Strong Role in World Trade Planned for Canada

Pearson "Welcomes Challenge"

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday night he welcomes the challenges that lie ahead of him and his new Liberal government.

"It will not be an easy time but it will, I pledge you, be a time to excite the daring, to test the strong and to give new promise to the timid," he said in an address broadcast the day after assuming office.

Mr. Pearson, noting that his government lacks a majority of Commons seats, said he is resolved not to allow this "to influence the government in any way that will weaken its action."

"We will not be seeking to evade any issues, to avoid any votes in Parliament. We will not be seeking any special deals. We will breach no trust, barter no principles."

Reviewing the period ahead for Parliament, which meets May 16, Mr. Pearson promised to have legislation ready to provide a framework within which Canadians can work to improve prosperity, increase employment and production and create better opportunities and greater security.

"Above all, we will be taking action to heal the strains and tensions within our country," he said.

"The axis of our nation is the partnership of English- and French-Canadians on which our federal system was founded.

"I am determined to do everything that a government can do to ensure that this partnership will become richer and be truly equal. The problems that divide us must be understood and they must be overcome. No purpose is more important or more urgent than this.

"In that spirit your government will strive to strengthen and deepen our Canadian Confederation and make us a more united people."

WISHES HIM WELL

He paid a special tribute to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, saying "Mr. Diefenbaker has served Canada for many years with patriotic devotion." He wished him well in his new role as opposition leader.

The new government, he said, asks the understanding, co-operation and prayers of Canadians, pledging "to do everything we can, in every way we can, to protect and promote your true interests."

He added:

"A government cannot achieve that purpose merely by doing what will produce the most obvious results today. . . .

"We have to do what is best for today but also what will contribute most to the long-term well-being and progress of our country—dealing with problems before they become crises seizing opportunities before they disappear."

Noting that he will be flying to London in a few days to meet Prime Minister Macmillan, Mr. Pearson said he wants to discuss ways in which Canada and Britain "can work together to improve the trading relations and the political relations of the free countries of the world."

Of his subsequent visit to Washington, Mr. Pearson said Canada and the United States can do much together for mutual benefit and for the benefit of the world.

"I want to make sure that the two governments understand each other."

Trade Minister Sharp To Fight Trade Barriers

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new trade minister said Tuesday that Canada will play a strong role in world efforts to reduce trade barriers, but declared "we'll be tough bargainers."

"Make no bones about it, we'll be bargaining hard," Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said in his first press conference as minister.

The goal would be "to gain concessions in other markets at least equal to those we grant in our own market."

He was referring to the international tariff bargaining due to begin next year under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and based on the tariff-cutting powers of President Kennedy's U.S. Trade Expansion Act.

Mr. Sharp, speaking to reporters little more than 24 hours after taking office, said he will be going to Geneva next month for a preliminary GATT meeting which would establish the rules "and I hope perhaps some of the principles" under which the 1964 negotiations will be conducted.

NEARS APPROVAL

He said the position Canada will take has not yet been approved by cabinet, and declined to indicate what specific approach might be taken. He added, however:

"I hope we shall take quite a strong position in the GATT negotiations and resume our position in the free world as a leading trading nation. We can' tsit back and let other people make our decision for us."

The government would be seeking to "give Canada an appropriate place in these negotiations."

It was "imperative" to Canada that international trade barriers be reduced. Canada, of all countries, stood to benefit from such a development.

The GATT meeting in Geneva to which Mr. Sharp referred is one of four trade meetings within the next four weeks—all exploratory in nature—in which trade policies of the new Liberal government will be involved.

The first two trade meetings take place here this week with visits today and Thursday by Australian Trade Minister John McEwan and on Friday by Christian Herter, special U.S. representative for trade negotiations.

TWO MEETINGS IN MAY

Both visitors will be sounding out the government's views in advance of two important conferences next month.

Largest of these conferences is the Geneva meeting May 16-21 of the ministerial council of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. This meeting will be working out ground rules for next year's major round of tariff-cutting negotiations based on President Kennedy's tariff bargaining powers.

The GATT meeting will be preceded by a conference in London May 13-14 of Commonwealth ministers. Officials of Commonwealth governments will meet there in advance May 8-10.

The Commonwealth talks will be in preparation for the GATT conference and also will discuss the position of Commonwealth trade in the wake of Britain's failure to enter the European Common Market.

The U.S. trade negotiator, a former state secretary under President Eisenhower, has been making a series of visits to world capitals preparing for the Geneva meeting and next year's GATT tariff bargaining sessions.

Taschereau New Chief Justice

JUSTICE TASCHEREAU

OTTAWA (CP) — Robert Taschereau, judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, was appointed Tuesday as chief justice of Canada.

Chief Justice Taschereau was elected to the Quebec legislature for Bellechasse in 1930 and was re-elected in 1931 and in 1935.

He was honorary secretary of the Canadian Bar Association from 1934 to 1941. He holds honorary degrees from the University of Ottawa, Laval and the University of Montreal. In 1947 he was created chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French government.

The new chief justice is the son of former Quebec Liberal Premier Louis Alexander Taschereau.

Chief Justice Taschereau was a member of the royal commission on espionage set up in 1946 after Igor Gouzenko, former cipher clerk at the Russian embassy here, disclosed existence of a spy ring in Canada.

Job Picture Improves for Laborers, Construction Men

28 of Every 100 Laborers Jobless In Early '63 Compared to 30 in '62

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP) — Laborers and construction workers are still the hardest hit by unemployment in Canada, but there are signs of improvement.

These are the workers who are hampered by lack of skills and disrupted by the whims of weather. Many of them have been out of work for months.

A slight brightening in this otherwise bleak picture appears in the latest analysis of occupational unemployment prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

It shows a drop in the unemployment rate of laborers and construction workers between the first quarter of 1963 and the comparable period last year. This reflects the stronger employment activity in construction and manufacturing over the year.

Laborers make up one-fifth of the jobless workers in Canada. But their unemployment rate slipped to 28.3 per cent in the first three months this year from 30.1 per cent in the similar period last year.

In other words, roughly 28 of every 100 laborers were jobless in early 1963, compared to 30 of every 100 in the first quarter of 1962.

Construction workers made up 15 per cent of the ranks of the unemployed in the first quarter of 1963, a slight improvement from the 17-per-cent proportion a year earlier. Instead of almost 26 of every 100 construction workers being out of a job—as they were in early 1962—there was only some 22 of every 100 jobless in the first part of this year.

While the improvements are regarded as encouraging, the unemployment rates of laborers and construction workers are still consistently far above the first-quarter national average of 8.4 per cent.

Erhard Named To Succeed Adenauer

BONN (AP) — Representatives in the West German Parliament of Chancellor Adenauer's Christian Democratic party Tuesday named Minister of Economics Ludwig Erhard as their candidate to take over the chancellorship when Adenauer retires.

Erhard got 159 votes. There were 47 cast against him and 19 abstentions.

Adenauer is expected to resign in the fall. Then President Henrich Luebke would send Erhard's name to the Bundestag (parliament) which chooses the chancellor.

It was a bitter blow for the 87-year-old Adenauer who had fought Erhard's designation almost to the end. Adenauer believed the economics minister lacked the political skill needed in a chancellor.

The Christian Democrats are the leading party in the Bundestag, but they do not have a majority. Erhard is expected to get the votes of the Free Democrats, coalition partners of the Christian Democrats, which would give him the job.

Indian Population In Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — Better health care and a decrease in tuberculosis is responsible for making the native Indian population the fastest growing in Canada, the B.C. supervisor for Indian affairs said here Monday.

Fred Clark told a ratepayers' meeting that there are 40,000 Indians in B.C. alone.

"By 1975 there will be 70,000 in this province," he said. "That far outstrips any other group.

"Only a few years ago, B.C.'s three Indian hospitals were full of TB cases. Now these hospitals are reserved for the care of chronically-ill patients."

Rusk Told Press Columbia Pact Ratification

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary Rusk has been urged to press the new Canadian government for early action on the long - stalled Columbia River power treaty.

The call came from Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, who pleaded for swift Canadian ratification of the treaty or new negotiations to remove any cross - border differences that may exist.

Informants said the treaty, signed here in January, 1960, would be on the agenda for talks between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Pearson, who may meet early next month.

Mansfield, Montana Democrat, in a letter to Rusk made public Tuesday, urged that the Columbia issue be taken up now that the Canadian election has been settled "at least for the time being."

A strong supporter of the Montana Libby Dam which cannot be built unless the Columbia treaty is approved, Mansfield suggested the treaty issue be reopened by W. Walton Butterworth, U.S. ambassador at Ottawa, and brought to the attention of Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin.

Sunday Movies Okayed at Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council passed a bylaw Tuesday permitting Sunday movies here.

The bylaw also will allow theatrical perfromances, concerts, lectures, military tattoos and performances by the seasonal Theatre Under the Stars.

Under the bylaw, performances can't start until 1:30 p.m. There was no specified closing time.

NAMESAKE SCHOOL—Former President Eisenhower shakes hands with Pamela McGill at the Dwight D. Eisenhower School in Indio, Calif., as he pays a surprise visit. Each of Indio's schools is named for a U.S. president, but this was the first time the namesake showed up. "School children are a lot smarter and learn a lot more than they did 60 years ago," Ike told the pupils.

Tax Group Hears Calls for Tax Cuts

By STEWART MacLEOD

MONTREAL (CP)—In a four-hour period Tuesday, the royal commission on taxation heard that: the excise tax should be removed from cosmetics that all excise taxes should be removed that corporation and personal income taxes should be eliminated.

In a day largely devoted to attacks on existing taxes, the six-man commission, headed by Kenneth Carter, a Toronto chartered accountant, was told by one witness that taxes on land and natural resources should replace existing taxes on individuals and corporations.

"We must take a new look at taxation and stop rehashing old ideas," said the Canadian research committee on taxation—a non-profit group that has long supported the theory of "economic rent" on land.

Committee chairman Ben Sevack, a company president outlined the committee's theories that would radically change the present system of raising government revenues.

Taxes on land and natural resources, he said, would fulfill the theories of "ability to pay, redistribution of wealth and benefits conferred," and would eliminate those taxes that now "reduce incentive and stifle initiative and production."

Macnaughton Nominated House Speaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Alan Macnaughton, 59, Liberal MP for Montreal Mount Royal, was nominated Tuesday as new Commons speaker for the 26th Parliament.

During his parliamentary career he served as Canadian alternate delegate to the assembly of the United Nations and in 1962-63 was chairman of the Liberal party caucus.

Born in Napanee, Ont., Mr. Macnaughton studied at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and McGill University, Montreal, taking degrees in arts and law. He did post-graduate work at the London School of Economics.

If elected by the Commons, Mr. Macnaughton will be the first speaker from Quebec since Hon. Rene Beoudoin in 1957 when the Liberals went out of office.

CLAIMANTS SAID TREATED LIKE CRIMINALS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Building Trades Council complained Tuesday that injured workers submitting compensation claims are treated like criminals.

The council, in a brief to the royal commission on B.C.'s Workmen's Compensation Act, said it would seem a man having an accident "is guilty of an offence and is under a cloud of guilt until he can prove his innocence. . . ."

The brief said the framers of the compensation act hadn't intended to place an injured worker in the position of a defendant in court.

"Any act set up concerning all persons working under a contract of service should be administered under an atmosphere of friendliness.

"This atmosphere, at the present time, does not exist, but rather, the act is administered under an atmosphere of a court of law."

The council called on Commissioner A. C. DesBrisay to recommend to the labor minister that improved public relations methods be used to smooth out contracts between injured workers and the board.

Small Pellet May Hit Cancer

MONTREAL (CP)—Use of a tiny radioactive ceramic pellet, one-tenth the size of a grain of salt, is being studied as a possible ally in the struggle against cancer.

The Canadian Cancer Society announced Tuesday it is providing a $10,000 grant for a research project headed by Dr. L. D. MacLean, professor of surgery at McGill University and surgeon-in-chief at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Liberals May Have Only Won 31 Seats

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Unofficial figures released Tuesday by the returning officer for Saint John City show only one Liberal member elected to the four-seat constituency instead of the four indicated after closing of polls Monday night after the New Brunswick provincial election.

The returning officer, J. B. Cronin, Tuesday gave these new unofficial totals (election night totals as reported from every polling station in brackets):

Liberals: Daniel A. Riley 9621 (10,059); John D. MacCullum. 9556 (9988); A. Y. Goss, 9503 (9905); George T. Urquhart, 9471 (9896).

Progressive Conservatives — Donald Patterson, 9629 (9746); George McInerney, 9570 (9781); R. M. Pendrigh 9565 (9772); George L. Keith, 9472 (9789).

If the new unofficial totals stand up in the official count on declaration day next Monday they would reduce Liberal-government held seats to 31 and leave House standings at 31-21, or exactly the same as in the last legislature.

Cabinet Group To Study Thorny Issues

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson celebrated his 66th birthday Tuesday with a full day's work and two birthday cakes in his new office.

The Liberal leader presided at a two-hour morning cabinet meeting and emerged to announce formation of a special cabinet committee to tackle trade, economics and employment questions. He will be its chairman.

In the second day of his promised "60 days of decision" for the new Liberal government, Mr. Pearson allso announced a royal commission on bi-culturalism will be set up "with the least possible delay," and the cabinet has tackled the legislative program it will introduce at the start of the parliamentary session which opens May 16.

10-Cent Tax Grows to 19c

MONTREAL (CP)—The royal commission on taxation learned something about price markups Tuesday when it was told that a cosmetic, with an original factory price of $1, eventually sells to the consumer for $2.14, plus provincial sales taxes.

K. J. Eccles, president of the Toilet Goods Manufacturers' Association, traced the financial path of a $1 item to show how a 10-cent tax imposed at the factory will cost the consumer about 19 cents.

The $1 item is first subject to a 10-cent excise tax and an 11-cent sales tax which means it is sold to the distributor for $1.21. He adds a 15 per - cent markup and sells it to the retailer at about $1.42.

The retailer adds 33 1-3 per cent—just over 71 cents—and it is offered to the consumer at about $2.14.

Because the original 10-cent tax is included in all the percentage markups, it eventually adds about 19 cents to the price.

Mr. Eccles produced the figures to support his argument for elimination of excise taxes on cosmetics. Most people didn't realize just where they were paying it, he said.

Spokane Man Given 15 Years

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — A Spokane cafe operator was sentenced to 15 years in state prison Tuesday for budgeoning a woman companion to death and stuffing her body in the trunk of his car last November.

Jame Peterson, 46, was given the maximum penalty by district judge John Cramer after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of second degree murder in the death of Mrs. Wanda E. McLeod, 43, of Spokane and Edmonton, Alta.

Peterson hid out in a barn for three weeks without food after the slaying. During that time his weight fell 43 pounds to 197.

He gave himself up to north Idaho law officers last December.

Mrs. McLeod's body, slashed with a razor blade, was found in the trunk of Peterson's car, which was abandoned along the Clearwater River.

Balanced Budget Gordon's Aim

OTTAWA (CP) — The new Liberal government will work toward a balanced budget, Finance Minister Walter Gordon said Tuesday night.

He added that this does not mean the objective will be reached "in one year or two years."

"But that's the direction we intend to move," said the new finance minister, who has already begun preparation of the budget speech he has said he will present to Parliament in June.

PERMISSIVE AGREEMENT

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Hellyer said Tuesday night a nuclear agreement with the U. S. would be "a permissive agreement" which would not commit Canada "to anything."

He said on the CBC television program Inquiry that with a permissive agreement, "we do not bind ourselves to any specific action."

World News Briefly

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The International Control Commission, barred from operating within lines of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, plans to send a truce team today or Thursday to the neutralist side in the troubled Plaine des Jarres.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma announced Tuesday this one-sided effort for peace.

HALIFAX (CP) — James M. Minifie, the CBC's Washington correspondent, said Tuesday management of the news must be brought to an end if the democratic form of government is to survive.

He told a service club two examples of news management were the Skybolt and Bomarc missile issues which exposed the "deliberate misleading and conscienceless distortion . . . now current in high places."

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. A. W. Trueman, director of the Canada Council, said Tuesday night that "the overhauling of the constitution" to reconcile the English and French elements is the top issue facing Canada.

"It is my considered opinion that we cannot go on any longer as we are," he told the University Women's Club of Toronto.

"I believe that the major issue that confronts Canada today is . . . the reconciling of the French and English elements in our population and the overhauling of the constitution in relation to that problem."

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan said in a letter made public Tuesday the British government is determined to maintain free air access to West Berlin.

He wrote in reply to British television personality Hughie Green, a Canadian citizen, whose private plane was buzzed over East Germany by Soviet MiG jets April 2.

In his letter to the prime minister, Green blamed the British ministry of aviation for "needlessly endangering life" in telling him his flight had been cleared by the competent authorities.

And in This Corner . . .

MONTREAL (CP)—If you're going to build a comfort station for the public, you might as well put some doors in it.

That's the conclusion the city council of suburban Verdun has come to and it's costing the suburb $17,500 to carry it through.

Some time ago the council decided to have a comfort station built in Rheaume Park. The station was almost finished, council was told Monday night, before someone realized there were no doors or windows.

The matter came up when a councillor questioned an unspecified allotment of $17,500.

"Believe it or not," explained Mayor George O'Reilly, "the architects forgot the doors and windows."

He also instructed the suburb's legal adviser to look into the possibility of recovering the extra money from those responsible for the error.

Council did not name the architects.

Body of Schiller Found By Nelson Scuba Diver

A Nelson scuba diver working on a hunch found the body of Nicholas Schiller Monday afternoon in the West Arm of Kootenay Lake.

Peter Beyer found the Balfour resident about 100 feet from the Harrop ferry slip in 45 feet of water.

"Somehow I had a feeling the body should be down there," Beyer said.

His reasoning stemmed from past experience which indicated a body sinks fast, and the current was not strong enough to roll it over.

Beyer recovered the body on his own after several volunteers quit dragging earlier in the afternoon.

He started diving at 2:30 p.m. and located the body 120 feet downstream from the landing at 4 p.m.

RCMP had called off the search Monday because with the current and depth of the scene they felt it would be futile to drag for the body.

RCMP, immediately contacted, brought the body to Nelson.

Schiller's body was sent to Trail and a post mortem will be held today by Dr. J. E. Gnass of Trail.

Coroner William Evans of Nelson will conduct an inquest, which starts today.

Reeves Workers To Strike May 1

VANCOUVER (CP) —May 1 has been set as the date for a strike of workers at the Reeves MacDonald Mine Ltd. at Salmo, the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) announced.

Harvey Murphy, western district president, said the workers voted to strike after the company rejected the majority report of a conciliation board which recommended a 7½-cent hourly wage increase plus other benefits.

He said 95 per cent of the 100 Mine-Mill members involved supported strike action.

Mr. Murphy said Mine-Mill workers at Boyles Bros. Drilling Company Ltd., and T. Connors Diamond Drilling Company will strike May 6.

$250 Fine Set In Three-Way City Accident

A fine of $250 and costs for impaired driving was imposed on Phillip Markin of Castlegar Saturday in city police court.

Markin was proceeding up Baker Street Friday about 7 p.m., and crashed into the rear of Edward M. Chapman's motor vehicle, which was waiting for the red light, court was told.

Chapman's car, upon impact, plowed into a vehicle driven by Richard Carlson of Nelson.

Damage to the three cars was estimated at $200.

Markin pleaded guilty to the offence before Magistrate R. S. Nelson.

Meet on Columbia Suggested

VICTORIA (CP)—B.C. Lands and Forests Minister Williston has proposed a meeting between Premier Bennett and Prime Minister Pearson to bring about early hydro development of the Columbia River.

In an interview, Mr. Williston said Tuesday: "Mr. Pearson and the premier should get together on policy or appoint someone to determine it on their behalf.

"A meeting between them might be the better way. It would be the fastest way, anyhow."

The senior government should call the meeting, Mr. Williston said, "so we could get this thing on the road."

Mr. Williston was commenting on earlier remarks in Ottawa by Northern Affairs Minister Laing, who suggested the Columbia development be given top priority.

Mr. Williston saw in Mr. Laing's remarks a possibility that any changes in the Columbia treaty drawn with the United States, but never ratified by Canada, might be accomplished with an exchange of notes, rather than re-negotiation.

"That's wonderful," Mr. Williston said. "That clarifies the issues right away."

Mercier New Kinsmen Head

Nelson Kinsmen Club elected its 1963 slate of officers at the Hume Hotel Tuesday night.

Elmer W. Mercier will replace outgoing president Brian Hughes; his opponent, Ronald Corbett, was elected vice-president; secretary, Ronald Sawyer; treasurer, John Kershbaulm, and registrar, Harvey Glock.

Directors elected were S. Zachernuk, William Johnstone, Ernie Boechler and Henry Bentham.

Kinsmen were informed May 5 is scheduled for their car wash.

Dolly Varden Expected to Be Big Silver Producer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dolly Varden Mines Limited shareholders unanimously approved increasing share capitalization to 4,000,000 shares from 3,000,000 at a meeting here Tuesday.

A director of the firm predicted the Dolly Varden Group, located near Alice Arm north of Prince Rupert, will be Canada's third largest silver producer when it begins operating this summer.

The group encompasses the North Star Mine, the Wolf No. 1 and 2 Mines, the Dolly Varden Mine and the Torbrit Mine.

Dolly Varden president told shareholders "two very important acquisitions have been made recently of properties adjoining the Wolf Mine. These include the Silver Horde group and the Smith-Thompson group."

Mr. Buckland said exploration has shown a vein 16 feet wide containing high grade silver on the Smith-Thompson property.

"Acquisition of these groups extends the Wolf Mine approximately one-mile in length," he said. "It's entirely possible that Wolf contains more than 1,000,000 tons of ore, but we won't have definite figures on this until our diamond drilling program has been carried out to greater extent."

As a result of the Torbrit acquisition last year, the Dolly owns a complete townsite, 400-ton-per-day mill, 2,000 horsepower hydro-electric plant, and most of the equipment necessary for production.

"Night Club" Meets the Need for Youth Activity

Nelson's first night club, opened three weeks ago, is expected to serve "a real need" in this community.

The Interlude Club is designed to cater to the night life of the younger generation. Its major supporters are the students at Notre Dame College, who have also contributed most of the talent necessary to keep the club young and alive.

Fred and Doris Merriman, sponsors, place the credit for the project's success to date on the popular Notre Dame combo "The Gents" as well as the support and enthusiasm given by the Nelson Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion. Many young people have worked at the club voluntarily every night since its opening.

The idea was born when Mr. and Mrs. Merriman, who are both active in young peoples' work, decided that no real meeting place for the younger generation existed in Nelson.

Various forms of entertainment as well as organized sport are available in Nelson, but they both felt that the young adults, college students and possibly the mature senior high school students would like to have a regular place in town that would provide them with entertainment, dancing and light refreshments on a regular weekend basis.

The Club allows its members to come and go as they please, a place where "the gang" can meet before the show or bowling and come back again to finish the evening with dancing and music.

"One of the most important reasons for the creation of the Interlude is to provide a showcase for new, young talent," they explained.

The Club provides an opportunity for aspiring entertainers to perform in a night club atmosphere, where they can develop showmanship and confidence.

Although there is no fixed age limit members are expected to be at least senior high school students and not be more than 25 years old. The sponsors said that this is not strictly a "Teen age" nightclub. Any person in their 20's is welcome providing they adhere to the "no liquor on the premises" rule.

The new member is provided with a membership card on the first night he attends providing he meets with the general requirements of the Interlude. He is then required to present his card and a small fee each time he attends.

The club meets in temporary quarters in the large Legion Hall Friday and Saturday nights. The Notre Dame "Gents" provide live dance music and features Ken Lerner and Joan Boyd as vocalists. Gino Danel is the M.C.

Controlled Storage Planned By Okanagan Growers

PENTICTON (CP) — The British Columbia Fruit Growers Association has unanimously voted to establish controlled storage facilities in the Okanagan Valley.

A resolution passed at a meeting here Monday apportioned $500,000 for construction of a 135,000-box storage plant at Kelowna as a pilot project with the possibility of a second in Vernon.

The association estimated the cost of the Kelowna plant at $300,000 with the remainder of the money to be spent on Vernon facilities.

The pilot plant is expected to be completed in time for the 1963 crop.

Financing, construction and control of the new plant will be under Sun-Rype Products Ltd., through B.C. Tree Fruits Limited and the Growers' Association.

Other teams and their scores were: Red Hots, 2916; Uphills, 2915; Five Rads, 2908; Knockouts, 2837, and the Luckies, 2370.

In the junior women's competition for the Overwaitea Trophy, Silver Pins proved successful by rolling scores of 898, 889, 974, handicap 453, for a total of 3214. Good Chance For Senior Ball Here

After holding three preliminary workouts, the chances of Nelson having a senior baseball team this season are favorable, says spokesman and organizer, Ron Nash.

The practices, held last week, were primarily to see if there were enough interested players in the city to form a senior ball team for possible entry in a league this year.

Turnouts at the three sessions varied with the weather, but enough interest was shown to make a team possible, said Nash.

The outcome of the venture will probably be known next week after an important practice scheduled for Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at the Civic ball grounds.

$250 Stolen From Two City Businesses

A well planned breaking and entering offense netted thieves about $150 from Reuben Buerge Motors Ltd. and merchandise amounting to approximately $100 from Ken's Produce and Confectionery, both in the 300-block Vernon Street Sunday night.

City police chief Robert Harshaw said thieves must have been hiding in the basement of Buerge Motors as no signs of forced entry were detected.

Sometime after 7 p.m. and befor the store's opening Monday morning the thieves climbed up a chute leading from the garage basement to the main floor.

After taking about $150 from the stock room in the back of the garage they forced the lock off the connecting door between the two businesses on Vernon Street and stole about 30 cartons of cigarettes and 20 fountain pens, totalling about $100.

The chief said there were no signs of forced entry into the building and the doors were all locked when the theft was discovered.

City police are continuing their investigation.

Safety in Excavations Subject of Clinic at Trail

A one-day clinic on safety in trenching and excavating projects will be held Thursday in Cominco Arena in Trail. The Workmen's Compensation Board is sponsoring the safety session.

Three WCB safety experts, J. M. Clarke, J. D. Paton, both of Vancouver, and local WCB inspector E. H. Pickard, will give lectures.

Four B. C. workmen have met agonizing deaths in ditch caveins during the past 10 months. In every fatality ditches were not protected with adequate wooden shoring or were without shoring.

A cave-in fatality occrured near Trail January 8. A workman was trapped by hundreds of pounds of earth which cascaded down on him in an unshored 15-foot ditch.

WCB regulations require that all ditches over four feet deep must be shored or flared, according to approved safety standards.

Topics to be discussed at the clinic include how to install shoring and the various types of shoring, safe handling of mechanical equipment and the evaluation of soil stability.

Supervisors and others from municipal works departments, construction firms and public utilities are invited to attend Registration is free and the first lecture will start at 9:30 a.m.

Man, Boy Caught In Creek, Saved

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—A man and a boy were reached Tuesday after their tractor became mired in a creek four miles north of this community.

Art Mitchell, 45, and Lindsay Millions, 12, attempted to cross the main channel of Montney Creek, a tributary of the Peace River. Their tractor became mired in the middle of the creek, swollen with spring runoff, and sank to the level of the runoff.

The two scrambled to the roof of the tractor and Mr. Mitchell swam to a small island nearby.

A truck driver crossing a nearby bridge spotted Mr. Mitchell on the island and called RCMP. Two constables sped to the scene and rescued the man and boy by using a long rope and a rubber dinghy.

$150,000 Chipper Plant Construction Under Way

CRANBROOK — Project of approximately $150,000 cost in initiating chips production at Crestbrook Timber, Ltd., Cranbrook plant is now under way. Schedule calls for start of chips production and regular shipments to Celgar Ltd. in the third week in May.

Planer at the plant, located across Leitch Street from the office and sawmill yard, is continuing to operate along with the kilns to continue shipments, but no lumber is being milled during the construction project.

The studmill at the north end of the yard is well supplied with logs and starts this week, with double shift planned to start next week. About 40 of the normal 88-man crew at the plant are laid off, with the remainder on planer and studmill, or transferred temporarily to construction work.

The railway siding at the east side of the yard is finished, and the trench is dug for the underground pipe through which the chips will be conveyed to railway cars by high velocity blower from the chipper surge bin on the west side of the yard between the burner and the sawmill plant. Gondola cars on the siding will close automatically when filled.

Cargate Industries Ltd. of New Westminster is supplier of the equipment, which includes a Morbark debarker already in operation at the studmill and a Brunette ring debarker to be installed alongside the sawlog ramp at the sawmill. The chipper to handle waste from the automatic conveyor to the burner is a Can-car.

Three Resolutions Formed at E. Kootenay Education Meet

CRANBROOK — British North America Act amendment to allow federal participation in education matters; continuing East Kootenay committee to investigate education needs for the district; a study of provincial taxation with particular reference to inequities on post high school education opportunities for the province's interior areas, all were resolution topics arising from the first East Kootenay Conference on higher education.

It was sponsored jointly by the Alumni Society of the University of B.C. and a committee of volunteers from Fernie, the Windermere Valley, Creston, Kimberley and Cranbrook and occupied morning and afternoon session Saturday at the Mount Baker Secondary School.

East Kootenay, most remote southern area in the province from higher education access at coast locations, was disturbed at the Macdonald Report on higher education in completely ignoring its needs except for a reference to accessibility to a proposed regional college at Castlegar.

The keynote address of the conference was by Dean of Applied Science David Meyers whose subject was "The Aims of Higher Education in British Columbia." Afternoon session highlight was a symposium on technical and vocational opportunities with Sol Rothman, Cominco manager of Sullivan mine and mill operations. School enrolments and projected enrolments for the next five years are being reviewed by the school board. Suggest Diking For Protection Against Chlorine

TRAIL — Diking around the Warfield chlorine storage plant was recommended by the investigating committee of the Trail and District Safety Council at its meeting Monday night.

The committee had been asked to make recommendations as to what action should be taken if a chlorine gas disaster should strike Trail and area. It suggested that discussions should be held with Cominco personnel regarding feasibility of building the dike.

The investigating committee's report was turned over to the civil defence for further investigation and action.

The diking suggestion was made because chlorine gas "is 2½ times heavier than air."

The committee also recommended issuance of cards to householders and businesses stating that in the event of an emergency, fire whistles would sound continuously. The card would also inform the public that instructions would be issued over the radio regarding the nature of the emergency, what areas may be involved and necessary steps to take.

The committee also recommended that CPR train crews be prepared to check and familiarize themselves with emergency regulations regarding transportation of hazardous materials and to notify the RCMP immediately of any emergency involved in transportation of the materials.

Quebec Grievances Warrant Serious Study

The threat of separatism hangs over Canada. It is another revival of nationalism which plagues all countries with one or more separate languages, cultures and traditions. Britain has been troubled for many years past by a militant nationalistic minority who would like independence for Scotland. Fortunately the Scots, with their ingrained sense of law and order, have so far not stooped to bombings and destruction.

This has not been the case in this country where French-speaking separatists have exploded bombs in order to call attention to themselves and their mission. It is not likely that they will be successful, for a country which could put up with the terrorism of the Sons of Freedom for 60 years is not likely to succumb to terrorism in Quebec.

That Quebec has many causes of complaint against the rest of Canada is obvious. Something should be done to meet the Quebec point of view on these matters, and speedily, for our French-Canadian brethren are entitled to the best of our consideration, but separatism is entirely another matter. It is not just a matter of sentiment but of cold logical facts. It is all very well to talk of founding a new state and withdrawing into it and sheltering from the world but present day facts demand union of states rather than separatism.

Probably the visionaries of the Liberation Front have never thought out the steps which would have to be taken before their dream of a new French-speaking independent nation on this continent comes into being. The first step would be the most difficult and if the French-speaking Canadians could make the English agree to allow them to withdraw from Confederation without bloodshed, it would be a minor miracle. Canada might even find itself with the UN taking charge and establishing a control force in this country.

Then, having decided that Quebec should be free, there would be the question of boundaries. Over the centuries boundaries have been the greatest source of conflict and the determination of the southern frontiers of the new state would be a herculean task. Is it to be supposed that Canada would allow the control of the St. Lawrence to be in the hands of another state? Not by any means; and if Quebec secedes Montreal would die, for Canadians, unable to use that city as a port would develop another on the Atlantic.

And so it goes on. An attempt to make a new state, even if agreed upon, would come up against the hard practical fact that it would work economically to the disadvantage of both Quebec and the rest of Canada. We should consider our relationship with Quebec much like the man who marries a beautiful but slightly temperamental wife. We should study her whims and fancies (if it is fair to call them that). It would be to our benefit to do so.

Meanwhile the Liberal government, traditionally favorable to Quebec, might well appoint an investigating committee to study that province's grievances.

Canadian Consumer Safe From Pesticide Residues

Sixteen years spent analysing for pesticide residues on Canadian grown fruits and vegetables has impressed federal chemist J. R. Miles with the effectiveness of measures taken for the protection of the consumer.

He found pesticide residues on crops extremely small by harvest time.

The law sets out the acceptable maximum of residues, known as legal tolerance. But in addition, some crops have their own built-in safeguards.

Mr. Miles is on the staff of the CDA Entomology Laboratory at Chatham, Ontario, where the techniques used can detect the tiniest amounts of insecticides.

Using a method that could spot one-millionth of a gram, he was unable to find any phosphate insecticide residue in the edible part of cabbages experimentally sprayed to control insect damage. The outer leaves, analyzed separately, contained one part per millionth — or the equivalent of one pound of chemical in one million pounds of cabbage. However, these outer leaves, after they have helped to protect the rest of the cabbage from spray residue, are discarded in the field at harvest, or in the kitchen.

Similar analysis of corn showed spray residue on plants and husks at harvest, but none was found on the kernels.

At Chatham, chemists track the level of pesticide deposit from application until the residue disappears or until the crop is harvested.

Asparagus was sprayed with chemicals recommended to control asparagus beetle. The residue immediately after application was found to be less than the legal tolerance. As an extra safeguard, however, Miles suggests asparagus not be cut for at least one day after spraying.

Similar experiments with tomatoes showed it was possible to apply six sprays of DDT or DDD without more than a trace of the insecticide appearing in the juice pressed from the treated fruit. The residues on the whole fruits were less than legally permitted and were concentrated in the waste material — skin, seeds and cores.

Mr. Miles said his findings indicate that Canadians can be sure that only safe, wholesome food is offered for sale from crops treated with pesticides.—Farm News.

Cheerful

The name of Tait is fairly common — there are nine Tait listings in the Ottawa phone book — and we take it that these are pleasant people to know.

The Edinburgh Scotsman has an authority on the origins of names who writes a happy note on the Taits. He says their name started with a nickname, in that a glad or cheerful person was called "tate" in early Britain. In due course the nickname became part of the real name and he finds a Thomas called Tayt on the Exchequer rolls of 1329; it wouldn't be far from that to Thomas Tait.

This is pretty good ancestry. People crave heroes, knights, millionaires and beautiful women on the family tree. But what a delight to find ancestors who were so glad or cheerful that they could pass a smiling name to those who came after them.—Ottawa Journal.

Interference With Free Flow Of Investment Capital Rapped

By JACK BEST

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Artificial barriers to the flow of international investment were denounced Monday at the 19th biennial congress of the International Chamber of Commerce.

The subject of the discussion was "a three-pronged program for international investment promotion."

The congress, bringing together 1,200 delegates from 48 countries, was officially opened Monday by Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

A Canadian delegate, Joseph Besso of Montreal, called on the principal capital - exporting countries to take the initiative for a conference of World Bank members to consider creation of an international investment insurance organization.

Besso is president of Inter-American Investment Corporation Ltd. and a director of the Canadian Council of the International Chamber.

Indictments of governments which interfere with the free flow of investment capital were entered most forcibly by delegates from West Germany and the United States.

Paul Krebs, assistant general manager of Germany's Deutsche Bank, said that "every day developing countries take steps to squeeze out foreign investors. During the last century, countries like Germany, Canada and the United States had developed rapidly through foreign investment.

The U.S. council of the International Chamber of Commerce attacked the "mistaken belief" of many less-developed countries that "the only key to economic development is increased activity by governments."

This concept had led to discrimination against private enterprise which in turn limited the potential for sustained economic growth.

Mexican delegate Juan Sanchez Navarro, arguing the viewpoint of a developing country, called for a change of attitude on the part of investors. It was not enough simply to strive for profit. The investor must also have "the best intention" of helping the economy of the country where he operates.

Navarro, president of Mexico's Associated Chambers of Industry, expressed "disquiet" that a multilateral convention on rights of the investor might compromise cherished national principles, including the right of expropriation with fair compensation.

The three prongs of the proposed program to promote investment were removal of tax barriers, a code of fair practice, and investment insurance.

The insurance organization as envisaged by Besso would ensure private foreign investments in the less-developed countries against losses resulting from sequestration, expropriation, and other non-business risks. There was widespread support for the idea, which is currently under study by both the OECD and a commission of the International Chamber of Commerce.

The U.S., Germany and Japan already have unilateral programs of investment guarantees for foreign investors.

Interpreting the News

King Hussein, whose flair for meeting danger head - on has kept him on the throne of Jordan for almost 11 tremulous years, may be in the mood to play a waiting game if he survives the present crisis.

Many observers feel the courageous young king, surrounded by the new and hostile Arab federation, his government in defeat and many of his people up in arms, is fighting the battle of his career—for his throne and possibly for his life.

prime mover of the proposed

President Nasser of Egypt, prime mover of the proposed Egypt - Syria - Iraq federation, would like nothing better than to topple Hussein and see Jordan, as a republic, join the grouping.

THREATEN WAR

He is restrained in part by the fact that the Israeli government has let it be known it would go to war if Egypt came into control of Jordan, situated along its eastern frontier and flanked on two sides by the Arab federation.

Hussein's major problem is the half-million disgruntled Palestinian refugees in Jordan who see Nasser as the man to lead them back to the homeland from which they were expelled when Israel was created.

In the present situation Hussein is relying on his personal popularity and the loyalty of his army, the most powerful of all Arab states.

If these forces sustain him he then could play for time since the federation's constitution still is vague and in any case is not due to come into force until May, 1965.

He earlier sought to pacify pro-Nasser elements by publicly welcoming the federation. He even said Jordan hoped one day to join, but qualified it by adding, "on the proper basis."

He has insisted that the monarchy should not be an obstacle to joining but Nasser sees the federation as essentially republican.

PROBLEM FOR WEST

For Western countries, which would like to preserve the status quo, at leastfor the time being, the latest developments present many problems.

They look to Hussein as their strongest ally in the vitally strategic area and want to see him carry on. On the other hand, Western diplomats, particularly those in Washington, see Nasser as the best safeguard against communism and Soviet infiltration in the Middle East.

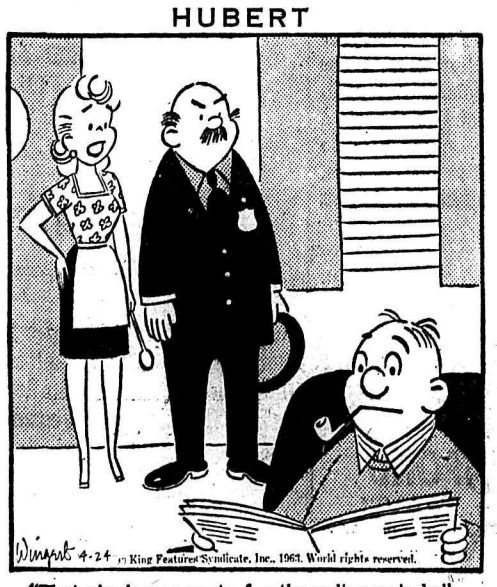
And the West, of course, also has strong obligations to protect the rights of Israel.

One fear is that if Hussein falls, Israel may move into Jordan to protect her interests. In this event Britain and the United States might feel obliged to move in to keep Arabs and Israelis apart until a United Nations force could take over.

CIVIL DEFENCE

As the nature of a health problem makes it likely that any organization created will have to remain ready but inactive for long periods of time, the responsibility for organizing and administrating an emergency health service has been given to the existing official health agencies.

HUBERT



"That check you wrote for the policemen's ball—it bounced."

F. B. Pearce Writes

I quite agree with Mr. Podovinikoff that $50 is too heavy a fine for the offence of failing to dim his lights. It is a matter of which the Attorney - General should take cognizance.

I think he is right, too, in believing that fines should take into account the previous record of the offender and his ability to pay, for justice all too frequently falls more heavily on the poor than on the rich.

Dimming lights is the natural thing to do for most motorists are considerate of one another. Let a motorist forget to cancel a turn signal and the next oncoming motorist will switch his on to call attention to it. Truck drivers, too, will help the motorist. On my last trip to Vancouver I saw one tanker with a trailer signal to a driver that it was unsafe to pass and I am sure that failing to dim is seldom intentional but simply due to forgetfulness.

Unfortunately, there are always some non - cooperative drivers and these are the people who are responsible for regulations and laws. But in assessing their culpability it soon becomes obvious that they deliberately break the law. These should be shown no mercy. If the drinking driver is a hazard, for example, he should not be allowed to drive and no attention should be paid to his plea that driving is his livelihood.

Drivers often bring their regulation on their own heads. Fruitvale people are concerned by speding on two of their streets. This is not speeding in the ordinary way but if these streets are inclined the drivers are merely trying to get up without changing gear, so they accelerate. You can see the same thing happen any day on Stanley at Baker. Many motorists go around the corner far too fast and speed up their cars when they have done so.

The motorists in Fruitvale will probably find the streets posted at 25 miles per hour and serve them right. They ask for it if they are inconsiderate of others.

The Highways Department is constantly revising its road signs and speed limits. I think it would be a good idea to replace the limit signs with one stating "Maximum safe speed" to call attention to the fact that limits are suggested by the condition of the road and are not arbitrary regulations.

In my opinion motorists are driving faster and better. The splendid Deas Tunnel Thruway has notices, "Move over and let the driver who wishes to do so drive at the speed limit." A great many people do this and driving on such roads is a pleasure for those who like to drive fast. Very few people exceed the limits elsewhere though there are always exceptions.

The limit on the North Shore road has been raised to 40 m.p.h. and this will please many who have to travel that road. Unless the road is straightened out and curves eliminated it will never be likely to be higher and personally though I like to drive fast I don't want the curves eliminated. It is a beautiful scenic road and should be advertised as such. We should also find a new and attractive name for it, rather than the North Shore Road, something which would capture the imagination of tourists. The Chamber of Commerce might well sponsor a competition for the new name.

Urges Boarding Schools for Delinquents

VANCOUVER (CP) — A committee investigating juveile delinquency here said Monday boarding schools, rather than detention homes for offenders, may help solve the problem.

The school board committee, which included the principals of six schools, reported after a year-long study that boarding schools may be an effective alternative to such institutions as the Brannan Lake school for boys near Nanaimo and Burnaby's Willingdon school for girls.

The committee, reporting to the school board, said that in 1961, 690 boys and 93 girls appeared here in juvenile court and 20 per cent of the number were same-year repeaters.

Over a longer period, 65 to 85 per cent were repeaters.

The committee said the proposed boarding schools should possess reputations equivalent to other good boarding schools, with parents paying as much of the necessary fees as family finances permit.

Also needed were farm homes for boys of working age, summer camps and subsidized extension of YWCA and YMCA facilities.

Death of Pres. Ben-Zvi Plunges Israel Into Grief

By ARYE WALLENSTEIN

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—President Yitzhac Ben-Zvi, 78, died of cancer Tuesday, plunging Israel into national mourning.

It was expected the funeral will be held in Jerusalem Wednesday.

The last words uttered by the president were "shma Israel" ("hear, O Israel") which he repeated during a few minutes of consciousness, presidential aides said.

At his bedside were his wife, his son Amram, his daughter-in-law, his aide de camp, and his personal physician.

Ben-Zvi was in a deep sleep induced by drugs to help ease his pain during most of the final day. Although press reports had identified his illness as cancer, it was not officially named.

The Israeli state radio interrupted its broadcasts to announce Ben-Zvi's death and all scheduled programs were cancelled. Flags were flown at half staff.

RE-ELECTED TWICE

Ben-Zvi was chosen as Israel's second president in 1952, a month after President Chaim Weizmann's death. He was twice re-elected, for the second time last December.

The tall, bespectacled scholar, known both as "a man of the book and a man of action," cut an austere figure in Israel's national life.

He was famous for the wooden hut he lived in for more than 30 years in what later became one of Jerusalem's most fashionable suburbs.

To Israelis, Ben-Zvi's wooden hut denoted his austerity and modesty despite his climb to fame as a scholar and writer.

Born in Poltava, Ukraine, in 1884, when his family were exiled to Siberia by czarist authorities on charges of socialist Zionism.

Ben-Zvi escaped and helped organize the labor movement in Palestine among the small Jewish community there before the birth of Israel.

HELPS FORM ARMY

He also helped create Hashomer, a forerunner of Haganah, the underground citizen army which spearheaded the struggle for an independent Jewish state.

In the First World War he was banished from Palestine by the Turks. He fled to the United States where he and Present Premier David Ben Gurion formed Hechalutz, a pioneer Zionist organization.

Later they returned to Israel as privates in the 40th Battalion of the British Fusiliers.

During the British rule in Palestine, Ben-Zvi was a founder of the general federation of Jewish labor, Histadrut.

When the state of Israel was established in 1948 he was elected to Parliament as member of Mapai, the labor party he helped found.

Ben-Zvi was a distinguished historian and philologist and an authority on the history of Jewish communities throughout the east.

He was married in 1919 and one of his two sons was killed in the Israeli-Arab war which followed the end of the British mandate.

McConnachie-Townsend Wedding Principals To Reside in Vernon

St. Paul's-Trinity United Church was the scene of a pretty spring wedding Saturday, April 13, when Rev. P. W. Faris united in marriage Patricia Arlene Townsend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Townsend of Nelson, and Mr. John David McConnachie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McConnachie of Penticton.

Mrs. Patricia Halloran Green was organist and Mrs. Doris Wright was vocal soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the blonde bride was lovely in floor-length nylon lace over satin; the bodice featuring petit point sleeves of nylon lace, and scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins. Tiers of nylon pleats at either side of the graceful skirt were overlaid with nylon lace.

Her bouffant veil was gathered to a tiara trimmed with sequins. She wore a pearl drop necklace, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Mr. Don Scheldrup supported the bridegroom as best man and Mr. Tom Derbyshire and Mr. Jim McConnachie were ushers.

Matron of honour, Mrs. Don Scheldrup, and bridesmaids, Miss Diane Kashluba and Miss Marilyn Ross, cousin of the bride, were gowned alike in strawberry brocaded satin dresses in a bell style, with matching pillbox head pieces and shoes en tone. Their bouquets were of white carnations in a crescent arrangement.

The Lord Nelson Dining Room was decorated with streamers of white, pink and green for the buffet reception, followed by a dance. Miss Adele Sjoberg was in charge of the guest book for the evening.

The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake, ornamented with pink rosebuds and topped by pink satin bells.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles of Kimberley, had made the cake and the hand-crocheted cloth on which it was placed.

Mr. Don Lloyd was master of ceremonies. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Arthur Townsend and to the bridesmaids by Mr. Don Scheldrup.

For a wedding trip to the west coast, the bride changed into a light green Italian knit suit with black patent accessories and mauve orchid corsage.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Townsend wore a knit suit in beige tone with green accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother chose a blue ensemble with white accessories and white carnations.

Before leaving the reception, the bride presented her bouquet to her grandmother.

The newlyweds will reside in Vernon, where the bridegroom is assistant manager of Safeway, Ltd. The bride was formerly on the staff of the city hall in Nelson.

"Alex and Angus" Talk of World As Royal Wedding Day Arrives

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—A sense of excitement rippled through London on the eve of popular Princess Alexandra's marriage to Scotsman Angus Ogilvy.

Everywhere in shops and offices the talk Tuesday was of "Alex and Angus" and people remarked that there was even more of a festive air than in 1960 for the wedding of Princess Margaret.

The Queen set the celebrations going Monday night with a flittering "ball of the century" at Windsor Castle in honor of the bridal pair.

In the cool depths of Westminster Abbey, whose ancient stone has been cleaned to a pearly finish, workmen hammered at stands and draperies.

A full - dress rehearsal with "stand-ins" was held Tuesday to perfect the Abbey arrangements. Alexandra and her fiance had their own rehearsal Monday, when the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, took them through the marriage service.

DRIVES IN QUEEN'S CAR

Alexandra drives to the abbey this morning from Kensington Palace in the Queen's perspex-topped Rolls - Royce. With her will be her brother, the Duke of Kent, who is giving away the bride.

A detachment from the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, of which the 26-year-old Princess is colonel-in-chief, will line the approach to the Abbey together with troops from one New Zealand and two British regiments.

The ceremony is scheduled to start at noon and last for nearly an hour. It is being fully televised on both British channels and there is a closed-circuit system in the Abbey so guests can follow every detail of the service on 30 monitor screens.

There are four bridesmaids, headed by Princess Anne, and two pages from the groom's family.

INCLUDE EX-KINGS

Other forsign royalty among the 2,000 abbey guests include the Scandinavian monarchs the Count of Paris, pretender to the French throne, and a cluster of ex-kings and archdukes whose realms disappeared before the Second World War.

George Drew, Canada's high commissioner in London, will be in the Abbey, but Mrs. Drew is in hospital recovering from a minor operation. The Drews are personal friends of Alexandra, who has been a guest at their London home several times.

The Lieutenant - Governor of British Columbia, Maj. - Gen. George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes, also friends of the bride, are among other Canadian guests.

After the ceremony, the bridal pair leave by a glass coach drawn by four grey horses for the reception at St. James's palace. Later they will fly from London airport to Aberdeen, Scotland, for the first part of their honeymoon.

Pre-Wedding Party Small But Exclusively Royal

LONDON (Reuters) — European royalty gathered in strength at nearby Windsor Castle Monday night as Queen Elizabeth gave a $42,000 "family party" for 2,000 guests to herald the Wednesday marriage of her pretty cousin Princess Alexandra to Scots blueblood Angus Ogilvy.

Among those attending the glittering banquet and ball—where Russian vodka and the twist were on the program—were one king, Olav of Norway, five queens, several crown princesses, about a dozen princesses and numerous dukes, duchesses, counts, countesses lesser nobility.

Meanwhile, Ogilvy badly damamaged the front of his car in a collision with another car while driving through London to pick up Alexandra and accompany her to Windsor. Unhurt, he made the journey to the ball in a limousine — chauffeur-driven.

Officials stressed it was a "family party," not a state occasion. The party was described as the most lavish of its kind in living memory.

With more than 70 members of European royal families here for the wedding in London's Westminster Abbey, the food and drink laid on for the affair was fit for a king, whether on a throne or not.

LOTS OF CAVIAR, VODKA

It included 500 ounces of caviar, 400 pounds of salmon, 1,600 bottles of champagne, 15 dozen cases of Scotch whisky and three dozen cases of Russian vodka. For those with simpler tastes there were 2,000 bottles of beer.

Royal arrivals here during the day included the Comte de Paris, pretender to the French throne, King Olav and his son, Crown Prince Harald, and Germany's Prince Ludwig and Princess Margaret of Hesse.

Those already here included ex-king Umberto of Italy, ex-queen Victoria Eugenie of Spain, Queen Louise of Sweden plus Princesses Desiree and Margaretha, Denmark's Queen Ingrid, Greece's Queen Frederika and her daughter Princess Sophia, the latter accompanied by her husband, Don Juan Carlos of Spain.

During the day in London the dark-haired, 26-year-old Alexandra and Ogilvy, 34, a well-to-do businessman and the second son of Scotland's Earl of Airlie, went through a full wedding rehearsal at the abbey.

Alexandra is 12th in line in succession to the throne.

Canadian Swimming Gold Sinks As Stewart Shaded in Butterfly

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP) Kathleen Ellis of the United States won the gold medal in the women's 100-metre butterfly swim Tuesday, shading Canada's world record-holder, Mary Stewart of Vancouver, in the Pan - American Games. Kim Worsley of the U.S. was third.

Miss Ellis, a 16-year-old Indianapolis schoolgirl, trailed the 17-year-old Miss Stewart, gold medallist in the event at last year's British Empire Games, by about five feet at the 50-metre turn.

But shortly after that, the tall American pulled even and assumed the lead about 125 feet from the finish.

From there to the windup, Miss Ellis gradually forged ahead and won by five feet in a stunning upset.

Miss Stewart, who holds the world record of 1:07.3, was considered Canada's brightest hope to win a gold medal in the Games that end May 5. She had easily won her qualifying heat Sunday, equalling the Games record.

Miss Ellis' time of 1:07.6 broke the Games record of 1:09.1 and was within 3-10ths of a second off the Canadian's world standard. The old games mark was set by Nancy Ramey of the U.S. at Chicago in 1959.

The Canadian also shattered the Games record with a time of 1:08.9 to take the silver medal and Miss Worley was clocked in 1:11.6 for the third-place bronze medal.

Sylvia Belmar of Mexico was fourth in 1:17 flat and Sharon Pierce, 15, of Prince Rupert, B.C., competing in her first major international meet, took the fifth spot in 1:17.6.

The powerful U.S. squad swept all four gold medals in the first swimming finals of the games as the man captured the 200-metre breaststroke, 100-metre freestyle and 100 - metre backstroke.

Bronze for Kelso, Sherry

John Kelso of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Dan Sherry of Hamilton, Ont., won bronze medals for placing third in the 200 breaststroke and 100 freestyle respectively.

The U.S. men broke two games records and tied another. World breaststroke champion Chet Jastremski, University of Indiana star, won the 200-metre breaststroke by 10 feet, gradually wearing down teammate Ken Merten, who took the silver medal.

Jastremski's clocking of 2:35.4 shattered the former mark of 2:37.4 he had set in his qualifying heat Sunday. Merten's time was 2:38.4, three full seconds better than Kelso, 23-year-old graduate student in physical education at the University of Colorado who was clocked in 2:41.4.

Steve Clark, a Yale University student, blazed to a close victory over teammate Steve Jackman in the 100 freestyle, equalling his games record of 54.7 set Sunday. Jackman, the U.S. indoor champion from the University of Minnesota, was was only 1-10th of a second behind in 54.8 to win the silver medal while Sherry's time was 56.1.

GILCHRIST IS FOURTH

Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls was fourth in 56.5.

The U.S. grabbed its fourth gold medal of the evening in a thrilling 100 backstroke race that Ed Bartsh of the University of Michigan won by two feet over Charles Bittick, a Californian, in the games record time of 1:01.5.

Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls was sixth in 1:07.8 while the other Canadian entry, Ed Cazalet of Vancouver, withdrew from the race because of illness after qualifying Sunday.

It was learned from Canadian sources that the 21 - year - old Cazalet, a senior in mechanical engineering at the University of Washington, was ill at the Games village with an infected throat and running a high fever.

COME SECOND

In the two heats of the women's 200-metre freestyle Canadians placed second behind Americans and joined six other qualifiers.

Terri Lee Stickles, a 16-year-old Californian, turned in the best time — 2:18.9 — in winning the second heat by more than 50 feet over Madeleine Sevigny of Montreal, who clocked 2:28.3.

In the first heat, a Virginia schoolgirl, 17 - year - old Robyn Johnson, powered to a seven-yard win over Patricia Pomfret, 16, of Vancouver. Miss Johnson was timed in 2:23 flat and Miss Pomfret in 2:27.3. The Canadian's clocking was third best of the qualifiers.

Nats Win Basket Opener

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP) —Lethbridge Nationals, Canada's representatives in the men's basketball tournament at the Pan-American Games, came from behind to win their opener 76-69 over Mexico Tuesday. The Mexicans led at halftime 36-34.

Guard Harry Blacker, the only native son on the Lethbridge team, and guard Jack Lilja, a native of San Francisco who has been a Canadian citizen for the last four years, paced the Canadians.

In the second half, Blacker and Lilja frequently broke through a weakened Mexican defence to pull the Canadian team ahead. Rated one of the best outside shooters in Canada, Blacker led the scoring with 16 points and Lilja had 12.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP) —Chile came from behind to defeat Canada 3-2 in the men's volleyball tournament in the Pan-American Games Tuesday. The Canadians won the first game 15-13, lost the second 15-9, took the third 15-10 and dropped the last two 15-5, 15-9.

It was the second win in two starts for the Chileans and Canada's second loss against no wins. Brazil defeated Canada 3-0 Sunday.

Silver for Sharpshooter

Canada's other silver medal came in free pistol shooting when Garfield W. Gary McMahon, a Dartmouth, N. S., scientist, finished a single point behind gold medallist Frank Green of the U.S.

McMahon, holder of a masters degree in physics, scored 546 points to 547 for the American. Alvin R. Merx of the U.S. was third with 541.

The two U.S. entrants in both men's and women's three-metre springboard diving took the lead Tuesday after the five compulsory dives with Canadians in third place in both competitions.

Tom Dinsley, 22, of Vancouver, and Judy Stewart, 19, of Toronto, were expected to hold their positions Wednesday when the event winds up with five optional dives.

DINSLEY HAS CHANCE

Neither is expected to overtake the leaders, although Dinsley, a senior at the University of Indiana, was within striking range of Ken Sitberger for the silver medal.

Richard Gilbert, 19, an Indiana teammate of Dinsley, was in front with 61.23 points, followed by Sitzberger with 58.63 and Dinsley with 56.99.

Miss Stewart, a petite 98-pound commercial student making her first appearance in a major international meet, trailed Patsy Willard and Barbara McAllister. Miss Willard, 22, piled up 61.72 points Tuesday, Miss McAllister 60.98 and Miss Stewart 55.74.

A pert Spanish-born Toronto secretary, Mrs. Pacita Wiedel, reached the finals Wednesday of the women's individual foils championships, placing second in the semi-finals with four wins and one loss. But Californian Janice Romary who had a perfect 5-0 mark including a win over the Canadian was favored to take the gold medal.

Robert Steckle, a farmer from Kitchener, Ont., pinned Brazil's Francisco da Silva in the middleweight class. Once-beaten James Christie of Burlington, Ont., decisioned Luis Figueroa of Venezuela in the light middleweight class. Matti Jutila, a Sudbury, Ont., carpenter, battled Mario Tovas of Mexico to a draw in the featherweights.

Bulldogs Ready To Sink Teeth Into Cup

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs moved to within one victory of the Canadian senior hockey championship Tuesday night when they turned back a formidable Winnipeg Maroons challenge 2-0 in the third game of the Allan Cup finals.

Bulldogs, champions of the Ontario Hockey Association and the East, could wrap up the first Dominion hockey crown for Windsor in its history tonight in the fourth game of the best-of-seven series.

Jerry Serviss in the second period and captain Lou Bendo in the final session scored the Windsor goals with rookie Wayne Rutledge stopping 28 shots for the well - deserved shutout.

Maroons gave it a great try throughout the hard - checking game but Windsor's persistent checking time and again turned them back when nearing paydirt.

A crowd of 4,480 saw referee Dutch van Deelen hand out 16 minor penalties, nine to the losers.

Both teams played it close to the vest in the scoreless opening period. Maroons had a two-man edge for 74 seconds but some fine checking by Serviss, Bud Hillman and Tom Micallef held them off.

NOT TESTED MUCH

Both goalies, Rutledge and Don Collins, the replacement for Winnipeg's Julian Klymkiw, made several sharp saves but, on the whole, were not tested too much because of the blanket checking by both sides.

Serviss finally broke the deadlock halfway through the second period, the pace of which was even slower and tighter than the opening session.

Jim Josephson did the spadework on the goal, knocking the puck away from Shorty Melanchuk in the right corner, skating behind the net and feeding Serviss in front who was unguarded. Serviss slid a six-footer under Collins' desperate sprawl.

Each team had a number of manpower edges because of the seven penalties called but the penalty-killing specialists were having a field day holding their opponents' power-play at bay.

Bendo scored the clincher the last period. He was standing at the crease when Jack Costello flipped a pass in front and Bendo pounded it past Collins.

Both teams had good opportunities to boost the score as the play opened up considerably in the final period but Rutledge and Collins were at their best especially in the late moments.

Rally Slogs Through Saskatchewan Mud

WINNIPEG (CP) — Mud in eastern Saskatchewan was the report Tuesday as the cars of the 4,000-mile Cross - Canada Rally rolled into Winnipeg, about half way to their destination in Montreal.

Preliminary results showed no major changes in the standings, with the Chevy II of Clay Gibbs and Dick Doyen of Milwaukee still in the lead.

Some drivers had trouble with the mud in Riding Mountain National Park others said the mud was not severe enough to give the experienced wheelmen an edge.

The 47 cars which started out from Vancouver on Saturday were cut to 44 during the Vancouver-Calgary leg of the run.

It was not immediately known Tuesday whether there had been any further disqualifications.

Car 111, the Peugeot 404 of Frank Curran and Ron Carney of Toronto—lying third—pulled in without having incurred any penalties during the run here from Regina. It was the third leg of the rally, the first which began and ended in daylight.

The battered Bentley of Don and Colin McQuirk of Thornhill, Ont.—its transmission swathed in bandages—limped into the control here with a disintegrated right rear wheel bearing. Its future was uncertain.

Jean Steagall, Merchantville, N.J., co-driver of the Studebaker Lark with glamorous Juliette Legare of Montreal, is knitting a pair of socks for team manager Paul Durish of Hamilton.

She showed reporters one three-quarters finished and said each stitch represented about two-tenths of a mile.

"Juliette was one real fast driver," she said.

Another point at which some drivers had trouble was where the rally passed through pasture land.

"We came through with our rear end waggling like a ballet dancer," said Toronto's Alice Fergusson, co-driving a Studebaker.

The Hull brothers, Don and Duane of Terrace, B.C., a private entry in a 1961 Ford, encountered mud but had little trouble with it.

"We're used to lots of that at home. We pulled one car through and pushed a couple of others."

Sportsmanship? "Nope—they were just in our way."

The Hulls, in big-time rallying for the first time, are running dead last.

TIGER LOOKS FOR FULLMER FIGHT IN NIGERIA

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger, the world middleweight boxing champion from Nigeria, arrived in New York Tuesday to make arrangements for a return bout with ex-champ Gene Fullmer, possibly in Nigeria.

"I think I'll beat him next time," said Tiger, who fought a draw with Fullmer Feb. 23 at Las Vegas. He won the title by out-pointing Fullmer, Oct. 23, 1962, in San Francisco.

Seals Win Final Game

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—San Francisco Seals, with a spectacular performance from goaltender Jim McLeod, defeated Portland Buckaroos 3-1 Tuesday night to win the Western Hockey League's southern division final.

It was the seventh game in the southern playoff and puts Seals against Seattle Totems in the league's all-American best-of-seven final.

McLeod kicked out 41 shots Tuesday, thrilling the Cow Palace crowd of 10,548. In the Bucs' net, Don Head handled 34.

Orland Kurtenbach, Danny Belisle and Nick Mickoski fired goals for San Francisco, and Tommy McVie got the loner back for the Bucs.

Fish is the most popular frozen food in Sweden, poultry second and vegetables third. Fish makes up 32 per cent of the frozen food.

Cardinals and Giants Win To Share First in National Loop

Chicago Cubs scored more runs in one inning than they had scored in a full game previously this season, whipped Pittsburgh Pirates 7 - 2, and knocked them out of first place in the National League Tuesday.

San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals moved into a tie for the league lead, Giants edging Cincinnati Reds 4-2 and Cardinals clobbering Houston Colts 15-0.

In the American League, Los Angeles Angels clipped past Washington Senators 5-4 in 10 innings, and Kansas City Athletics dropped Detroit Tigers 3-1.

SCORE SIX

Cubs, who had not been able to score more than five runs in a game this young season, broke loose for six in the fourth inning at Pittsburgh, including a three-run homer by Jim Schaffer and an inside-the-park homer by Lou Brock. Only 968, smallest Forbes Field crowd in 20 years, sat through 42-degree weather to see Larry Jackson scatter eight hits for the Cubs for his second victory.

Willie Mays, with two hits, and Orlando Cepeda, with three carried the offensive load for Giants, while Juan Marichal set down Reds on six hits.

Ernie Broglio threw his second two-hit shutout of the season for Cards, while his mates pounded Houston pitching for 17 hits.

Los Angeles shortstop Jim Fregosi ruined the debut of Jim Coates as a Washington pitcher, as he struck a homer off the ex-Yankee right hander in the 10th inning for an uphill Angel victory. Chuck Hinton hit his second homer in two days for Washington, and added a double and a triple.

Ed Rakow struck out six of the first 10 Tigers he faced and went on to pick up his second victory with a masterful five-hitter. Norm Cash homered for the only Tiger run. Ed Charles singled home the winning run for the A's for the second straight day.

Baltimore Orioles held onto first place in the American League, beating Minnesota 1-0 as Milt Pappas allowed only five hits and Jerry Adair drove in the only run with a sacrifice fly in the second inning.

Lustre of Senior Hockey Only a Dim Glow of Nostalgia

In 1949 a crowd of 14,212 packed Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens to watch a senior hockey playoff between Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and Toronto Marlboros. Today the seniors are happy if they draw a thousand fans. This story, based on interviews with hockey officials in all 10 provinces, tells about the decline of senior hockey.

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It's a pretty safe bet that when the Allan Cup playoffs start this spring most hockey-conscious Canadians will know little about one or both of the competing teams.

The once-revered cup's loss of lustre illustrates the low estate to which senior hockey has fallen in Canada.

Dramatic proof of the decline in interest comes from Ontario. As recently as five years ago two crackerjack senior loops were operating in the province —one in the north and one, split into east and west divisions, in the south.

When the league champions, Whitby and North Bay, met in an Allan Cup elimination series they drew 12,000 fans to Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. All clubs were flush.

Now crowds—if they can be called that—number in the hundreds and practically all clubs are wondering where their next dollar is coming from.

TEAM FOLDED

This season one senior team, Sarnia Rams, folded after it got into deep financial waters and several players sued for money due them.

Another club, Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers, went to Windsor for a league game and could take only three players. It had to fill out the team by picking up seven players from an industrial city league and borrowing four Windsor skaters.

Several senior teams that used to operate in the Ottawa district have folded because their expenses were running between $130 and $150 a playing night and the gate receipts were around $30.

Last season British Columbia produced the Allan Cup champions — Trail Smoke Eaters. This year B.C. hasn't a senior league eligible for cup competition.

A cross - Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows the same situation applies in Alberta, Manitoba, Quebec, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Newfoundland has six senior loops, five city leagues and an all-Newfoundland one, but none competes in the Allan Cup playdowns since the province is not a member of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

THREE PROVINCES LEFT

That leaves only three of the 10 provinces — Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia—with teams ready to play for the cup that only a few years ago was the prestige symbol of amateur hockey.

Why? Basically, of course, it's because fans have been staying away from senior arenas. As fans disappeared, so did team sponsors.

The National Hockey League teams, once patrons of the seniors, now ignore them, preferring to sponsor the juniors as sources of players.

With the disappearance of fans and sponsors went revenues and you can't operate a successful league, even a simon-pure amateur one, without money.

Art Potter of Edmonton, president of the CAHA, puts the finger on the pros. There hasn't been a senior league in Alberta since 1950-51 but senior hockey would come back to the province if professional hockey disappeared, he says.

Bob LeBel of Montreal, past-president of the CAHA, and president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, also blames pro organizations.

"Not too long ago we had only two professional leagues. Now we have seven operating in Canada and the United States. They take up 1,200 players. How can you expect to have any good senior players left?

"A few years ago there used to be a good senior league in Ontario. Then the pros went into the best cities—Kitchener-Waterloo, Kingston, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie. That's what's killed senior hockey so far."

TV AND CURLING HURT

Other reasons were given — the televised NHL games Saturday nights the phenomenal growth of participant sports such as curling.

Some feel senior hockey started downhill in 1950 when the CAHA introduced the Alexander Cup for five hand-picked senior leagues — Cape Breton, Maritime, Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada — and left the Allan Cup for senior leagues of lesser stature.

With the top clubs competing for the new trophy, the Allan Cup became a symbol of supremacy among second - rate teams. The fans knew it.

The $1,000 minimum for salaries paid by the major senior leagues was too high and within four years the Alexander Cup competition was dead. But the Allan Cup never recovered its lost prestige.

Today, while putting the blast on the pros, LeBel also criticizes other groups—the CAHA and league organizers for not selling senior hockey hard enough players for being too greedy. Others echo his views.

Says Bill Baski, general manager of Windsor Bulldogs of the Ontario Hockey Association senior league:

"I think we must go back to the old days and spark more community interest in teams. A basic selling job is needed on a community-wide basis to lure back the fans who have drifted away from hockey."

RIVALRY NEEDED

Cecil Duncan, secretary-treasurer of the Ottawa District Hockey Association which has two senior leagues operating, says renewal of old rivalries such as between Ottawa and Montreal could do much for the game.

"This is what brought in crowds in the old days and within three years such a league would play to packed houses."

President Edward Swyers of Nova Scotia's Cape Breton Senior Hockey League says:

"The fans want better hockey than they're getting now and we can't give it to them without costly importing. . . . Many of the good local players are lured into the Ontario leagues others go to Newfoundland where they can play hockey and get a job. There's not much work here."

C. G. (Pat) Patterson, OHA vice-president, says:

"The clubs in past years have priced themselves out of business. Now we have a maximum salary of $30 a game for each player."

Bud Holihan, manager of Winnipeg Maroons, a senior team playing without a league, says the only way to save senior hockey is to put it back "on the pure amateur basis it used to enjoy."

"As soon as you start paying players to play amateur hockey, it comes apart because of bidding and competition for players.

"We're on a strictly co-operative basis here. . . . The players buy their own skates and pads. They play for fun and for the social aspect of getting together. It's the only way it can operate properly."

SALARIES TOO HIGH

Ivan Temple, president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, says:

"B.C. senior players, especially in the Okanagan, priced themselves out of business. A number of players were drawing near professional salaries and the clubs simply couldn't keep it up. We have to stop paying senior players high salaries."

Many persons connected with senior hockey are still hopeful, however.

LeBel says that if people get interested again, if the professionals co-operate and if players are found, senior hockey could be climbing back again in three or four years.

Lloyd Pollock, OHA president, says: "Actually I think senior hockey has made a pretty good recovery this season and I'm extremely optimistic that it's on the way back in Ontario."

Ottawa's Cec Duncan sees a good future in his area—"the situation certainly looks promising now."

Bert Slivinski, president of Northwestern Ontario's Thunder Bay Amateur Hockey Association operating a three-team league, says "if anything, senior hockey is at the Lakehea on the upswing."

B.C. sees hope in the improvement of junior hockey there, looking on it as a future source for senior talent.

Harry Trainor, president of the Nova Scotia Senior League, also is eyeing junior growth.

"The salvation of senior hockey in the Maritimes depends on junior hockey leagues. It's the hometown boy playing senior hockey that draws the fans. Without junior hockey he has no place to go after high school. The result is that senior teams are left with few good local players."

This is a summary of the senior hockey situation province by province:

Newfoundland: Its six senior leagues have a total of 29 teams. Only St. John's city league is worried by lack of fans. The all - Newfoundland league is packing the rinks.

New Brunswick: No senior hockey. Had a four-team league five years ago but it folded because of lack of fans and sponsors. No plans to organize a new league.

Nova Scotia: Two leagues, Halifax, Windsor, Moncton and New Glasgow play in the Nova Scotia Senior Hockey League Sydney, North Sydney and Glace Bay in the Cape Breton League. One team, Amherst, already forced to fold this season. All clubs, except perhaps Halifax, likely to finish in the red.

Prince Edward Island: Had a three - team senior league at start of the season but it now is registered as intermediate. Officials unhappy with attendance.

Quebec: No senior hockey league since 1952. Last season intermediate Montreal Olympics challenged for the Allan Cup and made the finals, losing to Trail. This season Olympics have gone and only three intermediate A teams, Sherbrooke, Drummondville and Granby, are in position to challenge.

Ontario: Leagues operating in four areas. Northern league has four Ontario teams, Kapuskasing, Abitibi, Timmins and South Porcupine, and includes five from northwestern Quebec—Noranda, Rouyn, Val d'Or, North Timiskaming, South Timiskaming.

Western Ontario has five teams, Windsor, Chatham, Woodstock, Galt, Kitchener-Waterloo. It had six until Sarnia folded and had two others last season, Stratford and Strathroy. League is worried about shortage of qualified players and falling attendance.

Ottawa area has two leagues, both of which moved up from intermediate ranks this season. Athens, Brockville, Prescott-Kemptville, Cornwall and Lancaster are in one Arnprior, Almonte, Bell's Corners, West Carleton, Carleton Place and Pakenham in the other. High cost of equipping teams is keeping down the number of entries.

The Lakehead has three team Port Arthur, Fort William and Red Rock. Five years ago Fort Frances was in the league but it fell to intermediate and then folded. Red Rock moved up from intermediate this season. Biggest problem is lack of indoor ice. Attendance running 400 to 600 although 1,200 attracted by junior-senior doubleheaders for $1. Attendance generally up 25 per cent over last year. All clubs rated financially strong.

Manitoba: No senior league since 1947-48 when three - team loop folded following advent of professional Western Hockey League.

Saskatchewan: Has four-team league, Regina, Yorkton, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, with Winnipeg Maroons playing some games. Medicine Hat was in three-year-old league for first two years, folded because of financial troubles. Regina is troubled by player and fan shortage but league generally has no immediate problems.

Alberta: No senior hockey since 1950-51 and no plans to revive it.

B.C.: One senior league last season, two leagues five seasons ago, but none now. Both folded because of shortage of cash and fans. The Okanagan Senior League went down two years ago the Western International League last year. Loss of sponsors helped the downfall.

BALKING ON A BALK!—The balk has been called frequently in the N. L. this year and here's one pitcher, Bob Shaw (No. 26) of the Braves, who is giving the ump, Bill Jackowski, a real argument about one called on him during game against Mets in Milwaukee. Catcher Joe Torre is at left and the Mets' coach, Solly Hemus, at right.

Oil Kings' Success Based On Hockey, School Lessons

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings spell out their success in terms of formal education and hockey fundamentals.

For fundamentals they rely on Russell (Buster) Brayshaw, craggy-faced coach who piloted Kings into the Memorial Cup junior hockey final the last two years.

The 38-year-old native of Saskatoon learned his hockey from 13 years of patrolling a wing position for six amateur and professional hockey teams, including four years with Chicago Black Hawks of the National League.

Manager Leo LeClerc says the club's first goal "is to ensure that the player is provided with the opportunity to continue his education or learn a vocation"—at club expense.

Then Brayshaw takes over.

Education has brought a lot of good players here, he says, but it doesn't make a hockey player. "You still have to teach them a lot."

Brayshaw stresses skating, positional play and body contact.

"I've never seen a team lose when their positional play was working."

Brayshaw concentrated on body contact after his Oil Kings lost to Toronto St. Michael's Majors in the 1961 Memorial Cup series. Kings, who matched Majors in almost every other department, were befuddled when it came to handling the solid body checks and tenacious stick-checking employed by the Toronto team.

ANOTHER CONTENDER

"Body contact has been the big reason why the West hasn't won the Memorial Cup more often," Brayshaw says. "Most Western teams played a wide-open style of hockey and couldn't adjust to the body game."

Edmonton plays in the CAHL during the regular season and Brayshaw likes the idea.

"The CAHL has a lot of older, experienced players. They teach my kids quite a lot."

Brayshaw left the rubber business to become coach of the Oil Kings in 1960. He caught the eye of Detroit Red Wings, sponsors of the Edmonton junior squad, during a successful stint as coach of a local juvenile club.

The move proved to be the turning point in a hockey career that began in the late 1930s with his hometown junior Wesleys. From there Brayshaw skipped around to Moose Jaw senior Millers, Cleveland Barons and Providence Reds of the American League and Melville intermediate Millionaires.

Highlight of his playing career was a stay with Chicago. He was only 18 when he joined the NHL team and scored 14 goals in his most productive big league season.

family favorite from GENERAL MOTORS

Beaumont Sport Coupe

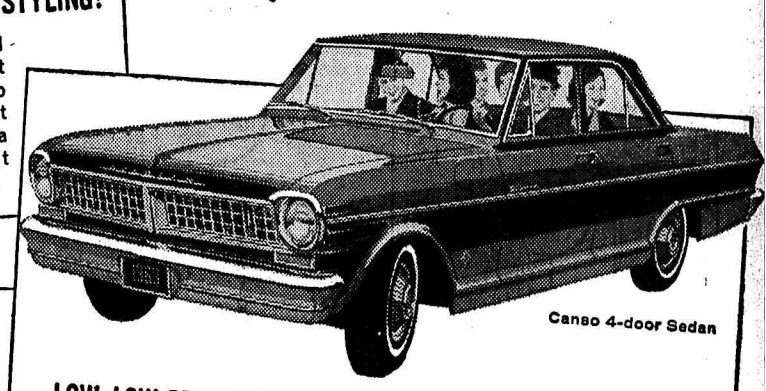
This six-passenger car isn't too big! But obviously, as it carries six, it isn't too small, either! This six-passenger car should cost more than it does! But it doesn't!

This six-passenger car is a source of pride for the whole family! But it's also a beaut of a second car! This six-passenger car is built by General Motors! But of course! Who else could build so much for the price?

LOW, LOW PRICE, BUT FRESH STANDOUT STYLING!

As economical as Acadian is, it still appeals to people who want beauty that's a modern cut above average.

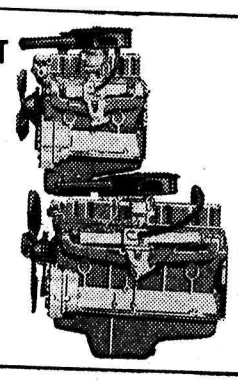
Beaumont Sport Deluxe Sport Coupe Interior



Canso 4-door Sedan

LOW, LOW PRICE, BUT FRISKY PACE-SETTING GO!

Plenty of pep for passing or leading a highway parade. Your choice of engines . . . a 90 hp. 4 with an aversion to service stations—or a 120 hp. 6 as thrilling as it's frugal.



LOW, LOW PRICE, BUT FUNCTIONAL FAMILY SIZE!

Interior size is the big surprise in Acadian. 6 people are easily accommodated on its spacious seats. And there's no shortage of trunk space, either. Your family enjoys a kingsize luggage area of 25½ cubic feet. Parking? It never presents any problem thanks to Acadian's trim size and superb handling ease.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

WORKED FOR NOTHING

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thieves apparently went away empty-handed when they broke into a sub post office. They sawed through half-inch thick bars and smashed through a plaster and lath wall, then attacked a stack of circulars and advertising material and third-class mail. They ignored the vault containing valuable mail.

Montreal Police Move To Flush Out Terrorists

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal police, vowing to wipe out the extremist, bomb-tossing wing of Quebec's separatist movement, fanned out over the city on nonstop duty Tuesday.

Janitor William V. O'Neill, 65, was killed Saturday night when a bomb exploded in the rubbish heap behind an army recruiting office. Squads of RCMP, provincial and municipal police began raids on known haunts of separatists and Communist sympathizers in an effort to track down the members of Le Front de Liberation Quebecois, which claims to have committed itself to a policy of violence and sabotage to "free" Quebec from Canada.

Police director J. Adrien Robert said every policeman is going on extra duty until "the job is done."

In Quebec City, Premier Jean Lesage said police efforts to track down the terrorists "have all my encouragement and that of the attorney-general (George Lapalme)."

Mr. Lesage said the publicity being given to separatist leaders like Dr. Marcel Chaput and Guy Pouliot is "a veritable encouragement" to terrorism.

He said newspapers devoted space to statements by these leaders that encouraged acts of terrorism.

Police received more reports Monday warning about bombs, but they proved to be false. They blamed most of the calls on a lunatic fringe" capitalizing on the FLQ campaign.

The provincial government has announced that it will introduce legislation for tighter control of the sale and distribution of explosives.

The FLQ has claimed credit for several bomb attacks in Quebec province during the last several weeks. Among their targets were the federal revenue building and RCMP headquarters in Montreal, a section of CNR track near Quebec City, and the 364-foot television tower atop Mount Royal in Montreal. The bomb attached to the TV tower was found and dismantled before it could explode.

OTTAWA (CP) — A dinner marking the 50th anniversary of Le Droit was disrupted Monday night when city police received a bomb threat and cleared the Chateau Laurier Hotel ballroom of 750 guests.

No bomb was found and the guests were allowed to return about 30 minutes later.

Arrangements Under Way For Pearson Visit to U.K.

LONDON (Reuters) — Ministerial exchanges are taking place between London and Ottawa on dates for a visit to Britain by Prime Minister Pearson authoritative sources said Tuesday.

Political sources said the Canadian Liberal leader is likely to come at a time when he will be able to also meet British Foreign Minister Lord Home and Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys.

This would suggest a timing early next month, since until then both men have engagements out of the country.

Both will attend a meeting of the Central Treaty Organization ministerial council in Pakistan April 30 and May 1, and Home has engagements to visit Ankara, Turkey, April 28 and 29 and Tehran, Iran, May 2-3.

Political sources said high on the agenda of these informal exploratory discussions will be Atlantic pact problems, particularly the Anglo-American proposals for creating a NATO nuclear force. The 15-nation defence alliances ministerial council is scheduled to meet in Ottawa May 21-23.

Errol Flynn's Will Admitted to Probate

NEW YORK (AP) — Litigation which started shortly after the death in 1959 of Errol Flynn ended Monday when Surrogate S. Samuel di Falco signed an order admitting the actor's will to probate.

The directive followed a recent compromise settlement of the estimated $1,000,000 estate left by Flynn, who died of a heart attack in Vancouver Oct. 15, 1959. The will as admitted to probate was dated April 27, 1954.

The settlement omits any provision for Beverly Aadland, the actor's teen - age companion, who was with him at the time of his death and who claimed he intended to provide for her.

By the terms of the settlement, the bulk of the estate will go to the actor's third and last wife, Patricia Wymore Flynn, from whom he was estranged at the time of his death.

Jail Site Sought

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner said Tuesday the provincial government is negotiating with the federal government for a jail site 17 miles north of Kamloops.

The provincial government wants the site of an old military bomb storage centre which covers about 30 acres.

Mr. Bonner said the figure being discussed for the land is between $25,000 and $35,000.

If B.C. is successful in getting the site, it will be turned into a camp-type jail which could house up to 150 prisoners, he said.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—As the steels gave up their stock market leadership Tuesday, the rails picked it up and paced the market to a substantial rise in another 5,000,000-share day.

Brokers said that the latest Supreme Court decision in favor of the railways was an item which made these stocks seem attractive. Change in Wage Curves Gives Bigger Cheque

VANCOUVER (CP) — A change in the wage curve following job evaluations in the coast plywood industry has resulted in increases of from one cent to 13 cents an hour for 13 of 19 grades, Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America announced Monday.

The IWA regional council and Forest Industrial Relations, representing bulk of the operators negotiated the settlement. There is no wage change for grades 1 to 6. Increases start with one cent an hour at grade 7.

Base hourly rate for grade 7 goes from $2.24 to $2.25; for grade 19 it goes from $2.72 to $2.85.

In addition, the two groups agreed to rewrite completely the job evaluation manual. The new one is expected to be ready sometime in the fall.

Although there are between 4,000 and 5,000 in the coast plywood plants, it is not known just how many will get raises. Bulk of membership is in grades 1 to 6, a union spokesman said.

Sees No Harm In Rubber Toys

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. John B. Murphy, chief medical officer for the federal food and drug directorate, said Tuesday medical authorities do not believe that American - produced toys made of silicone-like "flubber" represent any danger to children.

The health department said earlier the toys may cause a mild form of dermatitis or skin inflammation among some children. United States health officials are studying whether the materials can cause dermatitis.

However, Dr. Murphy said if the toys can cause a mild form of dermatitis they are only one of a wide range of manufactured products that can do so.

"Many women are unable to use some forms of detergents because they cause skin inflammation. Many types of plastic products and cleaning compounds can do the same thing."

Lon Chaney Again Chilling Moviegoers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lon Chaney is back in the scare business after a six-year lapse.

He is playing assistant warlock (male witch) to headman Vincent Price in another unearthing of Edgar Allen Poe, The Haunted Palace. The sponsor is American International, the company that presented House of Usher, Pit and the Pendulum, Premature Burial, Tales of Terror and The Raven.

It's always a pleasure to have uninhibited Lon at work, especially at the business he knows better than anyone else.

"I've played 'em all," said the craggy-faced actor. "Most of 'em were the second time around — Frankenstein, the Mummy, Dracula. But the Wolf Man was mine, all alone. I played him six times.

"They're all on television now, and you know something? I get more mail now than I got when those pictures were first made. Most of the letters ask when am I going to make some new ones."

Lon is willing, but he has his own ideas about how such pictures should be made.

MUST HAVE SYMPATHY

"All the best of the monsters played for sympathy," he explained. "That goes for my father, Karloff, myself and all the others. They all won the audience's sympathy. The Wolf Man didn't want to do all those bad things; he was forced into them.

"The trouble with most of the monster pictures today is that they go after horror for horror's sake. There's no motivation for how the monsters behave. There's too much of that science fiction baloney."

Nowadays Lon is content to spend most of his time at his ranch in San Diego County, coming to Hollywood for an occasional film or television show.

"I've been acting for 57 years; my father took me onstage at six months," said Lon. "I think I deserve a little rest. But I wouldn't mind just one more cycle to my career."

GROWING FASTEST

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fred Clark, B.C. regional supervisor for Indian Affairs, said in a talk Monday Indians are the fastest growing ethnic group in the province. By 1975 the Indian population would have increased to 70,000 from 40,000. Better health care and decrease in tuberculosis were the reasons for the increase.

Canadian National Railway Finds Success With New Plan

MONCTON (CP) — Canadian National Railways has had such success with a simplified system of handling its Newfoundland freight and express delivery traffic that it plans to use the method more.

Several moves to pack more parcels in aluminum or steel containers for shipment from Sydney, N.S., to Port aux Basques, Nfld., were announced here last week by Howard C. Grayson, vice-president of the CNR's Atlantic region.

The system is deceptively simple but has met with unusual success. It reduces handling of goods and speeds traffic.

Mr. Grayston said 114 conventional aluminum containers were being added to those already in service and 122 advanced models would be used to organize a new shipping branch.

Stellarton and Halifax in Nova Scotia and several Newfoundland communities between Port aux Basques and Bishop's Falls will be added to the CNR's network using the new method.

HAD PACKAGING PROBLEMS

Development of the system stemmed from the problem of handling the numerous small parcels shipped across the Cabot Strait. It was necessary to pack them in railway cars at their point of origin, unpack them at the ferry terminal, stow them aboard ship and remove and repack them in railway cars after the crossing.

The large containers are transported to and from ferry terminals on flat cars.

Many ports and cities would like the new system in their areas.

The railway had been wanting to expand the operation for some time, but was unable to do so until enough flat cars were equipped to handle the containers.

Plans are also being made to include points from Bishop's Falls to St. John's in the system soon, Mr. Grayston said.

The system permits any point in the network to ship by container to any other point in it, provided the route is across Cabot Strait.

Doctor Says Medicare Warning to Free People

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — A Canadian doctor said Monday the medical plan controversy in Saskatchewan should serve as a warning "to freedom-loving people."

Dr. A. W. Thomson, on the staff of the medical clinic at Watrous, Sask., addressing the Greater North Dakota Medical Association, said:

"If anything good came out of the medicare controversy in Saskatchewan, it is the stern warning to freedom loving people everywhere of what happens when government planners gain control."

He said the doctors of Saskatchewan "became the first political refugees in the history of Canada" and claimed 270 have left the province since the program was initiated.

Dr. Thomson said a plan was finally agreed upon which permits physicians to practice outside the act but added:

"The fact remains we now have a government - financed medicare plan with compulsory premiums and taxes for all residents—in effect, state medicine."

U.S. Discovers What's Sauce For Goose Is Also for Gander

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's a strange goose-and-gander business. What's sauce for the United States becomes sauce for communism. It spreads over islands, missiles, prisoners and national desires.

Since 1950 the United States has protected its ally, Chiang Kai - shek on Formosa, from Communist Chinese attack. The Chinese Communists claim the island, 100 miles from the mainland, is a part of China.

The Russians have moved troops into Cuba, 90 miles from the United States, to protect their ally, Premier Fidel Castro, from any direct U.S. action to abolish him and communism on the island.

Years ago the United States put missiles into Italy and Turkey, right on the Soviets' doorstep. And last fall the Russians put missiles into Cuba on the American doorstep.

In a showdown with the U.S., Russia pulled its Cuban missiles back. But within a few weeks the United States announced it was pulling its missiles out of Italy and Turkey.

The explanation for this was that American Polaris missile submarines, roaming and hidden under the Mediterranean, are more effective.

BOTH JAIL SPIES

In 1957 Col. Rudolph Abel, a Soviet spy, was captured in the United States and sentenced to 30 years. In 1960 Francis Gary Powers, piloting a U.S. U-2 spy plane, was shot down over Russia and jailed. In 1961 another American, Frederick L. Pryor, was jailed as a spy in East Berlin.

The United States on Feb. 10, 1962, agreed to swap prisoners: The one Russian for the two Americans. The deal was negotiated by James B. Donovan, a New York lawyer who had defended Abel.

Last year Donovan negotiated with Castro for the release of 1,113 anti-Castro rebels captured when their 1961 invasion of Cuba failed. Castro also let more than 900 of their relatives leave Cuba. They were ransomed.

The price—at least the price that is known—was $53,000,000 in drugs and baby food which was reported to have been contributed free by big American corporations.

Donovan represented the Cuban Families Committee for the Liberation of Prisoners of War. But the administration of President Kennedy had a hand in it.

FREES 5,000

The Associated Press reports Donovan has also managed to get Castro to free 5,000 people from Cuba. The latest came Monday and this was definitely a swap.

Donovan got Castro to release 21 Americans from Cuban jails and flew back to Miami with them. And Monday Attorney-General Kennedy freed two Cubans and a Cuban-American held in New York on sabotage conspiracy charges since last November. Kennedy said it was done in the national interest.

And Monday night New York's Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller freed a Cuban under a 30-year sentence in New York State prison for slaying a nine-year-old girl.

Rockefeller said he had done so upon the assurance of the federal government the move would help secure the release of the 21 Americans who were freed earlier in the day by Castro.

Chamber of Commerce, Gov't Disagree on Highway Routes

EDMONTON (CP) — A meeting between government officials and chamber of commerce representatives from Alberta and British Columbia Monday night failed to reach firm agreement on the topic of highway routes to the west coast.

The B.C. group called for completion of Highway 16 between Jasper, Alta., and Prince George, B.C. They said this route should be designated as the second Trans-Canada Highway.

Alberta representatives favored highway five from Jasper to Kamloops, B.C., as the second Trans-Canada Highway.

Ray Williston, B.C. Lands and Forests minister, said Highway 16 should be designated as the second Trans-Canada highway and then punched through. The link would "prime the natural east to west flow of goods, people and news along northern route."

Phil Gaglardi, B.C. highways minister, said the Jasper-Prince George highway was for the good of both provinces. He said that if Alberta helps push the Highway 16 route B.C. will match construction, mile for mile, of a highway through the Yellowhead Pass to Kamloops, B.C.

Mr. Gaglardi said the entire 140-mile stretch of Highway 16 between McBride and Prince George would be under contract for construction by next year.

Al Bowie of the Prince George Chamber of Commerce said "the future of Edmonton still is in central B.C. . . . Edmonton could miss the boat if Highway 16 isn't developed."
