PREMIER GUEST OF LORD [illegible]

Pays Eloquent Tribute to T. R. H. Duke and Duchess of Connaught.

British and French Canadians Carrying on Traditions of Empire—Their Task.

London, July 26.—The Lord Mayor yesterday had Premier Borden and colleagues as luncheon guests at Mansion House. Mr. Borden, in replying to the toast to his health, said:

When the Duke and Duchess of Connaught returned to these shores from Canada they would bring with them the affection and esteem of the Canadian people. The Duke had made himself acquainted in every way with the great Dominion, and had given evidence of his close association with the ideals and aspirations of the people.

Working Out Destiny.

Canadians were sometimes reproached a little for their intense belief in their country; they had such a belief and they intended to justify it as far as it lay within them. They desired Canada should work out its own destiny as one of the great nations of the empire. Those in Britain could scarcely appreciate the vast task which had been committed to the Canadian people in the development of their territory. They had in their possession not only a great territory, but enormous resources of the most varied description.

Shoulder to Shoulder.

The British and French Canadians were working harmoniously together in the task of developing the country. The French were amongst the most loyal subjects of the King. As one who knew something of the Canadian people he could say that the French and English were not afraid of their responsibility and not unwilling to accept the part which was their duty in carrying on the traditions of the empire in that part of the world.

HALF BREED FACES BURGLARY CHARGE

Elects for Speedy Trial—Alleged to Have Robbed Chinaman's Shack.

Lawrence Thames, a halfbreed Siwash, appeared before His Honor Judge Howay yesterday morning on a charge of burglary, and elected for speedy trial. His case was adjourned until August 19.

No evidence from either the prosecution or the defence was heard yesterday, and no plea was entered by the prisoner.

The allegation of burglary against Thames is laid by Constable Stevens, of the Burnaby police, who avers he caught him red handed in the act of robbing the shack of a Chinaman named Git Yuen Gang, at East Burnaby.

Stevens declares that he was walking along the road near the shack on Wednesday night when he saw a dark figure come hurriedly out of the building and make a bee line for the woods. He gave chase and on capturing the man is stated to have found considerable goods and chattels belonging to the Chinese on his person.

DREADNOUGHTS AS CANADIAN SHARE?

London Daily Mail Makes Forecast—Representation for all Overseas Dominions.

London, July 26.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, speaking at a dinner in his honor at the Junior Constitutional Club, again made reference to the naval negotiations. He said the placing of naval defence on a permanent basis as far as the Empire was concerned, might involve further consultation with the Overseas Dominions as well as Canada. While Canada was prepared to do her part there was a feeling that now the dominions had grown to man's estate, some arrangements would have to be made by which the Overseas Dominions should have a voice and representation. He believed the position was recognized in this country and the people of Canada regarded their position in the Empire in Kipling's words: "Daughter am I in my mother's house, but mistress in my own." (Cheers).

In Canada they wished to set up a common establishment which would be the strongest and the best in every way, which could be found in the world, and one which would have

EVERYBODY BUSY IN WESTMINSTER

Seven Hundred Men Are Putting the Streets in Shape—Council's Excellent Policy.

About 700 men drawing average daily wages to the amount of $2000 for 5600 hours of work are at the present time engaged in carrying out the various civic improvement works in progress in the city. These comprise the following departments: Board of works, 300; Hassam Paving company, Nickson & Co., 75; Bitulithic company, 125; Powers Construction company, 50. In the case of the Bitulithic company and the Powers Construction company it is certain that the next two or three weeks will see a large increase in the number of men that they employ as they hold a number of contracts as yet barely under way.

"Conditions for the workingman are better today in Westminster than ever before," remarked Alderman Dodd the other day. "There is plenty of work in sight and the policy of local preference and discrimination against Oriental labor, adopted by the board of works has enabled the civic authorities to secure the most desirable men possible for carrying out the tremendous amount of street improvements projected this year."

The policy briefly outlined by Alderman Kellington, chairman of the board of works, was first the employment whenever possible of Westminster residents; those with families to support having the preference providing a question arose; second, binding by an agreement all contractors and sub-contractors engaged in city work to employ nothing but white labor, secured in the city is possible; and, lastly, barring Asiatics and Orientals from performing municipal work.

"The city by-law, which provides for an eight hour day only for all city employees also applies to the contractors, who must conform to its provisions or lose their contracts.

"Westminster was the first city in British Columbia to inaugurate this system of protecting Canadian citizens," declared Alderman Kellington, in speaking of the matter. "This city was also the first to adopt the $3.00 wage which Vancouver has since been obliged to adopt in order to satisfy her employees."

Another innovation brought about by the present council was the passing of a provision that municipal contractors when tendering for work should be called upon to use local material whenever possible.

Contracts could not be sublet from one contractor to the other without the consent of the authorities, as it had been found in the past that very often this practice had worked a hardship on the merchant who supplied the materials.

AMERICAN BOXER CAUGHT IN TOILS

Charged with Larceny at Bow Street—Princess Robbed of $80,000 Jewels.

London, July 26.—"Kid" McCoy, the American boxer, was arrested today on a provisional extraditional warrant and brought up at Box street police court on a charge of larceny, alleged to have been committed at Ostend. He was remanded without bail.

McCoy said he was entirely ignorant of the charge.

According to Scotland Yard authorities McCoy is suspected of being implicated in a jewel robbery at the Grand Palace hotel, Ostend. They admit, however, that the only evidence against him thus far is that McCoy has been seen in the company of suspects. McCoy's friends say he left Ostend before the robbery was committed.

The Scotland Yard's authorities say the person robbed at Ostend was a Russian princess who was staying at the Grand Palace hotel. Their story is that the princess, who possessed jewelry worth $280,000, was followed from Russia by a gang of thieves who engaged an adjoining room and entered her apartments in her absence. They obtained a case containing jewels valued at $80,000, but overlooked a larger case.

The officials at Scotland Yard say that a man known as Squeezerkamp, and a woman companion, have been arrested at Ostend for alleged connection with the crime. McCoy, it is asserted, recently was a guest at the Grand Palace hotel with a party of friends.

The only large robbery reported from Ostend recently was that of the Princess of Thurn and Taxis from whom it was stated jewels valued at $80,000 were stolen in a hotel. The princess was a Miss Nicolls, of Uniontown, Pa. She was divorced in Pittsburg in 1906, from General Gerald Fitzgerald, of Ireland, and last November at the home of her mother in Uniontown married Prince Victor of Turn and Taxis, a member of the Hungarian branch of his family.

LADNER MAN LOSES WATCHES AND WAD

Fight with Two Indians—Police Arrest One—Are Hunting the Other.

In consequence of a mixup which he had with two halfbreeds last evening, Mr. William MacKay, a resident of Ladner, is mourning the loss of his pocketbook, fifty dollars, two gold watches and various other smaller articles of value. Incidentally one of the braves who is alleged to have rolled him, is languishing in the cells at the police station, while the other has piked for parts unknown, taking with him the spoils of war.

Mr. MacKay and "Joe," one of the two Indians concerned, came into the city early in the evening, and, it is said, that after making a round of the wet goods emporiums the pair ran across one of "Joe's" dark skinned brothers named Campbell. A visit to Campbell's house situated near the Walsh Sash and Door factory, was later on suggested.

MacKay assented to this proposal, and the three started on their way blithely. Near the factory Joe got into an argument with MacKay and blows were exchanged. MacKay was getting the worst of it, and so, it is alleged that he picked up a piece of mill edging and gracefully executed a pas seul a la Genee, with the accent on Joe's ribs. Nothing daunted, the red man came back and floored his pale faced brother with wallops to the face which knocked him insensible. When MacKay came to his pockets had been rifled, and the money and valuables mentioned above had disappeared.

As soon as the police were informed of the occurrence two officers were dispatched for the scene of the alleged hold-up, and Campbell was arrested and taken to the station. He protested his innocence of having any hand in the affair. No trace of Joe, watches, or money have been secured up to the time of going to press.

HOUSEKEEPER RUNS OFF WITH MISTRESS

Three Servants of San Francisco Banker Arrested in New York—Remarkable Story.

New York, July 26.—Mrs. Clara Perkins, housekeeper, Frederick E. Patterson, chauffeur, and Patrick Walsh, valet, former employees of the household of Nicholas J. McNamara, of San Francisco, were arrested here late today, charged with grand larceny and being fugitives from justice. Mrs. Margaret McNamara, wife of the banker, with her two children, was present when the arrests were made.

The arrests resulted from the receipt of a telegram from the chief of police of San Francisco, who charged the prisoners with grand larceny. Mr. McNamara swore out warrants yesterday for his three former employees charging them with stealing his automobile.

San Francisco despatches today carried the assertion of the banker that Mrs. McNamara on June 21, left home with three servants and her two children in a large touring car, journeying through Oregon and across country, and that his only word from his wife had been in the shape of lavish drafts on his bank account. He said Mrs. Perkins had acquired an almost complete control over his wife's actions. The party was traced to Chicago and thence here.

The arrests were made in a leading hotel where they had registered. Mrs. McNamara has her two children, Chester, aged 10, and Wilbur, 12 years old, with her. The banker's wife and her children were not disturbed. That they intended to sail for Germany on August 3 became apparent when steamer tickets were found on the prisoners. The servants declined to make any statement.

It is presumed the automobile was disposed of on the road.

The police have telegraphed San Francisco for instructions regarding Mrs. McNamara and the children. Meanwhile she will remain at the hotel where she first registered.

"WAKE UP, ROYAL CITY!" IS CALGARY'S ADVICE

The Calgary Telegram, commenting upon the present lacrosse situation, says:

"New Westminster is rather peeved at the reports sent out from Vancouver regarding the trouble following last Saturday's lacrosse match, and the board of trade may take some action.

"Until New Westminster wakes up to the fact that it is entitled to a representative of the Western Press and other news services, all reports must have a Vancouver tinge.

"New Westminster used to have a live news bureau a few years ago, but lately it has been served under a Vancouver date line. Wake up, Royal City!"

NEED TO FOSTER WESTERN FINANCE

Capitalists View West as Mecca—Profits Go to Build Eastern Enterprises.

"The Pacific west must foster its own financial institutions in order to secure and control its rightful share of the trade from the prairie provinces."

Such was the statement of a well known Winnipeg man who has been visiting Westminster and the coast for the purpose of scrutinizing the industrial outlook here on behalf of his company, a Manitoba grain firm.

"As I see it at the present time," said he, "eastern institutions, backed by eastern capital and controlled by eastern magnates whose interests and energies are centred in the east are financing many of the projects here. Profits derived from such enterprises will be by no means laid out to develop the west, rather will it go back to the east from whence emanated the original investment.

"But the ultimate disposition or withdrawal of eastern capital," he continued, "is not the most important phase of the situation. The real issue lies in the fact that when British Columbia is competing for the trade of the prairie provinces a serious obstacle is encountered in eastern interests financing produce buyers and shippers.

"The grain companies, the elevator concerns and corporations concerned in handling the huge output of the prairies are being sustained by powers that will divert all trade possible into the channels that give the most benefit to their vested interests. Hence Montreal, Quebec, Toronto and other large eastern cities reap the benefit of considerable trade which by right should belong to Westminster and Vancouver."

The truth of this, according to this gentleman, was far more apparent in the east at the present time than out here. Most of the really large financial men regarded the west as the Mecca of investors, but their influence as far as trade was concerned was centred in the east to the benefit of the banking institutions there.

In fostering western finance which of necessity must be vitally interested in building up the country, the prairie exporters who are already convinced of the desirability of Pacific ports would be enabled both to cast off the shackles forged by the eastern capitalists, and to ship their products through logically situated channels.

The necessity and advisability of such a move would be far more apparent in a year or two when a mammoth market for grain would be created by the operation of the Panama canal.

HORSE THIEF GETS THREE YEARS GAOL

Chilliwack Indian Convicted—Had Already Served Long Term for Similar Offence.

Three years in the Westminster penitentiary for "Patsy" Herman, a Chilliwack Indian, was the sentence handed down by His Honor Judge Howay yesterday morning when for the second time in ten years "Patsy" was convicted of being a horse thief.

Herman is a "kay bueno" Indian from away back, his previous prison term being seven years for stealing horses from a squatter in 1902. The crime for which he was convicted yesterday was stealing one horse from another member of his tribe at Chilliwack, subsequently selling it to a farmer in the Delta.

With the growth of the west, the police explain, horse stealing has ceased to be regarded in such a serious light as in years gone by when hanging was frequently the penalty for the crime.

G.T.P. NOT ALARMED AT I. W. W. STRIKE

Two Thousand Men Affected—Steel to Reach Fort George by Winter—Rushing Work.

Winnipeg, July 26.—Local officials are not alarmed at the strike of two thousand Industrial Workers of the World in the construction work of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. Donaldson, vice-president and general manager, said it affected only the east end of the line and had not stopped the contractors. Arrangements were being made to fill the places of the strikers.

Between the head of steel and Fort George, four thousand men are working, and the contractors, Foley, Welch & Stewart, aim to have rails at Mile 143 before winter. At that point the line crosses the Fraser river and recesses at Fort George. It is all shovel work with no rock cuts, and rails should go down at the rate of a mile and a half a day.

GOVERNOR GENERAL AND HIGH SCHOOL

H. R. H. May Lay Foundation Stone—Exhibition Officials Make Victoria Arrangements.

Mr. T. J. Trapp, president, and Mr. D. E. MacKenzie, secretary of the Royal Agricultural and Industrial society, returned from Victoria yesterday after being in consultation with Premier McBride and other officials in connection with the approaching exhibition to be held here in October.

As the Victoria exhibition will be held the week previous to that of Westminster, arrangements were made whereby the usual stock passing will take place between the two cities, and the customary boat will convey exhibits from the Capital City to New Westminster.

While over there, Mr. Trapp intimated his desire to have His Royal Highness, the Governor General, lay the foundation stone of the new Tipperary High school and it is very probable that arrangements can be made so as to have the preliminary work completed for that time.

NO TRACE FOUND OF HOLDUP MEN

Watching Police Failed to Find Quarry in Bushes—Westminster Men Return.

With straining ears and eyes, for a sight of the robbers who clubbed Manager Temple into insensibility at the branch of the Northern Crown bank at Central Park previous to the $1800 bank hold up on Wednesday, the municipal police of South Vancouver, Burnaby, Point Grey, together with officers from Vancouver and Westminster lay concealed in the wet sodden bushes about the by paths of the River road near Argyle street in the chilly hours of yesterday morning, in a cordon surrounding the narrow neck of woods where the robbers were supposed to be concealed. The fog rolled up from the North Arm, strangely distorting shapes into weird wraith like fantasy, and the bushes laden with their burden of moisture swished back and forth whipping the wet into the shivering forms of the watchers.

Early in the game the Vancouver police went back to the city, while the Westminster aggregation finding a lack of organization in the waiting game also went home. In the dense fog the lot of sentinels who remained was no sinecure and one by one they meandered back to the municipal hall where weary reporters waiting for the outcome of the watch had gone to bed on some of the empty jail cots.

Inquiries all along the line from early morning to late last night failed to reveal any clue as to the whereabouts of the men, although the police forces of almost every section of British Columbia are on the qui vive.

Sergeant Stanton and Constable Sam Gross were sent from the city police force.

FRUIT CROP NOT TOO PROMISING

Trees Do Not Bear as Well as Expected—Hay Crop is Successful So Far.

"Considering the prospects at the time the fruit trees were in full bloom, the ranchers of the lower mainland of the province are very disappointed at the fruit crop outlook this year," was the statement made yesterday afternoon by Mr. D. E. MacKenzie, manager of the city market.

"The trees all over the district were wonderfully heavy in bloom this spring," Mr. MacKenzie added, "and for a while I have been told a bumper crop was expected on all hands. Later, however, when the fruit commenced to mature, the trees were seen to be bearing very poorly, and the ranchers were forced to change their opinions."

The exact reason for the condition of the fruit trees Mr. MacKenzie was not able to state, but he expressed the opinion that the late frost and heavy rains that have been falling this year had a great deal to do with it.

Mr. MacKenzie also stated yesterday that the rains of the past two or three days had very little effect on the hay crop. Most of the hay was cut and cocked when the rain commenced to fall, but apart from changing the color of some of it slightly, little or no damage was done. A few more good days will probably see the crop off the fields, and after that the farmers will have nothing to fear.

WIRELESS FOR HUDSON'S BAY

Hon. Frank Cochrane Details Government's Plans for Sailing Northern Sea.

Transportation Conditions of Many Farmers Will Have to Be Changed.

Moose Jaw, July 26.—Today Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways, was the guest of the Canadian club here at luncheon in the Empress hotel. Mayor Mayberry welcomed him in a stirring address as chief spokesman for the railway city.

Mr. Cochrane delivered a comprehensive sketch of Dominion potentialities and their corresponding needs. As regarding Saskatchewan he said:

"I am receiving deputations every day from farmers who are raising as much as five thousand bushels of wheat and have to haul it sixty miles.

"That," continued the minister, "will have to be changed."

Referring to his intended journey to Norway House and Port Nelson and Fort Churchill, Mr. Cochrane said:

Hudson Bay Line.

"If the nature of the country is anything like the reports we have received about it, then I can assure you that the railway to the Hudson bay is worth building. The navigability of Hudson strait is a contestable point as it has been reported on only under the most favorable conditions. But it is proposed by us to establish wireless stations on both sides, and navigate the ships by wireless through the ice, and there is no reason to doubt that with this system, the navigation of the strait may be made perfectly safe."

Railroad Entries.

Later in the afternoon the minister was waited upon by deputations of the city council and board of trade with regard to the Grand Trunk entry into the city. Mr. Cochrane said that he had been urging the company to expedite matters and further promised that he would personally do all in his power to hurry their project.

With regard to the Canadian Northern line, Calgary to Regina, a very strong case was made out locally as well as for extensions into the southern country. The minister called for a map and fully entered into the issues spoken of. He was impressed with the delegation's words and asked for still fuller data. The Grand Trunk line from the city would, he said, cross the Saskatchewan river at Riverside instead of at Eye Brow.

Hon. Frank Cochrane left at 4 p.m. on the Winnipeg local.

SAW GOVERNMENT CONCERNING MAP

Civic Delegation Returns from Victoria—Plans Need Final Ratification.

Acting Mayor Gray, City Solicitor McQuarrie and City Engineer Blackman returned yesterday from Victoria where they waited upon the government regarding certain civic matters of New Westminster.

One of these was with reference to the new city map prepared last year and exhibited at the annual meeting of the B. C. Municipalities in Victoria last fall. In this survey the street line of property owners is affected. Mr. McDermott, of the firm of Cleveland & Cameron, Vancouver, also accompanied the party. This firm had charge of the resurvey of the city last year which awaits final ratification.

In this connection the attorney general listened to the delegation from the city as well as to a representative of the B. C. E. R., who wished a slight alteration in the plan for their right of way. Mr. Arthur Jones also put forward a claim in relation to his property at the corner of Carnarvon and Tenth street.

Hon. Mr. Bowser promised that the executive would take the matter up at their earliest convenience and intimated that a settlement would be arrived at satisfactory to all parties concerned.

Acting Mayor Gray, who returned yesterday morning, stated last evening that several other matters of importance were taken up. A decision would be given by the Hon. Mr. Bowser and Premier Sir Richard McBride in a few days regarding these questions, which could then be announced. At the present time it would be injudicious to mention them, until a decision had been arrived at.

MARKET REPORT

Plenty of buyers with the sellers almost on a parity and supplies good, were the three things that went to make yesterday's market one of the best this summer.

The most notable feature of the day's doings was the sale of the first of the season's apples and plums. The samples of this fruit on showing were all local grown and appeared to be of fine quality. Stocks were small and with a good demand they were got rid off at a handsome price.

The apples were of the transparent brand which are always the season's openers. In about three weeks' time this brand will probably disappear from the stalls and the Duchess variety will come into the limelight, then as the year grows old the Red Astrikana, Gravenstein and Wealthy brands will follow in the order mentioned. These will later give place to the late summer and fall species by which the season is generally closed. From now until spring next year apples will occupy a prominent place in the market.

In the vegetable section of the mart stocks were pretty large, but a fairly good demand held prices at the ruling figure of last week.

Chickens were received in large numbers, but trading was brisk and prices held steady. Ducks were in a better demand than they have been for some time and all those on hand met a ready sale.

The most important change in the price list was another material hardening in eggs. The offerings in this line of farm produce were not what they should be considering the time of the year, and sellers had little difficulty in getting rid of their supplies at 40 cents or over retail.

Receipts of new potatoes were heavy, and with the inquiry only normal, another setback to the extent of 25 cents per sack took place.

The fish stands were well supplied with sockeyes and halibut, while other varieties of the finny tribe were displayed in varying quantities. There was good buying around these stalls with the prices of last week holding sway.

The florists had another good display this week with sweet peas predominating in the supplies. The demand was fairly good for flowers and by the close of the market the merchants had few varieties left.

TO EMULATE RHODES.

To Give English Students Scholarships in American Universities.

London, July 26.—At a luncheon of the American Women's Society in London, Dr. George Parkin, organizing representative of the Rhodes Scholarship Trust, said he had approached J. Pierpont Morgan, Andrew Carnegie and other wealthy Americans with a plan for duplicating the Rhodes Scholarship scheme in such a way that English students could be sent to American universities.

"Such a plan would notify to all other nations that 'Hands Across the Seas' means something," said Dr. Parkin.

In a description in the Victoria Times of how the time was passed away by the passengers on the steamer Marama on her way from the Antipodes to Victoria and Vancouver, the name of Miss Florence McLeod of this city, is mentioned as a prize-winner in a fancy dress ball that took place on board as part of a great gymkhana that was held after the ship left Suva. The following is an excerpt from the article:

"After leaving Suva a gymkhana was organized, and for seven days the contest in quoits—bucket quoits, pin quoits, and stake quoits—shuffle board, and other deck sports waged if one may be permitted to use a word significant of anything so strenuous for a time so absolutely care-free and full of leisure.

The ladies were particularly expert at these games, and also entered the cricket matches with some success this sport ultimately, however, falling entirely to the men. The interest in the events, from first to last, was as keen as it usually is for more momentous and noisy games where the audience may be counted in thousands instead of tens, and the fancy dress ball with which the gymkhana concluded was attended by nearly everyone.

Here were seen some truly wonderful costumes, many of them made up of the curtains and pillow-shams of the wearer's room, others being made from assembled portions of such stewards' uniforms as were to be wheedled from these obliging people.

The prizes went to Miss Ray, a dashing Parisian, who, as a Spanish gypsy, wore a very fascinating dress which just suited the role; and to Miss McLeod of New Westminster, who appeared in the popular 'Sis Hopkins' dress."

The Toronto Globe devotes an editorial to "A Blow at Five O'clock Tea."

The British constitution is being shaken to its foundations. The Radicals have been relegating the House of Lords to the political lumber room; the ladies have been pulling the noses and slapping the faces of Cabinet Ministers in the name of equality; and the domestics—abetted, it must be admitted, by mistresses who know better—have been "demonstrating" against an Insurance Act that is bound to prove of very great benefit to them.

And now comes King George himself and adds to Britain's topsyturvydom by casting discredit upon another British institution far more potent than the House of Lords—afternoon tea.

Tea in the country is an institution, in the city of London it is a rite. The merchant in his counting-room, the financier in his gilded office, the civil servant who has not been able to escape to the club before 5 o'clock, suspend business while the lady secretary brews the tea and butters the bread. Then with a solemnity that freezes the smile of scorn on the lips of the outer barbarian the sacred tea is passed and the constitution saved. The spectacle of tens of thousands of men who are leaders in the affairs of the Anglo-Saxon world stopping business in the middle of the afternoon to sip tea and munch crackers fills the colonial visitor with wonder, but he soon becomes accustomed to it, and, if his visits to England are frequent, sometimes drops into the habit himself.

A shadow falls upon the 5 o'clock tea table. Twice lately has King George declined his five o'clock, and society trembles. Doctors are found who declare that to take a heavy afternoon tea betwen luncheon and dinner does a healthy young or middle-aged person far more harm than good. It is not the tea itself that is harmful, for there is nothing better than a cup of tea as a refresher. What the doctor objects to is sitting down in the middle of the afternoon and making a regular meal of tea, bread and butter, sandwiches, cake, jam and pastry. So the iconoclastic king has good medical support for his crusade against four meals a day. Will 5 o'clock tea survive the royal frown? It may, but its position will never again be an assured one. By and by the Briton's mid-afternoon meal may become only a survival lingering in remote parts of the country, and visitors from the outer Empire will be shown a 5 o'clock function in the city as they are shown the beefeaters at the Tower or the changing of the guard on the Horse Guards parade.

There was much disturbance caused in one of the city hospitals recently through the mysterious disappearance of an overcoat belonging to a visiting physician. Every nook and corner was searched and finally the services of the police were requisitioned. One of the patients had seen a visitor walking away with a garment tallying with the descrintion of the missing coat. This visitor was described as being like unto Esau and having an abundant head of hair.

The upshot was that the visitor was ultimately confronted in his office by the arm of the law. He had absentmindedly taken the coat away with him and had not discovered his mistake until he came to hang it up on the peg beside his own. Explanations followed, and everyone was contented. It is surmised, save perhaps the policeman, who missed an important arrest by so narrow a margin.

FATAL AUTO SMASH.

Seattle, July 26.—Dr. Edmund M. Rininger, one of the most widely known surgeons in the Northwest, was killed, and Miss Luella Davis, a trained nurse, whose parents reside in St. Paul, was probably fatally injured late yesterday, when Dr. Rininger's automobile was struck by a Tacoma-bound limited train on the Puget Sound Electric Railway at Riverton, seven miles south of Seattle. Ottawa, July 26.—The government has arranged for an additional postal service between Victoria and Vancouver and Nanaimo and Victoria.

The greater number of applications come from Ontario, where most of the routes are now located. Twenty-five thousand delivery boxes have been erected.

ANOTHER POACHER.

Seattle Schooner Thelma Towed Into Esquimalt.

Victoria, July 26.—The fishery protection cruiser Newington has brought into Esquimalt harbor the gasoline schooner Thelma of Tacoma, a prize. The Thelma was seized on Wednesday off Tsushiat. The poacher is the second captured by the Newington since she entered service.

When the Newington came upon the poacher through the mist, there was confusion on the Thelma, and Captain Carlson and his crew hurriedly worked to haul in the big purse seine. The engine was dead, however, and escape was impossible.

The Newington steamed alongside, and Mr. Ledwell, fishery protection officer, went on board. No resistance was offered. When informed that his vessel was under seizure Capt. Carlson asserted that he was inside the limit he must have drifted in during the fog, and disclaimed intention of poaching.

Bearings were taken, and it was found that the Thelma was two and a quarter miles off shore. The Thelma had 475 salmon on board. Capt. Carlson and crew of the Thelma, and their vessel, which was kept fast to the Newington, was then taken to Vancouver, where action for confiscation will be commenced.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

If the full realization of but one fact is driven home to the Westminster public through the present lacrosse situation, good will have resulted from the recent regrettable occurrences. That fact is the absolute control, not only of sport news of this city, but of all the happenings of this city and district by Vancouver.

What is the result?

We reproduce here from the Calgary Morning Albertan of July 24, a report (sic) of last Tuesday's meeting of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association:

Vancouver, July 23.—The British Columbia Lacrosse Association "busted up" this evening with a beautiful declaration in most unparliamentary language after a short meeting held at the Elysium hotel. Westminster withdrew from the league, and left the meeting slamming the door behind them. Acting Mayor Wells Gray, who led the five Royal City delegates, told the meeting that they "could all go to hell," and added a few trimmings. The end came suddenly following the passing of a resolution by the majority vote of President Harry Cowan. This resolution ordered that the place of playing next Saturday's game and the one scheduled for Sept. 14 should be exchanged."

The account goes on to say that Manager Jones is going East, and adds:

"It is expected that at least two eastern teams will be brought out to play for the cup. Of course, no one supposes that Westminster will be idle all this time, and the Royal City players may be sent East.

"Business and professional men are worked up over the lacrosse situation in a surprising manner. The quarrel seems to have a serious effect on the Provincial Exhibition to be held here in October. The fight is certainly on in earnest."

At present a very large proportion of the people of Westminster, while railing at Vancouver, and asserting Westminster's independence as a city, depend absolutely upon the Vancouver press for accounts of the events taking place in their own city—the paucity of which has at times been the subject of comment in no less a place than the city council chamber.

The above report may serve to show all how, not only are untrue reports sent out, but the fair name and fame of this city is besmirched throughout the length and breadth of Canada by the association of the name of her chief citizen with what readers outside of this immediate district must consider a very unparliamentary meeting indeed.

In his capacity as manager of the New Westminster Lacrosse team, Alderman Gray becomes Manager Gray purely and simply, and it is the reverse of good manners—to say the least of it—that his position as acting mayor of this city should have been dragged into this embroglio.

The remedy for this state of affairs is in the hands of the people of Westminster, and particularly in those of its business men. The spirit of progress surely did not die after its last marked appearance in the passing of the recent bylaws.

At a hot time that full support was rendered to the press of this city, so that in the course Westminster people may be provided with up-to-date and full news, not only of their own city, but of the outside world? In due course also the outside world in turn may then be supplied with correct facts concerning ourselves and our doings.

The only parallel for the present parlous state of things is to be found in the way in which for many years past Canadian people have looked at the happenings of the world through American spectacles — their news coming through American sources. The result is plain to anyone who cares to look for it.

Today we are far better furnished with Canadian news and British news through Canadian sources of information than was the case ten years ago.

Is it too much to hope that Westminster may keep on waking up to a realization of where her best interest lies?

IMPERIAL DEFENCE.

Considering, of course, it must be to the Spectator to find the views of Mr. Borden now for the first time appearing so closely in accordance with its own in respect to the future of the British Empire. Repeatedly, of late, we have outlined an ideal which may not for many years be realized, but which, as it seems to us, in course of time we are bound to approach. Now that so large a degree of public attention is being focussed upon the matter, it may be convenient to amplify the outline.

The present constitution of the Empire is the result of a process of evolution, and thus far most admirably has it served its purpose. But the twentieth century will see changes. In what direction? We may leave out of account India, where autocratic rule is best suited to the circumstances and the genius of the people, and representative institutions cannot safely be introduced for ages to come. The crown colonies may also be left out of account. Those portions of the Empire must continue to be governed as now, for a period extending beyond the ken of man.

But the self-governing dominions are emerging into a new status. Formerly they were governed as the crown colonies are now—by the secretary of state for the colonies, who was one of a cabinet, which was a committee of the British parliament. But the time is coming when Canada, for instance, will equal the mother country in population and wealth. So may confederated Australia. So may confederated South Africa. Eventually, a new relation must arise between such dominions and the Imperial parliament. That relation will consist in a parity of parliaments.

Some day, we incline to think, the British parliament will confine its attention to the British Isles. Its especial sphere will be in the internal affairs of England, Scotland, Ireland (barring home rule), and Wales. It is already overweighted with business. There may be decentralization in the line of conferring further powers upon county councils, but the mother of parliaments will always have plenty to do. On a level with the British parliament will stand the parliament of every self-governing dominion, whether confederated or not, and therefore, including New Zealand and Newfoundland. A supreme tribunal will be formed which will be especially in charge of the foreign affairs of the Empire. In that tribunal the dominions will be represented on some equitable basis—perhaps in the ratio of population, perhaps in the ratio of their voluntary contributions towards Empire defense. At first the share of Canada or Australia will be very slight. But there will be room for growth, and eventually Canada will at least equal the mother country. Possibly Ottawa rather than London will become the center of gravity of the whole Empire. In that far-distant era, or before it, the control of India will be transferred from the British parliament to the Imperial council.

This may seem an unsubstantial dream. Through the telescope of faith it semis very real. Really it is but the logical result of a process already begun. There is now being held, from time to time, a conference of colonial premiers. At every such conference, and even on such an occasion as Mr. Borden's present visit, there are revealed in confidence the mysteries of British foreign policy. The Imperial government in every possible way consults colonial opinion. The admiralty, in its plans for the augmenting of sea power, bends to that opinion. The moment the overseas dominions are prepared to share materially in the burdens of Imperial defense, this deference to colonial opinion, and this endeavor toward co-operation, will increase. The ideal is really forming itself.

All that is needed is a continuation of the process of Imperial evolution. Co-ordination will come when we are prepared for it. In the meantime we can do much as we are. A gift of two Dreadnoughts to the Imperial fleet would be but the partial payment of a debt long overdue. Let us not be nervous or sincerly about representation. All we are entitled to of that will come for the asking. The new developments will be both facile and permanent, because natural and spontoneous all around.—Hamilton Spectator.

SALARIES FOR TEACHERS.

The duties of a daily journal are many. Of late several requests have been made that The Tribune take up the question of proper remuneration for school teachers throughout the country. It is an important question. Next to the fathers and mothers the school teachers have most to do with the training of our children, and to them we entrust almost entirely the education of our children. These great servants of the public are indeed poorly paid, and yet they are the most important servants. The value of a good school teacher, devoted to his or her work, is priceless. Our fathers and mothers are ready to bear testimony to that fact.

Throughout our Dominion we find the same great grievance, "underpaid teachers." The Ottawa Journal says "A band of Scotch teachers has arrived in Canada, thirty strong, to take a look at this country. The country will impress them; but we doubt if they will be impressed by the salaries our school teachers get. In the cities the conditions are not so bad; but outside of the cites and towns, we doubt if school teachers in Canada average as good wages as do day laborers. Perhaps the case as regards the amount of salary is not better in Great Britain; but it cannot be worse, while on the other hand, the cost of living it not as great.

The Montreal Star remarks. "There is no doubt that we ask altogether too much of our teachers; and that we do not pay them enough. They are doing the most important work that is being done in the Dominion today. They are moulding the citizens of the future, on whom will depend the form to be taken by our national development. Yet we pay them salaries which we would be ashamed to offer a carpenter; and which he would reject with contumely if we did make the offer."

The builders of character in rural Canada receive, in the aggregate, probably less than the hodcarriers in our cities.

Canadian provinces, to say nothing of the Dominion Government, have pledged about a hundred millions of their credit to a couple of railway men, and the same legislators give little more than a passing thought to teachers who are plugging away at almost starvation wages on a greater work than railway building.

Some of our readers may be surprised to learn that at the last session of the Dominion Parliament, the legislators, on the advice of the Borden Government, voted $6,000,000 cash as a bonus to a couple of men. Had parliament been asked for $100,000 to supplement the salaries of Canadian rural school teachers, the members would certainly have halted, and wondered whether the country could stand the expenditure.—Winnipeg Tribune.

THE SALMON RUN

Seiners Are Not Doing so Well—Yesterday's Report.

The ninth daily report of the B. C. Canners' association records a sharp falling off in the total number of salmon caught during the past two days. This is accounted for, especially in the river, by the fact that the seiners at the mouth have about cleaned up the present catch and nothing startling is expected until Sunday evening, when the boats and fishermen will have had a twenty-four hour rest.

Yesterday's report is as follows:

Bellingham, 7000 sockeyes; Anacortes, did not lift traps; Imperial 2500 sockeyes; Brunswick, 1000 sockeyes; Ewen's, 750 sockeyes; Scottish Canadian, 1400 sockeyes; Terra Nova 3000 sockeyes; St. Mungo, line out of order; Phoenix, 2500 sockeyes.

By that means the ties binding the Motherland and Canada would be so strengthened that the world would see that if any difficulty should arise they would have to deal with the Motherland, supported by the strong arm of her possessions in other parts of the world. (Cheers).

The Times' correspondent, telegraphing from Wellington, gives an extract from the Post which declares New Zealand's present contribution to be utterly inadequate, and says sentiment is growing that it is wrong in kind. Undivided control of the Imperial navy is essential. Local provision for local units is compatible with this. Except through responsibility and help derived each from its own administration, the scattered democracies of the empire are not likely to face the question fairly and make the necessary sacrifices. It urges the government not to imitate its predecessors by maintaining silence towards Mr. Winston Churchill's appeal.

The Daily Mail's parliamentary correspondent declares that it is an open secret that the Canadian Premier, Mr. R. L. Borden, and his colleagues are prepared to recommend the contribution of $30,000,000 to build three Dreadnoughts, but that nothing can be announced until the ministers return to Canada.

The Daily Mail believes that this knowledge influenced the British Government in preparing the recent naval estimates, and that Sir Edward Grey had it in mind when he said in the House of Commons yesterday that "there were forces at work which would influence the expenditure of armaments."

An interesting suggestion is made in an editorial in the Times today as follows:

"It would be unbecoming for Premier Borden to announce his policy on so large and momentous a matter anywhere but in Canadian Parliament. Few things that we can suppose could more surely deepen the effect of his statement when it comes and do more to knit yet more closely the ties which his visit here and his conferences with British ministers have done so much to strengthen than a return visit to the Dominion of two or three of the statesmen with whom he has taken counsel in Whitehall. The Prime Minister and the first lord of the admiralty have been to see with their own eyes the position in the Mediterranean, and we doubt not they have learned much by their visit. Could not Premier Asquith and Mr. Churchill devote part of the coming recess to a visit to Canada? We are confident that such a step would be taken by all the world as marking a new date in the annals of the empire."

SPORTS

NO SOLUTION TO LACROSSE TANGLE

Salmon Bellies Will Appear at Queens Park—Green Shirts May Stay in Vancouver.

It looks as if the fates have decided there should be no game this afternoon between the two teams in the B. C. Lacrosse league. The Vancouver team, or rather its management, are sticking to their decision that it was perfectly legitimate to change the schedule of the season around, and, it is said, will field their team on Recreation park this afternoon at 3 o'clock and pass through the ceremonies of shoving the ball into the net, thus claiming the game.

However, the Westminster team will have a little say in the matter and promptly at 3 o'clock the Salmon Bellies will trot out at Queens park this afternoon and duplicate the feat of the Green Shirts. Just how the matter will end remains a mystery to the most ardent fan.

Up to a late hour last evening no word had been received of the doings of the commission with regard to the protest sent in by the secretary of the Westminster club.

Among some of the fans a strong notion prevails that perhaps the Vancouver team may try and spring a surprise on the Salmon Bellies by appearing in full strength at the local park. This, however, has been fully figured out by Manager Gray, and the boys will be prepared for any such move as this.

Any fan who tours towards Queens park with this idea will be treated to a good afternoon's sport anyway, as the Moose and the Millside nines lock horns on the park diamond.

MOOSE SEEM TO BE INVINCIBLE

Turn Tables on Maple Leafs by Eight Runs to Nothing—Dull Game Results.

In a listless game, the Moose ran rampant over the Maple Leafs, defeating them 8-0. Horn was on the mound for the herd and only allowed one safe hit. Lewis essayed to do the twirling for the Leafs, but was found for several safe hits, and together with a galaxy of errors, runs came thick aand fast.

In the fifth Lewis was derricked in favor of Bill Sayce, who appeared to be more steady than his predecessor. Sinclair, on second, was a disappointment. He allowed several palpable errors to slip by him.

The Moose slipped four runs across the plate in the first, Curran and Chaput cracking out two safe hits, both reaching second. Jameson, of the Leafs, got a rude jolt while sliding to second, and was carried off the field. He recovered later, however, although his tongue was badly damaged when colliding with the baseman.

Sid Malcolmson acted the part of Mr. Umps and while some of his decisions were a little raw to part of the crowd, he kept things moving at a fair pace.

Y. M. C. A. MEET

Officials Chosen for Monday, Wednesday and Friday's Events.

The officials who will have charge of the Y. M. C. A. athletic meets which will be held next Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at Queens park are as follows:

Games committee, C. Goodwin, A. Oxenbury, G. Whitaker, J. Horn, J. Hoult and Dr. MacDonald; referee, G. I. Sovereign; honorary judge, W. J. Kerr; starter, Dr. H. W. Jakeman; judges, T. J. Trapp, J. D. Kennedy, P. W. Luce, Rev. J. S. Henderson, Dr. Wilson, W. Anderson, F. J. Williams, Dr. McEwen; timekeepers, H. Ryall, J. C. Cameron, J. E. Gray, T. Mahoney and W. Gifford; scorers, R. Hudson and G. Caydzien; announcer, A. S. Mills; clerk of course, A. Oxenbury.

The events are scheduled to start at 7 p.m. sharp.

A BATTLE ROYAL

Slated for Today—Moose and Millside Meet.

The baseball battle of the season will be pulled off at Queens park this afternoon when the Fraser Mills and the Moose come together.

Some few weeks ago, the French-Canadian boys bested the herd on the Millside diamond, and ever since then the champs of the city league have been smarting to get their own back. Horn will be on the mound for the Moose with Dwyer as his partner.

The Mill boys will doubtless trot out the Follman battery to the gaze of the crowd, and everything points to a battle royal.

The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock sharp.

BURNS-RICKARD BOUT

Saskatoon, Sask., July 26.—At a meeting of the police commissioners held here today it was decided that they had no power to interfere with the Burns-Rickard bout as long as it was advertised as a boxing exhibition, which is the case, and accordingly they will take no steps in the matter.

This was the result of the resolution adopted by the city council on Monday. The aldermen referred the matter to the police commissioners to stop it if possible.

Comment on Sport

The following article culled from the sport columns of the Ottawa Journal, should be of interest to local people following the rumpus caused by the Westminster and Vancouver teams in the lacrosse league. The article in question plays lacrosse against baseball, although local lacrosse fans appear to have an inkling that all the Vancouver papers are working both baseball and lacrosse in a way partial to Vancouver eyes:

WANTED—A SQUARE DEAL.

The great amount of space which some daily newspapers are now giving to baseball is causing comment by many people. Baseball is undoubtedly very popular, and deserves a lot of newspaper attention, but when every issue of a paper contains many columns of baseball writing, while lacrosse, the national game, is dismissed with a few paragraphs, criticism is natural. Another thing. Rows and troubles occur in baseball, but in some quarters are very gingerly treated, while on the contrary no opportunity it lost to advertise occasional rough play in lacrosse as "dirty" and "brutal," and to handle the episodes as if they were characteristic of the whole game.

This may be merely accidental, or due to lop-sided judgment. but an unfortunate coincidence is that a number of the newspaper men employed in the sport departments of Canadian newspapers are financially interested in baseball clubs—and that some of the newspapers which show the greatest favor to baseball happen to be those whose sporting editors are making money out of the baseball franchises.

This would be all well and good providing the national game received its fair share of attention, but it does not. It should get fair play. The management of the Capital Lacrosse Club is of the opinion that both baseball and lacrosse can get along in Ottawa without either sport having to go to the wall for the benefit of the other. And there are many others who think that the two sports might prosper together as they do in other cities of Canada.

The Journal has given both the Ottawa Baseball Club and the Capital Lacrosse Club a square deal although as a Canadian, the sympathies of the sport writers would incline to Canad's national game.

Now, if the matter is to come down to a question of choosing between lacrosse, played by Ottawa boys, all Canadians, against baseball, played by Americans without a single player on the team who has ever resided in Canada before this season, there should be no difficulty for the sport followers of this city in deciding.

Preparing for Duke—Smoking Concert Being Arranged.

The athletic committee of the 104th regiment is planning a big time on August 8 when a smoker will be held in the drill hall of the local armoury. A good program is being prepared and both officers and men are working hard to give a good send off to the drill season.

This will begin earlier than usual on account of the visit of His Royal Highness, the Governor General. The local militia boys are planning to make a celebration when the distinguished visitor arrives in the Royal City.

GIFTS FOR MOOSE JAW

Will Become Grain Inspecting Point and Have New Hall.

Moose Jaw, Sask., July 26.—That this city will be made a grain inspection point and receive a new immigration hall, was the news brought back to Moose Jaw by J. H. Wellington, formerly M. L. A. for the city in the provincial parliament, and Dr. Wheeler, who returned today from Winnipeg, where they interviewed Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of the interior. The immigration hall will take the shape of the usual institution on large lines, but will also, at the instigation of the board of trade, combine the uses of an information bureau.

The positive assurance was given that all that remained to establish this as a grain inspecting point was the arrangement of departmental details.

MAP OF ALBERTA.

Showing Homesteads Now Ready for Distribution.

A publication which should prove of value to every person interested in the progress of Western Canada is now being prepared in the Railway Lands Branch of the Department of the Interior. This interesting compilation which is being issued by separate provinces shows in a most graphic way the land situation up to the beginning of the present year and is known as the Homestead Map of the Three Prairie Provinces. The Alberta sheet of the publication is now available for free distribution.

Nothing conveys so forcibly to the eye the rapid manner in which Western Canada is being settled as does this map of many colors illustrating as it does by a comparatively simple system of coloring the land situation up to the beginning of the present year.

Irrespective of the information with respect to lands which have been homesteaded and otherwise disposed of, the publication contains complete information with respect to Indian reserves, timber berths, grazing leases, postoffices, railways, topography, etc.

Like so many of the publications of the Department of the Interior this latest addition to the list is being distributed free of charge. Copies may be obtained upon application to the Superintendent of Railway Lands, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

Points for Mothers

Teach Household Duties.

It behooves mothers to teach their daughters the commonest requisites of a good housekeeper. The culinary art is perhaps the most essential. After that comes sewing, then sweeping and dusting and, last, bedmaking.

To most children it is joy without end to mess around in the kitchen, making candies and sweets of all kinds. It is therefore a simple task to turn their inclinations toward greater accomplishments along the same lines. The little girl who loved mud pies at three or four would delight in making the real thing at nine or ten if some one would only teach her. Cooking has a fascination for most of the feminine sex from the age of three, when their baking is done by the sun and their materials supplied by the mud of the streets, to the time when they lay down their last utensil. Why not turn this undeniable fascination to practical account?

To children it will come as a most charming game, but in the meantime the game is teaching them things that may prove well for them to know. In playing this game, however, a mother must take care not to tire the child of its delight, for if it once palls on her the little girl will not care to play again.

The first time she may make the dough for the bread or cake or pie by herself, then let the cook or the mother finish the task. The next time she will want to see it to a finish herself.

Most children take naturally to the other forms of housework too. A small broom and a diminutive brush and dustpan will give many little girls great amusement. The way to clean a room thoroughly can be taught gradually while the child is playing with these most practical toys.

Bedmaking, too, comes easy to the small mother of a large family. The real mother should show the child how the little bed should be aired when the doll first arises. Then after an hour's airing (cut down to five minutes for child's play) she should show the little girl the exact way in which the sheets should be smoothed, the covers adjusted and the counterpane spread over all.

These instructions begun in play will come as an invaluable aid in after life.

A Substitute For "Mother Goose."

How dear to the heart are the rimes of our childhood! And yet how many mothers ever thought that the rimes of great poets might be substituted for those of "Mother Goose" to just as good effect, as far as amusement goes, and to far better advantage with regard to the training of the mind?

After all, it is only the rhythm that attracts the infant attention at first. The sense of the words come after much repetition. It is the rhythm of the "Mother Goose" jingles that endears them to the juvenile heart.

Substitute, then, for "Jack and Jill" and "Old Mother Hubbard" something with the same fascinating rhythm and with a little story besides. The little listener will enjoy it with attention quite as rapt as that he bestows on the above mentioned nursery tales.

Take, for instance, such poems as Longfellow's "The Wreck of the Hesperus" and "The Village Blacksmith." There never was a child who has not loved these beautiful poems. Substitute such poems as these for "Little Jack Horner" and "Jack Spratt," and the latter will never be missed.

It is really very easy to instill in a child's mind the love of beautiful lyrics, and every mother should make the attempt at least. Surely none of the "Mother Goose" rimes have the swing and the simplicity of "The Village Blacksmith," and if a child will take naturally to classics such as these they are far preferable to the nursery rimes of our childhood.

Popular Amusement.

A delightful way to amuse children and incidentally their parents, is by illustrating a fairy story, the title of which is guessed by those watching the performance.

Select a simple, well known story and divide it into short parts or acts. Then let the children act the various parts in dumb show, using gestures without speech, which are not hard to teach very small children.

The idea is a good one for bazaars or school entertainments where a public performance can be the climax of several rehearsals.

If possible dress the little actors in costume and let the performance be given to the accompaniment of suggestive music that will help them to make the right gestures at the proper time. Without having to think of lines to recite children learn positions and gestures very quickly.

Select those children who are quick to learn and have active imaginations.

Read the story you wish to present over and over to them in its entirety, then cast the parts according to the ability of the children and direct them how and when to stand, sit or walk and what gestures to make to illustrate the various acts.

The story can be read by an older person while it is being illustrated by certain scenes, or you can select a poem suitable for children to illustrate while it is being recited by a clever elocutionist.

NURSERY WALLS.

Paint That Can Be Washed Regularly Is Better Than Paper.

A case of ill health for which there was no apparent cause was recently traced by the physician to the presence of arsenic in the wall paper, and he said that it was not the first case of the kind he had had, trouble being most likely to arise in the nursery or bedroom, where so many hours are spent.

Many landlords, owners of houses, insist on cheap wall papers above the dining room floor, and it is not universally known that many of the cheap wall papers count arsenic in a somewhat large percentage among their constituent properties. The constant inhalation of this drug cannot fail to affect unfavorably the inhabitants of rooms so papered. A languid, lifeless, wretched feeling, ascribed to malaria or grip and treated with remedies for each ailment, may be due to the presence of this noxious drug in the wall paper.

Papers for bedrooms and nurseries should be chosen with especial care. It is really better to have the walls painted some pretty tint and ornamented with a dado for the nursery of animals cut out and pasted on. The advantage of a painted wall is that it can be washed down once a week and rendered thoroughly, antiseptically clean. Germs cannot lurk on such a wall so treated. The ceiling of a nursery should be calcimined, not papered, if your children are to escape many petty ailments.

Plaiting In Spring Models.

One or two of the couturiers have introduced pleatings in their spring models. This rather pronounced frock is a hint that the straight skirt line is passing. The tunic of accordion plaited chiffon looped over a trailing skirt with knots of ribbon is decidedly an innovation. The set in sleeve and natural waist line are also evidences of a new fashion standard.

Something Dainty In Cretonnes.

During the spring cleaning, which is upon us, the question of new cretonnes and their kindred fabrics for loose covers and summer curtains is one that is very much to the fore. The marked feeling of the moment for soft grays and mauves as dominant notes in the new color schemes finds admirable expression in a great variety of ways. There is, for example, a double width cretonne of fascinating coloring, in which beautifully drawn roses in shades of mauve are massed upon a background of gray foliage with just the suggestion of a trellis running through it in a birch bark tint.

The same idea as to design, but with the omission of the trellis, is expressed in another, wherein the gray foliage gives the characteristic color effect, contrasting with clusters of large, old fashioned pink roses. This will, perhaps, be more satisfying to those who cannot quite reconcile themselves to such a defiance of nature as a rose in mauve.

Timely Tip.

Where there are several long haired little girls in a family the shampooing amounts to a tiresome and trying task. One mother, whose little daughter has unusually luxuriant hair, has robbed the process of most of its terrors.

"Instead of having my little girl lean over a bowl, with all her hair turned the wrong way over her face," she says, "I now let her lie out straight in as comfortable a position as she wishes. A couch will answer the purpose or any flat surface.

"I braid the hair very loosely in two braids, roll a bath towel under her neck and place a table so that it comes on the same level with her head, with her hair hanging over into a bowl of water placed on the table. I wash first one side and then the other, rinse well and wash the braids thoroughly. The drying and combing are easily accomplished, because the hair has been in its natural order all the time."

ITALY'S LUCKY TRAMPS.

The State Shelters Them and Food and Drink Come Easy.

Assuredly the tramp in Italy is a man to be envied! Save for a coat to his back and shoes to his feet there are few things which he need worry about as he passes from village to village in that country of blue skies and sunshine. Food he can find in the vineyards and on the fig trees, drink is obtainable almost for nothing, so plentiful is wine, and shelter is provided for him gratis by a benevolent government.

"I was often struck during my recent journey in northern Italy by the delightful public dormitories which are erected by the roadsides throughout the country, especially in the valleys leading from the Mediterranean coast to the hill towns of Liguria.

I visited a dormitorio publico on the highway near Camporosso, in the Nervia valley, and surely no wayfarer could desire a more charming resting place. The authorities have placed it under the shade of the olive trees, so that, however hot the sun may be, the footsore traveler can obtain his much needed siesta in a perfectly cool place. It looked so attractive, standing there in the shade, that I myself was almost tempted to escape from the sunshine and seek refuge beneath its hospitable roof."—Wide World Magazine.

SCOTCH TERRIERS.

Their Origin and the Conditions That Made Them a Necessity.

In ancient times each district in the highlands had its "todhunter," whose duty it was to see carefully to it that the then flourishing firm of fox, otter and company did not do a too prosperous business in lamb and poultry. Sometimes these todhunters were of "the laird's men," sometimes they were supported by the whole community of small farmers and grazers, but always they were local dignitaries. There was honor and considerable profit in their office, and in time it came to be more or less hereditary. Their duty was simple. They waged a war of extermination against the vermin, which, however, was a very different matter from the good old English sport of fox hunting.

In the rough country horse and hound would have been worse than useless, and Reynard made his den in such rocky ground that he could not be dug out. The sole solution was a dog small enough to follow the fox or otter or badger or wild cat into his lair, strong enough to bring him out dead or alive and game enough to do both. A dog developed from this necessity, and that dog was the ancestor of the present day Scottish terrier.—William Haynes in Outing.

Water at Meals.

There is a very popular fallacy abroad—namely, that a person should never drink water with his meals. There is one and only one danger in this. That is the temptation to wash down half masticated food with water. There is one distinct advantage in the digestion of food when water is taken with the meals. As food is swallowed it goes to the stomach in a lump about the consistency of a bread dressing. One can see that it requires a great length of time for the digestive juices to penetrate the mass and come in contact with the food particles. If the food is diluted with water the digestive juices can easily have access to it. In this and in other ways water keeps the digestive tract clean. If people drank enough water there would be no operations for appendicitis.—Kansas Industrialist.

Why Animals Fear Man.

The universal antipathy of animated nature for man can scarcely be explained as the teaching of experience. Man has played his role of universal meddler for too short a time to have impressed himself on the memory of each individual line. There must be something in his attitude of mind that communicates itself to them and induces its proper automatic reflex. The mouse that runs over the lion's foot and gnaws at his bone goes to earth like a flash when man comes near. The bee hangs in the air and then goes on because man stands by her favorite foxglove. Even the witless snake stirs in its sun smitten sleep and is moved by a feeling in the air to seek its den.—London Nation.

Following the Rule.

"Barbara," the teacher scolded "your writing exercise is very nice except the last line, which is dreadful. Why do the letters stagger and fall over one another in that disgraceful way?"

Barbara raised reproachful blue eyes wet with tears. "You 'ticularly said write every line better than the last," she reminded her mentor.—New York Press.

The Real Reason.

Freddie—Mamma, me face is dirty. Please wash it. Mamma — Freddie, where in the world do you learn to say "me face," like a little street arab? Why don't you say "my face is dirty?" Freddie—Because your face isn't dirty.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

His Efforts.

"What did you do to catch that cold?"

"Oh, ran after it for a couple of Marathon sprints and then finally overtook it by borrowing a friend's racing car."—Baltimore American.

RAPID PROGRESS OF NEW WESTMINSTER

HARBOR DEVELOPMENT AND RAIL FACILITIES

Deputation from Royal City Here on Official Business.

A deputation from New Westminster waited on the government today with reference to the new city map prepared last year and exhibited at the annual meeting of the B. C. Union of Municipalities in this city last fall, which affects the street line of a property owner. As no arrangement could be made, the municipal authority thought it best to have the opinion of the government taken thereon. Accordingly the reference to the executive has been adopted.

Acting Mayor Gray, City Solicitor McQuarrie and City Engineer Blackman were present representing the city, and the case was heard at length. Members of the deputation speak of the remarkable growth of the Royal City at the present time, over a million and a half dollars' worth of work being in hand in permanent paving and construction of another reservoir in Queens park. Most of the paving is being done, as in Victoria, under the local improvement plan, and the other activities have been greatly supplemented by the announcement of the harbor development scheme upon which Mayor Lee is in London, England, in connection with the financial features thereof. The Canadian Northern purchase of the site of the Royal City mills, made public this week, has also led to added optimism, and to accommodate the railways seeking access into the city Front street is to be widened by pushing the street out into the Fraser river, through filling up a frontage now occupied by the wharves Fortunately for New Westminster the waterfront has been leaseheld from the municipality, except a small portion where the C. P. R. depot stands, and as these leases are falling in, this great improvement has been rendered possible. It will give a street at water level of 192 feet wide, along which already run the C. P. R., G. N. R. and B. C. E. R. tracks, and now the C. N. R. is to be added to those in existence, thereby giving the city rail facilities unequalled in the west for a city of the size.

The Canadian Northern expects to reach the new docks at Annacis Island by means of a bridge across the North Arm of the Fraser river, from their terminals, and work on the big harbor undertaking is already commencing.

ANNACIS ISLAND---THE KEY TO THE SITUATION

It takes scarcely more than a casual glance at the map to convince one that Annacis Island is the key to the whole situation and the central point around which the future commercial and industrial activity will revolve. Between it and Westminster on the mainland is a harbor, ready constructed by nature, capable of holding a fleet of ocean titans. Annacis Island itself offers ideal sites for industrial and commercial purposes, and to complete the chain of favorable circumstances the Cangricol Corporation; a group of English gentlemen of wealth and influence have announced their readiness to furnish unlimited capital for industrial enterprises locating here.

ON THE BIG JETTY

Good Progress Being Made—Nearly a Mile Built.

Rapid progress is being made on the big Steveston jetty, and at the present time there is about one mile of the pile driving work completed. This task is being handled by the Fraser River Pile Driving company. Practically all the single bulkhead is now completed together with 1500 feet of the double bulkhead.

The men, under Mr. T. F. Sinclair, who has the contract, are following up the pile driving outfits with the mattress work, the depth of the water in the river now being such that the scows can unload with little difficulty.

BUILDING PERMITS

Nearly Eighteen Thousand Dollars Worth of Work Registered.

The week has been exceptionally quiet as far as building is concerned, only $17,950 being pledged for buildings, already in many cases under construction. The unsettled weather is said to have had a great deal to do with the seeming languor, the alternate hot and rainy days being anything but alluring to the builders.

Yesterday the permits issued were J. H. Milk, two houses on Dublin street, $4400; G. B. Stephens, three roomed house on London street, $400; A. Nishyiawa, boarding house on Ewen avenue, $500.
