GUGGENHEIMS WILL SPEND MANY MILLIONS

Construction of Alaskan Railway Mears a Large Expenditure of Money.

Seattle, Nov. 8.—Twenty-five million dollars is a conservative estimate of the expenditures planned by the Guggenheim interests in connection with the construction of the Copper River & Northwestern railway, in Alaska, which will be built by M. J. Heney, the man who built the White Pass & Yukon railway. It is the biggest contract ever made in connection with the development of Alaska.

Mr. Heney's contract was signed in New York was in the midst of the financial flurry caused by Wall street recklessness. The signing of the contract indicates the confidence of the promoters of the projected railway have in their extensive property holdings in Alaska, and the fact that they are well satisfied with the financial situation throughout the country today.

At the office of Mr. Heney, in the Colman block, arrangements are being rushed for the shipment of men and supplies on the Yucatan to Cordova tomorrow. Mr. Heney stated yesterday that he was planning to go with the men and personally superintend the organization of his force, preliminary to beginning construction work on the line.

He will begin his operations at Cordova, the new Western terminus of the road. The Yucatan will carry the first of the laborers and other employees engaged by Mr. Heney.

The road will use the grade of the old Copper River railway, projected and partly built by Mr. Heney. There are six miles of track eastward from Cordova toward the Copper river, and a large part of the grade has been built. The distance from Cordova to the point on the river where a bridge will be built is forty-two miles. The first twenty miles of the road will be pushed to completion regardless of all.

One of the most important of the engineering problems on the proposed line from the coal regions east of Cordova to Cordova is the building of a great bridge across the Conner river. The line as projected by Mr. Heney called for a bridge to avoid crossing a glacier, which empties its ice into the stream.

DANCING MUCH ENJOYED BY MANY YOUNG COUPLES

The Women's auxiliary ball in aid of the Royal Columbian hospital, which was given last evening in St. George's hall, was a complete success in every particular, a fact which was due almost entirely to the energetic manner in which the promoters and the various committees entered into the work. The attendance was large, the floor in excellent condition, the music pleasing and the refreshments dainty. About seventy-five couples enjoyed the evening's program of waltzes, two steps, three steps, lancers, etc. Mayor Keary, who was present, chose a partner and danced the first lancers, and the dancing was then kept up till early twelve o'clock, when refreshments were served, after which the dancing was again renewed. Addison's orchestra supplied the music.

The patronesses present were: Mrs. A. Charleson, Mrs. Corbould, Mrs. Goulet, Mrs. W. H. Keary, Mrs. E. J. Stilwell, and Mrs. J. B. Kennedy.

The floor committee was Mr. Stewart, J. Mahony, J. J. Cambridge, Mr. Peck and C. A. Welsh.

Over $100 will be turned over to the Royal Columbian hospital as a result of the success attending the ball.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH FAIR NETS $1,000,000 CASH

New York, Nov. 8.—The presence of Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay and the Duchess of Marlborough at the fair given last Saturday afternoon and evening for the benefit of Trinity Episcopal church, Roslyn, S. I., was worth practically all of $1,000,000 to the church. Rector Hutton stated today that the fair had netted that amount of money.

A considerable portion of it was taken in for autographs of the duchess on souvenir postal cards, which sold for 25 cents each.

HANSON INVENTS A MOTOR SLEIGH

Carl Hanson, of Seattle, has recently had patented in Canada, and applied for patents in the United States, a motor sleigh, or vehicle, on runners for traveling on snow or ice, the propelling force being placed on the sleigh itself. The motor is placed on the sled box, which is supported by four runners, the two front runners being used for steering, and the rear runners for propelling. The rear runners are forced some distance forward, alternately, and held from sliding back by a dog, which is forced down through a slot in the runner, and is kept there through the backward stroke, the body of the vehicle being forced forward. The action of the two rear runners is alternate, which gives the vehicle a steady motion.

ACCIDENTS INCREASING AT APPALLING RATE

Statistics Show Increase in Number of Wounded and Killed on Railway Lines.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The interstate commerce commission bulletin on accidents on railroads of the United States during the year ended last June shows total casualties 81,286, or 5,000 persons killed and 76,286 injured. This shows an increase of 10,352 casualties or 775 in killed and 9,777 injured, as compared with the previous year. The bulletin says:

"There have been heavy increases in all of the items, except accidents in car coupling and from striking against overhead obstructions. The number of pasengers killed and injured in collisions and derailments has increased to an alarming degree. In this item the very large total reported in 1905 is now exceeded by 17 per cent. The comparative smallness of the increase in casualties due to coupling and uncoupling cars and in accidents to men on the tops of the freight cars is undoubtedly due in large measure to improvements in the maintenance and care of automatic couplers and to the increased use of air brakes on freight trains. The disastrous record of casualties to passengers in train accidents (410 killed) is due in large measure to ten accidents which caused the death of 291 persons."

The report for the last quarter (included in these figures) embracing April, May and June, shows 1,065 persons killed and 18,646 injured; 1,806 collisions and 1,971 derailments.

TAFT WILL MEET MANY IMPORTANT PERSONAGES

Berlin, Nov. 8.—Emperor William will see United States Secretary of War Taft at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, during his majesty's visit to England. A message conveying his wish was sent through the American embassy at Washington, it being understood that Mr. Taft has finally decided to return to the United States by way of Europe.

It is regarded as likely that Mr. Taft will also seek an audience with King Edward, as otherwise it might appear to be too much of a demonstration were the American statesman to visit the German emperor on British soil without paying equal respect to the King. So much has been said about Mr. Taft planning to see the emperor that some of the other governments have seemingly become curious in regard to whether anything is intended by the step taken by the American government.

Ambassadors Bryce and Juesserand, it is asserted here, have already made inquiries on the subject at the State department, Washington, and it is further asserted that there is a feeling at the foreign office of London and Paris that Mr. Taft would be neglecting King Edward and President Fallieres if he did not ask to see them on his way home or if he stopped only at St. Petersburg and Berlin while on his way back to the United States.

Chong Lee, the Chinaman who was arrested on Thursday on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of a bicycle, was liberated yesterday morning. Chong declares that it was a case of mistaken identity.

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND FIRST LEAGUE MEETING

Resolutions Dealing With Necessity of Restricting or Suppressing Asiatic Influx Adopted by Exclusionists---Politicians Scored by Members.

President, Thomas Turnbull.
Secretary, J. D. Taylor.
Vice-president, J. J. Randolph.
Treasurer, H. Stead.
Executive committee—George Blakeley, S. Craig, R. A. Stoney, J. Marshall, C. J. Donahue.
Committee appointed to draft constitution—J. J. Randolph, H. Stead, and J. McClughan.

(Officers appointed at last night's Exclusion league meeting.)

Something like two hundred members attended the first meeting of the newly organized New Westminster Exclusion league, which was held yesterday evening in the Eagles' hall. Over a score of speakers took part in the discussions of the evening, while a number of strong resolutions dealing with the important subject of Asiatic immigration were adopted by the meeting. The members of the league were a unit in supporting any resolution dealing with the necessity of restricting or suppressing Oriental immigration, and, backed up as it is by a large number of influential citizens and business men, there is no reason to doubt but that the efforts of the league will be crowned with success.

Thomas Turnbull, who was elected to take the position of chairman, handled the meeting with ease, and was successful in evading the many political pitfalls with which the work of the league is menaced.

Sam Craig, in a spirited address, dwelt upon the necessity of representations being made to the city council of New Westminster with regard to the manner in which the Asiatics were dwelling within the city limits. He contended that, if the laws which were enforced with regard to the white population were put in force against Chinamen, Japs and other Orientals, it would go a long way towards solving the problem. If a white workingman was not permitted to occupy a house without sanitary arrangements, he did not see why Asiatics were to be permitted to occupy buildings which were totally unfit for human habitation. Compelling the Chinese and others to allow each roomer the number of cubic inches of space provided for by the city bylaws, he thought, would go a long way towards solving the problem.

J. D. Taylor, in answer to a question from a member of the audience, stated that when the treaty between Great Britain and Japan was made, Canada was not a party to it. The Dominion did not enter into any agreement until twelve years later. After commenting upon the prospects of the Lemieux mission to Japan, the secretary advocated the abrogation of the agreement entered into by Canada with regard to the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

A question from the body of the hall relative to the numbers of Japanese which had entered Canada during the past few months, preceded a lengthy discussion in which several members took part.

Many of the speakers were somewhat ambiguous in their remarks. One gentleman stated that if the country had sent the right kind of men to parliament this trouble would not have happened. "Until we get rid of this monster of selfishness," he remarked, "we will not get rid of the Japanese. Dissension among ourselves is the first cause of the trouble. Let us put the right kind of men in parliament next time. This government is no good." Unfortunately, he neglected to specify whether he meant the provincial or Dominion government, but the members of the league who are affiliated with neither political party cheered heartily. Others remained silent.

Thomas Turnbull, being appealed to from the audience, declared that Canada had some agreement with Japan which was meant to restrict the number of Japanese which could enter the Dominion during the course of a year. Speaking from memory, he placed the number at 482. As a matter of fact, the number had been largely exceeded during the past few months, and evidences that this was the case could easily be seen by anyone interested without having recourse to figures. Every one of the Japanese who had entered Canada had been equipped with passports. He contended that Japan never made any pretense at observing either the spirit or the letter of the treaty, and had not in any way manifested a desire to limit emigration to this country. The only solution of the question was, in his opinion, the enactment of a Natal act on lines similar to that which was in force in Australia and New Zealand. Personally, he did not give one cent for the Lemieux mission, no matter what that gentleman was able to do, the Japanese would find means to circumvent any attempt to restrict immigration into this province. To the burning question agitating their minds at the present time, a solution must be offered now. He suggested the passing of a resolution advocating the abrogation of the existing treaty which might be sent to the proper quarters in case Mr. Lemieux happened to be unsuccessful in his mission.

J. O. Lee, of Sapperton, had a somewhat novel argument to advance. He figured out that as the Dominion government had been responsible, to some measure for the influx of Japanese, it should be called upon to distribute the members of that race equally among the nine provinces.

Again taking the floor, Thomas Turnbull declared that the only way to bring about a solution was to inaugurate a deadlock. No reform had ever been brought about by sitting down quietly. He was strongly in favor of the provincial government being again called upon to enact the Natal act, and after this let the Lieutenant-Governor refuse to sign if it he dare. Should this happen, the country should be appealed to, and the result of an election would quickly show the public feeling. Should the Dominion government disallow the act, let the provincial parliament pass it again, and again, and in the end the people at Ottawa would see that British Columbia were in earnest, and would be forced to accede to the demands of the country.

From the body of the hall arose a workingman, who, with stinging epigrams and clean-cut arguments, proceeded to lash the politicians of both parties for fair promises made and vows broken. He compared aspirants for political honors to the driver of a team of mules, who only got the whip in hand to use it against the very men who had elected him. The capitalists also came in for some of his severe condemnation, his hearers cheering him on lustily. Suddenly he

Ald. Jardine Announces Mayoralty Intentions

Ald. J. Jardine has definitely announced that he will be a candidate for the mayoralty in 1908. He called on Mayor Keary yesterday afternoon, and in a friendly spirit stated his intentions, and expressed the hope that the contest would not impare their good-will towards each other. His worship replied that it was the privilege of Mr. Jardine, or any other person, to be a candidate, and if the electors decided that Mr. Jardine would fill the position better than he (the mayor) had, he was quite prepared to accept defeat. In stating his plans to the News, Mr. Jardine made it clear that he had no radical policy to enforce should he be elected.

QUEBEC IN GRIP OF TERRIFIC STORM

Quebec, Nov. 8.—The wind storm which raged in Quebec last night and early this morning, was the worst which has visited this section of the province since 1902 and from reports received the storm extended over a wide section.

Quebec harbor presented a terrible scene, vessels and pontoons were torn from their moorings and drifted about in the angry waters and many wharf buildings were destroyed. The government steamer Druid was struck by a pontoon, and in turn collided with the Canadian, both being damaged. The schooner Lumina, Capt. Warren, of Murray bay, was carried into the mouth of the river St. Charles. The tide was naturally high and the vessel dashed against the iron bridge, being broken to pieces, and also damaging the bridge, so that the cars could not cross it for a time. Before the schooner was dashed against the bridge, however, it collided with another vessel and sunk it.

TRIES TO JAM LID DOWN IN SPOKANE

Wholesale Warrants Issued for Arrest of Hotel Men—Four Volunteer Spotters.

Spokane, Nov. 8.—Wholesale warrants were issued this morning by Justice J. D. Hinkle for the arrest of saloonmen who are alleged to have violated the Sunday closing ordinance last Sunday, Nov. 3. In all 187 warrants were issued and have been turned over to the police to serve.

The move to enforce the city ordinance for the closing of saloons on Sunday is backed by the Law Enforcement league, a quasi-secret organization, composed of sixteen members, whose identity is withheld.

All the complaints this morning were signed by one of four men, who evidently made the rounds of the saloons in company with a friend to corroborate their testimony. The complainants are O. F. Ross, an employee of the Washington Water Power company; K. J. Heath, a carpenter; John Anderson, a grocer, and John T. Sanders, an accountant.

There are 206 saloons in operation and of this number warrants were secured for all but nineteen.

All restaurants who conduct bars in connection with their restaurants, were included. Justice Hinkle has expressed his willingness to grant them on such complaints. The liquor men are expected to put up a hard fight against the Sunday closing movement.

LEAGUE WILL NOT PUT CANDIDATE IN FIELD

On the authority of Thomas Turnbull, president of the New Westminster Exclusion league, the News is able to state that that body does not intend to put forward any candidates at the forthcoming civic election.

In Mr. Turnbull's own words, this is the policy of the league: "We will ask each and every candidate for municipal honors to publicly declare himself on the subject of Oriental immigration, and we will be guided in the matter of casting votes by the sentiments expressed by the candidates. We will ask every aspirant to aldermanic honors to pledge himself to do all he can to restrict or suppress Asiatics in the district, but we do not propose to place a candidate in the field, either for the mayoralty or for one of the other positions. The league is entirely non-political, and intends to remain so."

Haul of False Passports.

Libau, Courland, Russia, Nov. 8.—The police yesterday searched the houses of several agents of the line of Russian steamers running from Libau to New York, resulting in the seizure of a number of passports and the arrest of the agents and many emigrants who were intending to embark for the United States. Considerable traffic is reported to have existed in passports which were sold with steamer tickets to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters will leave on Monday next en route to Toronto by way of the C. P. R.

BOGUS COUNT WAS JUST AN EX-CONVICT

American Wife Spent Thousands to Secure Title—Now Couple Is Separated.

Naples, Italy, Nov. 8.—Countess di Castelmenardo, who was Miss Edith Van Buren, of New York, has obtained a legal separation from her "noble husband." The beautiful countess appeared in the court of appeals here and testified to her husband's cruelty and rapacity. It became known publicly for the first time that the count's title was bogus when he married her in Nice seven years ago. His American wife, to prevent scandal and to preserve her amour propre, spent $4,000 to gain the count's legal right to the name he had appropriated. Such affairs can be arranged here.

But, bad as she knew him to be, the countess received a frightful shock when the chief of police of Naples testified that the man whom she married is a Camorrist, who has undergone penal servitude and who is still subject to police surveillance.

In emphasizing her demand for separation the countess testified that her husband represented himself to be Count Vessichio Georgo di Castelmenardo. After the betrothal she received from Naples, probably from a confederate, excellent testimonials respecting her suitor's family.

The countess, who restrained her emotions with difficulty, went on to testify that her honeymoon had scarcely begun when she realized her husband's true character. On one or another pretence he induced her to pay all the expenses of their bridal trip. Soon acknowledging himself penniless, he got money from her and squandered it in gambling and fast living.

Finally, at the urgency of her brother, the American consul at Nice, she caused his arrest last year in Genoa. He was convicted of unfaithfulness and cruelty and was sentenced to pay the costs of the action.

The count, aware that the chief of police was to testify, did not defend the suit for separation. Countess di Castelmenardo is the great-grandniece of President Martin Van Buren and the daughter of the late Gen. Thomas Van Buren, formerly American minister at Tokyo.

MILITIAMEN WIN BASKETBALL MATCH

Initial Game of Season Results in Win for Armouries Team---Score 28 to 10.

In the opening basketball match of the season, played last evening in the Armouries, between the Militia intermediates and the College intermediates, the former aggregation won by a large margin, the score at the end standing 28 to 10 in favor of the soldiers. The boys set a warm pace and maintained it to the end, giving proof of much preliminary practice, but they were very weak in combination play. The throwing was wild by the college youths. They pitched the ball all over the court at random, and the green jerseys generally got it. The boys from Columbian college are much too light to compete against the more weighty Armouries group. Pearson is about the only player on the college line-up who can size up with the members of the opposing team, and his inexperience prevented him from distinguishing himself or even holding his man in check. F. N. Kenny and C. Smith worked hard, reaching the net several times, but as a rule their shooting was wild. More practice and care will remedy the defect. The Militia boys played well, and did splendid shooting. Several of them were members of last winter's basketball team, and therefore more or less seasoned. Spring played an excellent checking game, while R. Sangster and B. H. Gilley did some good shooting. W. Sangster refereed the match.

There was about 100 young people in attendance to witness the bout.

The teams lined up as follows:

Militia—Guards, Spring, Archibald; centre, R. Sangster; and forwards, O. Swanson and B. Gilley.

College team—Guards, H. Gifford, Pearson; centre, Betts; forwards, F. N. Kenny and C. Smith.

FIRST WESTERN SUCCESS IS COMING WEDNESDAY

An interesting story is told of the show girls that appear in John Cort's production of "The Alaskan," which will be the attraction at the Opera house one night, Wednesday, Nov. 13.

When Mr. Cort produced the piece in New York it was expected that he would engage the metropolitan type of beauties, but he didn't, and it was a big surprise when an aggregation of northwestern feminine loveliness landed on Broadway direct from Seattle. A large sight-seeing automobile was chartered for a period of several days and Mr. Cort's Seattle girls attracted much attention along "The Great White Way" of the metropolis. They were shown all over town, then to Coney Island and to the races. The names of the girls are Mazie Hartford, Eloise Reed, Genevive Reed, Marjory Ganos, Daisy Johnstone, Marie Goodner, Anne Hudson, Lillian Norton, Pearl Gabrielle, Lena Williams, Lydia Dompierre, Ellen Tate, Pearl Girard and Vivienne Fraser.

MARKET REPORT

Most lines of produce were offered in large quantities at the market yesterday, with the exception of eggs, which commanded the highest quotations yet reached this season. Meats especially were plentiful, and with the exception of beef, the supply was all disposed of.

The supply of beef was the heaviest of many weeks and the price dropped in sympathy. Front-quarters sold for from 4½ to 5½ cents a pound a pound and hindquarters brought from 7½ to 8 cents a pound. The prices for lamb and mutton remained about the same as were realized last week. Lamb brought 14 and 15 cents per pound, and mutton from 12 to 13 cents. The demand for this class of meat was strong. The supply of veal was large and prices ranged from 10 to 11 cents for small stock and the large carcasses sold for from 7 to 8 cents per pound. The price of dressed pork dropped a little on acount of the great quantity offered for sale. The bulk of the supply brought from 8 to 9 cents.

Produce.

Eggs were in greater demand than ever, and the supply is steadily declining. The city shoppers gathered in the bulk of yesterday's supply at 60 cents, and the wholesalers took the rest at 50 and 55 cents per dozen. The price will probably remain firm at 60 cents retail. The butter market was about the same as of old, namely, from 30 to 35 cents per pound, with a very good demand and plenty for sale.

The supply of fowl was large, and the prices were on a par. A fair class of fowls brought from $6 to $8 a dozen, and chickens sold for from $4.50 to $6.50 a dozen. Ducks were also plentiful, and the ruling prices run from $6.50 to $7.50 a dozen.

Apples and pears sold readily at from 90 cents to $1.25 a box. The supply was not large. Potatoes brought $18 a ton, but the demand was not vigorous and only a few sales were made. A large quantity of onions were on sale at $2.75 a sack. Quite a few sacks were disposed of, but the stock was not entirely cleared out.

PULP LEASES ARE WANTED BY LOGGERS

Lands Long Idle May be Exploited by Hand Loggers During Coming Months.

As a consequence of information concerning the nature of pulp leases on this coast, disclosed at recent trials of handloggers on charges of the theft of timber, legal advice has been given handloggers that they may legally log on these leaseholds, and this action is now threatened. If the handloggers attempt to break in on the pulp reserves arrests will undoubtedly follow and a test case taken to the courts.

For six or seven years, during which the pulp leases have been effective, it has been generally thought that the position of the holders of the leases with respect to the timber covered by them was impregnable and no attempt was ever made by loggers to actively take logs off the leaseholds. Save in one instance, none of the pulp companies have yet commenced the erection of pulp mills, and the timber on the reserve has been tied up.

As a consequence of information regarding the leases gathered during one of the recent trials a search of the leases was made with the result that the handloggers have been advised that under their licenses they have a right to log on these lands. This advice is to the effect that the leases grant to their holders the right to all timber suitable for pulp manufacture on the lands; but it is now asserted that if the pulp companies desire to hold fir and cedar timber they will have to do so by taking out special licenses as in the case of all other loggers. At present the leases return merely a nominal rental per acre.

The pulp leaseholds being still crown lands and handloggers' licenses applying to crown lands, the handloggers intend to make an onslaught on the leases shortly. These leases cover large areas on Johnson strait, Drury inlet, Greenway channel and Broughton island.

SATURDAY, NOV. 9, 1907.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

We of New Westminster are proud of the fact that the name of our city was selected by Queen Victoria; but it does not appear to be generally known that the whole province can claim a similar honor. Pioneers will remember that the name first selected for the colony (as it was then) or rather for the mainland portion of it, --for the island was a separate colony, known by its geographical name, at that time and for some years afterwards—was New Caledonia. France objected, however, as she owned a big island of that name in the South Pacific, and the British ministry went to work to select a suitable label for the new colony. Her Majesty knew all about the matter, of course, and wrote the prime minister suggesting that, since "Columbia" was used as a synonym for "America," and since we could not adopt it by itself, seeing that there was already a separate state on the continent called by that name, "British Columbia" would seem to be very appropriate. The suggestion was immediately adopted, and that is the way in which our province came by its name.

LONDON'S NEW MEMBER.

The Toronto Globe has not a high opinion of Mayor Beattie, the new member of the Commons for London, Ont. It says he "belongs to a group of Conservative politicians whose electioneering efforts during the past twenty years have done much to make London a byword for political corruption. He was himself its representative in the House of Commons for four years after the election of 1896, and nothing he ever did or said in that capacity should commend him to his former political opponents. A more commonplace man or a more useless one it would be difficult to discover." That is certainly a pretty comprehensive indictment; but the Globe does need to be told that many editors like commonplace men who are useless as members of a deliberative assembly. Such men do not tread on individual or corporate corns, and so make no enemies. It is true that they are cyphers so far as advancing the true interests of their constituents are concerned, but now and then they can put a good thing in the way of their friends. Meantime, good government is waiting around the corner until the people get tired of sending Major Beatties to parliament.

A NEW PHASE.

The negro problem in the United States has a new development in the objection now raised to colored regiments in the regular army. There are two regiments of infantry and two of cavalry. Before the Spanish-American war, little was heard of them and little thought given to them. They were away in the West, for the most part, looking after unruly Indians. It is different, however, since the war brought them into prominence. Now the South is objecting that when negroes who have had some years of military training come back to their homes they constitute an added threat to white supremacy by their bold and aggressive manner. The demand is made therefore, and the Brownsville incident is cited to support it, that Uncle Sam cease to train the colored brother to be a fighting man, and that the regiments now in the service be mustered out. But the war record of the colored troops is against such a step. Before Santiago and on the deadly slopes of San Juan hill they bore themselves most gallantly, and they endured the hardships and privations of the campaign much better than their white comrades.

The Intercolonial continues to show the effect of good management. For the last financial year it will have a surplus in six figures, and the government is so much encouraged by its success that the leasing of branch lines, and even the extension of the main line well into Ontario, are possibilities of the immediate future. By the way, the bulk of the men now employed on the line were appointed before 1896, by the Conservative government. This means that railroading and not politics is now the business of the Intercolonial, and it is therefore easy to understand how the chronic deficit of Tory days has been turned into a surplus.

Prof. George Poe, of Virginia, has invented an apparatus by which animals, declared to be dead, have been so quickly brought to life again that in a few minutes they were as well as ever. The animals experimented on were "killed" either by the administration of an anaestethic, or by suffocation in a poisonous gas. The machine is a double-barrelled pump. One side of it draws the poisonous gas out of the lungs, while the other pumps oxygen into them.

STEALING JEWELER SHOT BY OFFICERS

Goldfield, Nev., Nov. 8.—V. L. Kline, a jeweler, was shot while stealing amalgam at the Nevada Goldfield reduction works last night, and is dying with a bullet in his brain. He was disguised as a negro. Ralph S. Gippel, who was with Kline at the time of the attempted robbery, was arrested today. He has made a confession, but the authorities refuse to make it public. Gippel was formerly an agent of the Tonopah & Goldfield railway, and later was employed at the post office.

Kline came here from Bellingham, Wash., over a year ago and opened a jewelry and drug store. It is reported that he recently paid $40,000 for a residence in Los Angeles. Gippel came here from New York and but little is known of his antecedents.

The subjects of sermons in the city churches will not in future be announced in these columns unless copy for the same is handed in at the office before eight o'clock on Friday evenings. During the past months, the reporters have wasted considerable time calling up over the telephone the different church ministers in order to secure the necessary information, but from now on this will be discontinued. If pastors of churches are not sufficiently interested to supply the newspapers with their Sunday sermon subjects, the News does not propose to exert itself any longer in the matter. A "church services" column, which had been inserted in the two local newspapers for a long time past, has now been dropped owing to the apathy displayed by almost every one of the city clergymen. The Rev. Dr. Rugg is the only pastor who has supplied the News with his Sunday subjects regularly in the past, and as long as he continues to do so, they will be duly published in these columns.

QUAINT TYPE FOR LEADING ACTRESS

One of the brightest and most entertaining comedies written recently is the Swedish-American play "Tilly Olson," announced to appear at the Opera house Tuesday night. The piece is a novelty in the way of Scandinavian drama in that the leading character is a young Swedish girl. "Tilly" will undoubtedly prove a quaint and interesting type of stage creation. The scenes of the new comedy are laid in the Northwest and the story has to do with the tribulations of a daughter of Scandinavia while serving in the capacity of a "charity" domestic in the family of some Minnesota farmer folk. Fortune comes to the fair young Swedish girl later, and her career is crowned by her marriage to the man she loved during the days of her adversity. A fine scenic equipment will be provided for the new play and a company of unusual excellence is promised. The name part will be well taken care of in the hands of the well known actress of eccentric comedy roles, Miss Aimee Common, an actress of unusual ability and charm. The company will include Master Jack Rollin, one of the most talented juvenile actors of the day.

REBATES GRANTED, BIG FINE IMPOSED

Sante Fe Railway Company Mulcted in Sum of $330,000 for Illegal Acts.

Los Angeles, Nov. 8.—Judge Olin Wellborn, in the United States district court, today fined the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company $330,000 for rebating. The fine was what the court denominated "an intermediate penalty," the maximum which might have been assessed being $1,320,000 and the minimum $66,000.

The court reviewed the case in a written opinion of some length, in which it stated that there were sufficient doubtful and extenuating circumstances to prelude the possibility of a maximum sentence and yet sufficient intention of wrongdoing shown to make impossible a minimum penalty.

The Santa Fe Company was convicted October 11 last by a jury in the federal court of granting rebates to the Grand Canyon Lime and Cement company, of Arizona. It was found guilty on all the sixty-four counts charged in the indictment after but an hour's deliberation by the jury.

Record Land Deal.

Nelson, B. C., Nov 7.—The biggest real estate deal consummated in Nelson for a long time was concluded last week when J. E. Annable sold to a syndicate of eastern capitalists represented by Y. S. Sheppard, of Lethbridge, the bulk of his holdings in Fire Valley, Deer Park and Burton City districts, aggregating nearly 7,000 acres. Negotiations have been in progress for several weeks and grew fairly definite a few days ago. The purchasing syndicate intends to subdivide and settle the lands, making a beginning next year The price has not been made public.

Abolish Tariff on Paper.

Washington, Nov. 7.— President Roosevelt today indictaed to members of the committee on paper of the American Newspaper Publishers' association that he will recommend to congress the abolition of the tariff on press paper; also that he will make a recommendation to the department of justice that they take immediate steps to ascertain whether the anti-trust laws are being disobeyed by the manufacturers of paper.

Synopsis of Canadian North-West Homestead Regulations.

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is rejuired to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of the homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line, exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

veered around, and attacked the working men for their support of Chinamen.

"How many of you people," he demanded, "when you need to have some job done around the house, will take the trouble to employ a white man to do it? How many of you are hiring Chinamen in your own homes? How many of you buy vegetables from Chinamen? You are all ready to blame the capitalists for hiring yellow labor, and yet you will do the same on a smaller scale. This is something that touches everyone of us, and surely, if we are going to petition governments to pass laws and all the rest of it, we might just as well begin right at home and fire every Chinaman and Jap that we give work to. Why, ladies in this town employ Chinamen to clean up their houses. It's a disgrace. I would as soon allow a dog to lick my soup plates as to ask a Chinaman to attend to my housework." (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Another member of the league suggested that a resolution be drafted, asking the board of trade and the city council to take action in order to enforce the health regulations, adding: "Let them know that unless they attend to it, the Exclusion league will take active steps in the matter, and do the work of its own accord."

The president pointed out that the board of trade had nothing to do with the question, but endorsed the sentiments as far as the city council was concerned.

"Patronize white labor" was the next slogan launched. The buying of vegetables grown by white men was suggested, while the patronage of restaurans and hotels which made a specialty of having white help only, was also touched upon at length. Particular mention was made of Mrs. Cook's cafe, which, up to the present, is the only place in the city which advertises "white help only."

The secretary was instructed to get 250 "White Canada" buttons.

The selection of the dates for the next meeting was left in the hands of the executive committee.

A suggestion that women be asked to join the league was heartily endorsed by the members.

J. D. Taylor read a petition to Ottawa asking for definite legislation, which was largely signed, during a fifteen minutes recess, the door of the hall being locked in the meantime.

A resolution was passed asking the provincial government to re-enact the Natal act, and the secretary was instructed to notify other Exclusion leagues of the action taken.

A suggestion that a number of young men be requested to take the petition from house to house was endorsed by the meeting, but definite action was left in the hands of the executive.

Over fifty members joined the league yesterday evening, the total membership now being over two hundred.
