DROWNED BATHING IN CAMPBELL RIVER

Donald Cole, of Blaine, Got Out of His Depth—Could Not Swim—Inquest Held.

White Rock, July 17.—A sad drowning fatality occurred this afternoon when Donald Cole, a resident of Blaine, Wash., got past his depth whilst bathing near the mouth of the Campbell river.

It appears to be a common practice among young men and boys to frequent this spot, as the river water is said to be warmer than that of salt water. Cole is reported to have stepped into a deep hole and being unable to swim, could not be rescued in time.

Dr. McEwen, of New Westminster, arrived on the scene this evening, and held an inquest. The jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning. The body has now been removed to the American side.

AMERICAN LAUNCH CAUGHT POACHING

Fusillade of Rifle Fire—Collision Ends in Procession to Esquimalt Harbor.

Victoria, July 17.—The fishery protection cruiser Newington seized the gasoline launch Bonita, of Seattle, two and a half miles off Nitinat, yesterday when trolling for salmon, and towed the Bonita to Esquimalt today. When the launch attempted to make a way for the boundary the cruiser circled around her with the crew keeping up a fusillade of rifle fire, the Bonita's crew, William Anderson, owner, and Oscar Anderson, engineer, both of Port Blakely, meanwhile cowering in the bottom of the boat.

The Newington made four circuits of the launch, keeping up the rifle fire over and near the launch, and then collided with the Bonita turning her over, the crew of two men being thrown in the water. They were rescued by the Newington. The Bonita was then righted and taken in tow.

MUTINY VETERAN DIES.

Last Post Sounds for Benjamin M. Marshall, of This City.

The rapidly diminishing body of veterans of the Indian mutiny suffered another loss in their ranks on Tuesday afternoon when the death occurred of Benjamin M. Marshall at his home on the corner of Tenth street and Fourth avenue. The deceased who was approaching the three score and ten mark, served through the Indian mutiny when a comparatively young man holding a major's commission in the Horse Artillery. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and has lived in this country for 15 years. His death from heart failure was very sudden and unexpected.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss, his widow and five sons. They are C. J. and J. Marshall, Vancouver; Dr. B. M. Marshall, San Francisco; D. B. Marshall, from the upper country, and R. H. Marshall, of Nova Scotia. The last named was on his way to the coast to visit his parents after many years separation and received the sad news by telegraph at Revelstoke. All of the sons will attend the funeral and arrangements have been postponed pending their arrival.

AT THE POTLATCH

Seattle, July 17.—The good ship Portland, that brought the first cargo of Klondike gold to Seattle in 1897, lies a wreck on the reef of Katalla, and many of her adventurous passengers have passed to the other golden shore, but as large a number as could be assembled took part today in the Alaska parade of the Golden Potlatch.

The Tyee of the carnival landed in state from a steamship with his retinue of argonauts, and took part in the procession. The weather was warm enough to make the street crowds pity the fur-clad men, and the Eskimo dogs pulling sledges in the parade panted for cooling glacial streams. The moving show, besides illustrating the events of 1897, had in it beautiful allegorical floats representing the natural products of Alaska and scenes in her history.

The Tillikums of Elitteas, a secret society, conducted the pageant, and had as their guests a drill team of the Royal Rosarians of Portland, a party of Sons of Sol from Spokane, with a pretty girl as their queen, and a large body of marching men, with a tiger float from Tacoma. The streets were again jammed with many people tonight.

Teddy Abandons Trip.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 17.—Colonel Roosevelt has abandoned his projected trip to the middle west. He made this announcement tonight after a conference with several advisers. His presence in New York or nearby cities was deemed advisable at this time, it was said.

MINISTER WILL VISIT HARBOR

Mr. J. D. Taylor M. P. Brings Hon. Frank Cochrane to City.

Will Lunch Here and Visit B. C. Electric Railway Dam at Coquitlam Lake.

Through the instrumentality of Mr. J. D. Taylor, M. P., the Dominion minister of railways, Hon. Frank Cochrane, will pay a visit to New Westminster this noon and inspect the site of the proposed harbor to be built on the Fraser.

The party will board a government boat at Eburne at 10 o'clock this morning and will pass Annacis island, arriving in the city, where lunch will be had at the Hotel Russell. From thence the party will proceed to Lake Coquitlam, where the minister will inspect the dam which is being built there by the B. C. E. R. His work back in the east has brought the minister in contact with electrical engineering projects and a description of the work to be done at Lake Coquitlam which reached him, when back in Ontario, made him feel anxious to inspect it. Owing to the absence of Acting Mayor Gray in Seattle, it is probable that Alderman Curtis will represent the city with the party, together with Captain Powell, the harbor engineer.

Second Narrows Bridge.

Yesterday the minister visited the Second Narrows where the site of the proposed bridge connecting Vancouver and the peninsula with North Vancouver is to be built. The party also inspected a point at Port Moody where a car ferry service is being projected and also the wharfage of the municipality of West Vancouver.

When seen last evening, Mr. Taylor stated that so far as he knew, the minister of railways had not promised any additional subsidy towards the cost of the bridge over the Second Narrows. "It is only a short time ago," stated Mr. Taylor, "that the government increased the subsidy from $250,000 to $350,000 and I very much doubted if the Dominion government will assist any further in the matter." The bridge is expected to cost in the neighborhood of two million and a half dollars and all the municipalities who will benefit in any way when the structure is completed, have taken stock in the company which has the plans in hand.

MUTUELS PAYING WELL AT MINORU

Bad Day for Favorites—Last Race and Grand's Riding Were Features.

Minoru Park, July 17.—Seven selling races made up the card at Minoru park this afternoon, with the feature event, the last race of the day at a mile and an eighth. It was a rather stormy session for the favorites, but two getting down in front, while the mutuels on the other five paid excellent prices.

Hatteras proved easily the best in the feature, being reserved during the early running, but when Jockey Schwehig let him down in the stretch he won with plenty to spare.

Coronita, well fancied, came home in front of a large field of maidens in the fifth race, beating Azurea, her nearest competitor, by four lengths.

Edmond Adams was favored with an excellent start in the first race and was never headed. Wild Bear lay close to the winner all the journey, but could not get through. Rubicon Second, the public choice, got away badly and spoiled all chances.

The riding of Jockey Grand was one of the features of the day. He piloted Phillistina home in the third race, Coronita in the fifth and Cuvina in the sixth, one favorite and two out-siders.

Phillistina was out-run in the early going, but closed very fast on the turn into the stretch. Bucolic and Judge Henderson engaged in a pretty duel for the place, the former just managing to win by a nose.

Cuvina was overlooked by the "talent" in the sixth race, the mutuel price being better than 20 to 1, while the price place was even greater. Oristolat and High Range made all the pace, but when the two leaders tired at the head of the stretch, Cuvina came through to win by a scant head from the speedy Roy T.

Roberta simply spread-eagled her field in the second race, drawing out close after the start and winning by six lengths. Calla ran an improved race, while Doride's chances were somewhat spoiled by a poor start.

PANAMA CANAL BILL IN SENATE

United States Has Right to Form Own Policy Regarding American Ships.

So Says Senator Lodge—Would Protest Any Government's Action in Interfering.

Washington, July 17.—When the senate took up the Panama canal bill today, Senator Lodge at the opening of the debate declared the United States has retained full rights under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to form its own policy toward American vessels.

The provision for free tolls for American ships against which England made formal protest was defended by Senator Lodge. He said he had been a member of the foreign relations committee to report on the Hay-Pauncefote treaty in 1900.

"I was of the opinion at the time that I brought in the report that it left us in complete control in determining the position of our own vessels," said Senator Lodge. "I did not suppose any limitation was proposed. Nor did I believe the United States was included among the nations to be treated with equality under the treaty terms."

Hague Will Decide.

Senator Lodge admitted the question of the free passage of American ships probably would be sent finally to The Hague. He suggested that such a course could be averted by the United States government by paying the tolls of American owned ships. He contended that no foreign government could object to that.

"We would never permit any foreign power to interfere with our British office of foreign affairs to embarass this government in the attempt we are now making to secure legislation to keep railroad controlled ships out of the Panama canal.

Uncle Sam's Burden.

"The only government that has assumed any special burden under the treaty is the United States. England and other countries have assumed no burden beyond the payment of the tolls and the agreement as to its neutrality.

"There is nothing to prevent England from remitting to its merchant ships every dollar of tolls paid the Panama canal. There is nothing to prevent similar action by other countries. The only power that is trammelled, restricted and curtailed in the performance of its duties to its own citizenship is the one that has spent $400,000,000 in the construction of this great enterprise."

He said Spain already had legislated "to reimburse Spanish ships for the tolls spent in going through our canal.

Interference Question.

Senator Lodge raised the question whether the United States would have a right to interfere if another country should undertake to pay the tolls of its ships when passing through the canal. No foreign country, he said, could interfere with any arrangement the United States might make for the payment of tolls.

"If any government should undertake to do so, I for one, would protest," he said.

HOTTEST DAY ON RECORD THIS YEAR

Ninety-one in the Shade—Citizens Left in Town Suffered Considerably.

The thermometer ascended yesterday to a height of 91 degrees in the shade, about three-quarters of a degree higher than any temperature registered here yet this summer, and nearly four degrees higher than Vancouver's highest mark during the present season.

The oldest residents in the city cannot remember any hotter weather for the last five years than that of the past few days, and their statements may be easily believed when it is taken into consideration that a strong breeze prevailed nearly all day yesterday and the thermometer took the balloon ascension notwithstanding.

The heat on Columbia street was absolutely unbearable, and although there was very little traffic on account of the stores closing, and people taking advantage of the holiday to go to the citizens' picnic, out to Boundary Bay, or White Rock, there was a good deal of suffering from the heat experienced by those who were forced to pursue their daily routine.

Democratic Selection.

Seagirt, N. J., July 17.—The Democratic campaign committee which will direct the coming presidential campaign will be selected here tomorrow, in part, if not in whole, by Governor Wilson and National Chairman McCombs in consultation with nine leaders of the party whom the governor has invited to confer with him.

BOY SCOUTS OFF FOR SUMMER CAMP

Thirty-five Khaki-clad Lads Go Under Canvas at Blackie Spit—Station Scenes.

Mothers and fathers and sisters gathered at the Great Northern railway depot yesterday to bid farewell to the thirty-fifth first field company, Baden-Powell Boy Scouts, who were departing on their annual camp.

Five minutes or so before the 12:45 train pulled into the station the scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster R. P. Day marched onto the platform, eight abreast between the lines of admiring relatives. In the rear the baggage cart appeared carrying the impedimenta and provisions. In the blazing sun the little party formed in ranks on the station platform while fathers and mothers passed along the khaki line administering the final kiss or bestowing some specially concocted culinary tit-bit for their sons on the way down.

The camp this year is to be held at Blackie Spit, near Crescent Beach station, about a half an hour's ride from the city, and the main body of boys who went down today go under canvas which has been pitched by the advance party who have been in camp two days.

A feature of this year's training will be long "hikes," and swims, life saving drill and the higher education of scouts. Lieutenant G. H. Manchester, the medical officer, will make trips to the camp every day or two to look after the health of the youngsters in order that their parents may have no uneasiness.

SOCKEYE PACK MAY BE LOW RECORD

High Price for Fish Owing to Scarcity —Run Is Late This Year—Conference.

Owing to the scarcity of salmon the various canneries along the banks of the Fraser are now being compelled to pay an average of 40 cents a fish to the fishermen for the sockeyes brought in.

It is very probable, however, that this price will be reduced considerably when the actual run begins. The meeting of the B. C. Canners' association, which will be held on Saturday of this week will doubtless have something to say as to the price to be paid for the fish in the future.

The catches have been increasing for the past three or four days and yesterday the fishermen experienced the best luck yet. An average of 20 fish per boat is reported at the mouth of the river, while even higher numbers are being caught higher up the stream. According to local and Vancouver dealers, the reason of the present high price is on account of a greater demand for the fish in this city and Vancouver. So far only two of the canneries have put up 1000 cases.

The experienced fishermen state that they do not expect the run really to start until about August 1, or it may be even later than that.

According to the canners, the high price being paid for the fish at this time is going to make the price of salmon high for this year's pack. However, this is what is called the third year, preceding the big run which takes place every fourth year and at such a time a heavy catch is not expected.

The canneries nowadays rely on the humpback to keep their plants going through the dull times, but, as is well known, these fish infest the Fraser every second year and this season they will be conspicuous by their absence. Consequently if the sockeye run does not materialize during the first two weeks in August there will be the lightest pack that has ever been known on the Fraser.

PREMIER ASQUITH

London, July 17.—Premier Asquith is now on the way to Dublin playing a game of hide-and-seek with the suffragettes. The premier left his official residence in Downing street this afternoon, and, later in the day, unexpectedly appeared in Wolverhampton accompanied by his daughter.

There they entered a motor car which has been lost sight of. That is all the suffragettes have been permitted to know, and they are not likely to learn anything further of his movements until he arrives in Dublin, where he is due at 9 o'clock tomorrow evening.

SIX YEAR OLD GIRL SWIMS DOVER BAY

London, July 17.—A six year old girl, Freda Puckett, of Market Harborough, in Leicester, swam across Dover bay, half a mile wide, yesterday in 19 minutes. The child is three feet tall and slight. She uses a breast stroke and seems to be amphibious.

CITIZENS PICNIC GREAT SUCCESS

Over 750 People Made Trip on Princess Royal to Victoria.

Interesting Scenes on Voyage and in Island City—All Went Well.

The sixth annual picnic of the citizens of New Westminster held yesterday was one of the most successful that has ever taken place in the history of the city. Over 750 people made the trip on the C. P. R. steamship Princess Royal to Victoria and back and every person appeared to have a most enjoyable time.

With bands playing, bunting flying and crowds both on the wharf and steamer cheering and waving, the start was made from the C. P. R.'s new dock at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Leaving the wharf the steamer headed for the main channel of the Fraser and passed down past Annacis island, which was viewed with keen interest by all aboard.

Had to Go Easy.

Going down river the steamer had to proceed at slow speed on account of a number of salmon fishing boats obstructing the way. However, about an hour and a half after the boat left the harbor she was steaming across the cool blue waters of the gulf towards the famous Plumpers pass. Curving through the beautiful narrow channel of the pass the ship entered into fairly open water again, and about four hours after leaving the harbor city Victoria could be seen in the distance.

At 12:50 the boat entered the inner harbor of the Capital City and shortly after the great crowd of excursionists disembarked. There was no formal welcome awaiting the citizens on their arrival, but several of the leading stores of the town had signs conspicuously displayed in their shop windows bidding welcome to the citizens of the Fraser metropolis.

In Island City.

No program had been arranged at Victoria and the crowd broke up into small parties which dispersed for the Gorge and other beauty spots. Among the sights of the day was the arrival of the U. S. cruiser Marblehead with the California naval militia. She fired a salute which was returned by the forts. Lieutenant Governor Paterson paid a visit to the vessel in the afternoon. Victoria's streets were thronged with her men. Another sight was the purple and gold pennant designed by the Progressive association flying over an auto proclaiming to Victoria that New Westminster is the Pacific port.

It was previously announced on board the ship that owing to the necessity of making the entrance to the Fraser river in daylight the boat would leave on the return journey at 4 o'clock. Promptly on time she pulled out and several of the local people coming to the wharf several minutes behind time, missed their passage.

On the return journey the excursionists took up their time similarly to the outward journey. The orchestra was playing constantly and singing and laughter emanated from all parts of the ship. A lightning cartoonist did a roaring trade.

As on the outward trip the steamer was greatly harassed on her journey up the Fraser on account of the number of salmon fishing boats which seemingly persisted in getting into her way and several of the fishermen's nets that were stretched across the main channel were broken as a result.

Past Harbor Works.

The sun had just gone down as the boat, having passed the new gas buoy which replaced the lightship on Tuesday, drew abreast of the jetty near Steveston. It was then high tide and the long line of breakwater bore ample testimony to the fact that Westminster's harbor development is no pipe dream.

Close on 10 o'clock the steamer arrived back in port and the tired but happy citizens landed and wended their way homeward.

The excursion was in every way successful and the entire affair was carried through without the slightest hitch. The weather was superbly cool on the sea, but slightly too warm to be pleasant in Victoria. The crew of the steamer were courtesy personified, and a great deal of credit is due to the committee in charge of the arrangements and to the C. P. R. for the excellent manner with which the picnic was carried through.

PRAIRIE FARMERS UNITED STRENGTH

Value of Co-Operative Methods Abundantly Evidenced by Grain Growers' Company.

Winnipeg, July 17.—Some idea of the strength of the Grain Growers' Company, the organization of Western Canadian farmers whose shareholders are holding their annual meeting here today under presidency of T. A. Crerar, can be gathered from the statement of the year's trading which shows a net profit of $121,614 for the past year against $69,000 the previous year and but $790 five years ago. Paid up capital is $586,000 and after paying a 10 per cent dividend the directors recommended that $60,000 be added to the reserve fund which now totals $200,000.

The president pointed out that this progress had been despite the difficulty in handling last year's crop owing to the low grades, tough wheat and traffic congestion.

The president said that the company had practically closed with the C. P. R., a deal whereby they would lease the big terminal elevator "B" at Fort William, and with the Manitoba Government for leasing its extensive system of, international elevators both of which projects the meeting would be asked to ratify. The company had also acquired timber limits in British Columbia estimated to contain three hundred million feet, in anticipation of the time when they would go into that business on behalf of their shareholders.

Speaking of future development, Mr. Crerar favored the local unit method as practiced by the Farmers' Elevators of Minnestota and the Dakotas, whereby other classes of merchandise were successfully handled by the country elevators. It was necessary to secure best results to maintain the staffs all the year round, and lumber, binder twine and implements could be profitably handled during the summer months. He advocated the securing of a good coal area as coal and lumber were rapidly going under control of combines. He favored selling to everyone but giving a discount to the shareholders. Units would be built up by issue of stock to local subscribers and there was no reason why in time the successful merchandising of the British Co-operative Societies should not be duplicated.

The company might further secure connection with a mortgage corporation and secure cheap money for farmers. The money power in Canada, he said, was becoming a menace and possibilities might be overcome by co-operative credit societies.

TREMNDOUS GALES.

Do Much Damage on the Australian Coast.

Sydney, N. S. W., July 16.—Gales off the Australian coast are the worst in 20 years. Seas 50 feet high have been pounding the beaches, sweeping buildings and beach pavilions into the ocean, while a number of pleasure resorts have been swept away.

Ocean steamers are unable to enter Port Jackson and several harbor ferry services have suspended, awaiting abatement of the gales. Already heavy damage has been inflicted.

AUSTRALIA WANTS WARD.

New Zealand Ex-Premier May Alter Naval Policy.

Sydney, N. S. W., July 17.—The Liberal party of the Commonwealth parliament has approached Sir Joseph Ward, ex-premier of New Zealand, with a view to his residence in Australia and leading the Liberal party there. Hon. A. Deakin, should Sir Joseph accept, says it is probable the Commonwealth naval policy will be altered, and that the Australian warships would be placed under the direct control of the British Admiralty, as in the case of New Zealand.

AT PORT NELSON.

Hundreds Working on Hudson Bay Terminus.

Winnipeg, July 17.—Mr. R. H. McNeil, secretary to Chief Engineer Armstrong of the Hudson Bay Railway, has just returned from a four months' trip to the bay, where he was watching the break-up which commenced on May 31.

He found big work going on at Port Nelson, where engineers and surveyors are busy surveying the right-of-way for the line which is to be constructed shortly. Besides this, there are hundreds of men engaged on the harbor works.

When seen at the McLaren Hotel, immediately after his arrival, Mr. McNeill was unwilling to give any details regarding his trip. He was accompanied on his return journey by Mr. F. P. Moffatt, who has just been appointed engineer for the Hudson Bay Railway at Lapas.

PULPWOOD EXPORT 1911.

What Canada Could Do With Wood She Exports.

Fifty-six per cent of the pulpwood cut in Canada during the year 1911, was exported to the United States. This is the fact shown by statistics collected by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior.

The total quantity of pulpwood cut in Canada during 1911 was 1,520,227 cords, while the remaining forty-four per cent (672,288 cords) was manufactured in Canada.

The value of this pulpwood was $5,340,592 (an average of $6.29 per cord. Had the wood been retained in Canada and manufactured here, it is estimated that the value would have been increased to about $15,000,000.

Had Canada manufactured into wood-pulp all the pulpwood she produced, she could have had enough to supply a hundred and twenty-two mills of the average size of those operating in Canada, instead of the fifty-four she now has. Quebec could have supplied sixty per cent more mills than she is now doing, and New Brunswick could have doubled the number of her mills.

To Prevent Grain Blockade.

Ottawa, July 17.—The government is determined to do everything that is possible to prevent a possible recurrence of last winter's grain blockade. With this purpose in view, the Department of Railways and Canals is planning to make over and considerably enlarge the government-owned and operater elevator at Port Colborne, Ontario. This elevator has now a capacity of 1,800,000 bushels and it is proposed to enlarge it to accommodate 2,000,000. It is likely that Mr. J. A. Jamiesson, contractor, who effected alterations in the elevator on a previous occasion, and who has again tendered for the work, will be given the contract. The government hopes that the desired alteration can be made in ample time for this fall's surplus.

Will Start Building.

San Francisco, July 17.—With 71 acres of tidelands on the harbor view site of the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds now filled in, it is expected today that within 60 days the ground will be ready for building operations. Dredgers have been pumping mud from the bay four months, and the newly made land is now firmly packed.

A huge flagpole, presented to the exposition by the citizens of Astoria, Or., is here to be erected on the fair site. It was originally erected at the Astoria's Centennial celebration, and was sent here as Astoria's contribution to the world's fair. The pole is 246 feet in length.

More I. W. W. Trouble.

New Bedford, Mass., July 17.—A disorderly demonstration by a crowd of 1000 strikers and strike sympathizers occurred today before the gates of the Butler mill in connection with the strike and lockout affecting 12 cotton cloth mills of this city, and resulting in 13,000 persons being out of work.

For more than an hour strikers and their sympathizers refused to allow operatives to enter the gates. During the disturbances three arrests were made, one of the offenders being a woman, who resisted being taken taken into custody. Nearly everyone participating in the demonstration wore an emblem of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Children Perish.

Montreal, July 17.—While bathing in the river at Maisonneuve last night, Xavier Gotte, 16 years old, was seized with cramps and drowned.

Ottawa, July 17.—Eva, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Charland, 56 Duke street, fell through a hole in a temporary bridge over the city acqueduct yesterday and was drowned. The body has not yet been recovered.

PARSON CRICKETER.

The Rev. F. H. Gillingham's Plain Words to Parishioners.

The Essex parson-cricketer, the Rev. F. H. Gillingham, vicar of Holy Trinity, Bordesley, Birmingham, is being subjected to criticism because of his frequent absence from his parish—a fact ascribed to his association with the Essex eleven.

Apparently the critics are divided into two classes—those who think that a vicar should be in constant attendance on his parishioners and those (and they are far more numerous) who think that a Warwickshire vicar, especially if he be a front ranker, should play for Warwickshire. But Mr. Gillingham, who has been at Bordesley for about 18 months, is not likely to accept either view. He is evidently determined to give his valuable help to his old county, and true sportsmen of Warwickshire, while regretting that the county is not to have his assistance, will certainly say, as the vicar suggests they should "Go on, and more power to your elbow."

Mr. Gillingham deals with the subject in his parish magazine. "It has been represented to me," he says, "that there is a feeling amongst some members of the congregation that I ought not to play cricket. I realize it is hard to please everybody and I have long since given up trying to do so. I have thought out the position carefully, and would like to point out that:

(1) Instead of taking a six weeks' holiday at a stretch as most vicars do, I propose taking mine three days at a time. This may mean a day or two extra, but it means nearly all my Sundays at home, and no continued absence from the parish.

(2) Cricket is a distinct asset to me—if I go away to speak to men, I am generally advertised not as the Vicar of Holy Trinity, but as the Essex cricketer. I feel sure that many who worship with us regularly have originally been attracted by the fact that I have this little gift—a gift which is rather unusual among the clergy.

(3) Financially cricket is a great asset to me and to you, for since I have been your vicar I have collected £300 from cricketers and lovers of the game—and without this assistance I could not have carried on the parish.

(4) The charge is often brought against the clergy that they are not men, that they cannot do what other men do; and in plays, comic papers, and on boardings, they are generally represented as emaciated, pale-faced weaklings who are incapable of doing anything robust.

(5) I know perfectly well that I was not ordained to play cricket—I know perfectly well that my mission in life is "to touch the hearts of men and bring them back to heaven again." This I am trying to do, and if I found my cricket a hindrance rather than a help, I should give it up immediately.

(6) I would also reconsider my decision if I thought the majority of my congregation desired it, but I think the majority realize it as an asset, and so long as I don't make it an end, I am sure they would say, "Go on, and more power to your elbow."

The female house fly lays from 120 to 150 eggs at a time, and these mature in two weeks. Under favorable conditions the descendants of a single pair will number millions in three months. Therefore all housekeepers should commence using early in the season, and thus cut off a large proportion of the summer crop.

GLOWING REPORTS OF FRUIT CROPS

C. E. Lawrence, Agricultural Field Commissioner Tours Interior of British Columbia.

Nelson, July 17.—Condition of the fruit crops throughout the interior of British Columbia was characterized as excellent by C. E. Lawrence, agricultural field commissioner of natural resources in the Dominion of Canada. Mr. Lawrence has been making his annual trips gathering data for the commission through the fruit districts of the interior of British Columbia, and is in a position to know their condition.

He has not inspected Nelson district yet, but the reports of other fruit localities are glowing. Beginning in the upper Okanagan Valley, from Sicamous to Vernon, Mr. Lawrence states that the crops are fine. There had been abundant rain and the mixed farming operations, which are to the fore there, have benefitted exceedingly.

From Vernon to Penticton the same condition was observed. The crop there will be at least double that of last year, which, however, was somewhat poor. The anxiety as to the shortage of cars is making itself known there and appears to be well founded. The Canadian Pacific Railway, although they have placed orders for thousands of cars, cannot have them filled.

At Penticton a peculiar state of affairs may be seen on account of the abundant crop. The peach trees, for which the district is famed, have been so prolific that half of their crop has had to pulled to allow the rest to mature. Peaches may be seen lying around the trees in hundreds, said Mr. Lawrence, in an interview here with a representative of the Nelson News. Much of the same may be said about the crops of plums and cherries.

At Keremeos the crops are equally good and at Rock Creek, further east at an elevation of 3000 feet, mixed farming and small fruit growing is being carried on successfully.

Mr. Lawrence visited an irrigation scheme at Oroville, Wash., where 10,000 acres of land will soon be ready for cultivation with the completion of the system.

The large fruit ranch of D. Gallantly and sons in the Okanagan valley, was inspected by him and he says that it is looking in first-class condition. There are 250 acres in crop there, attended by a large number of hands. It is planted mostly with tomatoes, potatoes, strawberries and large fruits.

Mr. Lawrence has charge of the whole interior section of British Columbia and having made a tour of the western end of this territory he is now devoting himself to Nelson and surrounding districts. After a few days here he will visit Kaslo and then go to Revelstoke to conduct investigations.

His investigations comprise the taking of statistics from representative ranches in each district, which are sent to headquarters at Ottawa. The conservation commission debates upon it and advises the government as to action. Mr. Lawrence is connected with only the agricultural division, there being others for timber, minerals, waterpowers and other natural resources.

"DERBY IS PLAYED OUT."

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, whom one would hesitate to accuse of levity, went to see the Derby and claims to have found "the most disappointed man on Epsom Downs" in the person of "a mild mannered and romantic American," whom he met hovering near the grand stand.

This strange visitor to Epsom, the correspondent assures us, "wore a tall fawn-colored hat very much titled back and from it hung behind a long blue veil. He had rimless pincenez and white spats."

After their acquaintance had ripened the stranger, "whose gilt-edged card proclaimed him a citizen of Carthage, Mo., confided to the Englishman that his "costume was faithfully copied from that of the dandies in Mr. Frith's Derby Day, to which he had paid several earnest visits to the National Gallery."

He explained that he wanted to be correctly attired for the occasion.

"His mind," the writer went on, "was steeped in the mid-Victorian literature of our great national festival, and his visit was by way of a sentimental pilgrimage—to see the Derby as it is in the medley of the picturesque. 'And this,' he wistfully confessed as we watched the drab crowd surging over the course after the first race, 'isn't by a long way what I'd been led to expect.'

"His costume, to begin with, had proved a little embarrassing. There was no one dressed like that; he was a shining exception amid a multitude of caps. To his extreme horror he had seen a cap within the royal enclosure, and there wasn't another veil like his between Epsom and the National Gallery. Where were the elegant landaus filled with luxurious picnic parties all along the jolly turf, with hungry little gymnasts gazing longingly at the good things? Behind the railings where we stood was a row of motor buses having a day's holiday at the races, and a strange jumble of vehicles stretched along, with a few wealthy motor cars here and there. It gave him some consolation to find a real coster's barrow drawn by a real moke, but the man who drove it looked like a city clerk.

They moved away toward Tottenham corner, and there where the procession of those who travel by road comes pouring over the Down they halted, but, as the sentimental traveller complained, 'It might be Piccadilly on Sunday.' The glittering motors came up in a long line, interspersed with a few brakes and tradesmen's carts, but the motor people did not carry on the old tradition of those who used to come by coach. There was no largesse, no throwing of new half-crowns.

The citizen of Carthage, Mo., had provided himself with some, but said that it was too disheartening. The sight that convinced him that the Derby had been moulded by history was the clearing of the course between the races. "Why, the crowd works itself," he said, as we watched the amazing discipline when the thousands of buyers and sellers melted away before the gently trotting line of policemen. "It would take a regiment of policemen with clubs to do that with us," he added, in a muse of admiration.

But his disappointment was too much for him. The English newspaper man met him again at Epsom.

His disillusionment was complete. He had come away before the Derby was run.

"I reckon the Derby's played out," he said. "The race is as like another as two beans. What's won?"

SURPRISE ELECTION SCARE.

Ottawa Free Press Utters Sensational Prophesy.

Ottawa, July 17.—The Ottawa Free Press has been convinced that both political parties are lining up for a gneral election in the fall of 1913. Whether the tip has gone out or not, says the Free Press, each party organization has received instructions to look carefully after the districts so as to be ready for any surprise.

In view of Mr. Borden's promise that he would submit his naval policy to the people nobody here can understand how he can adopt a policy of contribution with a more vigorous naval program later on without a general election. The program as outlined is that the party will come back in the fall with its naval program, approve and pass the Redistribution bill and go to the country in September of next year. Whether the Liberals will allow this program to be carried out, depends upon developments. They are certainly keen to again ask the arbitration of public opinion, especially in view of the provincial elections in Quebec and Saskatchewan, and will put no obstacle in the way of such an appeal. But they will have considerable to say next session, both on the naval question and on the trade issue, and warnings have been sent to Liberal members to prepare for a session lasting until July next, with steady fighting all along the line, so that next session promises to be as exciting as was that of 1911.

BITTEN BY RATTLE SNAKE.

"It Was Nothing," Said Plucky Woman.

Los Angeles, July 17.—The story of the pluck of Mrs. P. D. Finch, who was bitten by a huge rattle snake, was made public today by her friends, who told how she had killed the reptile and walked a mile to her ranch house, where she told her relatives that "it was nothing."

Mrs. Finch was irrigating an alfalfa field when the snake bit her on her ankle. She killed it with a hoe handle. Then she walked to her house and applied home remedies.

Later she found it necessary to call a physician, who said she would recover. The snake was more than three feet long and had eight rattles.

Turkish Cabinet Resigns.

Constantinople, July 17. — Turkish cabinet resigned today in consequence of the revolt in the army against the methods of the committee of union and progress.

The resignation of the Turkish cabinet is a sequel to that of Mahmoud Szefka Pasha, the minister of war, on July 10. There have been numerous reports of dissatisfaction among the Turkish troops, especially those fighting against the Albanians. Hundreds of desertions of officers and men to the rebel side are known to have occurred and it has been reported that the majority of Turkish soldiers were inclined to make common cause with the Albanian insurgents.

A despatch from Athens under yesterday's date, stated it was semi-officially declared there that a serious movement was on among the Turkish officers and members of the Liberal party in Turkey to place Prince Mebid Effendi, son of ex-Sultan Mourad, on the Turkish throne, owing to discontent with the Sultan Mahmed Rechad Khan.

Potlatch in Full Swing.

Seattle, July 17.—Yesterday was Merchants' and Manufacturers' Day in the Potlatch and the officials of the summer carnival devoted their energies to entertaining visiting merchants and manufacturers and their families. There were again numerous aeroplane flights and concerts. Last evening the downtown streets, brilliantly illuminated and decorated were scarcely passable because of the great multitude of people who were making merry. Today will occur the greatest of the day parades, commemorating the arrival of the first gold ship from Alaska. The cruiser Marblehead, with the California naval militia, will join the fleet of war vessels in the harbor today.

Montreal's Opium Dens.

Montreal, July 17.—That Montreal is the centre of the opium traffic in Canada, is the opinion of the police department. Police have been busy investigating places in which the drug is sold. This afternoon Chief of Police Carpenter raided an establishment on Lagauchetiere street west, finding a large quantity of the "dope," together with pipes and other accessories. One hundred Chinese were taken to the police station charged with being implicated in one way or another with the buying or selling of the stuff and a vigorous campaign is now under way against further traffic of the same nature.

WILL ENUNCIATE NAVAL POLICY

Winston Churchill to Bring in Supplementary Estimates Next Monday.

London, July 17.—It is now authoritatively stated that Mr. Winston Churchill will on Monday make an important announcement of the British course of action, in view of the German fleet augmentation. He will deal fully with the policy of the government regarding the fleet in home waters and the Mediterranean. He will go out for an united Imperial navy and has consulted the highest authorities, Lord Fisher and Lord Charles Beresford, in addition to his chief professional adviser, Admiral Sir Francis Bridgeman.

The supplementary estimates which Mr. Churchill will introduce are expected to contain provision for addition of men for the whole fleet and the acceleration of certain ships for this year's program and a special program for the Mediterranean.

TRAIN JUMPS EMBANKMENT.

Three Injured in Bad Accident—Engineer May Die.

Michigan City, Ind., July 17.—Three persons were injured yesterday, one perhaps fatally, when Pere Marquette train No. 5 en route from northern Michigan to this city rolled down an embankment two and a half miles from Chesterton, Ind.

Engineer Davidson of Grand Rapids, whose spine was injured and who was hurt internally, may die. Fireman Frank Garman, Grand Rapids, was cut and bruised about the body, and Mrs. F. A. Cooley, Chicago, suffered cuts and bruises. A dozen passengers were slightly cut by flying glass.

The locomotive was derailed by a heavy plank protruding from a crossing, and after bumping over the ties for forty feet, took the baggage car, two coaches and three Pullmans down the embankment with it. The parlor car remained on the track.

The train was crowded and was running rapidly when the accident occurred. The engineer, fireman and traveling engineer jumped when the train left the track.

Father and Son Drowned.

Winnipeg, July 17.—George Johnston, Sr., and George Johnston, Jr., father and son, met death by drowning in the Red River this afternoon when the launch in which they had set out was capsized by a squall 25 feet from shore.

Fred Parker, son-in-law of the elder of the drowned men, managed to struggle to shore. The propeller of the launch stopped working just after the party had set out with the boat, when it came broadside to the wind and a sudden squall tipped it over.

The bodies were recovered, but efforts to revive them were unavailing. Johnston, senior, was about 65 years old. The son was about 35. All three of the party were contractors.

AUTONOMY—CO-OPERATION.

It is rather surprising to find that the Vancouver News-Advertiser in a brief editorial, dismisses the whole subject of co-operation with Australia and New Zealand in the maintenance of Imperial sea power upon the Pacific in the following passage:

"Canadian autonomy might as well be surrendered to the Empire as to Australia et al., and co-operation with Great Britain would be more easy to arrange and continue than co-operation with Overseas Dominions."

Autonomy has come to be a hateful word from its frequent misuse among a considerable section in Canada. That we may be quite clear on its meaning any dictionary will tell us that it refers to "the power or right of self-government; the political self-government of a city or state.'

As matters now stand regarding the contribution of Canada to the naval defence of the Empire, various schemes have been mooted and many more are coming over the wires from England. These may pass, for it is certain that Canada will know definitely what it is proposed to do along the lines indicated only when her ministers choose to speak, and then only.

All this talk of our precious autonomy is more than ridiculous. Co-operation is not surrender, neither is true loyalty sitting down in one's chair and proclaiming to the world that although we are a very great nation indeed, yet we are afraid to go into a working partnership with our own kith and kin for fear, forsooth, that we may lose a shred of our autonomy or self-government.

Great Britain is too often howled down in this connection. We have need to remember that it is to her that we owe this same right of self-government. With just as much reason as the News-Advertiser is afraid of surrendering Canadian autonomy to any part of the Empire, or to the whole of the Empire, might the citizens of Westminster be afraid that their right of deciding the destinies of their own city is endangered by the fact that they use the stamps of the Dominion Government to transmit messages between each other's houses.

We in this city are proud of it, and proud also of being included in the province of British Columbia. We are self-governing in our own affairs; so also is the province. Both enjoy measures of autonomy.

British Columbia is part of the great confederation called the Dominion of Canada. It also is autonomous or self-governing. Just as the towns and cities make up the provinces, so do the provinces make up the dominions, and lastly, in like manner, do the dominions make up the British Empire.

Each of these coteries enjoy self-government, and each is interdependent upon the other in making up the large grade above it. What affects one section affects the other in a greater or less degree, according to varying circumstances. Co-operation or union has created cities, the provinces, the Dominions, the Empire, and is the force that holds them and it together.

The Empire government has not asked the Canadian Government to surrender one jot of its self-government. On the contrary the Dominion Government has offered, together with the other Dominions, to do her share towards maintaining the police force of the Empire of which she is a part.

The other Dominions have begun to do this. We are late, but we are beginning. The Canadian ministers are now conferring with the Imperial ministers concerning what form this aid shall take.

We can trust them to co-operate without surrendering Canada's autonomy, in just the same manner that we frequently trust our civic representatives to go to Victoria to arrange matters that affect both the city and the province, without fear that they will hand over our right to govern ourselves as Westminster to British Columbia.

It is, therefore, more than ridiculous to grow afraid that a proposal for co-operation for mutual benefit in naval matters would endanger our right of self-government as Canada, a nation within the British Empire.

A FAIR ARGUMENT.

Organizations in Minnesota and other states desirous of stopping the flow of emigration to Canada are publishing facts and figures to prove that the railway freight service in Western Canada is inadequate and that railway and express charges are enormously higher in Western Canada than in the Western States. They say to the intending immigrant: "What do you gain by cheaper land, if your wheat rots on the ground or if whatever money you get from your farm is taken from you by the transportation companies?" They are also making much of the car of strawberries for which the Saskatoon dealer paid $700 express charges.

It is not an unfair argument and the only effective answer is for our government to correct these conditions. We venture to say that American settlers will continue to pour in, but they will come here prepared to fight against extortion by the railway companies. They will have no sentimental attachment for either of our political parties and their influence will be thrown in favor of that party which has the courage and ability to redress their grievances, nor will they hesitate to go into a new progressive party, if one is formed in Canada.—Toronto World.

DEMOCRACY.

Governor Marshall of Indiana, who is the Democratic candidate for Vice-President of the United States, is credited with a good deal of hard common sense. In a recnt address he said that direct primaries and all the new political machinery of the hour would come to naught, unless public sentiment was that which put upon the conscience of every man his great responsibility for good government in the country.

This definition is worthy of a place in the schools. Democracy is a failure until it is learned and its principles are applied. Most men know only by hearsay that they are governed at all. They take no interest in the governing. Often they have not time to vote. Men of this type—wholly void of public spirit—would insist upon watering their lawns if they knew that there might be a water famine tomorrow. They think of themselves only.

But some day to one of these self-centred individuals comes a shock—an awakening. Some of his personal interests may have been affected by bad government. Then he becomes irritable and blames those at the head of the community's or the nation's affairs. He complains of the calibre of the men in high places. Yet he hadn't time to vote. He had wholly neglected his responsibility for the good government of the community.

In a true democracy every man will be a politician. Every church will be a civic and national centre. Every "boss" will control one vote only—his own. It is ludicrous to allow ten per cent of the populace to do the governing and then to assert that we are a free people. Public sentiment is aroused in Canada, and in Toronto only semi-occasionally. It should be vibrant and clamorous every day. Machinery for electing men, radical expedients to catch votes, baby-kissing self-laudation and graft are products of democratic government, unchecked by public sentiment. It is time for a change.—Toronto News.

THE WESTWARD TREND.

Mechanics as Well as Manufacturers Leaving East.

"The gradually increasing cost of living to the easterner, and the consequent necessity for an additional wage is slowly but surely driving the most skilled, and therefore, the most desirable mechanics to the West, where the market for hands and brains is greater."

So says Mr. John R. Duncan, president of the Board of Trade, who has recently returned from an extended trip to the large cities of the East.

"Speaking generally," said Mr. Duncan, "the industrial outlook in the West is very much brighter at the present time than it is in the East. The increasing cost of production drives the manufacturer nearer to the sources of his supply, or to his market, and as both of these, especially in the lumbering trade, are to be found in the West, the movement quite naturally has a westward trend. This gives an impetus to the tendency to develop the natural resources of the country."

The systems of street lighting in vogue in the larger American cities struck Mr. Duncan as being particularly efficient, being of the same general style adopted on Columbia street, though naturally on a larger scale.

Mr. Duncan stated that he secured additional equipment for the plant of the Vulcan Iron Works during his stay in the East amounting to a total value of over $10,000.

Dining In Luxembourg.

Though "town patriotism" exists all over the world, nowhere, perhaps, is it fiercer than in the little grand duchy of Luxembourg. The tourist can turn it to excellent advantage When he arrives at the inn of any little town he should get into conversation with the master or, better still, with the mistress of the house and mention that at the last town at which he stayed the best and cheapest meals he ever had in his life were served. Madame will depart to the kitchen determined to demonstrate to the tourist that he has never before really had a decently cooked meal. And by the time for coffee and cigars he will come near to believing it. The finest cooks in Europe are women of Luexbourg.

A Boswell and Johnson Story.

Boswell once asked Johnson if there were no possible circumstance in which suicide would be justified.

"No," was the reply.

"Well," says Boswell, "suppose a man has been guilty of a fraud he was certain would be found out."

"Why, then," says Johnson, "in that case let him go to some country where he is not known and not to the devil, where he is known."

Milking the Cow.

"The sight of one of his good cows standing under a tree down the lane at milking time would throw the modern dairyman into a fever," writes Charles White. "The harmless, necessary cow of these enlightened times stands in her highly hygienic stall, which is floored with concrete and frequently scrubbed. The cow herself is curried and brushed every day. Where is the haymow? Gone; gone with the milkmaid, the dodo and the auk into the obsolete past. One listens in vain around the barn for the old slogan, 'Git over thar, gol ding ye!' with the accompanying bump of the knee against old bossy's ribs. All that has gone out too. Cruelty is costly. Kindness pays. In these days of conservation the man who mistreats animals is picking his boss' pocket."

Enraged Galician Endeavors to Murder Wife.

SPORTS

EXCITING GAME PROMISED TONIGHT

Reginas Out to Make Determined Effort to Win—Will Meet Sapperton.

The big game this evening on the Queens park oval between the Sappertons and the Reginas should prove one of the best lacrosse attractions among the amateur fixtures of the season. Both teams have been training hard for this event, especially the East Enders, who will make the effort of their lives to retrieve past defeats and secure the championship of the city on which the Sappertonians appear to have a half Nelson.

Another victory for the Sappertons gives them the bacon in a trot, but a win for the Reginas means a lively time before the championship is decided as such a win would place them on an equal footing with the present leaders.

As far as love for each other goes, the teams are in the same boat as a Turk and an Italian. In fact unless the officials are strict, this evening's encounter should have the battle of the Boyne whipped to a king's taste and an I. W. W. strike looking like a dirty deuce in a new pack.

The game will start at 6:45 sharp as the players have promised to be on hand early so that the fans will be assured of a daylight conclusion of the match.

The line-up of the Reginas will be picked from the following: Fleury, Pearson, Cotton, Eastman, Stoddart, Sait, Huff, Robbins, Sayers, Coutts, McMillan and Sinclair, playing from goal to inside home in the order named.

Wolgast-Rivers Fight.

Mr. Harry Tidy left for Seattle last evening where he will take in the sights at the annual Potlatch. Incidentally he will visit the Metropolitan theatre in the Sound City and take a peek at the Wolgast-Rivers fight pictures which are scheduled to be shown at the local opera house on Wednesday, July 24.

If the comments made in the Seattle papers are any criterion, the pictures are of high order, showing the thirteenth round where each of the two fighters are said to have got in a knockout blow. Mr. Tidy believes in seeing things for himself and if the films do not come up to expectations, he will cancel the arrangement made with the film company.

RECORD ENTRY FOR B. C. RIFLE MEETING

Westminster Match Shot Off—Lieut-Colonel A. W. Currie Is Chief Range Officer.

Richmond, July 17.—With an entry list of about 175, which is considerably in excess of that of any previous year, the thirty-ninth annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle association opened yesterday morning at the Richmond ranges under auspicious circumstances.

There has been a marked increase in the interest taken in this branch of military work during the past few years, and this year has shown conclusively that more range accommodation must be provided. For the first time the meeting was carried over four days last year, and the association was kept busy carrying out the program according to schedule.

Ample accommodation for the comfort of the competitors who wish to stay at the ranges has been provided. A good supply of tents has been secured from the district stores, as well as blankets. The tents are provided with floors and good spring cots can be obtained at the range, so that a comfortable night can be spent. The catering arrangements are in the hands of the same parties who looked after it last year, and this is a sufficient guarantee of its excellence.

In the tyro match, Mr. George Burr, a member of the New Westminster association, secured second prize, the first going to Gunner H. Pike, Fifth regiment, Victoria. H. Lindahl and E. W. Jewhurst are away up in the list, and should be included in the prize limit.

PLAYING THE GAME.

It Is Sport as a Rrecreation that Matters.

London, July 17.—The Daily News, discussing the results of the Olympic games in today's issue, declares itself not much concerned in the Stockholm results, on the ground that it is not competitive sport that is nationally important, but sport as a recreation of an all-round character.

CANADIANS MAKE EXCELLENT SCORES

Promise Well for King's Prize—Premier Borden Speaks on Co-operation.

Bisley Camp, July 17.—At the first two ranges of the King's prize initial stage good scores were made by a number of Canadians, notably by Sergeant Battershill and Lieutenant Blackburn, both of Winnipeg, and Captain Forrest, of Vancouver, who each made 67 out of a possible 70. Andrews, Winnipeg, Sergeant MacDougall, Victoria, and Sergeant Stoddart, Hamilton, were one point behind with 66.

Canadian scores in the Imperial Tobacco, ten shots at 1000 yards, were as follows: Armstrong 38; Battershill, 39; Blackburn, 32; Davidson, 36; Dymond, 36; Forster, 37; Kennedy, 27; MacDougall, 43; Maggs, 29; Mortimer, 46; Regan, 40; Richardson, 31; Sclater, 27; Steele, 33; Stoddart, 32.

In the Barlow, a service rifle competition designed to simulate as near as possible actual war conditions, and consisting of snap shooting and rapid fire at 200 and 500 yards, Blackburn, 47th, and Davidson 62nd, each win £1. In the Daily Graphic, after a tie, Smith won third place and £5; Forrest, 15th, won £3. Another Canadian, Forster, won third place in the Prince of Wales after a tie, and gets £10; Mitchell, sixth, and Armstrong, eighth, win £5 each.

Thel, of Guernsey Rifles, won the Imperial Tobacco. Of Canadians, Mortimer was sixth, winning £5, MacDougall 26th and Andrews 27th, and Mitchell 38 with £2. Regan, 76; Pearson, 108; Battershill, 112 and Forest, 114, each winning £1.

Premier Borden, Mr. Hazen and Lord Strathcona were among those who attended the garden party of the Canadian team today.

There was a little speech making, Premier Borden eulogizing the Bisley meet because it brought men from the overseas dominions together, creating a mutual understanding and a co-operation of which there must be more if the empire is to accomplish its mission.

Lord Cheylesmore, chairman of the N. R. A., expressed the pleasure of the association at Mr. Borden's visit.

In the all-comers aggregate Armstrong, who was third, Mortimer 23rd, Stoddart 24th, Forest 25th and Smith 29th, each won a bronze medal.

Still Remember Ned Hanlon.

Toronto, July 17.—The plans for the monument to the late Edward Hanlan, for many years champion oarsman of the world, have been prepared by Architect Denison. The monument will be placed immediately south of the entrance gates of the docks at Hanlan's Point, within 50 yards of the house in which Hanlan was born, and will cost about $20,000. The Toronto Ferry Co. has donated $10,000, the city $2500, and the provincial government $300. The remainder will be raised by popular subscription. The monument will be 100 feet high, of white marble with granite base, and includes a bronze tablet recording Mr. Hanlan's prowess and a medallion of the head and shoulders of the late champion.

BOWSER'S TONIC.

He Takes the Druggist's Never Failing Joy Drops.

BUT THEY DON'T BRING LAUGH

Instead He Is Moved to Sad Memories of His Departed Relatives and Friends—What Mrs. Bowser Said About It.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.]

"MRS. BOWSER," began Mr. Bowser the other evening after he had been puffing away at his cigar for a quarter of an hour, "I was talking with a farmer today, and he said the robins had come back from the south."

"Yes?"

"That's a sure sign of spring, isn't it?"

"It's so considered, I believe."

"One needs a tonic in the spring, doesn't he?"

"You can make yourself believe that you need one," she replied as she gave him a sharp look.

"But I don't have to make myself believe. More than a dozen men have told me in the last month that I was all run down. Only yesterday Green was telling me that he never saw a man fall as I had."

"Mr Green, as you know, is near-sighted and cross eyed."

"But I have failed, I feel it and know it. There have been days in the last week when I did not feel that I could crawl to the office. On the car coming home tonight I had a faint spell, and for ten minutes I hardly knew where I was."

"HE WAS KILLED BY A BULL IN WHICH HE TRUSTED."

An Unsympathetic Wife.

"And when you recovered an old woman had her arm around you and was saying, 'Poor kid!'"

"By thunder, woman, are you making a burlesque of this?" shouted Mr Bowser as he roused up.

"Not at all, only when a man loses his senses on a street car for ten minutes he can't tell what may happen Had you been eating hard boiled eggs in a quick lunch place?"

"Of course not."

"Well, go on with what you were going to say. I presume you will get around to spring tonics in time."

"I shall get around to what I darn please. Mrs. Bowser, what sort of a wife are you, anyway? Never do I get a word of sympathy from you. Never does the state of my health worry you in the least. If I were dying like an old horse in the shafts you would turn to ridicule. I have the backache, I have swimming of the head, I have pains, I have loss of memory, I have ringing in the ears, I have a general feeling of lassitude. All these and more I have, and yet you sit there with a heart of stone."

"Far from it, Mr. Bowser," she replied. "On the contrary, I say you need a spring tonic, and if I were you I'd go over to the drug store and get one right away."

That Depressed Feeling.

Mr Bowser looked at her in a doubtful way for a minute and then said:

"Brown got a spring tonic a week ago, and he is feeling joyful all the time. You may have noticed that I haven't laughed for days and days?"

"Yes, I have noticed."

"I keep thinking all the time of how father was killed by a bull in which he trusted and how mother was drowned in the well."

"Then go to the drug store at once. Tell the druggist just how you feel and have him put you up a joyful tonic. Come to look at you by gaslight, you do look worn out."

"I—I don't have to go to the store, Mrs Bowser. I have a tonic put up near the office."

"A joyful tonic?"

"The druggist said there were five laughs and six whoops in every dose of it. Here it is."

And he drew from his pocket a quart bottle with the written label on it, "Spring Tonic."

Mrs. Bowser took the bottle from his hand and shook it and sniffed at the contents and said:

"Better take a dose at once."

"You don't have to measure it out," replied Mr. Bowser. "All I have to do is to tip up the bottle and"—

And he gurgled.

And he smacked.

And the dose he took was a liberal one.

"How often?" asked Mrs. Bowser as the gurgling ceased.

"Every ten minutes till the joyful feeling comes and then at longer intervals."

"Do you know the ingredients?"

Trusting the Druggist.

"Not one. The druggist said I could trust it all to him. He has been putting up spring tonics for the last thirty years and has never made one failure. He put up all of Roosevelt's tonics, spring and fall. I think I'll take another dose."

More gurgles.

More smacks.

With the addition of a long drawn u-m-m-m-m!

Then there was a period of waiting for the joyful to set in. It wasn't on the hustle, and it was five or six minutes after the third dose before Mrs. Bowser looked up and found Mr. Bowser's eyes brimming with tears.

"Now what on earth's the matter with you!"

"Thinking, Mrs. Bowser—thinking!" he sobbed.

"But I thought it was a joyful tonic."

"It is, but the joyful doesn't come until after the sorrowful. Think of my poor old father being gored to death by a bull and no one to save him! He cried for help, but cried in vain!"

"You've told me a hundred times over that he died in his bed of typhoid fever."

"And my poor old mother!" he sobbed. "She went out to draw an old oaken bucket of water and fell into the well. They didn't find her for a week, and then she was dead. Yes, sir, down that well for seven days, and nobody knows how many times she called for me!"

"You forgot that I was there when she died and that the cause was pneumonia."

Poor Aunt Lucinda!

"And there was my Aunt Lucinda," continued Mr. Bowser as he rose up and walked the floor and wrung his hands. "At 10 o'clock one morning she was alive and kicking. An hour later she was cold in death. Climbed a cherry tree and came down with a kerplunk and broke her neck. Mrs. Bowser, why don't you weep with me?"

"Mr. Bowser, I don't believe that druggist put you up a spring tonic. I believe it's straight whisky."

"And there was my Uncle Joab," went on Mr. Bowser as he sat down and sobbed. "When I was a boy he used to hold me on his knee and tell me pirate stories and hope I'd be another Kidd. Then he was took, Mrs Bowser—took right away from earth to heaven. Yes, sir, a saw log rolled over him, and he was mashed as flat as a pancake. He called my name just as he was mashed. Yes, he called my name, but I was fur, fur away."

"But I wouldn't mind if I were you," said Mrs. Bowser in a soothing way. "You had better go to bed now and take the rest of the tonic in the morning."

"And there was Aunt Jane. Oh, what lovely pies she made!"

"But never mind."

"And there was Moses Skinner. He used to carry me through the deep snow on his back. He's dead now."

"But come to bed."

"And Aaron Whitefield—he used to love me. If I had been a girl and growed up to be a woman he'd have married me. And there was my Cousin Julia. She was just the sweetest, nicest, cutest"—

The Last Phase.

But Mrs. Bowser went upstairs and left him alone with his sobs and tonics and sorrowful memories. When Mr. Bowser is taking a spring tonic according to directions he can't be coaxed. For an hour she hoped to hear him creeping up the stairs on hands and knees, but as he did not appear she slipped down. He lay on the floor fast asleep, with the faithful cat watching over him. She got a pillow for his head and a shawl to cover him up and left him alone to his joyful dreams. The tonic went out doors, and she went upstairs.

Next morning she innocently asked:

"Mr. Bowser, do you feel an improvement in your condition from taking that spring tonic?"

"What spring tonic?" he shouted back at her. "Mrs. Bowser, I hate to say it, but you have weakening of the brain, and if you don't quit running to bargain sales you'll find yourself in a lunatic asylum some day!"

If—

What a golden silence would reign if people only spoke when they had something to say.—Judge.

Perpetual Worth.

"Why was it you never married again, Aunt Sally?" inquired Mrs. McClane of an old colored woman in West Virginia.

"'Deed, Miss Ellie," replied the old woman earnestly, "dat daid nigger's wuth moah to me dan a live one. I gits a pension."—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Discovery.

"What good do you suppose the discovery of the south pole has done?"

"I don't know exactly. But offhand I should say that Amundsen has at least found one place where the roads aren't forever torn up for repairs."—Detroit Free Press.

A Rapid Age.

Hokus—Men live at a faster clip than women.

Pokus—That's right. My wife and I were the same age when we were married. I'm forty-five now, and she has just turned thirty.—New York Times.

ARCHBISHOP McNEILL

Reported Father Murphy May Succeed Him.

Rome, July 17.—The Most Rev. Neil McNeil, Archbishop of Vancouver, has been appointed Archbishop of Toronto, to succeed the Most Rev. F. P. McEvay, who died last year.

Archbishop McNeil was born in Hillsborough, N. S., on November 21, 1851, so that he is now in his 61st year. His education was begun at St. Francis Xavier College, Antigonish, whence he passed through the College of the Propaganda, Rome, and the University of Marseilles and took his degree of D. D. in 1879. He became a member of the teaching staff and vice-rector of St. Francis Xavier College Antigonish, in 1880, an office which he retained until 1884, in which year he became rector. He relinquished the position in 1891. He was editor of The Aurora, and the Antigonish Casket, while at St. Francis Xavier College. In 1891 he became pastor at West Arichat, and later on at Descouse.

In 1895 he became Bishop of Nilopolis and Vicar Apostolic of St. George's, Newfoundland, and 1904 succeeded to the position of Bishop of St. George's, Newfoundland. Six years later, January, 1910, he was appointed Archbishop of Vancouver. He is a charter governor of St. Francis Xavier College, Antigonish. Archbishop McNeil has been described as a profund scholar. As a mathematician and astronomer and a French scholar, he is said to have few equals in Canada.

It is reported that Rev. Father Murphy, who is now on his way to British Columbia, will be appointed to the See of Vancouver.

Father Murphy is well known out on the coast, being an old resident of British Columbia. He comes of a Cariboo family, all of whom have gained distinction in various roles.

Judge Dennis Murphy, of the supreme court of British Columbia, is one brother, and James Murphy, who attained much fame in defending old Bill Miner at his trial for the hold-up at Ducks, is another.

Methodists Greet New Pastor.

The members of the Sixth Avenue West End Methodist church will hold a reception to their new minister, Rev. W. S. A. Crux, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the basement of the church. Mr. Crux's family just recently arrived from Manitou, Man., where they had lived for some time, and tomorrow's affair will be in the nature of greeting to the family also. Different ministers throughout the city will be present and many speeches will be delivered. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and other summer dainties will be served.

New Lightship for Fraser.

Ottawa, July 17.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries is considering the purchasing or building of a new lightship for the Fraser river. Tenders will be called for its construction soon. The rapid increase of traffic on the river, coupled with a desire to afford the greatest protection to shipping, has made the necessity for the new lightship urgent.

When seen yesterday regarding the proposed action of the Ottawa authorities in placing a new lightship on the Fraser, Mr. J. D. Taylor, M.P., stated that this latest move was brought by himself and the bodies in the city when the department of public works proposed to remove the present lightship from its station at the mouth of the river. "They see we mean business in New Westminster and I feel gratified in hearing of their action in the matter."

Mine Inspecting.

Victoria, July 17.—Mr. Thomas Graham, chief inspector of mines, who has returned from attending the United States mine inspectors' institute Columbus, Ohio, and visiting testing stations and mines in Pennsylvania and Illinois, states that while there is much to take advantage of in their experience, he finds mine operators here as ready to adopt modern safeguards.

Inspection he finds more efficient in British Columbia than in any of the coal mining states, owing to better discipline and the fact that inspectors have much smaller districts here and can cover them more frequently.
