25 Dead, 50 Wounded As Viet Cong Launch Monsoon Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — Communist troops estimated at regimental strength—perhaps 1,200 men—fought on against South Vietnamese government forces at Song Be Tuesday night in what a U.S. adviser said "may be the beginning of the Viet Cong's monsoon season offensive."

Three government battalions skirmished with the Viet Cong forces who had been driven from Song Be, a provincial centre 74 miles north of Saigon, South Viet Nam's capital, after a seven - hour occupation in which they killed 20 South Vietnamese and five U.S. soldiers and wounded 50 South Vietnamese and 13 Americans.

Another American — a U.S. marine — was killed and six were injured in a seize-and-hold operation by a marine company that took over a row of troublesome hamlets eight miles west of the Da Nang air base, which is 375 miles northeast of Saigon.

The casualties raised the total of U.S. combat dead in South Viet Nam in the last 3½ years to 372.

At the same time belated reports from a battle Sunday 25 miles west of Saigon described one of the worst government beatings in recent weeks. Spokesmen said 116 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 78 wounded in a six-hour fight. The death of two U.S. army men in that action previously had been reported.

Two hard - core Viet Cong battalions engaged about 900 government troops and forced them into retreat.

U.S. air force and navy planes maintained pressure on Communist North Viet Nam in two raids—attacks aimed at cutting the supply of men and material to the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

A military spokesman said 16 F-105 fighter-bombers, flying with a 24-plane escort, destroyed six military barracks in the area of Vinh, about 150 miles north of the border.

Two Skyhawks from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany attacked a railway bridge.

In addition U.S. jets took a hand in the fight at Song Be. They hammered river - bank positions where the Viet Cong dug in after putling out of the town.

But the Communist forces kept their footholds.

New Canadian Given Praise in Spy-Ring Smash

By WILLIAM NEVILLE

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson Tuesday praised an unnamed naturalized Canadian as a central hero in smashing a would-be Soviet espionage ring in this country.

At the same time, however, he said a second Canadian—a junior civil servant now "gravely ill"—may face criminal charges for his part in the abortive spy plot which culminated in the expulsion of two Russian diplomats.

The expelled diplomats, Commercial Attache A. E. Bytchkov and Embassy clerk V. N. Poluchkin, and the two Canadians were key figures in an apparently widespread Soviet espionage bid involving "thousands of dollars" and designed to ferret out defence and industrial secrets for Moscow.

The government says no damage was done to Canadian interests by the plot, first unveiled Saturday by the external affairs department.

While the two Russians got the same treatment—the diplomatic heave-ho—from the government, Mr. Pearson made it clear to the Commons his administration is of a sharply different mind as far as the two Canadians are concerned.

The naturalized Canadian, employed in private industry and not in the government service, was lauded as a "conscientious and patriotic Canadian" who reported the first Russian approaches to security officials and co - operated with them through an investigation which apparently stretched over several months.

PRAISE ACTION

"This action is certainly to be praised, not censured," said Mr. Pearson, "for it provided our security authorities with invaluable information about Soviet methods of intelligence operations in Canada and the targets against which they are directed."

The civil servant, employed outside Ottawa in a "non-sensitive" job and department, was another matter.

Mr. Pearson said this man did not co-operate with the RCMP until confronted by them early last week. In the meantime, he apparently had accepted money from the Russians to obtain information which, Mr. Pearson said, was not related to his work as a civil servant.

"Once the decision was made to take action against the foreign officials and to make that action public, consideration was initiated to determine whether charges should be laid in this case. Until that determination is made, it is not possible to give further information."

During the course of his made in response to opposition Pearson disclosed tDDwo oth a tempted espionage cases nev made public before.

He said that, in 1959, an attache of the Soviet Embassy was ordered out of the country after "procuring information" from a Canadian citizen. A year later, a secretary at the Czechoslovakian Embassy was declared "persona non grata" after being caught trying to obtain classified information.

KEPT SECRET

Neither case was made public at the time.

Mr. Pearson's statement generally seemed to satisfy opposition demands for information on the Bytchkov-Poluchkin affair. But it also produced demands for government action on the over-all question of Communist espionage in this country.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker called for creation of a royal commission to "look into this whole question." He said such a probe, headed possibly by Supreme Court Justice Robert Taschereau and held, if necessary, in camera, would be "of tremendous help in getting to the bottom of the activities of the U.S.S.R. in our country."

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson rejected this idea, but asked the government to produce a white paper on security to tell the country "just where espionage is leading us to in this country."

Nuclear Armed Fighters If War Seems Imminent

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP)—Group Capt. E. G. Ireland said Tuesday the supersonic fighters at RCAF Station Comox will carry nuclear weapons only "during actual hostilities or if a state of war is imminent."

Group Capt. Ireland told a group of Courtenay and Comox businessmen his purpose was "to familiarize you with nuclear warheads."

"As a by-product of this presentation we hope to clear up possible misconceptions about any danger that might be associated with the storage of these warheads."

Courtenay is three miles from the Vancouver Island air force installation which, published reports claim, houses nuclear warheads for Voodoo jet fighters.

The warheads were reported to have been moved into the base last weekend.

The air force presentation, aided by Sqdn. Ldr. Ron Darnbrough, nuclear safety officer at the installation, said if an accident ever did occur "physical damage and loss of life would most likely be far less than that of a fire at a neighborhood gas station."

"Only in the time of war or if war was imminent would aircraft be allowed to leave the ground with nuclear weapons," Group Capt. Ireland said.

"The effective maintenance of our contribution to the NATO and NORAD alliances requires constant training. However, this is never carried out with nuclear weapons."

He detailed double-kay and electronic systems in the complicated firing mechanism of nuclear armament and said:

"Before you think we have fool-proofed ourselves into having an immovable nuclear safety catch—I can say that should the need arise we can react in the shortest time to gain the maximum results."

In Ottawa Monday, Defence Minister Hellyer would say only that a "number" of RCAF Voodoo jets on Canadian soil have a nuclear capability.

He was replying to a question from Tom Bartlett (NDP—Comox - Alberni) who asked whether any planes at Comox had been equipped with such weapons.

Group Capt. Ireland said nuclear weapons are inherently safe, "but require safe and secure storage."

"For our weapons the storage facilities are reinforced concrete bunkers with locked doors . . . these are our secure containers."

Students Consider Union With States

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian unity and the possibilities of union with the United States were on the minds of many high school students gathered here to discuss Canadian affairs.

The 200 senior students are here for the 15th annual "adventure in citizenship" sponsored by the Rotary Club of Ottawa.

Lonnie Almond of Vanderhoof B.C., said her discussion group "talked a lot about the advantages of union with the United States, but I don't think anybody would really want that to happen."

Lonnie was enthusiastic about the experience of meeting other high school students from across Canada.

"I think I've gotten more out of this than I've ever gotten out of any discussion before. If this sort of student exchange were done on a wider scale it would be a tremendous thing for the country."

Jean Stevenson of Winnipeg said she was pleased her group had one French-speaking student in it.

Agreement Reached For Atomic Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — Agreement in principle has been reached between the federal government and Quebec for construction of an advanced nuclear power generating station in the province, it was announced Tuesday.

The reactor would be built by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. but operated by Hydro-Quebec as part of its electric power system, Industry Minister Drury announced.

The reactor would be an AECL prototype, under design for some time, the announcement said.

"Preliminary studies have indicated that it may be expected to achieve lower unit capital costs than those of earlier Canadian nuclear power stations, now operating or under construction."

Mr. Drury said that if satisfactory progress is made in current design studies "it is anticipated that a decision may be expected towards the end of next year to commence actual construction of this 250,000-kilowatt prototype stations."

No site has yet been arranged.

The reactor would use natural uranium for fuel and heavy water as the moderating material allowing the uranium to burn, the anouncement said. But it would use ordinary water rather than heavy water as the cooling agent in the reactor cooling system.

"Steam would be generated by boiling this light water within the reactor, thus eliminating the need for steam generators."

Pakistan and India Agree Cease Fire

KARACHI (Reuters)—Pakistan and India have agreed to a cease-fire in the desolate Rann of Kutch to be followed by negotiation, a well - informed source here said Tuesday night.

Both India and Pakistan made concessions, departing somewhat from their previous stands, the source said.

The agreement would end a month of rising tensions over the barren Kutch, which separates West Pakistan from India. Fighting broke out between Indian and Pakistani forces there April 9.

The reported agreement followed intensive diplomatic efforts by Britain.

Soviets Expel U.S. Diplomats

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government expelled an American diplomat Tuesday on charges of whipping up racial discontent among African students with gifts of food, liquor and anti-Soviet propaganda.

"I deny the charges," said Norris D. Garnett. The U.S. Embassy backed him up.

Garnett, 33, a Negro cultural attache, was expected to leave within a week .

The expulsion followed public complaints of African students that they had suffered racial discrimination in the Soviet Union.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, accused Garnett of bribing African students "to make slanderous statements" against the Soviet Union.

Twenty-nine students returned home to Kenya from Russia last month complaining bitterly of racial discrimination and beatings.

AND AWAY WE GO!

THREE-YEAR-OLD Sandra Perdue was flying high at Lakeside Park yesterday as she had her first trip on one of the park swings. The beautiful spring weather brought large numbers of residents to the lakeshore to bask in the balmy summer-like sunshine. Youngsters made good use of the recreational facilities provided, and Sandra decided she might "give it another go sometime."

Inter-Racial Harmony Pictured in Trail Brief

VANCOUVER (CP)—A happy picture of inter-racial harmony at Trail is painted in a brief to the royal commission of biculturalism and bilingualism now meeting here.

The picture is replete with English Canadians happily eating spaghetti and making Italian wine.

The Trail Chamber of Commerce tells the story as part of a submission tabled Tuesday asking that English be made the one official language of Canada.

It says there are two main cultures in Trail, English and Italian.

"The Italian has been preserved and even strengthened through recognition by others. Our citizens of British extraction have unconsciously paid our Italians a great compliment by copying some of their customs.

"For example many homes in Trail, both Italian and others, have spaghetti at least one night a week.

"Every fall, carloads of Italian grapes are imported into Trail for the annual wine making campaign. It is said there is more Italian wine made in Sunningdale, a predominately English area, than in West Trail, a predominantly Italian area."

The brief said that Italians have voluntarily learned English as their second language, yet have preserved their culture.

"By doing so they have made Trail a better place to live."

ENGLISH ESSENTIAL

The brief, not followed by an oral submission as are many presented to the commission, said the establishment of English as the principal language in Canada is essential if Canada is to survive as a nation.

It said English is the dominant language in Canada and North America and in the international business world.

"The existence of two official languages in Canada hampers communications and tends to separate Quebec from the rest of Canada. We consider the existence of two official languages to be the main point of contention between our principal ethnic groups."

It protested a trend toward making bilingualism a prerequisite for employment and advancement in the civil service.

To promote better understanding French should be compulsory in English primary schools and English compulsory in French primary schools.

"We submit that Trail is a useful example for all Canada and that the best for Canada is a mosaic of cultures as exemplified by this community."

Wessin Reneges On Resignation, Peace Hopes Die

Chances of Settlement Slim In Dominican Power Struggle

From Reuters-AP

SANTO DOMINGO (CP — Brig.-Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin has withdrawn his resignation from a high military post under the anti-rebel Dominican junta, informed sources said Tuesday.

If he refuses to quit, the chances are slimmer of a settlement between the two factions striving for Dominican dominance.

U.S. officials had announced Monday afternoon that the general had resigned. The sources said the general changed his mind Monday night and that his decision was communicated to U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett.

Brig. - Gen. Antonio Imbert Barreras, head of the civilian-military junta, left it up to Wessin whether to resign to placate the rebels.

Imbert said Tuesday he knew nothing of the report from the U.S. Embassy that Wessin had resigned as commander of the training base at San Isidro, 20 miles east of Santo Domingo. He said no resignation had reached him.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, provisional president of the rebels, has been demanding Wessin resign and leave the country, holding him mainly responsible for air attacks that took more than 1,000 lives early in the revolt that began April 24.

Wessin could not be reached for comment.

ENVOY OPTIMISTIC

Meanwhile, the Vatican's special peacemaker in Santo Domingo described himself as "highly optimistic" of a settlement of the civil war.

Msgr. Emanuele Clarizio, papal nuncio to the Dominican Republic, spoke to reporters after he and former U.S. ambassador John Bartlow Martin, President Johnson's personal envoy, emerged from talks with Caamano.

Despite peacemaking efforts, sniping continued in the palm-lined streets of this old city.

A U.S. lieutenant was killed and seven other paratroopers were wounded Monday night when they were caught in a sniper crossfire.

The death raised the unofficial number of U.S. soldiers killed in the Dominican Republic to 14. Nearly 100 have been wounded.

American officials sought to discount any idea that they have exerted pressure on Wessin to quit in order to placate the rebels.

Moderate-Strong Quake Hits Alaskan Cities

ANCHORAGE (AP) — A moderately strong earthquake shook the Alaskan cities of Anchorage, Seward and Kenai at 7:19 a.m. Tuesday but caused little damage.

The quake was felt for about 20 seconds.

The University of Alaska seismograph at Fairbanks recorded the tremor at an intensity of 6 on the Richter scale, enough to jar buildings, but not do major damage.

The two seismograph stations placed the epicentre of the quake at about 150 miles southeast of here in the Gulf of Alaska off Seward. No seismic wave action from it was expected.

Russian Rocket Is On Course

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's Luna V will reach the moon tonight and it carries equipment for a soft landing, the official Tass agency reported Tuesday night.

Tass said the arrival will be at about 10:10 p.m.

It added:

"The automatic station Luna V carries for the first time equipment for a soft landing."

A soft landing would enable Luna to transmit information back to earth after it has reached the moon.

Tass added:

"According to telemetric measurements the station's systems are working normally. Radio communication with the station is being maintained."

This was the first direct statement that Luna carries soft landing equipment.

The instrument package weighs 3,254 pounds.

IN BLUNT TERMS

De Gaulle Warned Disagreement With U.S. Endangers NATO

LONDON (CP) — Ministers of the Atlantic Alliance began a blunt-spoken meeting here Tuesday with warnings to French President de Gaulle that his public disagreements with the United States could endanger NATO.

At the same time it was learned that France, the U.S. and Britain had at last agreed on a joint declaration on the problems of German reunification.

The draft declaration on the problem was put forward for NATO ministerial council's approval and was expected to be published today.

At the heart of the problem over agreement on a declaration on Germany was France's desire to stress the European nature of the German problem and thus in effect exclude prominent mention of the U.S.

Officials of the three Western occupying powers and West Germany had failed to come up with an agreed draft after weeks of trying, authoritative sources said.

DELICATE COMPROMISE

But over a late dinner Monday night, the ministers of the four countries were reported to have agreed on a delicate compromise. This, sources said, would say the solution of the German problem was not only in the interest of the German people but of all other European peoples and "of all peoples concerned whom the problem affects."

The development brought relief to the whole conference. U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk arranged an overnight flight to London to seek support for U.S. policies in two other vital areas —Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

France's Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said the situation in Viet Nam is so dangerous it could lead to conflict with either China or the Soviet Union.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder said the situation in Viet Nam is linked to the problems of Central Europe.

Supporting U.S. policies in Southeast Asia, Schroder said a retreat in Viet Nam could encourage the Communists to try to force the Western Allies out of West Berlin.

But Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange said his country feared escalation of the struggle in Viet Nam "might get out of control."

Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani said he hoped the crisis in the Dominican Republic could be turned over quickly to the Organization of American States.

MORE WARNING

Several of the day's speakers hinted that they would have liked earlier consultation by the Americans before the U.S. marines moved into Santo Domingo.

Speaking for Britain, which backs American policy in Viet Nam, both Prime minister Wilson and Foreign Secretary Steward made it plain they would like Johnson to take his allies more into his confidence in handling distant crises.

"No nation, however great, can think in terms of going it alone, without allies and without regard to world opinion," Wilson told the assembled diplomats. He seemed to be thinking of Paris as well as Washington.

Other conference high points Tuesday:

—Wilson, in an evident swipe at French policies, asserted "there is no greater delusion than the feeling we can solve our common problem on the basis of adventures in military nationalism." He also warned West Germany that Britain might have to reduce her 51,000-strong Rhine army unless Bonn pitches in with more help to cover the foreign exchange burden of this force.

—Stewart, reporting on his talks with Soviet, Czechoslovak and Yugoslav leaders recently, summed up Moscow's attitude to the West as being one of "no concussions and no concessions."

—Schroeder complained that West German representation on NATO's military organs did not reflect the size of her contribution to the alliance in military and fiscal terms. Bonn wants bigger posts for its generals and admirals and and a share in NATO nuclear weapons management. He also rapped the French with a remark that the Germans consider independent national defence systems to be no longer valid for European countries.

Liberals Win Confidence Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—The minority Liberal government defeated a New Democratic non-confidence motion by 110 to 95 in the Commons Tuesday night.

The motion criticized the government for failing to safeguard the interests of Canadian consumers, automobile workers and small parts manufacturers in the new auto trade agreement with the United States.

It was supported by 69 Conservatives, 15 New Democrats and 11 Creditistes.

The 105 Liberals voting against were joined by Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson and four of his followers.

Only One Civilian Volunteer Arbor Day

One civilian answered the call for volunteers as civic employees tackled the annual city-wide Arbor Day Clean-up Monday.

Approximately 50 civic employees manned civic vehicles in collecting trash accumulated by residents over the winter. In an eight-hour blitz, the crews carted 140 truck loads of rubbish to the city refuse grounds. Their efforts covered about 70 per cent of the city.

Special clean-up patrols will be made by civic employees this week to complete the task.

The city will also complete the hosing down of the streets, which the fire department began last week.

Only five members of the force could be considered volunteers, as the other civic employees were paid for their day's labor. Four other civic employees volunteered their time while one member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was the sole civilian volunteer.

Name Summer Camp Heads

Scoutmaster Bert Learmonth will be the man in charge of the First Willow Point summer camp, details of which have not been completed, while scoutmaster Paul Deakin and assistant scoutmaster Larry Samuelson will lead the First North Shore on several weekend camps.

Leaders training courses will begin May 11 with a course of camp fires to be held at Willow Point. Cub, scout, Brownie and Guide leaders will attend.

A basic B outdoor scout leader training course will be held on June 11-12-13 near Hall Creek. The long weekend camp will be the responsibility of Second Nelson assistant scoutmaster and assistant regional commissioner for training for the Kootenay-Boundary region, Nelson Hindle.

City Seeks Cottonwood Park Retention in Highway Change

City council formed a solid ring to preserve Cottonwood Park from highway earthmoving machines Monday, but only after learning of Mayor E. T. Bodard's written defence of city park and recreation land policy.

The mayor was replying to charges of H. A. Turik, superintendent of recreation, that the park land is inadequate. Stimulus for Mr. Turik's communication was a desire to save Cottonwood Park.

Council sympathized with Mr. Turik's cause and moved to retain the park and that its development be co-ordinated with the highway approach program. Copies of the motions were forwarded to Hon. W. D. Black, MLA, Creston-Nelson; Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, minister of highways, and D. F. Martin, regional highways engineer.

A lack of definite information of exactly where the new highway bisects the park, and consequent damage to the natural contours hindered council's discussion of the issue.

NO INTENT

'Mayor Bodard assured council that his discussions with highway officials to date have indicated "that there is no intent on the part of the provincial government to alienate Cottonwood Park and its future benefit to this city."

He said that he and Mr. Martin are preparing a joint portrayal which will make best use of the park as well as provide for better accesses to the city. When completed, the portrayal will be presented for council's perusal.

The mayor's evaluation of parkland in ratio to total municipal land area, places Nelson in the forefront for the West Kootenay.

In his evaluation, the Mayor included as recreation area school playgrounds and potential lakefront area, currently under water, as well as various forms of activity on the lake. This tabulation gives the city approximately 200 acres of play area, the mayor asserts.

The mayor also said that out of the city's 1892 acres, net land inside the city is 1090 acres, in which is included approximately 300 acres of government land. Of the other 800 acres, the city has 80 acres, 456 acres is utilized for streets, roads, alleys and about 345 acres is under water.

Officially the city has 41 acres in actual park land.

Quoting the American institute of park executives recommendation, Mr. Turik contended that the city should set aside one-tenth of the total land area, in Nelson's case 189 acres.

Hotel Loses Appeal Against Conviction

Judge Michelangelo Provenzano of Cranbrook dismissed the appeal of Queen's Hotel of Nelson against a Magistrate's conviction during the second day of the current County Court sitting in Nelson Tuesday.

Senior Magistrate Parker Williams of Trail fined the hotel $1000 on Feb. 3 on a conviction of permitting persons other than employees to remain on the licensed premises after a Saturday midnight closing contrary to the B.C. Liquor Act.

In announcing his decision, the judge for County of East Kootenay said there were extenuating circumstances which the B.C. Liquor Control Board should consider in reviewing the case.

He was referring primarily to the burst water pipe in the bar area just prior to closing Saturday, Dec. 19, which detained the staff and several non-employees in the room until constable F. J. Maximick discovered them there at 1:15 a.m. Dec. 20.

Tuesday morning defense counsel M. E. Moran of Castlegar put hotel manager John Brkich and Miss Rose Smith on the stand. Miss Smith testified that she had entered the premises only to give car keys to her brother, an employee of the hotel.

Crestbrook Would Put Pulp Mill Harvest Areas on Joint Auction

CRESTON — A. O. Farstad, vice-president of Crestbrook Timber and Canal Development Ltd. announced Tuesday that application has been made to the minister of lands and forests to have the two pulp mill harvesting areas — 8 and 9 — put up for public auction as one unit as soon as possible.

Canal Development is taking all possible steps to avoid new construction beyond the 1965 unsuccessful in the public auc- season. Should the company be tion, it will proceed to build a smaller mill at Canal Flats central to the area which is up for bid.

This mill would produce bleached kraft and would operate on wood waste from the Crestbrook mills together with such chips as are available on the open market plus small wood from Crestbrook's own timber lands.

Mr. Farstad stated these plans would be carried out should Crestbrook fail to receive the grant of a pulp harvest area licence from the minister. He said the company already has a market for the product of such a mill. It was emphasized that Crestbrook would proceed with the smaller mill only if they were unsuccessful at the public auction.

In matters of provincial benefit, Mr. Farstad also announced a $5000 donation, on behalf of Creston Sawmills Ltd., to the Tri-Universites Fund, one of the larger donations to come from the Kootenays.

Libraries To Take Up School Overflow

Increased elementary school enrolment in September, augmented by a reduction in teacher-pupil ratio, will require the added facilities of libraries in both South Nelson and Central Schools, the use of portables in Trafalgar Junior Secondary for grade seven, one classroom for grade sevens in both Blewett Rosemont areas, and one classroom for grade seven from Hume School.

Permission to utilize the facilities was granted at the regular meeting of school board Monday night.

In addition, the education committee asked the use of Procter and perhaps Harrop schools to accommodate overflow at A. I. Collinson School. The report, read by school board trustee Mrs. C. E. Bradshaw, added that this would require the transfer of some pupils and the tranportation facilities.

Charles Cuthbert, district superintendent, told the meeting that discussion among elementary school principals on the matter had resulted in the recommendations to the education committee, and it was deemed the "only way" to use the additional school facilities.

Chairman R. A. Phillips wondered whether use of library facilities as classrooms would preclude their intended designation and Mr. Cuthbert reminded that the libraries would be used in both capacities, and that it would entail the "most economical use" of rooms from that standpoint. His office hoped to bring the education committee a report by the end of June on what was needed for referendum purposes, since "you can't add to South Nelson or Central elementary school facilities."

"If the department had let us build schools the way we wanted to, we would be in good shape," interjected chairman Phillips.

Mr. Cuthbert said present elementary teacher - pupil ratio in Nelson is less than 37 to one.

Fired Over Feud

CHICAGO (AP)—Eric Jonas, Swiss secretary general of the International Olympic Committee, has been fired, apparently as a result of a personality clash with IOC President Avery Brundage.

Brundage, 77 - year - old Chicago hotel magnate, confirmed Tuesday that Jonas had been dropped May 1. But he refused to comment on reports in Swiss newspapers that a feud between the two men had been raging for several months.

"By order of the executive board of the IOC in Lausanne last month Mr. Jonas' connection with the Olympic committee was severed," Brundage said.

Better Relations Between Planners, Council Sought

The Nelson Advisory Planning Commission called Monday night for improved relations between itself and Nelson City Council.

Planner A. R. Ramsden noted that there had been a decided lack of alliance between the planning commission and city council.

"We come up with recommendations," he said, "and council for political expediency, makes changes that hurt the planning."

He added, "We feel there is a great need for specific guidance from the council."

Commission chairman Terry Wayling agreed, and said that as things stood, the commission was working under difficulties, and a great deal of its efforts were wasted.

Ald. Hans Farenholtz suggested that commission members should become familiar with the methods of financing various projects. "This would govern your thinking to a great extent," he said.

Ald. M. B. Ryalls asked if it would help the situation any if the commission had representatives attending each council meeting.

Both groups, in future, will work more closely together in an effort to end any problems that may exist.

Odds... and Ends

by M. D. B.

My dissertation on biking the other day got me all pepped up enough to sally fourth on a run up the lake. The day was elixir and with my camera slung around my neck, batting my posterior as I negotiated the rough edges of the road (a cyclist is doomed to the rough edges of the road, there being so many cars) I sailed along happily enough. On a bike you are near enough to nature and travelling slowly enough to see the myriad small things that spring brings forth. Little streams leap gaily through sunlit meadows and through dappled copse. Mosses are luscious shades of green, skunk cabbages glisten like polished silk, and there is beauty to be admired at every turn of the road.

* * *

I did not make especially good time, being on the lookout for scenic shots as well as being out of condition and then I was in no hurry. I stopped at a copper sandy beach to scuff along the water's edge in the general flotsam and jetsam, and not in vain, for I found a beautiful piece of driftwood to polish up. I also stopped to admire Mr. Carne's garden and the lovely view of the lake from his 'bit of heaven' and to make friends with his black cat "Spike." I also paused to admire the Roberts' garden and as usual felt green with envy looking at the lovely little stream that gurgles through in enchanting twists and turns. What an asset to a garden!

* * *

By the time I reached Willowhaven I knew I had come a few miles and the trip back looked less enticing, for sitting was uncomfortable and my legs revolted at standing and pedalling, however, I had to get back to work and there were only the two wheels to get me there.

* * *

As I approached a hill three fellows on motor bikes loomed into sight. The leader's remark, with a huge grin, "It sure beats pedalling," did little for my frame of mind at that moment, though I had to admit he might have a point. I did stop to chat with children wending their way home from school. One little chap had a paper pie plate decorated with various kinds of macaroni and gilded to make a wall plaque. He was so proud of it — it was for his mother for mother's day and he was pleased I had taken the time to admire it. I called "hello" to some other little boys, but I think they were too astonished to speak, still there were others who offered their greeting first.

* * *

The trip was well worth the effort and the stiff shoulders, etc., the next day, but I don't think I shall be doing it many more times, I have been wooed by the four-wheel vehicle that runs on gasoline and I know how human nature is — especially mine — when an easier mode of locomotion presents itself.

Pulp Mill Shutdown Extended

CASTLEGAR — Celgar Ltd. pulp mill, expected to reopen Tuesday after a shutdown, will remain shut down until May 22, a company spokesman said Tuesday.

Repairs to the mill, closed a week ago after a recovery boiler breakdown, were not complete, he said.

The Pulp and Paper Workers Union local called a meeting of members to discuss the extended shutdown. The local said that up to 170 men had been laid off, but that Tuesday 40 were rehired for cleanup work. The layoff total varies from day to day as men are rehired for temporary maintenance work.

A record 2,265 wolves were killed in Ontario in 1964, up from 1960's 1,509, for bounties totalling $44,999.

DUANE HENDRY

Earl Duane Hendry, 74, of 75 High Street, war veteran and retired railroader, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Tuesday.

Born in Eau-Claire, Wisconsin, in 1890, Mr. Hendry worked in logging camps as a teamster while a young man, coming to the Milk River, Alberta district in 1914, where he and his brother farmed until being called up for World War 1 service in the U.S. forces. He was stationed at Camp Dodge, Iowa, with the 158th Battalion, U.S. Engineers, from 1916 until the end of the war.

In 1919 he returned to Canada and joined the CPR at Lethbridge, working out of that city from 1919 to 1922, when he transferred to Kimberley. He worked out of Kimberley until 1930 when he was transferred to the Lethbridge division.

He also worked in the Weyburn, Sask., division for a time until coming to Nelson in 1948. He also served as conductor. In 1955, he came to Nelson after 36 years of railroad service. He was a member of Lodge 585 of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Cranbrook.

Besides his wife, the former Irene Simpson, whom he married in Lethbridge in 1941, he is survived by a stepson, George Jackson of Calgary; one daughter, Mrs. Jerry (Edna) Wiggill of Fort Macleod, Alberta; one sister, Mrs. Bernice Rablin of Eau-Claire, Wisconsin, and five grandchildren.

Planners Say No to New '67 Project

An attempt by Ald. Edith Van Maarion to have reconsideration given to a proposed Cottonwood Falls development as a Centennial '67 project received a flat rejection from the Nelson Advisory Planning Commission at City Council meeting Monday night.

"We are not getting involved in politics," declared planning chairman Terry Wayling.

His remark came after Ald Van Maarion had proposed that the planning commission again take a look at the Cottonwood Falls project with the idea of making it the town's Centennial Project rather than the waterfront development.

"I realize there was a vote," Ald. Van Maarion said, "but we could hold another one this fall." She asked if council could expect a recommendation to this effect from the planning commission.

"The planning commission is not interested in getting into a political situation," said Mr. Wayling. He said that as far as the commission was concerned the Centennial '67 project was a closed matter.

HURRICANE

When the deep-sea salvage tug Sudbury II realized herself directly in the path of rapidly approaching Hurricane Hattie, her captain ordered the oil-drilling rig she was towing cut loose and the four men on it brought aboard. The story of the exciting rescue operations in huge seas is told in Weekend Magazine by the tug's radio operator, Fred Hanson.

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (AP) The ostrich-like moa may be dead as the dodo, but New Zealanders are keeping their eyes peeled just in case. The giant wingless bird is thought to have become extinct centuries ago, but doubtful sightings are reported from time to time. Scientists recently failed to find any on a remote island, but surviving moas might still be living in unexplored forests.

A NEW ANGLE for the photographer is offered by this aspect of the Columbia River bridge at Kinnaird, presently under construction at a cost of $2 million by Northern Construction and J. W. Stewart of Vancouver. The concrete piers shown so clearly in the picture above, taken by A. E. Staite, district highways superintendent, of Trail, are uniquely constructed to lessen weight. They contain six large cells within 18-inch thick outside walls. Overall length of the span will be 1200 feet, with a 150-foot main water level clearance. Mr. Staite took this picture during the recent visit of Hon. P. A. Gaglardi to the area. The three men in the boat are John Watson, Leo Cloutier and Roy Coleman.

Fruitvale Budget Gets Final Reading, Adoption

FRUITVALE — Final reading and adoption were given to the village's annual budget bylaw and tax rate bylaw.

Finance Chairman J. V. Lewis pointed out that it had not been necessary to raise the mill rate for general municipal purposes from the 15 mills set in 1964; this is attributed to the increase of $4128 in the village's local government grant from the province, which will now total $20,640. The mill rate fixed for the improvement district for fire protection purposes dropped from 3.30 mills in 1964 to an even 3.00 mills for 1965. This reduction more than offsets the addition of a .25 mill rate for the Lower Columbia Hospital Improvement District.

The combined mill rate of 42.74 mills for 1965, as compared to that of 41.50 mills for the previous year, reflects an increase of 1.29 mills in the school mill rate from 23.20 mills in 1964 to 24.49 mills this year. The School District's tax requisition from the village this year amounts to $28,150, as compared to $25,743 in 1964, which is an increase of $2407. However, this tax increase will not be felt by the majority of these property owners who are eligible for the homeowner grant, since the additional grant of $15 will offset the higher education levy.

The budget for 1965 has been drawn up to show a general revenue of $71,874, general expenditures of $70,372 and a surplus of $1502. These figures are in addition to the monies that will be paid to the school district and the two improvement districts, totalling $31,464 and to the capital expenditures to be made in the amount of $26,000 for extensions to the sewer system.

DEPARTMENT BUDGETS

Departmental spending will be governed by the budget drawn up for each, which are outlined as follows: general government, including executive, legislative, administrative and supervisory spending, has budgetted $18,500; public works, $14,717; recreation and community service, including parks and cemetery, $1600; sanitation and waste removal $8700; protection to persons and property $3990; debt reduction $16,000; equipment $3000 and miscellaneous accounts $3865.

Council members are of the opinion that this is a good budget, and without any unforeseen expenditures cropping up, such as a heavy snowploughing program in the last part of the year, the village should end up with at least the surplus shown in the prepared budget.

In other business, the council met with Cpl. C. von Brevern of the local RCMP detachment for a discussion on the village's traffic regulations and their enforcement. Certain amendments to the traffic regulation bylaw are to be implemented to provide for a stricter enforcement of parking and other regulations; provision will also be made in the bylaw for the payment of fines at the municipal office for certain traffic violations. A check is to be made, with the village foreman accompanying Corporal von Brevern, on the installation of "Yield" signs at certain intersections in the village.

GARBAGE, SEWAGE CLEANING

The Utilities Committee reported to the commission that it had investigated the cost of suitable garbage containers for the main street, and had ordered three for delivery in approximately one month. A draft agreement between the Village of Fruitvale and the Village of Montrose was read to council, dealing with the purchase and use of sewer cleaning equipment; one or two items in the draft are to be checked further before the agreement will be finalized.

The council approved payment of an account for engineering services from Robinson, Roberts and Brown Limited, in connection with the drilling of a well in the Scout camp area, in the amount of $923, and also approved payment of other accounts totalling $619.

The Clerk was directed to order the necessary partitions for the washrooms at the ball grounds; these will be installed as soon as received so that the washroom wil be ready for use during the summer.

New lighting has been installed in the office, and commissioners noted that this made a considerable difference in the appearance of the office, as well as being an improvement over the previous lighting arrangements for evening sessions. Repainting of the office exterior, and a repair job on the roof of the municipal garage are planned shortly, as well as a good cleanup of the municipal yard.

At the present time, repairs are being made to the backstops in the ball park, since the ball season is now getting into full swing and the diamonds are being used just about every evening; the heavy snows last winter created considerable damage to the backstop on the large diamond, and new netting is to be ordered for this one and will be installed as soon as it arrives.

Commissioner D. J. Morissette, representative on the Centennial Project Committee, advised Council that the Committee is studying ways of raising the necessary funds to qualify the project for federal grants; a sound financing plan will have to be assured before council will give its approval.

Slocan City Man Found Drowned

SLOCAN CITY — Death due to drowning was the verdict of a coroner's inquest into the death of 74-year-old Ludvig Feddersen of Slocan City, whose body was located down the Slocan River Sunday night after he had been missing from his home on the lakeshore since Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Feddersen's son-in-law, Albert Winje of Slocan City, had gone to his house Saturday and found the door locked, with the key in the lock. Thinking Mr. Feddersen was out and had forgotten to take the key with him, Mr. Winje did not return until Sunday noon and found the key still in the locked door. He instituted a search for his father-in-law whose body was found Sunday night at 9:00 p.m. in a log jam downriver.

Mr. Feddersen had a small pier at the front of his house from which he would test the water height, but no boat. He had been in ill health recently.

Born in Denmark, he moved in 1927 to Estevan, Sask., where he took up coal mining. His wife had predeceased him in Denmark.

He moved with his family to Kelvington in Central Saskatchewan in 1933, where he homesteaded. In 1961, he came to Slocan City.

He is survived by four sons, Christian, of Toronto; Holger of Vancouver; Arthur of Prince George; Herluf of Kitchener and Charles in Denmark; a daughter, Agda (Mrs. Albert Winje) in Slocan City; a step-daughter and a step-son in Denmark and a brother in Bienfait, Sask.

Funeral service will be held Thursday in the Presbyterian Church at Slocan City.

Students Hired to Assist in Summer Research at Kokanee

NELSON — Two Notre Dame University students have been hired to assist Dr. Trilochan Singh Bakshi, associate professor of biological sciences at NDU, to study patterns of variation in the area's virgin forests.

Jack Leggett, second-year student, of Kimberley and Richard Revel, second-year student, of Enderby were selected from a number of student applicants to assist Dr. Bakshi, who earlier received a $5000 grant from the National Research Council of Canada.

Jack, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leggett, is working towards his biology major and Richard, 18-year-old son of Mrs. E. E. Revel, is studying for his botany major.

The students will be paid a salary, plus bonuses, and the university will give them free room and board during the summer.

"I feel they are both very good students," Dr. Bakshi said Monday. In addition they will be taking summer courses in field botany under his instruction.

Basic site for the research team, Kokanee Glacier Park, will not be suitable for study until mid-June, after the snow has disappeared and the underbrush starts to bud.

Previous to setting up headquarters in the south-western section of the park near Lemon Creek, the trio will study vegetation and gather specimens from the surrounding Nelson and Trail mountainsides and in the Kimberley and Creston vicinities.

The specimens will then be transported back to the university labs for classification and further study.

Jack, president of the biology club, became well-acquainted with outdoor life, by assisting the game department last summer. He is also a former president of the Junior Fish and Game Club at Kimberley.

The future biologist also plays goalie on the Knights hockey team.

Richard also gained research experience while working for the forestry department last summer in the Enderby area.

Both agree the experience this summer will be invaluable to their chosen field.

Conservation and Common Sense

The public belief that Class A provincial parks are inviolate is a myth, Recreation Minister Kiernan told the annual convention of B.C. fish and game clubs. He said he will deal with public and private rights in parklands "in a practical manner."

The minister's remarks will further antagonize the super-conservationists who have been crying havoc since the government announced last year it will permit limited mining operations in parks.

Others, however, will see the common sense in a plan which recognizes both the need to safeguard recreational land and the need to utilize B.C.'s natural resources.

Certainly large tracts of wilderness and semi-wilderness land should be preserved for current use and for future generations. But to deny that this province has vast wilderness regions for future parkland is nearsighted emotionalism.

Park boundaries are merely lines on a map and can simply be adjusted as the need arises. As long as the government remains pledged to maintain a generous minimum of park acreage there should be no worries for conservationists.

But a mine cannot be located where it is most convenient. Gold, as the old saying goes, is where you find it; either it is mined or its benefits to the provincial economy are lost.

Even the most avid conservationist should recognize that without continued development of natural resources B. C. living standards would drop to a point where few would appreciate the luxury of the parks.

There are several small mines operating in Banff National Park; other mineral or coal discoveries already have been mined out and operations ceased. Few would argue that this has ruined the natural beauty or hindered recreational use of the Banff area.

As long as private development in parks is strictly limited and supervised and overall park acreage maintained, there seems little point in attacking Mr. Kiernan's common sense plans.

Water: Share It or Keep It?

Canadians are approaching an era in which they will be called upon to make what may be one of the most far-reaching decisions in their history: How much water they can afford to sell to United States.

The implications of such a decision became clearer at the Pacific Northwest Trade Association convention in Portland at which the dominant theme was the visionary plan known as the North American Water and Power Alliance, an $80 billion project to divert Arctic water through B.C. as far as Mexico and the Great Lakes.

Canadian viewpoints were offered by two British Columbians, Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing and B.C. Deputy Water Resources Minister A. F. Paget.

Both advocated extreme caution in diverting Canadian Water across the boundary until it is unmistakably shown to be surplus to all future Canadian requirements.

Mr. Laing, however, would not rule out the possibility of imaginative water diversion plans. He viewed them as a lever by which Canada could shift the whole North American commercial pattern in her favor by demanding fundamental benefits in return for a larger share of this country's water supply.

Mr. Paget, on the other hand, felt that B.C. desperately needs to reserve all of its water resource potential for future economic growth.

Since figures presented to the Portland meeting indicated the available water flow in the U.S. (about 560 billion gallons a day) will be overtaken by consumption by 1980, formulation of Canadian policy will become increasingly urgent to our American neighbors.

Adherence to a no-export policy until it is known beyond all doubt how much water Canada will need in the future is tantamount to a decision against selling any water to the United States, When could any responsible Canadian say how much water this country will need in future? It would be difficult to predict for 25 years, let alone for the next century.

Our country, whose rivers carry to the sea a volume of fresh water a third greater than U.S. rivers, could easily afford to wait. Our population is but a tenth of that of our neighbor. And we may be sure as U.S. thirst increases our water will have that much more bargaining power.

But we Canadians continue to sit on our surplus water supplies like a hen on a china egg while our best customer, our chief supplier and the leader of the free world under whose defensive shield Canada shelters, runs out of water?

In trying to answer this question Canada is, as our Victoria correspondent Paddy Sherman puts it, gingerly groping her way into the biggest horse-trade of the century, something that will make the Columbia power treaty look like peanuts.

In an issue of such immensity, no country can afford to grope. There is need for a clear-headed assessment of long-term needs and goals and particularly for unanimity between the federal government, which shapes national policy, and the provinces, which control resources, including water.—Vancouver Province.

B AND B COMMISSION

Advocate Recognition of Canadian Cultures

VANCOUVER (CP) — Recognition in Canada of more than two languages and cultures is advocated in most briefs being submitted today at the second day of hearings by the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

The Mennonite German Language Society, the local branch of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee and others argue for public policies to foster the growth of all ethnic and language groups making up the Canadian "mosaic."

The Ukrainian committee says the royal commission's terms of reference are "seriously biased against Canadians who are of neither British nor Fench ethnic origin."

"Avoid any legislation, recommendations or policies which would state or imply a division of Canadian citizens into categories of founding and non-founding, official and unofficial, old and new," urge the Ukrainians.

The Mennonite brief recommends that in addition to French, such languages as German, Ukrainian and Icelandic be taught as second language options from grade I to assist all language groups to survive.

The Ukrainians also urge the extension of university matriculation standing to any second language; appointment of Ukrainian Canadians to senior civil service posts and cultural agencies and extension of public support for cultural institutions and activities of all ethnic groups, special television and radio programs and Canadian history books mentioning the contributions of all groups.

URGES TOLERANCE

William M. Rozinkin, a Doukhobor from Nelson, says politicians and schools should teach tolerance and stop exploiting religious and ethnic divisions. He opposed a "melting pot" society, where survival of the fittest was the rule.

A different tack is taken in a submission by the Trail Chamber of Commerce. It says Trail has become a better place to live in since Italian immigrants and their children learned to speak English.

The chamber says the 4,000,000 French - Canadians of Quebec would do well to learn English too.

"Quebec would attract more tourism than she now enjoys if the annoying language barrier were removed. The widespread use of English in Quebec would facilitate the spreading of French culture across Canada."

The Trail group opposes any bilingual requirement for federal civil servants.

". . . Existence of two official languages in Canada hampers communications and tends to separate Quebec from the rest of Canada."

B. L. Cope, a retired magistrate living in Roberts Creek, B.C., says in a personal brief that French-Canadian demands are excessive.

SAYS NOT DEMOCRACY

"Any government allowing 2 per cent of the population equal status or the same rights as the other 72 per cent cannot by any stretch of the imagination be real democracy.

"There is no crisis in Canada today at all; it is imaginary, pure mist."

Teaching of French in all schools, from grade 1 wherever possible, is advocated by the Yukon Federation of Home and School Associations.

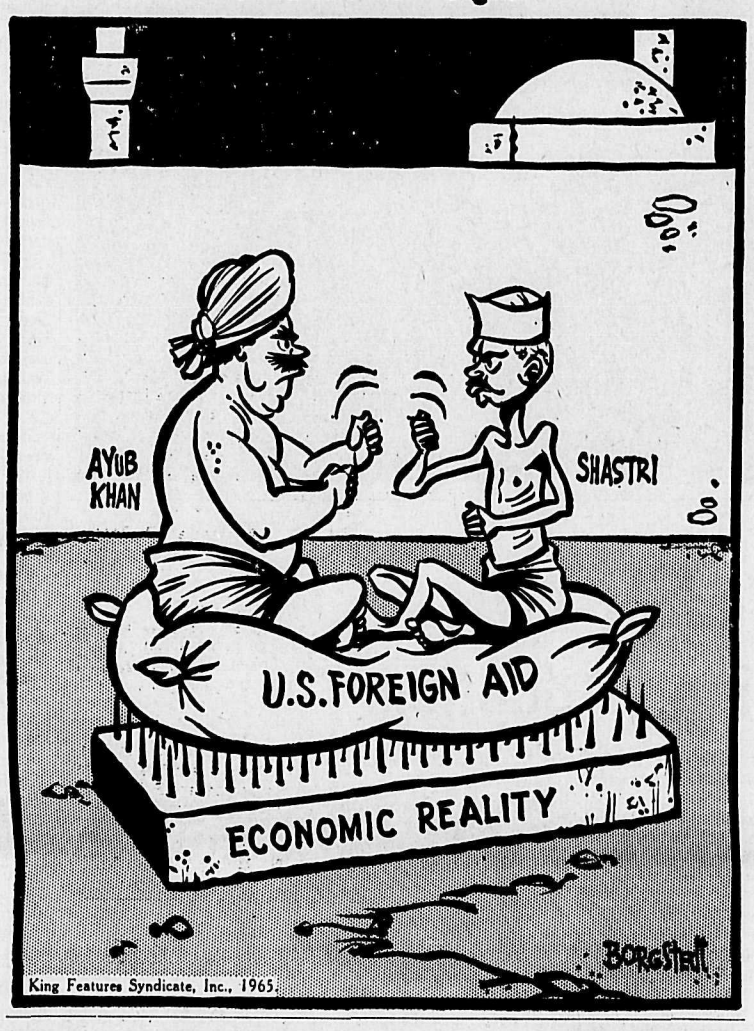
The Yukon brief says the educational system must be improved to build up "national feeling and unity."

Mrs. H. Demorest of Richmond, B.C., calls for subsidized rail excursions to encourage Canadians to know and appreciate each other better.

John A. Woodsworth of Vancouver says it is easy to pick up limited oral proficiency in French - speaking if there are oppertunities to hear, speak and read the language. Even limited bilingualism promoted understanding.

Frederic Bronner, a Victoria French teacher, says French textbooks in B.C. public schools are an insult to the intelligence and are mostly imports from the United States. He calls for a "charter of human rights" to protect French-speaking minorities and others.

Asiatic Pillow Fight



Johnson Bans Communism

By BORIS MISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Johnson's single-handed effort to prevent any other country in the Western Hemisphere from falling into Communist hands may be setting a dangerous precedent for future international conduct.

Since the end of the Second World War and the formation of the United Nations, attempts to settle international disputes were carried out in the world organization and no country took it solely upon itself to resolve these disputes.

But Johnson's unilateral action in the Dominican Republic and his subsequent pledge to prevent, as he put it, another Communist government from gaining control in the Western Hemisphere now may encourage other powers to take similar action when it suits their purpose.

The U.S. president has demonstrated to the world that nothing will stand in the way of U.S. intervention in any central or Latin - American country should Washington feel that there is likelihood that that country's government may fall under Communist control.

The U.S. landing of more than 20,000 troops in the Caribbean country at a time when revolution was in process to restore the nation's democratically - elected government shocked a number of world capitals and provoked outcries from others.

The sheer strength and worldwide economic and political influence of the United States has somewhat muffled these outcries as the nations of the world reassessed this most recent twist to American foreign policy.

SOLE-PROTECTOR

The Organization of American States, whether it liked it or not, felt obligated to support the American intervention in the Dominican Republic and Johnson's role as sole-protector of the hemisphere.

But as the countries in the various power blocs accept the U.S. role in the Western Hemisphere, they may in future find it more difficult to oppose similar actions by, for example, the Soviet Union in Europe and China in Asia.

It may be difficult for the U.S. to argue against Soviet intervention in a neighboring country—as was the case in Hungary in 1956 — before the United Nations.

China may very well decide to define more clearly, or even extend, its "sphere of influence" in Asia and in Southeast Asia when she feels that the time is ripe and that she is ready to back up such a decision.

Formosa is a good example of U.S. - supported territory practically in the heart of China's sphere of influence and a time may come when China's neighbors may feel that Chinese action in Formosa would be as justified in the eyes of the world as was the American intervention in the Caribbean.

Disenchantment in Japan

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

TOKYO (CP)—The paternalism that has marked labor-management relations in Japan since the end of the Second World War may be cracking.

There are growing indications that government, management and labor are becoming disenchanted with the system that for millions of workers has provided, if not cradle - to - grave protection, at least school-to-retirement care.

Japan's corps of keen and capable workers has been a major factor in the country's astonishing economic recovery from the ruins of the war—but to a North American visitor, used to what might be called labor's more independent frame of mind, they show an acceptance of authority that borders on subservience.

Aside from a few industries such as coal mining, militant unions are little known. Company unions chanting jingles praising management are more the order than unions singing "Solidarity Forever."

At a new Nissan Motor Co. plant employing 3,000 men, for example, the company union holds fortnightly meetings at which a company executive tells the workers what production marks have been set for them and, incidentally, to hear who has what to say about how the company is operating.

"The union is very moderate," says an official, "and always works on the principle that the workers' future depends on the prosperity of the company. So it says 'let's enlarge our share of the market.'

"Our workers always listen to reason and that way everyone is happy."

RARELY FIRED

In return for this recognition of management rights, the worker has received a rare degree of protection and fringe benefits for himself and his family.

Firing by a large firm operating under the system has been almost unknown. Even automation has held no fear for the Japanese worker; if his job were filled by a machine, he was assured of a new position even though the labor frequently was created artificially.

Not only had he job security. Although wages were low by almost any industrialized standard, workers received up to six months' pay in annual bonuses.

Company-owned housing was available for rents as low as $1 to $3 a month and holiday resorts were available for workers and their families. Subsidies covered everything from food, education and medical bills to transportation and sports.

One company, concerned about its workers' health, provided every employee with free milk during the day.

This system offered very real advantages for labor, management and government in the difficult years after the war.

For the workers, it assured them of security in a period of great technological upheaval.

For management, it meant a malleable labor force that would accept technological advances without protest, enabling industries to build some of the most modern factories in the world with a minimum of labor unrest.

On the political side, it allowed the government virtually to ignore questions of social security that took up so much time and energy in countries like Britain, and to concentrate on policies aimed at putting life back into the economy.

SYSTEM ATTACKED

Now, however, the system is coming under attack from at least four sides.

First, there is concern about the immobility of labor the system has created. Inherent in the paternalism is the idea that a worker stay with one firm all his working days, and this already is putting a serious crimp in Japan's bid to shift its industrial emphasis to capital-intensive output.

Second, management is increasingly concerned about the cost. Under the no-firing policy, the system has created a growing body of redundant labor. It also has had a scale of automatic wage increases, based strictly on years of service, and many firms now are asking themselves whether a system of incentive or ability wages wouldn't produce better results.

Nissan Motor is one firm experimenting with production premiums and Koji Minami, general manager, says the traditional wage system will not allow the production and efficiency increases needed.

Other firms are almost certain to follow this thinking.

Third, the workers themselves, especially the young ones, are unhappy. Because of the automatic wage increases, it takes 10 or 20 years to build up earning power — something that hardly jibes with the average Japanese's dream of the highest possible living standard in the shortest possible time.

An official of the Sohyo, the General Council of Japanese Trade Unions, says there is a psychological factor here, too.

FIRM IS PARENT

"No Japanese can feel at ease when fighting with his father, especially over such things as money and holidays. Therefore the paternalism system and the concept of a factory being a parent will go."

Finally, the system leaves too many people unprotected. The Japanese worker retires at 55 and there is a minimum of security for him after that. The government pays a small pension while his employer traditionally has sent him out with a lump sum capable of seeing him through six to 12 months.

That was fine when the life expectancy was 47 years, as it was shortly after the war—but now it has risen to about 67 years.

Also, there are an estimated 20,000,000 workers with firms too small to provide the system's degree of care.

This labor revolution has started a debate about what the future holds.

Some businessmen already have expressed the fear that workers are going to price Japan out of its essential international markets with new and untraditional wage demands—a fear, however, that doesn't get anything like unanimous support.

An official of the Nippon Electric Co. admits cheerfully labor costs aren't a matter of serious concern.

"Labor now is about 20 per cent of our bill. If wages go up 10 per cent, that means only two per cent over all—and if we can't make that up other ways, we shouldn't be in business."

WAGES GOING UP

R. G. C. Smith, commercial minister at the Canadian embassy in Tokyo, says businessmen waiting for higher wages to eliminate Japanese competition internationally are going to wake up one day with a shock.

"Certainly wages have been going up and will continue to go up, but there's no indication that industry won't get a corresponding rise in efficiency for a long time to come.

"The Japanese worker may want more money, but he's still amazingly conscientious and will continue to give good value for his wages."

Another factor that ensures a change in Japan's labor system, although it doesn't reflect directly on paternalism, is a growing shortage of workers, especially in the area of technical skills.

Until a few years ago, Japanese factories could count on recruiting fresh workers from the farms and small cities. That stream now is drying up. In 1963, nearly 3,000,000 jobs. were available for 1,100,000 graduates of high schools.

Because of the country's declining birth rate—almost half the 35 per 1,000 of the late 1940s—the demand for labor is expected to tighten even more.

Indian Treatment

VANCOUVER (CP) — Justice and equality for Indians is demanded in a brief to the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.).

It says: "Canadian Indians are shamefully discriminated against and compelled to live in poverty, squalor and often without hope. "Jobs and income opportunities for them are very limited."

The British Columbia union, whose membership of 8,000 includes many Indians, says the proposed federal Indian claims commission should compensate tribes in cash and land for the white man's injustices and breaches of faith.

The commission might consider giving the Queen Charlotte Islands back to the Haidas, for instance.

The brief argues against any deadline for filing historic Indian claims and says the awards of the proposed commission should be subject to appeals to the United Nations or an international court.

The union also recommends subsidized housing, promotion of secondary industries and improved education on reserves. It calls for an end to discrimination against Indians in employment and welfare services.

The brief advocates a constituent assembly by 1967 to write a new constitution that would recognize two equal nations, one English-speaking and the other French-speaking. The two language groups would have equal representation in the federal Parliament and each nation would have the constitutional right to secede.

CIVIL DEFENCE

Civil Defence is as much a part of Municipal Government as any other service and should be equally well organized.

Choir Leads Processional for McCuaig-Kirkham Wedding Rites

Preceded by the Carol Choir of St. Paul's-Trinity United Church singing "Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven," Beverley Fern Kirkham walked down the aisle to become the bride of Mr. Kenneth Langton McCuaig at one of the season's prettiest weddings.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkham of Nelson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McCuaig of Prince George.

Rev. Peter W. Faris officiated at the marriage in St. Paul's-Trinity United Church.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH LANGTON McCUAIG OF NELSON

Baskets of snapdragons and fern graced the church, with white satin bows marking guest pews.

Organist was Mrs. Patricia Halloran Green and the choir was led by Mrs. N. V. Hindle.

The bride was beautifully gowned in Alencon lace over peau de soie, with full skirt, featuring a bustle back, from which handmade roses trailed down either side. A scoop neckline and lily-point sleeves emphasized the simplicity of line of the fitted bodice.

Her four-tiered silk illusion veil frothed from a Queen Anne headdress and she carried a cascading bouquet of deep pink carnations and stephanotis. Her only jewellery was a pair of pearl earrings.

Aqua and pink gowns of the bride's attendants provided a charming contrast to bridal white. Miss Pat Kirkham, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Miss Jacqueline Anderson, as bridesmaid, wore aqua lace over taffeta with full skirts in short length, cap sleeves and bateau neckline. Their pillbox hats held short veils and they carried colonial bouquets. Their accessories were white.

Miss Pat Cutler, as bridesmaid, was identically gowned in pink.

Mr. Bud Hood was best man. Ushers were Mr. Brian Kirkham, brother of the bride, and Mr. Don Moore.

During signing of the register, the choir sang another selection.

RECEPTION

A lace tablecloth covered the bride's table at the reception in a downtown hall, with the tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother, flanked by tall pink tapers in silver candleholders. Deep pink carnations arranged with mauve and white 'mums completed the table decor.

Assisting in receiving the guests, the mother of the bride chose a beige two-piece lace ensemble with matching three - quarter length coat and deep pink corsage. The grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Mary McKenzie of Victoria, was smart in a two-piece ensemble with white accessories, and pink and white corsage.

Mr. Ken Miller was master of ceremonies. The best man proposed a toast to the bride and Mr. Ron Gorstine to the bridesmaids. Telegrams were read from the bride's uncle and aunt in Liverpool, also from Vancouver, Edmonton, Prince George and Clearwater.

The newlyweds cut the cake with a knife which has been used to cut wedding cakes in the bridegroom's family since 1919.

For a wedding trip to Prince George, Clearwater and Kamloops, the bride changed into a three-piece blue suit with coppertone shoes and light blue topcoat.

The newlyweds have taken up residence at 13 View Street in Nelson, where the bride is on the staff of the Royal Bank of Canada and the bridegroom is employed by Finning Tractor Company.

Out of town guests included Mr. Bud Fisher of Stoney Plain, Alta. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roberts of Edmonton, Mrs. Mary McKenzie of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCuaig of Victoria; Mr. Wayne Martin of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Kessler of Silverton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Poole and family of Trail, Mr. and Mrs. William Horvath of Blueberry Creek, Mr. and Mrs Henry Coulombe of Salmo and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hartson of Castlegar.

Procter Notes

Gerald Iwanik of Nelson and his mother, Mrs. Pete Iwanik of Procter, recently motored to Kamloops where they visited Mrs. Iwanik's sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fitchett and family and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cowan and family of North Kamloops. En route home they also visited Mrs. Iwanik's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Klassen of Kelowna.

Alec J. Garner and Colin Major of Procter have recently left for the coast. While there Mr. Garner will visit Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cromack of Abbotsford and Mr. Major will visit his niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gregson of Abbotsford. They also plan to visit friends and relatives in Vancouver, White Rock and Victoria. While in Victoria, Mr. Major will attend a B.C. Conference of the Community Programmes Branch representing the Procter Recreation Commission.

America-Born Queen New Himalayan Ruler

By Rangaswamy Satakopan

GANTOK, Sikkim (AP)—The U.S.-born queen of this tiny Himalayan state gets homesick once in a while, but is determined to devote her life to her royal responsibilities.

Hope Cooke, 25-year-old Boston and New York social figure, was enthroned April 4 at the side of her husband, the ruler of Sikkim.

Her kingdom is a mountainous state of 2,800 square miles, high in the Himalayas some 350 miles north of Calcutta. Her 160,000 subjects are mostly nomad herdsmen, with roots in bordering Nepal and Tibet.

"She has not forgotten her original home or friends," said one of the Queen's American school chums. "She is nostalgic often, thinking of the land of her birth and early studies.

The young queen talked about this to her friends who flew from the United States to see her enthroned. Homesick or not, she kept a regally stiff upper lip.

DETERMINED TO SUCCEED

"My job is here," she is quoted as saying, "and it is a lifetime and whole-time job, and I am determined to make a success of it."

The former society girl, the first non-Sikkimese to marry into the ruling family, is loved by many of her people.

"The white maharani is like a much-needed fresh wind blowing into this land-locked, old-time princedom," a senior government official said. "She will do to the state in the next 10 years what has not been done in a century."

The queen's old friends say she is cut out for the job and seems subconsciously to have been preparing for her royal task all her life.

"She would have been a misfit in an American home," one classmate said.

"From her childhood, she has been dreaming of India, its mysticism, its various religions, its philosophies. We used to tease her in school for talking in whispers and already behaving like a Yogi," she said. A Yogi is a holy man.

"If she had not tumbled into the arms of the Sikkim prince, she would have been a wandering ascetic in the Himalayas."

ATTRACTED BY EAST

Hope's first opportunity to go East came when her uncle, Selden Chapin, was named U.S. ambassador to Tehran. She graduated from high school in Tehran. But the pull was farther eastward.

She finally went to Darjeeling, in northern India, to pray and study Buddhism. There in 1961, she met the heir-apparent to the Sikkimese throne, Paldin Thondup Namgyal. They were married in December, 1963, and have a son.

She wears Sikkimese dress and is learning Sikkim's languages.

"Have you become a Buddhist?" a reporter asked her.

"Do not emphasize the religious aspect," she said sternly. "A person is judged by his way of life, his character, and not by the faith to which he belongs."

Hope prefers to continue in her Protestant Episcopal (Anglican) faith but is determined that religion will not interfere with her duties as a wife, a mother and a queen. Her children will adopt the religion of their father, she is reported to have decided.

Adam and Fallen Man, Topic of Lesson Sermon

The question of whether mankind can actually exist without God was explored in depth at all Christian Science churches Sunday. The subject was "Adam and Fallen Man."

The Responsive Reading included this line from James: "Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you." The theme was carried through in the Bible Lesson to the final citations from Psalms: "He shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy judgment as the noonday."

Related readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy included these lines: Let us rid ourselves of the belief that man is separated from God, and obey only the divine Principle, Life and Love."

Daffodils Set Spring Theme At Lutheran Tea

Daffodils flanked by tall tapers centered the tea table at the recent St. John's Lutheran Ladies' Aid tea and bake sale.

Guests were received by Mrs Carl J. Hennig. Pouring honors were shared by Mrs. Ingeborg Moen and Mrs. Ida Arnsdorf. Each individual tea table had as its centrepiece a tiny vase of spring blooms.

Serviteurs, with Mrs. Ted Fuhr as convener, were Mrs. Edith Wilson of Nakusp and the Misses Sharlene Sept and Sandra Reese.

At the sewing table were Mrs. D. Popadynetz and Mrs. Mike Brader and at the bake table, Mrs. Lincoln Sept and Mrs. Eve Ostlin. Cashier was Mrs. O. Moen and kitchen staf fincluded Mrs. Steve Hecker, Mrs. John Bringsli, Mrs. Gertrude Schroeder, Mrs. Karl Schroeder and Mrs. Helena Davidson.

WA Makes Donation to Church Camp

A financial donation was voted to Camp Galilee at the May meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral held Monday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Dalgas, 907 Vernon Street.

Mrs. K. Zabawa, Dorcas secretary, reported on the parcel to be sent to the Indian school at Prince Albert, Sask.

Mrs. R. W. S. Brown reported on the W.A. an nual meeting held in Kelowna.

Reports were also presented by Mrs. A. Moore, Miss H. Rapley, Mrs. Fred Blakeman and Mrs. Gordon Wakeham.

A farewell gift was presented to Mrs. F. P. Clark, who is leaving Nelson.

A gift of flowers was sent to Mrs. D. Crozier Smith, educational secretary, who is a patient in Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. J. Beltner and Miss Greta Curwen.

Friends, Relatives From Many Points at Fillinger - Catton Rites

Red and white was the color theme chosen by Gloria Jean Catton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Carl Catton of Crescent Valley, for her wedding ensemble when she became the bride of Mr. Glen Charles Fillinger at a ceremony held in Nelson recently. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Fillinger of Merritt.

The bride wore a two-piece white boucle suit with slim skirt and three-quarter length sleeves, with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

She was attended by Judi Waterer of Nelson who wore a two-piece boucle suit with pink rose corsage.

Mr. Don McCuaig of Kelowna was best man.

The reception was held in the banquet room of a downtown hotel, which was decorated in pink and white, as was the three-tiered wedding cake. Vases of pink roses and white 'mums completed the table decor.

The mother of the bride wore a three-piece pink suit with white accessories, and the mother of the groom chose a deep rose dress with white accessories.

Mr. Don McCuaig, as master of ceremonies proposed a toast to the bride.

Attending the wedding from out of town were relatives and friends from Edmonton, Seattle, Nanaimo, Cranbrook, Revelstoke, Kamloops and Merritt.

Telegrams were received from Vancouver, Lethbridge and Edmonton.

At St. Saviour's Altar Guild dinner meeting held recently Mrs. F. P. Clark and Mrs. R. Wright, who are leaving Nelson, were presented with gifts. Mrs. H. Greenwood and Mrs. Vincent Fink were special guests. During the meeting, arrangements were made for summer work. Members all signed a get-well card for Mrs. D. Crozier Smith, who is in Kootenay Lake General Hospital following an operation.

Hints From Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

When I see hints submitted to you that I have been using for years, I always make a point to show them to Hubby so that he may know what a bargain he got in the marital pool!

Mrs. Wm. J. Riley, Jr.

Dear Heloise:

Frequently, a letter appears in your column asking about the removal of odors in homes.

There is one product that I have found to be more effective than any other . . . oil of wintergreen.

This oil is marvelous to keep the house free from stale odor of tobacco. If a small amount is placed on a wad of cotton, it will absorb all smoking odors.

Another wad of cotton soaked in wintergreen can be placed in a clothes closet. In the kitchen, it eliminates odors from frying or when cooking cauliflower or cabbage.

Everyone who comes in remarks on the fresh clean smell of my house.

A pat of appreciation for your column from . . .

Pat.

Dear Heloise:

I wear bifocals for reading, but they get in the way when I'm cooking.

I keep a large magnifying glass on the kitchen counter for reading recipes and cooking instructions.

Mrs. Thomas P. Clarke.

Dear Heloise:

I have a pastel telephone that is always collecting dust (inside the dialer), so I use a child's toothbrush and dial from zero once or twice . . . that does it.

Beatrix in Limelight At London Christening

LONDON (CP) — Princess Beatrix, heir to the Dutch throne and one of the world's great fortunes, arrived in London Thursday to find herself the centre of a love drama.

From every newsstand in the British capital headlines asked: Who is her secret suitor?

The Daily Express says the suitor may be a Canadian or "a young Dutchman belonging to a leading Protestant family."

Other London newspapers say Nicholas Tollemache, son of Lord Tollemache, and Prince William of Gloucester, cousin of Queen Elizabeth, have been mentioned as possible suitors.

Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard said in a statement Wednesday night: "The rumors about a speedy announcement of the engagement of our eldest daughter are premature.

'GIVE HER TIME'

"On her behalf we make an urgent appeal to you all to give her rest and time to make a well-considered decision."

The princess is visiting London to be a godparent at the christening of Sybilla Louise, three - week - old daughter of Princess Margaretha of Sweden and her British husband, John Ambler.

Last year a constitutional crisis erupted over the marriage of Beatrix's younger sister, Pincess Irene, to Prince Calos de Boubon Parma, a claimant to the throne of Spain.

Irene abdicated her rights to the Dutch throne and married the controversial Spanish prince.

Beatrix has been trained for the throne since early childhood. At university she qualified in law. She speaks Dutch, French, English and German.

She spent the Second World War in Ottawa after the Germans overran The Netherlands.

Newcomer Pulls Yanks To 5-3 Win Over Red Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

First baseman Ray Barker, playing his first game for New York, highlighted a fourth-inning rally with a run-scoring double as the Yankees whipped Boston Red Sox 5-3 Tuesday night.

Barker, who came to the Yankees Monday night in a trade with Cleveland, tied the game 1-1 with his double off the left field wall. He added a single in the fifth when the visitors pushed another run across.

Catcher Doc Edwards, another recent addition, pounded a home run into the left field screen in the sixth and Mickey Mantle lined a mighty shot into the centre field stands.

Dick Groat tripled in the eighth inning and scored on Tim McCarver's ground out, giving St. Louis Cardinals and unbeaten Bob Gibson a 4-3 victory over New York Mets.

Gibson ran his record to 6-0, top pitching mark in the majors, as the Cardinals snapped a three-game losing streak. Gibson gave up 10 hits, struck out nine, including rookie slugger Ron Swoboda four straight times, and walked six.

INJURES SHOULDER

Ron Hunt, the Mets' National League All-Star second baseman in 1964, suffered a separation of his left shoulder in a fifth-inning base line collision.

Del Crandall's bases-loaded single in the sixth inning scored two runs and paced Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 victory over Milwaukee Braves.

The hit by Crandall, whom the Pirates obtained from the Braves in a winter trade, put Pittsburgh ahead 3-2. It came after Donn Clendenon singled, Bob Bailey drew a walk and Gene Alley bunted safely.

Relief pitcher Dick Hall singled home the winning run in the 11th inning giving Baltimore a 3-2 triumph over Cleveland.

Boog Powell started the 11th with a single but was forced at second by Dick Brown. Jack Kralick then hit Norm Siebern with a pitch and was relieved by Dick Donovan. Hall greeted Donovan with a ground single to right field, scoring Brown.

Three key singles by Pete Rose and Gerry Arrigo's tight-relief pitching led Cincinnati Reds to a 9-1 romp over Philadelphia.

Rose, who also had a double in five trips to the plate, scored the first Cincinnati run in the fourth inning, drove in the go-ahead tally in the fifth and ignited a six-run uprising in the eighth that sewed up the decision.

STAGE RALLY

Willie Horton's two-out single drove in two runs in the ninth inning and lifted Detroit past Washington Senators 7-6.

The Tigers' rally wiped out a 6-0 Washington lead built mainly on Willie Kirkland's run-scoring triple and three-run homer.

ROOKIE WINS AGAIN

Unbeaten rookie Dave Giusti pitched a four-hitter for his sixth victory as Houston Astros edged Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 on Joe Gaines' two-run homer.

Giusti bested left-hander Claude Osteen, 3-3, who went eight innings and also allowed only four hits.

Gaines' homer, his second, came in the second inning and drove in Jim Beauchamp, who had singled.

Giusti, going the route for the third time in four starts, walked one, struck out five and lowered his earned run average to 1.63.

Harmon Killebrew's infield single off Dean Chance's leg drove in Tony Oliva in the ninth inning, boosting Minnesota Twins to a 3-2 triumph over Los Angeles Angels.

The hit was only the fourth off Chance, who suffered his first defeat after three victories.

Ron Herbel, with ninth-inning relief aid from Frank Linzy, pitched San Francisco Giants to a 3-0 victory over Chicago Cubs.

NELSON DAILY NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. — On U.S. Highway 75 the long drive back gives everyone connected with the Allan Cup Final a chance to look back on the past year trying to analyze how and why the Nelson Maple Leafs became western Canada champions.

The answer became very clear—the ability of playing coach Bobby Kromm to instill in veterans and rookies alike the will to win. Until late September, no one knew for certain if Nelson was going to ice a team in the Western International Hockey League for the '64-'65 season.

Only through the efforts of such men as Jack James and Ernie Gare, were the Leafs able to acquire the services of players like Bill Steinke, Jim Letcher and Earl Chwachka, and Kromm was playing coach.

Fan swho had once booed loudly when Kromm was playing for the opposition, soon were lauding the wiry coach as he piloted the Leafs to a solid first place finish in the first half of the regular season.

A filled-to-capacity arena, a rarity for the past five seasons, soon became the watchword at the Civic Centre as people began to follow the exploits of possibly the most colorful team in the circuit.

One cannot help but admire the way veterans like Kromm, Shorty Malacko, Frank Carlson, Dave Stewart and Howie Hornby played their hearts out, game after game, during the season.

Spirit such as that displayed by the five that proved to be the inspiration needed to propel the team that wasn't expected to finish in a playoff spot in the Western International Hockey League and British Columbia title.

Malacko seemed to grow a new pair of legs for every series as he outskated nearly every rookie that attempted to chase the puck into the Nelson zone. Not only did he effectively handle his chores along the blue line, but he staged some fantastic one-man rushes that had the home town fans jumping to their feet. Stewart is the kind of man who doesn't say much—he just goes out and does his job and does it well.

In the final series with the Kimberley Dynamiters, he tied up almost every forward who came down his wing before they had a chance to get a shot away. Raked by injuries during the regular season, Carlson never stopped working. He blocked more rubber in front of the net than any other defenceman in the league. If any man should quit the game due to injuries, it would be Hornby. The game centreman was the victim of two wood-choppers during the year that netted him 25 stitches. Why doesn't he retire? For the same reason as Shorty, Dave and Frank—he loves the game.

A late starter for the Leafs, Doug Kilburn was coaxed out of retirement to aid the Nelson club in its successful drive in the league semi-finals. He displayed the same skill as a stickhandler and playmaker that helped the Penticton Vees capture the World Amateur Hockey championship in 1955, and was a tireless workhorse for the Leafs during the Western Canada playoffs.

What can you say about a man like Kromm? There isn't a player in Cnada today that doesn't respect his hockey knowledge. He achieved the epitome of success in amateur hockey in 1961 with the Trail Smoke Eaters and still he accepted the invitation of the Nelson club's executive to take over the reins of an almost non-existent Leaf team at the beginning of the season.

Canada needs more men like Kromm, who have virtually dedicated their lives to this country's national sport.

Carter Slate Wiped Clean

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — Paterson municipal court disposed Tuesday of five charges of assault and battery, disorderly conduct and gambling against middleweight boxing contender Rubin (Hurricane) Carter.

The 27-year-old fighter was fined $25 for being an inmate of a gambling house.

Carter was found not guilty of assault and battery and disorderly conduct charges stemming from two separate night club incidents. A third disorderly conduct charge against Carter and sparring partner, Clay Thomas, 28, was withdrawn.

The slate against Carter, who has spent five years in reformatories and 4½ years in state prison, was thus wiped clean, leaving the fourth-ranked middleweight free to concentrate on his May 20 bout with former champion Dick Tiger in New York.

Aussie Wins Net Singles

ROME (AP)—Martin Mulligan of Australia upset top-seeded Manuel Santana of Spain Tuesday 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1 and won his second men's singles title in the Italian international tennis championships.

Mulligan, runner-up to Rod Laver at Wimbledon in 1962, was seeded second. After losing the first set in 17 minutes and dropping his service at the start of the second, he seemed headed for defeat. But the Australian, who has lived in Italy for the last 11 months, began to cash in on Santana's errors and showed flashes of fine tennis as he rallied to win the match.

Maria Bueno of Brazil won the women's singles title for the third time by defeating Nancy Rickey of Dallas, Tex., 6-1, 1-6, 6-3 in the women's final. Only one other woman, Margaret Smith of Australia, has won three Italian championships.

Junior Final Outcome Hinges on CAHA Probe

EDMONTON (CP)—Future of the 1965 Memorial Cup junior hockey final between Edmonton Oil Kings and Niagara Falls Flyers hung in the balance Tuesday while Gordon Juckes, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, launched an investigation into a brawl in the third game of the series Monday night.

Edmonton Oil Kings won the game 5-1 and trial in the best-of-seven series 2-1, but the result on the scoreboard was hardly noticed in the donnybook involving players and fans that required intervention by 25 policemen.

Referee Jim McAuley of Montreal halted play with 3½ minutes left in regulation time, the first Memorial Cup final game halted by a fight.

During the game fans pelted players with eggs and despite the early end the game lasted about three hours.

Both clubs threatened to pull out of the series and officials of Edmonton Gardens, scene of the final, suspended bookings for future practices and games pending the outcome of the investigation.

The brawl resembled antics during a wild six-game series between the same two clubs two years ago when Oil Kings won the Memorial Cup. In that series two Flyers suffered broken legs.

CARRIED OFF

Bob Falkenberg, Oil Kings' captain, was carried from the ice after he was felled from behind and then pummeled while he lay unconscious on the ice. He was released from hospital Tuesday morning.

Centre Derek Sanderson of Flyers was dragged into a first-aid room in the Gardens by three men while en route to a dressing room after the game. He suffered several cuts to the face in a fight in the room.

Linesman Ken Reid of Calgary suffered a broken bone in his left hand when he tried to restore peace during a player-fan fracas at the end of the first period.

The game featured seven majors, three match and three misconduct penalties. Sanderson and defenceman Ricky Ley of Flyers and winger Ron Anderson of Oil Kings were given match penalties. All faced suspensions.

Ley and Anderson were banished for a stick-swinging duel just minutes before the major donnybrook. Sanderson's match came as a result of the final disturbance.

Hap Emms, owner - manager of Flyers, said he did not think the series could be completed in Edmonton. He declined to elaborate.

Coach Harry Allen of Oil Kings criticized Flyers leaving their players' box during the melee, but Matt Laydon of Oshawa, Ont., president of the Ontario Hockey Association, said the fight would not have been as severe as it was if police had not been ordered onto the ice.

He said no Flyer left the bench until police were ordered on the ice by McAuley.

Art Potter of Edmonton, CAHA past - president, praised the work of McAuley and his linesmen. He described the game-ending brawl as a "damn disgrace" and said the attack on Falkenberg was "butchery."

In a report to Fred Page of Port Arthur, CAHA vic-president in chrge of the series, he said he recommended that consideration be given to cancelling the series.

Assistant coach Bill Long of Flyers said Edmonton fans who swarmed over his players en route to the dressing room were "just like vultures."

Crampton's 66 Gives Him $100,000 Texas Tourney

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Bruce Crampton erased a lingering nightmare with a four-under-par 66 Tuesday and won the $100,000 Colonial national invitation golf tournament by three strokes. He carded a 72-hole total of 276.

The Australian swept past several challengers with a birdie string beginning at the 13th to win his second tournament of the year and $20,000.

He birdied four of the last six holes for a 34-32—66 to overtake George Knudson of Toronto and Winnipeg on the final nine and coast to a rain - delayed triumph over four other contenders.

Knudson, who lost the tournament lead with a one over par at the 10th hole, carded a closing par 70 for 279 and second place, worth $11,500.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, Gardner Dickson, Tony Lema and Don January shared third place at even par 280. Rodriguez closed with a 68.

Dickinson, who held the lead after registering a birdie at the 13th, and January also had 68s, while Lema was matching par.

A stroke back at 281 was Julius Boros, a 60-shooter in the finale, who had seventh place all to himself.

Gene Littler shot a 68 to tie Doug Sanders, in with a 70, at 282.

Crampton began the final round tied with Lema at even-par 210, a stroke behind Knudson, the slender Canadian who had held or shared the lead since the first day.

Crampton vaulted into the lead for keeps when he birdied the 14th to go two under. He was one under par at the 16th and 17th.

"I'm not as disappointed as you might think," Knudson said in the clubhouse "$11,500 feels pretty good in the pocket."

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead fared well among their younger competitors, with Hogan winning out with a closing 69 for 284. Snead shot a 71 for 286.

Arnold Palmer, after faltering the first two round, wound up with pair of 70s for a five-man deadlock at 287.

Preakness List Trimmed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The cast of three-year-old colts out to trip Lucky Debonair in the Preakness leg of the triple crown Saturday apparently lost a member Tuesday.

Trainer Hirsch Jacobs advised from New York that he probably will not send Turn To Reason for the race.

After Turn To Reason won a division of the Illinois Derby Saturday, Jacobs said he would give him a shot at the first echelon if he remained in top shape.

But after looking over the gray son of Hail To Reason, Jacobs said the Illinois race had taken a lot out of the colt.

Emmott Says Burnaby Wants $15,000,000 Astro-Dome

VANCOUVER (CP) — Reeve Alan Emmott of neighboring Burnaby said Tuesday his council would offer free land as the site of a projected $15,000,000 astrodome.

Appelt Industries Corp., of Texas, announced Monday it was preparing a detailed bid to build a multi - purpose sports centre capable of seating 50,000 fans for such sports as football, baseball, hockey and harness racing.

James F. Delaney, Appelt spokesman, said the proposed astrodome here would be cheaper but better than the world's first enclosed baseball park at Houston, Texas.

Reeve Emmott said the proposal had not yet been placed before council but he felt assured council would agree to offer the astrodome free land for both building and parking requirements.

Reeve Emmott was confident the Burnaby site would receive support.

"Mr. Delaney came up here and we took him on a tour of the whole area and there was no argument that this was the place," said Mr. Emmott.

SEES SAVINGS

Mr. Delaney said in a telephone interview Monday his corporation could save as much as 40 per cent of the $45,000,000 cost of the Houston building through "improved design and prefabrication."

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the B.C. Lions of the Western Football Conference, gave the proposal an enthusiastic welcome.

Mr. Capozzi said "it is one of the most exciting projects that's ever been offered the province."

The covered astrodome is "a unique type of operation which can be used to stage almost any event involving large numbers of people," Mr. Capozzi said.

He envisaged an astrodome here as site of "bowl" football games, and said the Vancouver area could justifiably apply and in all likelihood receive a major baseball franchise in the future.

Your Individual Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

Thursday, May 13, 1965

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — You may think you have done all that is possible in the handling of a project, but take a second look. Just one seemingly "insignificant" detail overlooked could make the difference between success and failure.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — "Half-done" and "passable" are not words generally attributed to your efforts, but you may tend to "give up" in the middle of your program now, if complications arise. Don't! Get someone to help you to iron out difficulties, and you can go forward — to attain top rewards!

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Proceed now with matters which have been given careful and long study. Retain old methods which are still practical, but don't reject new ideas Some new situations, which could prove advantageous in the long run, call for your innate adaptability.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — A routine day if you so wish. But there are considerations for you to heed, and they Could take you onto sunnier paths. Some extra care needed in outdoor activities.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — You may run into some confusing situations now but, properly handled, they could open the door to new opportunities. It largely depends on You.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Don't yield to an impulse to "tell off" certain persons. If you've got something on your chest, discuss it calmly and unemotionally. Fine planetary influences now govern most of your activities.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — A buoyant attitude, an effective gait, a ready mind and ear for suggestions and improvements will place, and help to hold your day on the straightaway to swifter attainment.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Suggested menu for this day: Begin with optimism and mix constantly throughout the day. Plan your main course to build inner as well as outer strength, and use a dressing of wit and understanding.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — This is a day in which to emphasize your excellent judgment, clever management and organizational ability. Be serious in your undertakings and don't take yourself or your problems too seriously.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Present planetary aspects indicate some new and interesting activities. If it is lacking, you yourself can create the right atmosphere for progress.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — A day for both listening well and voicing carefully considered opinions. Take stock of why certain maneuvers and tactics did Not succeed in the past, and make a resolution to avoid them in the future.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — A new level of competence can be attained now. Leave no stone unturned in your quest for knowledge, correct data and approach if you would achieve the successes you desire.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great inner reserves, a vivacious spirit, affability, progressiveness—and occasional stubbornness. Curb imagination when a down-to-earth routine Must be followed. You are an excellent promoter; are artistic In all that you do and, while you might become extremely successful in the business world, would probably take up some hobby to satisfy your creative leanings. Just one admonition: Be careful not to overtax yourself.

Elimination Of Undertakers Proposed

TORONTO (CP)—James Cunningham, 69, member of the Toronto Memorial Society, Monday proposed a system where society members could dispose of bodies themselves—after obtaining permits—and eliminate the use of undertakers.

The society, dedicated to lowering the cost of funerals, held its annual meeting here.

The organization's aim is to provide information about undertakers and their methods so that interested persons can obtain inexpensive funerals and burials.

"We have found increasing cooperation from funeral directors," said F. G. Croggan, chairman of the society.

"But there is a hard core of determined undertakers who not only refuse to discuss low-cost, simple funerals, but, from reports we have received, do what they can to display contempt for us and our ideas."

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market went through its third straight session of irregular decline Tuesday.

Volume was 5,160,000 shares compared with 5,600,000 Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed with a decline of .55 at 930.92.

A prominent feature of the day was a strong performance by aluminums, based on product price increases.

Aluminium Ltd. was up 1¼ at 30¼, Alcoa up 1¾ at 77, Reynolds up ½ at 44⅜ and Kaiser Aluminum up 2¼ at 38½.

Chrysler was up 1½ to 53½ on 177,200 shares, making it the most active stock.

General Motors, which sold ex-dividend $1.50 Monday, was down 1¼ and Ford lost ⅝.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .8 to 341.9.

On the Canadian section, Canadian Pacific gained ¼ while losses of the same fraction were shown by Distillers Seagrams, Granby Ming, Hudson Bay Mining, International Nickel and McIntyre Porcupine.

An irregularly lower price trend also prevailed on the American Exchange. Preston was down 7-16, Canadian Javelin ⅜ and Canadian Marconi ¼. Scurry Rainbow Oil added ¼.

MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks edged higher with the exception of banks and papers Tuesday on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges. Trading was moderately active.

Industrial volume was 211,700 shares and mines and oils 2,611,500.

The composite index rose 0.1 to 166.1.

Industrials were up 0.2 to 173.1. Imperial Tobacco added ⅜ to 14⅞ ane Du Pont ¼ to 53. Dominion Textile dropped ½ to 39.

Utilities were up 0.5 to 154.9. Calgary Power added ⅜ to 21¾. Bell Telephone rose ¼ to 61⅝.

Banks dropped 1.4 to 135.2. Imperial commerce lost one point to 70½ and Royal and Toronto - Dominion each were off ½ at 82 and 68 respectively.

Papers were off 0.9 to 140.6. MacMillan Bloedel fell ½ to 34½ and Price Bros. ½ to 42. Fraser added ½ to 33.

Metals were mixed. Base issues were off with Hudson Bay Mining down ½ to 77½ and Noranda ½ to 55½. In the primaries, Alminium rose ⅞.

Machinery issues were off slightly wih Massey Ferguson down ⅜ to 33¼.

TORONTO (CP) — Hectic trading in the speculative oils list and the heaviest total volume in the last two months highlighted stock exchange dealings Tuesday.

Total volume was 6,086,000 shares traded compared with 5,063,000 shares traded Monday. Volume was last higher March 15, 1963, when a total of 6,319,000 shares changed hands.

Acme Gas, looking for metals in the Belleterre area of Quebec, rose 5 to 65 cents and churned up 386,750 shares while Anglo United Development rose 27 cents to $1.16 and traded 358,150 shares among speculative oils. Banff traded heavily and fell 20 cents to $7.10.

Western Decalta lost 35 cents to $3.70 and Spooner ½ to 28½ cents. Dynamic dropped 9 to 68 cents on 172,040 shares.

Among industrials, banks dipped in profit taking. Montreal fell a point to 67¾ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce dropped ¾ to 70½.

Noranda led senior base metals lower with a ⅞ dip to 55⅜. In golds, Dome dropped ¾ to 37 and Great Plains rose ⅜ to 13½ among senior western oils.

On index, industrials rose .01 to 177.25 while the Toronto Stock Exchange index fell .08 to 166.68, golds 2.21 to 155.03, base metals .51 to 85.24 and western oils .57 to 113.36.

Third Pulp Mill Set For Prince George

VANCOUVER (CP) — Intercontinental Pulp Co. Ltd., will go ahead with a $70,000,000 pulp mill at Prince George, B.C., the British and German - backed company announced Monday.

The mill will be the third in the northern city, joining $60,000,000 and $84,000,000 plants already under construction.

L. L. G. Bentley of Vancouver, chairman of Intercontinental, said the company has decided to accept the timber supply awarded by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston in March.

Intercontinental's only stipulation will be a satisfactory settlement of a pulpwood harvesting agreement.

The mill is scheduled to begin production at a rate of 650 tons daily in mid-1968. It will turn out bleached and semi-bleached kraft pulp.

Intercontinental sought a pulp harvesting area in the crown forests of Blueberry, Moberly, Peace and Takla, but Mr. Williston granted an annual 40,000,000 - cubic - foot allotment in the Peace and Takla.

The company is the joint venture of Prince George Pulp and Paper Co. and Feldmuhle, A.G. of Dusseldorf.

Prince George Pulp and Paper is a partnership of Canadian Forest Products Ltd. of Vancouver and the Reed Paper Group of England.

The Intercontinental mill will be built adjacent to the $84,000,000 Prince George Pulp and Paper plant, and share the same top management. Mr. Bentley said production from both mills is already committed.

The other mill underway is a project of Northwood Pulp Ltd., scheduled for production late next year.

GIVES RARE BRANDY

STOCKTON, England (AP)—One of the world's rarest bottles of brandy will be served at Tuesday night's dinner at the northern branch of the Confrerie de la Chaine des Rotisseurs, a gastronomical society. The magnum bears the date 1807. Robert Stafford, who is contributing the brandy to the dinner, placed its value at about &2,500 ($7,500).

Columnist's Lawyer Gets Chance at Bat

VANCOUVER (CP) — The lawyer acting for Ormond Turner gets a chance today for rebuttal against scathing attacks on the newspaper columnist Monday.

In summation before the royal commission investigating Mr. Turner's charges of election irregularities, he was charged with "exaggeration, innuendo, intended ambiguity and, when necessary, lying invention."

John Laxton, counsel for the New Democratic Party, went on to say:

"Turner's story was hatched by a confused Liberal, brought to life by a treacherous Conservative, written by a dishonest columnist and published by an irresponsible newspaper."

Columns by Mr. Turner in The Province, Vancouver's morning newspaper, said six B.C. trade unions helped elect New Democratic Party MPs by using fraudulent names and addresses on voters' lists.

Mr. Laxton said part of the blame belonged to Morland T. Brown, a Liberal poll captain whose discoveries formed the basis for the columns. Mr. Brown in his zeal had misunderstood the facts he uncovered and confused other persons, said the lawyer.

CALLED "SINISTER"

Lynn Morrow, a defeated Conservative candidate who passed along to Mr. Turner a conversation with a labor official, was a "mysterious and sinister person," said Mr. Laxton.

This description drew an objection from Charles Locke, commission counsel.

The commissioner, Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the B.C. Supreme Court, said he could not accept the idea that Miss Morrow's actions were treacherous.

Tom Berger, acting for the B.C. Federation of Labor, said: "There has been no evidence and never was any evidence to support any of the charges Turner made."

Larry Candido, Mr. Turner's lawyer, made a brief opening statement and will speak further today.

He said the other lawyers had brushed over numerous mistakes and irregularities. There was no evidence of irresponsibility on the part of the newspaper, he said.

Canadian Exports Climb 17.8 Per Cent in March

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian exports resumed their upward trend in March, climbing to $706,400,000 for the month, up 17.8 per cent over March exports last year, the bureau of statistics reported Tuesday.

The increase in commodity exports during the month, however, brought the first-quarter total for 1965 to $1,850,500,000, just 3.7 per cent higher than exports in the first three months of 1964.

The expansionary trend of exports had slumped in the mid-winter months this year. Import figures for March will be made public later.

The bureau said March exports were higher in value than a year earlier for each of Canada's four major trading areas. The total fo January, February and March was higher for the United States and Commonwealth countries outside the United Kingdom, but lower for the U.S. and al lother countries.

March exports (with 1964 figures in brackets) were: U.K. $96,200,000 ($82,900,000); other Commonwealth and preferential rate countries $47,300,000 ($33,300,000; United States $49,100,000 ($332,700,000); and all other countries $153,900,000 ($150,800,000).

QUARTERLY HIGHER

Exports for the first quarter of 1965 (with 1964 figures in brackets) were: U.K. $266,100,000 ($267,900,000); other Commonwealth and preferential rate countries $114,880,000 ($101,000,000; U.S. $1,082,500,000 ($964,300,000); and all others $387,100,000 ($450,500,000).

The March and first-quarter export figures were made public in an advance summary of more detailed figures to be announced later.

During the winter months of December, 1964, and January and February, 1965, export figures held close to their counterparts of the previous winter.

Finance Minister Gordon said in his budget forecasts last month the government expected exports to continue to rise this year, though not as rapidly as the 16.3 per cent increase in merchandise exports in 1964. The big, special sale of wheat to Russia will be absent from this year's trade, though exports are continuing to other Communist countries.

Inter-American Peace Force Bid to NATO

By DAVE McINTOSH

LONDON (CP)—The United States today made a proposal before the NATO Council which would tend to cut the feet from under Canada's drive for more support for United Nations peacekeeping operations.

George Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state, said that if an inter-American peace force is established in the Dominican Republic situation, it could be maintained permanently for crises in the Western Hemisphere.

Canadian informants said such action would effectively remove North and South America from any United Nations moves that might be necessary to maintain peace in the area.

Canadian External Affairs Minister Martin plans to ask the Council for increased backing for a UN peacekeeping operation.

It has been known for some time that the U.S. has been worried about the possibility that one day a UN force might operate in an area which it considers under its exclusive influence.

This is the reason seen here for Ball's proposal for a permanent peace force under the aegis of the Organization of American States.

EXPLAINS INTERVENTION

Ball explained American intervention in the Dominican Republic without making any new points.

He said Cuba remains a danger because it is trying to encourage subversion in various Latin American countries.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart told the Council that Yugoslav officials told him during his recent visit to Belgrade that they are willing to help solve the United Nations financial crisis, brought on by the dispute over peacekeeping costs.

Stewart said Britain is bearing a heavy military burden in Malaysia where it has 50,000 men and five warships and that this should be taken into consideration by NATO generally.

This was in line with Prime Minister Wilson's remarks in his opening speech to the effect that Britain may have to withdraw part of its army in Germany unless there is some easing of its overseas payments problem.

Toronto City Centre Okayed

TORONTO (CP) —Toronto's proposed centennial project, the $10,000,000 St. Lawrence Centre for the Arts, was approved by city council Monday night by an 11-to-10 vote.

But a rider was attached to the motion—the city must obtain approval from Metropolitan Toronto council to raise the city's debenture ceiling this year by $2,250,000, the amount needed to build a parking garage for the centre.

An earlier motion to refer the project back to board of control was passed in committee of the whole, but two absent councillors swung the vote the other way in the full session.

Opponents of the centre said they did not want to involve the city in the project until the foundation's officers had assured council they would raise $4,800,000 from private sources.

In addition, the annual deficit of the centre may run to more than the $100,000 now predicted.

Proponents argued that to turn down the scheme would only involve the city in unsatisfactory and more costly prospective centennial projects.

Storms Deal Expensive Blow to U.S. Fruit Crops

CHICAGO (AP) — Winter's cold and spring's violence delivered a multi-million-dollar punch to much of the fruit crops in the United States this year, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Preliminary estimates placed fruit crop loeses at more than $10,000,000, conservation and state officials said.

Hardest-hit was the lush apple and peach country of the northwest, where below - zero December cold and spring frost all but wiped out the production of many orchards.

Washington State officials said pear and cherry crops were heavily damaged and that the apricot and peach crops were ruined. The strawberry crop in the western half of the state was expected to be 50 per cent below last year's yield.

Oregon reported extensive damage to strawberries and cherries in Hood River, the Dalles, Freewater and La Grande areas.

Utah has asked President Johnson to declare five counties disaster areas. Most of the damage to peach, apricot, cherry, apple and pear crops came during a cold snap last week.

California reported its valuable strawberry crop seriously damaged, with losses in Los Angeles County estimated at $4,000,000. New England also reported heavy strawberry damage and Louisiana said its production dropped sharply.

In the Middlewest, tornadoes and floods have raged since March but crop experts blamed the lengthy winter for most damage. Some Illinois areas reported up to 95 per cent of the peach buds damaged by cold.

Attendance Drops at Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—Attendance at the world's fair for the first 20 days of this second and last season is more than 500,000 below that of the comparable period last year. But officials are optimistic there will be a sharp upturn when the school vacation begins.

Fair officials said the total paid attendance this year through Monday is 1,689,691 compared to 2,228,572 last year —a drop of 538,881.

Fair officials had predicted an increase of 37 per cent more business this year than in 1964. They had predicted 37,500,000 admissions for the 1965 season, or 10,500,000 more than last year.

Many exhibitors have urged a cut in the $2.50 admission for adults to $2 during the day and $1 at night because of low attendance.

Robert Moses, president of the fair, raised the admission price in hopes of helping make up a $17,000,000 deficit.

Since this is the last season, the fair expects brisk business during the closing months of September and October.

Sees Premier As One of B.C. Greats

KELOWNA (CP)—A leading British Columbia financier Monday called Premier W. A. C. Bennett one of the province's greatest entrepreneurs and said we need more like him.

Peter Paul Saunders, president of Laurentide Financial Corp., Ltd., told an audience of 400 real-estate executives: "Premier Bennett is one of the greatest entrepreneurs in B.C. today.

"But philosophically, I am disappointed he is achieving his successes as a leader of government and not as a leader of private business."

Mr. Saunders was addressing the annual convention of the Real Estate Institute of B.C. here.

"We need more promoters in business in B.C.," he said, "not the shallow speculator who has dragged the word into disrepute, but the dynamic enthusiast who can back his ideas with ability and daring and money."

Mr. Saunders said he supports those leaders who say Canadians should stop worrying about buying Canada back from foreign investors and concentrate all their available resources in developing and enlarging strictly Canadian enterprises.

He said the federal government is trying to do its part by legislating Canadians into buying more of their own resources, "but my own belief is that this is a matter which can't be accomplished by legislation, but only through incentives."

High Taxes Burden On Businesses

VANCOUVER (CP)—An ever-increasing tax burden is "crushing business and industry and impairing its ability to create full employment," Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan said Monday night.

He said if Canada is to prosper, governments must take a hard look at social welfare programs and heavy taxation of individuals and corporations.

Mr. Thatcher told the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturing Association industry must be permitted to make fair profits and keep them.

Social - welfare measures should look after the elderly, sick and unemployed and all who need help, but "governments are not content to do that, they are looking after people who don't need help."

He said that for this reason costs are out of hand and unrelated to the economic ability of the taxpayer to support such welfare programs.

Premier Thatcher said his government discovered last summer that able-bodied workers on welfare were refusing jobs on farms.

He said subsequent regulations that no relief be paid to able-bodied persons who refused jobs had the effect of trimming 7,000 from welfare rolls in 11 months, and the government was able to cut taxes by $12,000,000.

Urges Vigorous Approach To Commie East Europe

VIENNA (AP) — Senator J. Willia mFulbright Tuesday urged West Germany to take a vigorous lead in expanding cultural and economic relations with Communist Eastern Europe.

Along this route lies the best hope of healing the wounds of the Second World War and of reuniting Germany, the chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee said in a speech prepared for the Austrian Foreign Policy Association.

"Communism has ceased to be the monolith it seemed to be 15 years ago. "Its practice is increasingly being nationalized to fit the conditions of particular countries. What is more important, the Communism of Eastern Europe and of the Soviet Union is slowly but steadily being humanized.

"The terror of Stalin's time has largely disappeared from Russia.

CREATE BONDS

Fulbright credited Nikita Khrushchev, deposed Soviet premier, for initiating this change by practising "peaceful coexistence." He said West Germany ought to take the initiative in creating new bonds between the East and West.

"Only when it is clear to the Eastern European countries that they have nothing to fear from the West, and especially from Germany, can they be expected to consent to German reunification.

"Only when the Eastern Europeans are convinced that it is safe and profitable to do business with the West, including Germany, can they be expected to relent from their insistence upon the continued survival of the East German regime."

Fulbright said it would be desirable for West Germany to seek reconciliation with Poland.

"A degree of practical reconciliation between West Germany and Poland would be of particular value, not only to help heal the lingering wounds of World War II but also to allay the Polish fear that Germany may someday seek to recover the territories lost to Poland in 1945."

Fulbright rejected the thesis of President de Gaulle of France that the future of Europe must be settled by Europeans alone.

MUST LEAD

"I do not believe, as does Gen. de Gaulle, that the reconciliation of East and West can be accomplished by fracturing the West," he said. "I believe that both America and the Soviet Union, as the leaders of the two coalitions, must play the leading roles in the task of reconciliation.

Fulbright said he also hopes hostilities in Southeast Asia won't upset the coexistence trend.

"The process of reconciliation has already begun," he said. "It can be arrested and reversed at any time by the spreading impact of such occurrences as the tragic war in Viet Nam. . . ."

U.S., Britain, France Agree to Joint Aid

By RONALD BATCHELOR

LONDON (Reuters) — The United States, Britain and France have agreed to the text of a joint declaration on the problem of German reunification and it is expected to be published here Wednesday, authoritative sources said Tuesday.

Agreement was reached at a late night dinner of the ministers of the Western Big Three powers and West Germany Monday night after their officials for several weeks failed to recommend a draft, the sources said.

The draft was put to the opening session of the NATO ministerial council here Tuesday and the sources said it was hoped the entire 15 - nation alliance would reinforce it by unanimous approval Wednesday.

The declaration almost coincided with Saturday's 20th anniversary of the defeat of Nazi Germany.

The three Western occupying powers—the United States, Britain and France—have always strongly maintained their must be reunification of Germany in peace and freedom through the principle of self-determination.

IS COMPROMISE

The text of the declaration involved a delicate compromise between two conflicting opinions, those of the U.S., Britain and West Germany on the on hand and of France o nthe other, the sources said.

The French wished to stress the European nature of the German problem by excluding prominent mention of the United States—the major Western ally. This was unacceptable to the other three.

The final wording, according to the sources, would say that the solution of the German problem "is not only in the interest of the German people, which wishes for the reunification, but is in the interest of all other European peoples and of all peoples concerned whom the problem affects."

Says Russ Think Of Cities' People

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia fights for peace not through fear but because she thinks of the people of such cities as New York, London, Detroit and San Francisco, Soviet Defence Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky said Tuesday.

He told a meeting of war veterans from 23 countries which opened here:

"We are fighting for peace not because we are pacifists or simply afraid of war . . . should the imperialists unleash war a crushing defeat awaits them.

"But war, particularly modern nuclear rocket war, is a terrible disaster for mankind and millions of ordinary people.

"Our wonderful cities, new building sites and fields are dear to us . . . and we are thinking also of the inhabitants of New York and London, of the Ruhr steelworkers, of the Detroit car builders and the miners of Birmingham (England).

"We cherish the priceless treasures of the Louvre in Paris, the marble of the Doges Palace in Venice and the golden gate of San Francisco."
