WITH BAND PLAYING SANK TO HER GRAVE

Titanic Foundered Gallantly, Lights Blazing and Music Playing--Captain Giving Last Commands From the Bridge--1595 Lost--745 Saved--Survivors' Remarkable Statement--Women Die on Board Carpathia.

	Total.	Saved.
First class	330	210
Second class	320	125
Third class	750	200
Crew	940	210
	2340	745

Total lost, 1595.

The Carpathia docked at 9:30 o'clock last night. The first survivors left the ship at 9:35 o'clock.

New York, April 18.—As the Carpathia steamed up the river, dimly lighted and slow moving, she looked like a funeral boat. Among the crowd were scores of white clad hospital attendants with stretchers, and attaches of the coroner's staff. Invalid chairs also were rolled up to the pier entrance for those unable to walk.

When the ship docked at 9:30 the gang plank was quickly lowered and the doctors and nurses went aboard.

The first survivors began to leave the ship at 9:35.

The following statement issued by a committee of the surviving passengers was given to the press on the arrival of the Carpathia:

"We, the undersigned surviving passengers on the Titanic, in order to forestall any sensational or exaggerated statements, deem it our duty to give the press a statement of facts which have come to our knowledge and which we believe to be true.

Struck in Smooth Sea.

"On Sunday, April 14, 1912, at about 11:40 p.m., on a cold, starlight night, in a smooth sea and with no moon the ship struck an iceberg which had been reported to the bridge by lookouts, but not early enough to avoid collision.

"Steps were taken to ascertain the damage and save passengers and ship. Orders were given to put on life belts and the boats were lowered. The ship sank at about 2:20 a.m. on Monday and the usual distress signals were sent out by wireless and rockets at intervals from the ship. Fortunately the wireless message was received by the Cunard's Carpathia at about midnight and she arrived on the scene of the disaster at about 4 a.m. Monday.

"The officers and crew of the steamship Carpathia had been preparing all night for the rescue and comfort of the survivors and the last mentioned were received on board with the most touching care and kindness, every care being given, irrespective of class. The passengers, officers and crew gave up their state rooms, clothing and comforts for our benefit. All honor to them.

"The English board of trade passengers' certificate on board the Titanic showed approximately 3500. The same certificate called for lifeboat accommodations for approximately 950 in the following boats:

"Fourteen large life-boats, two smaller boats and four collapsible boats. Life preservers were accessible and apparently in sufficient number for all on board.

Those Saved.

"The approximate number of passengers carried at the time of the collision was: First class, 330; second class, 320; third class, 750; total, 1400. Officers and crew, 940. Total, 2340. Of the foregoing the following were rescued by S.S. Carpathia. First class, 210; second class, 125; third class, 200; officers, 4; seamen, 39; stewards, 96; firemen, 71. Total 210 of the crew. The total of 745 saved, was about 80 per cent. of the maximum capacity of the life-boats.

"We feel it our duty to call the attention of the public to what we consider the inadequate supply of life-saving appliances provided for on modern passenger steamships and recommend that immediate steps be taken to compel passenger steamers to carry sufficient boats to accommodate the maximum number of people carried on board. The following facts were observed and should be considered in this connection:

"The insufficiency of life-boats, rafts, etc.: lack of trained seamen to man same (stokers, stewards, etc., are not efficient boat handlers); not enough officers to carry out emergency orders on the bridge to superintend the launching and control of life-boats; absence of searchlights.

Reforms Recommended.

"The board of trade rules allow for entirely too many people in each boat to permit the same to be properly handled. On the Titanic the boat deck was about 75 feet above water and consequently the passengers were required to embark before lowering boats, thus endangering the operation and preventing the taking on of the maximum number the boats would hold.

"Boats at all times to be properly equipped with provisions, water, lamps, compasses, lights, etc. Life-saving boat drills should be made more frequent and thoroughly carried out and officers should be armed at boat drills.

Great reduction of speed in fog and and ice as the damage if collision actually occurs is liable to be less.

"In conclusion, we suggest that an international conference be called to recommend the passage of identical laws providing for the safety of all at sea and we urge the United States government to take the iniative as soon as possible."

Passenger's Account.

New York, April 18.—A passenger on the Carpathia made the following statement: "I was awakened at about half past twelve at night by a commotion on the decks which seemed unusual, but there was no excitement. As the boat was moving I paid little attention to it, and went to sleep again. About 3 o'clock I was again awakened. I noticed that the boat had stopped. I went to the deck. The Carpathia had changed her course. Life-boats were sighted and began to arrive—and soon, one by one, they drew up to our side.

"There were sixteen in all and the transferring of the passengers was most pitiable. The adults were assisted in climbing the rope ladders by ropes adjusted to their waists. The little children and babies were hoisted to the deck in bags. Some of the boats were crowded, a few were not half full. This I could not understand.

Were no Sobs.

Some people were in full evening dress. Others were in their night clothes and were wrapped in blankets. These, with immigrants in all manner of attire, were hurried into the saloon for a hot breakfast. They had been in the open boats for four or five hours in the most biting air I ever experienced. There were husbands without wives, wives without husbands, parents without children, and children without parents. But there was no demonstration. No sobs—scarcely a word spoken. They seemed to be stunned.

"Immediately after breakfast divine service was held in the saloon. One woman died in the life-boats, three others died soon after reaching our deck and their bodies were buried in the sea at 5 o'clock that afternoon. None of the rescued had any clothing except what they had on. Passengers contributed enough for their immediate needs.

Band Was Playing.

"When her life-boats pushed away from the Titanic the steamer was brilliantly lighted, the band was playing and the captain was standing on the bridge giving directions.

"The bow was well submerged and the keel rose high above the water. Suddenly the boat seemed to break in two. The next moment everything disappeared. The survivors were so close to the sinking steamer they feared the life-boats would be drawn into the vortex. There were preparations for a brilliant party to be given on board the next evening.

"On our way back to New York we steamed along the edge of a field of ice which seemed limitless. As far as the eye could see to the north there was no blue water. At one time I counted 13 icebergs."

CONGRESS BUSY WITH SUBPOENAS

Committee of Senate Meets Carpathia Seeking for Information as to Cause of Wreck.

Washington, April 18.—With subpoenas for certain persons aboard the Carpathia whose names were not disclosed, Senator Smith, of Michigan, and Senator Newlands, of Nevada, members of the senate committee which will take the first steps in the investigation of the Titanic disaster, went to New York today to meet the rescue ship. Senator Bourne, the third member of the committee, will join them tomorrow. The sub-committee intends to subpoena everyone on the Carpathia who might throw any light on the causes of the catastrophe.

Doubt as to the plans of the senate to command testimony of J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, or other officers of the company, because they are foreign subjects, was dispelled today. Secretary Nagel said there was no question of the jurisdiction of the senate to summon any witnesses who are in American territory.

Secretary Nagel, Supervising Inspector General Uhler, of the steamboat inspection service, Sergeant-at-Arms Ransdel, of the senate, and his assistant, accompanied the senators with a party of others who went to meet friends or relatives aboard the Carpathia.

If the steamship officials refuse to respond to the inquiries it was suggested that steps be taken to penalize vessels entering harbors without compliance with American requirements and that other action might be considered.

QUITE A LIBRARY.

Y. M. C. A. Gets 150 Volumes—Book Social Was Great Success.

With an attendance of three hundred, and a gain to the library of 150 volumes, it goes without saying that the book social held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening was in every way a successful happening. About 50 books had already been collected to form a nucleus for the literary equipment of the institution.

The program was in charge of the ladies of the cathedral, Canon d'Easum and Mr. Mat Knight also assisting, while the refreshments also were served by these ladies. A musical program of an excellent nature filled in the early part of the proceedings. At volley-ball the Anglicans beat the Presbyterians by 21 points to 5, and the Baptists beat the winners by 21 points to 10.

Among the volumes received were several handsome sets, the Encyclopaedia of Universal Knowledge given by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Trapp; the Encyclopaedia Brittanica presented by Alderman White, and a very fine set of the works of R. L. Stevenson sent by Mr. J. W. McDonald.

CONSCRIPTION MEETS WITH MUCH OPPOSITION

Melbourne, Australia, April 18.—The federal government's compulsory military drill scheme is hampered by the violent opposition of some of the small extremist Socialist organizations.

Urgent appeals are being made to the executive to remit the fine of £100 recently inflicted on a Socialist father of a boy who refused permission to drill.

The ministers deplore the Socialists' tactics, but express determination to vindicate the law, regardless of class distinctions.

The national corps, including the Scottish regiments, will merge this year into the Australian battalions. The latter will lose their kilts as well as their name.

NO ABATEMENT IN HIGH PRICES SHOWN IN MARCH

Ottawa, April 18.—The latest findings of the department of labor's prices record show that the past month maintained the exceptionally high point reached in February. The department's index number was 134.2 for March compared with 134.3 in the preceeding month. A year ago the number was 126.3. A feature of the past month was the decline in egg prices; on the other hand animals, meats, vegetables and imported fruits advanced. It is pointed out that the department's figures are based on observations of the movements of about 260 articles selected for their representative character, and that the price level now shown is the highest in at least thirty years.

Mona Lisa Thief.

Paris, April 18.—A regular museum of art treasures was discovered at Villains yesterday by the police department. A man named Ferrand is suspected to being concerned in the stealing of Mona Lisa from the Louvre. Ferrand escaped by a window as the police got into his flat, but a very beautiful girl named Germaine, with whom he shared the apartments, was arrested.

The detectives found a number of valuable porcelain plates stolen last month from the Nevers Museum. A magnificent Chinese Cloisenne wine and incense dish, some old Sevres, Louis XVI. candlesticks, also a collection of skeleton keys and tools for forcing glass cases.

Besides these there were photographs of treasures in the principal museums and churches of France, and a number of guide books.

Department Store Sale.

The first departmental store to be established in Westminster, that of Lee's Limited, is at last complete and the five floors of the building are filled with merchandise to suit the varied tastes of the buying public of the city. No longer will it be necessary to go to Vancouver or Seattle to the big stores for bargains, as the progressive merchants of Westminster are providing these right at home. As will be seen by reference to their advertisement in another part of this paper Lee's Limited are celebrating the completion of their departmental store by offering 15 per cent. discount for all cash purchases during the next fourteen days, commencing this morning.

APPROACH WESTERN CANADA POWER CO.

Agnes Street Ratepayers Want Car Line—To Widen Street from North Side.

"Resolved that the ratepayers' committee of Agnes street act with the council to interview the Western Canada Power company or any other transportation company re laying track on Agnes street and operating the same, the ratepayers being willing to widen the said street to 73 feet provided they are assured of a tram line thereon, the extra width to be taken from the north side of the said street. In the event of the council being unable to make an arrangement with any transportation company, that the whole question of paving be referred back to the Ratepayers' association."

This was the result of a meeting held last night in the city hall by the Agnes Street Ratepayers' association, after much deliberation upon a letter received from the council. This communication was to the effect that it was the policy of the present council, as it had been that of previous councils, to make all streets of uniform width, and thus the council could not agree to adopt a scheme for the widening only of the portion mentioned in the petition sent by the society, namely, between Fourth and Lorne streets.

Attention was then called to the difficulties to be contended with in carrying out a scheme for the widening of the whole street. They are: First, the heavy grading on Eighth street where a five foot cut would have to be made. Secondly, increase of grade on Sixth street, tearing up of sidewalks and relaying of new one between Royal avenue and Carnarvon street. Thirdly, the lowering of watermains and sewers on Sixth street between Royal and Carnarvon and the laying of a temporary bypass pipe to take care of the water supply while work was in progress. The same also applies to Fourth street. Fourthly, the change recently made in the Municipal Clauses act whereby it makes it necessary for the city in expropriation cases to purchase all of any building or factory where the property owner requires it to do so, instead of purchasing the amount required for the improvement. This would entail a large cost to be met by the property owners as the city can only give the sum of $15,000 under the act. Lastly, the letter stated that the council was anxious to go ahead with the scheme for the permanent improvement of Agnes street, as it recognizes the fact that this street is required for business purposes. It will be necessary for the engineering department to prepare plans at once in order that the work may be carried out this year.

It is expected that the committee will confer with the council this afternoon, and a meeting of the association will be held next Thursday night.

Held Successful Smoker.

The Teamsters' union held a very successful smoker in the Labor Temple last evening. The affair was well patronized by the other unions in the city as well as friends outside the ranks. Songs, speeches and athletic stunts kept those present in good humor until the final but most important act, the eat. All entered for this, and voiced their feelings of satisfaction at the many good things provided by those who had had the matter in charge.

CIVIC WAGES WILL BE PAID BIMONTHLY

Election Pledge to City Employees Redeemed—Reform Put in Force Today—Fridays Favored.

Another election pledge has been redeemed, and today the city's employees will be paid for the first time on the bi-monthly system. Between 5 and 6 o'clock p.m. the city treasurer will pay a half month's wages to the men and twice a month thereafter on the 6th and 20th of each month. If one of these dates falls on a Saturday payment will be made on the preceding Friday.

This was the edict that went forth from the city hall yesterday over the signature of Mayor Lee. It will be remembered that during the municipal elections, Alderman Kellington and other aspirants to office, successful and unsuccessful, made this reform a prominent plank in their platform. That plank has now been transferred to the municipal structure of the city's administration. Henceforth it is hoped that the housekeeping problem of the working man will be made easier and that the small tradesman will find his collections come in more readily.

Makes Fight Legal.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 18.—The House late today passed the Trinn prizefight bill by a vote of 29 to 17. The measure permits 45-round contests, and legalized the proposed Johnson-Flynn fight at Las Vegas, July 4.

TAKES STEPS WITH REGARD TO POLICE

Commissioner T. S. Annandale Will Enquire Into Constables' Salaries and Equipment.

Police Commissioner T. S. Annandale is actively interesting himself with regard to conditions which now prevail in the police force. "If there is anything wrong with the force, it should be righted," he said, and continued. "I have already communicated with the mayor, in fact I was to have interviewed his worship this afternoon upon the subject, but I failed to keep the appointment owing to the rush of matters needing attention previous to my departure for England on Tuesday next. I shall, however, see the mayor this evening or tomorrow. I had no idea that all was not well with the police until my attention was called to the matter through the columns of the Daily News."

CITY STANDS HIGH IN EASTERN PARTS

Mayor Lee Notes Great Change in Attitude Towards Westminster—Not Slow Now.

"While I am anixous to give the people all the information possible regarding the results of my recent trip, at the same time there are so many things to be done consequent on my return that just for the moment I have nothing further to add to the statements which appeared in today's Daily News." Mayor Lee went on to say that the feeling in the East regarding Westminster had changed wonderfully.

"The city is standing higher in the estimation of the East than she has ever done before. Perhaps in one or two places they still think we are a little slow, but a great change has come about there. You would not know that you were dealing with the same people compared with the general attitude two short years ago."

Regarding the by-laws which have recently been affirmed by the people of this city, the mayor said that owing to being on board the train, he did not know for some little time just how matters had gone, but he was naturally delighted to hear the outcome.

"It is an indication that at last the people are taking hold of things and going ahead along the path of progress," he said.

Cattle Rustler Caught.

Stettler, Alta., April 18.—August Blanchard, a Frenchman, is reported to have stolen nineteen head of cattle, a horse, and a saddle in the neighborhood of Morrin, south of Stettler.

Sergeant McBrain, of Stettler, on receipt of information, went out to apprehend Blanchard, but found he had left Morrin for Rumsey. The phone was put in operation and Blanchard was caught by Sergeant Townsend at Trouchu Valley, and will be brought into Stettler on this charge.

ANOTHER GOOD PROGRAM.

It's the same old story at the Royal Theatre ever since the management has been booking in the big shows. Packed houses all the time and a well-pleased audience. It only goes to show that Westminster is a good show town if they get the real stuff. For the new show commencing today there will be three double turns and the illustrated song as well. Ward and Manning are heralded as "Those two entertaining boys who sing and shake their feet." This act was over the Pantages circuit about a year ago with no less a headliner than Pauline. They will present the same act at the Royal as they did on Pantages circuit. A strictly high-class "evening at home" musical act is what Reese and Deane will offer. Mr. Reese has a very high soprano voice, and the lady plays well on the violin. Their act has the stamp of refinement on it, and consequently it is well received whereever they go. Lillian Mason and Alice Millard are a comedy sister act. Their act consists of trick piano playing and lots of good wholesome comedy. Both girls are born comediennes. Louise Byrd will sing "The Turkey Trot," which will be illustrated with lots of chicken slides, etc. One of the pictures that will be shown deserves special mention, it being Niagara Falls in winter. It was taken by the Pathe Co., and they assert it is their best "scenic" this year.

A Favorite Corner.

The post office corner appears to be a favorite place for accidents these days. Yesterday morning one of the delivery wagons employed by Mr. C. A. Welsh was coming down the hill on Sixth street, and although a Burnaby Lake car was approaching, the driver either misjudged the time or thought the car would stop for him to pass. Result, the wagon was swung around one of the electric light standards, breaking the tongue. No damage was done to the team.

PEACE WITH HONOR

Benjamin Disraeli Died Thirty One Years Ago

PRIMROSE DAY CELEBRATED

The Famous Treaty of Berlin Recalled—Primrose League, Its Formation and Objects.

Today is Primrose Day, the anniversary of the death of one of the greatest statesmen of the last century, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, who died 31 years ago.

The origin of Primrose Day may be said to have started when the Earl of Beaconsfield and the Marquis of Salisbury went to Berlin as special plenipotentiaries from Queen Victoria to attend a great conference of the powers which was there taking place. The disruption of the Ottoman empire was threatened, and this was only prevented by the British parliament at the instance of Beaconsfield, the then premier, passing an appropriation of $25,000,000 for the navy, and ordering the British fleet at once to the Dardanelles, letting it be understood that the first blow aimed at Turkey was a blow aimed at Britain also.

The result of this action was the gathering together of a great conference presided over by Prince Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor of Germany, at which probably more noted statesmen sat around the council chamber than has ever been the case before in the history of the world.

The British special ambassadors stood firm against all attack on Turkish territory, and eventually succeeded in carrying their views, which later became embodied in the famous treaty of Berlin.

On returning to London a great demonstration of the people took place, and it having become known that the little primrose was the favorite flower of the great statesman, the citizens wore bouquets in recognition of his return to England, after having obtained, contrary to all expectation, "Peace with Honor."

The Primrose league was the result of this demonstration of public affection for the deceased statesman, and the Marquis of Salisbury was its first grand master. Its objects are the extension of patriotic ideas and a closer association of the empire.

Notwithstanding the many years which have ensued since the passing of Beaconsfield, today his statue outside the Imperial Houses of Parliament is decked with thousands of wreaths, and bouquets of pale primroses, while millions of boutonniers will be worn by men, women and children alike in the crowded streets of the great cities and in the village lanes.

There is no branch of the Primrose league in Canada, but its membership now runs into several millions. Mr. C. H. Stuart Wade, of this city, organized the league in South London, and is a knight commander and past ruling councillor of the order.

TOOK FARMER FOR COUGAR AND FIRED

So Mr. Kay, Charged with Shooting with Intent to Kill, Told District Court.

Harry Edison Kay, of Strawberry Hill, was yesterday brought before Stipendiary Magistrate J. Stilwell Clute, in the district court, on a charge of shooting with intent to murder J. F. Roberts, also of Strawberry Hill. After a lengthy hearing which in fact lasted until nearly 5 p.m., both parties concerned were bound over to keep the peace for one year, each entering into his own recognizances for $500.

From the evidence given it would appear that some friction had existed between the two parties. Mr. Roberts is chairman of the Farmers' Institute at Strawberry Hill, and leaving there on the night of Saturday, April 6, he was driving home accompanied by his wife. Their route lay past Mr. Kay's house and when passing there at about 10:20 it was alleged that Kay came out of the door and fired two shots. Mrs. Roberts stated that she heard the whizz of the bullets overhead.

Mr. Kay stated that he had lately lost a considerable number of chickens, and hearing a noise in the fowl run outside he had surmised that a cougar or other wild animal was there and had fired at the depredator. Evidence was given that a bullet was found in the woodwork of the chicken run.

Mr. W. Norman Bole, K.C., appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. J. R. Grant for the defendant. The case had received a partial hearing at Cloverdale but was then adjourned to this court.

GERMAN CHILD SUICIDES.

Pupils in Fatherland Take Their Own Lives.

Berlin, April 18.—Dr. Reinhold Koerner, a well-known authority on pedagogy, has startled Germany by publishing some appalling statistics of child suicide, showing how they are growing in number from year to year. Coming on top of a work on the same subject by Prof. Eulenburg, and of an enquiry into school life by Dr. Alfred Graf of Nurenberg, Koerner's revelations have made a sensation, and there is a fierce criticism of German school and domestic discipline.

Last year in Prussia alone 731 pupils or students at educational establishments took their lives. That is almost exactly two a day. The figures for the whole empire number over 1000. That is at the rate of eight suicides per 100,000 children of school age. In 1883, the proportion was 6½ per 100,000.

Dr. Koerner's analysis shows that 31 out of 100 child suicides are traced to troubles connected with schooling; that 35 are due to family or personal reasons, while the causes of the remainder are vague or unknown.

Prof. Eulenburg publishes an inquiry into 1215 recent cases of school suicides. Of these 473, or 37 per cent, were caused by fear of punishment, or fear of not passing examinations. At least a third says Eulenburg, must be put down to the school system. The critics of the school system allege too much work, too little play, too official relations between teachers and scholars and the lack of moral influence in the school.

Owing to these factors, trifling troubles which would cause no ill in England or America, lead in Germany to suicide. Thus a boy, after receiving a slight box on the ear, made for the nearest window and threw himself into the street.

Condemns School System.

Dr. Graf's inquiry was made among the distinguished Germans who were asked to state in brief their impression of school life. Nearly every one of them condemned the school system. Prof. Wallott, the architect of the Reichstag, answered: "My school days were the most miserable of my life." Prof. Arthur Kamp answered: "School was abominable." The poet Karl Spitteler replied: "Up to fifteen I hated school; after fifteen I cursed it." Prof. Wassermann described his school life as "a bad dream; tyranny; indifference; lack of care; contempt." Hermann Bahr describes school as "the only time of my life I would not live over again."

The suicide specialists, however, do not think that the bad school atmosphere alone is guilty. Prof Eulenburg ascribes child suicides partly to bad family methods, and Dr. Koerner says that "the tendency of our family training is to destroy discipline." He says the favorite children's authors are "all pessimists or nihilists," and gives a list including Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, Tolstoy, Max Stirner, Hartmann. The German child's novelist is D'Annunzio. Dr. Koerner asked twenty schoolboys what they knew about living Italian whiters. The only three who knew anything had read D'Annunzio's "Triumph of Death."

"In this unhealthy atmosphere," adds Koerner, "the most insignificant trial causes the desire to quit life." His list of causes includes "being joked at for being in love," "desire for distinction," "too much novel reading," "refusal of permission to go boating," "not being allowed to wear a new cap."

"Inability to live," "dread of life," "contempt for fellow-men," all these, says Koerner, are further given as reasons for child suicides. They sufficiently indicate the unhealthy atmosphere in which young Teutons are reared.

HOSPITAL WORK.

Duchess of Connaught Appreciates Efforts of Westminster.

The Duchess of Connaught, through her lady-in-waiting, Miss Evelyn Pelly, wrote recently asking for assistance towards general hospital work. The publicity commissioner replied to the effect that the city authorities were engaged in the task of financing a new hospital which was badly needed in this locality.

This letter was acknowledged yesterday by Miss Pelly as follows:

"Dear Mr. Wade—Many thanks for your kind letter. Her Royal Highness quite appreciates all that you are doing in New Westminster for hospital work. It hardly seems possible that you will be able to do anything to assist the Victorian order at present, but if you are able to contribute at a later date we will be grateful."

MAKE HUGE GAINS.

Customs Revenue of Twelve Largest Ports Shoots Upward.

Ottawa, April 18.—The official comparative statement of the customs revenue of the twelve largest ports in the Dominion for the fiscal year, ending March, 1911 and 1912, issued today, shows tremendous gains made by all the great ports of entry in the country. Strikingly large gains have been made by Winnipeg and Vancouver. Fort William was this year for the first time numbered among the twelve largest ports, replacing St. John, N. B., which has been forced out of the running. Although Ottawa made a great gain over last year she goes down from tenth to twelfth place in the list. London drops out altogether, and Calgary appears for the first time. The comparative statement follows, the first mentioned figures for each city being those of 1910-1911, and the second 1911-1912:

Montreal $18,330,133.22 — $19,855,559.75.

Winnipeg $6,478,163.02 — $8,057,927.43.

Vancouver $5,499,736—$7,221,632.16.

Hamilton $2,141,923.26—$2,519,930.39

Halifax $1,772,964.09—$2,117,107.09.

Windsor $1,441,720.31—$2,098,934.70

Victoria $1,539,575.27—$1,925,205.22.

Calgary not among first twelve—$1,836,061.99.

Quebec $1,560,359.09—$1,759,817.18.

Fort William not among first twelve—$1,549,712.54.

Ottawa $1,265,457.37—$1,474,556.40.

BOY SCOUT LIVES UP TO IDEALS OF CORPS

An unnamed boy scout lived up to his ideals of chivalry and efficiency on last Tuesday when he bound up the foot of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Harmon. Little William Harmon was out at Sapperton that afternoon and cut his foot very badly. A boy scout saw the accident and promptly came up and tearing his own shirt into bandages bound up the wound quite skillfully. Having completed this part of his work he saw young Harmon home and then with real modesty left without giving his name.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, who live at 715 Royal avenue, wish to thank this boy scout for his action. They are very grateful for his kindly care of their son.

WINNIPEGGERS DUPED BY NEWSPAPER CROOKS

Winnipeg, Man., April 18.—After a meteoric career, covering three months, during which the trio did up local hotels, taxicab proprietors, a boarding house keeper and a printing firm, to the tune of several thousand dollars, the three associated editors of Events of the Week, a theatrical advertising sheet, made good their getaway on Thursday and are now safely across the international boundary.

William Chamberlain, who has a family at Orange, N. J., and was conspicuous around town by reason of his great height, was the prime mover. The other two were Harry E. Diddlebeck, who acted as business manager, and J. C. Gordon, who claimed to have been in the employ of the Bank of Montreal in British Columbia, secretary to the defunct sheet.

Besides carrying on this publication the trio ran the Bohemian Club, on Broadway, where boxing bouts and after-theatre orgies were pulled off. The Henderson Bros., who printed the paper, are heavy losers, and a number of local tradesmen are among those stung.

CANADIANS TO EXPLOIT JAMAICA'S BANANA CROP

Kingston Jamaica, April 18.—The Jamaican Government has authorized negotiations with the Canadian government for subsidizing a line of steamers to run between Jamaica and Halifax, and thence to England, with Boston as the winter port call. The proposal has been submitted to the government by Canadians, aiming at the formation of a million-dollar company to acquire fifty thousand acres of banana lands on the north side recently taken over from a New York company. The scheme provides for an electric tramway service for the transportation of bananas to the ports.

Italian Dreadnought.

Rome, April 17.—A specially appointed board of admirals has adopted a new type of Dreadnought. It is to be of 29,000 tons displacement and have a speed of 25 knots. The armament will consist of ten 14.3-inch guns and ten or more guns of 6 inches. The ships will cost about $18,000,000 each.

The board disapproved of building scout ships. Destroyers of 1000 tons displacement would serve better, especially in the Italian navy while their services would be limited to the waters in the vicinity of Rome. It has, therefore, been determined to increase the displacement of destroyers and discontinue the building of scout ships and smart craft.

WESTMINSTER'S HARBOR.

Mayor Lee has come back from Ottawa, and for the present at least, has no startling announcement to make. While this may be a disappointment to some real estate men, who are always looking for a sudden jump in prices of real property, it should not be so to the business man. For the mayor has not come back with a tale of failure, but one of success. Really big things are not done with a stroke of the pen except in stories about great men that omit the bulk of the truth. Hard work and long preparation is necessary before the, perhaps, apparently dramatic move is made. That hard work is now being carried out successfully.

Of course we all want to know the details of the harbor scheme. We all want to know that it is to be carried out and that it is to be carried out as soon as possible. It takes more than a year to build an up-to-date harbor, and the opening of the Panama canal is approaching rapidly. All doubts as to the moving of the prairie grain by the western route have vanished before the logical arguments of hard facts and figures, and the actions of the big railway and grain men of the country are proof of this fact. Much is being spoken and written of Victoria as the great storage and export port for the western grain, and too little of Westminster. Victoria can not really compare with the Fraser river for facilities both for shipping and storing wheat. Cheap elevator sites can be bought up and down this river for miles. Westminster lies at the end of the same transcontinentals as Vancouver does, and there seems little reason to break bulk and tranship to Victoria. Finally Westminster has fresh water which no other harbor on the British Columbia coast possesses.

But to take advantage of all these superiorities it is necessary to make the river thoroughly navigable and to provide accommodation for ships of all sizes to dock and clean their bottoms. "With plenty of water under her bottom, a ship just loves to go into fresh water," said a prominent shipping man in Vancouver the other day. It is up to us, to the citizens of Westminster, to see that the ships can find plenty of water in the Fraser. It is up to us to see that there will be wharves and docks for those ships to berth at, when they have entered the river. It is up to us to see that there are elevators and industries to supply them with freight to carry away from here, when they leave. The fate of Westminster is in our own hands. A city is its people. If the people are confident and industrious the city will prosper and become great; if they are small-minded and lazy the city will be stagnant.

MAY QUEEN'S THANKS.

New Westminster,
April 13, 1912.

Editor, Daily News:

Sir—I wish to make use of your columns to express my hearty thanks to all my schoolmates for the great honor that has been done me in electing me May Queen for this year's celebration. I am all the more pleased because the election was carried out with such a good spirit throughout.

Of course I am also very pleased that I was lucky enough to be selected, and I will be glad to have my unsuccessful candidates as Maids of Honor on May 3.

I would like, with your kind permission, to extend through the columns of the Daily News a very hearty invitation to all the children of Vancouver to come over to Westminster on the date of our holiday and join in the celebration with us.

ANNIE STATON,
May Queen Elect.

THE ROAD TO WEALTH.

Government Annuity Scheme Provides Comfort for Old Age.

There is an old saying that any fool can make money, but that it takes a wise man to keep it. The opinion of Rothschild the eminent banker, however, was that it required a great deal of boldness and a great deal of caution to make a great fortune, and that when you got it it required ten times greater wit to keep it. The last idea was one which he frequently expressed, and is one with the truth of which many others have been impressed. There is no doubt we might with profit follow the advice which the old Scotchman gave to his son, that it was not what he might make that would make him rich, but what he might save; but the majority of us "remain spendthrifts still," and so long as we do the poor house will not want for occupants.

Riches like many other things go by comparison, and some people would consider themselves rich in purse if they were sure they would have an income of $200 or $300 a year until the end, while others with as many thousands per annum would regard themselves as poor. A man who was once in affluent circumstances, but who now, in his 75th year, is in absolute penury, had for a long time been calling every Saturday on a friend for the loan of a dollad to help him out. On his last call the friend who had been investigating the Government Annuities system, and who had since become a purchaser, said to him: "I suppose, Blank, if you had $300 a year you would consider yourself a rich man?" To which the old gentleman replied: "If I had $200 a year, I would think myself the richest man in town." When the friend explained to the old gentlemen that at his age he could, had he the sum of $1196, purchase a Government Annuity of $200, he realized how small was the amount which stood between him and comparative wealth, and remarked, as he spanned the years since his youth, "the dollars I have wastefully spent, would be warm friends to me now." To show our young people how rapidly the purchasing power of money increases under the Government Annuities system where payments are begun at an early age, we might point that if at the age of 25 this man could have paid into a scheme like the Government Annuities scheme but one payment of $50 (fifty dollars), that payment would have given him from and after 75 an annuity for life, payable quarterly, of $206.25.

There are thousands of men in Canada today who think as this old gentleman does, and fifty years hence it is to be hoped that there will be hundreds of thousands of men, and women, too, who will rejoice at the fact that at the age of 25 or younger they discovered the true road to wealth, and had paid into the Government Annuities system the sum of $50, or such other amounts as they were from time to time able to spare. It may be of further interest to our young people to know that, according to mortality experience tables, of 109,230 male children of five years of age, 28,820 will live to be 75, or 1500 more than 25 per cent; and that out of the same number of female children of same age, 36,042, or nearly one-third of the number, will still be living at 75. Should a man, therefore, not ask himself whither I am drifting—to an old age of comfort and happiness, or to the poor house? He should enquire at once for information in regard to this splendid system of saving, which may be obtained at the postoffice or on application to the superintendent of annuities, Ottawa, to whom his letter may be sent free of charge.

MORGAN SHUSTER DEPARTS TO SOUTH AMERICAN POST

Washington, April 18.—Mr. W. Morgan Shuster, who as Treasurer General of Persia created a diplomatic crisis in the affairs of that buffer state, has been appointed Central and South American representative of the National City Company of New York. He will soon leave Washington for South America, where the National City Company, of which Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip is president, has large investments.

It is the intention of this house still further to extend its interests, and Mr. Shuster has been appointed because of his experience in tariff administration in Cuba and the Phillipines. After his stirring experience in Persia Mr. Shuster returned to practice law in Washington.

The National City Company, many of whose stockholders are also stockholders of the National City Bank, which has the same president, is engaged in foreign business, which a national bank is forbidden to enter.

Edmonton's Fame.

Edmonton, April 18.—Edmonton, Alta., is talked of more in England than the Edmonton located on the other side of the water. As an evidence of this fact a letter received at the city hall this morning was only addressed to Edmonton, and whether it should remain across the seas or come to Canada was not designated. However, the postmasters decided to allow it a long journey, and consequently the missive reached this city. It was opened, and the discovery made that the letter should have gone to Edmonton, England.

"Francis Payne, clerk of the council, Edmonton," was the address on the envelope. It was an application for the position of sanitary inspector, and came from a resident of Montrose, England.

THE COAL MINER.

The Autocrat of the Colliery Knows His Own Mind.

He is a big, burly man with stern eyes and a firm chin. He can knock-out the cleverest boxer in the district. He does not talk much, and what he says is always to the point.

He has worked many men of different colors and creeds in different parts of the world, from the low-caste coolie of the Indian colliery to the dour Scotch miner and the excitable Welshman, and he knows how to rule them.

He has a keen appreciation for the skilled miner, but does not hesitate to tell you that he is glad wherever possible to use the mechanical coal cutter in his place.

"The coal cutter," he says, "does not talk!"

He is the head manager at the colliery, and with him is the last word in all the thousand-and-one problems which arise from time to time in the practical working of the pit. He works harder than any other man in Colliery Row.

If he is not underground inspecting some portion of the workings he is in his office at the pit-head busy with plans for future development. His staff of assistant-managers is large and competent, but he has constantly to receive from them their reports.

The outsider, seeing his life, wonders when he finds time to feed and sleep.

If he leaves Colliery Row, even for a week-end, he must go somewhere where he can be reached by telephone if necessary by his head assistant.

His business in life is to get as many tons of coal as is possible out of the pit every day, and to keep the pit working, and it involves, amongst other heavy responsibilities, that of the safety as well as that of the management of hundreds of men and boys.

If disaster comes and men are entombed in the pit, it is he who heads the rescue party and directs their operations underground. In such circumstances he has been known to work for an incredible number of hours in his skull cap and pit "duds," hardly stopping for food and rarely coming to bank.

He has no illusions about the outlook. He knows that while the strike lasts, he will be the most unpopular man in Colliery Row, and that it is just as likely as not, if bad blood is kindled, that his windows will be stoned and he will have to face a riotous mob.

He has faced a mob before, and he will do it again. He is a stranger to fear.

And he will bear no ill-will to the miners when it is all over and he gets the pit working again, even though he will realize more justly than any other man all that the strike has cost. He knows that the miners have no personal grudge against him, and that many of them respect him. It is as the chief representative in their midst of their opponents, and not as himself, that the miners anathematize him during the strike.

He is the strong man in Colliery Row.

Where Wills Are Kept In Safety.

Year after year cases—often resulting in much litigation—occur of missing wills, the documents either being mislaid or lost through carelessness, or maybe stolen by someone having an interest in their possession. And yet it is quite a simple matter for a testator to have his or her will safeguarded against such mishaps, quite apart from leaving it in the custody of a solicitor or banker.

At Somerset House, London, there is a depository for the safe custody of the wills of living persons. But this fact seems so little known that scarcely more than a dozen people a year take advantage of this depository; and yet it is quite an easy matter to place one's will in the depository at Somerset House for a few shillings and thus safeguard against loss.

Perhaps there are some people who are under the belief that a will deposited at Somerset House restricts them in the matter of making any alteration afterwards. As a matter of fact, a will once deposited at Somerset House is not delivered up, but the testator is free either to have it destroyed in the presence of an official or to alter it by codicil. He may even revoke it by another will which is not deposited. The freedom of the testator to change his mind is, indeed, absolutely untouched.

King George at Home.

When King George entered his private room on his return from his Indian visit he found a mass of correspondence arranged for his examination that made him smile. "Enough work here for a month, I suppose," he remarked to Lord Stamfordham. It was plain that he was only too anxious to get to work. His quick, alert manner of moving about, glancing with pleasure at various objects in his apartments, pausing every now and then to make some brief reference to matters that immediately interested him, was gratifying to behold, since it indicated better than anything else could have done the downright joy that he felt at being back in his London "home," while it equally conclusively demonstrated that his health had not been impaired by the fatigues of the last few months.

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance. James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,884 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.57 gallons a day, and that at each house 204.24 gallons were disposed of in the same period.

FIRST PRACTISE WELL ATTENDED

Getting Rid of the Kinks—Players Report Themselves in Good Form —Easterners Expected.

Seven members of the Westminster team for 1912 last evening answered the call for practice and for a good hour went through the first evolutions necessary to get a player into championship form. Those seen on the Queens park oval were Tommy and Hughie Gifford, the Rennie brothers, Johnny Howard, Pat Feeney and Irving Wintemute. Manager Gray was also on hand to look after the details, such as ordering apparatus, uniforms, etc., which will be forthcoming in a few days.

All the players report themselves in good shape after the long winter's layoff and in a few days will be able to go the pace necessary to regain the Minto cup which all claim will be on the banks of the Fraser once more before the year ends.

McCarty, the Shamrock player, blew into the training quarters after the practice was over and will be seen in uniform this evening. It is expected that Bun Clark will also be on hand, he having announced that he had found quarters in the city and will be on deck this evening. No reply has been received from Pete Barnett and Art Warwick, the Toronto players who have been tendered contracts, but it is expected that they will be seen in the city before many days have elapsed, having signified a wish to play for the Red Shirts this coming season.

Football.

Members of the Senior Amateur soccer team are requested to be on hand on Saturday to play in the Sapperton-City game. Having got wind of the practice which the Rovers indulged in last evening, the amateur boys are taking no chances of getting out of condition before the great game on Saturday week, when the professionals and the amateurs clash for the championship of the city.

A Training Venture.

Toronto, April 18.—The biggest training venture that a lacrosse team ever contemplated is part of the program that the Toronto Lacrosse Club have mapped out for the coming season. The team will go to Atlantic City early in May for a stay of ten days or two weeks, to prepare for the coming D. L. U. schedule. Secretary Hubbard will complete arrangements before the end of the month, and unless plans go astray, the team will figure in a number of exhibition matches with the American college teams. This is the first time in the history of the national game that a team or club ever considered a training trip, but the Torontos are going into the game heavily.

Splendid Stadium.

Toronto, April 18.—According to Mr. Robert J. Fleming the Toronto Street Railway is considering the advisability of erecting a splendid and costly stadium at Scarboro Beach, to prepare for the coming lacrosse season. The present stands are inadequate, whereas the Island Stadium can accommodate upwards of 20,000. The architects will be consulted this week, and the work, if decided upon, will be rushed through to completion at once. It will cost thousands of dollars, and means the permanent selection of Scarboro Beach as a lacrosse field for the Toronto Big Four twelve.

Here's Actual Money.

A contemporary took delight in announcing last evening that Eddie Powers had "put one over" on the News by showing a representative of this paper a $500 bill, which the News stated had been received by Powers from the Torontos in advance.

The real truth of the matter is as published in the News, Mr. R. J. Fleming being authority for the statement that he handed Powers a $500 bill Saturday evening to bind him to a contract to play with the Torontos this year.

The remainder will be paid in five monthly instalments. Powers will be one of the highest paid men in the East.—Toronto News.

FAVORITE ARCHDUKE.

Spartan Life of Royal Couple—An Ideal Husband.

Vienna, April 18.—Today in and around the Austrian Capital may be seen in the eighty-five-year-old uncle of the emperor, Archduke Rainer, repairing his youth in a magnificent automobile. It is a new joy to him in more ways than one, for it was a present from his relatives on his diamond wedding the other day—and it enables him to cover long distances without much physical exertion.

Of all the celebration offerings this car has proved the most successful in the eyes of the archduke. The children of the various archdukes and archduchesses are happy in the bags of five thousand crowns they each received from his wife, the Archduchess Marie Catherine, at the festive gathering, and the stallkeepers in the Naschmarlet, the last and greatest of Vienna's open air markets, are still delighted with the reception of their delegation sent to the archducal palace to congratulate the royal pair. But there is a keener zest still in the enthusiasm with which the archduke has taken to his new car.

With the single exception of his nephew, Emperor Franz Josef—himself only four years the junior of his uncle—no member of the imperial family of the Hapsburgs is so generally beloved. Archduchess Marie is scarcely less popular than her husband, but unfortunately she has been indifferent health for some years past and is less seen in public. The imperial couple live in an extremely simply way. They have a big palace in the Wieden, surrounded by extensive gardens in which they both take a great deal of pleasure. Then they have a delightful summer residence at Baden, fifteen miles outside Vienna, where they live outdoors as much as possible They are both great believers in fresh air and drive out in almost any kind of weather.

Leads Simple Life.

At eighty-five the archduke still manages to rise at half past five in the morning, but this is an hour and a half later than his nephew, the emperor. Summer and winter alike, unless the weather is very bad, he takes an early walk in the gardens and returns to breakfast with the archduchess about half-past seven. He is content with just a glass of milk at this time, but his wife takes either tea or coffee with rolls—no butter. After this frugal meal the archduke proceeds to enjoy the morning papers, for he is a great newspaper reader. He takes the keenest interest in the world's happenings and appreciates especially a good editorial or special article. After finishing the papers he receives the household officials and attends to all the business connected with the administration of the palace and his estates.

The archduke is a wealthy man, for he has outlived so many of his imperial relatives that in recent years he has succeeded to some substantial heritages. Not the least part of his work is the investigation of appeals for assistance, for the archduke's charities are generous and widely distributed.

After all this business is finished the archduke takes another walk in the gardens, or if the weather is bad, reads to his wife, who is obliged to spend most of her time indoors. Very frequently he will visit some studio, for he takes the greatest interest in art and knows all the really important painters and sculptors in the city. And he is even more interested in science, having been for many years the active president of the Imperial Academy of Sciences. He delights especially in the society of scientists and receives many of them in his palace, entertaining them at luncheons and dinners. The success which the academy has attained is largely due to his influential and energetic support.

Drives in Public.

At half-past twelve the first real meal of the day is served. It is very simple, and many a Viennese business man eats a much more elaborate and expensive repast. A light entree, one kind of meat, cakes and fruit—strawberries whenever possible—make up the meal, with generally one glass of light white wine. Then the couple go for their afternoon drive in a half open landau. Usually they go to the Prater, remaining out an hour and a half or so. Afterwards they enjoy a social time with their household suite, with whom they dine at half-past five. Dinner is not very much more elaborate than lunch. Soup, an entree, meat and light pastry comprise the whole menu. Coffee is served very rarely.

Almost every evening the archduke may be seen in the theatre, or rather in the Imperial opera, particularly whenever there is an Italian work or something by Beethoven or Mozart. If anyone tells him of a good play he always goes to see it. In Wagner opera he prefer "Lohengrin," "Tannhauser," and "The Flying Dutchman." As to the composer's other works, he calls them "higher mathematics in music." The archduke goes to the opera quite alone, always walking there and back when the weather is fine.

Waits on Wife Personally.

A very simple apartment is the bedroom of the imperial couple; indeed, it might be that of an ordinary Viennese family. The furniture is all in wood, consisting only of beds, wardrobes, chairs and tables. The most important article in the room is a small spirit lamp. The archduchess is frequently disturbed by a cough in the night, and the archduke, without calling any servants, gets up himself and makes her some soothing tea, prepared beforehand and only requiring to be heated.

Most of the summer is spent at the villa in Baden. The archduke goes to the station alone and buys his ticket like any ordinary traveler. He wants no reserved compartment, but gets into the first one which has room and there he enters readily into conversation with any fellow-passenger. This easy sociability is the more remarkable because the members of the Austrian imperial family as a rule hold themselves entirely aloof from outsiders, even from the aristocracy. The famous Vienna Jockey Club, one of the most exclusive clubs in the world, frequented by the highest nobles in the monarchy, has no archduke on its list of members; nor do any of them ever go there. The late King Edward was the oldest honorary member of the club and always played cards there when he came to Vienna.

EGYPTIAN OIL.

Suez Fields Promise Great Production in Future.

Cairo, April 18.—Anglo-Egyptian financiers see big things in the development of the oilfields that lie near the Suez canal. This year they say nearly half a million tons of crude oil will be produced along the Red sea area.

Refineries are now being erected on the Egyptian coast, and meanwhile big consignments of the oil are being refined in Asiatic plants. The movement has given a tremendous fillip to oil prospecting in Egyptian and Turkish terriotory, helped by the rapid development of oil engines for ships. Such new supplies adjacent to the Suez canal are being viewed with the keenest interest by shipowners, who consider the provision of crude oil at that point is a vital consideration in the economical running of freight vessels with internal combustion engines.

Such an equipment would enable an enormous saving to be effected, for while at present vessels have to carry enough coal for eastward voyages to last out and home, with oil engines oil would be loaded at Suez to last till the return trip, when a fresh supply would be shipped for the westward voyage.

Terrible Famine Scenes.

Shanghai, April 18.—Mr. Sparling of the Canadian Methodist Mission, who is engaged in relief work under the direction of the Central China Famine Relief Committee in North Kiangsu, reports that during the three days of big rain last week three hundred persons died in the township where he is working.

Dr. J. B. Woods, the Famine Relief Committee's Superintendent for North Kiangsu, reports that they are now feeding in the vicinity of Tsingkiangpu forty-eight thousand one hundred and sixty people, of whom something over ten thousand are able to work at digging drainage ditches. They are now working at three points, and he expects to begin at two more places in seven days.

At the meeting of the Famine Relief Committee in Shanghai on Friday, March 8, $20,000 additional was voted for this district, and it will be possible to extend the work and save a large number of people. It is utterly out of the question, however, with the limited funds at present on hand to anything like meet the situation.

ATTACKED MASHER.

Sixteen-Year-Old Girl Resents Offensive Man Who Accosts Her.

New York, April 18.—Having been annoyed for more than a week by a man who followed her to and from public school No. 157, St. Nicholas avenue and 127th street, Miss Carrie Thompson, sixteen years old, of No. 501 West 144th street, yesterday caused the arrest of John F. Foglia, who said he was a cashier living at No. 1491 Amsterdam avenue. Magistrate Harris, in the Harlem Police Court, sentenced Foglia to an indeterminate period in the workhouse on Blackwell's Island.

Miss Thompson complained to her father, James Thompson, last Thursday that a man persisted in accosting her every morning, raising his hat and greeting her with "Hello, dearie; may I carry your books?" Although she ignored his attentions, Miss Thompson said the man waited for her after school hours. Intending to make an example of his daughter's annoyer, Mr. Thompson watched the man several days.

With Detective Glery, Mr. Thompson followed his daughter yesterday. The man tipped his hat to her at 136th street and Amsterdam avenue, and walked by her side. Receiving no encouragement, he left the young woman and hastened through West 132nd street. Near the school he approached Miss Thompson again, saying, "Hello, dearie."

Miss Thompson struck him with her strapped books and the blow staggered him. Mr. Thompson and the detective grabbed him.

FORTY-NINE ENTRIES IN AUTO GRAND PRIX RACE

Paris, April 18.—With forty-nine fully paid entries and the prospect of more at double fees, the grand prix race at the Automobile Club of France, to be run during the second fortnight in June, is already assured of success. It will have the largest number of entrants of any European race run during the past five or six years, for the 1908 grand prix, which made a record in this respect, had just forty-nine cars.

The grand prix is unique by reason of the distance to be covered. It has been decided that the test shall comprise a race of 1200 miles, to be covered in two consecutive days, the cars to be placed in a garage under military guardianship at the close of the first day, and only handed over to the irrespective drivers a few minutes before the start of the second day's racing. It is considered by the racing board that the stamina of the various cars can only be revealed by a long distance test of this nature.

The French firms taking part in the race are: Lorraine-Deitrich, four cars; Peugeot four cars; Darracq, four; Gregorie, four; Alcyon, three; Vinot & Decquingand, three; Saizaire & Naudin, three; Schneider, three Koecklin, one; and Cote, two. The English cars already entered are: Sunbeam, four; Singer, two; Vauxhall, three, Arrol-Johnston, three, and Calthrope, three. Germany sends one Mathis car, Belgium is represented by an Excelsior, and at present the only American entrant is a Ford, put in by Henri Depass, the selling agent of the company in France. All the cars are four-cylinder models, with the exception of the two Cotes and the Koecklin, which are two-cycle types.

Makes Hair Grow

Ryall has an invigorator that will grow hair or money back.

The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed.

And remember, it destroys the Dandruff germ, the little pest that saps the life that should go to the hair from the roots.

SALVIA is sold by Ryall under a positive guarantee to cure Dandruff, stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp in ten days, or money back. A large bottle costs 50c. The word "SALVIA" (Latin for sage) is on every bottle.

Do Not Waste Money

Save a little systematically, for it is the stuff that the foundations of wealth and happiness are built of.

Money may be used in two ways; to spend for what is needed now and to invest for what shall be needed in the future. Money cannot be invested until it is first saved.

Housebreaker Heldup.

Held at the point of a loaded revolver in a second-hand store until the arrival of the police, Richard Manning was this morning charged with housebreaking and thert. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Monday for trial.

It was while Manning was attempting to dispose of a suit case that belonged to Dr. Madden that he was arrested. The police say that in his room they found other goods that had been stolen.

The residence of Dr. Madden and Dr. Moshier was entered Thursday. Clothing to the value of over $150 was stolen. The police were notified, and they in turn instructed second-hand stores to be on guard for attempted sale of the stolen goods. When Manning entered Goodman's that gentleman telephoned the police, and until they came he held Manning at the point of a gun.

Manning claims that he got the suitcase from a boy on the street.

John McBride and Richard Clayton, who came to the station after Manning's arrest and asked for him, were arrested on suspicion. McBride had just been released after spending four months in Lethbridge jail for theft. Clayton is not known locally, and when arraigned on a charge of vagrancy protested vehemently. Both men were remanded until Monday, and in the meantime the police will investigate their connection with the case.

To the court Clayton asserted that he had just come to Calgary. He said he arrived with $286 and that after a single day he woke up in a hotel with $7 left. He claimed that he had gone to the police station to identify a man held there as the one who had taken his roll.

MISS DUDELSACK SCORED STRONGLY AT OPERA

"Miss Dudelsack" drew a good house last night and proved a great success. Miss Lulu Glaser's acting was delightful and Mr. Thomas Richards played the part of Johnny Mac excellently. The singing was very tuneful and a good orchestra proved unusually acceptable. In short a fine success all round.
