SMALLPOX NOW FOLLOWS TYPHOID AT OTTAWA

Civic Health Officers Severely Censured by Provincial Health Inspector Bell---Whole City May Have to be Quarantined.

(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, April 8.—Following the recent typhoid fever epidemic in the capital an outbreak of smallpox has occurred. Already there are twenty-seven cases in the hospital, and new ones are expected amongst those who habe been in contact with patients before their removal to quarantine.

Health Officers Blamed

Provincial Health Inspector Bell places the blame for the extent of the outbreak largely upon the shoulders of the civic health officials. Had the proper steps been taken in time, he declares, the infection would not have gained such a hold. Unless quick measures are now taken the whole city may have to be quarantined.

Street Cars Fumigated Daily

Every effort ic now being made to stamp out the epidemic, and prevent the disease from spreading by means of public vehicles. All the street cars are thoroughly fumigated every twenty-four hours, and public places are being sprayed with germicides. Officials are stringendy enforcing the health laws, and it is hoped that by these measures the outbreak will soon be ended.

TALK ABOUT TOWN

The C. P. R. steamer Princess May will leave for the south on Monday morning at nine o'clock.

John Mosca, who is charged with shooting Angelo Gregoria with intent to kill was again arraigned in police court this morning. He was remanded until Monday.

Rev. W. E. Brown, a young Presbyterian minister from Westminster Hall, Vancouver, is in the city as the guest of Rev. F. W. Kerr. Mr. Brown is on his way to take charge of a mission up the Skeena River.

To be kissed by the four winds and to let people of this city and district know that their hurts can be healed Dr. James Simpson hung out his shingle for the first time in Prince Rupert today. The doctor practised in Juneau, Alaska, for some time. His office now is in the Westenhaver Block, corner of Sixth street and Second avenue.

LEMIEUX ACT AND MINER'S STRIKE

GOVERNMENT NOT TO INTERFERE YET WITH SITUATION

Minister of Labor in Touch With Miners' Federation, but Wants New Manager of Company to Have a Fair Chance.

(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, April 8.—Considerable discussion was engaged in on the floor of the House today in refernce to the relation of the Lemieux Act to the coal strike now in progress at Crow's Nest Pass. W. L. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor, stated that the department had been in communication with the executive of the Miners' Federation at Indianapolis in reference to the matter.

In view of the fact that a new manager has just been appointed to take charge of the affairs of the Crow's Nest Company on the scene of the strike, the Minister of Labor was inclined to the opinion that a chance should be given the new man to exercise his influence towards a settlement of the trouble. Until Monday next the new manager will be left to handle the situation in his own way. If by that time nothing has been accomplished towards an agreement the Government will appoint a board to investigate the whole affair.

FEARED STRIKE TROUBLE

Fight Between Foreigners on Eighth Street Alarmed Women

Last night two Norwegians fell out on Eighth street opposite the Windsor Hotel. The men struggled in vindictive combat for a few minutes, and a large crowd, fearing a renewal of the strike rioting telephoned the police who came speedily and settled the dispute by separating the combatants, and leading them off.

While playing near his home on Thursday little Richard Pillsbury, son of J. H. Pillsbury, civil engineer, fell and broke one of his arms just below the elbow. Dr. Tremayne was called in and set the arm. The little fellow is resting comfortably now. Thursday was an unlucky day for the firm of Pillsbury & Casey. Besides Mr. Pillsbury's son meeting with an accident Mr. W. A. Casey was shot through the hand in the strike riots.

Tuneful music will be one of the chief attractions at the Salvation Army services tomorrow. In the afternoon Mr. Davidson will address a meeting and the S. A. duet will sing

STRIKERS FACE STERN CHARGES

WHOLE FIFTY ARRAIGNED BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE

Offences Charged Vary from "Shooting with Intent to Kill" to "Intimidation" Under Criminal Code. Nick Pavitch Will Recover.

All is quiet in the strike situation today. The police, however, are still keeping an eye on things. Yesterday afternoon the fifty men under arrest were arriagned before Magistrate Carss on charges varying from shooting with attempt to kill to intimidation, under section of the Criminal Code dealing with the respective offences.

Though the police have made out formal charges it is probable that some of these will have to be amended when the defendants appear again on Monday before the Magistrate. Prosecuting Attorney Fisher will conduct the case for the Crown.

Some of the leaders such as Morse, MacDonald, and King will be charged with counselling attempt to kill.

About a dozen of the prisoners have been transferred from the old jail to the new one.

Nick Pavich, shot during the riots on Thursday is recovering in the General Hospital.

MORLEY MAYOR OF VICTORIA

NEW ELECTION RESULTS IN "AS YOU WERE" POSITION

All Aldermen Returned at Void Election in January Retain Their Seats. A. H. Bannnerman Ran Morely Close. Majority Only 706.

(Special to the Optimist)

Victoria, April 8.—Alfred J. Morley is again Mayor. He was elected by a majority of 706 votes over A. H. Bannerman. All the aldermen seated when the January election was declared void owing to the voters' list having been made up from the assessment roll, have been re-elected. The council remains as it was after the January election. Under the new roll the total vote cast numbered 8620. A. H. Bannerman polled 1454 votes although he entered the contest only at the very last minute. He was a popular candidate for the mayoralty, and had he entered the field earlier he might easily have unseated Morely.

SMALL FIRE TODAY

Oilstove Exploded in Houston Restaurant, Quickly Put Out

Fire broke out at nine o'clock this morning in the Houston Restaurant opposite the Talbot rooms on Second avenue. The outbreak was caused by the explosion of a coal oil stove. Within a few minutes after the alarm in came the Fire Department got on the job, and had the flames extinguished before any serious damage was done.

GUN ACCIDENT NADEN HARBOR

WILLIAM NICHOLLS SHOT IN ARMS AND FACE, CLOSE CALL

Shotgun in Hands of Fellow Workman Went Off Unexpectedly. Dr. A. Ross Fraser Attended Hurt Man at Massett.

(Special Correspondence)

The other day young William Nicholls while on the way out shooting with a fellow workman met with a serious accident. The shotgun went off suddenly in his companion's hands, and the charge, fortunately well spread, spattered his face and shoulders. By good fortune also, Nicholl's eyes escaped injury. Nicholls was hurried to Massett at once, and his wounds were attended to by Dr. A. Ross Fraser. No serious harm resulted from the lodging of numerous pellets in Nicholl's arms and face. These were skilfully removed, and he returned to his work at the whaling station after a few days.

Will Enlarge The Optimist

With todays issue the familiar small page edition of the Optimist will become a thing of the past. On Monday, for the first time, we will (D.V.) appear in the garb of a regular sized seven column newspaper.

Some of our readers who have grown to love us as we were, have protested at the proposed chance. Like some fond parents they just hate the thought that those they knew as children should have to grow big.

True, it comes as rather a wrench to ourselves, as well as necessitating troublesome and expensive changes in our plant and equipment.

But it had to come. Daily the Optimist has grown in favor and must increase in stature. It is easily the leading daily in Northern British Columbia; it has to become the leading daily on the whole Pacific coast, and the next step—the basic alteration on which many future improvements are to be built—is to alter its make-up to the regular sized page of large newspapers.

It has been suggested that copies of today's and Monday's issue might well be preserved among the pioneer trophies which many of us are saving to mark the development of the greatest city in the last best West.

SEAMEN FIGHT FOR LIFE IN ST. LAWRENCE ICE JAM

Sealing Steamer Harlow Caught by Drifting Ice-Field During High Gale and Crushed to Scrap Iron---130 Men are Marooned

(Special to the Optimist)

North Sydney, April 8.—Caught by a huge jam of drifting ice-floes in the Gulf of St. Lawrence last night the steamer Harlow was crushed to scrap iron. Her crew of a hundred and thirty men barely escaped with their lives from the wreck, and struggled at terrible risk across the treacherous floes to St. Paul's Island where they remain marooned, and without enough food, as the only means of communication with the mainland is by wireless. Aid is being sent them.

Vessel Nipped in High Gale

A strong gale was raging at the time the ice jam occurred. The Harlow, bound on a sealing trip to the Gulf, was making headway against the seas when a wide field of drifting floe ice driving steadily with the high wind bore down upon her. Realizing the risk her cpatain made every effort to force his vessel out of the path of the grinding floes, but vainly. The Harlow was completely surrounded by ice, and the masses piling themselves one on top of the other and forcing her along with them soon stove in the vessel's plates.

Men Leapt for Their Lives

Groaning and rending under the tremendous pressure the steamer began to break up with alarming suddenness, and the crew had to leap for their lives. Many had narrow escapes in the struggle over the bulwarks and on to the moving ice floes below. It was not possible to save anything. Water was pouring into the vessel through her bursting sides. Had she not been upheld by the ice itself she would have sunk like a stone. A few moments after the men got clear of her the Harlow, crushed like an eggshell, was a total wreck.

At imminent peril of their lives the crew struggled across the floes, and managed to reach St. Paul's Island in safety. Here they quartered for the night in what shelter was available. The whole party suffered much from cold and food was scanty. Wireless messages for aid were at once despatched, and the steamers Lady Laurier and Eearl Grey were sent out from Pictou and Halifax with supplies. They will reach them today.

YOUNG LIBERALS HAD GOOD TIME

HELD SUCCESSFUL SMOKER IN K. OF P. HALL LAST NIGHT

"Speech, Song and Story" was the Order of the Day—And the Talent was of the Very Best Rank.

The first of a series of monthly smokers was held last night by the Young Liberals. By agreement politics were tabooed, and the evening was spent in entertainment and good fellowship.

The programme was of a very high order and would have done credit to any of the big musical centres. Messrs. A. Clapperton and J. E. Davey after contributing solos, brought the house down with their fine rendering of Balfe's duet "Excelsior" which had to be repeated for the audience.

There were songs by J. Couture, A. S. Fletcher, W. H. Melliar and Mr. Brown, readings by Mr. F. A. Ellis and J. S. Cowper; piano selection by Mr. G. Denton and capital short speeches by the chairman, Frank Keeley, Fred Stork, A. R. Barrow, Dr. Kergin and others.

The Young Liberals' smoker is bound to be a great feature each month.

TOO FEW BOATS MADE MASSET

FOR A FORTNIGHT THE INLET WAS OUT OF TOUCH WITH US

Many Travellers Were Greatly Inconvenienced. Fifteen Came Over in a Gasoline Schooner. More Frequent Steam Service Wanted.

Special Correspondence

Massett, April 7.—Residents of Graham Island feel very keenly the lack of frequent steamboat communication with Prince Rupert. Since the eighteenth of March until quite recently not a singel steamer called at Massett Inlet where there is a rapidly increasing community now, many members of which would make frequent excursions to and from Prince Rupert had they the chance. After having been put to great inconvenience and delay, fifteen passengers took advantage of the arrival of a gasoline auxiliary fishing schooner which made the trip with them on her home journey to Prince Rupert.

Grand concert at the Baptist church, Thursday, April 20th at 8 p.m., music tableaux, etc. Admission 50 cents, children 25 cents. 4t

KESTREL MAY GO TOO SLOW

YANKEE POACHERS RUN JUST AS THEY PLEASE

New Fast Fishery Cruiser is Wanted, and May be Built Instead of Lighthouse Tender. Kestrel Could do Lighthouse Work.

(Special to the Optimist)

Ottawa, April 7.—Poaching is declared to be regularly running riot all along the B. C. coast nowadays, and quite possibly before long the Kestrel will be supplanted by a new fast gunboat fit to cope with the wily Yankee despoilers. Probably the Kestrel will be turned over to lighthouse service, as during a discussion of the maine estimates this week Mr. Barnard made the suggestion that instead of building a new lighthouse tender, the Government should expend the money on a fast fishery cruiser, and use the Kestrel to chase around the beacons and lighthouses.

"The Kestrel is far too slow to cope with the American poachers," said Mr. Barnard. "The Yankee boats are practically unmolested. Not only is there almost unrestricted fisning within the three-mile limit, but the poachers go ashore, and kill deer and other game wholesale.

In reply to the Minister of Marine who said that the Federal Government had no call to protect the Provincial game laws, Mr. Barnard said that if the coast was better protected there would be far less need to protect the game for poachers with no respect for the game laws would not be allowed to land. He added that the miserable administration of the laws here was bringing the system into contempt not only amongst the white people but also amongst the Indian aborigines.

Many Guests Attended Wedding of Miss Ethel Holtby

The marriage of Miss Ethel Holtby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Holtby, to Mr. Thomas Bernard Bland O'Neill of Quebec, took place on Thursday evening at the home of the brides parents on Centre street.

The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Mr. Kerr, took place in the drawing room which was beautifully decorated with pink carnations and ferns. Only the immediate friends of the bride were present.

The groom was attended by Mr. Lionel Holtby, brother of the bride.

SOUL SUNSHINE

As down the dreary street I went,
Walking alone with Discontent,
You met me, smiled, and hurried on—
And I looked up and saw the sun.

Your smile, your swift and happy tread,
The gallant carriage of your head,
The changing glint that I surprise
Of fairy green in clear brown eyes,
Proclaim the dauntless soul I know;
So vivid that it seems to go
Clad in scarlet down the way
We others walk in black and grey.
Not yours, like some too early wise,
To watch the world through dead men's eyes,
And barter for a stale half-truth
The shining birthright of your youth;
You wear it like a flag unfurled
In challenge to the friendly world.
Sorrow may touch you, yes, and care,
But not the slavish, dull despair
That bows men's backs to needless pain
Never to stand upright again.
I read in your smile and your brave young pride—
Skies are blue and the world is wide,
And ships come home with the morning tide.

So, walking onward, I behold
The dreary houses topped with gold;
Far from green field and dancing tree
Out of your eyes Spring laughed at me.

EVERY WOMAN KNOWS

But Every Husband Doesn't Believe This About Spring Hats

It's hard sometimes to get hubby to believe it but a spring hat is a necessity With all the determination possible to economize most strictly, the winter hat not only looks badly but is uncomfortable so that a change must be made when once a higher record of the thermometer is registered and the wearing of winter clothes becomes impossible. The first hats that are exhibited by those establishments that cater to the Southern resort trade are always high priced—quite too high priced for the majority of women. Then at the department stores are exhibited the expensive models also, but with the addition of a large stock of inexpensive ones and quantities of untrimmed shapes.

Here is a dangerous quicksand. The comparatively low cost of the "shape" and also the low price of many of the trimmings appeal irresistably to the woman who has a taste for millinery and has been credited by admiring friends with great skill in making her own hats. She invests in at least two or three of these bargains with their accompanying trimmings and does not realize at the moment that the sum total she has paid exceeds what the cost of an already made and smarter hat will amount to.

It is a mistake to buy the spring hat too early, when every penny has to be counted. The fashions in hats change so often that before there is a chance to wear it another quite different shape will be far more fashionable. On the other hand, if there is a hat that is becoming and smart at any reasonable price to be found in advance of the season it is a good investment, and there is nothing more delightful than to be possessed of a smart hat when the weather suddenly turns warm. But not to be led into senseless outlay is the wiser course to pursue, and the one smart black hat bought now will solve the problem far better than to be possessed of three or four of different colors.

A LINGERIE NIGHTCAP

Quaint and Dainty Bit of Vanity for Dreamland Wear

Quite the most quaint little creation of home fashions that I have seen for a long while is a lingerie nightcap, old fashioned, yet so dainty and pretty that we cannot but admire it. It is being sold in conjunction with one of the new lingerie nightdresses, and matches it perfectly. It is formed of three rows of narrow crochet insertion, and has a full puffed back of fine nainsook, the rows of insertion and the nainsook being gathered together at the back, and a large puffy bow of satin ribbon covers the gathers, and gives it a girlish and pretty appearance. Except for the fact that it is white lingerie, one would almost suspect it of being a coquettish and saucy little auto bonnet.

The will of the late Sir Charles Dilke was filed for probate last week. It disposes of an estate valued at $650,000 and contains no bequest for charitable purposes, because of the fact as stated, that the testator gave away much of his capital and income during his lifetime. The will bequeaths some valuable portraits and manuscripts of John Keats, together with other rare material to the borough of Hempstead, where Keats lived. The dead statesman also left his own documents and literary manuscripts to his niece, to make such use of as she may see fit, except certain political matter, which is to be published uncdited, if at all.

The bill to establish the referendum in Great Britain was shelved in the House of Lords today. Lord Lansdowne was given the cold shoulder, and the debate on the bill was adjourned without delay. It is not likely that the debate will be resumed at this session of parliament.

The Perils of Modern Education

Once upon a time fond fathers urged their progeny when departing for college halls to beware of eyestrain and overstudy. Mothers feared for the after effects of damp socks or unaired sheets. The worst that might possibly happen from a scholastic point of view was the fear that the unfortunate victim of education might develop bumptiousness which is the token of a half fledged acquaintance with "the meaning of things."

Recent tokens show that a new college disease has broken out. For lack of a better name it could be described as "hooliganitis" with a deep apology to the original Hooligan. Toronto University has had several bad attacks of it of late. More recently it spread to the shades of McGill University. Under its influence a body of McGill students made an attack on the carriage of a guest, overturned the vehicle and its occupants, and set fire to the wreckage on the university campus. It was a crime against the laws of hospitality of which a Hottentot or a Bushman would be incapable. Under the madness of hooliganitis the students imagined they were upsetting some of Mr. Sifton's superficial arguments against reciprocity.

Some of the experts who have been called in to diagnose the complaint have confused the disease with the horseplay of student life, or the historic "town v. gown" feuds which have marked the life of some of the elder universities. In this they are hopelessly wrong. The significant symptom of hooliganitis is that the victims go round in packs like wolves or jackals, and fall upon unprepared and unsuspecting persons. A year or so ago a number of the Toronto students walking down Yonge street, were suddenly smitten with hooliganitis. Without warning they ran into the middle of the road, pulled an inoffensive and surprised conductor off a street car, and broke his back. Unfortunately the man did not die, but lingers on, his children practically fatherless, his wife worse than widowed. None of the hooligans were hanged or even sent to the penitentiary. With a fine spirit of chivalry they "squared" the matter by "chipping in," and giving their victim some money.

The incident is revived by reading the accounts of the treatment meted out to Mr. Edward Terry, the famous English actor in Toronto. In his inimitable way he had been entertaining crowded audiences by his masterly delineation of the title role in that most amusing of comedies "The Magistrate." On this occasion the students bought up the whole of the cheaper seats in the galleries, and armed with cow bells, pea shooters, darts, rice, and a plentiful supply of ill manners and coarse comment upset the evening's entertainment, in spite of the appeals for fair play for the ladies of the company and the ladies of the house which Mr. Terry made, and in spite of the appeal of President Falconer "for the sake of the University" that the play be allowed to go on.

To the inhabitants of a frontier city like our own, it is hard to understand how hooliganitis can flourish so in the seats of culture. The man who sweats to send his son to the university ought to be warned of the dangers as well as the advantages that attend a university course.

A Talk About The Optimist

An extra edition of the Optimist of three hundred copies last night is one of the signs that the people of Prince Rupert have wakened up to the appreciation of a live newspaper. Almost every week for the past four months has seen instructions to the printing department to enlarge the edition, but last night the edition was bought up as fast as it came from the press.

There is a reason. The man who buys a paper buys news. The paper that gives most news, drawn from reliable sources and brightly written, is the paper for the people.

Last Saturday in addition to its special articles portraying Prince Rupert's advantages as an outfitting point, the Optimist was the only paper that announced the new schedule for the G. T. P. boats. It gave the exclusive announcement of the impending visit of Mr. Leonard Palmer, the representative of the London Financial News, and of the presence in town of Mr. J. N. Balcom representing a body of Iowan capitalists.

On Monday last the Optimist gave the exclusive news of Mr. Prudhomme's intention to fight the License Commissioners' judgment; the re-equipment of the hospital with new surgical beds; the particulars about the acceptance by Miss Marion Johnstone of the new teachership at Prince Rupert, and the Federal Government's action to fight the shoe machine trust.

On Tuesday we gave the exclusive story of the gold strike on the Naas River.

On Wednesday we gave the exclusive story of the resignation of Mr. J. A. Kirkpatrick from the chairmanship of the local Conservative Association, and an exclusive interview on Prince Rupert, reciprocity and Saskatchewan's growth with Premier Scott. On the same date an esteemed contemporary advertised its inability to secure a statement from Premier Scott. On the same day we also gave the exclusive story of the intention of Professor G. Lecarpentier, M. A., of Paris, to contribute an article on Prince Rupert harbor to the European Review of International Economics.

On Thursday we gave a full and exclusive account of the billiard match between the Prince Rupert and Wanderers' clubs—an item of much interest to local club men—and the exclusive announcement of the visit and interview with Mr. A. J. Walters of Seattle, who is here on behalf of Seattle investors.

Last night we also did some things over the riot, but that is fresh in your minds. An extra edition of three hundred local purchasers tells a tale.

We do not refer to these matters in a spirit of boasting, but just to let our readers know that when they buy the Optimist they buy a paper that is alive nd brim full of real news.

MAY LINK RUPERT TO CITIES IN U.S.

RUMOR THAT G. T. P. WILL BUILD BRANCH LINE

Minneapolis, St. Paul and Other Big Western Cities Will be in Direct Connection with Prince Rupert if Proposed Line is Built.

A number of big railroad arteries running through the Canadian prairie provinces connecting with St. Paul and Mindeapolis and other big cities in the western states is rumored. If the rumor comes true, which wiseacres say it will, this city will be in direct connection with all the cities through which these commerdial arteries run, for the G. T. P., it is said, is very much interested in the project.

The talked of plans are that the G. T. P. will connect with lines in the south bu building a branch line from a point on the main line in Manitoba. If this is brought about Prince Rupert will then be linked by the G. T. P. lines with sections of country rich in dairying and agricultural possibilities also offering excellent facilities with which to transport grain from the fields of the Dakotas, Minnesota and the prairie provinces to this port.

FIFTY DEAD IN BURNING MINE

MEN AND BOYS PENT UP IN BLAZING WORKINGS

Heart Rending Scenes at Pit Head When Rescuers Sent First Twenty Dead to the Surface. Little Hope for Remainder.

(Special to the Optimist).

Scranton, Pa., April 8.—One of the most serious mine disasters which ever visited this section of the mining country occurred today at the village of Throop. A terrible explosion devastated the workings of the mine there. The shaft was choked for a time and though heroic efforts were made to clear means of escape, over fifty men and boys imprisoned below have lost their lives. By midnight rescue parties had fought their way into the heart of the workings, and twenty blackeded bodies were sent to the pit head. Heart rending scenes were witnessed amongst the women and children relatives of the dead.

LONGSHOREMEN PASS A STRONG RESOLUTION

Request the City Officials to Re-open the P. R. I. A. Hall Within Twenty-four Hours—Mayor Will Consider the Resolution.

Indignant over the action of the police in closing the P. R. I. A. Hall and claiming that the city was trying to wipe out organised labor here, the local members of the Longshoremen's Union passed a resolution last night demanding that the hall be opened within 24 hours.

Two of the number named Montgomery and Ferguson called on Mayor Manson this morning and left the following resolution with him: "We, the longshoremen of Prince Rupert, at a special meeting unanimously passed a motion requesting that the city officials re-open the P. R. I. A. Hall and replace the goods taken therefrom within 24 hours. The reason for our request is that the action taken by the city is alleged to be a deliberate attempt to stamp out all organised labor in the city."

The motion bore the official stamp of the union.

When asked what action he would take, the Mayor said he was going to confer with Chief Vickers this afternoon and would meet Messrs. Montgomery and Ferguson at five o'clock and the matter would be fully discussed and explained.

WHALING FLEET IN OPERATION

ARE OUT AFTER BIG WHALES IN NORTH PACIFIC

Five New Whalers from Norway have Joined the Fleet iof the Northern Pacific Fisheries Co.—Two More Will Join This Week.

Victoria, April 7.—The whole of the fleet of the Canadian Northern Fisheries Company have left Victoria and are now prowling around in the vicinity of the three stations at Sedhart, Kyuquot and Rose Harbor after big whales which swarm the waters encircling the shore of the mainland and Vancouver Island.

The two new whalers Blue and Brown, which only arrived from Norway last week, have both been overhauled and are now en route to the West Coast to join the fleet.

On Tuesday the Brown signed her crew and got away for Schart on Wednesday, while the Blue signed her crew on Thursday and sailed late that afternoon for Kyuquot.

Reports received from the various stations state that the staffs are working full time now in order to keep pace with the work thrown upon them by the whalers. This is especially true of the situation off the west coast, where six vessels are pursuing the mammals.

When the new station now being rapidly rushed to completion at Naden Harbor is finished, several of the whalers will be withdrawn from the west coast and sent north.

With four stations going full blast the output of gill-bone fertilizer and whale oil will be tremendous and a great advance is expected over last year.

In addition to the regular fleet of steam whalers, the C. N. P. F. Company have the five new whalers in operation recently brought out from Norway.

Battleship Maintained More Than Required 21 Knots Speed for Eight Hours on End. Makes Good in Every Respect.

(Special to the Optimist)

London, April 7.—The battleship Hercules has returned to Palmer's shipyard, Jarrow-on-Tyne, after passing successfully through very severe trials. Recently she entered on a thirty-hours' steam trial, which put her beyond Plymouth. She returned, and on a subsequent date did eight hours' full steam, exceeding the required speed of 21 knots. The gunnery trials were very severe, and the concussion resulted in some plates being buckled, and other slight damage. The torpedo trials followed, and these together with the guns gave entire satisfaction.

HE IS RISEN AGAIN

Sketch of a Wonderful Story Which Has Aroused All Paris—Author Has a Daring but Reverent Plot

Paris, March 14.—A small book with a pale blue paper cover has startled all Paris. It is called "He Is Risen Again," and is by M. Charles Morice a writer who is well known for his admirable work on literature and art.

M. Morice has written books on Paul Verlaine, on Rodin, and "How to Visit the Museums," and on the religious sense in poetry. This last book, "He is Risen Again," is a social satire of such tremendous force, and is so different from any of his former works, that Paris is agape at it. For the book, in the form of a story—describes nothing less startling than the sudden return of Jesus Christ to Paris on December 14 last.

It is a difficult book to write about. We have had, "When It Was Dark," and Mr. Stead's "If Christ Came to Chicago," but for power, as for sensation, these books are mere trifles compared to the bombshell which M. Charles Morice has dropped on the boulevards. This is the way the book begins:

"When the Paris newspapers appeared on the morning of December 11 the back page of each paper—on which, as a rule, the advertisements were printed—was white. Everybody was puzzled, for the same phenomenon was visible on every paper. People got excited, and the newspaper offices were beseiged with questions. No answer was forthcoming.

"That evening the last page of the evening papers had no printed matter, and there were other blanks in other portions of the papers. The most puzzled of all were the journalists themselves.."

The printers are as puzzled as the journalists, for the papers have gone into the presses as usual. Then a journalist makes a discovery. Nothing but real fact appears in the paper. Everything which is paid for, everything that is untrue has disappeared. And on the morning of the 14th, while all Paris is wondering at the utter lack of business on the Bourse the day before, a little note appears on the back page of every Paris paper in a sea of white. "The Son of God needs no advertisement; he is staying at the Hotel of the Three Kings on the Place de l'Etoile"—literally the Place of the Star. "He will receive all visitors from twelve o'clock till twelve o'clock all day the 14th of December and tomorrow."

Such is the beginning of this remarkable book. It sounds blasphemous, but is certainly not intended to be blasphemous. The author's reputation is of itself sufficient to make such a thought impossible, and the personality if I may use the word—of Him of Whom the book is writtem is treated with absolute reverence.

M. Morice wishes to flay and flay society in Paris of today. He lashes with an unsparing hand.

There is a rush to the Hotel of the Three Kings. There are three hundred rooms in it, and in every one of the three hundred simultaneously Jesus receives a journalist. Each man believes that he is the only one to be received, and to each of them the Saviour appears as a defication of the man's own ideal of himself.

His coming creates an immense wave of curiosity all over the world. People come from all parts to see Him and to question Him, and He preaches of love, and stigmatises the sins of modern life. M. Jaures asks Him to declare Himself favorable to the Socialist idea. Jesus answers, "The poor will always be among you."

Then members of the French academies try to question Him, and ask Him to attend a meeting of the French Academy of Science. Jesus refuses with a pitying smile, and alludes to His former meeting with the doctors in the Temple. He refuses to perform a miracle, but this is what He does:

"The girl was trembling. Jesus reassured her with a smile. 'What do you want of Me?' He said. 'Lord, those I love are in danger of death, and I have come to implore You to save them.' Jesus takes her by the hand, and goes with her to a rich man's house, where a dinner party is in progress."

He has come to save the girl's brother and sister-in-law, in whose hearts love for one another has died. He speaks a few words, and the two burst into tears and kiss, while the girl falls at the Saviour's feet."

The marriages of all who meant to marry for money or for position are broken off at the last moment. Brides and bridegrooms say "No" at the altar. They are prevented from saying "Yes" by an unconquerable force. The Bourse practically stops business, for the bankers and brokers refuse to deal in speculative bonds and shares. Business is almost at a standstill, for dishonesty is at the root of modern business, and dishonesty has ceased to exist.

And the book ends with an interview between the prefect of police and the president of the republic, in which they decide to ask Jesus to leave France. He leaves Paris on Christmas Day. The reign of perfect love and virtue was not yet to be.

TO TELL THE YOUNGSTERS

No Birthday for Boys and Girls in Mikado's Empire

Japanese children do not have separate birthdays, as the Canadian boys and girls do. Instead, there is a festival in March for all the little girls, and another in May for all the little boys.

So if you were a little Japanese girl all your relations and friends would give you presents in March, your little sister would have presents on the same day, too, and so would all the little girls you know, and there would be big birthday parties going on everywhere.

Then in May the boys would have their turn. Their festival is called the "Fish Festival." Every family that has a boy sets up a big flagstaff in the doorway of their house. On the top of the pole is a gilt ball, and flying from the pole is a whole string of fish made of oiled paper or cloth.

The golden ball signifies a treasure which the fish is supposed to be forevert trying to reach. This means that the boy, when he is a man, will have to battle his way—in the same way as the fish struggle up the river—through life. It is a sort of little lecture to the Japanese boys to be ambitious.

NORTH PACIFIC FISHERIES TEEM WITH RICH WEALTH

Forty Million Dollars Represented the "Harvest of the Sea" Last Year---And Yet the Wealth Has Barely Been Tapped

Some striking figures on the extent and ramifications of the Pacific Coast fishing industry are furnished in the annual number of the Pacific Fisherman which has just been published in Seattle. According to this publication the fishing industry of the Pacific Coast, including Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California, produced in the year 1910 the enormous amount of of 523,391,601 pounds of food fishes and fish products, valued at $39,706,400, or enough meat to sustain an army of a million men in the field on a ration of one pound a day for a year and a half.

B. C.'s Big Share

Of the total amount, British Columbia contributed $8,602,306, which represented a capital of $6,823,852 employed on the fishing industry of this province, requiring the labor of 19,500 persons with their earnings totalling $5,580,000. In all the economic value of the industry of the Pacific Coast is represented by its employment of 58,826 men, and its wage contributions of $18,000,000 annually.

Big Salmon Haul

A study of the production by varities of fish used for food purposes is as striking as the total. The production of canned salmon leads with 4,310,082 cases of forty-eight pound can, valued at $23,024,825. Alaska produces the largest quantity—2,387,814 cases, valued at $13,132,977, and British Columbia next, 762,201 cases, valued at $4,192,105. Next in value is the production of fresh salmon, amounting to 82,198,200 pounds, valued at $4,578,479. Washington produces in pounds, 55,542,400; Oregon, 18,161,000; California, 4,884,800; Alaska, 1,200,000: and British Columbia, 2,500,000.

Lots of Halibut

Halibut ranks next, with 53,006,376 pounds, valued at $2,650,880. Of this total British Columbia contributes 22,500,000 pounds, valued at $1,125,000 against Washington's state production of 30,506,376, valued at $1,525,880. Mild cured salmon comes fourth in the list, with 23,045 tierces, weighing about 850 pounds each, and valued at $2,074,050. For British Columbia the total in mild cured salmon is 1,638 tierces, valued at $147,420. The other great fish food products, such as salt and dried salmon, herring, oysters, and other shell-fish make up the total quoted, namely: A value of $49,706,490, in which are figured whale products, oil and guano and the products of the fur seal rookeries which are to be subtracted to get the actual value of fish food products to be credited to the Pacific fisheries.

Most Varied Fishing

To British Columbia is given credit for showing a more varied industry than any other district on the coast with the exception of Alaska, for having the most valuable halibut fisheries in the world; for her herring fisheries in the vicinity of Nanaimo, not being eclipsed on the coast; for her whale fisheries off the west coast of Vancouver Island having proved a remarkable source of wealth and putting her at the head of the list in this respect.

Nearly $40,000,000

With an annual production of natural wealth of nearly forty million dollars, the fishing industry of the Pacific Coast is surely one of the richest of the many resources of this coast.

MacKay—Graham

A quiet wedding took place yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rootjes on Seventh avenue, when Mr. James MacKay, of the Pony Express Company was united in marriage to Miss Mary Lithgow Graham. Miss Graham arrived with her aunt, Miss Helen Graham from Calgary where she has lived for the past few years, since leaving her home in Scotland. Miss Graham will return to Calgary, while Mr. and Mrs. MacKay will take up their residence in Prince Rupert.

Mr. MacKay is well known as one of our most steady and industrious young men and his many friends send him their heartiest congratulations as he begins life with his beautiful young bride.

Rev. F. W. Kerr officiated at the ceremony.
