SECOND JAPANESE PLANE CRASH KILLS 124

GOTEMBA, Japan (CP)—Disaster teams have completed removal of bodies from the wreckage of a British jetliner that broke up in freakish air over Mount Fuji Saturday and crashed, killing all 124 persons aboard.

The passengers included 89 Americans and one Canadian.

Among the bodies were those of the pilot and co-pilot, found still in the cockpit seats of the Boeing 707 with hands on the controls.

The disaster was the third in a series of major air crashes in the Tokyo area that have taken 321 lives in a month.

It followed by 18 hours a Canadian Pacific Airlines jetliner crash at Tokyo's International Airport in which 64 persons, including 18 Canadians perished.

Feb. 4, all 133 persons aboard a Boeing-727 jetliner of All-Nippon Airlines were killed in the worst single-plane crash in commercial airline history when the aircraft plunged into Tokyo Bay on a landing approach.

Death still lingered over the scene of the Japanese airline crash. Officials reported a helicopter in the continuing search for bodies plunged into Tokyo Bay Saturday, killing two of its five crew members.

And as recovery work continued Sunday around the wreckages of the BOAC crash Saturday and the crash of the CPA DC-8 Friday night, Tokyo got a momentary shock with still another aircraft accident.

RAN OFF RUNWAY

A U.S. Air Force C-130 turbine-propeller transport, carrying only its five crew members on a test, ran off the runway at Tackikawa Air Force Base near Tokyo and plunged into a rice paddy. The crew walked away unharmed.

Sir Giles Guthrie, chairman of British Overseas Airways Corp., arrived with a 17-man team to look into the Mount Fuji crash. He said it was BOAC's first in 550,000,000 miles of flying.

Also converging on Tokyo were Canadian and American experts. A member of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board said his group would study the two weekend crashes plus that of the Japanese plane.

All three commercial planes were American-made.

Aviation experts searching the BOAC wreckage said Sunday freak air currents and sudden severe winds may have ripped the Boeing-707 apart minutes after its takeoff from Tokyo, 50 miles to the north.

Japanese soldiers Saturday night carried down the bodies of all 124 victims and placed them in wooden coffins in a Buddhist temple in Gotemba, 70 miles south of Tokyo.

The Canadian was Theodor Vaskevich, 53-year-old engineer from Toronto.

Among the Americans were 75 persons on an Asian tour sponsored by Thermo King Corporation of Minneapolis, a refrigeration equipment firm. Three top company officials and many of the firm's key dealers in the United States and their wives were among the dead.

Japanese witnesses said they saw the BOAC plane break apart, then swirl down like a leaf, trailing fire and smoke. Its wreckage scattered over a wide area on the rugged slopes of 12,389-foot Fuji—sacred to Japanese.

THREE CANADIANS ABOARD

Among the survivors of the CPA disaster are three Canadians, Freda Yeske, 30, of Edmonton and Vancouver; Bernard James Redisky, 23, of Kimberley, B.C., and Mrs. San Jen-Chung, whose Canadian address was not known.

Miss Yeske, an Air Canada sales agent and Redisky, student, were reported in good condition.

The CPA DC-8, bound from Hong Kong to Vancouver and South American points, via Tokyo, snagged its wheels on approach lights Friday night and then hit a retaining wall at the head of the runway.

Minutes after the BOAC Boeing-707 took off Saturday for Hong Kong en route to London, the Tokyo weather bureau reported severe winds over Mount Fuji, noted for freak air currents.

At noon, the weather bureau said the winds at Fuji were a sustained 70 miles an hour and three hours later a sustained 86 miles an hour, with gusts, likely to be higher.

Officials at the scene said the winds and air currents could have overcome the plane, then braced its fall.

Freakish weather also may have been partially responsible for the Canadian jet crash.

Arriving from Hong Kong, it was kept circling over fog-bound Tokyo Friday night for nearly 15 minutes before it finally got permission for a landing. Visibility was just above the minimum, officials said.

DIPPED NEAR RUNWAY

The big jet suddenly dipped when about a mile from the runway, airport police said. Its wheels plowed through 15 approach lights built out into Tokyo Bay. In the next instant it smashed into a concrete retaining wall and disintegrated in glames.

One of those who saw the BOAC disaster was Shizuaoka Serizawa, a weather observer near Fuji.

"I saw the plane rising perpendicularly and then saw two-thirds of one wing tear off," he said. "Then there were flames flames.

with both segments burning. I saw small dots, which might have been fragments. Then the plane went down."

A Japanese military cadet said he watched through binoculars as both wings tore from the plane and the body spiralled down.

The trip was a reward for dealers who met sales quotas in the last year.

Dief Charges Blackmail Tried

By BOB MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Saturday the government's attempt to "blackmail" him into silence had failed and his party will insist on a royal commission investigation into "all aspects" of Canada's security going back to 1944.

"There is still something fishy about the Spencer case," he told the national convention of the Young Progressive Conservative Association Saturday night.

The government promised Friday to hold an inquiry into the complaint of Victor George Spencer, 57, a Vancouver postal worker fired for alleged spying activity.

The government insisted nothing was wrong, Mr. Diefenbaker said, and when things got tough in the Commons Friday "they tried to blackmail me into silence."

Although he did not elaborate on the specific incident, Mr. Diefenbaker's reference to blackmail was an apparent reference to a question by Justice Minister Cardin asking if the Conservative leader would tell the House what he knew about the "Monseignor affair."

There was no elaboration in the Commons.

Walkout Shakes African Unity Group

By JOHN TALBOT

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (Reuters)—The Organization of African Unity wound up a six-day meeting here Sunday, shaken to its foundations after eight member-countries walked out of the conference.

Some of the eight quit the OAU council of ministers conference in protest against the presence of the delegation representing the regime which ousted Kwame Nkrumah as president of Ghana more than a week ago.

Others felt a resolution on Rhodesia was too weak.

However, the countries that walked out—Mali, Guinea, Tanzania, the United Arab Republic, Alberia, Somalia, Kenya and the Congo Republic (Brazzaville)—made it clear they were not leaving the 36-member OAU itself.

Algeria and Somalia quit the meeting over Rhodesia.

Nevertheless, the walkouts confronted the organization with its most serious situation since its formation three years ago.

At one point during the conference—after Kenya walked out—remaining delegation chiefs met to discuss whether the meeting could go on.

But the ministers, under the chairmanship of Ethiopian foreign minister Ato Ketema Yifru, decided not to allow themselves to be dominated by the actions of a minority.

Weekend Crashes Kill Fifteen

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 15 persons died in accidents across Canada during the weekend, 12 of them in traffic mishaps.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. local times Friday to late Sunday also showed two drownings and a boy killed when struck by a falling fire-escape ladder.

Ontario led the provinces with six traffic deaths and the fire escape mishap. British Columbia had three traffic fatalities and Manitoba one.

The other provinces were fatality-free.

The survey does not include known suicides or slayings, industrial or natural deaths.

Queen Flying Back to London

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (CP)—The Queen left here Sunday night for London at the end of her five-week tour of the Caribbean.

She was seen off by Prince Philip who is staying in Jamaica for two days before starting a United States-Canadian tour.

SHIRLEY DYLKE, 17-year-old brunette from L. V. Rogers High School Saturday was crowned Silver King Ski Queen for 1966. Miss Dylke (right), a member of the Nelson Ski Team for the past two years, smiles happily with princesses Susan Norris, 15-year-old blonde from the Junior High School, after the crowning at the ski lodge. One other princess, Margorie Duggan, was absent from the ceremony. The queen reigned over the weekend ski meet and presented the trophies to the winning racers on Sunday afternoon. Both fine skiers, Misses Dylke and Norris placed second and third respectively in the weekend ski meet.

Mystery Blast Rips Youth Club

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A mysterious explosion ripped through the national headquarters of the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America Sunday, scarcely 12 hours after a New York City disorder in which six members were arrested.

Nobody was hurt in the San Francisco blast at 2:35 a.m. The Saturday New York disturbance, in the borough of Brooklyn, was suppressed, with minor injuries, after police reinforcements broke up the street brawl.

Both incidents occurred within 48 hours after the U.S. justice department moved to require the DuBois clubs — which it called a Marxist youth organization—to register as a Communist front.

U.S. Attorney-General Nicholas Katzenbach said the clubs were created and controlled by the Communist party of the United States.

There was no fire after the explosion blew out the front entry to the old Victorian two-storey frame building in a run-down residential section a few blocks from San Francisco's civic centre.

CAUSE NOT DETERMINED

Fire and police investigators still have not determined to cause.

The DuBois clubs, organized here in 1963, were named for a Negro Communist, W. E. B. DuBois, who renounced his U.S. citizenship and went to Ghana, where he died in 1963 aged 95.

The Brooklyn trouble broke out in mid-afternoon Saturday after a dozen DuBois club members called a press conference at the home of a member, to the annoyance of neighborhood residents.

Shouts of "get out of here" and "we fought for our country . . . so why can't you?" came from the angry crowd of about 150. The DuBois clubs have been actively opposed to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Garbage cans, pop bottles, vegetables, rocks and beer cans were thrown at the club members as they emerged. The disturbance quickly turned into a street fight. Police stopped it.

Six club members were arrested. Four of them were charged with carrying weapons, including an air gun and a knife.

Danger of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator J. W. Fulbright said Sunday night there is present danger of war with China and announced early U.S. Senate hearings on that Communist-ruled country in an effort to lessen the peril.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee and a critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, called in a statement for a searching effort "to increase our understanding of China."

He said that might alter the "fatal expectancy" of war which he asserted is held by Chinese leaders and by some American officials.

With his committee scheduled to act today on a $415,000,000 foreign aid authorization, mostly for Southeast Asia, Fulbright announced the group will begin Tuesday a series of hearings aimed at increasing public knowledge about China.

He said before fresh political and military decisions are made on Southeast Asia it is essential to try to understand the Chinese and their leaders.

Jury Acquits Mrs. Mossler

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blonde Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were found not guilty Sunday of the murder of her husband, Jacques Mossler.

Winnipeg Digging Out Of Costliest Snowfall

WINNIPEG (CP) — The big blizzard is over and the cleanup is under way from eastern Manitoba to the Lakehead.

For Winnipeg, all but buried in the wake of snow swept by winds up to 70 miles an hour all day Friday, it's likely to be the biggest and costliest in the city's history.

Plows and trucks went to work when the storm died early Saturday and the metropolitan area of 500,000 began to dig itself back to some degree of normalcy during the weekend. Buses, trains and airlines are back in business.

Mayor Stephen Juba called a meeting of the emergency coordinating committee Sunday and predicted the storm will leave the city with a $1,000,000 bill. He said he hoped for financial aid from senior governments so local taxpayers won't have to bear the entire burden.

This was the scene in Winnipeg Sunday:

Snow - clearing equipment pressed on non-stop under sunny skies and a windless 12 degrees below zero. Bus routes got priority and all but a handful of transit lines were operating, some with reduced runs or detours.

Mountainous piles of snow lined downtown streets, reducing traffic lanes by half or more. Many sidewalks remained covered waist-deep.

CARS ABANDONED

A total downtown parking ban went into effect and police warned violators would be towed away. For most, the warning wasn't necessary — their cars were immobilized in garages, back lanes and parking lots. Hundreds of automobiles that failed to make their destination during the height of the storm remained abandoned, many buried to their roofs.

Supermarkets and other stores, many of which opened Saturday night, remained open until 6 p.m. Sunday to allow householders to replenish their food supplies.

A volunteer delivery service was on the job getting emergency supplies to residents unable to leave their homes.

Most movie theatres opened Sunday.

Many residential areas, particularly in the suburbs, still were expected to face clogged conditions at least until some time today. On streets that were open, traffic frequently was restricted to a single lane.

India Plays Role In Viet Nam War

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi says she cannot see what India could do to help end the war in Viet Nam at the moment, but is playing a role toward both South and North Viet Nam which might permit India to assist in a later solution.

Mrs. Gandhi, in an exclusive interview, also said the food shortage in her nation of 480,000,000 people "is likely to worsen in a couple of months.

Of the rapproachement between India and Pakistan, negotiated recently at Tashkent, U.S.S.R., Mrs. Gandhi declared:

"We are very sincerely and genuinely anxious to implement it in letter and spirit. We are doing all we can. It is too early to say how it is going to work."

The prime minister, who departs for the United States in three weeks at the invitation of President Johnson, said the primary purpose of the trip "is to create better understanding between India's point of view on various issues and that of your president and your government."

Crash Kills Delta Driver

ABBOTSFORD (CP) — Leon A. Neilson, 27, of Delta, was killed Sunday in a head-on collision three miles northwest of this Fraser Valley centre.

His wife, Texie, 32, was in fairly good condition Sunday in hospital here. In good condition were three Neilson children—Debbie, 8, Donna, 6, and Leon, 18 months.

Two 17-year-old occupants of the second car, Henry Friesen of Mission and Harvey Goodwin of Clearbrook, were in fair condition.

Sex Scandal In Making?

OTTAWA (CP) — Unexplained references by Justice Minister Cardin in the Commons Friday to the "Monseignor case" drew newspaper speculation Saturday of a sex-and-security scandal involving a Conservative cabinet minister in 1961.

The Toronto and Montreal news stories said Mr. Cardin was apparently referring to Olga Munsinger, one-time clerk in a Communist embassy here, who was variously described as blonde, voluptuous and an "ex-German beauty queen."

The Toronto Star said the RCMP had photographs showing Miss Munsinger "nude, lying in bed with a man . . . and the man was a minister in the Diefenbaker cabinet in 1961."

Denies Being Russian Spy

OTTAWA (CP)—Victor Spencer appeared on a nation-wide television program Sunday night to deny ever spying for the Russians. But he admitted having made a "mistake."

Spencer, subject of headlined House of Commons debate as an alleged spy fired from the postal service, refused to blame anyone for his situation.

The 62-year-old former postal clerk was interviewed in Vancouver by Jack Webster on the CBC program This Hour has Seven Days.

Some Hospitals Aid Infection

TORONTO (CP) — A large number of hospitals in Ontario use inadequate or improper methods for controlling infection, says a study to be published this week by the University of Toronto Press.

The study says some hospitals not only fail to control the spread of infection, but could actually promote it.

Canada-U.S. Talks Most Stimulating, Profitable and Productive

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada and the United States ended two-day talks Saturday professing "most stimulating, profitable and productive" exchanges on numerous subjects.

Left hanging—publicly at least—is where Canada stands in relation to the voluntary investment squeeze the U.S. has asked 900 American-based companies to apply aborad. Canada is included for the first time.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has agreed to reconsider regulations which Canada says would bring some Canadian firms under American law just because their stocks are purchased by Americans.

A communique and press conference replies Saturday by External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and U.S. States Secretary Dean Rusk created some uncertainty on the U.S. foreign investment guidelines, designed to end an international payments deficit.

Has Canada really been given special status under the U.S. program to trim direct investment, repatriate foreign earnings and expand exports?

Said the communique:

'Canadian ministers expressed their concern over the possible implications for Canada of the U.S. voluntary program on direct investment and the relationship of this program to the position of Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. corporations.

SAY NO NEW PRACTICE

"The U.S. members made it clear that the U.S. government was not requesting U.S. corporations to induce their Canadian subsidiaries to act in any way that differed from their normal business practices as regards the repatriation of earnings, purchasing and sales policy or their other financial and commercial activities.

"U.S. members re-emphasized their view that U.S. subsidiaries abroad should behave as good citizens of the country where they are located."

Martin branded this aspect of the talks resulting in American views that "meet the misgivings stated in Canada in various quarters."

Rusk said the talks were not concerned with problems that might arise with other countries but concentrated "on our very special and important relationship with Canada."

That theme was repeated as Rusk and Thomas Mann, Rusk's under-secretary for economic affairs, were pressed by reporters on where Canada stands in the voluntary investment-curb program and where the program stands.

Mann said the guidelines are flexible enough to let American subsidiaries abroad be good citizens although unnecessary retention of earnings abroad is not desirable.

FEARS ARE POLITICAL

Canada's fears on both its main complaints arise almost wholly from chronic concern about American influence and are more political than economic, it was assumed here.

For example, the Sunday New York Times said both the investment and the stock-sales issues "raised political difficulties in Ottawa, where the protection of 'sovereignty' against the U.S., particularly on economic matters, is always a source of heated debate."

U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler, who participated in the talks, recently branded Canadian debate about the U.S. investment guidelines both inside and outside Parliament as a domestic political matter.

More generally in the talks, Canada and the U.S. said they see eye to eye on a great number of items and Rusk, denying any major repair job is needed on the North American relationship.

Canada and the U.S. both felt progress needs to be made soon on the long-stalled U.S.-initiated Geneva round of talks aimed at cutting world tariffs.

DISCUSS LAKE POLLUTION

They made yards on Great Lakes pollution, they said, agreed on the need for more food aid to India, which Canada is going to increase, and on more efficient machinery for the international monetary system.

Martin and Rusk conferred privately on Viet Nam and other matters.

Martin would not comment on progress of Canada's plan to seek unanimous efforts by Poland and India to use the International Control Commission on Viet Nam as a peace lever. The three countries comprise the commission, with India as chairman.

Rusk praised Canada's role on the commission for the last 10 years. He said the U.S. wants to see the commission kept alive as a possible aid to peace.

The U.S. has no plan to ask Canada to do anything more than it now is doing in Viet Nam, Rusk said.

Neglected Children's Home OK in Principle

Nelson may soon have a receiving and observation home for neglected children as City Council approved in principle the project put forward in a letter from the Nelson and District Child Care Society. The letter was sent by Mrs. K. R. Vincent, president, and present during the meeting were W. H. Crossley, regional director of the department of Social Welfare, Dr. P. Kokan of the Selkirk Health Unit and J. S. M. Harts.

Mr. Crossley spoke to the meeting saying that "the purpose of the society is to amass sufficient funds to start construction of this home. The purpose of the home will be to provide a place for neglected children and aid in the discharging of the municipality's responsibilities to delinquents."

The society, he added, was incorporated in an endeavor to spread the interest in these people over a large community base. It is an attempt to re-awaken the public's interest in the welfare of children. The letter stated that upon completion the home "will be operated and supervised solely by the local department of Social Welfare, in conjunction with our Society."

Mr. Crossley stated the department "doesn't have grants for the building of the structure however they do receive these for its operation." He was asked about maintenance costs and whose responsibility it would be to pay the salaries and upkeep.

The director answered that, "the department would take care of salaries and maintenance and that they were only asking people to maintain their interest."

Stating that discussions had been held between the society and city planner G. A. Butling concerning various sites, the letter went on to say that the building committee "has recommended to the board of directors that they apply to the city for the most desirable site, namely, the street allowance on Hendryx between Silica Street and Victoria Street alley."

Alderman Fritz Farenholtz mentioned that the stated location "doesn't seem to be favorable because of its nearness to a busy thoroughfare," and its lack of outside playing room.

Answering, Mr. Crossley said the site should be close to health and other facilities in town in order to cut the time of transporting them. He added that, "these children would be supervised more carefully than most children are. In the past 30 to 40 children during the year have required these facilities."

Alderman E. Van Maarion asked if some delinquents would be retarded and if this were the reason the site has to be close to town to cut taxi expenses. Mr. Crossley answered that only the same percentage as in any cross-section of the population, about two per cent, would be retarded.

Alderman D. Porteous asked about the occupancy of the building and how regular it would be. Stating that the purpose of the house would be lost if it were fully occupied all the time, Mr. Crossley added that "the plan is most efficient when the house is running at 50 per cent capacity."

"This would provide room in the event of emergencies arising when, perhaps, a whole family of children would have to be admitted."

Ald. Porteous moved that the council approve the project in principle with the matter forwarded to Mr. Butling for a report on this site and other alternative sites.

Credit Union Holds Annual Meeting

Nelson and District Credit Union held its fifteenth annual meeting in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall recently with R. H. Bradley, a charter member, as chairman.

The directors' report, given by acting president W. R. Huffman, showed a steady increase in all sections. Assets were up 20 per cent over the previous year to over $600,000.

Since incorporation, over 3800 loans have been made to members totalling over two million dollars. Over $120,000 has been returned to members in dividends and interest rebates.

After many years as a member of the Nelson Credit Union, R. C. Couch was forced to resign.

Resignation came about due to a change in employment. His duties were taken over by the vice-president, W. R. Huffman.

Highlight of the year was the opening in November of the new office building. The directors were pleased to report a very successful year and proof of this was their recommendation of the distribution of the surplus funds.

This recommendation, which was later approved by the members present, was to pay 4 per cent dividend on personal shares and an 18 per cent rebate of interest paid on loans.

Miss S. Tagami delivered the treasurer's report and had it verified by the supervisory committee showing a substantial increase in business and that the Credit Union was in a very healthy position financially.

H. Booth, reporting for the Credit Committee stated there had been 523 loans approved during the year to a value of over $422,000.

A. Shrubsole of Fruitvale, president of the West Kootenay Chapter of Credit Unions gave a very interesting and informative talk on the chapter, its aims and objects.

Also discussed were the ways and means the chapter is using to promote credit unions and educate the officers and interested members in the proper function of a credit union.

R. C. Couch gave a short talk on the newest group insurance policy for credit union members and their families.

The following persons had consented to stand for office:

Supervisory committee, F. Swetlikoe and Mrs. S. McDonough; directors, W. R. Huffman, W. Bonderud F. Merriman and Ron Johnson; credit committee, H. Booth, R. Abrey and Y. Tagami.

All were declared elected since there were no further nominations from the floor.

To close the evening, Chairman R. Bradley presented Mr. Couch with a hand made scroll as a token of appreciation of his efforts in the past.

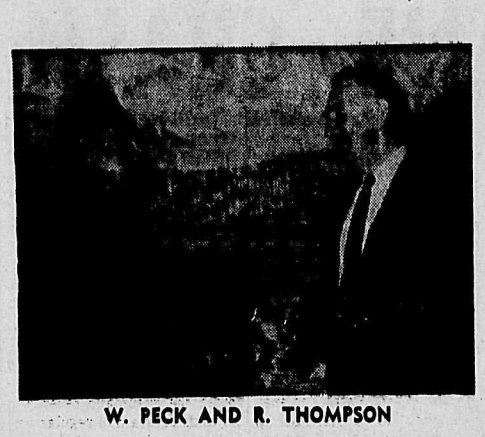
From the courthouse came the report that for the month there had been 39 births with 12 deaths and six marriages.



W. PECK AND R. THOMPSON

Safety Award Presented to Mine

Crediting his supervisory staff and employees for their safety record, Robert Thompson superintendent of operations for the Reeves MacDonald mine at Remac accepted the safety award for small mines. The award is made available annually by the West Kootenay Mines Association.

It was presented by W. J. Peck, chief inspector of the Department of Mines and Petroleum Resources, at a joint dinner meeting of the area chapter of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the West Kootenay Mines Safety Association. The meeting is held each year to gather those interested in mine safety together and to present the trophy.

Qualifying factors for this trophy concern the number of shifts worked at the mine. These must total 30,000 shifts per year with 10,000 of these performed underground.

Thanking the association for the trophy, Mr. Thompson expressed his gratitude for the fine safety performance his staff and employees had turned in throughout the year.

P. J. Mulcahy, Deputy Minister of the Department of Mines and Petroleum Resources, was the main guest speaker. He briefly mentioned his pleasant associations with mining people and traced the growth of the Mines Department from the original discovery of gold in the Queen Charlottes up until the present. He mentioned the greatly accelerated work now being handled by his government office.

Pointing out some of the very heavy staking of claims now taking place he mentioned the Revelstoke area in particular. He also highlited the growth of the inspection branch of the department and complimented them on their excellent work.

Mr. Mulcahy ended his talk by apologizing for the honorable Donald Brothers' absence. Because the House is in session the minister could not leave Victoria.

Mr. Peck spoke of the improvement of the mines safety records in B.C. He also pointed out the awards available to the mines having the best standing. He mentioned the Regional Ryan Award, the Dominion Ryan Award, the award for open pit mines and the West Kootenay Mines Association's award for small mines.

Chairing the meeting was J. C. Ink of Trail while Roy McMichael, property superintendent at the H.B. Mine introduced the deputy minister. Present for the session was Alderman Kennedy Facchina representing Mayor Louis Maglio and the City of Nelson and J. D. McDonald, safety director, representing the Mining Association of B.C.

Improved weather conditions during the month of February attributed to the increase in available employment which developed mainly in the construction industry.

Regional District Assessment $90 Million

At Nakusp . . .

Waterfront Protection Scheduled For Summer

Protection for Nakusp's waterfront is planned to be under construction this coming sumer, stated J. W. Milligan, reservoirs engineer, at a recent meeting in the community. At the meeting were representatives of various organizations including B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, Village Commission, Chamber of Commerce, Recreation Commission and the Central Kootenay Regional District.

During the meeting, C. O. Brawner, consulting engineer for B.C. Hydro presented the results of three engineering studies conducted on the property bordering the lake. The first retained the natural slope and beach angle entailing the purchase of all land to the alley south of Broadway. It would then be excavated and sloped to a one on seven grade.

Mr. Milligan estimated the cost of this plan at $700,000. He added that the purchase of the property is not an economic possibility due to the excessive cost.

A second study dealt with placing soil cement and rip-rap over the shore. A 30-foot border would be built out before the slope of the beach begins. The slope would then run down to the present railroad track at a one on two and a half slant. The rip-rp would be large boulther ornamentation along the the soil cement a smoother surface laid in eight foot widths. It was stated that an architect would be hired to design the top of the bank, which could have a fence on the south side of the 30 foot walkway, and trees or hospital and the park. The path.

Mr. Milligan promised to send architectural drawings of several suggested designs to the village as soon as possible.

If the suggestion to rip-rap or soil cement the property is adopted, it will extend from number six highway at the eastern end of the bank to Beach Avenue, which runs between the plan to the lumber yard in stretch from Beach Avenue to the oil plant could be made into a beach area by sloping it to a one on ten grade. From this plan tto the lumber yard in Nakusp, it would be retained by sloping to a one on six angle with fill to create the gradient where necessary.

Estimated cost of this plan Mr. Milligan stated, is $450,000 to $500,000. In his opinion, the soil cement would give a more attractive finish to the waterfront area. Tenders will be called for both the rip-rap and the soil cement with each firm requested to give bids on both types of protectin.

A third plan proposed a large fill to retain as much property as possible and build out from the bank to make a one on seven slope. This would mean that material would have to be laid to a depth of between 20 feet and 40 feet in some place on top of the present land. In the opinion of Mr. Brawner this would put too much weight on the soil and there would be a very real possibility of a major landslide in the area. This idea was discarded because of these engineering problems.

In answer to a question of drainage in the village, Mr. Brawner explained that a special area will be built behind the retaining wall. This will be a 12 foot thick filter of rocks, gravel and sand, built at the lowest level of the retaining wall. Mr. Brawner stated that the basic soil of the townsite is granular, and they are not worried about septic tank drainage. It will not rise above the 1448 foot level and will drop as the lake level drops .

A section of the frontage near the Spicer farm was reported as not needing a retaining wall because it is already at a one on ten slope. Mr. Brawner stated that only minor sluffing will occur below the level of the new highway.

Modernize Hospital Constitution

FERNIE (Staff) — Getting its constitution up to date is still a major problem with Fernie Memorial Hospital.

Since 1959 the hospital board has been trying to have its revised constitution approved by the provincial minister of health, but the documents are still being sent back and forth between Fernie and Victoria.

In the meantime, the board is bound by terms of its old constitution.

Fernie city council decided a year ago not to send a representative to board meetings until the constitutional wrangle was cleared up, but later decided to send one.

Present representative is Ald. L. Hamer.

Under the terms of the revised constitution, the city will have three representatives, the Ladies' Auxiliary one, provincial government one and seven will be elected.

The annual meeting of the hospital society was postponed last year in the hope that the constitution would be approved.

However, delays were encountered, mainly due to terminology and the meeting was held without it.

As a result trustees were elected under terms of the old constitution.

Harry McKay, MLA, had been enlisted by the board to aid in speeding up government approval.

Chamber Sends Protest Wire

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce executive has wired indignation to Premier Bennett and provincial secretary Hon. Wesley D. Black at cutting Kootenay legislative seats by four in the proposed redistribution now before the house. If the four northern seats recommended dropped are retained "because of the growth factor," the wire demands to know if this means the government acknowledges no growth potential in the Kootenays which received the reverse treatment.

The executive lined up the March membership dinner meeting for Tuesday when Kimberley superintendent for Cominco, R. M. Porter will be guest speaker on phases of Kimberley's present operations and plans.

Answering a chamber query about plans to protect and preserve the centuries old petroglyphs found near Cranbrook two years ago, Hon. Kenneth Keirnan explained by letter negotiations would be necessary with the land owner. The Chamber had offered to fence the big flat bed of rock to protect it, if the department of conservation and recreation would provide the materials.

These outlets will service 832 acres.

The old irrigation works were abandoned and only limited irrigation from small sources of water supply has been possible.

Council Rejects . . . . . School Budget

'Forks Criticizes Provincial Policy

GRAND FORKS (Staff) — School District No. 12 had its proposed budget for 1966 refused by City Council as the council returned to the Board a resolution setting out the reason for such refusal.

City Council was not in disagreement with the proposed budget or the expenditures suggested but only with the method the provincial government requires for such a budget to be accepted before it is known what the provincial educational grants will be.

Council feels that the government should announce the grants before a definite budget can be approved.

It is possible then, if this is done, for the school board to submit a budget for approval which will be realistic with what the income of the school district will be for the particular year.

This means that any properly run business cannot approve of a budget for expenditures, without being able to justify it by a knowledge of what the expected revenue for the year will be.

The resolution passed by the council is contained in a letter to the School Board the main points follow:

Budget is defined under section 195 of the "Public Schools Act", includes revenues as well as expenditures, and items subject to Council approval concern only expenditures, therefore the term budget is erroneous.

It is evident that the School Board cannot produce all the data necessary for us to make a reasonable analysis of their budget until they in turn receive information from the Department of Education.

W ewere unable to determine the City's share of the School costs in the budget from the information submitted.

We consider that the acceptance of the 1966 School budget by February 20th is not synonymous with good management expected from us by the ratepayers of this City.

Therefore we return the proposed 1966 School Budget to the School Board with our regrets, but acknowledge that the expenditures so far presented seem reasonable.

This letter was submitted on behalf of the Corporation of the City of Grand Forks and signed by: E. C. Henniger, P. Podovinikoff and M. J. McGarry.

Education Week . . .

Tremendous and far-reaching changes have occurred within the education industry since the end of World War II. Many of the concepts so familiar to today's parents have been virtually removed from the schools as new, and much more effective methods of teaching have gradually been instituted.

The operation of today's school system is the administration of a gigantic business handling millions of dollars of tax-payers' funds annually. Education Week, which begins today in Nelson School District No. 7, provides every resident of the area with an unparalleled opportunity for re-education in education . . . it provides an opportunity for the layman to see at first hand just how education works.

Tonight, the school board will hold a special "regular meeting" at the Hume School to give residents an opportunity to attend and see the administration of education in action.

All regular meetings of the board are, of course, open to the public. However, the regular board meeting facilities are inadequate to handle a crowd of the size that is expected to turn out. Open houses are planned at the various schools during the week when parents will have the opportunity of seeing their youngsters in attendance at regular classroom sessions.

The local school board, and school system has, for the most part, done a fine job of keeping abreast of the latest developments in education.

Its officials have, for the most part, seen that the latest teaching methods have been adopted, and necessary changes made to ensure that pupils may be sure of receiving the best that the province has to offer.

All parents would be well-advised to avail themselves of the opportunities afforded by the Education Week programs to see our schools and board "at work", and to satisfy themselves that their youngsters are receiving a well-rounded education presented by teachers made more effective through utilization of the latest methods derived through an ever available program of workshop training.

Run-Away Price

It may not be a matter of general interest that the price of quinidine has increased by more than 400 per cent in the past few months, but to sufferers from certain forms of heart trouble, to whom the drug is vital, it is something of consequence.

The reason for this sudden and substantial jump in price remains something of a mystery. The suggestion has been made that the source of the drug—the bark of the cinchona tree—has been denied to producing chemists. Most of the supply comes from Indonesia.

This may be true, although it seems unlikely, with Indonesia in a desperate state of inflation and needing every dollar of foreign currency on which she can lay a hand.

It may be unjust to speculate that the manufacturers have used an alleged shortage as an excuse to increase their prices so spectacularly. But the suspicion nevertheless arises.

It has, in fact, induced the U.S. senate to undertake a full inquiry into the cause of the price jump.

Dr. Arthur Ralph, marketing director for one of the distributors of quinidine in Canada, said the other day—"Heaven knows whether we have seen the end of the shortage."

So we must assume that Heaven only knows whether the price of the drug has reacher its limit.

What steps, if any, are being taken by the Canadian government to investigate this situation have not been disclosed. It is probable that the manufacturer of such supplies as Canadians require is located outside the country. So the U.S. Senate is in a better position to conduct an investigation than any Canadian authority.

But there does seem good reason to expect that the government should exercise some control over the price of this and any other drug, and that an alleged shortage of supply should not be allowed to skyrocket the cost of a commodity which may be a matter of life or death to heart sufferers.—Victoria Colonist.

A Law Against Automation?

It had to come, we suppose.

A university professor said Tuesday night provincial governments should consider introducing legislation to slow up automation "until we can deal with it."

Professor Robert Harper of Simon Fraser University's faculty of education, told parent-teacher conference that people are not prepared yet to hang the "gone fishin' " sign on the door for most of their time.

Prof. Harper said he does not believe much will be done at the federal level in legislating for a slowdown of automation. "It is a situation in which the provinces can give a lead, although it is political dynamite."

To most people the idea of not working is horrifying. If we were to take the situation as it stands, we should be teaching children it is a mistake to work hard, because they will never get a chance to work hard. We should be teaching them to be pleasure minded.

Prof. Harper suggests with point that the computers that make automation possible be put to work in the schools, helping to teach children.

"If the present generation of parents cannot solve the problems brought about by automation, it's about time we started encouraging our children to solve them for us," he says.

Poor Woman

We ought, amid all the complexities of the new year, spare a thought for Mrs. Amintore Fanfani.

She is the lady who, according to her husband, the ex-foreign minister of Italy, blew his career by giving a party at which there was some indiscreet talk about a friend of the Fanfani's role in the so-called peace feelers from Hanoi.

The story kicked up such a fuss that Mr. Fanfani resigned, taking the whole thing like a man and blaming his wife.

This hardly seems fair. After 26 years of marriage, surely a wife is entitled to one teensy-weensy diplomatic gaffe without her husband making a great big international issue out of it.

Mrs. Fanfani should have taken the same attitude as the man met on the street by a friend, who inquired "How's your wife?" and quickly replied: "Compared with what?"

The Voice of French Canada

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Montreal Le Devoir—Of all questions which are currently the subject of debate between Quebec and Ottawa, perhaps none is so loaded with unpredictable implications as that of manpower. At last the federal government seems, for the first time since the end of the Second World War, to establish a genuine policy in this field. However, according to a recent speech by Carrier Fortin, (Quebec labor minister) it seems evident that Quebec has decided to follow its own policy in this area as in many others. Mr. Fortin maintained at Ottawa that Quebec manpower, because of its cultural characteristics, constitutes a very distinct market and consequently its problems are to be taken over by the government which is in a better position to fulfil its expectations.

The argument of the Quebec labor minister is to a great extent well founded. If one examines especially the problems of formation and direction of young and adult workers it is evident that a question closely tied to provincial responsibilities is be-being broached. . . . Can one conclude that the provincial government should take complete charge of all policy on manpower? To want to go that far would be to go against reality and at the same time to assume serious risks. . . .

When Mr. Fortin says the manpower of Quebec is distinct from that of the rest of the country he appears to be proclaiming a fact. In fact, he is putting forth a half-truth. What the minister states is doubtless true of a good number of Quebec workers who live by means of artistic or strictly local trades or who live in social roles directly tied to the group culture. . . .

Let's be realistic: From the point of view of production procedures, are the shop-worker at Northern Electric in Montreal and the shop-worker for the same company in Winnipeg so different that it can be said one is radically distinct from the other? . . . If the decisions of business are being taken more and more on a vast scale, is it not indispensable that the action of governments also be conceived as far as possible on a wide scale? . . .

Dealing with the mobility of manpower, Mr. Fortin used another argument of rather doubtful value. Newspaper reports of his speech said French-Canadians can move rather easily into another region because of the fact that they can speak English and learn it quickly. But the reverse was said not to be true: English - speaking Canadians from the rest of the country would hardly be qualified to adapt to the Quebec labor market.

If the Quebec labor minister really made these remarks, I suggest that he live in Montreal for a few weeks. He would meet there thousands and thousands of immigrants who spoke neither French nor English when they arrived here and who are very, very well qualified for the Montreal labor market. . . .

If Canadians from other provinces have seldom come to Quebec, it is not because of the cultural fact; it is because our province, champion in the field of unemployment and low salaries, offered no attraction for workers from the richer provinces. . . . The bare facts of the problem must be studied with a maximum of realism and the transformation of the study into a jurisdictional quarrel from the outset must be avoided.—Claude Ryan (Feb. 26)

Montreal La Presse—Choices made in apparent haste under the pressure of circumstances are not necessarily the least judicious. It can happen that in the end they turn out to be the best. The day after the tragic death of (lieutenant-governor) Paul Comtois, the name of Hugues Lapointe was prominent among those who could succeed him. There was nothing astonishing in this to those who know Quebec's delegate - general at London well. A native son of Quebec, heir to a great name, Hugues Lapointe possesses the political experience and the personal qualities needed to occupy with competence and dignity the highest civil office in the province. Like his late predecessor, our new lieutenant - governor is not a man of outbursts and spectacular gestures. His poise and temperament lead him naturally towards discreet action. It can also be believed that, besides his official duties, the former colleague of Mr. Pearson and Mr. Lesage will be able to serve as a bond between the two political leaders, who represent divergent interests and points of view. The service he has rendered his country, in war and peace and at Ottawa and at London, show that he blends the qualities of a true Canadian and a Quebecer of good stock.—Cyrille Felteau. (Feb. 23)

Quebec Le Soleil—The adoption of the Assessment Act by the New Brunswick legislature after a stormy session is without doubt an important step by that province towards adapting its financial system to the needs of our time and thus inspiring a new dynamism to this Atlantic area. Premier Robichaud, in spite of fierce opposition, has courageously fought for his program for social equality. This program will permit implementation of important administrative reforms in a province where such a thing has not happened for 60 years. . . . The major aspect of the program consists of centralizing within the provincial government the revenues and services which because of their scattered state result in administrative inefficiency and unfortunate disparities among various regions of the province. . . . What has aroused the most lively opposition against the Robichaud plan is probably its most necessary part: The taking over by the province of responsibilities exercised until now by municipalities, such as teaching, welfare, health, justice. This transfer of responsibilities is of the greatest usefulness if New Brunswick wishes to move forward. . . . In this reforming of the province's financial system, Mr. Robichaud's program will involve equalization grants to the poorest municipalities. The principle is excellent. Whether or not the Acadians are favored for the moment, all citizens are equal before the law. It is equally important to give to all the population the same services, the same opportunities in health, welfare etc. (Feb. 25)

Moncton L'Evangeline—The City of Moncton participated in a cultural and community exchange program in connection with Confederation centenary celebrations. . . . Thanks to the Canada Council, a Ukrainian choir from Winnipeg spent several hours in Moncton homes and presented a much appreciated concert. . . .In Manitoba, the Ukrainians constitute a strong minority and consequently they can contribute a new element to our community life. Disunity in Canada arises especially from mutual incomprehension, from ignorance of our common qualities and of our problems. Better understanding between Canadians can certainly be served through exchanges at all levels. . . . Cultural exchanges are still more profitable because they bring to the masses the characteristics of other provinces, of other ethnic groups. . . . This exchange program should be encouraged and better organized. It is also necessary that these programs be extended and prolonged long past 1967. One can only hope that in a year and a half Canadians will be able to get well enough acquainted with each other that prejudices and false ideas transmitted from generation can be eliminated. This exchange program should be established on a basis of at least 10 years so that the coming generation will be impressed enough by it to develop a new concept of Canadianism. — Bernard Poirier. (Feb. 25)

NELSON BRIDGE CAUGHT IN THE BRILLIANCE OF WINTER SUNSHINE

White Men Libel the Indians

TORONTO (CP)—White men's textbooks, novels, movies and television all libel Indians, says Norma Sluman, housewife and author.

"They contain inaccurate and derogatory references to Indians. It makes Indian children ashamed of their race and ancestry."

Mrs. Sluman's interest began when her husband, K. A. Sluman, signed a contract with Calgary Stampeders about 10 years ago, and they moved there from Toronto. She worked with Indians there and later at the Winnipeg Indian and Metis Friendship Centre. In 1959 her novel about Alberta Indians of 100 years ago, Blackfoot Crossing, was published.

Mrs. Sluman says Canadian textbooks too often distort history and picture Indians as fierce, predatory savages or innocent sub-humans.

"This misinformation creates an anti-Indian prejudice which youngsters carry with them for the rest of their lives."

She says too much current information about Indians deals with economic and social problems which presents them as unable to handle the demands of white society. She would like to see more publicity given to successful Indian teachers, engineers, doctors, lawyers.

Mrs. Sluman wants newspapers to stop reporting the race as laybreakers.

CHARGES INACCURACIES

She says Indians are presented as inferior to white men in fiction and drama and that details of their manners and customs are usually inaccurate. Indian roles were played by actors who were unmistakably white men.

She says she is irritated at the continuing belief that an Indian will go berserk if he drinks.

"I have cultured, educated Indian friends who tell me that some whites hesitate to offer them a sociable cocktail for fear they'll run amuck."

Since she and her husband returned to Toronto this year, Mrs. Sluman has been working at the Canadian Indian Centre, and has started on a biography of Poundmaker, the Indian chief.

She has also examined Canadian history books and submitted a report to Manitoba education officials on references which degrade Indians.

She says textbooks have improved in recent years but there is room for more improvement.

PICTURE DISTORTED

"Too much of the present historical writing is the propaganda of the victors."

One example dealing with the arrival of Europeans in North America describes Indians as "infested with innumerable fleas . . . savages . . . thieves. . . . Wandering in the wastes for several generations has deadened their minds, killed their imagination and initiative."

Mrs. Sluman comments: "Why must the fleas come into it? Were the ships of the European free of fleas and other types of vermin? The claim that Indian intelligence and imagination were deadened is questionable to anyone familiar with their legends, religions and political organization."

Discussing Jacques Cartier, some books say Cartier "took" Donnaconna and six other chiefs back to France, some ignore the incident.

Mrs. Sluman says: "It's a matter of historical record that the Indian chiefs were abducted and forced to undergo a long, confined sea voyage. They died and were never again to see their homeland or their families. Here we see a glaring example of unfair omission.

"Attention is drawn to the hostility of Indians towards newcomers thereafter, but many books give no reason for it."

As school planning develops under Civil Defence Co-ordination parents should acquaint themselves with the details of the plan so they will know what is expected of them and how they can best help.

Faster Wedded Ones

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP) — Secretaries apparently marry more quickly than teachers and conventional people more readily than nonconformists.

Toronto's Scientific Introduction Centre which matches clients on an IBM machine on the basis of age, size, interest and personality preferences, has studied the traits of clients involved in its first 25 to 33 marriages.

Dr. Stephen Neiger, scientific director in the centre officially operated by his wife, Gertrude, says he considers this first sample too small to indicate anything definite but similarities among the people willing to accept a mate and marry quickly.

Prospective clients of the centre fill out forms indicating their preferences in a mate, their own general tastes and backgrounds, their attitudes toward sex and marriage. These are combined with observations made in interviews and the results punched on cards which are processed to sort matching possibilities.

Dr. Neiger says the centre made its first introduction in April, 1964. By October, eight couples had married. By July, 1965, there were 29 marriages, by November, 45.

MOST ARE SECRETARIES

He says 33 per cent of the centre's female clients are secretaries, and 56 per cent of the women who have married men they met through the centre also are secretaries. In contrast, 17 per cent of all women clients are teachers and only four per cent of the number who have married.

Dr. Neiger speculates that teachers' relatively high salaries partly account for this. He says $5,500 is the average salary for clients.

"Many teachers make up to $7,000 and even $8,000 a year as single women. This scares the men and spoils the women. The girls must choose between their standard of living and perhaps marrying someone who earns less."

He says it also is part of a general indication that the less sophisticated someone is, the more likely he is to marry quickly. Dr. Neiger says the average level of education among the centre's women clients is Grade 13, among the men 13 plus—anything from a technical course to a doctorate. Among the early marriages the average level drops to Grade 12 for the women, Grade 13 for the men.

JOBS ARE FACTOR

He says 52 per cent of the total female clientele are in professions such as teaching, social work or nursing. Only one-third of those who marry early are from this group.

Dr. Neiger says this appears to contradict the indication that conventional people seem to be quicker to marry than nonconformists. The centre uses as its gauges of conventionality the regularity of attendance at school, church, office, the number of friendships with people of the same sex, attitudes toward sex.

He suggests as some explanation, "Conformists with similar backgrounds can communicate quickly with one another. A nonconformist must look for another nonconformist of exactly his own kind."

The centre hopes to do more studies as there are more marriages to work with and to follow them up after three and five years to see how well they are working. Clients sign an agreement to allow occasional queries, although Dr. Neiger admits a few people have already refused to co-operate. He says it now has about 500 clients.

Nazi Germany denounced the Locarno Pact against territorial aggression 30 years ago today—in 1936—and reoccupied the Rhine land, which had been evacuated after the First World War. This was the third step of expansion of the German Reich, following the reabsorption of the Saar and Hitler's denunciation of the peace treaty of Versailles. The French government was on the verge of war with Germany over the reoccupation of the Rhineland, but France's internal affairs were in chaos and Italy, once looked on as the counterforce to Germany, was busy with an aggressive war of its own, in Ethiopia.

Church Filled For Concert Of Contemporary Pop Music

An hour-long program of contemporary pop music was enjoyed Thursday night when Fairview United Church was filled to capacity.

With Merlin Bunt at the organ and Fred Hinitt on the drums, the combined choirs of the Church of the Redeemer and Fairview United Church numbering 26 voices, presented three works under the direction of Angus Fraser.

Cantors were Mrs. Mary Pennoyer, Mrs. J. S. Todd and Miss Sheila Fraser.

Three works were performed, the 20th Century Folk Mass by Geoffrey Beaumont was repeated by popular demand. "A Festival Te Deum" by John Alldis of the 20th Century Light Music Group, formed in England in the 1950s, received contemporary treatment and featured waltz and fox-trot tempos.

The third work, "A Procession of Palms" was by Malcolm Williamson, a young Australian composer, now resident in London, England. This work portrayed events of Palm Sunday, beginning with the approach, "Ride On, Ride On in Majesty," a slow march tempo, followed by a sprightly quick march "All Glory Laud and Honor." Then a short melodic setting of "O Saviour of the World," sung by Mrs. Todd introduced the "Benedictus," sung by Mrs. Pennoyer and Miss Fraser. The Benedictus exploded into the "Hosannah in Excelsis" with choral part in syncopated octaves against an cacompaniment of cruel discords representing the hostile crowds.

MOVE TO NAVAL INTELLIGENCE FREES MAN FOR RUSSIAN FRONT

It was not long before I received notice that I might transfer to the Naval Intelligence. The War Office had given their permission, as they were reducing the staff at Paris Plage and the Admiralty had vacancies. I had, of course, to undergo the usual tests (The Navy did not rely upon anyone else's judgment) and I rather enjoyed the interview.

The Lt. Commander, under whom I was to work, had made news shortly before the war by being captured, while spying on the strongly defended island of Heligoland, off the North Sea coast of Germany. He and his companion, an Army Colonel, had been imprisoned in fortresses, at two extremes of Germany, and for some reason the Kaiser had released them, just before the war. They were both now valuable assets to our Intelligence Services — Commander B (my future Chief) was said to know more about the German Navy than anyone else.

After putting me through my paces, he said, "There is an officer here who is equally good at Russian and German and we want to send him to the Russian front, but first we must find someone to replace him. If we could teach you his work, we could let him go."

ONLY TO OFFICERS

This was a challenge — so very soon I was at the Admiralty, working hard, with this Naval Lieutenant, to get me proficient at his job. So keen were we to complete the turnover as soon as possible that he suggested we save time by having lunch grought up to his room from the canteen, instead of going out. When he summoned the Steward and ordered lunch for two, he returned saying,

"Sorry Sir, we are not allowed to serve meals up here to ladies — only officers", and he got the curt reply,

"This is not a lady, this is an officer." With a "Very good, sir," the steward closed the door and we both laughed and he apologized, adding "blasted regulations." They were evidently not used to W.A.A.C. officers at the Admiralty.

I did see several W.R.N.S. girls there but they seemed to be just coming in and out, to get passengers for the cars. They were driving several army officers who were working there. Henceforward, we got our lunch without trouble, but it did not have to be for long.

NAVY PLEASANTER

In about a week I was on my own and found the work very interesting and the Navy far pleasanter to work for than the Army. The authorities had some sense of humor and treated one as an individual rather than a cog in a machine. I shared a room with a civilian who was quite a character; the author, I believe, of one of the most controversial novels of our day and a collector of antiques, with a habit of going to lunch at unusual times. We each had our own job, but he often said to me,

"If I don't get back from lunch by three, will you see to that?"

"That" was a package which was picked up every day at that time. He also struck me as a person of extravagant habits, so when an order came round that we must be careful with the official brown envelopes and use stickers for re-addressing them, as they cost 15c each, I drew his attention to it. He thought it ridiculous and said, "I have just saved the Government 35,000 pounds so I don't see why I should worry about envelopes." But I said, "Well, that is no reason why you should waste envelopes," and saw that he was well supplied with stickers and systematically pulled discarded envelopes out of his waste paper basket — smoothed them out and returned them to his drawer — but I don't believe he ever used them!

INTERVIEW RESCUED

Leading out of our room was another, occupied by two Naval Commanders, whose duties included interviewing rescued members of torpedoed enemy vessels. These men quite expected to be shot if captured and were therefore astounded at the treatment they received. Those interviewed often included officers and captains whose names and those of their ships were household words to us; it therefore really gave us a thrill to hear that one of them was in the next room. Commander B would stroll in and say, "I have just been talking to Kapitan Von N and took him out for lunch. He thought they had starved us out and was astonished to see all the things in the shop windows."

How about those boxes that say, "Press here to open"

Do you break nails, and hurt your fingers trying?

Use the bowl of a spoon under your thumb! What a temper saver, too.

Dear Heloise:

My friends keep urging me to tell you how I carry my house key in my purse.

Well, here is my solution . . . my husband's old watch chain! One fastener goes through the hole in the zipper pull on one of the pockets of the purse, and the other end holds the door key.

All I have to do is to pull up on the chain, and the key comes up from the bottom of my purse!

Dear Heloise:

Save all plastic covers from your coffee cans, dips, etc., and you will soon have a variety.

These make the most wonderful coasters under coffee mugs, pop bottles, water glasses, flower vases, or on your bedside table for medicines (especially the gooey kind such as cough syrup), or for syrup, honey and cream pitchers on your breakfast table — just about anything that might leak or spill.

I find these plastic lids priceless.

Dear Heloise:

Here's one I hope you can use:

I use paper place mats, which make a very neat table.

After the meal is over, I use the soiled mats to dry the table after it has been wiped off with a damp cloth.

So, the mats serve double duty.

Dear Heloise:

When I have company for dinner and serve steaks, I discover that I can please everyone, by serving their steaks exactly as they like them.

Steaks to be served rare, medium or well done can all be placed on the grill at the same time and cooked for the same length of time.

Here's what I do: I use frozen steaks for rare, partly thawed steaks for medium, and unfrozen steaks for well - done.

So . . . everyone is happy with their steaks!

I stir some marshmallow cream into warm chocolate pudding after dishing it up, and swirl it around just enough to make it marbled.

One could use marshmallows, if in a pinch.

Water Health Hazard In E. Kootenay

CRANBROOK — "Unsatisfactory" water is being drunk by 12 per cent of East Kootenay residents, states the area Health Unit in its annual report of 1965. Contaminated drinking water was termed the Kootenay's greatest health hazard.

Sporadic contamination was reported as occurring in a further 55 per cent of the systems during last year. Dr. J. M. H. Hopper, Health Unit director, commented that, "even on the rural prairies such a state of affairs is not tolerated."

"Tourism is one of our main industries and no tourist will return to an area from which they received an illness through contaminated water or food."

Deaths totalled 363 for the year with well over half, 253, being men. The report adds that of these coronary diseases accounted for 73 men and 17 women.

Cancer ran a close second as a killing agent with 57 deaths attributed to it. Of these 17 were women, 5 of which died of breast cancer.

The Unit noted that this variety of the disease may be detected early, aiding in its treatment and control.

Among the 40 men who died, two cases of cancer of the bladder were noted and the report stated that evidence links this in some instances with industrial processes.

Deaths due to lung cancer, especially in the majority of the males who suffered this involvement, were blamed exclusively upon smoking.

72-Year-Old Operates Sound In Massey Hall

TORONTO (CP) — Hilda Speight has been contributing to the success of performances at Massey Hall for 30 years but the audience—from symphony fans to faith - healers — probably doesn't know she exists.

Mrs. Speight, 72, sets up and operates the sound system in the concert hall, operating from a sound-proof control booth at the back of the first balcony.

And if the audience is not aware of her work, the performer certainly is. The late Charles Laughton once kissed her hand after a dramatic reading, thanking her for her "sensitive, sympathetic support."

Mrs. Speight arrives at least an hour before each show, sets up the microphones, tests the pickup and confers with performers on sound levels and cues.

She tells singers who use a microphone: "Your first two notes may not sound perfect but after that you'll sound natural."

Newcomers to Massey Hall usually ask for too much volume she says. They don't know the hall's marvellous acoustics. All I have to do is build their tone very slightly for a natural sound."

Mrs. Speight has little patience with jazz groups who keep calling for more volume to overpower their fans. Microphone - swallowers bother her, too. No matter how much she warns them to keep their distance, they continue to caress the mike and distort their voices, she says.

Last year a folk-singing group performed without any problems, but this year they had a new manager who kept sending word to the booth for more sound. Next day the critics moaned over the ear-splitting experience.

"I know my job," said Mrs. Speight.

Invermere . . . Quebec Camp For Local Guide

INVERMERE — Girl Guide Thora Ferguson of the Radium Hot Springs company has been selected to go to Heritage Camp in Quebec in July. She is one of two guides chosen in East Kootenay.

Thora was awarded her gold cord last month in a ceremony at Radium with Valerie Flowence also of the Radium Company. The two girls go to Victoria at Easter to receive their gold cord certificates from the lieutenant-governor.

Wynndel WI Plans Tea On 38th Anniversary

WYNNDEL — The March meeting, being the 38th anniversary of the Wynndel Women's Institute, it was decided to have it take the form of a tea honoring the grandmothers of the community.

The group met at the Memorial Hall with 11 members and visitors in attendance.

The meeting opened with the singing of the Institute Ode. Minutes of the January meeting were read and approved, also the financial report. Reports were heard on the recent card party at which about 40 players took part.

Mrs. C. Lundgard gave a report on the February Baby Clinic; she will convene the March Baby Clinic and Mrs. J. Thompson will provide the cookies fo rtea.

SPANISH TRIED HEAT

Hot chocolate was invented by Spanish explorers who could not drink the cold "chocolatl" offered them by early Aztecs.

A letter from UNICEF was read, acknowledging receipt of the sum of $62.10 collected by the school children on Hallowe'en and a Certificate of Merit will be given to the school.

A letter was read from the Cancer Clinic and canvassers were appointed to conduct the annual Blitz. Four of the members will attend the dinner to be held in Creston in April. The sale of cook books has been successful and 100 more have been ordered. A demonstration of house-cleaning products was given by Mrs. L. Abbott. Winner of a contest in connection with the demonstration was Mrs. Hurst.

Books on Crewel embroidery were on display and these proved most interesting to the members.

Equality of Men Sermon Subject

The absolute equity of all men in the sight of God is the theme of this week's lesson-sermon on the subject "Man," read in all Christian Science churches Sunday. Bible references include Paul's interpretation of this fundamental spiritual premise: "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus . . . There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Galatians).

Riondel Notes

Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McWhinnie, accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. Paulhus of Harrop, were in town for a few days visiting with relatives and friends. They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen while Mrs. Paulhus was a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Paulhus. Mr. and Mrs. McWhinnie returned Saturday to their home near Ladysmith, Vancouver Island, where they operate a store and service station.

This Casserole Variation Of Chicken Tetrazzini

Tuna mushroom casserole is a variation of the traditional chicken tetrazzini. Instead of combining chicken and spaghetti in a cream sauce, this hearty casserole substitutes tuna with macaroni and adds sweet fruit sauce for a distinctive gourmet touch. The quick sauce utilizes mushroom soup and the entire dish is baked under a layer of grated Parmesan cheese.

TUNA MUSHROOM CASSEROLE

*1½ cups uncooked (elbow) macaroni
1 can (5 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained, flaked
1 can (10 ounces) cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons sweet fruit sauce
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Heat oven to 375 deg. F. Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender; drain well. Meanwhile, saute mushrooms in butter over medium heat just 2 - 3 minutes. In 1-quart casserole, combine mushrooms with macaroni and tuna. Blend soup and next 3 ingredients; mix well with macaroni mixture. Sprinkle top with cheese. Bake 35 minutes or until hot and cheese is slightly browned. Makes 4 - 5 servings.

*¼ pound uncooked spaghetti, broken into 3-inch pieces, may be substituted for the macaroni.

Canucks, Russians, Czechs Unbeaten, Sweden Upset

By CARL MOLLINS

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (CP) — Canada, Russia and Czechoslovakia romped to their third straight victories Sunday in as many starts, leaving all three countries tied for first place in the world hockey championships.

But the Russians by far were the most convincing with their second straight lop-sided shutout of the weekend when they blanked East Germany 10-0 after clobbering the United States 11-0 Saturday.

The Canadian team, fired up with hopes of dethroning the Russians, reigning champions, smothered Finland 9-1 in its strongest display of offensive power in the tournament. Saturday, the Canadians blanked Poland 6-0.

Czechoslovakia defeated Poland 6-1 in a rough game between the only two European countries that so far have taken up North American-style hockey with lots of rugged body-bents. Saturday, the Czechs downed Finland 8-1.

Sweden, shocked by the 4-1 upset at the hands of the East Germans Saturday, bounced back to take a 6-1 decision over the United States.

PACE CANADIANS

George Faulkner, a converted defenceman from Harbour Grace, Nfld., and Fran Huck of Regina led the Canadian scoring parade with two goals and one assist each, to keep pace with several Czechs and Russian stars in a keen battle for tournament scoring honors.

Other Canadian goals were scored by Billy MacMillan of Charlottetown, Paul Conlin of Kitchener, Ont., Ray Cadieux of Ste. Adele, Que., playing coach Jackie McLeod of Winnipeg and Roger Bourbonnais of Riviere Qui Barre, Alta.

Canada, Russia and Czechoslovakia with their 3-0 records were tied for the top spot with six points each, Sweden, with two wins and one loss, was fourth with four points. The East Germans were fifth with two points from one win and two losses. The rest of the eight teams in the championship group were tied for last place, each with three losses and no wins.

NO GAMES TODAY

The deadlock probably will continue right through the fourth round Tuesday — no games are scheduled today. Canada plays East Germany next while Russia meets Finland and Czechoslovakia takes on the United States.

After that the 11-day tournament will begin taking on a different complexion. Thursday, Canada plays Czechoslovakia and Russia meets Sweden. Friday, Russia clashes with Canada and Czechoslovakia plays Sweden and Russia winds up the tournament against Czechoslovakia.

The splendid Soviet offence, which produced almost 10 goals a game, demolished the East Germans after the first period when they held the world champions to a 1-0 deficit.

Russia broke loose for four goals in the second period and the East Germans wilted completely in the final session when the Soviets rammed in five more.

Konstantin Loktev, Alexander Almetov and Oleg Zitsev each scored two goals for the Russians and Boris Mayorov, Vyacheslav Starshinov, Vladimir Vikulov and Veniamin Alexandrov had one each.

Russia's Victor Zinger totalled only 11 saves in the shutout over East Germany, and against the Americans Zinger and Victor Konovalenko had but 12.

Russia was the first country with two shutouts. Toronto's Ken Broderick scored Canada's whitewash against Poland Saturday and on the opening day Thursday Vlado Dzurila of Czechoslovakia blanked East Germany 6-0.

The Swedes revamped their lineup after their humiliation at the hands of the Germans, whom they outshot by a margin of more than three to one, and were back in form against the United States. However, the loss to East Germany pretty well squashed their title hopes.

For the Americans, who had come here with high hopes, if not exactly title hopes, it was the same story as in their earlier games, a 7-3 loss to Canada and the drubbing by the Russians. They fought hard but they failed to click as a team.

The Finnish, Polish and U.S. defeats kept these three teams at the bottom of the eight-team championship round-robin with no wins and three losses each.

CANADIANS ENCOURAGED

There was no denying the fact that the Canadian team, whatever its prospects of ultimate victory, has made an impressive showing so far and its players and officials were in a happy mood after Sunday's game.

Rev. David Bauer, team adviser and associate coach, said, "objectively, the Russians are still No. 1, but it could be an interesting game when we meet."

Defenceman Lorne Davis of Regina, a standout in all three games to date, said the team's spirit and will to win are "just great."

Seth Martin of Trail, B.C., was back in goal after sitting out Saturday's game, but he had little to do. The Canadians outshot the Finns 43 to 16.

Canada took a 2-0 lead in the first period, and led the Finns 5-1 at the end of the second.

Faulkner opened the scoring at the eight-minute mark of the first period, taking a pass from Marshall Johnston of Birch Hills, Sask., at the faceoff and driving it past Finnish goalie Juhani Lahtinen from a distance of about 20 feet.

The Canadians maintained control of the play and scored again in the last second of the period, Macmillan scoring on a sharp pass from Faulkner.

Two quick goals early in the second period sent Canada into a 4-0 lead.

Conlin flicked in a pass from Bourbonnais for the first one when Lahtinen was caught out of his goal. Then Huck scored from close range with an assist from Winnipeg defenceman Gary Begg.

Finland hit back with its only goal, scored by Reijo Hakanen with help from Lasse Oksanen. The Finns had a big opportunity to score again when two Canadians, Faulkner and Begg, were in the penalty box together, but they failed to capitalize on it even while keeping the play around the Canadian net.

Faulkner scored almost immediately when he returned to the ice, sweeping up a loose puck near the centre ice line and breaking in alone on Lahtinen.

Canada struck hard again in the first three minutes of the third period, adding three goals from the sticks of Cadieux, McLeod and Huck. The final goal, by Bourbonnais, came with little more than a minute left to play.

PETER DUNCAN
. . . Combined Champ

Duncan, Greene Combined Winners

By WALTER HAYES

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP)—Nancy Greene won the combined title at the Canadian Alpine Ski Championships here Saturday despite a spill that nearly resulted in disqualification from the slalom event.

Miss Greene, a native of Rossland, took a tumble on the first run of the slalom and an official ruled she had missed a gate.

However, at a protest meeting later it was decided the 22-year-old skier had gone through the gate.

Peter Duncan of Mount Tremblant, Que., captured the men's combined title with a second-place in the slalom combined with a second-place finish in the previous day's downhill race.

Both Miss Greene and Duncan are members of the national ski team.

Wendy Allen of Mammoth Lake, Calif., won the women's slalom event Saturday but an eighth-place finish in Friday's downhill put her out of the running for the combined.

Miss Greene placed second in the slalom, adding to a first-place finish in the downhill.

RECOVERS QUICKLY

The pert secretary was about midway through her first of two runs in the slalom when she caught a ski tip in a gate and fell. She barely hit the snow before she was up again. She hesitated a moment, unsure whether she had gone through the gate, and then started downhill.

She finished far down in the pack in her first run but easily won in a flawless second run.

Rod Hebron of Vancouver won the men's slalom, adding to a fifth-place finish in the downhill.

Scott Henderson of Banff, Alta., another national team member, finished first in Friday's downhill but was third in the slalom. He was runnerup to Duncan for the combined.

Unlike Friday's races, which were held in brilliant sunshine, Saturday's slalom was marred by snow, which floated down throughout the day, leaving the two slalom courses deep in powder.

In Sunday's giant slalom, final event of the championships, Henderson won the men's division and Joan Hannah of Mammoth Lake the women's.

Henderson was almost three seconds faster than second-place Duncan, with Dan Irwin of Fort William, Ont., third.

Andree Crepeau of Mount Orford, Que., placed second in the women's giant slalom, with Nancy Greene third.

The giant slalom, run during a blinding snowstorm, did not count toward the combined title.

Now It's The Gardens For Clay and Terrell

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto has been selected as the site of the world heavyweight championship fight March 29 between Ernie Terrell of Chicago and Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, announced Sunday night.

"The fight will take place in our building," Ballard said, "unless there is disapproval from the Ontario government. But we have semi-approval.

"We're aware the fight is on the run, but by holding it here we've got a chance to replace Madison Square Garden as the site of big bouts."

The 15-round bout between Clay, recognized as the world title-holder since he defeated Sonny Liston, and Terrell, holder of the World Boxing Association version of the crown, has been rejected in several cities in North America. Among them were New York, Chicago, Montreal and the Montreal suburb of Verdun, Que.

Merv McKenzie of Toronto, Ontario athletic commissioner, said he plans to consult with Ontario Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree today. The athletic commission falls under his department's jurisdiction.

NOT DONE NORMALLY

"Normally I don't always seek certification from Mr. Rowntree," McKenzie said, "but I owe him the courtesy this time on two counts.

"In the first place, this is a world championship bout. I also want to clear up whatever political overtones the government rejected the bout because of Clay's comment on American participation in the war in Viet might be sensitive to concerning Clay."

Several U.S. cities have rejected the bout because of Clay's comment on American participation in the war in Viet Nam. Clay was recently reclassified 1-A by his army draft board, making him subject to the draft, after first being rejected because of failure to pass an army test.

Ballard met Sunday with Robbert Arum of New York, a lawyer for Main Bout Inc., a promotional group controlling closed - circuit television rights for the fight.

Arum, in Montreal last week to negotiate with that city as a possible fight site, Saturday fended off rumors that Toronto was in the running when he listed Edmonton, Quebec City and Sorel, Quebec., as possible venues.

In addition to bids from Edmonton, Quebec City and Sorel, applications to stage the fight were made by Kingston and Cobourg, Ont., and Huron, S.D.

CAN SEAT 17,000

"This is the best place in the country for it." Ballard said of Maple Leaf Gardens. "We can seat more than 17,000 for boxing and we've got all the facilities for transmission of closed-circuit television."

Mike Malitz of New York, executive vice - president of Main Bout Inc., refused to confirm from New York that Toronto was awarded the fight.

"We don't want another Montreal farce," he said. "If there's a change of heart over the new place we have in mind, we want to know it first so we don't come up with egg on our face. We want to let the new site and the people involved cook overnight."

Three Habs Out With Injuries

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League received bad news Sunday with three of their regulars side-lined by injuries following Saturday night's 7-2 win over Detroit Red Wings.

A club spokesman said Jacques Laperriere, all-star defenceman with the club, underwent an emergency operation in a Montreal hospital for torn ligaments to his left knee. The spokesman said early reports indicated Laperriere could be lost for the balance of the regular schedule and the post-season playoffs.

In addition another defenceman, Jean-Guy Talbot, and centre Henri Richard both remained in Montreal for treatment of knee injuries.

The spokesman said while Richard's and Talbot's injuries are less severe than Laperriere's, they will be lost to the club for at least a week.

Earlier, Kamloops defeated Canim Lake 6-1, Salmon Arm Gleneden 7-1 and Vernon Head of the Lake 10-0.

B.C. Meets Ontario in First Round of Curling Finals

By DON ANGUS

HALIFAX (CP)—Five days of stiff competition get under way at The Forum here today with the opening round of the 37th Canadian Curling Championships. Forty of the nations's best curlers step into the hacks at 3 p.m.

The veterans and newcomers among the 11 rinks mingled in two days of social activities and practice sessions after most of the participants arrived in this port city by train Friday night. Only one team will not see action in the initial draw as each rink must sit out a bye through one of the 11 rounds.

The draw Sunday, conducted by Chief Justice Thane Campbell of the Prince Edward Island Supreme Court and an executive of the Dominion Curling Association, gave Manitoba the first-round bye. British Columbia plays Ontario, New Brunswick meets Alberta, Nova Scotia is matched with Northern Ontario and Saskatchewan is pitted against Quebec and Newfoundland against Prince Edward Island.

The second round gives Saskatchewan the bye and has Manitoba meeting British Columbia, Northern Ontario vs. Quebec; Newfoundland vs. New Brunswick; Ontario vs. Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia vs. Alberta.

Sticking closely to the record book, most hometown and visiting curling enthusiasts had to rate Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta as the rinks to beat in this year's playoff. The three Prairie provinces have captured 29 of the 36 championships since eight teams started the whole thing in Toronto in 1927.

There were no matches held during 1943-45 because of the Second World War and the last time the round-robin event was held here was in 1951 when Nova Scotia's Don Oyler of Kentville won the province's second title. Prof. Murray MacNeil of Dalhousie University here was the dominion's first tournament winner.

Prince Edward Island, building a fearsome reputation in recent years, is expected to give the western powers the biggest headache this year and will be striving to improve on the 6-4 record it has never been able to better to date.

VETERAN LEADS TEAM

Skip Art Burke of Charlottetown's Belvedere Golf and Winter Club is a veteran of three years' national play and his mate, Arnold (Lock) Llewellyn, has swept with Canada's leading curlers four times.

Other eastern rinks have nothing to lose and everything to gain. The title has gone east on Ontario's boundaries only twice, both times to Nova Scotia, but Prince Edward Island, Quebec, New, Brunswick and Newfoundland can make things rough in chasing their first win each.

Bill Tracy's Bagotville foursome broke even at five wins and five defeats at Saskatoon last year and is back to make a run at a better showing for Quebec. Newfoundland's George MacCharles is another repeater whose St. John's quartet curled better than their 2-8 record showed in 1965.

Charlie Sullivan had to pilot his Saint John team through some rugged opposition in provincial playoffs to earn the right to represent New Brunswick here and is an experienced newcomer. Another rookie in national competition is Vic Snarr of Halifax, who is hoping to make today the start of another Cinderella story for Nova Scotia, 15 years after Oyler surprised all entries with an unblemished 10-0 mark.

GUROWKA IS SKIP

Ontario, with two championships to its credit, is skipped this winter by Joe Gurowka of Cooksville. Northern Ontario, which holds one national title, is represented by Bill Grozelle's rinks from Haileybury.

Moving to the West Coast, the 1966 British Columbia entry comes from Burnaby and is led by Lynn Mason. The four B.C. players are new to the national tournament this year, but have a record of two title victories by other provincial representatives in earlier bonspiels to follow.

Manitoba's powerful rink is guided by Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg, who was his province's skip in 1963, Manitoba has the greatest collection of championships with 16, followed by Alberta with eight.

Ron Northcott of Calgary is skip of this year's Alberta rink.

Saskatchewan, with five wins in national competition and four in the last seven years, is piloted here by Bob Pickering of Avonlea.

Brewer Leads Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Gay Brewer, Jr., given a free lift to the top with the disqualification of Doug Sanders, showed his appreciation Sunday by firing a five-under-par 67 and taking a six-stroke lead in the $65,000 Pensacola open golf tournament.

Canning birdies in clusters, the 33-year-old Texas pro had a 13-under-par total of 201 with one round to play. This put him virtually out of reach in the showdown for the $10,000 first prize.

Six strokes back at 207 were Julius Boros, two-time U.S. open champion who shot a 69 Sunday; Mason Rudolph, 69; Randy Glover with the day's best round, a 66, and Dick Hart, 70.

Four players were tied at 208: Australian Bruce Devlin, with a 70 Sunday; Jackey Cupit, 70; Dave Ratan, 68, and Tom Wiskoff, 72.

George Knudson of Toronto had a 213 total after Sunday's third round. He shot 73s both Saturday and Sunday. Bill Ezinicki, a Winnipeg native and former National Hockey League star, had a 217 total. He shot a 71 Sunday after turning in a 77 Saturday. Ezinicki now is a New England golf pro.

Leafs Take Second Place By Dumping Kimberley

By JOHN KOROBANIK
Daily News Sports Editor

A month ago, Frank Arnett, playing coach of Nelson Maple Leafs moved rookie Don Borgeson to right wing with Leroy Mowery and Mike Laughton to replace Carl Chwachka who was suspended at the time. The move has been paying off in big dividends ever since.

Borgeson, who didn't have a regular line to play with in the first half of the schedule, has been playing like his life depended on it the last month. Saturday night the right-winger who shoots left, fired his second hat-trick of the season to give the Leafs second place in the Western International League, and the all-important extra home game in the semi-final series against Kimberley Dynamiters.

Paced by Borgeson's three goals, the Leafs whipped the third place Dynamiters 6-1 to clinch second place behind league leading Spokane Jets.

Mowery, Gail Holden and Murray Owen added singles for the Nelson victory.

Kozak award winner and second string all-star defenceman Bill Steenson was the lone Dynamiter to beat netminder Jim Letcher. Steenson ruined the Leaf goalie's bid for his first shutout of the season in the WIHL with a slap-shot from the point midway through the final period.

The Leafs were up for the game and left no doubt about their determination to win by taking a 4-0 first period lead. Unlike the last meeting between the two clubs in Nelson when the home-town team blew a 4-0 first period lead in the second stanza, the Leafs battled the visitors through a scoreless middle session.

Mowery, who wasn't playing up to par in the last few weeks, returned to form with two goals Friday night in the Leafs' win over Cranbrook, and continued his playmaking Saturday as he picked up a pair of assists to go with his goal, the first of the game that started Nelson on the road to victory.

Borgeson tallied twice in the first period, but it appeared that he wasn't going to get his third as time ran out in the final session. But with 11 seconds left to play, the tall right winger deflected a shot from the point by Hugh Hooker past a dejected Kimberley netminder, Bob Wardle.

It was the second time in the en by Borgeson's deflection as game that Wardle had been beat- the Leaf winger was left uncovered in front of the net.

HUGH HOOKER

Leaf netminder Jim Letcher, credited with 15 saves in the first twenty minutes of play had only one real tough shot.. Wally Souter broke into the clear and appeared to have faked Letcher out of position, but the Leaf goalie made a sprawling save on the shot, to keep the Dynamiters from getting back in the game.

Letcher had a total of 30 saves in the game, 11 of them in the final period when he had his toughest ten minutes. After failing to gain complete possession of the puck in the Nelson zone for the first eight minutes of the final period, the Dynamiters finally shook off the Nelson checking and threatened to come back.

But they couldn't beat "Go Go Jim". John Manchester was sent into the clear by Walt Peacosh, but failed to score.

Then Peacosh, the league's leading point getter with a record 115, swung around the tight Nelson defence to take a point blank drive at the net. But again Letcher was equal to the occasion.

Content to nurse their 4-0 lead, the Leafs, led by the tedious checking of Howie Hornby, met Kimberley attackers at every turn and succeded in bottling them up and preventing the visitors from organizing in their own end. In the first eight minutes of the final stanza, the Dynamiters got the puck out of their own zone only by icing it. It wasn't until the 8:30 mark that they got their first shot on the net in the period.

Owen and Borgeson took turns shadowing Peacosh in the second period, to make sure the Kimberley winger didn't break open the game for the visitors.

When the Kimberley attackers managed to penetrate the forecheckers, an even tighter defence was waiting for them. Hugh Hooker, one of the steadiest blueliners in the league all season, was outstanding Saturday night as he hit and checked incoming attackers with great accuracy. Hooker was the best defenceman on the ice, but the remainder of the Leaf blueliners were also up for the contest and made very few mistakes.

Referee Norm Mailley called 11 minor penalties and one major in the close checking, hard-hitting contest. The Leafs were handed five minors and Arnett got the major for fighting late in the third period.

The victory means the semi-final series between the Leafs and the Dynamiters starts in Nelson on Tuesday and Wednesday with the next pair of games in Kimberley.

The Leafs may have been sparked by the pre-game introduction of the "Nelson Maple Leaf Sweet heart", Miss Margerie Duggan. Pretty Miss Duggan, a petite brunette attending Notre Dame University was escorted to centre ice by captain Mike Laughton, and presented with a bouquet of flowers by Howie Hornby.

With a pretty miss like Margerie as "Sweetheart", it's no wonder the Leafs bombed Kimberley.

Rossland Warriors Shut Out Spokane; Cranbrook Royals Upset Trail Smokies

GRAND FORKS — Rossland Warriors, backed by the brilliant netminding of Don Holmes, kept their playoff hopes alive by shutting out league-leading Spokane Jets 1-0 Saturday night.

Holmes, the back-up goaltender for Seth Martin received a standing ovation from the large crowd after turning aside 30 Spokane drives for his first Western Internation Hockey League shut-out. Holmes was outstanding at times, stopping many close drives and foiling the Jet's Jim Moro on a break away.

The game's lone goal came off the stick of veteran Rossland centreman Gerry Godfrey. A Warrior standout all season, the highscoring centreman capped a three-way pass play with Hal Jones and Ernie Sever, when he backhanded the puck into the top left hand corner.

Spokane was playing two men short at the time.

Tension was high throughout the game with the Warriors gunning for the last playoff spot and the Jets trying to clinch sole possession of first place.

Rossland Warriors have an opportunity to steal the fourth and final playoff spot from Trail Smoke Eaters in Trail tonight when they meet Cranbrook Royals. The game is a re-scduled match of the protested contest between the two clubs when Royals used Phil Headley in nets to defeat the Warriors earlier in the season.

Rossland is one point behind the Smokies and a victory tonight will put them into the playoffs against Spokane Jets.

It's the final game of the regular season, with the semi-finals starting Tuesday night in Nelson between the Leafs and Kimberley Dynamiters. ....

The Jets took nine of the 12 minor penalties handed out in the rough game.

Ed Wyatt and Dennis Oakland were especially effective for the tough Warrior defence, that continually moved up to break the Jet's offensive before they could hit the blueline. When the visitors did break through, they couldn't beat Holmes.

The game was delayed for 45 minutes at the start when the officials were held up on their journey from Nelson.

SUMMARY

First Period — No Scoring.

Penalties — Oakland 8:50; Thompson 14:50; Kenny 15:20; McGowan 19:32; Bodman 19:57.

IN CRANBROOK

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook Royals dealt the playoff hopes of Trail Smoke Eaters a crushing blow Saturday night by upsetting the Smokies 5-3. The loss prevented Trail from clinching the fourth and final playoff spot in the Western International Hockey League and gives Rossland Warriors an opportunity to knock the smelter-city team out of the semi-finals.

Ed Maher paced the last-place Royals to their eighth victory of the season with three goals, including the winning and insurance marker in the final stanza.

Ray Goss and Verne Wildeman added singles.

John Van Brunt, Norm Lenardon and Bill Gallamore replied for the Smoke Easters.

Trail took a 2-1 first period lead, but the Royals fired two unanswered goals in the middle session to go ahead. Cranbrook outscored Trail 2-1 in the final twenty minutes.

Don McKay was brilliant in the last period as he kicked out 24 shots, allowing only one goal to prevent the Smokies from tying or winning the game.

After Maher made the score 4-2 at the 16 second mark of the third period, the Smoke Eaters came to life and Gallamore pulled them to within one marker of the Royals near the 15 minute mark. But the visitors couldn't beat McKay after that and Maher tallied the insurance marker with 14 seconds remaining and Trail netminder Barry Brown on the bench in favor of an extra attcker.

SUMMARY

First period — 1. Trail, Van Brunt (8:21); 2. Trail, Lenardon (McIntyre, Penner) 11:30; 3. Cranbrook, Goss (Wilderman, Nuyens) 19:49.

Penalties — Beaton (5:56); Nuyens (17:25); Keshey (17:25).

IN SPOKANE

SPOKANE — Spokane Jets fired six third period goals past Kimberley netminder Bob Wardle to overcome a 4-1 Dynamiter lead and go on to a 7-5 victory in the last game of the regular season for both teams

Seven Spokane players shared the scoring with single markers going to Bud Bodman, Tom Hodges, Felix LaVallee, Lorne Nadeau, Jim Moro, Don Scherza and Vince Collins.

WIHL record point scorer Walt Peacosh replied twice for Kimberley, while Dick Vincent, Marcel Mongrain and Chuck Passmore added singles.

The Dynamiters took a 2-0 first period lead, extended it to 4-1 in the middle session, but fell apart in the final twenty minutes.

Wardle was bombed with 52 shots in the game, kicking out 45 of them. The Dynamiter netminder was outstanding in the first two stanzas with period saves of 16 and 14, while limiting the pressing Jets to one goal. But he couldn't hold off the league-leaders himself and six of the 21 drives fired at him in the final twenty minutes got by.

Peacosh's two goals and one assist set the final regular season record for points at 118, on 42 goals and 76 assists. The assists also sets a new record for one season.

The final outcome of the game didn't affect the standings in any way since the Jets had clinched first place when Nelson beat Kimberley Saturday night ,and the Dynamiters couldn't catch the Leafs even if they had won.

Habs Blank Black Hawks; Leafs Take Third Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull was shut out for a second straight game in his bid to score his 51st goal of the season as Montreal Canadiens blanked Chicago Black Hawks 1-0 Sunday night.

The Canadiens rode Claude Larose's second-period goal to their narrow victory over the Hawks to boost their National Hockey League lead to three points.

Hull, who scored his 50th goal of the season last week to tie the record he already shares with Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion, former Montreal stars, now has failed in two successive games to establish a new scoring mark.

In Toronto Saturday night he was blanked, along with his team-mates, as the Leafs beat the Hawks 5-0. The Toronto game drew a sellout crowd of 14,996 fans who saw Hull shackled by Bruce Gamble, Leafs third fill-in goaltender since regulars Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuk have been out with injuries.

Hull, however, has 11 games remaining not only to set but improve upon the record.

LEAD BY 3 POINTS

Montreal's win Sunday night gave the team 74 points. Chicago is in second place with 71.

Toronto, who defeated Boston Bruins 5-3 Sunday night, moved into third place with 65 points, three ahead of Detroit Red Wings, who played the Rangers to a 1-1 tie at New York.

In Saturday's other game, the Canadiens whipped the Red Wings 7-2 at Montreal.

Montreal, playing Sunday night without defence star Jacques Laperriere, out for the season with pulled tendons, and scoring stalwart Henri Richard, who has a stiff leg, came up with a pivotal victory over the Hawks.

Assisted by Ralph Backstrom and Ted Harris, Larose scored the marginal goal at 10:05 in the second period.

Hull had a total of five shots on goal during the game but goalie Gump Worsley turned them all back as he did with 28 other shots on goal by the Hawks.

Chicago goalie Glenn Hall turned back 34 Montreal shots.

SHUTOUT STRING ENDS

At Boston, Gamble had his spectacular shutout string ended after a stretch of 171 minutes and 55 seconds, surrendering two goals six seconds apart.

Allan Stanley helped Toronto off to a 2-0 lead in the first period when he scored on the power play after setting up the opening goal by Frank Mahovlich, his 27th of the season.

Second - period goals by reserve Dick Gamble, a 37-year-old minor league veteran pressed into service because of injuries, and George Armstrong gave the Maple Leafs a 4-0 lead before Gamble's string was broken.

John McKenzie, who put two earlier shots over a clear net, finally scored on Gamble at 16:18 of the second period in a power play situation.

Tom Williams scored after the ensuing faceoff to close the gap to 4-2 but then Larry Hillman got his third goal of the year at 18:38 of the period to give the Leafs a three-goal lead.

TIES SCORE

Dean Prentice, a former Ranger, tied the score at New York with only eight seconds gone in the final period, lifting the puck into the upper part of the net over sprawling New York goalie Cesare Maniago.

CFL Players Seek Pension

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Football Players Association is seeking a pension plan for players in the nine-team Canadian Football League "at the earliest possible date."

This was announced Sunday in a statement issued after two days of closed sessions of the CFPA with players representing every club in the CFL in attendance. Ron Stewart, all-star halfback with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Eastern Conference, was appointed to head the Association's pension committee.

Norwegians Sweep Ski Championships

By KEN POLE

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—Toralf Engan and Chistoper Selbekk, members of the Norwegian national team, turned the Canadian ski jumping championships into a personal duel Sunday.

Engan, 26, a gold medal winner in the 1964 Winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria and Selbekk, 23, left Canadians and Americans far behind as they finished one-two in the Senior A division.

Max Pet, 24, of the Vancouver Ski Club won the Canadian native title and Colin Clegg of Edmonton won the Senior Bd vision crown.

The Engan-Selbekk duel Sunday held the attention of the 4,000 fans. The two men traded the lead three times before Engan finally won.

Selbekk's jumps were the longest but Engan—a five-foot-two inch showman with style and experience—won the crucial points with his flawless jumps.

Selbekk's leaps of 262 feet, 284 and 293 points were helped by the fact he was starting 11th and was jumping on a well-packed hill.

Engan, who jumped an unofficial 310 feet in practice Friday, had jumps of 254, 273 and 291 feet. He was starting seventh.

Engan's winning margin of 1.1 points—the jumpers are also scored on style — came when Selbekk wavered in flight on his final jump. Selbekk's jump of 293 feet set a new hill record, despite continuing snow that cut distances.

Pelt, a member of the Canadian national team, had the third-best jump of the day at 273 feet and earned third spot in the over-all competition.

Think you can talk her into it?

Yes. If she's a little self-reliant. And likes to get around and go places by herself.

Yes. If she's still a bit dependent. And relies on you for advice about mechanical things like cars.

Yes. If she's got lots of zest and energy. And doesn't mind shifting four fully-synchronized gears. Instead of just steering around town.

Yes. If she's a little bit lazy. And doesn't like pushing her way out of snowbanks in the winter.

Yes. If she's thrifty with pennies. And likes to save you money on little things like gas. And oil. And anti-freeze. And tires. And maintenance.

Yes. If she likes to be extravagant. And spend the money she saves on brocade wallpaper for the bathroom.

Yes. If she's flexible in her thoughts. And will let you lay out $800 or $900 on a used Volkswagen when she'd already had thoughts about a Hammond organ.

Yes. If she's strong willed. And insists you get the most for your money in a small car.

Your Individual Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, March 8, 1966

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Airies) — You seem to have the inside track now, so take advantage of it. Good opportunities indicated, but grasp them quickly or you could lose out.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) As with Aries, you, too, are slated for new opportunities for gain, but do not expect immediate returns. The advantages which will come your way are of the long-range—and enduring—type.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — You may have to step up your energies to accomplish what you would on this somewhat mixed planetary day, but don't let anxiety get the better of you. Eliminate all non-essentials from your schedules, maintain an even pace while handling the "musts", and you should do well.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) -You are an innately cautious person at times even too conservative to grasp at what is obviously a good chance to further your own advancement. Try to be a bit more daring—especially now, when some excellent, though unusual, offerings may come your way.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — An improved outlook, but don't take anything for granted Even though stars promise some new opportunities for success study each proposition and suggestion from the long-range point of view.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 2' (Virgo) — Planetary influences fairly generous, but there will be some disadvantages along with the advantages. Study every situation carefully, and your native intelligence and practicality will help you make the most of each.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—A day in which to avoid making hasty decisions, drawing unwarranted conclusions through lack of complete knowledge. You can make fine progress through your many skills, but remember that they can improve still further with practice.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — You may be faced with some delays in accomplishment, held up by unexpected—and tedious—delays. Don't fret. Your cue is to revise your system and delegate some duties to others. Don't try to take EVERYTHING on your own shoulders.

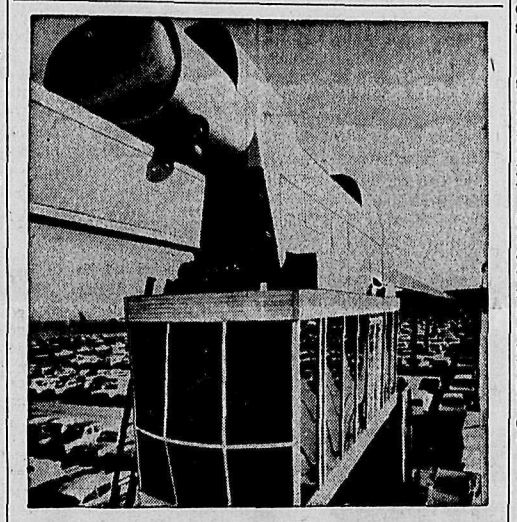
NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Saggitarius) — Care urged in legal matters now. The Sagittarian's foresight and good judgment are legendary, but even YOU could get caught up in unexpected intricacies and tricky angles if not on guard.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Despite a few obstacles, there are many benefits and new means of attainment indicated. In your zeal to push forward in BIG things, don't neglect small details, however.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — A fine day in which to capitalize upon your skills and gain substantial ground. Just one admonition: Avoil haste, or you could make needless errors.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — If associates seem to be in a stage of tension, don't become involved in their affairs. You could not only find yourself "in the middle," but could be distracted from following a profitable course of your own.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with personal magnetism, open-heartedness and helpfulness especially to the sorely distressed. Pisceans are renowned for their versatility, for their accomplishments in scholarly and artistic endeavors. You may strive too hard at times, depriving yourself of sufficient relaxation. On the other hand, when you Do decide that it's time for play, you can go to the other extreme and indulge in excesses, immoderation. Try to maintain a happy balance between work and play. Curb tendencies to lose confidence in yourself, give way to periods of pessimism. Try to realize that you have a lot going for you — and go with it! Birthdate of Luther Burbank, botanist.



MONORAIL SYSTEM FOR AIRLINE PASSENGERS—Final touches are being put on a monorail system to carry airline passengers from Houston, Tex., International Airport terminal to far reaches of the airport parking areas. It is expected to go into operation late in February following dynamic testing.

Mining Notes . . .

MANY EXPLORATION FIRMS SITTING WITH TREASURIES

Many of the mining exploration companies are sitting with fat treasuries awaiting the start of the coming season so that they can get their development programs started.

Those companies able to pick up properties in the hot spots such as Pine Point, Yukon, Stikine, Brenda Lake, Golden and some of the older areas of the province have had no trouble in having their stock options taken up and are looking for properties of merit. The east and west Kootenays contain some of the oldest mining areas int he province and due to the highly mineralized terrain are considered to hold good potential for mining making possibilities.

This should be the year for the Kootenays with metal prices as they are an intensive search is being made of old reports to reappraise mining properties that might now be economic. Metals such as silver, lead, zinc, copper, molybdenum and many others become popular with use and demand and of course these are the ones for the prospector to look for.

Gold is not popular at present due to price control and while demand is there, the grade of ore has to be high enough to pay for the cost of extraction plus a reasonable profit. As inflationary pressures increase, raising costs, more gold mines will be closing down and the world's supply of gold spread thinner. However, if you find a high grade deposit you could be in business.

Word is being awaited at the Silver King mine at Nelson as to plowing the road so that diamond drilling equipment can be moved into the property for an underground drilling program. Underground adits have been opened up for location of drill stations.

One of our newer mining operations in the district is the Kirsch Silver Mines Ltd., who are developing the Myrtle and Anna mines near Slocan, B.C. Mr. W. W. Tyler, P. Eng., has recently completed a report on these properties outlining a program for their development. The vein system on the Anna is quite similar to that of the adjacent Ottawa mine.

Work has been carried on all winter and preparations for shipping ore to Trail are practically completed. Arrangements are in the process of being made to have the company go public in the near future.

Slocan Ottawa Mines Ltd., at Slocan are on a selective mining basis with a cutoff grade of about $50.00 per ton. In recent months 16 carloads of ore have been shipped with an estimated value of $80,000. At a meeting of the company it was intimated that the Ottawa mill might be used by a lead property in the immediate vicinity.

Arlington Silver Mines Ltd., have worked continuously throughout the Winter at their Slocan, B.C. property achieving some success in obtaining new ore intersections which is frequently given to the press in considerable detail. The company has obtained several claims in the vicinity of the mine from individuals at prices from $7,500 to $10,000 with small down payments and the balance payable on an option basis over a number of years.

It is reported that Kelly Lotz has taken an option on the Hampton Group of mineral claims located on the left fork of Springer Creek near Slocan, B.C. This is a silver, lead showing and Mr. Lotze has put an access road into the property.

Johnsby Mines Ltd., of Silverton, B.C. recently reported that the Mammoth Mine 10 level is contributing an increasing percentage of ore to the mill. The Hecla ore reserves appear to be limited. Exploration and diamond drilling above and below known ore shoots is in progress. Other potential areas will be tested by raising and diamond drilling.

Ore to the mill Jan. 1, 1965 to Oct. 31, 1965 was 9,763 tons averaging 1.480 ounces silver, 4.22 per cent lead and 4.91 per cent zinc. Lead and zinc concentrates produced in the same period were valued at net smelter return of $274,000 giving a net operating profit of about $50,000.

Work has been continued throughout the winter on both the Antoine Mines and Slocan Charleston on McGuigan Creek and at Retallack, B.C. under the direction of Harry Hewit and L. J. Siega respectively.

The deal whereby the Continental Consolidated Mines Ltd., have taken over the Utica mine near Kaslo, B.C., has been reported as purchase price of $15,000 — $5,000 worthwith — $5,000 April 30, 1966 and $5,000 Aug. 1, 1966 plus 50,000 treasury shares — 25,000 issued now and 25,000 July 31, 1966. This property has an 80 ton per day mill on it.

Pacific Mines & Oils Ltd., have been carrying out their diamond drilling program on their Tam O'Shanter property at Riondel all winter having completed 5 surface holes to depths of approximately 500 ft. Intersections of mineralization have been encountered in No. 5 hole at 553 ft., and No. 1 hole at 393 ft. Assays are being awaited.

Two diamond drilling rigs have been put into operation at the Mid West Mines Ltd., Velvet Mine at Rossland, B.C. under option to Rayrock and Hydra Explorations Ltd. The objective of this work is aimed at extending known ore zones and exploring for parallel structures.

It is reported that a company by the name of Rainbow Mines Ltd., have taken over 1,297,000 shares issued of Monarch Mining Corp. Ltd., at a cost of 7c per share. Monarch assets are listed as $11,000 cash and two minerals claims near Nelson supposedly located west of the Queen Victoria mine.

Diamond drilling has been carried on at the Molly Gibson mine throughout the winter by Homestake Silver Ltd., and will be carried on so long as the road is safe to travel on prior to breakup. One long hole has been drilled and another one is up some 800 ft.

Due to the rapid development and expansion of the mining industry across Canada and particularly in British Columbia an acute shortage of skilled labor has developed which is curtailing development and production and in some cases threatening to close down operations. This situation is not going to lessen in the forseeable future as development of our natural resources must continue to provide jobs for future generations of young people.

The B.C. Institute of Technology at Burnaby has an excellent two year mining course that has been recommended by the mining industry to young high school graduates of the University Program that desires a good job, paying good salaries, with first class living and working conditions as mining technologists, awaiting them on graduation. Some of the subjects are English, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Draughting, Surveying, Geology, Mining, Hydraulics, Geophysical and other forms of prospecting.

The course will fit the student to work in underground or open pit operations and on exploration, achieving supervisory roles as mine superintendent, exploration manager, or supervisor in some other capacity. Mining as a career is well worth while investigating particularly in view of the shortness of the course.

Salmo . . . Await Word On Ymir Bridge

SALMO — Following a lengthy discussion Chamber of Commerce members instructed their secretary to write a letter to the Highways Department demanding a public explanation as to the long delayed opening of the steel bridge at Ymir.

There is a constant number of accidents or near accidents at this point and more and more people are becoming concerned with the delay in opening of the steel bridge said president W. Dorey. We get inquiries almost every day of the week from motorists driving through and it sounds foolish to tell them our government went ahead without first obtaining legal permission for right of way, he concluded.

During the evening, Earl Scott, a promotionist from the East was introduced and inspired members with his talk on ways and means of developing the area. He was passing through the district and stayed over to talk to C. of C. Salmo is ideally situated as the hub in the network of highways and the potentialities offer a wide horizon for greater development he said.

Before the meeting adjourned the possibility of having the occasional dinner meeting followed by a social hour was advocated to break the monotony of straight business and also to invite and encourage new memberships.
