NICOLA ATHLETES

MEET ON TUESDAY EVENING AND WILL ORGANIZE.

Proposed Nicola Athletic Association is Gradually Becoming a Fact. Sports of All Kinds to be Taken Up.

On Wednesday evening a number of young men gathered at the office of the Nicola Herald to talk over matters athletic with a view to the formation of a permanent association.

Ric. A. Fraser was voted to the chair and Rev. W. Govier appointed secretary protem.

Those present were much in earnest and the meeting without delay settled down to business. The chairman in a short address explained the object of the meeting. To form an association to provide healthy, clean sport and recreation for the residents of Nicola Valley. Under the auspices of the association it was proposed to include the games and sports in season. He advised to move slowly at first, form say a football club to be followed later as the winter drew on by hockey and curling perhaps. There were several boating enthusiasts present and it might be possible to establish a boating club next spring. A hunt club in connection would keep the ladies in touch with the association. To those interested in shooting he understood that on representation being made to the government and having the requisite membershership a rifle association could be formed. The government after official inspection providing rifles and ammunition. However these were only suggestions on his part and it remained for the members at a general meeting to decide as to the proper course to pursue.

The secretary stated that he had hever seen a locality which offered better opportunities to the sportsman and athlete than this party of the county. He advocated the early formation of a society such as proposed and was certain that it would develop into an institution that would be be a benefit and one that all would be proud of.

Others present spoke in a very encouraging tone and the outcome of the general discussion was the formation of a provisional committee composed of the following: Messrs, G. A. Lafferty, Rev. Wm. Govier, W. G. Murray, F. W. Ziegler, J. L. Menzies, R. H. Winny and Ric. A. Fraser.

The committee is to prepare plans for organization and submit them at the general meeting to be held at 8 p.m., Friday evening Oct. 6th, in Pooley's Hall, when all interested are requested to attend.

A membership list has been opened and is being extensively signed.

C. P. R. EXTENSION.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who was at Vancouver last week, said:

"We shall have to get to Nicola first, but in our report for this year we say that preparations are being made for a gradual extension through the Similkameen valley, with the ultimate intention of reaching Midway.

Alberni Impersonation Case.

In the Alberni impersonation case heard before Stipendiary Magistrate Yarwood at Nanaimo on Wednesday, the case was thrown out on technical grounds. The magistrate claimed that he could not accept the marks of the deputy returning officers of Cape Scott and Wellington as evidence that John Christian Nilson had voted in both places, as the marks of the two officers were not similar. It was pointed out that the act did not call for any specific kind of mark, but the court could not interpret this section of the law as it was interpreted by others.

WITHIN OUR GATES

THOSE THAT COME FOR BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

Capt. C. L. Flick Tells His Experience With the "Stranger" Who Has Visited Nicola Valley Since Railway Construction.

Since the first sod of the Nicola, Kamloops, Similkameen Coal Railway Company was turned, the stranger within our gates have been many and varied,

Some have worn good broadcloth, and, outwardly at least, have borne themselves as men well to do and on good terms with the world at large and the population of the valley in particular.

Others have been more lightly clad, in fact their clothing is more ventilated than is consistent with our keen mountain air o' nights. The well to do and seemingly prosperous individual is a gentleman who, while talking glibly upon the future prospects of our valley manages by adroit questioning to elicit valuable information from the settler Other quiet mannered strangers take one aside in confidence and ask as to the prospects of a docter, lawyer, or other branches of the learned profession.

Noticeable among our strangers are the Yankees, who, while sitting upon the stoop of store or hotel, absent mindedly pick up a specimen of ore or coal and ask questions as to the location of such specimens. There are other strangers within our gates who stay around and ask no questions at all—men who take long solitary rides to no one place in particular—men who, when questioned as the days journey blandly state they are on a visit to the back of beyond.

Another stranger well known to both rancher and storekeeper is the man who asks as to the possibilities of fruit raising on a large scale, a man learned about Pippins, Kings, Snows and other apples, one who speaks of scale and kindred pests as one to the manner born.

All these strangers have been brought within our gates by the fact that transportation is now assured in one of the most important valleys in the broad province of British Columbia.

TIMELY ADVICE.

Commenting on Spokane's new club, known as the "150,000 Club," the object of which is to use every legitimate effort to increase the population of that city to the number named, the Midway Star says: And there is no doubt it will be accomplished, as the members will make it clear to prospective settlers the many advantages and opportunities existing there. The right kind of material is there to do it, or anything else that is humanly possible. But it may be accepted as a truism that no place will grow and prosper unaided. It is the people that make the town, and not its locality, its resources, or other advantages. These all remain dormant if not exploited and given publicity, while some other locality situated perhaps in some out-of-the-way place, with fewer and possibly no natural advantages, but containing a good percentage of go-ahead people, will grow rapidly and become prosperous. If the law operates to retard legitimate enterprise, move everything until it has been changed to suit, but get it changed. From a commercial club, meet once a month and discuss ways and means of improving the town, and then push it along. Cut out the individual interests, with their antagonistic elements, for a while, and boost for the town as a whole, and the reward will come as surely as the sun will rise tomorrow. Nothing was ever achieved yet without effort, and nothing ever will be.

Marriages of Divorcees.

Marriages between people who have previously been divorced can no longer be solemnized in the Anglican Church in Canada. This definite decision was arrived at at the Anglican General Synod at Quebec after a prolonged debate. It was midnight when the final vote was taken, the discussion having occupied the whole of the morning and evening session. The debate arose upon a unanimous message received from the bishops asking the lower house to concur in a canon to the effect that no clergy within the jurisdiction of the Anglican Church in Canada shall solemnize a marriage between persons who have previously been married and divorced.

"The Empress."

The great tourist hotel under construction in Victoria by the C. P. R. has been named "The Empress" by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the railway corporation. The name follows the royal style of nomenclature followed by the C P. R. in christening its hotels its steamers and the lakes and landmarks along the Canadian transcontinental route.

The C. P. R. is looked upon as a "royal" road to the Orient, and the traveling public is to be reminded of the fact in o hundred different ways in a hundred different places.

Probably True.

A San Francisco Chinaman with the sententiousness of his kind, after some experience of American law, once remarked: Chinese law, first-class; man killeman, China, head off; no ketchee him, somebody head off, mebbee cousin head off. English law, second-class; him ketchee man, mebbee alee same head off Melican law, no good, too muchee Slupleme Court."

To Call Parliament.

The impression in most reliable source is that it is scarcely possible to call the Dominion parliament together earlier than February, on account of the time consumed by the Tariff Commissioner's tour of inquiry and subsequent deliberations of the cabinet, before the tariff revision will be ready for announcement to Parliament.

Celebration on May 24th.
