MOUNTED POLICE LOSE LIVES ON DUTY

RELIEF PARTY FINDS FROZEN BODIES OF MISSING PATROL—HUNGER-MADDENED VICTIMS ATE DOGS AND HARNESS.

Dawson City, April 17.—The bodies of the members of the R. N. W. M. P. who left Fort McPherson for this city on December 22, were found a few miles from Fort McPherson on March 21 by a relief patrol which returned to this city today. All the men had died of hunger and cold.

The members of the ill-fated expedition were: Corporal J. F. Fitzgerald, Constables Carter, Kinney and Taylor.

The bodies have been taken to Fort McPherson.

The relief party, which consisted of Corporal Dennistoun and Constables Fyfe and Turner and an Indian made a record trip by dog sleigh from Dawson to Fort McPherson and back, covering the distance of 1000 miles in forty-two days.

According to the relief party, the members of the ill-fated expedition reached Wind river on January 18, having at the time only ten pounds of flour, a small quantity of bacon and some tea. The officers wandered from the trail and lost their way. They decided to return to Fort McPherson, 150 miles distant, but owing to storms were unable to make any headway. Their provisions were soon exhausted. They ate their fifteen dogs, then chewed up the harness. With the dogs dead their last hope of life vanished.

Kinney and Taylor died first. Their bodies were found buried in the snow, thirty-five miles from Fort McPherson. Their sepuchre was indicated by a rag tied to a barren tree.

Fitzgerald and Curtis then pushed on for another ten miles. Then Curtis gave up the struggle. His companion laid out the body, reverently folded the arms and pressed on his way. A few hours later he too, laid down to die.

Feeling that he had but a few minutes to live, Fitzgerald wrote out a crude will, leaving his possesions to his mother in Ireland. In a shaky hand he jotted down the sad particulars of the last few days. Then he died.

DRAW INSPIRATION FROM MIDDLE AGES

Paris, April 17—Having exceeded the possibilities of the comparatively modest hats, toques, "bee-hives," and the like, that succeeded the picture hat of a year or so ago, the Paris milliners are turning to the Middle Ages for inspiration.

Old manuscripts, prints and engravings of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are being carefully studied with a view to suggestions for "new" fashions, so that the latest methods from the Rue de la Paix this spring may well turn out to be merely a copy of a hat worn by the contemporaries of Nell Gwynne.

The Joan of Arc hat is, so far, one of the happiest finds from the fashions of long ago. The maid's hat, a blue velvet toque with trimmings of gold lace, turned up at the four corners, was for two centuries in the possession of a Orleans family, and after the revolution was in the hands of one of the religious orders. Although it disappeared at that time, drawings of it were kept, and it is from these that the new fashion has been made.

Tenders are being called for the purchase of the northeast four acres of the Catholic cemetery. Applications for forms of tender should be made to E. Goulet on or before Thursday of this week.

Death of Mrs. Keary.

On Sunday morning Mrs. James Keary, mother of the secretary of the R. A. and I. society, died at the residence of her son, First street, this city. By her demise is removed one of the oldest British subjects in this province. Fifty-two years ago, Mrs. Keary joined her soldier husband, who had preceded her to Sapperton, where he was attached to the Royal Engineers.

It is interesting to note that when the deceased lady left the Rock of Gibraltar the voyage to the Pacific slope occupied no less than six months. With the exception of rare visits to Yale and Victoria, Mrs. Keary had resided in this city ever since her arrival.

She leaves behind her W. H. Keary, who is now on the high seas for the old country, H. J. Keary, who came in Sunday night from his home in Lillooet, and Mrs. Ward De Beck, of Vancouver, who was at the deathbed. Several grandchildren also survive her.

A cablegram was despatched to Mr. Keary informing him of the death of his parent, who had reached the ripe old age of 88 years.

The last sad rites will be carried out this morning at nine o'clock, according to the Roman Catholic service. Arrangements were completed last night whereby the remains will be removed from the residence to St. Peter's cathedral, where a requiem mass will be said, after which the remains will be laid to rest in the cemetery.

INQUEST THIS MORNING ON THREE DEAD LOGGERS

Captain Pittendrigh Will Endeavor, With Help of Jury, to Discover Why Dynamite Explosion Was Delayed.

Captain Pittendrigh will this morning hold an inquest into the cause of the deaths of four loggers who lost their lives Thursday at Pitt lake under circumstances first detailed in the Daily News. Three bodies lie at the parlors of Murchie and son and were viewed by the coroner's jury Saturday. The remains of Adam Hein have not yet been discovered, despite the fact that workmen have been daily engaged upon the search for their dead comrade.

The general supposition is that the body has become entangled underneath the heavy logs in the clearing and may by this time be well down the river, the undercurrents at this time of the year running high.

W. F. H. Bucklin, secretary and treasurer of the firm, upon whose camp the fatalities occurred, will be present to represent his principals at the proceedings this morning.

Death of Alexander Rae.

One of the best known old-timers of this city, Alexander ("Sandy") Rae, passed away on Saturday morning, death being due to complications following an accident to his hip a couple of weeks ago, when he fell down a ladder while getting hay in his barn on Royal avenue. The funeral was held privately on Saturday afternoon.

Deceased, who lived alone in bachelor quarters at the corner of Carnarvon and Mackenzie streets, had for the past thee years been city mail collector for the Dominion government. Previous to taking the postal job, the late Mr. Rae had conducted an express business in this city.

The late Mr. Rae, who was over 70 years of age and came originally from Scotland, leaves a sister-in-law, Mrs. Rae, and a nephew, Garvin Rae, to mourn his loss.

BURNABY BYLAWS EASILY CARRIED

ONLY FORTY-FIVE RATEPAYERS OPPOSED MEASURES SUBMITTED TO THEM ON SATURDAY—LARGE EXPENDITURES

Burnaby ratepayers made no mistake about how they would vote at the poll on Saturday when they passed the two money bylaws calling for the expenditure of $850,000 for roads and water.

In all three referendums were voted on by the people, the first being one to empower the council to enter a compact with the corporation of Vancouver in which the Terminal City would be asked to bring 7,000 cubic feet of water per second from the larger city's property on Seymour creek to the north shore of Burrard Inlet, for which an 18-inch water main would require to be constructed at a cost of $18,000. One stipulation is that should the cost of constructing the main exceed the estimate, the Burnaby ratepayers will pay the extra expenditure. To show that they were whole-heartedly with the scheme, the poll showed that there voted "aye" 319, and "no" 45, this being an excess of 56 over the required majority of 218.

By a strange coincidence this same excess over the necessary majority was shown in the second referendum which called borrowing powers to the council to the extent of no less a sum than $350,000 for the construction of waterworks. There voted in favor 321 and against 45.

The council asked the ratepayers to grant it borrowing powers to the extent of $500,000 asked for road improvements on a gigantic scale and which will be extended over a number of years. The bylaw was carried by an overwhelming favor of 277.

NO RIGHT TO INTERFERE.

Let Canada and Great Britain Each Mind Their Own Business.

Ottawa, April 17—Britain has no right to interfere in Canadian politics and Canada has no right to interfere in British politics.

This is one of the views expressed by Sir Frank Newnes, Bart., head of the well known magazine publishing house in London, who arrived in Ottawa today.

Discussing reciprocity, he said he thought Canada had a right to settle these matters for herself. As a free-trader he deprecated any idea of restraining Canada from entering into freer trade relation with her neighbors.

Regarding the proposed Anglo-American alliance, Sir Frank expressed a fear that those opposing it might by their utterances in the heat of debate, tend towards injuring the rapid approachment towards this alliance.

MORE NEGROES ARE HELD UP AT BLAINE

Party of Colored Colonists Awaits Medical Inspection Before Entering British Columbia—Advance Guard Switches Back Across Line---Board of Trade May Act.

A second carload of colored immigrants from Oklahoma are at the present time being held up just across the border line between America and Canada, the party being sidetracked at Blaine. The newcomers have not been refused admittance to this country; they are simply awaiting medical inspection. The party consists of twenty-seven persons including many women and children.

Several Turned Back.

The advance guard of the threatened invasion of British Columbia by the descendants of the slaves of the southers cotton fields has not been permitted to enter this fair domain unmolested. Called upon to pass a strict medical examiantion, several members failed to come up to requirer standard, indications of tubercular disease being evident in several of the would-be Canadians. Bar against entry was only lifted against those members of the party who were marked as victims of the great white scourge, but as every family was represented in the list of unfortunates, the others declined to enter the province without their relatives. Whether this self-sacrifice will last long enough to materially affect the population of the state of Washington or not remains to be seen. The most probable course to be followed by the negroes will be to make other attempts to cross the line, not in one large party, but by twos and threes, as in these cases medical inspection would not be so stringent.

When questioned by the News representative on Good Friday the leader of the advance guard declined to commit himself when asked what his intentions were in the event of permission to enter Canada being refused, but from the bitter way in which he spoke of his old home in Oklahoma it is safe to presume not one member of the party will return to the south. If Canada does not offer them an asylum, Washington or Oregon will be their home from now on.

Enforce the Regulations.

Speaking in Vancouver yesterday, J. H. McGill, head of the immigration department in that city, made the following statement:

"Immigration officers here and at the boundary do not draw the color line, and can not under the federal laws. We are following the declared policy of the government, which does not encourage the negro as a settler, because the authorities do not think he will do well in Canada's climate.

"The policy of the federal government," he added, "is to encourage first, agriculturists and farm laborers, and second, domestic help. With regard to the American negro we intend to strictly enforce the regulations respecting health and money."

The movement northward of the Oklahoma negroes, who a few years ago came from Georgia, commenced a few months ago and is the first organized movement of its kind to obtain free homesteads in the northwest. A colony of some thirty families has taken up these lands at a point on the Grand Trunk Pacific, about eighty miles west of Edmonton, while another colony of some forty families has settled near Athabasca Landing, about 100 miles north of Edmonton. The most of these, it is said, entered Canada by way of Manitoba.

Black Population Increasing.

The number of negroes in Canada at the present time can only be guessed at. It is over 20,000, probably 30,000. The last census, taking in 1901 gives the number of colored men and woman in the Dominion as 17,000. Since that time the natural increase and influx from the south has greatly added to these figures.

According to Col. Tom J. Harris, of Sapuppa, Okla., who was interviewed by the News yesterday in Vancouver, the northward trek of the Oklahoma negro to this province, Alberta and Saskatchewan, is only commencing. The outlook is that there will be a black stream flowing steadily across the boundary line for the next several months. The colonel rather prided himself on his part in the movement. He boasted to the newspapermen that he would pilot 5000 "niggers" into this hyah c'untry, suh, befoah the summah's ovah, suh."

"Clean Up the Mess."

When one of the newspapermen pointed out that America should solve her racial problems without spreading the trouble northward to Canada, the southern colonel smiled good humorly. "You boys sure forget yo' hist'ry" he remarked. "Who stahted this hyah niggar traffic? Was'nt it the British, suh? You-all shure should help clean up the mess. You're responsihble, suhs."

The colonel's argument was not answered by any of the scribes. It was a phase of the question which was new— and not particularly welcome to them.

Local Sentiment Against Negroes.

Since the announcement first appeared, exclusively in the Daily News, the proposed wholesale immigration of negroes into this province has provided the subject matter for many conversations. That local sentiment is not favorable to the large infusion of colored people in this district or province is evident even to the most casual observer. The trouble which has usually attended the mixing of the races in other parts of the world would, according to outspoken opponents of negro immigration, be repeated in British Columbia before many months had passed.

At the present time, however, there seems to be no way out of the difficulty. The negroes, being American subjects, are entitled to admittance to this country if they can pass the medical examination. In this inspection there is the only ray of hope, for a medical man can often discover a lurking disease in a supposedly healthy person, and if the colored folk are unable to secure a clean bill of health, it's back to the land of the Eagle for them.

Board of Trade to Act?

At the next regular meeting of the board of trade, which is to be held on Thursday evening, the negro immigration will be brought up for discussion by President A. E. White, who is anxious to secure the views of the business men on this important matter. Mr. White does not intend to bring forward any resolution, but on the other hand is not prepared to oppose any protest which may be made. It is quite probable that a strong letter setting forth the views of the residents of this district on this subject will be drafted at the meeting, and later forwarded to Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior.

SHE WON, SHE DIED.

Girl Seeks Honor as Champion Skipper With Fatal Result.

New York, April 17—To win honors as the champion rope skipper of her class, May Tamplin, eight years old, gave up her life yesterday. She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Tamplin, a widow, of No. 92 Havemeyer street, Brooklyn, and was a pupil in the parochial school of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, in North Sixth street.

The case is similar to that of Elizabeth Mallen, ten years old, of No. 10 First avenue, Long Island City, who died March 15, following prolonged exercise at rope skipping. It also recalls the case of Cecilia Krohn, eleven years old, of No. 658 Gates avenue, Brooklyn, who skipped the rope one thousand times and was so seriously injured that her death was imminent for several days thereafter.

May Tamplin engaged in her fatal rope skipping contest with her fellow pupils in front of the school building last Monday, but none of them thought of interfering even when the girl had exceeded the five-hundred mark. This record seldom had been reached by any pupil in the school, but she was not satisfied with her achievement and she continued amid applause until her six hundred and ninety-eighth jump had been made.

OBJECT TO TEACHER PLAYING WITH PUPILS

Because she was the playmate of her pupils, Miss Kittie McCandless, twenty-one, a pretty teacher at East Butler, Pa., has been asked to resign by the school board. Four women testified against her. About fifteen citizens, together with all the pupils, defended her.

Mrs. John Wallace and Mrs. W. S. Brandon told of seeing the teacher playing with the children in all their games "hand and go seek" "blind man's buff" and "hop, step and jump." They testified to seeing her join hands with the children in a waltz about a big bon fire which she helped to make, take part in the making of torches, and join with the pupils in a torch parade through the school building and scampering down a ladder.

Mrs. Wallace said the young woman did not avoid a display of her stockings in making the descent of the ladder. She also said that the teacher jumped from the window in the presence of the pupils.

"Yes, I could tell what kind of skirts she wore," said Mrs. Wallace, when questioned.

Mrs. Wallace said also that one morning about eight o'clock she stood at the window of her home near the school building and saw one of the older boys embrace and kiss the teacher. This the young woman denied.

Mrs. Brandon, wife of a member of the board, testified that one day recently she saw the teacher kicking a small cigar box which the pupils were playing with on the street and that "she kicked rather high."

It was charged that Miss McCandless had bought a pipe for Arthur Smith, one of the older boys. Miss McCandless explained she had caught the boy smoking and had taken the pipe from him and broken it. She learned the pipe belonged to his brother and bought a new one.

MINE OPERATORS ARE READY TO ARBITRATE

Owners of Mines Will, at Meeting to Be HeldToday, Name Representatives on Conciliation Board

Ottawa, April 18.—The mine operators of British Columbia and Southern Alberta have advised the department of labor that at a meeting to be held on Tuesday, the operators will name their representatives on the board of conciliation established under the Industrial Disputes Act.

The operators will at this meeting also consider the statement recently issued by the men.

GETTING THEM READY.

School for Intending Immigrants is Started in England.

London, April 17—Rupert Guinness, eldest son of Lord Iveagh, is establishing a farm near the metropolis for training young men in agriculture.

A novel condition of entrance is that the applicant must first purchase a ticket for Canada, but this is refunded if, after a trial, he proves unsuitable. Students are trained in the latest agricultural methods under direction of a practical Canadian farmer. The Ontario government will find situations for these students.

This morning, thanks to the detective work carried out by Chief Bradshaw an Srgt. Stanton, H. Sawyer, an Englishman, will be charged with breaking into the store of Gaskell, Odlum and Stabler, on Columbia street, by smashing a pane of glass in the lane behind the store and stealing a large number of silver and enamel goods. The police chief and his lieutenant meandered round the various hotels and saloons, and in one of the latter a bartender said that a man had only a few minutes prior offered for sale a piece of cheap jewelry. A slight description was given and the drink mixer accompanied the boys in blue and pointed out the suspect, who was taken to the lockup, where some of the stolen property was found on him. Three men, alleged to be accomplices, were afterwards gathered in and one of these took a constable to a hiding place where the remainder of the "swag" was found.

COST OF LIVING IN AMERICAN CITIES

BRITISH BOARD OF TRADE ISSUES INTERESTING REPORT—COMPARISON WITH CONDITIONS IN OLD COUNTRY.

London, April 17—Copies of a report on the cost of living in American cities, based on inquiries made in 28 representative towns by officials of the British board of trade, were circulated in parliament recently.

The report makes a voluminous budget of 533 pages, and covers the question of working class housing, retail prices of commodities and rates of wages in the United States, compiled for purposes of comparison with the conditions of workers in Great Britain and other countries.

The conclusions reached are: "The cost of food and rent combined is 52 per cent. greater in the United States than in England and Wales, but these heavier relative charges on working class incomes have been accompanied with weekly wages, which are as 230 to 100."

The report adds that this ratio of money earnings is more than 2 1-2 times as great as in England and Wales, and "makes possible a command of necessaries, conveniences and minor luxuries of life that is both nominally and really greater than that enjoyed by the corresponding class in this country, although the effective margin in practice is curtailed by a scale of expenditures to some extent necessarily, and to some extent voluntarily adopted in accordance with the different and higher standard of material comfort."

When the curtain rises on the first act of "The Mikado" Friday night at Opera house spectators will be treated to a sight that very few of them have seen. A two thousand dollar production will be presented. It is the most stupendous undertaking ever attempted in British Columbia by an amateur organization. An entire new set of scenery has been completed and it is no exaggeration to say that it is as artistic as could be found anywhere. Every member of the aggregation has been supplied with just the proper garment, not a tinsel or a tassel being left off, and the audience may well imagine when the curtain is rung up that it is looking out upon a real scene of the Island Kingdom of Nippon.

The first annual tallymen's dance was held at Fraser Mills yesterday evening, a large number of Westminster residents attending. The company placed the "Senator Jansen" at the service of the invited guests, bringing the trippers back shortly before the morning sun peeped over the distant mountains.

SACK OF DYNAMITE KILLS VANCOUVER MAN

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG, EMPLOYED IN CLEARING LAND, MET TRAGIC DEATH YESTERDAY NEAR POINT GREY.

Vancouver, April 18.—William Armstrong, a native of Wellington County, Ontario, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon through the explosion of a sack of dynamite, which he was carrying on the Marine driveway, near the Indian reserve at Point Grey.

No one witnessed the tragedy. The man was dead when discovered by neighbors.

Armstrong, who was unmarried, was engaged by a local real estate firm for clearing a track of land.

CHINESE VETERAN MAKES APPEAL TO U.S. PRESIDENT

Served With Farragut, Voted for 30 Years, John Ah Hang, Now Disfranchised in Old Age.

John Ah Hang, one of Farragut's veterans, a pensioner of the United States government, the possessor of papers proving that his record in that country's navy and his character were "excellent" and the only Chinaman who ever held a suffrage in the United States after the passage of the Chinese Exclusion act, appears to be "a man without a country."

The Chinaman is now seventy years of age. He migrated to the republic from Canton in 1858. Though a mere lad at the time the war broke out, young Hang had learned to love the country of his adoption and he enlisted from the Brooklyn navy yard when Lincoln issued a call for more sailors. He served as a landsman on the gunboats Albatross and Penguin, and the steamships North Carolina and Ohio. He saw service in New Orleans, Charleston, Pensacola, and was on deck at the battle of Mobile bay.

Naturalized First in 1866.

The young Chinese-American took out his first citizenship papers in Richmond county in 1866. He voted in all election, but lost his papers some years later. In 1896, to be regular, he took out another set of papers. Until he tried to vote for Roosevelt in the election of 1904 these papers were never questioned, and he always registered as a qualified voter without any comment on the part of the registration officials.

In October, 1908, on a decision of Justice Blanchard that his certificate of naturalization was irregular and therefore void, the old Chinaman lost his citizenship. Thus, after having voted for over thirty years in the country for which he had fought during the darkest and most dubious days of its existence, Mr. Hang, at the age of sixty-eight years, found himself without citizenship. Recently Mr. Hang determined to seek the assistance of President Taft.

Lives For His Citizenship.

For the last twenty years, since his wife died, and his two married daughters moved to Staten island, the old war veteran has supported himself by keeping a modest cigar store at No. 500 Pearl street.

"It is the one thing I live for now," he said, in almost perfect English—"my citizenship. I am not angry that they have taken it away from me—only sad," he continued wistfully. "I do not yet exactly understand the reason for my loss."

Late Sunday evening sneak thieves entered the residence of J. Johns on St. George street, and stole two gold watches and chains and a sum of money. Owing to other occupants of the house coming in late the door was left unlocked when Mr. Johns retired and the thief is supposed to have made his visit shortly after midnight. Besides taking the watches from the dresser the intruder also went through several drawers downstairs and removed a sum of money in silver and bills, also a number of receipts and papers. Chief Bradshaw was notified yesterday, but so far no trace of the criminal has been discovered.

Despite the fact that John Griffith, the noted American tragedian, appeared at the Opera house last night as Mephisto in "Faust," the attendance was meagre. Miss Edyth Totten appeared in the role of Marguerite, and her acting in the deeper portions of Goethe's masterpiece was a finished exposition of emotionalism.

A large number of the city teachers are in Victoria attending the convention of the B.C. school teachers, which opens its sessions today, lasting until Thursday. The city schools will remain closed all this week.

GOOD NEWS FROM QUEBEC

Well Known Lady Rapidly Recovering!

In Old Quebec

Every reader of this paper, who is suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should take advantage of the generous offer made by the National Drug Company, and write them for a free sample of Gin Pills.

The letter published below is only one of many that has come to our notice in praise of Gin Pills, and we feel sure that anyone who writes for a sample will have good reasons to thank us for making the suggestion.

QUEBEC, P.Q.

I received the sample box of Gin Pills and have taken them. They have done me so much good. They did just what you say in your circular that they will do. I can but congratulate myself that I sent for the sample, and I bought a large box at my druggist's. I have made up my mind that I shall never be without them until I am cured. I thank you many times, for I had never found a remedy to do me any good until I tried "Gin Pills".

Madame MARIE MIVILLE DUCHENE.

This offer is open to you. Simply send your name and address and the National Drug Co. will mail you a sample of Gin Pills absolutely free. Gin Pills are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50—and remember this—every box of Gin Pills is sold on a positive guarantee of money back if they fail to cure you of Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, Irritated Bladder, Pain in the Back, or Suppression or Incontinence of the Urine.

Buy six boxes at your dealer's and take them according to the directions on enclosed wrapper. If after taking the six boxes, you feel that Gin Pills have not helped you in any way, take the empty boxes to your dealer and your money will be returned without question. We rely on your sense of fair play and will take your word for it. National Drug and Chemical Co. Dept. B. C. Toronto. 31

MANGA-TONE BLOOD AND NERVE TABLETS are the best tonic for pale, thin people. Especially valuable for women and young girls. 50c. a box.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

This remedy is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by

BOSTON IS RIVAL TO FAMOUS RENO

REPRESENTATIVE IN MASSACHUSETTS HOUSE THINKS DOMESTIC SCIENCE SCHOOLS A REMEDY FOR EVIL.

Boston is fast becoming the rival of Reno, Nevada, as a city where it is easy to obtain a divorce, says Representative Cavanaugh, of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He wanted a bill passed providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate divorces in Massachusetts.

Although the resolution was defeated by a vote of 119 to 102, it is probable an attempt will be made to secure a re-reading.

Representative Keefe said the reason for divorce among the poor is the inability of young wives to cook for their husbands. He said the best way to lessen the evils of divorce would be to install school of dometic science in every city.

"Where there is no cooking there is no food," he said, "and the husband naturally turns to drink, with the result that divorce or conditions infinitely worse follow. There is too much talk about the investigation of divorce among the rich. What we need to look after is the condition among the poor. These Newport swells really forget who their fathers and mothers are because divorce and re-marriage is so common among them."

RED TAPE RULES NO LONGER NOW

REMOVAL OF REGISTERED LETTER REGULATION IN UNITED STATES SIMPLIFIES HANDLING OF MAIL.

Chicago business men and all senders of valuable letters received a great benefit recently when a big lot of red tape was reeled up and thrown into the discard of the post office department. The act facilitates the dispatch and delivery of registered letters in more than 90,000 post offices in the United States and foreign possessions.

It was the method of putting an envelope inside of an envelope in handling registered letters. From time immemorial, since the origin of the registry department, it has been the custom to secrete a registered letter of any size inside of what always has been known as the registered package envelope. It was a custom in which delay in the handling of valuable letters has been encountered for more than a third of a century.

Not only did the letter or parcel itself receive a number, but the big envelope, the "jacket" in postal parlance, was numbered. It was made of heavy paper, printed on both sides, and with a bountiful supply of gum on big flaps that spread all over the back of the envelope. Then it had to be sealed with a lot of wax burned on in splotches. This same jacket had to be taken care of after the receiving postmaster had cut it off the valuable letter. Millions, tons of these useless heavy paper contrivances were and are taking up valuable space in the basements and storerooms of thousands of post offices in the country.

Weight Increased Tonnage.

And then there was another burdensome feature of the cumbersome jacket. Its size and weight filled up sacks, took up valuable room en route, and the tonnage that in great bulk it formed cost the post office department thousands of dollars in the transportation of the mails. The railroads of this country really reaped a big harvest in hauling this back and forth.

On the first business day of the new year the bothersome jacket was discarded in each and every office of the United States government. The old envelopes were tied up in bundles and eventually will go into the junk pile. They added greatly to Uncle Sam's paper and printing bills, but the disuse of them will greatly expedite and facilitate the quicker delivery of this class of valuable letters.

Chicago particularly in this matter greatly benefitted. On that morning there was established in the Chicago post office a foreign registered letter department. Before that all registered letters originating here or in territory for which Chicago is the distributor, had to be sent to New York and there a big and valuable business had to be filtered through old Father Knickerbocker's fingers. Today Chicago is sending direct its valuable letters any foreign country in the entire postal union, and, more than this, the valuable stuff that Chicago sends to its patrons in Canada now is sent across the border direct, instead of being distributed through the St. Paul office, as heretofore.

The red jacket of the registered letter never was anything more or less than one of the tapiest tape nuisances of the great government departments that always has stood closed to the American people. More is the wonder that it wasn't reeled up and thrown out years sooner.

CORONATION FILMS OF BIG PROCESSION

London, April 17—An invention has been made making it possible to transmit cinomatograph pictures by wire and an experimental trial is to be made on coronation day. An attempt will be made to send views of the great event from London to Paris, and if it is successfully accomplished the films will be exhibited at the Parisian picture theatres a few hours later. The inventor of the "Cino-telegraph," as it is termed, has been ten years completing his apparatus, and has but lately succeeded in transmitting overland a film two hundred feet in length over a distance of thirty miles. The coronation film, which it is the inventor's intention to transmit to Paris, will show the progress of the King and Queen from Buckingham palace to the entrance of the abbey.

HAIR WHITE AS SNOW

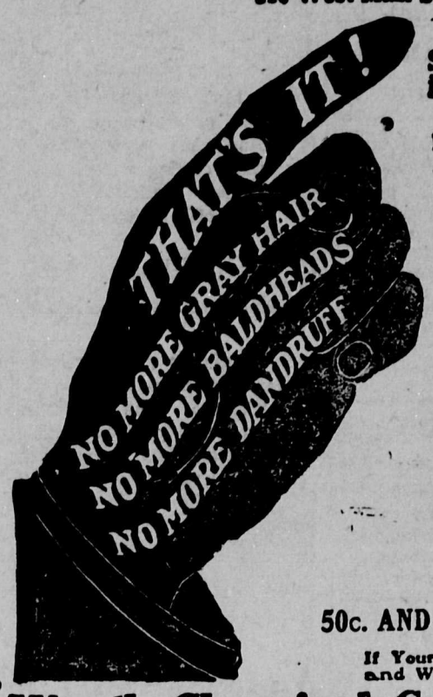
ALMOST A MIRACLE

My hair was as white as snow when I commenced using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. One bottle restored my hair to its natural dark brown color. As I am now 70 years old, I consider the result most remarkable. It is an agreeable and refreshing hair dressing, keeping the hair soft and glossy, without being in the least greasy or sticky.

WM. WESTLAKE,
210 West Main Street, Rochester, N. Y.



Why hesitate when WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY is daily producing just such results?

After years of study and analysis of the hair, we have been able to produce an ideal Hair Tonic and Restorer, which contains an actual constituent of hair, combined with ingredients of recognized merit for treatment of hair and scalp diseases. It makes and keeps the scalp clean and healthy, gives life, strength and lustre to the hair, and

Restores Gray Hair to Natural Color

No matter how long and thick your hair is, WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY will make it longer and thicker. It will remove every trace of dandruff in a few days, stop falling in one week, and start a new growth in from one to three months.

THE OLD CITY AND THE NEW.

Some two years ago an expert witness, in giving evidence for the claimant in an important compensation case respecting a riparian property near to Sunbury, observed that this might be advantageously utilized as a site for a smelter and iron works. The suggestion was ridiculed by counsel for the defendant railway company, but the witness stood by his assertion. Possibly the establishment of such an industry in that location did at that time appear to be rather unlikely. But how correct was the estimate and how keen the foresight of the expert has now been demonstrated by the decision of the British Columbia Steel corporation to establish a steel plant on the waterfront at Port Mann. Since this project was first mooted some doubt has been cast upon the probability of its achievement, but it is evident there is no longer any room for this.

A. P. Gillies, one of the directors of the corporation, has stated that the first unit of a big steel works will be commenced within the next three months, and that eight months later work on blast furnaces and mills capable of turning out steel rails, girders and the like will be commenced. All the necessary capital for this important undertaking has been subscribed and the corporation is now engaged in choosing a location for its works. There are indications that some other large industrial works will also be placed at Port Mann in the near future.

The establishment of such important undertakings at the new city on the other side of the river cannot but have an advantageous effect upon New Westminster. For one thing there must be considerable commercial dealings of which the older city will enjoy a goodly share, and for another the attractiveness of New Westminster as a residential center will be certain to appeal to a large number of those engaged and interested in the various industrial concerns at Port Mann.

THE CENSUS.

The forthcoming census will be the means of revealing some interesting statistics, for since 1901, when the last census was taken, much has happened to influence the growth and development of the Dominion. Up to the year named the rate of increase in population during each decinnial period had been almost exactly one million, but it may be quite safely asserted that during the last ten years the population of 5,371,315 has been doubled.

The custom of numbering the population is of very ancient origin. The oldest reliable record of the kind is that of Moses in the wilderness, when "the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel" was ordered to be taken. There is, however, the record of a census taken in China as far back as the year 2042 B. C., and of one in Japan in the last century before Christ. The Greeks and Romans each had their periodical census. In England there was the Doomsday Book, compiled by order of William the Conqueror and completed in 1080 A. D., which, though not exactly a census record, answered to some purpose and served as the basis of taxation until late in the reign of Henry VIII. But the first real census in Great Britain did not take place until 1801, though a bill for this purpose had been introduced some fifty years previous. This measure raised keen opposition and was thrown out by a large majority. Throughout the country there was fear that "such a base proposal," as one of the opponent in the house of commons spoke of it, would lead to additional taxation and prove the precursor of conscription. Today, however, there are no objectors to the census except the foolish creatures banded together under the title of Suffragettes, but even their tactics at the recently completed count in the mother country resulted in very little. The first census in Canada was taken in 1871, when the population was returned at 3,485,761.

You want the most sanitary wall coating. Then take a pail of water, add Alabastine, stir a few moments—apply with a brush.

It is so easy to decorate with Alabastine. Any man or woman can do it. And when up, you have a wall coating endorsed by eminent physicians on account of its sanitary features.

Alabastine

No disease germs or insects can exist on a wall covered with Alabastine. And Alabastine, from tests, has proven it allows air to circulate through the walls, thus keeping air in room pure and healthful.

HELP FOR OLD BACKS THAT ACHE

GIN PILLS Cure Them

Age is no barrier to the wonderful, soothing, healing properties of GIN PILLS, the great Canadian Kidney Cure. We have on record many letters from men and women of 60, 65, 70, 75, 80 and over, testifying to the great relief they received from taking GIN PILLS.

Mr. Samuel Martin of Strathroy, Ont. suffered for twenty years with misery in his back. Some months ago, he tried GIN PILLS and after taking only three boxes, was entirely cured. Mr. Martin is now 85 years of age and enjoys the robust health of a vigorous man of sixty, thanks to GIN PILLS.

All elderly people are troubled, more or less, with Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and pain and weakness in the back. GIN PILLS are a guaranteed cure for all these misfortunes. Money promptly refunded if they fail to give complete satisfaction.

BIG PURSES FOR BOXERS NOT ALWAYS THE RULE

Many Lads in English Towns Get Small Sums for Meeting Opponents in Squared Circle—Jews Lovers of Fair Play.—Suggestions for Uniform Weights and Weighing-in Time.

BY ROBERT A. WILSON.

ANOTHER promising boxer from the old country has struck his flag this side of the herring pond and as I know this "Young" Brooks it would be well to give just a brief account to his earlier doings in the land where the mitt game first started. Brooks has been for the past three years one of the promising members of Judaean club of Whitechapel, London, which district whilst far from being a summer resort, has given to all branches of sport some of the leaders. A few years ago I was invited to referee at this club's weekly fistic carnivals which are held on Sundays from two until six-thirty and although this invitation meant foregoing my family circle it was up to me to go for the good of the game and also for my paper. Instead of refereeing once as others had done, I went to stay and every seventh day found me in the referee's chair. I will ask you, in your mind's eye, to come with me to this club, situate in Princess square, Commercial road east and if you do not become interested, then I'm a Dutchman. A hawling mob clammering for admission which is obtained for eight cents including the programme of events. So careful are the officers that only one person is admitted at a time through a narrow door. Once you get inside, you behold a mass of faces around the ring, perched on forms and hanging on to rafters and all laughing and chatting and being of the Jewish persuasion, driving dull care away in the noisest manner possible. Banter is slung across the room and good natured banter at that and at which no one takes offence. When everything is in readiness, the boxing starts and continues without many breathing spells for four and sometimes five hours and it's some boxing, believe me. Main bouts are scheduled for ten rounds and are usually two in number and between well known boxers, whilst the remainder of the programme is made up of six rounders. Whilst the bouts are carried out in the strictest Queensbery rules there are occasions when the rough house scene is introduced, and it is then that some referees have been known to fly from the ring side and swear never to return.. Those who have worked with Jews and who know them are well aware that they had best be given a miss in baulk when things and especialy decisions do not go their way but personally I found out that a severe talking to had the desired effect and in proof of this assertion I feel that I did the right thing from my introduction to the club as the officials had a wide field from which to select their referees, but I stayed there throughout and the last bout upon which I adjudicated in the old country was two days before I sailed for America and was between this lad Brooks and an opponent, named Mitchell. Do not run away with the impression that the boxers who weekly don the mitts at the Judaeans do not get paid. THEY DO. I have known hundreds to receive nothing less than FIFTY CENTS for six rounds and I have seen the losers rewarded with COFFEE AND CAKE as their share. This to my readers may seem a joke but it's a fact nevertheless. I remember one Sunday when two heavies were boxing. They were the main bout and much was expected from them. Half way through the session, I called the principals together and cautioned them for not trying and expressed the hope that brisker work would be shown. One of the big fellows calmly walked over to my side of the ring and whispered that he did not want to knock the other chap's head off for the princely sum of 'alf a blooming dollar. So that the onlookers might have a run for their money I ruthlessly added another couple of shillings to the stake money and then the fur begun to fly. The boxer who had whispered to me the above information led until a minute before the conclusion of the bout when the other with a swinging right knocked him cold and in the result, the loser on going to the refreshment counter for the short and eatable and drinkable end of the purse was told that because he had insulted the referee, he would not get "'nuffin' at all." Then more fur flew and when they had brought the caterer to, straightened his face and shifted his nose to something like its natural position, they gave over the losing end of the purse rather than have murder done There may be some readers who think this is not sport but it is London side life and one that seven-eights of the world's capital knows nothing about. The boys down there are sportsmen of the type that has made England what she is today and these same boys have, when I have been in close quarters and up against a bunch of soreheads who were, after my blood for a supposedly wrong decision in a boxing contest come to my rescue and shown that they do not forget kindnesses and will ever be ready to give aid. The Judaean club has unearthed by these Sunday meetings a great percentage of the boxers who are daily contesting matters in England and boxers like Young Josphs, Battling Taylor, Kid Lightning and Bert Moughton to mention only a few of London's top notchers, received their first lessons at the week-end gatherings. I could tell stories of this organization until one might tire and although at first I regretted going to the shows and leaving my own fireside I got so that after a bit I should almost have felt lost had I been absent. Brooks, who met and defeated Shugrue of New Jersey last week in New York, is in the bantam class and is a rushing aggressive boxer from the clang of the first gong. His short left hook is always dangerous and he is one of the few British natives who conducts matters in the orthodox American covering up Battling Nelson style. He goes into a battle with a splendid cover and is perfectly willing to get severely mauled if by inside work he can swing and hook which sure wins out by the k.o. route.

FREDDIE Welsh, the British lightweight boxer who recently came to this side of the ocean to try and win the world's championship for the mother country, is loud in his protestations over the weight question and though Packie McFarland is also joining in the arguments, the American speaks from a different viewpoint. This brings up forcibly what I wrote in these columns a short time back with reference to the crying need for the formation of an association of sporting leaders who would, once and for all time, regulate the conditions under which boxers, the world wide, would meet and contest matters, when these were for principal honors. Welsh claims that in all the years which he has followed the sport the lightweight limit has been 135 pounds, but if this statement can be relied upon, then the boxer from the principality has not had a great deal of experience. I have been following the biff-and-get-away game for very many years, more than I sometimes care to give myself credit for, and in all that period I have seen many changes in two matters which I wish to touch upon, namely weight and what in my opinion is of greater importance, namely, the time of weighing. On the matter of the first, it is not so very many years ago that the boxers in the professional ranks scaled 140 pounds and if the records are referred to it will be seen that in the greater number of his contests Dick Burge tipped the beam at that poundage. I recall that in his matches against at least six of his opponents including three Americans he and the men he met went on the scales at that weight. I have been endeavoring to bring back just when and under what conditions the weights were changed but cannot at this writing and I would be pleased were some reader to enlighten me on this point.

NO more surprising decision has ever been returned than that of the French cross country runner Jacques Bouin who won the International race for the Racing club de Paris against the champions of England, Ireland, Wales and Scotland Had anyone dared to suggest three years ago that a French pedestrian would win the blue ribbon over field and fen a through ticket to the padded room would have been handed out. In 1898, see London Sporting Life of April 18 of that year, I had the pleasure of being the only English newspaper man to accompany the British team of distance runners on a missionary visitation to the French capital and it will be found in the writings of that period that this scribe suggested to the E.C.C.U. the advisability of spreading the gospel of cross country running in fields foutside their immediate jurisdiction. In that year Sid Robinson was cock of the walk and not only did he run away from the Parisians but his team mates as well, the first Frenchman coming coming in thirteenth. Every year since then the continental runners have been represented but no one ever dreamed that an athlete from gay Paree would capture chief honors. Slowly but surely France is learning the lessons taught to her in the sporting world and not only has she taken up the art of boxing and swimming but her sons are following in the steps of the sportsmen over the channel and ere long it will be a toss up which is really master.

WEIGHING in at two o'clock on the day of a contest whilst it has been in vogue in England for the past ten years—I am now referring to the National Sporting club—has always struck me as being ridiculous as this certainly does not represent the weight of the boxers WHEN THEY FACE EACH OTHER. I have seen principals of big contests for championship honors and naturally big money weigh-in in the afternoon, dress, go their respective rooms and face each other eight, nine and more often than not, ten hours later and the scales had they been consulted would have shown a vast difference to that of the afternoon. Why this should be has never been thrashed out, but I live in hopes that ere the passing of many moons, someone will take the matter up and make it compulsory that if the articles of agreement call for a certain weight that that weight should represent the boxers when they face each other inside the roped square and not as it is just now many hours prior to the bout. What has always struck me as being passing strange is the fact that Mr. Douglas who referees practically all the contests at the National and who knows of this unwritten rule about weighing-in hours before a bout is actually staged is president of the Amateur association which rules that all the contestants under their charge and including the championships shall go on the scales immediately before the bout. In the past twelve months men of the holders of amateur championships have entered the short-haired brigade and it must I should say be somewhat of a change, the difference of customs holding under this one official. I have seen very many contests in the States and whilst it is not quite ringside weighing I think the Californian method of tipping the beam an hour prior to the commencement of hostilities is about as near as can be got. Since I started on this important side-dish of the fistic menu, I have thought that a theory might be put forward for the reason of the early hour of scaling and this is that promoters with their patrons in their mind's eye, not wishing to disappoint them had the boxers go to scale many hours before a bout in order that substitutes might be found to take the place or places of the men not down to the stipulated weight. Of course I may be all wrong. For many reasons I hope I am wrong. In any case I will not rest content until I have found out just why the silly practise is carried out and will wear a worried look just so long as I remain in doubt.

HETTY GREEN IS EXACTING IN BUSINESS

EDUCATED HER SON TO BE METHODICAL—A REMARKABLE MEMORY POSSESSED BY FEMALE CROESUS OF U. S.

It was announced recently that Mrs. Hetty Green, the aged queen of American finance, was to retire, and that her son, Edward Howland R. Green, is henceforth to be custodian of the Green fortune. Much has been printed about Hetty Green, a woman who has occupied a unique position in the public eye of the world of business, and in view of her retirement from active labors, the following facts regarding his mother, given by Edward Green recently in an interview to the Cincinnati Enquirer, are interesting.

"It so happened," said Mr. Green, "that I was born abroad. We lived in England until I was eight years old, and we might be living there now had not a bank in this city failed, owing my mother a large sum of money. She came to New York to see about the failure, and since then has lived in America and taken an active part in business. We returned to Bellows Fall, in Vermont, where I prepared for Fordham college, from which I was graduated at the age of eighteen. I sometimes thought, as I now remember, that it would be nice if mother would make me president of the Chemical National Bank of New York. But I had vague ideas concerning the future. I had been told by my mother that the property she held was not her own, that she was entitled to the income and interest, but no part of the principal. The property, she said, was to be handed down to her children, and they, in turn, guarding it carefuly as honest and prudent trustees, were to hand it down to their children.

Exactness in Money Affairs.

"My mother is careful concerning the expenditure of money because she has exact rules on which to conduct her business. It is not for me to say that the rules are faulty. From the results obtained they appear to be about right. 'Never give a peny to a well man,' she has told me more than once. 'Help him, but make him do something in return, if it is no more than to carry a brick around the block. When a man is willing to work give him a steady job if you can. Compel every one in your employ to earn his pay, otherwise you are injuring him and yourself.' 'If a man owes you $956.17, she often said, don't acecpt $956.15. If you do your books will not balance, nor will they balance if, owing him $956.17 you only pay him $956.15. After your business is over you may take him to dinner and the theatre, but don't invite him until the transaction has been closed and the money paid.' Much has been printed about my mother that is untrue. She has been represented as being a parsimonious woman. Such is not the fact, however, the Greens care very little about dress. I prefer, when the weather is warm, to wear an unstarched shirt and a belt. But the Greens want to be neat, if they are old fashioned.

"I am back in New York, possibly to remain permanently. My mother is 76 years old. She has worked harder than has any man in New York. She can work yet, but sustained labor, although her health is good, wearies her, and so I am here to share some of her burdens. As to personal qualities necessary for success in business, I put memory first on the list. We say that some particular man is able and brilliant. What we mean, although we do not realize it, is that he has an abnormal memory. If you will think the matter over, you will see that I am right. Memory and the genius to apply it prevents one from repeating his mistakes of judgment or tact. Mrs. Green will say: 'That transaction,' referring to a matter long since closed, involved the sum of $526,420.36.' The clerks, before they got used to it, would open their mouths and eyes simultaneously. Some man will come in and remark that property at Fifth avenue and Thirty-third street is bound to increase in value. 'Mr. So-and-So,' mother would reply, 'expressed the same opinion three years ago last September."

"Besides an extraordinary memory, my mother has great wisdom, and a clear and sure vision. She has never made any money in speculation—the Greens don't speculate. She has been what you might call a one-bank man. You may have noticed when currency is scarce in New York Mrs. Green always has plenty to lend on good collateral. There is no better judge of commercial paper in the United States. I am sure her total losses on that particular kind of security have been less than $10,000. Again, showing her methods of management, she rarely, if ever, sells any of her property. She buys it intelligently, and then keeps it, regardless of market fluctuations or the increase of values. She has done better than most men.

MAKES FOOTPRINTS PAY HIS COLLEGE COURSE

Grand Junction, Colo., April 17—A Colorado ranchman has paid for his college course at Colorado College, from the foot prints in the sandstone of his homestead near Grand Junction.

Elmer Terril has sold two footprints made by a prehistoric dinosaur to the Colorado Springs institution, and also has closed negotiations with the Field Museum of Chicago, for two more tracks, which he is digging from his ranch.

CARPENTER RELATES MORMON EXPERIENCE

ENGLISHMAN WHO WAS INDUCED TO EMIGRATE TO UTAH NOW HAS POOR OPINION OF LATTER DAY SAINTS.

London, April 17—The Morning Post has had an interview with George H. Potter, a carpenter living at Dudley, who was induced to go to Utah and try his fortunes with the Latter Day Saints. Potter said:

"I was brought up as a Baptist. Last year I made the acquaintance of a Mormon missionary, who spoke to me about Salt Lake City which he called Zion. According to him there was no such place on earth. And he told me about the revelation of God to mankind contained in the wonderful book of Mormon. I was rather on my guard at first because I had heard of polygamy being practiced by the Mormons, but he assured me that that was a thing of the past. By degrees he gained a complete ascendancy over me and I was ready to believe almost anything he said and to do whatever he told me. I went out last May and arrived in Salt Lake City early in June. I thought it better to leave my wife and children provisionally in England, and as things turned out it was a very lucky thing I did.

"The first disillusionment came wheen I found that the representations made to me as to the lucrative employment to be had in Utah were deceptive. Trade was bad when I first landed. It is true that I got employment before long at forty cents an hour. But it was not long before I was able only to work half time, things being slack, and in any case 40 cents is not much to earn in a country where almost everything according to our notions, is sold at famine prices. Then I had to pay what are called tithings, or one-tenth of my earnings, to the church. Here are the receipts showing that during my fourteen months' stay in the country I parted in this way with between $65 and $70. In addition to the one-tenth of my income another tenth had to be paid on the sums I remitted to my wife in England; and besides this, on the first Sunday of the month, called Fast Sunday, we were supposed to practice a rigid self-denial and give to the church the cost of one day's living.

"You will see that the receipts mentioned the fact that the money contributed to the church funds is donated, but practically the victim has no option. Mormon custom is stronger in Utah than the state law. There is a perfect system under which converts are kept under subjection, and the bishops of the church make it their business to ascertain from their employers exactly how much they earn. Then I was not impressed by the religious services as I had expected to be. In fact, the very first one I attended convinced me that it was altogether divested of the spiritual character. Pay, pay, pay, is the text they persistently harp on. If you only give money to the Mormon church you are one of the elect no matter what you may do in other respects. Joseph F. Smith, their present leader, is a nephew of the notorious Joe Smith. He has been subpoenaed to give evidence before the United States senate investigating committee as to the formation of the sugar trust.

"As for the Mormon religion, it is a perfect farrago of blasphemy and nonsense. The Mormons believe in pre-existence and in 'work for the dead,' a sort of purgatory which is very useful in enabling them to obtain money from their weak-minded devotees. As for the statements made in this country to the effect that polygamy has eben abandoned in Utah. They are absolute falsehoods. Certainly no such pretence is made in Salt Lake City, where most of the more prominent men connected with the Mormon church have several wives. As soon as I was able to do so I came back to England. With this object in view I sold the best part of my clothing and parted with all my tools at a great sacrifice. However, I was more fortunate than many others, who, like myself, have been disillusionized, for they have no means of paying their fare back home."

URGES UGLY GIRLS TO MIGRATE TO NORTH

Cleveland girls who have neither money nor beauty were advised to learn to sew and go to the Arctic regions and live among the Eskimo by Capt. Robert A. Bartlett in an address at the Grays Armory.

Capt. Bartlett explained that money was unknown in that part of the world and beauty was not expected in a woman. The Eskimo, however, demands that his wife be a good seamstress. A diploma from a cooking school would not be necessary, as the Eskimo generally eats walrus meat raw.

The captain, who is now planning a trip to the South Pole, told of his trip to the north with Paul Rainey and Harry Whitney hunting for big battles with the walrus, musk ox and land. Bartlett had command of the expedition and also was with Peary on his far north trip.

He showed remarkable pictures of battles with the awlrus, musk ox and other big game. His description of the life and habits of the Eskimo was particularly interesting. He described them as the greatest hunters in the world and as a particularly happy and contented people.

The captain hopes to be at the South Pole Dec. 21 this year or next year in order that there may be no controversy as to his discovery. On that day the thesdolite will make a complete circle on the recording map because on that day the sun remains in a fixed position over the pole for 24 hours.

Harry Whitney, the Boston sportsman, is interested with Bartlett in the expedition. Whitney may join Captain Bartlet in Cleveland.

Make Way for the Well-Dressed Man

"Clothes do not make the man," it is true; yet clothes are universally accepted as visible evidence of a man's character, ability and success. In business or in love, the well-dressed man possesses a powerful advantage over his poorly or carelessly-dressed rival. Correct and fashionable attire is practically indispensable, nowadays, to a successful career, whether business, professional, political or social. He who knows he is correctly dressed is doubly armed and to be quite sure is only a matter of insisting upon 20th Century Brand bench-tailored garments.

Last evening the Salmon Bellies had their initial practice at Queen's park. The play was witnessed by a large concourse of spectators. Contrary to expectations, Johnny Howard, the new capture of the world's champions, did not don the red and blue uniform. Those who turned out clearly proved that once a player always a player, and the intricate movements of the stickhandlers were followed with the keenest interest all through.

Tonight's city council meeting, postponed from last evening, gives promise of having lively interludes, as the little birds have whispered that one of the city officials will have something to say with regard to the statements made by Alderman Johnston at the last meeting with reference to the mode of precedure of the city grades of MacKenzie street. Engineer Blackman is understood to be of the opinion that the matter is without the jurisdiction of Alderman Johnston and is a question for the board of works, from whom the engineer takes his instructions. x

That England's queen of comedy, Miss. Vesta Victoria, will surely visit Westminster was settled beyond all dispute at a late hour last night when Manager Hector McCaig, of the Opera house, received all necessary contract papers which he signed and put on midnight out-take for vaudeville headquarters at Seattle. Miss Victoria is being exploited by Colonel Thompson, the Australian impressario, in a musical comedy, this being the first time that Vetsa has been the star in a company reputed to be full of other stars, or less brilliancy, of course, than the vivacious Londoner.

John Griffith will star in "Othello" at the Opera house this evening
