SECOND DAY OF FAIR BETTER THAN THE FIRST

Continued Drizzle Keeps the Attendance Down to Small Number—Ladies Sell Tags

Jupiter Pluvius has a decided grudge against the Royal Agricultural and Industrial society. The deity whose weapon is a watering can has been the jinks of the fair for the first two days, and unless the god of the waters of the heavens relents and gives way to Old Sol, the fair of 1910 will not be the striking success the excellence of the exhibits warrants.

The attendance and cash receipts are lower than was the case for the first two days of last year's fair, the total attendance on the opening day in 1909 being 2900, and 6700 on the second day. This year 3548 passed the turnstiles on the first day, while yesterday 5903 visited the exhibition. Last year's attendance for the third day was 12,938.

Tag Day.

Today fifty ladies of this city will be on the warpath for funds for the maintenance of the Tranquille Sanatorium. These fighters of the great white scourge will be supplied with tags, one being given to every contributor to the cause. The tag will render the buyer immune from further attentions on the part of the fair sellers—perhaps.

Last year the ladies realized about $750 for the sanatorium by their activities on Tag Day. They should do better this year, and they will, if organization and determination count for anything.

Everything Running Smoothly.

The few hitches in the smooth running of the exhibition noticed on the opening day were all smoothed over yesterday, everything now going forward in clockward order. From now on there should be no difficulty in the management of the exhibition.

Following are some of the awards in the classes judged yesterday:

PORT MANN ACREAGE SELLS FOR $50,000

Eighty Acres Adjoining the Townsite Purchased From Local Syndicate.

One of the largest real estate deals put through in this city for some time was completed yesterday afternoon when eighty acres of land adjoining Port Mann was disposed of to Vancouver capitalists for a sum in the neighborhood of $50,000. The Westminster end of the transaction was handled by the firm of White, Shiles & Co., but there were a couple of other real estate agents between them and the actual buyer.

The property had been held by a local syndicate for the past six months.

The purchase price, which is in the neighborhood of $600 per acre, is considered by Port Mann specialists as very reasonable, and there is every likelyhood that the land will change hands shortly at a substantial advance.

LADIES TAKE INTEREST IN EXHIBITS OF BREAD

Prizes Offered by Milling Companies Are Won by Clever Home Bakers —Over 200 Entries.

One exhibit which has been causing much interest among the ladies at the fair is the bread section and large numbers have been visiting the dairy building daily to look over the large showing of bread from all parts of the province. There are nearly two hundred entries for the different prizes offered by well known milling companies and the competition has been keen. The entries were judged by Mr. Moore, a graduate of the Ontario college of agriculture.

The special prizes presented by the Ogilvie Milling company, through their agent, D. F. Dickson, of Vancouver, for the best loaf of home made bread, made by any lady, non-professional, in the province, from their flour were won by Mrs. A. W. Gray, of New Westminster, and Miss Margaret Davis. The prizes offered by the Vancouver Milling and Grain company were won by Mrs. J. Imlah and Mrs. A. W. Gray, both of New Westminster. The special prize offered by the Lake of the Woods Milling company was won by Mrs. John Robinson, of South Vancouver. Two special prizes offered by the Easterbrooke Milling company, of Eburne, were won by Mrs. Norman McLellan, of Ladner, and Mrs. J. Imlah, of this city.

The special prize offered by the T. Eaton Co., Ltd., for the best collection of ladies fancy work of any kind, distinct from any other entry, was won by Mrs. J. B. McAllister, of this city, who also won a large number of other prizes in the ladies fancy work exhibit. Miss Annie Loree won the second price offered by W. G. McQuarrie. The prize offered by Weiler Bros., of Victoria, for work done by ladies over sixty years of age, was won by Mrs. Thompson, of 2128 William street, Vancouver.

FEW BUSINESS HOUSES COMPETING FOR PRIZES

Window Dressing Competition Suggested by Exhibition Management Not Proving Popular.

Some weeks ago the management of the R. A. & I. society announced that money prizes would be given to the designers of the three best-dressed store windows in the city during the fair, the only condition being that the display must be suggestive of the exhibition. No definite rules governing the contest were sent out.

For some reason this suggestion does not seem to have met with much favor among the storekeepers, only a few of whom have made any attempt to deck out their windows. Some of the real estate offices are displaying apples, but this is so usual with these firms that it can hardly be called a special exhibition display. J. C. Blair, the tobaccoist, has a number of Kelowna plants in his window; this also is more of a straight business advertisement than an indication that the fair is in progress.

W. E. Sinclair has an attractive display—red apples and golden oats, forming a rich color scheme that compels attention. W. S. Collister & Co. have vegetables and fruits arranged in one of their windows. The Dominion Trust company has a showing of apples and vegetables on a background of autumn foliage. These three firms seem to be the only ones seriously in the running for the money, and it is doubtful if more than one prize will be awarded.

VICTORIOUS REVOLUTIONARIES FORM PROVISIONAL GOV'T.

Lisbon Now in the Hands of the Republicans—King Manuel Compelled to Seek Safety at Mafra---Members of New Cabinet Are Named---Overthrow of Royal Power Acknowledged.

Lisbon, Oct. 5.—The capital is now completely in the hands of the Republicans, who have formed a provisional government, with Theophile Braga as president.

A new national flag of red and green is flying over all public buildings, including the town hall.

King Manuel, with the queen mother and his grandmother, the Queen Dowager Marie, has taken refuge at Mafra, twenty-three miles from Lisbon.

Already the Spanish minister, in full uniform, has called to pay his respects to the Republican leaders.

It is impossible to estimate the number of those killed or wounded in yesterday's fighting, but it is expected to reach several hundred.

The city has been considerably damaged by the bombardment of insurgent warships.

The buildings occupied by the ministry and around the Praca do Commercio and the Necissidades palace were made the particular targets and today show broken walls and turrets.

The tower of the church attached to the palace was demolished. Thus far, however, no attack has been made upon private property and it is reported that the banks are being guarded by bluejackets.

No news has been received from the provinces, as communication has largely been cut off and dispatches and messages of all kinds have been suppressed.

Following are the names of the members of the provisional cabinet formed by the revolutionaries:

Theophile Braga, president.

Colonel Barrelo, minister of war.

A. Maro Zovado Gomes, minister of marine.

Antom Io Almeida, minister of the interior.

Euzbio, civil governor of Lisbon.

London, Oct. 5.—Three British warships are en route to Lisbon today to protect British interests in Portugal, according to the Exchange Telegraph. It is not known whether the commanders of the warships are ordered to protect the Portuguese family.

The foreign office received this information unofficially and the admiralty is in receipt of a long wireless message from the men-of-war ordered to the scene.

Gibraltar, Oct. 5.—The British cruiser Newcastle started for Lisbon under rush orders received last night and the cruiser Minerva followed today. The Newcastle was lying with steam up prepared to start for China when the change of orders came and she was ordered to the Portuguese capital.

Washington, Oct. 5—Diplomats here believe that England is preparing to intervene in Portugual on behalf of King Manuel. King Edward was an ardent supporter of the Portugese king, and it is believed that King George will follow his father's policy.

European royalty is fighting republicism at every turn and it is likely the monarchies will stand together, foreseeing that the effect of republican success in Portugal will be far reaching throughout Europe.

Paris, Oct. 5.—Portugese bonds fell three per cent. and the city of Lisbon two per cent. on the bourse today. The Darmitaedter bank, the Portugese financial agency in Berlin, has large deposits sufficient to secure for some time the payments of Portugese bonds on Germany.

San Sebastian, Oct. 5.—The officers of the northern army corps are reported to have received telegraphic orders from Madrid to prepare for active service. The orders are taken as indicating that the Madrid officials had advance information of the Portuguese revolution and are preparing to put down a similar rebellion in Spain by the most drastic measures.

Activity is noted in army circles throughout Spain and royalists are fearful that an uprising is imminent.

Couriers from Portugal assert that bloody fighting is in progress and that the revolutionists everywhere are attacking the royalists. The fighting which started in Lisbon has spread to other Portuguese cities.

Barcelona, Oct. 5.—The Spanish government today began openly to strengthen garrisons in Catalonia. Heretofore the process of augmenting the garrison has been under cover. Republican leaders in Barcelona province are closely watched by police and spies, the surveillance having been made more rigid of late.

Barcelona is a hotbed of republicanism and the scene of many revolutionary disturbances in the past.

MANAGER KEARY SANGUINE FAIR WILL YET BE SUCCESS

Rain Is Only Drawback to Big Enterprise—Overworked Passes Are Taken Up and Cancelled.

Seen yesterday afternoon Manager W. H. Keary was optimistic as to the outcome of the fair. He stated that if the weather cleared up there would be lots of time to make the present show the best that was ever held in New Westminster, with the exception of the Dominion exhibition in 1905. "Isn't this a corker," remarked Mr. Keary as he pointed out of the window to where the fountain in the reservoir was engaged in a competition with the rain drops in making splashes.

In spite of the rain the exhibition is running smoothly and no difficulty has arisen which has not been straightened out by the management.

Yesterday it was found necessary to lift a few passes which people were slipping through the fence and allowing them to be used again by parties on the outside. The management has been troubled with this evil for several years and is determined to put an end to it.

BIG AUDIENCE PLEASED WITH SCOTTISH CONCERT

Opera House Crowded with Lovers of Songs of Auld Scotia—Clan McLean Piping Popular.

One of the largest crowds that has squeezed into the opera house for months was present last night on the occasion of the Scottish concert. To say that the large audience was well pleased would be putting it too mildly. It was delighted.

Every item on the long program was of a high order of merit and it would be hard to pick out any one or two performers who shone so far above the others as to deserve special mention. Probably the piping by the Clan McLean pipe band was the most popular item on the program, although there were many others which provoked tempests of applause from the audience.

"The Token," sung by Miss Alvina Munn and R. Morrison; J. G. Brown's songs, and the dancing events were well received.

Altogether the concert was the most successful that has been held in New Westminster for years.

SHOWING OF HORSES PLEASES THE CRITICS

New Departure Meets With Favor of Public—List of the Winners.

Possibly the best feature of the exhibition yesterday was the horse events in front of the grand stand. There were some splendid horses put through their paces and the large crowd in the grand stand thoroughly appreciated the efforts of the horsemen. The jumping horses which attracted the most attention did not do any phenomenal work, possibly owing more to the muddy state of the track than to the inability of the horses.

The ponies and tandems came in for much notice.

J. M. Gardhouse, of Weston, Ont., and P. Farrell, of Woodstock, Ont., who did the judging, had great difficulty in deciding the winner in some events, but it was finally all done to the satisfaction of most of the entrants.

Last night both Mr. Farrell and Mr. Gardhouse, who have had years of experience with horses of all classes, stated that they had never seen a better display of heavy horses.

The horse show is a new departure for the exhibition and some of the spectators thought that some of the prizes did not find their proper berth. However, both the judges judged solely on the merits of the entries, and the presence of the magnificent horses and turnouts on the track yesterday was a liberal education and ought to lead to an even better display next year. It is by the encouragement of such exhibitions that New Westminster will be enabled to keep ahead of all competitors in future years.

SUMMERLAND BANDSMEN LOSE THEIR SLEEPING CAR

C. P. R. Shunts Quarters of Musicians to Some Far Away Place, Leaving Boys in Distress.

The members of the Summerland band, who are under a three day engagement to play at the provincial exhibition, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon. The first few hours of their stay were spent in making themselves acquainted with the city, but later in the evening all the surplus energy possessed by the boys was expended in hunting for their car and in roundly abusing the C. P. R., the car having been shunted to some unknown place during the afternoon, no notice of its whereabouts being left for the guidance of the musicians.

As the Summerland travellers had made all arrangements to sleep on the car, it had been deemed unnecessary to secure other accommodation. When it was found that the car was missing, an effort was made to quarter the boys in some hotel or boarding house, but every place was filled up and the bandsmen were compelled to rest on shakedowns in the railway waiting rooms.

The employees of the Al. G. Barnes people also had some difficulty in finding their train, but this was eventually located in the west end, the circus folk reaching their quarters by wading through a slough of mud.

MAIN FAIR BUILDING IS HIVE OF INDUSTRY

Exhibits in Industrial Hall Are Many, Varied and Attractive—Public Pleased.

The Industrial building, one of the most modern and serviceable of the buildings at the fair, is crowded with exhibits of all kinds. Many of the well-known local firms have stands here, and not a few Vancouver concerns occupy space. Wholesalers and retailers find themselves in close proximity, and famous brands of tea and cocoa are advertised a few feet away from where a man will carve "darling" on a piece of jewellry for you, or a Hindu will sell you some curious and beautiful sample of Eastern art in silk or brass.

Many Music Men.

In this building piano men have the predominance. In the four corners of the room there are pianos on exhibition and at each one of them there are obliging agents ready and willing to play the symphony in "F," or "Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey," to suit the tastes of the passing prospective customer.

J. H. Todd has a stand in the southeast corner of the building, and all sorts of musical instruments are on exhibition. Walter F. Evans and company, formerly, Dyke, Evans and Callahan, of Vancouver, have a splendid display of Heintzman pianos. Hicks and Livick, of Vancouver, also have an attractive display of pianos and one of the largest spaces on the floor is taken by W. W. Watt and company, of Vancouver, who have a most extensive display of everything musical. The famous Bell piano is also shown on this floor.

Lees Limited.

Possibly the most attractive commercial exhibit in the building is that of Lees, Ltd. This firm has a stand on the east side of the building and a more tasty arrangement of beautiful furniture would be difficult to find. The furniture shown is all in dark wood and the lights are shaded. Altogether there are several sample rooms furnished and the exhibit has attracted a great deal of favorable comment from visitors.

The display of the Westminster brewery is worthy of mention. There are rows of bottles of the product of this well known firm, with lights arranged behind them that the sight is liable to cause heart failure to a thirsty man.

Another exhibit deserving of special mention is that of William N. O'Neil and company, of Vancouver, who have an exhibit of fancy doors, window, builders' supplies, etc. No effort has been saved to make the exhibit attractive, and it is one of the best in the building.

Well Known Goods on Show.

World-famous products, such as Tetley's teas, Chiver's marmalade, Quaker oats, Purity flour, Perrin's biscuits, Sunlight soap, Cowan's cocoa, Jell-o, Trumilk, Vinolia, soap and perfumes and many others, all have stands of their own, in charge of obliging men who are ready to hand out information of all kinds at the least possible notice.

Tobacco Exhibit.

An interesting exhibit and one that proves attractive to the eastern visitors is that of the Kelowna Tobacco company. Bales of the cured tobacco are on show and plants of the green tobacco are used in the decoration of the booth. It is a revelation to many of the visitors that tobacco can be grown in British Columbia, but there is the green leaf and there are the finished cigars, long black ones with a red label; good ones, too, as the News representative has cause to remember.

Of the wholesalers Kelly, Douglas and company, and the Brackman-Ker Milling company, have attractive exhibits, while C. A. Welsh, Anderson and Lusby and the Fair are some of the retail firms whose display attract attention in the building.

The B. C. Fur company have a timely exhibit near the main entrance to the building.

Upstairs in the industrial building there is one of the best displays of amateur and professional photograph that has been seen here for years. Paintings and drawings are also on exhibition here and attract a large number of visitors.

A unique and exquisiteiy beautiful exhibit here is a poster kindly loaned to the exhibition by Del Shiles. The reading matter on the poster contains some interesting information about the Royal City, but the main thing about it is that the work was done by pen in a dozen different colors. The coloring is wonderful and impossible to adequately describe. It is hung on the south wall near the southeast corner of the building.

On this floor also are the lunch-rooms of the Presbyterian church, all the ladies' fancy work and the "Shadow of the Cross," one of the side attractions that was fortunate enough to secure inside space.

Near the top of the stairs some Hindus have a stand where they are showing some wonderful samples of Oriental needle work. One of the main things on this floor is the administration offices, but there is nothing on show there except hard work and keen business, and the casual spectator is not wanted.

FRIEND OF CRIPPLES VISITING AMERICA

Neglect of Afflicted Children Severely Scored by Sir William Treloar.

New York, Oct. 5.—"London's greatest beggar" is about to make a tour of the principal American cities to arouse the various municipalities to the necessity of caring for crippled children.

This famous personage is Sir William Purdie Treloar, Bart., former lord mayor of London and one of England's greatest philanthropists. He was given the above appellation by the people of London after he had succeeded in talking the English public out of $359,000 in order to erect a hospital for the care of poverty-stricken crippled children of the great city.

Sir William is at present in New York, and is painfully surprised that America has made such slow progress in treating and caring for tuberculous cripples. He came here with the intention of getting information in regard to this work, but he finds that he will have to turn teacher.

"Knowing this to be a country of great achievements," he said to day, "I fully expected to find a great hospital for the treatment of young children suffering from tuberculosis of the bone, and hoped to pick up some knowledge which would be useful to me in the management of my Cripples' Homes at Alton in Hampshire, but I am astonished to find that with the exception of a small place with forty-five beds, known as the Sea Breeze Home, at Coney Island, this great work, which is of national importance, is entirely negelected.

"Following the example of Mr. Roosevelt in his celebrated Guildhall speech, I venture, as one who has devoted years to the cause of cripples in England, to offer you a word of advice, and I say with all the earnestness I can command, 'Wake up, America!'"

Sir William is a pioneer in this great work, and is known throughout England as "The Cripples' Friend." The monument to his efforts is the Cripples' Homes and College situated at Alton, in Hampshire, which were inaugurated two years ago, during his term of office as lord mayor of London.

In the course of that one year he succeeded, with the invaluable co-operation of Queen Alexandra, in raising the magnificent sum of $350,000 for the establishment and endowment of the homes which occupy an estate of seventy acres. This estate, together with the buildings upon it, which had previously been known as the Princess Louise Military hospital, for the treatment of soldiers invalided home from the South African war, was conveyed to Sir William by an act of parliament in 1907.

Standing on the slope of a very picturesque hill facing the English channel, the homes and college, which afford accommodation for about 200 children, have in their rear a wood nearly four miles in extent.

Five acres of the wood are within the boundaries of the estate, and this part is now known as Queen Alexandra Wood. Here there has been erected an open air school built on the lines of the Forest school at Charlotteburg, near Berlin, where the children receive in summer such education as their physical condition permits.

During the two years the homes have been open between 200 and 300 children, most of them crippled through tubercular disease of the bone, have been discharged as cured or permanently benefited.

Attached to the homes is a resident medical staff of highly qualified surgeons, in addition to which there is an honorary medical board, which comprises eighteen surgeons of great experience in connection with the treatment of crippled children. The nursing staff, under the care of the matron, consists of six sisters and about forty nurses.

The aid of the college attached to the homes is to give such technical instruction to crippled boys of fourteen years and upwards as will enable them to earn their own living. The indoor trades taught at present are leather bag making, fitted case making, boat repairing and carpentering.

The college also aims to teach these crippled boys not to whine over the physical deficiencies, but to face the battle of life with confidence and with courage.

The maintenance of the homes and college costs about $60,000 a year, for which Sir William Trelor appeals to the charitable public with complete success.

"In connection with that appeal," says Sir William, "I am anxious to express my sincere gratitude to Queen Alexandra, who has founded a League of Children, who are willing to help the cause of children who are suffering. Each member is entitled to wear a badge designed by the queen.

"This league has already attained very considerable dimensions. We have now upwards of 3300 members. The rules of the league are very simple. The children are pledged to interest themselves in the cause of poor crippled children and collect or subscribe the sum of one guina ($5.25) yearly.

"The children who have joined the league reside in all parts of the British empire, as well as in the Argentine Republic, Asia Minor, Belgium, China, Chile, Egypt, France, Germany, Italy, Morocco, Portugal, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

BELIEVED DEAD, MAY BE ALIVE

Insurance Case Now in the Courts Involves Policy For Twenty-Five Thousand.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—The case of Mrs. Edna Kimmel Bonslett vs. the New York Life Insurance company, which has occupied the attention of the courts for ten years and has come to be known as the strangest insurance case on record, was called for trial today in the United States Circuit court. The case involved an insurance policy of $25,000 which George Kimmell, at one time a well-known resident of Niles, Mich., and later cashier of a bank in Arkansas City, Kan., carried with the New York company.

In 1898, shortly after taking out the insurance policy in favor of his sister, Mrs. Edna K. Bonslett, Kimmel disappeared from Arkansas City. Detectives followed him to Kansas City, but no further trace of him was found until 1908, when Andrew J. White, an inmate of a New York asylum for the criminal insane, declared himself Kimmel. This man was later pronounced sane and transferred from the Matteawan asylum to the State prison at Auburn.

The convict made a deposition consisting of over 700 typewritten pages, throughout which he endeavored to identify himself as Kimmel. His explanation of his disappearance was that a relative was implicated in the embezzlement of $100,000 from the Pacific Express company, and that he had damaging evidence against him. He declared the relative and others caused him to be drugged and kept a prisoner in St. Louis. When he made his escape he met his relative on the street, was knocked senseless by him, and when he recovered found himself in a hospital. He left St. Louis in 1899, going to Philadelphia and later to New York, where he soon got into trouble and was sent to prison.

Mrs. Bonslett brought suit to recover the insurance on her brother's life. The St. Louis courts declared him dead, but the United States Circuit court of appeals declared the evidence insufficient and the judgment against the insurance company was reversed. Since the first trial the convict White was unearthed and the insurance company is now resisting payment on the ground that he is the real Kimmel. A number of Michigan and Kansas people who had known Kimmel intimately were taken to Matteawan to see the convict, and while some were convinced that he was the missing man, others, including Kimmel's mother, and sister, declare that the convict is an imposter.

CHINA LETS IMMENSE CONTRACTS TO SCHWAB

Pittsburg, Oct. 5.—In an interview during a five minute stop of a New York-St. Louis train last night, Lee Some, chief secretary for Prince Tsai Hsun, of China, is credited by The Gazette-Times today with the announcement that a contract for two Chinese battleships to cost $15,000,000 has been awarded to Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem, Pa. steel corporation. The prince and his party traveled through here during the night on Mr. Schwab's special train, but as Mr. Schwab was not aboard and the prince was asleep, the statement of his secretary could not be confirmed. The prince sails from San Francisco October 6 for China.

UNIVERSITY DESIGNS.

Now that the site for the Provincial university is practically decided upon the question as to the character and style of the buildings arises. It is very important that the opportunity which is afforded for erecting a set of buildings that shall be distinctive and characteristic, yet beautiful, should be utilized to the fullest extent. Considering the nature of the ground upon which the university will be located, the picturesque beauty of the surrounding country and grandeur and glory of the influence of the sea which laves the rugged shore of Point Grey, it should be possible to create an architectural effect that would be a feature of magnificence on our coast.

The task of designing a suitable group of buildings which, while harmonizing with the broad and rugged aspect of nature; an aspect that so often varies in its tone and strength under the influence of sun and cloud and atmosphere, shall at the same time stand out in the foreground with a distinctness that is its own, is in no way easy. Only an architect in whom is blended the strength and experience and the quality of soul necessary to appreciate the natural circumstances of the mise en scene can be expected to deal satisfactory with a task like this.

A man who approaches his subject in the right spirit may be able to strike an architectural note that will be observable as possessing an originality of character more purely Canadian than anything which has yet been attained. Even, however, if he fails to do this he may give us a cluster of buildings that shall be always striking and beautiful. Anyway there is here the opportunity for achieving greatness in the conception of a design for our university. For this reason it is necessary that the fullest encouragement should be extended to Canadian architects to give of their best for this great work. The government can and should deal handsomely with craftsmen in undertaking this work. Every opportunity for competition should be afforded, ample time given for the preparation of plans and designs, and a substantial reward offered for the best work.

REVOLUTION IN PORTUGAL.

The news that comes from London to the effect that Lisbon has been suddenly bombarded and practically captured and that King Manuel is a prisoner in the hands of the revolutionaries, is certainly serious. Such an occurrence was perhaps scarcely expected, though it has been generally known that a strong feeling of disaffection has spread through the country and that the king was fast losing the good opinion he had once enjoyed. The most serious part of the news which has so far come through is that the army and navy are making common cause with the revolutionaries. There can, of course, only be one outcome to this, the establishment of a military dictatorship.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATE MAKES RUN FROM JAIL

Newark, N. J., Oct. 5.—William J. Schiner, a candidate for mayor of the town of Vinland, N. J., is conducting his campaign from behind the bars of the local jail. He was ordered on Thursday to pay a fine of $1 for being disorderly, or go to prison for ten days. He has decided that he would go to jail. His alleged disorderly conduct occurred while he was discussing local politics.

On the front door of his closed place of business Schiner has posted the following:

"Because of political spite, my shop will not be open until October 8; I positively refuse to pay for gasoline used by city officials in their automobiles. Right always will prevail. If you want a clean atmosphere and justice to prevail in Vinland, vote for me."

WATCH REPAIRS

Probably that watch of yours is not giving you proper satisfaction. You have had it in the repair shop, but, while it is running, will not run accurately. The reason for dissatisfaction is that the man who did the repairs is either incapable or doing good work or is not conscientious in his work, or, in all probability, he is gifted with both of the faults mentioned.

We have been fortunate in securing the services of a first class watch man who has taken charge of our watch repair work. A man who will tell you the truth in regard to the condition of your watch, and will repair it properly, and, as a consequence, it will not only run, but keep accurate time.

SCOTTISH SPORTS ARE MARRED BY ACCIDENTS

One Man Breaks His Ankle, Another Slightly Injured—Events Closely Contested

The star attraction at the exhibition yesterday was, of course, the Scottish sports, which attracted a great deal of attention and every event in which was well contested. During the course of the games, the pipers, competing for the different championships, provided music from the platform in the centre of the field.

Two Accidents.

A couple of accidents occurred in the course of the Scottish games. The most serious was that which happened to McKenzie, of the V. A. C., Vancouver, who broke his ankle while attempting the pole vault. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance

At the time there were three men jumping at ten feet and the three drew lots for the prizes. Gillis got first, Ferguson second and McKenzie third. The other accident was when McConnell, of Vancouver, hurt himself attempting the high jump. He was not seriously injured and was able to appear on the field towards the last of the sports.

The most famous athlete at the meet was J. H. Gillis, the Vancouver policeman, all round champion of Canada, but he did not exert himself and was content with a couple of prizes in the weight and hammer throwing.

Jack Hoult, the local man, captured first in the mile after a splendid race with Geoffrey, of Vancouver. There was only a yard or two between them at the finish. The half mile was even better contested and in this Geoffrey and Hoult reversed their positions, the Vancouver man capturing first, with Hoult not more than half a foot behind him. Geoffrey cut across the course near the finish and Hoult could not pass him, otherwise he had a good chance of winning the race. He was touching the leader for the last three yards of the race.

The bagpipe and dancing competitions were a feature of the day and anyone with a love for Highland music must certainly have been satisfied. The piping of Miss Lena Davidson, of Toronto, won great applause.

The events were all more or less spoiled by rain, which, although it held off till about three o'clock, came down heavily after that and rather discouraged both competitors and spectators. The following are the events and the winners.

Athletics.

Throwing 56-lb. weight—1, A. McDiarmid; 2, R. C. McDonald; 3, A. J. McDonald. Distance 26 feet 7 inches.

Sack race—1, Adams; 2, Geoffrey; 3, Vert.

In the tug-of-war the Westminster team pulled the Vancouver firemen two straight; the first in fifteen minutes and the last in seven minutes and thirty seconds. Chief J. H. Watson, of the fire department, was the Westminster captain, and encouraged the men from the side lines. The team was composed of Moffat, anchor; McRae, McDonald, McLean, Kellington, Axley and Devine.

The dancing was held in the band stand on account of the rain, and owing to the poor facilities for seeing it, there were not a great many spectators. There was some excellent dancing in the course of the afternoon. The following are the results of the piping and dancing competition.

HAS SEEN MANY FAIRS; THINKS THIS ONE BEST

Judge of Poultry Exhibit Compares This Exhibition With Washington Shows.

Harry H. Collier, the Washington poultry judge from Tacoma, called at the News office last night to say what he thought of the fair. Mr. Collier was the judge of the poultry department during the years of 1898, 1899, 1900 and 1901. Speaking of the fair Mr. Collier said:

"I have visited the best fairs in Washington, Oregon and Idaho during the circuit this fall, but I must say that your fair is about the best I have seen. Ten years makes many changes in the life of an exhibition, but I must say that your fair has grown beyond my imagination. At the last fair I attended here Mr. Trapp was president and W. H. Keary secretary, and judging from the size of the fair this fall the people of the province know when they have good men in charge and they know how to keep them.

"One thing that impresses me is the sentiment connected with your fair. The interest shown by the different sections in the district exhibits is a thing worth fostering; no prize can hardly compensate the people for the work they have performed in gathering the exhibits, but the sentiment of having their sections take the blue ribbons is what makes such a good gathering of farm products. Your floral exhibit is another thing that appeals to sentiment. Beautiful flowers makes one forget the sordid things of life and the young folks enjoy it while the flowers brings up fond memories to the older heads.

"Your fruit exhibit would do credit to any country. I have not seen anything to compare with it except the state fair of Washington, which is located in the Yakima valley, considered by experts the greatest fruit country in the west. Your cattle and stock exhibit is much larger than that of the Washington state fair, while your swine and sheep exhibits are fine.

"I have judged some of the best poultry shows in the Pacific Northwest, from California to Idaho, and as far east as Enderby, here in your province and I must say that your fowls compare favorably with the best I have seen. One thing I like about your fanciers and that is they look at the poultry industry from a sentimental standpoint; they show a lot of bantams and fancy fowls. The way to appeal to the people is through their sentiment. Most all varieties of fowls are good from a utility standpoint. The bantams lay a lot of eggs and there is no better fowl to eat than a plump bantam. The Polish and other fancy fowls are all good layers and when dressed make as good eating as any of their more homely cousins. British Columbia can well afford to encourage the poutry industry for the reason that the prices of eggs today are too high. The more breeders that become interested the cheaper will eggs become.

"British Columbia should be an ideal climate for fowls and you people should be sending eggs east instead of importing them. There is a large market waiting for the Northwest to fill, and it will be a long time before we are able to produce up to the present home consumption."

Mr. Collier goes from here to Boise, Idaho, where he judges the Intermountain fair week.

PROVINCIAL FLORISTS HOLD BUSINESS MEETING

Officers of Nurserymen's Association Are Elected—Floral Display at Fair Pleases Visitors.

Florists from all sections of the province met yesterday afternoon in the board of trade rooms for a regular business meeting of the Provincial Florist and Nurserymen's association. General routine business was taken up and several addresses were given by members of the association. One of the principal matters taken up was the appointing of a member to fill the vacancy on the horticultural board caused by the demise of Captain Allison.

The officers were elected for the ensuing year. They are: President, S. S. Gordon; vice-president, Mr. Wallace, of the Flewin Gardens, Victoria; secretary-treasurer, H. Tidy, and a committee of four members, Messrs. Hillman, of the Vancouver Floral company, Talbot, of the Fairview Nurseries, Victoria, Davis, of the Royal Nurseries, Vancouver, and Bromham, of Brown Bros., Vancouver.

After the meeting was concluded the members adjourned to the exhibition buildings where they looked over the floral display and all were loud in their praise of the plants and flowers. Several went as far as to say that it was one of best showing of flowers ever exhibited in the province.

ENGLAND SLOW IN PAYING FOREIGN ARBITRATORS

Delicate Situation Develops Through Tardiness in Settling With Men on Hague Tribunal.

London, Oct. 5.—A quite delicate diplomatic situation has arisen between the British and American governments as a result of England's failure to pay the stipulated conpensation to foreign members of the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration tribunal. Both sides are extremely anxious to keep the unpleasant situation secret, owing to a possibility of its tending to discourage arbitration in the future.

Before the court heard the evidence, the British and American agents, in arranging preliminaries, agreed that the three foreign members of the court should be paid $15,000 each as compensation, each government pledging itself to pay half. After publishing the awards, the American state department promptly paid each foreign judge $7,500 and expenses. Then the foreign members waited patiently for their cheques from the English foreign office.

The unpaid members of the court at last determined to give the foreign office a gentle reminder. Accordingly, Dr. Louis M. Drago, of Argentina, one of America's selections for the tribunal, arrived here a few days ago in the hope that his presence might lead the foreign office to summon him for consultation, at which he might have an opportunity of diplomatically referring to the subject.

But until now Dr. Drago's presence has been ignored and the distinguished Argentinian so far is only succeeding in adding to his expenses the cost of his visit here.

Dr. Drago took luncheon as a guest of Whitelaw Reid at Dorchester House with other distinguished visitors, including officials of the Argentine legation in London, who probably will eventually make a quiet effort to obtain Dr. Drago's account.

A cable from St. John's N. F., announcing that the British and American governments have agreed to postpone until spring the oragnization of a subsidiary tribunal, created under the Hague award, for deciding the fairness of the fishery regulations enforced against American fishermen in the first publicly announced development resulting from Great Britain's failure to pay the judges.

POLITICAL BOSS OF RHODE ISIAND

Blind General Brayton, Who Gathered Power With the Years, is Dead.

Providence, R.I., Oct. 5.—Gen. Brayton, known as the "Blind Boss of Rhode Island," died this morning. He was seventy years old and totally blind. Brayton was taken to the hospital on August 29 with a broken hip, the result of a fall in his office. Dr. Budlong declared, however, that death was due to diabetes, from which Gen. Brayton had suffered for several years.

Had Things in His Grasp.

With the death of General Brayton, a strikingly successful political bossship of thirty years came to a close. For more than twenty years of that time he was credited with controlling the legislature of Rhode Island completely. He was a close political confidante of United States Senator Nelson A. Aldrich. While not a member of the legislature himself, his power over the members was such that time and again his presence in the lawmaking chamber of the little state was called a scandal and a shame. He did the work in Rhode Island that Platt did in New York, and Quay did in Pennsylvania, without taking the honors of office.

Fought in Civil War.

General Brayton fought in the Civil war, and retired after being breveted a brigadier. His big influence in Republican politics in the state came when he was appointed postmaster of Providence. He used the office to increase his political power, and used it to such a flagrant extent, that he was removed under a charge of malfeasance. This did not hurt his political career any. He gathered power with the years and even in his blindness during the latter part of his life he held control of the legislature.

General Brayton was a graduate of Brown university, and his father and grandfather were justices of the supreme court of the state.

UTAH WILD DUCKS HIT BY PESTILENCE

Salt Lake, Utah, Oct. 5.—Because of the strange pestilence that has struck the breed, wild ducks will not be sold in the markets of Utah this season. This announcement was made today following the investigation by the state food and game commissioners.

The commissioners visited several gun clubs and preserves near here and found that ducks and geese were dying in thousands. In one space, five paces wide and 150 feet long they counted 832 dead birds. As a result they have warned hunters against shooting the fowl and have advised that local sportsmen notify their eastern friends of the conditions here before the season opens.

At the famous Millionaire Duck club which was one of the points visited by the commissioners, the mouth of the Red river was found to be a sea of dead ducks and geese. Scientists are baffled by the disease among the water fowl and are unable to diagnose it.

AEROPLANE IS BUILT BY MONTREAL MAN

Montreal, Oct. 5.—Montreal is to have a permanent aviation exhibition, if the expectations of the Daoust Realty firm are realized. A new aeroplane, called La Montrealaise, has been designed and built by Achille Hanssens, a native of Brain-Le-Comte, Belgium, who has lived for the past eleven years in Montreal. The inventor has made several runs along the ground, though he has not yet essayed a flight in the air.

The machine is sixteen feet high and has a body thirty-one feet long.

Mr. Hassens claims to have gathered the idea for the invention from an article describing previous attempts at aviation published in a Montreal newspaper three years ago. He then gave up his position as a conductor on the Montreal Street Railway, and worked on the invention until a few days ago, when La Montrealaise was completed.

The Daoust Realty company have bought the inventor's rights, have intered an application for a patent, and are at present organizing a joint stock company, with capital of $250,000, to exploit the invention.

"HOBBLED."

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"Darned if I know, kind sir," she said.
"May I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"Yes, if you'll hobble, sir," she said.

"How do you walk, my pretty maid?"
"I don't; I just hop, kind sir," she said.
"Do you enjoy it, my pretty maid?"
"It makes me dizzy, sir," she said.

"You are wise to the fashions, my pretty maid."
"I tumble to everything now," she said.
"How can you beat this fashion my maid?"
"By staying abed, kind sir," she said.

"Now, will you marry me, my pretty maid?"
"How can I walk to church?" she said.
"I'll bring the minister, my pretty maid."
"Then we'll both be hobbled, kind sir," she said.

Disappointment In Victoria.

George Sangster, secretary of the B. C. Agricultural association, says of the Victoria fall fair:

"It is impossible at present to state whether or not there will be any deficit in connection with the fall fair held last week. From the point of attendance, the exhibition cannot be described as a success, as not more than 20,000 people were presnet during the five days. The fair was poorly patronized. Every person who paid 50 cents for admission received in return entertainment amounting to three dollars. I regret that the directors who labored so hard to prepare an exhibition, which would prove of credit to the city of Victoria, have been disappointed."

CURIOUS FARM HAND KILLED UNDER AUTO

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Curiosity on the part of James Stahl, a farm hand thirty years old, to find out what are the component parts of an automobile left standing in the road in Worth, a west side suburb, resulted in his death Saturday, when the object of his curiosity ran him down and killed him.

The auto was left standing in the road by a party seeking mushrooms in the woods nearby.

Stahl inspected the numerous levers and stepped to the front of it and turned the starting crank. The heavy machine bore down and crushed him before he could step aside. It then ran down a steep hill.

The occupants of the machine heard his cries and rushed to the road to find their machine a wreck and Stahl dead.

The attraction at the opera house tonight will be the original motion pictures of the Johnson-Jeffries encounter at Reno last July. From the pictures of the great fiasco it can be plainly seen just how little chance Jeffries had with the giant negro. Local fight followers are expected to be out in full force and special matinees have been arranged for both days, the pictures being shown on Friday night also.

There will be plenty of lacrosse at the exhibition grounds this afternoon. At one thirty o'clock the Reginas and Sapperton intermediate teams will play an exhibition game and at three o'clock the Nationals, champions of Eastern Canada, and the Vancouver team will clash once more. The teams will be practically the same as those which played on Tuesday. The Nationals are confident that they can give Vancouver a closer game on a dry ground and are going to try to do it. Alderman Wells Gray will referee again.
