Cabinet in Dilemma On Hanging Decision

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet will have to choose next month between approval of the first hanging in 3½ years or rejection of the majority view of the Commons.

This painful dilemma is the legacy of the Commons' free vote on capital punishment Tuesday night, when a proposal to abolish hanging was voted down 143 to 112.

The next execution is scheduled for May 18 at the Fort Saskatchewan jail in Alberta, when Lloyd Denis Lyding, 25, is sentenced to die for the murder of his wife.

Lyding has been convicted twice of capital murder, the second time by a judge without a jury, and he has lost an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. Fourteen others have been sentenced to hang but all have appeals pending.

The cabinet is expected to announce shortly before May 18 whether Lyding's sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment or allowed to stand. Either choice is bound to be controversial.

If the sentence is commuted, proponents of the death penalty inside and outside Parliament will argue that the cabinet is ignoring the recorded opinion of the House.

WILL SEE REVERSAL

If Lyding is executed, opponents of capital punishment likely will claim Canada is reversing a 10-year trend and returning to a barbaric and unjust practice.

MPs are discovering glumly that after 94 speeches and four votes in a five-day debate, they have failed again to settle the historic issue. The rules prevent Parliament from reopening the debate during the 1966 session.

Even the cabinet is split on the issue.

Prime Minister Pearson and 17 of his colleagues voted for abolition of the death penalty without reservations or conditions. They included Solicitor-General Larry Pennell, whose duty it is to review every capital murder case in detail and make a recommendation to cabinet for or against commutation.

Six other ministers favored retention of the death penalty. They are Justice Minister Lucien Cardin, Associate Defence Minister Leo Cadieux, Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, Fisheries Minister Hedard Robichaud and minister without portfolio, John Turner.

DIDN'T TAKE PART

Two ministers did not take part in the vote and their views are unknown — Revenue Minister E. J. Benson, who was absent Tuesday, and minister without portfolio John Connolly, government leader in the Senate.

Irish Prepared for Weekend Trouble

By JOHN CHADWICK

DUBLIN (Reuters) — The Irish republic celebrates this weekend the 50th anniversary of the bloody revolt against British rule—and despite stringent precautions there were fears the anniversary would see more violence.

Authorities feared trouble from extreme nationalists, still campaigning for the union of the predominantly-Roman Catholic republic in the south with the six largely-Protestant counties of Northern Ireland, part of Britain.

Chief suspect was the Irish Republican Army, outlawed in both north and south, which was reported to have 1,000 men armed with sub-machine-guns and small arms obtained from British, U.S. and West German sources.

The Irish republican government cancelled all police leave during the Easter period and the army was put on 24-hour alert. Suspected members of the IRA and of left-wing groups were under round-the-clock surveillance.

HEAR RUMBLINGS

Irish leaders sought to prevent violence in order to increase trade links with Britain and Europe. But despite precautions there have been several recent signs of trouble.

Brezhnev Retains Top Party Job

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Leonid Brezhnev has emerged in firm control of the Soviet Communist party machine, with basic Kremlin policies set on a no-change course for the next four years.

The party chief appeared to have increased his stature and political grip during the party's 23rd national congress which ended a 10-day session Friday.

The Congress condemned U.S. action in Viet Nam and said Americans have resorted to the "most inhuman means" against the Vietnamese.

A special resolution passed by the 5,000 delegates accused the U.S. of brutal aggression and said "American imperialists" are trying to stifle the national liberation movement.

The resolution proclaimed the "wrathful indignation" of the Russian people and called for U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam and a halt to bombings of North Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, three of the ruling party's top leaders lost their jobs in a minor hierarchy reshuffle, but the changes showed significance.

Brezhnev, 59, now is the general secretary (instead of first secretary) of the party and top man in the governing politburo. Both titles are revivals of names used in the Stalin era.

The new political bureau or Union's cabinet, sees the retirement of two veteran "old Bolsheviks," Anastas Mikoyan, 70, and Nikolai Shvernik, 78, the only surviving leaders with an active record in the Russian revolution. They were dropped without explanation or eulogies.

Riots Rock Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Demonstrations described as the worst against the U.S. in seven days of rioting rocked the South Viet Nam capital Friday night. By midnight, 17 Americans had been targets in one way or another.

"We want freedom," said the banner carried by a band of 2,000.

A flurry of grenade explosions and the killing of a retired South Vietnamese officer suggested the Viet Cong had moved in to exploit the demonstrations led by Buddhist monks.

The displays demanded that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government give way to a civilian regime. But their tenor has moved nearer anarchy.

A dozen Americans were beaten, manhandled for chased by mobs. A grenade lobbed into a soft drink stand at a U.S. communications centre, injured five U.S. troops and two Vietnamese women.

THREW GRENADES

Other grenades exploded at two police stations and at the military entrance to Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport. They injured no one.

A gunman slew a retired South Vietnamese officer in front of the Go Vap police substation. The captured gunman was identified as a Viet Cong.

Troops, meanwhile, pursued the war in the provinces. American soldiers killed 44 Viet Cong in two clashes and a South Vietnamese infantry battalion hunted guerrillas who shot up and set afire a 60-man outpost south of Saigon before dawn.

New Satellite Probes Stars

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A star-gazing satellite packing 10 telescopes rocketed into successful orbit Friday and scientists hope it will open a new era in astronomy.

From its lofty position high above the earth, the Orbiting Astronomical Observatory was to study secrets of the stars and perhaps uncover clues to the origin of the universe.

The OAO is the heaviest and most electronically complex unmanned payload ever launched by the United States. It cost an estimated $50,000,000.

The potential of OAO in expanding man's knowledge of the universe "makes it the greatest thing since Galileo poked his telescope toward the heavens," a space agency scientist said.

More Dike Workers Called

WINNIPEG (CP) — Another call for volunteer dike workers was issued by Greater Winnipeg municipalities Friday as residents began spending their second consecutive Easter weekend building barriers to hold back the threatening Red River.

Primary dikes are being raised to 31.5 feet above average winter ice level to protect the city against an anticipated crest of 27.5 to 29.5 feet expected between April 16 and 24. The flooding Red has already inundated thousands of acres of farmland and has surrounded the diked towns of Morris and St. Jean Baptiste.

Last year, a limited state of emergency was declared the day before Good Friday as forecasters predicted serious flooding in the Red River Valley and residents spent the weekend taking precautionary measures against the threat.

Tanker Changes Route

ATHENS (Reuters) — The Greek tanker Manuela, beileved heading for the Portuguese Mozambique port of Beira with oil destined for Rhodesia, signalled Friday it now is heading for Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

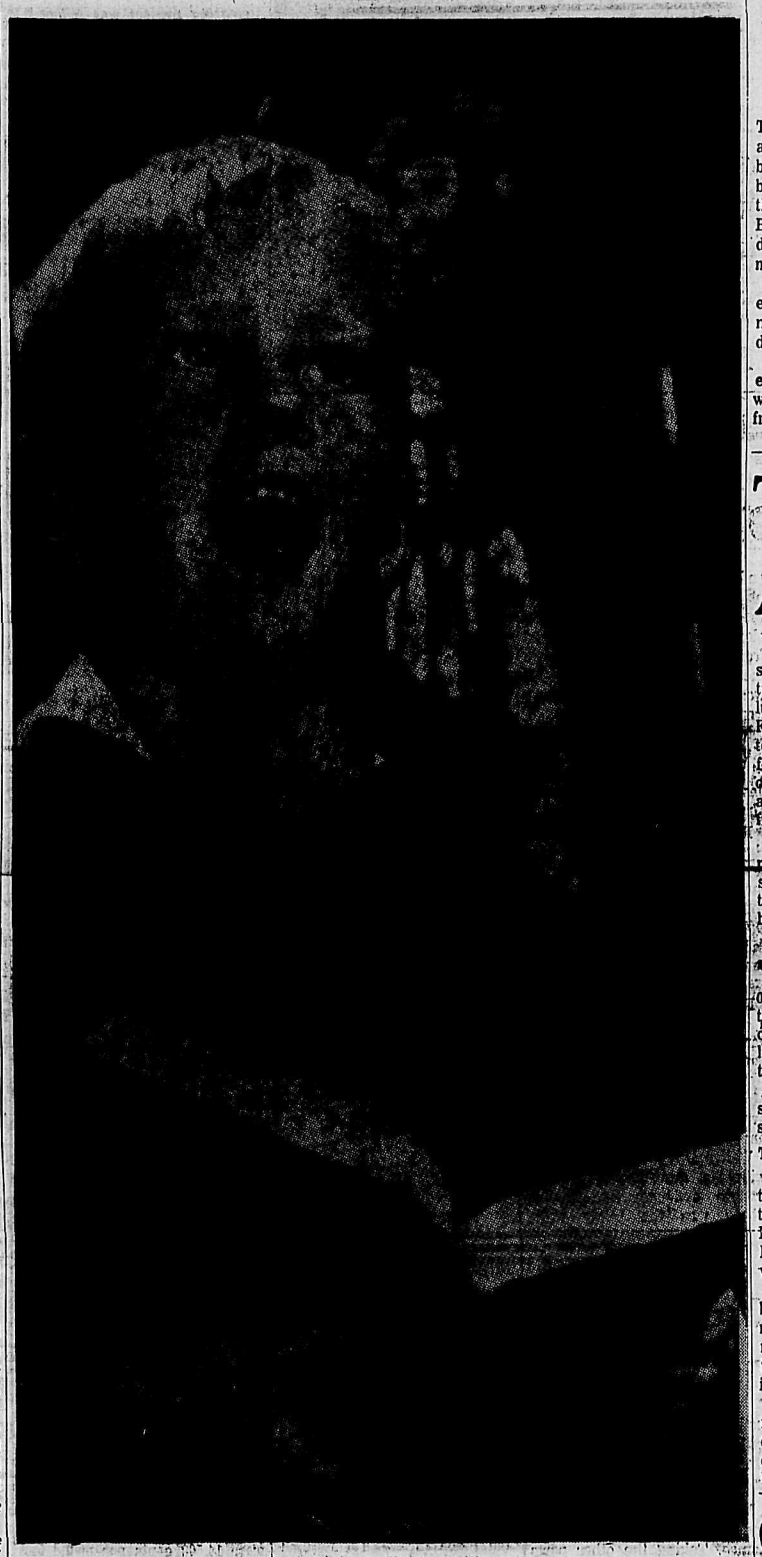
The state-controlled Athens radio said the 11,000-ton tanker signalled the Greek merchant marine ministry it has changed its route following intervention by Greek Foreign Minister Elias Tsrimokos.

Lion Bites Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — A 225-pound lion cub, excited by television lights and cameras, forgot the script Friday and sank its teeth into the leg of a young model.

The girl, Nell Theobald, 22, was taken to hospital for plastic surgery. Her wound was described as a severe injury of the left leg.

Joyous Easter



In Search of Meaning

(By The Rev. James R. Hearne)

"He's alive! We have all seen him! Yes, I know we felt like giving up after he was arrested and executed. We thought that we would disband after the funeral, but he's alive!"

"He's alive!" These words express the realtiy of the resurrection. The 900 million members of the Christian Church are in search of the meaning of this event. It was this event that brought them into being and transformed them. This is the event that caused them to write a book, the New Testament, telling of the impact it had on them and their world. This event is remembered by the world in the setting aside of a day of the week, Sunday.

From time to time, the Church forgets its job of searching out the meaning of the resurrection. It concerns itself with any number of interesting projects, but all these must be considered secondary to the rediscovery of the event that called it into being.

Let's consider for a moment a renewed Church, recognizing the reality of the resurrection and living in the power of its living Lord. Now, have they arrived? Not necessarily! Full recognition of the meaning of the resurrection involves a living extension of the event, for as the Church ever rediscovers the meaning of the resurrction it is announcd to the world.

Some in the Church at this season will say, "What does the resurrection mean to the world?" My question would be rather, What does it mean to the Church? If the Church finds the fullness of its meaning, the world is not going to be unaware of this. We have the early days of the Church to show us this fact. The Church first puts the claims of Christ to the test in its life, and then speaks of them to the world. The Church finds out what there is to gain by fellowship with a risen Lord, who is alive and available, and if the Church finds this kind of engagement worthwhile, the world will be quick to see it.

Jesus Christ is still the best that the Church has to offer. He is offered first of all as the living reality of the Church, and if this is true it is just the sort of thing that cannot be kept as a secret from the world.

Hong Kong Erupts; Tourists in Hiding

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Tourists remained in their hotels and American sailors headed back for their ships in the harbor Friday night as police held the Kowloon district of this British Colony under a dusk-to dawn curfew following three nights of rioting.

The curfew brought a quick end to the wild rioting in which millions of dollars damage was done by looting and arson.

Police said the curfew was effective but groups of youths were seen stoning police patrols from rooftops.

British troops with fixed bayonets stood by in Kowloon's normally bustling "tourist mile" while armed police entered buildings and made 25 arrests.

Another 300 persons were arrested for breaking the curfew soon after it was imposed but police said most of them broke it inadvertently.

One man was killed and two injured by police gunfire Thursday night in the latest of the series of riots, believed to have been sparked by discontent at the rising cost of living.

A one-cent increase in the cross-harbor ferry fare brought thousands of rioters into the streets.

Some reports said Chinese secret societies were behind the rioting in order to settle old scores and make theft easier.

Only three hours' notice was given of the curfew decision, which caught many persons away on Easter picnics. A frenzied dash for home followed broadcast of the curfew order and at dusk Kowloon, the mainland part of Hong Kong, was a dead city.

The curfew did not cover Hong Kong island, which is unaffected by the riots.

Three Die, 4 Missing As Luxury Liner Burns

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)—Five persons were reported dead and two missing after fire swept the luxury liner Viking Princess Friday as the Norwegian-registered ship neared the end of a festive Caribbean cruise. Most of the reported 497 passengers and crew members were saved from the sea.

The mishap occurred in early-morning darkness as the White ship moved in gently rolling waters of the Windward Passage between Cuba and Haiti.

Most, if not all, of the 238 passengers were U.S. citizens.

Tragedy struck as the $16,000,000 ship was sailing back toward Miami on the final day of a seven-day cruise to the islands of Aruba and Curacao off the coast of Venezuela.

"All (survivors) are in good shape," a U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said.

THREE SHIPS IN RESCUE

He said the survivors and three bodies were picked up by the West German freighter Cap Norte, the Liberian freighter Navigator and the merchant vessel Chungking Victory.

Seven hours after the fire burst out of the ship's engine room, the Viking Princess was reported burning fiercely, a towering column of smoke marking the site of the disaster.

Even before the survivors reached dry land, the fire—second aboard a Miami - based cruise ship in five months—brought outcries from the U.S. Congress and National Maritime Union.

Said Representative Claude Pepper (Dem. Fla.) in Washington:

"If there is a loss of life, particularly among Americans upon this ship, it is imperative, I think, that we have a full-scale congressional investigation of the whole matter, of the competence of crews, and the safety standards observed by foreign flag vessels carrying American citizens on the high seas."

John Sheehan, business agent of the Maritime Union's Miami local, said all foreign-flag cruise ships operating out of south Florida ports would be picketed until they comply with U.S. safety standards.

"They are going to come up to our standards or we are going to drive them out of business," Sheehan said.

It was only about five months ago—Nov. 13, 1965—that the 38-year-old cruise ship Yarmouth Castle burned and sank between Miami and Nassau, Bahamas, with a loss of 90 lives, mostly passengers. Two Canadians were among those killed.

Famed Evangelist Dies in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. Ernest Crossley Hunter, 77, son of a famous Canadian evangelist, died Thursday at his home following a brief illness.

He is to be buried today following a service conducted by Rev. W. G. Berry in Trinity United Church, the same church in which Mr. Hunter was ordained a Methodist minister in 1911. He entered the United Church at it's inception June 10, 1925, and until his death served an uninterrupted ministry of 55 years.

Rt. Rev. Ernest M. Howse, moderator of the United Church, paid tribute to Mr. Hunter, a native of St. Thomas whose eloquent preaching brought him fame from coast to coast.

"He was a remarkable man. He had an extraordinary gift as a preacher and after - dinner speaker. He always was in demand. And even after retiring in 1965. he continued preaching many Sundays throughout Ontario. Few men in Canada could equal him for preaching. He preached like a bird sings.

Mr. Hunter, whose sons Gordon and John also are United Church ministers in Toronto, once preached 13 years without missing a Sunday engagement. He often preached two or more sermons a Sunday.

Christ's Death Commemorated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christ's death on the cross was commemorated with Good Friday services by Christians around the world.

In the jungles of Viet Nam, U.S. soldiers who could find time off from fighting Viet Cong guerrillas bowed their heads in prayer.

Pope Paul in Rome led 5,000 faithful into the vigil of Easter by removing his shoes and lying face down before a crucifix in the Basilica of St. Mary Major.

All was subdued and sombre at this service. No bells rung. No "glorias" were said. The Pope gave no blessing. Among those crowded into the Basilica were many of the 400,000 foreign tourists thronging Rome during the Easter season.

In the Roman Catholic ritual throughout the world, prayers were altered to remove phrases offensive to Jews and non-Catholic Christians.

PILGRIMS PRAY

About 2,000 pilgrims from all over the world prayed at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem where most Christians believe Christ was buried. As an umbrella of clouds covered the ancient Judean hills, many pilgrims visited the Garden of Gethsemane and the Via Dolorosa, where Christ bore his cross.

For the first time since the Communist revolution, eight Russian Orthodox priests journeyed to Jerusalem and joined in the Good Friday services. Eastern and Western Christian communities are celebrating Easter at the same time for the first time in three years. In Moscow, the Orthodox faithful attended Good Friday services at 40 churches.

Church bells in Athens tolled the mournful message of the crucifixion as millions of Greeks attended services.

Spain sombrely observed Holy Week, cancelling all bullfights and dances. Only religious music was played on the radio. In Good Friday services, Spanish Catholics carried floats with sacred images through the main streets of cities.

Traditional church services and varied weather across Canada marked Good Friday — the day Christians observe the death of Christ.

The weather ranged from sunny and mild on the East and West coasts to snow and freezing rain in the central provinces.

At least 17 persons died in accidents, including an eight-fatality crash Friday near Vegreville, 50 miles east of Edmonton.

Bomb Found

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP)—The United States put on public display here Friday one of its most secret weapons—a hydrogen bomb.

Nestled in a wooded cradle aboard the U.S. submarine rescue ship Petrel the bomb was unveiled to show the people of southeastern Spain — and the world—that the last of four such weapons lost in the crash of a U.S. B-52 bomber here Jan. 17 at last had been recovered from the depth of the Mediterranean.

The bomb was recovered Thursday from an underwater slope 2,850 feet down where it had been lodged for 80 days.

Young Man Killed In Lardeau Accident

A young Howser man, Alfred Harden Evans, 24, was killed while felling trees in the flood basin area at Duncan Dam Thursday morning, about two miles north of the damsite.

Mr. Evans, employed by Farstad Holdings Ltd., in the clearing project was felling a large cottonwood tree when it split and part of it swung back, striking him on the back of the neck. Death was believed instantaneous.

An inquiry is being conducted into the accident by coroner N. Miller of Kaslo.

Born in Calgary in 1941, the youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Evans of Cooper Creek, in the Lardeau. The family came to Lardeau from Mission in 1962.

Alfred Evans had worked in logging since coming to this area.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Len (Muriel) Bradley of High River; Mrs. Harold (Hazel) Visnoski and Mrs. C. (Audrey) Warnock, both of Lardeau; and Mrs. Andrew (Dolores) Danyleyko of Angus, Ont.; and his grandmothers, Mrs. Margaret Savage of Calgary and Mrs. Ollie McLaughlin of Monroe, Wash.

Ward Street Overpass Engineering Firm Named

A special meeting of Nelson City Council saw the retaining of Reid Crowther and Partners Limited, an engineering firm, to conduct preliminary investigation, design and resident supervision on the Ward Street overpass. The firm's application was accepted after city engineer M. D. Puziak had spoken in their favor.

Another company had submitted a bid $800 less than the maximum cost of $2000 quoted by the Reid company.

Alderman Kennedy Facchina asked what the extra money would buy and Mayor Louis Maglio answered that this company provided more services than the unsuccessful one. The city engineer stated that since both the firm's and the railway's heads are located in Calgary, plans submitted by the firm would have a good chance of being accepted because of the close relationship which could be set up between the two companies.

Alderman D. F. Porteous suggested that the lower cost resulted from that company's taking into consideration work that had already been done by the city in connection with preliminary investigations. A motion to hire the Reid Crowther and Partners Limited for preliminary work and plans at a cost up to a maximum not to exceed $2000 was passed.

Her husband predeceased her in January 1964 and she was also predeceased by her son, John Benjamin, in 1921. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs D. A. (Betty) McDonald and Mrs. C. H. (Bernice) Gilbert, both of Nelson; and one son, David Hale, in Nelson; 10 grandchildren and one great grandson.

Anglers Warned

Fish and Game officials announced Friday that numerous complaints have been received concerning illegal fishing in this area.

A clamp down on overly anxious sportsmen will be in effect until May 1, when the season opens. Until that time though, all fishing must be stopped.

COLLECTIVE AGREEMENT NEGOTIATIONS CON

FRUITVALE — Negotiations for a new collective agreement covering village employees continued with the bargaining committee of Local 343, Trail and District Civic Workers, at Fruitvale council.

Each party will study alternate proposals submitted by the other during the next week; progress was made toward agreement and it is hoped that this will continue at the next meeting scheduled for April 18.

Council approved the dates recommended by the village foreman, O. A. Jamieson, for the annual clean-up week and clerk R. W. Maddison will be advertising this in the local newspaper some time this week. Claen-up week will start April 11 and be completed April 15; collections for clean-up purposes will be in addition to the normal garbage collection service operated by the village, and is to assist householders in getting rid of rubbish that they may have accumulated since the fall clean-up last year and in making their properties more attractive.

The village has now received approval on two of its three winter works projects and will be commencing work on them immediately; it is anticpaited that federal and provincial approval on the third project will be forthcoming within the next few days. Work on the retaining wall project on Beaver Street, as well as the Kootenay Avenue improvement program, will be started as soon as a crew can be secured through the National Employment Office in Trail. Once the third project is approved, some of this crew will be moved on to it; this project involves an improvement program in the cemetery including the laying of topsoil, seeding of lawns, marking out of a children's cemetery, etc.

First, second and third readings were given to the village's sewer extension financing by-law, which will authorize council to issue $26,000 in debentures for the purpose of several extensions to the municipal sewer. The original draft of this bylaw was returned by the department of municipal affairs with several recommendations; the revised bylaw will now be sent back for approval prior to council's advertising its intention to do this work under a debenture issue. After the 30-day petition period, in which the council could be requested to hold a vote on the bylaw by the owner-electors, the adoption of the by-law will take place and the quashing period commence; in the meantime another bylaw will be drafted to cover temporary borrowing pending sale of the debentures to permit the village to proceed with construction.

Tenders on the purchase of a new heavy duty truck have now been turned over to the works committee for study, and recommendations are to be made at the next full council meeting.

Salmo Plays Host To First Convention

SALMO — Fifty-five Guiders and Commissioners converged on the village to hold their semi-annual area conference here for the first time.

Greeted and welcomed by Commissioner Merle Hanson as village representative, the morning session got under way with registering in charge of Mrs. J. Watts and coffee was served to the delegates by Mrs. D. Read.

The meeting opened with Mrs. A. Rizzuto in the chair and the colors being presented by Girl Guides and "quiet time" was led by Mrs. E. Hearn, District Commissioner.

Mrs. D. Champion, Kokanee Division Commissioner, welcomed the ladies and greetings were extended from Provincial Commissioners Mrs. G. Jones, Mrs. H. F. Hutchinson and Regional Council representative Lloyd Galbraith of Nelson. The latter attended the morning period.

Division, area training and Ranger region reports including statistics were covered during most of the morning session. New business, a weekend at Camp Rory, June 3, 4, 5, for training was discussed and plans for delegate to Covina, California, were assembled.

At noon the delegation was served luncheon in the Legion, and provided by the local association. Grace was given by Mrs. J. Fletcher and toast to the Queen was proposed by Mrs. R. Harding, Division Commissioner. Following the meal, Mrs. G. Barnes read an inspirational thought entitled "What Guiding Means to Me".

Members then separated into discussion groups divided into three phasts: 1. Bearing in mind that on the day she is enrolled a Brownie becomes a member of a world organization and is a potential candidate for some international event: what part of the "international" training that a girl receives as a Brownie, as a Guide, Ranger-Cadet should be the responsibility of the Guider, the commissioners and the local association?

2. What opportunities are offered in each district, division and province that provide the kinds of experience a girl must have as a candidate for national or international events?

3. What is the ideal kind of Guide or Guider to represent Canada in an international event? How should they be selected? For most international events, camping skills are a must, and what other qualifications are considered important?

Other points of interest were discussion on "How could 'across-the-border' visits be extended and how can divisions stimulate more interest in the World Friendship Fund?

Mrs. R. Leadbeater of Salmo told of her trip to Mexico where she attended the Guide Cabana earlier this year.

The afternoon session closed with a few inspiring words from Mrs. A. M. Rizzuto, Area Commissioner.

SAWLOG INCREASE IS TEN MILLION FEET

CRANBROOK — Sawlog scale in March for Nelson Forest District, covering both East and and West Kootenay, compiled by the B.C. Forest Service, tallied 88,048,922 fbm, up nearly ten million feet from the corresponding month of 1965. Heft of the scale continued to be spruce at 35,963,180 fbm, up nearly two million feet, with fir second at 14,132,755 fbm, and larch in comfortable third place again at 12,312,056 fbm.

The month brought the scale for the first quarter of 1966 to 242,741,696 fbm, compared with 224,648,006 fbm for the corresponding quarter last year.

Minor products scaled were 536,140 lineal feet of poles and piles, more than double the tally for the month last year, but the only other minor product scaled was nine cords of fence posts.

Most lumber companies reached a logging peak for the year during March, toward stockpiling in their plant yards to tide them over road restrictions and logging suspension in their regular timber stands during snow runoff in the woods. Runoff so far appears orderly at lower levels. It is usually complete at high altitude in late May or early June.

Future Engineers Club Hears Icanda's Ressi

CASTLEGAR (Staff) — The Future Engineers Club of SHSS heard an address last week from a representative of Icanda Ltd., the firm concerned with the construction of the coffer dam at the Arrow damsite.

The lecture was given by Arturo Ressi, a graduate of Bologna University. He told members that his firm specialized in soil and concrete works.

The firm, said Mr. Ressi, guaranteed excavations 300 feet deep and employs a relatively simple principle in carrying out this work.

The gravest problem to overcome is that of cave-ins but this could be remedied by pumping bentonite mud into excavations as they were made.

This mud has a four-fold purpose: first to equalize the pressure tending to cause a collapse, second, to give coherence to loose material by spreading through pervious layers and forming a type of jelly; third, to form a cake on the exterior of the wall, and last, to give strength through electrostatic attraction — provided by dissociated ions.

Over the test holes that have been drilled six feet apart, a clam-type of shovel is used to remove material, he continued. In order to keep the excavation straight the clam follows the test holes.

When the excavation is completed, concrete is poured into panels. At either end spacing pipes are placed which are taken out when the cement is hardening, thus permitting a watertight joint with the next panel.

Actually, said Mr. Ressi, it is the cake of bentonite mud, supported by the cement wall which is waterproof. Because of its uniqueness of form, this type of foundation has great flexibility of shape and strength.

Ten Per Cent Sales Climb

CRANBROOK — Unemployment insurance stamps sales at Cranbrook post office in March rose ten per cent compared to the previous March to total $7761.40 last month, Postmaster R. E. Fennessy reports, but other operations were down.

Postage stamps and meters returned $7256.23, compared with $7761.16 the previous March. Money orders issued numbered 3627 and money orders paid 2330, compared with 3299 issued and 2447 paid the corresponding month of 1965.

Mr. Fennessy reports the delivery of mail to street addresses is scheduled for April 25, with practice runs for the delivery staff to start April 18 under supervision. Uniforms for the appointed staff have now been delivered.

Light Company Lost Long Time Employee J. Craft

SOUTH SLOCAN—Employees of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company gathered at the West Kootenay No. 3 plant hall in South Slocan Friday, April 1, to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. J. George Craft, the former having been with the company for 38 years. For the latter part of his service, Mr. Craft has been assistant electrical supervisor at the South Slocan plant.

Tom Wilson, master of ceremonies, presented Mr. Craft with a scroll signed by the West Kootenay Power and Light Company employees and a purse of money. Mrs. Craft was also presented with a gift of money.

Art Lambert, Kinnaird, general superintendent of West Kootenay Power and Light Company, presented Mr. Craft with a silver tray on behalf of the company. Dave Bell, superintendent of plants, and Mr. Lambert spoke on Mr. Craft's many commendable years of service with the company. Mr. Craft's response and thank you included a resume of his travels whilst employed for the company. He started as an apprentice with Cominco at Trail in 1923, went to Kelowna in 1926 for a year, then in 1928 came to South Slocan and worked on the construction of West Kootenay plant No. 3. He returned to Trail with Cominco, was transferred to Vancouver Island with Coast Copper, then to Stewart to work for Big Missouri mine in 1935. Another transfer to Cariboo Mines in Nova Scotia till 1941, back to Cominco in Trail, then to Brilliant to work on the construction of No. 5 plant. In 1944 he was transferred to South Slocan No. 3 plant, where he has been till his retirement.

The evening was organized and catered to by the retirement committee and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Doug James, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Penny, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob McFadden. At Mr. and Mrs. Craft's request, a "musical" theme was the vogue of the evening.

Since Mr. Craft had been chairman of the Castlegar school board during the building of the Stanley Humphries High School, several of Norman Fishwick's music students attended and entertained. Ken Culley played piano selections, Miss Muriel Think gave a saxophone solo accompanied by Ken Culley; Rick Waldie accompanied Jim Waldie in a bass solo and Linda Culley accompanied Lorren Culley in a clarinet solo.

Mrs. Ken Ross, accompanied by Mrs. Violet Brewster on the piano, sang "Sunshine of Your Smile", "An Artist's Life" and "Without a Song". Jock Hawkins, accompanied by Mrs. Brewster on the piano, entertained with several Scottish numbers. Walter Dehnel played the accordian and Mrs. Hostetter entertained on the electric organ.

Decoration of the hall, in keeping with the musical theme of the evening, was done by Mrs. Tom Wilson and Mrs. Stuart Wallach. Black music bars on white were on the side walls while many sheets of Mr. and Mrs. Craft's favorite songs were on the front wall. Floral arrangements on the tables and around the hall were beautifully done by Mrs. Jim Street.

There were about 150 guests present, coming from South Slocan, Trail, Castlegar, Kinnaird, Nelson and Needles. Dancing to live and taped music was enjoyed.

world 20 years ago have become obsolete. Maybe the little men who ride in the UFOs complained about the cold in the open models; it's pretty cold this time of year, especially in Michigan where many of the sightings have been made.

Surely, only earthlings change the appearance of their vehicles frequently strictly for sales purposes. The performance of the flying saucer appeared to be every bit as good as that of the flying cigar. Many an old car runs just as well as the new ones but still its appearance rules it out. That may have been the fate of the flying saucers.

Remember Backlog

It is probable that no member of Parliament would like to see a repetition of the kind of spectacle provided by the Commons at the height of the Munsinger affair. But beyond that, the mood of the House at the moment is most likely compounded of a variety of feelings—anguish, smoldering resentment, remorse, anxiety, humiliation—and even a touch of devil-may-care flippancy—provided as usual by Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh.

Perhaps the most constructive reflections to come from any member since Parliament went off on its disastrous binge have been those of Health and Welfare Minister Allan J. MacEachen, who discussed the image of Parliament before an audience of Liberals in Winnipeg.

Wisely resisting the temptation to apportion blame, Mr. MacEachen pondered instead whether Parliament had learned anything from the past few weeks, whether it would forget about personalities and concentrate on honest differences in policy, whether members could agree to make Parliament work and, if the problem was in the functioning of Parliament itself, to agree on practical, sensible reforms.

Mr. MacEachen acknowledges that all the reforms in the world will not improve Parliament measurably without some self-control on the part of members themselves, but given this self-control, the Commons can profit by thinking seriously about how to encourage members to think and act more often in terms of public interest rather than political partisanship.

The assessment is fair and the conclusions sensible. An obligation rests upon each member to make a conscious effort to rid himself of the idea that he was sent to Ottawa to play a private game of politics and that the nation is ready to applaud every point scored.

No one will object to a clash of parties, or even of individuals, if it springs from genuine party differences. Seldom in recent months has this approach been evident; Hansard tells its own story of cantankerous unconcern, wilful obstruction and arrogant disdain for the business of the House.

Perhaps, as Mr. MacEachen suggested, an interparty committee might set to work to devise guidelines which will be effective in curbing verbal excesses. But even success in this endeavor would hardly be cause for rejoicing, since it is only a preliminary to the immense task of clearing away the parliamentary backlog.

The Government shows alarming signs of being satisfied with a job well done and is apparently preparing to rise for an Easter holiday lasting two, or even three, weeks. This is sheer nonsense, as Mr. MacEachen, no doubt, will point out to his party's caucus.—Globe and Mail.

Canadian Diplomat Praised

A popular figure in Georgetown is Milton F. Gregg, Canadian commissioner to British Guiana. His activities are outlined in this story by a Canadian Press reporter who was told by one diplomat that Gregg is doing "a great job for Canada."

By CY FOX

Georgetown (CP)—All over this capital city of British Guiana, sometimes sensitive to the shortcomings of North Americans, praise can be heard for a wiry, dedicated diplomat from Canada, still vigorously active despite his 73 years.

Milton F. Gregg, who won the Victoria Cross in the First World War, was a labor minister in the former Liberal government of Louis St. Laurent.

Now, as Canadian commissioner to British Guiana, he can be seen striding quickly about this sun-baked town — conferring with government officials, welcoming or seeing off Canadian visitors, planning trips to the interior of a sprawling country of frontier-like ruggedness.

Once member of Parliament for York-Sunbury, N.B., Mr. Gregg has been commissioner since March, 1964. With him, and involved in a host of local activities, is his wife the former Mrs. Erica Deichmann of Sussex, N.B.

People here will tell the visitor about her welfare work. An artist, too, she displays examples of Guianese art obtained in Georgetown or during the trips she and her husband regularly make inland.

Mrs. Gregg, a gracious, smiling enthusiast for many things Guianese, has fashioned from local beads and other objects a variety of intricate "mobiles" — or patterns of delicate, connected items that swing gently from the ceiling of her gleaming home in a Georgetown suburb.

Village Found

QUEBEC (CP) — An ancient village discovered last summer in far northern Quebec may once have been occupied by Norsemen, says Dr. Jacques Rousseau, former director of the National Museum in Ottawa.

Possibly 12 families lived there before 1500, says Dr. Rousseau, now lecturing at Laval University here.

The village was discovered by archeologist Thomas Lee. Disclosure of its exact location, in the Ungava region, has been withheld for fear of pilfering.

bi from Arimathea, a tiny mountain village near the Samaritan border, hastened to provide an honorable burial for the crucified rabbi from another rural hamlet, Nazareth.

None of the slain man's comrades or relatives had dared intervene to perform that service. Mostly they had disappeared, scattered in fright.

But Joseph, a virtual outsider, described in Scripture as a prominent public figure, a "respected member" of the civil - religious council, the sanhedrin, "who had not consented" to the charges against Jesus, and who courageously clung to his position, even after it was spurned and Jesus was discredited and dead, stepped forward to attend the fallen, unwanted one, whom others had abandoned or shunned.

A nervy man, this Arimathean, this son of the upcountry.

His vigor and incisive intelligence had earned him ranking prestige in the sophisticated circles of Jerusalem, after he had moved there from his native town. He also had prospered, and owned a spacious house and grounds. He would not lightly jeopardize this estate.

Yet now he approached a criminating task. Under precepts of the Torah, it was defiling to touch the corpse of a condemned man especially one crucified.

"A hanged man is accursed," Moses wrote. In Israel, such a death was the utmost infamy and shame.

No executed criminal, however he died, could be laid in a family tomb. Yet Joseph so intended, in the face of the ostracism this likely would cause him.

Captain John T. Randell and the crew of the schooner I'm Alone were released 37 years ago today—in 1929—two weeks after their ship, flying the Canadian flag, had been sunk by gunfire from U.S. Coast Guard vessels. A rum-runner, the I'm Alone had been chased for 36 hours by the U.S. ships after being challenged near the Louisiana coast. Canada charged the U.S. with piracy and presented a claim for $386,000, amid much popular outcry. The protests died down after a few months and the claim was settled for $50,666. One crew man of the I'm Alone had been drowned in the sinking.

Not Always Christian

Although Easter is one of the most solemn Christian feasts, the names by which it is known often are not Christian at all. In France, Easter is called Paques; in Italy it is called Pasqua; and in Spanish-speaking nations it is called Pascua. The encyclopedia notes that all three words are derived from the Hebrew word Pesah, which is the name for the Jewish feast of Passover. The English word, Easter, may have come from Eostre, a Teutonic goddess of spring, or from the Teutonic festival of spring called Eostur.

The Easter bunny may originally have been an Egyptian rabbit. In ancient Egypt the rabbit symbolized birth and new life, and some ancient peoples considered it a symbol of the moon. The rabbit may have become an Easter symbol because the moon determines the date of Easter.

Hints From Heloise

Now listen folks:

Today I want to talk to you about ground meat (hamburger) and its s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r-s . . .

And my, can you stretch a pound of that stuff, IF it hasn't already got filling or stretcher in it.

Ask your meat market man BEFORE you buy it. If he turns red (the color of the hamburger!) or blushes, you KNOW it has.

Now, remember that we told you yesterday to put a *spoonful of water over a bouil*lon cube, and when it dissolves, mix well into your pound of meat.

And those of you who are on a strict budget, can always add what the meat industry calls "Extenders". These extenders make a pound of ham*burger weigh more and it goes* further. That's why I call 'em s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r-s.

After talking with a reputable meat packer, I learned just what extenders are, what CAN and should be used, and the things that CANNOT be added to hamburger because they show or just won't mix.

Extenders are something that we add to ground meat, which blend into the meat, and when it's cooked it seems to have disappeared, and the meat looks like ALL meat. In other words, it doesn't show anything has been added. Some things that you add to ground meat will NOT disappear when cooked. This SHOWS that extenders have been added.

So, you can see there is really a big difference.

Naturally, some things we do not want to disappear—such as grated carrots—because they add color etc.

Ground or finely crushed corn flakes, or any other cereal that suits your taste, such as oatmeal (pre-cooked or raw), bread crumbs, cracker crumbs, packaged turkey stuffing which contains sage (and that is wonderful . . . wow!) can be blended into the hamburger and will disappear when it's cooked.

Now, here are some hints on what NOT to use because they won't blend with the meat without showing when it's cooked—if that's what you want:

Cream of wheat . . . just plain won't blend, etc.

Rice will show up in the cooking as a separate ingredient.

So, don't forget, gals, try those wonderful stretchers and extenders. They're quite worthy in my book.

Use them along with the bouillon cubes. (And I often wonder why somebody doesn't make HAM bouillon cubes.)

And don't forget to try that packaged turkey stuffing. If you can't afford it, save your bread and use that for stretching, and when you add your liquid to your meat loaf, just put a dab or so of sage into the liquid, then squeeze and mix away. Ano don't ask me how much a "dab" is! Just use it according to your own taste.

You can also use poultry seasoning instead of sage. I sometimes mix both together.

Anyway, here's to it. I do suggest that you try these meat extenders.

Last night, I put chili powder (yep, one teaspoonful) with some grated onions in my pound of hamburger meat, and it was a knock-out!

Sort of gave it the flavor of barbecue. Imagine!

Love you,
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

If you have kittens around the house, and have had trouble keeping them off your furniture, try this:

Get an old wicker basket or dog bed, and turn it upside down so it can rock.

Now just sit back and watch the wildest game of "King-of-the-Mountain" you have ever seen.

DEAR HELOISE:

Recently I bought new white plastic window shades (minus rollers) for my three kitchen windows.

I had to cut them narrower for the rollers.

I was in need of shelf liner when I cleaned my cabinet over the stove, so I took the little "rolls" left from the shades, and they were just the right width for my shelves.

They are wonderfully white and easy to wipe clean.

You can stick a pin through the shade at the width you want, and as you unroll the shade, you can cut right down to each pin hole! Slick?

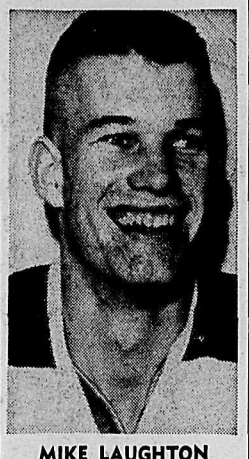
Kimberley appeared to be the better of the two clubs and held command of the play until the last three minutes of regulation time.



MIKE LAUGHTON

Finney opened the scoring for Drumheller at the 5:07 mark of the third period while Tony Kollman made it three to two and Bill McCully notched the tying marker at the 19:21 point.

The usual close fore-checking game played by the Dynamiters slackened about the 15 minute mark of the third period and the minors, fighting desperately to make a game of it, did just that by scoring the goals and forcing the extra sessions.

In the opinion of Ron Butlin, owner of the Calgary Spurs, who lost out in the playoff series against Drumheller, Kimberley should take the series in the next four games and by lopsided scores.

The only possible excuse for the Dynamiters last Friday night could be laid to the long layoff since their last game eight days ago — but it wasn't mentioned by coach Les Lilley or any of the players.

An estimated 700 Dynamiters fans plus the Kimberley pipe band made the trip to Calgary and provided one of the noisiest rooting sections seen by veteran news reporters at the Corral for many years.

Second game of the series goes at the Corral tonight at 8:30 before the teams journey to Kimberley for the remaining games in the five game series starting April 15.

Nicklaus Blows; Knudson Survives

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Paul Harney, a New England pro, and British Ryder Cupper Peter Butler shot a stroke ahead in the Masters golf tournament as Jack Nicklaus blew to a four-over-par 76 in the second round.

The graying Harney, from Sutton, Mass., one-putted eight greens and posted a 68 for a 36-hole score of 143. Butler, a dogged competitor from the English Midlands, matched that total with a steady 71.

They were the only men in the original field of 103 able to beat Augusta National's par 72 in two days of fighting the demanding 6980-yard course and tricky winds.

What started out as possibly another runaway for the powerful, talented Nicklaus, who won by nine shots a year ago with a record 271, suddenly turned into an exciting free-for-all.

Sixty-four players were within 10 shots of the lead, all qualified for the last two rounds today and Sunday. Barely making it was South Africa's Gary Player ,who shot a 77 for 151.

George Knudson of Toronto qualified with a second-round 76 and a 36-hole score of 149.

HAD TROUBLE ON GREENS

Nicklaus suffered agony on three greens. He three-putted five and missed seven putts of from two to five feet in what he described as "one of my worst putting rounds in golf."

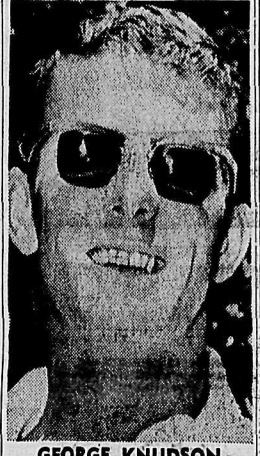
He skied to a 76—eight costly shots over his opening day 68—and found himself tied at 144 with four others, including favored Arnold Palmer and red hot Doug Sanders, both of whom charged back with rounds of 70.

Also at 144 were Bob Rosburg, the 39-year-old Portland, Ore., campaigner who shot 71, and raw-boned Don January of Dallas, Tex., who shot a 73.

One of the day's most exciting performances came from 53-year-old Ben Hogan, who played almost flawlessly in registering a 71.

He was a replica of the Hogan of the 1950s, hitting every shot as if from a rifle and missing only one of 18 greens. He putted creditably in stringing out 17 pars and a single birdie at the 13th where he chipped to within five feet.

"I'm not putting as well as I could, but I haven't had any three-putt greens," Hogan said proudly. For almost a decade he has been plagued by putting nerves.



GEORGE KNUDSON

Tied with him at 145 were Mike Souchak, who shot 74, and long-hitting Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., who had a 73.

Long Series Says Reay After Hawks 2-1 Victory

By JERRY GLADMAN

CHICAGO (CP) — If Bobby Hull's sprained left knee is anything more than minor, Chicago Black Hawks could be in trouble although they lead their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series with Detroit Red Wings 1-0.

But if the Wings, who lost 2-1 to Hawks Thursday night, think back to last year's semi-final series, they won't rely too much on Hull being any less effective.

It was just prior to the opening of the 1964-65 semi-finals that the Hawks were doubtful about starting Hull because a knee injury, which had plagued him throughout the season, was acting up again. This may have given Red Wings added confidence.

It's history now that the explosive 27-year-old left winger started the series and scored seven goals in the seven games as the Hawks took the semi-final.

But Hull's injury does appear minor and few knew he was injured until after the game.

HOPES ITS MINOR

"It's a minor one, like the one before, I hope," said Hull after the game, his knee swatched in a pressure bandage.

Twice this season, Hull has been sidelined with similar injuries, once for four games.

"I looked at his knee," said team physician Dr. Myron J. Tremaine. "He has a sprain, but it's not serious. Not yet."

Hull said he was injured in the second period. "It was the last shot I took in the second period, just as the whistle blew. That's when Bergman (Detroit defenceman Gary Bergman) hit me on the inside.

"I got halfway downstairs on the way to the dressing room and it started to hurt. It was bothering me in the third period."

BERT MARSHALL

Hull, who is usually on the ice for almost two-thirds of a game, wasn't used nearly as much Thursday night. Coach Billy Reay indicated it was more a part of a plan to rest Hull than having anything to do with a knee injury.

HELD HIM BACK

"They (Wings) kept waiting for us to put him out and we kept holding him back," said Reay.

"He was fresh as a daisy after the game."

Hull was used mainly on power plays and even made a rare appearance on the point while the Hawks were one man short. He fired 13 shots in the direction of the Detroit net.

On his winning goal at 11:54 of the first period, he fired a pass to linemate Chico Maki and then charged goalie Roger Crozier. He arrived at the same time as the puck nd jammed it in.

Hull wasn't the only Hawk casualty. Defenceman Doug Jarrett spent the night in hospital for x-rays of a back injury.

BROKE STICK

"I took a run at Marshall (Detroit defenceman Bert Marshall) and he broke his stick across the small of my back when we collided," said Jarrett. "It's only a bruise."

In the same collision, Marshall suffered a 16-inch cut inside the right thigh. As Jarrett went into the boards, his skate appeared to come up and hit Marshall.

"It's a real bad cut," said coach Sid Abel.

Marshall came back after treatment and played the remainder of the game.

Despite the win, Reay wasn't satisfied with his team's effort.

"I don't know if it was the three-day lay-off . . . but neither team looked sharp. It looks like a long series. Seven games like this and I'll be bushed."

Habs, Hawks Take

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Beliveau's goal with just over two minutes remaining earned Montreal Canadiens a 4-3 victory Thursday night in the first game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series against Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Montreal team captain took a forward pass from Claude Provost, who had stolen the puck from a Toronto defender, and beat Terry Sawchuk in the Leafs' net with a wrist shot that rose a bare six inches off the ice.

Beliveau had Toronto defenceman Bob Baun draped around his neck as he let the shot go.

The 14,410 fans had plenty to roar about, as with only 10 seconds remaining in the contest, Toronto centre Dave Keon drifted in alone to beat Lorne (Gump) Worsley in the Montreal nets.

However, referee Frank Udvari disallowed the goal, ruling that the play was offside.

Toronto led 2-1 at the end of the first period and Montrel held a 3-2 edge at the end of the second.

OUTSHOT LEAFS

The Canadiens outshot the Leafs 32-28 on the night's play, holding a 10-6 edge in the opening period, and 10-9 in the final stanza. Toronto held a 13-12 margin in the middle frame.

In addition to Beliveau's winner, Canadiens got power-play goals from J. C. Tremblay in the first period and Bobby Rousseau in the second with John Ferguson also scoring in the middle frame.

Toronto marksmen were Eddie Shack and Frank Mahovlich in the opening 20 minutes, and Bob Pulford in the third.

Shack got the Leafs off to a good start with just over two minutes elapsed in the game.

The goal came as the direct result of a Montreal defensive lapse. Ferguson passed the puck to Shack's stick inside the Montreal blueline. Shack relayed to Red Kelly who passed to Pulford at the corner of the Montreal net.

The Leaf centre promptly diverted the puck back to Shack who was cruising in front of Worsley and Toronto held a 1-0 edge.

SCORE ON POWER PLAY

Canadiens got that one back 10 minutes later on a power-play goal by defenceman J. C. Tremblay. He beat Sawchuk from just inside the blueline as the Toronto defence and teammate Yvan Cournoyer acted as an effective screen.

At 16:09 Beliveau picked up a hooking penalty, and one second before he was due to return to the ice Frank Mahovlich gave the Leafs a 2-1 lead.

Mahovlich deflected Armstrong's goalmouth pass past Worsley, after the Montreal goaltender had moved to the opposite side of the net to defend against the Toronto captain.

The second period was just over three minutes old when Ferguson evened the score. He beat Sawchuk with a high shot from close quarters, after centre Ralph Backstrom had dug the puck out.

Rousseau gave Montreal the lead for the first time as he combined with J. C. Tremblay and Cournoyer for a power-play goal while Toronto defenceman Larry Hillman was sitting out a high-sticking penalty.

FIGHT BREAKS OUT

Three minutes later a fight broke out when Leafs' Armstrong threw a punch at J. C. Tremblay behind the Montreal net. Tremblay's blueline partner Ted Harris stepped in, followed by Ferguson and Douglas.

Armstrong drew two minutes for roughing and Harris the same for spearing.

Pulford threatened to send the game into overtime as he beat Worsley a mark with a from the left centre picked u at the Montrea Wally Boyer as high gear and peared to squirt ley's right arm stick to make t

Terry Goes For John

CLEVELAND (AP). — Cleveland Indians announced Thursday they had traded holdout pitcher Ralph Terry along with cash to Kansas City Athletics for southpaw John O'Donoghue.

The Athletics announced at Bradenton, Fla. the cash in the deal was $25,000. The Athletics also announced that Ed Lopat, their executive vice-president, will start negotiating with Terry, who had not yet signed, a Cleveland contract.

Terry, the last holdout in major league baseball, had an 11-6 record with the Indians last year, his first season with the Tribe after five years with New York Yankees.

O'Donoghue, 26, won nine games and lost 18 with the Athletics in 1965. He had a 3.94 earned run average.

Stanley Out for Series; Gamble Might Start

MONTREAL (CP)—Good Friday was a day of rest and meditation for most Canadians, but for Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, it was business as usual.

Coaches Toe Blake of Montreal and Toronto's Punch Imlach had their clubs on the forum ice for workouts Friday to eliminate any kinks their players may have picked up in Canadiens' 4-3 win Thursday night in the opening game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

Neither coach worked his team too hard, with Canadiens the early birds starting at 10 a.m. after an hour-long bus ride down from their Laurentian Mountains' retreat.

Imlach ran his club through a 45-minute practice—15 minutes less than Blake—minus ailing first - string netminder Johnny Bower and all-star defenceman Allan Stanley.

Bower is bedded down in a midtown hotel with the flu and is lost to the Leafs for tonight's second game that gets under way here at 8 p.m.

Stanley is out for the season because of a recurrence of a knee injury which caused him to miss the last 10 games of the regular 70-game schedule.

MADE ALL-STARS

Imlach said Stanley had been his most effective defender all season and will be sorely missed. The 40-year-old blueline veteran was picked to the second all-star team in the first half-season voting.

"We've had more injuries this year than at any time since I came into the league to our defence—and that includes the goaltenders," Imlach said after Friday's workout.

The Toronto coach did some rapid figuring and came up with the answer that only durable Tim Horton of his defenders had escaped injury this season.

Horton played the full 70-game schedule, while Larry Hillman, who was recalled early in the year, appeared in 48 games.

Both coaches agreed on one point. The clubs were "tight" for the series opener.

ALLAN STANLEY

The Toronto coach said he will likely start Terry Sawchuk again in the Leafs' goal, although "I might just throw Bruce Gamble in there for the second game."

Blake was quiet and appeared happy his club had won after being down 2-1 after the first 20 minutes. He said that the comeback gave his players a lift and perhaps eased the tension a bit for them. The Leafs held a 7-5-2 edge on regular season play.

Big Jean Beliveau, who accounted for the winner with less than three minutes remaining to play, said Canadiens had played better games and he was glad "we got that one out of our system and still got a win."

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

Sunday, April 10, 1966

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 — Give the day the benefit of the doubt —there are so many good things about. Look promptly for answers to problems in which you may have become involved. A bright outlook is yours for the seeing.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Your outlook indicates more self-confidence and expectation of good happenings, the very believing in which can bring them more quickly. Associates may aid.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — This day needs team players as well as individualists. To know when to follow which line is up to your keen discretion. A few moments of contemplation will help you to decide.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) —Planetary influences are somewhat mixed now. But keep things in hand, do not fear what lies ahead and you can not only win laurels on your own but be a leader.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Wait till sure before you leap. There's no sense in having to repeat action, nor in wearing down fine energies. A small assist to another may turn out to be a big boon.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Whether you have little or much to do, your attitude and approach to all matters will be important — from the start. Stress your affability and charm.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Do not be anxious if things are not working out as rapidly as you would like. You are on the right track. A good day for making decisions, granting favors.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER p2 (Scorpio) — A little more restraint may be needed to improve your chances for gain now. Don't rush into things. Plan and prepare well.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — If benefits seem slow in coming, do not let up in your conscientious efforts; new opportunities are in the making. You will enjoy the good "little" things where you really look for them.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — With your innate common sense and clever management, you should do well now. But, if you should run into difficulty, stop — determine the cause. Make a better try next time around.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — What is popular is not necessarily right or best for you. This goes for persons, places and things. Look to fundamentals, loyalty, integrity in order to lead.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Home-making, improving and tightening your schedule, managership generally calls for plenty of attention. Benefits promised through consistent common sense effort!

YOU BORN TODAY have strength of purpose and the acumen needed to handle big enterprises and the patience for tedious tasks. Aries is a Sign of resolution, swift action when required, and that "sixth sense" needed for emergencies. Steer your way with sufficient thought for future conditions, and your advanced thinking will bring you new glory. Once you curb tendencies toward over-aggressiveness, your innate industriousness and vision will help you to climb the steep (or easy) hills with equal grace and dignity. Birthdate of: Wm. Hazlitt, British critic, essayist; William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army; Clare Booth Luce, author, playwright, stateswoman.

15 Men Sentenced To Die Awaited Result of Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons' decision Tuesday night to retain the death penalty for capital murders may have been a matter of life or death to 15 men now awaiting dates with the hangman.

The Commons voted 143 to 112 against a motion to abolish the death penalty. The cabinet can still commute death sentences.

Eleven of those sentenced to die are in Quebec jails, three in British Columbia and one in Alberta.

They include two Quebec separatists, a morbid gravedigger and assorted hoodlums.

Roger Fulton, convicted in Vancouver Oct. 20, has the first appointment with the executioner—April 12. But a reprieve is expected since he is appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada. The case has not yet been argued there.

Lloyd Lyding, convicted in Edmonton May 14 is sentenced to die May 18. He was originally scheduled to hang Tuesday but was granted a reprieve until May 18. He lost an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

They are:

Claude Levasseur, convicted at Drummondville, Que., last April 28, sentenced to die July 15.

Francois Schirm and Edmond Guenette, separatists convicted in Montreal May 21 of shooting a gun shop operator in an arms raid, executions were postponed to Sept. 30 from April 22.

Roland and Jacques Poirier, two brothers convicted in Montreal June 11 of beating nightclub dancer Margot Turner to death, executions set for May 20.

Robert Collin, convicted in Montreal Oct. 8, execution set for July 15.

Roger Chevalier, convicted in Montreal Nov. 20, execution postponed to Sept. 23 after it was originally set for April 29.

Roger Poirier, convicted in Montreal Nov. 25 of killing fellow prisoner Bernard Robitaille in a prison stabbing, execution set for July 28.

William Tamas, convicted in Montreal Jan. 18, execution set for May 13.

Frederick Turner, convicted Jan. 30 in New Westminster, B.C., execution set for May 17.

Marcel Bernier, the Shawinigan, Que., gravedigger convicted Feb. 24 in the sex slaying of a teen-age girl, execution set for July 22.

Michael Kuzyk, convicted in New Westminster March 2, execution set for June 7.

Claude Martin, a Montreal longshoreman convicted April 1, for the murder last summer of a bartender, execution set for Sept. 30.

Extensive Development Planned at Silmonac

Final planning is now under way for an extensive development program on the Silmonac Mines Ltd. property in the Slocan area.

The company was formed by Silver Standard Mines Ltd., Moneta Porcupine Mines, Violamac Mines and Oil Participations, Inc. During 1963-1964, these companies financed a large scale underground development and diamond drilling program. The present program will start almost immediately and will also be on a large scale. Funds for the work will be provided partially by the participating mining companies and partially by public financing.

Silmonac Mines owns 63 Crown granted mineral claims that are favorably located astride the central section of the main Slocan Lode. This geological structure is a large mineralized shear that has been traced by underground openings and surface exposures for a total distance of six miles. During the period of the boom times in the Slocan, prior to 1927, the mines that occupied the eastern and western ends of the lode produced metals that today would have a gross value in excess of $72,000,000.

Previous work on the Silmonac property produced several small lenses of high grade silver-lead ore. A further result of the earlier work is a much clearer present understanding of the complex Slocan geology and ore controls. The current work will test the lode at a higher elevation than before and will be directed towards several known tangents.

W. M. Sharp, who has had much experience in the Slocan silver belt, has been appointed consulting geologist for Silmonac Mines.

Mining Speculators Eyeing Maritimes

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Speculators in Canada's mining industry, barely recovered from a buying binge in the Timmins area of northern Ontario and the Pine Point district of the Northwest Territories, took a whack at another area this week — the Maritimes.

A promising sulphur prospect in Nova Scotia ignited the gambling instincts of speculators and pushed prices of two companies sharply higher.

The Toronto stock market had been relatively quiet until Tuesday when the Nova Scotia government announced the find near Truro then gamblers rushed in and pushed the price of New Senator - Rouyn up 29 to 58 cents on 6,185,993 shares.

Peel - Elder, which jointly owns the property with New Senator, climbed 6⅜ to 25⅜ on 100,414 shares.

Trading in Peel - Elder was delayed for most of Wednesday's morning session on the Toronto and American exchanges when the SA asked the company for a statement about its recent activity.

A reply was made indicating no orebody had been determined on the sulphur prospect.

MARKETS CLOSED FRIDAY

Markets were closed Friday because of the Easter holidays. Volume at Toronto was 27,142,911 shares compared with 27,864,213 last week.

Industrials continued their recent weekly advance with gains coming from most sections on the list.

Dominion Textile paced the group, climbing, 2½ to 37½. Aluminum, Massey - Ferguson and Burns were each up 2 to 43, 33½ and 16 respectively, Clairtone 1¼ to 8¾ and Shell 1 to 21¼.

Banks were down as a result of profit taking, and the bank index lost 2.23 to 143.32.

Base metals showed strength as demand for copper remained high.

Falconbridge added 3 at 102, Denison 2½ at 43½, Hudson Bay Mining 2¼ at 84¾ and Noranda ⅜ to 52⅛. Cominco slipped ⅞ to 43¾ and Pine Point ¾ to 62.

Among western oils, Banff increased 1⅝ to 19, Canadian Industrial Gas and Oil ¾ to 12½, Central Del Rio and Dome Petroleum ⅜ to 11¾ and 16⅛. Canadian Superior was off ⅛ to 20⅞.

On index, industrials were up 1.54 to 170.60, base metals 2.83 to 92.08, western oils 1.52 to 108.19 and the TSE 1.69 to 161.39. Golds dipped .27 to 170.61.

At Montreal, industrials were up 1.90 to 168.10, utilities .91 to 148.11 and papers .83 to 122.69. Banks were down 1.97 to 123.80. Volume was 4,019,342 shares compared with 6,383,284 last week

Offer Airline Stock to Public

NEW YORK (AP)—Hughes Tool Co. proposed Friday to sell to the public its 75.18-per-cent interest in Trans World Airlines.

The sale would involve 6,584,937 common shares valued at about $500,000,000.

Plans of Hughes Tool for the sale were disclosed in a registration statement TWA said was filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

The sale, which would be one of the largest secondary offerings in U.S. financial history, would be through a national underwriting syndicate headed by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

The Hughes Tool stock in TWA has been held for several years by trustees appointed by creditors who financed purchases of aircraft.

Hughes Tool Co. is wholly owned by Howard Hughes, the recluse financier who has not been seen publicly in several years.

SEC approval of the proposed stock offering would end a legal battle between Hughes and the TWA trustees and his creditors that began in 1961.

TWA filed a $135,000,000 trust suit against Hughes Tool. Hughes filed a $366,000,000 counter claim.

Despite court orders, Hughes refused to appear to defend or prosecute the suits and was represented by lawyers.

CANADA CLAIMED MARK

Canada's first hydrofoil boats, developed by Alexander Graham Bell between 1911 and 1920, set a world water speed record of 61.5 knots.

Predict Booming Uranium Future

OTTAWA (CP) — A bleak uranium picture for 1965 but booming future prospects were contained in the annual report of Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd. submitted to the government Wednesday.

Canadian sales of uranium slumped in 1965 as forecast, the Crown - owned corporation reported. Sales through Eldorado amounted to 7,059,466 pounds, down from 11,259,229 in 1964. Value of 1965 sales was $55,128,622, down from $76,298,692.

Eldorado said 1966 sales should remain about even with 1965 because of a government program to stockpile uranium against an expected growing world demand for uranium in the late 1960s and 1970s.

"Authorities believe there will be a rapid rise in demand in this period and that by the mid-1970s the industry will be hard pressed to meet it from the known reserves," the report said.

It would not be in Canada's interest to allow production to fall below the level of July, 1965, the date the stockpiling program was started, it added.

PREDICT MORE DEMAND

Growing use of nuclear power plants to generate electricity is expected to lead the way to bigger uranium markets, Eldorado reported. In 1965 there was capital investment of $1,750,000,000 by Western nations in such generating plants—almost half of this in the United States.

Experience had proved electric power from nuclear generators could be competitive with that from other sources in a number of industrial areas of developed countries, the report said.

Deposits of uranium in the Western world are not unlimited and "unless swift and effective action is taken to avert it, there will be a severe shortage of uranium much sooner than most people might expect."

Current forecasts for world use of uranium predicted consumption of 12,000 tons a year by 1970, 33,000 tons by 1975 and 60,000 tons by 1980.

Only three of Canada's four producing mines are capable of producing "substantial tonnages" of uranium, the report said.

EXHAUST ORE

"Of a score or more other Canadian mines that were in operation during the peak years of the 1950s, the majority either exhausted their ore bodies or could not be operated economically at prices in the $10 range.

"If all of the Canadian mines still producing uranium were to operate at full capacity, their combined output would be less than half that which was attained in the peak year 1959, when sales amounted to 15,900

"These facts give emphasis to the need for exploration, for development, for planning if Canada is to share to the full in the opportunities that lie ahead."

Dollar Up

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian dollar up 1-64 at 92 52-64 in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago 92 54-64. Pound Sterling up 1-16 at $2.79⅜.

TORONTO (CP)—Mark Donohue, president of paper-maker Donohue Brothers Ltd., is optimistic about an increase in earnings this year following a decline in 1965, the company's annual report states.

Mr. Donohue says $776,247 was spent last year to increase capacity and assure better quality control. The effect of these improvements was only partly realized in 1965, but this year the full impact of the improvements will be felt.

As reported earlier, earnings in 1965 were $1,492,854 or 83 cents a share, compared with $1,563,313 or 87 cents a share in 1964.

Power Figures

West Kootenay Power showed a gross earning figure, before taxes of $1,223,000 down from 1964's $1,389,000.

Net earnings were down exactly $100,000 — at $628,000 in 1965, compared with $728,000 in 1964.

Income taxes totalled $595,000, against $661,000 the previous year.

West Kootenay Power paid $3,080,000 in dividends to common shareholders (the company is wholly-owned by Cominco) and $35,000 to preferred shareholders.

The common dividend reflects a once-only special distribution to Cominco resulting from financial structure changes.

The company purchased more than $1.79 million in power from Cominco last year, against $1.54 million in 1964.

A new item of cost last year was $527,000 in bond interest — reflecting the introduction of debentures into the West Kootenay Power financial structure for the first time.

Here is the text of the West Kootenay annual report, prepared by president W. G. Gwyer: Your directors are pleased to report that the company experienced another active year in 1965, with significant increases being established in respect of customers served, electricity sold, and revenue received. The Consolidated Financial Statement and Auditors' Report for 1965 accompany this report.

Plan Exploration In Pine Point Area

Exploration in the form of line cutting and induced polarization survey will be undertaken by the Silver Ridge Mining Co. on its own behalf on the block of 36 claims acquired in the Pine Point area of Northwest Territories.

The company has had offers from two major companies to participate in the exploration of the ground, but the directors decided, after careful consideration of the offers to do the work at least the initial stages, on its own.

The work will be started as soon as conditions permit and will be under the direction of H. L. Hill and Associates Ltd.

The claims are in a most favourable location: Adjoining Pyramid Mines on the south; Pine Bell property, under the management of Leitch Gold Mines and Highland-Bell, on the north and west; and adjoining the property of Madrona which is under option to Hecla Mining Co., on the east; and next to the property of Homestake Silver Mines Ltd., which is under option of American Smelting and Refining Co. Ltd.

The company currently has approximately $75,000 in the treasury with which to continue the Pine Point exploration program as well as maintain the other company properties. The initial exploration of the Pine Point claims can be completed with the funds currently on hand.

A limited continuing exploration program is planned for the company's Sandon Silver property.

Development work at the Eagle Creek antimony property, located near Fairbanks, Alaska, was suspended last fall pending renegotiation of the lease agreement. It is proposed that the new agreement will relieve the company of the work commitments until a partner can be found for Silver Ridge in the development of this property.

As reported to shareholders earlier, the company has a third property consisting of 29 claims called the C.A. group located 20 miles due north of Granduc, in northwestern B.C. Near the boundary, on an adjoining property, a highgrade gold-silver "Premier" type mineralization, discoverey has been made. A program of detailed geological mapping is planned to determine the attitude and trend of the mineralization. On this same property but some distance north of the area of the high-grade discovery, a limited soil sampling program, in the last field season, returned some encouraging molybdenum results. An extensive program is scheduled for this company property next season.

Oil Company Hits Gas Price Report

VANCOUVER (CP) — Imperial Oil Co. said Thursday that in general the Morrow royal commission on gasoline prices could find "no acceptable alternatives to letting competition determine gasoline prices in the market place."

In a written statement issued more than two weeks after Judge C. W. Morrow handed down his report, Imperial described the report as complex and far-reaching and requiring a great deal of study.

It was the first comment made by Imperial on the commission's recommendations.

C. L. Goddard, manager of Imperial's Pacific marketing region, was quoted in the statement as saying the company found reassuring "that the report recognizes free competition in the market place is the best protection gasoline buyers have against unfair prices."

The statement said Imperial looked forward to discussing the report's recommendations with the provincial government.

It said, however, that Imperial disagreed with Judge Morrow's suggested five-year moratorium on new service station construction. The company said this would "leave growth areas underserviced and would effectively shut newcomers out of the gasoline business. . . (and) tend to reduce competition and customer service."

The statement also disagreed with Judge Morrow in his comment that consignment selling is as bad as resale price maintenance, which is illegal.

"Resale price maintenance is designed to keep retail prices up. In the gasoline market consignment was introduced as a temporary measure to protect dealers when prices are abnormally low, but when the need disappears so does consignment," said the Imperial statement.
