FIVE LIVES LOST IN THE RED RIVER

Pleasure Launch Strikes a Sunken Pile r Picnic Ground at Winnipeg, and all Young of the Party Are Drown

Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—One of the greatest tragedies in the history of the city occurred in Winnipeg Saturday afternoon when five young lives were lost in the Red river, and another hangs in the balance tonight.

A gasoline launch ran on a sunken pile near River Park and the eight occupants were thrown into the water. But three of them were saved. Belonging as they do to well known families, the occurrence has created a most profound regret in the city.

The names of the drowned are Miss Ethel Brown, aged 19; her sister Myrtle, aged 12 and her brother Ernest aged 15; Miss Mary Whyte, Glasgow, Scotland, and Miss Tennie Thompson, the first three victims are the children of City Clerk Brown. Their mother, who accompanied them was saved and two companions, Messrs. Foxwell and Cheyne also escaped.

At 4:40 Saturday afternoon the merry party left the boat house for a trip of about three miles to the picnic grounds.

Laughing, chatting and singing with no thought of the hidden death awaiting them, they were within a couple of hundred yards of their destination when without a moment's warning the launch struck the pile and the bow rose in the air and stern sank, shipping water.

Two of the younger girls were thrown from their seats on the stern into the water and an instant later the boat took a sharp list to the left, filled and sank.

The weight of the engine dragged the stern down but the gasoline tank in the bow floated to that end and this was the means of saving at least two of the victims.

Though badly frightened the two young men in the bow did all in their power to save the lives of their friends and companions, though Mrs. Brown was the only one brought to shore.

At one time Mr. Cheyne was supporting Miss Brown and making a struggle to get back to the bow of the launch, which offered some hope of safety. He was almost exhausted and was making a desperate effort when a boat drifted near. He appealed for aid and tried to grasp the gunwale.

The men in the boat made all possible speed to get away out of his reach shouting, "Don't touch my boat, you will upset me," and went on down the river, leaving the unfortunate young man and his helpless burden to their fate.

Cheyne struggled as long as he could and finally lost consciousness, releasing his burden. When finally brought ashore he was in a semi-demented condition, and only recovered some time afterwards.

Mr. Foxwell caught Mrs. Brown and lifted her to the bow of the boat. He th ent after Miss White thinking w her but found that the obje bating on the water was her ha girl having sunk or floated a He then tried to find some of the younger people and not seeing them concluded that they were in safety and went back to Mrs. Brown. When help arrived he too was unconscious.

The most painful incident of this most unfortunate affair came when Mrs. Brown recovered from her first shock to the consciousness of what had happened. When first thrown into the water she was rendered unconscious by the shock. She was taken to the boathouse and artificial respiration applied until nature asserted itself and she opened her eyes to enquire what had happened to her children only to learn of her great bereavement, which so affected her in her condition that tonight her life is despaired of.

Corinthians Kick.

Montreal, Aug. 12.—The Corinthians, the English Association football team, which will tour Canada and the United States, won their first match by defeating an all-Montreal eleven here on Saturday by six goals to two. The 2,000 spectators were kept waiting until five o'clock owing to the late arrival of the visitors from Quebec where they landed from the Allan liner Victorian. Most of the Corinthians are old Varsity players and today held the local men easily throughout. The half time score was 2 to 1; in the second half the visitors drew away.

Japs Don't Mind. It.

London, Aug. 12.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that despite alarmist reports, there is no danger of the killing of the Japanese seal poachers of St. Paul island, Alaska, assuming a state of international gravity. The American ambassador at Tokio, the correspondent adds, assured Japan that his government will investigate the matter and he hoped Japan would not allow the cordial relations existing between the two countries to be interferred with by so trivial an affair.

Nicholas Turns It Down.

St. Petersburg, August 12.—Grand Duke Nicholas has declined to accept the post of commander in chief of all troops of the emperor, where martial law exists, which was tendered him August 4 Whether this was decided before or after the attempt on the life of the Grand Duke at Krasnoyo Selo on August 10 is not known, but the ostensible reason is that Nicholas believes such a post should not be given to a Grand Duke but to a military man. Today was quiet in the capital.

PASSENGERS BATTLE WITH CAR MEN

New York, Aug. 12.—Scenes of disorder were witnessed in a number of trolley and elevated roads leading to Coney Island today, when passengers, guided by an opinion handed down by Supreme Justice Gaynor, refused to pay a second fare. The result was a block of cars and trains a mile long. Several passengers were injured in being thrown from the cars.

While the police had acted during the day only to prevent disorder, tonight they took command and for a time kept cars moving so rapidly that the inspectors could not eject the passengers. Later, however, the motormen declined to move the cars and the police arrested several of them for obstructing the streets. They also took into custody Dow S. Smith, general superintendent of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, on a charge of obstructing traffic by refusing to allow the cars to proceed to Coney island and Division Superintendent Davis on the same charge, it being alleged that he ordered a motorman not to proceed after he had been instructed to do so by the police.

FOLLOWS ROOSEVELT WITH HER GRIEVANCE

Young Woman Makes Repeated Efforts to Secure the Attention of United States President, and Creates Scene in Church.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 12.—Miss Esiac, who is summering in Oyster Bay for the purpose of interviewing the president or Mrs. Roosevelt on what she declares is "A matter of life and death" created a scene during the service in Christ's Episcopal church today. Miss Esaic, or Miss Case as her name is supposed to be has attended every church service the president has since his arrival here in July. She has climbed Sagamore Hill on foot several times only to be turned away by the secret service men. She presented herself early at the church today and took a seat directly behind the pew usually occupied by the Roosevelt family. When Usher James Duffy requested her to relinquish this seat she refused. Duffy removed her to the rear of the church and Miss Esaic says he tore her gown in so doing. For this act she later applied for a warrant for Duffy but was refused. In the rear of the church Miss Esaic refused to sit down. A secret service agent stood beside her and during the service she made no less than a dozen attempts to get past him. As the president was leaving the church three secret service men surrounded Miss Esaic but she shouted:

"Mr. President, Mr. President, President Roosevelt won't you speak to me a mo-ment?"

The president turned his head as he passed but did not pause. Miss Esaic says her watch chain was broken in this scrimmage with the secret service men, and her watch fell to the floor.

The Uresident was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Quentin and Representative and Mrs. Longworth. Miss Esaic has stated to acquaintances she has made while here that she was to have been married in the White House at the time Miss Alice Roosevelt became Mrs. Longworth; that she was to have married a high government official and that it is this wrong she seeks to redress. When the president's carriage had departed Miss Esaic was allowed to go. It was then she sought a warrant for Usher Duffy. She says she will stay in Oyster Bay until she accomplishes her purpose.

STEERS HIS AIRSHIP THROUGH DARKNESS

Leo Stevens Travels in a Circle Above the City of Franklyn.

Franklin, Pa., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Mary Miller, wife of Major C. J. Sc Miller, was the central figure in an exciting flight in an airship here last night. The trip was made in company with Leo Stevens, the inventor.

Stevens started in the direction of the town with the airship going splendidly. He had it in perfect control and could steer in any direction desired. But when he was 600 feet up in the air and about an eighth of a mile from the starting point, the engine gave out, stopping dead still. In hurling out the drag line, Mrs. Miller had thrown out the sparking crank so nothing remained to be done but to come down.

They were then above a high hill overlooking the town and in the direction they were going was a precipice with a creek at the bottom. Stevens saw he would have to make a hasty descent and opened the valve at the top of the bag. The big airship settled nicely, though it struck the corner of a house, but no damage was done.

After the descent Mrs. Miller alighted from the airship and Stevens put his engine in order and resumed his flight. He crossed the city in total darkness and when he returned to the aerodrome he could not see to land. He then continued his flight, again flying over the city. He went in a wide circle, looking for a place to alight and finally selected an open field across the Allegheny river, a mile from town. He said it was the first airship flight he ever knew of in total darkness.

ESTHER MITCHELL ILL WITH TYPHOID

Girl Held for Murder of Brother Is Not Far From Death's Door.

Seattle, Aug. 12.—Esther Mitchell may never face a jury or pay the penalty the law demands for the killing of another in cold blood and without excuse. This eighteen-year-old girl, around whose existence two tragedies have centered, and who is charged with the murder of her own brother, is now lying on her cot in a little cell at the county jail tossing in the delirium of typhoid fever and the attending physician believes that she has little chance for recovery.

Although the girl has been ailing for some time it was not until four days ago that Dr. Snyder, the jail physician, considered her to be in danger, and it was not until Friday afternoon that her case was diagnosed as typhoid. She has been given every care possible in the confines of the jail and if she does not show some signs of recovery within a few hours the court will be asked to order her removal to a hospital.

Head Sawyer Killed.

Seattle, Aug. 12.—George H. Whitehouse, head sawyer in the Bryant Lumber company's mill, at Fremont, was struck on the top of the head by a saw yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock and died two hours later at the Seattle General hospital, where he was hurried immediately after the accident. As no one witnessed the accident, it is not known just how the unfortunate man received the cut that resulted in his death.

BONEPART DEALS WITH ANARCHISTS

Secretary of United States Navy Advocates Severe and Prompt Punishment of People Who Would Reform Society By Assassination.

Cumberland, Aug. 12.—Secretary of United States Navy Charles J. Bonaparte delivered an address this evening at the Alleghany Chautauqua society near Cumberland, before a large gathering, his subject being, "Anarchism and its remedy."

Secretary Bonaparte was greeted with salute and much applause. He was introduced by Congressman Geo. A. Pearce, of Maryland, and after reviewing the history of Anarchism in the United States and the efforts made in the past to check its growth, he said:

"So much for the evil, how can it be cured? If we mean cured in a day, a month, a year, a decade, I answer unhesitatingly, not at all. Anarchism will not be removed within a given time or through a special measure or set of measures. Perhaps it will not be wholly removed in any time or by any means. It will be for years, perhaps for generations, a source of peril to our public men; a source of annoyance and possibly some anxiety at times to the American people. But because I have no panacea to recommend, it must not be supposed that I would have nothing done. I believe that anarchism has been already made less and can be made much less, dangerous and harmless by being dealt with seriously and rationally. In other words I would see ourselves and other public servants in earnest and willing to be guided by common sense and experience in seeking a remedy without regard to a little "Doctrinaire" prejudice and a little pseudo humanitarianism. In the first place the unlawful acts prompted by anarchism should be made crime, in so far as they are not, strictly speaking, crimes already.

In dealing with a convicted anarchist two facts may well be remembered—the chances of his real reformation are so small that they may be safely neglected and we can appeal, for practical purposes, to but one motive on his part, to discourage a repetition of his offence, namely the pain and death. To keep him for years in a penitentiary merely burdens the community with the support of an irreconcileable enemy, with the constant risk of his escape or pardon, and the certainty that when he leaves, he will, if possible, be a worse man than when he entered.

"On anarchists the death penalty should be unequivocably imposed by law and inflexibly exercised whenever the prisoner has sought, directly or indirectly, to take life.

"For offences of less gravity, I advise a comparatively brief, but very rigorous imprisonment, characterized by complete seclusion, deprivation of all comforts. This would most clearly show the culprit that he suffers for what his fellow men hold odious and disgraceful, not merely for reasons of public policy. Any abridgement, through fear of anarchists, of that freedom of speech and of the press guaranteed by our state and federal constitutions would be neither a wise nor a worthy policy. These privileges should be denied, however, such counsellors of crime and instigators of disorder and rebellion. Any changes, however, sweeping in our laws and government, may be urged, and any arguments, however wild and grotesque, advanced to justify them, provided the methods advocated are orderly and lawful, but a public utterance advising the murder of the chief magistrate and the violent overthrow of the government is a seditious libel of common law and there is no good reason why public utterances or spoken words of the same purport, should not be made a like offence by statute. It is already a crime to advise a felony or grave misdemeanor. The advice leads to the crime suggested and there is no good reason why this should not be a substantive conspiracy.

"The final and most truly vital condition of success in ridding our country of anarchy in practice is that American public opinion should recognize the utter emptiness, the inherent folly, of its theory, and of all kindred ready made, furnished-while-you-wait schemes for the social regeneration of mankind. Civilized society as it exists today, if it be nothing more, is the outcome of all the strivings for justice and happiness of the human race during thousands of years What monstrous presumption; what preposterous conceit, for any man were he the wisest, the most learned, the most justly famed, of his own age of all ages, to imagine that with but the feeble light on his own dull mind, with but the few imperfect lessons of his own short, ill-spent life, to guide his hand, he could cast down and build up again this incredibly vast this infinitely complex fabric and improve on its structure."

Not Many Fish.

Fishermen who went out last night in the pouring rain expecting to reap a rich harvest were sadly disappointed. The run was comparatively small according to the men who returned early in the evening, and the average catch would not be much above thirty. Several of the boats came in with only five or six sockeyes, and with these fishermen the impression prevailed that it would have been wiser to stay home on such a night. The men are hoping for a bigger run tonight after the rain.

Mad Mullah Again.

London, Aug. 12.—The correspondent at Aden of the Daily Mail reports that the Mad Mullah has terribly raided the Somaliland border and killed over a thousand of the Rareharon tribe dwelling in the Ogadon region and captured ten thousand camels.

Brown Bear and Cubs Chase Man With Fish

Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—Winnipeg carried off the honors at the Worcester regatta on Saturday with two firsts. Howard Carper's four easily won the senior championship of North America while Selby Henderson captured the intermediate sculling championship by eight lengths.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 12.—The final day's racing of the Regatta of the National association, yesterday, was marred by collisions in three events. In the intermediate pairs and senior fours there were no penalties, but in the senior eight the Argonauts of Toronto were disqualified for fouling the Riversides. The New York Athletic club finished first and the Argonauts second. Referee Pilkington ordered the Riverside and New York Athletic clubs to row over tomorrow.

Constance S. Ttius of the Nonpareil Athletic club of New York defeated Fred Shepherd in the championship singles, winning by 300 yards.

In the intermeditae pairs the Nassua and Nonpareils were the only entries. The Nonpariels won as they pleased by ten lengths.

In the association singles Bennett of Springfield, sculling in magnificent form winning with something to spare. O'Neil of Halifax, also a powerful sculler, second. Eph McGee, Canadian champion, was third.

Ravenswood made a splendid fight in the senior fours and was beaten by the crack Winnipegs by a length with the Mound City crew third. Time, unofficial, 12:27.

The international four was a fierce struggle from start to finish for the five starters. This was won after a fine race by the Nonpareils by a length and a half from the Portland (Ore.) crew. The Ravenswood crew was third and Winnipeg was fourth.

Winnipeg Oarsmen Win International Honors

Grand Forks, B. C., Aug. 12.—W. J. Penrose, one of the proprietors of the Lion bottling works, has just returned from a fishing excursion up the North Fork, where he had a most thrilling experience, nearly losing his life by being chased by a big she bear and her cubs.

It appears that Mr. Penrose got separated from the rest of the party and was having exceptionally good luck in catching a fine string of trout, when all at once there appeared close to him an immense brown bear, and following close at her heels were two smaller bears. They all headed straight for the frightened fisherman, who at once made good his retreat through the timber and underbrush of the North Fork. The bears, however, never deviated from their object, but kept right after their victim, who was now regarding the situation in a most serious light.

Fortunately, Mr. Penrose is a runner of a most enviable reputation in the Boundary district and was able to keep ahead of his bloodthirsty pursuers, but finding that the bears had no intention of quitting the chase, and a happy though occurring to him, he dropped his string of trout, which acted like a charm in stopping the bears, which at once started to feast on the fish, and thus enabled Mr. Penrose to make good his escape.

It seems that the bears had been attracted by the smell of the fresh fish, which they really wanted more than the proprietor of the bottling works. It appears that at this particular season the bears are exceptionally plentiful on the North Fork and pretty savage, owing, doubtless, to the act that they are not yet completely over shedding their hair, and the intense heat also adds to their ill nature.

J. R. GILLEY DEAD

Well Known Business Man of New Westminster Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

After an illness of only a few days, during which he was confined to his room, the death of James Rogers Gilley occurred on Saturday night about midnight. During the last few days he had been gradually sinking, and the end was not entirely unexpected. By his death, New Westminster loses one of its most prominent citizens, a man who at all times had the welfare of the city at heart, and one who had, and deserved to have, the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

Mr. Gilley came to British Columbia from St. Andres, N. B., a little over twenty years ago to join his brothers W. R. and H. Gilley, who had been here for some time previously. He went into the teaming and livery business with his brother Walter at Port Haney, where both remained until 1887, when they moved to New Westminster, where they have resided ever since. Here they followed the same business for about five years, the three brothers being in partnership. When the livery business was finally given up, the teaming business was continued, and from this was built the present successful business operated by Gilley Bros., on Front street.

In 1891 he went back to New Brunswick to be married, the bride being Miss Delma Dean, of St. David, N. B. From this union, there were seven children, three boys and four girls, all of whom survive their father, the eldest being fifteen years of age. Other surviving near relatives are his widow, three brothers, Walter, Herbert and George Emerson Gilley, and two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Levar and Miss Annie L. Gilley.

Mr. Gilley was a member of the Union Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and always took an active interest in lodge matters. Although not a member of Royal Templars, he never drank spirituous liquors in his life, and was always a strict abstainer.

Up to about three weeks ago, he attended to business as usual, but not feeling in the best of health, he decided to absent himself for a short time, and, taking his family with him, he went out camping at Blackie Spit. It was while there that he grew gradually worse, and he had to be brought back home, suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys. After being confined to his room for only eight days, during which he was attended by Drs. Rothwell and Hall, and Dr. Gillis, of Vancouver, he passed away on Saturday, a few minutes before midnight.

In addition to the business conducted by him and his brother on Front street, Mr. Gilley was interested in several other enterprises in the city, and was always prepared to help forward anything that he considered would be a benefit to New Westminster. He leaves behind him a large number of relatives and friends to mourn his loss, and his presence will be missed among them for a long time to come.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, Tuesday, afternoon, from the family residence, Eighth street, to the cemetery at Sapperton.

A Waterworks Question.

Editor Daily News:

Sir: Kindly inform me as to the truth or otherwise of the disquieting rumor which is spreading rapidly through the city, to the effect that our council has practically agreed to deed some fifty acres of land, more or less, adjoining the shores of Coquitlam lake, to the B. C. E. R. Co., the gift to include the land surrounding the dam and city's intake pipe.

I need scarcely point out that in the event of this extraordinary rumor being founded on fact, the ratepayers will of course be assured that this remarkable gift will not debar them from possible future alterations or improvements at their intake; but I fear experience teaches us that unless such alterations coincide with the interests of the company in question, the citizens of New Westminster will be met with a pleasant "non possums" or to paraphrase, "Is it so writen in the bond?"

HETTY GREEN TALKS ABOUT WICKEDNESS

Would Kill Her Son Rather Than Have Him Led Away By New York Society.

Bellows Falls, Vermont, Aug. 11.—"If my boy Ned lived a life of crime, I'd give him a hypodermic myself and put him away where there would be no more chance for disgrace."

This remarkable statement came from a more remarkable woman, said to be the richest woman in the United States, Mrs. Hetty Green. It was uttered as she posed for a newspaper picture, the first time she said that she ever placed herself before a newspaper man's camera.

"I really don't know why I should allow you to do this," she declared, and she spoke rather petulantly, "for I have never posed for a newspaper picture before and never shall again, under any circumstances."

With a grim countenance she stood, turned slightly to one side and struck an erect form at posing, totally unlike the carefully prepared attitude and expression of the average woman before a camera. She sighed as if relieved when she heard the click of the camera. Then she talked most interestingly.

"People have made all kinds of allegations," she said. "For instance, I want to break into society for Sylvia's sake.

"Every word of that is a lie. I am not anxious for any of their company, and neither is Sylvia.

Tried to Tempt Son.

"Some of the sets in New York are living in a worse manner than the people of Sodom and Gomorrah did, and I know it, for didn't some of them try to tempt my boy Ned, just after I took him out of college and took him to Chicago? One of these women tried to snare him there and then. When I fought her she came the religious dodge on me, telling of how badly her minister down in Lexington, Ky., would feel about the position she was placed in by my boy.

"I ended her game very quickly when I wrote to the minister's wife. If you want anything to spread just tell the wife of the minister in any community and you will never need to hire an advertising agent."

And Mrs. Green smiled grimly at what she evidently considered a great joke.

Mrs. Green is at her old New England home with Sylvia, her daughter, in whom she seems to take great pride. From the exterior of the house no one would judge that anybody inhabits the old mansion. The windows are tightly closed, an air of rustiness prevails about the place, the whole bearing resemblance to a deserted mass and jumble of brick. The fences are practically gone, neighbors having been in need of firewood, and weeds conceal whatever lawn may have once existed.

Notes From Langley.

A new cheese factory has just been erected at Murray's Corners.

Miss Florence Hamilton returned to Vancouver yesterday, after visiting friends in this neighborhood for a week.

The stork paid a visit to the home of Mr. Rhodes, Port Kells, the other day, and left a baby boy behind it.

Mrs. Wm. McAdam entertained Tuesday afternoon and evening in honor of Miss Hamilton, Vancouver The young ladies present were Miss Yeomans and Miss Ethel Yeomans, Miss Taylor, Miss Kathleen and Miss Gwen Taylor, Miss Eva McAdam.

Mr. Geo. Taylor intends leaving August 13, for his farm in the Northwest, where the ripening grain demands attention.

The bush fires are as much of a nuisance here as elsewhere in the district. A good steady rain for a day or so would be much appreciated. It would dampen the grain a little of course, but the root crops would benefit greatly.

Wm. McAdam of this place is busy gathering specimens for the Langley exhibition at the New Westminster fair. He is attending to the matter in good time, so that Langley shall be sure to retain the high reputation it has won.

Now that the haying season is over, the farmers are hoping that a similar spell of dry wethaer will favor them till the grain is harvested.

ENEMIES GET BUSY WHILE NICK IS AWAY

Longworth Returns to Find That He Has Lost Popularity in Constituency.

New York, Aug. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Nick Longworth, basking in the recollection of honors conferred upon them by kings, emperors and presidents during their two months' trip abroad, returned to the United States today on the steamship St. Paul and were taken on board the dispatch boat Sylph, acting as the president's yacht, and carried to Oyster bay.

The passage across the ocean was made without incident, and both Mr. and Mrs. Longworth are enjoying splendid health.

Greatly to the disappointment and chagrin of the passengers on the St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth kept almost entirely to themselves during the trip. One of the passengers said that Mrs. Longworth did not meet more than six of the ship's company. She spent most of the time in her state room and for the first time made a short circuit of the ship this morning.

They attended the concert on board, but took no interest in other amusements. Representative Burton, who was also a passenger, spent considerable time with the Longworths. It was learned from him that several of the passengers had made themselves obnoxious by trying to thrust themselves upon the Longworths, thus causing their seclusion.

Mr. Longworth returns to find his seat in congress imperiled by the laboring interests in his district in Ohio, and other elements which are dissatisfied with his course of action in the house. To a friend on board, Representative Longworth said he would spend a couple of days in Oyster bay and then go direct with his wife to Cincinnati, where he will begin a vigorous fight for re-election.

Injured at Millside.

Owing to some defect in the machinery of one of the engines at the Fraser River mills last Saturday afternoon, which resulted in an accident, Engineer Jack Reardon was severely scalded on both arms and will be unable to attend to his duties for some time to come. The engine which Mr Reardon was driving had been out of order, and after he had apparently fixed it all right, he resumed operations. It was in attempting to stop the engine a little later that the accident occurred. The controller did not act, and as the steam was not cut off, the engine was torn from its foundation on the anchor posts, and the engineer severely scalded by the escaping clouds of steam. Apart from being torn from its base, no damage was done to the engine.

INDIAN OUTCLASSES CHINAMAN AT WORK

Agent McDonald Says Red Man Is Better All Round Than Yellow Man.

R. C. McDonald, Indian agent, does not think that the Chinamen will displace the Indian in the field of unskilled labor in the agricultural parts of this province for some time to come. In conversation recently he stated that an experiment had recently been made to induce the Chinamen to work in the hop fields at Agassiz and Chilliwack but with poor results. Many who had employed yellow labor were going back to the red men for help, and as they found that these gave them better service.

"One of the great differences," remarked Mr. McDonald, "is that the Indian will work all day long, rain or shine. The Chinaman will make for shelter at the first sign of rain, and in the hop fields, where all the crop must be handled in very short space of time, this is a serious consideration. The Indian can stand more hard work than the Chinaman, and is not so particular about working long hours."

"The hop season this year is earlier than usual, and the crops are fine. Between three and four thousand people are needed to harvest the hops, and when the work is in full swing, there will be a great gathering of Indians around Chilliwack and other hop centers. Owing to the fact that they are making big money this year over the fishing, Indians are hard to get."

Mr. McDonald thinks that there will be a great gathering of the noble red men at the forthcoming exhibition, in New Westminster. They are all anxious to meet with Chief Joe, who will be back from his visit to the King of England about this time. Indians for miles around will flock to see him.

A WATERWORKS QUESTION.

We print this morning a letter from "Ratepayer" asking for information as to the truth of a rumor that the city is about to deed the land surrounding its intake pipe at Coquitlam lake to the B. C. E. R. Co. The letter did not reach this office until Saturday afternoon, and as the city hall had suspended business for the day, we could not obtain direct information; but that is not required to enable us to assure our correspondent that no land is to be "deeded" by the city, for the very good reason that it has none there to deed.

So far as our general recollection of the facts will carry us, the bargain between the city and the company was made in 1901. In was on the basis of mutual advantage. The city had obtanied what may be called a holding title of the land surrounding the lake, for the purpose of enabling it to preserve the purity of its water supply. So far, we understand, no crown grant has been issued, we should presume that it will not cover the right to sell; simply to hold for the purpose stated.

Then came the Vancouver Power Co. seeking the right to use certain parts of the land for the purpose of its tunnel and its power scheme generally; and the city was asked not to stand in its way. The reports of several engineers employed by the city at different times in connection with the waterworks, had pointed out that by constructing a dam at the outlet of the lake and carrying the intake pipe above it, the "head," and consequently the amount of water coming into the reservoir, would be increased, although they expressed a doubt whether the amount of increase would justify the cost of the work, which was put at $12,000 to $15,000, if our recollection is correct. The V. P. Co. offered to build the dam, cary the intake pipe above it, and do all things necessary in the premises to protect the city's property and the purity of its water supply. There was also a convenant as to the supply of current for the city's electric light system. The water record of the company is endorsed with a list of conditions to be observed by it, which conditions form part of the bond. Just what they cover we cannot now undertake to say; but doubtless "ratepayer" can see them at the city hall. The city in return did not oppose the company's application for a water record and passed a resolution consenting to the company's use of the land necessary for the purpose of its undertaking. So the matter has stood, as far as we have been able to ascertain, from that day to this, no formal documents having been yet "signed, sealed, and delivered." Negotiations have taken place, but we are given to understand that the object of these has been the reduction of the acreage asked for by the company at the dam site.

The concluding words of our correspondent's letter suggest the advice that interested ratepayers—as the whole body of the ratepayers is iterested, that would mean a committee of ratepayers—should obtain exact information as to the facts of the case, and make any recommendations which may appear advisable. The arrangement is not a temporary one; it is supposed to govern for all time, and it is sound business—something we owe to future generations—to see that all proper safeguards are "written in the bond." So far there is nothing to show that either city or company would object, as they certainly should not object, to that.

AFTERMATH OF DOMINION EXHIBITION.

The financial statement of the R. A. & I. society, which was crowded out from our issue of Saturday, shows a balance in bank at the society's credit of over $6,000. As there is no statement of liabilities, we presume this is surplus, and as such it certainly forms ground for congratulation not only to the management, but to the city. Even with the Dominion contribution of $50,000 and the very liberal aid given by the local government, the holding of a Dominion exhibition, involving as it did the construction of extensive buildings, and other special expenses, was a very big undertaking for a town of 8,000 people. Of course we had the loyal support of the surrounding agricultural districts ,but even so it was a "large order," and those who carried it through so successfully certainly deserve the greatest credit. Nor is it to be forgotten that about half of the total bad weather of 1905 was compressed into the ten days of the fair. Looking at the figures, it is not too much to say that the bad weather robbed the management of $10,000. Such weather as we had enjoyed for many weeks almost up to the opening day—as we had for many weeks after the fair was over, would easily have added one-third to the admissions.

Who will tell us the truth about the harbor of Prince Rupert, better known as Kaien island? A statement on the authority of a trustworthy and disinterested witness would appear to be very distinctly in order. Some time ago there was published a statement to the effect that the "harbor" was no harbor at all in any proper sense of the word as applied to the terminus of a great railway. A little later there appeared in certain provincial papers a statement as diametrically opposite as possible—a statement which made it appear that the biggest, or almost the biggest, ships afloat could sail in without difficulty or danger and snuggle close up to the shore line. Which is true, or the nearer to the truth?

Out in the fields of Dewdney there stands a lonely bridge. That sounds like a quotation, but it is only a fact. A fact that needs some explanation, according to the information which has been given to this office. There is the bridge crossing the Hatzic slough. There may or may not be a road leading to it—we suppose the traveller to be journeying esatward—but there is no road leading away from it. When the wayfarer steps off it he is a trespasser, and subject presumably to the pains and penalties as laid down in the law in such cases. Why the provincial government should have set such a trap for unwary feet, our informant sayeth not; but he does assure us that the trap is there. As it is in the premier's constituency, perhaps that gentleman will rise and explain if he can spare the time.

Trades For Boys.

Few boys take to tasks that require thought and persistent efforts. Yet skilled work is the only employment in demand.

Hodcarriers and common laborers glut the markets everywhere. The tradesmen and artisans are the ones that get the easiest jobs and the most money. The others are always hunting work.

Should they accidentally stumble upon a job they cannot hold it. A superficial knowledge will not do. It must be thorough.

Boys, learn a trade while young. After you are twenty years old few will be found who will take the time and trouble to teach you one. When you are that old you will want a man's pay. If you don't know anything you don't get it. Knownothings work at odd jobs and are paid the lowest scale.—Gem.

A Promising Boy.

"My boy," said the frenzied financier, "you must remember that you can't eat your cake and have it."

"But, father," the young man commented, "surely I can keep my own cake and eat the other chap's."

The light of a great joy shone in the father's eyes. He foresaw for his son a splendid future. Seldom, indeed, had he heard the vital principle of high finance more trenchantly laid down.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Formidable Name.

The cafe proprietors of Berne, Switzerland, having clubbed together to do away with bock beer by raising its price 5 centimes and serving it in small glasses, have met with opposition. Some patrons have formed a society called "Viederillitragitationskommissiondelegiertenversammlungspetition," a word of just sixty-seven letters.

Local News Briefly Told

There will be no meeting of the city council this evening.

Hon. W. Norman Bole and Mrs. Bole return from Balcarra today.

Mrs. M. Gowan has gone to Port Moody for a few days' recuperation.

Alderman Henley is gradually improving, and expects to be about again in a few days.

The Baptist Young People's union will enjoy a trolley party to English bay, Vancouver, this evening.

Miss Emma Kokenbach and Miss Clements of Sherman's Bridge spent the week end in the city, the guests of Mrs. J. Insley.

The B. C. and Washington fisheries commissions are to meet at Bellingham tomorrow, for the purpose of visiting the Puget Sound fish traps and canneries.

Thomas Gifford reported the loss of an English setter pup to the city police yesterday morning. The pup is white with black marks on the body.

P. Camley, who has been away superintending the C. P. R. construction work east of the Rockies was in the city on Saturday visiting old friends. He left again for the east yesterday morning.

F. C. Griffin, the genial local agent of the G. N. R., has been transferred from New Westminster to Skyhomish, Wash., and will leave for his new sphere of duties in a few days. He is succeded here by F. C. Myers, of White Fish, who has been connected with the G. N. R. for over twenty years.

The New Westminster baseball team is slated to play a ball game in Bellingham this afternoon. As a result of constant practice last week, the team has considerably improved since their last game, and they hope to return this evening with the information that the victory was theirs today.

Another small bush fire broke out yesterday afternoon on Thirteenth street close to Sixth avenue. A fire alarm was sent in, but after Chief Watson had driven out to the scene of the outbreak, he decided that there was no need to call out the brigade. Shortly afterwards the heavy showers effectually put an end to all danger of fire from that source.

Yesterday's shower was most welcome, and will be of great service in checking the bush fires, although it was not sufficient to put and end to them. If there is anything in the old saw about "a rainbow at night" the rain is over for the time; there was a rainbow last evening—a double one—beautiful enough to delight the hearts of a whole regiment of shepherds.

Alfred Walton, one of the old timers of Port Moody, died at Sunnyside on Saturday from senile decay. The deceased, who was 75 years of age, had been a farmer in that vicinity for many years. He was a native of Sussex, England. The funeral will take place this afternoon at the Oddfellows' cemetery, Sapperton, the cortege arriving there from Port Moody about three o'clock. W. E. Fales has charge of the funeral arrangements.

Baseball between the rival cigar factories, the Beaver and the B. C., was the great attraction here last Saturday afternoon. The game was chiefly noticable for the number of errors which occurred, and for the remarkable batting of the weed rollers. It was said by an expert after the game that 2 errors were made in one inning, but this was disputed by the players. After enduring the agony of the game for seven innings, it was decided to call it off. At this stage the Beavers were leading by a score of 12 to 7, but the B. C.'s swear that they had things coming their way and that they would eventually have won if the game had been played long enough.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The operation of getting an idea through the heads of some people is so painful to them, that it is only common humanity to chloroform them first.

A woman with a past is rather apt to prefer a man with a present.

Lives of great men might remind us of several things they do not now suggest if we knew all of the details.

Fraud is the thing that the other fellow won by.

People who ask you for advice may want merely to flatter you, but the chances are that it is preliminary to a touch.

Some people are so small minded that they can't be anything else than jealous minded.

If you want to be popular, always let the other fellow find the fault.

The woman who marries for a home may have to make it all herself afterward.

Girls wouldn't do for soda water clerks. They might misunderstand the winks.

Some women make fools of themselves, but others prefer to make them of men.

The Heated Term.

When it is ninety in the shade
And men are dropping by the way,
Don't kick as though it were your trade;
Hot weather is not here to stay,
And do not ever be afraid
But that it will cool off some day.

You wouldn't like to go around
On snowshoes gliding through the year
And have to stamp your feet and pound
And always sport a frozen ear.
A country like that can be found
If you don't like the climate here.

We need a little spell of heat
To have the corn crop nicely made;
We should be shy of things to eat
Without a harvest, I'm afraid.
To make life happy and complete
We need to have the farmer's trade.

So let us take the sun and shade,
The breezes and the summer heat,
And, with our fans and lemonade,
Say, "Really, isn't this a treat!"
For summer soon will slip down grade
And winter 'll be here with both feet.

His Mother's Admonition.

Johnny Smalson saw a green apple clinging to its parent bough. The apple was small and insignificant, and Johnny would probably never have noticed it but for the fact that his mother had impressively told him that green apples are now abroad upon trees and that they make little boys sick if little boys eat them.

Johnny paused and regarded the gnarly little green thing in wonderment.

He could not figure out why any self respecting little boy should ever want to eat such a little verdant rock as that appeared to be.

Then suddenly he thought that if he should eat it he would probably discover why little boys like to eat green apples, so Johnny immediately proceeded to club the apple off the tree, and then he forthwith surrounded it with great relish for knowledge and some for the apple, and it didn't make him sick. Ever know of a real live boy outside of a story book that it did?

Common Slip.

No wonder the man was a croaker;
He thought he could turn up the joker,
But he drew the wrong card,
And it let him down hard,
So broke that he couldn't be broker.

He Knew.

"What's more annoying than a boy about the house?" exclaimed the boy's sister.

"That's dead easy," replied her admirer—"a boy that's camping on your trail."

The Kitten Might.

"Which would you rather have, little girl, a baby or a kitten?"

"A kitten, 'cause you dasn't slap a baby except when your ma ain't round."

Thinks of Her Cooking.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder."

"You bet—absence and hotel meals."

Timely.

In looking for amusement,
Here is some good advice—
Prepare to have hay fever
If you have got the price.

Memory Failed Him.

Synopsis of Regulations for Disposal of Minerals on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory.

COAL—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

QUARTZ—Persons of eighteen years and over and joint stock companies holding free miners' certificates may obtain entry for a mining location.

A free miner's certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing location notices, one at each end of the line of the lode, or vein.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if ocated within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1.00 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, also copper, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding 160 acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of a Royalty of 2½ per cent. of the sales of the products of the location.

PLACER MINING—Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory: Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square, entry fee $5, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan River claims are either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, not exceeding 1000 feet. Where steam power is used claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the Rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged beds or bars of the river below any low water mark, and subfor first year and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty same as placer mining.

Placer mining in the Yukon Territory—Creek, gulch, river and hill claims shall not exceed 250 feet in length, measured on the base line or general direction of the creek or gulch, the width being from 1000 to 2000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 250 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days if the claim is within ten miles of the mining recorder's office. One extra day allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim of 1000 feet in length, aand if the party consists of two, 1500 feet altogether, on the output on which no royalty shall be charged the rest of the party ordinary claims only.

Entry fee $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent. on the value of the gold shipped from the ject to the rights of all persons who have, or who may receive entries for bar diggings or bench claims, except on the Saskatchewan River, where the lessee can dredge to high-water mark on each alternative leasehold.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles but where a person or company has obtained more than one lease one dredge for each fifteen miles or fraction thereof is sufficient. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of two and a half per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Dredging in the Yukon Territory—Six leases of five miles each may be granted to a free miner for a term of 20 years; also renewable.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bar or bars in the river below low water mark, that boundary to be fixed by its position on the 1st day of August in the year of the date of the lease.

The lessee shall have one dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from such date. Rental $100 per mile Yukon Territory to be paid to the comptroller.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river, creek or gulch, but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be abandoned and another obtained on the same creek, gulch or river, by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $200.

A certificate that work has been abandoned, anad open to occupation and entry by a free miner.

Berths on their sleepers are longer, higher and wider than in similar cars on any other line. They protect their trains by the Block System.

The boundaries of a claim may be defined absolutely by having a survey made and publishing notices in the Yukon Official Gazette.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PICNICS.

The picnic season is at hand,
When city people blithely hie
In train loads to the boarderland
To frolic and fill up on pie,
With balmy nature to commune
And, at the least excuse, to spoon.

A hamper loaded to the guards,
Big bottles filled with something tame,
Some golf sticks and about ten yards
Of netting for a tennis game,
A hammock—and they are away,
With poor pa loaded like a dray.

The train is crowded; every seat
Holds several grown folks and three kids;
The air is smoky, and the heat
Of comfort all the journey rids.
Wait till the grounds we can discern;
We'll have cool breezes then to burn.

This is the place to draw the veil.
The picnic is a humbug large,
Built on a monumental scale,
With nothing real but the charge.
We don't like water cold to throw,
But we've been to them, and we know.

Hard on the Theory.

"At last," the optimist was explaining to a neighbor, "I have found a way to save money. About the first of the month a man came along with a new gas burner guaranteed to cut the gas bill in two. I bought it, and a few days later a fellow showed up who had a regulator that he promised would make the gas bill look like 30 cents. At least it would cut it down two-thirds. Well, I took it, and toward the end of the week a frank agent drifted around with an attachment for the meter that would do all kinds of economical stunts. I let him put it on, and I calculate that the gas company will be owing me something by the time the next bill comes in."

"John," called his wife from the next room, "the gas bill came this morning, and it was only a third larger than the month before!"

Mutual.

In the spring the young man's fancy
Turns to thoughts of love, they say,
And I guess the young girl's fancy
Meets it pleasantly halfway.

Literary Effort.

"What is he doing for a living?"
"Writing."
"Short stories?"
"Oh, no; just writing home for money."

Gave Him a Jar.

"He was intoxicated with her beauty."
"But it sobered him up, I fancy, when the check for her dinner came."

Hadn't Caught Up.

"It is winter now in the Argentine Republic."
"Say, they must be a slow race of people in that country."

Didn't Want to Surprise Her.

He toyed with nitroglycerin—
They broke it to his wife,
Quite gently, too, the news about
His sudden rise in life.

One Way to Get Ready.

"He is saving his money for a rainy day."
"Isn't he rustler enough to steal his umbrellas?"

Knew the Worst.

"He seems to have a prejudice against canned goods."
"Yes; he has worked in a canning factory."

Looked as Though He Might Have It.

"Can you lend me $10, old man?"
"No, but I thank you for the compliment."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A man can easily manage his wife—if he just lets her have her own way.

A girl would rather have a ring on her hand than two at the doorbell.

Eve might not have been tempted to eat the apple if there had been any ice cream parlors in the vicinity.

There are people who regard their faults as their most charming qualities.

Many a man would go to work except that his wife is willing to stand for his idleness.

The desire of most men to get rich in a minute is what enables gold brick men to take home nice things to their children.

Staying out late is great exercise to cultivate the imagination of a married man.

It is surely laudable for a man to want to become a millionaire so that he won't have to have his wife cut his hair.

A Mother's Retort.

Dr. Breckenridge, a well known American clergyman, and his two brothers, also of the same profession, one day paid a visit to their mother.

"Do you not think, mother," said he, "that you ruled us with too rigid a rod in our boyhood? It would have been better, I think, had you used gentler methods."

The old lady straightened up and said, "Well, William, when you have raised up three as good preachers as I have, then you can talk!"

Division of Profits.

Litigant—You take nine-tenths of the judgment? Outrageous! Lawyer—I furnished all the skill and eloquence and legal learning for your cause. Litigant—But I furnished the cause. Lawyer—Oh, anybody could do that!

Reconciled Science and Religion.

A clergyman is quoted in Everybody's Magazine as confounding an advanced young woman who was demonstrating to him that science had disproved religion with this little parable. "Madam," he said, "I once knew a member of your sex who perfectly reconciled science and religion. She is a prominent member of the Young Women's Christian association, and she was making an address to a large gathering of women, which was interrupted by a terrific thunder shower. She shared with many the awful fear of thunder and lightning, and, with the others, she trembled in silence for a few moments. When a blinding flash was swiftly followed by a frightful clap of thunder she struggled to her feet and began to pray, 'O Lord, take us under thy protecting wings, for thou knowest that feathers are nonconductors.'"

HAND GRENADES.

It Requires Nerve to Use Them as the Bulgarians Do.

Reginald Wyon in his book on "The Balkans From Within" writes from the interior of a blockhouse on the Turko-Bulgarian frontier: "We are shown captured bombs, heavy cylinders used for blowing up buildings and the dreaded hand grenade, whose short fuse is calmly lighted by a burning cigarette and hurled among the attacking Turks. A man must indeed have nerves of iron to do this deed. Picture a devoted handful of men surrounded by an overwhelming force of Turks, slowly but surely drawing nearer. Now they are a hundred yards away, fifty yards—luckily they shoot abominably—but it is too far to put the weight with effect.

"They must wait, though here and there a bullet fired at random thins out the little band. A rush—now. See! One coolly lights the fuse and quickly hurls it at the foe. He must make no mistake, his aim must be correct and his arm strong. A slip at the moment of throwing means his and his comrades' lives instead of the Turks', for the fuse is very short. But he has thrown it well. The Turks see it coming and halt in blind fear.

"A deafening crash, screams and yells of anguish, and the Turks break and run, shot down by the triumphant insurgents. Down into the valleys they fly to the nearest village, where their officers, anxious to save themselves a semblance of authority, order its massacre and pillage. And the next day we read of the extermination of another band."

Cast Iron.

Cast iron is extended the five thousand five hundredth part of its length for every ton of direct strain per square inch of its section. Its elasticity is fully excited when extended the one-thousandth part, and the limit of its elasticity is estimated to be found at the time when it is extended the one thousand two hundredth part of its length. The tensile strength of the longest piece of cast iron ever tested was 45,976 pounds to the square inch.

Examiner Completes Inspection of Defunct Bank in Chicago—Employees Testify.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—State Bank Examiner C. C. Jones, today completed his inspection of the affairs of the defunct Milwaukee Avenue State bank. The examiner was reticent concerning the exact results of his investigation. He intimated that the total shortage discovered would be between eight hundred thousand and one million dollars.

Inspector Shippey today examined more than a dozen of the bank's employees. The book-keeper was positive that President Stensland's son was aware of the shaky condition of the bank before July 14, the date on which young Stensland says he first suspected irregularities on the part of his father. Other employees told the inspector of midnight trips to the bank by the president and Cashier Hering.
