LIBERAL CLUB MAY BE BUILT IN THIS CITY

SCHEME TO HAVE BUILDING FOR HEADQUARTERS OF PARTY IN THE DISTRICT IS UNDER CONSIDERATION.

Liberals of the city gathered in the Eagles hall last night to meet J. W. Weart, the Liberal candidate for Westminster district, and discuss with him the important question of the organization of the district for Dominion political purposes.

Mr. Weart gave an interesting, effective and enthusiastic address on the subject, setting forth in a most convincing way, supported by facts and figures, his view that the erection of a Liberal club building in Westminster would redound greatly to the permanent advantage of the party, both as a centre and focus of organization, and for necessary revenue purposes, besides being a paying investment for the subscribers.

George Kennedy, president of the Westminster City Liberal association, presented a satisfactory report of preliminary canvassing work done by him, and the proposition resulting in the securing of several thousands of dollars in provisional subscriptions, thereby furnishing a most encouraging start, to which Mr. Weart was able to add a substantial sum subscribed by district supporters of the scheme, who had received the project favorably wherever it had been laid before them.

A good many additional subscriptions were also received at the meeting, and a motion was unanimously passed calling a meeting of subscribers for Tuesday evening next to decide finally as to the building project and also as to the definite site to be chosen from four or five submitted at last night's meeting.

A committee was also appointed by resolution to examine and formulate the various site proposals and made a recommendation to Tuesday night's meeting.

During his speech Mr. Weart paid a glowing tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and commented on the magnificent reception he was getting at the Imperial conference in England, and the many enconiums the press of that country was showering upon him. During his speech Mr. Weart roused the enthusiasm of his audience by quoting the following from an editorial in the Province, one of the leading Conservative papers in British Columbia, on Sir Wilfrid:

"The advantage of having Sir Wilfrid Laurier represent Canada in the mother country at the session of the Imperial conference and the coronation ceremony will be manifest from the impression which he has already made since his arrival, and especially, at the dinner on Tuesday night, given by the Pilgrim's Society. Sir Wilfrid's speech at this event was decidedly the feature of the occasion. It created enthusiasm because of its patriotic ring. . . . Sir Wilfrid expressed very forcibly and properly the opinion held in this country regarding the question of annexation which has apparently given so much disquiet in England since the reciprocity proposals were presented to parliament."

PIGEONS ON LUSITANIA EASY PICKINGS FOR PROS.

Gamblers Make Rich Haul While Crossing Atlantic—Clean Up $14,000 in Four Days.

New York, May 26.—There were fat pickings for two professional gamblers who came over on the Lusitania, in today. One passenger reported that in four days the gamblers picked up $14,000 and that one of their victims lost $1000 in an hour.

"I've lived almost all my life in parts of the west," said this passenger, "where gambling is wide open, but I never saw such quick action at poker. Play usually began in the smoking room at 11 o'clock at night and lasted until three or four o'clock in the morning. The pigeons could evidently afford their plucking, and as it was none of my business I did not interfere. The steamship officers keep a sharp lookout for professional gamblers, but occasionally an unknown chevalier of fortune makes a smashing coup.

CANADIAN NORTHERN WILL ASK TENDERS

Montreal, May 26.—It is announced that the Canadian Northern will at once ask for tenders for the construction of the section of their main line around the north shore of Lake Superior, extending from Stillwood, a point forty miles west of Sudbury, to Port Arthur, a distance of about 550 miles. It is also stated that work will in the first place be given to two contractors, one taking 250 miles on the west end and the other the balance on the east. Contractors who are well acquainted with this eastern half say this will be comparatively easy work, but that Port Arthur will be much heavier. The statement has been made that the five hundred odd miles can be constructed in two years.

CARELESS BOYS SEND BULLET INTO KITCHEN

Irresponsible Youths, Playing with .22 Rifle, Endanger Lives of West End Residents.

A bullet, fired from a .22 rifle, sped through the kitchen window of C. B. Deans' residence on Sixth avenue and Eleventh street yesterday evening, tearing through a piece of oilcloth and snipping a chip off the table. A few seconds earlier one of the members of the family had been directly in the path of the bullet.

Mr. Deans made an effort to discover the careless lad responsible for the shooting, but was unable to secure definite enough information to warrant a prosecution. He has strong suspicion against one of a gang of youths who have been in the habit of late of improving their marksmanship with a .22 rifle in his neighborhood, a pastime which he considers far from pleasant for the other residents in the vicinity.

Several complains of a like nature have been made during the past few weeks, and although no fatalities or serious accidents have had to be reported, this has in no sense been due to the care taken by the young Nimrods, whose great ambition seems to be to pull the trigger, let the bullet speed where it will.

YOUNG STOREKEEPER IS SHOT BY NIGHT THIEF

D. E. G. Probert Hovering Between Life and Death as Result of Encounter with Robber.

Finding himself cornered, a desperate robber who had entered a small store in Whonnock early yesterday morning drew his gun and shot at D. E. G. Probert. At short range, the bullet tore into Probert's stomach and so serious is the injury that small hopes of the survival of the victim are held out.

From brief snatches of news which have drifted down, it appears that the members of the firm of Crow, Probert & Whiting, general storekeepers, were aroused from their slumbers and when investigations were made in the front portion of the premises, a swarthy man was discovered standing near the safe. Immediately he observed them he jumped across and without ceremony commanded Crow and Whiting to retreat to an adjoining room where Probert was lying, at the same time covering the partners with a gun. The order being obeyed in part, the keys of the safe were next asked to be handed over. Whiting, who had managed to keep in the rear of the intruder and hold-up; made a gallant attempt to down the midnight visitor and entwined his arms round his man. Probert, who failed to get out of bed quickly enough, swung himself forward and tried to grapple, but at this moment the gun was discharged and a bullet lodged in Probert's stomach. He fell back seriously wounded and so bad did he become that Crow and Whiting directed their attention on their partner, the would-be robber making good his escape.

The police were at once notified and with a short period scouts were scattered over a wide range of country in the hunt for the man. Search parties were formed and men heavily armed were on the roads all afternoon, while the provincial police, instructed by Officer Otway Wilkie, sent up an official to Whonnock and later in the evening he left for the scene of the shooting, where he will carry on personal investigations.

As soon as he could be moved after being temporarily attended to by a local medical man, Probert, who is a young man, was removed to Vancouver and taken to St. Paul's hospital on Burrard street.

On enquiry by telephone at an early hour this morning, the Daily News learned that the injured man was progressing as well as could be expected, though the bullet had not yet been extracted from his stomach.

BRICKMAKERS' STRIKE.

Has Tied Up Three Hundred Building Contractors in Chicago.

Chicago, May 26.—Three hundred Chicago building contractors, who have working agreements signed with 47,000 workmen, are idle because of a brickmakers' strike, in which only 2500 men are directly involved. Brick shipped here can not be utilized because the teamsters are in sympathy with the brickmakers and refuse to haul it. More than $40,000,000 worth of building contracts can not be started because contractors are unable to get brick.

Rhodes Scholar Selected.

Victoria, May 27.—Joseph P. Clerihue was selected last night as the B. C. Rhodes scholar for this year. The unsuccessful candidates were Thomas Davidson, Glen Gibbons and Fred G. T. Wood.

VANCOUVER WORKMEN VOTE FOR A STRIKE

TRADES AND LABOR MEETING SUPPORTS PROPOSAL TO SUSPEND ALL ACTIVITY ON JUNE 5—PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION.

Vancouver, May 27.—The resolution adopted by the executive of the Trades and Labor council at a meeting on Thursday evening, dealing with the proposal to call a general sympathetic strike in Vancouver on June 5, in order to assist the carpenters and builders' employees to bring their employers to terms, was ratified at an open meeting of the Trades and Labor council yesterday evening.

The attendance at the meeting was smaller than had been expected. Forty voted in favor of the strike. Only five opposed the motion.

The delegates of the Electrical Workers' union refused to vote, maintaining that their union had not instructed them in the matter. Other individual delegates also adopted this course, and in consequence it was decided to reaffirm the motion at the next general meeting of the council, on Thursday of next week. In the opinion of the leaders there is no doubt that the next meeting will also be overwhelmingly in favor of the cessation of work.

It is the intention of R. P. Pettipiece and other leaders to hold a demonstration next week in order to stir public sympathy in their cause. The exact nature of this appeal to the public has not yet been decided upon, but it will probably take the form of a parade, to be followed by a mass meeting in the open air.

OF YOUR CHARITY.

Appeal Made on Behalf of Lad in Danger of Becoming Cripple.

To permit the treatment by nerve specialists of the little lad Greenwood, who was injured by a stray bullet several months ago, and who is now in danger of becoming a cripple as a result unless immediate attention is available, a fund is being raised for the purpose of sending the boy to Rochester, N. Y., where specialists can attend to his case. The sum of $500 is needed.

The city has headed the subscription list with $100, and with a view to raising the remaining $400 the following petition is to be circulated:

We, the undersigned, contribute the amounts opposite our names toward a fund to enable the little seven-year-old boy—Greenwood—(who was injured by a stray bullet on our public street) to secure the necessary medical treatment. We are informed that the medical profession here can do no more for him and it will be necessary to send him to Rochester, N.Y., where nerves can be grafted. It will require about five hundred ($500) dollars to save this boy from being a life long cripple. Help if you can.

Contributions may be sent to the city hall or the Bank of Montreal.

UNCLE JOE CANNON NEARLY USES "UGLY WORD"

Washington, May 26.—Uncle Joe Cannon in the house today showed that he still has some pepper in his composition. The former speaker's safety guage blew off when Representative Sherwood (Democrat, Ohio), said he could prove that Cannon, as speaker, had smothered Sherwood's dollar a day pension bill and declared that he now showed remarkable gall in advocating the measure.

Sherwood and Cannon occupy seats close together. At Sherwood's charge Cannon leaped to his feet, shook his fist in Sherwood's face, and shouted:

"I now look you in the eye and say there is no truth in your statement."

ST. JOHN HARBOR IS TO BE GREATLY IMPROVED

Ottawa, May 26.—The public works department will call for tenders within a few days for very extensive harbor works at St. John, N.B., totalling in the aggregate a cost of four or five millions. A new division of the harbor will be provided in Courtney bay to accommodate the G. T. P. steamship service. There will also be a dry dock of first class built with an extensive ship repairing plant in connection. At Halifax the government will begin shortly new docks and other terminal improvements costing nearly a million.

Engineering parties have been sent out to complete the survey of proposed navigable waterways from Edmonton to Winnipeg via Saskatchewan river. It is expected the work of clearing and deepening channels will be actively begun next summer. Results of preliminary surveys last summer indicate that ten foot waterways can be obtained from Winnipeg to Clear lake and six foot waterways for the rest of the distance to the foothills of the Rockies.

Firemen Will Not Arbitrate.

Washington, May 26.—Representatives of the firemen of the Southern railway today rejected a proposal of President Finley, of the Southern Railway company, that they submit to arbitration their demand for a 20 per cent. increase in pay. President Finley asked for a further conference later today.

JURY DISAGREE ON MURDER CHARGE

TWELVE GOOD MEN AND TRUE AGREE TO DIFFER IN LONG DRAWN OUT CASE — FRESH TRIAL ON MONDAY.

After an absence of three hours and twenty minutes, the jury sitting on the murder case Rex vs. Eneas Mack returned and took their places in the silent court, and the foreman, David Boyle, announced that he and his fellow jurors had been unable to agree on a verdict. The speaker inadvertently let slip the words "We stood seven to five for—" until suddenly pulled up Mr. Justice Clement.

Answering his lordship's query the foreman said that they had tried four times to come to a settlement, but this had been found impossible.

His lordship refused to suspend the second trial over Monday, this on application from W. Norman Bole, K.C. for the crown, who reminded the court that the expense already incurred had been enormous. The second hearing will be taken on Monday afternoon before a fresh jury.

The entire day was taken up with the case, which lasted, excluding the luncheon and dinner intervals, for practically ten hours.

Sigh Gives Evidence.

Peter Sigh, who turned King's evidence, occupied some time on the witness stand and gave his version of the tragedy and the events leading up to it in a cool and collected manner, and failed at any time to show that the movements of either the prisoner, witnesses or himself were dull in his recollections, even after an interval of almost eight months since the night of the killing of Barnard at the foot of Eighth street.

Sigh, through an interpreter, leaned his cheek on his open hand and almost callously told how prisoner, when he found that he (Sigh) had brought the drunken Barnard into his boat, took hold of Barnard, tipped him over the side of the boat in mid stream and held him down with both

FOUR MORE INDICTMENTS.

Wappenstein, of Seattle, Must Furnish Bonds for $20,000 Additional.

Seattle, May 26.—The case against Former Chief of Police Wappenstein on an indictment charging the acceptance of a bribe of $1000 from a keeper of a disorderly house was called in the criminal court yesterday, but was continued until today to give counsel for the defence time to prepare affidavits in support of their motion for a change of venue.

The indictment under which Wappenstein is about to go to trial is the first of eight returned against him by the special grand jury called to investigate alleged graft in the police department under the last administration. Wappenstein was given until today to furnish $20,000 bonds required on the four indictments returned against him on Tuesday. He is already under $67,000 bonds on the first four indictments.

GEORGE CUNNINGHAM IS VICTIM OF BAD ACCIDENT

Well Known Man Thrown from Sulky When Horse Runs Away—Internal Hemorrhage Is Feared.

Thrown headlong from his sulky at 5:45 o'clock las tnight after his horse had galloped madly for several blocks, George Cunningham, sr., was shortly after taken to his home suffering severe pain. On examination by Dr. Hall a few minutes later the exact nature of his injuries could not be ascertained, but as the victim was spitting blood it was feared that he may have suffered an internal hemorrhage.

Mr. Cunningham was turning the corner of Third avenue and Eighth street when his horse became frightened and bolted. Galloping madly the animal travelled along Eighth as far as Fifth avenue, turned the corner and sped towards the avenue as far as Tenth street. At this corner the horse failed to make the curve, Mr. Cunningham being thrown out and lighting heavily on the ground. He was immediately removed to his home, where all possible attention was rendered him.

GRIEVANCE OF INDIANS TO BE HEARD IN COURT

Claims of Aborigines to Share of the Crown Lands in British Columbia to Be Finally Given Hearing.

Vancouver, May 26.—After an agitation lasting for several years, during which time the provincial and Dominion governments were successively importuned to listen to the complaints and claims of the aborigines, it has just been decided by the authorities at Ottawa to submit to judicial hearing the case of the British Columbia Indians, who contend that they are entitled to a share of the crown lands in this province.

Information to this effect was received today by representatives of the Indians from lawyers in the east who acted in the presentation of the claims at Ottawa. It is stated that the case will be submitted to either the supreme court of Canada or the privy council and that action to this end will be taken shortly after the close of the coronation festivities, the latter part of next month.

Some time ago parties who had interested themselves in the claims of the Indians waited on the provincial government and asked that a stated case be submitted to the courts, but the request was refused on the ground that the aborigines had no case in law. Then followed an appeal to Ottawa, with the result that a decision has been reached to settle for all time whether or not the Indians have any legal claims to the crown lands of British Columbia.

MEXICO NO LONGER UNDER HEEL OF DIAZ

PRESIDENT FORMALLY RESIGNED YESTERDAY—TROUBLE IS ALREADY LOOMING UP FOR FRANCESCO MADERO, JR.

México City, May 27.—Ex-President Diaz secretly left the city at two o'clock this morning for Vera Cruz, where he will embark for Spain. A private telegram just received reports his safe arrival at Vera Cruz.

Mexico City, May 26.—Pledged to rule only until order shall be restored and a president and vice-president are popularly elected, Francisco Leon de la Barra, former ambassador to the United States, was sworn in at noon today as president pro tempore of Mexico in the yellow room of the national palace.

Not a single cheer for Porfirio Diaz, the deposed president, and but few for de la Barra greeted the swearing in of the temporary executive, but in the packed streets about the palace the crowds made the air vocal with shouts of "Vive Madero" and cheers for the rebel chief whose successful campaign has inaugurated a new era in Mexico.

Throughout all the city today there was not a single outbreak. The interest attaching to De la Barra's taking the oath was heightened by the circulation of a proclamation that he issued, declaring that he will be a candidate for neither the presidency nor the vice-presidency at the coming elections. This, the people believe, is an indication of the complete triumph of Madero, who is thought to have forced such an agreement from De la Barra and Diaz before he would consent to make peace. It is believed there is not a doubt that Madero will be Mexico's next constitutional president. The city will give the greatest welcome in its history to the conqueror of Diaz when he arrives from Juarez.

How Diaz Resigned.

How Diaz came to resign yesterday after so long a delay was whispered today among the official set Madero's quick and determined action forced Diaz's hand. All day Diaz had temporized and there was still doubt that he would quit, when word was received that Madero had ordered his troops to advance from Juarez upon Chihuahua as the first stage of an advance on Mexico City. That stirred De la Barra. He at once went to Diaz, told him that if his resignation were withheld until night hostilities would be resumed and no one could forecast the outcome. Diaz then surrendered and at once sent the resignations of himself and Vice-President Ramon Corral to the chamber of deputies.

Word is anxiously awaited here today by General Alfredo Dominguez, Madero's personal representative.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR EDITORS OF SEATTLE P.-I.

Clean-up Campaign in Sound City Drags Heads of Newspapers Into Serious Trouble.

Seattle, May 26.—Warrants against John L. Wilson, former United States senator, brother of Ambassador Wilson, of Mexico, and owner of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, together with W. W. Chapin, his son-in-law and business manager, and Erastus Brainerd, editor of the Post-Intelligencer, charging criminal libel, were issued by Proscuting Attorney Murphy yesterday.

The warrants were issued at the complaint of Colonel Alden J. Blethen, editor of the Seattle Times, who was indicted on three counts Tuesday of conspiracy with Chief of Police Wappenstein and others in the open-town regime.

The Post-Intelligencer, commenting editorially on Blethen's arrest, "rejoiced to see a criminal get his just deserts," and made a bitter attack on Blethen.

The Blethens also filed suit for $100,000 in a civil libel proceeding against the Post-Intelligencer.

MAYOR'S JUBILATION COSTS HIM HIS OFFICE

Midkeff Had Signed a Pledge to Resign if He Took a Drink During His Incumbency.

Jennings, La., May 25.—Because he could not resist the temptation to imbibe rather freely when a trainload of his friends passed through Jennings on an excursion, Harry K. Midkeff will have to send his resignation as mayor to Governor Sanders.

His opponent of the last campaign, Judge, V. M. Twitchell, will doubtless succeed him. Twitchell is a Prohibitionist. Before Midkeff could be elected last fall his friends forced him to sign a document agreeing if he took a single drink of whisky while in office he would surrender the mayoralty. At the same time he signed an undated resignation to be forwarded to the governor if he broke his pledge.

Midkeff begged a mass meeting of citizens for another chance, but they would not relent.

MARKET REPORT

New potatoes appeared on the stalls at the city market yesterday morning, but in such small quantities as to excite more cupidity than comment. The tubers came from the sunny state of California and sold at the rate of three pounds for two-bits The old stagers commanded $50 per ton. It will be some weeks yet before local new potatoes grace the tables of the residents of this city, but in the meantime a steady decline in the price of the 1910 crop may be expected.

Vegetables were scarce, some of the usual staples being present only in negligible quantities.

No beef or mutton was noticed on the stalls. Pork was scarce, but veal was to be had in large quantities. Prices remained as last week.

Fish was present in fair quantities, red springs and steelheads being featured. There was also a good supply of halibut and rock cod.

Eggs came in in large quantities, but the price was maintained.

GOV. WOODROW WILSON IS FOR RECIPROCITY

Minneapolis, May 25.—"I am here today in favor of the Canadian reciprocity agreement," said Gov. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jeresy, shortly after his arrival from the coast today. "I have always favored the principle of reciprocity, and favor the present agreement as a general proposition. As to its details, there might be ground for criticism, but that is not worth while, as the agreement must stand or fall as a whole."

CHILD'S PIANO PRACTICE IS KILLING YOUNG MAN

Doctor Affirms That His Patient Would Pass Away After Two Hours of Discord.

New York, May 26.—Lying in a Morris chair in the parlor of a little flat on the second floor of 1504 Second avenue is Frederick Stout, 20 years old, every inch of him palpitating in sympathy seemingly with the acute dilation of his heart. Through the wall in the adjoining flat come the sound of childish piano exercises torturing the nerves of the young man. The parents of Stout do not pound upon the wall, for they know it will do no good. They, the doctor in charge of the young man, and Magistrate House have appealed to the father of the little girl at the piano, John Roth, a fireman, and told him the torturing music is surely shortening the boy's life. The Roths have replied that they are within their rights; that they have paid money for music lessons for their ten-year-old daughter Edna, and they want to see some return.

Summoned to Court.

Magistrate House is going to see if he can do anything to stop the torture, and if he finds that he can, he is going to do it on Monday at 2 p. m., when he will have Roth before him on a summons.

Dr. Charles J. Goeller, of 421 East One Hundred and Forty-sixth street, wrote to Magistrate House on Friday that the piano playing of little Edna Roth was lessening the young man's chances of recovery. He added that there was not the slightest doubt in the world that his patient could be killed by two hours of continuous playing.

"At present," he said, "the little girl plays only an hour a day, but its effect upon my patient is marked. Luckily they have seldom played at night. The other night they did. The boy's mother telephoned to me that her son was having sinking spells. I ordered her over the telephone to give him injections of a stimulant every 15 minutes until I could get to him. I worked over him until two o'clock in the morning, just as the result of that one evening's playing. I myself went into the opposite flat and explained to Mrs. Roth the situation. She answered: 'We'll play our piano whenever we want to.'"

Mrs. Henry W. Stout, the boy's mother, let a reporter see her son yesterday. The boy said something to the mother in a low tone.

"He says," said the mother, "that he doesn't ask for much. He just wants a chance to live and try to get well. He doesn't mind the noises of the organs in the streets and the elevated, but that piano makes him frightfully nervous. We asked the people not to play their piano and they kept right on."

CANADIAN DIAMONDS GOOD.

Tiffany Examines Them and Is Perfectly Satisfied.

Revelstoke, May 26.—"The Canadian diamonds found in the Tulameen by F. L. Churchill, with whom is associated C. A. Barnum, have been tested by gem experts and pronounced equal to the famous product of South Africa," said R. A. A. Johnston, mineralogist and curator of the geological survey at Ottawa recently.

Among those in whom the discovery awakened a keen interest was Dr. Kunz, the Tiffany gem expert, and one of the foremost authorities on precious stones in the world. Dr. Kunz and others were greatly surprised at the beauty of the Canadian diamond and they are now enthusiastically singing its praises. Dr. Kunz made tests with radium in a dark room. The Canadian diamond was placed alongside the South African product and showed itself to be its equal. It phosphoresced the same as any well ordered diamond should.

This particular occurrence is regarded as likely to throw more light on the origin of the diamond than any other occurrence elsewhere. We have been searching through the rock and with the aid of microscopic slides have been able to see the diamond in the rock. This is the first occasion on which this has been done.

CONGRESSMAN WOULD PREVENT COMBINATIONS

Washington May 26.—A bill declaring every contract, conspiracy, or combination in restraint of trade, illegal and imposing heavy penalties on officers connected with them and branding violations as felonies has been introduced by Representative Smith of Illinois. His measure would permit government seizure of any offending combination's property in transit and would allow threefold damages to losers through restraint of trade.

NO MORE STRAP HANGERS FOR MINNEAPOLIS CARS

New City Ordinance Regulates Number of Passengers That May be Carried at One Time.

Minneapolis, May 26.—Street car employees have been instructed to enforce the "strap hanger" ordinance.

The "strap hanger" ordinance limits the number of passengers permitted on a car from 5 to 8:30 a. m., 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. The legal limit established by the ordinance is one and one-half times the seating capacity of the cars. The ordinance provides that signs showing seating capacity shall be posted in cars.

By the provisions of the ordinance car operators may be arrested and fined if they permit more than the legal capacity of passengers to board the cars during the rush hours, except in cases where another car on the same line, going in the same direction is within 300 feet. The company is also held civilly liable for $50 damage suits for each passenger so admitted.

The street railway company six weeks ago applied in the federal court for a restraining order preventing the city from enforcing the ordinance. The case was dismissed and the company has announced it will make every effort to comply with the ordinance.

The orders issued last week by the company call the attention of trainmen to the provisions of the ordinance and ask that the ordinance be strictly enforced. Conductors are instructed to inform persons who attempt to board cars already carrying legal capacity that the car is loaded and to tell them of the ordinance. Then, according to orders, if the passenger refuses to get off the car the conductor is to summon a policeman and ask that the passenger be ejected.

Motormen are ordered not to stop for passengers when a car is carrying legal capacity, except when persons wish to alight.

from Generals Miranda and Figueroa, whose forces control Cuernavaca. There is grave doubt whether these two leaders, representing the anti-Diazites of Southern Mexico, will concur in the bargain made by Madero. Both, however, have been asked to come here and confer with the rebel chief, and it is hoped that they may be placated and the necessity for further internecine strife avoided.

Rumors of trouble in Vera Cruz have been current here, but as all the wires to the seaport are down and so far as is known no word has come through from there, the reports are doubted.

There is no excitement in the foreign quarter here today and considering the epoch-making events still transpiring, the city is in a state of remarkable quiet.

Madero Jubilant.

Juarez, May 26.—Francisco Madero, jr., provisional president of Mexico, who is likely soon to be a constitutional president, was today jubilant over the seal put on his victory by the resignations of President Diaz and Vice-President Corral. In a statement to the United Press today he said:

"Diaz is now gone off the backs of the Mexican people, removing the heaviest burden they ever bore. I shall go to Mexico City in six or eight days. I have sent Frederico Garza, Pino Suarez and Manuel Urquidi to the capital to arrange for my coming.

"I, too, shall resign and will no longer be the provisional president of Mexico, but only a citizen ready to aid in the reconstruction of my country. If the people want me to do so, I shall run for the presidency at the new election which will be ordered by President pro-tem De la Barra."

No Madero for Liberals.

Los Angeles, May 26.—"We now look upon Provisional President Madero with the same distruct as we did Diaz," said Ricardo Flores Magon, head of the Liberal junta here today, "and General Viljoen will certainly meet with a warm reception should he follow out Madero's instructions to come to Lower California at once to crush the insurgents. If Viljoen obeys Madero he should arrive in Lower California early next week and a terrific battle may be expected. It means war to the end. The Liberals will not stand by while Viljoen is 'crushing' the insurgents. Madero has proven that he is of the same calibre as Diaz."

Troops Will Not Be Withdrawn.

Washington, May 26.—Despite the apparent termination of the Mexican revolution through the resignation of Diaz, the war department here today declared that the American troops would not be withdrawn from Texas for the present. Army men and the state department are not yet convinced that all danger of trouble in Mexico is past, and Major General Wood probably will retain the troops at San Antonio until winter. If the situation along the border improves, however, the cavalry probably will be withdrawn from patrol.

RECIPROCITY GAINING.

The hysterical outcry against reciprocity is rapidly passing away. We were told that the agreement would disintegrate the empire, that Canada would lose its individuality and would unite with the republic to the south.

Booklets and pamphlets by the score were written by interested parties and mailed broadcast, but now we find that the "Frankenstein" they raised about Canadians being disloyal is recoiling so rapidly that the anti-reciprocity association in a recent letter admits "that it has no serious intention of accusing the Canadian people of being disloyal."

In previous articles we have pointed out the absolute untruthfulness of the statements made that the Canadian railways would suffer, on the contrary the present shares of the C. P. R. are the highest quoted on the continent of America, and since the announcement of reciprocity have steadily increased.

British capital is pouring into the country day by day, and never in the history of Canada have affairs looked half so properous.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, now attending the Imperial conference in England, is meeting with a far greater reception than has ever yet been tendered an "Empire's Son." His utterances are carefully recorded and cabled to the distant corners of the vast empire; the leading newspapers of Great Britain are loud in their praises of his statesmanship, and yet in our own Dominion we have a few, who for person and private gain, shout that he would sink our identity and merge with the United States—wicked, abominable and unpatriotic accusations.

All Canadian government annuities are payable for life no matter how long the annuitant may live, but the guaranteed annuity, that is an annuity which for a slightly increased payment is guaranteed to be paid for 5, 10, 15 or 20 years as may be desired should the annuitant die before the period mentioned had expired, enables a purchaser to provide for the contingency that someone may be dependent upon him at the time the annuity falls due. For example, a man 75 years of age recently purchased an immediate annuity of $300 to be guaranteed for ten years for which he paid $2643. If he should die at, say, 80, the $300 a year will be paid to his heirs for the remaining five years, but in any case he will receive the annuity as long as he lives should he live to be 100 or more. This means in other words that the sum of $3000 is guaranteed to be paid whether he lives or dies. The $2643 had been invested at 6 per cent, and was yielding an income of $158.58; so that his income is now double that which he formerly received. Literature fully explaining the annuities scheme as applicable to both young and old may be had by writing to S. T. Bastedo, superintendent of Canadian government annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters go free of postage.

Jury Disagrees On Murder Charge

hands for quite five minutes and then let him go.

Recognized the Voices.

Witness had had no hand in the scrimmage which took place on the wharf. He at that time was in his boat—like prisoner he was employed as a fisherman at the St. Mungo cannery,—but he recognized the voices as those of Mack and McKay (a witness). When he was some distance from the slip he heard a splash as of a body or something hitting the water. He immediately paddled his boat round to the slip and he saw the dead man hanging onto a gasoline launch which was lying nearby. Witness hauled him up and carried him into his (witness') boat. After a while prisoner came aboard and they rowed ot the middle of the Fraser river. Before reaching there Mack had noticed Barnard, but said nothing. When they got out, the final part of the tragedy happened. Wet from his previous immersion and pretty well drunk, the man could not resist the attack now made upon him and put up no show of a fight, and apart from a faint gurgling sound which emitted from Barnard's lips, this closed his career.

Witness Wept.

Witness started to cry and continued until long after they reached the cannery, where Mack went to bed and slept while witness kept on weeping throughout the night.

This concluded the evidence before lunch and ere the resumption the judge, counsel and jury visited the locality of the murder, which although much altered since the fateful night, was described by those conversant with the changes.

Mack on the Stand.

When the court reopened, prisoner was put on the stand and gave evidence on his own behalf. Mack, a thick set man with heavy visage, spoke in an undertone and his voice barely carried to the press seats. He said he was twenty-eight years of age and came from the Chehalis band of Indians. At sunset on the night of the occurrence, he came in to Westminster with his partner (Sigh) from the cannery, landing from, and leaving their boat at, the slip on Eighth street. There he left Sigh and met McKay and Barnard. The three went to a saloon where they had several drinks. After a slight altercation between Barnard and McKay, they all adjourned to a lumber pile and consumed more whisy and gin, which Barnard paid for. Mack became very drunk and remembered nothing of what afterwards transpired. He had a vague recollection of being told, while in this drunken stupor, by McKay that Barnard had gone away to Steveston. He denied that he had been hiding from the police authorities as he came into this city on no fewer than five occasions before he was arrested by the police. Neither time did Sigh accompany him. When he was arrested, witness-prisoner claimed that he was not told on what charge he was being held.

Circumstantial Evidence.

This concluded the case for the defence and W. S. Hansford, who had been retained to defend Mack, commenced his address to the jury. Counsel spoke for forty-five minutes and endeavored to show that only circumstantial evidence, and that of the flimiest nature, had been adduced by the crown. The whole matter, he contended, was started by a drunken brawl and the jury had to be satisfied that the dead man did not fall into the river as the result of falling from either the slip or the wharf where he had been fighting with someone. He reviewed carefully and at great length the evidence of each witness called and made it plain that he for one placed little credence on what had been said by many of these. Before a verdict of murder against his client could be brought in the jury had to make sure that Mack did commit the awful deed and counsel said, that, to his mind, had not been done by the crown.

Crown Counsel Is Emphatic.

Mr. Bole did not mince matters when, right at the commencement of his talk for the crown, he said that never in all his experience, either as a barrister or a judge had he seen so clear a case as the witnesses whom he had called had made out. There had been murder done, murder of the foulest nature and by the prisoner who was at that time in the dock. He asked the jury not to pay any attention to what had been said by his learned friend as to the drunken condition of Mack. Drunkenness was no excuse for murder. There was no shadow of a doubt in his mind that prisoner had done Barnard to death and having proved his case, he was in duty bound, under the necessity, no matter how painful it might be to himself, of asking them to return a verdict on the capital charge.

After directing the jury, his lordship spoke on the merits and demerits of the whole unsavory case which had occupied their time. After being out upwards of three hours the twelve good men and true returned and reported their disagreement.

COMMENTS WEEKLY REVIEW OF SPORT CRITICISMS

LACROSSE BATTLES THIS YEAR SHOULD BE CORKING AFFAIRS

Fans Have Had Much to Consider After Holiday Game—Newsy Lalonde Still in Hospital in Vancouver—Very Thin Percy Cove About to Re-enter Ring---Thompson May Box in Nanaimo.

BY ROBERT A. WILSON

BEST game I ever saw;" "Rotten game, don't want to see another;" "wonderful combination by the champions;" "Westminster has lost hold of the game." These were but a few of the remarks which I have been hearing since that awful match at Queens park last Wednesday. Nobody just seems to know where he's getting off at and the determined front shown by the Vancouver bunch must certainly go a long way to reduce the odds which would be betted during the season on the Salmon Bellies. I do not say that they will not again win the league championship, the Hartney and Minto trophies, but I do say that the battles are in the next three months going to be corkers and mixups which will have the crowd on its feet in all four stages of the games. Personally I was disappointed at the general play on Empire Day in many ways. I had remembered what I had written in these columns last Saturday about what was to be done to some of the players by the opposing forces, and how Newsy Lalonde and Johnny Howard were to be laid out and "hospitaled" and to a large extent the information given to me proved to be all too true. Lalonde did not play the game of the previous Saturday, and up against stickhandlers of superior calibre, he gave one the impression of being a trifle scared. It may have been true that he was sick and from the exposition he put up, it must be confessed that this about fits the case. He did not show that dash, that recklessness in the home that we expected to be shown by a man who had been specially brought from the eastern seaboard to help strengthen Con's team. When he looked like starting something in real earnest, he was rendered hors de combat and the incident is one that must be regretted by all lovers of the national sport or game.

THERE are those who shout from the house tops that Newsy was scheming and that he was a bad actor. I have seen many schemers in the world of sport for a long time, and went to Vancouver's dressing room to satisfy myself that Lalonde was on the square or not. The veriest tyro could see that there was no side play going on and whilst I did not say so, I would think, Jones would have done well to send his player to a local hospital instead of all the journey to Vancouver. Lalonde sure looked bad. I telephoned to St. Paul's hospital late last night and learned that Newsy was still under medical care there.

MUCH has been said and many tempers lost over the action of Matt Barr when last Wednesday he sent Tom Gifford to the bench for ten minutes, and immediately afterwards altered the brass tab to twenty minutes. The referee's action has been sorely and sadly torn up in the discussions when fans of the two cities have met in wordy combat, the pros and cons have been argued out and it has in the majority of cases been one where two people agreed on something they did not know anything about. Some have it that Gifford had his time off increased because he spoke back to Barr but being in close proximity to the player and the official I want to give the strongest denial. What Tom did say was: "Well, you'll never referee another match for us," but that had no sway with Barr, who has like all referees had to put up with something said in the heat of the moment. The reason for the increase of rest to Gifford was that the injury inflicted was more severe than had at first been thought and also because Bones Allen would be incapacitated for a lengthy period. I have not known Barr for any time, but I am of the opinion that Gifford's back talk had no effect on the action which he had taken in the matter.

THE fans have been all agog over Sandy Gray's disqualification for two quarters and whilst even to me the sentence seemed a severe one, it had one good outcome in showing that even with a man short the Westminster boys were not only able to keep their end intact but keep the play at the Vancouver goal. To play against this big handicap is surely a feather in the caps of the champions, and the disqualification was to a large measure a blessing in disguise as showing how really classy the champions are. Combination won out for the Salmons as it had in the past seasons, and whilst their stock has not yet risen on the market as the result of the Wednesday game, it certainly has not fallen. Neither is it likely to.

SPEAKING to a newspaper man in the east a few days ago, Owen Moran, the English lightweight boxer and by some said to be the next champion of the world—keep your eyes on July 4—said that the Marquis of Queensberry rules were not obeyed by American boxers, and the words come back to me during the contest last Saturday at Sumas on the other side of the line. I had given up personal friends and private enjoyments so that I might be enabled to make connections after the lacrosse match at Vancouver. I had seen a sample of the Sumas sportsman at Chilliwack and sympathized with him on the awful showing they staged and hoped for better things in the little Washington town. The wrestling and preliminary boxing bouts were exciting to a degree but the main bout, if exciting—and there mos' sutinly was some—was one which I for one do not wish to see repeated. So that may be no mis understanding on the question every time I have been the third man in the squared circle, I have plainly asked just how the principals intend to contest matters. This old-time query I put to both Grover Crooks, of Sumas, and Jack Thompson, of this city, who were furnishing the topline argument over six round. They both agreed to BOX under strict Queensberry rules, clean breaks, no hits in the clinches and part on command of the referee. From what resulted, it appears to be very clear that their respective brains must have been too busy on other matters and the rules were disregarded to such an extent that the affair resembled a battle under the old London prize ring rules. Three breaks by force were easy enough to carry through but after that. you couldn't have parted them with a crow bar and a keg of gunpowder. Both were out for blood, and the spectators surely got their money's worth in the two rounds of the Donnybrook Fair exchanges. Thompson, who had appeared in Sumas before, had dissappointed the crowd by his poor showing and had made up his mind that this time he would show the onlookers that he was some mitt artiste. He succeeded. When I found that netiher would break I let them go to it, and have a good time. They did. Under the rules, the affair was "no contest" but Thompson claimed the decision as Crooks did not respond to the gong at the commencement of the third round. It would be well that this kind of boxing would be eliminated. Harm is done to the sport by those who go in to mix it up with an utter disregard for all rules. Thompson, whom I had never seen in action before, whilst a strong fellow with a a solid kick in either hand, has much to learn in the finer points of the game. He is still young and should with care and careful handling do something in the near future which will put him up the ladder a bit. Of course he will never be a champion. He has not the build, but he will always beat more than can beat him. Acting on his behalf, I sent a telegram to Nanaimo Tuesday asking for a match against either Manson or Peter Muldoon at the middleweight limit. Those who are behind the Nanaimo Athletic club are sportmen, and I can assure them that if Thompson gets a contest under their auspices, they will get a good run for their money.

WHILST they did not gain admission to the B. C. L. A., the North Vancouver club players are not down-hearted to such an extent as to necessitate calling in the doctor, and negotiations are under way for the formation of a Pacific league with Nanaimo, Victoria and North Vancouver as to the three-club organization. A costly cup has been provisionally promised by a well-known Vancouver jeweler, and if things take the turn which those behind the scheme are working hard for, I can promise lacrosse fans that ere many days pass over our heads an official announcement regarding this move. Thomas and Bettz, who worked like Trojans for the inclusion of the Maples into the B. C. league, have concentreated all their attention on this new scheme and word may come to hand ere we go to press with this number. There is no denying the fact that there is plenty of room in this province for the national sport and if matters are handled rightly a bright future is held out for those who give time and money to the fostering of the stickhandling proposition. I was pleased to hear from a source which is absolutely official that the players of the North Vancouver team who had been signed up and who could have made matters very rough for the directors of the turned-down club not only waived their rights but squared up all outstanding accounts against the club. These men are sportsmen.

AFTER more than twelve months I renewed acquaintance with a Canadian, who through all his contests in the States has worn the insigna of the Maple Leaf sewn on his apologies for knickers. I refer to Percy Cove, who has lately been appointed to the management of the Bellingham Athletic club. I first met Cove, called by some "the elongated hairpin," down in California, where I saw him in some of his warmest contests against boxers who have been fortunate to have their names inscribed on the roll of fame. Percy must have been born under an unlucky star. He has met the best in the business and somehow or other has managed to be just that much behind at the close. He drew with Ad Wolgast over the eight-round route, any any glove merchant who can accomplish that is no squeezem, believe me.

When I met Cove in Oakland, Cal., Eddie Smith, the famous referee, introduced him to me as one of the best in the world. That coming from Eddie is praise indeed. This same Smith ruled against Cove in his contest against Harry Baker when I thought, with the majority, that Percy had just won. The greater number of his recent contests have been along the same lines, just happening to lose out when victory was waiting for admittance, as it were.

WITHOUT his Maple Leaf Cove would not go into the ring and he sings the praises of his country all the time. Not only is he well versed in the art of boxing but equally so in education, this being unfortunately a lacking factor with the boxing school as we know it today. Talk to P. C. an any subject and he's with you all the time. But gee, ain't he thin. He told me at Sumas that he intended taking a few pounds off so as to get back to form. Don't, Percy; we connot afford to let you go. Under his guidance, the amateur game in Bellingham is progressing by leaps and bounds and although his boys were defeated all along the line by the more experienced bunch from the V. A. C. on Thursday night in the Terminal city, the time is not far distant when the Canadian-American will turn the tables.

LASHBURN TELEGRAPHER DROPS OUT OF SIGHT

Lashburn, Sask., May 26.—Much excitement has been created here by a report that a C. N. R. telegraph operator, who had been sent to Lashburn to take charge of the night work, had mysteriously disappeared, without leaving trace or clew to his destination or whereabouts. The missing individual, whose name is Dion, is a Frenchman, of medium height, about 23 years of age, of dark complexion and wearing a small moustache, and had only arrived in Lashburn on the previous evening to report for duty at the local depot. He engaged board and lodging at the Hotel Imperial, but on Friday morning in question, after acting very strangely in the dining room while partaking of his breakfast, he left the hotel and has not since been seen. He left no word at the station as to what his intentions were, and after some time had elapsed, in which he did not reappear for work, the matter was placed in the hands of the local member of the R. N. W. M. P. Constable Drysdale. The constable has made a vigorous search of the district, personally and by enquiry, but so far has failed to throw any light on the whereabouts of the man. Dion had worked in Battleford and Humbolt as C. N. R operator before coming here and from remarks made by him during his brief stay in Lashburn it appears that he had recently suffered considerable loss in the destruction by a prairie fire of all the property on his homestead in the Humboldt district, and there have been some conjectures that possibly this loss had driven him to despondency, which led to his strange actions and sudden disappearance.

STINGLESS BEE.

Scientists Seek Insect That Will Work and Not Prod

Rochester, N. Y., May 26.—To produce a bee that will not sting and that at the same time will be twice or three times as industrious as the bee today, is one of the most important problems to be met by the new beekeeping bureau of the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst. Professor Burton N. Gates, State inspector of apiaries, is in charge of the work.

"We find on the Island of Cyprus an exceptionally irritable and vicious bee," said Professor Gates yesterday. "In the Russian Caucasus there is a bee that is very gentle. As to the possibility of finding the ideal in the Russian bee I cannot say, because its comparative productiveness has not been determined. Still, I think some day we will breed bees that will be great honey or wax producers and at the same time be gentle and stingless."

DISADVANTAGES OF LIFE IN AUSTRALIA

LAND IN MANY PARTS OF COUNTRY IS ABSOLUTELY BARREN AND UNFIT EVEN FOR SHEEP RAISING.

London, May 26.—The claims of Canada as the oldest and most responsible British imperial territory in the matter of colonial emigration are being materially helped here by a severe attack on the bona fide character of the inducements of her chief rival, Australia. Several returning colonists are making a smashing attack on the unsuspected disadvantages of life in the Antipodes which do not appear in the bright intimations of a veritable Eldorado to be gathered from the commonwealth's official immigration agents.

For instance, the land in central and northern Queensland, alleged "to grow anything," in many cases turns out to be absolutely barren, not even fit for sheep grazing. This is because everything in Australia depends on rainfall, and on one season's drought wipes out the proceeds of a dozen fat years. This, of course, tends to make agriculture a great gamble; as a result all the big, prosperous farms are owned by syndicates who do things on a lavish enough scale to make things pay.

Queensland Is Worse.

From the evidence of these returning grumblers, Queensland seems to be the chief offender in this respect. One disgusted farmer is now working as a navvy and is saving money, with the help of what his wife can earn charring, to get back as soon as possible to his native Middlesex. He went out in high hopes, he says, the high hopes being supplied by an Australian immigration agent he met at a cattle show. Within a month after stocking his land in Queensland, described to him as "God's own country," 15 out of his 19 cows died from the fatal "red water," which the agent had neglected to mention. He sold the remaining four cows, and lost the deposit he paid on his land, for he can find no one to take it off his hands.

Another case of disillusionment is cited even worse than that. A family from Essex started farming with 12 good Ayrshire and Jersey cows, but were amazed to find their land would not grow fodder enough even for that number of sheep. So they had to pay $5 a week to a nearby farmer for grazing land, and though the wife and daughter worked hard at poultry raising, often starting milking at 3 a. m., and not finishing the day's work till seven in the evening, they could not make both ends meet. Then their cows died of the terrible "red water" and the family were ruined indeed. Now the husband is a casual laborer, the daughter has gone into domestic service, the son is working on a sugar plantation, and the wife has utterly broken down through worry and overwork.

According to the man's estimate, it costs twice as much to live in Australia as it does in England. The unemployed problem is as keen in Brisbane as it is in London. Another correspondent writes that the areas under wheat and grape cultivation are rapidly decreasing in extent. Especially are the days gone by when adventure and fortune awaited the solitary colonist. There is no avenue open to the working man in modern Australia but that of grinding drudgery.

Many correspondents ridicule the Scottish commission of farmers who have been "investigating" living conditions in general throughout the commonwealth. "They have only been shown land," says one indignant colonist, "in a high state of cultivation. They were never taken into the unsettled areas, which are the only parts now left for immigrants to settle on. The barren sections of the country were carefully avoided, as well as those affected with seasonal droughts. The Scotsmen were only brought in contact with prosperous squatters. They were hampered in their investigation by the well-meant but embarrassing attentions of a crowd of commonwealth M. P.'s and politicians who followed them everywhere they went. At some of the places visited they were met by a contingent of people in over 100 motor cars. Hospitality was showered upon them in the form of public banquets and receptions, but no useful work and no serious investigation into the conditions was attempted, and most of the newspapers in Australia treated the so-called inquiry almost with scorn, and were not slow to point out that the commissioners were being handled in the way which would best ensure a satisfactory report from the government's point of view.

Reports such as there are being given considerable space in the home papers just now. That accounts for the practical unanimity with which this year's British emigrants are making for the west. Especially is this true of the north countrymen, the best type of settlers to be found. Several batches from Cumberland, Westmoreland, and Yorkshire are leaving this week, their destinations being described by an agent "Winnipeg, mostly in Canada and Colorado, Oregon, Utah and Washington, chiefly in America. They are keen on getting on the land in the west."

Made Duration Record.

Poitras, France, May 26.—Lieutenant Marra, who is making a tour of France in a new army aeroplane, with a passenger arrived here yesterday afternoon from Mourmelan. The distance is 373 miles and the flight occupied nine hours and fifteen minutes. This beats all records for distance and duration.

DANISH THEORIST PLANS UTOPIA OF INFORMATION

Organizations Already Exist in England, Japan, India and France—Many Eminent Contributors.

The newest idea is an international organization which shall furnish a trustworthy medium of communication ebtween men and nations. It is to take up the departments of business, literature, science and news. Neils Gron, of Denmark, London and Harvard, wants to guarantee the world's information. He has an idea which he calls "Potentia."

The Chicago Association of Commerce is now considering the idea. Chicago has been offered the honor of the first American association. If Mr. Gron succeeds in girdling the world with his organization the utopia of information will have been attained.

When Potentia flashes it out that the Fairy Dream Eldorado Gold Mine and Rubber Plantation company pays dividends of 92 per cent. the general public must believe. When Potentia reports that Prof. Grunenwaldenstein has seen animals move on Mars the public will be perfectly safe to believe in the animals. Potentia will speak with authority.

Mr. Gron, who recently addressed the Ways and Means committee of the Chicago association, is the originator of the idea. He felt that something should be done to guarantee truth. With such an association as he proposes to found there could be little wildcat promotion of stocks. The public would be protected.

Theory at Least Good.

When a man had a corporation to float he would be practically obliged to convince the local branch of the Potentia organization that this plan was sound and honest. In the same way if a Dane inherited a fortune in the United States he would what to do. He would not be afraid to send to some chance American lawyer and run the risk of losing the estate and gaining a lawyer's fee. He would send to Potentia. Potentia, being composed of the most celebrated honorable and disinterested gentlemen to be found would reply with a reply that would fill the Dane with confidence and information.

The theory is certainly splendid. The field is tremendous. The question of practicability remains to be answered.

The association, however, has made some headway. There is quite an active English branch. There are organizations in India and Japan, and in Paris and other continental cities. The idea was first given concrete form at a conference held in Brussels in 1904. Committees were organized in twelve countries. Potentia is known to the press throughout a large part of the world. This publicity has been promoted by various articles bearing the approval of the association, and therefore the stamp of truth. Among the writers contributing to this Potentia news service are the Earl of Kintore, James Bryce, Sir Charles Dilke, the late Paul Morton, the late Prof. Lambrose, President Hadley, of Yale, the late Bjohrnstjorn Bjornson, Baron Suyematsu, James Speyer, Senator Lodge and others.

Experts in All Branches.

The position which it is hoped the organization will hold will enable it to make quick investigations. It will have an able and responsible expert in all branches. It can render whatever is honest and sound a valuable service. Whatever is dishonest would find it an almost insurmountable barrier. International matters in particular will fall within its scope. Potentia is a publicity system on both an altruistic and a business basis.

Mr. Gron hopes to establish his organization in three departments: The literary, the technical and the news. The idea is that the service shall be unquestionably authoritative. The mark of the organization by every one as a guarantee of truth.

In the words of the originator: "Potentia is a movement which seeks to place sound enterprises, sound propositions, and sound opinions above competition, or above fraudulent competition. It does not seek to limit competition. Just the contrary. But it feels that the world has now come so close together that minds of importance, that minds which have the public confidence, are able to unite all over the world on a practical basis in such a manner that fraud to any great extent can be practically impossible."

The practicality of Potentia has been doubted by many. Human nature has a way of getting into guaranteed information. Personal interest, it is held, would find a way to work Potentia for its own private gain. But the value of such an organization if it could be founded and carried on successfully is not questioned.

FATHER ORDERS SON TO "PULL THE TRIGGER."

Greenwich, Conn., May 25.—Lester Husted, 12 years old, told the authorities that at his father's request, yesterday, he pulled the trigger of a shot gun which blew the right side of the elder man's head off.

Frederick Husted, a wealthy farmer of North Greenwich, was found lying in the kitchen of his home late Wednesday with his head partly blown off and a shotgun lying on a table. The boy said that his father sent his mother away on an errand, called him into the house, and, laying the gun on a table, knelt on the floor, placing his left eye at the muzzle of the gun and said: "Pull the trigger; it isn't loaded, I want to hear how it sounds."

The boy said he did not pull the trigger, but let it down with his thumb when his father got up and cocked the gun and again told him to pull the trigger, which he did.

DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR STOPPED

Harmless, Old-Fashioned Remedy Brings Back Color to Gray Hair and Makes It Grow.

How many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old-time, tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy nothing equals our grandmothers' "sage tea." Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer.

Nowadays, when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

Druggists are authorized to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

TURKS SHOW OPPOSITION TO ZIONIST MOVEMENT

Official Militarist Organ Accuses Sect of Being Used As a Cloak for German Designs.

Constantinople, May 25.—A curious incident, the news of which has just reached the capital from Salonika, reveals in unmistakable fashion the rapid growth of Turkish hostility to the Zionist movement. A well-known Zionist propagandist, Santo-Semo Effendi, having obtained the permission of the committee of union and progress to use its club at Salonika for the purpose of a lecture on immigration into Mesopotamia, a large number of Jewish and Turkish members of the committe promised to be present on this occasion.

They kept their promise, but when the lecturer, after discussing various schemes for the colonization of Mesopotamia, delivered a violent attack on Great Britain, accusing her of opposing German commercial schemes in Mesopotamia simply with a view to the eventual economic and political conquest of Irak, many of the Turks present hooted the lecturer and the meeting was for a time so disturbed that several of the leading Jews present withdrew. Quiet was soon restored, but on the following day the Turkish "Rumeli" which is now the organ of the Salonika committee and is believed especially to reflect the views of its military members, published a violent attack on Zionism, which is described as being simply and solely a cloak for German designs and notably for schemes for the economic conquest and exploitation of Mesoptamia. These views certainly appear now to prevail among many Turks both within and without the committee organization, who profess to find evidence of German support of Zionism in the strongly Germanophile and Anglophobe tendencies of the principal Zionist organs published in Turkey, and the fact that some of the chief Zionist propagandists here are German subjects. However this may be, it is to be hoped that the anti-Zionist feeling, which has become very marked of late, may not degenerate into Anti-Semitism from which Turkey has till now been free.

CAVES ARE ATTRACTIVE.

Charles Deutschman Says Tourists Are Coming in Bunches.

Revelstoke, May 25.—"The Deutschman Caves, which a few years ago were an unknown quantity, are becoming an unparalleled attraction to easterners and tourists," said Charles Duetschman, who Friday returned to the city, after a trip to New York, Atlantic City, Chicago and many other big centers. Mr. Deutschman was away in the east for several months visiting with his folks near Chicago and calling on a large number of the tourists with whom he became acquainted in the pursuit of his summer's work. The people down east, Mr. Deutschman declared, have become enamored with the natural beauty of these caves and have signified their intention of coming back for exploration purposes. One prominent New York man has already visited the caves twice and he is coming back again this summer, while a great many others have determined to make this point their annual summer outing. About $7000 will be spent around the caves this year, said Mr. Deutschman, in fixing up the place. A wagon road will be built from Glacier to the caves and attempts will be made to open up new caves that have never yet been touched. All the buildings about the place will be repainted and many other improvements made to add to the attractiveness of the place.

There are still seven or eight feet of snow at the caves, but Mr. Deutschman expects this season the biggest tourist traffic ever experienced. This year he will have his two sisters with him as they are coming from the east to spend the summer.

RUSSIAN INTEREST IN AEROPLANES IS INCREASING

St. Petersburg, May 26.—It is surprising what interest is taken here in airships. An exhibition of aeroplanes, which has been open for a week, is crowded every day. A very large number of officers have visited it and studied the different types of machine with keen attention.

The czar drove into the town on purpose to se the exhibition, and spent two hours examining the machines and having their points explained to him. His majesty stopped a long time before the exhibits of the British Bristol company, and congratulated White Smith, the company's special representative, on its enterprise in being the only British manufacturers to send so far. The czar also remarked on the excellence of the Bristol workmanship, and said he was glad to know that the Russian war office had purchased eight of the company's biplanes.

The Russian army already possesses forty flying machines for teaching officers, and intends to have in the course of the next two years several hundred aeroplanes. These will prove a substitute for a fleet which would take twenty years to build. It is believed that future wars will be best prepared which which are well equipped with military aeroplanes.

Conference Starts Work.

London, May 26.—There was a big gathering at the foreign office today when the Imperial conference broke ground on the all-important matters of defence and foreign relations. Besides heads of military and naval departments and experts in those lines were present Premier Asquith, Lord Haldane, secretary of war! Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary; Earl Crewe, secretary for India; Lewis Harcourt, colonial secretary; Lord Kitchener and Lord Fisher, the two latter being members of the committee of imperial defence. It was not anticipated that Sir Edward Grey would make a set speech.
