MEXICAN REBELS OPPOSE AMERICANS

General Carranza Makes Mexican Situation More Critical by Regarding Landing of American Troops as Act of Hostility to Mexican Nation—His Position Bombshell to Americans.

Beyond Holding Vera Cruz and Railroad No Further Steps Will Be Taken at Present Time.

Washington, April 22.—News that General Venustiano Carranza, constitutionalist chief, had regarded the seizure of Vera Cruz by the American naval forces as an act of hostility to the Mexican nation, fell like a bombshell in official circles tonight.

President Wilson has especially disclaimed any act of hostility to the Mexican people, particularizing General Huerta as the object of the American operations to procure reprisal for offences at Tampico and elsewhere against the American flag. Consequently, the Washington government had hoped the constitutionalists would remain silent and not interject themselves into the imbroglio. The Carranza letter, however, confirmed the fears of many officials that the constitutionalists might side with Huerta. This was the one possibility which had been discussed in administration circles as the most serious phase in the situation.

Should hostility on the part of the constitutionalists crystallize, plans of the army may be changed. There were reports during the day that the joint army and navy board already had recommended the restoration of the embargo on arms.

Action by congress approving the president's course in using the army and navy in view of the situation he had presented in his message and the receipt of details of fighting at Vera Cruz were the chief developments of the day. Officials expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the promptness of Rear Admiral Fletcher in taking possession of Vera Cruz and restoring order there.

Future Action Uncertain.

Future steps are uncertain. The president is determined that his coures shall be gradual. No orders have been issued to seize the customs house at Tampico. It is the purpose of the administration to keep order in Vera Cruz and await the full effect on Huerta of the first act of reprisal by the American government.

There is every reason to believe that the railroad running inland from Vera Cruz for 20 miles, together with a valuable trestle, will be policed by American marines and bluejackets. This section of the railroad is of supreme importance should future dedelopments require a movement on Mexico City.

Beyond the holding of Vera Cruz and this railway the Washington government does not want to act at present, but persons in the confidence of the administration admit that action by Huerta or Carranza at any time may alter all plans.

Fears for Americans.

Fears for Americans in Mexico City and other parts of the troubled republic are expressed in many quarters. The house promptly passed a bill today appropriating $500,000 to care for refugees. The fact that nothing had been heard from Charge O'Shaughnessy for nearly 48 hours made President Wilson and Secretary Bryan uneasy. Early tonight unofficial communication with Mr. O'Shaughnessy was established, but apprehension has not been allayed as there is little information about the temper of the Huerta government or the people of Mexico City since the capture of Vera Cruz. In this connection a high government official made public a letter from a friend whom he regarded as trustworthy, which read as follows:

"I have it on reliable authority from a man arriving from Mexico City that President Huerta personally with the Mexican foreign minister planned the Tampico incident with a view of bringing armed intervention and uniting the Mexican factions with him."

The same official expressed the view that Huerta had delayed aswering the demand of the United States for a salute to the flag pending the arrival of the big shipment of ammunition on the German vessel.

Secretary Bryan said today that the status of Charge O'Shaughnessy and Charge Algara was unchanged so far as he knew. Charge Algara has had, however, notification from his government that he may leave when he deems it advisable. This is regarded as possibly forecasting Huerta's giving passports to O'Shaughnessy.

Situation Uncertain.

Although international lawyers and many in congress are not sure what the diplomatic relations of the United States toward Mexico are, whether a state of war exists without a declaration to that effect, or whether, as many precedents have shown, the situation is merely an act of reprisal "short of war," there is no doubt that relations between the Huerta de facto government and the United States have been broken.

The United States will not withdraw Charge O'Shaughnessy unless he himself reports it advisable to do so, for the Washington government desires to maintain as long as possible a representative in Mexico City to care for American interests there. If necessary, however, arrangements may be made with some of the other foreign legations to look out for the interests of the United States and transmit such communications as may be made to the Huerta government.

Volunteers for service in Mexico will not be called for unless there is a formal declaration of war by congress. This was announced in the house today by Chairman Hay of the house military affairs committee.

Movements of the navy were continued today. The navy department feels that a sufficient force of marines is on the way, not only to take care of the situation at Vera Cruz, btu at Tampico too, if the order is given for the seizure of the customs house there.

CHEERED BY BRITISH.

American Marines Encouraged by English Bluejackets.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher has taken up his headquarters at the Terminal hotel. The entire city is strongly patrolled and quiet prevailed tonight. Rear Admiral Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, has brought his flag into the harbor on the Minnesota.

The number of Mexicans killed yesterday is estimated at 150, with many wounded. The Mexican loss today is not known, but is believed to be very heavy.

The paymaster of the British cruiser Essex, Albert W. Kimber, was wounded on board his ship by a sniper ashore.

The British bluejackets crowded to the bows and vociferously cheered the American marines as they proceeded in-shore for the landing.

The flags on the Essex and fortress San Juan de Ulua were lowered at half mast when the dead were carried to the boats.

Read Admiral Badger has not decided whether to proceed to Tampico and it is believed his departure will be delayed. An indication of this is found in the fact that his flagship has entered the harbor.

Major Smedley D. Butler, with marines from the Prairie, made a sortie up the railway for a considerable distance this afternoon.

C. M. & ST. P. RY. TO ENTER THIS CITY

Agreement Made With B. C. E. R. to Handle Traffic from Sumas to This Point.

Following an agreement being reached between Messrs. Ross and Vanderhoff of Seattle and the Milwaukee railroad, over right of way through the former's land in Sumas, construction work will immediately be commenced for the linking up of the American transcontinental road with the tracks of the Fraser valley branch of the B. C. E. R. which will be the means of making New Westminster a terminal point for the Milwaukee.

The work of constructing a belt line at Sumas has been held up for some time owing to the Seattle people holding out for a higher price than the two companies cared to pay, but following an agreement being reached there is now no obstacle in the path of building the new line. A franchise across streets has been asked and will be granted by the Sumas council.

By the middle of the summer it is expected that freight trains of the Milwaukee road will be operated over the Fraser valley B. C. E. R. line between here and Sumas, electric locomotives being used as a traction power.

Plans for Heavy Traffic.

Confirmation of the traffic arrangement with the Milwaukee road was obtained from a prominent official of the B. C. E. R. last night who stated that plans were now under way for a heavy freight service over the Chilliwack road. Only freight will be carried at present, but when the American company completes its lines in and around Everett and Bellingham, it is expected that solid passenger trains will be run right through from Seattle, New Westminster and Vancouver. This will probably mean the double tracking of the B. C. E. R. line on its 40-mile stretch between here and Sumas.

Once the freight service is in operation, the benefit to the lumbering industry in this city and the Fraser valley will become apparent as it is expected that the rates charged by the B. C. E. R. will be practically absorbed by the Milwaukee road on shipments to the eastern states and will thus give the British Columbia lumbermen every opportunity of competing with the Washington state mills.

PRESENT AND FUTURE MAY QUEENS

MISS EVA ATKINSON, the twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Atkinson, of 319 Hospital street, Sapperton, who was elected May Queen by the school children of New Westminster. . . . .

MISS JEAN McPHAIL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. McPhail, 115 Park Row, who was crowned Queen of the May for the year 1913. Miss McPhail will assist in the ceremonies of the coming May Day.

POSTAL CARRIERS WILL AGAIN RIDE

Temporary Arrangements Made For Them to Use the Cars While in Uniform.

Pending the completion and enactment of special legislation covering the case, local postal carriers, on and after Sathrday next will again be allowed to travel to and from their homes and on their beats by B. C. E. R. cars.

During the last three or four months the carriers have been walking the entire beats as the result of the expiration of the agreement between the Domfnion government and the B. C. E. R. which called for a payment of $35 per man per annum for being allowed transportatoin on the cars when in uniform. The company refused to sign up a new agreement at the old rate and until negotiations were again taken up, the men decided that rather than pay transportation out of their own pockets they would walk.

A temporary arrangement was entered into this week between the railway company and the postmaster general which will be in effect until special legislation is passed by the house at Ottawa.

The completion of the agreement will come as a welcome relief to the local carriers, especially those whose beats cover the outlying portions of the city.

Victoria and Vancouver carriers will also be affected by the new arrangement.

WHYTE FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Quiet Simplicity Marked the Interment of the Former Official of the C. P. R.

Winnipeg, April 22.—The funeral of Sir William Whyte was held this afternoon and though of a public nature, was carried out with a quiet simplicity that was far more in keeping with the deep and genuine sorrow felt in the city than any attempt at elaboration could have been.

All business along the main streets ceased while the funeral cortege, which was of great length, passed through lines of people, all of whom seemed to feel that the funeral which they were witnessing was that of a friend. Flags were at half mast all over the city. Street cars shut off their power for a three minute period from 3.15 to 3.18 and during the same time and for the same period all trains on the C. P. R. system also ceased operating.

Lying in State.

The body lay in state for two hours in Knox church this morning and many hundreds of people gazed their last upon the face which they had last seen full of life but a short time ago.

The body of Sir William Whyte arrived at the C. P. R. depot this morning at 7.45 and was carried through the station, the pillars of which were draped in black, from the railway car to the funeral car on the shoulders of eight C. P. R. policemen. Accompanying the body were Lady Whyte, Miss Gladys Whyte, William Whyte jr., and Charles Meek, of Vancouver.

FORMER VANCOUVER POLICEMAN WOUNDED

Winnipeg, Man., April 22.—Private John McMillan, who was seriously wounded in fighting at Vera Cruz yesterday, formerly was a member of the Vancouver, B. C., and Winnipeg police forces. His mothers and sisters reside at Mayfield, Man. His father died two weeks ago.

GET RICH QUICK SCHEME NIPPED

Gourdeau and Freitzall Face Serious Charges for Alleged Attempt to Defraud.

The scene of an alleged conspiracy in furniture deals, in which A. Gourdeau and F. Freitzall were last committed for trial by Magistrate Edmonds in the local court, changed to Vancouver yesterday morning where the men were charged with the same offence, against Vancouver residents, viz: that of conspiring to defraud the public.

After a hearing attended by one hundred women, Magistrate South of Vancouver, committed the men for trial. Chief Parkinson of the Burnaby force has enough evidence against the men to warrant him bringing another case against the two men on a similar deal and it is altogether likely that charges will be preferred by the Burnaby police before they come to trial in New Westminster and Vancouver courts.

The men operated under the name of the Northwestern Furniture company, being brought from Winnipeg to Vancouver after being arrested in the prairie wheat metropolis.

WHO WILL BUY HEATING PLANT?

First Step Towards Dismantling Old Hospital—Donations Received—Number of Patients.

The first step towards the dismantling of the old Royal Columbian hospital building was taken yesterday afternoon at the regular board meeting when it was decided to call for tenders for the purchase of the heating plant. According to the building committee the plant including radiators, would be suitable for a flower nursery.

An offer made by the Women's Auxilliary of Abbotsford to supply a quantity of new linen was gratefully accepted. The communication from the secretary of the organization asked that a list of linen articles be forwarded to Fraser Valley community. This will be done.

A letter was read from a bread manufacturer claiming discrimination in the matter of contract for the supply of bread, his price being lower than the successful tenderer. The board appeared unanimous that the quality of the bread of the successful tenderer was far in excess of that of the complainant and refused to consider any protest.

Accomodation will be found in the new hospital building for the Fraser Valley Medical society to hold the regular meetings in the board room

During the month of March 170 patients were admitted and 113 discharged. Hospital days amounting to 1886.

DATE OF LUNCHEON CHANGED

Anti-Tuberculosis Society Will Serve on Wednesday, April 30th.

On account of the inability of Dr. Proctor, of Vancouver, to be present on Thursday of next week, the ladies of the Anti-Tuberculosis society have advanced the date of their luncheon to Wednesday. Dr. Proctor is the principal speaker for the occasion and will give an interesting talk upon the prevention of the white plague and how best to care for those afflicted.

The ladies will serve luncheon in the Columbia building, and as the object is a most worthy one, and deserving of the patronage of every individual, it is expected that there will be a large attendance. A charge sufficient to defray the expenses of the repast will be made.

WILL DISPLAY LOCAL PRODUCTS

Merchants' Association in Concerted Movement to Boost Local and District Products.

In order to demonstrate to local and district residents the products manufactured and grown in British Columbia the New Westminster Retail Merchants' association has arranged with local grocers to display the products of Brackman-Ker for the next seven days. This campaign has recently been inaugurated by the association through the secretary, D. S. Rashleigh, and is meeting with success both from a selling and buying standpoint.

This morning practically all the grocers in the city have the B. & K. products prominently displayed in the store fronts, all of which were manufactured by the local milling company.

BURNING MINE ENTOMBS WOMEN

Terrible Death Toll Exacted in Colorado—Entire State Guard Ordered to Trinidad.

Trinidad, Colo., April 22.—Six mine employees dead and two missing; three men, two women and a baby reported to be entombed in a burning mine; several mining camps destroyed and others riddled with bullets; less than 200 militiamen and company guards confronting an army of strikers estimated by strike-leaders at more than 400—this was the situation when the sun set upon the third in the osuthern Colorado labor war.

A persistent, but unconfirmed report had it that J. M. Siple, manager of the Empire and Southwestern mines of the Southwestern Fuel company, with two women, a baby and two men, had been sealed in the Empire mine, which had then been set afire by the strikers. Strike leaders tonight asserted that one of their fighting men had been killed during the day's battles and that only two had been reported wounded.

Militia Called Out.

Denver, April 22.—Every branch of service in the Colorado national guard tonight at 10:05 was ordered to entrain for Trinidad at once. Lieutenant Governor S. B. Fitzgerald issued a call for a special sesison of the state legislature to finance the maintenance of the militia in the strike zone, to meet in Denver on or before May 4.

MORE KILLED AT VERA CRUZ

Movement to Occupy Entire City Results in Terrific Rifle Fire.

No Organized Resistence to Advance of Americans and Opposition Soon Ceased.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—Two Americans weer killed today and four yesterday, and about thirty wounded, marked the complete investment of Vera Cruz at noon today by the United States forces.

Vera Cruz, April 22.—Rear Admiral Fletcher, at 8.30 o'clock in the morning ordered a general movement for the occupation of all the town. A column of bluejackets advanced and passed the uncompleted market place and naval college. When they had reached the walls of the college a terrific rifle fire was poured in all directions from the roof and the windows. The bluejackets were helpless to return the fire against the stone walls and scattered. The Prairie, Chester and San Francisco opened with their five and six inch guns and shattered the walls. The bluejackets re-formed and advanced against the fire which had diminished greatly.

Several Streets Cleared.

By 10 o'clock there was only desultory firing from the inshore side of the tower. Battalions of bluejackets had made their way along the waterfront to the southern end of the town and cleared several streets, but the snipping from house tops continued at intervals.

The scout cruiser Chester pounded buildings on the outskirts with six-inch shells, firing over the heads of the men ashore and showing almost perfect marksmanship.

The general movement from all the positions taken yesterday began in the direction of the main plaza. The marines under Lieutenant Colonel Wendell C. Neville moved to the southward along parallel streets toward the centre of the city while marines commanded by Lieutenant Commander Buchanan of the Florida and Lieutenant Commander Arthur B. Keating of the Arkansas were ordered from their positions east of the centre towards the plaza.

Forward With a Rush.

The two forces swung forward with a rush for a distance of three blocks. The machine gun and rifle fire was supplemented by shell fire from the smaller guns of the Prairie and the Chester. The ships' guns supported the movement of clearing the roofs to the south and east, occasionally dropping a sheli a few hundred yards in advance.

Buchanan's men under direct command of Lieutenant Guy W. O. Castle, moved forward to a position one block east, directly opposite the plaza. Other detachments occupied positions to the north and west. Both marines and bluejackets dragged light field pieces but there was little work for them.

There was no organized resistance, but from the very beginning of the advance a smart fire came from the defenders on the house tops, which invariably drew a merciless fire from the advancing parties.

The machine guns sounded their "tap, tap" in all quarters, and American sharp shooters, posted at street corners and other points of vantage, picked off at will any man who appeared to them acting suspiciously.

RECOVERED THE BODY

Remains of Young Oscar Johnson, of Steveston, Found in River.

According to a report which reached the city last night, the body of Oscar Johnson, the twelve year old son of J. B. Johnson, was dragged out of the river at Steveston yesterday morning at a point close to the coal scow of the dredge Georgia. The boy left home on Sunday morning and was later seen on the river in a boat together with a young Jap boy of ten years. Mr. Johnson is the proprietor of the Richmond hotel, Steveston.

A Brief History of Mexico's Stormy Career

When early in the 16th century the Spaniards found their way from the West India islands to the coast of Central Mexico and thence to the tableland on which the City of Mexico is now situated they were astonished beyond measure to find there an organized government of tribes or rather nations, far above the level of any that they had found elsewhere in the new world. These were nations with organized armies, official administrators, courts of justice, agriculture on a higher plane than it was in Europe at the time and all the mechanical arts. The principal source of astonishment to the Spaniards was to find these people housed in stone buildings and having public structures whose architecture and sculpture were of dimensions and elaborateness on the European level.

The Spaniards found there a loose federation of several distinct nations, without a common language and with a common civilization, all under the domination of the stronger and fiercer race of them all, the Aztecs.

Sacrificed Human Beings.

The prime motive of the wars, which the fierce Axtecs waged was not so much conquest and tribute as to obtain multitudes of prisoners, whom they sacrificed to a pontheon of gods. So strong was this passion for blood that even when the alliance was formed and practical federation made among them there was an agreement that they should from time to time fight battles among themselves in order to capture prisoners for the altars of their demoniac faith. Much that appears unaccountable in Mexican history can be better understood in the light of the fact that the people of Central Mexico are descendants of the fierce, cruel and bloodthirsty Axtecs.

NO MORE RAILROADS WANTED.

The other day the Central Railway of Canada offered in London something more than six million five per cent. bonds at ninety and a good many Canadians learned for the first time that there was such a thing as the C. R. of C.

This road, which claims all sorts of land grants it so far has been unable to satisfactorily establish, issued a private prospectus in 1907 and ever since that date it has been doing its puny best to get hold of some of the British investor's capital via the bond route. However, the British investor is more discriminating than he used to be in the matter of colonial paper and so far the bond selling business of the C. R. has been rather slack.

The whole matter hinges on the point that Canada has plenty of railroads finished and under construction for the time being. There are other industries in this Dominion outside of the railways and these should have the opportunity to gather some of the pounds from the motherland for their development.

Evidently this is the light in which the old country underwriters and investors size up the case, for the bonds of the ambitious Central Railway of Canada are not what one might call "over-subscribed."

The American occupation of Vera Cruz may not be war, but it has a mighty suspicious smell and cannot altogether be characterized as part of a "watchful waiting" policy.

A New York minister was accused before a church board of having kissed one of the unmarried ladies of his congregation. After seeing the lady the investigators decided that the evidence was't strong enough against the preacher.

The Oregon boy who slept through an explosion which wrecked his home would probably awake at the first faint Saturday morning call of his chum, "Yo-ho, Billy, com'on fishin'."

The British Columbia government is making a study of the salmon, probably being chiefly interested in that tasty fish's ability to come back every four years.

The city of Glasgow, called the best governed city in the world, is investigating Canada's tax systems, which is some compliment to Canada.

It is reported the anti-Jewish craze in Russia is dying out, but it likely will be followed by some other barbaric fad just as foolish and just as unreasonable. Russia wouldn't be Russia if there was no trouble on hand.

PUBLIC HAS DUTY TO PREVENT DISEASE

Dr. Procter, Who Will Speak Here Next Week, Tells B. C. Nurses Interesting Things in Address.

An interesting paper on public health was read to the nurses' convention at Victoria last week by Dr. A. P. Procter, of Vancouver, who will speak at the anti-tuberculosis convention in this city next week. He dealt with the results of preventive medicine in combatting some of the commonest diseases, such as typhoid, diphtheria and tuberculosis.

Canada loses annually, he said, fifteen thousand of its citizens through tuberculosis; British Columbia lost 429 last year, Vancouver 128, and the year's loss in the United tSates is 155,000. On a conservative estimate of the financial loss which this is to a country or city the annual loss to the Domnnion is ninety million dollars, to British Columbia two and a half million dollars, to Vancouver three-quarters of a million, and to Victoria three hundred and eighty thousand dollars. The patients discharged from one sanitarium during seven years earned $464,000, while during the same period the entire expenditure on that institution was $236,000—a return of 200 per cent. on the investment in cold cash, to say nothing of the personal side of the matter.

Twenty-five Cures.

"We have traced twenty-five patients discharged apparently cured from our sanatorium at Tranquille," said Dr. Procter, "and found that their earnings have amounted to over $61,000. If it pays to cure consumption, how much more would it pay to prevent it?"

Light, ventilation, sanitation and the enforcement of the prohibition of expectoration in the streets were mentioned by the speaker as among the means of fighting this pestilence, but he warned against the creation of slum conditions which do so much to foster the disease in older cities. Dealing with alcoholism Dr. Procter said:

"I want to touch for a few moments on the great question of alcoholism, a subject upon which I almost hesitate to speak because so great has been the injury to this great question by the injudicious utterances of so-called temperance reformers, and yet you cannot touch the question of the public health without being face to face with the curse of this disease.

"Nothing, next to tuberculosis, is doing more to destroy and, nothing excepted, to so demoralize our people. Alcoholism stands out pre-eminently as the great cause of our national inefficiency. Alcoholism is the cause of 10 per cent. of all mortality, 20 per cent. of all disease, 50 per cent. of all idiocy, insanity and pauperism, and from 70 to 90 per cent. of all criminality. These are facts, not fancies.

"If you doubt them go to your police authorities, the judiciary, your jails, the asylums, hospitals, and learn the facts first hand, and it seems to me that those of us who do know and realize the meaning of these facts to the public health have a serious responsibility to our people. Can any man or woman who contemplates these facts and realizes the terrible effect upon the efficiency and fitness of the race and remain indifferent lay any claim to good citizenship? The average man is not indifferent. I meet and talk with all sorts of people, and with hardly an exception I find that however widely they may differ as to the means to be adopted, they all agree that the present system of the open bar in the hands of men whose every interest is to sell as much as possible is horribly wrong.

Views on Alcohol.

"Whatever other people may think the members of your profession and mine know that alcohol is a narcotic drug, with all that that means in the matter of the creation of habit. Surely it should not be difficult for an intelligent administrative body to devise some system under which, if men must have alcohol, they can have it under the best conditions of government control, under which the question of personal profit to the dispenser is eliminated and where the quality of what they drink is guaranteed. I am a total abstainer because I believe that a man is better without alcohol, but I am not foolish enough to believe that all those who do not see eye to eye with me may not be profoundly interested in this question. We cannot force our view down other people's throats however well-developed the swallowing habit may be, and any attempt along this line spells failure, but I have sufficient faith in our people to believe that any government wise enough and big enough to make the attempt along sane lines to deal with this question will get the support of the majority of our people."

Remedies.

As to remedies, he said: "We want several things. First—Departments of health with absolute power to deal with all questions affecting the public health. Departments with adequate money to conduct them, and free from interference from the type of legislator who is always ready to hold up a reform if he feels it may cost him a vote. Second—We want properly co-ordinated legislation from our administration bodies giving these departments the power to carry out their regulations, instead of these administrative bodies playing battledore and shuttlecock on the question of jurisdiction, which results in paralyzing all true efforts at reform. Third—We want our governments to supply sufficient money for these objects, and also to see that the indigent sick are properly cared for, especially those whose misfortune makes them a menace to others.

"Fourth and lastly, we want, further, an enlightened public conscience. We want our citizens to awaken to a greater sense of personal responsibility. There is too great a disposition to leave everything to our administrative bodies. We want our citizens, and especialy those to whom money and influence has been given, to awaken to a keener sense of duty towards these great questions. In other words, we want from our citizens the best kind of service from the best kind of people, and could any work be better? Our people must realize, as they are realizing in older countries today, that apart from the humanitarian side of these questions it does not pay to have a people physically unfit."

ASIATIC EXCLUSION QUESTION

Editor Daily News:—

This question is not a new one; it has been a burning question in Canada and in this province in particular, for years. Before Hon. Mr. Borden came into power he pledged himself to abrogate the abnoxious treaty with Japan. Has he done so? If he has, why does not the government of this province pass an act similar to the Natal act? Because if the treaty with Japan is wiped off the political slate there is nothing in the way to hinder our legislature from passing the above named act, which then would not be repugent to any act put in force by the Dominion parliament.

The Laurier government passed an act to prevent Chinese and Japanese from obtaining employment in Canada. This had been withdrawn because the Japanese government had considered it to be an insult to their people. Joseph Chamberlain, the then colonial secretary, suggested to the Canadian government that the proper course to pursue was to pass a law similar to that passed by the legislature of Natal, South Africa, which simply provides that none but persons able to read and write the act should be entitled to enter the country. If the Dominion government had taken the advice of the colonial secretary there would have been no further trouble with the Asiatic question. Why did the government of that time not pass the Natal act? It would look to the ordinary person that the government was under the control of the large corporations to whose advantage it was to have Oriental labor, which is nothing more than class legislation against the masses.

In 1895 the Conservative government was preparing to deal with it when the elections brought a change. The imperial authorities were very careful in bringing the question before the cabinet to point out that it was quite possible to accept the treaty with Japan with the condition that Japanese should not be permitted to enter Canada. Where is the hitch?

There is a very irritating question going on at the present time amongst the small farmers. They can get more for their shingle bolts from the American mills than they get here, but the bolts cannot be shipped out of the country. The farmer loses. Who gains? The Orientals, as some of the shingle mills are operated exclusively by Oriental labor, outside of the filer and he is the only, lonely white man on the works. If they (the operators) are to be protected in this way, why not make it compulsory for those operators to employ white labor or take the clause out of the act which prohibits the man from selling in the best market and even up on the deal?

How can you expect the people in the east to come to any reasonable conclusion upon the Oriental question when you have such notorious lies spread throughout the country as the following:

Toronto,—That Japanese workmen are the most efficient in British Columbia today, is the opinion expressed by D. L. MacGregor, of Vancouver. Mr. MacGregor has control of several canneries along the western coast and he employs Japanese only. He asserts that they are better workmen than white men, and can be relied upon. They never fall down in their duty. Mr. MacGregor makes contracts every fall with Japanese contractors, who hire their own countrymen. In his opinion, they do better work, and do not demand the big money white men do.

Mr. MacGregor, are you one of those negro Scotchmen, or are you white?

TELLS OF HIDDEN TREASURE ON HIS DEATHBED

Deary, Idaho, April 22.—"I have money buried under stumps on my ranch that will never be found," was the dying statement of Martin Olson, 73 years of age, made to A. O. Carlson, proprietor of the Carlson hotel, yesterday. His statement is already partly corroborated by the finding by Arthur Burke of $142 buried in his cellar. The deceased was a bachelor and lived alone in his cabin two miles scuth of Deary for 25 years. His only known relatives are a sister and a nepehw in Sweden. He has been cared for by the Burkes until Wednesday of last week, when he was brought to the Deary hotel.

TRIES TO REMEMBER.

Old Toronto Doctor Rehearses the Days of His Affluence.

Forty years ago old Doctor John—the rest of his name does not matter—celebrated his fortieth birthday, a leading citizen of Toronto, a doctor with an extended practice, the owner of drug shops, and a veteran of the 10th Royal Irish Regiment, with service in India.

Recently the old doctor celebrated his eightieth birthday in Toronto jail, having been sent down for sixty days, homeless, penniless, and drunk.

But he is no ordinary drunk. He drinks to remember and not to forget. When he finds the memories of his prosperous days slipping away, the little old man goes away by himself and drinks to refresh the memories that are his one interest in life. The whisky does more than refresh them, it brings them so close that he lives them over again. He unearthed a plug hat and a faded, old-fashioned, bottle-green, cut-away coat, takes a battered satchel in his hand, and starts out on his professional rounds, just as he was accustomed to do forty years ago.

Down to the lower ends of Jarvis, Sherbourne, and Simcoe streets goes the doctor, to where his fashionable clients once lived. He does not see that these districts have aged and grown shabby, like himself. Up he stumps to the faded doors, and instead of a neat housemaid ushering him in, and taking his hat, a lodging-house mistress blocks his way. To her, the dignified old ghost of memories is only a fuddled old drunk. She calls a policeman. The old doctor is taken to court, where Mr. Ellis kindly remands him to sober up—to come out of the past. But in a sort while the aged man goes again to the bosom of his memories, on whisky-light feet.

Old Dr. John is a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, and served as army surgeon and as soldier in several Indian campaigns with the 10th Royal Irish regiment. In 1871 he came to Toronto and set up practice. He owned four chemist shops, one at the corner of Queen and Sherbourne, one at the corner of Dundas and Foxley streets, and others at places forgotten by him in the advance of days. He had an extended medical practice, but it grew away from him, and when, eighteen years ago, his wife died, the doctor began to subsist on memories.

Seen in the cells, Dr. John said he knew of no relatives.

"I once had property, but it got away from me," he said. "I still have this—top hat and coat—to make my calls in." He was still several years away.

Comptroller of Household.

Lord Spencer Compton, who has arrived in Canada to take over the duties of Comptroller of the Household of His Royal Highness the Governor-General, is the second son of the late Marquess of Northampton and brother of the present marquess. He belongs to one of the famous old families of England. Sir William Compton was present at the Battle of Spurs in 1513 and at the Field of the Cloth of Gold in 1520. He had estates in twenty counties in England and the favor of King Henry VIII. His great grandson become first Earl of Northampton and Lord President of the Marches of Wales. The second earl was one of the bravest of the cavaliers and fell at Hopton Heath in 1643. The second marquess became President of the Royal Society. The fourth marquess married the Hon. Mary Florence Baring, eldest daughter of the second Lord Ashburton. He was in the Diplomatic Service and was private secretary to Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Earl Cowper.—Family Herald and Weekly

Not Enough Spoons.

Under the lecture pulpits of Rev. Dr. Robertson and Rev. Prof Law of Knox College, Toronto, some Sundays ago were concealed seventy-five sets of table silverware which caused so much furore and no little annoyance to the prospective breakfasters at the college dining hall on Saturday morning. Annoyance it was, for the seventy-five students in the residence had to eat out of five porridge spoons, which, it must be admitted, is a difficult matter, when the voracity of the student appetite is introduced into the equation.

While the janitor slept and while the other students were attending the meeting of the university literary society on Friday night half a dozen students committed the "theft" which caused so much annoyance at breakfast time on Saturday morning. The assistance of the police was called into requisition to locate the missing silverware, which, however, was not found until long after the breakfast hour was over.

Misunderstood.

The school teachers of one of the eastern provinces are entitled to a small special grant for gardening on filling out a form which is sent to each teacher by the Board of Education.

One new teacher, however, wrote to the board inquiring how to get the grant, and received the stereotyped reply:

"Simply fill out your form according to requirements."

"I have taken Madame X's 'beauty course'," wrote the teacher in reply, "but cannot fill out my form to any extent. What shall I try next?"

Octopus at Vancouver.

While diving in the first narrows at Vancouver recently, Fred Maddison encountered a huge octopus, and but for the promptitude with which his signal for assistance was answered would have become the victim of the devil fish. The monster was lodged in one of the crevices with which the narrows abound and had drawn shackle weighing forty pounds into its lair. It was while trying to get the shackle out that the fish got hold of Maddison, and even when ascending it made every effort to fasten its suckers on him.

A Brief History of Mexico's Stormy Career

and pride themselves on their descent and on having inherited the traditions of their ancestors," notwithstanding their nominal adoption of the Christain faith.

The conquest of these millions of fierce warriors by a handful of Spaniards is one of the most startling facts of history.

Submitted to Grinding Tyrany.

From the time of the death of Gautemozi, last of the Axtec emperors, to the withdrawal of the last Spanish viceroy, Don Juan O'Donoju, or from 1521 to 1821, a period of 300 years, the history of Mexico was a monotonous one of sullen submission to a grinding tyranny.

The French revolution and the rise of Napoleon was directly responsible for the uprising of the Mexican people, which led ultimately to their independence, but only after a desperate series of revolts and struggles. When Napoleon drove the Bourbons out of Spain and established his brother as the king of that country, the military prestige of Spain was broken. In Mexico the choice lay between recognizing the new government, retaining allegiance to the old, or using the opportunity to achieve their own independence. The creoles in Mexico rose against the politico-ecclesiastical oligarchy which ruled there in the name of the crown of Spain.

Set up Reactionary Monarchy.

Finally, the very element against which the revolution was directed, alarmed at the liberal tendencies of the then king of Spain, and fearing that liberalism and republicanism would be introduced in the new world set up an independent reactionary monarchy in Mexico and proclaimed Don Augustine Iturbide emperor, an arrangement to this effect having been made with the half-breed leader of the insurrectos. Inturbide was crowned July2 1, 1822.

Then started a series of revolutions and counter revolutions which kept up without intermission down to the time when Porfirio Diaz became president in 1877, and established himself under that title as dictator. Santa Ana, captain general of Vera Cruz, who made a good deal of Mexican history before his death, revolted in 1823. Iturbide sent a force against him which deserted to Santa Ana. Then Iturbide reconvened the congress which he had arbitrarily dissolved and offered to abdicate. Congress refused to accept, but declared his original election void and deported him to Europe. He returned to start another revolution and was captured and shot. Then followed five years of almost complete anarchy. Guerrero, the half-breed leader of the original revolution, finally secured control in 1828. He was shortly deposed by Bustamente; he in turn by Gomez Uedraza, who was succeeded by Gomez Farias in 1833, only to be deposed by Santa Ana, who became dictator May 30, 1834.

War With United States.

Here came in the first conflict with the United States. Mexico had invited Americans into the country to develop the uncultivated lands. Large numbers of men from the southern part of the United States took advantage of the liberal terms offered them and went into what was then northern Mexico and established the Mexican state of Texas. In 1836 a new congress of Mexico, at the instigation of Santa Ana, abolished the federal system and left the government of the states entirely with appointees of the dictator. This was the signal for a revolt of the Americans in Texas who set up an independent government and successfully maintained it, defeating the Mexican armies sent against them. The independence of Texas was recognized by the government of the United States in March, 1837 and the annexation of Texas and war with Mexico during which California, New Mexico, Arizona and part of Colorado was wrested from Mexico, followed. Santa Ana's power was temporarily broken when he fell into the hands of the Texans at the battle of San Jacinto and Bustamente became provisional president.

Santa Ana in Command.

In October, 1841 Santa Ana again became provisional president and Bustamente was expelled. Santa Ana then turned his office over to Nicholas Brava. In 1844, Santa Ana, who was secretly directing affairs, was seized by the army which had mutinied, imprisoned and ultimately expelled from the country. He came back two years later and was in supreme command during the war with the United States, but at its conclusion he fled the country. The revolution of 1853 recalled him and congress made him president for life. His despotism raised revolts against him everywhere. Santa Ana fled once more and Ignacio Comonfort became dictator in December, 1857. He was deposed and expelled but the succession was not given to Menito Juarez who expected it, so he revolted and carried on civil war for many years against successive provisional presidents, the ablest of whom was Miguel Miramon.

A French army invaded Mexico captured Mexico City and appointed a provisional government, which tendered the crown to Maxmilian, of Austria, brother of the Emperor Franz Joseph. Maxmilian accepted, being assured of the support of Napoleon as long as he needed it, and was crowned in 1863.

United States Intervenes.

Juarez kept in the field against him and the French, prolonging his gorillia operations in the approved Mexican style. The United States, having completed its own civil war, now intervened and gave France peremptory notice to get out of Mexico. The French troops were withdrawn in February, 1867, and by June Maxmilian was a prisoner in the hands of Juarez, who stood him against a wall and shot him, together with two of his leading generals.

In October, 1867, Juarez was elected president. Porfirio Diaz was, in the final conflicts the chief lieutenant of Juarez and as such captured the city of Mexico for him. In 1871, although Juarez had been reelected, the other chiefs of the revolution which brought him into power objected and a new revolution was started, headed by Diaz, which kept up until the death of Juarez in 1872. Lerdo de Tejada, chief justice succeeded ad interim and was elected president in September, 1878. In 1876 another revolution broke out. Diaz joined it, drove Lerdo into exile and became provisional president, and in May, 1877, was proclaimed constitutional president by congress. In 1880 he retired for four years, and was succeeded by Manuel Gonzales, but in 1884 Diaz was again elected and retained office therafter until the late outbreak of the Madero insurrection. Under his administration Mexico for first time in its history saw a peaceful orderly government and became among the stable and respected governments of the world.

The Present Revolution

A fresh revolution broke out, headed by Villa and Carranza, and has been going on ever since. President Wilson refused to recognize Huerta or to appoint a new ambassador to Mexico to succeed ambassador Wilson, who resigned when the president refused to accept his advice in regard to the situation in Mexico. In July, 1913, the president sent Mr. John Lind as his special unofficial representative to Mexico, with instructions to advise Huerta that he must not be a candidate for president in the approaching election. Nevertheless an election was held and Huerta was returned. He himself refused to recognize the validity of the election on account of the small number of votes cast, and says that he continues to hold office as provisional president only until the result of the special election, to be held in July of this year, can be determined. This was the situation at the time when the temporary detention of some bluejackets from an American warship precipitated the present acute crisis.

READY WITH LUMBER FOR PANAMA CANAL

First of the Robert Dollar fleet to arrive on the Britsih Columbia coast to load lumber for the gigantic harbor undertaking at Toronto will be the British steamship Robert Dollar.

The steamship, which is the largest of the Robert Dollar fleet, and which is now on passage between the Orient and the North Pacific, will arrive at Victoria on May 30, and later shift to Genoa bay to load the first shipment of 25,000,000 feet of lumber which the well known steamship company has contracted to transport to the St. Lawrence by way of the Panama canal.

The cargo to be taken by the Robert Dollar will amount to 5,000,000 feet and this will be the only shipment despatched to the Atlantic coast this season. The remaining 20,000,000 will be handled by vessels of the fleet at different periods next year.

At least 1,000,000 feet of the Robert Dollar's lumber cargo will be loaded at Victoria, while 4,000,000 feet will be shipped aboard at the Genoa bay mills, situated on the arm of Cowichan bay.

The Robert Dollar may have the distinction of being the first ocean-going vessel to pass through the Panama canal, as she will be ready to sail before the expiration of May, and will reach the canal zone well before the date the great waterway is throw open to deep sea traffic. The probable date for the opening of the Panama canal has been given as July 1. In the event of the waterway not being available for traffic by the time the Robert Dollar reaches the western entrance to the canal, it will be forced to make the Atlantic by way of the Magellan straits.

BLOW AT SCOTCH; PORRIDGE NOT GOOD

One of the foods that had almost become national in its importance to one country was struck a blow yesterday at the Ontario Education association, when Dr. Harold Clark, of Toronto, in speaking on "Diet and Dentistry," said that porridge should be replaced by something that required chewing. For centuries porridge had been fed to people who believed firmly that it was one of the finest foods that they could possibly eat. Particularly was this so of the Scotch. However, Dr. Clark showed that in the new theory of health, as determined by the part the teeth played in a person's mental and physical welfare, porridge was something to be avoided. The old resident who has been teling sons and grandsons for years that to "get big" they must eat porridge, will no doubt be cynical about the new theory, but Dr. Clark went into it so thoroughly and gave such good reasons that the fall of the "mighty grub" seems inexitable, when people have come to realize, as the doctor pointed out, that fibrous foods and less starch and sugar will be salvation of the teeth and consequently of the health.

Lessons from Aborigines.

Dr. Clarke said that the aboriginal races showed but two per cent of decayed teeth, while in the civilized races the reverse was the case, and 98 per cent showed bad teeth. The reason, he declared, was due to the different foods. The aboriginal person ate fibrous foods which cleansed his teeth better than could be done by a brush, and ate less sugar and starch than people today.

"I have frequently had zealous mothers tell me of the great care they took in preparing food for the little ones. I am convinced that the little ones would have been better without this care," said the doctor.

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum.

The moral of which is:

Don't stop the business swing in Summer.

Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

Mix dry ingredients; add milk and egg. Brush over with white of egg. Cook for about 1-4 hour in tins; cut into four portions V-shaped.

BETTY BROWN.

"I just love the feel of Royal Standard" said one enthusiast who was elbow-deep in her first recipe made with this famous flour.

ROYAL STANDARD "feels good" because it is sifted ever so fine at the mill, over and over again and finally passed through a silken screen emerging "smooth as velvet," "fine as silk."

ROYAL STANDARD will impart to scones, cakes or bread a silky, velvety feel that is as delightful to the touch as it is to the palate.

Say "ROYAL STANDARD" to your grocer and watch your baking improve.

Trust Certificates Approved.

The Dominion Trust company's head office in Vancouver yesterday received a telegram from Prince Edward Island stating that the legislature of that province had passed an amendment to its trustee act including in the securities available for the investment of trust funds, the mortgage trust certificates of the Dominion Trust company. The fact that the big British Columbia company's securities are regarded so favorably in Prince Edward Island is looked upon as a compliment to the management and also as a tribute of confidence to British Columbia, as most of the mortgage certificates are based on property on the lower mainland of this province. These certificates bear five per cent. interest. Large quantities of them have been sold to investors in the east and Europe, partculiarly in Scotland and Belgium.

At the Theatres

THROUGH FIRE TO FORTUNE

At the Edison theatre on Thursday and Friday of this week an excellent five-reel film will be presented, entitled, "Through Fire to Fortune.". The following is the story:

Jane Barrett and her son Tom are suddenly beggered by the speculations of her husband known on Wall street as Plunger Barrett. At an auction sale, the Barrett yacht, real estate and household effects are sold without reserve to satisfy some of the demands of the creditors. The bankrupt plunger goes to his room, plies himself with liquor, falls out of the window and is killed. It now depends upon Tom to bear the burden of his mother's support. In a newspaper he finds an advertisement offering a position. This is signed by John Pearce, an old friend of the family, who, with his daughter Helen has often been a guest on the yacht and in their home. Helen has been attracted by Tom's manly bearing and finds herself gradually weaning her affections away from Phil Blair, an almost accepted lover. Tom passes through the different stages of mining and handling coal, and is about to be appointed assistant superintendent. But his hopes are frustrated by the jealous Blair. Tom's mother, after making protests to the directors without avail, appeals to the men. While this is in progress, Pearce, who is still Tom's ardent champion, receives a decision from the supreme court, giving him a clear title to a mine at the village of Mayflower. After the meeting, the miners having decided to walk out, in sympathy for Tom, he is offered the position of superintendent at Mayflower. He accepts it and takes most of his striking friends with him. While the mining is progressing with fine promise, a flow of oil opened on the levels takes fire, setting the mine ablaze. The fire burns away the supporting pillars of the mine, and the village caves into the abyss made by the sinking earth. Blair succeeds in convincing the excited people that Tom fired the mine to conceal the fact of its utter worthlessness, and they set out to lynch him, and are about to destroy him when a pilar of fire arises, this proving to be an oil well of great magniude, and amid the promises of the rehabilitated hero that what they have lost will be more than regained, the defeated Blair is seen slinking away.

"THE BARRIER."

Tonight at the Opera House the Griffith Stock Co. will produce for the first time at popular prices "The Barrier." This play is from the pen of Rex Beach, who sweeps you along with a brilliancy and charm equalled by few modern authors. His books are always "best sellers" and "The Barrier" is considered his masterpiece by many.

It tells a big story of the great outdoors, of the people who dwell on the Canadian frontier, and how a man, hunted for years unjustly, is driven to the last outpost, and of his fight for life and liberty. Lots of bluff, good natured comedy carries the fine story along, and the scenery is being built on an elaborate scale. A brisk seat sale has already started for "The Barrier."

"The Easiest Way"

Last night the Griffiths Stock Co played their third evening in this city, giving an apreciative audience a masterful interpretion of "The Easiest Way." The work of the company throughout was finished in all details and stamps the different members of the cast as artists of more than ordinary ability.

HAD A STOLEN AUTO.

Three Young Men Arested at Burnaby for Purloining an Auto.

Last evening the authorities at Burnaby received word from Vancouver that a Ford Auto, bearing license number 1697, had been stolen, and were asked to keep a watch for the machine. In less than two hours Constable Jeffries apprehended three young men with the machine in their possession, having a "joy ride." They were detained at the Burnaby station and the Vancouver authorities notified. Officers were at once sent down to take the boys and the machine back to the city. The young men gave their names as D. Robinson, W. Cook and N. Lovell.

BIG DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MAYORS

Reeve Marmont of Coquitlam Contrasts Mayors Baxter and Roe on Elevator Matter.

The Coquitlam council met at Maillardville yesterday afternoon, Reeve Marmont presiding.

Reeve Marmont gave a concise account of his delegate work at Winnipeg. In referring to the absurd and untrue statements of Mayor Baxter and the Vancouver delegates in regard to the Fraser river, the reeve contrasted the attitude of Mayor Roe of Port Moody, with Vancouver's civic head. Mayor Roe took a manly stand and while expiating upon the advantages of his own locality on Burrard inlet, scorned to detract from the Fraser river, and even went so far as to admit the Fraser river advocates had made out a strong case.

Councillor Percy—He always plays the game.

The Reeve—I think we have a very strong case and Col. Taylor told me he was absolutely sure, himself, that we will have the elevator on the Fraser river. The exact locality will come down to a case of accessibility and railway connection. Vancouver is entirely controlled by the C.P.R. and woefully circumscribed. Port Moody would require more dredging than the Fraser.

The most likely place in his opinion was Port Coquitlam.

Councillor Robertson, as an old seafaring man, who had seen the principal harbors of the world, considered Vancouver a third rate one. There was to much wind and too high a sea and ships rolled in the middle of the harbor.

Councillor Percy—Too high until you passed the oil refinery at Port Moody.

Anyone who had been at sea knew the benefits ships got in fresh water, especially old tramps.

In conclusion, on the suggestion of the reeve a motion was passed expressing regret at the mis-statements of the Vancouver delegates and the hope that the Vancouver board of trade would repudiate them. Councillor Oxtoby dissented, but gave no reason.

VERDICT FOR $350.

Carl von Mackenson Awarded Damages in Suit Against Surrey

Yesterday the Hon. Justice Clement awarded Carl von Mackenson, Port Kells, damages to the amount of $350, with county court costs, in his action against the Surrey municipality for $5000, compensation for injuries sustained in an accident on Jericho road, through its defective condition.

JOINS THE MOVEMENT

Local Trades and Labor Council Favor Anti-Jap Action.

Still another public body has entered the ranks in the movement to eliminate the Jap fishermen from the Fraser river. The local Trades and Labor council last night accepted the invitation extended by the board of trade for the president of the labor body to attend Saturday's gathering of the down river fishermen. President D. S. Cameron will attend the gathering and will probably be one of the speakers urging the government to take drastic action in protecting the whites and Indians.

SPORT CHATTER

(By the Potter.)

A big turnout of amateur lacrosse players was noticed on the Queen's park oval last night, Manager Turnbull giving the boys a slight workout for the first time this season.

So the professionals have grabbed Jack Gifford. The odds were about even as to whether the younger member of the lacrosse family would make the jump to the monied ranks but the glamour of being a member of a Minto cup team and perhaps the thoughts of the silverware being lost next fall, apparently appealed to him. The secretary of the B. C. A. A. U. will be on deck on Victoria day when the first game is played with the Athletics.

Residents of North Burnaby are planning a race to be held on Saturday, May 23, over a three mile course for all boys under 18 years of age.

The cricket club will probably play a practice game on Saturday afternoon between two picked teams. Every player anxious to break into the game should notify Secretary F. A. Rose, Westminster Trust block.

If the Big Four clubs do not make money this season, it will be time to shut up shop. The Nationals will have Newsy Lalonde as manager, together with Boulaine, Lamereaux, Pitre and "Dare Devil" Gauthier and should make things interesting. Fleming with his Toronto team will bear watching seeing as he has grabbed Len Turnbull and Doughy Spring, and is also angling for the services of Billy Fitzgerald.

SPRING LEAVES

Another Salmon Belly migrates to the cent belt this morning, Clifford "Doughy" Spring, leaving for Toronto at 7:50 o'clock, where he will play with the Torontos under R. J. Fleming. Len Turnbull left via the American route on Sunday and should arrive in the Queen City by Saturday.

The deflection of Spring and Turnbull will leave a wide gap in the Westminster team that will be hard to fill, both players being ranked as top-notchers when it comes to Canada's summer pastime. Jack Gifford signed up yesterday with the professionals and strong efforts are being directed at T. Storme, the star home player of Alex Turbnull's amateurs. It is unlikely, however, that Storme will make the jump, his connection with basketball, soccer and hockey being too strong to take such a step which will bar him from all amateur sport in the future.

Turnbull and Spring have been promised good paying positions besides a guarantee with the lacrosse team.

Hustlers Must Overcome Ten Points to Win Title.

In a rough game which was repeatedly marked with fouls, the Hustlers basketball team met defeat at the hands of the Vancouver "Y" intermediates on the local association floor last night, the score ending 29-19. The Sangster brothers held their own until the second half when lack of condition checked their speed. The two teams will meet in Vancouver on Saturday, total points counting for the B. C. intermediate championship title.

As a preliminary St. Andrew's Presbyterians defeated the Queen's Avenue Methodists in a low scoring game, 8-3.

G. I. Sovereign officiated in the main encounter.

College vs. High School.

The College beat the high school team yesterday afternoon at baseball to the tune of 16-5. The college team was as follows: Moore, Horner Manson, Jones, Smith, Sullivan, Wilcox, Chown, Kipp and Day.

Wrestler Hurt Himself.

Vancouver, April 22.—After obtaining a fall in 37 minutes 6 seconds, Americus injured himself in his wrestling match with Pat Connelly in the horse show arena tonight and was forced to quit. Connelly was awarded the decision.

By an error which crept into the sport page yesterday, Judge Howay was mentioned as the donor of the Boy Scout rifle shooting trophy. It should have read Judge Norman W. Bole.

By next Sunday we should know whether the Montreal teams want any coast players. Fleming will probably lay his cards on the table and advise the other magnates to go after several British Columbia players.

LUBIN PRESENTS ANOTHER MASTERPIECE
Through Fire to Fortune
or THE SUNKEN VILLAGE
In Five Reels.---By Clay M. Greene
A new thrill has been filmed. With conflagrations, war's horrors, and Roman arena scenes we are familiar. It remained for Lubin to give us a new and peculiarly American thrill in "Through Fire to Fortune." It consists of an unusually realistic portrayal of a fire in a coal mine, a miner's torch having come in contact with a newly discovered oil well and the crowning triumph of big scenes, the destruction of an entire village, when the walls of the mine over which it is built begin to crumble. Here we see whole houses sink into the earth, the panic-stricken villagers, and, lastly, the fire that follows the cave-in and completes the destruction. These scenes of conflagration, and the people huddled about the camp fires on a safe spot, are remarkable examples of night photography, and deserving of the highest praise. All in all, "Through Fire to Fortune" marks a distinct step in the productions of American features, and should not be missed.

DIGGING IN CELLAR SHE FINDS GOLD

How a Helena Woman Came to Change Her Mind About Installing a Furnace.

Wenatchee, Wash., April 22.—After living in a house in Helena for 21 years and selling it less than a year ago for $6,000 Leon I. Milot of this city has learned that a gold mine has been discovered in the cellar. His father was a miner all his life, but never suspected that he was sleeping over a valuable property all these years. The woman who bought it ordered an excavation made in the cellar in order to put in a furnace. This brought ore to the surface. She had it assayed and found values of $65 per ton in gold, silver, copper and lead. The plan to put in a furnace was changed and instead the lady has started to develop her mine.

Socialists on the Wagon.

That the Socialist party has committed itself to prohibition is asserted by G. K. Peters, secretary of the local branch. He encloes a copy of a letter from the information department of national headquarters at Chicago, stating that the Gothenburg system has been found inadequate, and that Norway and Sweden Socialists have declared for absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic and that the same stand has been taken by the Soicalist party in the United States.

"Knowing as we do that the Socialists in Europe have been in the lead in the effort to put down the liquor traffic," writes Secretary Peters, "we the constructive Socialists of Wenatchee, herewith pledge ourselves to work and vote for prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor."

Commenting upon this attitude Secretary Peters states that in this community Socialists have not always taken such a stand. They now see their mistake and declare themselves unqualifiedly for prohibition.

MOVEMENT TO ABOLISH THE AXE

Method of Execution of Criminals Same as Used in Darker Ages.

Berlin, April 22.—Agitation has been started in Germany to abolish the axe and the block. Of all civilized and cultured peoples, Germany is the only country in the world which has retained and still clings to this ancient form of executing the death sentence of the law.

Even Russia, so often characterized as benighted, has adopted hanging, France, often termed the most enlightened nation, also clings to its traditional beheadings in preference to the less spectacular and more refined form of hanging, adopted by the greater portion of the civilized world, and to electrocution in vogue in the United States.

But France makes some claim for refinement in the tragedy of a human life by the fact that it executes the law's sentence with a machine, the mechanical guillotine, merely set in motion by human agency. The machine does the rest.

Primitive Operation.

In Germany society still rids itself of undesirables by the simple though primitive operation of severing the head from the body with an axe swung by brawny arms, just as was done in England in the day of Mary, Queen of Scots, Queen Elizabeth and Henry VIII. In Germany the idea has been and still is to a large extent, that in order to make human execution a check upon crime and to prove a deterrent to murder, it should be surrounded with as much terror as possible. Advocates claim that the glistening axe and the blackrobed block are a greater symbol of that terror of the final act of the law than the hangman's noose.

A large flat flagstone on which the headsman stands in order to have a firm footing marks the spot. When the hour arrives, warders enter the cell of the condemned man and quickly cut away the collar of his shirt in order to leave the neck bare. He is led outside. As he enters the courtyard through a small door, he is quickly wheeled about so that his back is toward the fatal spot and he faces two officials who read to him that the sentence of law is about to be executed.

He is seized by two strong warders who half carry, half drag him backwards to the block. Instead of being forced to kneel down in front of it, the condemned man is thrown face down on a benchlike block to which he is strapped. His chin and head fit into a semi-circular hole in the end of the block. The headsman, immaculately clad in black evening suit, walks quickly to the victim, poises an immense axe for a moment about two and a half feet above the end of the log-block and with unerring aim drops it upon the neck. It is over.

Perhaps one reson that there has been no movement before toward abolishing the axe lies in the fact that details of executions are never printed in the German press. Usually an execution is told in two or three lines. The public rarely learns of any harrowing details.

FEDERAL BUILDING AT ALBERNI

Work Ordered Commenced at Once and Be Completed by Fall.

Word was recived from Ottawa this week that Knott & Jones, contractors Victoria, who submitted the lowest tender for the Dominion government building to be erected in Port Alberni, were being instructed to proceed with the contract.

The building, which is to cost over thirty thousand dollars, is to be finished by the fall of this year. It will include postoffice, customs offices, fisheries offices and branches of other federal departments.—Alberni News.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Coasting Is One of Winter's Most Enjoyable Sports.

AN EXPERT ON HER FLIER.

When Old Boreas Brings the Snow Along All Children Are Happy—Curious and Interesting Tales—Games and Puzzles.

Nearly every healthy youngster shouts with glee when the north wind comes howling and growling, bringing with it a mighty fall of snow. Sleds that have lain idle for many months and the new ones that Santa Claus brought are quickly put to work, and the hills resound with merry shouts and chatter. The swift glide down a long hill is a glorious sensation, and climbing up to the top again for another whirl fills young lungs with fresh air and brings roses to round cheeks. Surely no other sport is quite so much fun as coasting. In large cities little folks don't have so free a fling as do those in the country, but they enjoy the snow just the same.

RIDING A STEEL STEED.

Central park is a famous coasting place for young New Yorkers, and when there is snow they make the most of it. This young lady standing on her flier is a New Yorker, and her photo was snapped in Central park. Her name is Virginia Wright.

Grandmother's Cat.

This is a good table game and should be played with counters and a pool. Beans or bits of paper will answer for counters and some candies for the pool. Every child must have twenty-six counters—one for every letter in the alphabet. Each player has to find a different adjective to describe "grandmother's cat" all through the alphabet. For example, A begins, "Grandmother's cat is an aristocratic or antiquated cat." B—Grandmother's cat is a beautiful or benevolent cat. C—Grandmother's cat is a cautious cat or cataleptic cat. And so on through the alaphabet.

Each letter must go the round of the table, and no one must repeat an adjective used before. If he or she does so one counter must be given up, and when a player's counters are exhausted he is out of the game. A counter is forfeited also if the word used is not an adjective or if the player fails to think of a word within a given time.

Riddles.

When should you avoid the edge of a river? When the hedges are shooting and the bullrushes out.

Which is the heavier, a half or a full moon? The half, because the full moon is as light again.

What is the difference between a pillow covering and a quack doctor? One is a pillow sham, the other a sham pillow.

What is the difference between an ambassador and a bear hunter? One bears dispatches, the other dispatches bears.

What contradiction is true of an unpleasant person? The more you think of him the less you think of him.

A Geographical Game.

Procure a large map of America with the states outlined on it. Cut out each state separately and with these as patterns cut from white cardboard two patterns of each state. Divide the company into sides, providing each captain with a set of the states and floor space on which to make the map. The side putting the map together correctly first scores highest.

A Happy Moment.

When grandma says to me,
"Stand up against the wall,"
I know she's going to see
How many feet I'm tall.
She measures up and down
While I stand very straight,
And, with a smiley frown,
She tries to calculate.

She says: "H'm! Let me see—
He's four years old." And then
She whispers, "Forty-three,
Or is it "Three feet ten?"
I scarcely breathe at all
Till she says, measuring more,
"This boy is just as tall
As his father was at four!"

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY NEWS

Consider These Things Mr. Advertiser

The "keen edge of self-interest" is keenest in the morning. Thus the impression made by advertising in a morning newspaper is stronger than that made by advertising which is "glanced at" after a tiring and an enthusiasm-capping day.

As you begin the day, you want to be up to date in your knowledge of what's going on in the world—so you read your morning paper NECESSARILY. As you begin the day, if the day's routine calls for some buying of goods, or chattels, you want knowledge of the latest offers and proffers made by the stores—so again you turn to your morning paper. For it is TODAY'S PAPER.

As people want the last fact, the latest developments, in news, so they do in advertising. Assuming that a woman intends to purchase certain things, and plans to go to the store some time during the day, it is natural that she should want to know what the stores offer in relation to the immediate buying opportunities she seeks. So she will read the ads in her morning paper—for that is the last paper she will read before going shopping.

THE MORNING PAPER'S advertisements supply shoppers with the information they seek and act upon in the day's buying.

Is a rested mind not easier to impress, more apt to consider an offer or a selling argument, than a TIRED MIND?

The morning finds the rested mind—the evening the tired mind. Advertising in a good morning paper is INTERESTING because the reader is alert and interested in his own interests—not tired, blue and bored.

A good morning newspaper is an influence—not a mere incident—in the daily lives of people.

The advertising in its columns shares in that influence—is a part of it. A morning newspaper's contents are edited and prepared with the knowledge that every line in the paper will be read—not every line by every reader of course. But every line, ads and all, will have its readers.

One of the large items of expense in the making of a dependable morning newspaper is the obtaining and VERIFYING OF FACTS in connection with the news. Facts are sometimes hard to get—sometimes they cost a great deal of money. Always, in the making of a real newspaper THEY MUST BE OBTAINED, at whatever cost of effort or expense. Conjectures as to the facts and details in such news events as accidents and disasters is a serious shortcoming in a newspaper, involving perhaps needless anxiety for hundreds of people.

The readers of a newspaper to whom a news event has any special interest will always want to know the actual facts and details. And is it not your experience that, in most cases, these must be found in a morning newspaper? The advertising in a morning newspaper—as a matter of course—receives corresponding consideration.

THE NEWS is the Morning Paper for New Westminster and the Fraser Valley

INDIAN NATIONALISM IS AWAKENING

"The Outlook" Sees Live Indications of This Movement in Eastern Empire.

In a recent issue The Outlook refers editorially to the national congress held a short time ago in Karachi, in northern India, which it speaks of as one of the many indications of the growing feeling of nationalism among the people of India.

These congresses were inagurated by the late Allan Hume, who was a member of the Indian civil service and a son of Joseph Hume, the economist; Sir William Wedderburn, and the late W. C. Bonnerjee, who did much to place it on a substantial basis, and their encouragement was also a policy of the late Lord Dufferin when viceroy of India. Among the leaders of the congress the most remarkable has been G. K. Gokhale, member for Bombay in the legislative council, on the constructive and practical side, and the poet Rabindranath Tagore as an inspiring force in the national movement.

"While there has always been a certain sentiment of nationality," says the Outlook, "there never has been any predominant note of what might be called nationhood in India. Throughout the ages certain national ideals have ministered more or less to the imagination and culture of the people. But they have never made a practical nation of India, one desirous of occupying a prominent place in the realm of commerce and material things, nor have they ever brought about and real sentiment of unity among the various races.

"Three hundred million of people in India, like the four hundred million in China, have not been able to resist a world-wide tendency during the past generation towards political unity and nationhood. And the singular thing about both China and India is that foreign control has aided the movement, sometimes by antagonism to it but more often by sympathy with it. This has certainly been true of the generally intelligent British Control in India; it was latterly true even of the generally unintelligent Manchu control of China. It will always be true of any foreign control, which like that of the United States in the Philippines, means a rule purely for the benefit of the people ruled."

CIGARETTES INJURE CHILDREN

Excessive Use Results in their Mental and Moral Deficiency.

Ottawa, April 22.—That cigarette smoking was not worse than any other kind provided the smoke is not inhaled into the lungs, was the declaration of Edward W. McGill, chief analyst of the Dominion government, giving evidence before the cigarette committee today. He alluded to the smoking of pipes and stated that there is great danger from their being hot and thus condensing nicotine of a most poisonous character.

The pernicious effects of cigarettes upon children were described by Mrs. Rose Henderson, an officer of the juvenile court of Montreal. "My observation," she said, "is that children excessively using cigarettes are under size as well as deficient in morality and mentality. I have known them to come into court with their stomachs almost burned out—unable to eat or sleep properly because of using cigarettes. I have known many cases where mothers have given cigarettes to children simply to humor them without regard to moral or physical affects."

There were also instances of mothers smoking cigarettes.

Mr. Dawson, clerk of the juvenile court of Montreal, stated that he knew of cases of working women using cigarettes, but it was common at the two ends of the social ladder—the society women and the lowest class.

KEEP INDIVIDUAL RECORDS OF PRODUCTION

In the commercial world it is reasonable to assume that what you pay and what you get determine value. A low price, in itself does not spell value: price and quality, together, determine value.

As applied to the dairy herd, how does this work out? A farmer does not necessarily buy a cow because the price is low, he wants quality; in this case quality may be interpreted to mean dairy capacity, or ability to produce plenty of milk. If he does not purchase, possibly the heifer coming into milk has been raised at rather too high a cost so that her dairy quality is impaired. She may not be the right stock, that is, from a dam of deep milking qualities and a sire of known ability, and all may have suffered from lack of the right feed.

The other part of the value side of every dairy cow, that is, what you get from her, is right in the dairyman's own hands. He can easily determine each cow's value, or dairy quality, by keeping individual records of production. Then if he wishes to part with a good cow, her selling price is enhanced by reason of that certificate of value, her record, which helps to fix the price. Right buying is true economy; the factory pattern with the highest conception of value will buy, or raise, right, and will know, by his own simple records that each cow in the herd separately, not averaged in a lump, fits his ideal of value. Fix a good standard, make each cow pay. Milk and feed record forms are supplied free by the dairy commissioner, Ottawa.

A GREAT CANADIAN POET.

Dr. William Wilfred Campbell Is Called the Poet of the Lakes.

Dr. William Wilfred Campbell, the Canadian poet and novelist, whose recent book of verse has been well received by critics and the reading public generally, comes of famous literary stock. He is of Scottish and English descent, being on his father's side of a cadet branch of the House of Argyll, descended from the first Lord Campbell, and also of the same stock as the poet, Thomas Campbell, and as Fielding, the British novelist, says Chesterfield in The Family Herald. His father, the Rev. Thomas Swanston Campbell, was a Church of England clergyman, and his mother, Mathilde Frances Campbell, was a daughter of the late Major Francis Wright, of the Royal Horse Guards. Dr. Campbell is 52 years of age, and was born at Berlin, Ont., and was destined for the church. In fact, he was for six years an ordained clergyman. When ordained he took up parish work in New England, but three years later returned to Canada, and was for a time rector of St. Stephen, N.B., retiring from the ministry on account of his health, in 1891. Dr. Campbell married Mary Louise, only child of the late Dr. David Dibble, Woodstock, Ont., and Louise Mackenzie Macdonald, senior representative of the ancient Barons Mackay, of Strathy and Deriot, North Britain, and 10th in descent through her maternal grandfather, and 11th through her maternal grandmother from Robert Stuart, Earl of Orkney, son of James the V. of Scotland; also, through the same 9th and 10th from Lady Jane Gordon, eldest daughter of the 17th Earl of Sutherland.

Mention has been made of Dr. Campbell's relationship to the Duke of Argyll. As a matter of fact, not only are the poet and the duke near relations; they are intimate friends, and both keenly interested in each other's literary work. Upon Dr. Campbell's last visit to Europe, he made a long stay as a guest of his distinguished kinsman. For many years Dr. Campbell has been a member of the Civil Service, at Ottawa, and is attached to the Dominion Archives Bureau, under Dr. Doughty. He is known to all Canadians as a writer of English verse, and has been called "The Poet of the Lakes." His poem, "The Mother," has been placed by the Chicago Inter-Ocean among the gems of English literature. It has also been pronounced to be the nearest approach to a great poem which has appeared for many a long day, and was referred to in the Canadian House of Commons in terms of commendation by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Dr. Campbell has also written much Imperial verse, and of late has written considerable fiction. He is a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, and is a past vice-president of the English section, and past president. He is now secretary of the society. He was a member of the Literary Committee, appointed in connection with the Quebec Tercentenary celebration, and is a councillor of the Canadian Landmarks Association. He was a delegate from the Royal Society to attend the quarter centenary of Aberdeen University, in 1906, and was presented to the late King Edward. He received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Aberdeen upon this occasion. Among Dr. Campbell's best known writings are "Lake Lyrics," "The Dread Voyage," "Mordred and Hildebrand Tragedies," "Political Tragedies," "Beyond the Hills of Dream"; poems, "Collected Verse, Sagas of Vaster Britain," "Ian of the Orcades," "Canada" (incollaboration with T. R. Martin, R.C.A.), descriptive of the Dominion; "A Beautiful Rebel," historical novel; "The Canadian Lake Region."

Dr. Campbell lectured before the Imperial Club, London, Eng., on "The Practical Side of Imperialism," in 1904, and was present at the coronation of Their Majesties, in 1911.

Dried Fruit Inspection.

The latest bulletin from the Inland Revenue Department shows that in the inspection of 176 packages of raisins, currents, prunes, figs, dates, apricots, peaches, pears 138 samples have been found to be satisfactory and 20 doubtful. Among the samples taken seventeen packages have been found to be adulterated and nine of the seventeen were figs.

Attention is directed to the cartons in which much of the dried fruit is sold. Twenty-four were found to be one or more ounces light in weight, and the suggestion is made that regulations be adopted to make short weight in these packages an offense under the Weights and Measures Act, and that cartons be made only in pounds or sub-multiples of one pound.

Shipbuilding Dropped Back.

There was less shipbuilding in Canada last year than the year before, and with the exception of the years 1910 and 1911, it was less than usual. The tonnage of vessels built last year and registered was 24,325. This includes practically no vessels built for pleasure purposes, the tonnage of which is growing fast, but these are seldom registered and there is no record kept.

The tonnage of the Canadian vessels registered last year was 30,225. This is about the same as the year before. The seagoing and inland water tonnage, out and in, was 57,849,783, which is an increase of about five millions and the coasting tonnage was 73,644,713, an increase of nearly seven and a half millions.

A Slight Difference.

Col. White, when D.O.C. of the military district including the Province of New Brunswick, was noted as a strict disciplinarian, and was regarded with considerable awe by the militia officers and men who came to Camp Sussex for the annual drill.

On one occasion a captain was allowing his company to rest under a convenient tree, when he espied the colonel approaching.

"Heavens, men," he exclaimed; "get up; here comes the D. O. G."

BELIEVES IN BETTER HOMES

Henry Ford, of Automobile Fame, Insists on Employees Living in Comfortable Homes.

Detroit, Mich., April 22.—Henry Ford has declared war against tenements and squalid rooming-houses and no employee of his automobile company will be permitted to live in them.

In a notice just sent to all the Detroit employees, Ford says the company expects each recipient of its profit sharing plan to use his or her share in the profits for the good of themselves and their families and to "make more comfortable your home and living conditions."

Married and single men who do not live up to the modern standards of American every-day living are to be eliminated from the Ford organization. Married men who keep boarders in their homes will lose their places. So will single men who reside in rooming houses such as have been found in Highland Park, where they sleep in shifts.

"These men of many nations must be taught American ways, the English language, the right to live," Ford said today. "Married men should keep their households for themselves and their immediate families. They should not sacrifice familiar rights, pleasure and comfort by filling their homes with roomers and boarders.

"We now have forty-five investigators who are investigating each employee. Every detail of their living is inquired into."

BELIEVED DEAD, WOMAN DWELT IN ETERNITY

Mrs. Baker P. Lee, whose husband is a noted Los Angeles divine, believes that in a recent illness, hovering on the verge of death, she actually experienced a foretaste of the life beyond the grave.

Mr. Lee, who is deeply interested in phychology is preparing together with friends, to submit a report on the strange experience to Sir Oliver Lodge, the world's foremost investigato of spirit phenomena.

Mrs. Lee, who is a woman of talent and a composer of music, had been ill for several weeks, during which time her life was often despaired of. She has ascertained that the experience came at the time when her condition was lowest, and she was actually believed to have passed away.

"I had been wheeled to the window in a chair," she said, " where I sat looking out The nurse suddenly started and cried, 'Why, she's gone.'

"I saw my husband come in . He looked at me and exclaimed, 'My God, has it come!' I tried to open my eyes but could not. I said to myself, 'I'm not dead,' but I was powerless to move. Then the four children were brought in, weeping, and they looked at me. Then they all went out.

"They left me alone and then my father stepped into the room just as he used to in real life. He and I were chums. I said, 'I'm not dead. He replied, 'Not yet,'

"Suddenly I felt my spirit leaving my body with a joyful, light and exhiliarating release.

"My form remained the same but the substance had utterly changed. It was now a translucent vapor,capable at my will, of going immediately to any place .

"I possessed all of my faculties, imagination, will and memory. I was amongst the clouds, knowing the joy of flight. Then I came down and hovered over the city, saw the people and wished with all my strength to be able to reveal myself to them to let them know that life after death was beautiful.

"But I knew I was not dead, and so, after experiencing unimaginable joys, I went back into my body with that instantaneous possession which had characterized my departure.

"The entire experience was too real for a dream, and since having it I have been firmly convinced that I dwelt for a time upon the edge of eternity and know, in part, at least, what the future life is."
