THE OMINECA HERALD

VOL. I. HAZELTON, B. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1909. No. 37.

News by Telegraph.

Paris, March 19—The telegraphers, telephone and postal employees are on strike. Other branches of the civil service, including the mail carriers, threaten to go out in sympathy. The strikers demand the resignation of M. Simyan, under secretary of posts and telegraphs.

Business has been completely paralyzed by this strike and unless it is soon settled the consequences will be far reaching.

Montreal, March 19—The Boston express crashed into the Windsor station while running at a speed of forty miles an hour, breaking through the granite walls of the station house and clear through into the waiting rooms. The engine and baggage car were demolished. Seven people were killled and ten injured.

The accident was caused by the blowing out of a plug in the engine which hurled the engineer from the cab and disabled the fireman while the train was a mile from the station. More victims are said to be under the wreck.

New York, March 19—Dorando defeated Hayes easily, by half a mile, in a race the full Marathon distance.

Montreal, March 18—A contract has been signed for the construction of a thousand miles of telegraph line for the Northern Commercial Telegraph Company from Windsor, Ont., to Levis, Quebec.

Toronto, March 19—R. L. Borden, in addressing the Conservatives, says in reference to the results of the general election last October, that he confesses to disappointment, particularly as to the results in Ontario, which were not what he expected. He expressed the opinion that the party will soon get its own in Canada.

Montreal, March 18—Steps are being taken to consolidate the manufacturers of cast-iron, porcelain and enamel goods in Canada as a protection against American competition and the destructive competition at home.

Milan, March 19—The Italian police are in a state of trepidation over the arrival at Naples in April of ex-president Roosevelt. Efforts will be made to dissuade Roosevelt from setting foot in Sicily and the earthquake region.

Messina is the stronghold of the Mafia and it is feared an attack might be made on the ex-president.

Pau, France, March 18—King Edward witnessed two flights of the Wright aeroplane. His Majesty afterward warmly congratulated Wright on his work.

Farnham, Quebec, March 17—A collision on the C.P.R. near West Shefford resulted in the death of road master Shanks and engineers Truax and Shafelt.

Ottawa, March 19—The proposal of the Minister of Finance to lend ten million dollars to the G.T.P. will meet with determined opposition from the Conservatives, who will urge that it will be in the interest of the country for the government to take over the road and finish it rather than permit the present reckless spending to continue.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT NEWS.

C. G. Harvey returned from the Bulkley yesterday.

James Short of Kispiox Valley was a visitor in town Monday last.

Constable J. R. C. Deane returned from the Bulkley Valley Monday.

R. L. Gale, of Aldermere, left with the mail carriers this morning for a trip to the coast.

C. A. Newitt of Bulkley Valley was in town Wednesday and took out a large load of supplies.

Larry Canty of the Bulkley Valley was in Hazelton for a few days, returning to the Valley Friday.

R. E. Loring, Indian Agent, is on a trip of inspection among the nearby Indians, including those of the Kispiox and Glen Vowel resrves.

Bertie Cox, son of E. R. Cox, of this town, who has been ill at the hospital for the past month, has so far recovered as to be brought home.

The Hudson's Bay Co. now have a large part of the lumber on the ground for the enlargement of their store and construction will commence soon.

F. T. Child started Friday with a full outfit of supplies for the Omineca river, looking over placer grounds with a view to putting in a hydraulic plant later on.

James Short of Kispiox Valley manufactures Mackinaw clothing from the celebrated Bird's Mackinaw. Orders will receive promt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Jim May, Ezra Evans and Hugh Grant will leave Monday for Manson Creek, where they have valuable placer claims. They will spend the summer there and return to Hazelton in the autumn.

Ed. Le Blond now has his Spring Creek Hotel completed and ready for the reception of guests. This place is 19 miles from Hazelton on the Bulkley wagon road and will afford a convenient stopping place for travelers.

Recent arrivals from Bulkley Valley report the snow to be about gone in the valley, the more favored spots entirely bare. All the stocks of grass seed have been bought up and actual farming done in the valley this year will be more than double that of last year.

Rev. T. B. Thorkildson of Glen Vowel was a visitor in town Saturday and reports the Glen Vowel saw mill to be running to its full capacity. They have been promised their turbine wheel and other new machinery by one of the first boats, which will allow tnem to largely increase the output of lumber.

BIG GAME OF B.C. ON THE INCREASE

A. Bryan Williams Sends in a Most Interesting Annual Report.

The annual report of A. Bryan Williams, provincial game and forest warden, which was brought down to the House recently, is an unusually interesting and satisfactory one. It shows that the new system introduced last year is working well, and that the big game of the province, with the exception of the wapiti on Vancouver Island, are on the increase. The report is far too long for reproduction in a newspaper, but it will repay reading by all sportsmen interested in the game resources of British Columbia, says the Victoria Colonist.

The special grant of $10,000 made last year for the first time by legislature has been but little drawn upon, as the revenue from licenses and so forth comes to within some $200 of that amount. At the same time the revenue thus assured has permitted the engaging of game wardens who have done good work. Additional game wardens are recommended, and it is pointed out that in addition to their ordinary duties they are frequently able to lend valuable assistance to the provincial police. These wardens are particularly needed in the country to be traversed by the G.T.P. and the McConnell Creek district, where there are thousands of caribou.

Numerous evasions of the license laws along the coast as far as the head of Vancouver Island are reported. The offenders are from the States and come in launches or yachts and rarely if ever take out a license to shoot. The purchase of a fast launch is advocated, so that these gentry may be looked after. It is also suggested that it be made an offense to carry firearms without a license. The revenue from big game licenses amounted to $7,700 during the past year.

The Indians appear to have given little trouble last year, and the keeping of the Stoney Indians from Alberta out of the province has had a splendid effect on the game on the eastern boundary.

In the East Kootenay reserve the game is increasing, and it is suggested that the reserve be made a permanent national park. The importation of European red deer and chamois is suggested, and it is pointed out that the former have been most successfully acclimated in New Zealand.

Moose are increasing and spreading further south; caribou have been seen in great numbers in Cassiar; deer, except near the coast cities, appear to be on the increase, while East Kootenay is being restocked with wapiti. On Vancouver Island, however, many of these animals are being shot for their teeth, and protective measures are said to be absolutely necessary. The outlook for sheep is also encouraging.

A plea is entered for the grizzly bear, said to be nearing extermination in some sections. He is stated to be really very timid and it is suggested that it be prohibited to trap him.

The beaver have increased enormously in Southern B. C., and in some parts of Kootenay, Okanagan, Similkameen and Kamloops sufficiently so to be a nuisance to fruit growers. Permission to kill them under restriction is suggested,

The report is not so encouraging as to game birds, though even in this case it would seem that, generally speaking, conditions are improving.

The irrigated lands of the Canadian West hold the world's record for quality and weight of spring wheat. This means more to Canada than can be well estimated,

Addressing a meeting in Liverpool recently F. E. Smith, M. P. for Walton, criticized David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer for telling an audience that while Liverpool was the center of shipping, we cannot export to Canada for four months in the year. "This ignorance of English public men of Canadian affairs," said Mr. Smith, "is one that produces incalculable harm in the colonies."

The action of President Roosevelt, in asking the governor of California to devise some means of blocking the anti-Japanese legislation in that state, comes perilously close to an assertion of supremacy by the national government over state legislation to a degree which the constitution does not contemplate. President Roosevelt seems likely to leave a legacy of trouble to his successor, which will prove very serious. The United States constitution has hitherto been understood to confer sovereignty upon the states over all matters not specifically delegated to the national government.—Colonist.

An Outside View of British Columbia.

"British Columbia, according to its recently compiled figures, has produced, all told, the sum of $323,000,000 in mineral wealth, beginning with its earliest placer discoveries and continuing to the end of 1908," says the Daily Mining Record, of Denver.

"British Columbia, we must bear in mind, is a comparatively new field, and has progressed on the value of its mineral deposits. The province is growing and the time will come when its annual output is far in excess of what it is today.

"Of all foreign lands, British Columbia has more in common with the United States than any of the rest of them. The miners who work in the properties in the camps of that province are largely American, and there is a continuous change from these districts to the mineral regions of the States. The problems of British Columbia, apart from mining, are also very similar to our own riddles. The Pacific coast has to solve the question of the admittance---particularly when it comes to the exclusion of foreign labor---of the Oriental type of labor, admitted to be demoralizing to any section, and impossible to mining camps

"In copper, the province is becoming more and more important, with plenty of capital awaiting the opportunity to find activity in the mines and in the reduction works---and the world market looking toward conditions in the red metal as outlined largely by North America.

"The province is also becoming a factor in yellow metal production, and, while some of the British possessions far out-class it in output, the sum contributed by the camps of British Columbia is of consequence.

"It is noted that nothing in common appears between the district of Cobalt and the camps of the coast province, while very much in common exists between our own western districts and those across the border, north of Washington. Our interest, therefore, in the northern camps is always fresh, and we believe the progress of mining in British Columbia will materially assist operations in our own northern sections.

The Use of Dredges.

The use of dredges in working low grade placer deposits has, in most cases where tried, proved so profitable that, with the coming of transportation to northern B. C. this method of working deposits too low grade to be handled at present, will undoubtedly be used to advantage.

According to the Mining and Scientific Press there are at present 59 dredges working in California, producing in excess of $6,000,000 per year and twelve dredges at work in the Yukon and in Alaska.

Some of these dredges are operated at a cost of as little as five cents a yard in California. In the north, where most of the failures have occurred, it was altogether owing to the fact that they tried to dredge frozen ground.

With the large extent of placer ground that exists along the Omineca river and its tributaries, a large part of which it will be profitable to work when machinery can be installed, future operations in that district are likely to reach large proportions before many years.

One party left last week and another leaves next week, both bound for this this district, to explore and sample their ground and get ready for the introduction of machinery.

Imperial Oracles.

A London paper says that Lord Milner found imperial sentiment weakening in Canada, and arrested its decline. We do not believe that Lord Milner ever said anything of the sort. He has too much sense. He found nothing of the kind; he did nothing of the kind. He contributed to the crystallization of imperial sentiment in Canada by laying stress upon the equality of the component parts of the Empire. This was very useful work; but such papers as the Observer, which is that referred to, can undo a great deal of good work by their efforts to speak oracularly upon a subject upon which they are absolutely uninformed.

The people of Canada are growing very tired of such utterances as that referred to. The men responsible for them do not see beyond the ends of their noses. They are imbued with the notion that Great Britain has a species of proprietorship in Canada, and that Canadians owe a loyalty to them. They seriously discuss Canadian loyalty, thereby indicating that our first duty is to Great Britain and our last to ourselves. Perhaps, as a matter of fact, they have no definite idea of what they do mean by their silly utterances. If we endeavor to make a trade arrangement with France, these wiseacres suggest that our loyalty is in some way weakened, and that it is necessary to send some one out here to bring us back to the ways our father's trod. The British press is doing its best to make the word "loyalty" hateful to Canadians. It is being overworked. A word descriptive of one of the noblest of sentiments, it is bandied about in a way that is almost a profanation. Another expression that is being worked to death is "imperial sentiment." It is wrung in whenever a writer wishes to disguise his ignorance.

There are some six millions or more people in Canada. Most of them are at least of average intelligence and education, and are doing the best they can in their respective spheres of activity to advance the interests of their country. They are all proud of British connection; they all rejoice that they are partners in the greatest empire the world has ever seen. They are all prepared to do their duty toward their co-partners as they understand it. But they do not keep harping upon such things. There are certain matters which they think may be taken for granted, and these are among them.

Lord Milner visited Canada. His visit did a great deal of good, not because it altered the course of Canadian sentiment in the slightest degree, but because he enabled us to get the view point of one of the foremost of British statesmen, of the man who may one day give the word to the people of the United Kingdom as to what they should do to consolidate the Empire. If the imperial fabric is ever broken, the line of cleavage will not begin in the over-seas Dominions.—Colonist.

PSYCHIC FORCES.

Their Existence Proved, Yet Scientists Cannot Grasp Them.

I have seen enough to make me believe in Zollner's fourth dimension, but I don't. My mind is so constructed that such wonders as we meet in sceances produces very little effect on me. They are as normal to me now as the popping of corn or the roasting of potatoes. But as for the belief—well, that is not a matter of the will but of evidence, and the evidence is not yet sufficient to bring me to any definite conclusion. In fact, in the broad day and especially the second day after I have been through one of these experiences I begin to doubt my senses. Richet speaks of this curious recession of belief and admits his own inability to retain the conviction that at the moment of the phenomenon was complete. "No sooner is the sitting over than my doubts come swarming back upon me," he says. "The real world which surrounds us, with its scheme of habitual opinions, holds us in so strong a grasp that we can scarcely free ourselves completely. Certainty does not follow on demonstration, but on habit."

Maxwell says: "I believe in these phenomena, but I see no need to attribute them to any supernatural intervention. I am inclined to think they are produced by some force within ourselves." Just what he means by that I can't precisely explain. It's harder to understand than the spirit hypothesis. He goes on to say that, while he is certain that we are in the presence of an unknown force, he is convinced that the phenomena will ultimately be found orderly, like all other facts of nature. "Some future Newton will discover a more complete formula than our," he prophesies. "Every natural fact should be studied and, if it be real, incorporated in the patrimony of knowledge." He then adds, with the true scientists humble acknowledgement of the infinite reach of the undiscovered universe, "Our knowledge is very limited and our experience young."—Hamlin Garland in Everybody's Magazine.

A Great Colonization Movement.

Reference was made in the press some time ago to the plans of the Quebec clergy for the settlement of the country lying along the part of the transcontinental railway lying west of Quebec. The impression at the time was that the plans only related to Quebec province, but an article in the Montreal Star shows that it embraces Northern Ontario also. The cleric at the head of the movement is Bishop Latulippe, who was recently appointed apostolic vicar of Temiskaming. He has been called "the Bishop of Colonization," and he has recently been in Montreal in consultation with ecclesiastical and transportation authorities. An office has been opened in Montreal and an experienced staff is being organized to inaugurate colonization along the route of the above railway. The first work will be done in the neighborhood of Temiskaming, where, the Star says, "running away west along the line of the G.T.P., lies a rich clay belt fifty miles wide and three or four hundred miles long, where splendid wheat has already been grown in a few cleared fields. The idea of the Bishop is to repatriate as many as possible of the French-Canadians who have gone to the United States. It is a great and patriotic movement and its success will be watched with interest.
