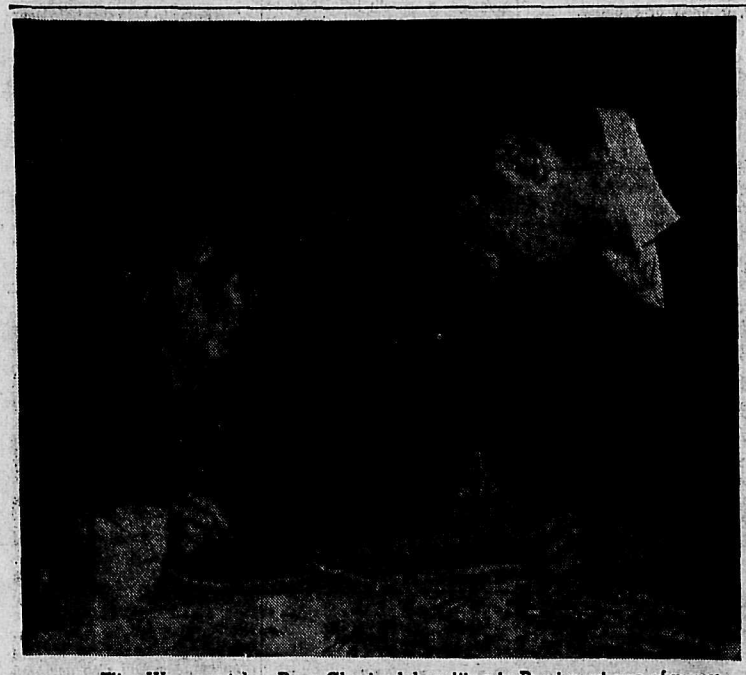
KOOTENAYS GAIN SEAT



Eliza Wong watches Reza Gharizadeh writing in Persian at one of many displays at Notre Dame University's Education Week open house program yesterday.

D. O. MacGregor of Kootenay School of Art demonstrates use of photo-typositor which will produce 2800 variations of 30 different types of lettering in B.C. Vocational School Education Week open house program.

Redistribution Bill Amendment Won

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett backed down in the face of heavy criticism on the government's proposed redistribution bill Friday and gave one extra seat to the Kootenays.

The move to amend the bill, introduced to the B.C. Legislature by Provincial Secretary Black, was seen by observers as capitulation to a concerted attack by Kootenay MLAs on both sides of the house.

Mr. Bennett told the legislature that the proposed Columbia riding under the government bill would be split.

The riding under the redistribution had been enlarged to take in parts of the present Columbia, Kaslo - Slocan and Revelstoke ridings.

MORE SEATS

Questioned in the corridor outside the House, Mr. Bennett said the split would mean the legislature would have 55 seats, an increase of three over its present membership.

When the bill was introduced for committee stage prior to third and final reading Friday, Mr. Black also made an ammendment including the name Lillooet in the proposed enlarged Yale riding to make it

That move was seen as an effort to satisfy Don Robinson (SC—Lillooet) who had complained that his constitutents at least wanted the name of the historic riding perpetuated.

However, Mr. Robinson replied he still could not support the bill.

OTHERS NOT AVAILABLE

John Tisdalle (SC — Saanich) was the only other government backbencher who said Friday he would not support the bill. However, he spoke before the amendment was announced by the premier.

Two other Social Credit backbenchers, Arvid Lundell of Revelstoke and James Chabot of Columbia, who earlier opposed the bill, were not immediately available for comment.

Mr. Chabot had complained about the size of the proposed Columbia riding and Mr. Lundell was not in favor of having Revelstoke wiped out.

The status of the bill was not immediately clear.

Mr. Bennett told the legislature he was withdrawing it to make the Kootenay ammendment. However, a section increasing the legislature membership to 54 from 52 had already passed committee.

NEW BILL

This could mean the bill must be re-introduced and go through formalities of first and second readings again.

Mr. Bennett's surprise announcement came at a point when criticism of the bill was becoming pointed and heated.

It also followed an appeal from Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook) and Randolph Harding (NDP — Kaslo - Slocan) that there was "still time" to give the Kootenay region adequate representation.

Mr. Bennett interjected: "We live in a democracy. It's the duty of the government to lead and it's the duty of the government to listen."

CREDIT TO McKAY

He gave Harry McKay (L—Fernie) credit for suggesting earlier Friday that Columbia riding be split. Mr. Bennett said he was prepared to follow Mr. McKay's advice.

Kootenay MLAs were angered that the government bill left seven northern ridings intact but followed recommendations of the Angus Royal Commission on Redistribution and chopped Kootenay representation by four seats.

The Angus report recommended cutting northern membership from seven to two seats.

"You can't tell us the eastern part of B.C. is less important than the North or any other part," shouted Mr. Harding. 'We're not only asking, we're demanding equal treatment."

Munsinger Exchanges Rack Commons

Sevigny Comes Out Fighting

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Sevigny said Friday he met a Mrs. Munsinger at a party in August, 1959, but said "I will answer no questions on published statements by her."

Mr. Sevigny, associate defence minister in the last Conservative government, issued the following written statement and refused to elaborate on it.

"I met Mrs. Munsinger at a party during the month of August, 1959. I saw her socially a few times during the next few months and our relationship was just that, a social one.

'I never had reason to believe that she was an agent of any sort and to this day I am convinced that this woman was never directly or indirectly a security risk.

"A despicable, rotten little politician, who certainly should know better, came out with some gossip, gathered heaven knows where, stating that this woman, a so-called security risk he said, was from Eastern Germany and was now dead and that he wanted to pass on to the offensive in order to justify the despicable actions of his own friends and his own party.

WAS LONG-FORGOTTEN

"What was a long forgotten incident has been brought to life again and Mrs. Munsinger, supposedly dead, supposedly an East German, has been found very much alive in Western Germany.

"I wish to state with no restrictions, that I have no intentions to offer explanations or apologies to anyone. If there had been any explanations which would have had to be made, it would have been done to the person at my side.(Mrs. Sevigny was at his side when he made the statement)

"I happen to love and respect my wife and my children and they have given me ample proof that they love and respect me. We are in this fight, and it shall be a fight, together and we shall see it through together.

WILL PROTECT FAMILY

"I shall let no one hurt my family more than it has been hurt already. I shall not permit anyone to slander me more than has already been done. I shall not permit the respected name of the Sevigny family to be dragged in the mud or to be disparaged against.

"I am not going to defend myself. No, I shall attack with every means that the law puts at my disposal and others to find out who is at the source of this infamous slander.

"I shall ask the soldiers, who by the thousands fought and bled with me during World War II, if they believe that Pierre Sevigny or any Sevigny for that matter could betray this Canada that the Sevigny's love so much, and I shall expose to the nation in my name and in the name of the millions who are equally outraged our total and utter contempt for this cheap despicable little man, Lucien Cardin, the supposed minister of justice who has dishonored his oath of office, who has brought this odious, erroneous nonsense in front of the public for dirty, petty political reasons or yet, as he has implied, in order to secure political vengeance, who is disgracing Parliament and making a farce of his high cabinet position, who should resign both from the cabinet and Parliaor yet be expelled from both places which he is disgracing as they have never been disgraced before or since Confederation.

'NOT HIDING'

"To you, my brother Canadians, I say this: We are not hiding, I am not running, my head is carried very high.

'I am coming out fighting and believe me, seldom lose a fight."

Mr. Sevigny is a stockholder with the Montreal firm of Flood Woodstock.

He is not a lawyer and has no legal background.

He has one daughter, Pierrette, 19, and two sons, Albert 15, and Bobby, 11.

Most Seals Did Not Suffer Pain, Report Says

TORONTO (CP) — Most animals inspected by humane society officials during this year's seal hunt in the Gulf of St. Lawrence were incapable of feeling pain before being skinned, but at least 59 did suffer pain before death, says a report issued here Friday.

The report recommends some other method of killing seals than clubbing or shooting but makes no recommendations.

Issued after its five authors spent three days inspecting seal hunting in the Gulf, the report says the majority of several hundred seals examined had been knocked unconscious and were incapable of feeling pain.

But others had not suffered damage to their skulls from clubbing or shooting, and the authors could not tell if the animals had been rendered unconscious before being skinned.

The report recommends a conference to consider amended regulations to be put into effect before the 1967 seal hunt.

The officials included Jacques Vallee, Montreal, executive secretary of the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; Dr. Forbes MacLeod of the Saint John, N.B., SPCA; Dr. Norman Scollard, curator of the Riverdale Zoo, Toronto; Dr. D. Pimlott, Canadian Audubon Society, Toronto, and Tom Hughes, general manager of the Ontario Humane Society.

59 SEALS SUFFERED

The report says 59 seals examined Wednesday appeared to have suffered unnecessary pain.

"We found that of these, nine had been struck a blow in the region of the nose or head, and despite loss of blood to a varying degree, these animals were alive, fully conscious and in pain.

"The remaining 50 had been slashed by a knife to a varying degree in the region of the throat and chest, resulting in serious wounds and severe bleeding.

The report said tests with a stunning pistol shows this was effective in rendering the animals unconscious or killing them but was impractical in the weather encountered during the hunt.

Until a better method can be developed "a club of proper design, properly used, is the best and most humane method of killing young seals."

The hunt should continue, however, they said.

"We feel that there are economical and sociological reasons for seal hunting to continue, provided that adequate regulations can be drafted and enforced to ensure that all seals are killed or rendered insensitive to pain by a humane method before skinning."

Business Sidelined As House Explodes

OTTAWA (CP) — The Gerda Munsinger sex-and-security uproar took stage centre in the Commons again Friday.

Regular business was sidelined as the House for the second day in a row exploded in crackling exchanges over Justice Minister Cardin's charges that former Conservative cabinet ministers were linked romantically with an East German beauty he says once was involved in espionage.

Adding a fillip to the debate was a story in the Toronto Star that a reporter had located Gerda Munsinger in Munich where she runs a coffee shop.

Mr. Cardin told a press conference Thursday she died some years ago in East Germany of leukemia.

"The lady involved is now dead," Mr. Cardin had said. "She left the country and the news came to us that she died of leukemia in East Germany."

RULED OUT OF ORDER

Motion after motion was brought forward in the Commons by the opposition, seeking in one way or another to get Mr. Cardin to name names in the affair. All were ruled out of order by Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

The debate was a long succession of questions of privilege and points of order. The House never got close to its scheduled business — amendment of the Bank Act.

Prime Minister Pearson again offered the Conservatives a judicial inquiry into the Munsinger affair. But the Conservatives rejected it.

"We're now beyond that," Eric Winkler (PC—Grey-Bruce) snapped at one point.

After the House adjourned, Mr. Pearson said a judicial inquiry would be established. Terms of reference would be drawn up during the weekend and a cabinet order-in-council passed Monday.

Mr. Pearson read into the Commons record a letter from Mr. Cardin making formal charges against Opposition Leader Diefenbaker. It alleged Mr. Diefenbaker mishandled the Munsinger case when he was prime minister.

Conservative MPs insisted that Mr. Cardin back up allegations he made at a Thursday press conference—that two or more former Conservative cabinet members had been involved with the Munsinger woman, that Mr. Diefenbaker had not handled the case correctly, that there was a national security risk even if there had not been any breach of security.

David Lewis (NDP — York South) told the House of a Toronto newspaper story saying Gerda Munsinger was located by a reporter in Munich.

The copyright story in The Star by Robert Reguly said the reporter found her in an apartment in an affluent Munich district "wearing a gold September birthstone ring that was the gift of a former Canadian cabinet minister."

The story says the woman told Reguly that iPerre Sevigny, associate defence minister in the Diefenbaker government, was her frequent companion from 1958 to 1960 and bought her the ring in Mexico.

She is quoted as saying she travelled with Mr. Sevigny and once attended an election banquet attended by Mr. Diefenbaker and most of his cabinet.

In Montreal, Mr. Sevigny told a press conference he met a Mrs. Munsinger at a party in August of 1959 and socially a few times later. He said there was only a social relationship.

SAID KNEW A SECOND WELL

She claimed to have known a second Conservative cabinet minister "very well," the story says.

It adds that one of her minister friends once was given a warning by "someone in Ottawa" to "go easy" on the relationship because "an election was coming on."

It quotes her as saying she would come to Canada to tell what she knows "if they keep pushing my name around", but if so wanted protection, expressing fear for her life because of a Montreal businessman-racketeer.

Bank Rate Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada Friday night announced an increase to 5¼ per cent from 4¾ per cent in the bank rate.

The increase is effective Monday. The rate has been constant at 4¾ per cent since Dec. 6, 1965, when it was raised from 4¼ per cent.

A statement by Louis Rasminsky, governor of the bank, said:

"The Bank of Canada announced tonight that the bank rate has been set at 5¼ per cent effective March 14. The last change in the bank rate took place Dec. 6, 1965, when it was set at 4¾ per cent.

"The governor, Louis Rasminsky, stated that the bank's action reflected its view that in the present state of the economy, some moderation of the rate of growth of over-all demand was desirable."

Lawyer Charged In Gold Bar Case

WINNIPEG (CP)—Not long before they found the cache in a snowbank, police investigating a $383,000 bullion robbery feared the gold was already on its way out of the country.

'We were pretty worried because we had received information that the gold still was out West but that it would remain in the West for one week after the robbery," St. James Police Chief George Maltby said Friday.

"On March 9 information came through from various sources that convinced us that the gold still was in Winnipeg, however. The criminals did not want to take the gold out on the road until things cooled.

"We knew that if we did not hit the gold within two or three days, it would be too late—that the gold would be gone."

The gold shipment was stolen March 1 minutes after its arrival from Red Lake, Ont. Two men posing as Air Canada ramp crew signed for it and drove away in a stolen truck.

11 WERE RECOVERED

Police raids Thursday led to recovery of 11 of the 12 stolen gold bars. Ten were found beneath the snow in a backyard in suburban Fort Rouge and the other in a downtown Portage Avenue office.

Harry D. Backlin, 36, a Winnipeg lawyer, appeared in magistrate's court Friday charged with possession of goods obtained by crime.

Backlin was remanded a week in custody. Magistrate Isaac Rice said he would hand down a decision at that time on a request for bail.

Opposing bail, Crown Prosecutor John Enns said police have not finished investigation because the Winnipeg airport lies within the city of St. James.

RECEIVED CALL

"We received a call from one person about another person."

Chief Maltby said police were told there was a strong possibility the party named by the tipster was somehow connected with the gold.

At Vancouver, RCMP and tracking dogs Friday hunted along the banks of the Fraser River near the international airport for the gold bar still missing from a shipment stolen in Winnipeg.

Indian Food Riots Inspired By Leftists, Says Mrs. Ghandi

NEW DELHI (AP) — Mobs swept through Calcutta and surrounding towns in eastern India Friday in the second day of food riots, setting street cars afire, looting and throwing bombs. Police shot nine rioters dead.

In an uproarious session of Parliament, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said the riots were due to "deliberate plans for violence" by the nation's leftist political parties. Communist and other leftist members walked out.

About 24 persons have been killed since dawn Thursday in Calcutta and other parts of West Bengal state.

Among Friday's victims was a boy, 15, shot in the central part of Calcutta. Two policemen were among the victims in the two days, beaten to death by frenzied crowds.

Leftist parties called a general strike to protest food and kerosene shortages, touching off the violence Thursday. Then the parties issued a new call for demonstrations.

RESPONDED TO CALL

Mobs poured into the street in response to the leftists' call Friday, set fire to two street cars and a street car depot.

Violence spread to parts of the city untouched in Thursday's fighting. Police, backed by troops, threw up barricades against the howling crowds.

Reports of arson, stoning, looting and bomb-throwing poured into Calcutta from the suburbs and nearby towns.

Army units went into action in areas where police units lost control.

The Calcutta riots, the rebellion of Mizo tribesmen in southern Assam state, and unrest over food and job shortages throughout India posed a serious challenge to Mrs. Gandhi's government.

TROUBLE IN PUNJAB

Trouble also erupted far across the subcontinent in the northwest state of Punjab.

Agitation appeared against New Delhi's plan to split the Punjab and give the country's Sikhs a state where their Punjabi language would be the official tongue, instead of Hindi.

Hindi - speaking students clashed with police in the streets of Chandigarh and Amritsar, the holy place of the Sikh religion. The situation was described as deteriorating.

Hindu and Sikh shopkeepers alike shuttered up for the day in many Punjab cities, declaring a strike. Many arrests were made as Hindi signboards were defaced or torn down.

"Symptom of Degeneration"

Individuality 'Out,' Egality 'In,' Rotary Told

Terming our society "egalitarian", R. H. Dill, engineer with the Department of Highways, went on to define the term as meaning "equality". Mr. Dill was speaking during Friday's meeting of the Nelson Rotary Club.

He went on to say that "we are fast drifting into" this type of society with egality no longer obsolete, but on the contrary in fashion. On every side there is pressure to make us all more equal.

Teenagers and adults alike are being continually bombarded by advertisements of manufacturers to join the crowd, to discard what is 'out' and buy what is 'in'.

"All this is but a symptom of the degeneration of our once robust society where individuality was a virtue. There is a fetish abroad to make everyone equal.' Concerned with wage scales he continued, "the unions are raising the pay of the not-so-skilled to the level of the skilled without attending increase in productivity, quantity or equality."

"Wage increases have increased consumer prices both at home and for export so as to form a serious threat to our economy." Referring to a recent Daily News editorial he said, "Rising educational costs are more apparent and seem to hit us a little harder because they are paid for by taxation. Taxes for most of us, are fast approaching the point of diminishing returns, whether we are in the industry, the business or the salary category."

Nationally speaking, Mr. Dill stated that "The buoyancy of the Canadian economy is dependent on exports but rising production costs, through wages and taxes, are making it increasingly difficult to compete in world markets. Rising labor costs could be accepted, provided there was an attendant rise in production, but there is little incentive."

BEST INCENTIVE

Describing material gain as the best incentive for an increase in production, Mr. Dill added, "This holds good for all men from the laborer up to the man highly-skilled in creativeness, innovations and management. Such a man will exert extreme efforts, make supreme sacrifices and dedicate himself to great accomplishments if there is sufficient material inducements."

Described as an instrument designed to level us off, Mr. Dill stated that, "the income tax structure is an effective dampener to incentive." He asked Rotary members if they had "any idea how many tradesmen and others there are in this town who only work so many months each year and then go on unemployment insurance, simply refusing to pay a higher income tax? And who pays for the unemployment insurance? Mostly it is you and I through increased costs of consumer goods," he answered.

Speaking of the levelling down of the rich, Mr. Dill asked, "What incentive is there to the man of exceptional ability who may earn $90,000 a year, only to see the government take 50 per cent in income tax. These are the men sorely needed to exploit our resources, to increase our national product, to manage our industrial exports and conduct the business of the country. Canada is losing some 5000 engineering and scientific personnel to the U.S.A. every year. These men are not in the high income tax bracket yet, but they are looking ahead to the future."

He asked members to "bear in mind that surplus earnings are invested in growth industries to create more jobs and national wealth. While taken for taxes, the money is lost in the Ottawa Tax Pot. Many companies never pay dividends simply because the large shareholders who control the companies do not want the dividends, only to see the greater part go for income tax."

12 P.C. ON WELFARE

Referring to "the levelling upward of the not so well to do," he stated that the "government spends 12 per cent of the revenue from our personal income tax on welfare. For comparison the figure is seven per cent in the United States."

"Another equalizer coming along is the Canada Pension Scheme, costing us over three per cent of our income for a start but likely to double later or in the future. Ottawa allows a tax credit on our income tax amounting to 20 per cent of the dividends received from taxable Canadian Corporations. This gimmick is supposed to be an incentive to invest in dividend paying shares of Canadian companies which helps to keep dividends in this country and control in Canadians hands. But none of the money you pay for the shares goes directly to help develop the company or the country," he noted.

TAX-GOBBLING MONSTER

"In order to help you help your country to grow, Ottawa has formed the Canada Development Corporation as a convenient way for you to invest your spare cash. Your money has a very slim chance of ever aiding in the country's development. All signs point to the corporation as an agency to buy out businesses in danger of falling into foreign hands. The Corporation seems destined to become a tax-gobbling monster with all the attendant political skullduggery of another Saskatchewan."

Mr. Dill presented a possible step-wise solution to these problems. He suggested, "paying the results rather than the job, raising the exemption for income tax, limiting the maximum income to 50 per cent and abolishing inheritance tax, payable by Canadian residents on investments in active Canadian businesses."

He also suggested extension of the 20 per cent tax credit to include income from Canadian bonds both government and private. He asked that abuses be eliminated from the Unemployment Insurance and the welfare program. Mr. Dill also declared that the Canada Development Corporation may be scrapped.

Erection Tower Falls at Brilliant Bridge Location

Brilliant bridge construction suffered a setback Friday when an erection tower on the airport side crashed sideways over the edge of the structure. A newsman on the scene later said the entire steel framework of the column was slung over the edge of the bridge.

R. R. Morrison, inspector of steel for the Department of Highways, stated that no injuries to the crew were sustained. However, the job will be delayed for several days. It was reported by Donald Johnson, bridge inspector from Castlegar, that a luffing clip had slipped on one of the supporting guy-wires as a steel rib section of the arch was being put into place.

Each of the two ribs of the structure are to be built from curved and prefabricated steel sections. There are 17 of these per rib, with weights varying from eight to 17 tons each.

With this weight on the main gut, a two-and-one-quarter-inch cable running from shore to shore which supports a carriage, the erection tower's other guy-lines could not balance the force. Thus it twisted sideways.

Mr. Morrison said no major damage had been done and that work could resume within a short period of time.

Construction on the bridge had just recently seen the finish of the highline phase with the completion of both erection towers and the stringing of the gut over them. To follow this phase were tests on the anchoring of the cable and the installation of the ribs.

The tower will be rebuilt.

Car Accidents Take Heavy Toll

Motor vehicle accidents are taking the heaviest death toll among Nelson's young people, the Selkirk Health Unit stated in its recent annual report.

During 1965, eleven people between the ages of 1 and 39 died from accidents and violence. In 1964, 10 people in the same age group died in a similar fashion.

A total of 29 people in the area covered by school district No. 7, died from accidents and violence in 1965, an increase of 12 over the previous year.

The report went on to say The Safety Committee in Nelson is pioneering in the endeavor to educate the public. They are also sponsoring various safety progames directed particularly to the children .

At Trafalgar

Play, Choral Program, Gym Displays at Open House

Over 500 visitors strolled through the halls of Trafalgar Junior-Secondary School Thursday night during open-house ceremonies held in conjunction with Education Week activities.

Visitors were treated to a continuous gymnastics and physical education display presented in the gymnasium during the evening. Seen at this exhibition were tumbling, rhythm work, and calisthenics.

In the auditorium, parents listened to the school's choir and enjoyed the band music. Drama was also performed.

Parents were invited to visit the classrooms of the school at their convenience and view the many displays. Among these were exhibitions of the new science equipment and text books in the subjects of English and Mathematics.

Guests were also invited to attend two special sessions held by the department heads in the various classrooms. Talks concerned the various courses on the school's curriculum ranging form science to a home economics display in the sewing room. Others included English, math, occupational courses, group counselling and the library facilities.

A book was available in the office in which parents could indicate their wish to interview staff members at some later date. During the sessions parents had an opportunity to talk to the subject teachers.

At the end of the session, refreshments were served by the girls in the home economics class.

Jackson Lectures On Richard III

A unique presentation that left an audience of 100 judge and jurors regarding the character of Richard III, King of England, took place at Notre Dame University Wednesday night.

Spicing his lecture with English wit and humor Dr. S. W. Jackman, history professor at Victoria University, transported his audience into the late middle ages to present the facts from his personal research about the controversial King who was depicted as a ruthless tyrant in Shakespeare's writings.

Beginning from Richard's birth as Duke of Gloucester, until his death on the battlefield at 32, the Harvard University graduate tore apart beliefs that Richard was a murderer, physically deformed and "damned to all eternity."

Dr. Jackman quoting from writings published after Richard's death concluded that, "he was one of the best rulers in northern England during the late middle ages."

Looking at Shakespeare's writings he said the poet wrote plays that would sell and secondly that would suit the government at that particular period.

Professor Jackman received his Ph.D. from Harvard University and he has taught at Harvard, Phillips Exeter, Bates College and University of Victoria. He is a Rockerfeller Fellow and Penrose Fellow at Clare College, Cambridge, and a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society.

His lecture was held at NDU as part of Education Week.

VOTE SOUGHT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver alderman Ernie Broome said Friday he will ask the provincial government to accept a vote of all taxpayers in the Greater Vancouver area on the question of fluoridation of the regional water system.

Robson Folk To Fight To Keep Ferry Service

ROBSON — Robson residents have begun to arm themselves against the possibility of having the ferry service between them and Castlegar cut off. Unless a bridge is constructed to replace this service over 1000 people will find themselves separated from Castlegar facilities including schools, hospitals and drug stores by a long roundabout route.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Smecher reported Friday that at a recently held meeting of the Robson Recreation Commission a plan was proposed which will see support solicited for a movement to prevent the ferry service being ended.

Included in the plan is a petition to be circulated around Robson property holders which, when completed, will be sent to Victoria. Mrs. Smecher reported being in touch with all district organizations such as the Canadian Legion and Church groups. These various associations were asked for their support and were also asked to write Victoria concerning the possible termination of this service.

Residents living on that side of the river see the possible dangers of such an action as affecting their property value. More important in some minds is the length of time taken to travel to such facilities as the hospital when using the Brilliant Bridge route.

CHEMIST TO SPEAK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, Professor of Chemistry Emeritus at the University of California at Berkeley and the author of several text books on chemistry, will lecture on chemical solutions at Simon Fraser University Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

WORKERS STRIKE

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Twenty - seven office workers went on strike Friday at the Sherwin - William Co., paint factory on Annacis Island. They are asking wage increases ranging from $62 to $153 a month.

SPENDING REDUCED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Aldermen attacked estimates for the first year of a tight five-year capital spending program Thursday and reduced proposed spending by $4,100,000.

Sharp Sends Letter To Cranbrook Chamber

CRANBROOK (Staff)—Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp explains in a letter to the Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce that "the basic aim of the present tight money monetary policy being followed by the federal government is to help keep the rapid economic expansion from accelerating to an unsustainable rate." The letter was in answer to a telegram from the chamber protesting the policy.

He went on to say that unless the rate of expansion is controlled, "it would precipitate a recession." "The main danger at present is that the expansion might be brought to a premature end by sharply rising costs and prices and related balance of payments problems which develop when too rapid a growth in spending pressures is allowed to overtax the economy's growing productive capacity."

"It has been appropriate, therefore, that the very large increase in the demand for credit associated with the economic expansion should have resulted in some bank borrowers being unable to secure as large loans as they would have liked.

"The chartered banks have tried to meet the normal borrowing needs of their customers, particularly their small customers, and total chartered bank loans have increased by $1,690,000,000 or 18 per cent in the 12 months ending January, 1966. The total money supply increased by $1,915,000,000 or 11 per cent over the same period."

A telegram from the chamber had protested in the "strongest possible terms the present tight money policy that is now drastically affecting thousands of Canadian businesses."

During a recent meeting, veteran member and former Chamber president Maurice Klinkhamer said that he was ashamed of the telegram to Mr. Sharp, charging that, "it presented a short-sighted view."

Accountant Mike Fenwick said that he felt federal financial manipulations were being handled by "experts" and it was presumptuous of chamber members to "express opinions on something on which we are not informed."

"This is their way of putting on a little control to prevent a recession," stated bank manager Tom Winchester. He said that he felt Mr. Sharp's reply was the thinking of the finance minister and his deputies and Bank of Canada president Louis Rasminsky.

Marvin Johnson, Chamber president, stated that the Chamber was not protesting on a strictly local basis, but "we just want to know if Ottawa has any financial policy."

Creston . . . $510,781 Spent On Liquor

CRESTON (Staff) — Statistics concerning the Creston-Salmo region were released recently showing a total of $510,781 was spent on liquor during the past year.

Assessed property came to $12,629,228 during 1965 while in 1964 retail trade totaled $7,417,000. Motor vehicle registrations came to 2263 for passenger cars during 1965 and 1344 commercial vehicles for a total of 3580.

However, during the past year the birth rate fell and the death rate slightly increased.

School enrolments were termed more, but local secondary school graduates remaining in the area was termed very low because no employment was available.

Building permits locally averaged about the same, but throughout the area were termed "increased". More construction of schools, churches and local industry were noted, but NHA housing showed a decrease.

Announce $173,000 Loan For Tom Uphill Home

FERNIE (Staff) — Ottawa announced a loan of $173,000 for the Tom Uphill Memorial Home for the Aged here recently.

Mrs. Percy Starr received word of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation loan stating, "I have to pinch myself to convince myself I'm not dreaming."

Mrs. Starr is Chairman of the home committee which has been working on the project for the last four years.

Tenders have already been called for the 50-bed home and deadline for receipt of bids is March 31.

A bidder will be selected by the architects and approved by the committee within a month after that, Mrs. Starr hopes.

"I would hope that we can start construction no later than the end of April," said Mrs. Starr, "and the home should be ready for occupancy by fall."

Estimated cost of building the home is $250,000. The B.C. government already approved a grant of $83,000 which, coupled with the CMHC loan, brings the total government monies to $256,000.

The home committee has raised $30,000 to date, some of which was spent for architects' fees. In addition to the building costs, the committee now has to find an estimated $50,000 to pay for home furnishings and is starting an all-out drive immediately to raise enough to get the home furnished by the time it is ready for occupancy.

Balance after the drive is expected to be financed through the furniture supplier.

This provincial grant is an outright one which does not have to be repaid. It is based on one third of the cost of the building. But the federal CMHC loan is repayable over the next 50 years, and Mrs. Starr is confident that the home, aided by funds raised from time to time, will be able to handle both repayment of the CMHC loan and the furniture financing.

A three and one-half acre area procured from Crows Nest Industries at the Northend Grounds will be the site of the home which is to be built in single-storey design.

Registered Nurses See Stroke Film

CRANBROOK — "Early Restorative Measures for Stroke Patients", a professional in-service nursing film, was attended by the March meeting Wednesday evening of Cranbrook Chapter, Registered Nurses Association. A demonstration on post-operative exercise of patients now started in earliest recovery stage was given by Miss Isobel Hutchison, CARS resident physio-therapist.

St. Eugene Hospital in-service training underway for its own nursing personnel is also open to all members of the Chapter, and has lined up its spring series of lectures and demonstrations. This is headed by four consecutive evenings starting March 22 on intravenous therapy. Instructors are Dr. Kem Tse and Dr. Roger Stanton, laboratory technicians Charles Schade and Sister Andrew.

Series continues March 29 with lecture and demonstration of draping the patient for surgery, set for morning, afternoon and evening so that all shift workers can attend.

Subject of the evening in-service lecture April 5 will be care of the new-born, with Dr. C. W. Brockington speaker. Purpose of the in-service training is to keep staff up-to-date on new and changing techniques, and all lectures are open to nurses not at present practising their profession.

Cranbrook Chapter had its Easter Bonnet drawing in which Laurie Millar was winner. Annual spring dance will be on a Mexican theme at the Eagle Hall May 6, with Miss Rose Malysh chairman for arrangements, and chapter executive on ticket sales.

Program item at the April meeting will be a talk by L. D. Swenerton, Cranbrook District Hospital administrator, on the nurses' part in a central-core hospital operation such as is planned for 1968 occupation in Cranbrook.

Gray Creek . . .

Tumbling Steals Open House Show

GRAY CREEK — The Tumbling display stole the show when the Junior School here had open house for Education Week. Like clock work the children came one after another, yet each one in his own way. Boys first, then girls, straight somersaults, then over and back, a running jump and over, cartwheels when legs really looked like spokes. Gracefully and gently over they go. Hand stands, poised for a second by Mrs. Thompson's hand on their feet, and back again. The children loved it all and it was a delight to watch.

There were songs learned since Christmas with Mrs. James' lively accompaniment. "One little duck" in which the actions were comical. "Doh Re Me", when Cathy Casemore and Wayne Wilson were leaders. The tongue-twister "Supercallafragallistic", .'Just a spoonful of sugar, helps the medicine go down in the most delightful way" and lastly, "There were ten in the bed", a version of The Ten Little Nigger Boys.

But first of all the parents and guests saw the children at work at their desks, reading and doing art work. The grade 3 geography was particularly pleasing with map-making, beginning with a map of Gray Creek. A new all-Canadian children's magazine is in use.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Kirchsner served tea. Candy was sold for the junior Red Cross.

The Real Culprit

Those who take the calculated risk of daily driving, can be grateful that the campaign to build more safety into new cars is being stepped up. This certainly is part of the answer to the whole grisly problem of reducing senseless slaughter on Canada's roads.

But the paramount fact of highway life is that more than 85 per cent of traffic accidents are caused by human error.

If the public and governments would concentrate their attention on this central problem, there might be some hope for a slow-down in the slaughter. An official of the Canadian Highway Safety Council says: "Every time someone starts shouting that the car is the main culprit, it puts the highway safety movement back two years."

The motoring public, in other words, is only too willing to be convinced it can wait for improved cars rather than improve its own deadly record. Everyone on the road needs to realize where the real fault lies and what he can do to cut the toll.

High-powered cars are not, in themselves, conducive to accidents. In Europe, where little cars abound, the death toll is higher than it is here.

Canadian drivers are worse than U.S. drivers. Although we drive similar cars—and on less crowded roads to boot— we have a higher rate of fatal accidents than the Americans.

If Canadian drivers run true to form, officials estimate that in 1966 they will cause 5000 deaths. Another 150,000 persons will be injured in traffic accidents and of these about 50,000 will never fully recover. Economic losses will reach an horrendous $650 million.

Let's have safer cars by all means. They will help reduce deaths which might otherwise take place through accidents. But the safest car in the world won't stop more than 15 per cent of those accidents. Safety first must mean safe drivers first.—Financial Post.

Our Stars and Stripes

Civilians (including Mr. Paul Hellyer) may be forgiven for being somewhat confused these days about things military in Canada because they (including Mr. Paul Hellyer) know so little about the armed forces of our country.

However, when a professional Canadian soldier who carries the rank of major-general starts referring to himself as a "two-star general" things are getting sadly out of hand.

For the uninitiated, the insignia of rank of a Canadian major-general is not two stars. It is instead a sword and baton crossed and one star (or pip), just as it is in the British, Australian, New Zealand and most other British Commonwealth armies.

It is American major-generals who wear two stars — as any red-blooded Canadian CBC-TV watcher will know. The only commissioned officer in the Canadian army who wears but two stars on each shoulder strap is a lieutenant, which is a rank considerably below that of major-general, as even Mr. Hellyer knows.

It may be that Major-General W. A. B. Anderson, deputy chief of Canada's reserve forces, was just being facetious with his reference. On the other hand it may be that he was trying to tell us something that we should know.

Is he attempting to tip us off that he is expecting to be reduced to a mere two-pipper? Or is he just softening us up for a change-over to the American system of badges of rank?

The latter guess would seem the more likely of the two. After all, our air force is equipped with American aircraft, our army is armed with American weapons, and our defence policy is set by American politicians. So why not go the whole hog?

—Victoria Colonist.

Monstrous

There appears to be no limit to the indignities to which men are prepared to subject monsters.

Ever since the Middle Ages, the monster in Loch Ness (and/or its progeny) has been quietly going about its business, posing briefly for blurred camera and movie shots, attracting tourists by the millions, and doing no more harm than scaring the lights (and a promise of a soberer life) out of some late traveller.

And what, in return, have men done for the monster? He (she?) has been hunted up and down the loch by men on land, men in boats, men in diving suits, men with still cameras, movie cameras, men with electronic sounding gear. Now comes the latest outrage. It is being seriously suggested that the whole 30 miles of Loch Ness be dredged in the hope that whatever is down there will be brought up.

The MP who made this suggestion does not seem to have said what the searchers would do if Nessie should be hauled out of the depths. Hit over the head with a gaff and stuffed? Netted and kept in a tank? Or thrown back in?

This is a proposal that should get no shrift at all. Undoubtedly it will meet with wholehearted opposition not just from all the good people of the area who depend on tourists for their livelihood. A bird in the hand may be worth two in the bush—but a doubtful and mysterious monster in the lake is worth much more than a real monster in the zoo.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Easter Date

Much of the western world is now celebrating Lent in anticipation of Easter Sunday, April 10.

The First Council of Nicaea in 325 A.D. considered that Jesus Christ had been crucified on a Sunday, and though the date has never been established, that Easter should be the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

This complicated formula to set the date of such an important religious holiday is coming into disfavor. In October, 1963, the Vatican Council voted (2,058 - 92 in favor of a fixed Easter and there has been a law on the British books enabling the government to set the date by Order-in-Council, since 1928. To both there is a proviso ". . . that regard shall be had to any opinion officially expressed by any other Church or any Christian body."

This means the Christian churches would have to agree on the principle and then on a fixed date.

As all the Christian churches move closer together it seems not unlikely the first Sunday in April will be chosen as a permanent Easter Day. — Hamilton Spectator.

Canada Shares in North American Defence Setup

By DOUGLAS AMARON

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP) — The space age has brought a new concept of air defence of North America in which Canada is expected to share at least for some years to come.

Canada's future role will be shaped at the conference table and undoubtedly will be influenced by results of a multi-million-dollar United States program to defend against satellites and land- and sea-launched missiles.

Senior Canadian officers at headquarters here of the North American Air Defence Command see a continuing role for Canada.

Air Marshal C. R. (Larry) Dunlap, NORAD's deputy commander-in-chief, discussed Canada's position when Canadian newspaper men visited Colorado Springs for a tour of NORAD's newly-opened underground combat operations centre deep inside 9,500-foot Cheyenne Mountain.

Air Marshal Dunlap, 58-year-old former chief of staff of the RCAF, noted that preliminary study will begin soon or revision of the NORAD agreement under which Canada and the United States share in defence of North America. The 10-year agreement expires in May, 1968.

REVIEWS PROGRAM

Meantime, the U.S. is reviewing its anti-satellite defence program, and the fact that Canada has not been called into these consultations has raised the question whether the U.S. may go it alone and whether the program may be placed under the Continental Air Defence Command (CONAD)—the U.S. portion of NORAD.

Satellite war is not something likely in the near future but the ability to place tremendous payloads in orbit means it cannot be ruled out as a possibility.

Air Marshal Dunlap said that since the anti-satellite program is still in the formative stage joint Canada-U.S. planning is not yet a point, but he said there is every indication the U.S. will want Canada in even if a full satellite defence system is decided upon.

The whole air defence program might come under a NORAD umbrella.

While the United States is spending $400,000,000 a year to find the answer to space attack, NORAD officers are far from convinced that bomber attack can be discarded as a threat. They believe that bombers, capable of carrying heavier loads than intercontinental ballistic missiles, would follow land- and submarine-launched ICBMs.

BOMBERS IN PICTURE

Air Marshal Dunlap said Russia still is improving its bomber forces, although there has been some decrease in size, and is improving its bomber-carried air-to-surface missiles. He could not believe the Russians would spend hundreds of millions of dollars on this program if they plan to scrap bombers.

He added that Russia is conscious of anti-ICBM missiles being developed and this may be a factor in retaining its bomber force. Missiles, too, are difficult to get off the ground and there could be a considerable proportion of launching failures.

The threat that China might take advantage of a Russian attack on the United States to launch its own attack on Russia also would force the Soviet to keep ICBMs in reserve.

As long as bombers are a threat, the United States would need Canada, whose personnel, including about 70 at NORAD headquarters, are highly-trained and skilled and whose geographical buffer position between Russia and the U.S. makes it an important area in location of defences.

Canada's system of radar detection is so situated that it provides control of fighters and this, Air Marshal Dunlap said, is an indispensable element in defence against bomber attack.

U.S. SHOULDERS COST

In the astronomical money terms of defence, Canada is not a big contributor to NORAD although about eight per cent of the Canadian defence budget is used to meet NORAD costs compared with four per cent of the U.S. defence budget similarly allocated.

In dollar terms, however, Canada's $115,000,000 annual contribution is not much more than NORAD's 1965 telephone bill of $82,000,000 and compares with $2,000,000,000 spent by the United States.

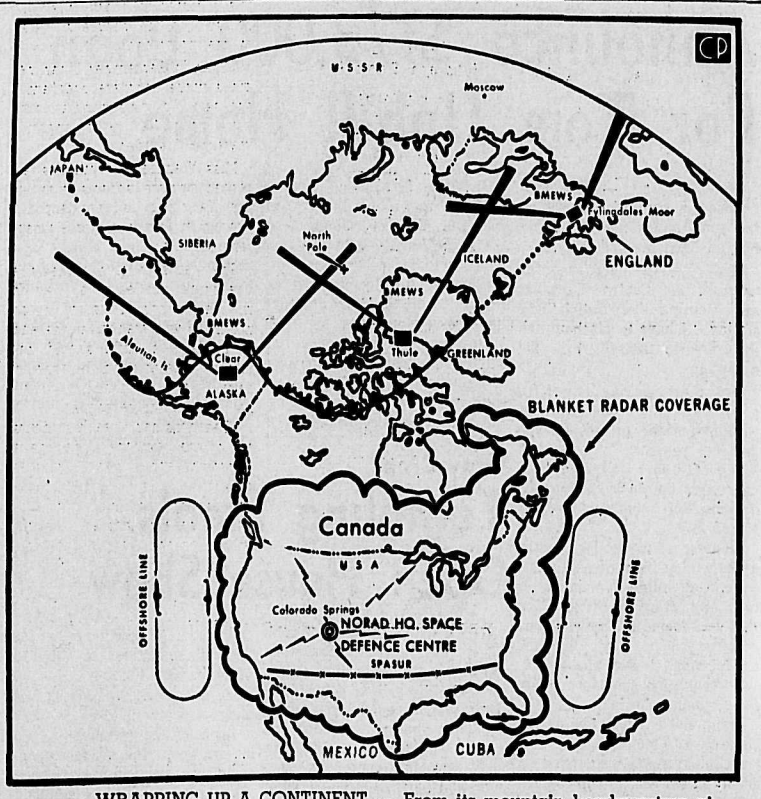
U.S. concern about missile attack is based on knowledge that no effective defence has been perfected, although NORAD officers say the time is not too far distant when this threat can be handled. The Nike Zeus rocket, for instance, has intercepted 10 test missiles, and better rockets and radar are being developed.

Present defences, however, at best can deal only with missiles on the way down and the most effective defence is to destroy them on the way up. Space stations far above the earth are envisaged as part of this defence.

Detection, of course, is vital when the earliest warning of a missile attack from 6,000 miles away will be from 15 to 20 minutes.

A vast electronic curtain covers the continent, the seas on either side and the polar regions to the north. Within seconds, computers convert the information they receive into understandable terms for the men inside Cheyenne's tunnelled granite.

The electric complex of NORAD's defensive system is a miracle of the aerospace age but man still has the last say. Computers sort out the information but the decisions are left to human judgment.



WRAPPING UP A CONTINENT — From its mountain headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., the North American Air Defence Command keeps the North American continent under surveillance. At Clear, Alaska; Thule, Greenland and Flyingdale Moor in England, the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS) can warn of rockets coming over the Pole. Other radar systems and patrol planes off the coast track every aircraft approaching the continent.—CP Newsmap.

De Gaulle Wants - Without

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — President de Gaulle of France wants the spirit of NATO preserved without French participation in the military flesh of the alliance.

The United States is determined to keep the body intact, with or without French muscle and at whatever cost, and appears to have Alliance support. The U.S. will proceed without encouraging any view that NATO is in crisis and will not talk to France about changes in NATO on a nation - to - nation basis.

This is the picture drawn here after what seems to be de Gaulle's first shot in carrying out his long-signalled intentions.

He sought by letter to discuss NATO changes with President Johnson. Johnson said this is an Alliance affair, deserving serious consideration.

De gaulle in a terse statement Wednesday described any further discussion about revising NATO as useless.

Later Wednesday, spokesman Robert McCloskey of the U.S. state department said the U.S. knows of no plan for immediate convening of the 15 NATO foreign ministers and that the U.S. has no such plan. Consultations will proceed through normal diplomatic channels, including the NATO council.

PREPARE FOR CRISIS

But American officials confirmed that the U.S. and its allies for some time have been drawing up plans to meet 'any and all contingencies that might arise."

This means that in the event France withdraws her own NATO forces and demands command of American, Canadian and German forces, there will be a wholesale NATO withdrawal from the strategically-important French nation.

It will involve some 2,500 Canadians—half the air division split between France and Germany, about 26,000 American troops and some German soldiers.

Supreme Allied Headquarters will go elsewhere with weapons and supply hardware—a moving job costing at least $700,000,000.

But there is expected to be extensive bargaining all around —alliance to France and bilaterally between Canada and France—before the removal is carried out.

Still not ruled out, despite the seemingly-rigid language of the French president, is the possibility his intentions are somewhat less sweeping than his language.

WON'T YIELD

Both Canada and the U.S. have no intention of giving France command of their forces, as requested by de Gaulle.

A primary Alliance concern is what impact the go - it - alone French policy may have now or in future on West Germany. NATO is essential, in the U.S. view, because the Soviet Union needs the reminder of its existence to ensure good behavior but particularly to anchor Germany to a multi-nation alliance.

There is a school of U.S. thought that feels de Gaulle's latest moves are aimed at smoothing his trip to Moscow later this year.

Others, including Canadian diplomats, tend to feel de Gaulle merely is being consistent with the plan he has been broadcasting for a long time.

Ranger Image Is Vague

VANCOUVER (CP)—As soldiers go, the Canadian Ranger isn't much to look at

He may be a trapper, a prospector or an Indian cowboy.

He doesn't get paid, doesn't wear a uniform, his only issue is a 303 calibre rifle and an annual supply of 100 rounds of amunition and he probably needs a shave.

His territory is the backwoods country of British Columbia, the endless swamps of the north the rugged, wind - swept coast, the forests and the mountains. His job is to report unusual movements or reports in a wilderness large enough to hide a single enemy agent or swallow a small country.

Regular army officers believe the Canadian Rangers know of everything that moves across the hundreds of miles of wilderness.

The Rangers, an outgrowth of the Pacific Coast Militia Rangers of the Second World War, are organized into platoons according to geographical location. They have commissioned platoon commanders who supply some direction in a most informal way.

Their communication lines consist of the existing telephone system, short wave radio and the wilderness grapevine.

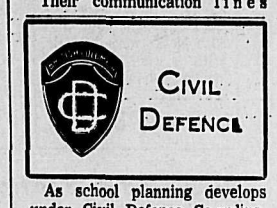
Officially, the Rangers are required to hold themselves in readiness for service in case of war, invasion, riot or insurrection.

Unofficially, they are suppliers of expert intelligence, and would become invaluable guides in the event the regular army was called upon to send a force into the wilderness.

Regular army officers are hard pressed to describe the exact status of the Rangers because they are neither members of the regular force nor the militia.

Words of Life

Wherefore thou art great, O Lord God: for there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee.—2 Samuel 7:22.



As school planning develops under Civil Defence Co-ordination parents should acquaint themselves with the details of the plan so they will know what is expected of them and how they can best help.

March 12, 1966 . . .

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Kuomintang, died 41 years ago today—in 1925—only weeks after setting up his government in Peking. First proclaimed president in 1912, when the monarchy abdicated, Dr. Sun was embroiled in civil wars and widespread chaos until his last few months, when political and military staff officers from Russia had helped unify China. Dr. Sun's widow, now a senior official of Communist China, is a sister of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China.

1857 — About 65 people were killed near Hamilton, Ont., when a railway bridge gave way under a train.

1912—The first girl guide patrol in North America was founded at Savannah, Ga.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1916—Russia announced the torpedoing of the Leiteran Pushtscheen by an enemy submarine in the Black Sea; British trenches at Loos and Bois de Grenier were shelled.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941 — Greeks repulsed a six-pronged Italian attack in Albania; a five-day strike of shipwrights in Belfast was settled; King George VI decorated Maj. Robert Williams of Toronto with the MC for gallantry in Norway.

Fifty years ago today—in 1916—six German aircraft were brought down on the Western front; British guns bombarded German lines on the Lille-Armentieres railway; British troops occupied Moshi, German East Africa.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941—500 civilians were killed in two nights of raids on the Liverpool port district; the British mined the Red Sea; a German parachutist was captured at Taghmon, in neutral Ireland; President Roosevelt "froze" Hungarian funds in the United States.

The Stamp Corner

New stamps come from Formosa (top left) for firecracker celebrations, Angola (top centre) for 25th anniversary of its air service, Denmark (top right) for child welfare, and (lower, left to right) Japan for resumption of Antarctic exploration, Spain for centenary of its postage stamps, and Switzerland for child welfare featuring squirrels.

By JAMES MONTAGNES

Some of the most colorful stamps these days come from Formosa, also known philatelically as Nationalist China, and Taiwan. The stamps of this Chinese government once were used on the mainland of China, but since the Communist government has been established there since 1950, the stamps of the mainland of China have not been so easily available in Canada.

This is due to U.S. legislation prohibiting the importation of Communist Chinese stamps. Thus U.S. catalogues do not list such stamps, but European catalogues do. Similarly Communist Chinese stamps can be purchased in most European stamp dealer shops, and are carried by some Canadian stamp dealers.

The stamps of Formosa date back to 1886, when the island was a Chinese province and had its own stamps. In 1895 the island was ceded to Japan, but the Chinese objected and formed a short-lived republic which had one stamp issue. The Japanese occupied the island later that year and Japanese stamps were in use till 1945, when the island once more became a Chinese province with overprinted Chinese stamps used on the mail.

Since 1950 Formosa has been the seat of the Nationalist Chinese government, and has released numerous stamps, many of them featuring the head of state, Chiang Kai-shek.

The early issues of the postwar Formosa stamps, like Chinese stamps previously, had no gum, but recent issues have been similar to those of most countries, and have been sold with gum on the reverse side.

There have been numerous commemorative stamps for various government programs such as plant seeding, transportation progress, farming, new schools and museums, and industrial events in which China has taken part. There have been stamps for such international personalities as Eleanor Roosevelt and Florence Nightingale.

None of the stamps are very valuable yet, but just as Japanese stamps have increased in value in the past two years, there is a likelihood that Formosa's stamps may be going up in price in the near future.

Student Going to Inuvik On Gaining NDU's First BE

"Freedom in Education" is what Sharon Wenezenki believes in most and to prove it she has set her sights on the northern part of Canada.

The Notre Dame University education student's tentative destination is Inuvik, located on the Mackenzie delta, 60 miles south of the Arctic coast, "where I can implement what I believe is right in education," she explained.

Miss Wenezenki, 21, of Port Alberni, is the first student graduating from NDU with a Bachelor of Education degree.

Because she feels so strongly about taking the right approach to her first teaching position, the lively miss has applied for an internship period in the north this summer in order to adjust not only to the people but also to the northland.

"Then in September I can begin a more concrete program," she said. Inuvik's population is more than 2000 with approximately 800 students.

Miss Wenezenki, who has attended private schools most of her life, completed her teaching practicum in two public elementary schools.

She wants to give students a "yearning for learning," which motivated her decision to go north. "For instance, at the end of grade 3 a child should not just be able to read, but should have a love for reading — and not just out of textbooks.

"Teachers can't teach students out of the textbook. They have to provide enrichment in classes by knowing the facts or at least knowing how to find them.

"I've been taught at NDU not only to emphasize the academic factors but to stress the philosophy and theology aspects too."

She sums up her philosophy on education this way: "The dignity of every child in the classroom is a composite not only of the body but of the soul, mind and spirit which makes him an individual.

"Because each child is an individual a teacher is trained to do more than throw out a core to them," the honor roll student continued.

Miss Wenezenki, who has averaged 80 per cent since she came to NDU three years ago from Port Alberni where she completed senior matriculation, has been awarded scholarships and bursaries amounting to $2,500.

Born in Marden, Manitoba, she attended public school in Burnaby before entering Smith Memorial School in Port Alberni.

Her interest in education was stimulated by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wenezenki of Port Alberni, and a speaking tour which she conducted in Catholic schools in the Vancouver and Victoria Dioceses.

"I talked to the kids about obtaining a university education and that spurred me on. My parents wouldn't hear of me quitting because of lack of money so that's why I went on the tour for NDU.

"I'm going to teach at least a year up north," the determined student concluded.

THAT'S A LONG WAY UP, Paul Vincent agrees, as Miss Sharon Wenezenki points out Inuvik on the map, her destination after graduation. Paul is a Hume School student who is taking supplementary work at Notre Dame University.

Hints From Heloise

HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
I must tell you of this fabulous easy, low-cost and minimum effort way that my husband found to wash those windows, mirrors, etc.

Buy the cheapest rubbing alcohol you can find, take the lid off and screw on a sprayer head such as comes on spray starch or hand lotion bottles—NOT FIZZ types.

Take a soft cloth and you're ready for the easiest, most wonderfully sparkling windows you ever had.

Jus spray on and wipe off. On any stubborn spots, just spray a little more alcohol and off they go.

You can use the same cloth for a good many windows, even after you think it too soiled to use. In fact, you can use the the same cloth with good effect as long as it dries the windows.

The wonderful part of using alcohol is that it cannot freeze, so you can use it in below-zero weather. It's a must for those glass patio doors and windows And if you wear plastic coated gloves you will have nice, warm hands.

May this be as helpful to you as it is to me.
An ardent reader.

* * *

Oh, you're a doll! I know alcohol is wonderful for cleaning windows but I never thought about putting the push-sprayer finger type plunger right in the bottle.

And did you know that crumpled up newspapers are wonderful for shining those windows after you squirt alcohol on them?

There's just something about printer's ink and alcohol that really makes glass gleam.
Heloise.

Dear Heloise: To spread fresh bread with anything, put the spread all around the edges first, turning the bread as you spread. There won't be much centre left to cover, mash or break.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
We have a little five-year-old boy who knows all the States in the Union, and most of the capitals.

I can correct him on all of them except one . . . he insists that the capital of Montana is "Heloise"! K.

* * *

Dear Heloise:
Freshening rolls or buns in the oven is fine if you have a lot of them to do.

However, why use the oven when you only want to heat three or four rolls?

I put a little water in a saucepan, put a cooling rack, or the like, on top. I place the rolls on the rack (you can stack them if you like, they'll still get the steam), and cover them with a piece of foil or the lid to the pan.

This takes less than a minute if the water is boiling. Don't leave them too long, or they'll get soggy. Specially good for hamburger buns.
Mrs. V. Backus.

Dynamiters Game Up on Leafs; Jets, Warriors Even

KIMBERLEY (Staff) — Friday was a beautiful day for a drive to Kimberley but Nelson Maple Leafs are wishing they had never made the trip.

The Leafs were bombed 6-2 by a fired-up squad of Kimberley Dynamiters, who now lead the Western International Hockey League semi-final series two games to one, but loss could prove costly to the Leafs.

Carl Chwachka, a 23-goal scorer during the regular season, was knocked-out cold and the full effects of the injury may not be known until tonight. The starry leftwinger made a diving save to stop Wally Souter on a breakaway and crashed heavily into the boards. He was carried off the ice on a stretcher unconscious but was walking around after the game.

Dick Vincent led the Dynamiters with a pair of goals while Paul Sinclair, Ken McTeer, Walt Peacosh and Wayne King added singles.

Murray Owen and Leroy Mowery replied for Nelson.

The Dynamiters, who were behind 5-0 before they knew what hit them in the second game of this series Wednesday night, reversed the tables and led 2-0 in the first three minutes of play.

The Leafs, playing below par, managed to weather the storm for the remainder of the period and Owen put them back in the game early in the second period.

But a fluke goal by Vincent killed the Nelson comeback. The Kimberley forward cleared the puck from behind the Nelson net and it hit a Nelson defenceman and bounced into the open corner. After that the Leafs weren't in the game.

Mowery scored on a scramble later in the period, but that was the extent of the Nelson offence.

Vincent started the Kimberley scoring at the 53-second mark on a power-play goal with Skip Holmes off for holding.

The goal came just eight seconds after Nelson netminder Jim Letcher had robbed the Kimberley forward on a clean breakaway.

Letcher, playing without his face-mask, was bombed with 42 shots and didn't have a chance on most of the goals as Dynamiter attackers poured through a weak Nelson defence.

Leaf captain Mike Laughton looked as if he may have been a casualty mid-way through the first period when he crashed heavily into the boards and struggled off the ice. But he returned to the game showing no ill effects.

Referee Bill Waddell handed out ten minor penalties, five to each team. Defenceman Bill Steenson, last week named winner of the Paul Kozak award as the best defenceman in the league, led all others as he continually got away with rough play.

Midway through the final period Howie Hornby, one of the steadier Leafs on the ice was sent home-free by playing-coach Frank Arnett but failed to beat Bob Wardle.

The Kiberley netminder, called upon to make 29 saves, was not overworked but made the big saves when he had to.

The only scoring play of the third period came when Wayne King picked up a loose puck on the Leaf blue-line and walked in to beat Letcher.

But he never should have had the puck. The Leafs, careless in their own end throughout the game, were guilty once again of inadequate clearing and the Dynamiters took full advantage of every opportunity.

The fourth game of the series will be played tonight in Kimberley. The two teams return to Nelson for the fifth game Monday night.

Third-Place Medal Canada's Best Hope

By CARL MOLLINS

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (CP)—Russia shut out Canada 3-0 Friday night in one of the hardest fought games of the world hockey tournament and faced a final showdown struggle with Czechoslovakia for the title Sunday.

The Russians, in earning their third shutout win of the tournament, scored late in the first period and clinched the victory with two goals in the third.

The Czechs found Sweden tough all the way before winning 2-1 on a third-period goal by Jaroslav Jirik. The victory was the sixth straight for the first-place Czechs and gave them 12 points.

The Russians were a point behind with 11 on five wins and a tie in the eight-country round-robin championship group.

Russia must beat Czechoslovakia Sunday to win the title for the third time in succession. A tie would make the Czechs champions for the first time since 1949.

Russia captured the title in 1963 and 1965 and took the Olympic hockey gold medal in 1964.

U.S. FINALLY WINS

In other games in the championship group Friday the United States won its first game after five defeats, blanking East Germany 4-0 and Finland defeated winless Poland 6-3.

Canada's only hope for some honors now is to beat or tie Sweden Sunday and take the third-place bronze medal.

Canada's loss to Russia, coming on top of a 2-1 defeat by the Czechs Thursday, left the Canadians in third place with four wins and two losses for eight points.

Sweden, which held Russia to a 3-3 tie Thursday night, has seven points from three wins, two losses and a tie.

A third-place bronze medal for the Canadians would be some measure of consolation. The last three years no Canadian team has finished better than fourth in world and Olympic competition.

Standing of the leaders:

	W	L	T	F	A	Pt
Czecho.	6	0	0	31	8	12
Russia	5	0	1	48	6	11
Canada	4	2	0	30	9	8
Sweden	3	2	1	24	13	7

Only two championship group games are on the schedule today involving the bottom four teams.

The schedule:

United States vs. Poland, 11 a.m. EST

Finland vs. East Germany, 2:30 p.m.

Sunday Games:

Canada vs. Sweden, 5 a.m.

Czechoslovakia vs. Russia, 10 a.m.

The Russian top forward line —Konstantin Loktev, Veniamin Aleksandrov and Aleksander Almetov—struck the first blow against Canada at 15:20 of the first period. Aleksandrov took a pass from Almetov and rammed home his ninth goal of the tournament.

The Russians could not penetrate the Canadian net again until 4:08 of the third period. Then Vladimir Vikulov made it 2-0 and a little more than five minutes later defenceman Oleg Zajcev slapped home a long shot to clinch the game.

Goalie Seth Martin of Trail, B.C., performed heroically for Canada and got cheer after cheer from the crowd—a partisan lot which waved Canadian flags and chanted "Let's go, Canada." They drowned out groups of Russian supporters and their chants of "Shaybu, Shaybu" (puck, Puck).

Martin stopped 27 shots while Russia's Victor Konovalenko had only 16. Konovalenko had just two saves to make in the third period.

In the penalty department, Canada took seven of 13 minor infractions.

It was Russia's 20th victory over Canada in the last 21 games, including exhibitions between the two national teams. Canada's only victory in this stretch was a 6-1 rout in Victoria Dec. 20.

In world championship play, Russia has beaten Canada four straight. The last time Canada beat Russia in the world championship was 5-1 in 1961.

TOOK LEAD

The Swedes took the lead against the Czechs in the first period on Ulf Sterner's goal at 14:15. Sterner, coming on strongly late in the tournament after indifferent play in the first few games, stole the puck from a Czech defender, faked a shot, then went right in on Czech goalie Vladimir Dzurila and scooped the puck across the goalmouth.

Alberta Curlers Win Title

HALIFAX (CP) — Alberta won the Canadian curling championship here Friday night with a 7-6 playoff victory over Ontario.

Ron Northcott's Calgary rink stole a single in the 12th end for the victory when Joe Gurowka of Cooksville was wide and heavy with his final rock.

The championship was the ninth in the 37-year history of the national tournament for Alberta. The Northcott foursome was presented with the Macdonald's Brier Trophy by David M. Stewart, vice-president of the Macdonald Tobacco Co.

The two rinks met in the playoff when they finished the 11-round schedule Friday afternoon tied with 8-2 won-loss records.

Ontario jumped into a 3-0 lead after three ends when Northcott, obviously a bit shaky under the initial pressure, missed three consecutive takeout shots with his last rock.

WAS IN TOP FORM

However, the 30-year-old veteran of national competition came up with a single on a draw shot in the fourth end to get on the scoreboard and settled down to his finest game in the five-day round-robin tournament.

Gurowka drew with last rock for one point in the fifth end to lead 4-1 but Alberta got two points in the sixth. The rinks exchanged takeouts through the end, with Northcott making the final hit and staying in for the pair of counters.

The Calgary quartet stole a single in the seventh when Gurowka was heavy on an attempted draw to the button for shot rock and left Alberta sitting one. That tied the score at 4-4.

REGAINED LEAD IN 10TH

Ontario scored once in the eighth and Alberta kept pace with a single in the ninth. Gurowka drew for another point in the 10th and regained the lead.

In the 11th, Northcott tried to take out Gurowka's shot rock and roll out himself to blank the end so he would have last-rock advantage coming home in the 12th. But his rock stayed in the house to count one, tying the score 6-6, but giving Ontario final stone in the 12th.

In the final end, Ontario third Tom Howat took out two Alberta guards. Northcott then drew to the button. Gurowka took it out and got a slight roll to the front of the four-foot circle.

Northcott then nudged the shot to the back of the eight-foot ring and rolled himself to get a bite of the four-foot behind a guard. Gurowka had a difficult task with his final stone, needing to draw almost on the centre spot to win. He was a bit heavy and wide and the four Alberta members were hopping about with joy before the granite stopped sliding.

Alberta defeated Prince Edward Island 7-3 in the 11th round, while Ontario knocked Hersh Lerner's Manitoba rink from Winnipeg 9-7. Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia shared third place with identical marks of seven wins and three losses.

Rossland Skiers Lead Opening Day

Rossland skiers dominated the downhill slalom event during the first day of events at the West Kootenay Inter-High Ski Meet at Rossland Friday.

In the boys' division of the slalom, the winner was John Greene, brother of Canada's top female skier Nancy Greene. With Greene from Rossland in first place, second was left to Wake Williams from Trail and third to Phillip Filleul of Nelson. Filleul fell while attempting to make one of the course's 50 gates and with the tumble all hope of victory was lost. Nelson's Peter Grady came fifth in the field of 44 which had 24 completing the course.

In the girls' slalom, Pam Aiken also from Rossland took first place, with Maureen Fox of Nelson grabbing second spot. Miss Fox suffered the same mishap as her teammate, Phillip Filleul, as she fell at the 56th gate, losing four seconds to finish half a second behind Miss Aiken. Sandra McGauley from Rossland was third.

A combined Rossland-Trail team was first in the slalom with Rossland second, Trail third and Nelson fourth.

Rossland's A team was first in the boys' category, Rossland B team second, Nelson A third and Nelson B fifth out of nine teams.

Officials at the meet are hoping today's courses will be in as excellent shape as they were Friday.

Ski Slants

By SITZMARK

Despite the weather conditions last week a very successful ski club meet was held with races for all ages, including an obstacle race for the senior members.

The biggest question at the moment is how is the hill going to be after the rain? With lots of snow still on the hill the skiing will depend on the weather from day to day. If the temperature drops during the night and the sun shines in the day, the slope will be excellent for skiing for several hours after the sun hits the hill; but later in the afternoon the snow may get too soft for good skiing.

But with the warm weather, many skiers are enjoying the sport in short sleeves, while some even go to shorts. But shorts are a bad idea in case of a fall which can result in cuts or scrapes on the ice crystals of which the snow is made of.

The Junior and Senir High ski teams journey to Rossland this weekend to participate in the Inter-High meet on Friday and Saturday. This competition will probably bring to a close the meets for this season and the best of luck goes to the skiers from everyone.

If the temperature remains in the 30 degrees range, the skiing should continue to be good, but the only way to tell is to go up to the hill and find out.

Canada is the world's only country with a continuous record of births for more than 300 years.

Arnett, Referees Trade Places For Sunday Night Exhibition

Ever wished you could see hockey referees switch positions and play the game for a change? Well if you have, Sunday night you'll get your wish when the Western International Hockey League officials take on the Selects of the Nelson Shinny Hockey League in a game for minor hockey.

All your favorites, Bill Waddell, Don Fletcher, Harry Harris, Jim Mailley, Sarge Sammartino, Bernie Loff, Jim Stevens, John Hanik, Howie Palmer, Laurie Bursaw, and Allan Waddell, with assistance from Marsh Severyn and Mickey Maglio will be out to prove they know how to play the game as well as referee it.

With all the officials on the team, who will referee? That's easy. Who else but Frank Arnett and Gus Adams, two of the officials favorite sons.

Arnett, in accepting the opportunity, said he would take no back talk. It's straight to the penalty box and no lip, just like he himself does all the time.

Adams made no comment, but it's a safe bet that the Nelson Maple Leaf manager will show no favoritism at all.

So if you've complained about the officiating in the WIHL games, Sunday night you can see some good referees.

The Selects will be coached by Ron Nash who will also play, and their full line-up is not exactly known at the time. Rumor has it that the officials are importing a few more players in their bid to win.

With Arnett off the coaching job for a night, Sammartino will try his hand at the job. After all if the Leaf playing coach wants to take his job, why shouldn't Sammartino switch places.

It should be most interesting to see who does the better job.

Game time is 8:00 p.m. Sunday night with a silver collection going to the Nelson Minor Hockey League. It's a worthwhile contribution and looks to be the clash of the year, so don't miss it.

The Shinny Hockey schedule has run into problems in the past weeks and games have had to be postponed. The new schedule is as follows:

March 13—8:30-9:30, RCMP vs. Jaycees; 9:40-10:40, Jaycees vs. Slocan; 8:00-10:00, Selects vs. WIHL Referees and reinforcements.

March 20 — 8:30-9:00, Selects vs. RCMP; 9:40-10:40, Jaycees vs. Slocan.

March 27 — 8:30-9:30, Selects vs. Slocan; 9:40-10:40, Selects vs. (to be named); 7:30-9:00, RCMP vs. Jaycees.

April 4 — 8:30-9:30, RCMP vs. Jaycees; 9:40-10:40, RCMP vs. (to be named); 7:30-9:00, Slocan vs. Selects.

Epic Deluxe

EPIC—That Tough Little Car from General Motors costs so little.

And we don't mean just the low initial cost. You've also got to consider low gas consumption (Epic is noted for it), low maintenance (parts and service from over 600 Chevrolet/Envoy dealers coast to coast), and durability (Epic is built to last). Add on good trade-in (GM cars keep their value), good looks, and practical comfort and you can see why Epic/66 walks away with best buy honors. Right now, Epic/66 is at your Chevrolet/Envoy dealer's. See what a lot you get for so little.

(P.S. Ask about Epic's big brother-Envoy for '66!)

EPIC/ $1,901.00

Your Individual Horoscope

Sunday, March 13, 1966

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Planetary aspects fine! There are credits awaiting those of you who heed the precepts of careful counsel and who put tolerance and understanding on the pedestals where they belong.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Do not attach too much importance to material things; they are so transitory, and there is so much to gain through the soul, the heart and the mind. Welcome another's good idea, boost good will.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Don't negate past fine efforts through thoughtfulness. Attend to all affairs in a calm, dispassionate manner. Personal relations should prove rewarding.

JUNE 22 to JUL Y23 (Cancer) — Collect your thoughts, concentrate on things demanding immediate attention. A top-notcher, you can acquit yourself admirably in any situation. Prove it!

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — An excellent period in which to renew affectionate ties through mutual interests and pastimes. Your domestic affairs are also stimulated.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — A good turn can add much to joy and happiness. It rewards in many ways, not always monetarily, though it can. Think of this now, when you may have an opportunity to aid another.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — This would be a good day in which to discuss matters of mutual interest with loved ones or business associates. You may gleam some excellent ideas in this manner.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Review moves of the past week. Correct where need be for more effective endeavor in the days ahead. Use your wit and cleverness where they will do the most good.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — You possess a deep sense of justice, a pervading spirit of cheer. Others will listen to your well-chosen words for inspiration, logical advice. Give the help that's needed.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Groups and individuals will not all feel the same about similar issues, plans. You be the quiet judge and discreet listener and your influence will be powerful.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Do not stay enclosed in a shell; its walls will thicken around you. Your mind and spirit should be geared to happy times. Seek new horizons.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Mild influences indicate a mediocre day unless you do something about it. Do not go off on tangents but neither let splendid chances slip through the fingers.

YOU BORN TODAY are industrious, amiable, often so unusually methodical that you get ahead even where the road seems completely blocked. You are neat; like a clean, wholesome atmosphere for home or work; you enjoy children, animals, intelligent companionship; may take up a unique hobby that becomes a part-time occupation. Don't anticipate trouble or negate your abilities through pessimism. Many scientists, actors, critics, creative artists and instructors in literature and lanugeas have been Pisces-born. Birthdate of: Joseph Priestly, Eng. chemist; Jack Lait, noted newspaperman, short story writer, playwright.

States Draws $90 Million

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The United States has arranged to draw up to $90,000,000 (Canadian) from the International Monetary Fund, Henry H. Fowler, the secretary of the treasury, announced Tuesday.

The announcement said the arrangement would be part of a technical series of drawings on foreign currencies held by the fund, a sizable part of which has been offset by drawings of U.S. dollars by other countries.

The new arrangement would bring total U.S. drawings from the fund to $1,150,000,000, the secretary said in a statement.

Tuesday's action allows countries owing U.S. dollars to the fund to pay them back in another currency, in this case the Canadian dollars. The U.S. purchases the Canadian dollars and sells them to the debtor countries.

The reason for the transaction is that the fund is not permitted to hold in U.S. dollars more than 75 per cent of the U.S. quota in the fund. The technical drawing has the effect of allowing debtor countries to repay without creating a new or potential drain upon U.S. gold holdings.

Day-to-day money closed at 4 per cent. Amount available was $184,000,000 compared with $202,000,000 last week.

Provincials were mostly unchanged with the 5¾-per-cent, March 1, 1986, issue quoted at $98¼ bid and $98½ asked.

Corporate and municipal trading was quiet and mainly unchanged.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed an irregular decline on the year's second-lightest day of trading.

Volume sank to 7,010,000 shares from 10,330,000 Thursday. It was the smallest since Jan. 3 when 5,950,000 changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 1.28 to 927.95 after having been ahead by 4.28 at 12:30 p.m. est.

The market rose almost from the start as stocks recovered from the emotional selloff of Thursday when a substantial early rally was erased on news that leading commercial banks had raised their prime interest rate to 5½ per cent from 5.

Wall Streeters said the market had been going down for nearly four weeks because it anticipated higher interest rates and tighter money, among other things.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .1 at 346.9.

Standard and Poor's 500-stock index declined .11 to 88.85.

American Telephone was the most active stock, off ¼ at 58¼ on 172,500 shares.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Canadian Javelin gained, but Canadian Marconi, Scurry Rainbow Oil and Jupiter Corp. lost fractions.

Boatbuilders Have Problems

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pleasure boat building is booming and sales are flying in the little shipyards along B.C.'s lower mainland but the boatbuilders' smiles are not as broad as they might be.

They say they're still working on the thinnest margin of profit of any industrial venture and the risks of failure are high.

As Hamish Davidson put it: "Lots of companies have gone bigger and gone broke." He should know. He's been building boats here for 21 years.

He and builders like Thornton Grenfell, Tom Taylor and Cliff Sangster, all veterans in the business, see bigger and more expensive boats being built and sold. But they don't see any great leap in profits because costs of materials are rising apace the sales increases, eating up what might be increased dollar gains.

ECONOMY BOOMING

Big reason for the boat-building boom is the present affluence of the B.C. economy, say the builders. Everyone is getting boat minded—there are already more than 50,000 pleasure craft registered on the B.C. coast, from 12-foot outboarders to 50, 60- and 70-foot yachts costing hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"As a reflection of our expanding economy more people can afford big boats," said designer - builder Grenfell, whose company has been in business 38 years. His yard builds three types of solid mahogany cruisers in the 32-, 36-and 43-foot class, all of his own design. fitted out luxuriously, they cost anywhere from $15,000 to $45,000 or more.

At McQueen's Boat Works, a 51-foot pleasure cruiser is on the ways—the biggest they've ever tackled. Doug Templeton, a partner in the McQueen Boat Works, says the trend is to bigger boats and almost all of their orders come from the United States, particularly from the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas.

BUILT $60,000 BOAT

The largest pleasure boat Taylor Boat Works ever produced was a $60,000, 56-foot twin diesel cruiser for a Detroit man. She was completed last year.

But local demand is strong enough to take most of the boats built here. Almost all of them produced by Hourston, Davidson, Taylor and Sangstercraft are sold in B.C. and many now are constructed of fibreglass.

Says Grenfell: "The business has a romantic appeal that attracts people who don't know the dollars and cents of it; the fact is it won't support a flashy front-office type of operation."

Hence there are failures. And bankruptcy leads to distress selling which has the effect of keeping prices and profits down.

60 Million Bushel Wheat Carryover

WASHINGTON (CP)—A wheat carry-over of perhaps less than 600,000,000 bushels — a 12-year low — is forecast by the United States agriculture department.

A heavy flow of Indian aid, higher commercial exports and increased domestic demand are credited with the forecast for the crop year ending next June 30.

Exports and home consumption are expected to exceed the previous year, trimming the carry-over by between 185,000,000 and 225,000,000 bushels from the total of 818,000,000 bushels recorded then.

Stocks Jan. 1 totalled 1,339,000,000 bushels, eight per cent lower than a year before. Exports of wheat and flour for the six-month period ended Dec. 31 last totalled 530,000,000 bushels or 100,000,000 bushels more than a year earlier.

EXERTS PRESSURE

The report coincides with big increases in shipments to India and pressure by the U.S. to get Canada, Australia, France, and Argentine to help food - short India more.

The report says commercial competition was a lot stronger a year ago but large sales to the Communist bloc by Canada and other countries have "to a limited extent . . . opened up additional free-world markets to U.S. wheat."

World trade in the year ending June 30 is expected to be a record volume exceeding 2,200,000,000 bushels, says the report. Communist purchases will be up by 300,000,000 bushels and the report says Communist countries now account for about one-third of wheat trading and more than half the commercially - sold wheat.

The extent of the forecast decline in the U.S. carry-over is illustrated by the possibility that the total of some 600,000,000 bushels is only slightly more than the 515,000,000-bushel carry-over reported by Canada Aug. 1 last.
