FIVE NATIONS DISCUSS TERMS FOR ENDING WAR

Cholera Epidemic Favors Turks Who Transform Famous Mosque Into Hospital to Check Bulgarian Ambition--Allies Far From Base of Supplies While Fresh Ottoman Troops Pour in from Asia Minor--Plenipotentiaries Meet.

London, Nov. 20.—The war has shifted for a time from the field of arms to that of diplomacy. It may be that the war is near an end. Plenipotentiaries for the belligerent powers will meet tomorrow at the village of Mademkeui, a few miles outside the capital, for a preliminary discussion of the terms of an armistice.

In the meantime the Turkish, Bulgarian and Servian commanders have ordered a cessation of hostilities, although cannonading, which Nazim Pasha reported as unimportant, took place this morning.

The sweeping terms which the allies were said to have demanded yesterday as a basis for the armistice appear not to have been advanced, but it is almost certain that they will be on the basis of the Balkan states holding all the conquered country until a permanent treaty of peace is signed.

The Cholera Spectre.

How much of his former power they are prepared to concede the Turks depends largely upon two factors—the strength and supplies of the allied army threatening the gates of Constantinople and the extent to which the cholera spectre has embarrassed their plans.

It is certain that great transport difficulties hamper the Bulgarian army on account of the distance from their base and the rough roads. Cholera is counted on by the Turks to weaken the Bulgarian ambition for a triumphal march into the Turkish capital and the celebration of mass in St. Sophia. As a further check against entering the Mosque, the Turk has restored to the amazing plan of transforming the Mosque into a pest house, and has crowded 200 cholera stricken patients within its walls.

As in the Days of Old.

Athens, Nov. 20.—An official report from Trikala, Thessaly, says the Turco-Albania chief, Bekir Aga, with a thousand irregulars, taking advantage of the advance of the Greek army towards the interior of Macedonia made a sudden night attack on Grevena. He drove out the inhabitants and pillaged and burned the shops.

Peace Looms Up.

Constantinople, Nov. 20.—Nazim Pasha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish army; Izzet Pasha, chief of general staff of the war office and late commander-in-chief in Yemen, and Chaden Bey, councillor of state, have been appointed Ottoman plenipotentiaries for the negotiations of an armistice with the Bulgarian representatives.

The question of peace looms large in the foreground. The fact that the official communications with regard to the Bulgarian reply issued at Constantinople and Sofia make no mention of preliminary conditions, has given rise to comment, as it was generally expected that Bulgaria would insist upon fixing bases before consenting to begin negotiations.

Indeed, the belief was general that Bulgaria would demand the capitulation of Adrianople and other fortified places, and the foreign minister recently told the ambassadors that Turkey would refuse to entertain any such stipulations.

War Until Signed.

Apparently Bulgaria has found good reasons for refraining from such an attitude, especially as the entering upon pour parlers will not compel the supension of hostilities until the armistice actually has been signed.

As has been pointed out, the question of cholera complicates the issue at Tchatalja, and today it is rumored the Bulgarians are retiring to more sanitary positions back of Tchatalja. A violent cannonading, audible this afternoon in the direction of Derkos, would indicate that some engagement is progressing in that quarter.

This morning all was quiet in the neighborhood of Biyuk Chekmedyi and Tchatalja, but fresh troops are arriving daily by steamer and train from Asia Minor.

Naval Contingents.

The Porte has applied to the embassies and legations for the withdrawal of the naval contingents landed on Monday, on the ground that their presence is not necessary, while it is added that should danger arise, there will be time enough to take measures of precaution.

The ambassadors and ministers today discussed the request. It is understood they decided to leave the matter in abeyance for the present.

A telegram from Nazim Pasha reads:

"There was no severe fighting today. A slight cannonade and fusillade were exchanged at the right and left wings. We have collected the arms and other effects abandoned yesterday by the enemy."

St. Sophia as Hospital.

It is believed generally that the object of the authorities in quartering 2000 patients in the Mosque of St. Sophia is to deter any enemies from setting foot within the building. The talk in the Sophia papers regarding the singing of Te Deum in that historic pile undoubtedly produced an impression on the Turkish government which resorted to this oriental expedient of thwarting such a design.

A letter from Drama says that long before the Bulgarians approached the town the authorities were seized with panic and besought the foreign consuls to arrange a peaceable surrender.

Next day the governor, the militia commander and the commander of the gendarmerie, attired in mufti, abandoned the place, while many of the soldiers and gendarmerie imitated their example.

VALLEY SETTLEMENT CAUSES BIG DEMAND

For Telephones—Company Installing Additional Circuits—Westminster Cutover by December 15.

The cut-over of the New Westminster common battery system, an event which it was expected would have been history by this time, has been unavoidably delayed through the non-receipt of material from manufacturers, states "Telephone Talks," the official organ of the B. C. Telephone company.

Lacking the material, which had been on order for months, it was found impossible to complete the work in accordance with the schedule of progress laid out when the transformation of the service was undertaken.

If everything goes smoothly it is confidently expected that the cut-over will take place not later than December 15.

The necessary material has been received by the company for the construction of two additional circuits between New Westminster and Ladner, the stringing of which is to be started immediately. A circuit will also be installed between New Westminster and Milner, and an additional one between this city and Cloverdale.

The rapid settlement of the lower Fraser valley on the southern side of the river has been responsible for a large increase in telephone traffic between the outlying districts and Westminster, this city being the commercial and social centre of the territory.

The modern rancher apparently requires telephone service in common with the city business man, and the influx of settlers to the valley has therefore brought about a demand for telephones that has taxed the existing facilities and made necessary the extension of old lines and the construction of new ones through the territory.

ELECTIONS AGITATE EDMONDS RESIDENTS

One Candidate for Ward Two Only in Sight—Reeveship Campaign Developing.

Edmonds, Nov. 20.—Members for the Edmonds Ratepayers Association will be out in full force tomorrow evening at Moreton hall to attend a special meeting called for the naming of candidates for the reeveship and councillor for Ward Two.

A call has been issued by the secretary of the Ward Six Ratepayers Association for a meeting of representatives from all the associations in Burnaby but as this was received after the Edmonds meeting had been announced, the Ward Two residents will go ahead with their plans.

Mr. A. S. Macpherson is the only candidate in sight for the councillorship of Ward Two but it is almost certain that opposition will develop before the artillery has had its say and the fight comes to closer quarters.

The reeveship, the richest plum as far as honor is concerned, is still agitating Edmonds and the stand is now being taken that two years is enough for any one district to elect a man, so that a candidate will announced according to the programme mapped out.

A plethora of would-be's is skirting around the battleground in every ward, waiting for a change in the wind, and when once the weather sign points favorably, they are almost certain to come out of the underbrush and do the Rooseveltian act.

SIKH CASE STILL OCCUPIES ASSIZES

Hard Day for Interpreter and Stenographer—Application for Dismissal Refused.

The third day of the trial of Isshar Singh II was opened by Mr. J. A. Russell, counsel for the defence, pleading for the dismissal of the case on the grounds that there was no case to go to the jury with, that the crown had utterly failed to prove the part of their indictment which set out that between 7 p.m. on August 14 and the morning of August 15, 1912, accused had not been in Vancouver. Another point advanced was the alleged faulty interpretation. Mr. Justice Murphy repelled the application.

Then counsel for the defence informed the court that as he had eleven witnesses to examine the trial would last the whole day. Accordingly the unempannelled jurors and witnesses in the remaining untried cases were dismissed for the day and the case proceeded until Mr. Wilkinson, the Hindustani and Punjaubi interpreter, complained at 4:30 p.m. of exhaustion and the court most sympathetically expressed that the interpreter and stenographer must be considered and adjourned the court until today.

A sensational incident in yesterday's trial was the assertion of a witness, Googur Singh, an employee of the Walsh Sash and Door factory, in answer to Mr. Russell, that he had been prevented by Mr. Law of that company from attending the assizes on Tuesday. Mr. Law is an important witness for the crown. He said Mr. Law was the timekeeper and would not give him leave.

This raised a question between counsel on both sides and the court as to whether this Googar Singh was the man Mr. Law referred to. Ultimately it was decided to recall Mr. Law, Mr. Grant, for the crown, indignantly repudiating the slightest suggestion that the prosecution was unwilling to produce any witness called for in order to elucidate the real facts of the case.

Then the weary reiteration of contradictions, witnesses for the defence swearing stoutly that both Isshar Singh and the accused and his namesake the convict were in Vancouver on the night that witnesses for the prosecution just as positively took their Sikh oaths that they were in New Westminster.

Mr. Grant, for the crown, subjected them to the most rigorous cross-examination, getting generally similar oriental parries as were given to Mr. Russell.

An element of humor was introduced by one of the defence Singhs. Pressed by Mr. Grant as to whether it was a Sunday a certain occurrence happened, he replied in English he was not the timekeeper.

It is fairly safe to prophecy the case will last most of today.

THREE INFORMERS MAY BE RELEASED

Friends of Becker and Four Condemned Gunmen May Take Revenge—Daylight Chosen.

New York, Nov. 20.—It will be in broad daylight, and not under cover of darkness as they had anxiously hoped, that "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon will be set at liberty, according to the program for the release of the three informers against Charles Becker and his four gunmen tools, so far as could be learned tonight.

Mid-afternoon tomorrow is the time set tentatively. The underworld has been awaiting with interest and intimation as to the time they were to go free, for the feeling has prevailed there that the friends of the four gangsters about to be sentenced to death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were looking forward to the liberation of Rose, Webber and Vallon to take revenge upon the trio.

The three men will be brought before Coroner Feinberg at 2 o'clock and District Attorney Whitman will present to that official, it is said, stipulations signed by him with counsel for the witnesses. If Mr. Whitman says that the three men have kept faith with the state in giving testimony, the coroner will release them.

Sam Schepps, fourth of the state's valuable witnesses against Becker and the gunmen, also probably will be released during daylight tomorrow. He is being held on a charge of vagrancy.

William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car," will go free shortly.

Mr. Whitman will move to have the indictment against Sapiro quashed in return for his testimony for the state.

Mrs. Lillian Horrowitz, wife of "Gyp the Blood," was brought today from the house of detention, where she had been held, pending the outcome of the gunmen's trial, and discharged from custody by Justice Goff.

Death from Recent Chill.

Swift Current, Sask., Nov. 20.—Out of the seventeen Chinamen injured in the C. P. R. wreck at Rush Lake yesterday one has died in the hospital here. The wrecked special was carrying the Chinamen in bond from China to Jamaica.

DUKE WILL OPEN SESSION TODAY

Naval Policy Announcement Follows Debate on Address from Throne.

Recent Triumphal Tour—Laurier's Birthday—Indications Point to Lengthy Session.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The speech from the throne which will be read by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught at the formal opening of the parliament on Thursday afternoon will refer to the triumphal tour of the Duke of Connaught and to the many evidences of loyalty to the crown.

The sustained prosperity of the country will be alluded to and the new naval policy foreshadowed, but not with any details of what it will consist. The ratification of the West Indian agreement, revision of the bank act, legislation for aiding highway improvement, amendments to the railway act and certain other proposed enactments will be touched on and the buoyant revenues of the country noted.

Five New Members.

The proceedings in the House tomorrow will be brief. Five new members will be introduced, Messrs. Boys of Simcoe; Green, of Kootenay; Garland, of Carleton; Morrison, of Macdonald, and Cardin, of Richelieu. Hon. Mr. Coderre will not be able to take his seat for some days, the law prescribing certain delays before the official return can be made and gazetted.

After certain papers are asked for the House will adjourn until Friday and possibly until Monday. Soon after the debate on the address has been concluded there is reason to believe that the naval policy of the government will be announced and it is hoped that the debate will be concluded and the matter, as far as the government's temporary policy is concerned, disposed of before Christmas. This depends, of course, on the attitude of the opposition, and in regard to that there is much speculation in the capital.

Liberal Policy.

Referring to the Liberal policy today one of the leading men of the party said:

"Our policy will not be determined until the government's program is known. Then we will have a caucus and talk it over. Until that happens no one has the right or the authority to say what our attitude will be."

The general expectation is that the session will be a long one and the members don't expect to get away from the capital before May. Both Mr. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier go into what promises to be a strenuous session in splendid health.

Today the opposition leader celebrated his seventy-first birthday. He was the recipient of many congratulatory messages. During the afternoon he had many callers and C. R. Devlin, M.P., on behalf of his constituents of Wright county, Quebec, presented him with an address.

CONCRETE FELL JUST BEFORE MEN ARRIVED

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 20.—Forty men narrowly escaped death this morning when four panels out of each of the six floors of the big new Angus McMilan block on Third avenue crashed to the basement, carrying with them nearly one million pounds of concrete, steel and iron. The accident took place at 6:50, just ten minutes before forty men would have been at work in the very four panels which came down.

It is supposed that some of the supports were burned away as a result of the contact with the salamanders, which have been used for the past month to heat the building.

EDMONTON'S "STORMY PETREL" FOR MAYORALTY

Edmonton, Nov. 20—Mayoralty campaigns tonight took on a new aspect when a meeting of some of the labor unions of the city nominated for their representative Alderman Joseph Clark, the "Stormy Petrel" of the city council during the past year.

The other two candidates are William Short, K.C., and W. J. MaGrath, a real estate dealer. MaGrath has been counting largely on the support of those who are now said to be backing Clark.

APPOINT G. H. BARNARD B. C. CONSERVATIVE WHIP

Ottawa, Nov. 20—Mr. G. H. Barnard M. P. for Victoria, has been appointed Conservative whip for British Columbia to succeed Mr. A. S. Goodeve, who resigned as member for Kootenay to go on the railway commission.

Mr. W. H. Sharpe, member for Lisgar, has been appointed Manitoba whip to succeed Mr. W. H. Staples who was appointed to the grain commission.

Will Float Her Yet.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—In the opinion of Captain James Harrison, commander of the Royal George which now lies on the rocky beach of Isle of Irleans, the vessel can and will be released some time this month during high tide.

TIRED OF ASKING FOR FREIGHT AGENT

Light and Power Rates in Burnaby—Board of Trade Sets Date for Ball.

Edmonds, Nov. 20.—The Burnaby Board of Trade held one of the shortest sessions in its history this evening in the municipal hall. The heavy downpour of rain, the enforced absence of its president, Mr. B. G. Walker, and the fact that politics permeates the Burnaby atmosphere at the present time, no doubt had a great deal to do with both the attendance and the business transacted.

The constitution does not permit the talking of politics and this fact no doubt kept the members curbed until the meeting of the Edmonds Ratepayers Association which is to be held tomorrow evening in Moreton hall.

The B. C. E. R. came in for some hard knocks over the exorbitant rates charged for light and power in the municipality. It was stated that the residents of Abbotsford were enjoying better rates than those in Burnaby and a special committee of Messrs. T. D. Coldicott and A. V. Macpherson will, together with other committees from the different ratepayers associations, wait upon the B. C. Electric officials in New Westminster and Vancouver to see if redress is not possible.

The question of having a freight agent stationed at Edmonds station also cropped up again by the reading of a communication from H. H. Campbell, who complained of missing goods sent from Vancouver to Edmonds station. Many of the members declared themselves tired of waiting upon the company in this connection and Mr. Campbell will be advised to take the matter into the courts as a test case.

It was decided to hold the first annual Board of Trade ball at Edmonds on the evening of Dec. 12. This is planned to be a municipal society event and invitations will be mailed to all the civic and municipal heads of the surrounding territory.

Mr. W. S. Rose held down the chair in the absence of Mr. Walker.

YUKON WANTS MANY GIFTS FROM OTTAWA

Separate Minister of Mines—Reindeer Instead of Dogs—Wireless and Trunk Road.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The Yukon territory through its representative, Dr. Alfred Thompson, will make a great many demands upon the government this session, including a request that a minister of mines with separate portfolio be named for the Yukon.

A request for a grant for the placing in the Yukon of reindeer herds will also be made in order that they may be substituted for dogs. Reindeer have been imported into Alaska with success and the people of the Yukon are anxious to establish self-sustaining herds in the Canadian territory.

The Yukon will also seek wireless communication with the outer world and a grant for an overland trunk road from White Horse to Dawson City so that the Yukon can have automobile communication with the outer world the year round.

COMEDIAN SUFFERS PAINFUL INJURIES

Table Gave Way Under Frank Cotter at Royal Theatre During Feature Balancing Act.

While performing his feature "stunt" on the stage of the Royal theatre last evening, Frank Cotter, the comedy equilibrist, met with a nasty accident and was forced to cancel the portion of his act which remained.

Balanced precariously on the top of three tables and a chair perched cornerwise on top of each other, Cotter was about to descend when the middle table gave way and he was thrown to the stage with some force.

The audience for a moment thought the accident was part of the proceedings, but when the artiste appeared to be moving with difficulty and the attendants came forward to his assistance a hush pervaded the theatre.

The unfortunate man was removed behind the scenes and examined by Dr. Wilson, who had been called. With the exception of a broken finger and a number of painful bruises it was discovered that the injuries sustained were comparatively light.

Cotter is billed to appear in Bellingham this afternoon and though he was advised to remain in this city for treatment he intends to fulfil his engagement.

QUEENSBORO ASKS FOR ATTENTION

Ratepayers Move for Adequate Drainage and Fire Protection.

Urge Better Roads to Preserve Richmond Connection—Will Ask Council to Appoint Commission.

The residents of Queensborough want a commission comprised of a competent engineer, a solicitor, one or two aldermen and a few of themselves to look into the requirements of the district and advise as to the best means of solving the drainage, sewer and subdividing questions which are a few of the most important that confront the thriving district on Lulu Island at the present time.

This desire was expressed last night at a very well attended meeting of the Queensborough Ratepayers and Improvement Association held in the Strand hotel. It was stated by the secretary that it was an almost absolute necessity to have such a body for the district on account of the fact that conditions in Queensborough were entirely different to that of any other part of the city and therefore the problems to be solved must be faced in an entirely different manner.

Support Harbor Scheme.

With a few exceptions those present had a very few complaints to make with regard to the city council and the mayor was praised for his action with regard to Lulu Island and Westminster's harbor development.

Commenting on the condition of the water service the chairman, Mr. Ed. Mercer, stated that the main supplying the district had been laid down in a very poor manner. "I understand," he said, "that the job was done by the city for $1000 less than the lowest contract and the city engineer's department was given a bonus for the work." He thought it did not reflect much credit on the department and hoped that more care would be taken in installing the new one.

"Whatever they do they have got to give us water" he declared in conclusion.

Conditions and Problems.

Secretary A. Sprice reviewed conditions in the district. One of the biggest problems that faced the locality at the present time was that of drainage. The city had set about to improve the system, but after they had got through little improvement was noted.

He belittled the local improvement system stating that in many cases the expense of going through the formalities would almost pay for any work that had to be done. The district was in great need of sewers. The 600 people now there might be able for a time to get on with cesspools, but, when the industries which had secured sites in the locality were in operation the population would be greatly increased and sewers would be imperative.

The need of improved road connection with Richmond if Westminster wanted to share in the business with that district was emphasized by Mr. Sprice. In view of the many inflammable buildings in the locality a firehall was instantly required. Fire protection must be afforded the industries.

The arrival of the engines in time to be of any use in any fire depended on whether the bridge was open or not. A very unsatisfactory state of affairs, said Mr. Sprice.

Will Approach Council.

A slight discussion followed the remarks of the secretary who was instructed to take up the various matters mentioned with the city council and make application for the appointment of the commission as stated above. An effort will be made to have the Sapperton cars end their run nearer the foot of Eighth street than is now the case.

PROPERTY OWNERS OBJECT TO PLANS

Of G. N. R. with Regard to High Level Bridge—Will Be Represented Before Commissioners.

The next Coquitlam council meeting will be held on Saturday instead of the subsequent Thursday. The reason of this is that the ordinary meeting clashes with the meeting of the railway commission on November 23, when there will be taken up important railway matters in connection with the G. N. R. company's plans in Coquitlam municipality and the joint interest of Coquitlam with New Westminster and Burnaby in the project of the company to erect an overhead bridge across the Brunette creek at the junction of the three municipalities.

It cannot be too plainly stated that there is no proposal by the company to deviate the North road, as stated by a contemporary. It is the Brunette road which it is proposed to divert.

A WORLD MYSTERY

Early Civilization of the Twin Continents of America.

THE SECRET OF THE PACIFIC.

A Riddle Still Unsolved Is the Origin of the Ancient Toltecs, Aztecs, Mayas and Incas—The Enigma That Lurks In Their Ruined Monuments.

"The Secret of the Pacific" is the title of a book which deals with one of the great mysteries of the world—the origin of the aborigines of the Americas. The author—C. Reginald Enock, F. R. G. S.—answers his own question, "What do we mean by the secret of the Pacific?" thus:

"Set between the world's mightiest oceans, the Pacific and the Atlantic, lies that greatest of all islands, the twin continents of America. A great mystery still shrouds these twin continents, a riddle still unread, for whose solution the world may be said to have waited 400 years. What is this mystery?

"History will have us believe that until the end of the fifteenth century these great seas had roared defiant, uncrossed by man, with the exception, grudgingly admitted, of some shadowy northmen from Europe, and that these great continents have been unvisited ever since the world began. Yet scattered for thousands of miles throughout the forests and deserts of these twin continents are the remains of civilized empires which once flourished there—the ruined temples, palaces, pyramids and habitations of peoples and nations who rose, fell and rose again ages before the caravels of the vikings and the conquistadores turned their prows toward the setting sun.

"What I have ventured to term the secret of the Pacific is the mystery surrounding the ancient civilization of the Americas, the homes of the Toltecs, the Aztecs, the Mayas, the Incas and their predecessors. What was their origin? What was their connection with each other? Had they any link with the old world? Did they in olden times draw inspiration and knowledge from Asia, Egypt, Babylon? If not, and they sprang unaided from their own soil and created their own culture, what are or were the conditions of their independent development?

"It has been my lot to traverse, at least in part, those great regions of North and South America forming the western world which we have erroneously termed 'new'—the ancient world of America before Columbus. My travels have taken me upon the trails of Cortes and Pizarro, trails which in some cases are almost as remote and difficult today as they were when first traversed by the white man from Europe and the horse first ascended the Andes.

"But to these journeyings we must add other incursions through space and time, both real and conjectural, which will take us from Mexico to Egypt, from Peru to Babylon, from the American shores to the strange islands of Polynesia. From those broad regions where the Toltec, the Aztec and the Inca flourished we must seek to gather up those threads which some have conjectured lead to Asia.

"What are the monuments left by these ancient peoples and what are the evidences of their civilizations? For 4,000 miles or more they lie upon the western American littoral and Cordilleras and seem to extend in isolated patches across the Pacific ocean in a northwest path to Asia, like vast stepping stones between the old world and the new. In the rock ravines and scorching mesas of Arizona and California, wildernesses whose trails were first mapped out by the bones of hardy explorers, are the abandoned habitations of the cliff dwellers.

"On the high slopes and tablelands of Mexico are strange pyramids and mysterious courts and quadrangles, with carved stone halls about them, a puzzle to the beholder. In the dense tropic forests of Yucatan are the sculptured facades of palaces and pyramid temples of exceeding beauty and ingenuity, ruined and abandoned or surrounded here and there by the wattle huts of half savage Indians.

"In Central America sculptured steine of great beauty and peculiarity protrude strangely from the jungle, while far away below the equator, along the scorching coast line of Peru and amid the bleak tablelands and snow crowned ranges of the Andes, are cunningly wrought temples and impregnable fortresses, which could only have been fashioned under the mandates of ruthless new world pharaohs or devout American Solomons.

"In the Mexican desserts and by the waters of the mysterious Lake Titicaca of the Incas the sun god and the moon god held sway, and centuries ago unnumbered ancient worshipers raised great temples to the 'unknown God.'

"Deepening the mystery still, there arise strange and grim upon solitary sea girt Pacific islands in the track of the setting sun colossal images and fortresses whose origin no man can conjecture. Here, in brief, are the chapters, written in stone, of some great and perhaps universal history—a history which so far we have not been able to inscribe in the general plan of human record. This, then, is the secret of the Pacific."

He is not only idle who does nothing, but he is idle who might be better employed.—Socrates.

HAKODATE, HOI!

The Proud and Independent, Yet Always Charming, Geisha of Japan.

The geisha arose naturally out of the peculiar conditions of Japanese civilization. In a country where Confucianism so restricted women that it was not considered proper for them to appear at gay or public functions as the companions of men the need of the eternal feminine was nevertheless felt, as a waitress, if for on other reason; and if a waitress was necessary, why should she not be a woman of grace and accomplishments? Moreover, the house of the average Japanese gentleman was on too small a scale to become a convenient place for comfortably banqueting in, so that the host usually had to take his guests to a restaurant, where the company was naturally waited on by the maids of the establishment.

Men and women do not dance in real Japanese society. All dancing is by women, and the geisha is the ideal exponent of the art.

The dancing of the geisha is an art of a high order; and no one who has witnessed it can regard it as otherwise than a harmless if not aesthetic form of entertainment. Then the geisha combines with her capacity for entertainment the further essential of waitress. As a waitress she is perfection. Thus she is a person of numerous accomplishments. She can dance, sing, play the samisen, chat, tell stories, and smooth the way for genial conversation in a manner that gives a Japanese feast its most enduring charm.

The Japanese geisha is, then, a professional waitress and entertainer. She is the outcome of that advanced state of society which marks a careful division of labor. She is a professional and really artistic medium of social intercourse. Without her Japanese gatherings would lose much of their vivacity and pleasing abandon. Endowed as the geisha is with more than the ordinary share of personal attractions, elegant and accomplished in all the arts of society, she is popular among all classes, though not unnaturally she is a source of anxiety to elders and of temptation to youth. If she falls it is the fault of the men who should protect her, and her imperfections are not greater or more glaring than those of the actress and other professional entertainers of the west.

Just as in Europe and America the actress and the music hall singer or dancer are given a lighter name than they really deserve, so has the geisha suffered in Japan. But her character depends upon herself and her companions, just as the character of other women does. True, she is more exposed than other women in Japan; that is because the mothers of the nation must be protected from public gossip and dangerous associations; but the geisha is not more exposed than the women of Europe who attend balls and other gayeties of the season. The men whom the geisha meets are not less desirable than many who dance with the wives and daughters of the west during an evening hop.

The geisha does not attain unto her superior accomplishments naturally or by accident. She has to undergo a life-long course of training. If a man intends his daughter to become a geisha, he must send her to the geisha schools as early as 7 years of age. There she must remain until womanhood, undergoing daily practice in singing, dancing and music. She learns to become a sort of opera singer; for she must be able to tell an interesting episode or a thrilling tale in song or dance, to the strains of the samisen, often being her own accompanist. After she enters upon her career it is very difficult to quit, unless by good fortune some wealthy lover marries her, which not infrequently happens. The wives of some quite prominent persons in Japan were once geisha.

Looking Out for Number One.

Sydney had been given some discarded millinery with which to amuse herself. She trimmed a marvelous looking hat and so arranged it that a long red ostrich plume hung straight down from the front of the brim, over her baby face.

"Come here, Sydney," said her mother. "Let me tack that feather back out of your eyes."

"Oh, no, mother! I want it that way so I can see it myself. Most always only other people can see the feathers on my hats."

The Turk.

The Turk practices no trade, engages in no commerce. They have a proverb which says, "The Frank has science, the American commerce, the Osmanli majesty." But, as majesty won't fill stomachs, those who do not serve as soldiers strive to become functionaries, and the men of the small villages, failing in this, do nothing, and the work of the fields and house falls upon the shoulders of the women. One chronicle states that occasionally the man of the house crochets a stocking or minds the baby for a short period.

How Tailors Sew on Buttons.

Tailors double their thread used to sew on buttons and make a knot and hold the knot in the teeth while they twist the thread. Then they wax it, and that keeps it twisted. Then they put a pin across the button, and after the buttons are sewed on they remove the pin and wind the thread around several times, making a kind of stem. This makes it more easy to button the garment. The buttons on children's waists should be sewed on this way so more than one garment can be buttoned on the same waist.

A Safe Bet.

Yeast—They do say when a man's ears are red that somebody is talking about him.

Crimsonbeak—Yes, and he can bet that somebody's talking about him if his nose is red.

He Told Her.

Teacher—Willy, can you tell me the difference between caution and cowardice?

Willy—Yes, ma'am. When you are afraid yourself that is caution, but when the other fellow's afraid that's cowardice.

MANY ARRESTS IN TURKISH CAPITAL

Result of Plot to Cause Downfall of Ottoman Cabinet—Conditions at Adrianople.

London, Nov. 20.—Both Ottoman and foreign interests in Constantinople, while awaiting the publication there of definite news regarding the progress of the war are chiefly concerned in the large number of arrests of politicians and writers belonging to the party of union and progress.

According to a special despatch from the Turkish capital, the Ottoman government, through a local press agency, has issued a statement that only forty arrests have been made and that the sole reason for these was the organization of a demonstration by university students in front of the government offices on October 7.

Diplomatic circles, however, attribute the arrests to a very different reason. They believe they were due to the nomination by the Sultan, at the behest of the Unionists of Mahmound Shefket Pasha as inspector-general of the army. This action was intended to cause the fall of the Ottoman cabinet.

Servia has yielded to the Austrian demand that an official from the Austro-Hungarian ministry of foreign affirs should be allowed to proceed to Prisrend to investigate the complaint by the Austrian consul there that he had been hindered by the Servians in the performance of his duties.

All the reports emanating from Turkish sources alleging that the Turkish troops had gained victories over the Bulgarians along the line of fortifications at Catalja are said to be untrue by the Bulgarian war office today.

The Bulgarian troops operating before the line of fortifications defending Constantinople at Catalja have received orders to cease firing and merely to hold the positions they have won, as negotiations have been begun for the conclusion of an armistice at the request of Turkey.

Bennett Burleigh's Story.

London, Nov. 20.—Bennett Burleigh, the noted war correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, wiring Monday, says:

"I witnessed the bombardment of the Adrianople forts to the east and north of the city. The firing was not heavy, but accurate. The besiegers are not attempting to break or destroy the city, but are devoting their attention solely to the demolition of the Turkish forts. The works in the eastern and southern section of Adrianople are easily within reach of the Bulgarian gun position. From Hademkeui to the south, the artillery might leave Fort Minarits and the Mosque of Selim II., but thus far no corner of that or other well-known landmarks has been struck.

"The Bulgarians are addressing themselves to the Turkish works on which many interlines of trenches and bastions have been constructed. The bombproofs are legion. The Turks have artfully concealed their gun positions and most of their fire is delivered from batteries securely hidden far behind the front.

"They must have worked very hard and skillfully to construct such a honeycombing of the terrain around Adrianople. But irresistibly the Bulgarians are advancing—always contracting their steel halter. The Turks again attempted a sortie to the eastward. Fighting desperately they strove to harass the enemy, but the Bulgarian gunners and infantry brought them back into Adrianople. They left rows of dead. The Bulgarians were able to follow them up and moved their lines of attack still closer to the ponderous mass of ramparts, bastions and trenches.

Greeks and Bulgars.

London, Nov. 20.—The Saloniki correspondent of the Times says that the relations between the Greeks and Bulgarians are far from amicable.

"The fact," he says, "that more serious developments have not occurred is due to the pacific intervention of the Bulgarian minister to France, Dr. Stancoff, who is now attached to the staff of Crown Prince Boris. When the Greeks entered the city, three columns of Bulgarians had approached within striking distance. The Bulgarians began a battle with the Turks at Avali and pursued the enemy to within two miles of Saloniki.

"An envoy sent to demand the surrender of the place found the Greeks in possession. The Greeks refused to allow the Bulgarians to enter the town, with the result that the Crown Prince and his brother, Prince Cyril, were compelled to sleep under a bridge at Avali.

"The Bulgarians then sent an ultimatum to the Greeks, threatening to enter the town forcibly. The Greeks abandoned their position and after waiting 24 hours, for the entrance of King George, the Bulgarians and Servians were permitted within the walls. The Greeks express discontent with the actions of the Bulgarians in the town after the occupation, but the latter claim that they were on the spot and could have entered at the same time.

"The Turkish commander supports the Bulgarian assertion, maintaining that although the surrender papers were drawn up November 8, they were not signed until November 9 and that during Friday night the Turks were still in the entrenchments.

"Unpleasant incidents between the two services have been frequent. Their relations have been complicated by trouble over a locomotive which was driven from Serres by a Bulgarian officer, and by placing of sentries by the Greeks to guard Serres which had been captured by the Bulgarians. The Bulgarians suspect that the Greeks are endeavoring to interfere with the transport of their food supply, thus giving the Greeks an excuse for their retirement from Salonika, owing to the difficulties over the commissariat. The allies also have quarrelled over the occupancy of the Mosque of St. Sofia by the Bulgarians. On two occasions the Greeks have attempted to seize the mosque, on the ground that the Bulgarians wished to dedicate it to their church. The Bulgarians declared that they only wished to use it as a barracks.

"Annoyance has been caused by the Bulgarians by the appointment of Prince Nicholas as a military commandant. The Bulgarians desired only to recognize the authority of their own general. The two occupying armies are about equal in strength."

GUNMEN WILL GET DEATH SENTENCE

Justice Goff Announces That Men Will Come Up Next Week—Records Learned.

New York, Nov. 20.—Sentences of death on the four gunmen convicted yesterday of murdering Herman Rosenthal will be pronounced by Justice Goff on November 26, he announced today when the prisoners were arraigned before him. After sentence is passed, the men will be taken to Sing Sing, where Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker is awaiting death for instigating the shooting.

The pedigrees of the gunmen were taken today at the arraignment:

"Whitey" Lewis said his real name was Frank Sidenschue. He was born in Russia, is 24 years old and a bookbinder by trade. Both his parents are alive. He has served two jail sentences.

"Dago Frank" gave his correct name as Frank Cirofici, 27 years old, a native of Italy and a steamfitter by occupation. He has served one jail term and described himself as a moderate drinker.

"Lefty Louie" said he was christened Louis Rosenburg, was 21 years old, a native of Austria and married. His vocation was salesmanship, he said. He was temperate and had served one jail sentence.

"Gyp the Blood" was recorded as Harry Horowitz, a clerk, 24 years old, a native of New York City, married and temperate.

The state's informers, Rose, Vallon, Weber and Schepps, who have been held in prison during the trial, will be released this afternoon. The district attorney agreed today that there was no further need of keeping them behind the bars. It is thought they will leave the city.

William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car" jointly indicted with the gunmen and Backer, also will go free. In return for his testimony for the state, the district attorney's office will move that the indictment against him be quashed.

Of the seven indicted for the Rosenthal murder, this leaves but one defendant to be tried. He is Jack Sullivan, "King of the Newsboys."

FUGITIVES NEARLY STARVE.

Military Prisoners Who Escaped Went Four Days Without Food or Water.

San Francisco, Nov. 20.—Thomas F. Raney and Michael Mullin, the military prisoners who sawed their way out of cells in the army prison on Alcatraz Island and were supposed to have escaped on a raft Saturday night, were found on the island early today. The men had burrowed a cave beneath a pile of driftwood on the narrow beach where they had laid for four days, half covered with slime, and without a morsel of food or a drop of water.

Realizing that Raney was dying, Mullin crawled out last night to get water. A sentry saw him and gave the alarm. Obeying Mullin's weak-voiced directions, the guards soon dug Raney from the cave. His condition was desperate and Mullin also needed medical attention.

The convicts came from Leavenworth penitentiary with bad records and were confined in the dungeon here for refusing to work. Where they secured the saws or files to cut their way out of the cells Saturday night is not known.

NE TEMERE DECREE SUBJECT OF PROTEST

London, Nov. 20.—Great enthusiasm attended the meeting in the campaign of protest against the Ne Temere Decree by the World's Evangelical Alliance this evening in the vast new Central Hall at Westminster. The hall was taxed to its utmost capacity; the chair was occupied by Lord Kinnaird, and he was supported by Dr. Hincks, of Toronto; Dr. Montgomery, Presbyterian moderator in Ireland; Rev. Chancellor O'Connor, Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin; Rev. Webb Peploe; Sir Robert Perks, Sir Robert Anderson and Rev. Fuller Gouch.

Dr. Hincks, whose address was awaited with special interest, moved a resolution which expressed sympathy with the Protestants of the Dominion in their determination to resist the papal decree and prevent its legal enforcement. Dr. Hincks said the Canadian Protestants were absolutely unanimous against the decree.

After citation of several instances where the decree's operation caused hardship under the marriage laws in Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario, the speaker went on to say that Canada was at the present moment passing through her critical period in the unification of races, creeds and people. The people of Canada were determined to have ultimately one uniform marriage law. No government could refuse the united request and no political party could survive six months which openly endorsed this infamous decree, yet today Romanism on the banks of the St. Lawrence was stronger than on the banks of the Tiber in Italy.

Dr. Hincks afterwards showed that the main reason of the objection of the German Emperor to the papal decree was that he had the same problem for Germany which the Dominion had, namely, the unification of the different sects, and, to a certain extent, different races. His appeal to the audience was received with the greatest enthusiasm, the resolution being carried unanimously.

Sir Robert Parks, who followed Dr. Hincks, proposed the following resolution, which was adopted:

"That as His Majesty's Government takes no action to protect the civil and religious rights of His Majesty's subjects who contract legal marriages, this meeting calls upon the Imperial Parliament to take steps to give the necessary relief to those who, while lawfully married, are subjected to sufferings in consequence of the terms of the Ne Temere Decree."

NATION WIDE RAIDS ON QUACK DOCTORS

Druggists Also Come Under Ban for Using Mails to Advertise Illegal Practice.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Postoffice inspectors and United States marshals in 72 leading cities of the country began today practically simultaneous raids for the arrest of 173 persons charged with using the mails to promote criminal medical practices or the sale of drugs and instruments used for illegal purposes.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Ten more arrests were made here today by postal inspectors in a nation-wide movement against doctors and persons advertising methods conducive to race suicide. It was declared raids were being made simultaneously all over the country. The specific charge against the persons accused is using the mails in connection with a business under the ban of the government.

Seattle, Nov. 20.—Dr. James Gordon Stewart and Dr. John Dunlay, indicted for illegal use of the mails, were arrested today and released on $3000 bail. Federal officers are seeking five other "specialists" to arrest them. One of them, a woman, is said to have got a hint of her indictment and fled. She cannot be found.

Spokane, Nov. 20.—Dr. Mary Schartz, a graduate midwife, and W. G. Murgitroyd, a wealthy druggist, were arrested by federal officers today on charges of using the mails to convey information relating to illegal practices. United States marshals are searching for five other pharmacists and doctors in Spokane and vicinity charged with similar offences.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 20.—Albert Zimmerman, proprietor of one of the city's leading drug stores was arrested today by United States Marshal Black, in connection with the simultaneous raids being made throughout the country. He gave bond for his appearance at the April term of the Federal Court here.

BRIDGE OR BABIES; ONE BUT NOT BOTH

Pittsburg, Nov. 20.—Women must give up either bridge or babies, the two are incompatible, declares John Drew, who is appearing here this week. "A woman can not devote herself to bridge playing, and at the same time perform her maternal duties, says Mr. Drew. Bridge certainly is a cause of race suicide. In England the bridge craze has become so violent, they tell me, it is actually hurting the business of the theatres."

WANTED TO BENEFIT LABORERS' CONDITIONS

Maniac Who Tried to Blow Up Police Station Was Working for Higher Wages.

Los Angeles, Nov. 20.—Strapped to a cot in the Receiving Hospital, Carl Warr, the German pattern maker, who terrorized the Central police station yesterday by threatening to destroy the building with an infernal machine unless Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific Electric Company was brought to him, told a weird tale today.

"I didn't want to hurt anyone about the police station," declared Warr. "All I was after was the head of the Pacific Electric. I did not even know his name was Paul Shoup until after I was arrested. I did not even want to hurt him. I merely was going to show him my machine and tell him I was going to blow him up unless he raised the wages of his workmen and otherwise improved their condition.

"If he had given me his promise to do so as I wanted I would have released him. If he had failed me later, I would have cornered him again and either would have forced him to do as I wanted or would have killed him.

"I figured that the best way to get him to promise to do what I wanted was to go to the police station and get the officers to co-operate with me in order to save their own lives.

"I had intended to blow them all to pieces at any attempt to thwart me. They were fools to try to capture me. If they had been killed it would have been no fault of mine."

POSTPONEMENT ASKED.

Province Would Have Companies Act Case Go Over for Another Session.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—The question relating to the jurisdiction of the provincial legislatures in incorporating companies to be submitted to the Tuesday court on Tuesday next have been defined as follows:

1. Whether under the terms of the British North America act, a province has power to incorporate companies to carry on business outside the borders of the province.

2. Whether a company incorporated by the Dominion must comply with the extra provincial licensing of the foreign companies act, which are now in force in all the provinces but one, and which require Dominion companies to submit to what is practically tantamount to a re-incorporation under provincial laws.

A postponement of the case will be asked for by the provinces and an application made to have some of the questions amended.

The postponement is almost certain to be granted.

SIX NEW SENATORS FROM NOVA SCOTIA

Cabinet Makes Appointment and Will Have Two More Seats to Fill When Upper House Meets.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—It is understood that at this afternoon's sitting of the Cabinet six new senators from Nova Scotia were created as follows:

Mr. Nathaniel Curry, of Amherst, N. S., in place of the late Senator McKay.

Mr. W. B. Ross, K. C., of Middleton, N. S., in place of the late Senator Bell.

Mr. E. L. Gerroir, M. P. P., of Antigonish, in the place of the late Senator Comeau.

Mr. William Dennis, of Halifax, in place of the late Senator W. Ross.

Dr. William McKay, of Reserve Mines, C. B., former Conservative leader in Nova Scotia, in place of the late Senator Miller.

Dr. P. C. Murphy, of Tignish, P. E. I., in place of the late Senator Ferguson.

The six gentlemen elevated to the Senate are all well known in the industrial, professional or political life of Canada. Mr. Curry is head of the Canada Car & Foundry Company, and one of the founders of the Rhodes & Curry Works. He was president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association last year.

Mr. Dennis is editor and proprietor of the Halifax Herald. Mr. Ross is a prominent lawyer of Middleton, formerly of Halifax. Mr. Gerroir is a lawyer and local member for Antigonish. Dr. McKay was former leader of the Opposition in the Nova Scotia Legislature. Dr. Murphy is another well-known physician and was the unsuccessful candidate for the Commons in Prince at the last general election.

The vacancy caused by the death of Senator Macdonald still remains to be filled. There will be another vacancy as soon as the Senate meets as Senator Sullivan, of Kingston, has not been in attendance for two years and will automatically forfeit his seat. When all the appointments have been made the Liberal majority will be reduced to 30.

Embargo Only on Flax.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—It is learned in Ottawa that the embargo which the C. P. R. has placed on shipments to the head of the lakes applies only to flax. As soon as word of the embargo was received the grain commissioner made an investigation. It was claimed by the C. P. R. that the handling of the flax was preventing the rapid movement of the wheat and it was to facilitate the movement of the wheat that the embargo was put on.

SULTAN AN ADMIRER OF A. CONAN DOYLE

Unwilling to Leave Saloniki Until Ships Commander Appears—Surprises Officers.

Paris, Nov. 20.—M. Lauzanne, in an article in the Matin, gives details of the difficulties encountered in inducing ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid to leave Saloniki aboard the German guardship Lorelei.

At first he flatly refused, but when the commander of the Lorelei, in the uniform of the German navy, was ushered into his presence, the Sultan's tone of defiance fagged.

"I have every confidence," he said, "in the loyalty and friendship of the Kaiser. Under such auspices I will follow you all over the world."

The ex-Sultan provided a surprise to those on board the ship. It was generally supposed that he had fallen into a condition bordering on idiocy, but he displayed, instead a remarkably accurate knowledge of affairs. More over, although Abdul Hamid, all through life, was never able to speak more than twenty words of French, he began to speak French not only with accuracy, but with an extraordinary accent.

"Two bad wars in the same year. That it is a good deal," he remarked. He was very curious to know whether Sir Conan Doyle was still amusing the world with the exploits of Sherlock Holmes. These stories were the only ones that ever appealed to him.

"Conan Doyle," he said, "would have made a magnificent chief of police."

He begged the commander of the Lorelei to convey his personal remembrances and thanks to Emperor William for the consideration and attention shown him on the voyage and gave each officer a diamond pin or a gold cigarette case, studded with diamonds.

When the voyage ended at Beyler Bay, Abdul refused to occupy the palace itself, the palace which, in days gone by, had sheltered an Empress of France, but decided to be installed in the small pavilion adjoining it.

On learning that one of the officers of the guard for whom he had a certain liking had been called away to his sick wife, he remarked on hearing of the man's distress:

"Ah, well, the poor fellow has only one wife. What would he do if he had ten, as I have?"

A MEMORABLE DAY.

Today the centre of interest to all Canadians shifts from Southeastern Europe to the parliament house upon the banks of the Ottawa river, for at last the day has come upon which the elected representatives of the people meet in conclave.

Never within living memory has so great an interest been in evidence regarding the opening of parliament the reason being that Premier Borden will today make known his proposals concerning Canada's contribution to the naval defence of the empire.

What form those proposals may take no man may now state with certainty, but we do know that today the eyes of the world, as well as those of Canada, are watching intently for some tangible indication of the spirit with which the greatest of the dominions will fall in line with her sister dominions and dependencies in this most vital issue.

There have been rumors of a direct emergency contribution and an announcement to this effect will probably be made, but from the time which has elapsed since the government assumed the reins of power, we should think that there will also be outlined some permanent naval policy to be pursued in future.

It should be clearly understood by the hypercritical champions of that much misused word "autonomy" that an autonomous nation, i.e. one that has the power or right of self government, can do as it will with its own, and therefore by giving emergency or any other aid to the motherland, Canada is merely exercising her autonomy.

HURRYING THE MILLENIUM.

Granted that war is the ultimate barbarity of human relations, granted that it is a frightful waste, a saturnalia of cruelty and destructiveness, granted that the rule of force is anti-Christian and vicious both in its existence and its effects; granted that all this and more is true. What then?

It is possible for us to say we will have no more of it? Can we beat our spears into pruning hooks? We may if we do not care for our liberties, if we are not solicitous over the freedom of thought which British rule has brought us—that very freedom which permits us to formulate opinions on war and preach them to all.

We of British stock are not satisfied with repressive bureaucratic government, with miscroscopic police surveillance and with a hundred other peculiarities which can be found in European countries other than Great Britain. We prize our history, our story of benevolent rule, our pages of achievement in the world. Other nations may share the hatred for war which is engendered in a British country such as Canada. The millenium lags. We cannot hurry it by posing as defenceless victims. The nation in arms is still the nation which wins the world's respect and is enabled to do its work without undue interference.—Toronto News.

WHAT AMERICA CAN LEARN FROM EUROPE.

Agriculture appears to be coming into her own. Ever since we escaped from the nomadic age, the human race has been dependent on agriculture for its daily bread, but for all that it has so far received comparatievly little attention. It is true that we have made some progress over the methods of four thousand years ago, a little even over the methods of a century ago.

But no one, who is at all familiar with the recent history of this fundamental art, would for a moment contend that we are yet getting anything like an adequate return from the soil. In fact, it was only the other day that Professor Robertson told us that with proper methods we could double our annual returns from our tilled fields.

Still the goddess of Agriculture ought to feel that she is being a little less neglected than she used to be. For many years intensive methods have been in vogue in certain parts of the old world, and efforts have been made to organize agriculture on a business basis. And now some of these methods are likely to be transplanted to this continent.

Only the other day the American ambassador at Paris sent home a report on co-operation among the farmers of Europe, a report which is expected to result in the adoption of more up-to-date methods among American farmers. For, be it noted, in agricultural methods it is not Europe but America which is effete. Our own Minister of Agriculture, too, is hard at work, laying the foundation for a general campaign for the improvement of farming methods throughout the Dominion.

Probably none of the efforts of agricultural reformers are fraught with greater hope than those who preach the gospel of co-operation. Already in Canada much has been accomplished by the banding together of farmers to market their products. They learn how to place their wares more profitably on the market, and they acquire better methods of production.

The basic principle of all such organizations is the grading of the articles for sale, and this tends to bring the enterprising producer up to the level of him who is abreast of the best methods of the day. This principle has already been of great benefit in the fruit trade and in a lesser degree in the cheese and butter trade in this country. It is the foundation of the success of Danish butter in Great Britain, and it is widely applied all over Europe.

Land credit banks are widespread and successful in countries so unlike as Germany and Italy, and they finance farmers on easy terms and to an extent that is quite impossible under our system. It is the success of this movement that had led to the report of the United States ambassador at Paris, and it is quite possible that both ourselves and our American cousins can learn something in this regard from the agriculturists of Europe.—Montreal Star.

across Mr. Lennard's old property and Councillor Atkin's present property.

The owners of the properties on the Brunette road not acquired by the G. N. R. company are in violent opposition to the deviation proposal. They have petitioned against the proposed divergence of the road and will be represented in opposition at the sitting of the railway commission. They state that their interests in the matter have been completely ignored.

In consequence of their complaint that they have been so neglected and that their properties would be materially depreciated by the much longer distance they would have to traverse to get to the North road and thence to New Westminster a special committee of the Coquitlam council met the aggrieved proprietors on the ground last Monday.

There were present representing the Coquitlam council Reeve Mars, Councillors Morgan, Langan, R. J. C. Atkins, Hawthorne, with J. H. Kilmer, engineer, P. McIntyre, solicitor, and J. Smith, municipal clerk.

The opposing proprietors explained that the proposed deviation was against their material interests and the G. N. R. company had made no effort to consult their convenience or offered any compensation for the alleged depreciation of their holdings The council replied that their interests would not be neglected, but despite that assurance the deputation has decided to be specially represented. They resent the action of the railway company in arbitrarily laying plans for such an important alteration especially, as it is alleged, the lands were acquired by the representations of their purchasing the holdings for relatives as ranches and posing as a benevolent old gentleman in quest of good works.

The deputation were Messrs. Runcorn, A. Brehaut, Coreau and Campbell brothers.

TOOK IT COOLLY.

Toronto Carpenter Finished Eating Breakfast When Arrested.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—With the arrest of Percy Kemp, a carpenter of 270 Avenue road, by four detectives in a Mutual street boarding house, the five day search for the assailant of Mrs. Cecilie Schreck, 20 Ransford road ended this morning.

Since Friday morning when the woman staggered into a neighboring house, bleeding from terrible wounds inflicted by a broken axe handle, the police have been working to locate her brutal assailant and it was feared he had managed to escape from the city.

Kemp took his arrest coolly and finished the breakfast he was eating when the officers entered. Taken to headquarters, he resolutely refused to make any statement except to his counsel. When arraigned he neither elected nor pleaded and was remanded until November 27.

A report from the general hospital states that Mrs. Schreck is progressing favorably toward recovery, but it is scarcely thought that she will be well enough to give evidence next week.

Burned by His Whiskers.

Middletown, N.Y., Nov. 20.—A spark from the pipe of John E. Gelson, a farmer, 80 years of age, who was smoking today in the yard of his home at Greenville, near here, ignited his long whiskers. The flames spread to his clothing and he was burned to death.

ATTEMPTED ESCAPE.

Five People Killed in French Jail Break and Three Wounded.

Rochefort, France, Nov. 20.—Five persons were killed and three wounded in a revolt which took place in the prison here today. Prisoners overpowered their guards and shot to death the warden and his wife. An official and sailor who went to the assistance of the officers were dangerously wounded. The revolt occurred at the noon hour, when several prisoners suddenly jumped on their officer, wrenched his revolver from him and shot him through the head.

Troops were hurriedly summoned and after surrounding the building drove the mutinous prisoners to the top of the building and killed one of them. The two ringleaders barricaded themselves in a cell, which they defended deperately with a hatchet. They finally committed suicide with the warden's revolver. Several of the prisoners succeeded in making their escape during the affray.

FROM THE SEVEN SEAS.

Australia.

Some consideration has lately been given by the Australian Federal Cabinet to the name which the capital will bear. "Shakespeare," "Burns," and "Pacifica" have been picked out from a host of suggestions, among which is the freak name "Qualesoria," a combination of the names of several states. It is likely that the naming of the capital will take place at the foundation ceremony.

It is announced by the Minister for Defence (Senator the Hon. G. F. Pearce) that it has been decided to send Colonel J. Wallace, Chief of Ordnance, to Great Britain to study the latest developments in regard to fortifications. He will be away from Australia for six months.

It is reported that Government House, which has figured prominently of late in connection with the so-called "ejectment" of the Governor-General, will be occupied in future by the State Governor.

Lord Chelmsford's resignation has been received with universal regret in New South Wales. The appointment of Sir Gerald Strickland, who has gained great popularity in Tasmania and Western Australia, as Lord Chelmsford's successor, is regarded as an entirely suitable selection.

Mr. Sam Allen, of Melbourne, who has just returned from a visit to the United States, says he has succeeded in persuading business men in the United States that it is a good proposition to breed and kill kangaroos for the sake of their tails and skins.

Protests are being made in commercial circles in Perth, Western Australia, with regard to the provisions of the Navigation Bill, now before the Federal Parliament, which exclude external mail steamers from participating in the coastal trade.

At the Townsville Provincial Synod the Bishop of North Queensland moved a series of motions dealing with the freedom of the Church of England in Australia. The first three motion were agreed to. Number one motion asserted the general principle of the autonomy of national churches in the words of the Lambeth Conference the second asserted that the Australian Church should be autonomous, and able to act effectively in matters concerning Australia, and should remain in full communion with the Church in England. The third resolution expressed the belief that the dioceses in the various States must seek relief from their legal nexus with the establishment in England through the various State Legislatures.

The debate on the Bill providing for the electrification of the suburban railways in the Melbourne district is proceeding. The Premier, the Hon. W. A. Watt, in the course of the discussion, described the Government's policy as of vital importance. Some opposition is being manifested by country members, but it is anticipated that the Bill will be passed, and that the electrification scheme formulated by Mr. Merz the consulting electrical engineer to the Government, will be adopted.

New Zealand.

Parliament has decided to invite applications in Great Britain for the post of general manager of the New Zealand Government Railways, which was rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. Thomas Ronayne.

A Bill permitting persons occupying State lands as leaseholders to become the owners of the freehold of their properties has been passed by Parliament.

Women relatives of the strikers at the Waihi mine have been behaving riotously, and the strike cannot yet be said to have ended, though the workers are gradually returning.

By sixty votes to five the House of Representatives has thrown out a motion to reduce an item of the Defence Estimates of £456,388, as "an indication that anyone may put forward a conscientious objection to the military training provided he was willing to render some equivalent non-military service."

The scarcity of women-workers is bewailed once again in the reports of the Labor Bureau. The Christ church branch, for instance, states that no fewer than two hundred and fifty employers applied for domestic servants, but that there is no prospect of suiting anything like this number.

It is pointed out in the "New Zealand Herald" that the father of the present Earl of Liverpool, the Governor-Elect of New Zealand, saw service in the Dominion in the war between Maori and settlers in the '60s as a midshipman.

South Africa.

Strong feeling has been aroused in Durban by the continued purchases of land in the most desirable portions of the town by wealthy Asiatics, who have already secured a firm foothold The white residents consider that action should be taken to prevent further transactions of this character, but it is difficult to see how this can be done without further embittering the relations between South Africa and India, whence most of the Asiatic population of the Union is drawn.

Discontent in the Civil Service is becoming more apparent, particularly in Natal, where applications for pensions are being sent in by large numbers of those whose length of service entitles them to superannuation. Allegations of favoritism shown to Government proteges are being freely made.

The Cape Diocesan Synod has passed a resolution favoring the granting of permission to marry to the lepers segregated on Robbin Island.

A curious epidemic is raging in Johannesburg. The complaint has been described as "glorified influenza."

The preliminary examination has been opened in connection with the trial of fifteen natives who are charged with the murder of eleven other natives in the Salisbury district, Rhodesia. It is stated that the murders extend over a period from December, 1908, to July, 1911, and sensational evidence is anticipated. The C. I. D. has been working on the case for some time, and has finally succeeded in piecing together the details of some fearful crimes.

India.

The first two ostriches to arrive in Ceylon, are now enclosed in a run in a field behind Mr. John Hagenbeck's bungalow, The Dawn, Colpetty. They arrived in the island recently from Bombay. They are African birds, just in their prime. Mr. Hagenbeck is keeping close observation on them to see how the Colombo climate affects them. If they do well his intention is to start a syndicate to run an ostrich farm, or else to get the Government to take up the industry.

WEDDING BELLS

A pretty wedding was solemnized last evening when Margaret Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burr, became the bride of Mr. Irving Wintemute. The ceremony took place at the bride's parents home on Royal avenue, the knot being tied by Rev. J. S. Henderson.

Miss Burr was supported by her sister, Miss Jessie Burr, and Miss Grace Wintemute, sister of the groom. The duties of best man were ably performed by Mr. William Johnson Burr.

Mr. Wintemute holds a government position in the city, but is better known as a member of the world's champion lacrosse team and sportsmen throughout the district will wish him and his wife every success in their venture on the seas of matrimony.

The presents received by both were of a beautiful and costly nature showing the esteem in which they are regarded in the city and district. The happy couple left on the evening train for a honeymoon trip through the Sound cities, and on their return will take up their residence in the Royal City.

SEVEN YEAR OLD BOY CAUSED ANOTHER'S DEATH

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Detective Twigg this morning discovered that the boy who gave poisoned tablets to young Archie Duncan, 57 Melville avenue which resulted in the latter's death yesterday was seven year old Wilfrid MacIntyre, 572 Ossington avenue. He questioned the little fellow, who said he had obtained the tablets from his home and had proffered them to young Duncan.

They belonged to his mother, who was not aware that he had removed them. It is stated that the tablets contained a percentage of Belladona and the directions regarding their use stipulated that not more than two should be taken at a time. Young Duncan swallowed five and died ten hours later in agony. In shape and color the pills resembled small chocolate drops.

SMITH FAMILY TO HAVE CONTEST AT LAND SHOW

Portland, Ore., Nov. 20.—A potato contest between members of the great Smith family is by all odds attracting the greatest attention at the Northwestern Land Products show in this city. One of the contending exhibits is that of Asahel Smith, of Canada and the other is entered by C. L. Smith, a well-known Northwestern agriculturist, with tubers for the most part grown in Spokane county, Wash.

Both exhibitors express every confidence that his exhibit will be given the first prize by the judges, one of whom is a Canadian agriculturist and the other a member of the staff of the Oregon Agricultural college.

The feature of the day's entertainment was the visit of the local Transportation Club tonight. The club attended in a body and had charge of the evening's program.

SPLENDID FORWARDS WIN FOR VANCOUVER

Australians Lose First Match in British Columbia—Downpour Spoils Good Open Game.

The touring Australian rugby footballers who came up from California with the fine record of ten games won and only two lost, the defeats being both by the margin of just one point by teams they had previously comfortably beaten, sustained their third and heaviest defeat yesterday at Vancouver. The victory for British Columbia was gained by two tries to one and it was only in the closing stages of the match that the Waratahs, so-called from their national flower, were able to register their score.

The Vancouver forwards were great in footwork and their brilliant dribbling rushes paved the way for the defeat of their formidable opponents. The Australians were evidently out of their element in the drenching, chilling rain, but gave glimpses of the form they might be expected to show on a dry day by fast sprinting and well conceived passing bouts.

Three times passing nearly brought them to the line, but the moments in two cases were rendered abortive when the Vancouver defence was practically beaten by inability to further handle the wet ball.

Vancouver wisely accustomed themselves to the conditions and the forwards kept the ball at their feet and showed great speed, determination and accuracy at it. They were up against heavier men, but they stayed on their game to the finish and deserved their success. The Vancouver backs were sound, sure in their catching and good at touch finding.

ISLANDERS COMING TO TAKE ON ROVERS

Second Round of Westminster Cup at Moody Park on Saturday—Westminster's Record.

The second round of the Westminster cup will be played on Moody park next Saturday afternoon between the Rovers and Westham Island. This is the first visit of the Westham Island eleven this season, but their performances on their own ground leads one to believe that the Rovers will have their work cut out to gain the necessary two points to keep in the race.

So far this season the Rovers have a clean sheet both in the senior league and in the cup tie matches, constituting a record unbeaten by any Westminster eleven for many years. With several first league players recently signed up, including Tomlinson, of the Hibernians, a victory is looked for by Royal City fans who are expected to turn out in good force at the park.

Samphor will probably be back once more between the sticks and if the old Potteries player has lost none of his cunning the forward division of the Islanders will find things hard going.

BEAVERS ARE BUSY.

Have Things All in Shape for Amateur Hockey League.

Apparently the amateur puck chasers who have taken up their residence in New Westminster are losing no time in organizing in order to be ready for the opening of the skating and hockey rink.

The Beavers are the first club to elect officers and at a well attended meeting last evening, a slate was prepared and carried through with enthusiasm. From their line-up of officers, in which are men who have mixed in the game back in the eastern provinces, the Beavers will be one of the sure teams to enter the league race.

Seventeen players have been signed and seven of these will be wearing the colors of the club—old gold and dark blue.

The following officers were elected. Honorary president, A. E. Rand; president, A. Malins; vice-president, J. H Diamond; secretary-treasurer, B Robb; manager, E. N. Sutherland; executive, J. A. Motherwell, Gowan Macgowan, G. Hastie and H. Williamson.

AUSTRALIAN RUGBY TEAM WILL VISIT WESTMINSTER

Preliminary arrangements have been made for the entertaining of the Waratahs rugby team, which will visit New Westminster on Friday morning.

A special car will leave Vancouver at 10 o'clock for the Fraser Mills where the boys from the Southern Cross will have an opportunity of seeing the largest lumber mill in the world in full operation. The party will then return to this city where an informal luncheon will take place.

It is expected that Mayor Lee and others interested in amateur sports will be present and address the gathering.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

In the Inter-City league match at the local drives last night the Royals managed to squeeze out a couple of wins from the Penders, the latter team taking the last string with 891 pins. Walsh turned in a 604 total for high average, while his 235 count in the last game was high single. The Royals now hold down third place in the league. The score:

Royals—	1	2	3	Ttl
Walsh	192	177	235	604

GUARDIAN OPPOSES GIFT.

English Liberal Paper Says Idea of Contribution to Navy Is Repugnant.

London, Nov. 20.—The Manchester Guardian, the most influential Liberal paper in all England, in discussing the probability of Premier Borden's offering of £6,000,000 for naval purposes, says that since it involves a principle which many Canadians will certainly dislike it will prove to be Premier Borden's own idea and not the result of suggestions from the home authorities.

"We ought to make it clear," says the Guardian, "that the idea of benevolence is as repugnant to us as it can be to them."

CHAMP CLARK FAVORS FREEDOM FOR ISLANDS

Washington, Nov. 20.—Speaker Champ Clark favors the independence of the Philippines. In yesterday's number of the Filipino People, published as an independent organ by Senor Quezon, delegate from the Philippines, Mr. Clark declares:

"The Philippines should be given their independence, guaranteed by the United States and such other powers as are willing to join us in the neutralization of the islands. I think our own guarantee would be sufficient, but I favor freeing them, regardless of what the other powers do.

"I desire to set the islands free and shall use every endeavor to bring it about for their good and our own."

COMING TO COAST.

London Manager of Dominion Bank Will Locate in Vancouver.

London, Nov. 20.—Eric W. Hamber London manager of the Dominion Bank of Canada, is resigning from his position. He has been in the service of the bank for fifteen years and was appointed to London two years ago. He was one of the youngest men who ever held such a responsible position.

His control of the metropolitan branch has been conspicuously successful and the news of his departure has been received in financial circles here with considerable regret. Mr. Hamber, however, is finding greater scope in Vancouver, where he will be associated in many business interests of John Hendry. He leaves London after Christmas.

Discrimination.

TIDAL WAVE WRECKS JAMAICAN CITIES

Forty-two Killed in Recent Hurricane—Troops Hurry with Supplies for Homeless.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 20.—A great tidal wave is reported to have practically wiped out the town of Savanna la Mar, on the southeast coast, and Lucea on the northwest coast of Jamaica.

Forty-two persons were killed by the hurricane in Montego Bay, according to a report brought by a fruit vessel which arrived at Port Antonio today.

Confirmation has now come to hand of the great destruction caused by the recent hurricane in the western end of the island; floods which accompanied the storm caused immense damage, a hundred houses being blown down. Telegraphic communication still is suspended. The governor of Jamaica has left on a special train, accompanied by a detachment of artillerymen who have taken with them 300 tents and foodstuffs, as in certain sections the people are homeless and destitute. The gale began on Nov. 15 and continued in increasing fury for several days. Vessels arriving in port reported that the wind was blowing over 100 miles an hour. Lucea is a town of 2000 in habitants on an inlet on the northwest coast of Jamaica, while Savana la Mar is a seaport with about the same population on the southwest coast, almost directly across the island.

PRISON NEWSPAPERS.

New South Wales Will Issue Publication for Benefit of Convicts.

Sydney, N. S. W., Nov. 20.—A newspaper is about to be started for the benefit of prisoners. It will be called the Compendium, and will be under the supervision of the comptroller-general of prisons, Mr. McFarlane, who says:

"The sheet should not be in the nature of a tract, but should contain the news of the day, culled from the leading newspapers. There will be no leading articles, no reference to political or sectarian matters and nothing of a controversial nature. Articles written by those competent to write them might be accepted, as well as suitable standard poetry."

The proposed contents of the first issue are: A summary of notable events from 1900 to 1910; a review of the year 1911; news of the day from Australasia and the United Kingdom; general articles on the republics of China and Portugal; rulers of the principal countries of the world and service notes; poetry, extracts from national and other recognized poets.

A performer with the Rex Vaudeville company at the opera house tonight.

VERSATILE VAUDEVILLE.

Versatility is the secret of the Rex Vaudeville company which last night opened a two nights' engagement at the opera house. There was a fair crowd for each performance last evening, the unusual bad weather keeping away many. They will all be back this evening, however, together with many more, for an entirely new bill is promised. The company has three distinct bills, two of which will be put on here.

Nine high class artists make up the company, and there is enough variety to make the production well worth seeing. Harry Lancaster, a native of Edinburgh, is probably the best of the bunch with his Scotch songs and humor. The others all made distinct hits, however, last evening, the sketch "Confusion," in which the entire company appears, even to the dog and baby, getting a good reception.

Harry C. Willis, in his ventriloquist act, made a distinct hit, as did also the Mackay sisters in their singing and dancing specialty. Dave Caston eccentric comedian, is an addition to any bill, his scarecrow dance being particularly good.

Miss Edith Wilma sings several old songs which were popular a generation or more ago, but which are not by any means forgotten now. They were well received. Miss Marion Yale, dramatic soprano, has an excellent voice, and gave delightful renditions of difficult pieces.

Two shows will be given this evening, at 7:30 and 9 o'clock, and according to the manager of the company the bill will be even better than last night.

BAD LUCK FOR BABY.

Superstitions Exist In All Lands Regarding Little One's Future.

Mothers and their babies are the same all the world over. Whether black, yellow or brown, the mother has certain superstitions, and carries out certain ceremonies in connection with the newly arrived and treasured darling.

A very large number of people believe that May is an unlucky month in which to marry. In Cornwall "May cheats, ill-luck begets," that is, a May child is an unlucky one.

Mother and nurse have to face many pitfalls of superstitions before the baby is safely started upon its span of life. The most dreadful consequences will follow if the baby is not dressed correctly at the beginning.

Never put its little clothes on over its head for the first time. If you do, its chances of success in life will be hopeless. The youngster's first clothes must be pulled over its feet in order to avoid ill-omens.

Everyone knows the superstition that baby must go upstairs before it goes down, in order that its career shall be one of continual and increasing success. If baby is born in the highest room then the wise nurse steps up on a chair before taking the youngster downstairs to be admired.

In many parts of England mothers will not cut their baby's finger nails until it is a year old. If they do, the child will grow up to be a thief. Mothers are allowed to bite the nails into shape however, and so avoid all evil consequences.

Another widespread belief in the North is that if the first cuttings of babies' nails are buried under an ash tree the child will sure to become a first-class singer!

When the young lord of the house begins to cut his teeth, then his fond parents look out for squalls! In Rutlandshire, mothers watch the cutting very carefully, for should the upper teeth appear before the lower, it is considered to be very unlucky.

In Scotland should such a thing happen, it is quite certain that the baby will be a bachelor all his life or an old maid! It is an extraordinary thing that an exactly similar belief as the Scottish one is held among many of the black tribes of South Africa. Nor does the baby that cuts his upper teeth first marry, for it is promptly sacrificed!

There are, perhaps, more superstitions held about christening the baby than about any other ceremony connected with it. Should two babies appear to be christened together, then the little boy baby has the precedent. This superstition is current in most places in England. Should the little lady be christened first, then her baby brother will grow up beardless and effeminate, while she will be forced to study patent moustache removers.

Babies should always cry at the font, that is, if you want them to grow up good men and women. A Shropshire mother will say, if the baby has been silent during the ceremony: "I don't believe the parson will drive the devil out of it, for he never cried!" In Ireland they made quite sure by pinching the "little darlint," and, bejabers, they make it cry for all its worth.

Naming the hope of the family is always a terrible task. Among the Mohammedans the various names about which there are any disputes are written on slips of paper and placed in the Koran. A slip is then drawn at random and the name drawn is the one given to the child.

There is an excellent system in China. The Chinese baby is given a name when it is a month old. When it grows up and gets married its father gives him a new name. How many little Majubas, Coronations, and Ladysmiths would be glad if such a system held over here?

Why Coughing Weakens You.

A patient German scientist of a statistical turn of mind calculates that the amount of energy expended by a person who coughs once every quarter of an hour for ten hours is equivalent to 250 units of heat, or the nourishment yielded by three eggs or two glasses of milk. Coughing is thus seen to be an expensive luxury. The reason for the waste in force entailed by it, or one reason at least, lies in the fact that, while in normal respiration the air is expelled from the chest at the rate of four feet a second, in violent coughing it may attain a velocity of 300 feet.

Tongs.

Tongs were said to have been invented in China B.C. 1122, but representations of them have been found on the Egyptians monuments B.C. 2200. In India they are claimed as in use since B.C. 900, and their principal employment in that country, where fires during the most of the year are superfluous, was to facilitate the handling of dead bodies in the funeral pyres. Seventy pairs of tongs, some bronze, some iron, have been taken from the ruins of Pompeii.

Just Worn Out.

The teacher of a Sunday school class tells of the excuse for being late offered by one of her pupils, a boy of ten years.

"I asked him, 'James, why were you so late to-day?' 'I couldn't help it,' he explained. 'And why not?' I asked. 'Well,' he said, 'I dreamed that I was running and running and running, and when my brother woke me up I was so tired that I went back to sleep again, 'cause I'd been running such a long ways.'"

The Hottest Place.

The hottest place on earth is Bahrein, in the Persian Gulf, the mean temperature for the year being 99 degrees. July, August and September are unendurable except by the natives. Night after night, as midnight comes, the thermometer stands at 100. By 7 in the morning it is 107 or 106 and by 3 in the afternoon 140.

At Her Feet.

It was a beautiful act-o-ress
Who wrote to a distant friend,
With only a minute, as you might guess,
In writing a note to spend.

She took the city directory
As a perch for her little shoes
And wrote in her scrambled chirography
Her budget of breathless news.

"I'm making a hit," she told her friend—
"A hit that cannot be beat.
The run of the show will never end.
The whole town is at my feet."

Egbert—If that is so somebody's getting my napkins and I'm getting somebody's tea.—Yonkers Statesman.

Too Smooth.

"I won't play poker with that fellow any more. He's entirely too smooth. He bobbed up last night with four aces."

"What's wrong about that?"

"I had dealt him four queens."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Disproved.

"Don't you believe the level of human intelligence is gradually rising?"

"No. On the contrary. Never before were there as many writers of popular songs as there are today."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Women In Politics.

As long ago as 1876 women were among the speakers at both Republican and Democratic national conventions, and in 1900 Mr. Bryan's nomination was seconded by a woman delegate from Utah. The first woman's suffrage convention was held at Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848. But the movement was by no means new even then. Abigail Adams and Mary Warren tried to secure recognition of women when the federal constitution was made, and in colonial days Margaret Brent, as executrix of Lord Baltimore, demanded a seat in the assembly of Maryland.—Chicago News.

Nice For the Guest.

Subbubs had taken Chumleigh home to dine. Everything went well until they were seated at the dinner table, when Willie Subbubs remarked, "Why, pa, this is roast beef!"

"Well," said his father, "what of it?"

"Why, I heard you tell ma at breakfast that you were going to bring a mutton head home for dinner this evening."—Boston Transcript.

High Finance.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "did you say those blue chips were worth a dollar apiece?"

"Yes."

"Well, here is a whole boxful that I got for 98 cents, with some other colors thrown in."—Washington Star.

No Offense.

"Your wife referred to you as 'it,' did she not?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes. But I don't believe she meant anything unkind by that. She frequently referred to her pet dogs in the same way."—Washington Star.

First Prize

Success Follows a Failure

By CLARISSA MACKIE

The crowd pushed through the entrance gates of the big county fair in a continuous stream. Outside the great fenced in area was a maze of vehicles of every description, from the humblest box wagon to the highly varnished and luxuriously equipped motorcar.

Inside the grounds there was as great a dissimilitude among the people wandering from one exhibit to another, streaming in and out of the sideshows or gathered in the refreshment tents.

Phoebe Sweet had arrived that morning in her father's comfortable two seated carriage, all the available space about her piled with daintily wrapped boxes, for Phoebe always exhibited at the Corinth county fair, and her bread and cake and canned fruit always carried away the first prizes.

Today had been an exception, however, for one by one the coveted prizes had been awarded to another exhibitor, who in years past had been among the vanquished, and, although Phoebe had smiled bravely as she saw her products passed by, she was bitterly disappointed at the outcome.

Her father, arriving at the building too late, found her at the door, flushed and rather dejected. "Same old story, Phoebe, bird?" he asked affectionately.

She shook her head dolefully. "What is the matter with me, father? I didn't take a prize—not one!"

"Why-eeee!" exploded Mr. Sweet, aghast. "What in thunder are those fellows thinking about anyway? What do they know about bread or cake or pies, eh? Let me have a look."

He was about to pass her when Phoebe caught his shoulder and shook him laughingly.

"It's no use, father, dear. Mrs. Scoville's products really are superior to mine. Let us go back and look at them, and please don't let any one know we are very much disappointed."

"I'll look as glad as I can that Mrs. Whats-her-name has carried off all the honors," smiled Mr. Sweet as he led his daughter down the building to the exhibit of domestic productions.

A few people were gathered about a table on which were set forth several loaves of beautifully baked bread, some toothsome frosted cakes and a row of variinted canned fruits. A tall, sunburned young man was speaking to a short, plump, motherly looking woman.

"You've carried off honors for the family, Aunt Sabrina," he was saying cordially.

"Good land, George, I'm almost ashamed to have taken it. That pretty girl almost cried when they passed over her things with just 'honorable mention.' There's so few girls who can cook nowadays that they ought to be encourraged instead of an old woman like me stepping in. I declare, there she is now!"

Phoebe had heard the frankly spoken words and had flushed warmly. Mr. Sweet smiled good naturedly, and the woman, who was Mrs. Scoville, stepped forward with a pleasant, winning smile.

"You heard what I said," she remarked, holding out a plump hand to Phoebe. "And I meant it too. Your things look beautiful, and I'm sure they taste as good as they look."

"Thank you, Mrs. Scoville, you are too kind," said Phoebe gratefully. "This is my father; and, this is Mrs. Scoville, who carried off the prizes this year. We must congratulate her."

Mrs. Scoville warmly insisted that Phoebe's dainties were as good as her own if not much better, and much time was spent in comparing the two exhibits.

"I used to see you carrying off the prize every year," said Mrs. Scoville at last, "and I told George, my nephew, that it was too bad a girl should carry off highest honors every year, so I pitched in and tried for the prizes, and now that I've got them all I don't feel a mite better. I feel just as you overheard me telling George. And, by the way, where is George?" She looked around for the sunburned young man who had been talking to her.

"If he was the tall young chap who was talking to you when we came up I saw him going over toward the race track," remarked Mr. Sweet.

"Oh, dear me! Of course he would be going there at this time. His little mare Princess will be in the three-year-old trotting class. Would you care to go over and see the race?"

"We expected to. I've got a horse in it myself," said Mr. Sweet. "My hired man is going to drive."

"George will drive himself," observed Mrs. Scoville as they walked across the grass toward the trotting course. "I do hope Princess will win. He's so fond of her and has set his heart on winning this race."

Phoebe, walking silently beside the two older people, looked like a pretty flower in her sheer white dress, from which her pink face, under a lacy white hat, trembled like a wind blown blossom. Children and widowed Mrs. Scoville looked at the girl more than once as Mr. Sweet told of how cleverly his only child managed the motherless household.

"I don't know what I shall do if Phoebe ever gets married," he ended, with a sigh.

"And that does not seem unlikely," smiled Mrs. Scoville over Phoebe's embarrassed head.

"I dislike every eligible young man," laughed Mr. Sweet good naturedly.

In the grand stand Phoebe felt a glow of interest in Mrs. Scoville's handsome nephew, George Belden, who appeared in a small sulky driving a dainty black mare. He scanned the faces in the grand stand and waved his cap toward his aunt.

"Ah, there comes Sam, driving Dewey!" exclaimed Mr. Sweet as a straw whiskered man came into view on the course. The horse Dewey, which had won many a heat for its owner, was a long, rawboned specimen of equine flesh, but with an enormous power of reserve strength that brought its homely nose under the line every time.

Sam saluted his employer, and Mr. Sweet waved his hat, and Phoebe fluttered a handkerchief. But her father noticed a singular lack of enthusiasm in her manner. Her eyes were not on her father's horse, but were following the course taken by George Belden's black mare.

"If you go back on Dewey, daughter, I shall feel that you have found another sweetheart than your old dad," he said in a low tone, and Phoebe's quick caress and blushing protest seemed to satisfy him.

Presently they were away, and the crowd on the grand stand held its breath while there sounded the sharp trot—trot—trot around the course.

From the very beginning Dewey took the lead, and the other racers stretched out obliquely on his left. The black mare Princess held her white nose close to the left wheel of Sam's sulky, and Phoebe discovered herself harboring traitorous thoughts.

She wanted Dewey to win, and she wanted George Belden to win. She didn't even know him to speak to, and yet she didn't want to see the look of disappointment come into his eyes. Yet she blushed at her own forwardness in harboring such thoughts.

As for her father, Mr. Sweet had taken the purse at the trotting course for many years, and would he not be disappointed if Dewey should fail him this last year that he would enter him? So Phoebe turned her blue eyes away from the black mare and fastened them loyally on Dewey's lank form and exerted all her mental powers to desire that his homely old nose should once more come under the wire in lead of his fellows.

"Princess is gaining—gaining!" cried Mrs. Scoville jubilantly, and then a quick frown creased her forehead. "Dear me, Mr. Sweet, I do wish George's mare was not running against your Dewey! It makes it hard to be impartial."

"Much obliged, Mrs. Scoville. I shan't take it hard if the youngster wins out. We old folks must retire some day. It's got down to a race between Princess and Dewey after all."

"I know George's heart will be broken," lamented Mrs. Scoville as Dewey flew under the wire to a loud demonstration from the crowd. "He'd set his heart on Princess winning this race, and he was so confident that he planned to take me on a trip to the mountains with the purse."

"I'm sorry, ma'am," and Mr. Sweet's eyes twinkled with pleasure in spite of himself. "But I'll promise to put Dewey out to grass after this and give the younger ones a chance."

"No, no! That wouldn't be what George calls 'sportsmanlike,'" protested Mrs. Scoville as they emerged from the stand and waited near the gate for George Belden's appearance.

When he came disappointment was plainly written on his frank face, but he swallowed it when he discovered that Mr. Sweet was Dewey's owner, and with good grace he congratulated the winner and was presented to Phoebe, whose few words of regret at the defeat of Princess seemed to compensate him for the loss of the race, for he regained his spirits immediately and proved to be a very genial, companionable young man.

They paired off then, Mrs. Scoville and Mr. Sweet leading the way, while Phoebe and George lingered along, becoming better acquainted as they viewed the different exhibits and enjoyed the simple pleasures of the fair.

George Belden inspected Phoebe's cakes and bread and gravely asserted that he could see no difference between those toothsome viands and his aunt's products that had carried off the honors. And Phoebe blushed and dimpled and thanked him and confided to him that she had been almost sorry to see Dewey win the race—because—because she had taken such a fancy to the dainty little Princess.

Of course George invited her to take a ride behind the black mare, and as the Sweets lived ten miles distant from George Belden's farm it became something of a custom for the young man to drive over and spend a Sunday with the Sweets and take Phoebe out driving and, later on, sleighing.

When June came around Phoebe Sweet sought her father one evening and wound her arms about his neck. "Oh, father," she whispered softly, "George says he did win first prize at the Corinth fair last fall—that's me! And I think I won first prize in getting him! You don't mind, do you?"

Mr. Sweet kissed her lovingly and looked into her soft blue eyes with his twinkling ones.

"It takes the old folks to win out, after all, honey," he said. "You see, Mrs. Scoville and I both took first prizes at Corinth fair, and we're taking 'em again now, because she'll have me, and I'll have her, and Dewey's prize money will pay for wedding trips all around!"

Which proved to be a most satisfactory arrangement.

ASKS NEWSPAPER HELP.

The Stout and Husky Juryman Who Is Afraid of His Wife.

It was after 10 o'clock at night and the jury had just been discharged.

A stout juryman came over to the reporter's table. He had a worried look.

"You're an Evening News man, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Are you going to report this case?"

"Yes."

"For tomorrow's paper?"

"Yes."

"Would you mind putting in a line saying that the jury was out until 10 o'clock?"

"I'll mention it if you wish."

"I certainly hope you will. You have no idea how much I want you to. You are a young man and probably you're not married yet, but some day you'll have a wife and then you'll understand."

"Your wife jealous, is she?"

"Not exactly that, but she's very particular, and if I don't account for every minute of my time away from her she chides me."

"That's too bad."

"You bet it is." The stout man mopped his brow with his handkerchief. "When I was drawn on the jury she had her doubts, and nothing would convince her that I wasn't putting up some game until she had come to the courthouse and seen me actually sitting in the jury box."

"She did that, eh?"

"Yes; I saw her standing inside the big doors there, and it gave me such a shock that I clean lost track of the case. The others have been explaining to me about the part of the testimony that I missed, and that is what has kept us from bringing in our verdict sooner. She's a woman, so she won't know about the law's delays, and that will mean more trouble when I show up at home tonight. But maybe I can avert it if I tell her that the paper tomorrow will verify my statement."

"Cheer up, old chap; we'll help you out."

"You'll not forget?"

"No."

"Then I'll never forget your kindness, never!"

Buttoning his overcoat and bracing back his shoulders as if for an ordeal, the belated juryman started for home. —Newark News.

Worse Than a Fish Story.

A Chicagoan returned from a vacation in the Adirondacks and appeared at his office, his face beautifully browned. For a month before leaving he had been inspired spasmodically to tell of his prospective fishing trips. The return was marked by silence.

"Well," he was asked, "what did the biggest one weigh?"

The ex-vacationist blushed.

"I was only out a little," he confessed. "I went to my brother's farm, and he made me work in the hayfields."

The entire staff, knowing its man, gazed at him in amazement.

"He made you work?" repeated the office boy. "Say, Mark, you're a worse liar now than you ever were before."—Chicago Tribune.

Paying Their Way In.

The young couple had taken a house in the suburbs of Boston for the summer, and they were besieged with company.

The men were enjoying the cool of the evening on the piazza when one of the party remarked to his host:

"Do you know, Fred, there's something the matter with your front gate? It took all my strength to open it. It needs oiling or shaving or something."

"Neither one, old man. It's all right. Every one who comes through that gate pumps two buckets of water into the tank up there on the hill."—Youth's Companion.

True Enough.

Married Victim—Certainly, my good man. Come with me and we'll ask my wife for it.—Boston Transcript.

What She Did.

"What did your wife say when she saw you dance three times with that pretty young woman?"

"Nothing. She just halted the party."—Detroit Free Press.

A Juvenile Adept.

"When he opened his picture show Shively paid $200 for a machine that makes fifty-nine different noises."

"Too bad! He might have borrowed our baby."—Judge.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL MINING rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the leasee will be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY.
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

A HERMIT FOR FIVE YEARS

WHAT would make the greatest impression on a man who had been shut away from human intercourse and denied the use of newspapers for five years---what would most forcibly attract his attention ---on regaining the society of his fellowmen?

"Well," you say, "he is fairly certain to be interested in learning whether there's been a change of Government."

True, and probably he will show mild excitement if you can tell him there has been a big war in Europe. But it won't be until you get down to a recital of things that come closer to him, personally, that you'll bring him to his feet with eager questioning.

Tell him a mighty empire has fallen, and—so long as it isn't HIS empire—a drop curtain of highly embroidered indifference will mask his face.

But tell him the automobile has been so simplified that he can now buy one for the price of a horse and buggy, and he'll promptly bombard you with questions.

A revolution in China may be a world event, but it wouldn't mean as much to him as the perfecting of a shaving apparatus that would do away with the necessity of purchasing new blades or honing old ones.

If YOU had been a hermit for the past five years, the news of an earthquake in San Francisco wouldn't really mean so much to you as the information that you can now hear any famous opera singer in your own home at a cost of a few cents per hour.

Which is only another way of saying that the phonograph is of more PERSONAL interest than an earthquake.

You see how it is: Newspapers carry a "news of merchandise" that is just as interesting, just as vital, as the "news of events" which the editors gather for us.

And, since this "news of merchandise" finds its only expression in the form of Advertising, must we not admit that the Advertising columns are quite as worthy of our serious attention as the scariest "scare head" or the most ponderous editorial?

Shut your eyes to Advertising---and you shut out the news of commercial progress and development---the news of things that make life worth the living.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

LOCAL NOTES

Weather Today.

Victoria, Nov. 20.—The weather forecast for the lower mainland for the next twenty four hours is as follows. Easterly and southerly winds, unsettled and mild, with rain.

Alderman F. J. Lynch is confined to his home for a few days. He is suffering from an attack of the grippe.

Hear the sacred cantata "Daniel" at Olivet Baptist church Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Collection. (120)

Rev. O. B. Anderson, Messrs. George, Fred and Roy Shaw and H. B. Baker, all of Sapperton, are away on a few days' hunting trip to Pitt lake.

Mr. J. R. Barr, who was for some time connected with the firm of Sloan and Harrison, has gone into partnership with his son in the contracting business.

We have a limited stock of Comox coal which we can recommend for steam and furnace use and which we will sell for cash only. Gilley Bros (116)

Owing to the soft condition of the road, due to the recent cut, Twelfth street, below Fifth avenue, is being macadamized. With a few dry days the paving of the upper section of Twelfth street will be finished in a short time.

Miss Carrie Hourston, of Ayr, Scotland, who is visiting her cousin, Mrs. L. B. Lusby, will sing at Olivet Baptist church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Hourston's splendid Mezzo-soprano voice will be heard to advantage in Gounod's "Gallia." (120)

Mr. Winton Harvey, of the Bank of Montreal, Vernon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harvey, the Glen, Sapperton, is at home with his parents on three months sick leave. Young Mr. Harvey is recuperating satisfactorily after a rather serious attack of pneumonia.

For a square deal in Furniture and Carpets go to W. E. Fales, corner of McKenzie and Agnes streets (113)

The Lanarkshire association, which was organized two weeks ago, and takes in Vancouver, New Westminster, South Vancouver and North Vancouver, will hold a social and dance in the agricultural hall, Central Park, this evening. Several New Westminster people have made arrangements to attend.

"Death from pneumonia following chronic tuberculosis," was the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury investigating the death of J. A. Knight which occurred at Port Moody on Monday. The inquest was held at Port Moody, Dr. A. L. McQuarrie presiding. The remains of the deceased were shipped from Fales' undertaking parlors to Vancouver yesterday for interment.

Yesterday Mr. Walter Oldbury, Sapperton, left for the old country via the States and New York. Previous to his departure he was entertained by his many friends in Brunette house and presented with a number of souvenirs as tokens of friendship and esteem. Mr. Oldbury is a native of Wednesbury, Staffordshire, England. He will sail by the Mauretania.

A. Hardman, the cake man. Get good bread. Eighth Street Bakery. Telephone 281. (9)

The laying of the sidewalk along Brunette street to the city limits is progressing rapidly despite the adverse weather. One thing pedestrians along that route are congratulating themselves upon is the excellent condition of the roadway which is absolutely mudless and as comfortable to walk upon as a paved way.

Why does John Rindal, the tailor, sell a first class $40.00 suit for $30.00? Because the location of his business is out of the high rent district. John Rindal, 612 Carnarvon. (65)

A social "at home" will be given by the Epworth League of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church to all the young people's societies in New Westminster, on Friday evening. Professor A. E. Hetherington will preside, and is expected to deliver a short address on the work of the Christian Endeavor leagues. A musical program has been arranged.

Miss Carrie Hourston and Mr. J. T. Baker will sing Mendelssohn's "I Waited for the Lord" on Monday evening next, November 25, at Olivet Baptist church. Collection. (120)

As Monday evening will be devoted to a special concert, the Young People's Society of the Olivet Baptist Church will hold their regular services on the evening following. An elaborate program has been prepared for the concert on Monday, the feature item being the rendition of the cantata "Daniel" by a choir of 45 voices and an orchestra.

As the result of a little too much celebration E. Sampson mistook the direction from home on Tuesday evening and inadvertently stepped in to the Fraser river from which he was subsequently fished by the city police. The incident occurred somewhere along Front street. Sampson was haled into the police court yesterday morning and was mulcted the usual $2.50.

Drunk to a state of insensibility and indifferent to the pelting rain and the fact that a drain pipe was emptying down his back an unknown man was discovered apparently comfortably asleep on a dark section of Victoria street near MacKenzie by a passerby early last evening. All evidence of a lonely carousal was contained in a full sized bottle of whisky that lay by the sleeper's side, while a sack full of groceries and a few carpenter's tools lay scattered on the sidewalk about twenty feet off, marking the dizzy course taken. The police were informed and the inebriate was wafted to the lockup.

One hundred and eighteen patients were admitted to the Royal Columbian hospital during October and 93 discharged, according to the regular report of the superintendent, Miss Scott, at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday afternoon. There were 55 patients in the hospital on October 1 and 79 on October 31, the latter number being the greatest treated in one day. There was a total of 1996 hospital days during the month.

OBITUARY.

SABOURIN—The death occurred at Millside on November 12 of Charles Sabourin, a French Canadian, aged 68 years. The funeral took place yesterday morning from the family residence to the Roman Catholic cemetery in this city.

LASSETTER—The death occurred at Ladner yesterday morning of George Lassetter, aged 50 years. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BAKER—The death took place yesterday morning of William Baker, aged 61, a resident of this city for a considerable number of years. The funeral will be announced later. The remains are at Murchie's parlors..

THE CIVIC ELECTIONS

Alderman Henley Still Quiescent—Alderman Dodd and Labor.

Confirming the report which appeared in the Westminster Daily News of October 10, Alderman Kellington has decided to make the run for re-election. The same announcement also stated that Alderman White would not make the run and this was confirmed later.

Alderman Dodd has yet to come out with an announcement, but it is well known in labor circles that he will again be nominated for the position of labor representative on the city council.

Alderman Henley is still sitting on the fence, but is expected to come out with a definite statement during the next few days.

ALTERATION OF GRADES TO BE RECOMMENDED

As a result of an examination made yesterday morning, the city council will recommend at the regular meeting on Monday that Carnarvon street near the corner of Sixth be partially bench graded to provide for a building which is to be erected on the corner at an early date.

The southwestern part will be raised slightly, while the upper corner will be lowered. No change will be made to the grade on Sixth street.

It was also decided to recommend that Ash street and a section of Tenth street be improved in order to straighten the grades.

NATIVE SONS PREPARING FOR ANNUAL FUNCTION

The Native Sons of B. C., Post No. 4. held their regular meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall last evening. A committee was appointed to make all the necessary arrangements for the next annual ball which will be held in the Masonic hall on the last Monday in January. The committee will elect its own officers.

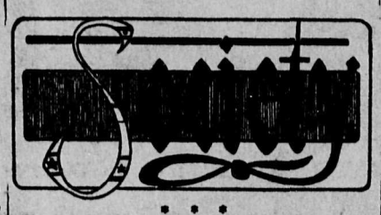
A motion of congratulation to Irving Wintemute on the occasion of his marriage was passed. "Punk" has been a member of the post ever since it was formed. Previously the meetings were held in the K. of P., building, but in future the Odd Fellows' hall will be the regular gathering place. The annual election of officers will be held at the next meeting.

MASTERS OF MUSIC TO BE HEARD AGAIN

Within the past ten days there has twice been accorded to lovers of good music in Westminster an opportunity of enjoyment and it is safe to predict that tomorrow evening's musical recital in St. Patrick's hall will set an equally high standard.

Miss Cave-Browne-Cave will open with Beethoven's "Sonata Appassionata," certainly the greatest sonata of the master, as it is one of his greatest works, and among other numbers to be rendered on the piano are pieces designed to show all the marvellous variety and style of Chopin as well as to test the conception and technique of the artist. The phantasia for the left hand alone is worthy of note.

Miss Malaher will assist Miss Cave-Browne-Cave in a well selected group of violin solos and duets, and her clear soprano should excell in "Carissima."



* * *

Mrs. W. A. Duncan will entertain the Ladies of the Maccabees at her residence this afternoon.

* * *

Mrs. E. Saunders (formerly Miss Ila Marshall) will receive with her mother, Mrs. H. M. Marshall, 313 Fourth street, on Friday, November 22.
