Peck, manager of the saw mill, met party and piloted them over the of logs to the mill. From the mill party had a tramp of about a mile through the bush to the first lake, but going was a snap compared with the previous week.

The Georgetown lake is a beautiful of water, two and a half miles long an average width of one third of a

The banks surrounding are steep high and the water can be raised almost any height desired. The narrows down at the mouth so that construction of the dam would be a simple and inexpensive undertaking. Connecting this lake with another lake a couple of miles farther back is a pretty little creek. The second lake is 25 feet above the first and contains 200 acres.

So far as the storage capacity is concerned it is sufficient for a large electric development plant. The main feature will be the drainage area. The country has not been surveyed yet and no information is available. To the casual observer the area appears large enough, but the engineers will figure that out and also the amount of power available.

One thing is certain and that is that by means of a dam on the big lake and probably one on the little lake every drop of water can be conserved and utilized. The conservation of waters is one of the successes of the past few years and many Ontario towns have benefited to the extent of an even flow of water and a steady service from the power plants for twelve months out of the year.

The flow of the water in the Trent Valley canal, which connects the Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario at Trenton by linking up the Kawartha lakes and rivers, is today in complete control of the canal officials. This has been accomplished by the Dominion Government building dams at various places in the lakes and rivers and conserving all the water from the Spring floods. A flood on the Otonabee River is now a thing of the past and no matter how dry the season may be the navigation on the Trent canal is not affected.

This same principal, applied to the

RATS ARE PLENTIFUL

Flock Make Merry in a Resident's Dining Room

That rat poison the council sent and is a fraud," said a well known resident to the Optimist this morning. In our place they are having a whale time. We have two stove pipes, each ten feet long, in the kitchen, and night the rats were having a mar-a-up and down the pipes. They were thick that they ran two abreast and close as they could together. At the time twenty-five more took position of the dining room and from the set they make I guess they were playing a game of draw poker and the fellow bluffed on a pair of deuces. I ever saw so many rats in all my life were in my flat last night. I was glad to poke my head from under the blankets."

The resident referred to has a flat far from the wharf and he declares statements are true. Asked if he was in the morning he refused to answer.

WANTS SPEEDY TRIAL

George Young Set the Date For Next Thursday

G. T. Williams, late proprietor of the Hotel Rooms, who was committed for trial on a charge of setting fire to those who appeared for election before George Young on Saturday afternoon, desired to be tried at once and His Honor set next Thursday morning as the date for hearing the case. In the meantime Williams will remain in custody.

The government steamer Lillooet came to the dock to coal this morning.

The Camousun sailed yesterday for Vancouver at half past two in the afternoon with a full list of passengers.

TIMBER CRUISERS HERE

The cruising is under the charge of E. A. Lawbaugh, and the men composing his staff are: F. Ross, T. White, R. Congdon, T. McRae, H. Hull, W. J. Johnson, S. U. Stritzonier, W. J. Walsh, M. Carmichael, W. Carmichael.

DECORATION OF PRINCE RUPERT

FOR RECEPTION OF SIR WILFRID LAURIER PARTY

Grand Arch at Foot of Sixth Street, To Be Illuminated By Electricity—Both Sides of Centre Street to Be Hidden by Evergreens.

The committee of citizens appointed by the council to undertake the decoration of the city for the reception of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party, met in the rooms of the Board of Trade on Saturday evening. William Law presided and Mr. Crippen was elected secretary.

The discussion as to what form the decorations should take was a long one, the committee being somewhat hampered by the absence of any suggestion from the council as to the amount to be expended.

Many excellent suggestions were offered and these crystallized at last into a determination to build one large and really fine arch instead of several, and that is to be built of logs with a thatch of evergreens as being more appropriate to and suggestive of the youngest great city of the West.

The site unanimously chosen was the junction of Second avenue and Sixth street, and it was there the people most generally assemble ordinarily and for other good and sufficient reasons. A triple arch was suggested but its form will depend upon the plans decided upon by the architects.

There were four architects present, Messrs. Munro, Lailey, Potter and Barker, and these were made a sub committee on arch with the addition of Secretary Crippen.

It is proposed to illuminate this arch

CRIPPEN AND LENEVE ARRESTED

Taken Off Steamer Montrose at Quebec.

Arraigned Before Court This Morning on Murder Charge. Both Pleading Innocence.—The Girl May Turn King's Evidence.

(Special to the Optimist)

Quebec, August 1.—Dr. Crippen and the Leneve girl were arrested the moment the steamer Montrose arrived. A very large crowd collected and there being no doubt of their identity the sensational news of their arrest was quickly cabled to all parts of the world. This morning the couple were formally arraigned at Justice Anger's court, Dr. Crippen being charged with murder and Mlle Leneve with being an accessory before the fact. Both protested their innocence and they were remanded.

The prisoners are being kept in a cell in the parliament buildings usually used for political prisoners only. In the doctor's pocket there was found a white powder believed to be poison. An analysis has been made of it but its nature has not been disclosed. At the time of the arrest on board the steamer the girl was seen to throw something through a parthole. What it was is a matter for conjecture. Only ten dollars, the powder and a vial almost empty were found on Dr. Crippen.

Efforts have been made to induce the girl to turn king's evidence but so far without effect.

New York, August 1.—Frederick Messinger, step-father of Mrs. Crippen, is ready to go to London. He believes Crippen should have a chance to tell his side of the story. He says his daughter seemed to be happy with her husband but undoubtedly the doctor had been smitten with the other woman's charms.

London, August 1.—The mother of Mlle Leneve is cabling her daughter today to tell all she knows of the case to the police, and says she does not think her daughter knows of the crime.

It is reported the authorities have found new evidence which will prove that the body found at Hilltop Crescent is that of Mrs. Crippen.

SHOT BY OWN MAN

Captain Peter Ellison, Royal Artillery Is Shot Down

(Special to the Optimist)

Victoria, August 1.—Captain Peter Ellison, of the Royal Canadian Artillery, was shot and killed this morning by one of his men at work at Point barracks. The soldiers, assisted by the police, are now engaged on a man hunt.

Secured New Premises

F. B. Deacon, the real estate and insurance man on Centre street, has secured the premises formerly occupied by the Royal Bank in the Alder Block on Sixth street. He will take possession about the middle of the month. The new quarters will be fitted up in good shape and Mr. Deacon will have one of the best offices in the city as well as one of the best locations.

by electricity, and Messrs. Blakeley and Parkin were chosen as a sub-committee to undertake this work. There is to be mottoes and medallions on the arch, with myriads of fairy and larger lamps, the "juice" to be supplied from the plants of the Grand Trunk and the Empress theatre.

A sub-committee on street decorations was selected, consisting of Messrs. Babcock, Craig, and Crippen. The suggestions comprised a row of fairly large trees on either side of center street up to the arch, interspersed with Venetian masts carrying festoons and flags. There may also be a small arch.

The rest of the decorations are left to individual taste and skill, the committee having confidence that every building would make an enthusiastic display. To further stimulate civic pride the council authorized the committee to offer $50 in prizes for the best decorated buildings or residences.

FIRST TRAIN OVER NEW ZENARDI BRIDGE

Forty-three Miles Now Open for Construction Trains---Tug and Barges Leave for Vancouver to Fetch Up Flat Cars and Other Rolling Stock

The first construction train passed over the Zenardi bridge at four o'clock yesterday afternoon and forty three miles of the road is now open. Hurrah! This means a sudden jump in the business that will be done by Prince Rupert in the Skeena river basin.

There were no fuss and feathers about the opening, although it is such an important and noteworthy an event. Mr. Young, chief constructor of the Canadian Bridge company, reported to Superintendent Mehan on Saturday that if no untoward circumstance intervened he thought a train might cross the bridge on Sunday afternoon, so early the next morning Mr. Mehan was on hand at the bridge with locomotive 123, flat cars and a gang of tracklayers. These went right to work spiking the rails across the bridge and at exactly four o'clock in the afternoon the first construction train went over the bridge with a string of flat cars behind it.

Mr. Mehan said this morning that the bridge was perfectly safe, he having tested it on Saturday and again yesterday both before and after the train had gone over it. The Bridge company, he observed, had been very successful in its work, and had got along with it a great deal better and quicker than even they expected.

Of course, says Mr. Mehan, the bridge is not completed by any means, but it is in a safe condition for construction trains to go over it and they will run regularly over it while the balance of the work and the extra rivetting is being done.

The track laying and ballasting as far as Mile 43 was completed on Saturday and the gangs moved on to the next section. Mr. Mehan was over the line to that point on Saturday and found it in excellent condition for a new track. All the material and supplies will now be run over the rails to that point and further from day to day as the track laying proceeds. The tugboat and the barges Georgian and Escort, by means of which material has been carried from Prince Rupert for points above the bridge have now been discontinued and will leave tonight for Vancouver to bring up ballast cars and other railway material. They will be constantly employed in this work for the next three months.

The first construction train direct from Prince Rupert left here at eight o'clock this morning and in a few days a regular schedule will probably be arranged.

It was a remarkable coincidence that the bridge over Zanardi, one of the main engineering difficulties to be overcome between the terminus and Yellowhead Pass, should have been bridged and open for traffic the very same day and within an hour or so of the arrival of Collingwood Schreiber, the chief government engineer of the road. He has been making a survey of the line from Edmonton by train and boat and horseback, and will leave here by train for the trip over Yellowhead Pass. He is accompanied by Sidney R. Loftus. They came in on the Prince George and are registered at the Inn.

FIVE THOUSAND MEN WANTED

AT PRINCE RUPERT END OF GREAT RAILWAY

Consulting Engineer Schrieber Says Grand Trunk Must Have Eight Thousand More Men or No Knowing When Road Will Be Finished.

Winnipeg, July 26.—"Eight thousand more laborers could be used on the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific if we could get them," said Collingwood Schrieber, government consulting engineer on the G. T. P. in an interview at Edmonton.

"If the present labor regulations, and the present condition of the labor market is to continue, there is no saying when the Grand Trunk Pacific will be completed. The labor we need is not in the country and we are not allowed to bring it in, only under certain conditions. I do not even see how the farmers are going to handle their harvests, labor is so scarce."

"The Grand Trunk Pacific could easily use 8,000 more men on the construction at the Edmonton and Prince Rupert ends. Five thousand more are needed today at Prince Rupert end, but it is impossible to get nearly this number."

Mr. Schrieber is going to the Yellowhead Pass to inspect the progress of the work on the G. T. P., west of Edson.

Reserv/ng Water Powers

It is unofficially announced from Ottawa that the Dominion Conservation Commission will recommend to the Government that all water-powers not already disposed of to private interests will be held by the Government for public use, not being even leased to private interests except upon such terms as will make their reversion to the Crown an easy matter. This is pretty good doctrine, and it is hoped that the Government will give it favorable consideration.—Hamilton Spectator.

THEORY AND PRACTISE

On Thursday the Optimist editorially criticized Ald. Lynch and his policy of frontage and general taxation. The alderman replied by letter the same day as follows:

"You will please stop the ad. now running in the Optimist until further notice.
Yours very truly, Lynch Bros."

This is from the man who smells graft in every job in which he is not himself interested and who is habitually muck-raking the magna charta, Tweedie and other events of ancient history. Ald. Lynch would have one believe that he is the essence of uprightness, the soul of justice and a well of understanding on municipal affairs. All these and more are advertised in his public utterances. Yet he intimates in his novel retort to the Optimist that the carrying of some advertising space in a paper ought to protect him from criticism; that for a few paltry dollars a month he could purchase a daily papers' silence, or by retaliating against the business department he could black-mail the editorial columns. Is it not a sweet confession of practical politics on the part of a man who poses as a theorist on efficient and honest legislation?

As usual Ald. Lynch is wrong. The Optimist will accept neither graft nor hush money. Neither will it resort to black-mail. There may be papers here with the tactics of Col. Mann but The Optimist is above the dirty game. When a public man has anything coming to him, either criticism or praise he will get it from The Optimist without fear or favor.

The public will stand for some queer ideas when they believe a man to be sincere but when a man unveils himself as has Ald. Lynch he cannot expect public respect.

Maybe King Jack Miller told the council not to start anything until he returned from his summer holidays.

It is rather early for the city council to go fallow but what can one expect of an organization that is afraid to advertise in the daily papers.

Having planned to saddle section one with the burden of street grading Ald. Lynch thinks it is only fair that we should all chip in and buy sewers for the boys in the business section.

GEORGETOWN WATER POWER

Georgetown water power on much smaller scale, will give perfect control over the waters of the lakes and creeks and none will be wasted and the flow will not fluctuate. The water will be backed up and saved during the early summer floods until the winter when the snow lies on the mountains and the water supply is usually the lowest.

City Engineer Davis is acquainted with the principal of conserving waters and he expressed himself as favorably disposed to the Georgetown power. "We can tell something about this power as it is partially developed," he said. "There is not nearly so much guess work about it. That one lake is large enough to hold lots of water and we can build the dam any height we like."

Upon arrival at the lake the party got into a couple of boats and paddled up to the head of the lake, all were pleasantly surprised at the size of the lake and the surrounding shores which are ideal for holding water. They are high and steep and there is no flat land to be flooded and no farm land to purchase. It is simply a case of building a dam and putting in the development plant. The lake has a 75 foot head which is large enough for any water power. It can be raised 25 or 50 feet more if necessary, or raised to the level of the second lake a couple of miles back.

Returning to the mill the Prince Rupert people were entertained to luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. Peck and to say that this kindness was appreciated in putting it mild. The start for home was made about half past five.

Among those of Prince Rupert who took passage on the Prince George for the south today were:

Bay steamers, and he had an escort of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police from point to point and on the side trips, so there was no great hardships or privations to be experienced. But the journey back from Fort McPherson, at the mouth of the Mackenzie, well provisioned and attended as the minister undoubtedly was, was one to test the courage and endurance of a much younger and more robust man.

This part of the trip began with a "mush" or walk of over ninety miles, over parts of which Indian trail neither dogs nor horses could be used even as pack animals. It is over a winding trail rarely travelled and it takes a clever guide to pick it out from the man, moose and caribou tracks which cross and intersect it. At the end of this hazardous and arduous stretch through the wilderness the Porcupine river is reached, a river that in volume compares with the Skeena but is much more precipitous and in its upper reaches only to be travelled by canoe and even then by means of many portages owing to its many rapids. Coming down to Rampart House, the last stand made by the Hudson Bay company west of the Rockies, several desperate mining enterprises were passed, notably that of Al Bartlette, who raised some $50,000 in Seattle last winter to take a large party of prospectors in there. There was no less than seven hundred miles of this canoe travel down the tortuous and turbulent Porcupine river to negotiate before the Yukon was reached at Fort Yukon and the luxury of a great Northern Commercial river steamer enjoyed.

Mr. Oliver spent two weeks in Dawson nearly every day of which was on the creeks, noting the placer mining by individuals and the operations of the great hydraulic and dredging companies.

From here Mr. Oliver goes to Vancouver and then home to Edmonton. He expects to meet Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party at Moosejaw on the 5th and to journey with them to Edmonton to have the pleasure of introducing Sir Wilfrid to a monster mass meeting held there in his honor on August 9th.

John Conway left Friday night for Stewart where he has opened the mining recorders office. He took Mrs. Conway and family with him and they will make their home in the northern town in future.

Martha G. Gebhardt*MASQUERADE CARNIVAL

Was Well Attended by Masqueraders And Spectators

The first masquerade carnival in Prince Rupert's fine new roller rink on Sixth avenue was held on Saturday night and was attended by a large number of spectators. The rink was prettily decorated for the event and the floor in excellent condition for skating.

About thirty masqueraders were on the floor, representative of all nationalities and callings, and the majority of them were well made up. There was a agreeable scarcity of those who imagine all they have to do is to daub burnt cork on the face and take the prize.

The names of the prize winners were not given the press but popular opinion took a different view of the merits of the masqueraders. The clown was an easy winner in his class and well deserved the prize, but it was thought the "kid in yellow" should have received a first. She was very neatly costumed and there was a grace to her skating that was painfully lacking in the lucky ones. The representation of Halley's comet was something new and was well received.

Music was furnished by a native orchestra and was above the average. Altogether it was a most enjoyable affair and the management are to be congratulated on its success.

Scott of Saskatchewan To Have a Port Folio, Making Ten Newspaper Men in the Cabinet, Enough to Rule or Ruin Country.

Ottawa, Ont., July 27.—Nothing is known here of a report that John W. Dafoe, editor of the Manitoba Free Press, will enter Dominion Cabinet at an early date, says the correspondent of the Toronto Star. But it would not be surprising if such should be the case in a couple of years or so. The Midwest must have some Cabinet representation after the census. Walter Scott is coming in as representative of Saskatchewan, and why should not "Jack" Dafoe represent Manitoba?

HOLMAN GOT OFF

Charged With Wounding a Man At Hazelton.

Chas. Holman appeared before Judge Young at Hazelton last week on a charge of wounding a man in one of the camps near that town. Holman first desired a jury trial and was taken south to wait for the sessions. In the meantime he changed his mind and asked for a speedy trial. He was brought back and Judge Young heard the case. The evidence was not sufficient to warrant a conviction and Holman was dismissed. There were also several civil cases disposed of by the judge and court was adjourned in time to allow him to get the boat down, and he arrived in Prince Rupert Friday afternoon.

Sprained His Ankle

J. H. Pillsbury was out with a launching party yesterday and while they were hunting clams and crabs he had the misfortune to sprain his ankle and will be laid up for a day or two.

DAILY MAIL NOW

Port Essington Has a Cinch on Local Mail Facilities.

The postal authorities have arranged for a daily mail service for Port Essington by the steamer Chieftain. This clears up many odds and ends of the postal service, and is of great convenience because of the many changes of address of men who float in and out of that district.

While the Port Simpson is off the run doing the pioneer stunt on the waters of the Stickine, the steamer Inlander is carrying the mails for Hazelton and all up river points above Essington.

Fire Warden Here

Geo. A. Kerr, fire warden for the Skeena district, arrived in town last week and is looking after some business here. He states that he has been very busy the last few weeks looking after bush fires, but has been successful so far in preventing a big blaze.
