

HATCHERIES EXHIBIT COMING TO THE FAIR

Attractive and Instructive Feature of Exhibition Will Show Development of Sockeye From Ova to Full Grown Fish—Special Prize For the Fair Sex.

One of the most attractive features of the New Westminster exhibition this year will be a fish hatchery exhibit, showing the development of sockeyes from the time the ova is placed in the hatcheries until the fish is big enough to be sold to the B. C. Packers association. The exhibit will be under the supervision of Fisheries Inspector Sword, and in charge of Dominion Government Hatcheries' Inspector Cunningham, who will demonstrate the various stages through which the salmon passes before it is ready for consumption. The exhibit is the property of the Dominion Government, and it is practically arranged that they will ship it here for the exhibition in a special car. Besides the evolution of the sockeye, numerous other piscatorial specimens will be shown in the model hatchery, as well as members of the crustacea family. This exhibit is a most valuable one, and has never been shown locally. A similar exhibit attracted a great deal of attention at the Portland exhibition, the building where the model hatchery was shown being crowded from morning to night. A special building would have to be erected for this exhibit, and special arrangements made for the distribution of hot water throughout the hatchery.

The above information was given to the members of the board of control of the R. A. & I. society at a meeting held in the Mayor's office on Monday afternoon. T. J. Trapp, president of the society, in the chair. Others present were G. D. Brynner, W. R. Gillet, A. Welsh and W. H. Keary, secretary. The revising of the estimate was proceeded with and a report will be made at the general meeting held on March 20. A considerable increase in the number of prizes will be suggested for this year. The secretary reported that he had already been promised over $1,000 in contributions from outside sources, and that indications were very bright for the receiving of large sums to be devoted to the successful carrying out of the exhibition.

Another special feature of the exhibition will be the Domestic Science exhibit, which will be under the supervision of a competent lady instructor. The necessary household articles will be furnished by a prominent Canadian firm, and every effort will be made to contribute to the success of this new department. Lectures and demonstrations in connection with this exhibit will be given by prominent experts from Eastern Canada.

President Trapp reported that Joseph Bulman, of Stump Lake, had offered a prize of $20 to be awarded as a prize to the best lady driver in an open competition. The offer was accepted with thanks. Offers of several other prizes were also received, and will be dealt with later.

AWFUL DEATH OVERTAKES TWO HUNDRED VICTIMS

Compressed Air Torpedo Explodes on Board French Battleship Jena--- Magazine Flooded---A Rear-Admiral Among the Dead.

Toulon, France, March 12.—A powder magazine on board the French battleship Jena blew up this morning while at the Missiessy dock, owing to the explosion of a compressed air torpedo. There were about 630 officers and men on board at the time of the disaster, but most of them jumped into the water. The authorities here believe that the victims number 200.

Further explosions upon the Jena occurred every moment and a débris flew over the dock yard for a distance of 500 yards. All the windows of the workshops around the scene were broken. The electric wires flashed in the fuses and then broke down all about the dock.

A shell weighing twenty pounds was hurled a quarter of a mile before striking and sinking into the ground.

A complete panic prevailed among the employees of the arsenal, who were returning to work from luncheon when the powder magazine blew up and many of them made a rush toward the dock whence clouds of thick smoke was arising. No one seemed to know what had happened until someone shouted:

"The Jena has blown up!"

An officer then called out, "Save yourselves," and all the workmen and others made a rush for the nearest exit from the arsenal.

Many of the crew of the Jena saved their lives by climbing down ladders and reaching the quays, whence they fled to places of safety.

Entrance to the Arsenal has been forbidden to all but men in uniform.

A signalman of the Jena, who escaped, says that a large number of the crew were in the forepart of the ship listening to a lecture by an officer, when the first explosion occurred. Most of these were able to escape.

Rear-Admiral Manceron is among the wounded and included in the killed is Ensign Rousse.

Later information is that the magazines of the Jena, which had not exploded, were flooded and that no further explosions were feared.

The Jena was a turret ship of 11,881 tons displacement and 15,500 horsepower. The vessel had an armored belt from 6 to 13 3/4 inches of steel, four 12-inch guns, eight 6-inch guns, eight 3.9-inch, sixteen 1.8-inch and about twenty smaller rapid-fire guns. Her speed was estimated at over eighteen knots, and she carried 631 officers and men. The Jena was the flagship of Rear-Admiral Manceron. Captain Vertier was the chief of staff and her commander was Captain Adigard.

CASIMIR-PERIER DIES AT HIS HOME

France Mourns Demise of Ex-President of the Republic Who Succumbs to Embolism of the Heart—Senate Adjourns in Token of Respect—A Brilliant Career.

Paris, March 12.—M. Casimir-Perier, former president of France, died suddenly at 11 o'clock last night, of embolism of the heart. The news was not published until this morning. The former president had not been well for two or three days, but no great importance was attached to his illness. He dined with his family on Sunday and was in good spirits.

At 5 o'clock last night, an abrupt prostration occurred. The patient was given morphine injections, whereupon he slept until ten o'clock, when he was very weak. Another severe attack of prostration followed, from which he did not recover.

The Senate and Chamber of Deputies will adjourn as a sign of mourning.

Jean Paul Casimir-Perier was the son and grandson of statesmen. His father was minister of the interior in 1871 and his grandfather was leader of the opposition when Louis Philippe ascended the throne and afterwards was premier. The ex-president was born November 28, 1847. After a brilliant career as a student of literature and history, he joined the militia of the Aube during the Franco-Prussian war.

In 1874, he was elected to the Chamber of Deputies and re-elected in 1878. After the crisis of May, 1877, he was one of the 363 deputies who refused to pass a vote of confidence in the Broglie ministry. He became under secretary of state at the ministry of public instruction and retained that post until the Faure cabinet went out of office in 1879.

In 1883, M. Casimir-Perier was appointed under secretary of state at the ministry of war, and in 1890 was elected vice-president of the chamber and president of the budget committee. In the summer of 1894, he was elected president of the republic, immediately after the assassination of President Carnot.

Serious differences arose between M. Casimir-Perier and his supporters and eventually, January 15, 1895, he resigned, having held the presidency about six months and a half. It was asserted that his action was condemned by the whole of Europe.

During the Zola trial, it developed that the real reason for Casimir-Perier's resignation was the fact that his cabinet concealed material facts of policy from him so that he nearly found himself in a serious quarrel with Germany, owing to his ignorance of the Dreyfus scandals. It was even said that private documents upon the Dreyfus affair from the German ambassador in Paris to his Emperor, had been abstracted and photographed while upon the way to Berlin and it was added that in order to disassociate himself from such acts and to prevent the possibility of war, Casimir-Perier retired from the presidency and from political life.

ROCKEFELLER SUES ZINC MINE SELLER

Missourian Sells John D.'s Nephew a Highly Salted Hole in the Ground.

St. Louis, March 12.—Frank Rockefeller, John D.'s nephew, took the witness stand today in his suit against Henry Cross for the restitution of $205,000 spent for a zinc mine in Southwest Missouri.

Rockefeller said that he inspected the mine previously to buying. "I went down in a shaft," he said, "and my attention was constantly called to bodies of ore. In the centre room of the mine was a pillar that appeared to be practically solid zinc ore. The walls of the room had the same appearance. The lights carried by the party made it look like one great crystal palace. The floor seemed to be of solid ore."

Rockefeller alleges he was induced through misrepresentations to buy the mine and will endeavor to show that the "Crystal Palace" effects witnessed by him did not faithfully portray the worth of the deposit of ore. He will be paid $200,000 for the mine and $65,000 in improvements.

REBECCAS ENTERTAIN

Whist Tournament Proves Most Attractive to All Participants.

Last evening the Daughters of Rebecca held another of their very entertaining progressive whist parties in the K. of P. hall. Over forty people were present and ten tables were set. The lodge held a short session before the entertainment began. On this account playing was not started until 9 p.m. This necessitated shortening the number of games to seven.

At the conclusion of the games, a very tasty lunch was served by the ladies.

The winners of the first prizes were Mrs. Keith, and Mr. McKeen. Mrs. Keith received a handsome China salad dish, while Mr. McKeen's prize was a silver mounted tobacco jar. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Hadder were the successful though not desirous winners of the booby prizes, which consisted of a sack of marbles and a toy whistle.

Music was dispensed throughout each time and at twelve o'clock the party was brought to a close, and everybody went home thoroughly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

STRIKE WILL CLOSE EVERY COAST MILL

Tie-up From Mexico to British Columbia is Threatened by Industrial Workers.

Portland, March 12.—It was definitely announced by Organizer Yarrow, of the Industrial Workers of the World, who is managing the local millworkers' strike, last night, that unless the demands of the men, 25 cents increase in wages and a nine-hour instead of a ten-hour day, are granted, every mill from the Mexican border to Greenwood, B. C., will close.

"We have surprising strength in all lines," he said, and, so far developments have borne out his statement.

The mill-owners maintain a stubborn refusal to grant any concession. The strike began ten days ago, with a walk-out of a score of chute men in the lumber mills, and spread until every mill in Portland and the majority in the surrounding district have shut down. New York manufacturers cannot find lumber for shipping boxes. Almost the entire building industry of the city will cease unless the strike ends this week. The Tongue Point mill at Astoria has closed. Loggers in the Lower Columbia send representatives to Portland tomorrow, when a cessation of work will be considered. They must soon stop, anyway, unless the mills take their products.

SCHAEFFER IS CHAMPION.

Veteran Billiard Player Wins Brilliant Game From Sutton.

Chicago, March 12.—Jake Schaeffer, of Chicago, won the billiard championship at 18.1 balk line billiards from George Sutton last night, in the thirty-sixth inning. Schaeffer's average was 13 32-36.

It was an uphill fight for Schaeffer as Sutton was in the lead up to the thirty-first inning, in which Schaeffer made a brilliant run of an even 100 points, giving him the lead. Schaeffer's spurt seemed to take all the nerve out of Sutton. Up to this time it looked as if Schaeffer was defeated. Sutton's high run was 51, average 12 16-36, and Schaeffer's average 13 12-36.

Help Arrives.

St. Thomas, arch 12.—A contingent of forty Englishmen has arrived in Aylmer. They were given a reception in the town hall by the Sons of England and assigned to different farmers to help on the farms.

CITIZENS CRITICISE PROPERTY ASSESSMENT

Complaint is Made That Columbia Street is not Paying Enough in Taxes.

A number of prominent citizens of the city have been complaining recently that the assessment of property along Columbia street is much too low, compared with other parts of the city, and there is a probability that a deputation will wait upon the court of revision to complain against this. The property is assessed at a valuation placed upon it several years ago, and while the assessment of the improvements appear to be satisfactory all around, the complaining parties say that the land has increased in value considerably since the assessment was made, and that another assessment should be made at the present valuation of the property.

Not only do the advocates of higher taxation for Columbia street property ask for higher taxes, but they also say that property has been assessed at far too low a figure for several years past, and, in their opinion, it is time for a change. This opinion is not confined to property owners in the residential sections by any means, as a business man who owns a large block on Columbia street expressed the same views yesterday afternoon, when discussing the subject. Whether such a change would meet with the approval of a majority of the merchants remains to be seen.

MAKES NEW RECORD.

Cruiser Scores 20 Hits in 38 Rounds From 3-Pounders.

London, March 12.—A dispatch from Hongkong reports that the British China squadron has achieved a world's record in light quick-firing practice.

The cruiser King Alfred made 20 hits in 38 rounds from 3-pounders and 100 hits in 143 rounds from 12-pounders.

SECRET SERVICE MEN SCENT SLIGHT CLUE

Missing Money May Have Been Loaned to Some Chicago Banking Institution.

Chicago, March 12.—A new feature in the investigation of the sub-treasury robbery is being explored by the federal authorities. It was suggested that a Chicago banking institution needed a large sum to tide over temporary difficulties and is responsible for the disappearance of the $173,000.

The secret service operatives, it became known yesterday, are working on the theory that the money that disappeared from the cage of Assorting Teller George W. Fitzgerald on February 20, was borrowed for a day or two at the instance of a tottering institution by some employee who now fears to restore it.

In pursuance of this theory, the financial status of more than one banking institution in Chicago has been quietly investigated.

DANIELS GOING ABROAD.

Champion Swimmer Anxious to Meet England's Fastest Men.

New York, March 12.—C. M. Daniels, the champion swimmer, is planning a visit to England this summer and expects to meet the world's leading swimmers while there. Daniels is undecided about the length of his stay because of business reasons, but even if his stay is but brief, he will participate in at least two races, one for the 100-yard and the other for the mile championship.

Big Herring Catch.

Nanaimo, March 12.—All the returns but one from the different fishing companies have been made to the local fisheries office. The total catch this year is enormous as compared with other years, the catch this year running over 3,000 tons.

FAITHFUL FEW HOLD FUNERAL SERVICE

Deacons Perform Last Rites Over Body of Deposed Leader of Zion City.

Chicago, March 12.—Funeral services were held last night for John Alexander Dowie by the little band of the faithful who have stood by him while thousands of the one-time restoration host ridiculed and scorned the former ruler.

Refusing to accept conciliatory measures offered by Gladstone Dowie, in the form of a share in the last rites over his father's body, Deacon J. W. Cutter and his six assistant deacons chosen by Dowie, as the ecclesiastical rulers of his church in Zion City, held formal services which they said were the only possible ceremonies under the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church in Zion.

Deacon Cutter had persuaded five of his authorized assistants, Deacons Crawford, Snelling, Chad, Gottschalk, and Brauna, to hold to their original stand. In spite of the drizzling night, his residence was crowded, mourners finding places on stairs and window sills.

HONEST JOHN SPEAKS.

Oliver Acts as Liberal Leader in Absence of Macdonald.

The sitting of the Legislature on Tuesday was wholly devoted to the debating of the speech from the throne.

Owing to the absence of J. A. Macdonald, the Liberal leader, John Oliver acted as leader of the opposition. Premier McBride responding. Mr. Oliver's address, was a model of courtesy and practical criticism of the government.

Premier McBride replied, and a dignified and amicable spirit pervaded the sitting throughout.

Rebuild Cattle Sheds.

The outbuildings at Queen's Park, which were considerably damaged two months ago owing to the large amount of snow which fell for a few days, will be rebuilt by the R. A. and I. society at a cost of about $2500. There had been some discussion as to who should bear the cost of repairing the damage, the city or the R. A. and I. society, but the matter has finally been decided. A call for tenders will be made shortly, with a proviso that the work must be accomplished in good time for this year's exhibition.

MASONVILLE MOB MEETS MILITIA

Angry Citizens Attempt to Lynch Two Bank Robbers—Soldiers Ordered to Shoot.

Manchester, Ia., March 12.—The state militia was called out early today to save from mob violence two bank robbers arrested for blowing up the bank at Masonville, March 6. Sheriff John Hennessy has asked the governor for more aid. Company D is now on guard with instructions to shoot.

The action followed the ousting of the grand jury today, which was declared illegal and which, therefore, cannot indict the men held. Angry citizens formed a mob and are bent on lynching the men.

SEARCH FOR COAL.

Capital Interested in Malcolm Island Will Test Deposits.

E. Hodgson, formerly of Nanaimo, but now making his headquarters in Victoria, has interested capital in a proposition for the taking up of coal lands in Malcolm Island, near the north end of Vancouver Island. Drilling on the claims will begin within a few days.

Malcolm Island, the new area to be invaded in the search for coal, was formerly granted to a company of Finlanders for the purpose of establishing thereon a model colony on Socialistic principles. The company, after expending a considerable sum of money in connection with the work, was broken up as a result of dissensions among themselves.

MORE ROOM.

Seattle Motormen Petition for New Rule Regarding Platforms.

Seattle, March 12.—Motormen in the employ of the Seattle Electric company have begun circulation of a petition to the local street railway corporation asking that a new rule be established keeping all passengers off the forward platforms of the cars at all times. It is said that the petition represents that Motorman McKay who was killed on a Fort Lawton car a few days ago, was utterly unable to properly manage his coach by reason of the fact that twenty of the 120 passengers on the car were wedged about him on the forward platform.

INCREASED WAGES RAISE LUMBER PRICES

Millmen Want More Money Because Workers Command Bigger Pay Than Heretofore.

The highest wages ever paid in the history of the logging industry are now being drawn at the camps and even the incentive of extra pay has failed to draw forth the number of men required to efficiently operate the camps now running and about to commence operations.

Statements in respect to the cost of producing lumber in this province will be submitted to the parliamentary committee charged with the investigation of the reports regarding the alleged combine among the lumber producers. This inquiry will open in Ottawa on March 15, and among the data submitted by the lumbermen will be information regarding amount paid for labor, for logs when bought in the open market and for labor at logging camps operated by mills. Freight rates will also enter largely into the explanation of the millmen to account for the present high prices demanded for lumber.

The wages of all classes of employees at logging camps have increased during the past year and a half. Skidroad men, who were formerly paid $2 to $2.50 are now drawing 50 cents a day more; fellers, who were getting $3 a day, now command from $4 to $4.50; buckers, who used to get $3, now secure from $3.50 to $4; hooktenders, who were content two years ago to work for $4, are now hard to get at $5; rigging slingers are drawing from $4 to $4.50 where they were formerly paid $3.50, and the wages of swampers have been advanced from $2.75 to $3.50. Engineers were formerly paid by the day and they averaged $50 a month and board, but now they draw $80 per month and board, and are paid by the month, so that they lose no pay if they are unable to work on account of adverse weather conditions.

Surrey Centre Notes.

G. A. Boothroyd is building a fine new residence opposite the Surrey Centre postoffice. The house is to be modern in every respect, and will add much to the appearance of the owner's valuable estate.

T. Owen, who resides on the Coast Meridian road, recently refused an offer of $60 an acre for his land. He bought the property two years ago for $20. Other lands in the vicinity have considerably increased in value owing to the fact that the G. N. R. is running a line through that portion of the country, while the advent of the tram line is also a factor in increasing the value of the land.

Another large shipment of fine horses arrived at Cloverdale a few days ago. They will be used in the railway construction work.

H. Macdonald, who recently bought out Mr. Berry's general store at Langley Prairie, was in New Westminster yesterday. Mr. Macdonald is doing a fine business in his store, and is quite satisfied with his location. Previous to buying the store, he held an interest in the Smith & Macdonald general store, and later operated a threshing machine. Mr. Macdonald received a windfall in the shape of a legacy some time ago.

Two Ships Aground.

Baltimore, March 12—The German steamship Pisa and the British steamship Queen Adelaide to-day were reported aground in Chesapeake Bay, both vessels having missed the channel in the heavy snow storm yesterday. They are not believed to be in danger.

same; thence up said South Fork one mile in direct distance with a depth of 60 chains on the South Easterly side and 40 chains on the North Westerly side thereof measured at right angles to the general bearing of said South Fork within the berth, containing an area of 800 acres, more or less.

The berth must be surveyed within one year from the date of the notice awarding the berth.

The regulations under which a license will be issued, also printed forms of tender and envelope, may be obtained at this Department or at the office of the Crown Timber Agent at New Westminster, B. C.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered

Synopsis of Regulations for Disposal of Minerals on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory.

COAL—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 200 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

QUARTZ—Persons of eighteen years and over and joint stock companies holding free miners' certificates may obtain entry for a mining location.

A free miner's certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $5 to $100 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing location notices, one at each end of the line of the lode, or vein.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if located within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $100 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, also copper, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding 160 acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of a royalty of 2 1/2 per cent. of the sales of the products of the location.

PLACER MINING—Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory: Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square, entry fee $5, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan River claims are either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, not exceeding 1000 feet. Where steam power is used claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the Rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged beds or bars of the river below any low water mark, and sub- for first year and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty same as placer mining.

Placer mining in the Yukon Territory—Creek, gulch, river and hill claims shall not exceed 250 feet in length, measured on the base line or general direction of the creek or gulch, the width being from 1000 to 2000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 250 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days if the claim is within ten miles of the mining recorder's office. One extra day allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim of 1000 feet in length, and if the party consists of two, 1500 feet altogether, on the output on which no royalty shall be charged the rest of the party ordinary claims only.

Entry fee $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent. on the value of the gold shipped from the lode to the rights of all persons who have, or who may receive entries for bar diggings or bench claims, except on the Saskatchewan River, where the lessee can dredge to high-water mark on each alternative leasehold.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles but where a person or company has obtained more than one lease one dredge for each fifteen miles or fraction thereof is sufficient. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of two and a half per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Dredging in the Yukon Territory—Six leases of five miles each may be granted to a free miner for a term of 20 years; also renewable.

The lessee shall have one dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from such date. Rental $100 per mile Yukon Territory to be paid to the comptroller.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bar or bars in the river below low water mark, that boundary to be fixed by its position on the 1st day of August in the year of the date of the lease.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river, creek or gulch, but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be abandoned and another obtained on the same creek, gulch or river, by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $200. A certificate that work has been abandoned, and open to occupation and entry by a free miner.

The boundaries of a claim may be defined absolutely by having a survey made and publishing notices in the Yukon Official Gazette.

Petroleum—All unappropriated Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and within the Yukon Territory, are open to prospecting for petroleum, and the minister may reserve for an individual or company having machinery on the land to be prospected, an area of 1920 acres for such period as he may decide, the length of which shall not exceed three times the breadth. Should the prospector discover oil in paying quantities, and satisfactorily establish such discovery, an area not exceeding 640 acres, including the oil well, will be sold to the prospector at the rate of $1 an acre, and the remainder of the tract reserved, namely, 1280 acres, will be sold at the rate of $3 an acre, subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by Order in Council.

W. W. CORY, Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

If you must lie it is better to lie for practice than for profit. Most of us discover we need bread after the wagon has passed. Mothers are wonderfully patient considering there is no prize up. Ever notice that when people owe you they quit speaking to you? A boy and his mother never agree as to the age when a boy should change from short to long pants. A man looks in a parlor for a wife and when he finds her demands that she be more at home in the kitchen. When a baby gives a shrill cry every one in the house runs to it, and when it keeps it up every one runs from it except its mother. When you run yourself down and your listeners say nothing it is a sign they agree with you. If they stand up for you it is a sign they are being polite.—Athenian Globe.

Just Like Chess. Hubby—it becomes very trying, my dear. You're always saying check, check, check! I feel as if life were a long game of chess. Wife—Well, Edward, if you don't give me something I shall have to pawn, pawn, pawn and it would still seem like a game of chess, wouldn't it?—Ally Sloper.

Sarcasm. "That's my best work," said the poet after reading the verses to Crittick "I'm thinking of having it copyrighted." "Copyrighted?" said Crittick. "If I were you I'd have it patented."—San Francisco Call.

A Curious Epitaph. One frequently comes across curious epitaphs, but we have never before heard of that useful and necessary kitchen requisite, the "dripping pan," figuring on a tombstone. The following curious lines, however, are to be found in Woodliff churchyard, near Newmarket, and let into the head of the stone is a dripping pan: To the Memory of William Simonds, who died March 1, 1753. Aged eighty years. Here lies my corpse who was the man That loved a sop in dripping pan But now believe me I am dead See here the pan stands at my head Still for sop to the last I died But could not eat and so I cried My neighbors they perhaps may laugh Now they do read my epitaph.

Stuttering Women Source. "Women who stutter are very scarce," remarked a physician. "I think it is safe to say that the average person passes through life without ever meeting a stuttering woman. There are two reasons for this. First, woman naturally—I don't know why—is less liable to the disease of stuttering than man. Second, if she develops this disease she sets out with the determination to cure herself, and she succeeds. Whereas

APPEALING TO PREJUDICE.

So anxious is the Columbian to manufacture all the political capital possible out of the fishery regulations matter, that the propriety of leaving something be said after the delegation shall have returned and reported, does not seem to have suggested itself. Instead, after more than covering the ground from its erratic and biased point of view, on the text furnished by the brief and fragmentary telegraphic reports from Ottawa, the Columbian, without furnishing its readers with another line of information on the subject, keeps hammering away editorially in the manifest effort to so prejudice the public mind in advance that a fair consideration of the question when all the facts are before it shall, if possible, be prevented.

The News purposely refrains from exhaustively discussing the question at this stage, holding that the proper and decent time for a thorough and exhaustive discussion is when we shall have had in the very near future, a full report from our delegation to Ottawa. Not so, the Columbian, however, it is not a bit modest about prejudicing the whole case before it has fairly heard either side, and does not hesitate to denounce the Dominion government and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and stigmatize the delegation, all of whom are respected citizens and one of whom is a representative working fisherman, as virtual traitors to their trust.

Does the Columbian conveniently forget that the cannery combine had behind its demands the majority report of the Dominion Fisheries Commission? and that behind the Fisheries Commission again, was the repeated official recommendation of the McBride Government's Provincial Fishery Commissioner, who has been openly working for years, with the evident sanction of his employers, in favor of traps, and against the river fishing. The wonder is that, with all the forces arrayed on the side of the cannery combine, we did not come out the small end of the horn, instead of getting, as it appears, by far the best of the bargain.

AN UNPLEASANT AFFAIR.

A case, recently ventilated in the English courts, furnishes some unpleasant glimpses of social conditions in the old land. In this case in some ingenious way a gentleman was induced to give twenty-five thousand dollars for a patriotic purpose, his patriotism being worked upon with the idea that knighthood would follow. Personally this gentleman did not appear in the suit. The plaintiff was the agent who negotiated the matter. The case for the plaintiff was that the defendant had asked him—defendant being then colonel of the King's Colonials—if he could find a man who would make a donation of £5,000 to the funds of the corps. The plaintiff said that he thought he could, but stipulated that he should get 5 per cent. commission. On the conditions agreed upon, the plaintiff mentioned the matter to a Mr. C. R. A. Edmonds, a solicitor, of Great James street, who had told him that Mr. James Horlick would probably make the required donation, and this sum was subsequently paid, a knighthood or a baronetcy having, it was said, been held out as an inducement for a donation.

Colonel Wallace, the defendant, denied having promised any commission, or offered knighthood as an inducement, but admitted that he had said he would put the name before the colonel of the regiment, the Prince of Wales. A gentleman might pay for an introduction, which might lead to some high recognition.

The Lord Chief Justice, in summing up, said that unpleasant incidents had been introduced into the course of the case as to the inducement of ferred to Mr. Horlick to be generous with his money, and one could not help regretting that a gentleman in the high position of Colonel Wallace, an officer of great reputation, should have mixed himself up in a transaction when he knew something had passed between Edmonds and Horlick which would induce the latter to pay the former £5,000. Of course that did not touch the question in the case whether defendant had promised plaintiff in certain circumstances to pay him a commission, but it was a matter that the jury as citizens would regret—this idea of trafficking in honors, which were intended and only given as a reward for meritorious services.

Commenting upon this disagreeable intimation of the methods by which titles are obtained, in other words the "trafficking in honors," the St. John Globe suggests: "But, perhaps, one ought not to be too severe in his judgement in a matter of this kind. Services to the state may be rendered in various ways. One man gives time, talent, knowledge, understanding, to work which develops wealth, power, education or whatever it may be for the good of the organized community. Another man gives money for the same or similar purposes. The gift may differ in its nature. Does the difference in the nature affect the spirit or the motive of the giver? Men will probably answer the question according to their feelings or their sentiments."

To us, however, the most serious aspect of the matter is that the Chief Justice seems to have been imprisoned only with the attempted purchase of the title. That commissions have been paid on charitable donations has been well known. That the deplorable custom is so well established as to pass without judicial censure is a revelation. It suggests the wide spread existence of a social graft of the meanest kind.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE.

Most Highly Prized of the Surviving Orders of Chivalry.

Of all the orders of mediaeval chivalry which have survived the shock of successive revolutions on the continent of Europe since the great cataclysm of 1789, that of the Golden Fleece is perhaps the most distinguished and the most highly coveted by personages of royal birth or of illustrious patrician lineage.

The badge of the order is the figure of a sheep in embossed gold suspended from a heavy chain of gold. The full robes consist of a long mantle of crimson velvet, cut in the fashion of a sacerdotal cope, richly embroidered at the borders with emblematic devices of stars, half moons and fleeces in gold and lined with white satin, over a doublet and hose of crimson damask. The full robes also comprise a "chaperon," or hood, with a long flowing streamer of black satin, but this headgear has in modern times been generally dispensed with.

Originally the robes of the order, which was founded in 1429 by Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, were of crimson cloth lined with white lamb's wool, and this circumstance has somewhat strengthened the theory that the golden fleece was instituted by Philip the Good in grateful recognition of the immense treasures which the Duke of Burgundy had acquired from the wool of the flocks reared on his vast estates in Flanders. Be it as it may, the woollen costume was changed in 1473 at a chapter held at Valenciennes for the more costly materials of velvet, taffeta, damask and gold embroidery.—London Telegraph.

SINGULAR CUSTOMS.

Bulgarian Ceremonies That Come From Pagan Rites.

The people of Varna, on the coast of the Black sea, in Bulgaria, have a singular custom which they observe at the feast of the Epiphany, which takes place on Jan. 6. The clergy, both Greeks and Bulgarians, accompanied by an immense crowd, go to the seashore, carrying with them a wooden cross. The cross is thrown by the clergy into the sea, and thereupon the strongest swimmers jump in after it. The best swimmer gets it, of course, and brings it in triumph to shore.

The Varna people have a still more singular salt water custom on the same day. After dark at night all the newly married men in the town are conducted, with bands of music and singing, to the shore and made to take three successive plunges into the icy water. They are then conducted home, where their brides, accompanied by their relatives and friends, have been awaiting them in state. After this there is feasting and merry making. These singular customs are believed to have a Pagan origin.

One of the most interesting places in New York to study human nature is at a counter in a photographer's shop where the customers come to get amateur photographs they have had developed and printed. The anxiety they display to get the products of their

"snots" would seem to be out of all proportion to the results, when you catch a glimpse of them, and their disappointment if the prints are not ready is almost as keen, apparently, as if some important business transaction had fallen through. And when they do get the prints their faces are even more interesting. The satisfaction of these amateur photographers over a set of fairly good pictures is absolutely idiotic, and their dismay at a lot of failures is tragic. The frankness of these exhibitions is not the least interesting phase of the whole thing.—New York Press.

Firing a Distress Signal.

When a ship does not carry a cannon or mortar with which she can fire distress signals, a metal socket on the bridge or poop rail is used for that purpose. Into the socket a detonating rocket is placed, and inside this is a firing tube. A lanyard is hooked on to the tube, and a man, by giving the lanyard a sharp jerk, explodes the rocket. It contains a high explosive and on leaving the rail gives a loud report and another on reaching its highest altitude. Both reports are as loud as the report of a twelve pounder cannon. The socket is slipped in the rail at an angle to prevent the rocket touching the rigging.

A Spoiled Sermon.

A clergyman was unexpectedly called upon to preach before the students of a well known college. He chose a sermon from his "barrel" and without reading it went to the college chapel. He got on splendidly until near the close, when he amazed the boys with his peroration, beginning, "And now a word in conclusion to you who are mothers."

Several Dialects.

McCall—What sort of hybrid creature is that new butler of yours? Nutt—Why, how do you mean? McCall—I called to see you the other day, and when I asked him what time I might catch you at home he said, "At half pawst tin, sah."—Philadelphia Press.

Quite Regular.

"The last time I saw Gayley he wasn't very—er—regular in his habits." "Oh, he's very regular now." "Well, well, I didn't think he'd ever reform." "He hasn't. His habits are all bad now."—Philadelphia Ledger.

See what thy soul doth wear. Dare to look into thy chest, for 'tis thine own, and tumble up and down what thou findest there.—Wordsworth.

Discolored Marble.

To remove discolorations from marble topped tables, bureaus and the like, coat with a paste made from sodium carbonate, two parts; pumice stone, one part; powdered chalk, one part. Mix with water and apply.

Messrs. Davis, Gurney and Bildeau will contribute melody to the Irish concert on St. Patrick's Day.

Everybody come to the annual meeting of the Lacrosse Club, City Hall, Wednesday, March 13 at 8 p.m.

The annual meeting of the New Westminister Lacrosse club will be held this evening in the council chamber. Important business will be transacted.

The monthly meeting of the board of trade will be held this evening. Several committee reports will be brought in, as well as the secretary's report for the past year.

A fraternal visit was paid to the King Solomon Lodge A. F. and A. M. by the Southern Cross Lodge, of Vancouver yesterday evening. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all.

The pastor of the Queen's Avenue Methodist church, Rev. W. H. Barraclough, assisted by Vancouver and city ministers, will hold special services for two weeks, commencing Sunday.

The young son of Andrew Ramsey, who was slightly injured by falling out of an express wagon Monday evening, is progressing favorably. No bones are broken, and he will soon be running around again.

For a nice bunch of Violets or Carnations, telephone T. Davies & Son, Florists, Tel. B208.

It is possible that the Westminister Intermediates in the association football league will represent the Mainland in the Provincial championship series against Vancouver Island champions. The winners will be presented with a cup and caps. Professor Davidson will referee the matches.

His Worship Mayor Keary will render "Father O'Flynn," and Mr. Roach will recite "Shannon Bells" at the entertainment on March 18.

L. A. Lewis, of New Westminister; and R. H. Alexander, Ald. Heaps, and J. Emerson of Vancouver, left yesterday afternoon for Ottawa, where they will appear before the Government commission to investigate an alleged lumber combine. The commission will commence its sitting on March 20.

The Westminister Gun club will meet in the board of trade room, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The affairs of the club are in a flourishing condition, and a good attendance is expected as arrangements for the Good Friday shoot and other events of the ensuing season will be completed.

The vacancy in the Crown Timber office caused through the sad death of A. M. Malins has been filled by E. Walmsley, for many years a guard at the penitentiary. Mr. Walmsley, of whom the officers of the institution speak in the highest praise, is receiving congratulations on all sides on his appointment.

As an indication of the recent rise in the value of the land in and around Cloverdale, a transaction recently made by the Macuban brothers may be instanced. These gentlemen bought a large tract of land a short time ago for $20 an acre, and sold again a few days ago for $15 an acre. The property lies west of the W. E. Lakin mill.

Mayor Gillette, of Nelson, and Mayor Bell, of Enderby, were in the city yesterday, and called upon Mayor Keary. They made a number of inquiries into the general management of the city, and expressed themselves as being satisfied with the appearance of New Westminister. Regretting that their time was limited, the two gentlemen left again during the afternoon.

Miss Weart will sing "Killarney," and Miss Lewis will render "Tipperary," at the St. Patrick's Day concert.

A new three storey brick building will replace J. M. Kenny's restaurant in the near future. Mr. Kenny has come to the conclusion that his present quarters are too cramped, and an architect has been secured to prepare plans and estimates. Work will be commenced on the new structure as soon as a contractor can be secured.

The County Court which had been adjourned from last Tuesday until yesterday, was convened for the morning, but at the last moment, His Honour Judge Lampman, of Victoria, who was to take same in the absence of the Hon. W. Norman Bole, at Chilliwack, telegraphed that it was impossible for him to be present owing to an unfinished criminal trial. J. J. Cambridge, the District Registrar, adjourned the sitting for one week.

George Hall, while endeavoring to corner the "booze" market Monday night, was prevailed upon by Officers Johnston and McDonald to accompany them to the lock-up. The magistrate yesterday morning, decided that Mr. Hall was doing very well in his present quarters, and gave him another day with Jailer McInnes to recover from the effects of his "jag," and incidentally to reflect on the error of his ways. Another sinner contributed the usual $2.50 and costs.

Mrs. J. H. Diamond will sing that typical Irish song "The Kerry Dance," at the Irishman's concert.

The four masted barque Chelmsford was towed from the Fraser River Saw Mills yesterday morning by the tug Flier, and moored in mid stream opposite the centre of the city, where it has been a great attraction to the residents. The beautiful symmetry of the vessel is being greatly admired. A model of the Chelmsford took the gold medal at the last Glasgow Exhibition for beauty of design. Captain Watt still requires four sailors to complete his crew, but expects to be able to get away by Thursday.

Lee Chee Sun, a Chinaman who came down the river some time ago and has been confined in the Chinese hospital, suddenly went out of his mind on Monday evening, and proceeded to make things lively. He was committed before Magistrate Pittendrigh yesterday morning, and was removed to the asylum by Acting Chief Bradshaw, and Officer McDonald. All the way up the Celestian regaled the officers with a choice flow of Oriental rhetoric. Another Chink was escorted over from Vancouver yesterday, headed "alleged samee" for the asylum.

Scotchmen are invited to hear Mr. Cameron, of Darcy's orchestra, play Irish melodies, and see Messrs. Mortimer and Henderson dance a jig next Monday.

"Suicide while temporarily insane" was the verdict rendered by the jury selected to inquire into the circumstances attending the death of John Bromstead, the Norwegian who was found dead in a ravine behind the penitentiary on Saturday afternoon. Everything pointed to the man having committed the rash deed while in a state of unsound mind, and the jury returned a verdict accordingly. Some of the employees of Hieland's lumber camp attended the inquest, and informed the jury that the man had been acting strangely when last seen. The man was last seen alive on Friday evening, and it is surmised that he committed suicide during the night.

Clever Musical Comedy.

"My Wife's Family" was put on last night at the opera house and proved to be one of the funniest musical farces that has been seen in New Westminister. From the rise of the curtain to the drop, the audience were kept in convulsions of laughter, and the more ridiculous the scenes the greater the merriment. The farce centres round the various mistakes made by the mother-in-law when on a visit to her newly married daughter, and what with babies, mistaken wives and second husbands, the bewilderment is great. Several turns of the vaudeville description are worked in during the play, giving scope to some excellent dancing by Miss Maude Mason and B. Field, who respectively acted the parts of "My Wife's Sister" and "My Wife's Brother," while Ed. Perry as "My Wife's Physician" proved himself to be a humorist of considerable ability, contributing not a little to the success of the evening. Songs were also sung by Miss Dorothy Vaughan, who received a well merited encore, and Frank Appleton the much abused husband, while Marie del Vecchio, as Arabella Nagg fully proved herself entitled to the name she bore in the play.

Light and Heavy Hauling

REVELED IN PERFUMES.

The Ancients Indulged in Them to an Extravagant Degree.

The use of perfume was indulged in to such an extravagant degree by the ancients that some of the more ascetic men had good reason to denounce it. Solon issued an edict prohibiting its sale in Athens. Julius Caesar and Lucius, who were Roman consuls in 565, published a law forbidding the sale of exotics in that city, and by the laws of Lycurgus perfumers were expelled from Sparta as being wasteful of oil and encouragers of sensuousness. Clearchus wrote against the excessive use of unguents, and Socrates declaimed against them in strong terms, preferring, he said, "the smell of healthy toil and the perfume of a good and manly life." It was customary at festivals to pass round to the guests perfumes served in alabaster boxes and vessels of gold. At one of these feasts Cynulcus, who loved to deride the youth for the use of perfumes, was made a butt for their ridicule. Some mischievous youth anointed the cynic with much ointment, pouring it lavishly over his head and face. When he awoke he exclaimed in an angry voice: "What is this? Oh, Hercules, will not some one come with a sponge and wipe my face, which is thus polluted with a lot of dirt?"

At the Syrian banquets it was usual for the slaves to come in with bladders full of Babylonian perfumes and bedew the garlands and walls and hangings and fill the halls with delicious fragrance. In some of the more modern feasts statues and ornaments were provided with jets which threw out diluted essences and attars.—London Society.

TABLE NAPKINS.

They Came into General Use in the Fifteenth Century.

Curiously enough, that article, now considered almost indispensable, the table napkin, was first used only by children and was only adopted by elder members of the family about the middle of the fifteenth century. In etiquette books of an earlier date than this among other sage pieces of advice for children are instructions about wiping their fingers and lips with their napkins.
It seems that the tablecloth was long enough to reach the floor and served the grown people in place of napkins. When they did begin to use napkins they placed them first on the shoulder, then on the left arm and finally tied them about the neck. A French writer who evidently was conservative and did not welcome the napkin kindly records with scorn:

"The napkin is placed under the chin and fastened in the back, as if one were going to be shaved. A person told me that he wore his that way that he might not soil his beautiful frills."
It was a difficult matter to tie the two corners in the back, and it is said that thence originated our expression for straitened circumstances, "Hard to make both ends meet." This custom led to the habit of table waiters carrying a napkin on the left arm.

Tennyson's Astronomy.

In Tennyson's "Palace of Art" occur the lines:

She saw the snowy poles and moons of Mars,
That mystic field of drifted light
In mid Orion, and the married stars.

This at first looks like a literary parallel to Swift's well known fortuitous forecast of the discovery of the Martian satellites, and J. S. Stevenson, writing from Blairavon, Norwood, Ceylon, points out that Professor H. H. Turner quotes it in "Modern Astronomy" as having been written in 1835. This, however, appears not to have been the case, for Mr. Stevenson on reference to the biography of the late poet laureate by the present Lord Tennyson has found the note: "The 'Moons of Mars' is the only modern reading here. All the rest are more than half a century old." Scientific discovery was thus not anticipated by Tennyson in the mention of Martian satellites.—Nature.

In Good Season.

In a place in New Jersey the town officers had just put some fire extinguishers in their big buildings. One day one of the buildings caught fire, says the Philadelphia Ledger, and the extinguishers failed to do their work.

A few days later at the town meeting some citizens tried to learn the reason.

After they had freely discussed the subject one of them said, "Mr. Chairman, I make a motion that the fire extinguishers be examined ten days before every fire."

Napoleon's Tomb.

The windows in the Chapel of the Invalides in Paris, where the great Napoleon lies buried, are of a singularly translucent amber glass. When the sun shines full upon them the rays are transmuted into gold, and they fall like a ladder of light upon the bronze sarcophagus of the conqueror until he seems glorified from the skies.

The Purse.

The invention of the purse was doubtless contemporaneous with that of money. The purse is mentioned in Old Testament history as a part of a traveler's outfit. When the disciples spoken of in the gospels, were sent forth to preach they were commanded to take neither gold nor silver nor brass in their purses.

Popular.

"He's a popular poet."
"Dear me! Why, I thought he hadn't written anything for years!"
"He hasn't; that's why he's so popular."

A WEST POINT STORY

ODD INCIDENT THAT MADE GENERAL BUELL BREAK A RECORD.

A Flagrant Breach of Discipline That Was Grotesque Enough to Make the General Who Never Laughed Roar in Spite of His Grimaces.

General Buell, whose timely arrival at Shiloh, some military critics hold, saved General Grant from defeat, was known in the old army as "the man who can't laugh." General Buell was not grave merely; he was grim. Yet two yearling cadets at West Point made General Buell break a record.

It was hot on the plateau above the waters of the Hudson, hotter than the cheek of a fieldpiece that has been in action, so hot that the leaves on the elm tree shriveled and the feet of the pacing sentries burned from contact with the only paved path on the government reservation.

The plebes had reported and were quartered in two divisions of barracks, the upper class men having been turned out to share quarters with their comrades in the other divisions.

The June examinations were on. The board of visitors, of which General Buell was a member, had paid its perfunctory visits to mess hall, to academic building and to barracks. It was 10 o'clock in the morning. Two cadets had been thrown by fate and by the arrival of the plebes into the same room of the fifth division of barracks. The thermometer in the shade of the guardhouse registered 99 degrees. In the room in which the two cadets were quartered doubtless it stood 10 degrees higher.

There had been one morning inspection of quarters by an army officer, and the two yearlings, gasping for breath in a room into which the sun beat with no regard for cadet feelings, had every reason to believe that there would be no further inspections that morning. They had stood the ordeal of the examining board at 9 o'clock, and, with no studies in hand, they thought they were safe until the first call for dinner.

By the law of the academy every cadet in quarters was to be in full dress uniform until 11 o'clock. He was not allowed to smoke. His bedding was to be neatly piled at the head of his bunk. In other words, the cadet room and the cadet's person were to be properly ordered and properly arrayed for inspection.

"It's hot," said the cadet who was to become an artillery officer.

"It's hotter than that," said his comrade.

"Let's strip," said the one.

"Done," said the other.

And forthwith they stripped. Then the mattresses were pulled from the bunks and thrown under the window, through which occasionally came a whiff of breeze, grateful though heat laden.

"I'd like to smoke," said the future artilleryman as he threw himself on one of the mattresses.

"I'm going to smoke," said his comrade.

And instant pipes were lighted, and the room began filling with fragrant blue fog.

There was a clink of a sword heard in the hallway. Its sound brought consternation. An inspection was on. Before the two yearlings had time to think there was a rap, and the door was thrown open, and in came, not the ordinary second lieutenant inspecting officer, but Lieutenant Colonel Henry M. Lazelle, commandant of cadets, and Major General Don Carlos Buell, United States army.

Discipline strikes in. The two culprit cadets sprang to attention instantly, heels together, arms hanging naturally and the little fingers where the seams of the trousers would have been if they'd had any trousers on.

The future artilleryman was clothed in one sock, and in this attire he was one sock the better of his comrade.

They stood there rigid. The position of a soldier was never better maintained. Commandant Lazelle turned purple with rage at this graceless breach of discipline actually paraded before a major general of the United States army and a member of the board of visitors.

The cadet who one day was to command a battery had dropped his pipe. The hot bowl touched his great toe, and the burning was too much for even a soldier's stolidity, and he emitted a very boylike "Ouch!"

General Don Carlos Buell took in the spectacle and all the glorious humor of the situation. His grimness was not proof against such a sight as this. He leaned back against a table and roared, and not even the wrath in the commandant's face could check his roaring.

"Come, general," said the commandant; "let us go. I shall report these young men for three flagrant violations of the rules of the academy."

General Buell looked at the guilty ones and roared again. The commandant led the way out of the room, but the culprits heard the laugh of Buell all the way through the hall, across the area of barracks, until finally it came as a sort of chuckling echo from the office of the guardhouse.

The culprits were confronted with the probability of about three months' confinement to quarters and about fifty tours of extra guard duty as a result of their disregard for discipline. They were in the depths for twenty-four hours, and then the list of the day's delinquents was read, and, lo, their names did not appear!

General Don Carlos Buell had had the laugh of his lifetime, and because of the joy of it he had asked the commandant to spare the offenders.—Chicago Post.

THE ARAB.

An Artist in Manners is This Son of the Orient.

In all matters of sentiment the Arab's instinct is sure. If you can appeal to him on any ground of hospitality or generosity, says the author of "In the Desert," you have a hold on him.

It used to be the boast of Arab poetry in its best days that it "never praised a man except for what was in him," and the habit of judging directly and without regard to surroundings has always been an instinct of the race. All those evidences of worldly prosperity and success which turn the heart of the Anglo-Saxon to water leave the Arab unmoved.

The Arab is an artist in manners. I remember a certain sheik, who was once my traveling companion on the Upper Nile, a tall, lean, keen faced man, of a complexion almost black, with a glitter on it like the sun polish on desert stones, who walked among the fellows on the crowded deck like a chief among his slaves.

With him I shared the same narrow corner of the deck. He was strict in his religious observances and at the appointed hours would spread his mat on the deck, turn in the supposed direction of Mecca and then kneel and rise and kneel again, bowing with his forehead to the ground in the imposing attitudes of Moslem prayer.

Quick at detecting the least sign of consideration or respect, if we stopped talking or moved to make room, he would treasure up the courtesy and when his prayers were over turn and acknowledge it with a grave gesture and a smile that seemed no conventional grimace, but expressed the intention of a deliberate friendliness.

PALISADES FORMATION.

Allied in Time and Type to Mount Holyoke and Cape Blomidon.

The complete height of the cliff was much higher, originally, for the glacier that buried North America down to this latitude eroded billions of tons which went to the upbuilding of Long Island, trap bowlders being common in the soil of Brooklyn, and I have found on the top of the Palisades opposite Spuyten Duyvil glacial groovings and polishings that have survived the pre-emptive 15,000 years since the glacier melted. The outpour of this mass from a volcano whose crater we cannot so much as guess in this day was tremendous, and it cut the Hudson and Hackensack valleys asunder and pushed the harbor several miles to the southward, while related activities thrust above the surface, either as downpours or uppours, the thousand miles of basaltic hills that chain the Carolinas to the Bay of Fundy, so that our Palisades are allied in form and time to Mount Holyoke and Cape Blomidon.

To the mineralogist our Palisades do not yield as much of interest as we find in the rotting trap of Paterson, a few miles away, from which have been taken the largest prehnites in the world, sea green and wonderful; royal amethysts, balls of silky pectolite and quartz pseudomorphs that copy them; but we find in these cliffs occasional duplicates of the columns that make the Giant's causeway and Fingal's cave—geometric shapes of three, four, five, six and more sides, not a result of crystallization, as was once imagined for trap is a rock, not a mineral, but of lateral shrinking when it has cooled.—Charles M. Skinner in Century.

No Pure Gold in Use.

"Gold when refined from all impurities," said a jeweler, "and alloys of inferior metals is denominated pure. This means gold of twenty-four carats, and this is the standard recognized by the mint master and dealers in gold. As a matter of fact, however, there is no gold so pure. Gold of twenty-two carats is about as pure as it can be got. It has two parts of silver or one part of silver and one part of copper. The copper darkens the color of gold, while silver lightens it in color. Twenty-three carat gold is occasionally seen, which means a half carat of silver and of copper. Ordinarily eighteen carat gold is the best gold than can be had. Certainly it is the best for jewelry, for pure gold, as it is called, is too soft and will wear away much faster than the owners of it desire.

Stoves.

Stoves which concealed the fire were in use in Greek and Roman household. The ancients also employed open tubes of metal or earthenware and, in addition, heated their rooms with charcoal braziers. Grates for the burning of coal were employed two centuries ago in Great Britain. Many thousands of patents have been taken out upon stoves and ranges since Franklin and Count Rumford pointed out the waste of fuel and of heat involved in open fireplaces.

The Two Lady Motorists.

The two great motors were pulled up in front of one of the big dry goods stores. One lady was entering her machine; the other was getting out. "Hello, Gladys! Out for a spin?" "Yes; glad to see you." "Just run across your husband a block above." "You did?—How can I ever thank you enough?"—New York Press.

The Effect.

"Mathilde, throw that poor beggar a crown." "Ah, yes, he looks very unhappy." "Not on that account, but the Meyers are watching us from their window opposite."—Wiener Salonwitzblatt.

A house is never perfectly furnished for enjoyment unless there is a child in it rising three years old and a kitten rising six weeks.—Southern.

FALLING OF THE LEAVES.

The Wind in the Autumn Really Has Very Little to Do With It.

When the storm clouds gather behind the brown autumnal woods and cold winds begin to blow, then the bright leaves come drifting down in fluttering, fast thickening showers until it almost seems as if the wind were the active agent and actually tore the leaves from the trees. This, of course, is not the case. The leaf fall only becomes possible after a long preparation on the part of the tree, which forms a peculiar layer of cells in each leaf stem called the cleavage plate.

This cleavage plate, or separation layer, consists of a section of loosely attached thin walled cells with a few strands of stronger woody fiber in among them, so, in the early autumn, although the leaves appear as firmly attached as ever before, they are really only held on the tree by these few woody strands and the outer brittle skin or epidermis of the stem. Now only a slight shock or wind flurry is sufficient to break the fragile support and bring the leaves in showers to the ground. We may see these woody strands broken through in the leaf scar of the horse chestnut, where they appear as little rounded projections on the broken surface and are often spoken of from their fancied resemblance to the nails of a horseshoe. The black-ory and ash among other trees have similar markings on their leaf scars and from the same cause. On the root of the wild sarsaparilla, which projects just above the ground, a like series of little projections will be seen upon the likeliest scar which surrounds the bud where the leaf stalk has just separated.

Often the leaves separate and fall even on the quietest days, for their own weight is sufficient to break this frail support. These hushed and supremely tranquil days we all remember, when our October walks are accompanied by the soft, small sounds of falling leaves, by the rustlings and dry whispings of their showering multitudes.—St. Nicholas.

SLEEP AND NERVE REST.

A Necessity That is Overlooked in the Modern Strenuous Life.

In the days when eight hours for sleep were nominally regarded as an hour too long for any self respecting individual the exhausting character of modern life was unknown. There was less wealth and more contentment; less competition and more security; fewer distractions, but more simplicity. Work was easier, slower, and care, anxiety, apprehension—in a word, worry—did not feed, like the worm in the bud, upon the hours exempt from toil. We are remorseless in overtaking the delicate mechanism of our minds and nerves. The best walker, for instance, does not propose to himself to go regularly sixty miles a day or to subject the same set of muscles in any other form of physical exercise to intense and unremitting labor. But that is what we do with the immediate agents of our minds—the brain machine. We cannot watch its operations. We often assume that its movements are as light and endless as the ripples of the universal air. We know and nevertheless forget that the brain is a substantial apparatus as liable to depreciation as the fixed plant in a workshop. Now, nothing is more certain than this—that the potential capacity of the human brain has not increased, if at all, in anything like the proportion of the immensely aggravated demand upon it.

The Modern Man is Subject to as much mental and moral wear and tear in a day as his ancestors in no very remote generation experienced in a week.

Yet in respect of sleep we have hardly changed traditional habit. We keep later and still later hours. We catch our trains in the morning as usual. There is no doubt whatever that we burn the candle at both ends with unprecedented disregard of the laws of psychological economy, and that the amount of rest we allow for nerve and brain is no longer adequate.—London Telegraph.

A Fast Train.

On the Riviera line near Ventimiglia, Italy, the train, after ambling gently along, stopped suddenly. An impatient passenger put his head out and asked crustily, "Is this Bordighera?" No answer. "Guard, is this Bordighera?" he shouted again. A voice came from the fore part of the train, "No, monsieur, it is not Bordighera—it is a cow." When the cow had been removed from the line the train ambled on again. Two minutes later it once more came to a dead stop. "Another cow, I suppose?" shouted the testy passenger witheringly. "No, monsieur, it is not," said the guard placidly. "It is the same cow."

A Costly Desk.

There is a famous old desk in the British war office in London. It is a desk to which old hands point with emotion. That desk cost the nation $25,000,000. In it is a pigeonhole with a story. It was into that pigeonhole that the dispatch of King Theodore of Abyssinia was thrust—and forgotten. After we had been to war the document was found in the desk, and we all learned that there ought to have been no war.—London Sketch.

The Stag.

"I hear your firm discharged you." "Yes, but I wouldn't mind that so much if they hadn't added insult to injury." "How?" "They advertised for a boy to fill my place."

Sheridan fell in love with Miss Linley and told the story of "The Rivals," which is a true account of his courtship.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Matter intended for this column should be addressed to Social Editor, Daily News, P.O. Box 402, New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. DeWolf Smith left for Victoria yesterday morning. They expect to return home about Friday.

E. Jones, who has been clerking at the Guichon hotel for the past few months, left yesterday for Vancouver where he has secured an interest in a restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lewis left yesterday for Ottawa, having gone to Vancouver the day previous on business. They will be away about a month.

Mrs. Harry Freeman left yesterday over the C. P. R. for Arthabasca, Quebec, where she will visit her son.

D. MacGowan, hull inspector of the C. P. R. steamboats, was in the city yesterday morning, looking after the various boats at the C. P. R. wharf.

L. W. DePain, advance agent for the "Missouri Girl," theatrical company, arrived in the city yesterday, and proceeded to duly advertise the show.

The Rev. W. H. Barraclough, who has been preaching in Victoria in the interests of the Columbian College, has returned to his home.

Happyland.

"A Trip to Happyland" seats are selling extremely well, the sale which opened at Ryall's yesterday morning indicating a packed house on both Thursday and Friday nights. The lower floor sells at $1.00 back to N. balance 75c. The balcony is 50c, 75c, $1.00, and gallery 25c.

Everything is moving along splendidly toward an unusually clever, successful show. Mr. Evans declares that as with "Cupid in Posterland," he lays absolutely no claims to dramatic consistency, or any ordinary stage or playwright's rules, but is presented merely a hodge-podge of nonsense, happily strung together with a big lot of musical numbers and specialties.

Hotel Guests.

Guichon—W. N. Gowan, Dorothy Vaughan, S. Symington, New York; D. M. McFarlane, H. B. King, Vancouver; R. Lee, Edmonton; F. C. Hopkins, M. Wagner, D. A. Woodward, M. Gallon, Vancouver; W. Batcheller, Spokane; M. J. David, M. E. David, Millside.
