ELEVEN BURNED TO DEATH AT PARRY SOUND

Soviet Officials Mum On Luna X Reports

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet authorities kept mum Sunday night in the face of reports from Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory that Luna X was in orbit around the moon and from Bochum, West Germany, that the space station was transmitting the Communist anthem Internationale.

Britain's Sir Bernard Lovell gave varying reports—that it was in orbit, that it had landed, then, again, that it was in orbit, with indications it was tumbling.

He described the situation as "extremely obscure" and those in charge of the space program here made no immediate effort to clear it up.

By the term tumbling, Lovell meant that Luna X was behaving erratically, possibly the kind of behavior that caused America's astronauts recently to cut short their space flight.

It seemed possible Soviet experts were equally confused and would make no statements until the situation became clear.

SUPPLIED NEWS

The only news of Luna X Sunday reached the Soviet capital on the wires of Western news agencies and on Western radio broadcasts.

The unmanned space station was launched Thursday with the announced intention of orbiting the moon.

The next word came from Britain when Lovell said his big dish radio telescope had begun picking up signals from it after moonrise Sunday.

The same news came from West Germany's Bochum observatory.

Both said they were telemetry —not television picture — signals.

North Sea Gale Smashes Old Vessel to Pieces

LONDON (AP) — Ten men aboard a 300-ton British pleasure ship died Sunday while rescuers helplessly watched a North Sea gale smash the vessel to pieces near the mouth of the Humber River.

The 58-year-old pleasure boat Anzio had been on the way from London to Inverness in Scotland, where the captain and volunteer Scottish crew planned to operate tourist cruises. Coast guard men at Donna Nook on the northeastern English coast spotted the boat Saturday night and signalled her by searchlight to stay offshore.

They said the Anzio appeared to respond but then turned a complete circle in the teeth of the gale, struck the rock-hard sand and rolled over.

Rocket teams raced to the beach. But eac htime they fired, the wind blew back their lifelines. As the encroaching tide drove the rescuers back, the coast guard flashed a signal for the Anzio to float a line ashore.

"There is nothing left that will float," the answer came back.

BODIES WASHED ASHORE

Shortly afterward bodies—each wearing a lifejacket—began to wash onto the beach. Rescuers ran into the water to reach them, but each man was dead as he was dragged ashore.

Bits of the ship's wreckage lined the water's edge for two miles.

To the south, helicopters took 38 men off the oil rig Constallation, whose crew rode out another gale last week and were blown almost to Holland. A spokesman for the International Drilling Co., which is looking for natural gas off the English coast, said the men—American drillers among them — had been taken off "purely as a precaution."

Twelve men remained aboard the Constellation.

Many roads in northern England remained blocked by snow in the wake of one of the worst spring blizzards in years. Officials in Leeds, Newcastle and Carlisle reported more than 1,000 calls for assistance since Friday night from motorists stalled in the snow.

Mass Funeral Today For House Fire Victims

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP) — A mass funeral will be held today for two adults and nine children who died in a raging house fire believed started by a four-year-old boy who threw a lighted cigarette into a can of naptha gas.

The blaze levelled a three-room house owned by Joseph Judge, 40, on the Ojibway Indian Reserve on Parry Island about four miles west of here.

Police said 18 persons, including 13 children, were in the small house. Nine of the children were Mr. Judge's and the others were from a neighboring house owned by Ben Tobobondung.

Six Judge children died and three others are in Parry Sound hospital suffering burns. Dead are: Thomasina, nine - months, Tracy, 2, Dana, 1, Charles, 4, Donna, 3, Abby, 6, and Mrs. Mary, 73, Jane Judge, he children's grandmother.

Three of the four Tobobundung children were killed: Wilfrid, 3 May, 5, and Nora, 7. A visitor from the Rama Reserve near Orillia, Harry Pavis, 30, also died.

The survivors are Mrs. Pavis, Mrs. Tobobundung, one of her children and Mrs. Judge and three of her children.

The island is linked to the mainland by an old, one-lane railway bridge. Only one car at a time can travel across because rotting timbers and aged braces have made the bridge unsafe. The reserve has no fire department.

Viet Nam Campaign Soon To Regain Coast Control

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky declared Da Nang a rebel city in the hands of Communist elements Sunday and said government troops soon will launch military operations to regain control of the coastal centre that has been a focal point of anti-government demonstrations.

Apparently staking the life of his regime on the outcome, Ky said: "Either the mayor of Da Nang is shot or the (Saigon) government falls."

In Da Nang, Mayor Nguyen Van Man branded Ky's claims "stupid" and predicted the Saigon military regime will be overthrown.

"This city does not belong to the Viet Cong," Man said.

A score of soldiers stood guard outside Man's house. He said they were sent there by "friends."

Da Nang, 370 miles northeast of Saigon, is the site of huge U.S. marine and air force bases. They are situated outside the city limits and Ky did not seem to involve these areas in his charge that Da Nang was in control of Communist elements. The bases are tightly guarded and Da Nang city is off-limits to U.S. military personnel.

Military operations there were going on as usual. A marine unit opened a large operation against a Viet Cong stronghold 25 miles southwest of Da Nang.

Ky's blasts against Da Nang and its mayor came in the midst of mounting political pressure on his government. Anti-government and anti-American demonstrations have been springing up throughout the country.

As Ky levelled his charges at a Saigon press conference, reports came in of new demonstrations: At Da Nang, 500 policemen marched with anti-government banners; at Nha Trang, demonstrators smashed furniture and equipment in a government information office; another demonstration was reported at Hue, the Buddhist centre; and demonstrators occupied a hotel annex at the mountain resort of Dalat, demanding an end to its use as a rest centre for U.S. military personnel.

Striking Railmen Yield to Pressure

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The striking rail firemen's union yielded Sunday to the pressure of pending $25,000-a-day court fines and a strong appeal from President Johnson, and ordered its men back to work on eight major U.S. railways.

Union President H. E. Gilbert, who faces a contempt-of-court fine of $2,500 a day in addition to the penalty against his union, said he was ordering the strike called off, provided the railways pledge no reprisals against any workers.

Gilbert said he would view damage suits against the union as reprisals against the workers.

New York May Ease State Divorce Laws

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—After resisting change for 178 years, New York State is on the verge of relaxing the most stringent divorce law in the country.

The law permits divorce on only one ground—adultery.

Leaders of the state legislature have agreed on a bill that would establish additional grounds. The bill, however, would cut off New Yorkers' opportunity to obtain "quickie" divorces in other states.

The legislation is scheduled for action late this month. Because the legislature is in a mood for change, and because the bill was drafted by the most powerful Republican and Democratic leaders, the measure appears almost certain to be approved.

For many years, the most effective opponent to revising the law has been the Roman Catholic Church but Catholic spokesmen now are taking an acquiescent attitude.

Deny Canadians Arrested Report

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Reliable sources Sunday denied reports that some Canadians have been arrested or interrogated in connection with recent Nicosia bomb explosions.

The sources denied Greek-Cypriot newspaper reports that four employees of the Canadian high commission had been either interrogated or arrested.

A British passport holder, Frank Sheffield, 44, was remanded Thursday for the second time for eight days on charges connected with the bomb incident.

Another foreigner — Frenchman Michel Weiss—will appear in court April 13 on similar charges.

Pressure Wilson To Improve Britain

*LONDON (CP)— Prime Minis*ter Harold Wilson is under heavy pressure from friends and political foes alike to jerk Britain out of economic drift, now he has won a large parliamentary majority.

*Britain expects a tough aus*terity budget in May.

Weekend editorial commentators almost unanimously expressed hopes Wilson will live up to his own post-election pledge "to take whatever measures we think necessary, whether they be popular or unpopular."

Implicit in much comment is uneasiness about Wilson's readiness to tackle pressing problems with the same flair he displayed in developing a precarious toehold on parliamentary power into last Thursday's electoral victory—a 97-vote majority for Labor in the 630-seat House of Commons. The final results were: Labor 363 seats; Conservatives 253; Liberals 12; Irish Republican one, and the Speaker one.

"This time there can be no alibis,," says the Laborite Daily Mirror, in reference to the claim the Wilson government of the last 17 months was inhibited by a tiny Commons majority and an economic crisis inherited from the Conservatives.

British Author Dies of Stroke

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — C. S. Forester, British author who created one of fiction's mightiest naval heroes—Captain Horatio Hornblower—died Saturday of an apparent stroke. He was 66.

Forester, paralyzed by a stroke suffered 18 months ago, had another seizure Wednesday night from which he apparently rallied.

Flood Threat Faces Southern Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Red River rose sharply at various southern Manitoba points during the weekend but most of the rapid rise has been blamed on a few ice jams and water from the tributaries.

Manitoba Agriculture Minister George Hutton told a press conference that at Morris, 35 miles to the south, the river stood at 768.5 feet above sea level—up 4.1 feet in a 24-hour period ended 8 a.m. CST Sunday.

The four-foot rise has been the sharpest increase in a 24-hour period along the Red's northwest course through southern Manitoba.

Mr. Hutton said the level at St. Jean Baptiste, six miles south of Morris, was measured at 774.5 feet above sea level — up 4.2 feet in a 24-hour period ended Sunday morning.

Palm Branches Blessed by Pope

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul blessed palm branches in the Sistine Chapel Sunday and celebrated mass before 10,000 persons in St. Peter's Basilica to usher in Holy Week for the world's Roman Catholics.

The blessing of palms and the day's mass recalled the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem a week before the Easter resurrection.

The religious ceremonies of Holy Week will focus on the Holy Thursday observance of the Last Supper and on the mournful rites of Good Friday, marking Christ's crucifixion for the sins of man.

The pontiff blessed psalms and distributed them to 21 cardinals gathered with him in the Sistine Chapel. Then he put on a red cape and a bishop's miter to walk in procession through the basilica to the main altar for mass.

"Today, as before," the Pope said in a sermon, "the people are invited to chose between those who love Christ as the Son of God and those who do not."

One group of 85 men left Moncton aboard an RCAF Yukon aricraft bound directly for the Mediterranean island. A second, comprised of 30 men, flew out of Fredericton for an overnight stop in Trenton, Ont., before flying on to Cyprus.

Lindbergh Baby . . . . . . Kidnap-Slaying

Hauptmann Letter To Governor Hoffman Made Public on Anniversary of Execution

By BOB DUBILL

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Thirty years ago Sunday, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was executed for murdering the Lindbergh baby.

Four days before he died in the electric chair at New Jersey's state prison, he wrote his last letter, a long one to Governor Harold Hoffman insisting he was innocent.

The Associated Press obtained a copy last week from William M. Dwyer, press secretary to Governor Richard J. Hughes. It had been saved by Hoffman's press secretary, Edward Connelly.

The letter said:

"My writing is not for fear of losing my life. This is in the hands of God, it is His will. I will go gladly, it means the end of my tremendous suffering. Only in thinking of my dear wife and my little boy, that is breaking my heart. I know until this terrible crime is solved they will have to suffer under the weight of my unfair conviction. . . .

"May I ask fair thinking people—would I have been convicted of this crime without the circumstantial evidence and false witnesses. No! Never and never. . . .

"Why did my chief lawyer send important witnesses home without even bringing them to the stand. My God, my God, I hardly can't believe on all that what happened by my trial. But it was necessary to convict me and so close the books on the case. . . ."

The prosecutor — aggressive, articulate David T. Wilentz—conceded qualms about capital punishment, but he insisted Hauptmann's conviction was valid and still does.

"Nothing has happened since that has altered my faith in the verdict of the jury," Wilentz, now 70, said in an interview.

Wilentz admits he's still bothered by capital punishment.

The case against Hauptmann was largely circumstantial.

On a cold, windy night March 1, 1932, Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., 19-month-old son of America's flying hero, was kidnapped from his crib.

Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, were talking downstairs. They heard a noise which Lindbergh brushed off as a rustling of the wind.

Fifty minutes later a nursemaid discovered the baby missing. On the window was a crude note demanding $50,000 ransom. On the ground near the 2½-storey house in nearby Hopewell was a crude three-piece ladder. It was broken in one place. Beside it was a wood chisel.

Two months later a workman stumbled across the baby's body in a shallow grave five miles from the Lindbergh home and touched off one of the most exhaustive manhunts in history.

On Sept. 19, 1934, the trial led to a 35-year-old German-born carpenter in New York City. His name was Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

The case of the state:

Ransom money—Through an intermediary, Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, Lindbergh paid the $50,000 ransom the night of April 2 in a Bronx cemetery. Condon testified that the voice at the cemetery telling him where to leave the money was that of Hauptmann. The government distributed circulars carrying serial numbers of the money, most of which was in gold certificates.

A motorist gave a $10 gold note to a Bronx gas station attendant who jotted down the number of the auto licence plate. When police arrested Hauptmann, he had a $20 ransom gold note in his possession. Police found $14,600 more in his garage.

The Ladder—Arthur Koehler, a wood technologist acknowledged as an expert, spent nearly two years tracking down the wood in the kidnap ladder. He finally traced one piece from a lumber mill in South Carolina to the Bronx lumber yard where Hauptmann had been a customer. He said another piece had been part of a floorboard in Hauptmann's attic.

Crawford gave her further verbal accolades for her driving spirit in putting the festival over. Name Gilbert Commodore Of Kootenay Launch Club

At the annual meeting of the Kootenay Launch Club, Thursday the following officers were elected for 1966.

Honorary Life Commodore L. F. Gilbert, Commodore R. E. Wm. Turner, Captain E. J. Hooker Mate (Sec.-Treasurer) Mrs. T. G. C. Fox, and directors, I. R. Jones, E. Brochu, and G. F. Hartridge.

In his report on the past year's activities, Commodore Turner reported at length on the work the club had done through the Canadian Boating Federation on improving safety on the Kootenay Lake.

After one member's cruiser had been sunk when in collision with a log boom on the West Arm of Kootenay Lake near Nelson, the Boating Federation contacted the Director of Marine Regulations in Ottawa and arranged a meeting with the Club and a representative of the Department of Transport Vancouver.

The hazards of log booms and other obstructions on the West Arm were reviewed and recommendations made for greater safety.

Plans for a combined cruise with the Spokane Outboard Club and the Kootenay Launch Club are being made for July 2, 3, and 4 and a good turnout is expected.

Members were also notified of the now popular "Bonners Ferry" cruise which takes place annually over the Labor Day weekend, and organized by the originator Buz Buchanan. An even better turn out is hoped for than last year.

In conclusion the Commodore expressed the club's appreciation for the work of the retiring members of the Board of Governors, Captain W. G. Hall, Mate J. S. M. Harts and T. G. C. Fox.

WIDESPREAD DAMAGE IN FREAK WINDSTORM

A garage, belonging to Bob Oliver of South Slocan, was blown over and practically demolished during a heavy windstorm at about 7:30 Saturday. The storm took a good deal of roofing from residences of Joe Dawes, Mrs. G. Oliver and John Hawkins.

It blew out a couple of windows, one in the RCMP residence at Crescent Valley and the other at Mrs. Oliver's at South Slocan. It took down the back-stop on the Crescent Valley school grounds and there were some trees blown down between Crescent Valley and Thrums. The storm resembled a small twister, and lasted approximately half an hour.

Mines Road Situation Taken Up By Black

A letter from W. D. Black, Provincial Secretary, concerning "a dangerous corner" in the 1200 block of Hall Mines Road where a five-year-old child was struck down March 23, has been received by Mrs. George Turner.

Mrs. Turner was instrumental in having a telegram sent to P. Gaglardi, Minister of Highways. This telegram, which was signed by a number of Hall Mines Road area residents, demanded immediate action by the Department of Highways concerning the corner where Michael Mayrhofer was hit by a car.

The letter, dated March 25, read as follows: "This is to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of March 24, signed by a number of others, in which you bring to my attention the condition of the above road particularly a certain dangerous corner.

I am taking this matter up with the Department of Highways on your behalf. With kindest personal regards, yours very truly, W. D. Black, Provincial Secretary."

An official from the Department of Highways will arrive in Nelson in about two weeks.

Loff Oversees Education Financing For District

Much of the credit for applying measures of control to the zooming education costs in Nelson School District Seven must go to the board's secretary-treasurer Bernie Loff.

This was the view expressed by an official of the B.C. Department of Education who recently reviewed the local school district's budget. He said the Nelson area was fortunate in having a person as capable as Mr. Loff to handle its budget.

Born at Rossland in 1936, he has lived in the Nelson area for the past nine years.

After spending six years in Rossland, he moved to Castlegar where he completed his formal education. He continued studying as an articled clerk during which time he married the former Louise Konkin of Castlegar in 1957. Mr. Loff left Nelson to work for a lumber company as an accountant.

One year later Mr. Loff came back to Nelson, spending a short time as an accountant for a local car dealer.

In 1962 he applied and was accepted as an accountant for School District No. 7 and in 1963 became secretary-treasurer, a position he has held since.

As secretary-treasurer, Mr. Loff is responsible for the preparation of the School Board's budget as well as business administration. He also acts as purchasing agent for the district schools.

During the winter, Mr. Loff's spare time is spent as a linesman for the Western International Hockey League and local minor hockey leagues. Fishing and golf occupy his time during the summer along with the Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Appledale Man Dies Aged 83

Appledale oldtimer, George Steele died here Sunday, aged 83 years.

He and his father later took homesteads in the Nanton district and Mr. Steele moved to Appledale in 1916 where he farmed until ill health overtook him in 1957.

During his first years in Appledale he worked as painter and paper hanger in partnership with the late Tom Wynn in Trail, until about 1921.

He is survived by one brother, Jacob of Silverton, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary (Polly) Blackburn and Mrs. W. W. (Betsy) Hay, both of Nanton and several nieces and nephews.

Pranksters Busy at NDU

Students who participated in Friday's April Fool pranks at Notre Dame College will not be subjected to disciplinary action, President Aquinas Thomas said

The pranks included spreading tissue paper around halls in the various buildings and moving desks out of the classrooms. Kitchen utensils and dishes were tied up, forcing many students to eat in restaurants since breakfast could not be served

There were 14 serious crimes for every 1000 Americans in 1964.

Chambers Want Immediate Consideration of Salmo-Kinnaird Link

CRANBROOK — Immediate consideration was asked for Saturday by the delegates attending the 65 annual convention of the Kootenay-Boundary Chambers of Commerce concerning the construction of a Salmo-Kinnaird link. This stretch of road was given first priority by the convention in Cranbrook.

It was resolved that the highway policy of association was to establish a priority rating which arranges the various projects in order of their importance. Second priority went to the Rose Pass route from Kimberley to Kootenay Bay. It was also recommended that the government be prepared to complete a link from Grand Forks to Boundary Falls as soon as possible.

Another resolution saw the convention urging the government to bring all sections of the Southern Trans-Canada designated highway three, up to arterial standards as quickly as possible. Particular attention is to be paid to by-passing areas of large population and those sections of the highway number three such as Creston to Kitchener and Natal to the border.

Considering the government decision on the Koch Creek proposal, the convention termed it precipitate and felt it should be "reconsidered in the light of the considerable additional value of a route from Fauquier to Syringa Creek on the east side of the lower Arrow Lake even though this may be more costly."

"It is the considered opinion of this association that insufficient information has been provided on comparative capital and maintenance costs. Construction of either route is not considered of immediate urgency, we therefore respectfully ask the government to conduct further study and reconsider their position in the light of local opinion and desire."

Another highway resolution adopted by the delegates came from the Nelson and Kaslo Chambers. They proposed that immediate consideration be given to the construction of a connecting link between the road to be constructed by B.C. Hydro along the east side of Duncan Lake and a highway that it is proposed the Federal Parks Board construct from Stoney Creek on highway number one to the park boundary. This represents a distance of approximately 20 miles.

A resolution from Trail asking that the provincial government call for tenders to be called for the relocation of the approach to Trail from Warfield, was accepted by the convention.

Two proposed resolutions were referred back to their respective chambers for revision or further study. One, from the Trail Chamber dealt with the relocation and improvement of the Castlegar to Trail road and the second, from Kimberley, asked for a road connecting Kimberley, Marysville, Chapman Camp and other communities with the "newly situated East Kootenay Airport."

Two of the last highways resolutions to be accepted by the convention dealt with the protection of the Salmo to Creston Skyway from snow and mud slides and the Galena Bay, Nakusp gazetted road and the Revelstoke to Galina Bay road. These are to be brought up to acceptable road standards as soon as possible.

Earlier in the session seven general resolutions were dealt with by the delegates. The first of these came from Nelson and stated that "due to the ever increasing need to keep the water of our lakes, streams and rivers unpolluted and also due to the same need with respect to the air we breathe, it is resolved that this chamber go on record as favoring legislation for pollution control of air and water."

With its acceptance discussion turned to the Kimberley statement that dealt with ribbon development along highways. Under this new workers to the district are to be encouraged to build their homes within city limits rather than in unorganized areas along provincial roads. This too was accepted.

Government park policy came under fire from the Trail Chamber of Commerce. Their resolution stated that the designation of an area as a national or provincial park should not proclude the controlled development of natural resources within the area. Control of such development should protect the amenities of the area and make provision of roads and trails developed privately to be usable by the general public.

A change in the liquor laws was also proposed by Trail. This resolution dealt with the closing of outlets for liquor sales during election days. It was resolved that it be annulled because it serves no other purpose than to restrict free enterprise and because it interferes with the liberty of an individual to assume personal responsibility for his morality and civic duty.

Cranbrook's Chamber presented a resolution on reservoir clearing. They resolved that the Kootenay-Boundary Chambers of Commerce protest the present regulation set forth by the comptroller of water rights and request that a complete review of the proposals set forth in the engineer's report and the areas to be cleared be clearly defined before the filling of the reservoirs.

Only two general resolutions were not passed. One from Kimberley suggesting a split between the East Kootenay and the West Kootenay giving each equal status was turned down after little discussion.

However, a second Kimberley resolution concerning inflation fell after lengthy talks around the table. It asked for federal restraints on large government spending. Many delegates felt that experts in Ottawa were doing their best and should not be interfered with by unqualified organizations.

Takes Sunday Drive Over to East Kootenay

Took a "Sunday" drive and moseyed over into the East Kootenays to see what we could see, and like the fabled bear saw the other side of the mountain. But we learned something at the same time. On noting the bright paint and polish of a town there, a native told us the city fathers came up with the idea of upping the taxes of undeveloped properties to encourage improvements and it worked, like a charm, by gum! Would that more councils gave this plan consideration, up the town coffers if apathy continued to prevail.

Even the trees this week are taking on a vibrancy of life renewed. Ah, lovely spring!

Delegates Named To Spring Meeting

KASLO — The following delegates were named to attend the Kootenay and Boundary Association of Municipalities Spring Meeting, to be held in Fernie: Chairman Drayton, Commissioners Higgins and Jardine and the Village clerk. Plans to attend the Municipal Officers Conference were also considered and it was the decision of the Council that the Village Clerk and Mr. W. Drayton or Mr. Tompson, as directors of the Regional District Board would attend said Conference.

The Kaslo Library Association submitted an Annual Report, which showed an increase in the book stock and in memberships. Said report included a statement of revenue and expenditures for the year. It is felt that the Library is a great asset to thet Village and the volunteer workers deserve much credit for carrying on such an enterprise. It was agreed to budget for the usual Annual Grant and the report was accepted.

Proposed plans to improve part of "E" Avenue were approved and replacement of the diving board on the float was considered necessary, therefore the matter was to be investigated. Further improvements to the Kaslo Waterworks System was discussed and it was felt that the services of a consulting engineer would be necessary before final decisions were made.

Hanoi at Moscow

Encouragement can be found in the fact that North Vietnam, as well as North Korea, is sending a high ranking delegation to the forthcoming 23rd Soviet Community Party Congress. This constitutes a partial break with Communist China, which announced its refusal to attend in a harsh and insulting note to Moscow. For any movement within the Communist world away from the intransigent and brand-hurling position of Peking and toward Moscow's less revolutionary and more live-and-let-live attitude is a gain for world peace and progress.

This is particularly so when it is North Vietnam who makes the move. Perhaps Hanoi felt so trapped by diplomatic circumstances that it could not follow Peking's lead on this. Or, North Vietnamese leaders may have reached a hard-headed conclusion that they were likelier to get the weapons they need from Russia than from China. But whatever the reason, Hanoi has, momentarily at least, taken its stand beside that Communist power whose policies today are the more conciliatory.

This may not mean that Hanoi is any readier today than in the past to listen to the cautionary advice which Moscow is believed to be offering the Vietnamese Communists on the war in Southeast Asia. But it does mean that it is ready to put itself in a position where such advice may again be given, albeit behind the scenes.

And there is increasing reason to believe that the course of military events makes it more and more imperative that Hanoi accept such advice. For there is mounting evidence that the Communists are now caught in a situation which, no matter in which direction they move, can only grow worse.

We have believed for the past year that Moscow recognizes that communism in South Vietnam would lose the military battle, and should therefore turn to a political battle which is only reachable through a peace conference. We hope that Moscow will press home this argument every chance it gets. It is, in reality, the only feasible course left to Hanoi.—Christian Science Monitor.

Time for Civil Service Review

The raising of pay and other benefits for the civil servants of Quebec by means of collective bargaining creates an opportunity for the Government in its role of management. For as standards of payment in the civil service of the province move closer to those in industry and business, the government, more than ever before, will be in a position to introduce methods of efficieucy more closely in line with what private business requires. Though many improvements have already been made in the efficiency of the civil service, the way is open for a comprehensive reorganization.

Some of the difficulties that tend to gather about the administration of any civil service were illustrated by the Royal Commission (the Glassco Commission) that examined the federal civil service.

It found, for example, that "dismissal for incompetence or misconduct is so rare in the public service today as to constitute evidence that the power is insufficiently employed. The obstacles to exercising it, even in clearly justified cases, are great."

The Glassco Commission also found that management was rather feeble. "At every point," said the report, "central restrictions, legislative proscription and the generally-held philosophy that supervisory discretion is an evil to be guarded against, have inhibited proper supervisory performance within departments and agencies."

It is interesting to note that one of the few provinces that have had a royal commission examine the working of its civil service is Saskatchewan. Its Royal Commission (the Johnson Commission) submitted its report a few months ago. And the report is of particular interest in that Saskatchewan was first province to grant rights of collective bargaining to its employees.

One of the most interesting passages in the Johnson Report describes the difference between public and private enterprise. The environment in which business operates, it says, tends automatically to force business to adopt new and better techniques.

But governments are not in the same position. Taxpayers have to pay for all services, whether they use them or not. They cannot express individual preferences among the services, or penalize any by the withdrawal of their custom. Though they may vote every four years or so, they vote for such vague issues and promises, that the functioning of the civil service is little affected.

"Your commissions, throughout their studies," said the report, "frequently heard the statement that government was not primarily interested in efficiency and economy as such . . . your commissioners are convinced that in order to prevent wastage, attention must be drawn, not only to government service but also to its method of provision.

It is also interesting that the Johnson Report, while pointing out the good relations between the civil service unions and the government in some areas, found that there had, through collective bargaining, been a definite erosion of the government's management rights in other areas. As the exertion of management rights tends to be rather weak in the civil service at best, its further erosion through collective bargaining is another cause for concern.

Of course, it will be said that the differences between government services and private business are so great that they cannot be fairly compared. The Glassco Commissioners encountered this argument when they were conducting their investigations. And they had a very pertinent reply:

"Despite this apparent difference, both kinds of organization share the common objective of achieving maximum productivity . . . most of the techniques of management developed for business can be adapted to government, due allowance being made for the different tests by which economy or productivity must ultimately be judged."

There is little reason to believe that, in general, the efficiency of the civil service in the provinces is any higher than that of the federal government. The opportunity is now before the Quebec government to improve the function and administration of this province's civil service, at the same time as its standards of pay, and other benefits are being raised.—Montreal Gazette.

The Cost of Eating

The increase of three cents a pound in the price of butter sold in Winnipeg (two cents in other parts of the country) raises serious doubts about the federal government's determination to keep the rising cost of living within reasonable bounds. The cost of living index rose by more than three per cent last year; the rise this year is expected to be even sharper.

Th emajor factor in the higher index is the cost of food. And this is one area in which the ordinary consumer is most helpless. If we do not like the price of some commodities, we can put off buying them for the time being, in the hope of lower prices later on. (This is a remedy urged by the Canadian Association of Consumers). But a person can't stop eating; and food prices unquestionably hit the ordinary pocketbook harder than any other prices.

In most areas, the government has no direct control of prices, but butter is an exception. The government, in effect, owns all the butter sold in Canada because of its price support policy. It can, and does, dictate the price the consumer will pay. The increase last week was the direct result of the government's decision to increase the guaranteed price to the farmer for his manufacturing milk (from which butter and other dairy products are made) from the present $3.50 to $4 per 100 pounds. This is expected to cost the government about $90 million a year; and the government intends to recoup this amount by selling butter to wholesalers at 59 cents a pound instead of 57 cents as at present. The increase is passed on through the retailer to the housewife.

The minister of agriculture's attempts to justify the price increase show a complete lack of grasp of the problem.

Mr. Green argued that a small increase in the price of butter now was necessary to head off a big one later. This is the old argument to justify support prices— and as far as it applies to support prices only it has some validity. Unless producers receive enough for their produce, they will pull out of production (milk, cattle, hogs or whatever) and then there will be a severe shortage which will be reflected in much higher prices to the consumer.

But that has nothing to do with setting the retail price by the government. There is nothing to stop the government from raising the support price to $4, if it felt that the increase was necessary to keep dairy men in production, and leave the price of butter to the wholesaler (and thus to the consumer) where it was. This would mean that the $90 million a year would be a straight subsidy to dairy producers. Farmers have received subsidies in the past and will receive them in the future. It can be argued that if an additional $90 million is to be paid from the general treasury, the ordinary Canadian is going to pay for the increase anyway—in taxes rather than in butter prices.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Prime Minister Wilson Drags Up Nassau

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister Wilson appears to have dragged up the 1962 Anglo - American summit talks at Nassau for the purpose of smashing any impression left with voters that Britain's Conservative party leaders have a special relationship with President de Gaulle.

All through the British election fight, Conservative Leader Edward Heath has pleaded for Britain's entry into the European Common Market with such fervor that voters might have felt he had some special understanding with de Gaulle to ensure that the door to Europe would not be slammed again in Britain's face.

The Common Market has become a major issue in the election campaign, though it is not evident that the entire country is willing to embrace such membership with open arms. Wilson has stated there would have to be basic modifications in the Rome treaty, including relaxation of the Common Market food-imports pricing system, before he would consider entry.

COMMONWEALTH FIRST

Behind Wilson's position is his commitment to the Commonwealth whose markets in Britain would be hurt by unconditional British entry into the European trade bloc. But can Heath even ensure that de Gaulle would remove his veto?

To demonstrate that Heath has no special relationship, the Labor leadership launched a double-pronged attack. George Brown, deputy prime minister, suggested Heath was merely determined to lick de Gaulle's boots—something Labor won't do. Wilson brought up the old Anglo-American Nassau agreement under which former prime minister Macmillan agreed to accept American seaborne Polaris missiles instead of the airborne Skybolt missiles which the late president Kennedy decided should not be built.

Before Macmillan went to Nassau to meet Kennedy, he conferred with de Gaulle to tell the French leader the Skybolt might have to be replaced by some other deterrent weapon. Wilson maintained that Macmillan deceived de Gaulle on the full ramifications of the Nassau summit and this led to de Gaulle's veto against Britain's Common Market application in January, 1963.

Macmillan, who has remained on the sidelines during the current campaign, demanded Wilson withdraw his remarks. Wilson refused.

Heath immediately leaped in, expressed his regret and countered Wilson by saying his own high French source — which seemed to suggest de Gaulle himself—had expressed full satisfaction that MacMillan had provided the "relevant facts" about the Skybolt.

Whether, in fact, the Nassau affair was the only event which led de Gaulle to exercise his veto against Britain may be something for future historians to judge. He had been grumbling for some time that he had been left out of the special British-U.S. conference.

Undoubtedly, Nassau may have been one more sting to arouse his anger. Or, de Gaulle, may have had in mind all along to keep Britain out of the Common Market. Neither Wilson, nor Heath nor Macmillan may have been able to fathom the full extent of de Gaulle's logic and strategy.

Wishes Ignored

To the Editor:

Sir—At the last election we were presumably and supposedly given the opportunity of voicing our choice in a centennial project, to wit, a library building at an estimated cost of $105,000; a museum at an estimated cost of $118,000; or "lakefront development" at an estimated $150,000. Quite naturally, having such a choice, the public voted for the larger project, as who isn't going to accept the larger offer under such circumstances?

However, it might interest the general public to know just what transpired at the Centennial Club meetings from the time of its formation resulting in such a referendum.

The original Projects Committee, consisting of responsible business men in Nelson, after examining the merits of some 38 suggested projects submitted by citizens, recommended to the Centennial Club the building of a library as a centennial project. This recommendation was rejected at an open meeting and a new Projects Committee was formed which ultimately brought in three projects to be submitted to the citizens for an expression of opinion and, as previously mentioned, at the last election these projects were voted upon.

Just what possible similarity there could be between the present centennial project and the lakefront development that was approved by the citizens is a mystery to me ,and I am sure must be a mystery to other people who are interested in seeing that Nelson receives a centennial project worthy of the Queen City of the Kootenays.

It may be wondered where the difference in the project funds allotted, namely $30,000, and the ultimate cost of any approved project would come from, but committees were set up, including a Project Finance Committee, as well as other committees, and methods were in the process of discussion which certainly would have resulted in raising the necessary funds, as it was felt that the citizens of Nelson could be depended upon to support, as previously mentioned, a project worthy of this city.

My purpose in writing this letter, Mr. Editor, is because I find so many people who seem to know all about what transpired at the Centennial Club meetings but who never attended a meeting, and just how they could possibly obtain such knowledge is beyond me.

Also, I suggest that the public is entitled to an explanation as to why their wishes are ignored, or perhaps some drastic action is indicated as being necessary to ensure that the voice of the citizens is heard; otherwise, why bother with a referendum?

"Music is more lasting than the riches of the world." These words of Padriac Colum opened the cutural program of Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, when it met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. Longden, 205 Second Street.

Mrs. B. Ferguson introduced the topic, "Music's Influence On Our Lives" by asking each member to give her favorite piece of music, and her reason for choosing it. Mrs. Ferguson then spoke on the subject of music by relating it to a language; a language in which every shade of human feeling from the sensuous to the most highly spiritualized, can be expressed.

She described the progress of music from man's first attempts at vocalizing to the development of the musical instrument and eventually the symphony of today. Her talk was complemented by a colorful film showing the evolution of music and the structure of the modern symphony orchestra.

Mrs. G. Dolman then went on to describe music as it affects the individual. She read "The Simple Story of Music", by Charles D. Isaacson, a moving account of what music does to the warrior, the depressed, the insane, the factory worker; how it arouses, and how it soothes. Mrs. Dolman continued with "A Side Excursion to Jazz Land" — defining and describing jazz, and mentioning the most famous of jazz artists. To conclude, she spoke on Music as a career. To the interest of all, Mrs. Dolman displayed an original Thomas Edison Phonograph and records belonging to Ross Fleming. A variety of musical selections were enjoyed while refreshments were served by Mrs. Longden and Mrs. Ferguson.

Hints From Heloise

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

Those of you who are often caught short of ice when company arrives, or who have a small refrigerator and a deep freezer, and like to store extra ice for emergencies:

I have learned that you can take a plastic milk carton (I like the one-quart size best), and fill it nearly full, close the top and put it in your deep freezer, or the freezer part of your refrigerator until it has frozen solid. Leave this for at least two or three days, depending on the size of the carton.

Now, when you are ready for ice, don't THINK that you have to remove the block of ice all by itself. I learned something new last week!

BEFORE I even opened the carton of ice, I took my ice pick and jabbed it through the whole block of ice many, many times while it was STILL in the carton. Then, and only then, I opened the top of the carton, and literally poured my beautiful ice out into the glasses.

Another thing I like about this is that any ice you have left may immediately be returned to your deep freezer or refrigerator freezing unit in the same carton, and kept until the next time.

And don't forget, the best way to get finely CRUSHED ice is to slam the closed milk carton (with solid frozen ice) three or four times on EACH side (before opening the top) until the sound changes. Instead of a solid bang, you will hear a dull "thunk" sound.

This ice will look as though it has been through a professionaol grinder. I slam the carton down on a cement step or the back sidewalk.

The carton may then be returned to your freezer.

Great! Heloise.

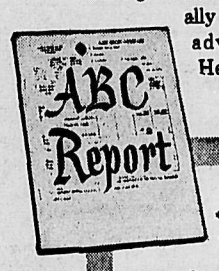
MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

The Hallmark of Circulation Integrity

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION ABC

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is this A.B.C. emblem a symbol of FACTS about the circulations of newspapers and periodicals. It is the emblem of membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations* and is assurance to advertisers that the circulations of member publications are measured, audited and reported in accordance with the rigid standards that have been mutually approved and adopted by advertisers and publishers. Here's why our membership in the A.B.C. is important to our advertisers and ourselves: At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: how much circulation we have; where it goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that advertisers need as a sound basis for their advertising investments. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request.



*The Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,575 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. A.B.C. REPORTS—40 YEARS OF FACT-FINDING AND FACT-REPORTING

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard forgery squad detectives inquiring into currency counterfeiting in Britain and abroad have seized a number of printing plates in a series of raids. Two men were arrested. Samples of notes and equipment seized from a house in London's Mayfair district were taken to the Bank of England for examination.

Frustration, Inconvenience Key Beefs in Newspaper Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Politicians are making few speeches, Irish newspapers are newsstand sellouts and comic strips are being shown on television. These are among the effects of the newspaper strike that began here four weeks ago.

The strike of union printers and mailers halted press runs March 6 of the morning Herald and Globe, the evening Traveler and The Record - American. They've been off the newsstands since.

The Christian Science Monitor is publishing.

The words frustration and inconvenience are used most often by people talking about the strike.

Among those most frustrated are Massachusetts politicians. Some say the strike may be holding up or killing important legislation.

But most of them aren't saying anything.

"Some of these bills call for a massive public opinion effort and we can't mobilize that without the newspapers," Representative John W. Sears (Rep. Boston), said.

BLAMES STRIKE

He said if the house does not pass key bills aimed at combatting corruption in government, housing legislation or bills to reform the state civil service "the strike would be a prime cause."

"Let's face it," says Senator Francis X. McCann (Dem. Cambridge). "Everybody here lives by publicity and the newspaper strike has almost muffled debate."

The operator of a newsstand in Cambridge said "the questions are driving me crazy. People want to know how the fight came out, how the races came out, what movie is playing where."

He said out - of - town newspapers seem to satisfy some customers but others have to know what's going on around Boston.

Normally he had imported 75 copies of 12 Irish newspapers and periodicals for Irish-American customers. Now he says the number is up to 300 copies and they sell out rapidly.

Other newsstands report the single increase in sales is is in TV Guide. One stand operator says he's selling as many as six times his normal allotment.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce estimates the strike keeps more than $1,000,000 a day from changing hands, and that additional millions are being lost permanently.

The small movie houses are among those who suffer most. One manager says his busines is off b yone-third to one-half.

The bigger, chain movie houses have stepped up their radio, television and billboard advertising and one has installed a switchboard and hired four full time phone operators to tell callers what's playing.

But the owner said "newspapers are still the very best method of reaching motion picture goers," and he plans to go back to them when the papers resume publication.

When the papers ceased publishing, other comics fans were caught with Mary Worth about to save a marriage , Charlie Brown about to begin spring baseball practice and one of Rex Morgan's patients about to lapse into a diabetic coma.

To fill the gap, Al Capp, creator of L'il Abner, broadcasts the comics daily over a local television station.

The newspaper shutdown came when members of the International Typographical and Mailers Union struck to demand $8.30 a week in cash payments instead of the equivalent in health and welfare and pension benefits.

All suburban papers reported bigger circulation in the absence of the Boston dailies. The New York Post published a special Boston edition and reported sales of about 14,000 a day. The New York Times reported weekday sales up 20,000.

Court Won't Jail Chronic Alcoholic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia has ruled a chronic alcoholic may not be jailed as a chiminal.

The eight-judge court held in concurring opinions Thursday that chronic alcoholism," as opposed to "voluntary" drunkenness, is a proper defence to a charge of public intoxication and therefore is not a crime in violation of the district code.

The decision was in the case of Dewitt Easter, convicted of public drunkenness 70 times since 1937. The appellate court ruled Easter's condition was a sickness" and ordered the lower court to dismiss the latest charge against him which resulted in a suspended sentence of 90 days in jail.

The court said we are not absolving the voluntarily intoxicated person of criminal responsibility for crime in general under applicable law." The law still applied to the individual considered to have control of himself in terms of drinking in public.

Lawyers predicted the ruling may result in a flood of chronic alcoholism" claims in drunk case arrests.

District Commissioner Walter N. Tobriner said that in anticipation of such a ruling he has proposed a study of the possibility of converting one of the city's penal instiuttions into a hospital for the treatment of alcoholics.

Habs Take Eighth Title; Bruins Vacate Cellar

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Bruins allowed Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks to set a National Hockey League scoring record Sunday night, but finished out of the cellar for the first time in six years with a 4-2 victory over Hawks.

The victory gave Bruins 48 points to 47 for New York Rangers, who went down 4-1 to first-place Montreal. In the other game on the final night of the regular season, Detroit Red Wings tied 3-3 with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Hull earned an assist in the first period on a goal by Stan Mikita to break the record of 96 points set by Dickie Moore of Montreal Canadiens in 1958-59. Hull finished the season with 97 points on 43 assists and 54 goals, also a NHL record.

Chicago finished the regular season second, eight points behind Canadiens, Toronto was third, Detroit fourth. It was Montreal's eighth NHL championship in 11 years.

Yvon Cournoyer scored twice for Canadiens, mid-way in the first period and unassisted mid-way in the third. Claude Provost and Dick Duff were the other marksmen. Phil Goyette's third - period goal averted a shutout for Rangers.

USE 3 GOALIES

Val Fonteyne and Bruce MacGregor scored 42 seconds apart mid-way through the third period on Toronto's Bruce Gamble, third netminder Toronto used, earning Wings the tie.

Toronto also tuned up netminders Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuck for the Stanley Cup playoffs during the contest.

Brit Selby and George Armstrong scored for Leafs in the first period and Eddie Shack made it 3-0 in the second. Norm Ullman started Detroit's comeback late in the second.

Leafs meet Canadiens in the first round of the Stanley Cup playoff Thursday in Montreal. Detroit and Chicago meet in the other semi-final.

Bruins won their game with

YVAN COURNOYER

a pair of third-period goals in a 30-second span. John McKenzie scored his 19th, Ron Stewart his 20th and his second of the night. Chicago has just tied the score at 2-2 on a solo effort by Lou Angotti.

SHOW CLUTCH FORM

Canadiens showed Saturday night if clutch play means anything they will be tough in this year's playoffs.

The Canadiens, battling Chicago Black Hawks for the National Hockey League championship for three months, came through in a big way by trouncing the Hawks 8-3 and wrapping up their eighth title in 11 seasons.

Chicago left winger Bobby Hull scored his 54th goal of the season to tie the single-season points record of 96 set by Montreal's Dickie Moore in 1958-59.

The display of Montreal power may mean trouble for Toronto Maple Leafs, who meet Canadiens in a best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final beginning Thursday in Montreal.

Leafs were hard pressed to gain a 3-3 tie with the struggling New York Rangers in the only other game Saturday.

BELIVEAU LEADS ASSAULT

In Montreal, Hab captain Jean Beliveau did most of the damage with two goals and two assists as his mates got off to a running start in the first minute of play and never looked back.

Jim Roberts, Dick Duff, Henri Richard, Ralph Backstrom, Gilles Tremblay and John Ferguson divided the remainder of Montreal scoring.

For Chicago, down 3-1 after the first period and 6-2 after the second, Stan Mikita and Ken Wharram also had a goal each.

The victory was worth $1,000 to each Montreal player—the difference between $2,250 a man for finishing first and $1,250 for second place.

Chicago meets the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings in the other semi-final opening Thursday in Chicago.

RANGERS LOSE EDGE

In Toronto, Rangers blew a 1-0 first-period lead and needed Billy Hicke's spectacular third-period goal to earn the draw with Leafs.

Vic Hadfield and Don Marshall scored the other New York goals while Dave Keon, Ron Ellis and George Armstrong handled the Toronto scoring.

Leafs used both Terry Sawchuk and standby Bruce Gamble in goal and Gamble, in the nets while New York was at its best, gave up two of their three goals.

New York's Cesare Maniago turned in a strong game—three key third-period saves helped preserve the tie—as Leafs outshot Rangers 38-33.

Roseboro's Homer Beat Juan Marichal

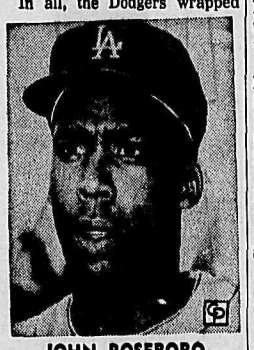
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John Roseboro, facing Juan Marichal for the first time since their fight last season, hit a three-run inside-the-park homer that ignited Los Angeles Dodgers to an 8-4 exhibition victory over San Francisco Sunday.

The Dodger catcher and Giant pitcher hadn't met on the field since last Aug. 22 when Marichal hit Roseboro on the head with a bat.

Roseboro came to bat in the second inning after Ron Fairly and Jim Lefebvre singled. With a 2-2 count, Roseboro smashed a liner which bounced over right fielder Jesus Alou and went for a home run.

In all, the Dodgers wrapped



JOHN ROSEBORO

Marichal for five runs and seven hits in five innings.

Glen Beckert singled in the tying run and Ron Santo drove in the winner on a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning as Chicago Cubs edged California Angels 8-7.

Five of the Cub runs were unearned as the Angels committed five errors.

John Buzhardt and Eddie Fisher collaborated for a three-hitter as Chicago White Sox whipped Houston 6-0 while rookie Fritz Peterson scattered six hits in seven innings in New York Yankees' 8-3 triumph over Philadelphia.

Minnesota stretched its winning streak to six games by stopping St. Louis Cardinals' six-game streak 2-1. The Twins scored both runs in the first inning, the eventual winning run coming across on a double play.

Atlanta, on the other hand, ended a four-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati. Jack Baldschun's bases-loaded walk to Lee Thomas in the 11th inning forced in the winning run.

Frank Howard and Don Lock homered for Washington as the Senators outslugged Pittsburgh 12-9. Roberto Clemente hit two homers for the Pirates.

HITS EIGHTH HOMER

Tony Conigliaro's two - run homer, his eighth this spring, triggered a four-run fourth inning that carried Boston Red Sox past Detroit 6-4. Dick Green socked a pair of homers as Kansas City trampled New York Mets 10-2.

Sam Bowens rapped a three-run homer and two singles as Baltimore defeated its Miami farm team 8-5 and relief pitcher Bob Heffner smacked a three-run homer as Cleveland Indians nipped their Portland farm club 9-7.

Saturday, the improving Cards defeated the Red Sox 6-1 as Charlie Smith drove in two runs with a single and a triple.

Huang Captures Singles Title

QUEBEC (CP)—Tan Aik Huang demolished team-mate Yew Hoe in straight sets Saturday to win the men's singles crown at the Canadian open badminton championships in an all-Malaysian final here.

The powerful Malaysians also captured the men's doubles and were represented on the winning mixed doubles combination. The four men lost only seven sets in the 36 they played during the two-day tournament.

Top woman was Judy (Devlin) Hashman of England, who has won more major tournaments than any other player.

She combined with Sue Peard of Ireland to upset defending champions Tina Barinaga and Caroline Jensen 15-1, 14-17, 15-12 in the final of the women's doubles.

The 1965 champions, both from Port Angeles, Wash., were quicker and more agile in their play, but failed to stop many of Mrs. Hashman's powerful slams.

MONTE CARLO WINNERS—Winners of Notre Dame University Monte Carlo Car Rally held on Saturday was the crew of car No. 22, a Mustang, driven by Murray Owen. With Owen were (from left to right) Art Maxwell, Skip Holmes and Wally Chernenko. They covered the 29-mile course and found the five hidden check points, in just under four hours, second fastest car of the rally.

MURRAY OWENS WINS MONTE CARLO CAR RALLY

Nearly four hours after leaving the starting line, after travelling over 100 miles, Murray Owen found his way back to the finish line of the 29.9-mile Monte Carlo Car Rally course. Owen, driving a sponsored 1965 Mustang, with his crew of Wally Chernenko, Skip Holmes and Art Maxwell managed to find the five control points and complete the necessary answer form to take the top prize of $50 in the annual Notre Dame University Event. Al Palmer and his crew captured the second place money of $25 with Ernie Moisey taking third place, Carol Morris won the poker hand in the rally, with Bill Shaw second and Steve Rey, driving the car Shaw was in, winning the third prize money for the poker hands. It is hoped to hold the rally between towns next year.

This year's rally was run over a pre-set course with five unknown check points. Instructions were given at the start of the race on how to find the first point. At each checkpoint additional instructions were given for finding the next stop.

An average time was taken by officials after having travelled the course themselves, and that time was set as the official winning time. Points were deducted from cars for finishing faster, or in the case of all cars this year, slower than the set time

Each car was given a question sheet to be answered and the answers were used in determining the winners. Each question pertained to the control points, and to answer the questions correctly, the car crew had to find the check points.

Although some cars were still out on the course nearly seven hours after the start, they all managed to find their way back to Notre Dame in time for the wind-up dance held Saturday night.

Doug Wins Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Doug Sanders won his third major golf tournament of the year Sunday by defeating young Tom Weiskopf on the second hole of a playoff to win the $100,000 Greensboro Open.

Sanders and Weiskopf completed the regular 72 holes with eight-under pars 276s. The victory was worth $20,000 to Sanders and second place carried $12,000 for Weiskopf, 23, who turned pro in 1964.

Only a week ago Sanders won the Jacksonville Open. His other major tournament win of the 1966 season was the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

One stroke behind the co-leaders at the end of 72 holes were Dave Ragen and Miller Barber with 277s.

MISSED BIRDIE

Sanders, winner of the Greensboro tournament in 1963 and loser in a 1964 playoff with Julius Boros, could have won this tournament on the final hole of the day with a birdie. But he parred the hole forcing a playoff.

San Francisco, undefeated in its last eight games, jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by George Swarbrick and Wayne Maxner. Maxner made it 3-0 early in the second period.

Adam Keller's goal late in the period left the Totems with a 3-2 deficit.

APRIL FOOL

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — Canadian ski manager Pete Webster received a telephone call Friday with bad news.

All five members of the Canadian girls' team taking part in the High Sierra Cup races said they were ill.

He rushed to their room to find them lying on a bed, rags wrapped around their heads.

Their moans and groans almost sent the distraught Webster on his way for an ambulance, his racing plans fast disappearing.

The outcome of the drama was inevitable — considering the date.

"April Fool!" the girls screamed, leaping from the bed and laughing at their manager's relieved grin.

MURRAY TO PORTLAND, ARNETT TO JUNIORS

Murray Owen, flashy right-winger of Nelson Maple Leafs, has been called up to Portland Buckaroos of the Western Hockey League for a five-game tryout. Owen, who finished third in the Leafs' scoring during the Western International Hockey League season, with 37 goals and 30 assists in 45 games, will join the Buckaroos, first place finishers in the WHL in time for their game Wednesday night against San Francisco Seals. The Leaf winger will finish the regular season with Portland and then return to Nelson with the possibility of being recalled for an additional three contests.

While Owen goes to Portland, Frank Arnett, playing-coach of the Leafs, and a former WHL defenceman, will journey to New Westminster to view the B.C.-Alberta Junior Hockey playoffs between New Westminster Royals and Edmonton Oil Kings.

Arnett's main interest in the series will be the players, some of whom may be asked to join the senior Maple Leafs next season.

Mantilla Goes To Houston

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Houston manager Grady Hatton announced Sunday the Astros have obtained Felix Mantilla, 32, from Boston Red Sox in a straight player swap for Eddie Kasko.

Mantilla was the American League's All-Star second baseman last year.

Kasko, 33, captained the Astros a year ago but lost this office when Hatton took over the National League club.

Kasko also lost his shortstop job to rookie Sonny Jackson and was contesting Bob Lillis for the position of utility infielder.

Your Individual Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Tuesday, April 12, 1966

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — There may be a tendency to retreat from reality, and do so mostly thinking of, and looking to, the past. Other tendencies are pretending and heeding false appearances. Day asks caution: Be wary.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Venus, in generally friendly position, encourage your talents and know-how. Especially favored: Artistic matters, home and outdoor interests.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Make no changes in matters now producing good results, but do accept changes that benefit the many and complete the total picture. Forward — with understanding and tact!

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Be thankful for small favors and your attitude will rub off on all — to your betterment and everyone's pleasure. A good day all around!

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Enthusiasm must be properly channeled to be effective. Do not go to extremes on this generally stimulating day.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — If your motives are strictly above-board, you will enjoy this challenging but stimulating day. Be careful of your conduct; be compassionate with others.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Especially favored now: Hotel- and shop-keepers, attendants, secretaries, organization heads, lawyers, chemists, teachers, students, parents. A good time to speculate—but with restraint.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — You will accomplish more by pitching in with verve instead of standing irresolute between conflicting ideas. This is not a time for reverie, day-dreaming, aspiring to the impractical.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — If you are a spokesman for anyone or anything, make certain you have all the facts and are assembling and imparting them conscientiously. But do not over-tax yourself.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Heed good suggestions, weigh all offerings; know when to accept and when to refuse. If you have any original ideas, do not hesitate to express them.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — It is the steady pace that counts when you are out to accumulate substantial reserves or resources. You can achieve much through your original ideas.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Control emotions, desire for luxuries. Don't shift from one plan or activity to another without reason. Don't make promises you cannot keep and do not aim for the unreasonable!

YOU BORN TODAY are a member of a fast-thinking, usually quick-acting Sign that produces highly original people, clever experimenters, doctors, novelists, musicians. Intense loyalty and a striving for top success are innate. You often overcome seemingly impossible obstacles and opposition because you believe in your goals and have courage, stamina. You feel unhappy at times at others' lack of understanding and reactions to your efforts. Overcome this. Make friends among happy-thinking, forward-looking people; forget dissenters, pessimists. Birthdate: Henry Clay early American statesman.

Mining Association To Make Movie

The romance and action of modern mining in British Columbia will be presented in a new color motion picture to be produced for the Mining Association of British Columbia.

Details of the movie were announced in Vancouver by Mr. G. H. Davenport, president of the M.A.B.C., following signing of the film-making contract with Lew Parry Film Productions of North Vancouver.

Mr. Davenport said the objective of the film is to show the public "how and why the mining industry is such a vital factor in the economy of this province.

"We also want to show that the mining industry offers exciting challenges in employment to young Canadians as tradesmen, technicians, engineers and scientists."

Mr. Davenport said the mining industry in B.C. employs about 12,000 people and last year produced more than $267,000,000 in new wealth for the province — second only to the forest industries. However, this is only the primary impact of the industry on the economy of B.C. Its ramifications in terms of the transportation, service, supply and secondary manufacturing industries is enormous.

"And this is only the beginning," he said. "The mining industry is still in its pioneering stage in B.C. and its most productive years are in the future."

Mr. Davenport is president of Bralorne Pioneer Mines Ltd., one of 62 members in the mining association. He said cost of the film will be born by the association members with assistance expected from the provincial and federal governments.

The film, he said, will show modern mining methods in detail, including open pit, underground and placer; operations, ore crushing and concentration, and smelting.

The film also is to include views of modern mining communities, the life of a modern miner, and the excitement of the annual "treasure hunt" as prospectors take to the hinterland to stake as many as 26,000 claims in a year.

"The movie is to be released this fall," said Mr. Davenport, "because we also wish this project to be a contribution to the British Columbia and Canadian Centennial celebrations."

It is the aim of the association that every pupil and student in the province will see the film at least once. In addition, the film will be made available to service clubs and other groups, the National Film Board, other government agencies, and television.

Canada To Export Water

WENATCHEE, Wash. (CP)—Canada eventually will be willing to export surplus water resources to the United States—but only when Canadian long-range needs are protected, technology makes it economical, and there is assurance U.S. water will be available in exchange.

Jack Davis, member of Parliament for Coast - Capilano, placed this view before the Columbia River Water Congress Friday at a convention.

The parliamentary secretary to Mines Minister Pepin said attitudes toward international trade in water resources will change slowly, but probably will parallel Canada's attitude toward export of electrical energy.

A generation ago, Canada was afraid to sell power to the U.S. for fear of being unable to stop the flow when its own needs built up in the future. Now, however, Canada need never fear a shortage of power in the future. There were large untapped sources of electrical energy and virtually unlimited prospects for cheap nuclear power.

Mr. Davis said technology is dveeloping to the point that river flows can be reversed. Large quantities of fresh water now flowing north into the arctic Ocean and Hudson Bay could be turned around to supplement the supply needed for irrigation and industrial use in southern Canada.

"Canada and the United States will undoubtedly co-operate in the development of our international river system. Eventually we may also enter into other arrangements with regard to the export of water.

"But these export arrangements may be more of the nature of exchanges. These exchanges, furthermore are most likely to occur in circumstances where there are alternative sources of supply and where their cost of development is not too far out of line with the price which the exporting country obtains for the service which it provides."

World News

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Congolese rebel leader Christophe Gbenye and his "foreign minister," Thomas Kanza, were ordered Saturday to leave Kenya where an 11-country African summit meeting is being held. The ouster order was issued by the Kenya foreign ministry, which said that invitations to the summit were issued only to heads of state.

PLAY FOR $1,000

KINGSTON (CP)—About 200 chess players from several countries will participate in the sixth Canadian chess championship at Queen's University Aug. 27 to Sept. 5. First prize will be $1,000.

CHILDREN INVOLVED

New Senior Magistrate Acts In Coast Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver senior magistrate James Bartman intervened for the first time Friday to help end the open clash between eight other magistrates and City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran.

Speaking in open court, Bartman referred briefly to the recent controversial report issued last week by the magistrates and said: "I have advocated restraint for the common good from the beginning and for that same reason I have remained silent.

"Yesterday (Thursday) I received an explanatory letter from the chief prosecutor, Mr. A. S. McMorran, and have related its contents to my brother magistrates this morning. As presiding magistrate, I now formally accept this explanation on behalf of this court and bench as satisfactory, and consider the whole matter closed."

British cash register and automat makers estimate the extra business of conversion to decimal currency will bring them £120,000,000.

Hope For Six Percent Removal

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Banks captured most of the limelight on Canada's stock markets this week to pace industrials section to their second consecutive weekly advance.

The upswing was sparked by growing speculation the government will remove the six-per-cent interest rate ceiling on bank loans when it tackles revising the Bank Act.

The Toronto bank index jumped 7.78 to 145.55, Montreal 6.31 to 125.77.

Volume at Toronto was 27,864,213 compared with 25,434,208 last week. Most of the increase was in speculatives.

Royal led the banks gaining 4¼ to 77. Imperial-Commerce added 3⅜ at 66⅜, Montreal and Toronto-Dominion 3½ at 63¾ and 64½, and Nova Scotia 3⅛ at 71¼.

REACTION WAS MILD

Market reaction to Tuesday's budget was described by some observers as mild and short-run. Most felt the recent advance among industrials was influenced by buoyant prices at New York.

One analyst said there was little in the budget to concern the market and only the five-per-cent forced savings on cash profits of more than $30,000 may curtail some divided payments by companies pressed for money.

In the industrials, Moore Corp. was up 2⅜ to 82½, Du Pont 2¼ to 44¼, Aluminium 2⅛ to 41, Brazilian Traction 1¼ to 10¾ Trans-Canada Pipe Line ⅞ to 35¾ and Massey-Ferguson ¾ to 31½.

On the loss side, Chrysler slid 3 to 54, Interprovincial Pipe Line 1½ to 83, MacMillan, Bloedel 1⅜ to 27½, CPR 1¼ to 60¼ and Canadian Breweries ¼ to 7⅜ on 83,754 shares following an announcement its Dow subsidiary at Quebec City will close.

Western oils were the only major group to decline. Chieftain Development, which holds property in Albert's Rainbow Lake area, plunged 4.25 to 7.50. Last week the stock jumped up 2¾.

Home Oil A was off 1 to 19, Hudson's Bay Oil ¾ to 19 while Scurry Rainbow moved up 1½ to 25¾, Banff 1⅛ to 17⅞ and Pacific Petroleum ⅝ to 12¼.

American Leduc highlighted speculative oil activity, rising 10½ to 37 cents on 3,204,893 shares. Charter Oil moved up 55 cents to 4.10 and Asamera 42 cents to 3.00.

Among base metals, Pine Point climbed 5¼ to 62¾ after it agreed to sell zinc ore to Anaconda for refining in the United States. Campbell Chibougamau was ahead 2⅞ to 10¾.

In golds, Dome Mines gained 1½ to 41, Kerr-Addison 1 to 11½, Campbell Red Lake ¾ to 21¾ and Hollinger ½ to 24⅛. Cochenour Willans lost 60 cents to 4.50.

Speculative mines were mainly mixed with Coulee up 19 to 77 cents, Headway 10½ to 37 cents and New Senator 10 to 29 cents. D'Eldona dropped 20 to 89 cents and Louvicourt 13 to 42 cents.

On index, industrials were up 1.36 to 169.06, golds 4.77 to 170.88, base meals 1.61 to 89.15 and the TSE 1.34 to 159.77. Western oils slipped .63 to 106.67.

At Montreal, industrials were up 1.10 to 166.20. Utilities were down .76 to 147.20 and papers 2.00 to 121.86. Volume was 6,383,284 shares compared with 5,538,384 last week.

American Investors Withdraw

OTTAWA (CP)—United States investors in Canadian stocks withdrew their holdings heavily last year and investment sources say the trend still is being followed.

U.S. holders of shares in Canadian equity stock, as invididuals and working through so-called income - accumulating funds, sold off $115,000,000 worth of their shares in the first half of last year, almost twice as much as in any previous six-month period.

Then in the last half of 1965, according to an analysis made public Friday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, they sold off another $52,000,000. No figures are yet available from official sources on selling in the first three months of this year.

The DBS figures are net—that is, they show the change in net U.S. holdings after sales are off-set by purchases.

Lead, Zinc Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Booming world aluminium demand caused prices of semi-fabricated products to rise during last week while labor tie-ups in Africa in the face of surging demand pushed copper to a new high on the London Metal Exchange.

The price trend for lead and zinc was down, reports American Metal Market, daily newspaper of the metal - working industry. Falling lead prices on the London Metal Exchange and an over-supply of the metal caused a leading Japanese smelter to cut its domestic price 0.625 cent a pound.

Major British aluminum producers raised prices on semi-fabricated products 4 per cent across the board. Since British ingot prices remained unchanged, no move was expected to raise U.S. primary prices.

Chilean copper workers started back to work after the strike against Kennecot Copper Corp.'s El Teniente mine. Then tie-ups in Africa disrupted the world market.

One immediate result: Cash wirebar on the London Metal Exchange rose to a record high of 97.875 cen s a pound. Copper futures also rose on the commodity exchange in New York. Nominal published bid for No. 2 heavy copper and wire scrap climbed back to 60 cents a pound, where it stood just before President Johnson announced March 21 plans to release 200,000 tons of copper from the national stockpile.

Copper futures closed Thursday at 78.15 cents a pound for March, 74.25 for July and 71.35 for September. Dealer copper was nominally 85 cents for May, 84 for June and 83 for July.

PRICES RISE

London Metal Exchange prices rose sharply to close Thursday at 88.44 cents a pound for cash, up from 80.63 the previous week, and 83 for three-month delivery up from 78.13.

Major zinc producers in Europe, Canada, Japan, Africa and Australia lined up with the price cut of 1 cent a pound to 12:75 cents, initiated last week by Imperial Smelting Co. U.S. producers held firm although the new price meant foreign metal could be delivered in the United States, including freight and duties at 14.25 cents. The U.S. delivered price was 14.50 cents, East S. Louis, and 15 cents, New York.

Major metals prices:

Copper—36 cents a pound, delivered; foreign 91.8 cents, nominal, New York.

Lead—16 cents a pound, New York; 15.8 cents, St. Louis.

Zinc—14½ cents a pound, East St. Louis; 15 cents, New York.

Aluminum — 24½ cents a pound, unalloyed ingots, delivered.

Nickel—77.75 cents a pound electrolytic cathodes, Port Colborne, Ont., U.S. duty included.

Silver—$1.293 an ounce, New York; 111⅝ pence, London.
