece of work done in cross stitch, listing the members of her family, and is done in the colors of the family. It will be entered in the Tweedsmuir competition.

Mrs. White in her talk, stressed the availability of the Mary E. Davidson fund for those in need of eye, ear, nose and throat care, encouraging Institute members to make use of this special fund.

CENTENNIAL PROJECT

Mrs. J. S. Scott, also of the provincial board, explained the Centennial project of compiling a Canadian Mosaic. The help of the district was asked in this regard as historical items and pictures are needed. Any black and white pictures of handicrafts, e:g. Indian beadwork, will be particularly appreciated and will be returned.

The mosaic is a history of the district — the first settlers, the Indians, the fur traders and the first immigrants. Handicrafts, tools used, their methods of livelihood and homemaking are of special interest. District convener, Mrs. Frank Merriam, is handling the material.

ACWW CONVENTION

Mrs. R. C. Palmer spoke and showed slides of the Associated Country Women of the World in convention at Melbourne, Australia.

Mrs. Palmer was one of the 1500 delegates, representing 34 countries, 155 Institutes and seven million members.

"The chief problem facing the world today, she said, is poverty and ignorance; these also being the main barrier to world peace.

"The Associated Country Women of the World can by friendship, learning and education help the have not nations to help themselves. Each individual craves friendship, as does each family, each community, each nation and the whole world.

"The fulfilled, happy woman gives a happy home; which in turn gives a happy community, and a happy nation. Seven million women with a will to do, can bring peace to the world."

Lister W.I. served luncheon and the Arrow Creek W.I. served tea.

Mrs. A. Sommerfeld was pianist.

The next District W.I. meeting will be hosted by the Grasmere W.I.

Between 1957 and 1963 there were 41 major volcanic eruptions throughout the world.

Women Good Players on Stock Market

TORONTO (CP) — Women aren't gamblers and don't panic if their shares take a fall and this makes them better players on the stock market, says a Toronto broker.

Roy Nose of A. E. Osler Company, who lectures on the principles of wise stock buying, says: "Women do not take as many risks as men and so tend to be very successful in the stock market. They do not tend to panic if the price drops and hold on to their shares far longer than men—being reluctant to take a loss in their capital investment."

Modern Living In A Modern Age

Better Your Living in 1963

Well Landscaped Grounds Enhance Home Charm, Value

Modern home improvement should start with one's land, advise nurserymen.

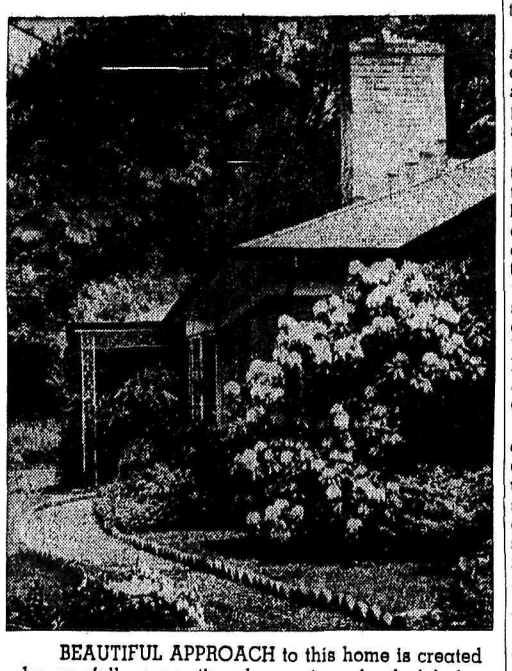
The costliest mansion surrounded by bare and eroded soil is a depressing sight. By comparison, a four-room house on a beautifully landscaped plot can provide a lovely setting for more gracious living

Natural beauty on the land has no limitations of wealth! Anyone can achieve it. The principal requirement is an appreciation of the land on which the family lives and what it can do for those who treat it kindly by planting and maintaining it.

Success in landscaping the property requires, as in everything else, a sound approach.

1. Sit down and figure out what you wish to achieve — outdoor living, armfuls of flowers, tree-ripened fruits, cool shade, play areas. It may be a combination of all.

2. Start with a plan to achieve what you wish. Where you want your fruits and berries; where the ideal spot is for outdoor living (you may also wish to screen it with shrubs or trees from the neighborhood generally). Shade should be where you most desire it. The foliage of the tree when mature should be between the place where you want shade and the sun. A professional plan by a landscape nurseryman often is advisable.



BEAUTIFUL APPROACH to this home is created by carefully proportioned grouping of colorful rhododenron and other shrubbery.

3. Plant according to the plan. At the same time, after each plant is placed in the ground, stand off and observe whether you are planting it in exactly the right place. If not, shift it a little until it is most pleasing to the eye.

4. Maintain your plants once they are in the ground. A good soaking with water only when the soil becomes dry is a general rule. Fertilizing and mulching may be neded. Get advice from neighbors, nurserymen, state university extension services. Many pamphlets are available. Read the garden stories in your local newspaper for ideas.

Property improvement by landscaping and gardening can be a very rewarding experience.

Landscaping can also be a sound investment, the trees and shrubs growing in value from year to year, increasing the value of the property up to 25 per cent or more.

The Modern Home

Designing a house for expansion, but keeping the square footage under 1100 square feet presented a problem to the Building Centre designers, who have come up with this attractive split entry.

On the main floor, we show a full sized three bedroom layout with charming living-dining area with outside fireplace, well planned kitchen-nook, three good sized bedrooms and bathroom.

Entering the house through the attractive foyer, however, the future possibilities of this house become evident, with the clear expanse of basement, becoming a perfect layout for future rooms — extra bedrooms, recreation rooms, or even a self-contained suite should the owner decide to incorporate one. Wide windows in this lower level let in plenty of light, so that this attractive house can easily become a two-family dwelling.

Combining appearance with economy of construction too, the cottage roof lends itself to the use of either patent or cedar shingles in the glowing new colors now available — try the soft pastel tones of asbestos siding for something new and different in outside appearance.

Working drawings of this highly adaptable contemporary design are available from the Building Centre Design Department, 96 Kingsway, Vancouver 10, designed to NHA specifications.

Old Homes Come Into Style in Canada

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP)—The newest fashion fad in homes is a return to the old.

Ruth Home, past president of the Architectural Conservancy of Ontario, says old houses are coming more into style every day, especially in larger cities.

"People who want an old house usually want the amenities that go with it—the high ceilings, large rooms, lots of rooms, sturdy construction and central location."

Also the cost of an old house can be spread over a longer period than the cost of a new one. "You can move into it and chew at it," says Miss Home who, with her sister, has been re-decorating a three - storey five - bedroom Victorian house they purchased in central Toronto five years ago.

"An older house also allows for greater possibilities with the do-it-yourself programs."

FEW ARE UNCHANGED

The Architectural Conservancy, an organization of public-spirited individuals from all across Canada who wish to preserve old buildings of architectural, social and historical merit, has found that very few old homes today are in their original condition.

"Buildings are like ladies' dresses — people like to do things with them," says Miss Home, explaining that such features as shingles, windows, paint and wallpaper usually have been changed. The staircases are the most frequently changed feature.

But if 60 per cent of the original building is there, it is worth preserving in most cases, she said.

In Ontario, there are practically no houses standing which date back to 1793 and many of the houses built between 1800 and 1814 were destroyed during the War of 1812 or by fire.

"Any of these old houses are worth preserving not just because they are old but because they are visual examples of the social and economic conditions of their time."

Homes built in quantity in this country around 1840 coincided with the rather ornate "gingerbread age" in Europe.

CHIEF REMINDER

The dominant style which has survived here since the 19th century is that of the Gothic revival (1835-1890) which can be recognized by its arched windows, steep roofs, finials, lace verandahs and 12-paned windows. "As the century progressed its roof lines became steeper."

Rarely seen in Canada is the rectangular Georgian (1783-1810), characterized by a steep roof, tight eaves, bold molds, heavy six-panelled doors and 24-paned windows.

A more refined version of the Georgian modified by the United Empire Loyalists is also rare, and the plain heavy-looking homes designed in the style of the classical revival with flat pitched roofs, pillars and cornices are seldom seen in Canada.

Whether built in 1810 or 1880, settlers' cabins were designed in the same simple pattern—one or two rooms with a shallow sleeping loft overhead—throughout most of the countryside, said Miss Home.

The conservancy's annual house tour in Toronto May 15 is based on the "do-it-yourself" theme this year. Most of the small houses to be studied illustrate how much can be done on a small budget.

Furnace Kept Dry By Pilot Light

When your natural gas furnace isn't required during summer months, it is a good idea to keep the little pilot light burning.

Setting the room temperature at the lowest position keeps the heat off, but keeps the pilot light on.

Among the advantages are:

Inside of the furnace will remain dry, thus preventing rust, and proloning whole units life.

It keeps the furnace ready for chilly or damp summer mornings or evenings when a little heat in the home is welcome.

Pilot flame generates enough heat to maintain a chimney draft, venitlating the basement to reduce dampness and mustiness.

When winter draws near, heating contractors are deluged with calls from homeowners who want their pilots relighted.

Keeping the pilot on assures immediate heat whenever desired and the difference on the gas bill is scarcely noticeable.

Helpful Hints

Dump jars of screws, bolts, and washers on window screening for sorting. When wanted items are selected, lift screen to funnel rest back into jar.

Raise a wooden chair for youngsters by screwing four rubber-tipped door bumpers into bottom end of legs. Bumpers can easily be unscrewed when no longer needed.

An empty adhesive tape spool makes a perfect storage kit for a plumb or chalk line. When wound around spool and snapped back into original cover, the line starys dry, clean and can't scatter chalk through tool box. Or, hang it up on a nail!

Helpful Hints

SOLDERING IRONS

Keep a piece of emery cloth or sandpaper tacked to one corner of work bench, and wipe hot soldiering iron across the abrasive occasionally while working. This keeps hot surfaces free of scale.

STOP SPLATTER

Protect door knobs and hardware from splattering paint by coating them liberally with damp soap. Paint after soap dries. A wet cloth removes paint splatters along with the soap.

PAINTING DESIGNS

When painting small designs on flat surfaces, draw designs on masking tape and cut out with a razor blade. The tape can then be pressed into position, and used as a painting guide.

DEMAGNETIZE TOOLS

To demagnetize a screwdriver, or other small tool, pass its blade between the two heating elements, or poles, of a pistol-type soldiering gun while the current is on.

L. V. Rogers Athletes Smash Ten Records at Annual Track Meet; House A Wins; Fyfe Stars

A REAL EFFORT — Some of the strain of participating in events at the high school track meet Friday is seen in the face of this unidentified competitor in the shotput event.—Daily News photo.

L. V. Rogers track and field athletes topped 10 school records at their annual meet at the Civic Centre Friday, a day that saw perennial star Terry Fyfe, break three records in racking up 16 points to win the senior girl's aggregate honors and House A win the team title by outclassing the second place house by nearly 30 points.

Barb Wait tallied 15 points in winning the intermediate girls' aggregate and also smashed one mark during the afternoon's action.

Boys' aggregate honors went to Art Maxwell with 13 points in the senior division and Brian Reid, with 15 points in the intermediate class.

The final team positions went to the four houses in alphabetical order with House A topping the field with 192 1/3 points. House B was a distant second with 156 1/3 points, while House C managed 141 and House D landed in the proverblal cellar with 139 1/3.

RECORDS FALL

Fyfe, possibly with an eye towards the West Kootenay meet to be held in Trail next weekend, had a great day smashing records in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and also the broad jump event. She also picked up a second place finish with her House B teammates in the 440 yard relay won by House A's team of Chris Hrytzak, Sheila Morris (who also set two new records) Marian Harvey and B. Spence.

Morris etched her name in the school record books with two great efforts, in the 75 yard dash and high jump, a record which had been a solid barrier, unbroken since 1957.

Wait, girls' intermediate aggregate winner, chopped 2.7 seconds off the old mark in running the 220 yard dash in 28.7 seconds, and also won the 75 yard dash and the broad jump.

WINS MILE

Howard Ridge made the torturous four circuits of the Civic Centre's ¼-mile oval in 5 minutes, 25.0 seconds to win the always popular open mile event. He was pushed to the wire, for a great finish, by a determined Vic Baravelle who finished just a couple of strides behind. Baravelle's time was 5:28.2. House A's Paul Buckley finished third.

For the first 2½ laps, it looked as though Ridge, Baravelle and Buckley would finish 2, 3 4 instead of first, second, third.

Warren Laine started the mile run in a great burst of speed, at times as much as 100 yards ahead of the pack, and looked like a sure winner. It was even thought by some observers he might set a school record for the distance, but after 2½ laps of the blistering pace he had set for himself took its toll and forced him to drop out, leaving the field for the eventual winner, Ridge.

The results of the meet follow:

Second No-Hit Ball Game For Nottebart

Houston's Don Nottebart, a cast-off with only 13 previous victories in the majors, pitched the second no-hitter of the season Friday night, but allowed a run as the Colts whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1.

Nottebart, a 27-year-old right-hander purchased from Milwaukee last November, pitched his masterpiece only six nights after Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander Sandy Koufax no-hit San Francisco. It gave Nottebart a 5-1 record after he had posted a 9-9 mark in three previous years.

The Phillies took some luster from the performance when they managed to push across a run in the fifth inning. Don Demeter reached second base when shortstop J. C. Hartman booted his grounder, moved to third on a sacrifice by Clay Dalrymple and scored on Don Hoak's sacrifice fly.

The run tied the score, but the Colts finally gave Nottebart the runs he needed in the sixth on Howie Goss' three-run homer.

At Los Angeles Frank Howard batted in three runs and Nate Oliver drove in two as the Dodgers scored their eighth victory in 10 games by defeating Pittsburgh 9-3.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Pirates and their ninth in 11 games.

Howard, who recently went 0-for-20, picked up his first run batted in with a first inning double and got two more in the fifth when he hit his sixth homer. Oliver hit a two-run triple in the fourth, and scored twice.

Right-hander Bob Miller went eight innings for the Dodgers and gained his third victory in five decisions, giving up seven hits and all three Pittsburgh runs.

St. Louis walloped Cincinnati 11-2. The Milwaukee - Chicago game was rained out.

In the American League, Kansas City shut out Boston 2-0 on Ted Bowsfield's three-hitter and dropped the Red Sox into second-place behind rained-out Chicago.

Minnesota clobbered Cleveland 11-4 as Bob Allison hit three consecutive homers, and Joe Pepitone hit a pair of two-run homers that gave the New York Yankees a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles' Angels. The other clubs were rained out.

Four home runs and Ernie Broglio's four-hit pitching gave the job done for the Cards. The homers were hit by Stan Musial, George Altman, Dick Gorat and Julian Javier.

British Columbia's Bowsfield, who pitched a two-hitter for the A's last Saturday when he held Minnesota hitless for 8 1-3 innings, beat his former Red Sox teammates on George Alusik's two-run double in the third inning.

Allison connected in the fifth, seventh and eighth innings, driving in six runs and making it easy for the Twins. Zoilo Versalles and Harmon Killebrew also homered against the Indians.

Pepitone's homers produced four runs, one more than two homers by the Angels' Lee Wagner, and that was the entire story of the Yankees' victory.

Cooper's Piloting Lauded

LONDON (Reuters) — American astronaut Gordon Cooper's "magnificent piloting "thrilled Europe early Friday.

The 22-orbit flight of his space ship Faith 7 filled the front pages of British newspapers morning, with the mass-circulation Daily Mirror expressing Britain's urge to cheer for a man in trouble in its headline:

"Rocket control goes wrong, but Gordon does it by the seat of his pants."

"Glorious splashdown!" The Daily Herald said in its headline.

"All by himself!" ran a Daily Mail banner.

Europeans followed the flight on radio and television links with Cape Canaveral and the carrier Kearsarge.

SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Russian Premier Khrushchev said in a telegram to President Kennedy quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass:

"Esteemed Mr. President, accept our cordial congratulations on the occasion of cosmonaut G. Cooper's successful flight in the cosmic ship Faith 7 which has made a new contribution to the exploration of the outer space.

"The Soviet people send the courageous American cosmonaut Gordon Cooper their congratulations and best wishes."

Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, President Julio Adalberto Rivera of Salvador, President Joao Goulart of Brazil, New Zealand Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake, and West Germany's President Heinrich Luebke and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were among others who sent messages of contratulations to Kennedy.

Television viewers in Britain and 10 other European nations saw pictures from Cape Canaveral via the Telstar II satellite, and heard a play-by-play account of the spaceman's hazardous re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

When Telstar II dipped below the horizon, the Relay I satellite picked up the broadcast.

Permanent Speaker Considered

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Talk of a permanent Speaker for Canada's House of Commons cropped up afresh on Thursday as the new Commons chose Alan Macnaughton as its presiding officer.

The suggestion of a permanent Speaker was revived by Conservative Leader Diefenbaker who remarked that he had tried unsuccessfully to make such an appointment. Possibly Prime Minister Pearson, who had spoken in favor of a permanent Speakership when in opposition, might now have a try.

However, observers drew the conclusion that Mr. Diefenbaker might not agree if Mr. Pearson proposed Mr. Macnaughton as a permanent appointee.

Their reasoning was based on a report from informed sources that Mr. Diefenbaker didn't reply to a letter from Mr. Pearson saying he planned Mr. Macnaughton's nomination as speaker and inviting the Conservative elader's comments.

When Mr. Pearson first announced his intention of nominating the 59-year-old MP from Montreal Mount Royal, there was some speculation that his term might develop into some form of permanent Speakership. Usual procedure now is that a Speaker holds the office for the life of a Parliament.

RECALL TWO OTHERS

Two former Speakers in recent years—Hon. Rene Beaudoin and Hon. Roland Michener—mounted the Speaker's throne under circumstances which led many to anticipate one of them might become a permanent appointee.

Mr. Michener's nomination by Mr. Diefenbaker, then prime minister, was seconded by Mr. Pearson who then was Opposition leader. Mr. Beaudoin was nominated by Louis St. Laurent as prime minister and seconded by the Opposition leader, Hon. George Drew.

Mr. Beaudoin fell from opposition favor during the bitter parliamentary pipeline debate of 1956 and became the object of a censure motion moved by Mr. Drew.

Mr. Michener, who was particularly popular with the opposition Liberals in the 24th Parliament and is a personal friend of Mr. Pearson, was defeated in the 1962 general election.

Since the beginning of the fourth century, Christians of many churches have visited the Holy City of Jerusalem.

Carving Totem Pole for Buenos Aires

VICTORIA (CP) — A 65-foot totem pole that will stand in the Plaza Canada in Buenos Aires is being carved here.

The project was commissioned by the Canadian embassy in the Argentine capital and is being financed by a group of Canadian businessmen.

To be carved in the Kwakiutl style, it will tell the same story as the world's tallest totem, a 125-foot pole erected in Victoria's Beacon Hill Park in 1956.

Henry Hunt, who helped carve the huge totem, is working on the new pole along with his son Tony.

Early in 1961 the city of Buenos Aires decided to name one of its many squares in honor of Canada.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
