CLARION CALL FOR HELP HEARKENED TO BY TAYLOR

Tory Spielers Rush to Yale-Cariboo and Kootenay—McBride, Young, Cowan and Barnard Assist.

The constituency of Yale-Cariboo is ... the pleasure of a visit from J. ... member elect for this district, ... the next few days, a call for help having reached him from Martin Burrell's campaign committee. It is understood that Mr. Taylor will deliver a series of political speeches during his visit to that part of B. C. which Duncan Ross is to represent in the next parliament of Canada, the opinion being prevalent among Tories that Ross' opponent will need all the assistance which can be rushed to the district in the next few days in order to make a showing on Nov. 12, the day when the postponed elections in Yale Cariboo and Kootenay take place. Premier McBride and Hon. Dr. Young, G. H. Cowan and G. H. Barnard and a few other practiced spielers, are also heading towards the interior, hoping against hope that they will be able to do something to stem the tide of public opinion now running so strongly in favor of Duncan Ross and Smith Curtis.

The redoubtable W. J. Bowser, minister of fisheries, attorney-general, wholesale manufacturer of campaign roorbachs and assistant in chief to Japanese Contractor Gotoh, is conspicuously staying away from Duncan Ross preserves, in spite of the loud mouthed threats made months ago that he would follow him from hustings to hustings and debate the Japanese question with him before the electors.

The Spielers' Itinerary.

Hon. Mr. McBride and Hon. Dr. Young will speak at Kamloops on the 5th, at Revelstoke on the 6th, and at Salmon Arm on the 7th. G. H. Cowan and G. H. Barnard, members-elect for Vancouver and Victoria respectively, join the premier at Nelson, where a meeting will be held on the 9th, and on the 10th at Cranbrook. Mr. Cowan will also speak for Mr. Burrell at Ashcroft on the 3rd, at Peachland on the 4th, Vernon on the 5th, Armstrong on the 6th, and Enderby on the 7th.

ROUND-THE-WORLD RACER DISAPPEARS INTO UNKNOWN

Capt. Hans Hansen, Automobilist Who Started Out to Circle the World, Is lost in Europe.

New York, Nov. 1.—The Norwegian consul general in New York, Christopher Aavu, has asked for assistance in an effort to find the whereabouts of Capt. Hans Hansen, one of the men who took part in the recent automobile race around the world. Hansen started from New York in the French car, but left it in Chicago and later joined the American car and guided it across Siberia. On his arrival in Paris much feeling was expressed against him and he was even threatened, it is said, because of his leaving the French car and assisting the American car to victory. Members of the party who are now in New York state that they last saw Hansen in Paris when the party broke up after the race. At that time he had a large sum of money in his possession and intended to go to Tomsk, Siberia, where his wife and child reside. He has not reached that city.

BIG TORONTO DEAL.

British Capital Buys Knox College Site for Departmental Store.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The British-Canadian Departmental Stores, Ltd., with a capital of $3,000,000, most of which is British, has purchased the site of Knox college for a big departmental store. The sale price is said to be $165,000.

BIG CATTLE RANCH IN CHILCO DISTRICT

Immense Tract of Grazing Lands Up North Leased by American Capitalists.

A syndicate of Minnesota, Montana and Oregon cattlemen have leased a tract of 10,110 acres of grazing lands near Chilco lake, fifty-five miles from the head of Bute inlet, several hundred miles north of Vancouver. It will pay the provincial government a nominal rental of fifteen cents per acre annually, with the option of purchase at the end of twenty years. Stockraising on an extensive scale will be engaged in.

One thousand yearlings will next spring be turned out on the company's tract, which is now being surveyed by a staff of provincial surveyors, headed by S. H. Farmer of this city, who located the property last year. The principle promoter is J. A. Stetson, of Duluth, Minn., who left yesterday for the Chilco district on business in connection with the enterprise. On a previous visit he was convinced that it offers superior advantages to the best sections of Oregon or Montana as a stockgrowing country. The valley is well sheltered, while there is an abundance of water and luscious grasses. There is practically no snowfall, thus enabling the young cattle to remain out on the ranges all winter.

Mr. Stetson anticipates that the terminus of the Canadian Northern railway will be at Bute inlet, from which point in the meantime he expects to ship out his cattle by steamers bound north and south.

His business associates are all wealthy men and include Messrs. W. D. Mixtle, Albany, Oregon; M. M. Davis, Albany, Oregon; John McAlpine, Union, Oregon; James Dempsey, Hartley McGuire and J. Gallaway, of Minneapolis, Minn.

LUCKY DYSON'S STRIKE WAS DUE TO ACCIDENT

Fall Uncovers Ledge of Rock in Boundary County Rich in Lead and Silver—Fortune Certain.

Nelson, Nov. 1.—The luck of Jack Dyson, a rancher in the Pend d'Oreille valley, near the boundary line of the United States, in mining, reads like a romance. Dyson, a new settler in the country, whose knowledge of mining is practically nothing, while carrying a sack of flour a couple of weeks ago, over a small hill in the neighborhood, slipped and fell, kicking up a part of the soil and disclosing a ledge of rock, a part of which was knocked off. The weight of the detached portion attracted Dyson's attention and he had it assayed, the results giving a heavy percentage of lead and upwards of 400 ounces of silver. Work of stripping the ledge has already started and it has been found to be three feet in width. Dyson will probably clear up a tidy-sized fortune all through his lucky fall.

FLEET IS IGNORED BY PEKING PRESS

Newspapers in Chinese Capital Fail to Mention Visit of Americans.

Peking, Nov. 1.—The presence of the second squadron of the American battleship fleet at Amony, where the vessels arrived yesterday and where the men are entertained by the Chinese government, is hardly known in Peking. The Chinese newspapers have said nothing at all about the visit, and the occurrence is completely ignored, both officially and otherwise, so far as Peking is concerned. This probably is because the festivities in connection with the birthday of the empress dowager are coincident with the entertainment of the visiting Americans.

This silence is the more remarkable because the native press has, during the past few weeks, given much space to promoting the idea of an alliance with the United States.

LORD MILNER DISCUSSES RACE PROBLEM AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Lord Milner's address to the Canadian club yesterday was in contrast to previous addresses which he has delivered in Canada. He had an audience consisting of 800 representative men of Canada, and seized the occasion to contrast conditions in South Africa and this country, referring especially to transportation and the race problems. He expressed the hope that the conference now in progress at Durban would result in the confederation of South Africa.

Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, in expressing the thanks of the club, bore tribute to Lord Milner's splendid services in Egypt, as well as in South Africa, and said it would be a good thing for the pro-consuls of the empire "to visit the outposts and ascertain how the children were doing."

Raffles in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A burglar, attired in full evening dress, that he might be confused with the servants or guests attending a reception given by Mrs. Eugene Vincent Roddin, and who secured jewelry valued at $1500, was reported to the police today. Mrs. Roddin stated that the burglar entered through a window and must have mingled either with the servants or guests in order to reach her boudoir. He would have attracted attention had he been in any but formal attire, but might have escape detection in the crush in evening dress.

Winnipeg's Mayor Seriously Ill.

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Word received last night indicates that the illness of Mayor Ashdown is very serious. He is now in the south and alarming reports as to his condition have been received. Under the circumstances it is announced that he cannot be a candidate for the mayoralty for a third time, and Controller Sanford Evans announces his candidature.

Herald's Forecast Concedes Sweeping Victory to Taft

New York, Nov. 1.—This is the final forecast by The New York Herald of the election of 1908. here have been few changes in the outlook since the publication of the forecast of last Sunday, when The Herald's electoral table gave William H. Taft 280 votes; William J. Bryan, 156; doubtful, with Republican leanings 26; doubtful, with Democratic leanings, 21.

Basing the forecast of today still on surface indications and on reports made by disinterested correspondents in various doubtful states, The Herald gives Taft 306 electoral votes and Bryan 177. The states changed from the table of last Sunday are six. No state that Taft seemed to have with reasonable surety has been lost to him during the last week of the campaign. No state that Bryan was credited with last week has gone from his column.

The four states of Colorado, Indiana, Montana and Wyoming, which were last week classed as doubtful with Republican tendencies, are now credited to Taft by the correspondents of The Herald. The two states of Nebraska and Kentucky, which were classed as doubtful with Democratic inclinations are now given to Bryan. Thus, during the week, the net gain of the Republican candidate has been twenty-six electoral votes, while the net apparent gain of the Democratic candidate has been twenty-one. All observers agree that Bryan did not add to his electoral strength by his last journey to the east.

He utterly failed to shake the electoral vote of New York from its Republican moorings, and, indeed, during his presence in the entire state, the belief was intensified that there is a working agreement between a large number of Democrats and Republicans to throw the state to Taft for president and Lewis S. Chanler for governor.

BURGLARY CALLS NOTICE TO DANGEROUS PRACTICE

Merchants on Columbia Street Do Not Take Sufficient Care of Back of Their Premises.

At the store of George Adams on Saturday the police discovered that a pane of glass had been broken in the rear, and from the fracture in the glass it was probably the work of small boys, who took a few candies. This burglary calls attention to the condition of the back of the stores on Columbia street, which have their back entrances on either Clarkson or Front streets. Particularly is this the case with the Clarkson street premises, nor are the remarks directed to any particular firm, as it is almost impossible for the limited police force to guard the back windows and doors of premises approached from the staircases on Clarkson. The rears are for the most part piled with packing cases, the stairs are ill-lit and in several cases with rotton treads, and there are no electric light switches for an officer to use where his lantern would be of little use.

If the police are to carry out their duties in the long wet winter evenings some better provision for them should be made, and there is also the fact that the insurance rates would be less if more care was taken by the employees of the principal business firms of the city in this matter. Many of the larger towns compel this precaution to be taken and packing cases have to be removed in a certain number of hours.

COUNT MILLIONS PIECE BY PIECE

Gigantic Task Faces Employees of U.S. Treasury - Assistant Treasurer Quits.

New York, Nov. 1.—Following the resignation of Hamilton Fish as assistant treasurer of the United States in charge of the subtreasury here, a corps of bookkeepers under the direction of United States Treasurer Treat today began checking over the books of the office. While this task is a big one, it does not compare with the work required to count the cash in the vault, which work will be taken up as soon as the checking of the books has been completed. There is in the vaults approximately $173,000,000 in gold coin, $17,000,000 in currency and $80,000,000 in silver coin and all of this must be counted and verified piece by piece.

WORKS OF OBSCURE ARTISTS FOISTED AS MASTERPIECES

New York, Nov. 1.—An attempt to defraud American buyers of French paintings has been discovered by the customs authorities here. Customs examiners found that a number of paintings imported from Paris bore daubs of paint in one corner, evidently for the purpose of covering the signatures. When this layer of paint was removed it was discovered that beneath were the names of great artists—Corot, Diaz, Rosseau and others of equal prominence. It is believed that the paintings are by obscure artists, and that the forged names were carelessly covered in such a manner as to make their discovery certain, thereby greatly enhancing the value of the paintings.

CLOUD IS LIFTING FROM OLD MYSTERY

Baronet, Who Disappeared Ten Years Ago, Said to Be Living as Trapper.

A story is appearing in the eastern press that the disappearance of Sir Thomas Curtis in the northern wilds some ten years ago, and whose skeleton was found, as it is alleged, by Indians, is not dead at all, but dropped out of society deliberately, and is earning the necessities of existence as a trapper.

Story of Companion.

This is the story of T. W. Cole, who was a member of the party with the baronet when he disappeared while searching for some horses on the way to the Klondyke. Cole asserts that he knew before he left Vancouver that Curtis would disappear before reaching the Klondyke, on account of family complications in England which Curtis told him had been the means of sending him to Canada, and making him trek northwards.

It appears that Lady Curtis has married again, shortly after the disappearance of her husband. Cole says that Curtis is living the life of a hermit, and living on what he can catch or trap, trading the skins for necessities.

Roger Pocock, who founded the Legion of Frontiersmen, was in the party with whom Sir Thomas went north, and imputations have been made as to his share in the baronet's disappearance, however Cole claims to have proof which entirely clears Pocock of the stigma.

The department of justice at Ottawa, it is known, have sent fresh instructions to the provincial police to try and find Curtis. Everything was done at the time, but the most diligent search never produced anything till a skeleton was found, which was identified as that of the missing man.

Local Connection.

Statements have appeared in the press that the man Cole is known in New Westminster, but efforts have failed to locate him. Two young men who know something of the Curtis family in the old country were in the city yesterday endeavoring to find out some information with reference to the man, and were referred to C. B. Dean, ex-constable of the provincial police, who was associated with some of the relief parties sent out to try and find the ill-fated baronet.

Mr. Deans not being in the city yesterday, his version of the story could not be learned, but he is alleged to have stated very definitely the result of his investigations, which do not coincide with the view that the baronet is living.

GREAT HERD OF CARIBOU IS TREKING NORTHWARD

Tens of Thousands of Antlered Beasts on Way to Old Grazing Grounds—Vast Band Stretches Across Country For Miles.

A whole or large part of the great band of caribou which travelled southward across the Forty-mile and Sixty-mile toward White river last winter is treking northward. It crossed the Sixty-mile but a few days ago. George Black, Yukon councillors, who has just returned from a hunting trip, visited the Sixty-mile in company with Charley Paddock, and says that he never imagined that the magnitude of a herd of caribou could be anywhere near that which must have crossed the Sixty-mile.

"Tracks were as thick as they could be," says Mr. Black, "over a width of ten miles. There must have been thousands, if not tens of thousands, of caribou in the herd. When we got there the bunch had passed with the exception of some stragglers. We got one caribou.

"We were up the Stewart looking for moose and ducks, and crossed ten miles south from the Stewart to a chain of lakes on which the Hudson Bay company had its old post. It was on a lake seven miles long, four wide, and with a fine gravelly bottom. This post was on the old train between Selkirk and the head of the Stewart. It seems that the company in early days travelled more by overland trails than the streams. I am told that the post on the lakes mentioned was destroyed by the Indians about the time the Selkirk post was burned.

"Phil Kelly, Turner Townsend and Norton Townsend accompanied us up on the trip in the Stewart country. We found the lakes frozen too much for the ducks, with the exception of fish or sea ducks. We got a lot of them and cooked them in a pot, and could not tell at meat time whether we had mackerel or cod. It was all right for the Nova Scotians of the party.

"A little snow was on the ground, and made a brittle sound which made our footsteps heard a mile. So there was little chance of getting a moose. Kelly remained at McQuesten, hoping to get a moose and come down later by boat."

"TOO PROUD TO BEG."

The attraction at the opera house on Thursday night is Lincoln J. Carter's great detective story, "Too Proud to Beg." The plot is said to fit the title of the piece to perfection. The heroine, who is thrown on her own resources with her two children, spurns with contempt the smooth villain's advances for her heart and hand and his offer of gold, prefering starvation and death to a loathsome marriage. The husband makes his appearance after a serious illness, as a result of being dragged out of a fire in which he was trapped. At this point, his two children are stolen by the rejected suitor and the husband starts at once to find them. Being a detective he disguises himself, locates their hiding place and rescues the babes. The story finally ends in the hero making himself known to his enemies and justice is meted out to the guilty ones while he is once more united to his happy family. The cast is excellent and the players all act their parts with dash, vim and enthusiasm.

Injured in Panic.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—Six girls were seriously injured today in a rush of 200 panic-stricken women operators for the stairways and elevator of the Isaac Epstein Pants factory, after an alarm of fire had been sounded.

LESSONS OF ELECTIONS POINT MORAL TO CHURCH

Rev. W. H. Barraclough Speaks on Subject to His Congregation—Christian Crusade.

Rev. W. H. Barraclough preached briefly on "Lessons from the Election" at the evening service at Queens avenue church last evening, taking his text from 2 Peter, 1-10: "Give diligence to make your calling and election sure." At the outset he explained that any who had come expecting him to say anything sensational would be disappointed, as he was only referring to the subject to point its morals on the Christian life. Let them work just as persistently in the interests of moral reform as the politician did to secure votes.

The first lesson they suggested was to begin early in connection with those influences which made for righteousness, and with due deliberation and consideration take up the work which lay before them. As he had urged before he thought they should take a more active interest in those things which were to the benefit of the community in which they were living. Like the canvassers they should bestir themselves, for in the late election there was hardly one man whose vote was worth having but had been canvassed by both sides, unless he had come out very strongly and forcibly for one side or the other. Why could not the great moral issues be just as strongly pronounced on the cause of right? There should be no question upon which side they should stand.

Having pointed a moral from this indifference, he alluded to another fact which it taught, organization. He would like to see more organisation of men and women in the church, not leaving the work to the pastor and a small coterie of workers. Men should govern the politicians, not politicians the men. Let them use diligence to be sure that they would secure election to the home of grace, and all glory.

The choir were assisted in a musical service by the Mackness brothers.

Prince Rupert Has First Fire

Prince Rupert, Nov. 1.—A log cabin in Knoxville was destroyed by fire, the loss totalling close on to $500. The cabin was owned and occupied by W. G. Smith, who was away at the time, and by Alex. Baxter and a man named Grant. They left the cabin to go to the wharf to see the City of Seattle arrive, and while away the fire started. It is supposed they left a hot fire in a sheet-iron stove. Mr. Smith lost a rifle, compass, and everything he had except the clothes he had on. Mr. Baxter lost everything except a pair of blankets. Mr. Grant lost his clothing and some jewellery. A man named Callow had a trunk in the cabin and it was burned. The cabin was some distance from other cabins and the fire was not noticed until it had made so much headway that those who got there were unable to save anything. This was the first fire in Prince Rupert, and the loss should be warning to other owners of cabins.

Wilbur Wright's Motor Explodes.

Lemans, Nov. 1.—While Wilbur Wright, the American aeroplanist, was making a flight this morning the motor of the machine exploded. Mr. Wright landed without injury and the aeroplane was not otherwise damaged. The accident was due to the crosshead having become worn out and given way. Repairs were effected in a short time and Mr. Wright continued his demonstrations.

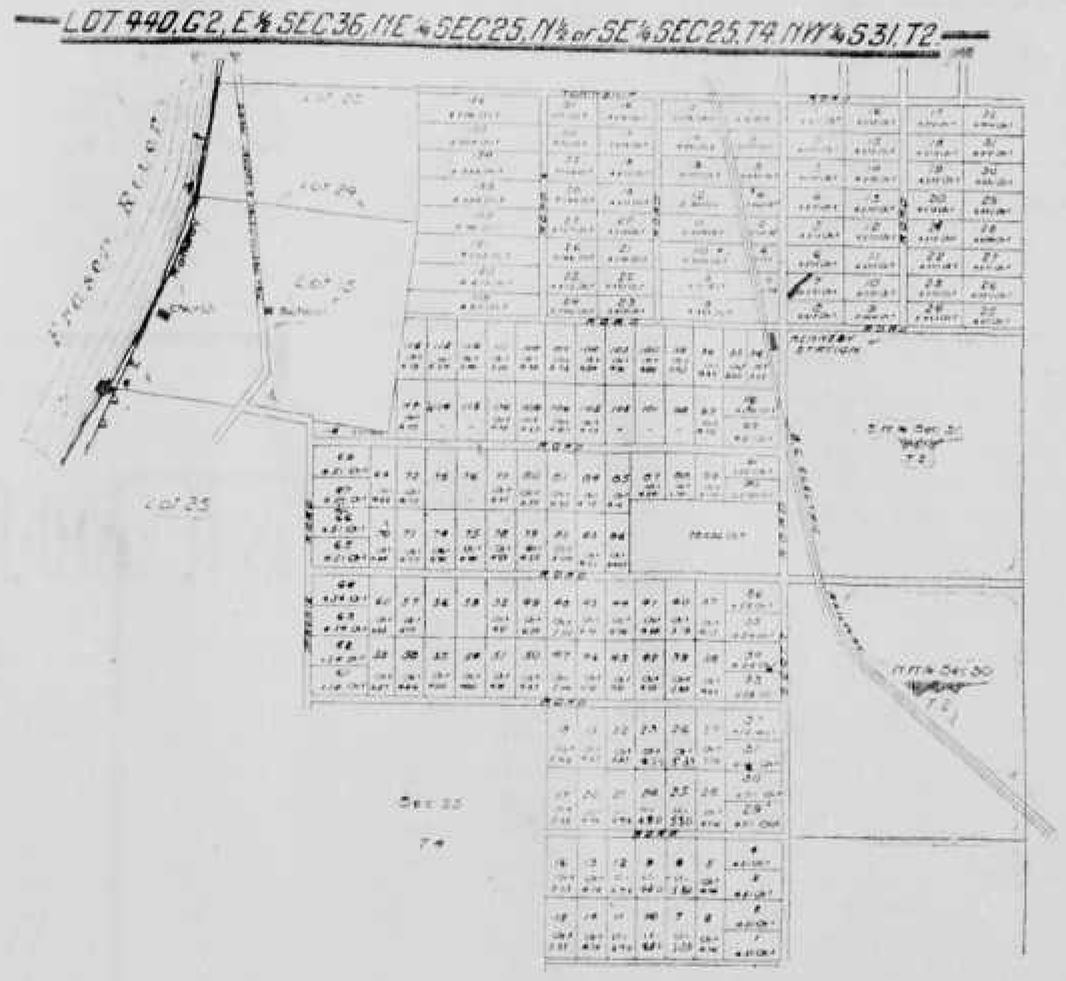
—SOUTH WESTMINSTER.—

—PLAN—

—OF SUBDIVISION OF—

—LOT 440, G2, E½ SEC 36, NE¼ SEC 25, N½ of SE¼ SEC 25, T4, NW¼ S31, T2—



A PLUM PUDDING!

The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it, and to judge from the way the 5-acre blocks in our South Westminster subdivision are being gobbled up, the investing public recognize a really good thing when they see it.

"My lot is a peach!" said one man who bought about two weeks ago, and only examined his purchase for the first time yesterday, "and I would not take double what I paid for it. You do not say half enough about your splendid subdivision. It is by far the best thing advertised in any of the papers."

"I am going to make a home on my 5-acre farm and will commence building right away. I consider land here will, in a very short time, be just as valuable as any along the Vancouver-Westminster tram line."

These are only two of the many complimentary references to our 900-acre subdivision, and go to show that our statements are based on fact and will bear investigation, as for instance, when we state that the new Chilliwack tram runs through and has its first fixed station in the centre of the property it will be found exactly as we represent. We make this point to offset if possible the bad effect of statements circulated in an effort to sell certain other lands, that the new tram line runs through them, when, as a matter of fact, an old discarded trail line is the only thing in evidence, and the adopted route, where actual construction is rapidly advancing, is miles away. This sort of thing does no good and brings discredit on the perpetrator of the canard.

All the other excellent and variously named orchards, gardens and apple groves are all right in their way and place, but are not in the same class with ours. This is conceded by all.

Our principals have control of all the good land at the South Westminster end of the Chilliwack tram line, and it is here that the wise ones are now investing, recognizing that our choice suburban villa sites possess soil admirably suited to fruit culture, and can be purchased for $100 per acre—the same price asked for 5-acre blocks situated from 10 to 20 miles distant from town.

Our subdivision has only been on the market a few weeks, but during that short time we have disposed of over 200 acres. This fact speaks for itself.

If fruit farms are worth $100 per acre 15 miles from town, what should they be worth two miles away, where you have all the conveniences of city life? This is the way the question is being figured out, and the result is very much in our favor.

Don't put it off, but come right along and buy a block. You'll never regret it. We've only a limited number to let go at present prices. When trams commence running prices will advance 100 to 200 per cent.

Our carriages go over every day. Any hour will suit us. It only takes half an hour to drive over.

ELECTION PURITY?

The eastern papers coming to hand, reveal very deplorable campaign methods on the part of the Purist Tories. It is hard to believe that which actually occurred in the central Conservative committee rooms in Winnipeg, where some 300 to 400 men were continuously regaled with beer, etc., during the Saturday and Sunday previous to polling day. Two bars were set up and those who wished to pay for their stimulants paid, but there was the splendid (?) provision made that if the price was not forthcoming, the liquids were handed out free. In the first place it was illegal to have these unlicensed bars running at all. It was illegal, supposing they operated under license, to vend or dispense intoxicants on Sunday. It was illegal to have intoxicants at the candidate's committee room for general distribution. It was illegal for the candidate or his agents to treat between the nomination and the close of polling day. If it were not illegal, if the law did not expressly prohibit what was done, which it clearly does, then the proceeding of carrying on a drunken debauch for days in the central committee room of any candidate is an offense against common decency, and every person connected with it, directly or indirectly, should hang their heads in shame that such an orgy was carried on for the purpose of electing a supporter of the man who has gone up and down the land calling for purity of elections.

What value can be placed by Mr. Borden upon support gained with such open bribery and corruption. The unfortunate thing is that Winnipeg was not alone in its orgies, but that methods very similar were used at other places, some of them not fifty miles from New Westminster, the difference of not being actually in the committee rooms was more than made up by the duration of the free supply to the recipients, which in one case extended over three weeks. For neatness of distribution the Tories in the West certainly take the palm. Small bottles were filled and placed in card covers with different designations thereon, the most favorite being cream chocolates. This certainly was handier than canned tomatoes, barrelled apples or canned fruits and was le s easy of detection, but in some cases must have been more costly because of the inside wrapping being made up of Dominion bills. Safeguarded as offences generally are, in nearly every instance some corner of the shield is left uncovered, and we expect to see the penalty of such carelessness become very interesting before the House meets at Ottawa.

WHERE WE STAND.

Hon. Mr. Oliver speaking at Kamloops on Thursday said: "A government must be guided in its policy to a very large extent by the votes of the people." We have been charged by some Tories, who feel keenly the mistake they have made and the magnificent opportunity they have lost, that in pointing out that the government will be justified in accepting the verdict of the constituency against its policy of development, we are knocking the city's interests. We claim we are doing nothing of the kind, because however able and influential we are, we cannot hope to be as powerful in influencing the government as the voice of the electorate, and if any knocking has been done, it has been done by these very people who are now crying for mercy when they have struck a heavy body blow. These same people gloated over the victory in this constituency on the night of election with band and torchlight procession, and it was not until the next morning they awoke to the cold hard fact that instead of injuring the Liberal government they had injured their nasal organs to spite their own faces.

It is useless at this late date to say they were not adverse to the Laurier government's policy of developing the West and improving our great waterway. The government's policy must be judged as a whole. The electorate cannot hand out such an emphatic protest on one single item of the government's administration, and then claim that it agrees with all the other planks in its policy.

Such a contention is arrant nonsense, particularly when it endorsed, as it did in this case, the ridicule the candidate's paper published day by day of the great work the government had undertaken for the especial benefit of this city and district. The ridicule is now said by some of these croakers to have been only a joke of an irresponsible, but it was given a place on the front page of the member-elect's journal day after day, and is on file in the libraries of the House of Commons and the Senate, and will be not so much of a joke as these people think, when the man responsible for the Columbian is sitting to the left of Mr. Speaker in opposition to the government, and matters affecting us are under discussion. If the "wireless" had appeared just once it might have been passed as a joke, but when it was persisted in day after day to cast doubt on the veracity of the Minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. Pugsley, as to the purchase of the Fruhling dredge and as to the work being carried out with it, what have we a right to expect from a man who is, like ourselves, human. What can we expect, when before these men whom the country have again honored with its confidence, sits the man who has, continuously for years, maligned them as rascals, grafters, boodlers, thugs, and who when he referred to the first gentleman of Canada and the brightest statesman under the British flag today, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had no other term by which to refer to him than that of "Laurier and Loot."

If the electorate did not agree with this continuous blackmail, why did it endorse the man levying it? Way did it endorse the man who took the mightiest of all agencies, the pen, to blacken the reputation of the men whom the electorate where they are best known has declared to be clean and able administrators?

It is of little use to say now that the electorate were over-credulous, because unlimited proof of the falsity of the charges made was forthcoming, and if guilt was still believed in when innocence was fully proven, the British fair play we boast of so much is a myth.

The sugegstion made that Mr. Jardine should go to Ottawa for the session in the interests of the river improvement, which lays so near his heart, and which he would like to see put through to completion, together with other matters of vital interest to this city, is beyond question the meanest attitude that could be taken by the very men who only a few days ago were slandering him and his party without stint.

In the face of what has been said and done by the member-elect, and the endorsation of his course by the people, however much Mr. Jardine would like to see the work carried to completion, and his willingness to sacrifice his time and expenses, his task would be a herculean one, and if we know him he would go, if he should so decide, because he personally would like to see this city and district share in the great progression and not because of the cringing desire of the misguided and credulous Tories to get something they know their chosen Moses is unable to procure for them.

Yesterday being All Saints Day, the services at Holy Trinity cathedral were of a special nature. The Rev. A. Their Importance in the Eyes of the Indian Native.

India is so vast that different etiquettes prevail in different districts. We have no standard etiquette, no standard dress. We mostly copy European etiquette while with Europeans. Even a Bengalese shakes hands with a Bengalese, speaks in English for a few minutes and then breaks forth into the vernacular. We shake hands with a European on parting, but by mistake again touch the hand to the brow in a salaam, so we both shake hands salaam and do the like, and no sober minded European ever cared for the anomaly.

The umbrella is the emblem of royalty, the sign of a rajah, so natives generally fold their umbrellas before a rajah and not before anybody else however great. It is not a part of the dress, but a protection from the rain or sun, a necessary appendage, just like the watch and chain. You might as well ask a European to take off his waterproof coat. A cooly is not bound to fold his umbrella when a brigadier general rides past. But a menial generally closes down the umbrella on seeing his master, whom he considers his king. But no Indian, however humble, ought to fold up the umbrella, even before a magistrate, because he is neither the master of the humble passerby nor his superior officer, nor is he bound to salaam him. But if he does, no harm. In a word, natives generally fold the umbrella before a master or a superior officer and not any other citizen, however great, and this is no insult.

While going to see a native chief in his palace the native visitor or official takes off his shoes if the reception room has a farash and the rajah is sitting on his musnud. But if he is received in the drawing room, furnished after the European style, the shoes are allowed. In some states no natives can go to a rajah without a pagree. In others the pugree is taken off and tossed at the feet of a rajah.

It is ridiculous in a European (from the Hindoo point of view) to order a native to take off his shoes. This is what we ask our priest to do, so that we may touch the dust of his feet. A munshi when mildly rebuked by his sahib took off his shoes, but recounted the whole scene to his better half, saying, "Sala hamara gor ka gurds lenay magtna!" ("The brother-in-law wants the dust of my feet.")—Indian Military Gazette.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

No man ever landed a particularly easy position by trying to dodge work.

Almost every man imagines he would do a lot of philanthropic stunts if he had the money.

Why is it that the people with nothing to do but sit around and visit are such dreadful bores?

Some people imagine that by being impudent they are showing others they are "as good as anybody."

When a father and son are in business the son can usually tell of a lot of mistakes his father makes.

Almost any married man can make his friends smile by saying he is perfectly free to do as he pleases.

When the carbolic acid bottle finds itself next to the cough medicine on the shelf, Death stops sharpening his scythe to lean back and be merry.—Atchison Globe.

"Checkmate."

"Checkmate!" represents "shah mat"—"the shah is dead." "Shah," in fact entered our language long ago via Arabic and old French, arriving in the form of "check." "Chess" is really "checks," kings, and the cry of "Check!" means your king is in danger; hence the verb and substantive "check" in all their English meanings—"check," which was originally the counterfoil of a bill that served to "check" fraud; "checkered," from the aspect of the chessboard, and "exchequer," from the checkered pattern of the tablecloth on which the king's accounts were kept with counters. All these we owe to the Persian sovereign's title.—London Chronicle.

The Bosnian Roasting Jack.

A curious variety of the old fashioned roasting jack is used by the peasants of Bosnia and Herzegovina when roasting sheep whole, as on the occasion of a wedding ceremony. One often sees near a running stream a long pole having one end revolving freely in a socketed peg, while the other, overhanging the water, is equipped with miniature paddles. This is the Bosnian roasting jack. The sheep to be cooked is impaled on the log, a fire is lit underneath, and while the current spins the paddles and the pole merrily round the big joint is cooked literally to a turn.—Wide World Magazine.

Why She Was Pleased.

Tess—Did Mr. Borem ever call on you? Jess—Yes; he called last evening. I was quite delighted when the girl brought up his card. Tess—Oh come now. You weren't really delighted? Jess—Certainly. You see, if she hadn't brought up his card I might have gone down to him, thinking it was some one else.—Philadelphia Press.

"I hardly think so. Archibald is too modest and retiring."

"Oh, well, he may get to be vice president."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

SIR

Are you earning $25.00 per week?
Few clerks are paid so much money.
Few advertisement experts are paid less.
But many qualified men are paid much more.
Wannamaker, of Philadelphia, pays his advertising manager $25,000 per year, and in a recent interview said he was cheap at the price.

Can I Learn to be an Ad. Writer by Correspondence?

Our answer is, yes. We can teach you how to write good, catchy advertisements by mail just as well as if you were attending personally, and only taking up half an hour of your time every evening.

The Swords School of Advertising is the best school of instruction for many reasons, viz.:

It is the only school that gives you their personal criticisms, no form letter being used, but, instead, the work of every student is looked over separately.

Then, too, it is the only school that is conducting a successful advertising service, and is backed up by leading merchants of the province. It supplies practical ad-work for the student, showing lay-outs, copy, etc., which is picked from the most successful advertisements written by its writers.

Its system of teaching by mail is endorsed by not only the leading merchants and manufacturers, but by the greatest experts and publishers.

If you have only a common, ordinary school education and earning less than $25.00 per week, let us put you in the most lucrative profession in the world today.

Its employed students are everywhere—in stores, factories, advertising agencies, and are so thoroughly qualified that they command higher salaries year after year. If you want to work up in the firm you are with, this knowledge will open the door of promotion, and we can do it by correspondence and the hearty co-operation of yourself.

THIRD MURDERER IS DOOMED TO DIE DEC. 18

Chinaman Sentenced to Share Doom of Two Negroes on Fatal Friday.

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—The second death sentence of the present assize was pronounced by Mr. Justice Clement yesterday afternoon, when he sentenced Lee Chung to be hanged on Dec. 18, for the murder of Yung Hing, in South Vancouver, in July last.

The jury empanelled in the case had retired at 1:15 p.m., and when the court reassembled at three o'clock, they were not yet ready with their verdict. About fifteen minutes later, however, a rap was heard on the door, and when the sheriff opened it, they filed solemnly back to their seats.

When their names had been called and the general question asked, the foreman announced that they had found the prisoner guilty of murder.

After ordering the prisoner to stand up, Mr. Justice Clement asked, "Have you anything to say why the sentence of death should not be passed upon you?"

The question being conveyed to the prisoner by Court Interpreter David Lew, he replied through the same medium: "The sentence of death should not be passed upon me. I am not guilty of killing Yung Hing. Two or three men had quarrels with him a day or two before that."

The judge replied that the jury had found him guilty, and nothing remained but to pass the sentence of the law upon him. He then pronounced the formula ordering the prisoner to be taken to the gaol at New Westminster and there on the 18th day of December, "to be hanged by the neck till you are dead," etc.

As the awful words were interpreted to the prisoner, his stolid wooden-looking face showed not the slightest sign of emotion, and he walked out of the dock as coolly as if he had been going to his breakfast. Lee Chung is a little man with a weazened, leathery face, of such repose of expression that if set under a canopy with knees tent under and hands crossed before, he might well be taken for a joss.

His sentence means that there will be three hangings in New Westminster on the same date, the trio being composed of two negroes and a Chinaman. Pertella was first sentenced in Vancouver for the murder of Mrs. Jenkins on Prior street; a few days later the mulatto Jenkins was sentenced in New Westminster for the murder of Mrs. Morrison at Hazelmere.

PURSER POSED AS AGENT OF TEHUANTEPEC RAILWAY

Victoria, Nov. 1.—Telegrams have been sent to the Seattle police, asking them to secure the arrest of J. B. Russer, former purser of the Canadian-Mexican steamer Georgia, who is accused by the manager of the company with stealing a book of tickets and selling tickets to four men arrived here from Seattle. The men stated that they had been engaged by Russer, who alleged that he was agent for the Tehuantepec railroad, to work on that road, and had bought tickets from him for $56. The tickets were not honored on the steamer.

SLUMLAND IN CHICAGO DESCRIBED TO AUDIENCE

Miss Murcutt Tells of Poverty Rampant in Windy City—Degradation of the Slumdwellers.

Miss Ada L. A. Murcutt devoted her attention at the opera house meeting last evening to the poverty and slumland of Chicago. The house was crowded. A very good idea of the Windy City was given in the series of pictures thrown on the screen, but naturally the plan was not to show the gigantic buildings of the second city of the union or its wonders, but to draw attention to the degradation, especially in the foreign quarter, due, the lecturer said, to the drink habit. The sad scenes, which seem the inevitable concomitant of the aggregation of great bodies of people in a small area, are in few great cities more pronounced than in the Illinois metropolis, and harrowing pictures of them were shown.

The overcrowding in the tenement houses was graphically described, in one case 300 families occupied a house of sixty-six rooms. The children are driven to seek their daily sustenance on the street, in the garbage tins at the market, and from the rubbish sent to the destructor grounds. Born of inebriate parents many took to strong drink from their babyhood, and were confirmed drinkers at sixteen.

Miss Murcutt set down the condition of affairs described almost entirely to drink, but there is little doubt that other factors enter into consideration in establishing this deplorable condition of society, as the investigations of Charles Booth into poverty have shown.

WESTWARD HO!

A Magazine Worth While.

Replete with interesting fiction, soulful poetry and studied commercial articles dealing with western cities, the November number of Westward Ho! has just been issued. It is a magazine of high merit, a monthly creditable to any western city on this continent. In "Autumn in Stanley Park," Agnes Lockhart Hughes catches the true spirit of the falling maple leaf and interprets it in verse worthy of high encomiums. Photographs of unusual merit depicting scenes in South Africa, including a settling swarm of locusts, accompany a well written article by Capt. G. Godson Godson. "Along the Coast of the Northwest" is a well illustrated article due to the pen of J. H. Grant, who has gleaned much useful information from old bucks and klootches of Indian villages. Other writers who contribute are Patrick Vaux, Robert A. Hood, E. S. Lapatecki, Mrs. J. A. Skinner, L. Harward, H. A. Black, Bonnycastle Dale, Percy Flage and over a dozen more.

SECRETARY OF NAVY EXPECTED TO RESIGN

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, D.C., says:

A rumor that Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the navy, had resigned because of ill health, and was to be succeeded by T. H. Newberry, of Detroit, floated into Washington from Detroit yesterday.

At the White House a statement was made that nothing was known there of the reported change. Secretary Metcalf is ill at his home in Washington.

It has been the understanding here that he would leave office at the close of the Roosevelt administration. The rumor is believed to be a case of coming events casting their shadows before.
