WAGE SCHEDULE IS SIGNED

R. H. Sperling, General Manager of B. C. E. R., and Eight Delegates from Employees Ratify Agreement

GOOD ADVANCE IN WAGES

Negotiations Carried Out With Both Sides Working In Harmony---Schedule is to Expire July 1, 1910.

By the affixing of the signature of R. H. Sperling, manager of the B. C. E. R., on the one part, and eight delegates, representing the New Westminster, the Vancouver, the Victoria and the Lulu Island unions of the employees of the company, on the other part, a three-year agreement was ratified yesterday afternoon by which the rates of wages for that period was finally agreed upon. There were two delegates from each local union, the two New Westminster men being J. Archibald and C. Feeney.

Under the new agreement, the employees secure an advance of about twenty per cent over their old wage the schedule being as follows: For motormen and conductors, first three months, 20 c per hour; second three months, 23c; after one year, 25½c.; two years, 26½c.; three years, 27½c.; four years, 28½c.; five years, 29c; seven years, 30½c.; after ten years, the maximum rate of 31 ½c. an hour will be paid. Time and a half will be paid for overtime to conductors and motormen, who are to work ten hours a day.

For trackmen, 25c an hour; carpenters, blacksmiths, painters and other skilled workmen in the car shops will receive 37 c an hour for the first year; 38½c. for the second; and the maximum of 40c for the third year. Helpers will be paid at the same rate as conductors and motormen. Overtime in the car shops will be at the rate of time and a half from six o'clock in the evening until midnight, and double time from midnight until seven o'clock in the morning.

Throughout every stage of the negotiations, the best of harmony prevailed among the men and the company, and at no time was there any indication that any other than an amicable arrangement would be reached. The negotiations had been going on for several weeks, but it was only yesterday that the agreemnt which stiles the wage question until July 1, 1910, was signed by the parties interested.

C. S. Corrigan, Esq.,
Recorder Fraser Lodge, A.O.U.W.,
New Westminster:

Dear Sir.—yours of the 1st instant enclosing cheque for $2,000, received. Please accept my thanks for the prompt and satisfactory payment made, through you, by the Ancient Order of United Workmen, of my claim under my deceased husband's beneficiary certificate.

Wishing your order every prosperity in its career of usefulness.

Yours truly,
S. E. McCOLL.

HOSPITAL PLANS.

New Furnace Needed at the Royal Columbian.

A special visit of the building committee of the Royal Columbian hospital will be paid to that institution within the next few days for the purpose of looking into the matter of erecting a new furnace, the present heating apparatus being far from satisfactory. It is the intention of the board of managers to put in a new furnace, if it can be done in such a way that it can be used for the new building after it is erected, and it is in order to determine this that the building committee will inspect the building.

At a special meeting of the board of managers held on Wednesday, several matters of importance in connection with the hospital were discussed. Architect Sait was instructed to prepare plans and specifications in order to be able to call for tenders for the building of the maternity cottage and the nurses' home. Tenders will be called for in the course of the next few weeks, as both buildings are to be completed before the winter. While the new building is being built, the present maternity cottage will be used for private ward patients.

Those present at the meeting on Wednesday were: James Cunningham in the chair, Mrs. Hill, T. Gifford, M. P. P., Marshall Sinclair, L. A. Lewis, James Johnston, W. H. Keary secretary, and E. W. G. Sait, architect.

Kanaka Sampson, the Indian who was before the police magistrate yesterday morning to answer to the charge of being drunk and incapable was assessed the sum of five dollars. Sandy Sterling, who was before the throne of justice on the same indictment, will do fifteen days in jail, during which tme he can form good resolutions regarding his future career.

The executive and other members of the New Westminster Lacrosse club were entertained by the Rev J. S. Henderson at his home last night. A good gathering was present, and the evening was devoted to music and refreshments, which were greatly appreciated by the lacrosse players.

...oms, has been retired under the superannuation clause. The announcement was gazetted on July 1, but Mr. Clute, who has been away in the upper country, was not aware of his retirement until yesterday.

The regular monthly meeting of the local council of women will take place in the board of trade room on Monday afternoon. As this will be the last meeting previous to the National convention, which is to take place n Vancouver two weeks hence, a large attendance is requested.

DATES OF FAIRS, 1907.

Official List of Exhibitions Throughout the Dominion.

The following is the official list of fairs and exhibitions slated to take place throughout the Dominion this fall. With the possible exception of Central Park, the dates are certified correct by the manager of the New Westminster exhibition, Mayor W. H. Keary.

Calgary exhibition, Calgary, July 9, 10, 11, 12.

Winnipeg industrial exhibition, Winnipeg, July 13 to 20, A. W. Bell, Secy.

Washington state fair, North Yakima, Sept. 23 to 28, C. A. Graham, Secy.

Central Canada exhibition, Ottawa, Sept. 13 to 21, E. McMahon, Secy.

Dominion exhibition, Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 2 to 4, William Tomlinson, Secy.

Brandon exhibition, Brandon, Man., July 22 to 26, F. J. Clark.

Canadian national exhibition, Toronto, Ont., Aug. 26 to Sept. 9, J. O. Orr, Secy.

Alexandra Wins Second Race.

SEATTLE, July 5.—The cup defender Alexandra, of Vancouver, B.C., won the race from the Spirit this afternoon, crossing the finishing line three seconds ahead of the Seattle boat.

The race was one of the best ever seen in Seattle waters.

The Grim Aftermath.

CHICAGO, July 5.---The Tribune to-day says: Thirty-seven men, women and children are dead and 2,153 are maimed, lacerated or burned as a result of yesterday's exercises of patriotism in the United States. The number of dead does not include five drowned during the day. The roster of the dead is four more than last year's mortalities.

Committee Arranges for Picnic to Bellingham

"To Bellingham by boat," seems to be the popular idea for the citizens picnic ths year. The committee appointed to attend to the transportation part of the excursion, have been getting busy lately, and the high officials of the different transportation companies have been interviewed. As near as can be learned, the proposition to make a rail excursion out of it will not be seriously entertained for several reasons, the chief being that this class of excursion does not seem to meet with the encouragement of many, and that the price asked by the railway companies is too steep to be considered. Strenuous efforts are now being made to secure the Princess Royal, and it is more than probable that the efforts of the committee will be successful.

Buster Brown and his trusty dog Tige arrived here last night on the Owl train from Seattle, and will be on view today for the first time in the Royal City. Buster will hold a parade as the first feature of his entertainment, following which he and Tige will perform some of their clever stunts n front of W. E. Sinclair's boot and shoe store. This combination has given these exhibitions in several of the large cities from New York to the Pacific Coast, and has always been attended with immense success.

The grounds surrounding St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church have recently been greatly improved. A $4000 addition to the rear of the cathedral, which will increase the seating accommodation by about one-third, will be built this summer.

One of the most successful Sunday school picnics took place yesterday, when the children of the West End Methodist Church indulged in their annual Sunday school picnic to Second Beach. The day was fine and arrangements perfect, and the ride in the car most enjoyable. A good supply of eatables had been provided, which, upon being spread when the party arrived at its destination, was done ample justice to by the youngsters, and the many grown ups who accompanied the expedition.

Geographical Atlas Has Many Fine Maps

The Daily News is in receipt of an Atlas of Canada' published by the Department of the Interior, and prepared under the direction of James White, F. R. G. S., geographer.

The atlas, which is handsomely bound, contains thirty-nine maps, showing the territorial divisions, forests, geology, minerals, telephones, railways, canals, lakes, and sailing routes, density of population, origins of the people, routes of explorers, international boundaries, etc., etc.

Eighty-three diagrams, covering trade and commerce, population, agriculture, manufactures, finance, vital statistics, currency, marine, fisheries, railways, education and immigration; while statistics covering the population, area of lakes and the progress of Canada in its area, population and material industries, etc., are included.

The whole work shows an immensity of labor hard to conceive, and is most invaluable from both the student and the general public's standpoint.

Mr. White is to be congratulated on the splendid results achieved on putting out such a monument to the work of the Department of the Interior.

MANY WILL ATTEND

C. E. Convention at Seattle Attracts Many From B. C.

The delegates who were to attend the Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Seattle from July 1 to July 15, have decided to make the trip to the Queen City by boat, as they have been unable to secure special rates over the railways, neither road offering them any inducements to travel over their lines. As a result the Iroquois has been specially chartered, and will leave Vancouver on Tuesday morning at seven o'clock. The fare is to be $4 for the round trip, and a large number will avail themselves of the cheap rate.

A special rate has also been obtained from the B. C. E. R. from this city to Vancouver, but before the reduced price tickets are issued, all delegates must show their certificates. Over 90 certificates have been disposed of in Vancouver, while 25 have been taken up by New Westminster people. A large number have also been issued i Victoria, and altogether it is expected that the Iroquois will carry about two hundred people to Seattle.

BRISK BUSINESS AT CITY MARKET

Potatoes, one of the principal market products which have been commanding such a high figure lately owing to their scarcity, are beginning to arrive in larger quantities now, and a fair supply of this year's crop was on the market yesterday morning, as was also several tons of the old tubers. The old potatoes still hold their last week's price of $45 per ton, but the samples of the new crop which were offered declined half a cent in price, since last week, selling at two and a half cents per pound, as against last week's quotations of 3 cents. Potatoes, both new and old, are being eagerly sought after, and what was on sale was soon bought up at the above prices, early in the day.

The meat supply on view, while not perhaps as large in quantity as last Friday's offerings, was of a better quality in the majority of cases and commanded good sales at slightly lower figures than last week, the prices ranging on hind quarters from eight and a half to nine and a half cents, while good fronts sold for six and a half to seven and a half cents per pound.

Mutton still keeps scarce, the farmers having this class of meat seeming slow to take advantage of the good prices ruling. The limited supply which was on the market yesterday kept the price firm, and the day's sales closed at the opening figures which were the same as last week, namely twelve and thirteen cents per pound. No difficulty was experienced in selling as the supply was far below the demand.

The demand for prime carcasses of lamb was excellent, and the supply, though fair, was not equal to the occasion, many who were not on the market early failing to get in on the sales. Four fifty and five dollars per carcass, the ruling price, though in most cases the latter figure prevailed. The demand for pork, which has weakened slightly during the warm weather, seems to be going up again, but the price still remains at eleven cents per pound. Very little pork was offered yesterday, but all that was on sale was quickly bought up at the above prices.

Butter and eggs are still the medium for good business transactions and prices hold firm.

A good supply of both these commodities was on hand yesterday and with a good steady demand, a brisk trade was carried on all morning. Eggs were retailing at thirty-five

SCOURING EAST FOR TALENT

Irving Beers Takes Miss Marjorie Rambeau Into Partnership for Management of Opera House.

WIDELY KNOWN ACTRESS

West Failing to Provide Attractions for Local Playhouse, Lady Takes Trip to New York for Performers.

Miss Marjorie Rambeau, the talented young Southern actress, has entered into partnership with Irving Beers, and will assist him in running the Opera house in New Westminster, on which he has secured a three years' lease, and it is more than probable that under this go-ahead management the theatre goers of this city will doubtless see some first class productions put on the boards.

Irving Beers and Miss Rambeau have made up their minds that nothingthat is not in every way up to the mark will be presented here, and after a thorough search through Seattle and other western centres for what they consider suitable talent, have decided to draw upon the resources of the east. Miss Rambeau accompanied by her mother, will leave Vancouver tomorrow for New York, where they will engage a first class company to bring out to the coast.

Mr. Beers is confident of being able to open his engagements here by about the middle of August. Miss Rambeau is one of the most popular actresses of the day, having scored a phenomenal success in the ...ew York production of the "Virginian," in which she was leading lady with Mr. Farnham. She also starred in "Merely Mary Ann," "When we were twenty one," "Cousin Kate" and many other of the latter day plays which have been so favorably received by the theatre going public.

Unparalleled Aggregation.

In bringing the Dandy Dixie Minstrels to the Opera house on Wednesday, 10th July, Messrs. Voelckel & Nolan offer what is claimed to be the most expensive, colossal and unparalleled aggregation of colored players ever organized. There are said to be more clever comedians, master musicians, dandy dancers and sweet singers than in any other company, while the olio features of ten big specialty acts, the gorgeous, grand first part in the Royal Palm Grotto and an original and excruciatingly funny finale, "A Fowl Deed," conspire to afford minstrel patrons an evening of solid enjoyment.

The big company of clever colored performers,which includes the famous Cotton Pickers' band of solo musicians and the Oklahoma octette; the Dixie College Rangers in a series of 'varsity class songs, patriotic airs and old sweet songs of the South; the Campbell Brothers,in an original comedy musical act; Williams & Stevens, comic impersonators; Toney Trio, the dare-devil acrobats; Benny Jones, the Texas Teaser; together with a buck dance contest, which is open to all-comers, and for which valuable prizes are awarded.

The West End Methodist Sunday school picnic is to be held at Stanley Park, Vancouver, on Wednesday of next week. Special cars will leave the city at 8:55 a.m., picking up the bulk of the picnickers at Sixth avenue

The Chatty Traveler Who Charmed Ralph Waldo Emerson.

It is related that Ralph Waldo Emerson was once on his way to California when he was joined by a man who was altogether so sociable and chatty that an otherwise tedious journey was rendered quite cheerful. This man's name was Sackett, and he told Mr. Emerson that he resided in San Francisco. Mr. Sackett indicated all the points of interest along the way, related a lot of amusing anecdotes and, best of all, was also an attentive listener. The consequence was that Mr. Emerson came to the conclusion that Mr. Sackett was as charming a man as he had ever met, and it was in this positive conviction that he accepted Mr. Sackett's invitation to dine with him immediately upon their arrival in San Francisco. The next morning Mr. Emerson was astonished and annoyed to find in all the local papers this startling personal notice: "Professor Ralph Waldo Emerson, the eminent philosopher, scholar and poet, is in our city as the guest of J. Sackett, the well known proprietor of the Bush Street Dime museum. Matinees every half hour. Admission only 10 cents. The double headed calf and the dog faced boy this week!"

Helping an Invalid.

A trained nurse mentions as among the little things that help make an invalid feel comfortable and rested the frequent brushing of the hair and bathing of the hands and face. "I don't know what it is, whether these actions just divert the invalid's mind or really do effect some physical change for the better, but they certainly help the sick one to get through the day. Eau de cologne and the various toilet waters are very refreshing when added to the water or used independently. I once heard a man say that if he couldn't both wash his hands and face and comb his hair in the morning when he got up he would choose to comb his hair. It would wake him up better. He felt something of the same sense of physical comfort as the average convalescent or invalid."

Carlyle.

Thomas Carlyle, "the sage of Chelsea," died without winning much personal popularity, a fact, however, which is forgotten in admiration of his genius. Carlyle exerted a greater influence on British literature during the middle of the nineteenth century and on the religious and political beliefs of his time than possibly any other British writer. He never wrote a line that he did not believe, and in regard to style he certainly had no superior. From the position of schoolmaster in an obscure village this great Scotsman rose to be a leader in the world of letters.—London Standard.

Disillusioned.

"She had played in amateur theatricals, you know, and threatened to go on the stage if her parents wouldn't let her marry the duke."

"And what did her parents do?"

"They let her go on the stage, gave the duke a check for a front seat and were not at all surprised when he sailed back to France the next morning."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Favorite.

"What is your favorite recitation?" asked the hostess.

"'Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight,'" answered Mr. Blykins, with a promptness which was almost defiant.

"Why, nobody recites that now."

"That's why I like it."

His Rebuke.

Small Johnny (after the slipper exercise)—I'm glad I ain't a girl. Mamma—Why? Small Johnny—'Cause I'd be ashamed to grow up into a woman and punish little boys like me.

HUMOR

AUNTIE'S MEMORY.

What She Knew About the Fall of the Roman Empire.

An old colored woman down in Alabama was reported to be of great age and was extremely proud of the distinction. The proprietor of a museum, on hearing of her, sent one of his agents to make an investigation, as she would be a valuable acquisition to his museum. The agent plied her with questions regarding her age. He asked her:

"Auntie, do you remember George Washington?"

"Does I remember George Washington? Laws a-massy, mister, I reckon I does, for I done nussed him when he was a chile."

"Well, I suppose you remember the Revolutionary war?"

"Yes, indeed, I does, honey. I stood dar lots of times an' seen de bullets flyin' round thick as hailstones."

"Well, auntie, how about the fall of the Roman empire? Do you recollect anything about that?"

"De fact is, honey, I was pretty young about dat time, but I does 'member, now you speak ob it, dat I did hear de white folks tell 'bout hearing som'pin' drop 'bout dat time."—Harper's Weekly.

Dog Did the Wrong Trick.

The Irishman wanted to sell the dog, but the prospective buyer was suspicious and finally decided not to buy. The man then told him why he was so anxious to sell. "You see," he said, "I bought the dog and trained him myself. I got him so he'd bark all the time if a person stepped inside the gate, and I thought I was safe from burglars. Then my wife wanted me to train him to carry bundles, and I did. If I put a packet in his mouth the dog would keep it there till some one took it away. Well, one night I woke up and heard some one in the next room. I got up and grabbed my gun. They were there—three of the scoundrels and the dog."

"Didn't he bark?" interrupted the man.

"Sorry a bark; he was too busy."

"Busy? What doing?"

"Carrying a lantern for the burglars."—Dublin Freeman.

A Friend In Need.

Automobilist (to another who has broken down)—Can I be of any assistance to you?

The Afflicted One (under the machine)—Yes, sir. That lady you see is my wife. I'll be obliged if you will kindly answer her questions and keep her amused while I'm fixing this infernal machine.—Woman's Home Companion.

The Landlady's View.

"Borden is recovering from his recent spell of sickness, isn't he?"

"Yes; at any rate, I heard today that his appetite is getting worse."

"Eh? Who told you that?"

"Miss Starvem, at whose house he boards."—Catholic Standard and Times.

More Elegant.

"What you have," said Dr. Newman, "is just a common cold, and all you need is a good sweat."

"Sir!" cried Miss Blugore haughtily. "I beg pardon! It's a fashionable cold, and what you need is a good perspiration."—Philadelphia Press.

Not Happily Put.

"There have been times in my life," said he gloomily, "when I was tempted to commit suicide."

"Oh, well," she said, "it's no use to grieve over the past. We can all look back and see where we've made mistakes."—Baltimore News.

Chip Sticks to Old Block.

Tommy Twaddles—Oh, I don't want to go to school.

Pa Twaddles—But don't you want a good education?

Tommy Twaddles (ingratiatingly)—No, pa; I'd rather grow up to be just like you.—Tit-Bits.

Inconsiderate Brute.

"I don't know why Enpeck can't get along better with his wife. He's always ready to take all the blame."

"But don't you see? That deprives her of the pleasure of loading it on to him."—Washington Herald.

A Singular Mollusk.

A singular light giving creature peculiar to the waters of southern California is the phyllirhoe, a sluggish mollusk. So plentiful are these light giving denizens of the deep along the Californian coast that those who have undergone the experience say a night on these waters is awe inspiring. As the boat passes along one can see in the waters under it countless forms, passing and repassing, each giving forth its strange, weird light. But beautiful and impressive as this strange sight is to the beholder, the light giving powers of these animals are disastrous to themselves, since the light emanating from them attracts the attention of marauding fishes, which seem to relish a light meal at any time.

Approval?

"Do you think they approved of my sermon?" asked the newly appointed rector, hopeful that he had made a good impression on his parishioners.

"Yes, I think so," replied his wife; "they were all nodding."

An Exciting Trip In the Midst of a Wild Thunderstorm.

On one occasion, rising suddenly through a stratum of clouds 10,000 feet in the air into brilliant sunshine, the gas dilated. I let out a little. Down we dropped into a cold air current. The immediate condensation of the gas dropped us back into the cloud layer, which condensed the gas still more and accelerated the drop. We came out directly above a stretch of woods over which lay another cool belt. By this time we were falling like a rock. We were going so fast that the bagfuls of sand we threw out went up instead of down. Hastily we threw out the drag rope, the anchor, the lunch basket—to little purpose. We struck the trees with a terrific crash, but escaped, however, with nothing worse than a shaking up and a few bruises.

The most exciting trip I ever made was a record breaking voyage that began one Sunday evening. The weather was not propitious, but we cast off. We sailed across the Hudson river to New Jersey and plunged into a cloud. After traveling twenty miles I descended to drop a note to my wife, assuring her of our safety. Again we shot into a cloud. Presently we drifted over a village and, with that exaltation that accompanies the sensation of floating in the air, enjoyed to a strange degree the music of church bells drifting up from below. Before we were aware we plunged into the midst of a huge approaching thunder cloud. It seemed to open and swallow us into a pit of gloom and simultaneously into the heart of the wildest thunderstorm I think I have ever seen. The clouds rolled and tossed and twisted. The balloon would now be forced down, then tossed up and again spun swiftly about like a top. We lost all sense of direction. Thunder was crashing and rolling and crackling all around us. Lightning flashed, not in forked zigzags, but in great flashes of fire. It was frightful. We did not want to descend, but presently we heard the unmistakable sound of water not far away. Letting out a little gas, we shot downward. Faster we dropped and faster. Land was below us. The problem was to land in the high wind without damage. I let out more gas. We landed in a treetop with a jar that fixed the basket so firmly in a crotch that it could not be dislodged by the wind, for now we had dropped below the storm.—World's Work.

VALUE OF FINGERS.

What the Various Countries of Europe Allow For Their Loss.

The different fingers are far from having the same value in the eyes of the law with reference to their functional utilization. Much the most important is the thumb, for without it prehension would be very imperfect. The hand is no longer pinchers, but merely a claw, when deprived of the thumb. It may be estimated that the thumb represents fully a third of the total value of the hand. The French courts allow 15 to 35 per cent value for the right hand and 10 to 15 for the left. The Austrian schedule gives from 15 per cent for the left to 25 per cent for the right. In Germany 20 and 28 per cent and even as high as 33.3 per cent has been awarded. The percentage is based on 100 as the total industrial value of the hand previous to the accident, a loss of 50 per cent representing half of the value, etc.

The total loss of the index finger causes an incapacity estimated at 10 to 15 per cent in Austria, 16 to 20 per cent in Germany, 15 per cent for the left and 20 per cent for the right by Italian courts. The French allow 15 per cent.

The middle finger is of much more importance than the index, states Dr. Meiguan, whom we are citing and who is no small authority, for a great loss of force is observed in the hand when the finger is amputated. Yet almost all the authorities ascribe less importance to it than the index. The Italian law allows 5 per cent, the Austrian 5 to 10 per cent.

The ring finger is the least important. Its total loss often does not cause incapacity. The Austrian tariff assimilates this finger to the middle one. The Italian law is liberal, with 8 per cent. The French and German tribunals often refuse indemnity, considering the incapacity resulting from the loss as very slight.

The little finger may be compared to the ring, except in the professions in which it serves as a point of support for the hand. It may be remarked here that the artist has not been taken into consideration in these cases.—Philadelphia Record.

Near Schwenksville, Pa., is a village that bears the name of Woxall. This wonderful name was the result of an error upon the part of the postoffice department in Washington. The place was known many years ago as "Croppestettel," or "Crowtown," and later as Mechanicsville, but when a postoffice was established there in 1888 neither of these names was satisfactory, and it was decided to choose a new cognomen. Many were the suggestions submitted to the postoffice department, but all were found to be too nearly like the name of some other postoffice to be acceptable. One day the village storekeeper saw the word "Noxall" upon a piece of calico and called the attention of several friends to it. At once all agreed that "Noxall" would be a fine name for their town. So the postoffice authorities were notified. Soon a letter came from Washington approving the name that had been chosen, but in the letter it was spelled "Woxall." So Woxall became the name of the village.—Philadelphia Record.

ON THE SURFACE.

We shall now have triumphant shouting from the McBride organs about the gratifying intelligence wired from the treasury at Victoria on Thursday that the provincial finances show a surplus of $1,000,000 or more for the fiscal year which closed a few days ago. This intelligence is, as we have called it, gratifying, and it would be most churlish to refuse a word of credit to the Hon. Mr. Tatlow, minister of finance, who is probably the most hard-working and conscientious of the ministers at James Bay. We have reason to believe that he has attended very faithfully to his duties, and we have no hesitation in ascribing to him all the credit which the government can legitimately claim for the good showing which, on the surface, the finances of the province now make.

But those who know how matters really stand and to what causes the improvement in revenue is due, will not need to be told that the credit due the government is largely negative; nor will such persons fail to see that the surface showing is far from exhibiting our financial condition in its true light.

We have said that the credit is largely negative—Mr. Tatlow has, we believe, been diligent in seeing that the treasury got its due, and he has probably done what he could to prevent waste; but in no way has the policy of the government materially contributed to the progress of the country—in some directions it has had the contrary effect.

We have spoken of the good showing being "on the surface." What is meant by that we may best make plain by an illustration. Suppose that a merchant who has laid in a fine stock of goods, finds himself compelled to leave his business for a time in the hands of an agent. His sales, we will say, are averaging $2,000 a week. His agent's reports begin to come to him—"Sales last week, $2,000; sales for the week, $4,000; took in $4,500 last week," and so on. No doubt he would congratulate himself on the fine showing of these reports; but when he returned and found that the goods had been cleared out at bargain counter prices; that the stock had not been kept up, and that few of the bills had been paid, he would ruefully conclude that the good showing had been "on the surface."

So it is in British Columbia today. The government are still paying a high rate of interest on a large part of that celebrated million-dollar loan which, as one of their organs candidly confessed the other day, was forced upon them by the bank. Taxation, both by direct levy and by the shifting of burdens, has been excessive; reproductive public works—to use a phrase which has gone somewhat out of fashion—have been neglected, and there has been a considerable recklessness, or possibly it may if they went, as under good administration of the resources of the country.

Take the management of our timber—our forest wealth—for example. Nearly the whole amount of the surplus, we are told, comes from that. It has been disposed of, and is selling every day, at bargain counter prices. That this is a mild statement of the fact is proved by the large amounts realized by men who have secured timber limits from the government, paying the full legal demand, and turned them over to investors. Profits—and very quick returns at that—of $10 to $15 for each dollar invested have been common. These investors, remember, escape no liability on the original purchaser. Timber is becoming more and more valuable every day, and men are willing to pay enormous premiums to secure good limits. The government knows all about that, yet it calmly goes on allowing shrewd speculators to pocket these big premiums, which, if they want, as under good administration they would go, intothe public treasury, would speedily make the boasted surplus look like thirty cents.

Nor is that all. The best and most accessible limits are being "cornered." As a consequence, the lumber consumers will be more and more heavily mulct as time goes on, and various industries, including the lumber industry itself, will be cramped and hampered.

We have not space to go into the matter further now, but no very deep consideration of the points we have touched upon and others which will occur to the reader, will be required to show that the good financial showing—while much better than it might have been, is still very largely "on the surface."

The fact that very few sockeye have come along so far is of no importace as an indication of the probable size of the run. Five years ago, the first record of catches worth noting was dated week ending July 19; so that a small run during the week after next would be quite as early start as in the season referred to, when some three million sockeye were delivered to the Fraser canneries. It is hoped that they will do rather better than that this year, but the excess cannot be very great. From the point of view of sockeye propagation, it is rather desirable than otherwise that the fish should come dribbling along in small numbers during the early part of the season, as in such case active fishing will not begin until later and the greater number of these early fish will go through to the upper spawning grounds, where they are needed.

Most people always use—and will always use WINDSOR SALT. Pure—fine—perfect in subtle savour.

"Book of Mormon."

The "Book of Mormon" has been proved to be a literary plagiarism, being a free paraphrase of a romance written by the Rev. Solomon Spalding in 1816, the manuscript of which came into the possession of Joseph Smith, and he, sitting behind a curtain, dictated it to Oliver Cowdery, who, seated out of sight of the reader, wrote the matter as it was given him. Smith pretended that the book was discovered to him by revelation and dug up from the side of a hill not far from Palmyra, in the county of Ontario, N. Y. The claim was made by Smith that the writing on the plates was engraved in "reformed Egyptian," which he was unable to read until magic spectacles, which he called his Urim and Thummim, were given to him, enabling him both to read and translate into English. The spectacles and the metal plates have disappeared, and the story of the dictation makes tolerably clear the manner in which the "Book of Mormon" had its origin.

The Same Thing.

Pa Twaddles—Well, what's the matter now? Tommy Twaddles—Ma says I mustn't never say a word while she's in the room. Ma Twaddles—Why, no, I didn't, dear. I said you mustn't interrupt while I'm talking. Tommy—What's the difference? — Cleveland Leader.

cents, while some large lots were secured wholesale for twenty-nine and thirey cents per dozen. Butter averaged from thirty to thirty-five cents.

A good supply of nice veal was on hand, and eleven cents seemed to be the popular price. The demand was well up to the supply and no trouble was experienced in disposing of all that was on the market.

The market was well supplied with chicken, broilers and ducks, which commanded ready sale with the exception of the web-footed birds, which seem to be a drug on the market at present, very few being anxious to invest. Good heavy fowl commanded seven fifty and eight fifty per dozen, while broilers sold all the way from three to four fifty per dozen. What ducks were sold fetched between five and six dollars per dozen.

Fairly good quantities of small fruits was offered, and the buying during the first part of the day was fairly brisk. Gooseberries sold at eight and nine cents per pound, red currants five cents, cherries eight and ten cents, and black currants averaged ten cents.

The flower display was well up to the mark, as was also a good line of green garden stuff which was offered.

Buster Brown and Tige

Have Arrived in Town

WE ARE ALL acquainted with Buster Brown and his dog Tige, who amuse the nation every Sunday with some funny prank and philosophical "resolution." You have probably thought that these characters were imaginary, or existed only in the ink and paper of the funny sheet. Such is not the case. The Brown Shoe Co., of St. Louis, deserves the credit for producing in real flesh and blood, a Buster Brown and Tige who will entertain you at OUR store.

This is the same Buster Brown and Tige whose daily receptions at the St. Louis World's Fair were attended by thousands and aroused so much favorable comment. Since then they have traveled the country from end to end and have added greatly to their fund of experience and wit, the novelty of which is enlivened by Buster's humorous delivery and Tige's remarkable intelligence which rivals that of his funny sheet namesake. The hour's reception at our store will be one of pure enjoyment to whoever attends—whether young or old—and hereafter when you see Buster and Tige in your paper you will have the additional pleasure of having met the two originals.

They will be in town SATURDAY, July 6th, and will hold a reception in front of SINCLAIR'S Shoe Store at 3 o'clock. A platform will be erected for that purpose.

W. E. SINCLAIR

WHEN REST IS NEEDED.

Feeling of Uncertainty In Performance of Routine Work.

"When people fall into the habit of wondering whether they have done routine things it is high time for them to consider the advisability of a rest," said a physician. "There is no surer sign, to my mind, that the system is becoming overtaxed than this feeling of uncertainty.

"I was staying with a friend the other night—spending the night with him, in fact. He's a man whom I know pretty well, and I thought at dinner and through the evening, from a little nervousness in his conversation and manner, that things weren't all right with him, but I wasn't absolutely convinced till bedtime approached. We were sitting upstairs in his study, his family having retired, and he asked me to excuse him while he saw that the house was locked up. It was a still night, and I could follow his progress around the various rooms on the first floor. He seemed to me to be unnecessarily long, and, without being inquisitive, I really became interested to know whether he wasn't making the rounds twice. Finally I heard him go into the parlor, a room I was sure he had visited at least once before. When he came upstairs I asked laughingly how many times he had seen that each window was fastened. But he wasn't in a laughing mood at all.

"'It's a funny thing, old man,' he said, 'but I've been fool enough to look at each window two or three times. Do you know, it would strike me after I had left a room that perhaps I hadn't put the catch properly on one of the windows there, and back I'd have to go to make sure. Being in there, I'd examine the other windows again. It's been that way for half a dozen nights. Somehow doing these things doesn't seem to make the impression on me that one would expect. This lack of sureness isn't confined to locking windows either. I find myself at the office wondering whether I have given such and such instructions—instructions that are so much a part of my daily work that I suppose I give them mechanically and then forget them. Nine times out of ten I find everything is all right, but I'm not quite happy till I do. I guess I must be getting old maidish in my old age.'

"It was my turn to be serious then. I explained to him that his forgetfulness all came from being overtired. From habit he worked like an automaton, doing this, that and the other thing in his business or home life, but a great number of his actions were without the cognizance of the brain. He needed rest and if he did not take it he would break down.

"I got him away from cares for a bit, and the next time I saw him he laughed as heartily over the incident of the much locked windows as I pretended to. He doesn't know it, but he had a narrow escape. I'm telling this story that it may serve as a warning in an overstrenuous age."—New York Press.

What Puzzled Her.

A woman whose religious education had been received in the plain edifice erected by an unassuming New England congregation was persuaded, much against her will, to attend divine service in one of New York's most showy churches. She showed from the start that, notwithstanding her puritanical training, she was interested in the proceedings. She studied the elaborate ceremony, the architecture, the richly tinted windows and the altar decorations closely. By and by her eyes became fixed on the ceiling. Her friend wondered what particular feature of those lofty heights held her attention for so long a time. During a lull in the chanting of the choir she tried to find out.

"Oh," said the New England woman in tones of infinite concern, "I was just wondering how on earth they get away up there to dust the rafters!"—New York Post.

What Is "All Wool?"

I have met a county magnate, a wealthy man who would not be put off with anything but the best, if he knew it, clad in a handsome "homespun" suit, the delicate blue gray mixture of which I happened to know was produced by the judicious blending of old blue stockings, such as navvies wear with old white stockings. I have seen a "society" lady in a stylish "blanket tweed" motor coat, the composition of which I knew to be of such a nature that it might very easily owe its existence in part to the cast-off hosiery of her own scullery maid, collected from the ash bin. Even the judge trying a case of "misrepresentation of goods" may, as likely as not, be unconsciously sitting in somebody else's thrown away rags that he has bought as "all wool."—A Woolen Manufacturer in Grand Magazine.

His Deep Grief.

Visitor—I do hope that poor Jack, your brother, does not grieve too much at my having broken our engagement. I feel sure he must be very unhappy. What did he say, dear? The Sister—Oh, he said what a lucky thing it was you broke it off this week instead of next, as it saved him from having to buy you a birthday present!

By the Pound.

Little Elsie—Mamma, how much do people pay a pound for babies? Mamma—Babies are not sold by the pound my dear. Little Elsie—Then why do they always weigh them as soon as they are born?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Bigamy.

Effie—Papa, a man who has a wife too much is a bigamist, is he not? Papa (thoughtfully)—Not always, dear.—Illustrated Bits.

WORKS OF A WATCH.

All the Parts Are but the Expression of One Idea.

To one who has never studied the mechanism of a watch its mainspring or the balance wheel is a mere piece of metal. He may have looked at the face of the watch, and while he admires the motions of its hands and the time it keeps he may have wondered in idle amazement as to the character of the machinery which is concealed within. Take it to pieces and show him each part separately, and he will recognize neither design nor adaptation nor relation between them, but put them together, set them to work, point out the offices of each spring, wheel and cog, explain their movements and then show him the result. Now he perceives that it is all one design; that, notwithstanding the number of parts, their diverse forms and various offices and the agents concerned, the whole piece is of one idea. He now rightly concludes that when the mainspring was fashioned and tempered its relation to all the other parts must have been considered; that the cogs on this wheel are cut and regulated—adapted—to the ratchets on that, etc., and his final conclusion will be that such a piece of mechanism could not have been produced by chance, for the adaptation of the parts is such as to show it to be according to design and obedient to the will of one intelligence.

Fifty Miles to Market.

It is not an uncommon thing in France to see a farmer forty or fifty miles from home in wet weather with a load. If he sees a prospect of a three days' rain, he puts his tarpaulin over his load, a cover over his horses and a waterproof coat on and starts off to market. He may go fifty miles before he finds a market that suits him, or he may know in advance just where he is going. You do not often see anybody driving fifty miles through a rainstorm in the United States to find a market for a load of hay, but it is not uncommon to see farmers' wagons forty or fifty miles from home in France. They choose the wet weather for that purpose. Their roads are just as good then as at any time.

The Chinese.

Conservative historians among the Chinese claim for their race an antiquity of at least 100,000 years, while those whose estimates are a little "wild" assert that the Chinese were the original inhabitants of the earth and that Chinese history goes back at least 500,000,000 years. The government records of China place the foundation of the empire at 2560 B. C. and claim that it was established by Tohl, who, they assert, is the Noah mentioned in the book of Genesis, B. C. 2240.

How It Struck Her.

"You seemed greatly impressed," said the minister, "with my description of how they brought the head of John the Baptist before the king on a salver."

"Yes," sighed Mrs. De Style; "I was thinking how much better they trained servants in those days. Now, mine, when they bring me things, are forever forgetting the salver."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Sure Way.

First Author—Oh, the unutterable monotony of existence! I am thoroughly disgusted with it all. Would that I might completely disappear for awhile. Second Author—Then why don't you marry a famous woman?—Judge.

Her Mourning.

Maud—Why is that lady over the way always in black? Is she mourning for any one? Bess—Yes, a husband. Maud—I didn't know she'd been married. Bess—No, but she's mourning for a husband all the same.
