FEUD GROWS OUT OF COMMITTAL OF RUSSIAN ON MURDER CHARGE

Elushka Zabieff Must Stand Trial for Killing Alexander Zikanieff in November, 1912—Countrymen Line up in Two Factions—Crown Witness Threatened—Argument Over Admittance of Evidence.

Yesterday afternoon in Magistrate Clute's district court Elushka Zabieff was committed for trial on the charge of having murdered Alexander Zikanieff in November of 1912, and the official machinery was set in motion on one of the most tangled cases with which the provincial police have had to deal in many years. With the commitment for trial of the prisoner there has started a feud between the two factions of Russians whose sympathies take opposite sides in the affair and already threats have been passed between several of them.

No new direct evidence was introduced yesterday, though Chief of Provincial Police Smith, after a sharp battle with counsel for the defence, managed to have listed as an exhibit a statement which had been taken before any arrests had been made.

Believing that the crown had plenty of testimony to warrant the magistrate committing the accused for trial, no pressure was used to elicit evidence as to the two bullet holes in the back of the dead man's head, said to have been seen by two of the witnesses for the prosecution, and this, together with other circumstances, will be fully investigated and, if possible substantiated, before the prisoner faces a judge and jury for his trial.

Scene of Crime.

Before court opened yesterday morning Kupoff and Myzkoff, the two witnesses who deposed to having seen the blood stained face and dead body of Alexander Zikanieff in the Burnaby bush, took the police to the spot where they found it near Hastings station on the North Burnaby electric line. They pointed out the large stump behind which the corpse lay and within fifty feet of which the dead man's hat was found with the bullet hole in the brim.

Looks Like a Feud.

Feeling over the case is running high between the two factions interested, those who are friends of the deceased and those who sympathize with the prisoner Zabieff. All of the men are foreigners from Asetinia, a province of southern Russia in the Caucasus mountains. They show strongly the Tartar strain and are said to be a hot blooded lot, strong in their freindships and deadly in their enmity. From that district come the best horsemen and marksmen in Russia and perhaps in all Europe. Their relationship to the true Russian is not very close, either racially or socially, and the inhabitants of the more northern portions of the czar's dominions look down upon the Asetinians as Asiatics. With but few exceptions, they are tall, heavily-built, dark visaged men, but curiously enough, one of the few exceptions is to be found in the ranks of the friends of the dead Zikanieff, a youth not more than twenty years of age, who is in the neighborhood of six feet four inches in height, broad-shouldered and powerful, like his fellows, but crowned with a flaming mat of red hair over a fair skin and pale grey eyes. His type is so unusual that in their own language among his fellows he is known as "the Swede."

First Outbreak.

During the hearing of the preliminary the feeling of the two interested factions have been kept pretty well in hand, but yesterday it broke loose during the noon recess, when one of the friends of the prisoner went after William A. Kupoff, a Vancouver court interpreter, who is witness for the crown, winding up his tirade against Kupoff with the assertion, "You———— I'll get you yet."

Look for Others.

Now that Zabieff has been committed for trial the provincial police will get down to business on the case. A thorough search will be made for Zikanieff's body in the neighborhood where his hat was found and Kupoff and Myzkoff saw the corpse. Strenuous efforts also will be made to trace Noag Gumaharoff, another man whose first name is Noag and a third man whose name is altogether unknown, the three missing members of the quartette whom Kupoff and Myzkoff say they saw standing about the body and who ran away when the pair came on the scene. It is said by members of the Russian colony that the three have returned to Russia and, if this is the case, efforts will be put forth by the police to have them brought back and placed on trial along with Zabieff, the man committed yesterday.

New Guns for Bremerton.

Bremerton, Feb. 26.—A large consignment of new guns for vessels of the Pacific reserve fleet has been shipped from Washington navy yard and is expected to reach here in a few days. The shipment includes 18 3-inch and 14 6-inch, 50-calibre guns intended to replace the present battery on the Pittsburg, due to arrive at this yard about April 1. These new guns are of the latest model and have a greater muzzle velocity than any of the same sized calibre now in use on the armored cruisers.

WILL IMPROVE THE BARNET ROAD

Government Includes Appropriation in Estimates for This Purpose—Situation in Burnaby.

Just at a time when the councillors representing North Burnaby were attempting to secure the aid of their colleagues in enlisting financial support from the province for the repair of the Barnet road, along comes the announcement made yesterday in Victoria by Hon. Thomas Taylor, that the government proposed to do the work this year.

Councillor Fau-Vel brought up the matter last Monday, supported by Councillor MacDonald, but the four representatives from the south did not look upon the idea with favor and turned down the motion.

The minister of public works, Mr. Taylor, stated that the road would be brought to a permanent grade and that there would also be a heavy expenditure made in surfacing the highway which will add another link connecting Port Moody and Port Coquitlam with Vancouver. Such work will also bring relief to numerous industries in North Vancouver which have been hampered owing to the impassable state of the Barnet road. It is thought that a special combination of rock, bitumen and oil will be used as a surfacing, considerable experiments having been made during the past year by the public works engineers.

The action of the government in preparing estimates for the work leaves a curious situation in Burnaby where in 1913 a bylaw for $500,000 was ratified for street work, half of which was supposed to be used for permanently paving the Barnet road. These bonds have not been sold as yet, although the suggestion has been advanced by certain of the councillors that the electorate be asked to allow a change to be made with the issue, transferring the purpose from paved roads to waterworks extensions and connections. The matter may possibly be brought up at the next meeting of the council.

NUMBER THREE RIOT CASES TODAY

Conviction of William Burnip on Two Counts Closed Number Two Nanaimo Affair.

The jury in the case of William Burnip yesterday afternoon signalized the passing of the assize court from the number two riot cases at Nanaimo last August to the number three riot occurrences by convicting the accused on the two counts of having taken part in an unlawful assembly and of rioting. This is the last of the number two riot hearings to come up for some time and this morning the crown will open the number three affair with the case of Bob Haddow. This was to have come up yesterday, but arrangements for the hearing could not be made in time and the Burnip trial was taken instead.

The evidence against Burnip was substantially the same as that against the other accused implicated in the number two riot charges at Nanaimo, except that it more closely connected the prisoner with the count of rioting. This was pointed out in the judge's charge and the jury found along those lines, convicting Burnip on both counts.

The prisoner, as usual, was remanded for sentence.

Reach Compromise.

Berlin, Feb. 26.—A promise to withdraw all the oil lands in German New Guinea from private exploitation pending investigation of the nature and extent was given today by Dr. Wilhelm Solf, minister for the colonies, at the instigation of the budget committee. An appropriation of $125,000 was passed by the committee for the purchase of survey.

Kaiser Denies Reports.

Berlin, Feb. 26.—The German foreign office tonight emphatically denied a report published in America that Germany had expressed to the state department in Washington its disapproval of President Wilson's policy in Mexico and had suggested that the United States was making a serious mistake in not recognizing provisional president Huerta.

NO U.S. TROOPS FOR MEXICO

President Wilson Says the American Policy Has Not Changed.

Denies Soldiers Will Be Sent to Recover Body of British Subject—Villa Permits Autopsy.

Washington. Feb. 26.—President Wilson took the position today that for the United States to send marines or armed forces of any kind into Mexico without the consent of the governing authorities there would be an act of war. He emphatically asserted that permission never had been sought either of General Huerta or General Carranza and indicated no request of that character would be made in the near future. The president announced too that no change in the policy of the American government towards Mexico had been decided upon.

The president had been asked about reports that American troops might be sent across the border to recover the body of William S. Benton, the British subject recently executed at Juarez, and concerning published dispatches that the United States contemplated sending marines to Mexico City to guard the American embassy.

One press dispatch saying General Huerta himself had stated today that he had refused permission to the United States to send 200 marines to Mexico City was shown to President Wilson, who said it was untrue that such a request had been made. He added that neither Charge O'Shaughnessy nor any one else had been authorized to discuss with the Huerta government the landing of marines in Mexico.

Administration officials expressed the opinion that General Huerta probably inspired the statement about the American marines at this time merely for effect upon the Mexican people whom he hoped to impress with his antipathy to the American government as it is well known that permission to land marines for legation guards has been freely accorded by Huerta to other nations, including Great Britain and Germany.

Will Permit Examination.

Chihuahua, Feb. 26.—A supplementary conference between General Villa and Marion Letcher, the American consul was held today about the examination of the body of William S. Benton.

General Villa agreed that an examining commission would be received here and that it should consist of two American and two British representatives and a medical examiner.

"I will provide a special train for the use of the commission and the physician will be allowed to make the closest scientific diagonsis of the number and nature of Benton's wounds," said the rebel chief. "I think, however, that it would be improper for the body to be removed from this place to which I brought it last Friday on my special train in order that it might be fittingly interred in the most honored cemetery in the state of Chihuahua."

SEE RALPH LOPEZ IN ST. PAUL

Police Search for Mexican Desperado Who Slew Six Men.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—Police are searching tonight for a man believed to be Ralph Lopez, the Mexican desperado who took refuge in the mine at Bingham, Utah, after slaying six men. Moses Zimmerman, a horse dealer who met Lopez at Denver, Colo., told the police today that the bandit appeared at a horse sale here yesterday.

"I met Lopez several times at the horse sale in Denver last July, and I am positive it was he who appeared at yesterday's sale," said Zimmerman. Several of Zimmerman's friends corroborated his story.

Asked by the police why no effort was made to capture the bandit, Zimmerman replied: "Lopez shoots from the hip."

EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF WHEN MONROE WAS SUNK

Philadelphia, Feb. 26.—Clarence H. Davids of Yonkers, N.Y., a passenger on the steamship Monroe which was sunk in a collision with the Nantucket testified today in the trial of Capt. Berry, of the latter vessel, that so far as he could observe "it was every man for himself" after the Monroe was rammed and began to sink. He admitted, however, that he did not know when he jumped into the sea that lifeboats had been launched from the Monroe and that many persons were picked up by them. Davids was saved by a boat from the Nantucket.

The hearing was adjourned until March 9 when counsel for both Capt. Johnson and Capt. Berry will present arguments to the steamboat inspectors who heard the evidence.

Unionist Captures Leith Burghs Liberal Seat Since 1886

London, Feb. 26.—The fourth and last of the by-elections which synchronized with the opening of parliament was decided today, with Leith Burghs a Liberal seat since 1886, returning a Unionist by a majority of 16.

The seat was made vacant by the appointment of Sir Ronald Munro-Ferguson on Feb. 6 to succeed Lord Denman as governor general of Australia. Sir Donald has successfully defended the seat in all elections since 1886, by a large majority but the Liberal nominee on this occasion, Provost M. Smith was unable to poll more than 5143, whereas Sir Ronald had previously polled over 7000. Except in the election of January, 1910, there had been a straight Liberal-Unionist fight but this time J. W. Bell, a Labor candidate, secured 3346 votes, which cut into the Liberal figures, the poll of D. W. Currie, the successful Unionist being 5159 or 525 less than the defeated Unionist candidate of December, 1910.

The following were today's figures: D. W. Currie, Unionist, 5159; Provost M. Smith, Liberal, 5143; J. N. Bell, Labor, 3346; Unionist majority 16.

TO INVESTIGATE CALUMET DISASTER

Congressional Committee Holding Inquiry into Strike Conditions Will Verify Coroner's Records.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 26.—Preliminary to a trip tomorrow into the copper mines, the congressional committee investigating conditions in this district spent today in visitng settlements and learning at first hand how the mine workers live. In the meantime the operators and strikers adjusted their dispute over the selection of a practical miner to accompany the committee men underground, by agreeing on the mine inspectors of Weweenaw and Houghton counties.

Four congressmen expect to make the trip into the depths of the earth. Representative Casey who worked in the coal mines in Pennsylvania when a boy, is suffering from a cold, but he hopes to make the trip.

The investigators probably will be underground for the greater part of the day. The strikers will be given an opportunity to help select the workings to be inspected.

Chairman Taylor announced today that the committee would hear the operators' witnesses in Houghton and the first meeting there probably will be held next Monday. The committee plans to visit Calumet on Saturday to hear a witness on the subject of the Calumet disaster in order to verify the records of the coroner's inquiry. This inquiry is expected to be extensive and is to be made to meet the request of counsel for the strikers.

Won't See Reporters.

Edmonton, Feb. 26.—Mayor McNamara set what probably is a precedent today when he announced that in future he would not allow newspaper reporters to see him at all. The mayor is irritated over what he says is the misrepresentation of the Edmonton newspapers of his attitude on public questions. In order to place the records of the council and commission board before the citizens he had launched a scheme for the establishment of a municipal gazette to be published weekly and to contain verbatim reports of all meetings of the civic bodies.

Stricken Dead.

Bellingham, Feb. 26.—Joseph L. Mohundro, former state bank examiner, of Seattle, died last night at a local hospital, having been stricken on a train en route from Sumas to Bellingham by the bursting of a blood vessel of the brain. He was found in a comatose state in his seat on the train by other passengers. Mr. Mohundro was 55 years old. He was in Whatcom county looking over state banking institutions.

Called to London.

An invitation was forwarded by cable today to the Rev. Dr. Jno. Henry Jowett, pastor of the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church in New York to assume the pastorate of the Union chapel in Islington. Dr. Jowett left the Carr Lane Congregational church in Birmingham in January 1911 to assume his present pastorate.

BECKER TAKEN FROM DEATH CELL

New York, Feb. 26.—Charles F. Becker, the former New York police lieutenant who was granted a new trial on the charge of murdering Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was brought today from Sing Sing and lodged in the Tombs to await the disposition of his case by District Attorney Whitman.

Becker, who has been in prison awaiting electrocution, is confident the action of the court of appeals means that he will ultimately regain his freedom. He asserted that he did not mean what he said yesterday about going back on the police force and cleaning up the gunmen.

"I wouldn't go back on the force for all the money in the world," said he. "And there is nothing that would induce me to live in New York after I am finally freed. Hy greatest sorrows and triumphs have been in New York but I didn't get a square deal."

Mrs. Becker went to Ossining and accompanied her husband back to New York.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE TO DECIDE FATE TODAY

The important question of whether the organization shall continue in its work or whether it will be best to wind up its affairs for all time will be settled at the adjourned annual meeting of the Fraser Valley Development league to be held in the board of trade rooms, city hall, this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

At the meeting a few weeks ago the attendance was so small and the outlook poor for support, both moral and financial, from the various municipalities through the valley that the suggestion of bringing to a termination the activities of the league was seriously considered. It was decided, however, to defer definite action until all the municipalities interested were heard from. For that reason the annual meeting was adjourned and interested parties urged to attend today's meeting in order to give the question as thorough consideration as possible.

Sentiment throughout the valley in respect to the league is very much mixed. In some places the opinion holds strong that its usefullness is ended, while in others the feeling is that the results accruing from the formation of the league have so far been well up to anticipation and for that reason the league should continue in its work.

The meeting today will probably be well attended. Several different municipal bodies have signified their intentions of having delegates present.

Reeve Marmont, of Coquitlam municipality, will preside.

Murder Lone Rancher.

Portland Ore., Feb. 26.—The dead partially burned body of Otto Raen, aged 53, was found yesterday on an isolated mountain ranch near Cape Horn, in Skamania county, Wash.

Stormy Session When Sir Wilfrid Appeals Speaker Sproule's Ruling

Trouble in House Over Question of Privilege—Premier Figures in Discussion.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—A storm which brought back memories of the strenuous days of the naval debate of last session, swept over the commons for an hour this afternoon. It started with a breeze which gradually increased in intensity till the fear of something quite unusual happening was shown on the faces of many—then died down suddenly.

Speaker Sproule, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Sam Hughes and E. B. Devlin of Wright were the principal storm centres, while Premier Borden and Hon. A. S. Meighen also figured in the discussion. The trouble arose because Mr. Devlin as a matter of privilege rose to deal with a statement made by Col. Sam Hughes on Monday in which it was current rumor in the eastern townships that Hon. Sydney Fisher and a couple of members of parliament had benefitted as a consequence of the purchase of a military ground at Farnham, Que.

Mr. Devlin proceeded to read from Hansard what the minister had said when he was stopped by Speaker Sproule who ruled that a denial of a statement made by a member from some one outside the house, was not permissible and could not be treated as a matter of privilege.

Sir Wilfrid objected on the score that the speaker could not be aware of what the member for Wright proposed to say and that Mr. Devlin should be allowed to make his statement before a ruling was given.

Around this point a heated argument took place for half an hour. The speaker adhered to his ruling and Sir Wilfrid appealed to the house. Then there was a lull for a while until the clerk of the house, on behalf of the speaker prepared a statement of the ground of appeal. When the speaker proceeded to read this as a preliminary to the vote being taken, Sir Wilfrid took exception to it. His position had not been correctly stated he said. He had not appealed against a sense of the ruling, but against the action of the speaker in not allowing Mr. Devlin to make his statement.

The wrangle continued for some time, the speaker finally deciding to allow Mr. Devlin to complete his remarks.

BURNABY SCHOOL BOARD POWERLESS

Another Election of School Trustees Likely—Present Tangle Unsolved.

Sharp Clash Between Chairman and Secretary—Teachers' Salaries for January Not Paid.

According to all appearances and talk in the municipality, Burnaby is soon to be in the throes of another election. It was evident at a school board meeting held at West Burnaby last night that there are some interesting times ahead of the electorate before the tangle is finally straightened out by the election of a new board. Nothing less than a fight between the old regime and the reform ticket headed by Herbert Burnes is on the boards.

A Big Surprise.

Somewhat of a surprise was sprung at the gathering last night in the form of a telegram from Dr. Robinson, superintendent of education, to the effect that it would be inadvisable for the board to hold any further meetings until the receipt of a letter from the department. This came in the face of a letter dated February 14 from Dr. Robinson giving power to the board to continue its duties until such time as the board is legally disqualified.

Following the reading of the telegram a sharp clash occurred between Chairman Burnes and Secretary Barham, when the latter refused to produce certain communications. After considerable argument, however, during which time the chairman and several of the trustees told the secretary he was a mere paid servant of the board, Mr. Barham produced the needed letters.

A movement to adjourn proposed by Trustees Coulter and Churchland was lost, after which some discussion took place as to the payment of the teachers' salaries for January, the board finally going on record that owing to unforseen circumstances it is unable to pass upon the ncessary vouchers.

Some Dirty Work.

An adjournment was then taken, although on the question of the telegram from Victoria, Trustee Herd gave voice to his sentiments to the effect, "There has been some dirty work here which we have to get to the bottom of."

It was later stated that during the presence of the inspector from Victoria last week a petition had been gotten up in West Burnaby, just to what effect is not known, but it was inferred that it was in support of Trustee Coulter and Secretary Barham. Trustee Coulter forwarded his resignation to the department of education last week, but was present as large as life at the gathering last night.

Reform Ticket.

Chairman Burnes stated to The News that a reform ticket composed of himself, Trustees Herd, Churchland and Campbell and which would probably include H. W. Forbes, of East Burnaby, would be in the field. A campaign would be inaugurated, meetings being held in the six wards, during which time the affairs of the school board, or rather what is known of them, would be made known to the electorate. Mr. Burnes intimated that special stress would be laid as to the methods of purchasing school sites employed by the 1913 board, the payment of $7000 an acre for close to two acres adjoining the West Burnaby schools being one of the items which will be investigated.

PLANS TO IMPROVE MONTREAL HARBOR

Commission Would Spend $3,500,000 This Year—Large Grain Elevator Proposed.

Montreal, Feb. 26.—The harbor commission today made public plans for the expenditure of $15,000,000 to improve the shipping facilities of Montreal. A bill authorizing a $15,000,000 loan is now before the house of commons.

The proposed improvements include the construction of new freight sheds for the weekly services of the Hamburg-American and Canadian Northern steamship lines, the electrification of the harbor railways, the elevation of railroad tracks, the erection of piers, a new bridge over the St. Lawrence river and a grain elevator which would give Montreal the largest storage capacity of any city in the world.

U. S. SENATE DOESN'T LIKE TOO MUCH PUBLICITY

Washington, Feb. 26.—Publicity given to recent executive proceedings in the senate today so aroused some members of that body that a resolution has been introduced and referred to the committee on rules, directing the committee on foreign relations to investigate into the sources from which the executive information is obtained.

M. P. P.'S AND CORRUPTION.

Murders, suicides, accidents, etc., usually come in bunches of three is the way some people have of telling us that it never rains but it pours and, if instances of graft among members of provincial legislatures work in trios, there is one more province yet to be heard from.

Quebec had her dose a month ago when it was proved that members of the provincial house had been taking real money to shove through certain pieces of legislation which were highly popular in some quarters. Now comes old Ontario with another kind of graft story. The member in the house which meets in Toronto The Good didn't get the coin; he only asked for it, agreeing, so the story goes, to support certain interests on the floor of the house for the modest little sum of ten thousand dollars. The Ontario man's work seems to have been very crude, so coarse almost as to bring it into the more common grade of criminality called highway robbery, but graft evidently was the object and so Ontario lines up beside Quebec as number two in the crooked M. P. P. list.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—"If my brother goes to the workhouse, I go to."

"We are brothers in blood and in the bonds of the Knights of Pythias.

"Like Damon and Pythias we will not be separated."

This statement was made to Clerk of Courts J. A. Wirtensohn today by Albert L. Durgin of Durgin & Sons' Roofing company, 530 Central avenue. He stood with one hand on the shoulder of his brother, Ralph, who was released from the workhouse yesterday only to be sent for today to serve time on a former conviction.

Judges Smith and Bardwell, each of whom convicted Ralph on different charges, will confer Monday to decide what action will be taken regarding the time still to be served.

In the meantime Clerk Wirtensohn declares that he cannot commit an unconvicted man to the workhouse or keep out one whom the court says must serve time. This means that if Ralph Durgin is sent back to the institution the brothers must be separated in spite of their double bond of affection.

Arrested Last Fall.

Ralph started a legal tangle, as well as family disruptioins, when he appeared in municipal court September 6 last on a charge of drunkenness. At that time Judge Bardwell released him on probation the day before Christmas as a holiday gift to the man's wife. The parole was again broken when Ralph was arrested in January for non-support of the woman who had begged for his release.

This so irritated Judge Bardwell that he revoked the second stay on the first conviction and Judge Smith, then on the criminal bench, gave Durgin sixty days when the man failed to provide $200 to support his wife.

Brother to Rescue.

Ralph Durgin was kept at the workhouse until yesterday, when his brother came to his rescue. Albert satisfied the court that he would be responsible for Ralph's support of his wife in the future and Judge Smith ordered the man released.

In going over the records, however, it was found that Ralph still had 23 days to serve on Judge Bardwel's sentence and he was taken back to the courthouse. Albert accompanied him, maintaining that he would not be further separated from his brother.

Judge Bardwell said today he was not sure but the man's release from the workhouse in due process of law did not technically free him from all further obligations. It is this point the judges will consider Monday. Durgin will be at liberty over Sunday.

NOT WORRYING OVER EXODUS TO CANADA

United States Papers Not Much Disturbed at Outflow of Population to Dominion.

The Literary Digest, New York, says: Congressional wrath over the Canadian advertising campaign among American farmers does not seem to be greatly shared by our press. The senate's lobby committee is reported to have discovered that Canada has been spending $60,000 a year for advertising—and has drawn some 800,000 Americans over her borders in the last ten years. Some $42,000 of this Canadian money was handled by Mr. Alfred Washington, advertising manager of the Western Newspaper Union, according to his own testimony before the committee. His admission brought down upon him the demand from Senator Nelson:

"You were hired by a foreign government to do an act of disloyalty to your own country. Are you not ashamed?"

Mr. Washington replied, according to the dispatches, that he did not think it unpatriotic or disloyal to distribute such material as that in question.

Of course not, agrees the New York World, which adds that "if the lobby committee has swept the lobbies clear of every nuisance, but this it might as well report and get a new job."

Still Thinks of Annexation.

"What in the name of common sense," exclaims the New York Telegraph, is there to be ashamed of? Canada, it remarks, is not a bad country . . . some day the United States will annex Canada, and it is not a bad idea to have a few hundred thousand of your own people already in the section."

And the New York Evening Post wonders that Mr. Washington did not live up to his name by arguing that so far from being disloyal, he was in fact the agent of a process of peaceful penetration which at one time had patriotic Canadians seriously worried. The Evening Post further reflects: Where does the business end and patriotism begin? Is the business more disloyal than the business of selling war munitions to a nation that might use them against us? Is it more unpatriotic to induce American labor to emigrate than it is to make American capital emigrate in the face of labor troubles?

So, too, the Socialist New York Call remembers that while the departure of middle western farmers is especialy regretted by the "capitalist and the capitalist politician, because they take their capital out of the country," this "is the very threat that is made by the capitalists themselves when their wage slaves made demands that they consider "extortionate."

Turning to those more conversed over the northward movement, we find that at the lobby committee's hearings Senator Cummins wanted William J. White, the Canadian government's advertising agent to tell of the results accomplished in Iowa. And the Iowan senator's anxiety was probably not lessened by this frank statement from the Canadian:

"We have done a great deal of advertising in Iowa with good results, and I believe that on the whole those who have gone to Canada from Iowa have been benefited. They sold their farms in Iowa at a much higher price per acre than they could obtain just as good lands for in Canada, and in that way have enlarged their holdings, and I have heard little or no complaint from them. We try to aid would-be emigrants by pointing out the best agricultural lands and assisting them to locate."

Getting Some Back.

A western daily, the Boise City Evening Capital News, gives figures showing that we get nearly as many people each year from Canada as we lose to that country, making Canada's net gain comparatively small. Of those migrating from Canada many thinks the Capital News, are "former American farmers who were disappointed in the north." And the Idaho paper concludes that "if Canada is misleading Americans as to the charms of the provinces—and this by the way of press service and boiler plate—she is indulging in wrong practices." But the Canadian immigration department has issued a statement appearing in the New York Sun, to the effect that such figures as these are incorrect or wrongly used, and that there is no decided drift from Canada back to the United States.

The Washington Post thinks that "it must be admitted by those who are complaining about Canada's publicity program, that the Dominion has something to offer. For instance: "She is willing to give away land that isn't worth much now, knowing that the only way it will ever increase in value is by populating the country. There are few of the restrictions against business there that exist here. Canada is advertising her liberal policies and is reaping the same reward that was reaped by the United States when our policies were more liberal than they are now."

SAY SCHOOL DIRECTOR ASSAULTED PUPIL

Moscow, Idaho, Feb. 26.—Because Roy Cole, 15-year-old son of Golden W. Cole, a farmer, is said to have thrown some stones at one of the outbuildings at the Frazier schoolhouse, five miles northeast of Moscow, where he was attending school, School Director Andrew Wilson, who resides near by, chastised the boy in a manner that caused a warrant to be issued this morning for his arrest on a charge of assault and battery.

Mr. Wilson responded to a telephone call sent by Sheriff Brown and reported to Probate Judge Morgreidge for arraignment. He asked for a continuance in order to consult an attorney.

Mr. Wilson told Sheriff Brown that he followed Roy Cole and John Brude, another pupil, into the school house and slapped their faces and that during the scuffle the Cole boy fell down and was spanked with his open hand. The trouble occurred at recess. Mr. Wilson also said that he then suspended the boys from school.

NAVY WORKSHOPS.

Fully Equipped Naval Dockyard Is a Hive of Industry.

The principal workshops of the British navy are, of course, the dockyards. The fully-equipped naval dockyard of to-day, the Government establishment where war vessels of every kind are built and repaired, is a hive of industry. There are slips for building ships, and dry docks for repairing them, machine shops for the making of engines, and machinery of all kinds, together with stores of arms, ammunition, coal, oil, and provisions.

Nowadays, the building of men-of-war, which is a highly specialized and complicated business, involving the employment of a powerful and costly plant, and thousands of highly-trained artificers, is naturally centralized and confined to a few great dockyards. The construction of warships is also entrusted to private firms, who build them to an advanced stage, leaving their completion and final equipment to the dockyard authorities.

Previous to the reign of Henry VIII. there were neither naval arsenals nor dockyards in Britain, nor, in fact, any regular establishment of ships of war or sailors to man them. The foundation of a regular British navy, with a board of commissioners, a fleet, and dockyards, was, in fact, laid by bluff King Hal.

The first dockyard established during his reign was that of Woolwich, which remained the chief naval dockyard until the coming of iron ships, while those of Portsmouth, Deptford, Chatham, and Sheerness followed in succession. Depots for ships and store had existed at Portsmouth and Southampton from an earlier date; but, as has been said, there was no regular dockyard in existence until the middle of the 16th century.

Of the other naval dockyards, that at Plymouth was founded by William III. Pembroke was established in 1814, a small yard having previously been located at Milford.

The most important British naval dockyards, are those at Portsmouth, Devonport, Chatham, Malta and Gibraltar, which are each in charge of an admiral-superintendent. There are also dockyards or naval establishments at Sheerness, Pembroke, Portland, Queenstown, Hong Kong, Sydney, Simons Town, Ascension, Bermuda, and Wei-hai-wei, as well as Indian Government dockyards at Bombay and Calcutta.

The administrative control of the naval dockyards is within the province of the controller of the navy (the Third Lord of the Admiralty), to whom the director of dockyards is responsible. The latter official is accountable for the building of ships, boats, etc., in the dockyards and for the construction of all machinery for use afloat or ashore. The work of construction which he superintends employs an army of artisans and laborers at the different dockyards.

Portsmouth is the most important of the workshops of the navy, at least, so far as the building of ships is concerned. There many of the most famous ships in the British navy, past and present, have been built and launched, notably in later years the epoch-making Dreadnought and such super-Dreadnoughts as the Orion, etc.

War vessels share with passenger ships the greatest complexity of structure and the necessity for the highest degree of accuracy in building. The British Government Dockyards where shipbuilding is carried on, are equipped with modern plant of the most approved type.

Hampton Court Ghost.

In connection with the offer to Mrs. Scott of rooms in Hampton Court Palace, the old stories of the palace ghost have been widely and erroneously repeated. Only one room is said to be haunted, the room in which Jane Seymour died after the birth of Edward VI. She was neglected by her nurse, and the ghost of the nurse appears to any other nurse in the room at the time of the birth of a child, and with fatal results to the child. Princess Frederica of Hanover lost her baby at Hampton Court, and some historians believe it was fear of the midwife ghost that caused Prince Frederick, the father of George III., to hurry his wife away from Hampton Court to St. James' Palace for her accouchement—not, as is generally supposed, a Hanoverian desire to annoy his mother.

Welch Had Him.

Everybody knows what a "welcher" is, but not one man in a thousand is aware of the origin of the word. More than a generation ago there lived in London, on his own wits and the credulity of his acquaintance, a mixture of Sir Affable Hawk and Mr. Micawber. His name was David Welch. He was, as a classical writer once said, "good at all things, but mostly at a bet."

But among the things at which he was good was not paying, for he never paid. As each fresh victim cropped up his sympathizing "pal" would ask him: "What now—what's the matter?" The answer invariably was: "Welch has had me." This state of things became chronic, until at last, whenever a man had a long face, it was said that he must have been "Welch'd."

Mixed Metaphor.

Sir Robert Ball, the famous astronomer, who has just died, was rather fond of telling the story of a correspondent who wrote to him saying that, although he was a grocer's assistant, his great ambition was to become an astronomer. But he got his ideas somewhat mixed, for this was one of his sentences: "My mind finds no rest for the sole of her foot save on one of the heavenly bodies."

When Business Booms

HARD TIMES! A prominent advertiser who spends a fortune every year in publicity has established a significant rule. Whenever he notices a slowing up of business he increases his advertising. This is the reason: "When business is booming it is unnecessary to fight for it—it comes of itself; but when business is slow I insist on having my share of it, and the easiest way to get it is by calling attention to my goods. I do not wait for hard times. I scent them in the distance, and before anybody else gets busy I make my contracts for advertising on a big scale and get my orders in before my competitors know what I am doing." The logic and common sense of the attitude of this gentleman account in large part for the remarkable success he has achieved

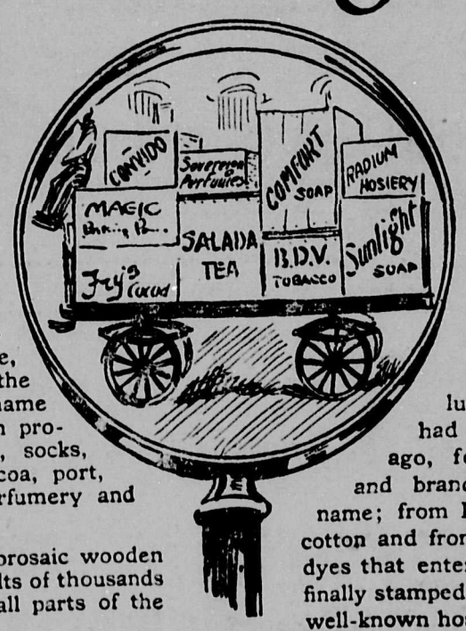
The Tale The Wagons Tell

My office window faces a street, close to the railway freight sheds.

All day long a steady stream of trucks and lorries lumber by—loaded with boxes, barrels and bales.

One truck I noticed the other afternoon was particularly interesting. No two boxes were the same, and stencilled on the end of each was the name of some well-known product—soap, tobacco, socks, breakfast food, cocoa, port, tea, chocolates, perfumery and baking powder.

Gathered there in prosaic wooden boxes were the results of thousands of hand's labor in all parts of the world.



The cocoa had been grown in Brazil, shipped to Bristol, transhipped to Montreal and finally distributed from Toronto.

The tea was gathered by swart-skinned natives of the romantic island of Ceylon; from sunny Portugal the luscious, big grapes had been gathered years ago, fermented, bottled and branded with a famous name; from Egypt had come the cotton and from South America the dyes that entered into the product finally stamped with the brand of a well-known hosiery.

There, behind that obviously prosaic truck-load of freight was the whole romance of modern commerce—the skilled production, the universal demand for food, drink and raiment, and the world-wide distribution of the things we use every day.

And then I speculated why we use these things every day, instead of some other things; and that brought me plump back to my own job of advertising.

The names of some of the boxes on the lorrie were known everywhere to-day, but had been unknown a few years ago; and I saw then more clearly than ever before that Advertising is really a great channel digger. It is like the Panama Canal. You can sail from Montreal to Vancouver now, around the Horn. You can get there, but it is going to take months. A year or so from now you will sail through the Panama Canal and chop the journey to less than half. A new channel will have been dug.

The great names in commerce to-day are those of the manufacturers who have let modern advertising steam-shovel a channel across the isthmus of distributing difficulties.

The great names in the commerce of to-morrow will be those of men who widen and dredge this channel so that the greater traffic may pass smoothly and quickly from the source of production to the homes of the consumer.

VICTORIA CITY TO HOLD TAX SALE

Unpaid Levies to Be Collected by Auction—Dominion Government Settles Its Accounts.

Victoria, Feb. 26.—The city treasurer has just received from the federal authorities at Ottawa a cheque to the amont of $13,000, covering taxes on government property here. This amount is for taxes upon the old post office building for the years 1910 and 1911. The taxes for 1907, 1908 and 1909 were paid some time ago. There is thus yet remaining to be paid the taxes of 1912 and 1913, amounting to about $7,700. In addition, local improvement taxes to the amount of $4,380 have been paid by the Dominion government, being the payments for the paving and cluster light service at the present post office building, immigration building and customs house. No taxes are due upon those premises, as they are being used purely for government purposes.

Figures compiled by City Treasurer Smith show that the total amount of taxes paid by ratepayers during last year up to December 31, was $1,547,400, or 90 per cent of the total levy under the annual tax by-law. In addition there was an amount of $342,483 collected on local improvement account. These taxes cover the general tax on land, water frontage tax, boulevard upkeep, cluster lighting and sewer construction rates. There is today $221,135 of the 1913 taxes in arrears, and $60,437 of arrears for 1912 and previous years. To recover this latter amount the city will hold a tax sale in September next, of the lands on which arrears up to December 31, 1912, still exist.

WANT ALL MEATS SOLD AT RETAIL

Spokane, Feb. 26.—Packing houses in Spokane will be asked to stop selling meat directly to hotels and restaurants, a practice that has been followed for years, and instead sell to the retail butchers only. A resolution to this effect was passed last night by the master butchers' association, in session at the A. and K. market, and will be presented to the Spokane Grocers and Butchers' association next Monday evening for indorsement. The affiliation of the two organizations, with promise of mutual aid, assured their united effort toward this end, assert the meat dealers.

It is expected that at that meeting a committee will be named to present the matter to the packers.

The butchers declare that the majority of Spokane's meat business is with the hotels and restaurants and that turning this business over to the local butchers will more than double their business, and will make possible the reduction of prices on the more costly cuts to all other consumers. They say the price to the hotels and restaurants would be but slightly increased, if at all.

THE NEW BUCKINGHAM.

London's Royal Palace Is Now a Worthy Structure.

The external appearance of Buckingham Palace in London has been almost completely transformed during the summer months, and the building is now worthy of its name. It now has a new front and the improvement has been effected with the minimum of inconvenience to the King himself. The design for the new front, made by Sir Aston Webb, R.A., at the suggestion of the Queen Victoria Memorial Committee, was submitted and approved last year. It was also exhibited to the House of Commons tea-room, and the preparation of the working drawings was immediately begun. After due consideration it was decided that the most suitable stone would be that known as the best Whitbed, from Portland. St. Paul's Cathedral and all the great Government buildings erected in recent years are faced with this stone, which is undoubtedly the best for the London atmosphere. A condition necessarily laid down was that any building work must be carried on during the brief absences of the court, and it was at first contemplated to subdivide the work and carry it out one section at a time. The contractors, however, preferred to carry out the whole of the refacing at one operation, and instructions were given to proceed with the work, on the understanding that it should be completed within the months of August, September, and October of last year. Other conditions laid down were that the existing window and door openings were to be retained, that the sashes and doors were to be left undisturbed, and that the work was to be carried on entirely from outside. An idea of the extent of the work may be gained from the fact that 95,000 cubic feet of stone was employed. The rapidity of the work was only insured by the most elaborate preliminary arrangements.

India's Minerals.

The growing importance of the mineral industry of India is explained in the annual report of the director of the Geological Survey of India for 1912, which has just been issued.

The aggregate value of the mineral production of India in 1912 reached the large total of $45,302,422, which represents an increase of $6,513,945 over the figures of the preceding twelve months.

Coal is by far the most important mineral product of India. The value of the output of the coal fields in 1912 reached a total of $16,088,374, which represents an advance of over thirty-two per cent. The aggregate output amounted to nearly 14,750,000 tons, which was almost sixteen per cent. more than the total of the previous year, and nearly 2,000,000 tons in advance of the output of the boom year, 1908, when the figure exceeded 12,750,000 tons, and the average price at the pit's mouth advance to $1.20.

Gold comes next to coal in the mining industries of India, and at a time when some of the gold fields of the world report a diminishing output it is interesting to note in India an advance of $163,602, or one and five-tenths per cent. in the production of the Indian mines. The advance is not very large, but the aggregate yield of the fields reached the total of $11,040,977.

Actor Who Wants to Farm.

Mr. Godfrey Tearle, the young romantic actor, who has made yet another step forward with his performance of Valentine Brown in "Quality Street," is not by any means infatuated by the glamour of the stage. Despite his exceptional success, he said to a friend lately: "If I had my own way I should live always in the country. I should take a farm-house and go in for agriculture."

It is a curious commentary on human nature that most successful men imagine that they would like to have followed careers other than their own. Sir Charles Mathews wanted to be an actor. Mr. H. B. Irving wanted to be a barrister, and was called to the Bar. Mr. Lloyd George once had an ambition for the spiritual ministry rather than the political one. Miss Eva Moore wanted to be a teacher of physical culture to girls. Mr. Winston Churchill, like the Kaiser, has always had varied ambitions.—London Daily Mirror.

Mistook Their Purpose.

Mr. J. L. Toole, the great comedian, had a great antipathy to street music of any kind. About this there is a story told of him. The waits, one Christmas evening, played under his windows, greatly to his annoyance, and on Boxing Day they paid him a visit.

"We played under your window last night," said the spokesman of the party, when they were shown into his presence.

"Well, and what do you want?" quoth the comedian.

"We've come for our little gratuity."

"Come for a gratuity, have you?" exclaimed Mr. Toole. "Bless me! I thought you had come to apologize!"

Famous Christmas Trees.

The biggest private Christmas tree ever seen in Britain was one which the Duke of Norfolk had cut from his own estate and conveyed with much trouble to Arundel Castle. It stood 70 feet high, weighed nearly four tons, and bore on its branches presents to the value of £4,500.

The Christmas tree which Queen Victoria gave soon after her marriage to the Prince Consort was 40 feet high, and its crop of gifts was valued at something like £9,000.

TWO OLD FAVORITES.

Southern Recipes Which Have Stood the Test of Time.

Chicken pie made in the good old southern fashion is a piece de resistance for the dinner table that is hard to eclipse by any of the newfangled dishes.

To turn out this pie in the approved fashion, says Good Housekeeping, make a good paste, preferably puff paste, roll to one-half inch in thickness and cut a cover to fit the size of the dish—if liked cut out fancy shapes for the cover—and bake all in a quick oven fifteen minutes. Cut up two chickens in pieces for serving, put in a kettle with just enough water to cover and cook slowly until chickens are tender, adding salt and pepper to taste. Remove chicken, roll each piece in seasoned flour and place in baking dish, cover with the liquor, cook half an hour. Slip on the pastry cover, and when thoroughly heated the pie is ready to serve. Or make a rich baking powder biscuit dough and use instead of the pastry.

Samp and bacon is another Dixie dish of note. Baltimore samp is made of white corn. It is very much coarser than grits or fine hominy. Cover the samp with boiling water, let it boil for six minutes, then drain and rinse. Cover again with boiling water and cook slowly till tender, adding boiling water as needed. When nearly cooked season nicely with salt and pepper. Serve hot with rolls of dried bacon.

The Care of Porch Floors.

The best way for cleaning porch floors in the fall or early winter is a question that taxes the patience of mistress and maid alike. Mistress insists, and maid objects. Each is right.

Fortunately there is a way to clean floors that will solve this problem of the mistress and maid to the satisfaction of each. Make a strong solution of soap and very hot water. Have the water at a temperature of at least 180 degrees F. Hot water in the fall or winter is necessary because cold water freezes and produces icy steps and floors. Then with the aid of a good mop go over the porch floor rapidly. Use plenty of hot water and wipe the floor well. Go over it quickly. The hot suds will take up the dirt. Start at the farther end of the porch and back up toward the steps so as to avoid tracking up the cleaned floor.

A good mop wringer will not only save time, but will save the hands, temper and energy. It will cause a more even distribution of the moisture and allow scalding water, which is so desirable because more cleansing, to be more freely used.

Hot Bread For Breakfast.

Twin Mountain Muffins.—One-quarter cupful butter, one-quarter cupful sugar, one egg, three-quarters cupful milk, two cupfuls flour, four teaspoonfuls baking powder. Cream the butter. Add the sugar and egg well beaten. Sift baking powder with the flour and add to the first mixture, alternating with the milk. Bake in buttered tin gem pans for twenty-five minutes with the temperature of 400 degrees F.

Graham Muffins.—One cupful graham or entire wheat flour, one cupful flour, one egg, one to three tablespoonfuls melted butter, one teaspoonful salt, one cupful milk, one-quarter cupful sugar, four teaspoonfuls baking powder. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add the milk gradually and the egg well beaten. Then add the melted butter. Bake in hot oven (temperature should be 400 degrees F.) in buttered gem pans for twenty-five minutes.

New Idea In Window Seats.

In the bedroom of a small apartment where every foot of space must be utilized there may quite well be a window seat of the sort which come all ready to put in position. This new type of convenience is shaped like a short bench with low arms at both sides and is upheld by four short legs grooved and fitted with two shelves long enough to accommodate four paper shirt waist boxes. It isn't much trouble to procure fancy paper covered boxes and fit them in front with little glass knobs, so that they may be easily drawn forward when one wishes to get at their contents.

Baked Cream Scones.

Sift two cupfuls of flour with three rounded teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Mix four level tablespoonfuls of butter with them and then lightly stir into the mixture half a cupful of sweet cream and two beaten eggs. Cut the dough into triangles and bake in a hot oven until a delicate brown

POINSETTIA TEA.

Just the Sort of Entertainment For Holiday Week.

A woman's civic club, a literary or musical society or any organization of a similar nature which wishes to entertain its friends at the holiday season or, perchance, desires to increase its funds will find that a "poinsettia tea" may be adapted to its needs, says the Woman's Home Companion.

Decorate all the rooms with wall bouquets or hanging baskets of poinsettia and ground pine. Transform one of the rooms into an attractive little tea room with small, round tables lighted with red shaded candles. Festoon each table with a dainty garland of the ground pine, placing here and there a single poinsettia blossom.

The menu cards may be decorated in water color with a scarlet poinsettia, and sandwiches may be served wrapped in paraffin paper tied with a tinsel cord and decorated with a bit of holly. Little cakes of various kinds with a frosting of red or white may be passed in graceful baskets, decked with the ground pine and the poinsettia. Tiny individual pies of mince and pumpkin would be appreciated with cups of coffee. Hot spiced grape juice and thin wafers might be served at these tables, as well as from the great china bowl standing at the other end of the room upon a small table under a big poinsettia bell.

ECONOMY TALK.

Know the Kind of Coal You Are Using and Be Safe.

Coal is one of the most variable of products. Unfortunately there is as yet no trademarked brand for the consumer to rely on so he may know what he is getting. If a package of a trademarked gelatin is worthless you can get your money back from the dealer. But if you buy a ton of poor coal you will only have to wait until it is all burned out. There are as many kinds of coal as there are places where it is burned, so many confusing names have entered in, and what is "pea coal" in one locality is not sure to be the same elsewhere. First find out what coal, size and amount, etc., your particular boiler or furnace requires. Then buy that kind of the most reputable dealer. It may be stove coal, pea coal, nut, etc., but first find out what the manufacturer of your furnace or stove says would be the best to use with his make of stove before you buy the fuel.

Winter Gown Materials.

Velvets of all kinds are in favor for frocks this winter, especially the chiffon and panne varieties. In fact, all velvet surfaced cloths are worn, and fure is a very beautiful material of this genre; also chameleon velvet, which has a changeable ground with a nap of a different color—for instance, a background of red and blue with a nap of black.

Stripes are making a way for themselves quietly, but persistently, and plaids are much in vogue when used in combination with plain material. In the cut is a very serviceable frock of tobacco brown and tan wool check, with bodice of brown chiffon cloth.

Quick Mayonnaise Dressing.

The making of mayonnaise dressing is usually a laborious and tiresome task, as the oil must be used drop by drop, unless the person is fortunate enough to possess a mayonnaise mixer. By using hot water with egg the dropping is eliminated, when the task is lightened and the time consumed shortened. Mix with the yolk of an egg a tablespoonful of hot water. Beat them well together. Then add the oil in as large quantities as desired. A pint may be added at will if desired without curdling. Use pepper and salt and vinegar to taste. A pint of olive oil is the proportion to use with an egg.

On Y. M. C. A. Work.

In an address before the members of the Y. M. C. A. last evening, M. Ballantyne, western secretary of the national council of the Y. M. C. A's of Canada, pointed to three things which the association contributed to the community. These were: First, it was a high grade democratic club for young men at low cost; second, it was a supplementary agency in every city for the advancement of the church; third, it was a place where all men of all creeds or no creeds meet on an equal footing, and fourth, it had scientific methods of dealing with boys, not curbing their desires but rather leading them. Mr. Ballantyne also told at length the work being done by the association and answered in the affirmative the question: "Is the association making good?"

OBITUARY.

LEDGEWOOD — The funeral of Robert Ledgewood, of Port Moody, took place yesterday afternoon from Fales' undertaking parlors to the Fraser cemetery. Rev. E. C. W. McColl, of St. Andrew's church, Port Moody, officiated. The funeral was well attended, local No. 1633, L. O. F., Port Moody, of which the late Mr. Edgewood was a member, being represented. The pallbearers were: E. Bowles, R. Woodrow, F. Johnston, W. Jago, A. Oxtoby and E. D. Rhodes.

ROXBURGH — William Roxburgh, aged 80, for 20 years connected with the Dominion fisheries service in this city, and formerly superintendent of the Bon Accord hatchery, died in Vancouver yesterday. The late Mr. Roxburgh was a pioneer of New Westminster and was a member of the Canadian Pacific old time surveying corps, being in charge of a camp at Kamloops in the early 70's.

When a young man Mr. Roxburgh was in the British navy and saw active service at the blockade of the Black sea during the Crimean war. He arrived in New Westminster in advance of the railway construction and shortly after coming joined the fisheries service where he remained until two years ago when he resigned on account of ill-health. Two months ago he removed to Vancouver. He was unmarried and friends are arranging for the funeral.

COQUITLAM COUNCIL REJECTS SCHOOL ESTIMATES

The Coquitlam municipal council has rejected the school estimates for 1914 as presented by Chairman Ewen Martin. The total was $5540, made up as follows: Sundries and unforseen expenses, $1030; delegates' expenses, $150; stationery and printing, $90; janitors, $500; supplies, $250; repairs, $850; insurance, $100, and wood, $270.

Practically every figure was in excess of last year's estimates. Particular objection was taken to the first item, $1030 for sundries and unforseen expenses. This compares with $2.40 for last year. Reeve Marmont declared he would not let such an amount for the total school estimates pass even if he was compelled to take legal action. The figures were referred back to the chairman of the board for reduction.

Vancouver and Victoria Finish the Schedule Tonight—Terminals Must Win to Tie Royals.

The last game of the Pacific Coast hockey season will be staged on Victoria ice this evening between Vancouver and the coast champions. In order to tie with Westminster for second place Vancouver has to cop tonight's game which is likely to be of a heavy scoring variety. Should Vancouver lose it will be the eighth consecutive defeat for the Terminals and the seventh consecutive win for the Senators. The latter will be without the services of Skinner Poulin who has gone east.

Sport Comment

The old moss covered story, that of Joe Lally being asked to take charge of a coast lacrosse club, has again cropped up, this time Victoria being mentioned as the burg where the kale is plentiful and where promoters are willing to take chances on a professional sport, the demise of which was announced last fall, but which shows signs of a slight rally at this juncture. The report is headed with a Vancouver date line and appeared in an eastern paper, hence the probable truth to the suggestion that the writer was too timid to spring it on the coast. Lally if offered the position will turn it down cold. What the Cornwall magnate is attempting to do at the present time is to mend the fences of Canada's national pastime which have been broken down and trampled upon during the past few years. The amateur game was forgotten during the time the public was patronizing the pro games and in all fairness, the latter fixtures were mighty interesting in their time. New players, however, were not being trained. Back in the east the roster of the Big Four clubs last summer found men who have been in the game for years and years. The magnates could not pick up likely material as they have been doing in hockey this past winter. Hence the present campaign fathered by Lally. The Vancouver report is made up pure and simple. Victoria must fight its own battles without the assistance of a man likely Joe Lally.

No Cricket Tour.

The decision of the Australian cricketers to abandon the proposed tour of Canada and the United States during the coming summer, has demonstrated the great hold which the cricket association has upon the players in the Antipodean continent. The organization, which is nothing more nor less than the parent body, threatened the expulsion of any player who made the trip to Canada probably on the grounds that the tour organized and engineered by Mr. Benjamin last summer savored too much of the professional barnstorming tour idea. In company with other sports, cricket has obtained considerable hold in the cities of Canada and the eastern States, but little improvement can be expected in the style and strength of play until several English pro coaches can be persuaded to make their home in this country and turn their attention to the youngsters. The polished batting and bowling of the Australians last summer throughout the whole of the tour demonstrated the inferiority of the opposing teams. The spectators paid their admission simply to watch the visitors.

Little Chance for Feds.

Although there appears to be little hope of the Federals landing Christy Mathewson, the outlaw league certainly got some publicity when they asked Big Six to name his terms to become manager of the Brooklyn club. Mathewson has been with the New York club and with the National league for too many years to make such a break although there is no denying the fact that as far as finances go, the Giant twirler is well fixed and could afford to take a chance of making or breaking himself with the Feds. In the event of the outlaws being taken into big league company along with the Nationals and Americans, it would look mighty good for Mathewson to have his little share in the Brooklyn club, but he and Jawn McGraw are too good friends. Mathewson has been drawing down a big salary from the Giants for many years besides getting his share of the world series money quite regularly. Matty is on his way to Marlin. In a few days McGraw will be back with his world's tourists and by that time we shall hear of the Big Six announcing the fact that he will be seen on the mound for the Giants during 1914.

DE PALMA WINS

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—Defeating Barney Oldfield by a trifle more than a minute in a 294 mile grind, Ralph de Palma, participant in scores of hard fought motor contests, won his second Vanderbilt cup race today on the Santa Monica course. His time was 3:53:41; Oldfield's 3:55:01.

Many Were Left.

Sixteen cars entered the race and only five finished, but from the 18th lap to the finish it was a contest solely between DePalma and Oldfield. DePalma won because he did not have to stop once in all the 35 laps of the eight mile course. Oldfield forfeited what chance he had when he was compelled to stop and change a wheel in the 34th lap and lost nearly a minute.

One Accident.

There was but one accident during the race. Edwin Pullen, who made one of the fastest laps of the day—85 miles an hour—and was leading in the 14th lap, took a turn at terrific speed and crashed into an iron barricade which protected a throng of spectators. The car was wrecked, but Pullen his mechanician emerged unhurt.

Basketball Meeting.

A meeting will be held on Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of forming a church junior basketball league. Pastors, superintendents, boys and all interested are requested to attend. Boys will be divided according to weight under 110 pounds, 125 pounds, 135 pounds.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The first broom hockey game will be played tonight at the association building, Mahoney and Kennedy's team, captained by G. Spring, will play against a team from Port Langley. The Port Langley boys will have Clarkson, Plaxton, Graham, Forman and Worrell on their line, while G. Spring, Gifford, Stoddart, Webster, Sibley and Johannson will represent the plumbing establishment with Linn, Davies and Walmsley as spares.

The juniors are planning to have a treasure hunt on Saturday afternoon, leaving the association at 2 o'clock. There will be a meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock to make final preparations. Every boy should be present.

In the final game of the house basketball league Dawe's team defeated W. Smith's team by a score of 30-21, winning the Pacific Canadian Publishing company's shield. The business boys' team had a handicap of 7 to 2. Each basket the boys scored counted 7 points while the seniors counted 2 points. The game was fast and clean and very little difficulty was experienced by the referee, T. Storm, in keeping the players under control.

SPORT CHATTER

(By the Potter.)

The scheduled game between the Burnaby and City soccer teams for Saturday afternoon has been postponed, many of the City players desiring to attend the big game in Vancouver.

The hockey exodus started yesterday, George Rochon leaving for his home in Swift Current. Art Throop will accompany the Victoria and Vancouver teams which leave for the east on Saturday or Sunday. Charlie Tobin, Hugh Lehman and Eddie Oatman have been included in the Vancouver line-up to make the trip through the N.H.A. circuit.

Skinner Poulin refereed an amateur game in Calgary last Tesday night. The Albertan states he made good.

At a meeting of the young boys of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held last evening a boys' club was organized with the ultimate intention of affiliating with several more junior clubs in the city. The following officers were elected: President, Gordon Rowley; vice-president, Earl Gray; secretary, Gordon Currie; treasurer, H. Stoddart; chairman of executive, L. Curtis. The club will work towards organizing a junior lacrosse and baseball league and also towards holding lectures accompanied by moving pictures.

Art Mills' hockey team, the Tangoes got away with the long end of a 5-3 score in a game with the rink management team at the arena last evening. Doc Wells, L. Adams, Art Mills, R. McDonald, B. Brush, A. Sinclair and Bill Rodgers represented the champions, while E. Savage, Dr. Jones, B. Bourne, F. Lynch, A. Prescott, W. Clapp and D. McWaters composed the line-up of the vanquished.

TIMBER WASTE AND BY-PRODUCTS

Lumberman Responsible for Wastage of 75 Per Cent. of Timber He Handles, But Not His Fault.

Popular opinion holds the lumberman responsible for the wastage of 50 to 75 per cent. of the timber which he handles, this waste consisting of high stumps, broken trees, logs, and uncut timber left in the woods, and of sawdust, slabs, edgings and trimmings at the mills. The lumberman maintains that he saves as much material as he can at a profit, and that he should not be charged with wilful waste when he refuses to handle material which cannot be sold for at least the cost of production.

Conditions which make possible closer utilization in logging and manufacturinig are:

1. Ready markets.
2. Cheap transportation.
3. Character of timber.
4. Efficient management.
5. Proper equipment.

The labor costs in handling waste material are often prohibitive. The present low price of stumpage makes it more profitable for the manufacturers of many small wooden articles to buy logs, and entire timber tracts, than to manufacture from the waste of lumbering operations.

Many by-product plants require such large investments and an assurance of a long-time supply of material that their erection is possible only in connection with very large lumbering operations. The conditions surrounding many small operations are such that close utilization is impossible.

Material is saved only as it is valuable. Closeness of timber utilization is in direct proportion to stumpage values. In some large and favorably situated eastern lumbering operations, high timber values and good markets for a wide variety of products permit the utilization of practically all waste. In many Pacific coast operations where standing timber of low value is abundant, and sawing capacity is in excess of market demand, much waste is at present unavoidable.

Over-production of lumber and other wood products is a prolific cause of forest waste. Over-production results from unlimited competition in the exploitation of forest resources.

Educating the consumer to the use of grades and sizes of material now rejected will accomplish much in decreasing forest waste. The consumer has the final say in the disposition of the products of the manufacturer. This is not a condition peculiar to lumbering alone, but applies to the market for all manufactured and agricultural products. A market for forest products equal to that in Germany would result in as close timber utilization in Canada as exists in Germany.

TEACHERS TO LEARN CARE OF BABIES

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Striking testimony to the value of the work being done by the school nurses was the request of a number of the teachers on the staffs of the schools where the nurses are carrying on "Little Mother leagues" to be allowed to be present at the demonstrations given to the girls in the care of babies. The teachers have asked Miss Paul, superintendent of nurses, for permission to take the instruction with the children, declaring that they don't know anything about the care of babies themselves.

There are at present four leagues established, and it is intended to open 16 more in other schools just so soon as the superintendent of nurses can make arrangements. The demonstrations include lessons in washing babies, dressing them, and putting them to bed, little sister of the "Little Mothers" being used for the demonstrations. It is intended gradually to encourage mothers to come to the demonstrations and bring their babies, when the nurse will show them the proper way to care for the little ones.

The leagues as at present organized meet once a week after school hours, and the membership is eligible to girls from the senior third class up. The attendance is, of course, voluntary, and each league has its own officers. In some schools the number of children desiring to attend the demonstrations is so great that they must be taken in groups, each group reviewing the work of the preceding afternoon under its own leader, while the nurse is teaching another section.

Clue to Hold-up.

Seattle, Feb. 26.—A circumstance that may have an important bearing on the apprehension of the robbers of the passengers in the Tacoma interurban train last Saturday was obtained yesterday when it was learned by Sheriff Ed. Cudihee that wigs and false eyebrows answering descriptions of the hair and eyebrows of the robbers were purchased from a local hair store. Two wigs, one black and the other red, and a set of heavy, dark eyebrows were purchased by a woman last Saturday morning in the hair goods store of Tom Singer & Co., at 1007 First avenue. One of the hold-ups had red hair, another had black hair and the third had heavy eyebrows that seemed to meet over the nose, victims of the men say.

YOUTHFUL, BUT QUEER.

One of the Extreme New Year Frocks.

DANCING MODEL OF LACE FLOUNCES.

The puffed pannier of this dancing frock is rather extreme in style, but the costume is exceedingly girlish, dainty and new notwithstanding.

It is made of lace flounces, pink satin and rose flowered pompadour silk. Worn by a tall, slender girl, the costume is most attractive and distingue.

Wedding Gown of White House Bride.

"What did the bride wear?" This question is asked every time a wedding takes place by curious persons, but now there are thousands of women the world over who have been interested in the bridal finery of Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, who was Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of the president of the United States.

The wedding gown was of lustrous white satin softly draped and trimmed with real lace, the folds being held in place with clusters of orange blossoms. The bodice was embroidered in orange blossom design, which outlined the open neck and extended down the side of the skirt. The sleeves were also finished with the same design, from which fell a deep frill of lace.

The train was in court style, cut square. The full length veil was of tulle. The head arrangement was a Dutch cap effect, the same lace being used for the cap as that of draping the gown. This coiffure was sprayed with orange blossoms.

The five attendants' gowns were of pink charmeuse, blending harmoniously from deep rose to a pale pink. Two gowns were in the deepest shade and two in the lightest, the palest shade being worn by the maid of honor. These gowns had overdraperies of chiffon and tunics of silver lace. The high flaring Marie Antoinette collars were of a sheer cream lace, and the flowing sleeves were of the same dentelle. The hats worn with the gowns were of pink moire velvet and silver lace.

Mrs. Wilson's gown was of ecru brocaded velvet, with ecru lace and mink tail trimming, with touches of old blue and gold shimmering underneath the lace. The same tones were repeated in a corsage bouquet. The skirt was draped to one side of the front with a fall of lace extending to the bottom of the skirt and a long sash of lace at the neck outlined with mink tailed fur.

Household Conveniences.

True to the Biblical prototype, the modern housewife continues to consider well the ways of her household, and, above all, does she see to it that her kitchen is fitted out with all the convenient appliances that will make her work less burdensome. For instance, there is a tiny vacuum strainer which will take all the cream out of the top of a bottle of milk in a second. It is made of block tin, is easily kept clean and is reasonable in price. It will be welcome to the thrifty housewife who wants to make the daily quart go as far as possible.

The woman who has to carve will be glad to get the so called "leg of mutton" holders" now on the market. There never was a woman that didn't just hate to grasp that mutton bone with one hand while she carved with the other. This new contrivance is a small nickel plated pair of nippers which hold the joint firmly in place while the carving is being done.

They Like Occult Sciences.

Queen Alexandra and the princess royal are said to be interested in occult sciences and have taken to crystal gazing. Queen Alexandra owns the crystal which Napoleon carried with him everywhere, having bought it two years ago on the continent for a large sum. Both she and her daughter are said to have had interesting things "foretold" to them through the crystal.

MURDERER OF BRIDE WILL PLEAD INSANITY

Tacoma, Feb. 26.—Friends of Abraham Pepper, who will stand trial for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Danhauser Johnson at San Francisco if he recovers from the bullet he fired into his own skull, stated here tonight that counsel would be employed who would enter a plea of insanity for the slayer.

"It seems certain the boy was temporarily insane," said Meyer Jacob, a merchant interested in the case.

Local attorneys say there is no doubt that the fortune recently inherited by Mrs. Johnson will be divided between her husband and a half sister.

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Beyond much doubt Abraham Pepper, of Tacoma, will recover from his attempt yesterday to commit suicide, and must stand trial for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Danhauser Johnson, once his sweetheart, whom he killed yesterday in the hotel where she was spending her honeymoon. The bullet fractured his skull, but did not penetrate the brain.

Mrs. Johnson, though married in Tacoma, was born and educated here. Her mother, after the death of Mrs. Johnson's father, married Herman Kaufman, now a hotel proprietor in Chehalis, Wash. Mrs. Kaufman's brother, Herman Klaber, died in the loss of the Titanic, and left $25,000 to his niece, Mrs. Johnson.

LOCAL AND FOREIGN MARKETS

VERY IRREGULAR AT NEW YORK

Prices Open Lower, Advance in the Afternoon and Sag Off Towards Close.

New York, Feb. 26.—Quotations came lower from the other side this morning and an effort apparently was made here to open the market as low as possible. The low prices of the day were made in the first few minutes. There was a good deal of irregularity in the initial trading, but after the first half hour the market showed a tendency to harden and shortly after noon active stocks had rallied about a point from early low prices.

Missouri Pacific made a new low record for the present movement by opening at 23½ and M. K. and T. continued under pressure on selling which was supposed to come from Amsterdam, but which many people thought originated in New York.

On the advance in early part of the afternoon the market turned dull and acted as if the rise had been caused almost entirely by short covering. In the last hour prices again showed a tendency to sag off. Northern Pacific being rather conspicuously heavy among the active issues. Stories of financiaal difficulties in Paris, which were circulated before our opening here were pronounced more or less exaggerated and it was stated that any dificulties which might exist there had been taken care of.

On the whole sentiment improved somewhat as a result of early rally, but it cannot be said the bulls showed any particular confidence or that there was any great demand for stocks except on supporting orders at the lower prices. In the last few minutes covering by shorts imparted firm tone to the market many issues closing at about the best of the day. Total sales 318,000.

ACTIVE ISSUES SHOW GAINS

Prices Harden at Montreal Towards Close After Quiet Trading in Early Session.

Montreal, Feb. 26.—Cables from London this morning were slightly lower so that at the opening here trading was quiet. Traders seem to be trying to find the trend of the market. Later on in the day prices hardened and stocks at the close were firm with active issues showing gains on the day's trading.

There was considerable liquidation in Iron during the morning session, which carried the stock down to a new low record of 34½. It closed fractionally better at 35.

Floor gossip was to the effect that dividend would be reduced to 2 per cent.

C. P. R. opened off and advanced to 212. Laurentide was in fair demand, selling up to 190½. Power was firm with little stock offering. It advanced from 226½ to 228.

The unlisted department was neglected.

Christmas—I believe we are in a constructive period and while reactions may come I believe the market is a purchase on weak spots.

Christmas—The foreign markets seem to give recognition to the rumor which was current yesterday of financial difficulties in the banking circles of Paris. This and the Mexican situation are grave issues and coming home we have a serious position in that of the Canadian Northern railway. It cannot be expected that the market can do very much with these factors in the limelight.

EXPECTS FLOOD OF GOLD FROM JUNEAU

Returned Traveller Says That Camp Will Be Heaviest Producer in America.

Seattle, Feb. 26.—That Juneau, Alaska, within the next few years will take rank as the most productive source of gold in all America, yielding rich bounty to this city through trade and financial connection that almost exclude all others, is the assurance given by Walter G. Fox, who has just returned to Seattle after six years' sojourn in Alaska.

"My estimate is not over-enthusiastice or anything at all like guesswork," Fox said this morning. "It is based on the word of some of the best known mining experts of the United States, small armies of which have had the whole district under the closest scrutiny for the purpose of forming opinions which would be the final word with clients who had engaged them to say whether or not they should pour many millions of dollars into development work. What these high authorities of the mining industry reported, outside of what they have said for publication from time to time, is shown in a brief summary of the present situation in quartz mining in Juneau and vicinity.

"The Alaska-Gastineau is opening up with an initial development expenditure of $5,000,000. Its main construction projects are file miles of railroad, a power dam 295 feet high and a mill with a capacity of 10,000 tons of ore a day. It is driving a two-mile tunnel through Mount Roberts. At present 1200 men are employed, the payroll aggregating $250,000 a month.

"The Alaska-Juneau, now only in preliminary development stage, when completed will employ more men than the Alaska-Gastineau. Its mill—one of 140 stamps with 12,000 tons daily capacity—will be inside Juneau's city limits. It is employing about 500 men at present with a payroll of $60,000 a month.

"The famous Treadwell mines—second largest gold mine in the world—operates with never changing regularity, employing about 2,000 men. The payroll averages $100,000 a month.

"The United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Co., has acquired the old Ebner mines, together with the largest number of claims owned by any one company in Alaska, and has announced the intention of spending $20,000,000 in construction and development work within the next two years.

"The Kensington is opening with a large force and the Nevada group will be put under development this year.

"More than 10,000 people are now living in Juneau, Douglas, Treadwell, Sheep Creek, Salmon Creek and Kensington, supported almost entirely by the quartz industry."

Fox is in Seattle in connection with the publication of a Juneau directory which his company soon will send to press. He expects to remain here several weeks and will visit other cities on the coast before his return north.

ELEVEN MEN CHARGED WITH BURNING WOMAN'S CABIN

South Bend, Wash., Feb. 26.—Taking of testimony was begun in the trial of eleven men accused of arson in burning the cabin of Mrs. Margaret Ross, a prominent woman politician, who, with her two sons, Earl and Frank, were driven from their home in the North river country the night of January 11.

Mrs. Ross and both sons declared on the witness stand they recognized all of the masked men in the mob, and were positive in their identification of Verge Donlan, whose face they said they saw in the glare of a match when he lighted his pipe. H. D. McCormick, a settler in the district, testified that J. N. Howard, one of the defendants, said to him:

"This is the third time they've gathered at my house to drive the Rosses out of the river."

Mrs. McCormick testified that Howard said to her:

"Where we made our mistake was that we didn't take them out on the plank."

Howard was referrinig to the Rosses the witness said. The prosecution had not completed the examination of its witnesses when court adjourned. Besides Howard and Donlan, the other defendants are: Ralph Howard, Enoch Dillard, Trenton Twidwell, Mike Hanrahan, Homer Blaine, Walter Burke, Claude Vanderpool, Joseph Axford and Ernest Burke. Ten of the defendants have already been acquitted on a charge of unlawful assemblage.

UPPER CANADA BOYS HONOR OLD MASTER

Toronto, Feb. 26.—A pleasing event took place yesterday when a deputation of Old Boys of the Upper Canada college who attended this famous old school, waited upon William Wedd, their old master, known far and wide as "Billy," at his residence, High Park boulevard, the occasion being the attainment of his 89th birthday, to congratulate him on reaching this advanced age and to wish him the customary happy returns of the day. The veteran gentleman was looking well and in excellent health, and received his old friends and boy pupils with graciousness and delight. As a token of their esteem and affection a purse was presented to him, for which he expressed his gratitude and thanks and the delight he felt on being remembered and remaining warm in the hearts of those who were with and under him.

He was supported by his charming and good wife, who was the recipient of a bouquet of roses, and his three sons, John C., William, E. K. M., his daughters and granddaughter, and a happy hour was spent in the reviving of old school days.

RUSHING WORK ON VICTORIA HARBOR

Victoria, Feb. 26.—Diving apparatus is being assembled at the plant of the Sir John Jackson Co., Ltd., at Ogden Point in readiness for a start to be made on the granite base of the breakwater. On the first section of the breakwater the rip-rap has been brought to within a comparatively short distance of low water mark, and by the beginning of March the actual work of laying the big granite blocks is expected to be under way. These huge squared boulders will be lowered into place by a powerful crane, which the contractors intend to operate from a scow.

Work of this character will necessarily be slow, but within the next few months Victoria will be able to get a good idea of the gigantic nature of the submarine work that has been carried out during the past year on the first section, extending 1,000 feet seawards from Ogden Point.

District Engineer J. S. MacLachlan stated yesterday that the whole of granite to be used for the base of the concrete structure will be brought down from the Nelson Island quarries on scows, and it is anticipated that the initial shipment will arrive during the first week in March.

From two to four divers will be used at first, and as the work progresses this number will be augmented. At the present time there is under construction at Ogden Point a large shed for the storage of cement that will be used in the construction of the breakwater.
