Apollo Mooncraft Hurled Into Orbit

Saturn 1 Rocket Scores Seventh Straight Victory

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A mighty Saturn I rocket flung an unmanned model of the Apollo mooncraft into orbit Friday, advancing the United States a big step toward manned lunar journeys.

The flight marked the seventh straight success for the U.S. rocket.

A series of petty mishaps delayed the launching for one hour, 23 minutes. But when what is believed here to be the world's most powerful booster did thunder into the air, it propelled its 36,700-pound payload into orbit almost exactly as planned.

Both rocket and spacecraft, termed a "boilerplate" because it is a weighted metal shell, are forerunners of those which will ferry American astronauts to the moon, hopefully late in this decade.

The orbit was reported 113 miles at the closest point to earth and 143 miles at the farthest.

This route is close to the orbit into which Apollo astronauts will settle initially before restarting their booster engine to steer themselves on the proper path to the moon.

CIRCLE 32 TIMES

A space official said the dummy spacecraft, still hooked to the burned out Saturn I second stage, would circle the earth at least 32 times, burning up when it re-enters the atmosphere in about three days.

Dr. George Mueller, associate administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told a press conference man would be introduced into the Saturn-Apollo program as soon as possible, but could not forecast a date. Earliest possible target for manned earth - orbit flights would be 1966.

In the launch Friday, the Saturn's eight engines, producing 1,500,000 pounds of thrust, pushed the big vehicle through a veil of low-hanging clouds. The second stage's 90,000 pounds of thrust hurled the spacecraft at 16,500 miles an hour into the orbital path.

The 36,700-pound payload was the third-heaviest satellite ever inserted into orbit. Another Saturn I payload launched last Jan. 29 holds the record at 37,700 pounds.

There was no plan to recover the satellite but scientists did hope to retrieve cameras which were to be ejected in capsules after recording the operation of the vehicle.

Little Hope Held for Slide Victims

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—A search for two men and a woman missing after a mud slide near here went on today, but searchers were not optimistic.

The slide swept the small Cattermole Timber Ltd. logging camp into the sea at Ramsay Arm, 28 miles northeast of here, Wednesday morning.

An RCMP spokesman said all that was left on land was the tail end of the slide.

"We figure the bodies were hit by the front end and carried into the ocean," he said.

"If that happened, it's unlikely they'll ever be found.

"Even if they aren't pinned down under there, they probably won't rise to the surface. The shelf drops off and it's 500 feet deep there."

The missing are Mrs. Yvonne Inkten, 47, wife of a camp mechanic; Harold Bell, 45, timekeeper; and Norman Cooper, 48, assistant cook.

The police spokesman said that reports about evacuating persons from camps around the slide were untrue.

Heavy rain which caused the landslide at Ramsay Arm also flooded a creek at Canadian Collieries No. 3 logging camp 40 miles northeast of Campbell River on Toba Inlet.

Tom Chipenoff, 55, a cook at the camp, was swept off a wharf Wednesday. The search is still continuing for his body.

The RCMP spokesman said there would probably be an inquest into the presumed deaths of all four, but said the date had not yet been set.

Believed Were Being Attacked by North Vietnamese

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two United States destroyers patrolling the Gulf of Tonkin during darkness Friday night opened fire on what they thought were attacking Communist North Vietnamese torpedo boats, according to authoritative sources here.

The sources said the U.S. destroyers, which send only brief reports to Washington, did not claim to have been fired on.

While this report circulated here, the U.S. defence department tried to verify just what did happen in the overcast and darkness half a world away.

The Pentagon, White House and state department refused any information, beyond a statement by Defence Secretary McNamara that "preliminary and fragmentary reports have been received of a nighttime incident in international waters in the Gulf of Tonkin."

NO DAMAGE REPORTED

McNamara's brief statement said: "There has been no damage reported by American vessels and no loss of American personnel."

McNamara said reports of the incident were being investigated and "we will have nothing further to say until our investigation has been completed."

At 8 p.m. (EDT) Assistant Defence Secretary Arthur Sylvester told reporters he expected nothing further Friday night, and that he and McNamara were going home.

There was a generally low-key atmosphere about the Pentagon and other pivotal government offices.

It was understood that efforts were being made to interrogate the skippers of the two destroyers and the pilots of U.S. planes that had been in the air over the scene.

AWAIT DAYLIGHT

It was hoped daylight would provide some affirmative evidence.

Informants said the U.S. destroyers did not report seeing any attacking craft, but that what appeared to be vessels, possibly torpedo boats, were observed on radar from several miles away.

There was every indication that the government was proceeding cautiously before making up its mind about the significance of the incident, if any.

Since the first of two encounters between U.S. and Communist vessels last month the policy has been for U.S. destroyer patrols to travel in pairs.

Van Doos, Pals To Celebrate

OTTAWA (CP)—Two of Canada's most famous infantry regiments — the Royal 22nd (Van Doos) and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry — will mark the 50th anniversary of their founding at ceremonies here next week on separate days.

For the Royal 22nd, the celebrations will continue well into October, enabling the 2nd Battalion in Cyprus to get home from its United Nations chores in time to participate.

For the Patricias, the celebrations began in August and have been held in Germany and Edmonton with pilgrimages to Ypres, Belgium, and Cassino, Italy.

Both regiments will conduct ce remonies at the National War Memorial, the Royal 22nd on Wednesday, the Patricias on Saturday.

Cowboy Author, Dobie, Dies

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — J. Frank Dobie, Texas cowboy author, teacher and folklorist who spoke pithily and plainly about the land he loved, died in his sleep Friday, apparently of a heart attack.

Dobie's wife found him dead when she went to wake him from a nap.

Dobie, 75, was among 30 prominent Americans, including Carl Sandburg, selected for the presidential Medal of Freedom in July. He was confined to his home because of a heart condition at the time—and was never able to go to Washington to receive the medal. His wife accepted it for him at the White House Sept. 14.

Parliament Friday

By The Canadian Press

The Commons considered estimates of the northern affairs and national resources department.

Resources minister Laing said national parks would be retained for enjoyment as natural areas and not opened to resources exploitation.

H. A. Olson (SC — Medicine Hat) and Jack Bigg (PC — Athabasca) asked that part of Wood Buffalo National Park be returned to Alberta for development.

Prime Minister Pearson and other party leaders gave good wishes to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker on his 69th birthday.

A private bill by Robert Prittie (NDP — Burnaby-Richmond) that would have private railways submit an annual report to parliament was "talked out."

Princess Royal Welcomed Here

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The Princess Royal arrived here late Friday afternoon aboard the royal yacht Britannia and found a warm welcome awaiting her.

A 21-gun salute echoed from the hills surrounding this ancient harbor as the ship eased through the narrows and moved slowly up to its berth.

Thousands of city residents lined the waterfront as the official party, including Premier Smallwood and Lieutenant-Governor Fabien O'Dea, boarded the Britannia.

Accompanied by Lieut.-Col. J. T. Allston, commanding officer of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, the Princess Royal inspected a guard of honor from the regiment and then returned to the Britannia.

Sausage Stops Not Scheduled

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist bosses of East Germany's railways are upset about engineers who make unscheduled sausage and beer stops and disrupt the timetables.

At a recent production meeting in the East German town of Griefswald, officials complained that some engineers and conductors call station restaurants along the line to find out which one has fresh bockwurst, a popular German sausage.

"If a restaurant has sausages, an unscheduled stop is made and the train personnel eat them in peace," the meeting was told.

The railway authorities have ordered "strong measures to stamp out this lack of discipline," the West Berlin Committee of Free Jurists reported.

333 Firms Formed In August

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Friday companies are being incorporated in B.C. at a record rate.

Mr. Bonner said 333 companies were formed in August of this year compared with 273 in the same month of 1963. The new incorporations pushed the 1964 total to 2773 as against 2354 at this point last year.

"This increase reveals that the economy of the province is showing a greater surge of activity than ever previously recorded," he said.

The total had been increasing year by year "but now the gap is being widened."

HUNTER LOST

INVERMERE (CP) — A helicopter has been pressed into service to assist ground searchers attempting to find Ted Johnson, 21, of Coquitlam, missing on a hunting trip.

No Slowdown Signs — Gordon

HAMILTON (CP) — Finance Minister Gordon said Friday there are no signs of an economic slow-down in Canada. He predicted that the current expansion will continue into 1965.

One result should be "a considerable reduction" in the 1964-65 federal deficit from the $455,000,000 forecast he made in his budget last March, he told the Canadian Club here.

He did not estimate how much less the deficit would be.

Mr. Gordon had based his original forecast on a 5½-per-cent 1964 increase in the value of all goods and services produced in Canada. He said Friday the increase could turn out to be eight per cent, possibly more.

However, the minister said he could make no promises of a tax cut.

"It will depend on many factors, including future expenditure programs and the amount of tax revenues made available to the provinces," he said.

Meanwhile, he said Canada's economic growth so far has been well balanced. There were no apparent excesses which might cause serious stress or pressures.

Pulp Mill Plans Near Completion

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sam Heller, a director of the United Pulp Company, said Friday his company's planning for a $60,000,000 pulp mill at Squamish is "coming to a successful end and we expect to make an announcement within a week."

Mr. Heller declined to elaborate further on the company's plans for the mill at the lumbering town at the head of Howe Sound, about 40 miles north of Vancouver.

The company is concluding a six-month study to determine the marketing, economic and technical aspects of such a mill.

United is comprised of 17 independent companies who have operations on the southern B.C. coast and is said to have interested an unnamed eastern Canadian pulp company in a partnership for developing a pulp mill at the Squamish site.

Book Store Clerks' Hearings Later

VANCOUVER (CP) — A book store, its owner and its manager, were convicted Thursday on two counts of possession obscene material.

Owner Ted Fraser and manager Eiraim Harris were remanded to Sept. 24 for sentence after Magistrate Gordon Scott ruled that booklets, novels and motion picture films found in the Fraser Book Bin were obscene.

Clerks Norman Fell and David Poirier are scheduled for hearing next week on other charges arising from the same case.

The Canadian Press reported erroneously Thursday that Fell and Poirier had been convicted.

Negro Minister Seeks Papal Support

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King talked for 25 minutes Friday with Pope Paul and said the Roman Catholic pontiff promised to make a personal and public denunciation of racial segregation.

The American civil rights leader, in an interview after the audience, called his meeting with the Pope and the pontiff's words "profound encouragement for all Christians in the world and particularly in the United States who are involved in the civil rights struggle with us."

King, 35, a Negro Baptist minister, and the pontiff conferred in the papal apartment in the Apostolic Palace.

The Vatican did not issue a statement afterwards. But the fact that the Pope granted the private audience and spent 25 minutes with King was significant in itself. Private papal audiences are rare and often last barely 10 minutes.

King said he believed it was the first time the Pope had granted a private audience to an American civil rights leader.

TO DECLARE STAND

"The Pope told me he would make a personal and public declaration against racial segregation," King told reporters. "He did not say when it would be.

"Pope Paul was very open and forthright in his statements on the situation. He said he was a friend of the Negro people and that he was following our struggle in the United States.

"However, he said he could not accept violence. And I made it clear that we did not support violence either. I told him that the great majority of thinking Negroes were against violence."

King said the Pope "made it very clear he personally and the Catholic church are completely in sympathy with our cause."

"The Pope told me to say to the Negro people," King said, "that he is remembering them in his daily prayer and that he is continually asking for God's blessing as we continue the struggle for freedom and justice."

Instant Vehicle Information To Be Supplied Electronically

VICTORIA (CP) — The B.C. Motor Vehicles Branch has taken a first step toward developing an electronic storage system that will provide instant information on all car registrations in the province.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Friday the branch has installed a direct-line "Telex" service at its central registry here that will allow local police forces and lawyers making searches for information to get "sudden service."

The central registry is the location of filing of all encumbrances against motor vehicles and other chattels.

Mr. Bonner said eventually — "perhaps within five years" — the government will have electronic equipment that will both store and give out information instantaneously.

"The department is now studying a major transfer in legal documents to permit electronic storage and recovery of all information relating to title of vehicles," he said.

Until now most of the search information has been sought and given out by mail, although some lawyers and loan firms have been inquiring by telephone.

The attorney-general said the final phase in the electronic development will be establishment of a network which will permit the information to be available anywhere in the province in a fraction of a second.

U.S. Anti-Missile Systems Prove Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has made several successful practice intercepts of U.S. satellites hundreds of miles above the earth with two anti-missile systems, Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed Friday.

He also said a new radar which can peer around the earth's curve will permit detection of misiles within seconds of launch several thousand miles away and will "close to double" the old 15-minute warning time.

McNamara described the over-the-horizon radar as "one of the most dramatic" new developments. He said it involves bouncing signals off the ionosphere in contrast to the old line - of - sight radar which reached only to the horizon.

The farther - reaching radar can detect both missiles and aircraft, McNamara noted. And he indicated it may permit eliminating some extensions of the Distant Early Warning line such as radar picket ships.

The defence chief held a press conference to give some details of the new radar and the satellite interception systems mentioned briefly by President Johnson in a speech at Sacramento, Calif., Thursday.

McNamara said, however, that both are highly classified and "I'm under serious restriction" as to what details can be revealed.

AHEAD OF RUSSIA?

He expressed belief that the United States is ahead of Russia in both developments but added that judging by history the Soviet Union can be expected to have them in the next five to seven years.

Among the things he did reveal was to identify the anti-satellite weapons as the U.S. Air Force's Thor missile and the army's Nike-Zeus anti-missile device. Both, McNamara said, are derivatives of projects which have been under way for years. They were started during the Eisenhower administration.

The army successfully intercepted its first satellite on Aug. 1, 1963, and the air force on May 29, 1964, McNamara said.

"The two systems have been effectively tested and have intercepted satellites in space, their missiles passing so close as to be within the destruction radius of the warheads," McNamara said.

McNamara would not indicate whether the devices employ nuclear or conventional warheads nor what satellites were intercepted.

Asked how ground stations can ascertain with certainty that a suspicious satellite is armed, McNamara said "we're satisfied we have the information we need to act on."

And in This Corner . . .

All the parking meters are gone.

The city council decided to take them out last weekend on a six-months trial basis.

The citizens are happy.

The Chamber of Commerce is tickled to death, but merchants are on the fence.

They're anxiously waiting to see if the move, allowing from one to two hours free parking, will bring more business.

Auburn Police Chief Hugh Darby isn't laughing, though.

He says it's "going to be lots more work for the department . . . to go around and chalk mark each car — and most people won't remember when they've been gone an hour."

On top of that, Darby says, the city will lose the meter cash, which added up to $20,000 a year.

"I wouldn't be surprised if the meters are back within a year," said Darby.

Coast Artist Studies Kokanee Redfish Run

One of the special services tendered by the Nelson Museum group to B.C. Museum Association visitors, was provided when member Alan R. Ramsden took Mrs. Gladys Clawson to Kokanee Creek to see the redfish run.

Mrs. Clawson is an artist at the Vancouver Aquarium, and her skill in portraying marine life with exacting detail is nationally known. Almost all fish depicted in B.C. brochures are from the brush of Mrs. Clawson, and her vivid colors rival nature's own.

This was the first opportunity Mrs. Clawson had had to see local Kokanees in their brilliant colors, and she was able to sketch, measure and photograph them in their natural haunts.

Mrs. Clawson was accompanied to the seminar by Mrs. Mical Middaugh, marine biologist at the aquarium. Mrs. Middaugh has spent considerable time in the past weeks studying "Moby Doll," and listening through a special underwater water device, to her "conversation" with other marine animals.

Moby Doll uses an entirely different tone when communicating with natural marine life than when reacting to mechanical sounds. Mrs. Middaugh received, while in Nelson, a wire from her co-workers to the effect that Moby Doll had finally broken her fast, and had consumed some 25 to 50 pounds of fish.

Both Mrs. Clawson and Mrs. Middaugh expressed delight in the scenery around Nelson, and in the friendliness of the people on their first visit to the Kootenay.

Former Nelson Woman Killed In Car Plunge

A car accident Thursday night took the life of a 53-year-old former Nelson woman, Mrs. Claud Watkins, nee Ruth Orr, of Vancouver.

Mrs. Watkin's body was thrown clear of the wreckage of her car when it plunged over a cliff at Skagit Bluffs, 25 miles east of Hope on the Hope-Princeton Highway.

Mrs. Watkins was said to be heading for Kelowna on a vacation. The car fell more than 300 feet down a steep cliff.

Mrs. Watkins was the daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. J. M. Orr. She attended school in Nelson and took her nurses' training at Vancouver General Hospital.

At the time of her death she was on the nursing staff of Marpole Infirmary.

Mrs. Watkins is survived by her husband, who was in Saskatoon at the time of the fatal accident; two daughters, Claudia and Linda, both of Vancouver, and a brother, Jim, of Berkeley, California.

Rotary District Governor Here

"The Rotary Club that rests is the club that rusts," was the theme of Alfonso Fabro of Kimberley, governor of Rotary District No. 508 while addressing the Nelson club Friday.

Mr. Fabro pointed out that Rotary has an outstanding name in the field of world wide assistance. He concluded by stating that all members should be always aware of the Rotary creed and to put it into action.

Problems Involving Dam Construction Reviewed

KASLO (CP)—With the historic ceremonies barely ended, sleeves have been rolled up here and a start made on the nine-year-long Columbia River hydroelectric project.

As Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson spoke at Wednesday's ceremonies at the Peace Arch border park south of Vancouver, work already was progressing near here.

Major work now is concentrated on the site of the Duncan Lake dam, the first and smallest of three Canadian storage dams that will even out the flow of the churning river, producing an additional 2,800,000 kilowatts at downstream American dams.

Crews have begun clearing a site for the $35,000,000 dam, which must be ready in four years. A road is being punched through and a new school, to replace one that must be torn down to make way for crews working on the dam, now is being built.

Awarding of a contract to build the dam is expected after Sept. 29.

WORK ON RAILWAY

Initial work also is under way at the Arrow Lake end of the $447,000,000 Canadian project. Clearing the way for a $130,000,000 High Arrow dam to be ready a year after Duncan Lake, crews are relocating a railway line that will be flooded and building a pipeline to carry water across the dam to a nearby pulp mill.

Other men in the same area, meanwhile, are engaged in buying properties, preparing a centre at Nakusp for B.C. Hydro and Power Authority officials and their families, and looking for solutions to several immediate problems.

One of these is discussion with local authorities in cities and villages like Revelstoke and Castlegar on how to cope with the soon-to-come influx of construction men.

NEED NEW WATER

Another is the need to supply fresh water to communities like Castlegar, Kinnaird and East Trail, whose regular supplies will be affected by mud stirred up during construction.

At Mica Creek, site of the largest and last of the three dams, engineers are still making test drillings to obtain more information before a start is made on that $245,000,000 job.

When work is going on simultaneously at Duncan Lake, High Arrow and Mica Creek, the entire Columbia project will involve an at-site work force of between 3,000 and 3,500 men.

Multiply that number by 10, say B.C. Hydro officials, for an estimate of the total number to be employed both in actual construction and in the supply industries.

New School Opened at Grand Forks

GRAND FORKS — The John A. Hutton elementary school in West Grand Forks was officially opened and dedicated at ceremonies held Friday in the activity room of the school.

The school was completed early this year and classes were held for the first time during the spring term. It was decided to hold the official opening at the commencement of the fall term.

A new approach to elementary school design was used in the planning of the school and in the present instance further extensions can be added to the present building.

The school was named the John A. Hutton Elementary School in honor of John A. Hutton, longtime resident of Grand Forks and a civic official since 1913 until his retirement a couple of years ago. Mr. Hutton was guest of honor at the official opening with his wife, Sadie, who are celebrating their 55th wedding anniversary this week.

West Kootenay Defends Stand In Uneconomic Line Extensions

PENTICTON (CP)—The Public Utilities Commission was told Friday that because of the absence of electric power, the full potential of numerous rural areas in southern British Columbia is not being realized.

Representatives of the communities of Coalmont and Tulameen, in the Princeton district, and Beaverdell and Carmi east of here, complained that resource development and regional growth is being retarded because of the failure of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company to engage in uneconomic extensions in the Similkameen, Okanagan, Boundary and Kootenay areas.

West Kootenay Power has been called before the PUC in connection with some 20 applications for extensions and the PUC has indicated it will consider a system-wide rate reduction as well as rate reduction applications from specific areas.

W. K. Gwyer of Trail, West Kootenay Power general manager, said his company had, by agreement with the PUC, undertaken an annual program of $75,000 to $100,000 in uneconomic rural extensions, financed at the expense of city customers.

Since the agreement was made in 1962, five such extensions had been made at a cost of $488,000.

He said his company had an excellent record in rural electrification but was not prepared to engage in practice detrimental to the rates experienced by existing customers.

Dr. H. F. Angus, PUC chairman, said West Kootenay Power's annual rate of return on investment was considered to be "on the high side."

He said the PUC had established as a "rule of thumb" that where uneconomic extensions could be made to pay two-thirds of the cost, "those extensions are ripe to be made."

Much of Friday's testimony concerned the need for extension of service about 25 miles from Westbridge, in the Kettle Valley, to the communities of Beaverdell and Carmi.

Highland Bell Mines at Beaverdell has declined to sign a four-year contract with the West Kootenay, but told the PUC it would be prepared to enter into such a contract cancellable after two years if mine production failed.

West Kootenay spokesmen testified construction of the line would cost about $380,000 and, in the circumstances, a four-year contract would be normal.

At present, Highland Bell serves the Beaverdell - Carmi area from its mine diesel-electric plants, but some citizens told the PUC they would prefer West Kootenay power because of the high cost charged them by Highland Bell.

SERVES LARGE AREA

The company has already said it considers the proposed extensions in the Similkameen, central Okanagan, Boundary and West Kootenay areas, to be uneconomic.

West Kootenay is the direct utility for Trail, Rossland and the villages of Warfield, Castlegar, Fruitvale, Montrose, Salmo, Creston, and dozens of smaller communities. It sells power wholesale to Grand Forks, Penticton, Kelowna, Princeton, and to improvement districts.

The company is a subsidiary of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, has one hydro plant of its own on the Kootenay River and buys additional low-cost energy from Cominco's own hydro system.

West Kootenay has brought a consultant from New York and a rates expert from the Ebasco organization, senior officials and a team of engineers who are specialists in utility management.

More Development Of Castlegar Airport Planned

CASTLEGAR — "Very extensive developements" are planned for the Castlegar airport within the next 12 months, the Castlegar Chamber of Commerce was told at its meeting.

Airport committee chairman R. A. D. West predicted the developments, but he declined to elaborate on them.

In the Courts

In RCMP court Friday, F. J. Boyce of Nelson pleaded guilty to a charge of giving liquor to a minor. He was bound over for 12 months, in his own recognisance of a bond of $100.

In city court, Magistrate Evans found George Fofinow, a minor from Taghum, guilty of being in a beer parlor. He was fined $50 and costs or 10 days in jail.

NANCY LEFEAUX

Nancy Lefeaux Wins Award

Miss Nancy Lefeaux, first year student at Notre Dame University of Nelson, has been awarded the Kootenay Forest Products Scholarship for the 1964-65 academic year.

Announcement of the award was made Friday by the university. Miss Lefeaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Lefeaux of Nelson, is the first recipient of the $500 scholarship which was established in May of this year.

To be eligible for the annual scholarship a student must be a dependent of an employee of Kootenay Forest Products or of a former employee who has died or become disabled while in the employ of the company.

The recipient who must be a first year university student at Notre Dame enrolled in a course which does not terminate after one year, must not have another scholarship given to aid first year students.

C. R. Newby Dies In Nelson

Cecil Redvers Newby of 316 Cedar Street died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Friday, aged 63.

Mr. Newby was born in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, Dec. 15, 1900. He came to Canada in 1913 with his parents and received his early schooling in Calgary.

After completing his schooling, Mr. Newby was employed for a short time with the Calgary Film Exchange. Leaving Calgary he became a bookkeeper with the Winnipeg Free Press. He married the former Luella Robertson in Winnipeg during 1930. In 1932 Mr. and Mrs. Newby returned to Calgary where he was employed with the city tax department.

In 1951 the family relocated in Stettler, Alberta, where he was employed with McTaggart Motors Ltd. Later he worked for Stuart Petroleums Ltd. until he moved to Nelson in 1960.

Since then he has been employed as night clerk at the Hume Hotel. Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Donald Newby, director of recreation for Lethbridge; one daughter, Miss Carole Anne Newby of Nelson, and one sister, Mrs. Doris Ford of Kelowna; and a brother, Wilson Newby of Turner Valley, Alberta.

$15 Million Campaign for NDU Necessary Now Says President

Speaking on the building program at Notre Dame University of Nelson, Rev. Aquinas Thomas, SA, president, addressed the annual meeting of the Women's Association to NDU Wednesday night in Patenaude Hall.

Using a large drawing of the present and projected development of the campus as an illustration, he told of the $1,200,000 program which is now almost completed. This includes the men's residence and student union building. In addition, the campus has been graded, with permanent contours built around the latter building and the women's dormitory. All the fertilizer and half the grass seed was donated for the project.

"In the light of increased enrollment which continues to increase at a steady rate, he said it has become necessary to gear up the building program, and the original idea of 24 buildings by 1970 must be changed to that number of buildings by 1967.

He believed a campaign for $15 million was now necessary to be followed by a second campaign for $5 million. In this way, 3,500 students would be maintained, 1600 of them by 1967.

Small but important details must be left to such groups as the Women's Association which must think for themselves, suggest and recommend. "The time has come when everybody in Nelson must do creative thinking about the development of the university," he said.

Concerning the general plan of development, he said his hopes were to get started by next fall on a library, to cost $2 million, and a science building, costing another $2 million. Because there are now 27 to 30 women more than residential space, he said either an 8-storey building or three residences must be started for women and another men's residence. The total program would cost close to $5 million.

Eventually a complex of men's residences and one of women's residences will be constructed. Additional blockage has been acquired by the university for expansion, he said.

Nelson's greatest contribution will be in public relations work, spreading the needs, hopes and policy of NDU throughout the province. He urged members to show active support at all times, and to keep before the public of B.C., the needs of the university from the standpoint that such an institution is needed in the Interior of B.C., for the sake of the students.

Contending that this is true no matter who sponsors or builds the university, he spoke of the desirability of the entrance of more denominations on the campus. The Bishop of Kootenay has been approached concerning entrance of the Anglican Church in the development of Notre Dame. Setting up an educational institution by the United Church would also be desirable, he felt.

"I look upon the university as your university," he said, as he asked his audience to keep alert for opportunities to push the university wherever possible.

SLATE ELECTED

In the election which followed, Mrs. G. B. Arnesen was named president, succeeding Mrs. M. E. Drew. Four vice-presidents were elected: Mrs. L. S. Gansner, Mrs. A. M. Martyn, Mrs. Felix Mueller, and Mrs. Peter Klassen.

Other officers will be Mrs. A. R. Ramsden, recording secretary; Miss Lena Gri, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. A. Scarborough, treasurer; Mrs. J. S. McIntosh, publicity.

Committee conveners elected were Mrs. S. M. Gustafson, social; Mrs. P. D. Murison, hospitality; Mrs. E. D. Baravalle, cultural; Mrs. L. G. Atwell, membership; Mrs. J. E. DeLucrezio, bulletin; Mrs. Roy Pollard, grounds; Mrs. W. S. Ramsay, Mrs. G. Trainor, Mrs. R. B. Walkley, telephone.

Liaison officer between the students and the Association, Miss Virginia Johnsen, told of the foreign films to be sponsored by the Students' Cultural Club for the students and the public. Initial cost of the films was paid by the association.

Secretary Mrs. Klassen, summarized questionnaires which had been sent all members concerning club activities. In her annual report, Mrs. Drew outlined activities of the group since its inception 15 months ago when membership grew from 60 to 162, active and inactive. In addition to the four meetings, activities included a beach party for the Summer School, a booth at the fall fair, tea for women students, tea at open house, tea for commencement.

Several members opened their homes to students during the year and provided housing during the curling bonspiel. They aided a student with limited vision, planted shrubs at the university, sewed drapes for the library, collected books for the library, and helped form the Trail-Rossland association.

Memers then decided to provide funds for foundation bulb planting at the student union building and to provide two plants for the building.

Mrs. Drew reported that a second $100 was received from a small group of parents at the Coast.

The annual tea for women students at the university was discussed. It will be held Sunday, Sept. 27, in the student union building.

Rev. Dr. L. R. McKenzie, liaison officer between the university and the association, sketched plans for the open house on Oct. 17 when the two new buildings will be officially opened. Approximately 1000 people are expected to attend. With the help of the Trail - Rossland Association to NDU, a tea will be held during the afternoon.

Rev. McKenzie said that during the day other plans include an academic procession, tours of the campus, dinner, and a semi formal dance.

FOR SKI TEAM

Members were told of the university's need for women chaperones to travel with the national ski team on their weekend trips this winter. All expenses will be paid for those volunteering.

A plea was voiced from several upper-class women living in a former private dwelling, who were seeking help in furnishing their new home with some of the extras which they requested.

Leaflets concerning the Living Room Learning courses at the university were distributed. After the meeting, members walked to the student union building for refreshments and a tour of the building conducted by Rev. McKenzie.

Prince Takes Game in Revelstoke Area After Castlegar, Nakusp Visit

Big game from the Keystone Creek area fell to the guns of the party of 23-year-old HRH Prince William, who visited the Castlegar and Nakusp areas after a cross-Canada motor trip from Ottawa to Castlegar early this month.

The holiday visit to this district was kept as quiet as possible at the request of the external affairs department at Ottawa.

The eldest son of the Duke of Gloucester, eighth in line of succession to the throne, was accompanied on his vacation by Thomas Troubridge of London, England.

He was a guest of Columbia Cellulose Company following a request to the company from Kootenay West member, H. W. Herridge. Local arrangements were handled by Celgar woods division industrial relations superintendent Don Smith.

The first day the party toured the Celgar pulp and lumber divisions here and visited the Bulldog Mountain Forestry lookout where forest ranger Hugo Wood explained to the visitors the techniques used in a fire lookout. That evening Prince William and Mr. Troubridge were entertained at the Kinnaird home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Brookes and met a number of Castlegar and District citizens.

The second day, they flew to Nakusp in the company's plane and toured Columbia Cellulose's Celgar woods division. That evening they were entertained at the home of Celgar woods division manager Ron Jordan and Mrs. Jordan, where they met a number of Nakusp and District residents.

TO ALPINE CLUB HUT

They flew from Nakusp to Arrowhead and then motored to a hut owned by the Alpine Club of Canada near Rogers Pass.

They were accompanied by Kim Deane of Cominco in Trail and Chris Penn, employed in the pulp mill here. Both of these men are members of the Alpine Club of Canada.

The night was spent at the hut and the Prince cooked dinner. The following day was spent hiking on Mount Abbott.

It was while staying at the hut that Prince William had his introduction to a black bear. He had gone back to the hut to get an axe to assist in cutting wood. The door had been left open and a black bear was inside stealing biscuits. There was a loud yell and out rushed Prince William followed closely by the marauder. The bear appeared to be the more afraid and beat a hasty retreat in the opposite direction once it cleared the door.

The next night was spent at Revelstoke and the following day they flew by helicopter to the Keystone Creek area situated about 40 miles north of Revelstoke.

CAMP AT 6500 FT.

Here they spent the next four days hunting. They camped in a tent at the 6500 foot level. Their guides operating with a temporary permit issued by the game commissioner, were Bob Praill of Revelstoke, employed in the Celgar woods operations at Sidmouth. As fire patrolman during the fire season he is quite familiar with the area and is an accomplished hunter, as is Anderson. The hunt was most successful although both Prince William and Mr. Troubridge stated they worked hard, hunting seven and eight hours a day.

Prince William shot a grizzly bear as well as a mountain goat. Mr. Troubridge bagged a grizzly, a mountain goat and a caribou. Praill shot a goat and caribou and Anderson a caribou. Mr. Troubridge had shot his bear a little above his own level. A second bear which they had not seen reared up, saw them and charged downhill. Prince William brought it down at close distance.

Prince William and his companion were enthusiastic about the country and its beauty. They praised Bob Praill and admired his knowledge of the country and his ability as a hunter.

That evening the four happy hunters returned to Revelstoke and the trip ended with a dinner.

Next morning was spent paying trophy fees and arranging for export permits for two silver tipped grizzly hides, one of which will hang in St. James' Palace. Prince William left for Vancouver.

Horticulturist Advises On Spraying for Killing Disease

Coryneum Blight can kill a tree outright within a few years if not controlled, says W. S. Peters, district horticulturist of Creston, who advises farmers in the Kootenays on spraying methods to fight this disease.

"Coryneum Blight is a very serious fungous disease on peaches and apricots in the Kootenays," he points out. "On the newer wood, foliage and fruit, it appears as reddish-brown spots often with tan-colored sunken centers. These spots on the wood and fruit usually can be seen exuding gum."

A thorough spray of Fixed Copper fungicide, such as COCS or Tribasic Copper Sulphate, should be applied as soon as all the peaches and/or apricots are harvested, Mr. Peters advises. The rate of application is 2 tablespoons per gallon, or 1½ pounds per 100 gallons of water. Ferbam, although not as effective, may be used in place of the fixed copper if it is available. Fixed copper may be purchased in small quantities from the packinghouse in Creston.

If Coryneum Blight is found to be widespread in the spring at pruning time, a spray of Ferbam, Maneb or Ziram should also be applied at the husk-fall stage, at the rate of 2 tablespoons per gallon of water, or 2 pounds per 100 gallons of water.

Peach Leaf Curl is also controlled by the fall application of fixed copper or Ferbam and consequently a dormant spray for this disease is not required.

Mixed Billiard Hall Topic At Castlegar Council

CASTLEGAR — To demands at the meeting by Aage Sylvest regarding the commission's decision on the pool hall at Fourth and Pine, Commissioner Maddocks answered two of four questions submitted in writing by Mr. Sylvest.

He told the meeting that he was not prepared to say that this pool hall is against the interests of immediate long-established residents completely surrounding this isolated commercial lot. He said "This has been referred to us as a mixed billiard hall not a pool hall, with all that it implies. I am willing to be convinced that the mixed hall is detrimental to the area. If it is true, then council may move under the nuisance bylaw."

He went on to say that the mixed billiard hall proposal was not offensive and that he had no power under the Municipal Act to prohibit it. However, he added that two things depended upon the endurance of the particular business, "the nuisance bylaw," and "whether it will succeed."

In Commissioner Gwilym Hughes' opinion the community could be better served as a whole by this development rather than by maintaining the "delapidated Co-op store" which presently occupies the commercial site.

Victoria Writer Claims A First in Peak Conquest

CRANBROOK — Initial climb of a new 11,000-foot peak in a Rocky Mountain southern East Kootenay range on August 11 is claimed by Paddy Sherman, Victoria writer.

Mr. Sherman reports it was discovered by the surveys and mapping branch of B.C. department of lands and forests working from federal surveys, and is about 50 miles northeast of Cranbrook.

The mapping branch has recommended Mount Harrison as its name, after PO. Frank Harrison, DFC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison of Cranbrook who died in RCAF action overseas in 1944.

This is policy in naming newly identified peaks and southwest of Mt. Harrison is another 11,000-plus peak to be called Mount Mike after Pte. Sebastian Mike of Cranbrook who also died in Second World War service.

Mr. Sherman says the fairly recent forest access road into the forestry Public Working Circle of the Upper Kootenay made the summer climb possible. It goes into White Swan Lake and White River area to a 6500-foot altitude at headwaters of the Bull River.

The climbing party included Werner Himmelsbach of Germany, Joe Hutton of Scotland, Ralph Hutchinson, formerly of Tanganyika, Brendan Moss from Ireland, and Don McLaurin of eastern Canada. On attaining the summit, they toasted their discovery in French brandy.

Mount Fisher at 9336 feet towering over Fort Steele, and in a wide gap between the Hughes range and the Steeples of Cranbrook's eastern mountain façade had been considered highest peak until now. However, from Cranbrook this gap is filled by far-off peaks like a giant stone choppy sea, and Harrison and Mike peaks must be among these. Map examination indicates Mount Harrison is about 10 to 20 miles from Alberta's Kananaski's Lakes.

Mr. Sherman quotes Climbers' Guide to the Rocky Mountains as terming an 11,000-foot peak scaled 37 years ago as probably the final unlocated summit. However, up to this most recent successful climb, three other 11,000-plus peaks have been scaled in the Banff-Jasper Rockey segment.

Forward-Looking Hospital Plans Approved Temporarily

CRESTON — Temporary approval was granted proposals relative to the Creston Valley Hospital addition when a four man team of the hospital board met Hon. Eric Martin, minister of health, and BCHIS officials recently.

The team, headed by H. K. Legg, hospital expansion committee chairman; J. H. S. Moffitt, administrator; Roland Robinson, vice-president and chairman of finance, and James Preston, board president.

The government has approved an additional 14 beds to bring the number of beds to 44. The delegation received temporary approval of proposals for completion of the second storey of the hospital, to give a total of 60 beds, with 16 in shell construction until needed.

An expected population explosion within the next 15 years adds impetus to the plans for expansion.

Tentative plans are to put the entire medical-surgical wing on the second storey.

At present the hospital has all the services required for a two-storey hospital as well as structural design for same. Laboratories and out-patient requirements would be in the present bed wing. The administration area would be enlarged and both up stairs and downstairs would be modernized with present hospitalization comforts.

Architects have informed the committee that original engineering and structural work on the hospital was designed for, and will hold the weight of, a second floor.

The committee and government representatives thought the addition could be constructed within the present three mill levy.

School Board Office Addition Near Completion

CRESTON — The addition on the new school board administration building is nearing completion with offices for Adam Robertson, C. C. Wright, Mrs. McKelvey and Roland Roebuck. More administration space has been allowed for.

New furniture and appointments have been installed as well as new lighting effect on the front of the building at night.

Municipal Freeloaders

The meeting of the Association of Kootenay-Boundary Municipalities has provided stimulus for and much needed approval of Mayor E. T. Bodard's suggestion for the immediate implementation of the "county-form" of government.

Mayor Bodard made it abundantly clear the provincial legislature should introduce county government without delay.

This, he pointed out, would ensure adequate facilities being provided for residents of non-organized areas and would equalize the tax load at present borne by municipalities.

The essence of the speech was that the introduction of the county-form of government would alleviate the crippling tax burden borne by municipal residents, who in fact subsidize non-residents utilizing municipal facilites.

Mayor Bodard's suggeston is a good one, and it is hoped that the Union of B.C. Municipalities meeting next week in Burnaby will endorse it. The county form of government has had ample time to prove its outstanding merit in Ontario. It has proved that it is possible for the rural taxpayer to contribute his share of the tax load on an equitable basis.

Mayor Bodard said that more than $200,000 is being spent by the City of Nelson in implementing its recreational program, all of which are open to non-residents without reservation.

Some form of tax equalization is necessary. The pittance paid to the city of Nelson to offset non-resident participation is negligible.

Municipal taxes are spiralling upwards and one cannot blame people locating outside municipal boundaries were taxes are much lower. What can be objected to is the fact that they utilize municipal facilities at the expense of the municipal residents.

We hope the county form of government will become fact. It would be most welcome and relieve municipalities of a tiresome and unnecessary tax burden.

Eggheads in a Basket

The Conservative Party recently held a meeting at the University of New Brunswick, ostensibly to discuss — among a gathering of businessmen, lawyers and educational figures — world problems.

Dalton K. Camp, the seminar president, emphasized this was not a seminar to formulate Conservative policy for any looming election. It will be strange indeed if this meeting did not influence the outlook of the Progressive Conservative party.

It would be interesting to ascertain what the conservative minded citizens of Canada are thinking these days, and, indeed, how do we define a "conservative-minded person"?

Abstract seminars which produce both political and sociological themes are interesting, but surely the practical application of such themes are more valuable? Conservative party leaders will therefore look for more than mere thematic utterances from the Brunswick meeting.

Popular attitudes and convictions which have in the past been solidly pro or con among Canadians have now entered into a phase of new thought. This is clearly evidenced in the political speeches of such politicians as Senator Barry Goldwater, who has been speaking his mind on many subjects and awakened a brand new sense of political awareness in the United States and Canada. In the minds of many Conservative politicians there must be feelings of grave doubts. Have they said and acted like good little true blues? Have they subjugated their conservative beliefs for becoming politically popular?

After a lengthy tenure of Liberal administration, Canadians gave the Progressive Conservative party an overwhelming majority to implement their brand of conservatism. What happened to these grandiose political beliefs? Have they died a natural death? Did the Conservatives neglect to bring their ideals and ambitions before Parliament when they were given a mandate?

Whatever the agenda of the New Brunswick conference, the Conservatives should seek the unanswered questions of why their popularity fell from the highest pinnacle to the proverbial depth.

Where is the light that shone in John Diefenbaker's eyes when he made his momentous speech, "My Fellow Canadians." That too seems to have disappeared. It is time the Progressive Conservative party did some effective soul-searching and political re-thinking. It will be too late at the next, and possibly looming federal election.

More Plain Loafing Needed

No one seems to know how to loaf any more. The kids around the corner drugstore of a summer evening, maybe, but that's not really loafing. That's hanging around, which is another way of saying that's waiting for something to happen.

Your true loafer is not waiting for something to happen; he is not interested in having anything happen. Loafing is sufficient unto itself.

People are ashamed of being caught doing just absolutely nothing at all. It's not that there is a lack of leisure time; we have more of that than any previous generation. The trouble is that leisure time is regarded as a sort of container that must be filled with activity, preferably useful or constructive.

There ought to be more loafing—just plain, do-nothing sloth, without a muscle or brain cell in motion. Nothing prudent and sensible can be said in favor of this revolting practice; it's not even good for you. But it's wonderful!

Still a Man Of the People

British Columbia is extremely fortunate to have Major-General George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes in Government House at Victoria. General Pearkes is a warm, humane sort of man with a merry eye and the common touch. No stuffy striped-pantism for him! And Mrs. Pearkes shares her distinguished husband's boundless interest in the people of out-of-the-way parts.

The vice-regal couple have just completed a tiring series of official visits to Okanagan centres including Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon. Everywhere they went they encouraged ordinary people in respect for the Crown as the symbol of Canadian sovereignty, and it was done by example rather than by rote.

Canada needs what people like General Pearkes can offer today perhaps more than at any time in her history. Disintegrating forces are at work here no less than in the fragmenting parts of the old Empire. The personality and character of the Queen's representatives are vital to continuance of the Crown as a real rather than a sham symbol of sovereignty, a rallying point for the confused.—Penticton Herald.

Every Sector of National Economy To Be Affected by New Railway Laws

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the fiercest legislative fights ever seen in Ottawa is being predicted for the government's proposed new railway legislation.

Actually, new is not an apt description in this case, even though the bill was made public only last Monday night. Most of its features were taken from the report of the MacPherson royal commission on transportation filed almost two years ago.

This report laid down a startling plan to revolutionize the railway industry by freeing it of almost all federal regulation and allowing it to scrap money-losing branch lines and passenger services.

In essence, the railways would become flexible free enterprisers again, allowed to make their own way in a sink-or-swim battle against their competitors —mainly trucks.

A mass of red tape built up over decades of government intervention, would go out the window. So would the maze of public subsidies—about $77,000,000 this year alone—which have been applied to keep specific freight rates down and pay for certain unprofitable services the railways have been forced to retain.

PROPOSED SLIDING SCALE

To cushion the shock of abandonment, the MacPherson report proposed a sliding scale of subsidies for the period in which uneconomic branch lines and passenger runs would be cut.

These subsidies would total $97,300,000 in the first year, dropping after five years to about $35,000,000 and in 15 years to about $22,000,000.

This $22,000,000 is the amount the railways get for maintaining the low grain-hauling rates imposed by Parliament in 1925. Even this subsidy might vanish within the next 15 years under a new provision that it must be reviewed every five years. There has long been an argument from some quarters that instead of losing money on grain, as they maintain, the railways actually show a profit.

Under the proposed subsidy plan, the railways would take five years to eliminate unprofitable passenger runs and 15 years to abandon unprofitable branch lines, practically all of these on the Prairies.

Observers here expect a flood of criticism against this section of the legislation. Westerners in particular will want to get built-in safeguards against losing lines they feel are vital to local economy.

PAY BILL FOR DEFICIT

The bill provides that Parliament can compel the railways to retain any specific service. But if it's a losing one, the taxpayer will foot the bill for the deficit.

In the highly-sensitive issue of freight rates, the railways would be free to levy charges within a range set by a complicated formula that is certain to become another major point of controversy.

This formula is that rates must not go below "compensatory" levels. In other words, the railways must make money on each rate. This floor is designed to prevent rate-cutting wars.

There would be no maximum level for areas and commodities where the railways are already in competition with other forms of transport—trucks, water, pipelines and planes.

But another part of the formula establishes a maximum levy for the so-called "captive" traffic, covering areas where no alternate transport system exists and commodities such as coal, ore, grain, timber and similar bulk goods which can't be moved efficiently any other way.

This rate ceiling is described in the bill as "equal to the variable cost of the carriage of the goods, plus 15 per cent of that variable cost." It will be left to the shipper and the railway to bargain for a rate somewhere under that level.

Other provisions are tacked onto this basic principle, covering fixed-rate contract periods, reductions for large bulk shipments and such.

EXPECTS LONG DEBATE

One informant closely connected with the freight controversy said the arguments for and against this part of the bill could go on for months. "It will look like another royal commission before the last word has been said," he remarked.

The Western provinces, which have been protesting for years about discriminatory rates, are expected to put up a particularly strong fight this time.

For one thing, they realize this legislation is going to rule the freight rate situation for many years. This may well be the last opportunity in this generation for getting the west a better deal.

The bill involved is a bulky 34-page document of 14,000 words. Literally thousands of copies have been airmailed across the country this week for word-by-word study by lawyers, provincial government experts, trade associations and experts in every major transportation firm.

Transport Minister Pickersgill, introducing the legislation in the Commons, said MPs would be given about 10 days to study it before the House takes up second reading—approval in principle—the major debating stage for all bills. The debate is obviously going to be long and involved, unless there is inter-party agreement to curtail it.

Next, the bill is to go before a Commons committee which will hear the views of interested groups. This will take weeks, because the issues at stake affect every sector of the national economy.

Interpreting the News

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Two recent events in Latin America represent the cheeriest current news for the United States state department in its global preoccupations. Each bears on Cuba.

Twenty of the 21 members of the Organization of American States — Mexico excluded—now have cut diplomatic ties with Fidel Castro's island. Most have also severed economic dealings.

But perhaps more important in the long run, in the U.S. program to isolate Cuba, is the recent defeat of the far left in Chile's presidential election.

The main value of severing diplomatic ties, officials say, is the removal of Cuban diplomatic beachheads in Latin American countries which serve as bases for subversion.

This also, coupled with economic blockades, is felt to increase the pressure of isolation on Cuba within the hemisphere, although the volume of trade between Latin America and Cuba has been small anyway, say state department figures.

These show for the first nine months of 1963 Cuban exports worth some $5,000,000 and imports of about $3,000,000.

ISSUE RAISED AGAIN

State department officials indicated Wednesday that State Secretary Rusk has recently raised again with various countries the U.S. desire to curb trade with Cuba.

Both France and Britain have had some substantial deals with Cuba recently.

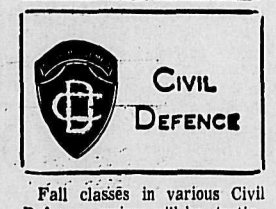
Canadian and U.S. sources, questioned about Canada's role in these talks, say it would be fair to assume that the subject has been discussed in a general way twice recently — although only among a number of other subjects.

There has been less public enthusiasm in the U.S. about the anti-Cuban success than might have been expected. But part of this at least is attributed to the fact that in the Nov. 3 election campaign the Democratic administration is not attempting to play up foreign policy since there are too many other areas where trouble may break out.

Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater on the other hand has not had the ammunition to make much play with Cuba, other than to suggest that the 1962 Cuban missile crisis was manipulated by the late president Kennedy for political gain.

There has been little public condemnation of Mexico visible in Washington for its independent stand, and none at all in public or private from government sources.

Similarly, there has been little comment recently about the fact that Canada still recognizes Cuba and engages in non-strategic trade with her.



Fall classes in various Civil Defence services will be starting shortly. Contact your Civil Defence Coordinator for dates.

Premier Wants Fast Action On Parliamentary Procedures

By STEPHEN SCOTT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson has returned to the capital of this "schizophrenic" nation after warning that he wants more action from a committee designed to speed the work of Parliament.

The prime minister Thursday ended his first visit here since last year's federal election.

He came Wednesday to commemorate the ratification of the Columbia River power treaty with President Johnson. He addressed local Liberals Wednesday night and the Canadian Club Thursday.

At a press conference before boarding a plane for Ottawa, Mr. Pearson mentioned closure as an alternative to an election and a method to stop parliamentary filibuster. But he said he preferred a change of House rules to such action, which restricts Commons debate.

He said in his speech that one of Canada's problems is the need for changes in procedure in the Commons to assure the right of discussion and decision; the right of the majority to ensure parliamentary action; and the right of the minority to discuss, delay and attempt change but not prevent decision.

"An all-party committee has been set up for this purpose but its results, so far, have been few and its progress slow. It should move faster and show more results."

At the press conference he said the committee had not reached agreement on important changes such as a way of setting the time to be devoted to each measure.

WOULD TAKE ACTION

He said the government would have to take action if the committee did not find a procedure of voluntarily limiting debate.

"But I don't like to see legislation enacted by closure."

He did not see an election near.

He told the Canadian Club Canadians seem unable to regard themselves as citizens of the most envied country in the world.

"As a people, we appear uncertain about where we are going, how we are going and whether we are going separately or together," he said.

"We are also worried about being absorbed en route by a big bold neighbor.

"We are suffering in a sense from a kind of national schizophrenia—are we too British or too American; are we Westerners or are we Easterners; are we bicultural, multicultural or no-cultural?"

He suggested that Canadians count their blessings "as we survey the tough problems we have to face."

Atheist Immigrant Denied Citizenship

CALEDONIA, Ont. (CP)—A 43-year-old Dutch immigrant, who with his wife has been refused Canadian citizenship twice, says he believes in the Bible but not in God.

Ernest Bergsma of Caledonia, father of four children, became the subject of a question in the House of Commons Thursday.

William Howe, New Democratic Party member for Hamilton South, mentioned the case in the House and Citizenship Minister Tremblay promised an inquiry.

The Bergsmas were reported to have been refused citizenship because they are atheists and could not take the oath, "so help me God."

Mr. Bergsma said in an interview Thursday he believes the Bible is a book of rules on how people should live, but he cannot believe in God because nobody knows what happens after death.

He came to Canada 10 years ago and is a welder at a Hamilton steel plant. He and his wife were at a citizenship ceremony at Caledonia 18 months ago. He said he then took an oath on the Bible to tell only the truth.

"When he (the judge) asked me what religion I was, I told him I didn't have any. When he asked me if I believed in God, I told him the truth as I had sworn to do and said no."

Mr. Bergsma said he would rather not be a Canadian than tell a lie.

Vehement Attack on West Made by Soviet President

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan Friday made a vehement attack on Britain and the United States and declared "new dangerous signs of tension" had appeared in recent months.

Premier Khrushchev sat listening in the Kremlin's Supreme Soviet chamber while Mikoyan addressed a "friendship rally" in honor of visiting Indian President Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan.

Mikoyan said the U.S. was guilty of "criminal aggressive acts" against North Viet Nam and condemned Britain for setting up a "detestable place d'armes in Malaysia."

The establishment of Malaysia "constitutes a threat to the security of the Indonesian people," he declared.

Western observers were surprised by the vehemence of the president's attack on the West.

Mikoyan said imperialist forces had become active again in recent months, resulting in the appearance of "new dangerous signs of tension."

Mikoyan also attacked the West for its actions in Cyprus and The Congo.

On Cuba, he said people who thought they could interfere with Cuba's "freedom" should realize they might run the risk of military conflict. "The world may once again face a direct danger of war," he declared.

WILL OPPOSE KHAN

KARACHI (AP)—Miss Fatimah Jinnah, 75-year-old sister of Pakistan's founder, Thursday accepted an offer from five combined opposition parties to run for the country's presidency in elections next March. Miss Jinnah will oppose President Ayub Khan, named as candidate by the ruling Moslem League party to succeed himself.

Proposal for Senate To Help Pope Rule

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Vatican Ecumenical Council Friday began debating a revised draft decree proposing that a "senate" of bishops should be set up to help the Pope govern the church.

The draft decree, dealing with bishops and the government of dioceses, was debated at the Roman Catholic council's second session last year.

Friday it came back before the assembly revised in the light of last year's discussion.

According to a council press office communique, the new version contains an article which "expresses the hope that a council of bishops will be organized, with members from different nations, to assist the Pope in the government of the universal church."

This means inclusion in the draft decree of proposals put forward by many bishops for an "episcopal senate" to govern the church with the Pope.

The bishops said adoption of their proposals would be a practical demonstration of the Pope's responsibility by bishops.

The collegiality doctrine, opposed by a hard core of conservative bishops, is contained in another document—the third chapter of the draft decree "De Ecclesia" (on the nature of the church).

This chapter has been revised since last year by the council's theology commission and the assembly's 2,200 attending prelates Friday were given arguments for and against the new draft and its 39 amendments.

Contrary to expectations, the arguments were not delivered verbally but were distributed in printed form.

Disclosures by Johnson Boost Political Status

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, back from his first tour of the U.S. general election campaign season, has demonstrated anew that the man in office usually has a built-in advantage over the man who wants his job.

Twice in two days, Johnson dipped into the Pentagon's trove of military secrets for revelations which got wide public attention.

Although Johnson, the Democratic party presidential nominee, at no point directly tied his disclosures to his campaign against Republican rival Senator Barry Goldwater, many seemed to see Goldwater as his target.

In Sacramento, Calif., Thursday, Johnson made two major military disclosures, both involving the development of new defence systems which military experts said could properly be lumped in the strategic category.

The president did not say so, but it seemed that his revelations were a blunt response to Goldwater's claim that the Democratic administration has failed to come up with any new strategic weapons.

UNWRAPS SECRET

These were the secrets unwrapped by the president:

1. The United States has a new radar that "will literally look around the curve of the earth, alerting us to aircraft and especially missiles, within seconds after they are launched." Previously, there had been a 15-minute warning gap.

2. "We now have developed and tested two systems with the ability to intercept and destroy armed satellites circling the earth in space. I can tell you today that these systems are in place, they are operationally ready, and they are on alert." The systems are land-based.

Wednesday, in Seattle, Johnson heralded another military development designed to make certain that "neither a madman nor a malfunction could trigger nuclear war."

Johnson announced that several nuclear weapons now are equipped with "permissive action locks" which he described as electromechanical units "which must be opened by secret combination before action is possible."

Queen May Address House

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Friday consideration is being given to the possibility of the Queen addressing both houses of Parliament when she visits Canada next month.

Replying to a question from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker in the Commons, Mr. Pearson said this was one reason for delay in announcing a complete itinerary for the Queen's visit to Charlottetown, Quebec City and Ottawa. Details would be made public in "a day or two," he added.

Mr. Pearson said it may not be possible for the Queen to make an address to Parliament but arrangements would be made in any case for her to meet members of Parliament.

Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) asked Mr. Pearson about a letter in The Times of London, written by Sir Campbell Stuart, a native of Montreal. The writer asked that the Queen's visit be cancelled because of threats to assassinate her by French-Canadian extremists.

Mr. Pearson had no comment on the letter.

Europe's Youngest Monarchs Off To Corfu in Honeymoon Plane

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine of Greece married Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark in magnificent ceremony before sweltering guests at Athens Cathedral Friday and then flew with her across the Ionian Sea to a honeymoon retreat.

A million Greeks cheered the union of their monarch, at 24, the world's youngest king, and the pretty Danish princess who, at 18, became the world's youngest queen.

About 1,600 persons watched the 45-minute Byzantine Orthodox rites at the Athens Cathedral, climaxed by a shower of rose petals from the high ceiling.

"It was fine, beautiful," said Lynda Bird Johnson, here as a representative of her father, the U.S. president. ". . . God bless them both. It was an unforgettable and wonderful morning."

Bridal jitters evidently overtook Anne-Marie briefly as she stood under television lights in her wedding gown of white Duchess satin. Tears glinted momentarily in her eyes. But they gave way to smiles. And once, responding to a remark of the king, the bride giggled.

Constantine wore the uniform of a Greek field marshal.

The sun beamed down. Street temperatures were in the 90s and a perspiring priest said it felt close to 100 degrees inside as he assisted Archbishop Chrysostomos, the 85-year-old primate of Greece, in the ceremony.

Because of the heat, Princess Grace of Monaco did not accompany Prince Rainier to the crowded cathedral but watched the ceremony on television. The former movie star is expecting her third child in February.

The wedding had given Greek police a hectic day, with special precautions ordered for members of the British Royal Family, Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus and King Hussein of Jordan.

Interpol, the international police agency, was reported to have sent Athens police photographs of well-known international jewel thieves who might have been tempted by the glittering jewels worn by the guests.

Greeks lined the streets to cheer the royal couple as they made their way to and from the cathedral in a guilded carriage drawn by white horses. Police said about 20 persons fainted in the crush.

After a wedding breakfast at the royal palace, Constantine and Anne-Marie drove to Athens airport in a car and boarded his private plane for the honeymoon flight.

The athletic young king declined to say where they were going, but directed the plane toward the Island of Corfu, in the Ionian Sea 280 miles northwest of Athens, where he has a summer palace at Repos.

Among the guests at the ceremony was Prince Philip and his children, Prince Charles, who was a crown bearer, and Princess Anne, who was a bridesmaid.

SADDENED BY DEATH

The wedding climaxed a three-year romance saddened by the death last June of Constantine's father, King Paul, and shadowed for the last eight months by recurring threats of war over Cyprus.

The couple, engaged since January, 1963, had planned to marry next January but with the trying job of kingship upon him, Constantine wanted Anne-Marie beside him.

Appealing to her father, King Frederik of Denmark, Constantine told his story, saying he realized the tender age of his fiancee.

A sympathetic King Frederik is reported to have replied:—"Yes, she's young, but she's yours."

As Queen, Anne-Marie won't change her name despite rumors she might drop part of it. The Greek people won't call her Anne-Marie, however. In Greek, they say Anna-Maria.

A Lutheran, she will embrace her husband's Greek Orthodox faith.

Royal Wedding Ceremony Full Of Tradition, Many Incidents

By EDDY GILMORE

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine of the Hellenes wed Denmark's beautiful Princess Anne-Marie Friday amid the Byzantine magnificence of Athens' Greek Orthodox Cathedral.

It was a spectacularly colorful ceremony, but it had its human moments — when Anne-Marie giggled, and when Queen Mother Frederika came close to hitting Britain's Prince Charles with one of the two crowns used in Greek Orthodox weddings.

Charles did not duck, but he eyed the heavy crowns with

SALUTE BOOMS OUT

A 21-gun salute boomed across the city as the bridegroom, attired in a white army uniform, rode in the open gilded carriage to the cathedral. Queen Mother Frederika rode beside him.

The young king looked nervous. Not far behind the king came Anne-Marie, riding in an open carriage with her father. Looking composed, she smiled and waved constantly to the crowd shouting "Anne-Marie . . Anne-Marie, we love you, Anne-Marie."

It took some manoeuvring to get the bride and her long, heavy train out of her carriage. Britain's teen-age princess Anne, one of the bridesmaids, helped lift the train. The ceremony began with the official betrothal.

The white-bearded archbishop touched the heads of the couple with the pair of wedding rings. He placed the rings on their fingers.

Queen Mother Frederika came forward and exchanged the rings three times. Then the archbishop said:

"The servant of God, Constantine, is betrothed to the servant of God, Anne-Marie, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen, amen, amen."

The archbishop held forth the Bible, and the bride and bridegroom kissed it.

After the betrothal, the archbishop went into the crowning rites of the Greek Orthodox wedding. Lifting a pair of glittering wedding crowns, the archbishop blessed Constantine with them and then the bride.

The primate then handed the crowns to Queen Frederika and from behind the couple she held them over their head. It was then she almost hit Prince Charles.

As the archbishop proceded toward the conclusion of the service, the crowns were taken over by Prince Carl of Hesse, Constantine's first cousin, and Crown Prince Gustav of Sweden.

A series of princes then held the crowns in shifts of several minutes each. Prince Charles took his turn.

"Let every one of you in particular," intoned the archbishop, "so love his wife even as himself, and the wife see that she has reverence for her husband."

At this point in Greek village weddings the groom comes down hard with his foot on his wife's foot. By taking this uncomplainingly, she shows her reverence.

If Constantine trod on Anne-Marie's foot, the guests couldn't see it.

With the service nearly over, the couple sipped communal wine three times.

Then came the dance of Isaiah, in which the couple and principal members of the wedding walked three times around the altar table. As the choir sang, rose petals showered on the couple.

As the ceremony ended, Constantine and then Anne-Marie bowed and kissed the hands of Queen Mother Frederika.

King Frederik moved forward, shook hands with his son-in-law and kissed his daughter.

As the primate still intoned the bridal pair looked relaxed and began whispering to each other.

Anne-Marie — Greece's new queen—giggled.

The service ended, the crowd outside gave them a tremendous cheer as they entered their carriage.

Cannon on Mount Lycabetus, Athens' highest point, began booming out 101 times.

Church bells throughout the city rang, signalling the end of the ceremony.

"Long may you live! Long may you live!" the thousands in the cathedral square shouted.

Headed by Constantine and Anne-Marie in their open carriage, the procession moved through the gaily decorated streets of Athens.

The department of national health and welfare says there are nearly 250,000 alcoholics in Canada.

Newfeld - Kolle Wedding Rites

White Gladioli Highlight Floral Decor at Wedding

Baskets of white gladioli and fern graced the altar and organ of the Blessed Sacrament Church in Fairview as Diane Kolle exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Alvin Charles Neufeld Saturday, Sept. 5, at 2 p.m.

Rev. S. A. Clarmont officiated at the service uniting in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kolle and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neufeld of the North Shore.

White gladioli with fern and white satin ribbon marked the guest pews as friends and relatives witnessed the marriage ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of white nylon organza over white satin, the floor-length, slightly bouffant skirt enhanced by side pleats ornamented with seed-pearls and small rosebuds.

The seed-pearl trim was repeated on the scoop neckline and the sleeves were lily point. She carried a crescent bouquet of red roses with white lace trim.

A seed pearl and rhinestone coronet held her fingertip veil.

In striking contrast were the attendants' velveteen, full-skirted dresses of Mediterranean blue. Three-quarter-length sleeves and a tie belt were fashion details and they wore white pillbox hats and white gloves. Their bouquets were of white carnations.

Miss Marlene Kolle was maid of honor and Miss Rita Kolle acted as bridesmaid for their sister. Miss Janice Koenig, as flower girl, was sweet in a Mediterranean blue velevteen frock with Peter Pan collar, lace trimmed, and a sash belt, also lace trimmed. She wore daisies in her hair and carried a small nosegay of white carnations. She is the niece and godchild of the bridegroom.

Mr. Jo Clarke was best man and usher was Mr. Jake Koenig, brother-in-law of the bridegroom from Castlegar.

Organist was Miss Valerie Rusnick, who played "I Love You Truly" during signing of the register.

BUFFET SUPPER

A buffet-style supper was served to the wedding guests at the home of the bride's parents. The mother of the bride welcomed the guests in a dusky rose silk sheath dress with matching jacket, yellow carnation corsage and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a two-piece pink wool suit with white accessories and white carnation corsage.

White gladioli ornamented the table, centred by a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in white with pink roses, and topped by a miniature bride and groom. White tapers in silver candleholders flanked the cake.

Master of ceremonies was Mr John Someren of Wetaskiwin, Alta. A telegram from the bride' aunt in Holland was read.

For a wedding trip to Disneyland, Marineland and points on the west coast of the United States, the bride changed into a white two-piece linen suit with royal blue accessories. Her white carnation corsage was blue-trimmed.

The newlyweds will make their home in Nelson, where the bridegroom is employed by the B.C. Telephone Company, and the bride is on the staff of Willowhaven Private Hospital.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. S. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. L. VanWeenen and Mr. John Kolle, of Calgary; Mr. John Someren of Wetaskiwin; Mr. Charles Kolle of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. J. Koenig of Kinnaird.

"Tag-End" Parish Groups To Come Under One Organization

EDMONTON (CP)—The 100,000 women who work in the Anglican Church of Canada are on the way to channel their activities through one organization with a brand new name.

Mrs. John Robertson, dominion president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada, said she hoped re-organization would be advanced by next year's annual meeting. She made her remarks at the close of the W.A.s four-day annual meeting Thursday.

The session in Edmonton revolved around the theme of trends in women's church organizations. Delegates met in a series of informal discussions to look "closely and honestly" at themselves and their work.

Mrs. Robertson said she and another executive member, Mrs. M. P. Wilkinson of Islington, Ont., would be attending a primate's committee conference in the Toronto area, probably late this fall. There, representatives from the W.A. and other church women's groups — the mothers' union, the church year, and various parish guilds, would gather to take the first steps toward merger.

This is the first such conference to be held.

The new organization may be known as the Anglican Church Women, if a suggestion from one diocese at the annual meeting is followed. The merger will probably spell the end of what Mrs. Robertson has called "tag-end" parish organizations. Many of these date from the First World War and church officials feel much of their work is overlapping, and not efficiently channelled for the good of the whole church.

Next year's annual W.A. meeting will be held in London, Ont., June 7-10.

The soul-searching discussions and speeches left some delegates discouraged over the whole function and purpose of W.A. work, said Mrs. F. H. Burkitt of Prince Albert at closing sessions.

The W.A. was not striving for bigness, delegates were told.

"Our main idea is to have all workers gain a larger vision of the whole church, not for the WA to take over all other church organizations," said first vice-president Mrs. A. C. Calder of London, Ont.

Mrs. G. P. Parson of Port Credit, Ont., was re-elected educational chairman of the dominion executive and Mrs. J. M. Donaldson of Simcoe, Ont., was elected girls' department chairman. All other officers were re-elected by acclamation.

Among conveners appointed to the board were: Mrs. H. D. Martin, Victoria, nominations and elections and Mrs. G. S. Moore, Trail, B.C., dominion life members.

Gas Appliances Can Help Home Become Modern

Home modernization — the magic formula which turns old houses into new — is getting a big assist from the gas industry.

Dramatic breakthrough in gas appliance developments are revolutionizing modern living with brand new concepts in convenience and automaticity. Gas ranges, for example, can now be hung on the wall, mounted on a base cabinet, built in or left free-standing. And each is a complete cooking centre in itself, incorporating a whole array of automatic features that make it unnecessary for the homemaker to purchase an expensive collection of small auxiliary plug-in appliances that take up precious storage or counter space.

Another new design in gas ranges also gives a decorator's touch to the kitchen. Actually a free-standing range, it takes on a custom-built look when placed between two base cabinets. The front of the range is finished in wood-textured vinyl or colored baked enamel to match adjoining cabinets.

Equally glamorous and convenient are the new gas refrigerators which are readily adaptable to recessing in kitchens where other appliances are built-in.

Smokeless - odorless gas incinerators, which reduce garbage and trash to a handful of ashes automatically and economically, are still another boon to the homemaker. The gas units can be installed in the kitchen for added convenience. They come in a variety of attractive styles and colors to blend with other kitchen equipment.

In kitchens where space is limited, a gas washer-dryer combination takes up only 32 to 36 inches of wall space, as compared with 50 inches or more for separate units. Gas combinations are the most completely automatic laundering equipment available today. The homemaker never has to handle the clothes from the beginning of the washing cycle to the end of the drying cycle.

Gas central heating and air conditioning systems are also completely "weather-proof" and automatic. Units which combine heating and air conditioning on a year-round basis are so compact they can be installed in a closet in or adjacent to the kitchen.

A welcome addition to the family of gas appliances is the new gas dishwasher that boosts the temperature of the water to 180 degrees for the cleanest, most sterile dishwashing possible. The smart styling of the gas dishwasher is another reason for its popularity in modern homes.

Rounding out the family of modern gas kitchen appliances is the home's most tireless servant — the dependable gas water heater that keeps abundant supplies of hot water on tap day and night. One fabulous new gas water heater can be set to provide anywhere from 30 to 50 gallons of hot water, simply by turning a dial. It has an extremely fast recovery rating which insures a plentiful supply of hot water for all family and household needs.

These are just some of the reasons why families modernizing their homes are specifying gas appliances, the Canadian Gas Association reports. Convenience, economy, ease of installation, dependability and superior performance are plus benefits that pay added dividends for years to come.

GEYSER POISONS AIR

CARMINIELLA, Italy (AP)—Police have cleared all 150 residents out of this hamlet south of Naples after the eruption of a poisonous geyser. A gush of scalding water shot nearly 150 feet into the air Thursday, spraying a watery cloud containing highly poisonous carbon monoxide gas.

JAIL ABORTIONIST

LONDON (AP) — Staff Sgt. John P. Hughes, a medical corpsman, was sentenced Thursday to three years in prison for performing abortions in a British army hospital. The prosecution said Hughes, 32, carried out illegal operations on four girls, charging them £10 ($30) each.

Brides Enjoy Homemaking With Modern Gas Ranges

The days when a young wife could legitimately gripe about slaving over a hot stove all day is as dead as last year's flowers.

With all the wonderful new, easy to follow recipes, ready-mixed foods and appliances that almost think for themselves, life in the kitchen has become a life of ease and pleasure.

The major tool that helps to make this possible is a gas range built to Gold Star standards Only the finest, most modern cooking appliances can qualify for the Gold Star award, symbol of excellence in quality, construction and design.

Their special automatic features, some of which are optional mean:

Dinner is prepared in the oven while the cook visits with friends.

Hot coffee is ready in the morning because the timed outlet automatically turns on the coffeemaker.

A new low oven temperature control automatically all foods to taste and holds them there even if dinner guests are late (or the cocktail hour runs on and on.)

A thermostatically controlled surface burner never lets food burn or spoil; it automatically "pot watches."

A meat thermometer automatically turns the oven off when the roast is cooked to the exact degree of doneness desired, ranging from rare to well-done.

Clocks automatically turn the oven on to cook an entire meal while the homemaker is away from home, then automatically cut back to keep the food at serving temperature for several hours if necessary.

Other Gold Star features include: Built-in rotisseries for barbecued foods, double ovens, automatic ignition for all burners, waist-high broilers, infrared ovens and broilers, illuminated back panels, interior oven lights and glide-out shelves.

FINANCE A-FORCE

PARIS (AP)—France plans to spend about 5,000,000,000 francs ($1,000,000,00) on its nuclear strike force in 1965. This sum is included in the budget estimates approved Wednesday by the French cabinet and disclosed Thursday by Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

Modern Living In A Modern Age

Better Your Living in 1964

The Modern Home

In planning a new home, all conscientious parents consider the needs of their growing family. K-23 is a house with this in mind.

Two bedrooms are shown on the main floor, and a large bathroom with vanity. In the basement, consideration is given to the construction of two additional bedrooms, where growing boys can have full scope for their boundless energy, giving them separate study rooms too.

The kitchen is compact, adjoining the dining room alongside the 24' living room. The entrance hall features an open winding stairway to the recreation room below.

Also in the basement is the furnace room and a utility room plus a good size bathroom.

A lot that slopes from front to back is best for this house, to allow for the large windows under and the door leading out to the patio.

The carport is at the front of the house so you can enter the house without being exposed to the weather. A sun deck at the rear is accessible from the living room.

This is a home for the family to enjoy for years to come. Blueprints, designed for N.H.A. approval, can be obtained from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd., 96 Kingsway, Vancouver, B.C.

To obtain a copy of our SELECT HOME DESIGNS catalogue of plans, please send 50c in coin or money order to the above address.

Kitchen Too Small? Gas Appliances Can Help

Many a homemaker is discouraged because her kitchen is simply too small and there seems to be no practical way to enlarge it.

If this is your problem, try making better use of the space you do have, the Canadian Gas Association advises. Once the kitchen is properly arranged, you may find you prefer your small kitchen for its space-saving convenience.

The best way to make good use of existing space is to divide the kitchen into three major work centres—cooking and serving food storage and preparation, and clean-up. A rule of thumb recommended by CGA is to place the three main work areas at the points of a triangle with a maximum of 22 feet for the sum of the sides of the triangle.

Keep the distance between any two work centers as short as possible while allowing ample work surface and storage space for each.

When you include modern gas appliances in your kitchen, you gain added convenience and storage space. Gas ranges built to Gold Star standards, for example, incorporate built-in features that make it unnecessary to purchase an expensive collection of small auxiliary appliances that take up so much valuable storage space.

Thanks to the top burner heat control, standard on all Gold Star gas ranges, every pot and pan in your home becomes an automatic appliance. Equally convenient are such Gold Star features as built-in rotisseries, griddles, barbecuing ovens and broilers.

A family-size gas refrigerator-freezer combination is another space-saving device that provides important conveniences. Generous storage space in refrigerator and freezer sections permits you to keep a large supply of fresh vegetables, fruits, meats, and dairy products on hand, thus cutting down on canned goods which take up so much shelf space. The gas units never require defrosting and are available with an automatic ice-maker that drops cubes into a handy serving bin.

Most women prefer to have their laundry equipment in or adjacent to the kitchen. Even a small, compact kitchen can accommodate the gas washer-dryer combination because it takes up much less space than two separate units. And with a combination, you don't have to transfer clothes from the washer to the dryer. The top of the combination unit also is a convenient place for folding the clothes when the drying cycle is completed.

The new gas dishwasher is another space-saving convenience. While compact in size, it has one of the largest capacities of any automatic dishwasher on the market. It gets dishes cleaner, too, because it actually heats the water as it enters the unit to provide temperatures ranging from 160 to 180 degrees.

These are just some of the automatic gas appliances that provide small kitchens with all of the comforts of modern living. While they put the emphasis on efficiency and convenience, they add a much desired touch of glamor as well.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Sunday, September 20, 1964

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — It will be important to emphasize tact and graciousness some persons will be touchy. Potent aids: your personality and vitality.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) —Avoid involved situations and decipher ambiguous statements slowly enough to prevent errors. Clear the atmosphere so as to make sound decisions.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — where you are cramped for time, stop, reschedule. Day should not read like every other rushed one unless it is your normal work day. Even so, more dedication to sound purpose needed.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) —A little snap and bounce won't be amiss now. But everything in proper proportion. There could be some errors in judgment. Be alert.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) —Care needed in experimentation, hastily contrived messages and writings, and transportation. Reason things out to a logical conclusion, then initiate appropriate measures.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Share your joys and happiness with loved ones. Seek their opinion and aid when needed, but do not borrow nor lend to excess.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — You normally abide by your contracts and promises, and here is a day for stressing this integrity. You should find great happiness in fulfilling obligations. A novel adventure could please.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)— Do not scatter energies and do avoid extravagance. Be realistic and pursue only worthwhile activities — whether at work or play. If something went wrong during the past week, plan to rectify it as soon as possible.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — What's expedient is not always wise. Note where, when you must refuse, consent, or dismiss suggestions from your mind. But don't automatically reject another's idea because his personality does not appeal to you.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARC 20 (Capricorn) — You may be undergoing a period of disinterest, thereby making errors through miscalculation or insufficient thought. Be alert to avoid. Personal relationships should prove pleasing.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Excellent planetary influences. You will not have to strain to accomplish now. A good period for building up your potentials, reviving a plan or project once set aside, even though feasible.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Do not make any final decisions until you have had enough time to weigh all the pros and cons. And, even if you make one which you consider as final, it might be well to remember that you may have to make later revisions.

YOU BORN TODAY are reliable, trustworthy and, in anything you undertake, do not only a competent but a top-flight job. Don't let a fetish for looking deep into every corner give you the reputation of being a meddler. You make suggestions in order to be helpful of course, but don't forget that silence is often not only golden, but priceless. Many prominent industrialists, educators, scientific technicians, artists and writers have been Virgo-born.

Even New House Can Stand Modernizing

A house doesn't have to be old to benefit from modernization. Many houses being improved today are under 10 years of age, the Canadian Gas Association reports. This is because the kitchen, basement or some key part of the house already was 10 years behind the times when it was built.

When a home is equipped with modern, automatic gas appliances designed and engineered for the future as well as today, it continues to provide the conveniences of modern living for many, many years.

Many recent innovations developed by the gas industry will still be modern 10 years from now.

Infra-red heaters that keep the patio, driveway and porch warm even in sub-zero weather, are one example.

Other examples include water heaters that heat the water in the swimming pool, and infra-red heaters that keep the area around the pool comfortably warm. These make it possible for families to enjoy their pools 12 months a year.

Kitchens, laundries, basements and patios all benefit from the addition of gas appliances that help make home modernization pleasant, economical and long-lasting.

BEER LEADERS

LONDON (AP) — It was a close guzzle, but Belgians outdrank West Germans in 1963 for the No. 1 spot among the world's beer drinkers. The British Brewers Society said Belgian consumption was 25½ gallons a person to West Germany's 25 gallons.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—The report of another incident in the Gulf of Tonkin triggered a sharp selloff Friday and the stock market took a loss.

Trading continued heavy, with volume at 6,180,000 shares compared with 6,370,000 in Thursday's rally.

Stocks were higher in the morning but turned mixed by mid-session and the trend was a little lower when the report came of the incident. The ticker tape ran late as traders dumped a wide range of key stocks at losses of around 1 to 3 points.

Partial recovery set in as trading slackened in the final hour but the list closed around its low of the day on average.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which showed a gain of 2.21 in early trading, closed with a net loss of 3.55 at 865.12.

The trend was lower among steels, motors, rails, airlines, tobaccos, electrical equipment, building materials and farm implements.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .9 to 323.1.

Ford was heavily traded and slipped ¾ to 57⅞ on 153,200 shares, making it the most active stock. It was the first time in six sessions that Chrysler was not the volume leader. Chrysler fell 1⅛ to 65 as second most active.

General Motors sold repeatedly at the level of its historic peak, 100, but failed again to break through it even by a small fraction. G Mended with a loss of ½ at 99½.

Among Canadian issues, Aluminium Ltd. rose ⅛, Granby Mining ⅝.

Canadian Pacific lost ½, Distillers Seagrams ¼, Dome Mines ¼, Hudson Bay Mining 1¾, International Nickel 1¼ and Walker Gooderham ⅛.

On the American Stock Exchange Canadian Javelin was up ¼, Scurry Rainbow Oil ½, Canadian Marconi was down ⅛ and Fargo Oil 1-16.

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market turned around at the close after a day of new highs and finished the week on the downside in only moderate trading Friday. Speculative action was light at best.

Both the industrial and TSE indexes established new highs for 1964 during the session, but declined at the close. The decline was brought about by losses — only fractional— among utilities, liquors, oils and financial issues.

Among oils, BA fell ¼ to 36⅜ while Pacific Petroleums and Shell both slipped ⅛ to 12⅜ and 18⅞ respectively.

Not all issues suffered, and some key industrials broke through to set record tops. MacMillan Bloedel gained ⅞ to 35 after touching a new high of 35⅜, while Slater Steel advanced to a new peak of 19¾ Stelco was also active — it traded 3,725 shares Friday—and gained ⅛ to 25⅝.

The speculative list was mediocre and exhibited none of the sparkle evident in recent sessions. Price changes were small and volume light.

Steep Rock sparked base metals by reaching a new high during the day of $7.40. Observers saw the move as a reaction to new financing and expansion rumors circulating about the company but a company statement said no corporate development was making the stock move. It closed at $6.75, ahead five cents and traded more than 71,000 shares.

Trading in senior western oils was extremely light with Hudson's Bay off to 15⅞ and Home B up ¼ to 18¼.

The industrial index fell .15 to 162.34 and the TSE index .17 to 151.49. Golds dropped .46 to 137.36, base metals .10 to 69.27 and western oils .42 to 94.22. Volume was a moderate 3,689,000 shares compared with 3,583,000 traded Thursday

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks closed fractionally lower Friday on the Montreal and Canadian Stocks Exchanges.

Trading was moderate in industrials with 273,000 shares changing hands and active in mines with 1,149,700 shares traded.

Composite was off 0.3 on index to 152.8 as declines edged advances 86 to 84.

Industrials were off 0.4 on index to 157.7. Imperial Tobacco lost ⅞ to 13¾.

Utilities were off 0.3 at 144.8. Trans-Canada Pipe Line dropped ¾ to 41¾ and CPR ½ to 52½. Quebec Telephone gained ½.

Papers rose 1.5 to 145.7. Consolidated added ¼ to 42¼. Abitibi dipped ¼ to 15.

Banks were up 0.3 at 132.0. Commerce added ¾ to 67¾ and Nova Scotia ⅜ to 77⅜.

Senior base metals were lower. Hudson Bay Mining lost 1¼ to 69¼ and International Nickel ¾ to 86½. Consolidated Mining and Smelting Advanced ⅜ to 39½.

Senior oils were also lower. B-A lost ⅜ to 36⅜ and Shell ⅛ to 18⅞.

Primary metals were off. Dominion Steel dropped ¾ to 18 and Algoma ½ to 73½.

In speculative mines Mount Pleasant lost 13 cents to $1.15 and Bruce-Preston 12 cents to 27 cents.

Chemcalloy gained seven cents to 95 cents.

DIES AGED 111

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Charlie Graham, who recalled carrying water at the age of seven to slaves in Mississippi cotton fields, died Wednesday night at 111. He is survived by four sons, two daughters, 29 grandchildren and 56 great-grandchildren.

RECLUSE BEATEN TO DEATH

TORONTO (CP) — Edward Charles Tombs, 86, of Toronto, was found beaten and strangled to death in his house here Thursday.

Mr. Tombs, who lived alone since his wife died 12 years ago, sometimes carried as much as $1,000 in cash, detectives said. There were uncashed old-age pension cheques and $1,000 bonds lying where anyone could have found them, they said.

Leonard Tombs said his father left a bakery business in 1919 and turned his attention to real estate. He said his father carried large sums of cash.

Detectives said they did not know whether robbery was the motive for the killing.

Hearst Newspapers Endorse Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hearst newspapers Friday endorsed President Johnson for election, throwing their support to a Democratic presidential candidate for the first time since 1932.

The endorsement came in a signed editorial by President William Randolph Hearst Jr., which said in part:

"It is our belief that Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey have not only earned the confidence of the American people but in addition are an able, stable, reliable and experienced combination to guide our country on a course of strength and honor and freedom."

Editor and Publisher, the newspaper trade magazine, reported Thursday that Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, leads Johnson 241 to 222 in a poll of daily newspapers that have announced endorsements.

But the magazine said the margin for Goldwater was the smallest for a Republican candidate since it began such surveys in 1932.

World Records Threatened as Greatest American Tracksters Invade Vancouver

Hundred Metre Dash Highlight of Meet

By STEPHEN SCOTT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Another dream track event will be held here today, a decade after the famous miracle mile.

This one will pit some of America's finest in what for most will be the final warm-up before the Olympic games in Tokyo next month.

While the dream race will be the 100 metres, world records could fall in other events in what is billed as an Olympic preview.

The event has attracted the entire Canadian Olympic team of 14, the five-and 15-member Trinidad and Jamaica teams and 26 stars from the United States including nine Olympic team members.

West Germany had planned to send her Olympic squad but bowed out because her athletes were burned out after trials with East Germany.

There are two world record holders. One is Harry Jerome of Vancouver, co-holder with Germany's now-retired Arman Hary of the 100-metre mark in 10 seconds. Jerome has recovered from an injury suffered in the last British Empire Games which kept him out of competition for a year.

The other record holder is Harold Connolly of the U.S., who has thrown the hammer 231 feet, 10 inches.

MAIN ATTRACTION

As the miracle mile between John Landy and Roger Bannister was the star attraction at the British Empire Games here in 1954, so the 100 metres will be the attraction for what promoters hope will be about 10,000 fans at Empire Stadium.

Jerome will meet a field in which every runner has done 10.3 or better.

Edwin Roberts of Trinidad will be against Jerome in the 100 and 200 metres, having been beaten in the former twice this year by the Vancouver runner and having beaten him twice in the latter.

Roberts and Jerome both have done the 100 in 101. this year. Also in the 100 are Dennis Johnson of Jamaica and Daryl Newman of the U.S., both with 10.2 times, and Lynn Headley and Pablo McNeil of Jamaica with 10.3.

Roberts and Jerome could threaten the world 200-metre mark. Roberts had done it in 20.4, only one-tenth of a second off the world mark. Jerome's best time is 20.8.

The organizers, Achilles International Athletics Limited and the Vancouver Province newspaper said the teams are expected to go all out in the event which starts at 1:30 p.m. PDT.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS—It's rhubarb time in Philly as a dispute develops at home plate and all four umpires get into the act. These are Chicago Cubs kicking up a fuss.

SMASH HIT—A 15-year-old schoolgirl from Glendora, Calif., Sharon Stouder became first double winner in the Olympic swim trials in New York when she cracked the listed world mark for the 100-meter butterfly after winning the 100-meter freestyle. Sharon's time in the butterfly was 1:05.7, which shatters the accepted mark of 1:06.1.

Alouettes, Argonauts Look for Grid Upsets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonauts are underdogs for their weekend clashes in the Eastern Football Conference against Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats. But don't rule out the possibility of upsets.

Alouettes, the early leaders now with a tarnished reputation because of crushing defeats in their last three games, will sport new faces and new alignments when they host the first-place Rough Riders today in an afternoon game at Montreal.

The word is that the Alouettes have acquired, along with new players, a fresh dose of confidence and spirit, the kind that propelled them to victories in their first three games of the season.

Argonauts, at home to the Tiger-Cats Sunday, indicated in their 35-22 win over Edmonton last weekend that the team is beginning to knit into a solid, tough unit.

Going into the weekend, Ottawa holds a three-point edge over Montreal and Hamilton, tied for second place with six points. Toronto holds up the rear with four points.

Both games will be telecast in the East only.

Banner Year Indicated for U.S. Football

NEW YORK (AP)—Pro football, which in one week has shown evidence of being headed for a banner attendance year, goes into its second weekend tonight with two unbeaten teams clashing in the National League and two defeated in their openers seeking to get on the winning side in the American League.

Los Angeles Rams, 26-14 winner over Pittsburgh last Sunday, and Detroit Lions, 26-17 winner at San Francisco, furnish the action tonight in the NFL at Los Angeles.

Oakland, which bowed to Boston in its opener, 17-14, and Houston, rated a title contender even though whipped by San Diego 27-21, play at Houston in the lone AFL game.

All of the other NFL teams will be in action Sunday afternoon with St. Louis at Cleveland, Baltimore at Green Bay, Chicago at Minnesota, New York at Pittsburgh, Washington at Dallas and San Francisco at Philadelphia.

Two games are scheduled Sunday in the American League. Denver will be at Buffalo and Boston at San Diego. The New York Jets and Kansas City Chiefs are idle.

Bobby Bauer Laid to Rest

KITCHENER (CP)—The Boston Bruins hockey team saw the club's famed Kraut line together for the last time Friday as players and executives joined in a final tribute to Robert R. (Bobby) Bauer, 49, who died Wednesday after a heart attack.

The 16 Bruins players, headed by Weston Adams, club president, and general manager Lynn Patrick, were among the hundreds attending the funeral service.

Other hockey notables included Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, and Kitchener-born Frank Selke, retired general manager of the Montreal Canadiens.

Milt Schmidt and Woodrow (Porky) Dumart, Bobby's linemates on the Kraut line were pallbearers.

The trio grew up in the twin cities and skated to stardom together with a friendship that endured when their playing days were finished.

Milt now is coach of the Boston Bruins and Porky is a Needham, Mass., sporting goods retailer.

Scriptograph Aids Tiger Cats Spotters

HAMILTON (CP) — Coach Ralph Sazio of the Hamilton Tiger Cats said Friday the use of a scriptograph replacing the usual telephone hook-up between the press box spotters and the coach is more efficient and effective.

Sazio said his line coach Joe Restick watches play from the press box and draws diagrams of various opposition formations on the scriptograph. This diagram comes out on a second scriptograph beside line coach Kelly Mote at the bench and a copy is given immediately to Sazio.

The Eastern Football Conference coach said in an interview this new system of communication is more efficient "and less confusing" than the old telephone method. He said that when the telephone hook-up was used sweater numbers were often misinterpreted in the rush to get information across speedily.

Sazio said he first tried the scriptograph, operated by the Bell Telephone Company, on an experimental basis during preseason games.

It has proved to be so efficient that Ticats intend to continue the method, he said.

Betker, Beattie Call It Quits

KIMBERLEY (CP) — Earl Betker, a member of the Kimberley Dynamiters of the Western International Hockey League since 1954, has hung up his skates.

Betker, goaltender of last season's Dynamiters, has played for them for the four years since 1954 they have been in the WIHL. He played for the Intermediate Dynamiters in the interim.

Another Dynamiter veteran, Tic Beattie, also announced his retirement.

Yankees Maintain Slim Edge; White Sox Lose to Senators

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Yankees maintained their slim lead in the American League Friday night whipping Kansas City Athletics 6-0 on Tony Kubek's three-run triple and Whitey Ford's seven hitter.

Ford, recording his eighth shutout, won his 15th game against six defeats, striking out three and walking two. It was his first complete game since July 15.

Kubek's triple came in a four-run second inning that put the game away for the Yankees.

Meanwhile, Baltimore Orioles won a crucial 10-8 victory over Los Angeles Angels after Jerry Adair capped a four-homer barrage with a two-run shot in the seventh inning that snapped an 8-8 tie.

The victory, Baltimore's 12th in the last 26 games, left the Orioles three percentage points behind the Yankees.

Adair's homer was the fourth in consecutive innings for the Orioles, following homers by Luis Aparicio, John Orsino and Boog Powell as Baltimore overcame a shaky fifth inning in which the Angels scored six runs—five unearned.

Chicago White Sox, the other contender for the AL pennant, dropped into third place, one game behind New York, following their 5-4 loss to Washington Senators.

Dick Phillips' sacrifice fly drove in an unearned run for the Senators in the ninth inning.

In other AL games, Boston reliever Dick Radatz tied the major league record when he made his 74th appearance of the season, putting down a ninth-inning threat and preserving the Red Sox' 7-6 victory over Minnesota Twins.

A two-run homer by Max Alvis in the fifth inning led Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 victory over Detroit Tigers.

Two games were postponed by rain in the National League—Chicago at Milwaukee and St. Louis at Cincinnati.

At Houston, the Colts made the most of only three hits off Al Jackson to edge New York Mets 3-2.

PRODUCED THE WINNER

The Mets had a 2-1 lead and Jackson a one-hitter when the Colts got two more—all they needed — in the sixth. Rusty Staub was hit by a pitched ball, Carroll Hardy walked and both moved up on a sacrifice. A single by Bob Aspromonte drove in one run and Jim Wynn's sacrifice fly produced the winner.

British Yacht Captain Gets Vote of Confidence

From AP-Reuters

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP)—Sovereign's crew and the Royal Thames Yacht Club affirmed their complete confidence in British skipper Peter Scott Friday and said there is no question of replacing him for the remaining America's Cup races.

After Thursday's disastrous defeat of the challenger, the worst since 1886, rumors swept this New England seaport that Scott might be replaced by Eric Maxwell, a member of his crew.

The defending U.S. yacht Constellation has a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. Her winning margin in the second race was 20 minutes 24 seconds.

The U.S. won the cup when it was put up in 1851 and has never lost it.

David Marques, spokesman for Sovereign's crew, told reporters rumors about Scott being replaced are "malicious."

"It's like kicking a man when he's down. The crew has complete confidence in Peter. No serious consideration has been given to replacing Peter."

Marques, a six - foot - seven rugby player of international calibre, said Sovereign, due to sail her third race against Constellation today, "is certainly going back to try to win."

Kenneth Poland, vice-commodore of the Royal Thames Yacht Club, issued a formal statement expressing "complete confidence in Peter Scott as Sovereign's helmsman."

Sovereign was out Friday testing sails recut Thursday night in preparation for the third race. Light wind is forecast but there is a possibility of fog ,which may prevent a race.

Constellation also made minor repairs Friday on gear strained in Thursday's heavy weather.

WARRIORS SIGN ALEX REID

ROSSLAND (CP) — Rossland Warriors of the Western International Hockey League Friday signed veteran Alex Reid for the coming season. Reid has played for Warriors for a number of years. He is the ninth returnee to be signed by Warriors.

SPEAKING PIPE

Carlings Close Gap In Lacrosse Series

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) Vancouver Carlings found the larger Peterborough rink to their liking here Friday night when they bombed Brooklin Merchants 9-5 in the third game of the Mann Cup finals, emblematic of the Canadian senior lacrosse championships. Brooklin leads the best-of-seven series two games to one.

The fourth game will be played in Whitby tonight.

The Vancouverites, paced by the two-goal efforts of Bill Barbour and Peter Black, plus the sensational netminding of rookie goalie Norman Nestman, broke a 1-1 first period tie to move ahead 4-2 in the second period and 8-3 in the third.

Other Vancouver goals were scored by Bill Chisholm, Gord Liebscher, Gordie Gimple, Sid Warick and Fred Usselman.

Ron Roy and Jack Madgett, both picked up from St. Catharines for the finals, sparked the Brooklin assault with two and one goals respectively. Others went to Elmer Tran and Larry Ferguson, who was picked up from Peterborough.

STOLE LIMELIGHT

Nestman, who played in the Minto Cup last year, took much of the limelight away from Brooklin's Pat Baker whose goaltending often upset the Vancouver snipers in the first two games of the series on the smaller floor at Whitby arena.

Alex McKay, coach of the Vancouver club who had refused to have his club counted out after the two earlier losses, commented following Friday's game that they (Vancouver) should win the series.

"They knew they had to win this game," said McKay. "They played it right from the start this way. It was a must game. There was a different feeling in the dressing room before this one . . . the desire and the hustle.

Across the hall, Brooklin coach Ken Crawford expressed disappointment with the production of some of his players.

"Half of them were on a busman's holiday," he said. "Maybe we looked tired, but it was our minds that were tired and not physically. It was a bad game.

Steen to Compete In Pre-Olympics

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dave Steen, struck out of Canada's Olympic plans by a blood disease, has entered today's Olympic preview track meet here.

"I'm competing merely to see where I am," the 22-year-old shotputter said in an interview. "I'm sure I've lost ground. I want to see how much."

Steen said he "feels better" but has not completely shaken the blood disease, mononuclosis, that was diagnosd in April when he experienced the usual fatigue, anemia, and liver and glandular disorders.

He has held at one time every Canadian shot put record and was considered a bright hope for Canada's Olympic team but decided not to train for Tokyo this fall because of his ailment.

Resurgent Eskimos Seek Third Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A pair of Western Football Conference streaks will be on the line tonight when B.C. Lions open a two-game swing through Alberta at Edmonton against the Eskimos.

The second-place Lions are undefeated in league competition this season. They boast four victories and two ties.

The fourth - place Eskimos, two victories in seven starts, will be trying to gain their first victory against a WFC club in two seasons.

At Regina Saskatchewan Roughriders clash with Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Riders moved into a second-place tie with Lions on the strength of three consecutive victories while Bombers dropped into fifth place, losing their last six.

Tuesday, B.C. will travel to Calgary to met the league-leading Stampeders in a game that will be shown on the Western CTV television network. CBC western viewers will see the Saskatchewan - Winnipeg game today, starting at 8 p.m. CST.

The Lions-Eskimos battle will have an interesting sidelight. Willie Fleming and Larry Ferguson, a one-time outstanding American college running duo at Iowa, will face each other as opponents.

Fleming, despite a sub - par start this season as a scorer, has burned up the WFC since joining Lions in 1959. Ferguson, unable to stick in the National League, joined Edmonton last weekend and scored four of five touchdowns picked up by Eskimos in two games against eastern opponents.

Coach Neill Armstrong continued to juggle his lineup after a disastrous first four games. Halfback Jim Thomas suffered a slight knee injury against Montreal Alouettes and was considered a doubtful starter against Lions. Newcomer Jim Battle, a 255-pound guard acquired from Minnesota of the NFL, was expected to move into the lineup in his place.

End Jim Carphin, attempting a comeback with B.C. after being stricken with hepatitis last year, was expected to start at end in place of Pat Claridge, who suffered a knee injury in practice.

The game, which will not be televised, gets under way at 8:30 p.m. MST.

At Regina, Canadian kicker Jack Robinson from St. James Rams of the Manitoba Senior League was expected to see his first professional action for Winnipeg.

He was picked up by coach Bud Grant after punter Jack Delveaux suffered a pulled muscle and kicker George Fleming, top WFC scorer last year, a groin injury.

Delveaux will play at corner linebacker despite his injury and Grant said guard Herb Gray would return after being out with a knee injury.

The big worry for Winnipeg was how set the offence will be with quarterback Kenny Ploen nursing a bruised rib and several newcomers still working their way into the lineup.

Offence has been the least of coach Bob Shaw's worries at Saskatchewan in the last two weeks. His Riders have bombed the opposition in three consecutive games, scoring a total of 118 points. The tough defence has given up only 10 points in the three games.

Liston Promises To "Divorce Clay"

DENVER (AP)—Former titleholder Sonny Liston said Friday he feels sure the public will accept him as world heavyweight champion if he beats champion Cassius Clay at Boston Nov. 16.

The World Boxing Association has refused to recognize the fight and suspended all connected with it.

Liston, beginning workouts at a Denver gym, said, "the WBA don't mean a thing."

Asked if he will give Clay a return match in the event the champion loses, Liston said:

"We'll get divorced right then and there. We'll have nothing to do with each other. Same thing if he beats me."

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Stock car race driver Richard Petty turned a lap at 150.359 miles an hour here Friday to become the first known driver to break the 150 m.p.h. barrier on a 1½-mile closed course.

Petty, driving a 1964 Plymouth during tire tests, bettered Charlotte Motor Speedway's one lap record of 145.474 m.p.h. set in May by Junior Johnson in qualifying for the World 600-mile race.

Petty's mark will remain unofficial, however, because recognized marks must be established during time trials for a race.
