UNITED STATES INQUIRY INTO WRECK OF STEAMER TITANIC

Points to Lack of Precaution On Part of Company---Bruce Ismay Severely Criticised---Lord Mersey to Conduct British Enquiry

(Special to the Herald)

Vancouver, April 25. — Lord Mersey has been selected to conduct an inquiry into the wreck of the Titanic on behalf of Great Britain. Lord Mersey was formerly Justice Bigham, president of the Admiralty Divisional High Court, and he has had a long expert training in shipwreck inquiries.

The United States inquiry, which is now in progress, indicates a lack of precaution on the part of the White Star Company. Capt. Smith's record is apparently clear and he is not being connected with the wreck. Major Puechan, of Toronto, who commanded one of the life boats after the disaster, makes sweeping charges of inefficiency of equipment and sailors. He says there was no boat drill, and very little discipline.

Frederick Fleet, the lookout on duty when the iceberg was sighted, said that he could have seen the ice in time to have saved the collison had he been furnished with binoculars. He had asked for them some time previous but had been told that there were none available.

There is considerable criticism at the inquiry regarding the supression of cables by the White Star Company, and also of their efforts to ship the seamen back to England before giving their testomy. Vice President Franklin and Bruce Ismay both deny any attempt to supress the evidence. Ismay is criticised for his attempt to hold the Cedric for his return to England, and he is generally very unpopular.

The cable ship MacKay Bennett, now on her way to New York, has picked up sixty-four bodies. Some were buried at sea and others have been embalmed.

SILVER STANDARD BETTER THAN EVER

Messrs. McLeod, McHugh and Stewart Visited the Property Tuesday— Shaft is Down 100 Feet and the Ore is Very Rich

Returning from their trip to the south A. L. McHugh and Angus Stewart arrived in New Hazelton on Monday afternoon and on Tuesday morning in company with D. McLeod, went out to Silver Standard mine. They returned to town that night and stated that they were more than pleased with the way the ore is staying with them and also with the progress of the work. They got there just after a round of holes had been fired and when they went down into the shaft the ore was glistening for a width of two feet or more and right across the bottom of the shaft. The ore is carrying big values in grey copper and will run several hundred dollars to the ton. They brought some fine samples down with them. Mr. Stewart predicts that there will be a lot of good mines in this district and his enthusiasm is increasing as the development work proceeds.

Chas. S. DeVoin Dead

L. L. DeVoin received word yesterday morning of the death of his uncle, Chas. S. DeVoin, at Pond Du Lac, Wis., on March 10th. The deceased was awakened by fire in his building and went up on the roof to extinguish the flames which he succeeded in doing with the assistance of his wife. The fire chief warned him of his dangerous position and advised him to get off the roof. Mr. De Voin obeyed the warning and while getting down the ladder he fell from the roof to the ground Death was due to shock.

EXTENDING THE TELEPHONE LINE

Local Telephone Line Will Connect with Harris Mines, Silver Standard and Other Mines

As the development work on several of the mines on Nine Mile and Glen Mountain is growing and the miners employed is on the increase the superintendents find it difficult to come down to town every time they have a little business to look after. To overcome this inconvenience, arrangements have been made to extend the telephone line. Messrs. Slinger & Ayerde have ordered the new wire and they will get the poles ready so that it can be strung as soon as it arrives.

Sold His Kispiox Farm

Jas. Short has disposed of his 144 acre farm in the Kispiox Valley to Chas. Pierce who has been employed at the Interior Saw Mill all winter. He has on his new property about 20 acres under cultivation and he intends to clear a lot more and get it ready for next spring crop. This week he received a fine big team of horses for the farm. Mr. Short is locating on some property on Two Mile creek near the government road and will establish a poultry farm to which he will devote all his attention in future.

General Strike Threatened

(Special to the Herald)

Kansas City, April 25.— The Federation of Railway Employees in convention here today sent a message to President Taft asking for intervention in the Harriman railway strike, and in case of failure they threaten a general strike of 300,000 members of the Federation spread over the entire west.

SMALL FARMS ARE IN DEMAND

J. H. Kugler will Put on Hazelton Gardens and Kispiox Forty Acre Farms this Summer

The large tract of land across the Skeena river from old Hazelton will very shortly be divided into small garden tracts and put on the market. J. H. Kugler and associates have purchased 936 acres, together with Capt. McPhatter's land and it will be known and sold as Hazelton Gardens. Capt. McPhatter has had part of his land under cultivation for a couple of years or more and it has proven very satisfactory for garden truck. The land all lies well for that branch of agriculture. It has a frontage on the Skeena river for two miles.

In addition to this large block the same parties will put on a large tract of land just above town in the Kispiox valley to be known as the Kispiox Forty Acre Farms.

Near New Hazelton and on the same side of the river another tract of land will be put on this summer in five and ten acre lots.

These small farms will all be devoted to small fruits, vegetables, poultry and other lines of agriculture that will prove profitable. That there is a great demand for them is evidenced by the fact that already a great many people are enquiring for small farms and garden tracts in this vicinity, and there will be a great many people here this summer to look over this land. Mr. Kugler is now getting out his literature and preparing for the campaign.

BUILDING FERRY TO CROSS BULKLEY

Local Citizens Subscribe Funds---Ferry will be Ready for Service in a Couple of Weeks

As a result of the action of the Board of Trade in appointing a committee to take up the matter of a ferry across the Bulkley river, a charter for which was held by R. S. Sargent, a fund has been established and the contract awarded for the ferry. Citizens subscribed liberally and it was not long until this much needed means of transportation was underway. The contract was awarded to Warop and Brown The cable is here and very soon the old town will be in close touch with the railway side of the river. This will be a great convenience to the stage lines and for teamsters as well as citizens travelling up and down to Skeena Crossing.

Tennis Club

A Tennis Clnb with an exclusive membership is being organized this week. The grounds will likely be adjoining Harris' house and some of the boys were up last night sizing the place up. There will be room for two courts and the grounds will not require much fixing.

OMINECA GOLDFIELDS ARE AGAIN ALIVE WITH MINERS

After Forty Years This Historic Country is Being Worked Scientifically---Hydraulic Plants Working and Being Installed— Big Money in Sight--Wm. Steele Comes to Town after Four Years' Absence

Wm. Steele, deputy mining recorder at Manson creek in the Omineca district, arrived in town on Monday night and has been renewing old friends. Mr. Steele is in partnership with Jack Mullen and they hold several very valuable placer leases in the Omineca. Part of these holdings they have disposed of to Mr. Bowen, of Seattle, who will go into the country this summer as soon as the boats start to run and he will take in with him several men and a hydraulic plant worth some $25,000. During the summer Bowen will prove up the ground and get a line on the values and install the plant and have everything ready for a big season next year.

Mr. Steele is hurrying back to the Manson creek country and the Lost creek ground. On the latter he and Mullen have taken a couple of leases and intend to work them this season. They are confident that they have the channel and if true they will clean up a bunch of money before fall, as everyone who has found the channel on the Lost creek has taken out big values. They have several other leases in there which they will either work or sell this season. Mr. Steele says that the Omineca is coming into its own this season. The class of men who are going in are men with money and who intend to work the ground properly. This rush is no wild aimless rush of over forty years ago. Every time a lease is taken or a sale is made the money is paid down, and the new people are taking in machinery as fast as they can get it there. In another year there will be great values taken out of the Omineca. The ground is good and there is lots of it.

Before he left Mr. Steele says that Mr. Otterson and party had arrived safely and that they were now making great headway on the season's work. They have opened up a drain which will give them better lifting power. They have three half mile leases on the lower Manson creek and they are well satisfied with them. In fact one shareholder is so pleased that he has invested several thousand dollars more in the stock of the Manson Creek Hydraulic & Dredging Co. and he wants more but cannot get it. Mr. Otterson had an Indian hauling pipe from Germanson creek, some eighteen miles, all winter and he has got it all on the ground now. The water is running through their ditch and they expect to start piping about May 1st.

C. L. Lowe, who was one of Otterson's party, is working with them, but he is also looking after some five claims on Boulder creek a deal for which he has on with Bowen of Seattle, who will be in very soon now.

The Royal Standard Investment Co., of Vancouver, have 8 or 9 leases on the lower part of Germanson creek which they will start work on this season. As soon as the boats start they will bring in a hydraulic plant and send a large pack train out from town with supplies. Operations will be started a little later in the season and will be continued all winter. Next season will be the big season for them.

H. M. Beach, of the Kildare Co., will be on some time in July and he will bring a mining engineer with him for the purpose of devising a scheme for increasing the water power on their Slate creek property.

Dr. Stanwood, of Los Angeles, and his partner Stanley Green, who went in with Otterson this spring, is more than pleased with the country and he intends to remain there all summer. He states that there will be immense money made in the Omineca, not only in the placer diggings but also in quartz mining. All that is needed now to bring the quartz properties to the fore is the prospect for better transportation. Mr. Steele states that in the past it has been so hard to get in and out and so little likelihood of a road or railroad that one never looked for quartz. The fact remains, however, that there is free milling gold and in large bodies. He looks for the Omineca to be as great a quartz mining camp as the Hazelton district is, and he is more than surprised with the development that has been done here since his last visit.

After four years of constant application to his work in the Omineca country and particularly around Manson creek, Wm. Steele arrived in town on Monday night and spent a few days here on business and then returned to the big gold country. It is now ten years since he saw salt water and it is fourteen years since he went into the country. He has seen an automobile once and then at a considerable distance so that when he goes down to Vancouver and other cities in the south and east next fall he expects to have a great time catching up with modern civilization. Although away from the din of city life for so long Mr. Steele is up-to-date in many respects and one of the most interesting conversationalists one would wish to meet. He has spent his time in the gold fields and he has made a study of them. What he does not know about the Omineca country would not take a long time to learn. He expects now to return here in the fall and take a run out for the winter. He has worked hard and faithfully and his reward is near at hand. After this season it is not likely he will need to worry about a job again.

HORTICULTURE

Raspberries

To obtain the best results, a deep soil, well drained and with a large moisture holding capacity is desirable. In the Coast districts where the humidity is high, it is advisable to obtain a site with a sufficient slope to give good air-drainage.

The same method of preparation of the soil as given to strawberries is applicable here. Deep cultivation and ploughing is advisable before setting out a patch, especially on the heavier soils.

Propagation. The roots of a raspberry are perennial, so the general method of obtaining plants is to dig up the one-year-old plants from the bearing patch. It is also possible, sometimes, to use the suckers and replant them the same Spring in which they start, especially if weather and soil conditions are favourable.

Planting. This is done in the Fall or Spring, depending on the district, the condition of the land, and the grower. The planting distance depends on the variety, type, and condition of soil and the district, so that no distances which would be satisfactory for all sites can be given. As a general rule the rows are six to eight feet apart, and the plants set at eighteen inches to two feet in a row. They require pruning before setting in the same way as a one-year-old apple tree, i.e., roots trimmed and top cut back. Plant about three to five inches deep, depending on the soil, spread the roots, and pack the earth well round them.

Training. It is found advantageous to support the vines with a trellis. This is generally done the second or third year. To accomplish this posts are set thirty feet, or so apart with a cross-piece at the top which should be about three and a half feet from the ground, on which two wires are strung, one at either end of the cross-piece. Within this space the vines are kept upright, bringing the plantation into better condition for cultivation and other cultural operations.

Pruning. Fruit is borne on the one-year-old wood, so that in pruning, all canes that have borne fruit are removed, and the remainder thinned out if necessary. The best time to prune is immediately after the fruit is picked, as by leaving the old canes they form an unnecessary drain on the plant food and soil moisture. The taller of the new canes should also be pinched or cut back at that time so as to strengthen the bearing shoots for the following season. They are again gone over and cut back before growth starts in the Spring. Blackberries are pruned in the same manner.

Good cultivation should be kept up in the same manner as in a strawberry patch until Midsummer or a little later, depending on the soil and location.

A good plantation when properly handled will bear profitably for twelve or fifteen years, and sometimes longer.

COMMITTEE OF SURVIVORS ISSUE DETAILED ACCOUNT

Of Sinking of the Titanic—Amid Deep Hush that Encompassed st Throng Gathered at Pier as Carpathia Creeps into Port

New York, April 18.—In a drizzling rain two hundred and fifty policemen gathered early tonight at the Cunard line piers at West Fourteenth street and North river, preparatory to handling the crowds.

Inspector McClusky was in charge of the squad, and ropes dotted with green lights, were stretched for seventy-five yards in front of the piers to hold back the throngs. No one without a special permit was allowed beyond these ropes. As early as eight o'clock automobiles in which veiled women and silent men were seated began arriving, and by 8.30 a small crowd already had entered the great steel and concrete structure which covers the piers.

The first survivors began to leave the ship at 9.35.

The following statement issued by a committee of the surviving passengers was given to the press on the arrival of the Carpathia:

"We, the undersigned surviving passengers on the Titanic, in order to forestall any sensational or exaggerated statements, deem it to be our duty to give the press a statement of the facts which have come to our knowledge and which we believe to be true:

"On Sunday, April 14, 1912, at 11.40 p.m., on a cold starlight night, in a smooth sea and with no moon, the ship struck an iceberg which had been reported to the bridge by lookouts, but not early enough to avoid collision.

"Steps were taken to ascertain the damage and save passengers and ship. Orders were given to put on lifebelts, and the boats were lowered. The ship sank at about 2.30 a.m. Monday, and the usual distress signals were sent out by wireless and rockets at intervals from the ship. Fortunately the wireless message was received by the Cunard's Carpathia at about midnight, and she arrived on the scene of the disaster at about 4 a.m. Monday.

"The officers and crew of the steamship Carpathia had been preparing all night for the rescue and comfort of the survivors, and the last mentioned were received on board with the most touching care and kindness, every care being given, irrespective of class. The passengers, officers and crew gave up their staterooms, clothing and comforts for our benefit. All honor to them.

"The English Board of Trade passenger certificate on board the Titanic showed approximately 3500. The same certificate called for lifeboat accommodations for approximately 950, in the following boats: Fourteen large lifeboats, two smaller boats and four collapsible boats.

"Life preservers were accessible and apparently in sufficient number for all on board.

"We feel it our duty to call the attention of the public to what we consider the inadequate supply of life saving appliances provided for on modern passenger steamers, and recommend that immediate steps be taken to compel passenger steamers to carry sufficient boats to accommodate the maximum number of people carried on board. The following facts were observed and should be considered in this connection:

"The insufficiency of lifeboats, rafts, etc., lack of trained seamen to handle same (stokers, stewards, etc. are not efficient boat handlers);not enough officers to carry out emergency orders on the bridge; to seperintend the launching and control of lifeboats; absence of searchlights.

"The board of trade rules allow for entirely too many people in each boat to permit the same to be properly handled. On the Titanic the boat deck was about 75 feet above water, and consequently the passengers were required to embark before lowering boats, thus endangering the operation and preventing the taking on of the maximum number the boats would hold.

"Boats at all times to be properly equipped with provisions, water, lamps, compasses, lights, etc. Life saving boat drills should be more frequent and thoroughly carried out and officers should be armed at boat drills.

"Great reduction in speed in fog and ice, as damage if collision actually occurs is liable to be less

"In conclusion we suggest that an international conference be called to recommend the passage of identical laws providing for the safety of all at sea, and we urge the United States government to take the initiative as soon as possible.

NEW HAZELTON DOINGS

The B. C. Rooming House is now open for business.

Pat Welch left Vancouver Monday night to run over the road from Prince Rupert to New Hazelton.

S. D. Raymond arrived in town this week after spending a month in the east, where he went to attend the funeral of Mrs. Raymond.

There will be a big bunch of the boys go to the old town on Sunday to witness the first ball game of the season.

Messrs. A. L. McHugh and Angus Stewart arrived in town on Monday afternoon from Prince Rupert. After visiting the mines they will go out to the construction camps and get busy for the season.

Indians and others are busy cutting hardwood on the townsite and getting a big supply ready for next winter when the increased population will demand an immense amount of birch for fuel.

Mrs. V. W. Smith returned last Friday night after spending the winter in the east and south. She and Mr. Smith have moved into their new residence on Tenth Ave.

Kennedy, Wilson & Co. have opened their office in the Thirteenth Ave. Bakery Building. They are ready to look after all real estate, farm lands, timber lands and insurance business.

A. L. Brown, who has been with Foley, Welch & Stewart for the past four years, and in charge of the steamer department last season, was in town the fore part of the week getting everything straightened up. He left later for Yale, B. C., where he will take charge of the office and purchasing department for Burns, Jordan & Welch, contractors for the C. N. R. Mr. Brown has been very popular with all on this line and he will be missed.

W. E. Thompson will be the purser on the Omineca this season and that will be the only boat of the fleet running. She will operate between the crossing and Sealey. The Omineca is now at Prince Rupert all ready to start up the river. Captain Jackman will again be on the bridge. They expect her to leave and get through the Canyon about the 28th of this month. She will come through light as there is a great deal of stuff at the bridge waiting to be hauled to Sealey, and from there on through to the valley.

Another Townsite

The G. T. P. land and townsite department are reported to have a deal on now for a townsite to be located at or near Deckers Lake at Mile 305. Harry Howson, who is well known all through the interior is connected with the deal.

TRAIN SERVICE TO SKEENA CROSSING

Passenger Service Expected to Commence on May First

A tri-weekly train service to Skeena Crossing is announced by General Superintendent Mehan, This train will be the first all passenger train run, and it is expected will commence on May 1.

Engineer Kelliher and J. W. Donnelly are expected next Wednesday.

Decorating the office of General Superintendent Mehan are a number of photographs of the snowsheds at Mile 52. The snowshed is 450 feet long, 65 feet deep and 26 feet nigh. It is made up of crib work with rock filling and contains 35,000 yards of rock. The shed is so constructed that the weight of the slide is deflected to hit the cribbing at its strongest angle.—P. R. Empire.

Passenger Divisional Point

A Vanvcouver paper of recent date intimates that New Hazelton is to be the first passenger divisional point east of Prince Rupert. The same paper announces that Amunsden will be the name of a townsite to be put on the market shortly at the first freight divisional point which will be on Anderson's Island some distance west of Skeena Crossing bridge.

To San Francisco

The Victoria Automobile Association has announced its intention to tour this year to San Francisco to attend the annual convention of the Pacific Highway Association to be held Aug. 5, 6, 7. Seattle and Portland will also make the run and it is likely that Vancouver, Tacoma and New Westminster will also join in. Thus the northern motorists will be well represented. In another year there will be nearly enough motorists in the Hazelton district to have one or more representatives at the convention. The introduction of automobiles in this district will be the best and most effective means of getting permanent work done on the local roads.

GRANBY COPPER BIG ADVANCE

Earnings Little Short of $100,000 a Month on 16-cent Copper Basis

The following item which was published in the Wall Street Journal of April 12, gives the reason for the big advance in Granby Copper stock on the Boston metal market several days ago. The stock also advanced on the Spokane and Vancouver stock exchanges at the same time. The item was dated from Boston.

The $15 dollar advance in Granby in the past two days reflects realization that these long neglected shares were intrinically worth, on 16 cent copper, far more than they were selling for.

On 16 cent copper Granby is showing earnings of only a little short of $100,000 per month on output of 1,800,000 pounds or almost $8 per share on 150,000 outstanding shares. These earnings disregard the newly acquired but fully paid for Hidden Creek property, purchased a year or more ago, and which is opening up far better that the new owners anticipated.

The expectation is that within the two years, when the Hidden Creek mine is producing between 25,000,000 pounds per annum, Granby's total output will be brought up to 50,000,000 pounds at a cost of not over 8 1-2 cents a pound.

The Omineca Photographic Co. are erecting a building on the opposite side of the street to their present quarters and as soon as it is finished will move in.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT

Building a Profitable Poultry Business

Hints to beginners by E. B. Templer, Valley Falls, N.Y. in the Poultry Review.

"Undoubtedly there will be thousands of beginners in poultry work this season. While I have written along this line in the past yet for the benefit of those who have but recently joined the ranks of chicken fanciers I will go over some of the essential things. Each year of experience with those who have been long in the business brings forth new things worth mentioning. There is no one who has learned it all, nor any one who is perfected in the art of poultry keeping. Thus by continuing with the work and taking advantage of every opportunity of learning something new, anyone can grow in the business.

The most important thing for the beginner to take in consideration is what he wants to do in the work. Ask yourself this question —"What is my object in raising and keeping chickens?" Then answer according to what you have in mind. Do you want eggs only, or meat and eggs? This makes quite a little difference in deciding which breed you will take. In certain parts of the country the Leghorns will make a great showing as egg producers, and where they are kept for this purpose, the meat is not taken into consideration. These people want eggs, and eggs only. They will get them from the Leghorns, if they have a good strain and the right winter conditions. However if you have in mind a breed or variety from which you want to get eggs and meat also then pick out one of the heavier breeds. You may make your selections from the Orpingtons, Wyandottes, Rocks and R.I. Reds. Any of these breeds will give you satisfaction, providing that you get a good strain to start with. If you want eggs and meat, get a strain of heavy winter egg producers. If you want exhibition birds, get a strain that will measure up to the Standard and at the same time be good producers. Then you may expect something really good.

Now as to the strain itself. There is first the breed, like the Wyandotte family; then there are the sub-divisions, as the White Wyandottes, the Buffs, Columbian, etc. These are some of the varieties of the Wyandotte family. Then when you have made the selection of the breed and the variety, there comes the selection of strain. Now strain is simply a matter of breeding for something. If you get a heavy winter egg producing strain, you have wrapped up in each egg you buy, years of breeding for this purpose. Mating and selecting for this purpose means much time, labor and money expended. However it is important that you get a good strain, even if you do not get the number of chicks that you would like for the first year. Is it not better to have a dozen good chicks than to have fifty of an inferior quality? You will find that it will pay in the end. Get the right start by making a purchase of the best eggs that you can get of the variety that you have in mind.

It is better to make the expenditure for the first season as light as possible in order to see how things are going to come. If you are in on too great a scale, you may find that you do not care for the work, or that you do not have the success that you had hoped for, and then you will find yourself with a lot of equipment and stock on hand. It is better to go into the work in a moderate manner and then grow from year to year. If you were to start with say one machine and fifty eggs from A No. 1 stock, you would have a chance to see what you could do along the line of hatching and rearing of chicks. With the one machine for hatching you could get out one batch for yourself and possibly one or two for your neighbors. You could hatch the eggs that they would bring in and charge them a small price per egg set or per chick hatched. In this way you could get experience and some returns at the same time. If you hatched out say even twenty-five or thirty chicks from the choice eggs, you would have just enough for one of the brooder coops and fireless brooders. The cost of this equipment would not be great, but it would be better to have to buy or make one than to have a dozen of them as a starter for your plant. As your choice chicks grew and developed, you could build one or two of the economy or adjustable coops for housing them. This would make a house for them while growing and provide a permanent house for the pullets that you would get. Now it would be better to invest say from eight to ten dollars in well bred hatching eggs than to buy a great quantity from inferior stock. Remember this is for your foundation stock. Another year you will want to breed from these birds that you raise, and therefore you want the best that you can get. From the fifty or so eggs purchased you should get a fair number of chicks to start with. Of course this depends on how well you run the incubator and how fertile the eggs are. It is better to run one hatch through with common eggs in order to get the hang of the machine and the way of running it for the best results. We can always do things better with a little practice, so don't try your luck with choice eggs, unless you are obliged to.

The beginner who has a few chicks is very apt to overfeed them. Great care should be given to the feeding, as it is very important that they be fed properly A little at a time is a good rule to work by, and if you will feed little and often you will make no mistake. Keep the wheat bran in little hoppers before the chicks at all times, and they will have a valuable food and bowel regulator constantly on hand. Do not feed wet or sloppy foods, for this will bring on bowel trouble and no end of complications. Give a little grit, but do not keep it before them from the start, as they are apt to eat more of it than is good for them. They do not seem to know as to feeding values and hence will take anything in their crop they can get hold of. If the alfalfa is used for litter they will pick up a lot of this but it will not be injurious, as it will serve for green food and make for bulk. The best thing is not to use any litter for the first few days, then they will get just what you want them to have and there will not be any doubt in your mind as to what they are eating. The feeding is very important and requires much study in order to get out a ration that will do the work that is required. What is wanted is a ration that will make them grow rapidly and at the same time keep them in the best possible health. Condiments should not be fed to young chicks. The concentrated foods which are on the market may be used for grown fowls at times, but the little chicks are better off without them.

Do not let the chicks get out in the rain and wet. The beginner will find that the brooder-coops are ideal in this respect. If you keep the covers down, the shower may come, but the chicks are as safe as though they were in the house with you. The writer has known of hundreds of chicks that were drowned simply because they were permitted to run at large. A sudden shower came up and they were lost. Keep watch of your birds, feed them with the best of care, and in the fall you will have a pen of birds that you will be proud of.
