LIVELY TIMES IN BURQUITLAM

Maillardville Site for Municipal Hall Comes in for Rough Handling.

Ratepayers Get Together and Council Is Criticized—Protest Will Be Lodged.

There was an animated discussion last night at a meeting in the Burquitlam Agricultural hall over the proposed purchase by the Coquitlam council of the Lamoureux property in Maillardville as the nucleus of the municipal hall. The meeting was large and the attendance of Maillardville residents manifested the keen interest in the question.

Although no resolution was formally adopted, it is understood that a petition will be presented to the council at their meeting tomorrow, protesting against the proceedings, calling for a rescinding of the resolution and a referendum to the property owners of the municipality on the question.

Get Down to Business.

Mr. L. E. Marmont was unanimously appointed chairman and, while accepting the position, reserved his right to give his views on the matter.

Councillor E. Martin said that at the time of the election there was not much said about the site of the hall. It was rather side-tracked. The only thing he had heard of it then was that it would be put before the property owners for decision. At the meeting before the special one the council discussed the question and it was proposed to fix the Agricultural hall temporarily as a council chamber, with offices for the clerk. He was appointed to interview the society on the matter, but there was nothing done about it. At the last council meeting he was surprised when one of the councillors, after very little discussion, proposed that the property at Maillardville be bought.

Some of them were of the opinion that in the first place there was not enough ground there and in the second place the building was not suitable for purposes required. As to the location, the ground was wet and it was on one side of the municipality. His amendment for a reference to the voters was not carried. His stand at election time was that it should be decided by the whole of the voters and that was his stand last night.

It was all right for the council to think they could over-rule the people sometimes, but they could not do it all the time. He was perfectly willing to abide by the wishes of the majority.

Another Councillor.

Councillor Walker concurred in Councillor Martin's views. He thought at the time of the election it was agreed that it was to be decided by the ratepayers and he thought so yet. The building at Maillardville was unsuitable and not more central than Burquitlam. They had the ground there and they could put a new building up for pretty nearly as much as it would take to remodel the Maillardville structure. He did not think there was 100 yards of difference in the distance from the car terminals to both places. There were no other sites considered.

Councillor Foster said he supposed he was one of the culprits and he was there to face the music. Neither Councillor Martin nor Councillor Walker had reported any meeting they had with the agricultural society. On two occasions he had suggested in the council that the hall question should be referred to the people and not one of the council agreed with him. No one had the nerve to back him up. Councillor Martin thought that Councillor Atkins was going to support him to have the hall here and when he found he did not, he wanted it referred to the people.

Lively Cross-Fire.

Councillor Martin—How do you know?

Councillor Foster—You were not sincere when you said you wanted it left to the people. You said in the council, the first time, you wanted it here. You are not sincere now.

The discussion threatening to become personal, the chairman called for order and asked the speakers to confine themselves to the question at issue.

Councillor Foster—You are discussing the action of the council. It is immaterial to me where the hall goes. The roads interest me more than the hall. But when we were stumping the municipality we said we would work for the whole of it.

Councillor Mounce, from East Coquitlam, said he was satisfied with Maillardville and he considered it the most logical place between here and there. He did not consider Austin

HE'S THE LAZIEST MAN IN THE WORLD

Kansas City, June 3.—Edward Dunn, 28 years old, a native of Armourdale, a suburb, was pronounced today "the laziest man in the world" by a judge of the municipal court of Kansas City, Kansas, and was sentenced to hammer out a $500 fine in the workhouse. Dunn, broadshouldered and physically fit, allowed himself to be supported by his mother, 60 years old, a ragpicker.

AIR CLEARING IN THE BALKANS

Fall of Bulgarian Cabinet Strengthens Wings of Peace Dove.

London, June 3.—News of the resignation of the Bulgarian cabinet was receive in London late tonight. If true, it is likely to serve the ends of peace.

Dr. Daneff, the Bulgarian peace envoy, on his arrival at Sofia, is expected to reconstitute the cabinet. Probably his hasty summons home yesterday was for that purpose, for the fall of Guechoff's cabinet was expected. It was thought that the new ministry would consist of a coalition representing all parties.

The agreement for the establishment of a neutral zone between the Greeks and Bulgarians at Saloniki removes the tinder which was liable at any moment to cause a conflagration. The neutral line is purely provisional and is not intended to influence the future delimintation of the frontiers.

Premiers of the four Balkan states expect to meet first at some Balkan town, and if they fail to read an agreement will adjourn to St. Petersburg.

Greece and Turkey still are deadlocked regarding the renewal of ante bellum treaties, on which Greece insists before continuing the peace settlement.

WOODROW'S HAND SHOWS STRONG

President Wilson Takes Leading Part in American Tariff Revision —Free List.

Washington, June 3.—Reversing its former action in voting to place wheat, flour, oatmeal and fresh meats on the dutiable list, the senate finance subcommittee in charge of the agricultural schedule, voted today to place live stock, wheat and oats on the free list.

This action, it was authoritatively stated, was taken to meet the views of President Wilson, Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, and other administration leaders, who disapproved the decision to tax meats 10 per cent. compensatory to a duty on cattle in the Underwood bill, and to assess a compensatory duty on both flour and oatmeal. The vote to reconsider was taken in the sub-committee on a motion made by Senator Simmons, ex-officio member of all the sub-committees handling the tariff schedules, when he returned to the capitol from a conference with the president.

Wilson's Guiding Hand.

In this enlargement of the free list, President Wilson is known to have taken a leading part, as he did in the matter of raw wool and sugar before the ways and means committee. As he still is standing uncompromisingly with the wool and sugar schadules, so, it is declared, he will stand firmly for free cattle, sheep, hogs and free wheat and oats, now that this has been determined upon as the party policy.

The proposal to place for the first time in the country's history a tariff on raw or undressed furs has aroused loud protests from furriers and the sub-committee, headed by Senator Johnson, which has the sundries schedule under consideration, is now studying the situation. The Underwood bill proposed a rate of 10 per cent. on raw furs. A brief filed with the committee set forth that under the most favorable circumstances the estimated amount of revenue from such a duty, which the committee estimated at $1,500,000, would fall far below the estimated loss to American merchants, estimated at $6,000,000.

MAYBE VISITORS GOT SOME HINTS

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Friend Watch School Girls Cook, Make Beds, Sweep, Etc.

Washington, June 3.—A class of sixth grade school girls showed Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president, today how well they have learned to clean house and how much they have learned of domestic science. The president's wife and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, both of whom are taking a keen interest in the domestic science courses in the public schools here, visited one of the schools to see a class actually at work.

The inspected the model home, in which the little girls were working. The girls received a lesson each week in the art of making beds, sweeping and cleaning the rooms and preparing a simple meal, and in doing other things that a good housewife must know.

OLD FRASER IS COMING UP FAST

With a rise in the Fraser river of ten feet at Fort George and two feet at Mission, old timers are beginning to feel some anxiety as to whether the stream will overflow its banks.

The continued heat is having its affect on the snow at the headwaters and some trouble may be anticipated in the near future, although it may not directly affect New Westminster.

A number of old timers prophesied that there would be no serious freshet this year, but they are already weakening and at the present time many of them refuse to venture an opinion.

Citizens of Queensborough are desirous of meeting the city council with a view to having some further repairs made to the dykes there. The council has undertaken steps to have the dyke repaired where necessary, but the people of Queensborough are anxious and will take no chances.

JOB LOOKS GOOD TO AT LEAST TEN

Final arrangements were made by the executive of the Progressive association yesterday afternoon for the annual meeting which will be held this week.

A nominating committee was elected to ascertain from the different members whether they will stand for office if nominated and to otherwise make preparations to facilitate the work on the evening of the meeting.

A committee was also appointed to prepare copies of the constitution and to make recommendations if any changes are considered advisable.

Secretary Darling reported that ten applications had been received for the position of industrial commissioner and these will be turned over to the rangements had been finally completed whereby Mr. Leash, photographer of the association, would exhibit large panoramic views of the city and district in the B. C. E. R. depots in New Westminster and Vancouver.

The executive also disposed of the matter of compensation to Mr. Myers, secretary, who is at present on leave of absence and who is holidaying in England. It was pointed out that Mr. Myers was doing good work for the association in England and it was decided to carry out the arrangement and pay him $50 a month for May and June, and to leave the matter for the month of July for the new executive.

A number of letters from Mr. Myers were read at yesterday's meeting. He states that he is taking steps to get in touch with a number of wheat importing firms in England and that he had an interview with the editor of the Financial Post in this connection. Copies of letters written to the Canadian chamber of commerce in London and the replies he received were also read.

ELECTED MAYOR AT $6000 PER YEAR

Portland Chooses Chief Magistrate—Women Figure Heavily in the Voting.

Portland, Ore., June 3.—H. R. Albee will be Portland's first mayor under the commission form of government adopted at the recent charter election. His election is conceded by R. G. Rushlight, incumbent. None of the other candidates for the mayoralty approached Albee and Rushlight in the number of votes received.

Besides voting for mayor, the electorate chose four commissioners and an auditor. The newly elected officers serve for four years but are subject to recall. The mayor will draw a salary of $6000, while the four commissioners draw $5000 each. Nearly 80 candidates sought election as commissioners, and the vote is so close for the leaders in the race that it may be tomorrow before the names of the successful candidates can be announced.

Yesterday's election brought out about 59 per cent of the registration of 76,000. The women voted heavily.

Easy for Billings.

Chicago, June 3.—C. K. G. Billings, financier and sportsman, won the first contest today in the suits against him seeking to hold him as a director, liable for the losses growing out of the failure of the John P. Walsh banks, the Chicago National and the Home Savings Bank. The circuit court sustained demurrers to the bills in equity filed by stockholders, charging that Billings' lack of vigilance as a director caused losses of approximately $5,000,000.

GRASSHOPPERS HAVE THEM GOING

Uncle Sam's Department of Agriculture Developing Grey Hairs.

Pests Take to Personally Conducted Tours in Large Bunches Through New Mexico.

Washington, June 3.—Department of agriculture officials are in doubt as to how great will be the damage done by the various grasshopper invasions which have been reported from different parts of the country, including New Mexico, California, Idaho and Kansas. From the meagre reports which so far have been received here, it is gathered, according to Professor F. M. Webster in charge in this branch of entomological work, that the New Mexico devastation is by far the worst.

The department has sent an agent into the field there to help in the fight, but at this end officials are still in the dark because of the fact that the grasshoppers in New Mexico never before have been known to gather to swarms, and therefore have done no damage.

"What it may do is an uncertainty," said Professor Webster, "because this is the first time we have had to deal with it en masse." He expressed the opinion, however, that in a few more days after the young grasshoppers have developed wings, the swarm probably would break up into small units and fly off to various parts of the country, doing no particular damage anywhere.

The department has taken no action in the California, Kansas or Idaho cases.

With Fire and Poison.

Sacramento, Cal., June 3.—"Fight the grasshopper plague with fire and poison," was the direction to farmers and fruit growers from State Horticulturist Cook's office today. Crops will not be devastated if quick action is taken, but unless farmers get busy and fire their stubble fields, distribute their poison pellets and comb the ground with the "hopper doser" the invading locust may cause great damage.

EXONERATED AFTER LENGTHY PROBE

Governor Hatfield and His Doings in Connection with West Virginia Strike.

Chicago, June 5—Governor Hatfield, of West Virginia, is exonerated on a number of charges popularly circulated against him in connection with the West Virginia strike in a report to the national committee of the Socialist party today by Victor L. Berger, Adolph Germer and Eugene V. Debs.

The burden of resentment in the report is directed against Governor Hatfield's predecessor, Governor Glasscock. It was Governor Glasscock, says the report, who was responsible for martial law and many atrocities, which the report alleges, occurred during his administration.

Governor Hatfield is censured for suppressing two Socialist papers and imprisoning their editors, but the report quotes the governor as admitting that this action was unjust and declaring that the papers might continue to issue without molestation from the state administration.

One portion of the report, speaking of the governor, says:

"He further claimed he had abundant evidence with which to convict some of the leading strikers in the civil courts, but that he had not felt disposed to press the cases against them."

Tomorrow will be the Dollar Day of The News, when the business houses of the city will get together and see just how much value can be crowded into one hundred cents' worth. The stores are going to make a real specialty of this and the dollar bargains will be advertised in The News tomorrow morning.

A close scrutiny of the pages of The News tomorrow morning will pay you better than a sure-thing real estate investment.

You've never had this chance before and it's one that you can't afford to miss if you have one or several dollars to spend. You'll be able to catch snaps that you'd be tickled to death to pay double for on any other occasion.

GO HOME EARLY OR SLEEP OUT

C. P. R. Schedule Regulates the Wanderings of Port Coquitlam Residents.

Port Coquitlam, June 4.—Considerable dissatisfaction is being expressed by the citizens with the new summer schedule of the C.P.R. to Vancouver which practically curtails the time which they may travel to and from the city in one day, from about 8 o'clock in the morning to 6 o'clock at night. By the old schedule, passengers from this city could travel to Vancouver at a reasonable hour in the morning and return at 10 o'clock in the evening, but now, though they can get a train about the same hour in the morning, the last train at night leaves Vancouver at 6 o'clock.

A train leaves Vancouver at 8 o'clock but no district passengers are permitted to travel on it. The only alternative Coquitlam people have, if they miss the 6 o'clock train for home is to take the B. C. E. R. interurban car to Westminster and catch the last train for the Junction from that city, which leaves at 9:30. There is also some complaint as to Westminster branch service, particularly as to the last train, which hitherto left at 10 o'clock, but now leaves at 9:30.

At their last meeting the board of trade appointed a committee to interview the C. P. R. authorities as to securing a late train from Vancouver for the convenience of those desiring to spend the evenings in the Terminal City. Apparently the efforts of that particular committee have not met with much success.

"We asked for bread and they gave us a stone," said President Seabrook the other day, speaking of the matter. The new schedule will probably be discussed at the monthly meeting of the board of trade on Monday evening next.

TWO NEW SHIPS.

Contracts Let by C. P. R. for Pair of Princesses.

Vancouver, June 3.—The contracts for the two new Princess boats which will augment the triangular service of the Canadian Pacific out of Vancouver, have been let to William Denny & Bros of Dumbarton, Scotland, according to information received at the local C. P. R. offices. Orders for the immeditate construction of these palatial vessels were placed by Captain J. W. Troup, just prior to sailing for Canada, after consultation with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

Each steamship will be of about 5000 tons register and will be capable of transporting twice the number of passengers now handled by the Princess Charlotte, the largest boat in the service. Although few details have reached Vancouver, there is little doubt that some difficulty was experienced in placing the orders for the new vessels to be completed within a stipulated time as practically every shipyard in Great Britain is working overtime to keep pace with the big rush orders for new tonnage. The vessels are to be in operation by the spring of 1915 in order to handle a big share of the passenger and tourist traffic that will flood the entire Pacific coast with the opening of the Panama Pacific exposition.

ENGINES SOON GO INTO CARIBOO

P. G. E. Is Now Completing Survey at Horseshoe Bay—Road Waits on West Vancouver.

Vancouver, June 3.—Surveyors at work on the location of the Pacific Great Eastern railway down Howe sound will be sent, when they have completed the survey at Horseshoe bay, to Soda creek and Quesnel, important points between Lillooet and Fort George, on the main line. The railway will be rushed to completion in time for work on the grade this summer.

More than 2000 men are at work on the construction of the line between Newport and Lillooet in several different camps. Some work is being done on the section between Fort George and Lillooet, but the work must necessarily be delayed there until the survey is completed through Quesnel and Soda creek. Three parties of surveyors are already working on the northern section of the line and two more, with the surveyors from Horseshoe bay, will be sent north.

The survey around Horseshoe bay is expected to be completed at about the end of the week. When that is done the railway will be ready for the gangs, who will construct the grade through West and North Vancouver if the property owners there will give their approval.

Rain Saves Crops.

Topeka, Kas., June 3.—More than an inch of rain was reported in southern and southeastern Kansas today, bringing greater life to crops, which, it was feared, would suffer heavily from dry weather.

Heinze Wins.

New York, June 3.—August Heinze today won a suit brought against him by the state superintendent of banks to recover $300,000 on loans made to him by the defunct Union Bank of Brooklyn.

THIS WILL COST THEM SOMETHING

Mexican Guerillas Destroy English and Canadian Property.

Federals Worsted After Nine Hours' Battle and Commander Is Killed.

El Paso, Texas, June 3.—Forty railway trestles on the Mexico Northwestern railway on the line between Juarez and Casas Grandes were destroyed today by Castillo and his band of 150 federal mutineers on the refusal of the American officials of the English and Canadian-owned line to pay $10,000 for immunity from damage. Castillo and his band then moved out of the district and are reported headed for the Mexican Central railway.

So far as is known, Castillo is affiliated with neither federals nor insurgents. The district in which he is operating contains no federal troops other than the ex-rebels under General Salazar, from whose men Castillo recruited.

Another Gang Busy.

Brownsville, Texas, June 3.—After a desperate nine hours' battle, the federal garrison defending Matamoras, Mexico, was subdued by the troops of General Blanco, Constitutionalist commander-in-chief of the state of Tamulupec, at 9:30 tonight, and the city taken possession of by the revolutionists. Major Estaban Ramos, garrison commander, who was wounded early in the engagement, died in a Brownsville hospital tonight.

EIGHT YEARS OF INVESTIGATION

Inquiry Into United States Steel Started in 1905 and It's Still Going Strong.

New York, June 3.—Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, threw some interesting light today on the attitude of the Roosevelt administration toward the corporation when the then president ordered the bureau of corporations to investigate it in 1905, an inquiry which has been going on ever since. As a witness for the defence in the government suit to dissolve the corporation, Judge Gary introduced a heretofore unpublished letter from former Commissioner of Corporations Garfield, which contained a memorandum of a meeting between Roosevelt, Secretary Metcalfe, of the department of commerce and labor, Commissioner Garfield and Judge Gary in November, 1905.

This memorandum quoted Commissioner Garfield as saying that the object of the proposed investigation "is to afford the president full information of all the facts relating to the organization, conduct and management of the corporation upon which recommendations of legislation might be made.

"The president spoke of the question of over-capitalization," the memorandum continued, "not as applying directly to the steel corporation, but generally, and stated that it is, of course, usually impossible to undo that which has already been done, but that on this, as well as upon other matters, the work of the bureau is for the present and the future. In answer, Judge Gary stated that if, from the facts obtained, Mr. Garfield was satisfied that the United States Steel corporation was over-capitalized, it would be his duty so to state and that the steel corporation could not be punished in any more severe way than by such publicity."

NEED NOT PUT IN ANY EVIDENCE

Defence in Dynamite Planting Case Not Forced to Produce Any Witnesses.

Boston, Mass., June 3.—The guilt or innocence of William M. Wood, president of the American Woollen company, charged with conspiracy to plant dynamite on the premises of textile strikers at Lawrence must be determined by a jury without any direct evidence having been introduced by the defence.

Judge Crosby, presiding at the trial of Wood, Frederick E. Atteaux and Dennis F. Collins, over-ruled late today a motion of Henry F. Hurlburt, counsel, that the defence be compelled to submit direct evidence before the jury.

One Million More.

Bridgeport, Lulu Island, June 3.—The tax rate for the year was fixed by the council yesterday at 12½ mills, an increase of only one mill over that of last year. The assessment above last year is one million dollars.

INFORMATION ON RAILWAY LINES

Ottawa House Hears Figures on Government's Interest in Roads.

What Country Gives and What It Gets—No Land Grants for Canadian Northern.

Ottawa, June 3.—In introducing the resolutions providing for the subsidies to the Canadian Northern, Hon. Mr. Cochrane read a memorandum that presented a statement as to the aid which had already been given to the Canadian Northern and to the Grand Trunk Pacific. The present subsidies, he said, were to be paid in connection with the building of the transcontinental line from Montreal to Vancouver and in connection with the Toronto-Ottawa line. The subsidy would be divided as follows: For the 910 miles between Ottawa and Port Arthur at the rate of $12,000 a mile, $10,920,000; from Edmonton to the Yellowhead Pass, 260 miles at $12,000 a mile, $3,120,000; from Toronto to Ottawa, 250 miles at $6400 a mile, $1,600,000. The total would come to $15,640,000.

The Canadian Northern in turn was to transfer to the government its common stock to the par value of seven millions.

Although not on the market at present, this stock was of value and would prove a valuable asset to the Dominion, he believed. These securities could not be disposed of without parliament's consent. The grant for Toronto and Ottawa line was the usual subsidy granted where the cost of construction exceeded $21,400 a mile.

The question arose, said Mr. Cochrane what reason justified this aid and as whether in doing so it was assisting this transcontinental to a greater extent than the other transcontinental roads. Consideration had been given to this and a conclusion reached that the action was only fair towards the Canadian Northern railway. A comparison could not be made with the Canadian Pacific railway, he said, because the assistance that road received was on an altogether different basis. The land granted proved a tremendous bonus, but was not considered much of an asset at the time. Monthly grants and the construction of sections by the governments seemed more important in comparison. It must be remembered that the Canadian Pacific railway was the pioneer road and traversed a country very little known. A fairer comparison was made between the cases of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern railway.

The G. T. P.

The assistance given to the Grand Trunk Pacific was stated to be as follows: Guarantee of bonds for the mountain section, $50,292,000; for prairie section, $11,895,000, a total guarantee of $62,187,000; amount required for "implementing" bonds of the western section, $13,000,000; loan in respect to the prairie section, $10,000,000; seven years interest on the company's bond for the mountain section, $10,561,320; saving to the company by reason of the government having constructed the eastern section, $26,979,640.

The assistance given to the Canadian Northern including the present proposed subsidy was as follows: Guarantee of bonds, Montreal to Port Arthur, $35,875,000; Granview to Edmonton, $8,060,000; Edmonton to Yellowhead Pass, $6,720,000; a total guarantee of $50,655,000; cash subsidies, Ottawa to Hawkesbury, $367,872; Stanley to Fort Frances, $1,355,-

NORTH ARM PIPES.

South Vancouver Board of Trade Objects to 19 Feet Depth.

South Vancouver, June 2.—The council last night received a communication from the South Vancouver board of trade protesting against the proposal of the city of New Westminster to lay a water main across the North Arm of the Fraser to Richmond municipality at a depth of 19 feet. The board of trade considered that neither water mains nor bridges should be constructed across the North Arm which would be likely to impede the navigation of deep-water vessels.

A committee was appointed to consult with the New Westminster authorities in regard to the matter and also as to the possibility of the Royal City being able to supply South Vancouver with water.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES "ELECTRICAL FITTINGS"

Belfast, Ireland, June 3.—One thousand rifles with bayonets arrived here today on a steamer from Manchester in cases marked "electrical fittings." Detectives promptly seized them.

Government officials say they are fully informed on the plans of the Orange clubs to resist Home Rule.

The action of the authorities today was the first interference with the importation of arms.

AN INTERNATIONAL PROJECT.

The building of a railway from Washington state to Alaska and the Yukon through British Columbia, one of the many subjects to which Sir Richard McBride referred on Monday last, is a project that involves great international issues. At this time, when the celebration of a hundred years of peace between the two nations involved is being discussed, it is of especial interest.

One of the proposals which has been put forward in the United States for the consideration of the two nations is that the Alaskan "panhandle"—as the strip of American territory down the coast of this province is known—be returned to Canada. Should this be effected it will not be without some concession upon the part of Great Britain, but, what is of peculiar interest to us at this time, is that railroad communication with Alaska is mentioned in this connection as another of the bonds that might serve to mark this unique celebration of a century of peace. The railway's building will be considered should the interchange of territory be brought about.

By this means there would be assured to the United States easy access to its northern outpost, and therein both commercial and national issues are involved, for, with respect to the latter, the Alaskan coast would be made as defensible by American land forces as is the California coast today, providing of course that no objection was raised by Canada regarding the transportation of troops through her territory.

As far as this province is concerned, a railway of this nature, linking on to the Pacific Great Eastern, would have those beneficial results that were outlined by the premier. The northland is the land of promise for the future and it needs but the familiary key—that of assured transportation—to unlock its treasure house.

IMPORTANT CASE AFFECTING TRADE

Another decision of the supreme court of the United States has been rendered, following upon previous ones to a similar effect, which puts a decided "crimp" into a trade practice which has been of long standing, and which many profess to believe is essential to the well-being of jobbing and retail business.

The supreme court has decided that a patented article may be resold by retailers at a price below the retail price fixed by the manufacturers. Like the previous decisions on the same subject matter, the court was closely divided, five of the judges joining in the majority decision, while four dissented.

The majority held that while the patent laws give the holder of a patent the right to vend the article, that was not the same as the right to keep up the price.

In the case, by reason of the great interests involved, there were interventions, under leave of the court, of other manufacturers, and apparently the case was fully presented. The decision is final, for there is slight probability that a re-hearing will be granted, as there was a recent decision, corresponding closely to the present one, on which a re-hearing has been asked.

There are thousands of different articles, patented and otherwise, now being handled by retailers in the United States the selling price of which is fixed by the manufacturers, and the retailers of which are forbidden, under any conditions, to cut below that price.

This extends to foodstuffs, to drugs and to many articles of wearing apparel. The decision of the supreme court puts the ban on all such attempts to regulate the retail price, and amounts almost to a revolution in trade practices.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

A FLY CATECHISM

The following questions and answers were prepared by the Indiana state board of health and have been widely copied. The school board of Asheville, N. C., caused them to be passed in the spelling books used in the graded schools of the city.

Where is the fly born? In manure and filth.

Where does the fly live? In every kind of filth.

Is anything too filthy for the fly to eat? No.

Where does he go when he leaves the surface closet and the manure pile and the spittoon? Into the kitchen and dining room.

What does he do there? He walks on the bread, fruit and vegetables. He wipes his feet on the butter and bathes in the milk.

Does the fly visit the patient sick with typhoid fever, consumption and cholera infantum? He does, and he may call on you next.

Is the fly dangerous? He is man's worst pest and more dangerous than wild beasts or rattlesnakes.

What disease does the fly carry? He carries typhoid fever, consumption and summer complaint. How? On his wings and hairy feet. What is his correct name? Typhoid fly.

Did he ever kill anyone? He killed more American soldiers during the Spanish-American war than did the bullets of the Spaniards.

Where are the greatest number of cases of typhoid fever, consumption and summer complaint? Where there are the most flies.

Where are the most flies? Where there is the most filth.

Why should we kill the fly? Because he may kill us.

When shall we kill the fly? Kill him before he gets wings. Kill him when he is a maggot in the manure pile. Kill him while he is in the egg state.

IN CANADA'S STORY

Viscount Wolseley, better known to Canadians as Sir Garnet Joseph Wolseley, was born near Dublin eighty years ago today. A soldier's son, he was educated for a military career, and received his first commission at the age of nineteen. He had seen active service in Burma, the Crimea, India and China before coming to this country to settle the Trent affair, and later to command Canadian troops in the Fenian raids and the Red river expedition.

In the Red river campaign of 1870 he entered a wilderness and revolutionized army methods by adapting them to the customs of the Canadian voyageurs he kept his forces intact and well fed through a long campaign in the wilds. This adaptability to conditions and emergencies was the principal characteristic of the great soldier.

The Red river expedition was Wolseley's first campaign as a full fledged commander, and it made him one of the most famous men in Canada, but, unfortunately, England's attention was fixed on the Franco-Prussian war, and the young commander's American exploits attracted little attention in London. His Canadian experiences, however, were immensely valuable in after years, and especially in Egypt.

In 1882 he faced a military problem in the land of the pyramids for which there seemed no solution. He sent for a force of Canadian voyageur and, with their assistance, made the Nile his highway throughout his victorious campaign. For his service in Egypt he was elevated to the peerage and received a grant of $150,000.

Lord Wolseley's recent death was mourned throughout the empire, but nowhere more than in this country.

ALBERNI GOES ONWARD.

Alberni, June 3.—The high school is now assured, the two municipalities having bound themselves to furnish the $5,000 to supplement the Dominion grant. A site has been selected, and building will be started without delay.

Work has been going on for some time in surveying the site of an extensive power plant to be erected at Stamp's Falls. The enterprise, which as far as it has been made public, is a joint affair between the B. C. Electric and the R. P. Agnew Power company, is intended to supply light heat and manufacturing power all over the Alberni district and also to furnish motive power to a series of tram lines from Alberni to Long Beach, and ultimately to Strathcona Park.

It is further planned to haul coal by this means from the Cumberland valley for shipment by the Alberni canal.

THE MANAGER'S CORNER.

Take a walk down town some Saturday evening and watch where the crowds are making their Sunday purchases. You will find that the stores that spend the most money in advertising are doing the largest business. What more convincing proof do you need that advertising pays?

COUNCIL DISAGREES ON CEMETERY SITE

Selection Referred Back to Committee—Dr. Sanford's Send-Off—Injunction Sustained

Vancouver, June 3.—The city council has failed to come to a definite decision regarding the new cemetery site. Yesterday the recommendation of the health committee that the property offered by Mr. R. Kerr Houlgate consisting of the southern part of D. L. 143, containing 114.255 acres and the westerly portion of D. L. 148 containing approximately 101.794 acres at $900 per acre be accepted was referred back to the committee with instructions to ascertain information regarding the possibility of transportation facilities to the property and the cost of same, etc.

After objections to the land offered above had been advanced by Alderman Cleland, Mayor Baxter advocated postponing the whole matter for 6 months. To this Alderman Cameron strongly demurred.

Columbian Principal Honored

Tribute to the ability and kindliness of Rev. A. M. Sanford and Mrs. Sanford was rendered last evening when the congregation of Trinity Methodist church bade farewell to their pastor and the future principal of Columbian College, New Westminster. Mr. W. R. Hamilton, recording steward of the church, gave tangible expression of the members' appreciation of their leader by the presentation of a gold watch to Mr. Sanford while Mrs. Bradley, president of the Ladies' Aid, tendered Mrs. Sanford a case of cutlery.

Bridge Share Mix-Up

Vancouver, North Vancouver and other municipalities cannot transfer shares in the Burrard Tunnel and Bridge Company to aldermen and councillors entitling them to sit on the directorate of the company. This was the judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Murphy in supreme court chambers yesterday as a result of the argument last week, when Mr. A. E. Lucas, as a property owner, objected to the transfer of shares by North Vancouver municipality to certain of its citizens.

New Hospital Commission

The feature of a draft bill to be known as "The Greater Vancouver General Hospital Act, or the Burard Peninsula General Hospital Act," is that it wipes the present Vancouver hospital out of existence. It substitutes therefore an institution serving a district "bounded on the north by Burrard Inlet, on the west by English Bay and the Gulf of Georgia, on the south by the North Arm of the Fraser river and the present Burnaby-New Westminster boundary, and on the east by the Burnaby-Coquitlam line."

Women and Holidays

The Local Council of Women yesterday passed the following resolution "Resolved that this meeting declare strongly in favor of a half-holiday for all retail employees; that it endorses the action of the Retail Employers' Organization in its efforts to obtain same aims, and furthermore pledges its support by endeavoring to do all shopping before 1 p. m. on such day as shall be chosen for the holiday. Also we express the hope that retail employers shall concede this request as soon as necessary arrangements can be made."

Cadets Flock in

Nearly 400 students representing 12 city schools have made application to join the newly organized school cadet corps, and Lieut. A. C. Bundy who has charge of the organization work for the school board, has announced that the lists will be closed in a few days. Each of the school companies under individual instructors are now hard at work preparing for the summer encampment at Sidney in July. Over 500 boys will probably be under canvas of which about 100 or 150 will be members of the Highlander Cadet Corps.

Townplanner Arrives

Mr. Thomas W. Mawson, of London, who designed the plans for the improvement of Stanley park, arrived in the city yesterday. The purpose of his visit is to carry out several changes in scheme No. 4, as demanded by Colonel Hughes, minister of militia. He wil meet the park commissioners today and go into details of the changes desired.

Churches and Fallen

The bishop of New Westminster yesterday had a visit from two of the leaders of the sisterhood of St. John the Baptist, whose headquarters are at Clewer, Oxfordshire, England. The visitors were the Mother General of the Sisterhood and Mother Marity Angela, who is in charge of the branch house in New York city. It is possible that provision may be made by the Church of England for the care of delinquent women in the province by reason of this conference.

Play Ground Opened.

The four supervised play grounds established by the board of school trustees were thrown open to the public last night and large crowds, including nearly all ages, used the apparatus installed. There was no formal opening ceremony, and long before 6:30, the hour set for the opening, children were standing about in groups of twos or threes waiting for the supervisors to arrive. By the time the grounds were opened there was a large attendance of both old and young and they immediately set about to enjoy themselves.

Apparatus provided includes swings, giant ladders, see-saws, parallel bars, and in fact almost all the equipment found in an up-to-date gymnasium that can be adapted to out-door use.

New Steamer Service

Ganges, B. C., June 3.—It is reported that a new steamer is to be operated on the Gulf route, trading between Victoria, New Westminster, Nanaimo and the Islands. This should be very satisfactory if it fits into the C. P. off days, as Mayne, Pender and East Salt Spring feel the want of connection with Victoria on Friday so that they can ship perishable produce for the Saturday market.

If you only knew how nice it is, you would not lose much time in getting a packet.

DAWSON PUTS ON NEW HABILIMENTS

Virgin Gold Now Coming From Northland—Modern Improvements Replace Pioneer Shacks.

Dawson, Y. T., June 3.—Every day for six months of the year old Dawson sends out on the average more than $14,600 daily, in pure gold.

People who have been going to the coast and to Eastern cities, and circulating stories to the effect that Dawson is dead, should revolve the foregoing fact in their minds. Take the government figures, based on the royalty returns, and add the quarter million dollars from the American Yukon, all within a radius of 100 miles of Dawson, and the total yield of this marvellous centre must astonish, not only the world, but even the people who live within the city of Dawson, and inside this golden circle.

Other gold camps far and near will have to sit up and take off their hats to old Klondike. Certain states and provinces outside will show large gold returns for a year, but they cover vast areas, as compared to this marvellous old Klondike area, measured within the radius of 100 miles of Dawson. And the best of it is that the Klondike yield will continue to enlarge, and the placer output will not cease for a quarter of a century, and perhaps for twice that time.

Klondike is not large, frothy and bizarre, as in the early days—wine, women and cards, and all the accessories of the frontier camp are not here. A new era exists. Instead of the riotousness, with everyone facing a new condition daily, with empty poke now, and a streak of luck then. Dawson now is on a substantial basis.

Not Needed Now.

The old shells of buildings which the early stampeders left behind, many as useless to this town as ten tails to a dog, are standing, and not needed. They give the wrong impression to the visitor, and are responsible for much of the wrong impression about the town.

Were al lthe superfluous buildings removed, and only those now in use inspected it would be found that every home is far more comfortable, and every store and hotel and public building equipped far beyond the dreams of the first flush days.

Where wood was burned recklessly in great stoves then, now practically all permanent hotels and stores have steam, and hotels are equipped with everything to the luxury of baths, and running water the year round, showing the underground sewer improvement, have come with other reforms and the growth of conveniences.

Yukon's wealth outside of Klondike—that is, outside of the enchanted area within 100 miles of Dawson—also is being developed. The coal mines are becoming sources of great revenue, the copper mines are shipping daily hundreds of tons of ore, quartz properties are begining to yield their contributions, agriculture has developed into an industry, and now stock-raising is coming to be a factor in the territory.

LETHBRIDGE ADOPTS COOPERATIVE METHOD

Farmers Plan to Operate Varied Enterprises Under One Central Organization.

Lethbridge, Alta., June 3.—Central farmers' markets for the handling of mixed farm products, a public stock yards, an abattoir, a cold storage and ice manufacturing plant, a hay and wool storage warehouse, an automobile storehouse and a packing plant will all be in operation in this city by fall if the gigantic move now on foot materializes.

A company under the name of the Southern Alberta Co-Operative Commission and Refrigerating Company, Ltd., is being formed with the associated board of trade behind the movement.

This year's crop of wool, which will be ready to load in about six weeks, will be shipped via the Lethbridge-Weyburn line from a point 25 miles southeast of Stirling. The request of the wool growers has been complied with by the C. P. R., according to information received this morning.

They received word from the local freight office to the effect that the traffic department were taking the matter up with the operating end of the road and facilities for handling the clip will be installed shortly. A clerk will be sent to the terminus to check and weigh the wool and it will be handled through the Lethbridge or Stirling office.

R. C. Harvey, president of the Wool Growers' association, and J. T. Heninger, of Wellington, were incidental in securing the use of the new trackage on the Weyburn line, and it will mean a huge saving to the sheepmen. Their shearing corrals will be located rights at the terminus loading platform, thus saving an immense haulage expense. Shearing will commence on Monday.

KARLUK NOT GOOD ENOUGH FOR TRIP

Captain Bartlett Does Not Like Stefannson's Ship—Not Likely to Sail June 10.

Victoria, June 3.—While Captain Robert Bartlett will probably eventually leave Victoria on the schooner Karluk, as sailing master of the vessel purchased to convey the Stefansson expedition to the Arctic, he will not do so as soon as expected, on June 10, and will go only to make the best of the position in which he now finds himself. That the vessel can not be got ready to leave Esquimalt by June 10 is the opinion of H. Johansen, the Danish naturalist and the most recent arrival of the Stefansson party.

Captain Bartlett's trouble is not the date of sailing, but the boat. It is no secret now that Captain Bartlett is not impressed with the Karluk as a vessel for exploration purposes. Friends of his say he looked on the schooner with very bad grace on his arrival and that his opinion has not improved on closer acquaintance.

Speaking to Dr. Forbes-MacKay, the physician of the party, and to others, Captain Bartlett has said the Karluk is not a fit boat for the trip and that the old schooner is more fitted for an exhibit in a museum than for the exploration of the Arctic. While Captain Bartlett will make no statement of his opinion publicly, it is no secret what his opinion is.

"The Karluk is fit for a museum," he told friends who frankly repeat his words, "but as I am here and the expedition is formed, it will be as well to make the best of the affair, and I will sail in her when the time comes."

Others of the party are not entranced with the Karluk as a vessel. They say she may not be stout enough for the work, however good a sailer she may be.

Buy a Sealer.

When the expedition sails the Karluk will be accompanied by a tender and negotiations have been opened to buy a sealer here. The deal is not completed, the delay being caused because of the necessity of getting a tender equipped with auxiliary power.

Mr. Johansen figures that there will be delay in starting, because he is to have a laboratory installed on the Karluk and that will take quite a while. He says it is extremely improbable that the outfitting for him can be accomplished in the time named. Other preparations are not yet nearly complete.

"There will be two parties," Mr. Johansen says, "a northern and a southern. The northern party will proceed as far north as possible in the Karluk, while the southern, under the command of Dr. Anderson, will make extensive topographical and possibly ethnological observations on the islands north of Alaska. There is a tradition among the Eskimos that Victoria land, the large and practically unknown island, is inhabited by some Eskimo tribe.

"We are going to have a small ship for the southern party, and we have several in view, although no definite arrangements have been made as yet.

"When at Ottawa, Dr. Anderson, M. Beuchat, the young French anthropologist, four Canadian members of the expedition and I had a most interesting interview with Mr. R. W. Brock, director of the geological survey, and we discussed all the plans in connection with the expedition," he said.

"It is our intention to anchor in the fiord running into Victoria land, near the Mackenzie river. Here we shall have a splendid opportunity to make investigations into this unknown land. This country is believed to be full of big game, especially caribou. The Eskimos have found large supplies of copper here, and there will be a geological survey to ascertain whether there are mines or boulders. So little is this country known that parts have never even been named. Over 100 miles of the northeast coast will have to be mapped, the other part was partly explored by Captain Hansen, who followed the Amundsen expedition when the Gjoa sailed through the northwest passage.

Copper Up There.

"The flora and fauna are unknown also. Undoubtedly the most important part of this expedition will be the search for these copper deposits which, according to all indications, are the largest on the North American continent.

"As to myself, I am entrusted with the task of finding the depths of the waters in the neighborhood of Melville islands and Prince of Wales island. I shall have a motor boat, and make thorough hydrographic surveys of these waters. The economic importance of this examination may possibly be of enormous value as it may change the routes of ships cruising in these waters."

Mr. Johansen is no novice at this kind of work. He was one of the members of the famous Mylius Eriksen expedition which made valuable discoveries in Greenland a few years ago.

Mr. Stefansson reached Winnipeg last night and left immediately for Wynard, Sask., to visit his mother. He has cancelled all his Canadian club lecturing engagements and will leave Wynard on Thursday for Victoria direct.

SWEPT ON LOG JAM.

Kamloops' Constable Rescues Three Men After Strenuous Battle.

Kamloops, June 3.—Three men stranded upon a jam of logs fourteen and one-half miles up the river had an unfortunate experience last Friday night.

The unfortunates were drifting down the stream upon a raft which the rushing water carried against the logs upon which the men were thrown. Their position was peculiarly precarious, for the violence of the torrent was such as to threaten the break up of the aggregated logs.

For several hours Constable Dallin was unable to render any assistance, as he could not persuade anyone to send a boat up the river dotted with drifting logs in the gathering darkness. At 3 o'clock next morning, however, he started up stream, and at about 6 o'clock rescued the three men from the dangers which had threatened them since the previous afternoon.

COAL MINING rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

TAKE THOSE GIFTS THE GODS SEND YOU

New Westminster has just been reminded of some of the products which are being turned out by her citizens, and there appears to be room for a reminder regarding the many useful institutions, many of them Canada-wide in their scope, which are to be found within the city's corporate bounds.

One of these institutions and one which touches the life of the bulk of the citizens most nearly is that of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

A branch of this order has been organized here and a nurse who may be found at the Y. W. C. A. is here ready at all times to carry on the work which has made her order an adornment to the womanhood of Canada.

The Victorian Order.

No better work is being done in Canada than that which is being carried on in cities and in isolated districts by the Victorian Order of Nurses. There is great suffering in both these environments which individual effort can do little to relieve.

Among the poor of large cities, the employment of a resident nurse is out of the question. Neighbors or rich and generous friends can do something for the suffering mother or for the chronic invalid, but such help is in the nature of things uncertain.

The Victorian or district nurse is employed regularly to care for the sick and relieve the suffering of the old or the weak. In the case of the wife who has a young daughter, an old mother or a husband to watch her, the care of the visiting nurse is quite sufficient. For the moderate charge of $10 she cares for her and her baby for ten days. The woman who pays this fee is under no obligation except gratitude for the tenderness and sympathy which money cannot buy.

Aid Never Refused.

On the other hand, aid is refused to no one in need, no matter how small a sum can be paid or whether any remuneration can be given. In many homes where families are large, the difficulty of accommodating a resident nurse, as well as of paying her salary, forces the family to dispense with her services before it is wise.

In cases where surgical dressing is required or where the woman of the house has not the strength to change the bedding in order to make a patient comfortable, a trained nurse can, in an hour or less, do all that is necessary. For such a service a fee of half a dollar is charged, if it possible for the relatives to pay it. There are, however, many cases in which nothing is expected and in which the nurse's services are gladly and freely given.

Many young mothers have very little knowledge of the care of babies and the little ones pine and suffer. This is a subject to which the district nurse devotes special attention, and her advice will be freely given. In this work of lowering the death rate among infants every woman of experience, and especially every nurse, is specially interested.

Specially Trained Nurses.

It must not be thought from anything that has been said that the Victorian Order of Nurses prescribe for patients. They do not attend patients except where a doctor has been consulted. But in matters of cleanliness and sanitation they can be of the greatest help to the inexperienced home nurse.

It must be remembered that nurses of the Victorian Order are not only graduates, but are specially selected for their fitness for the duties they will be called upon to perform.

Help is hard to get, and many a mother breaks down under a strain that might have been lightened if she had taken advantage of the presence in the city of a nurse of the Victorian Order. No consideration of mistaken pride ought to stand in the way of obtaining relief for his wife which a district nurse can give on the part of men of limited means.

It will be easily seen that a society which does so much good to women and children is well worthy of the support of the whole community, but this side of the question can be better dealt with in another article. The organization is here in New Westminster and people are foolish if they do not use it to the fullest extent necessary.

REGINA'S VACANT LOT GARDEN SCHEME PROSPERS

Regina, June 3.—All plowing and harrowing has been completed in connection with the vacant lot gardens.

The committee announce that 70 lots have been cultivated, and that by Tuesday evening next all these will be taken.

These lots are fairly well scattered throughout the city, and many of them are on prominent streets.

The City Planning Association are well satisfied with the success of the movement this summer, and feel sure that it will prove so popular that there will be a very large demand for these lot gardens next spring, when it is anticipated a much more extensive program will be carried out.

Only five or six lots remain to be allotted and the committee is very anxious to have these arranged for by Tuesday night, June 3, as that is about the latest date on which gardening may be undertaken with any assurance of success.

PROVINCIAL POLICEMAN RESTS AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Ladysmith, B. C., June 3.—After twenty years of faithful service in the district tributary to Ladysmith Provincial Police Officer George Cassidy did duty for the last time on Saturday. Ill health has forced Mr. Cassidy to resign his office, and he hopes that rest on his farm may restore him to his former state of health.

Mr. Cassidy first acted as constable in the district when when Ladysmith started he was removed to this point, and here he has remained since with the exception of a couple of months at South Wellington. After Ladysmith was incorporated as a city, of course, his duties were confined to the district.

MILITANTS FIND NO FAVOR THERE

Father O'Boyle Deals With Suffragettes in Plain Terms—Church Is Work for Womanhood.

The tactics of the militant suffragettes being followed out in Great Britain received short shift at the hands of Rev. Father O'Boyle, former priest of St. Peters' parish in New Westminster and now in Vancouver, who preached to the children of Mary Sodality in Vancouver on Sunday evening. Father O'Boyle treated the suffrage women as being blinded by notoriety who were becoming Magpies. He contended that womanhood had been raised from its position of inferiority among Jews, Mohammedans and pagans by the Catholic church, whose ideal of womanhood was the Blessed Virgin. The following are a few exerpts taken from the sermon of the former Westminster priest:

"We hear a lot about female emancipation nowadays. The church says that woman is the equal of man in origin and destiny. All children of God in faith. That was how Christ stood on the equality of the sexes, but equal rights did not mean the same rights. Woman has greater sympathies, quicker instincts, the mother love and greater endurance, and to impress these attributes on us God gave us our truest ideal of womanhood in the Blessed Virgin.

"Mary gave chivalry to the world, and is held up to generations as the peerless and sinless one. That is perhaps why a fallen woman is so severely judged, because of the purity of our great model. Mary did not proclaim her message from the street corners, she stayed at home, submissive and devoted to her son."

Woman's Vocation Unchanged

The preacher denied that woman's vocation had changed since the day of Christ although the spheres for women had been extended. He went on to say that the ideal of womanhood is the same now as then, nor will the evils of the social system be improved by women being mixed up in political questions and agitations.

The Amazonian women seemed to assume, said he, that if God had consulted them before He made woman, instead of giving her Adam's spare rib, He would have given her Adam's whole system. The political woman becomes blinded by notoriety and loses all true womanhood, becoming more or less a magpie, all plumage and chatter, but just as useless in the role God has destined for her as the other female, vulture-like, preys on man's soul.

Woman suffrage was not a matter of faith, he contended, it was merely a secondary matter when compared with the rearing of children and the woman who rears boys might far more effectively sway even the strongest governments in the world.

"When St. Joseph received the command of the angel to arise and fly with his family, can we imagine Mary calling together a congress of the women of Nazareth or reading a paper to denounce the angel for giving St. Joseph the message first?" he asked.

"No twentieth century woman was Mary, her one aim was to be, in obedience and gentleness, supreme in the care of the house. That makes all the difference between the child of Mary and the child of the world today."

At the close of the sermon about twenty candidates were enrolled in the soldality, and the service concluded with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

KEEP MILK COOL IN WARM WEATHER

Toronto Medical Health Authorities Exhibit Home Made Method in Ice Boxes.

Toronto, June 3.—The fact that scores of babies and children in Canadian cities and towns are made seriously ill during the summer by drinking milk which has stood for fours in a warm place and teeming with bacteria, has caused the medical health department of Toronto to exhibit a cheap, yet practical home-made ice box. The box is a home-made affair which can be built for about 20 cents and will keep a five-cent piece of ice for twenty-four hours.

A small wooden box about eighteen inches square and fifteen inches high is lined with thick paper. The top, also paper lined, is attached with a couple of small hinges and made to fit closely. A cheap tin pail about twelvei nches high and fifteen inches across the top is placed in the paper-lined box and tightly packed around with clean sawdust, which is an excellent non-conductor of heat.

Ice and bottles of milk may be placed directly in this pail, but it will be found easier to empty the water from the melting ice and to keep the ice box clean if a smaller pail (jam or lard pail with a cover) is used to hold the ice and placed within the larger one.

A bottle of milk in the inner pail wil lremain at a temperature of 40 degrees for 24 hours, while food supplies placed in the outer can will be kept in excellent condition.

CARDINAL VAUGHAN RED HOT ON DANCES

London, June 3.—Farther Bernard Vaughan, addressing the Catholic Women's League on the subject of the freak dances, said:

"There is not much need of my expressing any view about those dances which of recent date have been imported from the zoological gardens into London drawing rooms. Their very animal names imply their animal nature. Not even the negro and the negress think of breaking into such performances except when they are drunk."

G.T.P. WILL APPEAL FORT GEORGE AWARD

Cabinet Looks With Disfavor on Similar Actions—Recent Decision Reversed Previous Ruling

Ottawa, June 3.—The Grand Trunk Pacific, in conjunction with the Grand Trunk Townsite Company, has filed a motion of appeal to the governor-in-council against the judgment delivered by the board of railway commissioners recently in the Fort George Townsite case. W. H. Biggar counsel for the Grand Trunk Pacific, gave official intimation of the decision tonight, and the opposing interests involved are determined to fight the appeal with all their power.

This appeal will add to the long list of such appeals to the governor-in-council from the ruling of the railway commission which have been filed since the present government came into power. The interests in the case are exceedingly complicated, as in the case of the Hazelton townsite case, a number of real estate companies being implicated.

On March, 1912, the late Judge Mabee, chairman of the commission, was requested by the Natural Resources Securities company to make an order compelling the Grand Trunk Pacific to locate a station within two or three thousand feet of the townsite of Fort George.

Much evidence was heard, and the hearing was adjourned on the understanding that when the railway, then under construction, approached Fort George, the application would be renewed, and that the station would be located at some point, within at the most, 7000 feet of Fort George.

Sanctioned Location

Two months ago the Grand Trunk Pacific made application for the approval of a station at Prince George, which was at a point at about a mile and a half east of Fort George. Without considering the former application and without being in possession of the facts in connection with the case an order was made by the board sanctioning the location of a station at that point.

Immediately after this order was made the Natural Resources Securities company, who saw in the order an attempt upon the part of the Grand Trunk Townsite company to depreciate the value of Fort George property ,much of which had been sold on the strength of the station being located near it, applied for an order for the setting aside of the previous order, and for location of a station at Fort George. They were backed by residents of the districts.

Previous Orders Rescinded

After considering the evidence, the application of the Natural Resources Securities company was complied with the previous order was rescinded and an order was issued requiring the Grand Trunk Pacific to locate its station 3000 feet east of Fort George, which was practically the point tentatively decided upon in the first judgment of Judge Mabee. The ground given for rescinding the former and for making the new was that the first order had been granted without full consideration of the various interests involved against this latter judgment.

The Grand Trunk Pacific has now filed notice of appeal to the governor-in-council. For the Natural Resources Securities company, R. A. Pringle will act as counsel as he has throughout; Clive Pringle and George Henderson are acting for the residents of Fort George, while W. H. Biggar and H. H. Hansard are acting on behalf of the Grand Trunk Pacific interests.

It will be recalled that when the last appeal was made from the ruling of the board in a certain case, Premier Borden plainly expressed his disfavor of such appeals, and indicated that he and his cabinet did not desire that it should become a regular practice.

SWOLLEN RIVERS DAMAGE PROCTOR

Proctor, B. C., June 3.—Owing to the immense amount of water coming down from the mountains all the creeks in this neighborhood are causing a considerable amount of trouble. Mill creek at Harrop is the worst, and has already done damage, though it is hoped that the gang of men who have been working there all the week, some 60 in number, have got it under control.

The chief sufferers are J. J. Wilson, architect, who has had to move the greater part of his furniture out on to his ranch, the creek having washed awya the bank to within four feet of his house. The Canadian Pacific railway track has been undermined in several places and traffic was held up from Monday night until Thursday morning.

The government road leading down to the wharf at Harrop has been practically all washed away, and the ranch of Mr. Cadzo, who is away in the old country, has suffered. On the west side a track eight feet wide and four feet deep has been made right through his ranch, several apple trees being swept away, and there is still another stream running the whole length of his ranch on the east side. The road bridge from Proctor to Harrop has also gone.

A gang of men has also been called out to keep the Narrows creek clear, and the small creek which runs through Proctor is engaging the services of more men. Considerable damage has been done to the gardens of Grant McKean and J. Parkinson, and yesterday the Canadian Pacific railway had to remove two stringers from the bridge by the depot to allow the water to get away fast enough.

NEW STEEL BRIDGE ACROSS THOMPSON

Contract Awarded for New Link in Highway to Northern Interior—Will Cost $80,000.

Lillooet, June 3.—Contracts for the construction of the new steel bridge that is to span the Thompson river at Lytton, forming an important link for the accommodation of traffic on the Hope-Lytton road and on up the Fraser through Lytton to the Lillooet and Cariboo districts, have just been awarded by the provincial department of public works, the Canadian Bridge Co., Ltd., of Walkerville, Ont., being commissioned to supply the superstructure metal and the contract for the substructure and erection of the superstructure going to the Graff Construction company, of Vancouver.

The steel superstructure includes one span of 250.3 feet highway and two 70-foot spans and one 50-foot deck plate girder span, completion of the bridge in its entirety being expected to involve an expenditure by the province of approximately $80,000.

Such is the present state of the steel market and the demands upon it that it is said to be impossible to secure delivery of the required structural material before next March, although it had been hoped to have the bridge completed prior to then, and certainly in time to afford a requisite connection when the trunk road from North Bend to Hope is made passable, this section then becoming an important part of the main provincial highway scheme.

BUYING EGGS BY POUND MAY COME

Toronto, June 3.—The buying of eggs in the near future is destined to become an art. The produce dealers having decided to buy and sell eggs according to quality, the whole Canadian egg trade is about to undergo a marked reformation that will change the whole aspect of the domestic situation in regard to this needful commodity.

No longer will the frugal housewife have to complain of the deficiency in the quality of her baking and cooking through the use of inferior eggs supplied by her grocer. In the future she will know exactly what grade of egg she is purchasing. This new system may be even further revolutionized and the long-looked for method of selling eggs by the pound may come into force. The latter, however, is merely a possibility.

The System of Old.

"To the average householder the buying of eggs has always seemed unsatisfactory," remarked a dealer this morning. "Eggs have been purchased by the dozen regardless of size and quality, which system has very often resulted in the customer receiving small and inferior, and occasionaly bad eggs. Unscrupulous dealers have victimized purchasers time and time again by this system and it has even resulted in the cry that eggs be sold by the pound instead of the dozen.

"To the producer it has also had its evil effect," he continued. "The product has been purchased by number regardless of quality and this has resulted in a growing inclination to furnish dealers with eggs in all stages of decomposition. It has resulted in the dealers paying farmers low prices and raising the price to the consumer and in this way the loss has been borne by the producer and the consumer and not by the dealer."

Better the Situation.

This subject has come under discussion by dealers at many times and at last a movement was inaugurated with the purpose of increasing the production and bettering the quality of Canadian eggs through the adoptions of an improved system of marketing. The system to be adopted is known as the "loss off" system under which the producer will have to make good the bad eggs which he consigns to the dealer. This went into effect on June 1st.

The produce dealers as a whole are behind the movement and will do all possible to further the scheme. Retail dealers are favorable, too, and consumers may receive the satisfaction of receiving what they pay for. It may, however, result in a rise in the prices.

RECORD DRIVE.

Logs Cause Trouble at C. P. R. Bridge—Had to Use Dynamite.

Grand Forks, B. C., June 3.—The last of the drive of the Western Pine Lumber compnay has been landed at Smelter lake. The drive this season comprises ten million and a half feet, and was brought down the North Fork in record time, only thirty-seven days elapsing between the time the first logs were dumped into the river and the time the last reached the lake.

On the main river the drive of the Forest mill, which is stated to run nearly fifteen million feet this season, has been passing through the city all week, and has caused the Canadian Pacific a little trouble at their bridge, owing to a jam forming the early part of the week, which had to be broken up with the assistance of dynamite.

CRIMINAL COURT MAY GET THEM

Washington, June 3.—Whether the decrees of the United States courts dismembering the Standard Oil and Tobacco "trusts" into separate units are being carried out in letter and spirit was considered today by the Wilson administration with a view to possible institution of the most important anti-trust moves yet contemplated by the president and Attorney General McReynolds.

In the Standard Oil case the attorney general received from Charles B. Morrison and Oliver E. Pagan, his special assistants, a report on the results of their investigation of conditions in the oil industry and began consideration of the question whether the facts disclosed would justify the department of justice bringing contempt of court or criminal proceedings against oil interests on charges of violation of the dissolution decree.

Tonight the discussion was on the tobacco case, practically the entire meeting of the cabinet being devoted to considering whether surface conditions in the tobacco trade warrant the attorney general in bringing on investigation similar to that just finished in the Standard Oil case, to determine whether the decree of dissolution is being violated. The attorney general after the meeting was non-committal as to whether the inquiry would be undertaken.

Wardrobe Trunks Doomed.

Seattle, June 3.—All the general baggage agents of American transcontinental railways have banded together to do away with trunks exceeding 72 inches in length. They are upheld by the interstate commerce commission. This means the total extinction of the wardrobe trunk, capable of carrying any number of hats and feminine dresses for summer wear.

What would John Knox Say?

Hot Springs, Ark., June 3.—Hell and hellfire are myths, in the opinion of members of the International Bible Students' association, who are holding a district convention here. A resolution asks ministers to discard the offending words and cease teaching literal interpretations of them. The resolution also asks that the words "sheol" and "hades" be interpreted to mean tomb or grave.

Pope Celebrates Birthday.

Rome, June 3.—Pope Pius, besides innumerable congratulations, received many presents in commemoration of his 78th birthday anniversary, which he celebrated yesterday. The pontiff kept his secretaries, his sisters and his niece as his guests at luncheon. During the progress of the meal the band of the papal gendarmes played in the courtyard below.

Queen Mary Did It.

Toronto, June 3.—Standing beside a telegraphic instrument in a room in Buckingham palace this afternoon, Queen Mary pressed the electric button which opened the doors of the new Queen Mary hospital for consumptives at Weston, near here. Great crowds had assembled on the lawn at Weston. The opening of the door was greeted with hearty cheers.

Perfectly Justified.

Seattle, June 3.—Mrs. Jennie Perry, the 19 year old wife of a cook on the steamship Senator, was exonerated by a coroner's jury today of all blame for the killing of Louis Perrica, a cook on the steamship Spokane, who was shot by Mrs. Perry when he attacked her in her home last night. The jury found that the shooting was done in self defence and was justifiable. As soon as the verdict was returned Mrs. Perry was released from custody and was sent home with her three babies, the oldest of whom is under three years of age.

Reform Defeated.

Los Angeles, June 3.—The early count of today's municipal election indicates a defeat for the reform element which has controlled the city since the recall of Mayor Harper five years ago. Incomplete returns from 339 out of 466 precincts give Harry H. Rose, independent, 20,275 votes, and John W. Shenk, municipal conference candidate, 18,019 votes.

Toot-Tooters Gather.

Washington, June 3.—Organization was completed here today by the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. Representatives of many locals proposed amendments to the constitution and bylaws, most of them applying to the benefit insurance feature.

Will Not Stand for It.

London, June 3.—The aeroplane race around London, arranged by the Daily Mail, has been forbidden by the government, and cancelled. The proposed race around Great Britain in August has also been vetoed by the recent regulations forbidding aeroplane racing in certain areas about naval and military stations. It is likely new routes will be chosen.

Japan Must Wait.

Tokio, June 3.—No legal action in connection with the California alien land ownership legislation can be instituted by Japan until the end of August, when the measure goes into force, according to Baron Nobuaki Makino, the Japanese foreign minister, in replying to enquiries made by Japanese members of parliament. In the meantime, he said, negotiations between Tokio and Washington would continue.

Teaching Them Early.

Cleveland, O., June 2.—Five hundred girls in their early 'teens, pupils in the eighth grade of the Cleveland public schools, began today a practical study of infant hygiene, with live babies to experiment upon. Edward Parsch, eight months old, was stripped and given a perfectly hygienic bath before an interested class of girls in short dresses.

HAS QUEER IDEA OF ADVERTISING

Fort George Parson Tells Tall Yarns to Presbyterian Convention in Toronto.

Toronto, June 3.—Declaring he had walked 350 miles, from the very gates of hell, a weary trek on foot, then had made a lengthy train trip of 4000 miles to tell them the amazing story of the grip that sin had on his district at Fort George, Rev. C. M. Wright, boyish-looking, flushed, but eloquent, sincere and convincing, even to the veterans of the Presbyterian general assembly, caused a sensation at a meeting which packed Massey hall last night.

An eloquent appeal to the young men of the Presbyterian church of Canada to take up the burden of carrying the Gospel to the remote districts of the Dominion, was the burden of Mr. Wright's address.

"I am sure if the awful conditions I know of are revealed to young Presbyterians sturdy sons of the church will respond nobly," he said.

Though Mr. Wright was the youngest speaker of the day, and almost boyish in appearance, his address caused a deep impression. He described his work as the most discouraging any one could be asked to undertake.

In the far northwest foodstuffs are at a premium, lumber and building materials were held at an almost prohibitive figure and a condition of atheism practically existed. He had encountered people who declared the Bible a farce and the church an unorganized and tottering institution, and many believed them. Men of all nationalities were there with one common idea of gain.

In the smaller towns all manner of vice existed. Hotels, with bars where four to six bartenders were working, were the most flourishing places in the community with the exception of the disorderly houses. In his own town, he said, the church was gaining strength and he was encouraged.

As the flushed speaker took his seat, round after round of applause greeted him from the sterner and older churchmen, who were obviously profoundly affected, and it was some minutes before the demonstration subsided.

It was obvious from the three great meetings in Massey hall that the young and vigorous element in Presbyterianism will be heard from at this assembly.

Methodists Gather.

Saskatoon, June 3.—The advance guard of delegates to the tenth annual Methodist conference to be held in Saskatoon all this week began to arrive this morning and of the 300 delegates that will be present, 100 have been billeted to date. At 9 o'clock this morning the statistical committee and the examining board convened and started their deliberations. Owing to the fact that a number of members of the stationing committee had not arrived in the early part of the morning, it did not meet until 11 o'clock.

road was a good site under the present conditions of transportation. Had he been supported in his original suggestion he would have stayed with Mr. Martin. He had been a kind of outsider on the board ever since he sat at it. He was never supported in any suggestion he made.

Councillor Walker—Are you working in the interests of the people in paying $2300 for that place

Councillor Foster—I consider it a cheap property. The building should be worth $1600. I am not going back on any action I took at the council or make any excuse for it.

In answer to Mr. F. Watt, Councillor Foster said he would fix the foundations for $50, outside limit.

R. Newman—Could the money not be spent better—this $2600?

Councillor Foster—No doubt it could. I voted for it too for the reason that the clerk was kicking for the want of an office and the engineer—he was called an engineer by the courtesy of some of the members of the council—wants an office too. There is $10,000 odd coming to us from Port Coquitlam on the adjustment and not out of revenue and I think it is fair and reasonable to build a hall out of that money.

Many Questions.

Councillor Foster was subjected to a running fire of questions as to the suitability of the building for a hall, but stoutly maintained his position.

Mr. Watts said the people here had been in the past sitting on the tail board, while those at the Junction drove the team. It looked like it again. He held they in Burquitlam should have the hall in view of its large and growing settlement. There had been very little discussion on the Burquitlam site. What did the old council buy two acres for at Burquitlam if they were not for a municipal hall? When the bridge question was settled they would have a car line very close to their ground. Another thing he believed in the near future, Maillardville would be incorporated with Fraser Mills. The council were not acting consistently with their election views.

Mr. Boileau Denies.

A. Boileau denied most emphatically that there was any chance of incorporation with Fraser Mills. The latter had positively refused to take them in. He repudiated the criticisms on the Maillardville property. It was a first class 28x40 building, two storeys high, in perfect cnodition. He knew 70 couples to have danced in it all night, practically simultaneously, without sign of danger. The reconstruction could be done for nothing—for the price of the furnishings. The land was good hard-pan a couple of inches below the surface. It was a good deal and the council would make money if they sold it tomorrow; 33 foot lots were selling there for $400. To get to the hall from Fraser Mills terminal took eight minutes and from the Sapperton terminus half an hour. Maillardville had 102 houses built within the last two and a half years erected where it had formerly been forest. Burquitlam, at least the Coquitlam part of it, had not that although settled for 20 years.

H. B. Baker—Do you think it good policy to spend $3000 or $4000 buying two acres here and then spending $2300 on old property at Maillardville and a further sum of $300 reconstructing it.

Mr. Boileau—I do. I presume you have confidence in the representatives you elected. I respect Councillors Martin and Walker. I think the world of them and will continue to do so whatever side they vote on. It is not their idea to have the hall at Maillardville and I respect their opinion.

The Chairman—Were you not a little disappointed at Councillor Martin and Councillor Walker's attitude?

Mr. Boileau—No.

Mr. Baker complained that there had not been sufficient consideration given to the matter and several of them thought fit to bring it before the council by petition and get their reconsideration of it. The pros and cons should be discussed. This was a question of vital importance. He did not wish to be critical. If they had found the two acres in Burquitlam unsuitable and sold it and devoted the proceeds to a hall that would be all right. But to leave them idle and then spend $2300 on an old building was a poor job.

Mr. Watts—Do you thing the Maillardville half acre of ground would allow for stables, sheds, etc?

Vivid Description.

Mr. Baker—So far as I see, the land slopes away from the road. It is a wet, miserable place and full of skunk cabbage and does not seem at all suitable. A half acre is not enough.

Councillor Martin pointed out that the council never had a chance of discussing the sale of the Burquitlam ground.

Mr. Marmont then vacated the chair and let himself loose.

He said: "I feel tonight in this matter very free and I can assure you I appreciate my freedom. I have been in the council for a couple of years, have given votes and got a grilling for them. I am going now to criticize the action of the council. I consider the council has violated the first principle of British government because they have resolved on their proceeding without appealing for a mandate to the people.

"When I was before the electors I was asked what about this hall by the electors of Maillardville and Burquitlam—where was it to be. My simple answer was I would put it to the people's vote and whatever the mapority decided I would stand by. I take that position tonight and it is the correct position. You people at Burquitlam did not ask me to commit myself on the question. The people of Maillardville stated they would not vote for me unless I would promise to put that hall there. I said: 'Gentlemen, I will not promise.' They said: 'Then we will not vote for you.' I replied: 'So be it,' and so it was.

Where He Might Have Been.

"Had I given that promise I would have been where Reeve Peter Barth is today.

"The men who got the solid poll on that ticket in Maillardville, if they did not promise the hall to be put there, allowed it to be assumed that they would vote for the Maillardville site.

"It is immaterial to me personally where the hall goes, but it is the right of the people to say where it shall go. I believe Mr. Foster voted conscientiously and did not go to the council pledged. But there was one thing he said—that the Maillardville proposition was a cheap proposition at $2300. Several other gentlemen including the representative for Maillardville—there seems to be an outside council there—agreed with him. What is the land worth?"

Mr. Boileau—At $400 for a 33 foot lot, $1300 or $1400 per acre and clearing besides.

Mr. Marmont—$1500 per acre in round figures and the company was only assessed at $400 per acre. If they are going to have the hall there they should pay their fair proportion.

Here an altercation between Mr. Boileau and Mr. Marmont took place about the assessment and who paid the taxes, the former asserting Mr. Marmont was quite wrong in his assumptions and ending by telling him he did not what he was talking about.

Mr. Marmont—All the voters in Maillardville voted on the householders qualification at last election. If they have paid taxes it is since the beginning of the year. It is up to this council to look into this assessment and see whether $1500 is a fair valuation for half an acre. They should get a better revenue. I know a site on the edge of Maillardville, not more than 300 yards from the Lamoureux building, which could have been got for half the money and on high, dry ground. But we all know why Mr. Barth was elected and why the majority of the councillors were elected. There are people in this hall tonight who put the same question to me and I answered "No."

Other speakers were Mr. Whiting and Mr. Robertson.

Mr. Foster, referring to a statement by Mr. Robertson about lobbying for votes in regard to the hall, said that so far as he was concerned it was absolutely false. He had never consulted with anyone on where the hall should be.

After a great deal of further discussion the meeting dispersed.

Wanted Uniformity.

Colonel G. is a fine commander but not a musician. He sent for the chief musician of his regimental band one day and delivered this scathing criticism:

"I notice a lack of uniformity about the band which must be regulated. Yesterday morning they were out on parade, and the largest man in the band was playing a little bit of an instrument—flute or something of the kind—and you had the big drum played by a small man. That sort of thing doesn't look well and must be attended to. I want the small men to play the small instruments, and the big men the big instruments. And another thing, I want the trombone players to slide their instruments in and out in unison. It annoys me to see them all out of step with their hands."

ENGLISH PRISON REFORM.

Excellent Methods of Prevention Are Emptying Prisons.

In recent years England has been quietly drying up the sources of the habitual criminal class with such excellent results that suggestions are being made for other uses for some of the prisons. There has been a decrease of 25,000 prisoners in the last three years — a decrease which has been provided by the serious criminal, as well as the less serious and occasional offender.

The first step was taken by the probation of offenders act, and a long step that has proved to be. Under this act when any person is charged before a magistrate with an offense punishable by him, and the charge is proved, but the magistrate thinks that the character or the antecedents or the age or health of the offender or the nature of the offence or the circumstances under which the offence was committed justify him, it is open to him to make an order discharging the offender conditionally on his being of good behavior for the next three years, and he thereupon places the offender under the supervision of a probation officer.

What has been the result? Out of a yearly average of 10,000 persons between the ages of 12 and 25 years that were admitted to probation and kept out of prison, less than six per cent. have behaved so badly as to necessitate their being called up by the court and sentenced for the original or some subsequent offence.

Even more courageous and even more successful has been the result achieved by the prevention of crime act, so far as it deals with what is called juvenile-adult criminal. Here we have youth of from 16 to 21 years of age who have proved themselves criminals, and, on the average, have already been convicted three times. The problem is to prevent these young men and young women swelling the ranks of the habitual criminal—their certain destination if imprisonment is to remain the sole restricting influence in their lives.

So the Borstal system came into being, and these young criminals are taken and placed under restriction, but no longer in prison. They are each brought into contact with officials of exceptional character, who take a real personal interest in them, and who leave no legitimate opportunity unutilized to appeal to the better side that exists in everyone. Hard work is required, strict discipline is enforced, prompt obedience is demanded; but throughout it all there is present the sense of friendly search for the better element; and once this is discovered no trouble is spared to develop it. Games, readings, lectures, free association and all manner of educative privileges follow, and as confidence is deserved confidence is reposed. So that when the Borstal sentence of two or three years draws to an end the Borstal lad is occupying posts where his own right sense of responsibility and his own self reliance are continuously demanded and exhibited.

And what is the result of the method? The reports from the Borstal Institution show that so far as the lads are concerned — the girls and young women are more difficult—about 80 per cent. are apparently reclaimed, and the reports of the Borstal Association, which deals with the after care of these young people, prove that 73 per cent. of those who have served a Borstal sentence are going on satisfactorily.

At the Theatres

Eddy Foy Ahoy.

The next attraction that will be seen at the opera house will be the famous American comedian, Eddy Foy, with Mrs. Foy and the seven little Foys in "Over the River," next Wednesday evening. Mr. Foy does not need any introduction to the theatregoers, as they all know him as the highest priced comedian on the American stage. This in itself ought to be enough to ensure a full house for this attraction. Mail orders are now being received for this show.

Then Blanch Bates.

For the first time in two years Charles Froham has decided to send one of his celebrated stars to this city. This time it is Miss Blanch Bates, who will be seen here next Thursday evening in The Witness for the Defence. Some of the stars that Mr. Froham has sent out to the coast this year are Donald Brian, in The Siren; John Drew, The Perplexed Husband; Maud Adams, in Peter Pan; Nazimova, iin Bella Donna, and now Blanch Bates, in the Witness for the Defence.

Fine Art There.

Washington, D.C., June 3.—"Social lobbying" in Washington justifies every word that President Wilson uttered in regard to the presence of an "insiduous lobby" at the capital, Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, declared on witness stand before the senate investigating committee. It was the first unequivocable statement in support of the president's attitude since the inquiry began. The Iowa senator explained that he believed the "most unjudicious" and powerful lobbying possible was the practice of flattering senators by having them out to dinners, theatres and on automobile rides, ingratiating the host with the distinguished guests.

Doesn't Bother Him.

Silver City, N. M., June 3.—On arriving at Silver City today, former Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock was shown for the first time the statement issued a few days ago by Postmaster General Burleson, attacking his administration of the post office department. After reading the charges, Mr. Hitchcock said: "A committee, composed in the main of newly appointed assistants having less than three months experience in post office business, attempts in a report to the present head of the department to discredit the financial showing made by the postal service under President Taft's administration. The idea is ridiculous."

Bals and Electrics Wallow Around for Six Innings and Each Side Gathers Six Runs.

Game called on account of darkness was the word passed out to the crowd last evening at Queens park, when after six innings of the best ball dished up this season, the Balmorals and the Electrics, with the score tied six all, were forced to quit.

It was some game at that and the large crowd went wild on several occasions, especially when the Bals brought in five runs in the second and then again when the Electrics came back in the fifth with three tallies which shoved them ahead. The result of the game, as far as the Electrics are concerned, is due mainly to the hurling of one, Mr. Corbett, a boy who carves his chicken with his left hand. This is the same gent who had the Moose nigh hitless in the opening game.

On the opposition was the new find, Mr. Peck, who came through also with flying colors and broke even with Mr. Corbett on the number of hits.

But to get back to the game. The Bals were retired in the first stanza and, just to make things lively, the juicers pounded Mr. Peck for four hits, which accounted for two tallies.

Back came the Bals for no less than six cracks and fleeting figures were noticed circling the diamond for a few minutes until Mr. Corbett retired the side. That made the score 5 to 2. In the fourth the Electrics again commenced trouble and with the bases full an error by Chaput let in one run.

The fireworks sputtered once more in the fifth when Jack Smith made a grave error at the plate which let in one run followed by two more on hits. A pretty double play, Chaput to Ryall to Sinclair, retired the side when things looked serious for the Bals.

In the sixth Mallen pounded out his third hit of the game, stole second and third, scoring when Ball singled. That finished the game, for Mr. Peck was equal to the occasion in the last of the sixth, retiring the opposition in one-two-three order.

Two events which might be noted during the progress of the game were a three bagger by Peck, which entitles him to the bat donated by George Speck, and a peculiar play by Silver, of the Electrics, when he booted the ball into the mitt of the first baseman, thus retiring the side.

Apart from these few considerations, everything was alright. A close scrutiny of the score board indicates the following:

	R.	H.	E.
Balmorals	6	10	6
Electrics	6	10	3

Batteries: Peck and Smith; Corbett and Howe. Umpire: Weingartner.

Worse Than Free Silver.

A hurry up call for assistance was passed around by the students of the Lord Kelvin school yesterday, following the result of a lacrosse game between the school team and the Beavers, which ended 18 goals to 1 in favor of the latter. The Kelvin lads, however, are confident of strengthening their aggregation before another game is scheduled and are firm in the belief that they still have a chance for the Joe Lally medals. The contest was staged on the Queens park oval.

INTERNATIONAL GOLF.

British Columbia vs. Northwest States —Canadians Win.

An international golf match was played at Victoria on Saturday, the teams representing the pick of B. C. golfers and those from the clubs in the states in the Pacific northwest. Ideal golfing conditions prevailed and some splendid golf was shown. The result was a sweeping victory for the B. C. golfers by seven matches to one. While some of the games were won in decisive fashion, others were very keen all through, the Hincks-Lippy game being carried to the 38th hole before a decision was arrived at. The McAllister-Hughes game was likewise a close match.

Potter, Seattle.

PUGILISTIC ANNALS.

1908—Stanley Ketchel and Billy Papke, "Assassin" and "Thunderbolt," fought their first battle on this date in Milwaukee. Ketchel had cleaned up all the middleweights on the Pacific coast, while Papke had been equally successful with the best men of the middle west and east. While the bout was only for ten rounds, it was admitted that the victor would have a good right to the title of middleweight champion. The fight was the fiercest Milwaukee fans have ever seen, and ended in a decision for Ketchel.

1862—Robert Fitzsimmons born at Elston, Cornwall, Eng.

FOOTBALL TROPHY.

H. G. Parson Donates It for Competition in Columbia District.

Golden, B.C., June 3.—H. G. Parson has notified the Golden Football club of his intention to donate a trophy for competition among the football clubs of Columbia district, upon conditions to be arranged by a committee composed of a representative from each club. Teams from points in the upper country, Field and Golden, will be eligible, and it is expected that a schedule of games will be arranged immediately. The design of the cup has been on view here, and is very appropriate. The trophy will be a costly one, and well worth playing for.

ROUGHING THINGS OVER IN VICTORIA

In Heavy Penalty Game Mann Cup Holders Win Out by Score of 12 to 2.

Victoria, June 3.—In one of the roughest amateur games ever staged on the coast, the V. A. C., of Vancouver, defeated the Victoria lacrosse twelve here this morning, 12 to 2. From the first face-off, the spectators realized that each team were out for the man and not for the ball, with the result that players warmed the penalty bench for a total of 100 minutes.

The first quarter saw the two teams tied with no score, but the Mann cuppers came out strong in the second spasm, tearing off no less than six goals and still holding the homesters scoreless.

Victoria wakened up in the third stanza and scored twice, but were still far in the rear, for the V. A. C. also scored the same number.

The Vancouvers made it a runaway race in the last, when they came through with four more tallies.

SPORT CHATTER.

(By the Potter.)

It is doubtful whether Manager Gifford will make a change in his line-up for Saturday although a change of position might be attempted. Saturday's result came in the first few minutes play and, on their own grounds, the Royals should be able to stow away the coming game with a little to spare.

The victory of the Abbotsford boys over the local cricket team yesterday caused no little surprise. The visitors are a fine bunch, played a fine game and well deserved the credit of being the first to lower the colors of the Royals this season.

Cuers that wasn't some crowd at Queen's Park last evening when the Balmorals and the Electrics played a tie game. It was just such a game as will make those in attendance come again and make those absent sore because they were not there.

Writing in the Canadian Courier, Fred Jacob attempts to review the lacrosse situation with an article "Lacrosse Weathers the Crisis." A perusal of this fails to show hardly any mention made of the Western leagues, so that it can be surmised that Mister Jacob's only view of a lacrosse game has been on the Island at Toronto. Mentioning the Winnipeg situation the article says: "There is no reason why lacrosse should not flourish in the prairie provinces, even though some time may elapse before they can defeat the men of the east and EVEN THOSE OF THE FAR WEST." The gall!

Dot Phalen, the midget lacrosse player with the Vancouvers, will likely be seen at centre on Saturday, taking the place of Fred Taylor.

Salmon Belly supporters can bank on the dope that Lalonde will have no easy time scoring goals on Saturday as he did in the last game.

The next time we hear of the People's shield will be in a championship game between Vancouver island soccer teams. Championship contests for possession of the trophy between teams all over Canada are a thing of the past. Billy Hilton and Fred Parker have died a silent death as far as western soccer is concerned.

And to think that after playing the best game of the season for the Rovers football club, Vincent Harrop bobs up as a cricketer and knocks the stuffing out of Westminster bowlers.

Red Ames showed that he was still there with the stuff when he handed a shut-out to Brooklyn, playing with the Cincinnati Reds.

Keep your eyes on the New York Giants from now on. They climbed to second place yesterday and, with the hot weather spell, McGraw's men should hit a merry clip the next two months.

Falkenburg is a second Walter Johnson in the American league. Yesterday he notched his tenth straight victory with the Naps.

Funny how the fans are pulling for Cincinnati and New York Americans, the two cellar clubs of the majors.

CHEER UP THAT'S ONLY ONE GAME

The Westminster cricket team met defeat at the hands of the Abbotsford eleven yesterday on the asylum grounds, the valley team coming out ahead to the tune of 67 runs. This was the first setback the locals have experienced so far this season. Several of the regulars were away from the game yesterday afternoon, due to inability to leave business.

Batting first Westminster could only compile 89 runs against the visitors' bowling, which was kept at an excellent length throughout, Wells, Yeadon and Rose being the only players to go into double figures. No less than five of the team came out with "ducks."

The bowling of Rose and Graham was found easy for Abbotsford, the Westminster total being passed with only one change having been made in the trundling. Whether an earlier change would have resulted in more wickets is doubtful, as practically every one of the visitors added to the total.

L. d'Easum, making his first appearance with the first eleven, played a stellar game in the field, being responsible for three catches off the bowling of Dunford.

Vincent Harrop, the star centre of the Rovers soccer team, was top scorer for the visitors, punishing the bowling with good judgment, his total of 56 being made over the boundary line. The scores are as follows:

Defence Scores.

San Francisco, June 3.—Four witnesses counted on the prosecution to corroborate the testimony of Michael Gale, a convict bunco man, in the trial of Frank Wacla, a suspended policeman, were limited today by Judge Dunne in the superior court to circumstances bearing on the specific charge set out in the indictment. After hearing arguments from counsel at length, with the jury excluded, Judge Dunne decided for the defence, which regards his ruling as a notable victory. Accordingly the four witnesses were examined briefly for the people and excused without contributing anything material to the case.

Pacer Travels Some.

326: Fort Frances to Rainy River, $179,200; Yellowhead Pass to Vancouver, $6,180,000; cash subsidies now proposed, $14,040,000; a total subsidy of $22,122,398.

No Land Grant.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane said that no land had been granted directly to the Canadian Northern railway, but that this company had acquired about 4,000,000 acres through purchase of charters of other lines and that 1,225,000 acres applied on its main line.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that as far as he could see the only reason given for the proposed assistance to the Canadian Northern railway was that this railway had not thus far been dealt with as generously as the other great railways of the Dominion. This argument he did not regard as of any strength. Railway construction was becoming less expensive as time went on. It cost very much more to build the pioneer road, the Canadian Pacific, than it did the railways that came after. So that being the latest in the field all the advantages were in favor of the C. N. R. with the possible exception of labor which no doubt costs more today.

If the Canadian Northern railway wanted assistance of some kind from the country, it should, he said, have brought before parliament a statement of its affairs so that the country might know its true condition.

Political Quips.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson may make excellent cake, but curiosity is now focused on the way her husband carves the pie.—St. Louis Republic.

Now that congress has abolished the "Mr." before names in calling the roll, perhaps it will not mind if the rest of the nation omits the puffing "Honorable" before the "Mr."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Train and Track.

Railway trains propelled by gas have been running for some time in Germany.

Switzerland is building a new railroad 13.5 per cent of the line of which will be through tunnels and 6 per cent over bridges.

Schemes for the construction of a 8,000 mile railway through central Africa, at a cost roughly estimated at $50,000,000, have been revived by the termination of the war between Italy and Turkey.

TAKE THEIR MONEY BUT REFUSE TRADE

Trade Commissioner Objects to Calgary's Policy Regarding Tenders —Mayor Explains.

Calgary, June 3.—C. Hamilton Wickes, his majesty's trade commissioner for Canada, who succeeds Richard Grigg in the position, called on Mayor Sinnott this morning at the city hall, accompanied by A. L. Sweeting of the industrial department of the C. P. R. natural resources, who introduced him to his worship.

Mr. Wickes drew the mayors' attention to the fact that British manufacturers were not being given sufficient opportunity to tender on the requirements of the city in the way of machinery and appliances owing to the notices of tender frequently arriving about the date that the receipt of tenders closed and also that in many cases it was stated that plans and specifications were to be seen at the office of the city engineer.

Mr Wickes advanced the contention that inasmuch as the bonds floated by the city in London were largely subscribed by people interested in industries and manufacturers who had a surplus that it was reasonable to expect that they should be allowed an opportunity of tendering for the city's requirements.

The mayor explained that the chief reason that tenders were not received from British firms in the past was that the city found that these firms could not make delivery for a lengthy period, as they were generally so full of work, but he had taken up the matter with the council with a view of having estimates of the coming year's work ready by September so that orders could be placed and the firms have plenty of time to deliver the goods in time for the commencement of work by the city in the spring.

But up to the present, said Mayor Sinnott, Calgary's experience has been that it has been impossible to get the material here on time.

Mr. Wickes alluded to the rapid development of western Canada, which, he said, was like "Alice in Wonderland," and he was anxious through his office to put manufacturers in the United Kingdom in touch with the requirements of municipalities in this part of the Dominion so that they might have their share of the trade which resulted from the expansion which was taking place at a rate that he tought few out here recognized or could contemplate.

ALL MILITIA WILL HAVE ROSS RIFLE

King's Prize Winner Says This Year Will See Distribution Completed —Bisley Prospects.

Regina, June 2.—Lieutenant George Mortimer, last year's winner of the king's prize at Bisley and acknowledged the best marksman over long distance ranges in the empire, was in the city yesterday in company with Mr. Evans, a representative of the Ross Rifle company. The visit was in the nature of a busines call, Mr Mortimer giving demonstrations of the Ross rifle to local dealers and also to the local militia. It is understood that he was also consulting the latter with a view to their being installed in the local barracks.

Lieutenant Mortimer will leave for England on June 3 to compete in the various match to be shot there this year. The Canadian Bisley team leaves on June 27 and when it arrives in England Lieutenant Mortimer will join it in the capacity of coach. Mr. Mortimer last year won the championship over all the long distance ranges and will defend it this year. He will use the new model Ross rifle.

That the Ross rifle, mark 3, the new model adopted by the government, will be issued to all the troops in Canada within the next year was the statement made by Lieutenant Mortimer. Although the Ross rifle has for years been the standard rifle of the Canadian militia it has never been issued to all the troops in the Dominion. According to Lieutenant Mortimer's statement it will be issued by the government within the next year.

The Bisley team this year, he says, should make a good showing. It is as strong as ever so far as can be judged at the present time and should compete successfully with the teams from all the other overseas dominions.

GUESTS GOT B'G SCARE AT QUESNEL HOTEL FIRE

Quesnel, June 3.—Considerable excitement was aroused Wednesday morning when heavy smoke and flames were observed coming out of the big cement chimney on the Occidental hotel. One of the flues had caught on fire, and soon burnt itself out. The roof is metal covered, fortunately, or there might have been a serious fire, especialy as a strong, gusty wind was blowing at the time.

Guests in the hotel took no risks, however, and all had their luggage in readiness to move it out of the building. The only damage done was where the sparks set fire to a small strip of wood on the cornice, the only piece on the roof, but this was soon extinguished by those on watch.

IS PANAMA READY?

Former Official Says That War Would See Battleships Passing Through.

Nelson, B. C., June 3—Within twenty-four hours' notice at any time during the past eighteen months the Panama canal could have been opened for passage of warships and other vessels if the United States government had so desired and the work which is now being carried on by sixteen thousand men is completed equally well as if the big ditch was in operation, was the statement made here last night by Joseph Cawley, who for eighteen months prior to last March was assistant superintendent of the shops in the canal zone and in that position traveled from end to end of the canal many scores of times.

"In the event of trouble with Japan regarding the California alien land bill, you would see the canal thrown open and warships passed through so fast that it would make your head swim," he asserted.

PLOWMEN POETS.

Farm Lads Who Have Won Success as Bards.

The greatest plowman poet who ever lived was Robert Burns. His birthday was celebrated recently by Scotsmen in every part of the world.

Another poet who, like Robert Burns, found poetical inspiration in farming and field work, and who was recently awarded by the Academie Committee of the Royal Society of Literature the Polignac Prize, which consists of one hundred pounds and is a coveted literary distinction, is Mr. John Masefield. This clever poet began his career by going to sea, but ultimately drifted to a farm, where he worked for some time. Then he tried his luck in a city office; but the literary germ began to develop and he soon became known as a writer of real brilliance.

One of the contributors to "New Songs," an anthology of contemporary verse published in London four years ago, was Alfred Owen Williams, a hammerman employed on the Great Western Railway; and his career furnishes a striking example of the old-time saying that genius will out. The son of a carpenter, living in the little village of South Marston, Williams at eight years of age started work on a farm and finally left school at eleven. Then he deserted farm life for the engineering shop, and from fourteen he has been successively rivet lad, steam-hammer driver, furnaceman, and hammerman at the Great Western Railway works, Swindon. Incited by the Ruskin Hall Correspondence Class, Williams devoted his leisure hours to study, doing much before five in the morning and often continuing until midnight. In this way he taught himself shorthand, Latin, Greek and French, acquired an extensive acquaintance with English literature, and became a poet of no little merit.

Then there was Joseph Skipsey, the pitman poet, who, at seven years of age, went to work in a mine absolutely without education of any kind, but lived to be the first editor of the "Canterbury Poets" and to have his own poetic faculty recognized by all the leading poets of the day.

Tribute to Glasgow.

Glasgow, Scotland, according to a writer in The National Magazine, is the "most progressively governed city in the United Kingdom." The city, the writer further states, owns all its public services, makes them render efficient service to the people at low rates and makes them yield each a yearly profit, part of which goes to take up bonded debt and part into a common good fund, out of which the city is gradually substituting comfortable, healthful, municipally owned tenements for the villainous and disease-breeding slum tenements which grew up in Glasgow, as they have done in most other large cities, under the pressure of the demand for private profit.

Glasgow supplies its citizens with cheaper gas and electric light, cheaper street car service and better than are enjoyed by the residents of any American city. Glasgow's municipal slaughterhouse, in which all animals intended for food for Glasgow's 1,000,000 people are killed and dressed for market, is a huge institution, set right in the heart of the city, yet so clean that one could pass within a hundred yards of it and never suspect its existence by reason of any odor in the air.

The municipal abattoir and market insure the healthfulness of all meats eaten in Glasgow, and help mightily to hold down prices by eliminating a lot of middlemen who take tolls on this business in other cities.

Old London's Water Thieves.

London's original water supply was the river Thames, and every apprentice was supplied with a water tankard for transporting liquid to the house. As early as 1479 there were "water thieves," "for in this yere a wex chandler in Fleet street had bi craft perced a pipe of the condit withynne the ground, and so conveied the water into his selar; wherefore he was jugid to ride thrugh the citee with a condit upon his hedde." The first official water supply for London was made in Germany. In 1582 Peter Maurice, a German, mad an engine at London bridge by which water was conveyed in lead pipes to the citizens' houses, and he became rich on the proceeds.

A Curt Reply.

A story is told of Prof. Masson when editor of Macmillan's Magazine. It refers to the days when Kingsley and Newman were engaged in their famous pamphlet war. Conscious of the excellence of an article on the subject of the controversy which he had written in the magazine, Masson ventured to bring it under the notice of Newman, but he was not prepared for the reply he received, although he afterward spoke of it with philosophic humor. Newman's laconic message was in words such as these: "I have not heard of your magazine, and your name conveys no impression to my mind."—Westminster Gazette.

To Study Fish.

The British Government has just embarked upon an interesting scientific inquiry relating to the question of fishery research. A phase of the work is the liberation of marked fishes and crabs for the purpose of studying their migratory movements. Dr. Williamson, of the Marine Laboratory at Aberdeen, marked more than 1,500 crabs, and others were liberated in different districts. Many of these were subsequently recovered by means of international rewards, and it was found that one crab had traveled 155 miles in 689 days, and another 108 miles in 144 days.

Hounded Fox Played Sweep.

A fox entered a blacksmith's shop at Farlesthorpe, Lincolnshire, Eng. Pursued by the Southwold hounds, he jumped on the forge, climbed up the chimney, came out at the top covered with soot, jumped from the roof, and was killed in the churchyard.

THEY DARED FOR LOVE

WHAT MEN HAVE DONE FOR CHARMING WOMEN.

Since Mark Antony's Time There Have Been Myriads of Men Who Discarded Everything For the Ones They Adored — Sheridan Turned Coachman and William Pitt Drank Wine From Lady's Shoe.

That "love often makes a fool of the cleverest men" history furnishes abundant proofs, ever since (and long before) Mark Antony fell under the spell of Cleopatra's dark eyes and crowned a career of folly with suicide.

Sheridan revelled in the role of hackney-coachman for the pleasure of driving his adored "Nightingale of Bath" to her home night after night and exchanging love-glances with her under the eyes of her unsuspecting father; and Canning put on groom's livery and did stable work in exchange for the delight of escorting as groom in attendance, his master's daughter on her daily rides.

William Pitt, most unsentimental of men, as he considered himself, was so intoxicated by the charms of a pretty maid of Devon that he drank her health in canary out of one of her dainty shoes; and Mr. Sellwood, a notable man of his day, actually served as footman in the house of the lady he loved for twenty long years, until her husband's death set her free to accompany him to the altar.

And so it has always been—from the German baron who had his right hand cut off, because it had accidentally struck the cheek of the woman whose little finger was more to him than his whole body, to the gilded young French nobleman, who served years of apprenticeship to the law and won fame as an advocate to prove to his lady-love that he was not the butterfly of pleasure she fancied.

There is no year that does not yield its crop of similar stories of men who have proved that no sacrifice is too great to win a lady's favor. When the youthful Count Francis Erbach succumbed at sight of a peasant-girl whom he met one day when riding in the forest at Erbach, he determined that she and no other should be his wife, cost what it might. That Anna Schultz earned her daily bread at the wash-tub mattered nothing to this heir to great dignities and to estates valued at £200,000 a year. He defied his father's anger, fled with his peasant maid to London, and married her—a disinherited outcast.

"I do not for a moment regret the step I have taken," he said. "On the contrary, we are perfectly happy. I intend to work for my living, and I have already taken steps to find employment."

It was with the same proud spirit of self-sacrifice that Prince Eberwyn zu Bentheim-Steinfurt, cousin of the Queen of Holland, gave his hand a short time ago in the Strand Registry Office to Fraulein Langenfeld, the daughter of a tradesman who had begun life as a peasant. The German Emperor himself had in vain tried to dissuade him from such a "mad step." He turned a deaf ear to all the threats and entreaties of his family, and formally renounced the heirship to £250,000 a year to his younger brother Prince Victor. And when he had thus condemned himself to poverty and obscurity, he declared, "I need not say that I am more than happy. As long as I live, I shall rejoice that I had the firmness to place my happiness and that of my bride above the mediaeval prejudices of my house."

While Prince Eberwyn was thus gladly sacrificing rank and riches for love, Count Hans von Hochberg, heir to the Duchy of Rohnstock, was standing at an altar far from his native land with Fraulein Louise Carow, a German shop girl, for whose sake he had abandoned his claim to the family estate and dignities. "I am going to earn my living as a chauffeur," this young hero of romance said; "and I know that I shall be happier sharing a poor home with the woman I love than if I were Duke of Rohnstock with £100,000 a year but without her."

It is but a short time since the heir to a noble Italian house was lathering cheeks in the shop of a Clerkenwell barber, as the first-fruits of a similar adventure in matrimony. Son and heir to the Marquis di Castro, of Naples, he had turned his back on title and fortune at the bidding of Love in the form of a pretty young dressmaker whom he brought to London to wed.

Such romances of to-day could be multiplied almost indefinitely—from the love adventures of the Archduke of Leopold of Austria, nephew of the emperor, who was content to be a royal outcast for the sake of Fraulein Ritter, farmer's daughter and domestic servant, to the Prince de Broglie, who, not long ago, was conducting an orchestra in a New York Theatre while the wife, for whom he sacrificed everything but happiness—the greatest thing of all—was singing on the stage.

That even crime is, at times, no barrier in the path of love we have had abundant evidence in very recent times; for we are familiar with the story of the French bank clerk who robbed his employers of £34,000 in order to provide a sumptuous nuptial home across the seas. His one wish, he declared, was "to embezzle enough money to get away to Buenos Ayres with Mme.——, and to ensure her the position which she deserved."

Liverpool's Chinatown.

Liverpool, England, boasts of quite an extensive Chinatown. In this quarter of the port are to be found numerous Chinese shops, sailors' boarding houses, several restaurants and a Chinese seamen's mission.

Only One Accepted.

"Father, did mother accept you the first time you proposed to her?"

"Yes, my dear, but since then any proposal that I have ever made she has scornfully rejected."

TOLL OF WILD

Body of Toronto Boy Recovered — Canoe Paddle Broke.

Toronto, June 3.—The body of Mr. Bertrand Nisbet, who was drowned in Algonquin park several days ago, was recovered by Malt Aykroyd, who went north with the father, Mr. A. R. Nisbet, and arrived in Toronto early yesterday morning.

The scene of the fatality was at a point about twenty miles from the Eagan estate and 200 miles north of Toronto. It appears that Mr. Nisbit and the younger of the Tilleys were paddling in swift water just below some rapids when they got into trouble and in endeavoring to ward the canoe off a rock, a paddle broke and the small craft was upset.

Mr. Nisbet was swimming strong and had almost reached a point of safety when he suddenly disappeared, evidently having been seized with cramp or heart failure. Mr. Tilley was nearly drowned himself, but luckily he managed to get out of the current of the current and into an eddy, reaching the bank after a desperate struggle. The water was ice cold.

Lillooet, June 3.—Good progress is being made with the P. G. E. grade along Seaton lake. Considerable stretches of the work are rough finished. For the most of the distance along the water front only short portions of the heavier rock work have now to be blasted. The tunnel near the head of the lake is in for a considerable distance.

ENGINEER ZINK IS WANTED IN CALGARY

Warrant Out For Arrest—Rich Men of City Said to Have Been Badly "Stung."

Calgary, June 3.—Carl Zink, recently chief engineer of the proposed interurban electric railroad which would connect Carbon, Alta., and Banff, by way of Calgary, is wanted by the Calgary police on a charge of wrongfully converting an automobile, which stood in his name, but on which there was a first lien, to his own financial uses.

Behind the warrant is a story of misplaced confidence which caused a raid on the pocket books of a number of prominent citizens of Calgary, and which, to all intents and purposes, will continue a thorn in the side of their bank accounts for some time.

Prominent among those who "stung" are Alderman T. A. P. Frost and the late John Breckenridge. It is said that both men were on Mr. Zink's notes for $1,500 each, and that many other of the officials and stockholders of the road are also bemoaning losses of a smaller nature.

Zink is said to have made the mistake of selling an automobile which was mortgaged goods. The car, which he purchased from a local dealer, had not been paid for, and a first lien was held against it. It is alleged that Engineer Zink sold the car to F. W. Mapson, Imperial block, a real estate dealer. After Mr. Zink had left Calgary, a replevin was placed against the machine, and Mr. Mapson was compelled to virtually place it in the custody of the courts.

In St. Paul.

At last reports Mr. Zink was in St. Paul, and local friends, among whom he had made an excellent impression, were endeavoring to hush up the matter.

Zink came to Calgary as chief engineer of the proposed road, and aided in the grading work, which was done by the late John Breckenridge for between 25 and 30 miles east of Calgary, toward Carbon. He was an excellent talker, a master of his work, and a man to quickly ingratiate himself into the good graces of all with whom he associated. Mr. Breckenridge was one of his earliest and warmest friends, and when Mr. Zink asked Mr. Breckenridge to endorse his note for $1,500 the latter readily agreed. The paper as yet has not been taken up and now stands as a claim against the Breckenridge estate.

Mr. Frost, who is a heavy stockholder in the road and actively interested in its construction, was later approached by Mr. Zink and also induced to endorse Zink's paper to the extent of $1,500. The alderman is now looking around for some way to enforce the payment of the note by Zink, but inasmuch as the latter is in the States, and the laws allow only a civil suit in the matter, the alderman is extremely dubious regarding the collection.

Engineer's Fall.

The automobile deal, according to those familiar with the case, was the one which caused the engineer's downfall. It was virtually the selling of mortgaged property, and a criminal offence. A warrant has been sworn out, but so far the police have been unable to locate Mr. Zink with any degree of certainty. It is a question if he can be brought back from the United States on the charge, even if arrested, as the selling of mortgaged goods is not an extradictable offense andt he people who loaned Zink money in Calgary, and those who endorsed his paper have recourse only through the civil courts.

Friends of Zink in Calgary still have faith in him, and one man identified with the road yesterday declared that he believed the engineer would repay his debts here if given the opportunity. The affair has no bearing on the construction of the interurban road, and will not be allowed to interfere with the latter work.

SUSPECT SUICIDE OF MISSING LADY

Search Parties Abandon Hope in Mysterious Case Near Ashcroft—All Called In.

Ashcroft, June 3.—No trace has been found of Mrs. Young, the lady who disappeared on the 21st ult., hope has been abandoned and all searching parties have been called in.

This is the most mysterious case that has ever been recorded in the district. It is most unlikely that the lady walked out of the country, as she had neither money nor strength at the time of her disapeparance.

It is the general belief that she has destroyed herself in the creek nearby, although a most diligent search of this stream has been made without result.

AT THE OLD CAMP.

Little Valley Mine to Start Up Again —First of May Still Waiting.

Barkerville, June 3.—The West Canadian Deep Leads mine at Little Valley will be started up again. Three or four men have been brought over from Stanley and are putting matters in shape around the works and as soon as the timbers for the tunnel can be hauled a full crew will be put on, and work immediately started on the tunnel.

As there will be probably from twenty to thirty-five men employed at the works, Little Valley will be one of the liveliest spots in the district for some time to come.

The First of May company have decided not to work their property this year, at least during the present season. It is expected, however, that preparations will be made this fall towards widening and deepening the ditches, in readiness for operations on a larger scale next year.

SPECIAL DIPLOMAT REPRESENTS CANADA

New British Ambassador Will Have Man From Ottawa to Advise Upon All Dominion Matters.

Ottawa, June 3.—Canada is about to take another step forward in the extension of the usefulness of the department of external affairs and the development of direct relations with foreign countries.

It is understood that as a result of the visit to Ottawa of Sir Cecil Springice, the new British ambassador at Washington, the Dominion will in the future have an official attached to the British embassy at the United States capital, in the capacity of an adviser to the British ambassador in all matters pertaining to Canada.

A lack of knowledge of Canadian local conditions often hampered or made more difficult the task of placing in a proper light the true situation of affairs so far as Canada's interests were affected before the American government, and it is understood that the Right Hon. James Byrce, the late British ambassador, was strongly in favor of a Canadian attache to advise on all Canadian questions.

The matter was taken up by the Spring-Rice was here he discussed the question with Premier Borden. As a result it is understood that a Canadian will shortly be sent to and stationed permanently in the office of the British ambassador.

SUES FOR ALIMONY AFTER 32 YEARS

Court Refuses to Grant More Than $4,000 for Bringing Up Daughter.

Montreal, June 3.—After living apart for thirty-two years from her husband, Hiram Johnson, at one time a resident of Ottawa, Mrs. Johnson sued in the local courts claiming arrears of alimony as a return for al lexpenses incurerd in bringing up and educating her daughter.

The court of reviews has just rendered judgment refusing past and future alimony, but allowing $4,000 for the education of her child. A claim for $50 a month also made by Mrs. Johnson was dismissed. From the pleadings it would appear that the plaintiff married the deceased in Ontario in 1877, and entered separation proceedings against him in 1879 before the courts of Ontario, demanding alimony.

She was granted a separation and the judge ordered the matter to be referred to the master of the court so that it might be decided what would be a proper sum to be paid by the husband by way of alimony. At about the time of this decree, the deceased removed all his assets from Ottawa and forthwith took up domicile and engaged in business in Montreal up till the time of his death in 1910.

The wife at no time after the husband's departure took steps to have the amount fixed or assessed by the master of the court. Nothing was done by her until the institution of the present action, which was taken out at the death of her husband. In the action the wife alleged that she had been deterred from taking such action by the threats of the deceased.

Hiram Johnson, on the other hand, amassed quite a fortune in Montreal, though according to the testimony of the wife in support of her action, he had never in all these years given a cen towards the maintenance of either his wife or his daughter.

At his death, despite the testimony of his brother, who said that the deceased had made quite a good deal of money, but had been in the habit of giving it away as quickly as he made it, Hiram Johnson left an estate worth in the neighborhood of $50,000.

MARCH OF WHITE MEN.

Indians of Fort George Reservation Being Moved to New Homes.

Fort George, June 3.—W. J. McAllan, Indian agent, of Fort Fraser, has been in the district over a week completing arrangements for the moving of the Fort George Indian tribe from their present quarters to "pastures green," a step made necessary through the purchase of the reserve by the Grand Trunk Pacific railway.

Mr. McAllan states that the arrangements have now been almost completed. Two thirds of the Indians will move to No. 2 reserve, up the Fraser, while the remaining third will go to No. 3 reserve, eleven miles up the Nechaco.

Bronger & Flynn, building contractors, have secured the contract for building homes for the tribe on their new reserves. They are preparing to start work at once. The houses will be first class in every way, according to the specifications, including three-ply lumber and brick chimneys.

They will be of two sizes to suit large and small Indian families. The larger houses will have three rooms on the ground floor and a large attic room, while the smaller ones will have two rooms below stairs and an attic.

STUDENTS PLAN TO RUN DAILY AGAIN

Montreal, June 3.—After the talk about the students of McGill university dropping its publication, the McGill Daily, which they have run for two sessions, it was learned yesterday that there was every possibility of it being published again next session.

The complete cost of running the paper, securing advertisements, etc., during the last session, amounted to $7500, and when all accounts were settled, it was found that owing to some firms from whom the management had secured advertisements having failed, there was a deficit of about $500.

PUNNING WITH NAMES

SOME OF THE VICTIMS MUST HAVE BEEN WEARY OF IT.

Mr. Justice Day Came In For His Share of Jocular Reference to His Patronymic, and Lord Chancellor Campbell Once Played the Role of Victim—Rider Haggard Lent Himself to a Line From Othello.

There is an old saying, often erroneously attributed to Dr. Johnson, to the effect that he who will make a pun will pick a pocket. In which case most of us must be guilty of criminal tendencies, for there are few who can resist the temptation, particularly in connection with a name which obviously lends itself to this form of fun.

It is, however, in connection with the names of celebrities that we get perhaps the most amusing examples of the pun personal. The late Mr. Justice Day must have got very tired of his name, for people were continually making fun of it. It will be remembered that he was one of the most severe judges who ever sat on the Bench, the consequence being that he was invariably referred to as "Judgment Day" and "Day of Reckoning" in criminal circles; while in the London court, where he had once nodded on the Bench, overcome by temporary fatigue, he was "Day of Rest." When he received his knighthood the jokers naturally did not lose the opportunity of saying that Day had been turned into night.

It was of an Irish judge of the same name that Lord Plunket once made the jest that if a case were tried before Day it would be tried in the dark, a joke which was revived when Mr. Justice Day sat on the Bench.

They are, however, rather fond of the pun personal in legal circles When Lord Chancellor Campbell, then plain Campbell, married Miss Scarlett and departed on his wedding trip, Justice Abbott observed, when a case was called on in the Bench:

"I thought, Mr. Brougham, that Mr. Campbell was in this case."

"Yes, my lord," replied Brougham: "but I understand he is suffering from Scarlett fever."

Lord Erskine rather prettily combined pun with compliment in an epigram he forwarded to Lady Payne, in answer to her vicarious inquiries as to his health:

'Tis true I am ill; but I need not complain,
For he never knew pleasure who never knew Payne.

Joseph Knight, long editor of delightful "Notes and Queries," was a famous punster. Meeting Sir Rider Haggard just after the publication of "Jess," he at once adapted the lines in "Othello":

If I do prove him haggard,
Though that his jesses were my dear heart-strings,
I'd whistle him off.

Mention of Sir Rider Haggard reminds one of a pun once made on the name of James Payn, the novelist, who often related the incident with glee. With Sir Leslie Stephen and another famous climber, he had attempted to scale some Alpine height, but had given up midway and found refuge in a comfortable hotel, while the others went on with their climb. Sir Leslie, condoling with his friend before leaving him, quoted the Shakespearean line:

The labor we delight is physics pain.

An article on this subject would scarcely be complete without mention of a couple of personal puns made by that irrepressible wit, Sydney Smith. One evening he was at a party, and, seeing Mrs. Grote, the historian's wife, enter the room in an eccentric costume crowned by a rose-colored turban, said, in an undertone, to his neighbor: 'Now I know the meaning of the word 'grotesque'.'

The revered Sydney, however, could call in the aid of a pun for compliment as well as sarcasm. On meeting two pretty women, Mrs. Tighe and Mrs. Cuff, he gallantly exclaimed: "Ah, there you are—the cuff that everyone would wear, the tie that no one would loose."

Rear-Admiral Stephen B. Luce, of America, is credited with quite a good a joke upon his own name. As a young man he was extremely popular with the smart set at Newport On the same ship with him was a stern disciplinarian, ever on the lookout for some dereliction of duty One evening Luce, after a round of pleasure, met this martinet, who remarked, sharply:

"Mr. Luce, you're tight."

"Pardon me, sir," was the quick retort, "if Stephen B. Luce, how can he be tight?"

Jean de Reszke was once a guest at a large party given to a number of distinguished musicians. In the course of the evening one of the company put the somewhat tactless question:

"Who is the most popular artiste on the musical stage?"

"Pas de Reszke!" flashed back the famous singer, thus punningly denying his own claim, and in its stead asserting that of the great Paderewski.

Something Like a Pedigree.

The longest authentic pedigree on record was probably that of the late Gen. Plantagenet Harrison, which is inserted in his "History of Yorkshire." It begins with Odin King of Asgardia, B.C. 76, and among the general's ancestors are numbered the Emperors Claudius, Diocletian and Maximilianus, Gonderguslus, King of the Vandals, our own Edward III., and many lesser-known monarchs. Gen. Harriso , who died only a few years ago, also claimed to be a legitimate prince of the blood royal of England and Scandinavia. He was known among his friends, The London Chronicle says, as the "Last of the Plantagenets," a title which fitted him well, as he stood six feet four inches in his socks, and looked every inch a king.

Kootenay River In Flood

Nelson, June 3.—The Kootenay river is out of its banks at many places and low lands are being inundated. The water has risen several inches higher than it was last year at its highest stage, and is still rising. A wire mesage from Bull river is to the effect that the new cement dam, recently built by the C. P. R., is in danger, and a number of bridges are reported as being in the same condition. On almost every bridge in the district watchmen are stationed to prevent logs and drift trees accumulating on the piers and abutments.

"BLUE EARTH."

World's Biggest Diamond Mine Is In South Africa.

Twenty-five miles east of Pretoria is what is known as the Premier Diamond Mine, the biggest in the world, where 15,000 Kaffirs may be seen any day, digging, drilling, and loading trucks of "blue" earth, from which are extracted diamonds to the value of something like $10,000,000 per annum. The total value of diamonds exported from South Afric. in a year is about $42,000,000, and of this quantity about a quarter are discovered in the Premier Mine, the other two chief mines being the De Beers and Jagersfontein.

The Premier Mine was really discovered by Sir Thomas Cullinan, the present chairman, after whom the great Cullinan diamond of 3,025 carats, discovered in the Premier Mine was named. It may be remembered that this diamond was presented to King George by the Transvaal Government, and was cut into 11 flawless stones, the largest of which is in the Imperial Crown. The Premier Mine possesses an area of 3,500 claims, equal to 80 acres, and at the present time 12,000,000 loads of treatable "blue," as the diamond-yielding earth is known, are dealt with every year. And such are the resources of the mine that it is calculated that during the next forty years the present annual output will be easily maintained.

At present the mine is about 350 feet deep, and it is considered practical, according to "The African World Annual," to work to a depth of 1,500 feet. The quality of the stones discovered is increasing in value with the depth, and, in order to encourage honesty among the Kaffirs, a payment of three shillings a carat on all stones found and delivered to the compound managers is paid. In addition to the 15,000 Kaffirs, there are 1,000 white workmen in the mine in various capacities. It is wonderfully equipped with electric plant and machinery, and is a fascinating sight after sunset, with "a thousand electric lights twinkling, eight great searchlights concentrating on the crater, piercing the huge cloud of blue smoke rising from the mine after blasting, and many thousands of natives rushing down the side of the mine, shouting and singing merrily, to resume work for the night shift.

Caution That Was Vain.

Dr. Morrison, who was recently appointed financial adviser to the Chinese Government, takes a pleasure in recalling an amusing episode connected with his student days at Melbourne University.

"In the examination for the second year at medicine," he relates, "hoping the more to impress the professors, I entered my name for honors, and they rejected me in the preliminary pass. It seems that in the examination in Materia Medica I had prescribed a dose of Croton oil of one-and-a-half to two drachms, 'carefully increased.' I confess than I had never heard of the wretched stuff."

A deputation from Dr. Morrison's family interviewed the examiner to find out why the young man had not proved successful. The only reply they got was: "I would as soon think of letting a mad dog loose in the street as of allowing him to become a doctor."

Then the examiner produced the deadly prescription, and the unsuccessful student pointed at the words, "carefully increased," at the same time putting in a plea that the indication of caution ought to save him.

"Save you it might!" thundered the examiner, "but, good heavens, man, it wouldn't save your patient."

Mr. Morrison eventually found journalism more interesting than medicine, and he is now one of the most influential men in China.

Libraries of Great Authors.

At the sale of Goldsmith's library there was not a single copy of his own works except a very imperfect one of the "History of the Earth and Animated Nature." From the catalogue of the sale of Fielding's library it appears that the only books of his own writing which he possessed at his death were two volumes of Miscellanies, two more of his unimportant dramatic works, the second edition of "Jonathan Wild," and a pamphlet. Johnson's library sold in some 65 lots and fetched little more than $1,250.

Fielding's library was about the same size and was valued $500 higher, so that neither could be described as valuable when one considers that the price of some of the lots would be enhanced by the desire of friends to obtain mementoes. As for Goldsmith's library we remember that he would tear half a dozen pages out of a volume to save the trouble of transcription and when the auctioneer described the collection as "scarce, curious and valuable," the last epithet was little more than rhetorical flourish. —Pall Mall Gazette.

Make Cromarty Naval Harbor.

An important naval harbor is being prepared in the Cromarty Firth. Admiralty surveyors are engaged pegging out a large hill fort at the Firth mouth, which will command a large area of the Moray Firth, and render Cromarty impregnable. Permanent moorings have been laid down for torpedo boats and Dreadnoughts, as a strong naval force will be permanently based on the Firth, and commodious oil storage tanks are being constructed at Invergordon. Accommodation is being provided for two hundred workmen, and an Admiralty office is being established in the town of Cromarty.

Old Postoffice Passes.

London's old general postoffice is being torn down and within six months will be no more. It was built between 1825 and 1829 on the site of the old church and sanctuary of St. Martins le Grand. Possessed of an imposing Ionic portico and supplied with a great clock, the general postoffice was a fine structure, but it was not large enough to accommodate the vast machinery of the central office.

JUDGE WRATHY.

Jury's Verdict Against Former Constable—Guilty on One Count Only.

Creston, B. C., June 3.—In Rex. vs. Bonner the latter was convicted on three counts. He was charged with robbery and violence, theft and theft as a public officer. The jury in thirty minutes brought in a verdict of guilty on the second count only, which greatly incensed the judge, who pronounced it a compromise verdict.

It was evident, he declared, that if the prisoner was guilty of theft the same was committed during the performance of his duties as a constable.

BURIED SIX MONTHS.

Find One of Three Missing Men Buried in Sandon Slide.

Nelson, B. C., June 3.—As the cook employed at the Noble Five mine at aSndon was coming down the hill Friday he saw a hand sticking out of the slide. A party of sixteen men later made an examination and succeeded in recovering the body, which proved to be that of Henry Johnson, who with two other men, were carried away by the Noble Five mine slide during the last week in December.

Neither of the other two bodies have been recovered. Johnson's body was badly smashed, his neck being broken and the skull crushed.

A Handy Measure.

If you have a pint jug and wish to measure off half a pint with tolerable accuracy it is useless to try and do so by guessing when the jug is half full. A better way is to tilt the jug until the contents just reach to the upper end of the bottom of the vessel and just touch the lip at the lower end of the mouth In this way the space in the pint jug is practically cut into two equal portions, each half representing the space taken by half a pint.

Observations of the Caddie.

The caddie's chastening influence on the conceit of players has numberless anecdotal examples. One of the best of these is the following:

"What sort of game does Mr. Jones play?"

"He canna play nane."

"I'm going out with him tomorrow. I suppose I shall beat him."

"Na, ye will not."—Windsor Magazine.

Wisdom.

"Do you notice that your son has really learned anything in college?"

"Yes. He has learned that my ideas are those of an old fogy and that he would be false to his trust if he did not do his best to bring me to a realization of my pitiable condition."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"GET THE HABIT"

COLUMBIA

Graphophones and Grafonolas are without a peer in the musical world. They are capable of reproducing not merely one class of instrumental music, but every class of instrumental music with a fidelity that is no less than flawless—the violin, the 'cello, the harp, the flute, the clarinet, the cornet—all the wind instruments, all the instruments of bands and orchestras—all the instrumental music of all the world.

Not only this, but the human voice is now so perfectly recorded and so flawlessly reproduced that the home without a COLUMBIA has become as incomplete as a piano without a keyboard. "HEARING IS BELIEVING."
