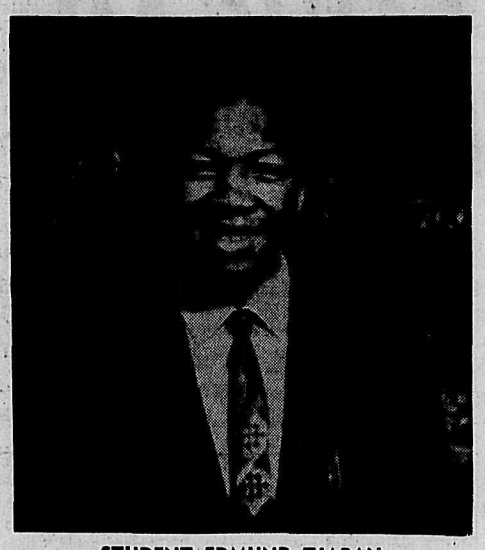
$90 Will Send This Boy to College... Will You Help?

Former Nelson Man Seeks Aid



STUDENT EDMUND TJABAN

By D. C. KOLFAGE
News Editorial Director

MORIJA, Basutoland — Negligible in Canada, but an almost insurmountable obstacle in this small British territory surrounded by South Africa, $90 stands between a young Mosatbo boy and his cherished dream of becoming a teacher.

The situation was brought to the attention of the Nelson Daily News by a former resident, Dr. N. D. Abbey, who now serves as a mission doctor at a 70-bed interdenominational hospital at Morija, where he met Edmund Tjaban through his sister, a nurse in training there. He issued a plea to readers of the Daily News to help the boy.

"I thought there might be some interested readers who would help," Dr. Abbey wrote. Basutoland, 'If all goes well," is soon to become independent, the doctor said. There has been a terrific drought and for this reason many lads, such as Edmund, are finding it difficult to raise school fees."

The $90 is really a difficult amount to raise in this country," he explained, "and anything that might be raised by the Daily News would be a great help to him."

Basutoland is a small British territory entirely surrounded by South Africa, and with a population of about one million persons of whom less than 2000 are white.

The Scott Hospital at Morija, where Dr. Abbey serves, handles large numbers of outpatients, from 100 to 200, daily. It is located at an altitude of 5700 feet above sea level, and, Dr. Abbey says, "We see no tropical diseases" but "The winters are bitterly cold."

Mrs. Abbey teaches nursing at the hospital, which conducts a four-year nurses training course. Their two sons, the doctor said, speak the native languages fluently.

Dr. Abbey's father, at one time, operated a bus line between Nelson and Kaslo.

Enclosed with his letter was a note from Edmund Tjaban. He was born in the village of Likhoele in the Mafeting District of Basutoland, and until he was 22 years of age, was a shepherd tending a flock of 450 sheep.

Edmund's father was a miner, and there were six children in the family.

At the age of 15 he began attending school on alternate days, while continuing as a shepherd.

In order that he could attend school on a full-time basis, his mother took over his shepherding duties until her death.

Edmund is now ready to attend teacher's training college, but is prevented in this desire by his lack of funds. It is on his behalf that Dr. Abbey has appealed to readers of the Nelson Daily News.

Basutoland is an emerging nation on the African continent, and is in dire need of trained personnel. The provision of the necessary funds for Edmund's education is a step in assisting this small territory to assume its proper roll in the affairs of Africa.

City Ratepayers To Pay Less on Education Taxes

Home-Owners Grant Offsets Tax Increase

Education taxes for the average property owner in the City of Nelson this year will run about $3 below those of 1965 in spite of an estimated 1.68 mill jump in the education tax rate.

Unanticipated increases in both the basic operating grants and the capital grants paid by the province to school boards, combined with a $79-per-teacher contribution by the provincial government toward teacher payments to the Canada Pension Plan were cited by a Nelson School District Seven board spokesman as being responsible for the small increase in the education mill rate which rose to an estimated 29.10 mills this year from 27.42 mills in 1965.

On an assessment of $4000, the increase on the mill rate will cost the property owner an extra $6.72. A $10 increase in the home-owners grant, paid by the provincial government and applied directly to education costs, more than offsets the tax increase.

Enabling the school board to nearly hold the line on the education rate this year was a jump in the basic operating grant from $774,260 in 1965 to $918,681 this year; an increase in the capital grant from $157,403 in 1965 to $172,044 this year; plus a 1965 operating surplus of $2090, miscellaneous grants of $450, and recoveries of expenditures totalling $32,985.

An additional $71 was gained through debt retirements.

Of the total school district budget of $2,091,775, only $964,545 has to be raised through taxation. Of this amount the City of Nelson must produce 45.9 per cent through its assessment of $15,215,971, resulting in an education mill rate of 29.10 mills.

Salmo village with a total assessment of $919,758, 2.78 per cent of the school district total, must raise $26,788. The rest of the school district with an assessment of $17,008,948, or 51.32 per cent of the total, must produce $494,990.

The School District statistics reveal that Nelson's assessment jumped from $14,816,337 in 1965 to $15,215,971 in 1966.

Of the $964,545 to be raised in the school district by taxation, $435,897 will go for capital, debt and other costs. The basic levy is $528,658.

There is a possibility that the school board portion of Federal grants in lieu of taxes in the City of Nelson may reduce the anticipated tax increase by an estimated one third of a mill. Clarification of this grant situation was not available Tuesday night.

Legionnaires Battle Fee Hoist, Retain Bonspiel

By FRED HAMILTON

MONTREAL (CP) — Proposals for an increase in the fees paid by members to the Dominion Command and for dropping the annual Legion bonspiel threw the 21st national convention of the Royal Canadian Legion into a turmoil Tuesday.

The proposal to eliminate the bonspiel was rejected overwhelmingly.

The suggestion for a 50-cent increase in the per capita tax, now $1.90 a year, still was under debate when the convention recessed until today.

Both proposals were part of a 13 - recommendation report from the ways and means committee which pointed to a budget deficit in 1966 and urged stringent economies.

Committee chairman Robert Kohaly of Estevan, Sask., said there has been "a continuous reduction in the excess of revenue over expenditure" in each of the last three years. This year's budget "reflects an increasing cost in operations accompanied by further requests for services."

Mr. Kohaly, who has been nominated unopposed as first vice-president, offered a report showing revenues of $994,586 and expenditures of $1,045,602 for a deficit of $51,016. The deficit could be higher.

Delegates expressed concern over falling advertising revenues of the Legion magazine, The Legionary. The magazine expects a profit this year of $17,654 and other profits of $51,451 are expected from building revenues, but these are not enough to offset predicted losses in service, administration and sports training plan accounts.

Financial portions of the report were adopted by the 1,049 voting delegates at what may be the largest convention in recent Legion history. There are several hundred fraternal delegates also present.

Boy Charged in Taxi Man Death

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police late Tuesday laid a charge of capital murder against a 14-year-old boy in connection with the beating death last Friday of taxi company manager Ernie Yet.

The boy is being held by juvenile authorities following his arrest at his East Vancouver home.

Mr. Yet died in hospital four hours after he staggered from a garage behind his home, blood streaming from multiple head wounds.

Police said they recovered a key ring and 40 keys believed to have belonged to Mr. Yet but had not located a wallet taken in the attack which contained an estimated $1000.

Detectives believe Mr. Yet was the victim of a work schedule he had kept for more than 30 years. He was in the habit of leaving home every morning at 5:15 a.m., and waiting in the vicinity of his garage for a company taxi to take him to work.

He usually carried large sums of cash to work in the morning—the previous day's cab receipts—for bank deposit. It is believed the killer knew the pattern and ambushed him in the garage.

An autopsy revealed Mr. Yet died of a fractured skull and brain injuries. He also received a broken arm in the attack.

An inquest into his death will be held Wednesday.

Steven Truscott Case To Be Reviewed—Pennell

OTTAWA (CP)—Steven Truscott, convicted of murder at the age of 14 in a sex strangling, will have his case reviewed after spending the last seven years in prison.

MPs banged their desks in approval when Solicitor-General Pennell announced the review in the Commons Tuesday. He said the exact form will be announced later, after his meeting with Ontario Attorney-General Arthur Wishart Friday.

The case was raised in the House almost daily before the Easter recess, when MPs of all parties requested an inquiry, a pardon or a new trial. A book by Isabel Lebourdais argues that Truscott was the victim of a miscarriage of justice.

There have been reports that the cabinet will ask the Supreme Court of Canada for a special review of the case and an opinion on Truscott's guilt or innocence.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the reaction to Mr. Pennell's statement generally would be favorable and renewed his call for a new trial. The cabinet has the power to order a new trial where additional evidence could be introduced.

Mr. Pennell said he could not go beyond his announcement of a review because the administration of justice in Ontario was involved and courtesy required that he discuss the review with Mr. Wishart before making a detailed announcement.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) asked whether a royal commission inquiry is among the alternatives being considered. Mr. Pennell again declined to elaborate.

DISCUSSED BY CABINET

The case was discussed at a cabinet meeting Tuesday. Mr. Pennell made a detailed review of the trial record and of the new book and first reported to the cabinet last Thursday.

Freedomite Women Still Force-Fed

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Two Freedomite women who went on a hunger strike last week, apparently to protest five - year prison sentences for arson, are still being force-fed.

They are members of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect.

The women, Mary Malakoff and Mary Astaforoff, both of Kamloops, B.C., were transferred from British Columbia last November to the prison for women here.

"They are being force - fed via a tube through the nasal passages," a prison spokesman said. "They aren't happy about it but starving themselves is something we can't let them do."

The prisoners were transferred to hospital after being treated by doctors and nurses at the prison. They have refused solid food for more than a week.

Tornado Strikes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A tornado dropped out of a rainstorm Tuesday, brushed by an elementary school, then destroyed or damaged at least 28 homes in a three-block area of a southwest Kansas City suburb.

Four persons were reported injured, none seriously.

Rumors Jackie Engaged Denied

SEVILLE, Spain (Reuters)—Reports of a romance between Jacqueline Kennedy and a 62-year-old Spanish diplomat were officially denied here Tuesday by the United States ambassador to Spain.

Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke said in a statement:

"On behalf of Mrs. Kennedy I wish to make it crystal clear and completely understood that there is no basis in fact to the rumor of an engagement.

"Personally I think that Mrs. Kennedy has acquitted herself so well as a human being that she deserves our respect and understanding, and should not be subject to false rumors of this kind."

Brady Was Demonstrating Art of Murder, Court Told

CHESTER, England (Reuters)—The prosecution charged Tuesday that Ian Brady, 27-year-old clerk, axed and strangled a teen-age boy Oct. 6 to demonstrate the art of murder to another teen-ager.

The charge came on the first day of Britain's sensational "Moors murders" trial.

The attorney-general, Sir Elwyn Jones, said Brady carried out the grisly killing of Edward Evans, 17, in his living room as 17-year-old David Smith looked on horror-stricken.

Brady and his 23-year-old blonde mistress, Myra Hindley, a shorthand typist, are accused of the murder of Evans and two schoolchildren, Lesley Anne Downey, 10, and John Kilbride, 12.

The children's bodies were found by police late last year after a mass hunt in shallow peat graves on the desolate moors in the Pennine Hills near this northwest England town.

In addition, Miss Hindley was charged with harboring her lover, knowing he had killed Kilbride.

Jones told the court in the first day of a trial expected to last about five weeks that Brady killed Evans after Smith expressed disbelief at Brady's tales of murdering "three or four" persons before.

Both accused pleaded not guilty to all charges.

The case has aroused a storm of angry feeling in Britain and the court room was packed with onlookers.

Mr. Justice Fenton Atkinson warned the jury at the end of Tuesday's session: "Don't talk to anyone about this case. Certain misguided people may seek to influence."

Brady, a slim, dapper man, and his girl friend sat quietly behind a six-foot shatterproof glass screen erected because of emotional courtroom scenes during crowded preliminary hearings in December.

The accused were brought to the court in an unmarked police car and police checked correspondents and the public entering the courtroom.

Jones said the killing of Evans was "pre-arranged murder." The defendants "lured him to their homes for the express purpose of killing him," he charged.

Brady, he said, was an avid reader of the 18th century French writer the Marquis de Sade—who gave the name to sadism—and a student of murder.

He formed a close relationship with Smith, who is Miss Hindley's brother-in-law, then set about deliberately to corrupt him by lending him books on sadism, Jones alleged.

Four days after Brady made his murder boast Miss Hindley brought Smith to their house in Hyde, northeast of here, it was charged.

Shortly after entering the house, Jones continued, Smith heard a "long, loud and shrill scream" from the livingroom and raced in to see Brady flailing Evans' head with an axe.

Sophia Married

PARIS (CP) — Film star Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti were married April 9 in the Paris suburb of Sevres.

The civil wedding was disclosed by Mayor Charles Odic of Savres and confirmed in London by Miss Loren.

"It's true," Miss Loren said. "I can't deny it any more. Carlo and I were maried on April 9."

Per Capita Grants Set

VICTORIA (CP) — A cabinet order Tuesday set out distribution of more than $23,000,000 in per capita grants to municipalities approved earlier by the Legislature.

The grants to the 134 cities, towns, districts and villages include a $4 per capital increase passed in the last legislative session for a total cash increase of $5,485,000 over last year.

The 32 cities will share $11,883,000 with Vancouver getting the largest share of $5,696,000 for its 384,522 population. Last year the cities shared $9,063,000 and Vancouver got $4,158,000.

The grants are based on the 1961 census that gives the province a total population of 1,336,849. The province now has an estimated population of 1,900,000.

"Impossible To Buy Relatively Safe Car"

VANCOUVER (CP) — The traffic and safety committee of the British Columbia Medical Association said Tuesday in its annual report it is impossible to buy a relatively safe car made in North America.

The report says European cars are not much better, "with the notable exceptions of the English Rover 2000 and the German Mercedes-Benz."

"The car manufacturers seem only to be interested in sales and in designing eye-catching, ornamental, super - speed missiles. Since we, the public, are the fodder, we can only ask for legislation to protect us."

The report lists 26 safety features it would like to see in cars, and asks for provincial and federal legislation to make such features compulsory.

Included are such points as standard bumper heights, four-way flasher systems for signal lights, windshield washers and defrosters for front and back windows, recessed instruments and controls, gear shift on steering column only, interior roof padding, roll bars and back-up lights.

B.C. Fund To Encourage Residents To Buy Homes

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett Monday unveiled a scheme to encourage British Columbia residents to buy homes.

The premier said he will recommend to the legislature next year that a $25,000,000 fund be set up to provide non-repayable grants to assist first - time home buyers.

Mr. Bennett told reporters at a press conference that the exact amount of the proposed grant "will be announced in due course" but it will be "several hundred dollars."

"It will be a cash grant—it doesn't have to be paid back," he said.

Mr. Bennett said he may ask the government to make the grant retroactive to April 1 of this year to avoid a slowdown in home construction in the next 12 months.

"This cash grant will be permanent policy as long as I am premier and minister of finance."

The grant will be applied to the purchase of existing homes and individual apartments as well as new construction.

LIKE EXISTING GRANTS

The scheme will be similar to the home-owner grants policy established by the provincial government in 1957. In that year, homeowners were given grants of $28. This year the grant totals $110.

The announced intent of the home-owner grant is to ease the burden of municipal taxes on the homeowner.

"A home purchase grant will go to all those who have no received the homeowner grant renters who want to buy home and young couples star ing out," said Mr. Bennett.

BAGS WORLD'S FIFTH LARGEST COUGAR

THIS 200-POUND COUGAR was shot last January, after complaints were received concerning the big cat's presence in the residential section of South Slocan. A 12-year-old cougar hound, owned by Ted Rutherglen, tracked the animal down after a four-hour chase through the rugged area of Vallican.

Trail Overexpenditure Forces Tax Increase

A $204,000 necessary works overexpenditure by the City of Trail in 1965 appears likely to force tax increase of at least two mills.

City Council is in a good position, however, for the debenture debt rate dropped from 14.74 mills in 1965 to 12.93 mills this year. The 1.81 mill decrease allows the city fathers some leeway in their budget preparations.

Trail's education rate showed a slight increase this year, raising from 24.5 mills last year to an estimated 26.1 this year. This 1.6 mill increase amounts to about $9 to the average property owner, and will be covered by the $10 increase in the home owner grant which has been set at $110 this year.

The city's general rate, 38.76 mills in 1965, seems likely to jump by at least two mills this year, and will likely be struck at about 40.75 mills.

When all available grants and anticipated revenues are applied against the $204,000 overexpenditure, it appears that council will have to provide a means of retiring about $70,000 to $75,000 of the total amount.

Nelson's Milt Goddard Shoots Record Animal

With one shot from a 25.35 Winchester carbine, Milt Goddard, regional parks officer, bagged the fifth largest cougar in the world.

Goddard brought the 200-pound animal down on January 26, 1966, near Vallican, in the Slocan Valley, four hours after he and District Conservation Officer Ted Rutherglen, left Nelson to track the big cat down.

A day earlier, the cougar had been spotted by a bus driver near the Vallican School with the driver immediately reporting the incident to the Wildlife Branch in Nelson.

Led by Rutherglen's 12-year-old hound, the pair set out after the animal; Goddard carrying a carbine and Rutherglen a .38 Colt automatic pistol with which he has shot over 100 cougar.

Tracking was done along the Vallican residential area for about one-half mile but then signs sent the dog into the high bluff country, west of Vallican.

In this region a mule deer was found freshly killed, leading Goddard to assume the cougar was nearby, resting after his kill.

From here the cat was chased further north into more rugged country where he tried "every trick of the trade to throw the dog off his trail," Goddard stated.

"The cougar tried creek crossing as well as running windfalls, to confuse the hound but the dog broke straight through the windfalls and again picked up the scent," he said.

Even after backtracking on his own trail and running figure-eights the cat was unable to shake the dog and finally the cougar went for a tree.

This proved to be his undoing as Goddard shot him out of the tree to put himself in the Boone and Crockett record books as holder of the fifth-largest cougar in the world.

"Much of the credit goes to the dog," Goddard noted, "since he was not thrown off the scent after all the tricks the cat employed."

Rutherglen's hound has tracked down over 40 cougars and on five separate occasions he has run down three cougars in one day.

This animal's skull measurement was 15 and five-sixteenths inches which is seven-sixteenths less than the world record held since 1901 by former U.S. President, Teddy Roosevelt.

Measurement of a cougar skull is done by cleaning the skull and measuring the widest and longest parts of the head, two months after the kill.

Natural Dam Break Causes Highway Closure

SALMO — When the handiwork of beavers gave way at Rosebud Lake it meant a big headache for highway crews as the lake level dropped 11 feet.

A 35-foot beaver dam apparently rotted out at the bottom, releasing the water in a great rush down a ravine a mile and over the highway at Black Bluffs. The lake, about ¾ of a mile long and ¼ mile wide is about 16 miles southeast of Salmo on the way to Nelway.

As the water drained away it carried gravel, trees and boulders in its headlong rush.

Highway crews spent 20 hours Monday and 10 hours Tuesday clearing the highway and succeeded in getting the road open for one-way traffic so miners could get to Remac. From today until possibly the end of the week, the highway will be open half an hour and closed two hours to traffic as clearing continues.

There are 20 pieces of equipment in use, some from Creston, Nelson and everything available in the Salmo area. Aubrey Burgess, road foreman at Salmo is in charge of clearing operations.

HOCKEY CLINIC PLANNED HERE

A hockey clinic will be held at the Civic Centre Arena here from July 10 to August 6, it was announced Tuesday by Arena manager Dave Thomas.

Mr. Thomas said that the clinic will be sponsored by George Vogan and Metro Prystai and that present plans anticipate the appearance of NHL stars during the clinic. Mr. Prystai will be chief instructor.

Mr. Thomas said that the Civic Centre Commission is making efforts to have one of the NHL teams hold a training camp here later in the summer. He said that every team in the NHL has been contacted.

Montreal Canadiens were the first team to reply, and Canadiens general manager Sam Pollock informed the commission his team was not interested. There are no plans for a NHL hockey clinic in Nelson this year.

Castlegar Mill Rate Drops From 1965

CASTLEGAR — The Castlegar Town Council Tuesday night struck a 1966 general rate of 14 mills, a one mill decrease from last year's 15 mill rate. The School District Nine education rate was announced by the school board at 29.88 mills, a .7 mill increase over 1965.

In presenting the 1966 budget to council, Mayor Robert Maddocks noted that the 14 mill general rate would provide the municipality with $65,000 through taxes.

The school board noted that it required $141,653 through taxation, from the town of Castlegar, based on an assessment of $4,740,399.

Ideal Girl Guide Knows Canada

An ideal girl guide or guider representing Canada in any International Camp should be well versed and have a thorough knowledge of Canadian history. This decision was made at the West Kootenay area Girl Guides annual meeting held recently in the Masonic building in Salmo.

One word, "International," summed up the theme of the meeting.

Mr. Hanson, representing the village of Salmo, stated he hoped each one present would be strengthened individually and would be able to instill in each Brownie and Guide the honor and integrity of the spirit of the organization.

Provincial Commissioner, Mrs. J. Kendrick sent a letter expressing the best personal wishes and thanked the Local Association members for their continued support without which Guiding in B.C. could not function.

Speaking to the group on the aims of the Scout and Guiding movements today, Lloyd Galbraith, Nelson District Boy Scout Master and Honorary Field Commander for the Region, stressed that if we are to fulfill the aims of the founders, we must be able to change and think ahead. He mentioned this was important if leaders are to keep up with the youngsters in the organization.

These changes are not to be in ideals but in the approach of presenting these to the members.

Morning sessions were taken up with reports on Guiding activities during the past winter in various districts of the Columbia, Kokanee and Slocan Divisions of the West Kootenay Area and showed a good increase in enrollment of both Guides and Guiders.

Camp Advisor, Mrs. Bertoia, listed six training camps to be held during the summer at Camp Rory. These will take place in May, June, three in July and one in August. Guides wishing to attend must be 13-to-15 years-of-age and be registered guides. They must also have a Camper's Badge or have had two weeks camping experience.

Mrs. Leadbeater, from Emerald Mines, who had recently returned from two weeks spent in a cabana in Mexico, described her trip. The cabana is a complex of 16 buildings built on five acres of land. Each group was housed in a cabana and these parties consisted of representatives from Central America, Mexico, United States and Canada. Marie Laura, the leader from Mexico, and a staff of three were in charge of the cabana.

She also mentioned a tour of the silver factory, the ceramics factory and a weekend in Acapulco as highlighting the tours. Uniforms were worn at all times as the cabana is always open to visitors. Mrs. Leadbeater returned to Canada convinced that International Guiding is a must if we are to live in this world today.

It was reported that region number five, which became a reality last fall, now has a total of 13 land rangers and over 100 rangers. The region consists of the Rocky Mountain and Selkirk Division, the West Kootenay Area and Grand Forks. A name for the region is still to be decided.

Noting increased enrolment it was announced that a new division is being formed in the West Kootenay Area to contain Genelle, Blueberry, Kinnaird and Woodland Park, it is proposed that Mrs. H. Johnson will be the new Division Commissioner. The Castlegar - Robson district will be under Mrs. Dewis.

Plans are being made for all Brownies to participate in Centennial celebrations and Day Rallies for Browies are being arranged this summer. Under these, Brownies will visit with other groups. Plans for next year will be made from reports which are to be brought to the fall Semi-Annual Area meeting.

Afternon discussion centered on the theme of "International Guiding," and it was decided that broadening members' knowledge as Brownies by reading of Brownies in other lands, learning their songs and games would especially make them aware of International Guiding.

SFU Enrolment Overflows

Indications are that enrolment for the summer semester at Simon Fraser University will exceed all previous predictions. The original target was 500 students. Enrolment pressure raised the figure to 700. Now, 826 students, including 143 new ones, have been accepted for the summer term. This number will likely increase before May 2, when registration for the next semester begins.

Simon Fraser enrolments have consistently surpassed forecasts. In the fall there were 2,558 instead of the predicted 2,000 students. This number grew to 2,648 in the spring, including over 350 new students who took advantage of the opportunity to enrol in January. By September, 1966, our prediction is that the University will have 5,000 students.

The original plans for the trimester program at Simon Fraser called for an equalization of enrolments between the fall, spring and summer terms in three to five years. "The expected summer enrolment gives us every reason to have full confidence in our long-range plans and to believe that the students of B.C. wish to take full advantage of the flexibility that the trimester system offers to them," said Dr. McTaggart-Cowan.

A $1000 donation towards the construction of an outdoor swimming pool, chosen as Salmo's centennial project, was made recently on behalf of Cominco by R. R. McMichael, property superintendent of the company's H.B. mine, near Salmo. Dennis Powers, chairman of the Salmo Centennial Committee, receives the cheque for the committee and for G. E. McNeil, chairman of the Salmo Swimming Pool Society, which initiated the project in 1963. The heated pool will cost $17,000. It is to measure 42 feet by 82 feet, will have a one metre and a three metre diving board, and a filtration system. Construction is expected to be complete next August.

Grain Shipping Aid for Creston Area

Immediate Assistance Promised by Cabinet

VICTORIA (CP) — Immediate assistance to farmers in the Creston-Wynndel area to ship feed grain to other parts of the province was approved by the cabinet Tuesday.

"The minister of Agriculture (Mr. Richter) reports that the necessity of this expenditure is urgent," the order said.

It said a special warrant will be issued to take the money from consolidated revenue to provide shipping assistance up to $5 per ton.

The maximum assistance will be a total of $20,000 in any one year.

It is to apply to rail shipments of whole wheat, oats and barley from the area shipped as feed for Canadian livestock and poultry elsewhere in B.C.

The cabinet order said farmers of the region had "requested" that the government establish such a policy for feed grain produced in the province.

A special warrant authorizing the expenditure is required because the money was not approved at the last session of the legislature.

J. D. McDonald, chairman of the Rossland Centennial Committee, is presented with a $7500 cheque by J. H. Salter, vice-president, western region, Cominco. The donation is towards the construction of a mining museum at Rossland, as that centre's centennial project. At left is W. S. Hewgill, member of the Centennial Committee and at right is H. LeFevre, mayor of Rossland.

Notre Dame Graduating Class To Be Its Largest

A weekend of memorial proportions is scheduled at the end of April when Notre Dame University's largest graduating class in its 16-year history, receives recognition.

Bachelor degrees in arts, education and sciences along with first six diplomas offered in the medical secretaryship field, will be conferred on 48 NDU students.

In addition a doctor of education degree will be bestowed upon Education Minister L. R. Peterson in recognition of the important personal interest he has taken in NDU's development and in recognition of his achievement in advancing education in B.C.

Sharing the spotlight with Mr. Peterson will be R. J. G. Kershaw, a professor of theology and ancient classics at NDU, who will receive a doctor of literature degree.

Father Kershaw's degree is in appreciation of his "unstinting services at the university" during his four years here and also in recognition of his contribution to the creation of a scholarly attitude among his students. He is retiring and returning to his native England in the fall.

Commencement weekend will begin April 29 at a faculty reception honoring graduates in Maryhall.

Saturday commences with an academic procession to the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate, where Baccalaureate Mass will be said by Most Rev. W. E. Doyle, D.D., Bishop of Nelson Diocese and Chancellor of the University. The University choir under direction of Rev. C. Caruso, will sing at the Mass.

Saturday evening a formal dinner for graduates, their invited guests and university representatives is scheduled, followed by the Convocation Ball.

The Convocation ceremony will take place Sunday afternoon with awards and degrees presented by Rev. Aquinas Thomas, S.A., NDU president and Bishop Doyle.

Following the valedictory address by John Stonoski of South Slocan and selections by the University Choir, Mr. Peterson will give the graduating address.

All departments showed an increase for the year over that of the previous year. Economics—a Toy?

Its a dangerous game President Johnson is playing with the U.S. economy. With price inflation threatening to get out of hand under the dual pressures of war and domestic spending, the President concedes a $5 billion increase in federal income taxes may be necessary. But to head off this unwelcome prospect for members of Congress facing elections, the President has been telephoning industry leaders urging them to slow down plant expansion. And he is pressing for almost all the Great Society spending originally charted.

A rebellious House of Representatives almost knocked on the head the first $12 million installment of his rent subsidy program for lower-income families Tuesday. The vote which failed to send the $2.5 billion supplementary appropriations bill back to committee for elimination of the rent item was 198 to 190, on a roll call. Six Republicans who voted for the item saved the day for the Administration. The federal teachers corps item was saved by a somewhat larger vote.

After the President's remarks at a White House conference were interpreted to mean that he would need a tax boost of 5 to 7 per cent on personal and corporate income taxes to check inflation, the White House put out the word that he has not yet decided for a tax increase, but is watching the situation closely.

The President has been taking credit for the long-time economic gains which are in large part attributable to spending for the war in Viet Nam. But now he is worried about them. His personal pleas to business leaders to slow down spending for new plants and equipment to prevent overheating the economy are not likely to be heeded. One may expect, instead, a step-up in such investment to beat out federal controls.

The Democratic administration and its spokesmen in Congress have got themselves into a slippery attitude in trying simultaneously to take political credit for their economic wisdom and discounting the inflationary effects of big spending for war and the Great Society.

U.S. Unperturbed

Washington is much less excited than Ottawa about President de Gaulle's latest attempt to turn back the clock of history. He had hardly indicated France's eventual retirement from the joint defence planning in NATO before the Canadian government announced that its military forces would soon be moved from French soil. The American government, on the other hand, is still waiting for particulars.

It is premature, in Washington's view, to talk of NATO troop withdrawals from France, or the removal of the Command headquarters from Paris. Before it makes any long-term decisions the United States must know exactly what President de Gaulle has in mind, if he knows himself, which is increasingly dubious.

Apparently he had framed plans of a limited, vague sort by deciding that France would remain somehow in the NATO alliance but would take no part in its preparations for possible war until war occurred, when it might well be too late. The attitude of the rest of the alliance undoubtedly was expressed by the spokesman of the West German government who said on March 15 that it was better to have NATO without France than France without NATO.

The United States is making its own plans on this premise, and the further premise that NATO must become stronger, not weaker, more unified and integrated, not looser and less coherent. It is prepared, however, to give France time for second thoughts. As President Johnson put it in a speech of the highest significance a few days ago: "We are hopeful that no member of the treaty will long remain withdrawn from the mutual affairs and obligations of the Atlantic. A place of respect and responsibility will await any ally who decides to return to the common task."

Thus, the light of welcome to France burns in the NATO window. An American government often accused of impetuosity by foreigners is showing remarkable patience, which its friends, including Canada, could wisely imitate. Washington officials emphasize that France has given its allies no concrete proposals for the revision of NATO, has not yet suggested any change in its various agreements. When such proposals are received they can be considered, but not before.

Meanwhile it is probable that the people if not the government of France will see with growing alarm their imminent danger of isolation from allies who rescued them in two world wars and would have to defend them today. The more intelligent Frenchman must have read and understood President Johnson's chilling statement that "a nation—not by the action of her friends, but by her own decision to prepare and plan alone—could still imperil her security by creating a situation in which response would be too late and too diluted. Every advance in the technology of war makes more unacceptable old and narrow concepts of sovereignty."

Behind these polite, diplomatic words the president's meaning is quite plain: If France will not participate in defence planning and pulls its military forces out of a joint command, then its own safety could be imperilled by delay and confusion at a moment of crisis.

Actually it can be argued in law that a French withdrawal from the joint command would materially breach Article 3 of the North Atlantic Treaty and would thereby void Article 5, under which the signatories regard an attack on one of them as an attack on all. But these nice legalities will not settle Europe's future. It will be settled by practical realities. And the sovereign reality is that the French government has been doing everything possible to obstruct its own purposes.

President de Gaulle desires a Europe strong enough to bargain on equal terms with the United States and Russia, but he would weaken Europe by splitting it into a league of completely independent, quarrelsome states, precisely the kind of continent that produced the two world wars.

He deplores the presence of the United States and Russia in Europe, but forgets that they were brought there by Europe's divisions and would always be brought again by its wars.

He demands the right of France to lead Europe but, by isolating it, assures the predominance of West Germany as the leading ally of the United States and Britain.

Above all, he seeks in his last years to impress a permanent pattern on French foreign policy, but he leaves no heir able to maintain it, no political system that can live long without his personal magic.

Safety a Virtue

Until quite recently, comfort, style and speed have been regarded as outstanding virtues in an automobile. Now, somewhat belatedly, it is being realized that safety is the supreme virtue.

Where slogans, "special weeks", admonitions, warning signs and the terrible and continuous carnage on our highways made little headway, the wonderful engines of publicity at work on the "safety car", and the notoriety that has attended a U.S. Senate committee's inquiry, have made millions safety conscious.

It has been suggested that the Canadian government join with the U.S. in the study and design of a safety car. It should. Where cars are concerned, the border does not exist and the driving hazards in both countries are the same.

A safety car should have, among other things, tires that are designed to carry a maximum load, doors that cannot burst open on impjact, recessed door handles and control knobs, glove compartments with sliding covers, collapsible steering wheels, hydraulic bumpers and other mechanical features that are built to safety standards.

But it would be folly to believe that were "safety cars" to be produced they would grant immunity from death and injury on the highway. If there is recklessness, selfishness, and excessive speeding now, would not safety cars tend to increase rather than reduce them?

No one doubts that cars with built-in safety features are desirable, but the car itself is only one factor in ensuring greater safety. Human nature is another, and perhaps the major one. Anyone who drives along main highways cannot doubt that the presence of a police patrol car at intervals has a wonderful effect in producing safer driving. The speedster, whipping along at 70, suddenly becomes a sedate citizen bowling along at a respectable 60.

Before charging off in one direction in pursuit of a safety car, we might pause to wonder why more drastic action has not hitherto been taken to forbid our streets and highways to the noisy rattletraps that so often tear along them. There are far too many beaten-up old jalopies about that are far from safe. If the desire for safety is deep and sincere, then a way will quickly be found to outlaw them. Let us have safety cars by all means, but let us be sensible and realize that we also need safe highways and safe drivers.

RESULTS OF LEAP

By JOHN BEST

BRAZI, Romania (CP) — There's an oil refinery at this town just outside Ploesti, 40 miles north of Bucharest, that was built in 1936.

"But we consider it new," says Victor Nica, the refinery's technical director. That's because most of its productive capacity has gone into operation since 1960, the beginning of Communist Romania's "great leap forward" in industrial expansion.

The refinery and an adjacent, newly-developed petrochemical combine are glamorous symbols of this country's drive for economic growth and its determination not to be a party to Soviet-proposed economic integration schemes for Eastern Europe.

Hundreds of new factories have sprung up in different parts of the country, and more are being pushed to completion every day.

Both chemicals and iron-and-steel — the big two of sophisticated modern industrial economies—are covered in the broad sweep of the strictly home-grown campaign.

Steel output is scheduled to climb to 6,300,000 tons by 1970, compared with 3,400,000 tons in 1965. Chemical industry production is scheduled to increase 2.3 times in the same period.

FINANCED AT HOME

At the Brazi refinery, a wide range of new products is being turned out as a result of an investment program totalling more than 1,000,000,000 Romanian lei in the last six years.

The official exchange rate on the lei is six to the American dollar but its actual buying power is closer to the rate tourists enjoy: 18 to the dollar. Even at that the investment in this one installation works out to something like $55,000,000.

Asked whether the Soviet Union or any other foreign country had helped Romania to finance the expansion, Nica replied: "The funds came only from Romanian capital accumulation."

However, 15 to 20 per cent of the equipment was imported, mainly from Austria, France, Italy and Czechoslovakia.

"We bought where the best terms were offered," he said.

TWINS MATE TWINS

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Strange things may happen when identical twins marry identical twins.

Dr. G. J. S. Wilde, a Queen's University psychologist, turned up an incredible story while doing research on twins in his native Holland.

The two couples of identical twin brothers and sisters set out to furnish their homes after their marriage. And although they shopped independently they came home with purchases that were "almost exactly alike."

The result, Dr. Wilde says, is that within a short time the interiors of their homes "completely mirrored each other."

He adds that they also bought flowers each Saturday and, although there was no prior consultation, they would almost invariably choose the same blooms.

The first child of each couple was born within the same week and when they bought baby carriages they went to different stores but purchased identical models.

Dr. Wilde, whose previous research was performed at the University of Leyden, now is undertaking a similar program at Queen's and has advertised in the Kingston Whig-Standard for twins in the area to take part.

"The response has so far been far better than I expected," he says of his appeal for help from the estimated 400 twins within 50 miles of the city.

Identical twins who will participate are Bob and Jim Nugent, 19-year-old pre-med students at Queen's.

Their school career in Edmonton, their home town, was filled with the same ups and downs, with only a variation of a few marks. They did poorly in Grade 11, they say, but obtained honors the following year.

Bob says they resemble each other except that Jim needed a larger hat size. They also wear their hair differently because of a desire to be different. But they share much the same opinions and tastes and have a flair for art but no musical talent.

They are also interested in the same sports, both as spectators and participants, but they root for different National Hockey League teams, one pulling for Toronto Maple Leafs, the other for Montreal Canadiens.

I have a small, very active son who dearly loves to chew and destroy anything within reach of his sharp teeth—this includes many things, but mainly he has succeeded in ripping his play pen pad into pieces!

I found that you can cover this plastic pad very easily, in any color or design you wish, with adhesive-backed covering you can purchase at most any store.

If you cover the whole pad, this really reinforces it, and furthers the life of it.

Also, it is easily cleaned, and the paper can be changed when you wish.

This also works as a cover for your old plastic-covered mattresses and bumper pads if they have any tears.

Vancouver Whips Buckaroos 5-2

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Billy McNeill and Howie Hughes each collected two goals and one assist Tuesday night to help Vancouver to a 5-2 victory over Portland in the Western Hockey League playoffs for the Lester Patrick Cup.

The win gave Vancouver a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven series, which resumes here Wednesday night.

McNeill now has five goals and three assists for the semi-finals, for eight points.

It was Vancouver's first victory over Portland on the Buckaroos' home ice since the playoffs last year. Portland took six contests from the Canucks here during the regular season.

Vancouver took a 1-0 lead on Larrs Cahan's first-period goal, then opened up in the second period while Portland was shorthanded. McNeill got both of his goals in that period, and Hughes got one, but added another in the final period.

Gerry Goyer and Art Jones picked up goals for Portland in the second period.

The Buckaroos carried the game to the Canucks' net and goalie Gilles Villemure was instrumental in the win with 39 saves.

Indians Whip Yankees 3-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Whitfield hit a three-run homer and Sam McDowell struck out 12, sparking Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 victory over New York Yankees Tuesday night. The triumph was the fifth for the undefeated Indians.

Whitfield's shot over the right field fence in the fourth inning provided all the runs McDowell needed in running his record to 2-0.

Roy White's homer in the eighth, his first in the major leagues, gave the Yankees their run.

McDowell gave up seven hits and walked four but was tough in the pinches. He pitched himself out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the fifth by striking out Roger Maris and Tom Tresh.

Mel Stottlemyre took the loss.

Dean Prentice Sends Wings Into Finals

By JERRY GLADMAN

DETROIT (CP) — A pair of goals late in the third period by veteran Dean Prentice Tuesday night gave Detroit Red Wings a 3-2 triumph over Chicago Black Hawks and a berth in the Stanley Cup finals against Montreal Canadiens.

DEAN PRENTICE

The victory enabled the Wings to capture the best-of-seven semi-final series 4-2. The best-of-seven final series is scheduled to begin in Montreal Sunday.

The goals, coming within 63 seconds apart with less than five minutes to go in regulation time, were the third and fourth of the playoffs for the 33-year-old Prentice, a native of Schumacher, Ont., who came to Detroit from Boston Bruins midway through the season.

Andy Bathgate, who has played a standout series for the Wings, accounted for the other Detroit goal, his fifth in six games.

The Hawks scored both their goals in the second period after trailing 1-0. Defenceman Pat Stapleton with his second of the series and Phil Esposito, with his first, got them.

After Detroit goalie Roger Crozier made a brilliant save on Eric Nesterenko, who was right on top of the goalmouth, Prentice scored the winner. Defenceman Bill Gadsby, a 20-year veteran of the NHL but never on a Stanley Cup winner, started the play. He passed to Delvecchio who relayed it to Prentice.

Prentice dipsey -doodled in, pulled Hall to one side and jammed the puck into the open left corner. The goal came at 17:28 and brought a torrent of items onto the ice from the 15,154 fans, largest hockey crowd of the season at Olympia Stadium. The game was delayed for almost five minutes as attendants swept up the litter.

The goals put Prentice, in his 14th NHL season, in his first Stanley Cup final.

The Hawks had several opportunities to tie the score during the last two minutes, but the five-foot-seven Crozier was unbeatable. Chicago players swarmed the net, firing drive after drive in his direction.

Crozier, NHL Rookie of the Year in 1964-65, stopped two screened drives from the point by Stapleton and followed this up with a toe save on a wicked shot by Bobby Hull, who was all over the ice at that point.

The Wings completed matters during the last 35 seconds when the faceoff was taken in the Chicago zone. Detroit kept the puck inside the Chicago blue line and kept the Hawks from pulling Hall in favor of an extra attacker.

The contest started the same as in the last three games with the Wings drawing blood in the early minutes. Bathgate, whose five playoff goals were all scored on the power play, beat Hall with Pierre Pilote sitting in the penalty box at 2:51.

SCORED FROM SCRAMBLE

The veteran right winger, traded to Detroit by Toronto Maple Leafs last summer, scored from a scramble in front of the net which also had Prentice and Norm Ullman swarming just outside the goal crease. Hall had turned back at least three close in shots when Bathgate finally put the puck in.

The power play goal was Detroit's 10th of the series.

Tempers flared at the midway mark of the period, but no punches were thrown.

Most eyes were centred on Hull and his check for the series, spunky Bryan Watson. Hull began to show signs of anger and frustration over Watson's close coverage and several times took a poke at the Detroit right winger, who was drafted from Chicago last June.

The pair were sent off together on three different occasions during the first period.

LOST PUCK

The Wings could have made it 2-0 with less than four minutes remaining in the period, but Ullman lost control of the puck after racing in all alone.

There were 12 penalties in the rough-and-tumble opening period with each side taking six.

It was obvious in the second period that almost all of the Hawks were fed up with Watson's superb coverage of Hull. Every time Watson and Hull came in contact, there were elbows flying. On two occasions, Ken Hodge took after Watson and tried to get the 23-year-old native of Bancroft, Ont., into a swinging match.

The Hawks put on tremendous pressure in the period, but Crozier was stingy throughout as he made difficult saves on drives by Bill Hay, Esposito, Nesterenko and Hull.

After play was stopped several times because of scuffling, particularly between Watson and Hull and Hodge, Esposito finally put the Hawks on the scoreboard.

Crozier stopped a loose puck from going in during a goalmouth scramble and Esposito swooped in to click on the rebound.

Stapleton, getting his first taste of Stanley Cup play in the series, put the Hawks in front for the first time on a 75-foot bouncer. Crozier appeared to be screened on the play and didn't see the puck until the last second.

The Wings were shaky after the two quick Chicago goals and the Hawks carried most of the play into the Detroit zone.

Detroit had the better opportunities to score in the final 20 minutes, but were frequently wide of the mark or the victims of Hall's wizardry.

Ullman and Paul Henderson both missed open nets with Hall out of position early in the period. Seconds later, Hall made a sharp save on a Bathgate sizzler from the point when he got his toe on the puck at the last second.

The game was stopped at least five minutes at 6:54 when Bergman went off for interference and was involved in a scuffle with two fans. Several punches were thrown.

The defenceman was cut under the right eye and one of the two fans involved in the skirmish was also cut.

Stan Mikita almost added to the Hawks' margin halfway through the period as he went in all alone and tried to shove the puck through Crozier's legs. But the goalie got his pads on it before it crossed the line.

It was the Hawks against Crozier in the final minutes following Prentice's goals and the Detroit goalie won hands down.

At one point, he had Ken Wharram all alone on top of him but slammed the door on two close-in shots by the Chicago right winger.

Crozier faced 28 Chicago shots and was brilliant on most of them. It was the same with Hall, who handled 30 shots by the Wings.

Kimihara Wins Boston Marathon

By MORRIS BROWN

BOSTON (CP)—Kenjo Kimihara, 20, of Japan, won the 70th running of the Boston Marathon Tuesday as the Japanese team swept the first four places in the event.

Kimihara came on strongly near the end of the 26-mile, 385-yard race to outrun teammates Seiichiro Sasaki and Toru Terasawa, second and third. Fourth was Hirokoazu Okabe.

The time was 2:17.11, well below the record 2:16.33 set by Morio Shigematsu of Japan last year.

Fifth was Norman Higgins of Santa Monica, Calif., sixth was Dave Ellis of Toronto, the first Canadian to finish.

With a little more than four miles to go Terasawa, 31-year-old coach-trainer of the Japanese team and Okabe, 24, were duelling for the lead with Kimi and Sasaki falling back. But Kimihara came on in the final stretch and beat Sasaki by 13 seconds.

TRAINED THREE WEEKS

Ellis, 28, an English native who has been in Canada six years, said after the race he only trained seriously for the last three weeks because of cold weather.

"I tried to stay with them," said Ellis who was only about 60 yards back at the 20-mile mark. But, he said, his legs stiffened and he had a cramp in his left leg. His time was 2:19:47.

The next Canadian to finish was Andrew Boychuck of Toronto, 13th in 2:27:20. Ron Wallingford, 32, of Hamilton, was 16th in 2:30:06.

Paul Hoffman, 24, of Toronto, was 19th in the record field of 415 starters in 2:32:37. Rogers Pratt of Toronto was 24th in 2:35:53. Charles Saxon of Toronto 59th in 2:51:45 and Douglas Walker, Toronto, 154th in 3:31:48.

As they did a year ago, the Japanese ran all opposition into the ground before settling matters in a private duel. Breaking on top, the Japanese followed a pre-race plan to stick together for 20 miles.

Then, with a sizable lead on Higgins and Ellis, they turned virtual sprinters in heading for home.

Titled Hero Misses Derby

FORT ERIE, Ont. CP) — Titled Hero, Canadian two-year-old champion in 1965, will miss the May 7 running of the Kentucky Derby because he hasn't fully recovered from a virus.

The black colt has yet to run this year.

Veterinarian Dr. George Bedame said the colt is being groomed for the Queen's Plate in June.

JOHNY BUYCK RETURNS FOR HOCKEY CLINIC

At least three National Hockey League players will attend this year's International Ice Hockey Clinic to be held in Nelson this summer.

Returning once again will be the star forward of Boston Bruins, Johnny Bucyk, one of the more popular NHL players in this area.

With him will be Bob Plager, rookie defenceman of New York Rangers, and Cesaire Maniago, netminder of the Rangers.

Chief instructor will again be Metro Prystai who has handled the clinic for the past several years.

George Vogan, director of the clinic said Monday night there is a strong possibility that other players will also help in the clinic's instruction.

Over 200 applications were received for the clinic last year and even more are expected for this one. If the total continues to increase, the clinic may be extended an additional two weeks to accommodate everyone.

At present it will run from July 11 to August 6.

Applications thus far have been received from places as far away as Ontario and Michigan.

For Bucyk, it won't be a new

experience, but for Plager and Maniago it will be their first clinic in Nelson. Bucyk will again be working with the forwards, Plager will handle the defencemen and Maniago will instruct the goalies.

Liverpool Tops Glasgow; Riot Injures 100 Fans

LIVERPOOL (AP) — A bottle-throwing riot injured more than 100 soccer fans Tuesday night after a 2-0 victory by Liverpool over Glasgow Celtic in the European Cup-Winners' Cup semi-final.

Trouble erupted three minutes from the end when the Scots were disallowed an offside goal that would have tied the aggregate score in the home-and-home series. Celtic won the first leg in Glasgow 1-0 last week.

A hail of empty whisky and beer bottles rained down from the crowded terraces. Hundreds of fans spilled over on to the pitch to escape them.

As the crowd of 53,000 swayed dangerously, some fans fell and were trampled. Eleven of the injured were seriously hurt, one man with a broken skull and both legs fractured.

Liverpool now meets Borussia (Dortmund) of West Germany, in a sudden-death final at Glasgow's Hampden Park stadium.

PLAYED IN RAIN

Tuesday night's game was played in torrential rain. When the trouble started, Celtic's trainer and coach ran on to the pitch to appeal to their supporters, packed behind one of the goals, to keep calm.

After the match the crowd dispersed quickly, but fights broke out outside the ground and in neighboring pubs.

Police said 21 persons received hospital treatment, besides more than 100 treated at the ground. About a dozen persons were arrested and held for court appearances today.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Woody Huyke's 350-foot double in the ninth inning gave the Vancouver Mounties a come-from-behind 2-1 victory over the Portland Beavers in their Pacific Coast League home opener Tuesday night before 2,507 fans.

Canadian-born Vern Handrahan struck out 10 as he went the distance, allowing only one unearned run.

FERNIE — Nelson soccer team, coming from behind three times in the last half, fought Fernie to a 4-4 tie in Western International Soccer League action.

The clubs battled through a scoreless first half but the home club jumped to a 1-0 lead early in the second session. Nelson came back to tie the score and then go ahead 2-1, only to have Fernie rally to tie it. The Fernie club led by scores of 3-2 and 4-3, but both times the visitors managed to knot it up.

Joe Racz paced Nelson with three goals, with Danny Gregorich getting the other. No action is slated for this coming weekend.

Astros Bomb Don Drysdale

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros knocked Don Drysdale out with a four-run fifth inning and defeated Los Angeles 8-5 Tuesday night.

Jim Wynn's two-run homer off Bob Miller in the eight inning clinched the victory.

Drysdale, a 32-day holdout making his second start of the season, took a 5-2 lead into the fifth but departed for Johnny Podres after the Astros scored two runs and had two runners on.

Orioles Whip Senators 14-8

Giants Outslug Cubs 11-10; No. 508 for Willie Mays

CHICAGO (AP)—San Francisco Giants unloaded a barrage of four homers, including the 508th of Willie Mays' career, and put together a three-run rally in the eighth inning for an 11-10 victory over Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

The Giants had to battle from behind to spoil Leo Druocher's home debut as manager of the Cubs.

San Francisco won it in the eighth with Don Landrum's two - run double the winning blow.

Jesus Alou started the rally against reliever Ted Abernathy with a one-out double and Mays singled him home, the fourth hit and fourth run-batted-in for the Giant captain. After a walk and another out Landrum cracked his double.

The Cubs got one run back in the bottom of the ninth before Bob Bolin, the eighth Giant pitcher, fanned Ty Cline for the last out, with the bases filled.

The eight pitchers in one game tied a National League record.

Orlando Cepeda, Hal Lanier and Jim Hart also slugged homers in the Giants 16-hit attack.

Three-run homers by rookies Randy Huntley and Byron Browne had helped the Cubs climb into a 9-6 lead through five innings but the Giants kept pecking away.

Mays hit his third homer of the season in a three-run Giant rally in the fifth.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S COME HOME YEAR

Newfoundlanders can be found almost anywhere in the world. Now the call is out for them to return home for Newfoundland's first Come Home Year. Some of the wanderlust, warmth and hospitality of Newfoundland, its people and tradition, is caught by folk-song writer A. R. Scammell in his essay for Weekend Magazine this week.

Birth of a Nation

A handful of Irish rebels took on mighty Britain at Easter, 1916. The nationalists went down to death and defeat but the Easter Rising and its aftermath brought eventual Independence. Irish-born Robert McKeown of Weekend Magazine returned to Ireland for the 50th anniversary of the rebellion. This week — in Weekend Magazine.

anatomy of a game

One of the great games in baseball was played in the 1965 World Series in which the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-0. Sports Editor Andy O'Brien fulfilled a long-standing desire to get the "inside" strategy of baseball when he discussed this game with Dodgers' players and manager recently. What he discovered makes fascinating reading in this week's Weekend Magazine!

hot property remains COOL

One of the CBC's hottest properties is a 23-year-old actress named Susan Clark. Weekend Magazine's Bill Brown found the star of CBC's Festival, Seaway and Shoestring Theatre to be reserved and unassuming offstage. Don't miss his behind-the-scenes-story of the girl whom CBC producers label as "the best actress to come along in 10 years."

Puff Your Pastry

It took Food Editor Margo Oliver several weeks, trying different methods, to come up with this week's specialty: A "sure" recipe for puff pastry. Time, patience and practice along with Margo's extra tips and step pictures are ingredients that will ensure success.

Your Individual Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Thursday, April 21, 1966

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — After the activity of the last two days, you could experience a letdown UNLESS you start with built-in enthusiasm and explore all possible avenues toward progress with a capital "P." This you can do with surprising results — and in unexpected areas.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Be circumspect in making agreements, involvement in the affairs of others. If you experience delays in carrying out plans, do not chafe, but seek reasons, and stress patience. Things WILL work out.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Mercury now extremely beneficent. Especially favored: all those in the writing and educational fields, advertising and promotion interests, communications of every type.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Lunar influences somewhat adverse now. Be extremely careful to discriminate between rumor and fact, not to accept heresay as accurate information. Some deceptive trends prevail. Do not let any of this slow up efforts, however.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — You may be given some extra responsibilities but, if the end results seem worthwhile, accept them — ambitiously. Curb a tendency toward restlessness.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Early seesaw battles often bring forth the soundest overall platforms and programs. Remember this now: "Ups and downs" are indicated, and it will be up to you to keep on an even keel with foresight, good judgment and logic.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — A good day for launching plans for the future — if you handle them in your innately astute manner. Do not let conflicting views disturb you. Stress that Libran poise!

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — A day in which your innate competence and versatility will prove profitable — not only to yourself, but to those with whom you are associated. A good period in which to initiate new methods, present unusual ideas.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — You have more working for you than you may realize. Friends and associates are working for you in the background, and you should soon profit from some efforts you have long forgotten.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Especially favored now: Speed-up action on pending projects; making revisions in plans which didn't quite jell previously, property matters and improvements generally.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — You will make fine progress in some matters, less in others, but no returns will come easily. However, you can triumph over all if you keep plugging and remain optimistic even when the going is roughest.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Be careful to avoid errors which could be prevented through a little more forethought and planning. Right wrongs with dispatch, without doubts and. in this outgoing, warm way, you will attract admiration, gains.

YOU BORN TODAY are strong-minded, ambitious and willing to work hard to achieve worthwhile objectives. You have an amiable personality, so are generally loved by family, neighbors and co-workers. You are intuitive, fond of a good time and extremely artistic. In occupational matters, you usually rebel at tedium and details but, once you develop system — which may require the help of others — you adapt yourself admirably. Birthdate of: Queen Elizabeth II of England; H. A. Taine, Fr. critic, historian.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Countries Remain Friendly, Strong Tradition Exists

Trade and immigration are subjects uppermost in the minds of Barbadians when they discuss relations with Canada. But there is little enthusiasm for free trade with Canada. A Canadian Press reporter who visited the island tells why in this story.

By CY FOX

BRIDGE TOWN (CP)—Trade and immigration are the predominant topics when leading Barbadian figures comment on relations with Canada.

"The Canadian-West Indies agreement of 1926 is hopelessly out of date," Premier Errol Barrow said in an interview with a Canadian reporter.

Barrow said the idea of a Canada - West Indies free trade area "has been discussed down here and we didn't think there'd be any particular advantage for the West Indies."

But he said it would be "a good academic subject to have on the agenda" at the conference of leaders from the two Commonwealth areas, scheduled to be held in Ottawa next summer.

Free trade would give Canada a big advantage over British and United States manufacturers in the marketing of products in this Caribbean area.

"It also might possibly affect our own industrial development," Barrow said. "It would need careful examination."

As for the free trade agreement recently reached by representatives of Barbados, British Guiana and Antigua, the premier said:

"Political unity (in the West Indian area) has a much better chance of coming out of this 'Caribbean free trade area' than out of a vacuum, as it has been up to now."

The new agreement is expected to go into effect later this year.

IMMIGRANTS KEPT OUT

Immigration was a sore point with other officials here, notably Ernest Mottley, who leads the Barbados National Party, the conservative opposition. Mottley said Canada has de facto immigration restrictions against colored persons although there are no formal bars along these lines.

By favoring "skilled" workers, Canada in effect was restricting immigration from the West Indies, where many persons in the work force did not fit into the "skilled" category.

This country has about 250,000 people living on an island 14 miles long by 10 miles wide.

The popultion is growing and former avenues of emigration have been narrowed by British legislation. Thus the question of population movements remains a significant one here.

"Free movement of people is usually associated with free movement of goods," said Senator H. F. Alkins, in an interview that dealt mainly with trade.

Senator Alkins, manager of a firm of general importers and merchants based in Bridgetown, is among a number of non - partisan senators appointed by the governor.

LINKED BY TRADE

Technicians at research stations operated here by McGill University of Montreal said there is a strong tradition in Barbados of close relations with Canada.

This originates in trade—items like timber and salt fish coming south and molasses and rum going north—and now is increasing through the education of many Barbadians in Canada.

The island's chief monthly magazine has a section of Canadian news and comment, sometimes spreading over two pages. Canadian tourists make up a large proportion of visitors coming to Barbdos.

Peter Campbell, president of the Barbados Chamber of Commerce, said Canada-West Indian economic union has never been seriously considered here.

"There seem to be considerable obstacles on both sides."

But he added, "We attach great importance to the Canadian trade link," especially because of the Commonwealth sugar preference and "a preference on all primary products."

But the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade had reduced Canada's capacity for giving West Indian products the advantage of tariff preference.

"We're looking now for capital investment from Canada," Senator Alkins said. "Aid doesn't mean hand-outs."

UNION POSES PROBLEMS

There seemed to be a little feeling in Barbados, or elsewhere in the West Indies, for any formal political association with Canada.

A newspaper editor here complained that while the United States runs a well-staffed consulate in Bridgetown, Canada keeps none, preferring to cover Barbados from its diplomatic and trade office in Port of Spain, Trinidad.

"The Canadian government has done nothing to put Canada across here," the editor said.

Senator Alkins said, however, that the lack of a Candian commission in Bridgetown doesn't seem to be a source of complaint among local businessmen.

As for possible economic union, he said Canada would have to open its doors to West Indian manufactured goods, with possible effects on its own industry.

A Canadian economist here said free trade with the West Indies would involve Canada in awkward situations with other countries. Preference for West Indian products would mean discrimination against those of other countries, "and that might mean difficulties."

Drinking Bout Staged in Civic Interest

NANAIMO, B.C. (AP)—Three men went on a drinking spree here—and were applauded by spectators as civic officials watched.

They were trying to get intoxicated in the interests of testing a machine that measures through the breath the amount of alcohol absorbed into the bloodstream.

It was part of a civic program aimed at pointing up the dangers of driving while drinking.

Capt. Mike Murray of the navy came out on top in the drinking contest, downing 15 ounces of whisky in the allotted time. He was game to take a bit more but sober officials cut him off.

Capt. Murray could still talk coherently but admitted he was sleepy. He couldn't walk a straight line. The machine rated his blood alcohol content at .15, an undisputed reading of intoxication.

He received hearty applause from the audience—"the first time I ever got an ovation for drinking."

Two reporters also took part. Harry Moffatt and Larry Thomas tried to keep up with Capt. Murray. But Mr. Thomas quit after 10 ounces and his rating was .06, considered impairment by most authorities depending on physical aptitude. Mr. Moffatt consumed nine bottles of beer and ended with a .07 reading.

During the two hours of drinking, safety officials explained the operations of the breath-testing machine and showed films of car accidents.

None of the contestants drove home.

Oil Flows Down Under

By VINCENT MATTHEWS
Canadian Press Correspondent

MELBOURNE (CP) — Australians are getting that oil-rich feeling.

They were always confident that liquid gold was below the surface of their country. But now it is really being proved — and in a way that is making stock exchange oil shares treble their value in a day.

In two weeks oil discoveries were made thousands of miles apart — in Queensland, Western Australia and off the coast of Victoria state.

In Queensland, where Australia's first commercial field, at Moonie, has been in production for three years, a new oil find was made 25 miles from the main field. It is only small at the moment but it has big prospects.

Off the Western Australian coast, on remote Barrow Island, the West Australian Petroleum Co. found oil in its 24th well. The record of finds on Barrow Island has been remarkable — out of 24 wells drilled, 22 have struck oil, one gas and only one was dry.

The Barrow Island field, it is expected, will go into commercial production later this year. The difficulties of working the field are tremendous because the island is on the cyclone route. Every year, cyclones that build up in the Indian Ocean sweep down on the Western Australian coast ,thrashing Barrow Island on the way.

Urgent work on the island has been held up for several weeks this year beacuse of impossible weather and the steel oilwell towers have to be built specially to withstand winds up to 100 miles an hour.

One of the big commercial advantages of Barrow Island — 50 miles off the mainland — is that it is relatively close to that part of northwest Western Australia where a big iron ore mining project has begun in the Hammersley Ranges.

Gas Pipeline Expansion Financed by Canadians

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. proposes to issue $50,000,000 worth of preferred stock, hoping to sell 99 per cent of it to Canadian investors to finance the gas pipeline's big expansion program.

George Woods, financial vice-president, told the Board of Transport Commissioners Monday Trans-Canada has sufficient bank credit to carry out its capital program this year, but the company will have big cash needs in 1967 and it now is costing the company about 7½ per cent to borrow funds in the United States.

Arthur Nesbitt, president of the Montreal investment firm of Nesbitt Thomson and Co., and a director of Trans-Canada, said the preferred shares will be offered to Canadian and European investors. They will not be offered to United States investors.

The board, which must approve the company bylaw governing the preferred stock, is expected to issue its ruling Tuesday after hearing final testimony. The company was authorized by its 1951 act of incorporation to issue 1,000,000 preferred shares with a par value of $50 each.

Terms of the stock issue will be decided by the company directors. The bylaw, approved last week by a shareholders meeting in Calgary, authorizes a dividend rate as high as eight per cent, but John Clarry, Toronto lawyer appearing before the board for Trans-Canada, said the rate will be as low as is essential to make the shares attractive for investors.

IS FIRST APPLICATION

Board Chairman Rod Kerr noted that his body had never had to deal with such an application before. Unless the company wants to issue preferred stock on other terms sometimes in the future, the company is unlikely to have to go before the transport board again. Its main concern in Ottawa is with the National Energy Board, which has power to authorize pipeline construction and export and import permits.

Mr. Woods said the company has property on which it could issue bonds worth $30,000,000, but various trust indentures for debentures limit this source of new company funds to about $8,000,000. Trans-Canada's cash requirements for this year amount to $58,600,000.

One of the principal purposes of the preferred stock issue is to raise funds to invest in the Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. This venture, 50-per-cent owned by Trans-Canada, is to build a line to carry Canadian gas from Emerson, Man., through the United States to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Sarnia, Ont., selling some along the way but mainly to supply the growing southern Ontario market for natural gas.

Mr. Nesbitt said Trans-Canada will need an additional $60,000,000 in cash for company business in 1967.
