Government Weathers First Test; Beats Confidence Vote 124-113

Unemployment Drops 3.1 p.c.

VICTORIA (CP)—Trade Minister Bonner announced Tuesday the B.C. unemployment in April dropped to 6.7 per cent of the labor force — down from 9.8 per cent in January.

B.C.'s mid-April labor force stood at 601,000 — an increase of 12,000 from a year earlier.

Mr. Bonner said there are 14,000 more people working in B.C. today than at the same point in 1962.

Two PC's Four Socreds Vote With Liberals

OTTAWA (CP)—By a vote of 124 to 113 the minority Liberal government was sustained in the Commons Tuesday night in its first test of strength, called by the New Democratic Party over nuclear policy.

Prime Minister Pearson drew support from all 118 Liberals who voted — plus former Conservative defence minister Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North), Jack McIntosh (PC—Swift Current-Maple Creek) and the four western members of the Social Credit party led by national Leader Thompson.

Aligned against the government on the issue were 79 Conservatives, 16 New Democrats and 18 of the Quebec Social Credit MPs led by Deputy Leader Real Caouette and including Independent-Social Crediter Guy Marcoux of Quebec-Montmorency.

Two members abstained because they were "paired" — an agreement with absent MPs not to vote. James Byrne (L — Kootenay East) said he would have voted with Mr. Pearson and Ken More (PC — Regina City) said he would have voted for the NDP motion.

VOICES REGRET

The motion by NDP Leader Douglas said:

"We regret your excellency's advisers have indicated their intention of acquiring nuclear arms for Canadian forces, thereby lessening the chances for nuclear disarmament and increasing the danger of nuclear war."

Mr. Douglas's motion was technically a subamendment to an amendment moved Monday by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker to the address in reply to the throne speech.

The main amendment will be voted on Thursday night. Passage of any amendment in a throne speech debate topples the government and sets the stage for a new general election.

Standing in the House: Liberals 129, Conservatives 94, Social Credit 23, NDP 17, Independent-Social Credit 1 — total 264. The election writs have not yet been returned for one Conservative, Eugene Rheaume in the Northwest Territories, due to technical delays.

Prime Minister Pearson said flatly the government could not accept the NDP motion — thereby removing any suggestion that it would be treated as a matter on which MPs would vote without heed for political alignments.

NATO Considering Non-Aggression Pact

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—NATO Secretary-General Dirk Stikker said Tuesday night that the alliance is studying carefully the possibility of a non-aggression treaty between NATO and the Communist Warsaw Pact countries.

He said, however, it is too early to express a definite opinion. Such a treaty might be useful only as confirmation of progress in settlement of differences between East and West.

Mr. Stikker also told a press conference that the advantages of the projected inter-allied nuclear force in NATO would not be political only. There would be the military advantages of the nited States and Britain committing strategic nuclear weapons to NATO and of making available more information to non-nuclear alliance members on what would be involved in the use of nuclear arms.

He said creation of the inter-allied force of British bombers, American Polaris missile submarines and tactical air units of several countries is not intended to pacify or satisfy West Germany. It would be impossible for one country to decide how the nuclear force would be used.

There had never been any discussion in the NATO council on how to prevent West Germany from doing certain things.

Mr. Stikker said the two projected nuclear forces — the inter-allied group, to be discussed at the NATO conference opening here today, and the seaborne missile arm — are "distinct and separate systems."

Prime Minister Pearson will open the meeting in the House of Commons chamber.

Governor Blocks Desegregation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Court-ordered desegregation of the University of Alabama ran into a roadblock erected by state Governor George Wallace Tuesday within hours after a federal judge refused to delay enrolment of two Negroes at the all-white university.

"I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll," Wallace told a Montgomery press conference. "This is legal resistance and legal defiance."

Wallace said he is invoking state sovereignty to defy federal authority in a move that set up the long-expected showdown between him and President Kennedy.

The governor's declaration followed by about three hours a ruling in Birmingham by U.S. district Judge H. Hobart Grooms that desegregation could not be stalled because of racial unrest in the state.

Armored Car Driver, $300,000 Missing

Gov't Guarding Against Refunds On Surcharges

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) —The government is taking steps to protect the treasury against court claims for refunds of the controversial import surcharges which could have approached $100,000,000.

Finance Minister Walter Gordon told the Commons Tuesday the Liberal government will introduce legislation which would have the effect of preventing any "massive attempt" to obtain refunds.

Presumably the measure would rule out about a dozen petitions for refunds which have already been filed in the Exchequer Court of Canada.

Mr. Gordon gave no immediate indication, however whether the government legislation would provide parliamentary ratification for the surcharges, thus making them valid, or whether it would merely declare that no refunds could be made.

The court cases already brought against the surcharges, which lasted from June 24 last year to March 31, claim that the surcharges are invalid.

Bonner Shies Away From Censorship

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday was wary about requests for a provincial board to censor paper back books and magazines.

"The general field of censorship is one I'm personally very concerned about entering," he said.

He was commenting on the request made last week by the Provincial Parent-Teacher Association which wants a censorship board established by his department.

Mr. Bonner said the criminal code already provides the opening for any local group to seek prosecution of any dealer selling obscene literature.

To go any further would require new provincial legislation, he added.

"I don't know whether we are justified in creating a local definition of obscenity not sanctioned by criminal law," Mr. Bonner said.

"I don't know that this is the type of responsibility we would want to place in private hands."

International Police Hunt Begins at Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—An armored-car driver, missing along with $300,000 of his company's money, Tuesday night was identified as Douglas John Brown of Surrey, B.C.

Brown, charged with "theft over $50," was the subject of an international police hunt.

He was described as married, the father of four children ranging in age from three to 14 years. His wife was recently released from hospital after a minor operation.

Superintendent of Detectives Jack Horton originally estimated the loot at $500,000. However, more than $220,000 in non-negotiable cheques and $5000 in cash was found in a car parked in suburban Richmond, B.C., near Vancouver International Airport.

Det.-Sgt. Bill Porteous, in charge of the four-man city police squad working with the RCMP on the case, said Brown checked in at the Loomis armored car headquarters Saturday night after making collections with his partner at 48 Safeway supermarkets.

The policeman said the money was unloaded and the partner left, leaving Brown with the unlocked vault.

Brown had been employed at Loomis for "nine or 10 years," a neighbor said and was a quiet man, "deeply interested in his work."

Eric Stafford, Loomis district manager, said company policy required two men to work a truck at all times. He said there was no suggestion that more than one man was involved in the theft.

The theft was not discovered until the missing employee — who had Sunday and Monday off duty — failed to turn up Tuesday.

RCMP at the airport — the federal force polices suburban Richmond municipality in which the airport is located — said all passenger lists were checked but the driver's name was not on any of them.

An official of the company which bonds Loomis employees — Mr. Stafford would not say who he is, nor name the firm he works for — is en route to Vancouver from San Francisco. Mr. Stafford declined to say when he would arrive.

Empress Hotel Set for Strike

VICTORIA (CP) — A spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railway's Empress Hotel said Tuesday night the management is working "24 hours a day" preparing for the Wednesday midnight strike deadline.

However, he said no talks are going on at present between management and the Victoria local of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers.

Management rejected a conciliation officer's suggested wage settlement of seven cents from date of signing over three years, plus $50 lump settlement in lieu of 16 months' retroactive pay.

The hotel offered five cents from date of signing for most employees, and the union was willing to settle for four cents an hour on a one-year contract.

The Empress pays waitresses $1.20 an hour compared with a top of $1.35 in a city department store. Room clerks get $1.73 an hour compared with a top of $1.35 at other city hotels.

Picketing plans were laid Tuesday by the union as the hotel management advertised for new staff to take over 300 vacancies.

The hotel spokesman said the management has made it's offer and it stands until midnight Wednesday, when it will be withdrawn if the union strikes.

Catholic, Anglican Clergy Meet

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roman Catholic and Anglican clergy conferring here say their meetings have brought a "breakthrough to human understanding."

About 80 clergymen from British Columbia are attending the three-day conference, largest of its nature ever held in Canada.

It is designed to define areas of agreement and disagreement between the churches, and to place minor disputes in perspective.

"By clearing away the human differences existing in the two churches we are opening the way to greater and more intelligent discussion of theological matters," said Rev. E. C. Garvey, principal of St. Mark's College, a Catholic institution at the University of B.C.

"This is a part of a process of humanization of Christianity that is necessary for its success in the modern world," said Rev. William Youngman of St. Andrew's Anglican Church in Burnaby.

Raid Nets 1750 Bottles Liquor

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police cashed in on the holiday weekend buildup at the city's bootlegging houses and seized 1750 bottles of beer and other assorted beverages in raids on seven suspected establishments.

The bootleggers, who had all stocked up in anticipation of increased business because of the closure of liquor stores Monday, coupled with warm weather, were raided during the weekend.

Wide Variation In Tax Views

TORONTO (CP) — The entire day of the royal commission on taxation was devoted Tuesday to the question of taxes, or lack of them, on co-operative-type organizations. And the views it heard were miles apart.

The Retail Merchants Association of Canada (Ontario Incorporated) said lack of corporation tax on co-operatives was a "grave concern" to retailers throughout Canada. The Ontario Credit Union League Limited, speaking specifically about credit unions—in effect, co-operatives — presented a lengthy argument in favor of the existing system.

It was a statistic-studded session that stretched throughout the day as commission counsel John Stewart, a Toronto corporation lawyer, took over the detailed examination of all witnesses.

Is it not true, he asked league General Manager J. N. Hallinan, that credit unions are in direct competition with other financial institutions? In 1960, they supplied 11.6 per cent of all loans in Canada and 14.7 per cent of the population belonged to credit unions, and they were growing at a remarkable rate.

"I'd rather look on it as these other financial institutions competing with us," replied Mr. Hallinan. He said that chartered banks didn't show any interest in personal loans until a few years ago.

Parliament

By The Canadian Press

An NDP motion of non-confidence was defeated 124 to 113, Liberals getting support from two Conservatives and four Social Credit MPs.

Finance Minister Gordon said the government plans legislation to prevent successful claims for refund of import surcharge payments.

NDP Leader Douglas accused the government of a glaring disregard of Parliament in deciding to obtain nuclear warheads from the U.S.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the Liberals had performed "kaleidoscopic somersaults" on nuclear weapons policy.

Prime Minister Pearson said the Liberals decided on nuclear warheads to fill "a moral and political commitment" of the former government.

District Men Elected at Kelowna Meet

KELOWNA (CP) — The B.C. Association of United Community Funds and Councils is considering getting provincial welfare groups together, possibly in a provincial convention.

The suggestion came from G. A. Sutherland of Vancouver, vice-president of the group who said:

"Consideration is being given to get all welfare groups in the province together but they will have to reach a decision that is satisfactory to all groups.

"I believe we should bring in welfare experts from all over the province to a convention."

Laton A. Smith, executive secretary of the Community Funds and Councils of Canada, Canadian Welfare Council, said: "It think sooner or later there will be a B.C. group of welfare societies, including all welfare groups."

The comments came at the conference of the Association here Saturday at which the 1962-63 *executive was returned to an*other term.

Returned were Dr. C. J. M. Willoughby, Kamloops, past president; C. R. Shier, Trail, president; G. A. Sutherland, Vancouver, vice-president; D. F. Crowder, Trail, treasurer and C. H. Napthali, Vancouver, secretary.

North Central Highway Start Possible in '64

VICTORIA (CP) — The government is planning a new ferry service from Northern Vancouver Island to link an $80,000,000 highway route across North Central B.C., Premier Bennett said Tuesday.

The ferry would run from Port Hardy or "some place like that" to Prince Rupert, Mr. Bennett said.

There passengers will be able to get on a new highway 16 running through Prince George and McBride to Jasper.

The premier said the government hopes to start building the highway next year.

Legion Wants No Change In Pensions, Benefits

KAMLOOPS (CP)—The Royal Canadian Legion is often the eyes, ears, and sometimes the conscience of the people where veterans are concerned, former veterans affairs minister A. J. Brooks told the twenty-sixth biennial weekend convention of the Legion's Pacific Command.

He said the Legion should press Prime Minister Pearson for a promise that no action would be taken on the Glassco report that would affect the present pensions and veterans' benefits.

"The Diefenbaker government gave us this assurance," he said.

Judge C. C. Sparling, Dominion president of the Legion, said it should avoid the "gimme" attitude and urged the Legion to fight for its principles whenever an injustice was done to veterans.

"The Legion is a strong, virile body, and over a quarter of a million veterans are listened to by statesmen and politicians," he said.

Treatment Centre Planned For Alcoholics

VICTORIA (CP) — Work will start in midsummer on a new B.C. government treatment plan for alcoholic offenders, Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday.

He announced in the legislature in March that $25,000 would be spent on a pilot plan this year.

He said Tuesday his department will build a small treatment centre in the vicinity of Haney Correctional Institute, where the government owns 1000 acres of land.

A specialized staff would provide treatment for alcoholics within the prison system.

Tot Killed By Oil Drum

HANEY, B.C. (CP) — Eric Michael McIntyre, 4, of Kitimat, was killed when an oil drum fell from a platform and struck him at this Fraser Valley community where his sister and mother were visiting friends. Police said the youngster and his eight-year-old sister were playing near the barrel when the mishap occurred.

MOTORISTS BUY SUGAR IN U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sugar poured north across the border into the Vancouver area this weekend.

Customs officials at the Douglas border crossing said almost every second returning Canadian car carried some sugar — anything from 10-pound bags to 50 pound sacks.

The Point Roberts border crossing point reported a similar situation. Many Canadian motorists going their found the stores on the American side sold out of sugar.

Reason for the flow is that sugar is selling for $1.73 for 10 pounds in Vancouver compared with $1.15 for a similar amount in Seattle.

"Most motorists quite happily paid the duty," said one customs official.

The duty for those not staying 48 hours in the U.S. was two cents a pound.

Wholesale price of sugar in Vancouver went up 45 cents to a record high of $16.35 for a 100-pound bag, the 41st boost since last October 1.

Family of Four Found Slain

EDMONTON (CP) — A family of four was found shot to death in their south Edmonton home Tuesday.

Police said G. Wilke, 43, was found in one of the bedrooms and his 38-year-old wife was found on a bed. The two children, Hardy, 10, and Marion, 8, were also found on a bed.

Police said a .22-calibre automatic rifle was found in the house. There was no sign of a struggle.

Police said a neighbor called police after getting no response to his knocks at the door of the Wilke home Tuesday morning. The shades in the house had been pulled since Saturday.

A police spokesman said the "crime has not been reconstructed yet so it is not known in what sequence the family members died." No other details were released.

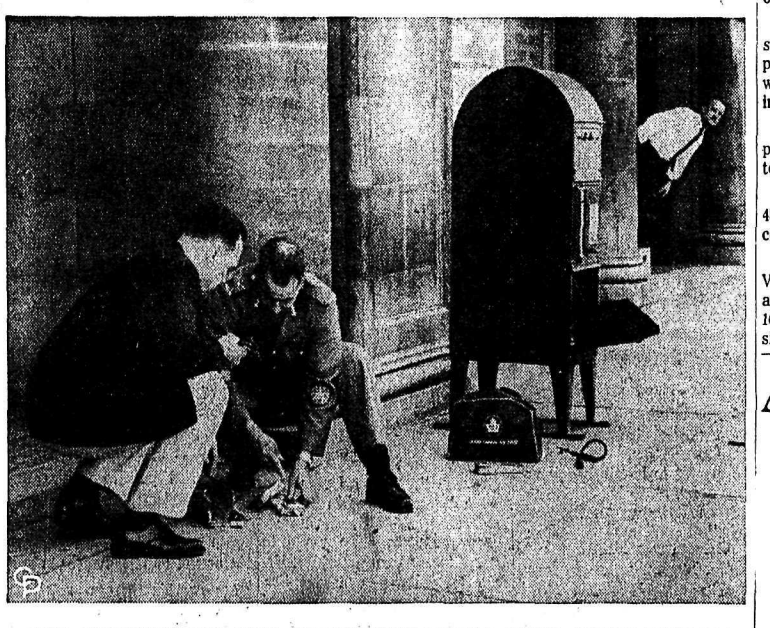
A post mortem is to be held, police said, to determine the time of the deaths.

The family, described as "quiet" by neighbors, moved into the one-storey house several months ago.

INLAND GAS NOTES PROFIT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. reports a profit of $961,153 or 33 cents a share for the nine months ending March 31, compared with $947,483 or 32 cents a share last year.

Inland customers increased to 20,750 at March 31 from 18,000 a year earlier.



LOST ARM DISMANTLING BOMB—An unidentified spectator (right) watches warily as Sgt. Maj. Walter Leja (center), 42, army bomb expert, dismantles a bomb found in a mailbox in Montreal, Que. At left is an unidentified official. Leja dismantled two bombs (this was the second) successfully, but the third exploded as he reached into a mailbox, blowing one of his arms off and injuring his chest.

And in This Corner . . .

VICTORIA (CP)—An embarrassed woman driver tried to explain to a chuckling Magistrate William Osler in city police court Tuesday how she got into difficulties with her big, old car.

"I feel rather foolish," said Verna Elenki of Victoria, as she told of the circumstances that led to her being charged with careless driving.

When she reversed her car on to Pandora the bumper hooked another parked vehicle. She drove off pulling the car down the street and around a corner before it became detached and hit a third car.

When the magistrate asked the accused if she knew she had another car in tow, Mrs. Elenki replied that she did not.

She explained "It was a small car. I have a big, old car that is not working right and I thought it was just acting up."

Magistrate Osler said he believed her story because she wouldn't have made it up. He fined her $35 when she pleaded guilty.

Jaycee Plan To Press North-South Highway

Alarmed that Nelson's economy may deteriorate with the opening of the Salmo-Creston cutoff, a Nelson group has come up with a novel idea to make the Queen City the hub of a north-south highway link via Kaslo.

The Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce, in presenting its plan in the form of a brief Tuesday to the executive of the Chamber of Commerce, urged that group's backing.

Kennedy Facchina, originator of the idea, told the senior chamber officers that in order to retain Nelson's economic condition the vital link through Kaslo must be implemented without delay. Mr. Facchina was introduced by Peter Reibin, vice-president of the Jaycees.

Mr. Facchina told the members the north-south link is there but the road is in poor condition and needs to be brought up to standard.

He said the way to carry out such a plan is to induce the public to travel the route which, the Jaycees feel, would be the most logical way of impressing the government with the expediency of the plan.

The ideal solution to encourage the public to use the route, the Jaycees suggest, is through a contest. The public would travel the route for a specified period and each party or individual would deposit a slip at the end of the trip. At the completion of the contest time the name would be drawn and the prize would be a station wagon loaded with camping equipment.

Unless immediate action is taken, the Salmo-Creston cutoff, expected to be completed in the Fall, would eliminate Southern Trans-provincial Highway 3 from passing through Nelson, thus diverting traffic from the city.

The brief also points out that when plans are completed for the north-south route, linking the Trans-Canada with No. 3, Nelson may be by-passed in favor of Nakusp, Slocan City and Castlegar route. Nelson would then be virtually isolated which would cause elimination of the bulk of the distribution service now centered here; reduce retail and merchandising business in general and severely restrict tourist potential with inadequate road facilities.

However, if the Nelson, Kaslo, Revelstoke route was developed it would establish the Queen City as the southern gateway to the Rogers Pass and would become the hub of a major road network.

NELSON AT CENTRE

The brief points out that Nelson would be: the centre between the Spokane-Revelstoke and the Alaska highway and the starting point between Vallican, Fauquier-Vernon route when developed.

Nelson would direct traffic east through Salmo and through the proposed Rose Pass to Kimberley; west through Vernon, Kamloops, Prince George and Castlegar, Okanagan and Vancouver; south to Spokane and Inland Empire and north to Revelstoke to Rogers Pass.

The fact that the secondary road is already there, was stressed by the Junior Chamber and the main problem is to attract government interest.

Full support of civic officials, organizations, the public and business community, is urged in this plan.

To start the contest a kickoff day is envisioned complete with a parade and possibly a caravan over the entire route.

$6000 NEEDED

About $6000 is anticipated for the cost of the prize, advertising and publicity involved. The Jaycees suggested the sum could be raised by advances from civic-minded people to be repaid by low monthly pledges obtained from citizens and the business community.

The senior chamber received the plan with mixed feelings. R. D. Barnes, in the chair in the absence of president A. R. Ramsden, recommended it be presented to the Roads and Bridges Committee for study. He said he was pleased that a young men's organization is showing interest in the future of the city.

Mr. Barnes asked roads and bridges chairman T. S. West what he thought of the plan. Mr. West said that the present plans of the chamber call for full concentration of the Rose Pass route but he added that the north-south link should not be rejected.

Mr. Facchina said the plan is not meant to interfere with any plans but rather improve an existing route by persuading the government as to its feasibility by public usage.

"It would oil a squeaky wheel," is the way Mr. Facchina express it. The plan, he said, is intended to attract people and develop the road.

Terry Maber, chairman of the publicity committee, commended the Jaycees on the plan. "The boys have a good idea and I feel they should get all the support they need to oil the squeaky wheel. If we sit and wait we may not get any action, the idea has a lot of merit."

Mr. Barnes said provincial secretary W. D. Black advised the chamber to "keep the heat on the Rose Pass" and he said the group's chief efforts should be on that route.

TO CABINET

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse, enthusiastic about the plan, said the brief in revised form should be presented to the provincial cabinet meeting scheduled in Nelson June 12.

Mayor Shorthouse said highways are by-passing Nelson to go to Creston.

"We have had no new highways into Nelson in the last six years. There are no decent highways in or out of Nelson."

Mr. Maber interjected that "any valley in B.C. has first class highways except this valley."

Disagreeing, Boyd C. Affleck said there are a "lot of pretty good roads here."

Voicing opposition, through fear that a north-south link via Kaslo would alienate Nakusp, E. T. Bodard said: "If we do not support Nakusp a bulk of their business will go to Vernon. They still use Nelson as their shopping centre."

The brief was referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee for study.

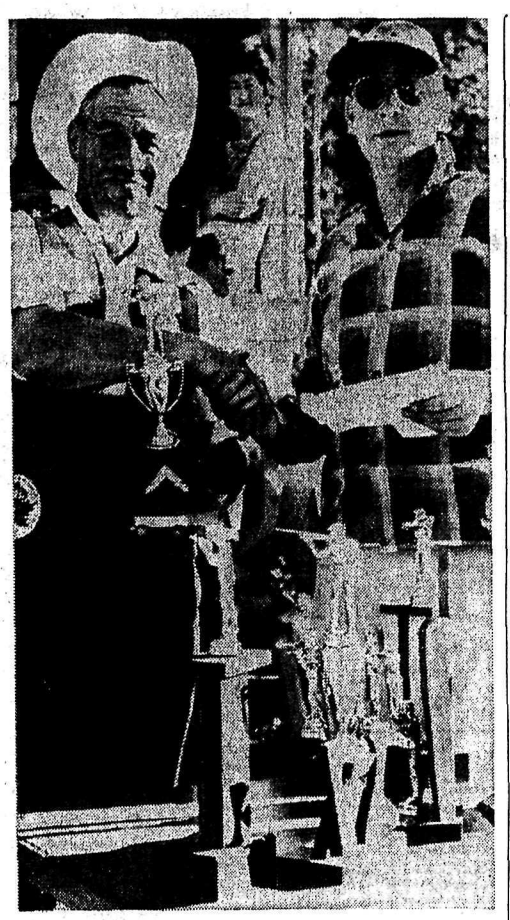
Robert Foxall said that the chamber is committed to certain highway progress. "We would look foolish in the eyes of our neighbors" to change.

"Kaslo should be the prime mover and the hub of that part of the road," he said.

In conclusion, Mr. Facchina pointed out that the plan is to develop the existing road and to encourage people to use and enjoy it.

"We want the less fortunate to share our amenities, we don't want to antagonize any community.

"We want to create heavy use of the road. If we leave it to the government we may not get any roads."



HIGH GUN MAN. One of the major winners in the Nelson Trap and Gun Club shoot Sunday was Harry Wade of Nelson, shown here receiving his prize from trophy chairman John Wade. Mr. Wade was high gun for the day. He was also shooting to retain the Duck Lake Trophy, but lost out to Dan Martinelli of Trail. (See story on sport page.)

Competent Execution Marks Douglas Style

The Nelson public was treated to an exhibition of paintings on the weekend by yet another professionally trained artist who has recently made his home here. This, in a prevailing atmosphere of amateurism, is encouraging, and most certainly an eye-opener to those who care about standards as we were able to see a wide range of subject matter and media treated with utmost competence.

Rab Douglas, who received his training at Aberdeen College of Art in Scotland and Loughborough College in England, has also taken part in regular painting trips to France and no doubt it was here that he formed his landscape style which is much akin to that of the post-impressionists. In fact, his exhibition was dominated by beautifully balanced, and dramatically composed Canadian landscape scenes. And I have no doubt these paintings will be recognized as some of the classics of the British Columbia scene.

One of the most excitingly alive pictures in this group is Winter Slough, painted in East Kootenay and another is Kootenay Lake Boathouses, in a cool blue harmony of colors, while The Lone Pine Tree is somewhat reminiscent of Emily Carr.

His abstracts are excellent, particularly Tangled Landscape and Suggestion of Spring. However, Mr. Douglas is obviously an emotional painter and therefore the most successful of his abstracts are the ones where he paints more freely and intuitively rather than those dominated by design quality executed with much precision. In this category where the emotional element prevails, we could include the almost monochromatic paintings in reds, browns and ochres such as Sunset Over the Lodge Pole and also Beaver Pools.

His portraits are competently executed and show his shrewd powers of observation. It is not surprising that he has received a number of commissions for these, and that a number of his landscapes will grace Nelson homes. It is hoped that professional exhibitions of this kind will become a regular feature in the cultural life of Nelson.

Broader Fallout Survey Urged

Holding its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. M. E. Drew, the New Democratic Club of Nelson decided to change its name to the Herridge New Democratic Party Club. This action follows a precedent in many parts of the country, whereby clubs are named in honor of a member who has made an outstanding contribution to the movement and to Canadian political life.

A letter will ask Mr. Herridge to urge the government to increase the scope of the radiation fallout survey and that information resulting from such a survey be regularly and frequently publicized. At present such information is only available on written aplication, the club was told.

A preliminary report by Mrs. M. L. Chatham on election expenditures in the recent federal campaign revealed all bills paid and a credit balance in the federal riding account.

Arrangements were made to hear a tape recording of Dr. Ursula Franklin's talk on radiation fallout at the opening meeting of the fall session in September.

FEW EAT FISH

Although 70 per cent of the world is under water, fish—one of the richest protein sources—constitutes only one per cent of the food eaten.

Water Pageant Prizes Planned

Several prizes are already on hand for the best floats and displays in the Nelson Midsummer Bonspiel illuminated water pageant, and at least one trophy is offered for annual competition, according to Walter W. Wait. Although the pageant was originally planned for Thursday night, because of confliction with another bonspiel event, it will be held on Wednesday night, July 10.

The Nelson Kinsmen Club, instead of having a beach party, is prepared to throw in its efforts in helping the pageant, and it is hoped to induce the Junior Chamber of Commerce to take an active part.

Besides decorated boats and floats put in by individual boat owners, clubs and organizations are being approached to enter displays. Both the Nelson City Band and the Kootenay Kiltie Band will be in attendance.

Boat Propellor Killed Abbey

INVERMERE (Staff) — A 25-year-old father of three children drowned in Columbia Lake, 1½ miles north of Canal Flats in a boating accident Monday afternoon.

Roy Arthur Abbey of Kimberley and Ivin Faulkner were operating an air boat which overturned in approximately three feet of water. Abbey died instantly when he was hit on the head by the propellor.

Faulkner was able to recover Abbey and pull him onto the shore.

Deputy G. Lambert of Invermere will conduct an inquiry but as yet no date has been set.

Among his known relatives are his wife Donna and three small children of Kimberley; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alfred Abbey of Cranbrook, a sister, Mrs. Robert Steinrigle of Cranbrook, and a brother James of Cranbrook.

Funeral services will be held in Cranbrook Friday.

Junior High Occupation Program Helps Prepare Students for Jobs

A program aimed directly at solving the "drop-out" problem among junior high school students and indirectly the unemployment problem, will enter its second year in Nelson this fall.

Recommended by the Chant Commission, the "occupation program" is a three-year course suited for students who have fallen behind their age group in respect to grades. Its aim is to better qualify for the labor market this group which usually quits at the minimum age of 15 years, unequipped, untrained and destined for unemployment and its attendant problems.

"With this program there should be no drop-outs. That is the theory and the hope," said Nelson Junior High School principal B. B. Crawford. He and two of his staff, J. T. Martin and H. A. Glock, recently attended an interior conference on the occupation program at Kamloops. They are in charge of the program here.

"If society doesn't find a place for these people they probably will become part of the nation's unemployed force and could easily turn into delinquents," said Mr. Martin. But at this moment these students face the problem of continued frustrations and an increasing desire to leave school despite the fact that they can not secure a job outside of school.

NOT TRUANTS

"These students are generally found to be congenial, reliable, sincere and honest. They are not troublesome nor truants," declared Mr. Crawford.

"This is not a disciplinarian class," stated Mr. Glock. "It is a privileged class."

Somewhere in the past some of these students have encountered emotional disturbances which have limited their chances of succeeding in an academic program. Their failure has resulted in a parallel fall in their self-confidence.

"They have learned to fail," summed up Mr. Glock.

"There is no hope of them achieving high school graduation. They represent the drop-out up to grade X," said Mr. Crawford.

Students who fail in the special class, which begins after grade VII and concludes after grade X, are primarily judged by their past school performances.

STUDY THOROUGH

"All their past records, all information, all teacher information is considered," said Mr. Crawford. "The teacher information is given the least weight. His ability record, his achievement record coupled with the student counsellor's view will have the greatest bearing," said Mr. Crawford.

"There has been a history of difficulty. They are all two or three years behind their age group and they must be at least 14½ years of age before they qualify for the special three-year course."

Parents must give their consent before the student is transferred to the occupation program. Only one parent last year hesitated in transferring the child to the course in its inaugural year.

Students who enter the program are not bound to complete their education there if through improvement they show the potential and aptitude to handle the chores of the academic classroom.

"The student would be retested and would re-enter the regular system at the grade level of the student's qualifications," said Mr. Crawford.

Main objective of the program is rebuilding the student's confidence, thereby preparing the groundwork to better qualify the student for the labor market, particularly the service trades.

"We have to change the attitude from the experience of repeated failures and improve the outlook of the pupil to the world in general. They find they can succeed; they must experience success and be made to feel that they are an integral part of the school, not a separate entity," declared Mr. Glock, who conducted the pioneer class at the Junior High this past term.

ON-JOB STUDY

He said the first-year class concentrates on rebuilding the student's confidence, but there is "on-the-job" observation during field trips in as many varied service trades as the city and district has.

"The communication and computational skills are emphasized and are related to practical situations whenever possible. Also attention is paid to grooming and to meeting the public in the first year," said Mr. Glock.

Second year students take half-day "on-the-job" training, again in as many varied service trades as possible. The student must work under close supervision and their labor is gratis. This aspect has been abused by some employers in the province who have laid off their regular help while the students worked gratis, thereby provoking the concern of labor.

In this area the full co-operation of the business and labor community will be required. "Without these people assisting, we could not hope to operate sucessfully," said Mr. Martin. Some Nelson employers have already indicated a willingness to help. It is planned to establish an advisory group composed of industry, service trades, groups from management and labor to aid in the functioning of the program.

The same on-the-job-training under close supervision continues in the third year in as many varied trades as possible. Though this part of the program is emphasized, work in citizenship, composition and computation is not overlooked.

The school will try to assist in placement following completion of the course, but neither the school nor the school board assumes the responsibility of placing the student in an occupation.

At present only two per cent of the Junior High enrolment qualified for this program, as compared to the provincial average of 8-15 per cent.

Nelson Kinsmen Club Wins Service Shield

Kinsmen Club of Nelson in competition with other B.C. clubs District 5 won the governor's service shield for their project, the local Kinsment Health Centre. The shield is awarded each year to the club with the best project in aid of the community.

A Kinsman from S. Burnaby, Brian Prentice, has been elected to the office of district governor and will be in charge of coordinating activities of the 75 Kinsmen clubs in District 5 B.C. for the coming year. He will assume office September 1. His election took place at the district convention held in Prince George May 18, 19 and 20. The Kinsmen Club of Nelson were represented at the Prince George convention by president-elect Elmer Mercier and Mrs. Mercier.

The association of Kinsmen clubs originated 43 years ago in Hamilton, Ont. and has grown to 400 clubs and 12,000 members located in all ten provinces. Among the objectives of the association are stimulation of interest of members in the community's welfare.

Crash Victim Nelson Native

Gregory Planedin of Calgary, killed at Babb, Montana, Saturday, was born in Nelson in 1938, the son of Mrs. Dora Planedin of Glade and the late Peter Planedin. He was raised in Glade and received his high school education to Grade 11 at Stanley Humphries High School at Castlegar and grade twelve at L. V. Rogers High School in Nelson.

On completing high school he was employed by F. W. Woolworth Co. in Nelson for a time, eventually being transferred to the Calgary branch of the chain store. Shortly after, he went to work for Hudson's Bay Co. in Calgary, where he was employed until his death.

Besides his mother, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Frank (Violet) Amoroso of Nelson.

90,000 SAW TV FILM ON BONSPIEL

An estimated 90,000 television viewers saw films on Nelson's Midsummer Bonspiel and Chako Mika in Manitoba recently.

Bonspiel secretary Bill Taylor has returned from Brandon, where he arranged to have the bonspiel pictures shown at a TV station. They were part of a B.C. Travel Bureau film, "The Glorious Kootenays."

The southwestern part of Manitoba is considered the "heart of curling" in Canada so the bonspiel message reached into valuable potential entry areas, Mr. Taylor said.

20 ENJOY PAINTING CLINIC

About 20 amateur artists from the Nelson district who registered for the community program painting clinic May 17, 18 and 19 are sorry to see it come to an end.

All greatly enjoyed the three-day series of lessons which were taught by R. B. Harris, a professional artist from the Windermere district.

Classes were held from 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. daily. Paint-smeared and happy, the group returned each afternoon from field trips to Gyro Park, the North Shore and Bonnington.

In the evenings, painting sessions and lectures were held in the Nelson curling rink.

The clinic proved a great success under the guidance of Mr. Harris, who hopes to hold more clinics of the same nature soon.

Woman Has Baby After Car Mishap

A Nelson woman involved in a car accident Saturday gave birth to a daughter in Kootenay Lake General Hospital, the following day.

Mrs. Edward Randall, R.R. 1 and Robert Hugh Buckley received minor injuries when the small foreign vehicle in which they were riding, rolled down a 30-foot embankment on the North Shore.

Buckley was driving the late model car owned by D. Saradswati of Nelson. He received facial bruises, but was released from the hospital immediately.

Police said Buckley was not used to the car's steering wheel and after negotiating a corner he failed to straighten the car out, hitting a soft shoulder and rolling down the bank.

Mrs. Randall, who's baby was due, was thrown from the car uninjured.

The accident occurred eight miles north of Nelson about 2:30 a.m.

Principal Speaks for Multi-Purpose College

The advantages of a multi-purpose college in the Kootenays were outlined to the Rotary Club.

G. H. Lee, principal of L. V. Rogers High School, stressed the value of post high school education through the media of community colleges.

The colleges would provide students with two years' preparation for university, vocational and technical courses, adult education courses and education of a general nature.

"I am inclined to think the middle class of intellects are the most important as they make up about 50 per cent of the high school students," he said.

Mr. Lee felt colleges must be large and centralized to be successful.

Dr. John Macdonald, president of UBC, had recommended in his report on higher education that commuting distance to the college would not exceed 25 miles.

Mr. Lee stated he would not let his children attend a college in the recommended site at Castlegar for two reasons: first, it was too big a handicap to drive two hours, 70 miles a day and compete with other students: secondly, the climate was not safe for year-round travel.

A remedy to these problems would be dormitories or board in town, he reasoned.

He also suggested an independent commission to decide the college site.

President J. J. Morey informed Rotarians a decision to provide the library with eight upholstered chairs, a typewriter desk and chair, amounting to approximately $500, was made at a directors' meeting recently.

Centennial Park Officially Opened

Maureen Latto 'Denver Queen

NEW DENVER — May Day festivities here, the largest to date saw approximately 1500 people attend celebrations, highlighted with crowning of May queen Miss Maureen Latto.

The day's festivities coincided with the opening of the new centennial park.

Highlight of the ceremonies was the crowning of May Queen Miss Maureen Latto. Her attendants were Miss Ilona Negler and Miss Sandra Anderson with Kevin McCrory as pageboy.

The traditional Maypole dance was performed by the New Denver Brownies under director Mrs. S. Hislop, L. R. Campbell, chairman of the New Denver parks board, gave the welcoming address.

The day featured the attendance of the Trail Naval Cadet Band under direction of bandmaster L. R. Reid.

The day was further enhanced by the spectacular performance of the Flying Tigers Club of Nelson.

Prize winning floats were: 1, New Denver Brownies; 2, a Japanese float; 3, Women's Institute 4, girl guides and 5, Kinsmen Club.

A special prize went to the New Denver Golf Club for its unique float, which featured the oldest member of the club, Edward Kennett.

Another feature attraction was the New Denver Majorette Corps under director, Mrs. J. L. Larrimore.

The feature baseball game saw Nelson Outlaws down a determined New Denver-Silverton club 5-3.

The opening ball game saw Nakusp Little League run roughshod over New Denver Little League 10-2.

The final baseball game of the day, saw Nakusp's Jim Henke pitch a one-hit ball game to squeeze out a 4-3 win over New Denver.

New Denver's little left-hander, Dougal Greenan, pitched a no-hit ball game for the last five innings, only to lose the game on a pass ball.

Salmo Chamber Continues With College Proposal

SALMO — Salmo Chamber of Commerce members at their recent meeting studied a map of the district surrounding Salmo showing its proximity to higher density population in connection with the chamber's support of a regional college at Salmo.

The map indicates Salmo's favorable position in respect to Trail, Castlegar, Nelson and East Kootenay centres of Creston, Cranbrook and Fernie, when roads presently under construction are completed.

Letters will be sent to persons directly concerned advocating establishment of a college at Salmo.

EXAMINATIONS BY ARRANGEMENT

It is impossible to have the drivers' examination unit in Salmo more often due to the large area this unit must serve, the Chamber was informed by the Motor Vehicle Branch in Victoria. This was in reply to the Salmo request for faster accommodation of applications for Class A and B chauffeurs' licence examinations.

The branch said in its correspondence that arrangements could be made to have an examination in Trail in case of an emergency, by first contacting the office and arranging a suitable time.

The chamber will advise Mr. Miller, secretary of the Lower Arrow Lakes Board of Trade, of the concern and support of the Salmo chamber regarding the board's objection to presentation of resolutions from the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C. to the B.C. annual convention in wording other than that presented by the local boards. The objection was against presentation in any form of the defeated motion of the Nelson-Creston resolution on development of the Columbia River.

The Salmo chamber will, however, point out to Mr. Miller that since the presented resolution sent to the B.C. annual convention was not detrimental to the development of the Columbia for Canadians, Salmo members will support it. However, no action will be taken until further information is received from Mr. Miller.

PUBLIC ACCESS

Correspondence from the minister of lands and forests of interest to land owners and logging companies was read. The letter from Mr. Williston noted the passage at the last legislature of Bill No. 83, "An act to make certain provisions to facilitate public access over private roads."

"Now owners of private lands may claim for recovery of their costs of fighting fires known to have been caused by members of the public who travel private roads under statutory authority, or by virtue of a written permit, or public notice, posted at the road entrance, which describes the terms and conditions of use."

A letter will be sent to the Canadian chamber requesting information on how to change the name of the Salmo chamber. One copy of the chamber's charter was received and presented to the meeting from the department of the secretary of state in Ottawa.

F. R. Rotter, president, will head a delegation to attend the forthcoming meeting in Creston of the Southern Trans-Canada Highway Association.

To Visit Cranbrook Library on Research

CRANBROOK — As part of a provincial research on the community function of libraries, Professor Rose Vainstein of the school of librarianship at the University of B.C. will visit the Cranbrook library during the summer, the library board has been notified.

Circulation in April totalled 5120 volumes, librarian Mrs. Wilbur Abbey reported to the board of directors meeting Wednesday evening.

This was slightly down from the 5357 total for the month before.

Of the April circulation, 3126 volumes were exchanged by the juvenile membership. During the month, 12 adults and 19 juveniles were added to membership list.

East Kootenay Associated Public Libraries annual meeting at Marysville May 11 was attended by A. M. Steele as Cranbrook board delegate. Delivery of the 450 books as new stock at Cranbrook library from EKAPL under the exchange system takes place this month, with 225 of the February block of 450 retained here permanently. The book buying committee will order new additional stock to a total of $400 soon.

Campaign toward securing a new library building as Cranbrook's centennial project for 1967 was reported as unchanged since the April meeting, with federal and provincial participation plans for these projects not yet completely determined.

To Seek Moyie Water Rights For Cranbrook

CRANBROOK — With a view toward possible future needs of this fast growing city, city council has instructed its city engineer, E. H. Stinson, to begin negotiations with the government water rights service engineer, Tony Pollard toward reserving rights for the city in Moyie Lake and river southwest of Cranbrook. Water needs are now fully met through the Gold Creek and Joseph Creek supplies southeast of the city.

Also approved by council this week was works department project to oil South 11th Street between Seventh and 11th Avenue to cope with the dust problem.

Tender of the Hanson Garage of $2847 for a car for the engineering deaprtment, and of L. J. Desharnais of $1354 for city fire department clothing requirements were approved by city council.

Minor Injuries in E. Kootenay Accidents

CRESTON (Staff) — A local hairdresser here received minor injuries when her small foreign car went over a bank 28 miles north of here on the Kootenay Lake road, Monday night.

Mrs. Dee Borland was alone when the accident occurred. She was released from hospital Tuesday morning.

Police said the corner she was negotiaing at the time was fairly sharp. Damage to the car was estimated at $150.

Damage was negligible to an automobile driven by Roger Ingham of Creston when he struck a deer 2½ miles west of Yahk Saturday night.

Clark J. Brooks of Kingsgate received no injuries when his vehicle went off the road one mile west of Kitchener and overturned, landing right side up, Monday afternoon.

Damage to his car was estimated at $200. Police are still investigating.

B.C. News

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 20-foot pleasure craft, with a man and woman aboard, ran aground Monday off suburban Richmond. The RCAF, whose crash boat could not approach the vessel in the shallow water, said the occupants were in no danger.

MAN REMOVED

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Police smashed their way into a burning basement suite during the weekend and forcibly removed a man they said set the fire and then barricaded the door from the inside. He was not injured.

Jack Mackill Captures Third Wolverine

INVERMERE — Game Conservation Officer Jack Mackill of Invermere has trapped another wolverine, bringing his record for capturing the vicious little animal to three this spring.

This latest specimen is a large adult, caught, as were the others, in a live trap made from a steel barrel baited with beaver meat. It was trapped in the Toby Creek area.

Like his predecessors, the creature is now on its way to Walt Disney studios to play its part in a new nature movie planned by the well-known Hollywood producer.

For travelling fare the wolverine has beaver meat and ice cubes. The latter he chews with the same relish and ease that a small boy tackles peanut brittle.

Mr. Mackill says the Disney studios have asked for twelve adult wolverines and some cubs and although the circular advising of the request has gone to several areas to date these three are the only one received. The ferocity of the wolverine makes it difficult to capture alive and unmaimed. The studio will not consider any injured animal, Mr. Mackill says.

FARMERS TO MEET IN NELSON JUNE 1

BOSWELL — Notice of the semi annual meeting of the West Kootenay-Boundary Central Farmers' Institute to be held in Nelson June 1 has been sent to all Institutes within this district by Ken Wallace, secretary.

The Institute plans to invite Hon. F. X. Richter, minister of agriculture, to the meeting if there is indication of a good attendance by delegates.

The Central Institute has been carrying on its work for the district for the past 40 years. At the last meeting of the advisory board of Farmers' Institutes, the Central's member met with nine other delegates to deal with 70 resolutions and meet with the cabinet.

Any Institute with over 40 members is entitled to send two delegates to the Central's semi-annual meeting.

Modern View on Residential Planning

Canada is suffering from mortgage myopia, says Professor Leonard Marsh, research director of the University of B.C. social work school. He thinks that the nation is shortsighted about residential development and wedded to the idea of home ownership, which he considers a middle class attitude.

He is possibly wrong in this for in many of the high priced apartment developments tenants buy the space they occupy and do not rent, and from the expensive homes being built it is obvious that even the wealthy regard houses as status symbols. If it is not possible to accuse the middle class alone of being wedded to the idea of home ownership, it must be conceded that it is more concerned with the possession of a home as a symbol of financial stability than a status symbol. They often spend a lifetime paying for their home and reap their reward in not having to pay rent when they retire.

Professor Marsh suggests that the wage earner is the forgotten man in residential planning. He says that up to half the people in a city need low rental homes and since they are not available the aim should be to provide decent homes for everyone, not just for those who can afford to buy.

The idea of low rental homes is distasteful to many people, probably because they see in it some sort of welfarism. If the low rent is below the natural interest rate on the cost of the houses then perhaps it is. But if there is a need for this kind of welfarism it may point to the fact that many people are existing on wages which provide only for subsistence and not those which will enable them to save.

People who live close to a subsistence level do, however, manage to live. They are often not very pleasantly housed and many live in what are called "illegal suites" in private houses where the basement has been turned into a bedroom with a small kitchen and sometimes a bathroom. Vancouver makes war on the property owners who do this but while the need for cheap housing continues they will continue to rent them.

The professor has other criticism of the obsession of the one family home, including its wastefulness of land. It needs only a trip up the Fraser Valley to see how this happens. Every new home takes much more land than it needs and reduces agricultural acreage. He thinks there should be planning to avoid this and that the labor unions should be asked to aid in this on behalf of their workers. As interested parties they could most likely be of assistance and no doubt would be only too glad to serve.

In Midst of Progress

Oddities abound in the U.K., all of which add up to make Britain what she is — a country with a past and a future. One only has to look at her soaring exports to see what the future is, while the past is symbolized by many old customs which are still delightfully with the country in the present. They help to make Britain what she is today — and two million visitors a year cannot be wrong. They never tire of seeking out history in Britain — the steam engine, and created the industrial revolution which has had impact all round the world.

The steam engine was only the forerunner of many inventions which came from Britain's enterprising industrialists. More recent ones which come to mind are penicillin, television, radar, the jet engine, to name only a few.

The oddities remaining in Britain are interesting. For instance, one task of the Chancellor of the Exchequer is to send off to a property company in Lincolnshire each year a cheque for $210. It is to maintain a castle which never was, but was created by Charles II (1660-1685) in order to get more money from the Privy House. The British Treasury continues to pay this sum as part of the obligation they took over on lands which now belong to the Crown. At Finsbury in North London is a small garden site belonging to the Metropolitan Gardens' Association which each year pays a shilling (14 cents) or a "bunch of flowers in season" as a rental for the site.

In October each year the Comptroller and Solicitor to the City of London Corporation goes to the law courts with — a bag of six horseshoes and 61 nails! This is a 'quit rent' paid for land in Shropshire, in the northwest of England, and for a vanished forge which used to be in the Strand in London. Even the modern property tycoons in Britain cherish old customs. One of them regularly claims from an East End brewer an annual rent of "one quart of finest English ale" for a public house he incorporated into a new Holborn office block in London.

Let's Take a Forward Look

Where will Canada be by 2000 A.D.?

We can study this by a comparison with our great neighbor, the United States, in a new report of that nation's future that has just been published.

According to this, the U.S. population today of 180 millions, can budge on to 331 millions. At the same rate of increase Canada can have 33 million people by 2000 A.D.

The U.S. has today 53 million homes. In 2000 A.D. this will climb to 99 million.

Canada in proportion will have 10 million homes in 2000 A.D.

The spending per person of $1830 per annum in the U.S. today, is expected to reach $4000 per person by 2000 A.D. and this same figure is given as also Canada's at the beginning of the new century.

Electric power in the U.S. will jump from 845 billions of kilowatt hours to 4711 billions of kilowatt hours in 2000 A.D.

Canada will then be slightly over 4 billion kilowatt hours.

The U.S. will have 476 millions of acres of cropland in use by A.D. 2000 — and Canada will have close to 50 million acres in use.

The U.S. will need 84 billions of gallons of water a day, and Canada's needs will be 14 billions of gallons.

All this assumes no large scale decastating war is entered into.

The report was made public by Resources for the Future, an organization supported by the Ford Foundation.—Kamloops Sentinel.

Pearson, Diefenbaker Debate Two Issues

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons got Monday what the voters missed last month: A face-to-face debate between Lester Pearson and John Diefenbaker over economic policy and Canadian-American relations.

Left in the balance was Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's non-confidence motion, due to come to a roll-call vote Thursday night, and Prime Minister Pearson's statement that his minority government will not invite "special arrangements" to stay in office.

The Conservative motion:

". . . While recognizing that Canada's economic growth during the year 1962 exceeded that of any country in the Western world, this House regrets that many of the pledges made by the prime minister and his colleagues have not been incorporated in the government's declaration of intention as outlined in the speech from the throne, and further regrets that the policies announced fail to provide full opportunity for the people of Canada to continue the social advance and large economic growth of the past year."

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson, who urged the house to cease being a "political arena" and get down to legislative business, said Mr. Diefenbaker made a hash of the motion.

PRAISES GOVERNMENT

New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas, who planned to move a non-confidence motion of his own, praised the Liberal government for its dispatch of business and said the opposition parties have a responsibility to refraim from "all forms of frivolous osbstruction."

Mr. Diefenbaker described the Liberal's vaunted "60 days of decision" as the "shifty days," and said the throne speech was a national disappointment.

"It is full of platitudes spaced out among economic generalties which indicate that the planners and the bureaucrats know best," he said. The throne speech not only was noted for brevity. It also could be noted for its lack of policy.

"The speech from the throne indicates that today a new kind of philosophic and theoretical planning has become the essential program of the Liberal party, the theme being that the government knows best."

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if one or two of Mr. Pearson's ministers had their way, this planning would put control in the hands of a few individuals who—unless prevented by legislation—would turn the federal government into a "bureaucratic autocracy."

PEARSON REPLIES

Replying later, Mr. Pearson said the Conservative leader gives no indication of understanding that Canada has a 20th-century economy, in a scientific age.

Mr. Pearson said that if the economy is to move ahead to take care of the work force, industry must have freedom and also should have "co-operative assistance" from government even when that means government intervention.

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "We left the Canadian house in good economic order."

Mr. Pearson retorted that in six years of Conservative administration the gross national product advanced 18 per cent, whereas in the previous six years — under Liberal government—the rise was 36 per cent. Unemployment had averaged 413,000 as against 171,000 under the Liberals in the same six-year comparison.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he detected in the throne speech "great dangers of centralization in the country." He was referring to the proposed $400,000,000 municipal development and loan fund and wondered whether this has been "cleared" with the provinces.

Mr. Pearson: ". . . There is nothing in any of the proposals in the speech from the throne or in the legislative enactments which will follow, I hope, the speech from the throne, which will lead to the wrong kind of centralization in this country."

SLAPS NEW FRONTIER

The spat over Canada - U.S. relations began when Mr. Diefenbaker, leading off the debate, took a verbal slap at President Kennedy's New Frontier and said the cornerstone of the Progressive Conservative party has been the maintenance of "a free and independent Canada."

"I have no apologies to offer now or in the years ahead for that stand which will be proven right," he said, obviously referring to the pre-election tangle his government had with Washington over defence policy.

At another point, Mr. Diefenbaker said that in 1961 the U.S. "pressed—some interpreted it as pushed"—Canada to join the Organization of American States. Mr. Pearson had spoken of the desirability of this in the past. What did he intend to do now about OAS?

The prime minister replied that Mr. Kennedy exerted no "pressure" of this or any other matter at their recent Hyannis Port meeting. Mr. Pearson suggested Canada will hold off joining OAS until the organization clarifies its own membership qualifications in view of a proliferation of new states, especially in the Caribbean.

Quizzed on the proposal for 12-mile, Mr. Pearson said he is confident he can settle that matter with the United States without "getting into the kind of trouble with the U.S. that my honorable friend (Mr. Diefenbaker) had a particular genius for getting into when he was prime minister."

The Canadian House of Commons under Prime Minister Robert L. Borden adopted a resolution asking King George V to refrain from granting titular honors to Canadian citizens 44 years ago today—in 1919. Although titular honors were again conferred in 1935 under Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, the policy of 1919 was restored by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and no such honors have been recommended or awarded since 1935.

Birmingham Negro Leaders Vow To Void School Efforts

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Negro leaders say they will go to federal court in efforts to void a Birmingham school board order expelling or suspending more than 1,000 Negro pupils who demonstrated against segregation.

The school board's action Monday was not unexpected, and Negro leaders said they planned to fight the move only by legal means.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., after meeting with Negro leaders, said: "e will not call for a mass walkout or boycott of the schools, nor will we call for a renewal of demonstrations at this point.

"We will not seek to correct an unwise act by moving hastily into another unwise act."

The decision by the Negro leaders saved a shaky biracial agreement that had been threatened by the school board's handling of the dispute.

"We know there are certain forces in Birmingham trying to sabotage this agreement," Dr. King said.

He called the board's action "a tragic move, immoral . . . a dastardly act."

AFFECTS 1,081 PUPILS

In a letter to school principals, Supt. Theo Wright ordered immediate expulsion of pupil participants over 16 and suspension of those under 16. It affects 1,081 pupils arrested in protest marches during the last several weeks.

A school board spokesman said the action was in keeping with the board's policy on truancy.

There were these other developments in the U.S. racial scene:

The Alabama prison commissioner said a "freedom marcher" arrested early this month is in his sixth day of a hunger strike. The commissioner said the prisoner, Eric Weinberger, 31, of New York, has not eaten, as far as could be determined, since he and 11 other marchers were transferred to the state prison at Montgomery from Gadsden, Ala., last week.

Another freedom marcher, Montreal-born Broadway actress Madeleine Sherwood, was released under $300 bond Monday night. She was among 11 persons jailed in Gadsden Sunday after holding a memorial service for slain integrationist postman.

Two white men were arrested at Anniston, Ala., in connection with violence at Anniston May 12 when shotgun blasts were fired at two Negro homes and a Negro church.

ARREST 900 NEGROES

More than 900 more Negroes were arrested in renewed racial demonstrations in two North Carolina cities.

The arrests occurred Monday night in Greensboro and at Durham when large groups of singing, hand-clapping Negroes converged on the business districts of each city. About 300 were arrested at Greensboro and more than 600 at Durham. No violence was reported in either city.

About 1,000 Negroes converged on downtown business establishments at Greensboro, where those arrested were taken to the Central Carolina Hospital. About 500 other demonstrators have been held in temporary jail facilities there since Saturday morning.

The arrests at Durham occurred after about 1,500 Negroes marched from city hall to the main business section. About 600 had been released from jail earlier in the day after their arrests during protests of segregated eating facilities.

Recorders court Judge A. R. Wilson ordered their cases postponed until the end of the month pending a ruling from the state attorney general.

Wilson was proceeding with caution in the wake of Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision overruling convictions of lunch counter sit-in demonstrators in Durham and three other southern cities.

At New Orleans, state Judge Bernard J. Bagert said local American Legion members have withdrawn their invitation for the Legion to hold its 1963 national convention there because of the inability to guarantee desegregated housing for delegates.

Turkish Gov't Claims To Have Crushed Second Attack

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish government said Tuesday it had crushed a former army colonel's second attempt in 15 months to seize power.

Former colonel Talat Aydemir, the rebel leader, was reported fleeing from Ankara, the Turkish capital, less than eight hours after dissident army officers announced the coup attempt.

Gen. Cevdet Sunay, chief of staff of the Turkish armed forces, said in a broadcast shortly after dawn, "a treacherous attempt by a small group to seize power has been completely crushed."

One man was reported killed and four others were wounded in fighting in Ankara.

The government news agency Anatolia reported that Aydemir had fled. The 50-year-old former tank officer was ousted from the military and jailed after masterminding a short-lived rebellion in February, 1962. Parliament pardoned him and his accomplices.

Another former colonel and some War College cadets who had joined the revolt also fled, Anatolia said.

ARREST COLONELS

Government troops arrested four colonels who tried to seize a radio station in Istanbul. Otherwise the metropolis was quiet.

The rebellion was centred in Ankara and apparently was supported by an unknown number of cadets at the War College, a traditional centre of unrest.

A voice on Radio Ankara announced the coup at 12:40 a.m. Ankara time. The insurgents proclaimed Aydemir "chief of the revolutionary committee" and ordered a curfew in Turkey's three main cities—Istanbul, Ankara and Izmir.

Within an hour, Radio Ankara said the coup had been thwarted and the plotters were being rounded up.

A third Radio Ankara announcement claimed army units controlled the capital "on behalf of the revolutionary committee of Talat Aydemir." Then Radio Ankara went dead. Normal communications between Istanbul and Ankara were severed.

After a period of silence, Radio Ankara went back on the air with an ultimatum from Gen. Cevdet Sunay, Turkish chief of staff.

THREATENS TO ATTACK

"I order some misled cadets and officers to surrender and retire to their barracks," he said. "Unless this is done air force planes and all other armed forces units will attack."

The rebels were reported holed up in the War College, surrounded by loyalist army units.

President Cemal Gursel in another broadcast said that a handful of army rebels had occupied Radio Ankara briefly but had been arrested.

The military high command declared at dawn that loyalist forces had the situation well in hand and appealed for calm.

Radio Ankara said most of the cadets had returned to their quarters. The broadcast said order had been fully restored in the capital, but a curfew was in force.

However, communications between Istanbul and Ankara were still out and all flights to the capital were cancelled.

Aydemir made his first grab for power Feb. 2, 1962, with the support of seven other colonels. They charged then that the government of Premier Ismet Inonu had failed to make progress in land, tax, agriculture and education reforms.

Interpreting the News

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NATO's new nuclear baby may come into the world without benefit of a christening ceremony.

The 15 not-so-fond parents, assembling in Ottawa for their annual spring get-together, appear to have decided that their wayward child can do without a name.

At least no one can blame them for not having tried. As soon as the inevitability of a new nuclear force for NATO became apparent, the planners canvassed every conceivable adjective in the atomic Thesaurus.

They tried inter-allied, multinational, multilateral, integrated, co-ordinated, mixed-manned or even mix-master, supranational and so on.

But none of the names satisfied all the founding fathers. And the suggestion now is that the Ottawa meeting should merely signify that the force is being created and let it go at that.

FRANCE NEEDS SOOTHING

The no-name agreement, said to have been reached after weeks of manoeuvring among London, Washington and Paris, may help to mollify French objections to anything that might jeopardize President de Gaulle's insistence on an independent nuclear capacity.

Basically, what may emerge from the three-day NATO ministerial meeting starting Wednesday will likely be a cautious, compromise agreement to set up a bomber - and - submarine force with a NATO command and targeting system. The wider American proposal fora Polaris missile-carrying surface fleet manned by crews of different nationalities may be shelved temporarily.

Other problems that may come up at Ottawa include ways of implementing a new "forward strategy," involving a defence line based on the Iron Curtain frontier West German objections to proposed British sales of steel tubes to Communist countries and the size of the stockpile needed under plans for resisting an enemy land attack without using major nuclear weapons.

Kennedy's Air-Liner Breaks 15 Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's big jet airliner completed a non - stop flight from Moscow to Washington Tuesday claiming 15 speed records.

The air force Boeing 707 flew the 5,004-mile distance in nine hours, 53 minutes and 52 seconds.

The $10,000,000 jet landed in rain at 5:09 a.m. EDT at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., the point from which it started the record - breaking Moscow roundtrip Saturday.

The plane made the flight to Moscow in eight hours, 38 minutes and 42 seconds—the fastest flight in either direction between the United States and Russia.

The ship, flown by President Kennedy's pilot Col. James B. Swindal, carried Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, and other officials to Russia but Seaborg did not make the return trip.

Aboard on the flight back were two officials of the National Aeronautics Association, a Soviet navigator and Soviet radio operator, required by the Russians for international flights over Soviet territory.

Dr. Robert B. Dillaway, one of the NAA officials, said the flight established 15 records in each direction. Among them were official marks between Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, and the European cities of Oslo, Stockholm and Moscow.

The record attempt was arranged by the NAA after considerable negotiation with the Russians.

Rampaging Youths Burn House to the Ground

HAMILTON (CP) — Rampaging youths burned a vacant two-storey house to the ground early Tuesday after police used force to disperse a mob of 600 firecracker-throwing teen-agers and adults.

Gasoline fires flared in the streets of the city's main northern business section as youths and policemen clashed in scattered skirmishes.

Five men ranging in ages from 17 to 26 were charged with creating a disturbance and obstructing police, and were held in custody overnight. Two policemen were treated in hospital for minor injuries.

Police said trouble started early Monday night when firemen were called to James Street North to extinguish burning tires set alight by teenagers. Around 10 p.m. they extinguished a fire in the ground floor of the house.

The situation got out of hand minutes later when several policemen tried to quieten a crowd of jerring adults and teen-agers who had lit two gasoline fires at a nearby intersection.

PUNCH POLICE

About 100 youths surrounded three policemen, punching and kicking them as they tried to put a youth into a cruiser. A radio station reporter ran to a cruiser and called for reinforcements over the two-way radio. He was later escorted to safety after someone in the crowd tried to assault him.

Police and youths clashed again in isolated incidents after reinforcements arrived, but the crowd dispersed around midnight as firemen stood by with hoses and a police dog arrived on the scene.

An hour later, the house burst into flames. Firemen fought the blaze but the house was destroyed in 90 minutes.

Police said detectives saw two youths carrying a one-gallon can of gasoline during the fracas, but the youngs dropped the can and fled.

They said they were called to another area of the city where an elderly man was being beaten up by a gang of youths. No arrests were made in this incident.

Jane Powell Thankful She Can Sing and Dance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Thank Heaven I can still sing and dance," said Jane Powell as she discussed the changing patterns of show business.

"A lot of actors and actresses —some of them big names — can't entertain an audience. The result is: They aren't working."

Not Jane. She has more job offers than she can handle. Recently divorced from Pat Nerney, she is getting her career back into high gear.

Wednesday night, she appears on Perry Como's television show on NBC. This summer she will appear in arena theatres in the East and at the new Melodyland in Anaheim, Calif., as The Unsinkable Molly Brown.

Her aim: "To let people know I can play something besides Jane Powell roles. It's the first really good part for a woman in a musical for years. Nearly all the standard musicals are designed for men, except for Mary Martin. Or Ethel Merman. But somehow I can't see myself in Gypsy.

NOW 34

She is no longer a curly-topped co-ed. She is 34 and mother of three growing children. She'd like to act her age.

Jane has seen many changes during her more than two decades in the show world. She started in her native Portland, Ore., as a singer on radio. Her sweet soprano brought her to Hollywood, and she served a double term (two seven-year contracts) as one of the stars of MGM musicals.

Those were wild, wonderful days. Her fellow students in the MGM school included Debbie Reynolds, Butch Jenkins, Skippy Homeier, Darryl Hickman, Claude Jarman, Dean Stockwell, Margaret O'Brien and a girl named Elizabeth Taylor.

"I remember Elizabeth as the safety-pin girl," Jane said. "She always came to school pinned up—a strap here, a torn seam there. One day she came with the entire hem of her dress fastened with safety pins."

Wilson-Joinson Vows Exchanged

Wedding Principals to Live At Nakusp Following Trip to Coast

Charming in flowered ivory brocade and attended by her sister, gowned in blue, Patricia Mary Joinson approached the altar of Church of the Redeemer to exchange marriage vows with Mr. Garry Dale Wilson before Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of RCMP Inspector and Mrs. F. W. Joinson of Nelson and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson of Nakusp.

Tall baskets of white stocks flanked the chancel steps and pink carnations were arranged on the altar for the early afternoon wedding.

The bride carried a bouquet of cascading pink roses as she walked up the aisle on the arm of her father, the full bell skirt of her lovely gown caught up in gathers with four small bows, the bodice featuring a circlet neckline and lily point sleeves. Her four-tired chapel veil of silk illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Peggy Joinson, as maid of honor. She was gowned in romance blue nylon lace with bell skirt and bracelet sleeves. Matching hat and shoes completed her ensemble and she carried blue and white carnations in a pocket of delicate lace.

Organist was Mrs. W. A. Manson.

The bridegroom was suppported by Mr. Mike Rushton of Nakusp as best man and ushers were Mr. Noel Wilson of Vancouver, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Peter Gunn of Nakusp.

Mr. Bill Joinson,, brother of the bride, was assistant to Canon Silverwood.

Assisting in the receiving line at a reception held at Peebles Motor Inn, the mother of the bride wore a two-piece pure silk dress of deep gold, with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose beige patterned nylon, with green accessories.

The bride's table was covered with her great-grandmother's hand-embroidered banquet cloth and centered by a three-tiered, pillared wedding cake topped by lily of the valley and wedding bells. Flower-sprinkled greenery surrounded the base of the cake, and white tapers in silver candelabra, with arrangements of spring flowers, completed the attractive table appointment.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. J. S. McIntosh. The uncle of the bride, Mr. Oliver Ford of Trail, proposed the toast.

For a wedding trip to the Coast, the bride changed into a two-piece boucle knit of shocking pink, with white accessories. On their return, the newlyweds will take up residence at Nakusp.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. H. E. Goodman, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. A. H. Harrold, great-aunt of he bride and Mrs. A. O. Urness, aunt of the bride, all from Regina; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ford, Trail, aunt and uncle of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson, groom's parents, Nakusp; Mr. and Mrs. T. Obayashi, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, Nakusp; Mr. Noel Wilson, brother of the groom, Vancouver; Mr. Peter Gunn and Mr. Mike Rushton, both of Nakusp.

Other guests from Nakusp were: Mrs. Carlson, Miss Sharon Bakker, Bobbi McIntyre, Mr. Bruce Horrey, Miss Paula Maxwell, Dale Moorehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Rushton, Miss Kosiancic, Miss Sherlock, Mr. Harvey Moore, Miss Murdock, Mr. Bill Robinson, Mrs. Crowell, Miss Carol Gregory.

Other out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont and Mr. Stuart Scott, Trail; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Flamank, Crescent Valley; Mr. Ki Natsuhara, Castlegar; Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Kimberley; Mr. and Mrs. Boulton, Cranbrook.

PLANS JUNE PICNIC

FRUITVALE — The Lutheran Ladies' Aid planned a joint picnic with other district Aids to be held at Kinnaird June 23, when members met in the church basement with President Mrs. W. Williams in the chair.

The Fruitvale L.A. had entertained the Trail group at a social evening, with Rev. Clark speaking on the topic "The Family in the Christian Church."

A donation was made to the Lutheran World Relief Fund to buy milk, a monthly project of the L.A.

Hospital conveners Mrs. P. Troseth and Mrs. L. Kalusick reported two visits during the past month.

Mrs. O. Shewe will buy corsages for girls to be confirmed June 2.

Hostesses were Mrs. L. Kalusick, Mrs. G. Bridge, Mrs. H. Boehmer and Mrs. F. Fricke.

Games and contests were enjoyed.

Date Set for CARS Summer Tea Party

June 19 is the date tentatively chosen for the annual tea pary of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. On that afternoon patients of CARS will be entertained at the Willow Point lakeside home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Fink.

Plans for the event were made during the monthly meeting of the auxiliary in the CARS room of the hospital. Arrangements for the other activities of the organization until the end of June were made.

President Mrs. C. W. Bailey reported on the television set maintained by the group at Mount St. Francis and on the monthly meeting of the board of CARS.

Mrs. E. J. Boyes told of the monthly contest sponsored by the arts and crafts group. Mrs. V. I. Graves and Mrs. E. Mills were April winners.

In reporting for the driving committee, Mrs. C. H. Hamilton expressed appreciation for the help of three men and Mrs. Cornelius Van Pelt in transporting Mount St. Francis patients.

Mrs. J. G. McMurchy reported for the visiting committee. Volunteers for the next month were Mrs. H. O. Borch, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Phil Robinson. The month's tea committee, arranged by Mrs. N. H. Ingledew, includes Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Ingledew. Mrs. J. S. McIntosh, Mrs. M. K. Ozelle, Mrs. Borch, Mrs. McMurchy and Mrs. J. R. Allan.

Guides, Brownies, Mothers Have Banquet

The annual Mother and Daughter banquet took place in Nelson with many district Guides and Brownies in attendance.

Guest speakers were Mrs. T. S. Shorthouse, member of the Girl Guide provincial council, and J. Miller, executive regional commissioner of the boy scouts. Both Mrs. Shorthouse and Mr. Miller stressed that the value of guiding was in the development of character and building of responsible citizens for the future.

The dinner was held at the Eagles' Hall, and the evening began with the parade of colors, followed by grace offered by Rev. H. R. Whitmore.

Chairing the banquet was Mrs. J. D. McDonald, district commissioner, and the toast to the Queen was offered by Brownie Susan Preston. The toast to the mothers was given by Guide Pat Hoople and the reply to this was by Mrs. J. D. Hoople.

Mrs. H. F. Hyson, area commissioner, extended greetings from the area and introduced Mrs. J. S. Hamilton as the new Nelson Division Commissioner. Mrs. Hyson then introduced Mrs. R. H. Stevens, superintendent of the Canadian Girls in Training, who brought greetings to the banquet fro mthe CGIT.

Mrs. A. M. Rizzuto, area camp advisor, spoke to the girls on camping activities and urged that there should be more exchange visits across the border.

The evening concluded with the traditional campfire led by Mrs. R. E. Evans, followed by Taps and the retirement of the colors.

Alpha Xi Hears Of "The Ballet"

"The Dance - Ballet" was topic of the cultural program of Alpha Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at its recent meeting held at the home of Mrs. H. Kidd, when new officers were installed.

Mrs. Neal Hood is president; Mrs. William DeFoe, vice-president; Miss Betty Chambers, recording secretary; Miss Elaine Dosenberger, treasurer; Mrs. D. H. Rosling, corresponding secretary.

Program convenors were Mrs. E. Nuyens and Mrs. DeFoe, who quoted from Chesterfield: "Learn to dance; not so much for the sake of dancing as for coming into a room and presenting yourself genteelly and gracefully."

She pointed out that ballet, as with most dance, was originally performed by men. It was originated by the Russians.

Records were played of several famous ballets.

Mrs. Nuyens outlined the dance as an art form. She gave the history of religious and folk dances, eurythmics, interpretative and modern ballroom dancing.

Plans were discussed regarding the Beta Sigma Phi convention to be held in Spokane in August.

Refreshments were served.

Tennis Club Searching for New Blood

The Nelson Tennis Club is looking for a large transfusion of young blood.

At the club's annual meeting Monday the new executive of president John Nichol, vice-president Bob Wright and secretary-treasurer Don MacDonald stated that if new blood is not poured into the club, it will probably fold.

The club has set a goal of fifty members for this season, and a large membership is required to bring about necessary improvements to the playing courts and protective fence at the club's quarters at the Nelson Golf and Country Club.

Nelson Team Wins Ymir Ball Tourney

The big bat of Paul Bjornson cracked a triple in the eleventh inning to give Queens Hotel of Nelson the Ymir Softball Tournament.

In hitting three for four, Bjornson's three bagger followed Ron Wowk's triple to provide the winning run in 11-10 victory over Salmo.

Winning pitcher was John Austin while losing hurler Bill Thompson aided his cause with a home run. Thorne also homered for Salmo while Hans Sather replied with a four bagger for the Nelson nine.

In the earlier game Queens put together a double by Sather and single by George Benwell to score the winning run in 5-4 triumph over Thrums.

Don Ball chalked up nine strikeouts in winning while losing chucker Bill Perehudoff almost pulled the game out of the fire in the last inning with a smash to deep centre but Bjornson made a terrific somersault catch to save the game for the Queens.

CAHA To Take Close Look at Scholarships

BRANDON (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association decided Tuesday to take a close look at the question of instituting hockey scholarships.

Delegates at the CAHA annual meeting referred the question to the executive for investigation. The referral decision followed rejection of a British Columbia proposal suggesting that the CAHA push for a program to give university scholarships for hockey players.

Secretary - manager Gordon Juckes warned that the question of scholarships has many implications. For one thing, it's up to the universities to hand out athletic scholarships if they want to.

CAHA president Art Potter warned that "we might be sticking our necks out" if the proposal was passed in view of the university jurisdiction.

The wide-ranging B.C. resolution also suggested that federal money under the physical fitness program be set aside for scholarships in all competitive sports. The idea would be to develop Canadian athletes and encourage competition "between our university athletes."

SEEK STAND

Also asked for was a CAHA stand on a program for the federal government to pay for scholarships for outstanding Canadian athletes.

Trail Sharpshooter Outguns 51 Rivals for Duck Lake Trophy

Dan Martinelli of Trail outshot 51 marksmen in capturing the Duck Lake Trophy at the Nelson Trap and Gun Club on Ymir Road Sunday.

He wound up with a score of 45 in the handicap event to take the coveted prize from the defending champion, Harry Wade of Nelson, who has won the trophy twice.

Martinelli also won the Jeffery Radio and Appliances Trophy in the C doubles.

High gun for the day and the Beacon Motors Trophy went to Wade, who also carted home the Queen's Hotel Trophy for winning the A doubles.

The two-day shoot saw 8250 rounds of ammunition fired at 10,000 clay pigeons by sharpshooters from Spokane, Ione, Metaline Falls and Kettle Falls, Wash.; Sandpoint, Idaho; Penticton, Trail, Montrose, Kimberley, Marysville and Nelson.

Other winners were:

Trap, A class, Vic Dick. Kimberley, McLachlan Jewellers Trophy; B. Class, Leo Bruce, Spokane, Super Valu Trophy; C class, John Farkas, Nelson, City Locker Trophy.

Doubles, B class, R. Moore, Sandpoint, Albert Maida Trophy.

Women's, Mrs. Ruth Wardrope, Kimberley, first, Stan Edey Trophy; Miss Brenda Higginson, Trail, second, Mickey McEwen Trophy.

Vince Kileen was scorer; Mrs. Jack Gallicano was cashier-secretary; Harry Horton, registrar; John Wade, trophy chairman; Bill Smith, Duck Lake chairman; Harry Wade, field captain; game inspector J. P. Gibault, supervisor; George Clerihew, secretary, and Fred Bryan, publicity. Mr. Farkas said businessmen had also helped by providing equipment, including two trucks.

Big First Basemen Carrying Puny Bats

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Time was when a first baseman could be expected to slam the ball out of the park with a certain amount of regularity.

The first baseman traditionally was one of the most robust batters on the team.

Taint so now.

Scan the rosters of the entire American League and you won't find a single .300 hitting first baseman in the lot.

A majority of them are in .100 and .200 class, a spot usually reserved for pitchers and non-hitting catchers.

NL LITTLE BETTER

The National League can't glory too much in their hard-hitting first basemen, either. Except for Bill White of St. Louis and Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco, there isn't an NL first baseman hitting as high as .270.

Take a look at some of these averages.

Bill Skowron, who was supposed to be the right-handed threat against southpaw hurlers, is hitting .234 for Los Angeles Dodgers. Only one of his hits has gone the distance.

Norm Cash, who led the American League with a .361 batting average only two years ago, is hitting .194 with four home runs. Dick Stuart, expected to supply the right-handed punch for Boston, is batting .234.

Lee Thomas of Los Angeles Angels is at a .204 level with only two home runs.

Norm Siebern, .308, 117 runs batted in and 25 home runs last year, is hitting .220 with three home runs and 18 RBI for Kansas City this year.

ADCOCK BEST

The highest batting average among American League first basemen is owned by Cleveland's Joe Adcock and he's played in only half his team's games. Big Joe is hitting .286 with four home runs.

Jim Gentile of Baltimore has walloped eight home runs and Joe Pepitone of New York, Larry Osborne of Washington and Stuart have seven each. None, however, is hitting above .275.

The top slugging first basemen in the National League are Cepeda and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs. Each has hit seven home runs but Banks is hitting .230 to Cepeda's .318. White is batting .306 with four homruns. His 24 runs batted in is the top figure among all NL first basemen. Stuart leads the AL first basemen with 25 RBI.

St. Paul Drops Out of IHL

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — International Hockey League commissioner Andy Mulligan said Tuesday St. Paul has dropped out of the league.

Mulligan, here to meet with the IHL board of governors, said Joe Lien, business manager for St. Paul, told league officials of the decision.

Mulligan said St. Paul hoped to enter the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Monday IHL franchises were awarded to the Ontario cities of Windsor and Chatham. The board said Minneapolis was withdrawing from the IHL because of financial troubles.

Tee Time

Marge Hamilon and Darlene Adams won the hidden hole prizes in a field of 29 competitors at Ladies Night Tuesday.

On May 25-26 the Noxon Trophy competition will be held. Deadline time for entries is 6 p.m. Friday.

Successful Black Hawk Coach Fired

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Black Hawks fired coach Rudy Pilous Tuesday for failing to win the club's first National Hockey League title in history, and said a successor will be named next month.

The new coach according to reports will be Billy Reay of the Hawks' Buffalo club in the American Hockey League.

General manager Tommy Ivan announced that the contract of Pilous, 48, Chicago coach since midway in the 1957-58 season, would not be renewed because "the management decided to make a change."

The "management" is sportsman Jim Norris, club owner, who currently is touring Europe.

Ivan, now vacationing in Miami, Fla., said in his statement issued in Chicago that the new coach would be named after the June NHL meeting in Montreal which Norris will attend.

Recently, Norris dismissed veteran Hawks publicity director Johnny Gottselig for "repeated failure to comply with instructions on policy."

Reay last season directed Buffalo to its first American League title and playoff crown in the club's history.

The Hawks seemingly had their first NHL regular championship buttoned up until the final two weeks of last season. Then, they not only blew first place to Toronto Maple Leafs, but also were bounced out of the Stanley Cup semi-finals by the fourth-finishing Detroit Red Wings, four games to two. Such Hawks stars as Bobby Hull and Billy Hay subsequently publicly blamed Pilous's coaching for the team's late season collapse.

In St. Catharines, Ont., Pilous said Tuesday night he would like to continue in the NHL in some capacity.

"I've been in hockey all my life and know every phase of it," he said in an interview at his home. "I feel I could be of some help to an NHL team."

He said he would prefer to coach in the big league, but didn't rule out the possibility of handling a minor league team. It would have to depend on the team and the offer, he said.

Pilous said any NHL job other than coaching would also depend on the position and the type of work.

"I have already been contacted by three professional teams and a couple of organizations outside hockey," he said. "I will still listen to any offer."

Questioned on a rumor that he would be offered a job in the Toronto Maple Leafs organization, Pilous said he had not been officially approached by Toronto.

He said he was disappointed that the Black Hawks let him go. He has yet to learn of any stated reason for his release, said Pilous, who joined the last-place Hawks in the 1957-58 season and took them to the Stanley Cup championship in 1961.

Maloney Whiffs 16 for Reds; Mantle Powers Yanks to Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bill White drove in three runs and made an unbelievable catch, spurring St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over Chicago Cubs Tuesday at Chicago in the only day action in the majors.

Los Angeles Angel's American League tilt at Cleveland was postponed by rain.

In the National League game, White slammed his fifth home run with a man aboard in the top of the fifth and in the bottom of the same inning he lunged into the second row of the box seats to grab Nelson Mathews' foul popup.

White injured his right elbow and left thumb bouncing off the concrete wall but remained in the game and singled home what proved to be the winning run in the seventh inning when St. Louis broke a 3-3 tie with a two - run rally started by pitcher Curt Simmons.

Simmons, who scored his sixth victory against one loss, launched the winning rally with a double to left and scored the tie-breaking run on Curt Flood's single. Flood eventually scored on White's single.

MALONEY FANS 16

In night action, Jim Maloney, 22 - year - old Cincinnati right-hander, struck out a record-tying eight consecutive batters and fanned 16 Tuesday night as the Reds whipped Milwaukee Braves 2-0.

Despite narrowly missing the 18-strikeout record held by Bob Feller and Sandy Koufax, Maloney needed ninth inning relief to gain his sixth victory against one loss. Maloney allowed only two hits.

Baltimore and Chicago remained in a tie for the American League lead, the Orioles downing Detroit 4-2 and the White Sox edging Washington 4-3. New York Yankees belted Kansas City 7-4 and Minnesota bombed Boston 8-2.

Frank Robinson drove in both Cincinnati runs with a single in the first inning and a sacrifice fly in the third as the Braves lost their sixth in seven games.

BREAKS 1-1 TIE

Joe Gaines was the batting star for the Orioles, hitting a homer in the second and a sacrifice fly during a two-run rally in the sixth that broke a 1-1 tie against the Tigers.

The White Sox won with a three-run sixth inning uprising, then held on against the Senators, who scored twice in the ninth on a homer by Don Lock. Ron Hansen's two-run single was the key blow in the sixth inning rally.

Mickey Mantle smashed two homers and drove in five runs. Roger Maris also connected for the Yankees. Norm Siebern and Gino Cimoli homered for the As.

The Twins put together seven runs in the third inning—their biggest one-inning output of the season—to whip the Red Sox. Vic Power's triple and a double by Bob Allison powered the rally.

Lefthander Johnny Podres pitched a five-hitter as Los Angeles Dodgers extended their winning streak to seven games by defeating New York Mets 4-2.

CISCO LOSES GAME

Podres retired the first 10 Mets in order, struck out 10 and walked three. This was his third victory in six decisions. Galen Cisco went seven innings, allowing six hits, and took the loss. He is 1-4.

Jim Pagliaroni's three - run homer off Jim Umbricht sparked Pittsburgh to a 6-5 victory over Houston, giving the Pirates only their second triumph in the last eight games.

Pagliaroni, who had driven in a run with a second inning single, put the Pirates ahead to stay 5-4 in the sixth following a single by Willie Stargell and a walk to Bob Bailey off starter Ken Johnson.

After the walk, Umbricht, who has been pitching strongly for the Colts since recuperating from a cancer operation in March, relieved Johnson and gave up the homer to Pagliaroni on his first pitch. The loss evened his record at 1-1. Al McBean, 4-1, was the winner in relief.

HAS 6-0 RECORD

San Francisco southpaw Billy O'Dell, backed by home runs by Ed Bailey, Orlando Cepeda and Jose Pagan, topped Philadelphia Phils 3-2 on five hits for his sixth victory without a loss.

Pagan's long blast to left leading off the eighth broke a 2-2 tie. It was his second homer of the season and kept the National League leading Giants one game ahead of Los Angeles Dodgers.

Bailey smashed his eighth home run over the right field fence in the second inning, but the Phils tied the score 1-1 in the third on singles by Bob Wine and Tony Gonzalez sandwiched around a sacrifice.

Cepeda regained the edge for the Giants in the fourth when he hit a line driver over the right field fence for his eighth homer.

Loser Ray Culp, 4-3, gave up just five hits, striking out nine. O'Dell fanned nine.

Youth Lands a True Whopper

VICTORIA (CP) — Billy Fletcher, 12, of suburban View Royal, went fishing for cod at Port Renfrew Sunday and caught a "whopper" he'll never forget.

The fish, weighing 146 pounds and six feet in length, was a halibut.

"Wow — what a fish," he said Tuesday. "It took us three hours to get it ashore."

Billy was out fishing with his father and uncle and had just dropped his cod line into the water when he felt a tug. Then his line ran out and the next thing he knew the boat was being pulled out to sea.

"We knew we had something big and we started playing it," he said. "Once we got the fish alongside the boat and caught it with the gaff. But the steel hook straightened out.

"The water was white all around us and for a moment we thought we would lose it," he added. "But the cod hook held and with the help of another boat we managed to tow the fish ashore."

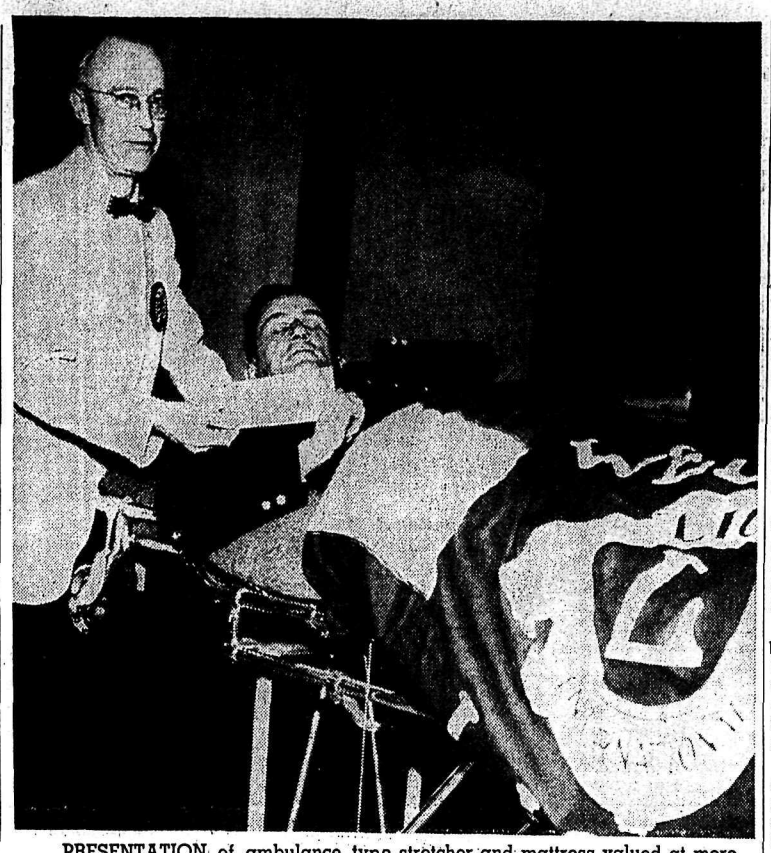
SEEK INDIAN ART

Fur trappers across Ontario are assisting in the search for Indian rock paintings, about 100 of which were found between 1956 and 1962.



PRESENTATION of ambulance type stretcher and mattress valued at more than $400 was made to the Nelson fire department by the Nelson Lions Club. Here, president Hugh C. Armstrong presents cheque for payment for stretcher to Fire Chief E. S. Owens, lying on the one-man cot. Equipment is designed so that one man can handle a patient on the cot, placing patient in the car and removing him from it.—Daily News photo.

U.S. Supreme Court Holds Off On Discrimination Problem

By PAUL M. YOST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court has left until next term the question of whether a businessman—a restaurant owner, for instance—can on his own constitutionally discriminate in the serving of customers. Also: Can he ask authorities to help enforce his discrimination?

The tribunal did not take up these problems Monday as it overturned the conviction of 44 sit-in demonstrators protesting segregation in four states.

In this series of cases, the court declared it unconstitutional for a state to require segregation and use its powers to enforce it.

However, in a separate opinion, Justice John M. Harlan said the right of the private businessman to operate on a segregated basis was "ostensibly left untouched" by the court majority's approach to the issue.

The Supreme Court's declaration, giving a majority victory to campaigners against racial discrimination, specifically affected 44 individual demonstrators who appealed to the high tribunal. It also indicates that convictions of about 3,000 Negroes and whites arrested for sitins in various southern states are unconstitutional.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wrote the majority opinion in the five cases which had been argued together, said of the key case from Greenville, S.C.:

"When a state agency passes a law compelling persons to discriminate against other persons because of race, and the state's criminal processes are employed in a way which enforces the discrimination mandated by that law, such as palpable violation of the (constitution's) 14th amendment cannot be saved by attempting to separate the mental urges of the discriminators."

In the Greenville case, Warren said, the city by ordinance provided that any devision as to whether a restaurant is to be operated on a segregated basis is to be reserved to the city.

Thus, said Warren, a person owning an eating place is left with no choice of his own, but must segregate white and Negro. This, he said, is state action that can not stand.

PRIVATE CONDUCT EXEMPT

Prior to this declaration, Warren tempered the effect of the decisions by restating the words of a 1961 Supreme Court opinion in another racial case. This was that private conduct violating individual rights does not violate the constitution unless a state or city is involved to some significant extent.

The tribunal did not go into the question, often discussed, of what a private storekeeper can do if on his own desire—without any state or city law—he prefers not to serve Negroes.

A case touching on this question was ordered to be heard again after the court made known it could not reach a decision.

This involves an appeal by five Negroes fined on trespass charges after refusing to leave a privately - owned amusement park in Glen Echo, Md., just outside Washington.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Thursday, May 23, 1963

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Budget and tactical matters, analyzing, routine, but especially complicated affairs ask more than casual attention, accuracy. Some erratic or troublesome tendencies to watch for.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Don't let an opportunity slip through your hands, especially if it means a more interesting and better paying job. Go to the very top.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Observe new trends. Some are appropriate, some are to be avoided. Intuition, respect for authority, developing progressive processes indicate new gains.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Thwarted in some areas? This can offer you the means of clever circumventing and discipline to steady your aim for a future decidedly BETTER in approach and methods. Make corrections quickly.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Neither defend mistakes nor rush to revolutionize without thorough investigation and consideration of all data and persons concerned. Intriguing but also in part misleading tendencies. Tact!

AUGUST 24 to SEPT. 23 (Virgo) — A captivating, provocative and also down-to-earth plain-Jane day. Choose carefully YOUR duties and those extras you would include. A poor beginning is a big obstacle to success.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Indicated now. Plenty of good offerings, advantages, and means for even more conspicuous attainment. Stress discration and caution, however.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Be certain of small "musts" as you go along with the "big" items. But many situations are not "grim" as some would infer.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — You do not like stagnant conditions, yet waiting out certain results and matters is often mre important than rushing into errors. Be fervent but also calm, outwardly, INWARDLY.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Here Saturn indicates freer movement, room for more expression than perhaps recently enjoyed. Get at basics, rules, clearly understood ideas for action and planning. Shun caprice.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) —Exercising mental faculties as well as the physical being will expand your success pattern. Today has numerous leads and benefits for the wary but also consistent enthusiast.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) —Gains indicated from past wise efforts. Do not wait for someone else to make the first move, except where advisable. Your canny psychology tells you a lot. Now add the known facts.

YOU BORN TODAY: Are versatile, normally happy, motivated by good will, a liking for everything life offers of worth. This sector travels with vim, has a keen sense of knowing where to go to find the best of what you like. You may change your mind often, however, and thus stymie your own attainment if not on guard. You rise to an occasion outstandingly, and can turn a simple, pleasant hobbyo into a lucrative business. Gemini excels in promotion, artistic adventures, exploration; can become a skilled surgeon, musician; always fun as a companion, lively associate — even explosive at times. You are sensitive, restless, self-sacrificing, friendly, impatient for results — and will work hard for them. Curb impulsive action. Birthdate: Prof. Carolus Linnaeus, Swed. botanist.

WOMAN CHARGED

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)— Mrs. Audrey Fischoder of Surrey was charged Monday with driving without due care and attention after her car tore out two posts of a guard rail, sideswiped another guard rail, glanced off a power pole, broke a cement curb and bent a railway track before stopping. She suffered fractured ribs.

Court Ruling May Alter Stock Exchange Services

NEW YORK (AP-AP) — A ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court Monday that the New York stock exchange is subject to anti-trust laws seems likely to restrict the exchange in its denial of ticker services to non-members.

The exchange withheld comment pending study of the ruling. However, one Wall Street source familiar with the problem said it appears non-members refused ticker services will have to be served with formal reasons and a chance to reply.

"It (the ruling) doesn't seem to affect the exchange's overall disciplinary powers, only the way in which they are exercised with respect to non-members," the source said.

In a 7-to-2 decision, the Supreme Court held that the U.S. Securities Exchange Act does not give the exchange immunity from anti-trust laws. Justice Arthur Goldberg wrote the opinion.

The exchange had asserted such immunity in ordering member firms to sever wire connections with a non-member Dallas, Tex., securities concern. It refused the Dallas concern's demand for a statement of reasons, at the same time saying an exchange investigation had turned up some.

TREATMENT DIFFERS

The exchange treats members and non-members differently in disciplinary matters.

A member found by big board investigators to be violating the exchange constitution or rules is served with charges and specifications, and given what amounts to a trial before the board of governors which then may impose penalties.

At the hearing, the accused member is given a right of defence and cross - examination, although professional counsel is not allowed and courtroom rules of evidence do not apply.

A non-member lacks these privileges.

The Supreme Court said the exchange was wrong in not extending them to Harold J. Silver and his Municipal Securities Company of Dallas.

AUTHORITY WITHDRAWN

The concern, in accordance with exchange rules, had been receiving wire services from exchange member firms under temporary authority that was withdrawn in February, 1959.

At that time, the member firms under an exchange rule since suspended were obliged as a condition of membership to do the exchange's bidding in this regard.

Municipal securities then won a U.S. district court ruling saying the actions of the exchange and its members constituted a concerted refusal to deal in violation of the Anti-Trust Act.

One Wall Streeter commented:

"The Supreme Court ruling removes from the hands of the exchange a club it has used to keep non-members in line."

In the past, the exchange is understood to have denied its ticker service on several occasions to applicants with what it considered doubtful motives of questionable operations in the securities field.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Tuesday made its best gain in about seven weeks as blue chips regained some of the leadership they have lost recently to more speculative issues. Volume rose to 5,570,000 shares from 4,720,000 Monday.

The sugar issues, up in the morning as they responded again to higher sugar prices, began to falter in the afternoon and some ended the day with sharp loses due to profit-taking. The Dow Jones industrial average, which was ahead by only a scanty .43 at noon, ended the session with a rise of 3.86 at 724.04.

Du Pont rose 2⅝, Eastman Kodak 1⅛, Standard Oil (New Jersey) ¼ and Radio Corp. ¾.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.7 to 274.5. An estimated $2,400,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in The AP average.

LEADS IN VOLUME

Thanks to a single block of 141,000 shares, Texaco was the volume leader, dropping ⅞ to 66⅛ on 160,900 shares. Chrysler's split stock rose 1⅛ to 59⅜ on 120,800 shares.

Twentieth Century - Fox was active and up as the annual meeting was told the company has gone into the profit column. U.S. Smelting, also heavily traded, rose ⅜, as results of the balloting on the proxy contest were awaited.

Alcoa sagged ¾ as a big 250,000-share secondary offering of the stock was made. Other aluminums were irregular.

Among Canadian stocks, Hudson Bay Mining advanced ⅜ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. Distillers Seagrams, Walker-Gooderham and McIntyre Porcupine fell ½ and Granby Mining was off ⅜.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Scurry Rainbow Oil was up ⅜.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market showed weakness during light post-holiday trading Tuesday.

The exchange index had industrials down more than two points and golds and base metals fractionally lower. Western oils edged ahead.

Banks acted as trend indicators and utilities also showed general decline on the main list. Bank of Montreal, and Nova Scotia each slipped ⅜, Imperial Bank of Commerce dropped ¼ and Royal dipped ⅜.

B.C. Power dropped ¾, B.C. Telephone fell ½, Calgary Power slipped ⅜ and Bell Telephone eased ⅛.

Additional big losers included Interprovincial Pipe Line down 1¾, Ontario Steel and Price Brothers, each off a point, Imperial Oil, down ¾ and Building Products and Guaranty Trust, both off ½.

OILS GAIN

On the upside Texaco Canada moved ahead two points to a new 1963 high of 53, Canada General Investments rose 1½ to a new top of 44, Canadian Tire A jumped ¾ and Canadian Celanese rose ½.

On index, industrials slipped 2.03 to 643.73, golds eased .12 to 88.12 and base metals dropped .18 to 216.45. Western oils gained .08 to 126.71. Final volume was 2,834,000 shares compared with 2,565,000 Friday.

Little change was seen in western oils with the exception of Canada Southern Petroleum. The stock rose 30 cents to $4.60 on a turnover of about 58,000 shares following news that the company has had successful drillings in Alberta recently.

Base metals were held lower by International Nickel and Hudson Bay, both off a point. Noranda and Falconbridge each rose ½.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks fell back on a wide front Tuesday on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges. Treading was light.

Banks showed losses, Royal falling ¾ to 79 and Montreal ¼ to 68¾. Papers were also down Price dropping 1⅛ to 38¾ and Consolidated ⅝ to 39.

Other losers included Bell, down ⅜ to 56¾ CPR ⅛ to 30¼ B.A. Oil, ⅜ to 28½ Dominion Tar, ¼ to 19½, and Seagrams, ⅜ to 51¼.

Hudson Bay Mining was down one point to 56¾, while Hudson's Bay Company was up ⅛ to 13. Industrial Acceptance rose ⅜ to 28 and Trans Canada pipe ½ to 29⅛.

In mines, Mount Pleasant was up six cents to 60 cents.

The indices were down, industrials falling 0.6 to 128.6, utilities 0.7 to 122.2, banks 0.7 to 131.5, the composite 0.7 to 127.7 and papers 1.0 to 112.5.
