GRAHAM ISLAND WANTS A SCHOOL

CHILDREN IN MASSET HAVE ONLY AN OLD BUILDING

Indian Hunters Are Going Out for Some Caribou—New Townsite on the Inlet. Budget of News from Our Own Correspondent.

(Special to the Optimist)

Masset, Nov. 9.—The question of a new schoolhouse for the children of Masset is agitating the minds of the citizens. Winter is coming on, and the children have only an old building in which to study. It is quite unfit for use in winter time. The expenditure of a few hundred of the thousands of dollars collected on Graham Island would be a boon to the children and an act of justice that would be appreciated by all who are doing pioneer work in the settlements.

The Dominion Government wharf, and the Indian Agency buildings, at the Masset reserve, are well under way and will be completed before the end of November.

Under the contract with the postal department, the steamer Bruno will make but fortnightly trips to Masset Inlet during the winter months. Hunters are shooting a large number of geese and ducks at the Yakoun river.

Rev. W. E. Collison, formerly of Masset, paid a short visit to his former home recently. He is now located at Kincolith, on the Naas river.

The steamer Lillooet has been engaged for some time in hydrographic work on Masset Inlet and Virago Sound.

A party of Indian hunters will leave shortly to obtain specimens of the caribou, of which but three have been killed on Graham Island. Curator Kermede made an unsuccessful hunt for the animals recently.

Former City Engineer McCullouch, of Nelson, with a party of surveyors, is laying out the town lots in the new townsite, on Masset Inlet, for the Natural Resources company. W. Cook, of the Anchor Investment company, has started his mill at the new townsite.

The wireless station at Dead Tree Point, is in course of construction. A telephone line will be placed between Queen Charlotte City and Dead Tree Point, with an office at Skidegate. It is proposed to petition for telephone communication between the wireless station at Dead Tree Point and Masset.

Mrs. W. Hogan, wife of the popular pastor of Masset, is engaged in preparing for a sale of work, in connection with the Anglican church. Two Ladies' Aid Societies have neen organized and it is the intention to hold a bazaar during the holidays.

One "Elephant on His Hands"

The admirers of the manager of the world's champion baseball team offered to present him with a small elephant as an emblem of good luck, but as that gentleman had just assumed the responsibilities of matrimony he felt he could not give it the care and time its size and appetite required and begged to decline the gift.

Bear On Eighth Avenue

"What strange things one may see, when he hasn't a gun" was aptly illustrated last night. A bank cashier and a real estate broker who were out rather late last night, report having seen a bear on Eighth avenue. Whether the bear was trying to arrange a loan or was merely looking at the real estate they did not stay to inquire.

CITY LIGHTING PLANT

Work Continues to Make Satisfactory Progress

The City Engineer reports this morning that the work of installing the city electric lighting plant is making the best possible progress at its present stage. Mr. Burns is at present in Vancouver looking after the machinery, part of which is there.

VICTIM OF GUN ACCIDENT

CHARLIE GYR WAS BURIRD THIS AFTERNOON

Rev. F. W. Kerr Conducted Service in German and English With Touching References to the Young Man's Parents in the Far Off Fatherland.

The funeral of Charles Gyr, the young German-Swiss who accidentally shot himself dead while out duck-shooting at Tucks Inlet on Monday, was held this afternoon in the Presbyterian church. The funeral procession left Hayner Bros.' establishment at 1 p.m., and proceeded to the church where Rev. F. W. Kerr conducted an impressive service.

The pastor referred to the tragic suddenness of death's call to this young man, and speaking in German recalled to his hearers in touching terms thoughts of religious and home life in the Fatherland.

In an eloquent prayer he referred to the parents of the young man as yet unaware perhaps of his tragic death and burial in the lonely island cemetery in this land so fair, yet so far from the Fatherland.

The singing of a few verses of favorite and familiar hymns in German, and the reading of the burial service completed the simple funeral service within the church. The casket which was covered with evergreens and white drapery was conveyed to Garden Island for interment with a further brief service.

A large number of the friends and countrymen and women of the deceased attended the service including as chief mourners: Louis Sweder and T. Kilwasser, his partners who were with him at the time of the accident, also Ed. Kohse, Ed. Bannier, E. H. Witt, M. Messethat, Adolph Myer, M. Luke and Carl Heinsich.

THE WHARF IS GROWING

Conctree Piles Are Ready for Fixing in Place

The work of constructing the new Government wharf at the foot of McBride street is proceeding apace during this fine open westher. Frosty weather is a hindrance to the making of the concrete piles for the wharf, but every advantage is being taken of the present suitable weather. About twenty of the piles have been made up to date, and these are now waiting for the concrete to set, while a big gang of workmen is engaged on building the iron framing of other piles.

A single 100-foot reinforced concrete pile weighs about 26 tons but the big derrick already installed for the purpose of handling these piles can lift up to 40 tons. The largest piles ever constructed for this class of work will be used on this wharf. They will be 150 feet long.

No man goes far forward who has not strength of will to back down at times.

A GENTLEMAN OF LEISURE

George Edwards Helps to Relieve the Tax Rate

Why is George Edwards of this city the greatest aviator that ever happened? Because Chief McCarvell declares that he has had for thirty days no visible means of support. He has been complained of a good deal of late as an idler around hotel bars. George said he had been working lots, and had, oh, bags of money anyway. That being so he can well afford the fine of a dollar and costs which Magistrate Carss imposed.

George further admitted that he was drunk yesterday and for this will pay five dollars.

VISITED SHAWATLANS

VICTORIA JOINS BASEBALL LEAGUE

HAS NOW SIX TEAMS INSTEAD OF ONLY FOUR

Portland Is Also in League—Victoria Now Signing Up Players—Umpire Question Discussed at Meeting in Seattle—Judge Lindsay President.

At a meeting of the directors of the Northwestern league held in Seattle it was finally decided that Portland and Victoria should be admitted to the Northwestern baseball league, thereby making the Northwestern a six club league. The British Columbia capital city was represented at the meeting by Mr. Leonard A. Wattelet and T. S. McPherson, two prominent business men of Victoria. Both representatives were very optimistic over the results of their enterprise and firmly believe that with the co-operation of the business people, which is assured, and the liberal patronage of lovers of the greatest game on earth, the Victoria club will be a winner.

With the advent of Victoria into the Northwestern league, the pennant race for 1911 will become more of an international affair and the Victoria people are not going to be satisfied with a tail-ender team. The management realizes this and are already getting busy and signing up players for their team. Matt Stanley, Martinke, Whalen, Carney, Slim Dell, Billy Blackburn, all old Northwestern leaguers, are spoken of as possible members.

The First Air Line

Washington, Nov. 7—Official sanction was given today by the government for the transmission of the United States mail by aeroplane for the first time in history. Permission was granted by Postmaster General Hitchcock for J. A. D. McCurdy to carry the United States mails in this manner from the outgoing transatlantic liner Kaiserin Augusta Victoria to New York next Saturday, when that vessel is fifty miles at sea.

MUST REMOVE SIGNS

All Heavy Signs Across Sidewalks Must Come Down

The building inspector has been notified today to instruct all owners of business premises having large signs out across the side walks to remove these. Only light banners are allowed to extend over the sidewalks.

TO PROTECT CITY IN CASE OF FIRE

EIGHT HOSE STREAMS CAN BE PLAYED ON BLOCK

Fire Chief McInnis Made Tests of New Hydrants This Afternoon with Success. Business Section Is Efficiently Fire Protected.

The fire protection of the business section of the city is good. In the presence of Aldermen Mobley and Pattullo as well as a number of interested citizens and property owners in the heart of the city, Fire Chief McInnis this afternoon demonstrated the fact that he can at need, play eight three-quarter inch streams of water at high pressure from the new hydrants upon any block in the business section.

This afternoon's tests show that the pressure is not materialliy reduced when extra hose lines are attached up to eight nozzles, and in all conditions except of very high wind, a fire occurring in the congested district of the city can be controlled and extinguished quickly with such an effective water supply. Each three-quarter inch nozzle is good for about 300 gallons of water per minute at the pressure now available.

We May Get It Yet

A new disease has broken out that is puzzling the most expert oculists. It is known as "skymania," and has developed since the navigation of the air has come in vogue. The afflicted imagine, whenever they gaze in the direction of the heavens, that they see balloons, monoplanes, biplanes and other aerial craft sailing through the firmament. The symptoms are more pronounced after dark when lantern, headlights and other illuminated will-o'-the-wisps are observed by the sky gazers. Cases are reported from Swift Current, Port Arthur and other points but residents of Prince Rupert are so far immune.

TWENTY DOLLARS FOR A LANTERN

City Hall Lanterns Are a Temptation—They Shine So Bright

It was not without some serious misgivings that City Clerk Woods placed a lantern on a plank last night outside the City Hall to warn passersby of a broken road plank. Several lanterns belonging to the city have gone mysteriously a-missing of late, and this one was almost too temptingly displayed, though there for an obvious and excellent purpose. The arrival of the road mender to repair the plank enabled the city clerk to take the lantern inside for the night, but in proof of the assertion that City Hall lanterns are a temptation the case of James Whitfield mentioned in today's police court is convincing.

Whitfield on being charged with appropriating a lantern, the property of the city, put up $20 bail. He failed to appear to answer the charge, and the amount is forfeited. Pretty good price to pay for a lantern $20—eh?

LOCAL OPTION WAR DECLARED

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN NOW BEING PLANNED

Cause Strongly Supported by Leading Business Men on Practical Grounds. Big Battle Promised. Plans Will Not Be Published.

The members of the Prince Rupert Local Option League and their supporters and sympathizers with the movement have declared war upon the liquor traffic. A strong body of them met last night in the Presbyterian church under the presidence of C. V. Bennett. It was enthusiastically argued that the campaign had now begun, and the business now before the leaders of the party is to lay such plans as will accomplish the end for which the league is working.

In a stirring speech the Rev. W. H. McLeod declared that theirs was a fight in which Prince Rupert's best men and busiest citizens would be engaged. They could count on men who couldn't be bought, men of red blood, strong, active, good business men, as well as vigorous Christian temperance men, who were taking up this cause for the practical good of the city they lived in. He said they would see it through, carried by a big majority. Help in the way of organization they might have from outside, but the campaign would be carried to success not by any outsiders' aid but by the citizens of Prince Rupert themselves.

A burst of cheering greeted Rev. Mr. McLeod's speech. His sentiments were vigorously supported by Rev. F. W. Kerr, and Rev. Charles Sing, who welcomed the fact that the war is being waged even more from the business and economic standpoint than on moral and ethical grounds. The Chairman, C. V. Bennett, T. J. Davison, D. McLeod, G. R. Naden, and other business men agreed, and it was decided to appoint a nomination committee to select office bearers, and re-organize the committees generally. This work will be completed speedily, but the plans and methods to be adopted for the success of the campaign by the committees and leaders will not be made public.

C. V. Bennett expressed the feeling of the meeting when he said: "We have come into the field tonight with our open declaration of war. But we are not going to lay bare the plans of campaign prepared by our leaders and officers in consultation. We shall conduct the campaign as every other campaign is conducted, keeping our plans private till the blow is struck."

The ladies present were strongly in sympathy with the speakers, and will be active workers in the campaign. It was announced that another meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church next Monday at 8 p.m. to which all who are in sympathy with the local option movement are invited.

Chance For Rupert Boys

For the sum of $400 the student of aviation can take a course at M. Bleriot's aerodrome at Hendon that will qualify him to make the most daring flights. Graduates are entitled to the degree of M.A., Master of Air, and have the privilege of purchasing a machine ranging in cost from $2,400 to $10,000.

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

Reception at Prince Rupert Club

Quite the smartest social event of the early season was the reception to the ladies given by the members of the Prince Rupert Club in their handsome new club house last evening. That the ladies had looked forward to the evening with anticipations of pleasure was evidenced in the many new and pretty gowns which made their appearance. The enthusiasm of the fair guests in the program of dances was a compliment to the club directors who arranged the affair.

The club rooms were decorated with patriotic colors and cut flowers and looked delightfully cosy and inviting. The billiard room was given over for dancing which the guests made the feature of the evening. Tables of bridge were spread in the large lounging room up stairs.

During the evening very dainty refreshments were served in the reading and card rooms, the caterer being the Tea Kettle Inn. Grey's orchestra furnished the music.

The guests present were: Mrs. V. W. Smith, Mrs. W. M. Law, Mrs. Brandt, Mrs. D. Gilmore, Miss Christie, Mrs. S. B. Johnston, Mrs. Flexman, Mrs. R. Ross, Mrs. P. W. Anderson, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. C. B. Wark, Mrs. McCaffery, Mrs. Hugh Dunn, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. Bondeau, Mrs. C. D. Newton, Mrs. Clements, Mrs. McLennan, Mrs. H. H. Clarke, Mrs. J. J. Sloan, Mrs. Frizzell, Mrs. A. Brooksbanks, Mrs. Hildebrand, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. McCroskie, Mrs. D. H. Morrison, Miss Rochester, Miss Hazel Rochester, Miss Mercer, Miss McMaster, Miss Sawle, Miss Barker, Miss Gleeson, Miss McPherson, Miss Craig, Miss Helen Dunn, Miss Dudsie Dunn, Miss Brodie Dunn, Miss Davis, Miss Hannifin, Miss Jen, Miss Thompson, Miss Ellot, Miss Oliphant.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Quigley leave Prince Rupert tonight by the G. T. P. boat for the south. They have been very popular indeed during their stay in the city, and a great deal of sincere regret is expressed that they are leaving. It is hoped they will return to Prince Rupert.

Mrs. Cora Arnold, of Missouri, is visiting friends in the city.

Bernhardt Snubbed Them

When Sarah Bernhardt landed at New York a few days ago, on her farewell tour, the Joan of Arc League of Suffragettes met Madame Bernhardt in a body and strewed her path with chrysanthemums as she walked up the gang plank on to the docks, but were snubbed for their pains by the great actress.

"I've got along all right with the wit and wisdom that God gave me without the suffrage," said Bernhardt.

The "Divine Sarah" said she believes in suffrage, but not in suffragettes.

Woman and the Emperor

The passage in the Konigsberg speech in which the Emperor William admonished German women to devote themselves to "the quiet work of the home," rather than to "the attainment of supposed rights," has engaged a good deal of the attention of the League of Associations of German Women, which has just held its annual conference at Heidelberg. Various speakers have criticized His Majesty's utterance, and at a general meeting of the league a strongly-worded resolution was adopted without debate. The league claims to represent thousands of German women and the resolution was suppoertd by all associations except the German Evangelical league. The resolution expresses pain and regret at the emperor's misunderstanding of the causes of the women's movement and of its aims. After a profession of patriotism and unselfishness, the resolution concludes:

"We do not fail to appreciate the importance of woman's domestic duties, but we see that in the modern conditions of life which drive 9,500,000 women into the struggle for a living outside the home, it is absolutely necessary to go beyond the bounds of domestic duty. We regret, therefore, most deeply that our efforts to fit women better than heretofore for modern conditions of life have, by this imperial criticism, been brought into discredit among the unthinking and unreasonable."

Practical Household Hints

A spoonful of flour added to the grease in which eggs are to be fried will prevent them from sticking or breaking.

A nice relish to serve with fish is raw cabbage cut up very fine and covered with French dressing beaten almost to an emulsion.

When washing fine china or cut glass, a heavy Turkish towel on the bottom of the dishpan will often prevent chipping.

Rubbing the entire surface of a felt hat with fine sandpaper will remove every speck of dirt and dust from the hat and leave it like new.

To work buttonholes in net, baste a small piece of muslin underneath. Work the buttonhole through that, afterward cutting the muslin away beneath.

The syrup from the pickled peaches done up a year ago may be used this season. Heat the syrup to the boiling point, and use it as though fresh.

To prevent the cork in a bottle containing a sticky mixture from becoming too tightly fastened, dip the cork in olive oil before placing it in the bottle.

There are said to be 5,000 teachers out of employment in England owing to over production in the teachers' colleges.

Crown Prince Alexander of Servia is said to be looking for an American wife, and all that is necessary is that the lady be passably good-looking and have a good income.

Miss Mabel Edith Ransom of Perry, Oklahoma recently rode on horesback 300 miles to Lawrence, Kansas, in order that she might enter the University of Kansas at that place. She wanted to take a course in domestic science, but could not bear to leave her pony behind, nor could she bear to have him come by train lest he be hurt. She averaged fifty miles a day during the trip.

WHERE IS THE ANALOGY, MR. HAYS?

The plea of President Hays and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway for exemptions from assessment on the ground of what other cities have done will deceive only the unthinking. There is no parallel between Prince Rupert and any other city in Canada in regard to their relations with the railway company. Any conclusions drawn from exemptions granted by Eastern cities, are without value in the present negotiations.

What are the conditions under which cities and towns usually grant exemptions and vote bonuses to railway companies? In every case the city is ahead of the company. It has grown up complete in itself and sees an opportunity of enlarging its commercial advantages by inducing a railway to enter its boundaries.

But the situation in Prince Rupert is entirely reversed. It was the railway which was here first and which owned the property that Prince Rupert is built upon. It was the railway company which organized the development company, and set about the work of attracting citizens to Prince Rupert. It was the prospect of population which gave value to the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Company's property.

When Mr. D'Arcy Tate writes to the Premier "If the railway terminus were not at Prince Rupert could you sell the land at a dollar an acre?" the obvious retort is "If population shunned your townsite at Prince Rupert, could you sell your property there for fifty cents an acre?" The citizens of Prince Rupert are quite as necessary to the fulfilment of the company's plans as the railway company is to the citizen's plans.

Because of this fundamental difference between Prince Rupert and any cities in the East which in their wisdom may grant exemptions to the railway companies, the argument is without point.

What does it matter to Toronto for instance, if in order to secure a new Union Station it were to offer to exempt railway property to the extent of two millions. That is less than one per cent burden to the taxpayers on Toronto's total assessment of two hundred and twenty-two millions. But for Prince Rupert to do as Mr. Hays suggests and grant an exemption equal to $6,800,000 of its recent assessment would mean an increase of over one hundred per cent on the tax rate for our citizens.

They are not the best advisers of the public who would argue that the council make haste and patch up some kind of agreement with the company. A question is never settled unless it is settled right.

MR. BRYAN MAKES MERRY

In the face of all his past disappointments Mr. Bryan still keeps a sunny face, and jests at Mr. Roosevelt's appropriation of the Bryan policies. In his speech at Indianapolis the other day, a speech full of wise quips and saturated with good temper he even professed to find enjoyment in watching his rival's methods. The Nebraska orator told his hearers that if they wanted to find the smile which won't come off, there was no need of their looking at the advertisements of breakfast foods; they could come and look at him. To quote from his speech:

"I am much in the attitude of the young fellow down in Alabama, a bashful young man, who courted his girl for a year before he had the courage to propose to her. One evening he told her that he loved her and asked her to marry him. She was a frank, outspoken sort of a girl and she said: 'Why, Jim, I have been loving you these many months. I have just been waiting for you to tell me, so I could tell you.' Jim was overcome with delight. He went out and looked up at the stars and said, 'Oh, Lord, I hain't got anothin' agin' nobody.'

"That was the way I commenced to feel years ago about this matter. I have been feeling better and better ever since, and I don't know what I am going to do if I get to feeling much better than I do now."

Mr. Bryan referred to a cartoon which was published before the end of Mr. Roosevelt's term of office as President, representing both Mr. Roosevelt and himself as birds, the former on a nest while Mr. Bryan was on a limb, the nest being cushioned with feathers plucked from the bird that sat on the limb, all bare, with but one feather left, "Tariff Reform." "And I was wondering whether he was trying to get that," said Mr. Bryan.

In closing his speech, Mr. Bryan disavowed any dissatisfaction with Mr. Roosevelt's appropriation of his policies. They were made for use, he said, but it would be difficult to rub the label "Bryanism" off them, which was fastened on them in derision when he first propounded them.

THE EXPERIMENTAL SMELTERS

The experimental smelters, to which we have devoted considerable space on another page of this issue, is a subject of importance to the residents of this district. The Federal Government is to be commended for its enterprise in thus giving facilities to develop the mineral wealth of the country. With the enormous and undeveloped mineral areas in Northern British Columbia, Prince Rupert must not let any opportunity pass to have an experimental smelter located here.

It is fortunate indeed for us that the member for Comox-Atlin, Hon. William Templeman, is also Minister of Mines. His interest in the development of the country, his knowledge of the mineral wealth of his own constituency, and his position as head of the department of mines ensure that the interests of Prince Rupert will not be passed over in this matter.

MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

Omission of Three Words Misrepresent Stewart Mines

The omission of three short words in a telegraph despatch to the Vancouver News-Advertiser at the beginning of the now closing week, says the Colonist, has had the effect of throwing all interested in properties on the Portland Canal and in the vicinity of Stewart into a white heat of indignation, and also of sending the quotations of the stocks of the mining properties in question down with a rush.

The slump, which has hit a number of past investors in these stocks extremely badly, arose through the dropping in of three words from a summary report of an interview given a Colonist representative by the provincial mineralogist, Mr. W. Fleet Robertson, upon his return from a tour of inspection through the Portland Canal district. In that interview, Mr. Robertson was correctly quoted in the Colonist as saying that "none of the other properties of the camp (the Portland Canal Mining company's having been under previous consideration) are as yet approaching the shipping stage, nor likely to be before next year." In the telegraphed repitition the words "before next year" were omitted—hence all the heated comment and the fall of the shares.

GOVERNMENT SMELTER IS WANTED FOR THIS PART OF THE PROVINCE

Dr. Haanel, director of the department of mines at Ottawa, is now in the Kootenay country selecting a site for a government experimental smelter. This is the outcome of five years of work in this new dep artment of the government during which time Dr. Haanel has visited other countries and studied all the smelting processes in operation. In addition to the scientific and technical data obtained, the establishment of the department has been of great use in stimulating the studies of geology and minerology and the treatment of ores in general. One outcome of the government's operations in this direction is the establishment of a school of mines and mining at McGill university second only to the Columbia school of mines that has been in operation so long in New York city, and it is hoped that the example of Old McGill will be followed by most of the leading institutions of learning throughout the Dominion.

May Establish Other Smelters

In the same way it may be hoped that the establishment of an experimental smelter in the Kootenays will be followed, as in the case of experimental farms, with similar smelters at other points. The government farms have been and are doing an exceedingly valuable work in stimulating the more rapid development of the agricultural industry by demonstrating what crops can be grown at the largest profit in various localities, the exact nature and productive qualities of the soil, climate, and so forth. Also in their training of the youth in the latest scientific developments of the farming industry and thus placing it on a higher plane.

Their Value to the Country

But experimental smelters are bound to prove of far greater value in adding to the wealth of the country than are the experimental farms, because the mining industry is in a less advanced condition than is farming, and likely to remain so without government aid. This aid becomes a necessity from the fact that the studies of minerology and chemistry on a scientific basis are costly and beyond the reach of the ordinary individual. In the same way the ordinary prospector and mining operator is handicapped by the costliness of the machinery necessary to prove that his mineral discovery is of productive value. In fact, the mining industry is now at the very mercy of the smelter operators, and it is this condition more than any other that adds to the speculative character of mining and undoubtedly is the cause of much wildcatting, because smelter returns are not always above suspicion.

Prince Rupert Needs One

It needs no effort of the imagination to forsee how much more rapidly the development of the Portland Canal and Skeena river discoveries would be if a small experimental smelter were erected at government expense at a central point in the district near to this city. Unless this is done the mining of the district has to be retarded until there is sufficient ore in sight to lead capital to risk the expense of a smelter.

Meantime, the man who has discovered mineral can only have a smelter test made on it by paying exhorbitant freight rates and charges, and has to be satisfied with a chemical assay. Even with a smelter test, as before noted, he is not so certain of the values of his mineral as he ought to be. A test made by government would be of real value both to the prospector and to the purchaser, as it would be absolutely reliable. An experimental government smelter here, would therefore vastly accelerate the mineral development of the whole of Northern British Columbia.

The South Will Get One

Dr. Haanel has practically decided to have an experimental smelter for the south of the province. This will be of great advantage to our miners and mining operators as it will furnish them with reliable smelter returns on their ore; but there will still be the exhorbitant freight rates to be paid on the shipment of the ore to the smelter. Were an agitation started by our mining operators for the establishment of a small experimental smelter here there is every reason to hope that it might be successful. We could confidently rely on the support of the member of parliament for this district, Hon. William Templeman, the minister of mines, and if Dr. Haanel could be induced to visit the Skeena and Portland canal next year, and see the immense ore bodies of value that have been uncovered, something in this direction might result.

GAVE A SNUB TO MR. ROOSEVELT

SCATHING ATTACK BY NEW GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

Victorious Democrat in Closing His Campaign Calls Ex-president a Dangerous Meddler and a Victim of Incrdinate Vanity.

John A. Dix, the nominee of the Democratic party for the governorship of New York, who so woefully defeated the candidate of Colonel Roosevelt and the Republican party for that office, must have felt that his was more than a personal or even a party victory. His words in closing the campaign in New York City, charged Roosevelt with being an intermeddler of inordinate vanity, dangerous ambition and reckless conduct, and the rebuke thus delivered is rubbed in hard by the defeat of the Roosevelt forces in his native state. Under these circumstances the words of Mr. Dix on that occasion are interesting to read. Referring to Colonel Roosevelt he said: "In the center of the stage there has been hurled—by the inordinate vanity, the dangerous ambition and the reckless conduct of a man who has become the apostle of tumult and protagonist of misprerepresentation—the question of whether our Republican institutions should survive, or, under the assaults of the agitator and the egotist, should go down to destruction, as have those of other great countries under similar assaults.

"Fortunately, the battle ground chosen for this fight was that which combined patriotism, intelligence and public spirit in their highest form, and the decisive defeat which lies before this creator of unrest, this instigator of panic and this destructive agent of business depression will not alone retire him to a sphere of well-earned and unenvied seclusion, but will serve as a signal warning to all other men who may let their ambition blind their judgment to the fact that this is and must remain a government for the pepple and by the people.

"Search all through the history of our country, examine and study the characters and careers of all those who have been chosen to fill this greatest of human positions—and where shall we find in all the long line of men who have stood forth in their day and generation—each as the foremost American citizen—where shall we find a man whose qualities, whose conduct, whose career after leaving office have been so lacking in dignity and self-respect?"

CHIPS FROM THE HUMORISTS

"I see you've advertised for a lost dawg, ma'am, and——"

"Yes, but that isn't my little Jewel. That's a mongrel. Take him——"

"I know that, ma'am. No dawg could ever take the place of your lost darlin', but if you'd like to have a gentle little creetur to love while you're huntin' for your Joel I'll sell you this un for 50 cents, ma'am. "

The Preacher—"I'm going to pray that you'll forgive O'Rourke for having thrown that brick at you." O'Rafferty (propped up in bed)—"No, wait until I get well, and then pray for O'Rourke."

"Now," said the physician, "you will have to eat plain food, and not stay out late at night." "Yes," replied the patient. "That's what I have been thinking ever since you sent in your bill."

The very young traveling salesman was registering at the village hotel. "I want a room with running water in it," he remarked. "Runnin' water?" cackled the landlord; "what do you want to do, mister—practice indoor trout fishing?"

A very small boy was trying to lead a big St. Bernard dog up the road. "Where are you going to take the dog, my little man?" enquired a passerby. "I—I'm going to see where—where he wants to go first," was the breathless reply.

In a storm at sea the chaplain asked one of the crew if he thought there was any danger. "Why,," replied the sailor, "if this continues we shall all be in heaven tomorrow morning." The chaplain, horrified, cried out, "The Lord forbid!"

John Smith had worked for the corporation for forty odd years, and decided to retire. The company, in consideration of his long and fatihful service, arranged to give him a monetary recognition. The superintendent, a German and an extra good mechanic, was aksed to present it. He was advised to use a little sentiment in making the presentation speech, and this is the way he did it:

"John you haff work for the company over forty years?"

"Yes."

"You are going to retire?"

"Yes."

"Vell, they are so glad of it that they asked me to hand you this twenty pounds.

GALENA VEIN IS UNCOVERED

ON DYER-STEPHENSON GROUP FOUR MILE HILL

Property Under Bond to Syndicate of Capitalists from Vancouver—Eight Thousand Paid Down on a Forty Thousand Dollar Bond.

The first result of the surface stripping that has been going on at the Dyer-Stephenson group of claims on Four Mile Hill, saye the Omineca Herald, is the uncovering of a three-foot vein, from which the foreman, William Dalton has brought to town some fine looking ore. Most of the vein filling is decomposed, the only parts left solid being the streaks composed mostly of quartz. Now that the vein has been proven at this point the crew has been started on a tunnel to tap the ledge at a depth of fifty feet.

On the original showing, where some four feet of mixed ore was uncovered by the locators, a tunnel is being driven to tap the vein and already, while still some distance away, kidneys of galena are appearing in the rock.

The group, consisting of five claims, is under bond to a syndicate of Vancouver men. Eight thousand dollars was paid down on a forty thousand dollar bond.

Work was delayed considerably in starting but is now going ahead at a good rate.

ENERGETIC ALDERMEN

How Our City Fathers Protect the Citizens From Risk of Accident

About eight o'clock last night when Ald. Pattullo and Ald. Naden were walking down Centre street there was nearly an accident. Right in front of the City Hall the plankway was broken and a dangerous hole gaped, a trap for the feet of the unwary pedestrian in the darkness.

The right men had discovered the break, however, and promptly they got busy to safeguard the passersby. They stuck a board up in the hole. It couldn't be seen far in the gloom, but it served to keep anyone from tripping there and breaking a limb.

The City Hall was handy, and there was a light burning inside. The Aldermen had not a key for the door, however, but knocked repeatedly. By and by City Clerk Woods and his assistant, J. A. McMaster, who were working overtime, heard and opened the door. Ald. Pattullo asked for a lantern. Wondering if the genial alderman were about to set forth on another Diogenes excursion the city clerk complied with the request. A lantern was produced and when the trouble was explained to him City Clerk Woods and his assistant got busy fixing it on to the plank placed upright in the roadway. The roadmender was instructed by 'phone to repair the road first thing in the morning. He came on the jump, however, and patched it up last night. So, energetically, do our Aldermen and City Hall officials protect passing pedestrians from the perils of perforated plankwasys by night.

MAIL NEXT MONDAY

Princess Beatrice Will Make Trip to This Port and Return

Postmaster McIntosh was remarking this morning what a heavy mail the Prince Rupert would have on her next trip, as there would be no mail boat between the Camosun on Friday night and the Prince Rupert on Wednesday afternoon. A little later in the day, however, Mr. McNab, agent of the Canadian Pacific, received a wire stating that the Princess Beatrice would leave Vancouver at eleven o'clock on Saturday evening. She will not go to Skagway but leave here on her return to Vancouver on Tuesday morning.

AMERICAN BOY GROUP

Hugh Harris Going to Vancouver to Bond the Property

Hugh Harris, the original locator of the Silver Cup is in town from Hazelton, having come down the Skeena in a canoe. Mr. Harris has obtained an agreement in regard to the American group on Nine Mile mountain, and is on his way to Vancouver to bond the property. It is said by F. A. Browne and others to have one of the most wonderful surface showings ever met with in the province.

FROM END TO END IN THREE YEARS

MR. CHAMBERLIN MAKES NOTABLE PREDICTION

General Manager of Grand Trunk Pacific Says System Will Be Completed Into Calgary, Regina and Moose Jaw by End of Next Year.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—Mr. E. J. Chamberlin, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, who recently arrived from Winnipeg on an inspection tour to the end of that track, 200 miles west of Edmonton, announced that the new transcontinental would be running a through train from Bonaventure station to the Rocky Mountains in 1912, and that the Pacific would be reached a year later. He had the assurance of the contractors that by that time the main line would be completed from Cochrane, where the Ontario Government line joins the Grand Trunk Pacific, to Fort William. As the Ontario road would be very anxious to get the business there was no reason why the company's through trains should not be then carrying passengers to the Rockies and even further on.

Freight trains, said Mr. Chamberlin, were now regularly running from Edmonton to Fort William, although the contract would not be taken from Mr. McArthur's hands until spring, and he expected that no less than ten millions of bushels of wheat would be brought to that port before the close of navigation. At Fort William, said the vice-president, they had the finest terminals of any railway on the North American continent. Already they could take care of at least thirty million bushels.

Mr. Chamberlin had been over a part of the contract east of Superior Junction and also at other points, and thought the quality of the work was all that could be desired, and the same held good as regards the western sections. As for the quantity of land which the Grand Trunk Pacific taps between Winnipeg and Edmonton, Mr. Chamberlin stated that out of nine hundred miles there were but thirty miles which was not first class wheat raising country, and even that was first rate grazing land.

"Why," said Mr. Chamberlin, "if all that country were settled, as it will be some day, we could carry thd product of three miles wide on each side of the road, and what will it be when we have a settled country on each side as far as twenty miles from the track? I believe," added Mr. Chamberlin, "that in ten years the West will dominate the East, politically, financially, and every other way, so rapidly and so great is the country being settled up and so great is the general development of the West."

Two hundred miles of track were already laid west of Edmonton and three heavy bridges have been completed, while it was quite likely that the steel would reach the Athabasca river by the end of the year. From that point westward about seventy-five miles there would be heavy work and in all probability a great many men would be kept busy through the province of British Columbia all winter. Some eight hundred miles of branch lines in the West were under construction and two hundred miles of track would be laid on these lines before the end of the present year, the vice-president announcing that they expected to have their system completed into Calgary, Regina, Moose Jaw, Prince Albert and other points during the year 1911, as the completion of branch lines and feeders was almost as important as the main line.

House of Lords Problem

London, Nov. 9.—(Special)—A suggestion that is growing strongly in favor is to have a convention both of Liberals and Conservatives to deal with the house of lords problem and the allied question of home federation.
