MR. MANSON TO WITHDRAW FROM CIVIC POLITICS

JAMES CARTER DROWNED IN GALE OFF COAST OF GRAHAM ISLAND

Was Out on E. D. Stevens' Launch When Gale Came On—Tried to Make Landing at Tl-El River—While Trying to Reach Skidegate Their Steering Gear Broke and Boat Turned Turtle in Breakers—Joe Tasratat Escapes After a Fierce Struggle

(By Special Wireless)

Skidegate, Oct. 14.—Half famished and suffering from the cold, Joe Tasratat, a French settler of Lawn Hill, has reached here with the sad news of the death of James Carter by drowning in a launch accident off the east coast of Graham Island. The sad affair happened on Wednesday afternoon, and Tasratat had a narrow escape of his own life.

Trip up Coast

Carter left Skidegate last week in Mr. E. D. Stevens fine new launch to take provisions to come of the settlements up the east coast of Graham Island. Returning on Monday morning he was accompanied by Joe Tasratat, who has a pre-emption near Lawn Hill. After leaving Yoanda River the wind became very strong and the sea rose. It looked so dangerous that the men decided to run to safety. They decided to try and make the Tl-El River, but when they reached there the tide was too low to gain an entrance. With a choice of risking their lives waiting till the tide rose or of going to pieces on the bar, they decided to put to sea again and make for Skidegate.

Steering Gear Broke

All would have ended well probably, but in the heavy seas that met them, the steering gear of the launch broke down, and she became unmanageable. The men at once cast anchor and determined to ride out the storm until the sea subsided and they could effect repairs. On Wednesday, however, the gale became more fierce, and with the little craft straining at her anchor, her moorings broke and she became once more at the mercy of the gale.

After their moorings broke the launch was driven closer in shore to the breakers. Wallowing in the trough of the waves, she was suddenly swept among the breakers which rolled her over, throwing the men out into foaming water. Tasratat, after a great struggle managed to make the shore, but his unfortunate companion perished among the breakers.

After reaching the land, Tasratat managed to make his way to Skidegate, where the sad news the wireless station at Dead Tree Point, and was assisted to Skidegate, where the sad news was broken of Carter's death. The launch it is believed is smashed beyond further service.

Carter who made his home at the Indian Village, was a young man and unmarried. He spent most of his time in the employ of Mr. Stevens, running his gasoline boat for him.

The Journal announced editorially last night that Mayor Manson has decided to retire from municipal politics at the end of the year, and accordingly will not seek re-election. Mr. Manson is at present away touring the constituency in company with Mr. H. S. Clements, M. P., of Vancouver.

FIRST TO CLIMB THE WHITE PASS

Dr. Charles G. Percival with Bull Dog Auto Passed South on City of Seattle—Will Go to New York Across the Continent.

On board the S.S. City o Seattle which passed southboun yesterday there travelled Dr. Chas. G. Percival, of New York, with his Abbot Detroit bull dog car stowed snughly on the forward deck of te steamer. He was en route for Seattle, and spent an hour ashore in Prince Rupert seeing the progress of the city. He was impressed by our method of making good roads out of the raw rock and muskeg, and from the autoist's point of view appreciated Third avenue's increasingly smooth surface.

Dr. Percival has to his credit the reputation of being the first man to climb the White Pass in an auto. The car he had with him did the trick. He drove some 245 miles of Llondike trail towards Dawson, climbing the Pass en route. A travel record of some thirty-five thousand miles belongs to Dr. Percival and his auto. This will be increased in a few weeks by the breadth of the United States for the doctor is on his way to New York overland from Seattle by car.

TINY BOAT LEAVES FOR MASSET WITH GASOLINE AND DYNAMITE

Perilous Trip Undertaken by the Tingley Brothers—Are Risking the Ocean Voyage With Dangerous Cargo—Passenger Steamers Refuse to Carry the Explosives Owing to Customs Regulations—Fears are Expressed for Their Safety

At two a.m. today in the darkness with a stiff cold breeze sending squalls down the harbor the two brothers Tingley, boys well known in Masset started off on a really perilous trip attempting to make Masset in a twenty-five foot boat heavily loaded with gasoline and dynamite.

To make Masset in so small a craft would in itself be quite a feat but with the boat in addition loaded down to the limit of safety with seventy-five cases of gasoline, several cases of powder, and provisions of various kinds the feat is more risky. The powder and gasoline are goods which the regular freighters doing the Islands trip will not carry. The stuff is required out at the Islands where there is quite a fleet of gasoline boats and lots of clearing and mine development is in progress. Gasoline and powder the Islanders must have so the hardiest amongst them take the risky trip in small launches to Rupert and back for supplies.

The brothers Tingley got their boat at Seymour Narrows. It is a small boat used by surveyors on the sheltered waters of the coast. Fitted with a 7 H.P. Fairbanks engine it was making the trip north when in Johnson Strait a heavy sea running gave the craft such a dusting that the boys put into Alert Bay and there fitted the boat with a light runk cabin to throw off the water. With only this protection after a thorough over hauling at the Rupert Marine wharf, and the fitting of two extra pumps, the boat is now making the dangerous trip. A stop was proposed at Stephens Islands for further tightening up of the gear before the last long stretch is attempted. News of the safe arrival of the boys at Masset will be eagerly awaited in Rupert.

"OLE OLSON"

The Well Known Swedish Comedy is Calculated to Make Anybody Laugh.

"Ole Olson," the well known Swedish comedy, is to be presented by the Williams Stock Company tonight and for those who do not care for the more serious plays "Ole Olson" will be a most welcome bill. On the average there is a laugh a minute—and that without the play descending to farce. A farce comedy however clever is apt to weary—but the plot in "Ole Olson" is natural and well drawn and cannot fail to keep up the interest. Mr. Williams will play the part of the big, awkward but kind hearted Swede, and his dialect and mannerisms are considered by the critics as very true to nature and the Swedish character. Miss Margaret Doyle will be seen as the winsome Genie and Miss Pinkie Mullalley in the part of the wife, a small part to which she adds much dignity. The remainder of the cast will be seen to advantage. In the last act several clever specialties will be introduced amongst which will be Mr. Arthur Cyril in Scotch songs.

HALIBUT AND RED COD

Splendid Haul by Indian Boatmen. 1500 lbs. Landed This Morning.

Messrs. William E. Dudoward and David Dinny, two Indian fishermen well known on the waterfront brought in today a fine haul of 1500 lbs. of halibut and 200 lbs. or so of red cod. The latter fish are caught just beyond the harbor entrance, and have the peculiar trick of dying almost as soon as the hook grips them. When dead the air bladder expands in the fish so that it rises to the surface like a little red buoy.

BIG COPPER MERGER

Baron Rothschild Will Head the New American Combine

Duluth, Oct. 14.—A number of influential copper magnates of England and America are making an inspection tour of the copper mines in Arizona, and it is stated on excellent authority that a merger is in progress of the various copper companies of the country.

"It had been intended to have W. E. Corey, of Duluth, act as the head of the consolidation, but owing to the attitude of the United States government toward trusts, it was deemed wiser to have the company formed in London with Baron Rothschild at the head."

WHAT SAID THE PASTOR WHEN THE TRESTLE FELL?

Anxious Moment for the Recording Angel During Operations in Preparation for a Prince Rupert Banquet—Popular Pastor Placed in Unpleasant Predicament

Little did the guests at a certain Rupert banquet recently realise at what fearful risk was the nice smooth ceiling of the hall sheeted in time for the ceremony. While the work was in progress the Recording Angel had an awfully anxious time, and the reputation of a certain pastor hung in fearful suspense for whole minutes at a time with one hairbreadth escape hailed by the Recording Angel with a sigh of intense relief.

It happened this way: The pastor with a number of willing helpers was lending a hand at nailing up the ceiling boards. He was up on a trestle scaffolding, hammer in hand, with his mouth full of nails, and a crick in his neck nailing away with the best of them. Experienced carpenters on the spot chuckled at the thought of how even a college trained man might find himself in a position of inferiority to a humble carpenter with or without aldermanic ambitions. Now and then the pastor would hit his thumb with the hammer, and at such moments the Recording Angel would give a start and dip a pen made from a plume of his wing into his celestial ink pot. But there was nothing doing.

Then the awful moment came. A willing and weighty helper clambered on to the pastor's platform to help him adjust the plank. For a second things seemed all serene as both craned their necks heavenward. Then suddenly with a snap the plank on which they balanced broke, and down crashed pastor and flock amidst a shower of nails, shavings, and ejaculations. In the momentary babel of expressions that ensued the Recording Angel got a bit rattled jotting down the expletives that burst from the lips of the scattered flock of helpers amongst whom the pastor was buried. What the pastor himself said is unfortunately not on very clear record. The Angel began the word with a "D" but made it "Dear-Dear!" on second thought. Some of the helpers didn't get off quite so lightly it is whispered, and altogether the Recording Angel wouldn't go through such another moment of breathless suspense for a year's salary.

NEW ISLANDS ARE FORMED OFF THE ALASKAN COAST

Capt. Fred Schroeder Brings Strange Tale into Port—Saw Four Islands Cast Up Before His Eyes Out of Boiling Mass Near Bogoslov

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 14.—Bringing a tale of new islands off the Alaskan coast, islands newly-formed in nature's workshop and thrust upon the sea under the eyes of his ship's company, Fred Schroeder, captain of the schooner Elviera steered his vessel into this port last night, fresh from a sea otter hunting cruise in the Arctic.

Schroeder said that as his vessel neared Bogoslov, an island peak in northern waters, a burst of vapor rose above the island, splashing the spray with bright colors. From the ascending cloud-dust rained down upon the sea, stirring it to a boiling mass and as the vapor cleared, a new land was in sight.

"When it cooled off," said Schroeder, "there were four new islands. We could see them distinctly but they quivered in such a strange way that we did not attempt to approach them."

TRADING UPON IGNORANCE

Over in England certain ecclesiastical circles, as well as the population of the village of Tivetshall St. Mary, Norfolk, have been vastly entertained of late by an amusing contest which took place between the vicar of the parish and one of his flock. The parishioner, an agricultural laborer, had passed some disparaging comments on the vicar's work, which were resented. Finally, Hodge challenged the vicar to "swap jobs." The vicar promptly consented. The challenger backed out, however, when the vicar placed the following schedule for the laborer to perform as his Saturday's work in the contest:

9.30–10.0—Retranslation of English into Greek.

10.0–11.30—Oecumenical documents of the Faith. Revise the "definition" of the Council of Chalcedon.

11.30–12.30—TheHomo-ousian and theConstantinopolitan symbol.

12.30–1.0—The "hapax legomena" of the Apopcalypse.

3.0–5.0—House-to-house visiting in St. Mary's.

6.0–6.30—Write out notices for church porches and choose hymns for Sunday.

6.30–9.0—Prepare two sermons and a children's address.

Of course the parson won on a bluff. "Hapax legomena" sounds very formidable—in Greek. The laborer was frightened from his task by an unfamiliar phrase. Possibly he would not have recognized his familiar "cow with a long tail" under the pedantic definition of "a bovine with a caudal appendage of exaggerated longitudinality."

To no brother cleric would the parson have attempted the bluff that he spent his week in retranslating English into Greek, in contemplating the Homo-ousian symbol, in revising the Chalcedonian definition—or even in Saturday afternoon house to house visiting—while two sermons and an address were left till last thing on Saturday evening.

Nor is it at all likely that any English parson in this day of sweat shop evils and rack rented peasantry, would waste time in preparing a revised definition of a question that even in 451 A. D. possessed no interest for the people at large. Indeed, on the other hand it is quite probable that Hodge was quite capable of the job, had the parson merely explained to him that the Chalcedonian problem was as to whether two perfect and complete natures could live in unison in one body. Hodge was beaten on a bluff.

The little incident, amusing in its way, has its bearing, upon the broad public issues of real life.

How many people, for instance, were stampeded during the recent election, just as easily as was Hodge by his smart-Alick vicar, by the fear of something that looked big and terrible because they didn't understand it. The annexation cry was an appeal to blind fear. The "save our natural resources for ourselves" cry was even more palpably a cry that depended for its success upon reaching a public so ignorant of elementary economics that they could not realise that progress waits on the sale of our natural resources.

Not one man in a thousand who voted against reciprocity, has ever bothered to think for himself that the deficit in our balance of trade with the United States which he was anxious should not be paid in natural products, must else be paid in good Canadian coin.

Members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association who talked to such good effect in the East about "the balance of trade," "saving Canada for the Empire," "saving Canada for the Canadians," etc., traded as much on the ignorance of the Canadian voters as did the English parson on his less literate parishioner.

Prince Rupert and the Skeena district may well feel proud of the fact that they withstood the appeals to ignorance and cast a rational and enlightened opinion on the recent reciprocity proposals.

Letters to the Editor

ABOUT THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S SCHOOL MEDALS

Dear Sir,—Lord Dufferin, in 1876, introduced the custom of donating annually certain bronze medals, to be awarded to the pupils of the public schools of the Province of British Columbia, upon the results of the high school entrance examination, a custom which has been kept up to this day. His Excellency Earl Grey, very generously increased the number of these medals from 4 to 15.

These 15 bronze medals, have been distributed during the past six years, in British Columbia, in such an unfair and unsatisfactory manner as to bring little honor, either to the donor or to the recipient.

For instance, in 1906, the first year the 15 medals were distributed one was given to a school district where there was no competition, and the pupil to whom it was awarded got 634 credit marks, and ranked 48 in the Province; whilst the district that ranked first in the Province, where 6 passed the examination and the head pupil got 842 marks, got no medal. Another district, which ranked 55, where 8 passed the examination and the head pupil got only 609 marks, got a medal. The district that ranked third in the Province, where 7 passed, and the head pupil got 831 marks, got no medal; whilst a medal was given to a district that ranked 32 where 5 passed, and the head pupil got 677 marks.

This shows clearly that neither competition nor excellence in scholarship cut much figure in the distribution.

In 1911, a medal has again been given to a district that ranked 55 where 7 passed the examination, and the head pupil got 632 marks; whilst the district that ranked third where 14 passed the examination, and the head pupil got 827 marks, got no medal. There are many instances of similar unfair awards.

The first explanation vouchsafed by the department for such vagaries was, that these bronze medals were given to districts where a high school was established. When this explanation was published in the press, a district where there has been a high school since 1903 demanded why it had not gotten a medal in 1906, or 1907, or 1908. The explanation was then given that these medals were awarded to districts where there was the most competition at the high school entrance examination. The fact is that neither explanation is correct.

In 1907, two districts without a high school got a medal and two districts with a high school got no medal. In 1908, a medal was actually taken away from a district with a high school for 6 years where 3 pupils passed. One was given to a district with no high school where 12 passed, while another district with a high school for 5 years where 17 pupils passed got no medal.

It is very gratifying to read in the speech of His Excellency Earl Grey to the boys of Trinity School, Port Hope. "There was something rotten in the character of Canada, if her sports were not quite straight or fair," and "to give no countenance to those who did not play the game fair."

The foregoing shows that there will have to be an understanding with the McBride government that those bronze medals will be distributed, in the future, according to some fixed principle, so that there will be no chance of a recurrence of anything like the incidents cited above, whilst H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, is our Governor-General.

On behalf of the pupils of the Public Schools, of the Province of British Columbia.

JOHN N. MUIR,
Barrister and Solicitor.

How to Handle Gasoline With Safety

AN ARTICLE OF PARTICULAR VALUE TO PRINCE RUPERT PEOPLE

Gasoline will generate 8,000 cubic feet of gas, which if ignited will expand 4,000 times this space, and one gallon of gasoline properly mixed with air,—sixteen parts air to one of gasoline—and compressed has an explosive power of 83 2-3 pounds of dynamite. The above facts were stated at the recent convention of Western Canada Firemen's Association Convention held in Calgary, Alta., recently.

Gasoline in itself is as harmless as water, and when properly confined, is not an explosive. The explosive resulting from gasoline is created by the exposure of gasoline to air. A gasoline vapor is heavier than ari, so that when gasoline is exposed in a building, the vapor has a tendency to constantly drop, and to lie very close to the floor, under any obstruction, or in corners, settling in the lowest point possible, remaining there until a current of air strong enough removes it. Therefore, the vapors from gasoline may be present in great quantities in a building, but, because of their being so close to the floor, it is impossible to detect their presence by the odor.

Gas from gasoline being heavier than air is no doubt the cause of the recent disastrous fire in the Winnipeg garage. While it cannot be authentically stated, it is believed that because of the gasoline being transferred inside the garage in open buckets, and the atmospheric conditions being most favorable to gasoline forming a vapor quickly, the entire lower strata of air in the garage became permeated with gasous vapor, and one of the horses which had been driven to the garage, striking its shoe on the cement floor, made a spark, which ignited quickly the gaseous vapors, causing immense property loss of over $250,000.

Gasoline, as well as other volatile liquids, should be stored underground, in a well-made tank designed for the purpose. The tank should be so constructed as to prevent evaporation, and all flanges or openings should be on the top. Under no consideration should there be openings on the side or bottom of the tank, which would in any way permit the liquid to flow from the tank by means of garvity. The quantitiy of gasoline which is stored should regulate the thickness of steel of which the tank is constructed. Naturally, a large storage tank, say about 1,500 or 2,000 gallons, should be manufactured of 3-16 inch to 1-4 inch plate, thus eliminating any possible chance of the weight of the tank itself causing it to buckle, and thus spring a leak. A plan which is followed with tanks of say 500 or 600 gallon capacity or less, is to have the material manufactured of 12 or 14 gauge thickness.

Gasoline, if maintained at a low uniform temperature, not only retains its quality, but the possibility of evaporation is reduced to the minimum. Gasoline tanks should never be placed in vaults or pits, as they simply provide a hiding place for the gasoline vapors which may result from leakage or accident, and the tank buried in the ground, simply covered by the earth, has never been known to explode if properly vented. While it is conceded that the only method of storing gasoline is in underground tanks, it is absolutely vital to the success of handling this liquid with the minimum amount of danger to have them properly vented. The vent pipe from the tank should extend at least sixteen feet above the top of the tank. This will insure no evaporation, inasmuch as gas will never rise sixteen feet unless under pressure. The vent pipe should be protected by a fine wire gauze mesh, and where the vent pipe enters the flange on the tank, another wire gauze should be provided, so that if the walls of the building fall, and the vent pipe be broken, there is no possible chance of the gasoline in the tank becoming ignited. Fine wire gauze mesh is used for the same reason that it is used on the miner's safety lamp.

There are several methods of drawing gasoline from the tank, but that which is the most commonly used, and which seems to be the most successful, is by means of an approved self-measuring pump, which should be located higher than the tank. All pipe lines for suction or vent should be made absolutely tight by cement which is not affected by the action of gasoline. No point in the suction line must ever be below the top of the tank, as it is necessary to guard against any accident that may happen to the pipe line in case of fire, and, as a result, the gasoline be forced into the building by gravity

Gasoline, or any other inflammable liquids, should never be handled by pressure system, as such an arrangement does not permit the control of the gasoline, for if the discharge line becomes broken, the liquid will automatically discharge itself into the building, and, as a result, is very dangerous, especially in case of fire, as it will help to increase same. If a pump is used to draw the liquid from the tank, it is obvious that then the operator ceases the operation of the pump, the flow of the liquid stops immediately, and there can be no further disturbance of the liquid in the storage tank without the operator again working the pump.

While the use and application of gasoline is continually broadening in various ways, it is now principally used in automobile garages, paint oil stores, and what is commonly known as the dry-cleaning establishments.

In addition to the safe storage of gasoline in garages, there is another grave hazard which confronts the fire department of every city,—i. e., what is known as the dry-cleaning establishment. It is not an uncommon thing for gasoline to be stored in these places in common open tubs, and frequently in a room where there is an open fire. Stringent by-laws should be passed by all municiaplities, which will compel this class of business to either handle the naptha by the modern method, or to be compelled to discontinue business at once, for this method of handling gasoline in dry-cleaning establishments is no longer necessary. There are mechanical devices to be had, which will reduce the danger in dry-cleaning establishments equally as much as now provided for garages, as mentioned above. Modern naphtha storage and control equipments can be had at a minimum cost, which will enable the dry-cleaners to use their gasoline over and over, if desired, and yet store it with safety.

The modern methods of oil storage should receive most serious in the handling of paint oils, such as raw, boiled, turpentine, etc., in hardware stores. It is well known that waste or saw-dust, saturated with linseed oil, will take fire spontaneously in a temperature of about 70 degrees. Now, while these oils may be considered inflammable, they can be safely stored in above-ground tanks, provided they are substantially built, and evaporation proof, and there is to be had a modern system which will eliminate this hazard in hardware stores, factories and mills, not only reducing the hazard to the minimum, but effecting a great saving in room, and being otherwise of value to the user.

Insurance companies are loth to give reductions in insurance where any appliance is installed, unless there is absolutely no question as to the merit of the equipment. If insurance companies do recognize a system, it should certainly be an evidence of its worth. The board of underwriters throughout Canada have not only acknowledged the value of modern systems of oil and gasoline storage, but are giving material reductions in rates, wherever these systems are installed, not only in public and private garages, but in hardware stores, mills and factories, for handling various paint and lubricating oils. Insurance companies would evidently not give reductions in rates if reduction in the hazard is not effected.

If modern methods of gasoline and oil storage are adopted, the danger of life and property from this source can be reduced to the minimum.—From The Monetary Times.

"THE DEVIL'S HORSE"

Just off the main road from London to Cambridge, between Ware and Puckeridge, is a straggling hamlet called Standon Green End. Here in the middle of a meadow, says "Cycling," stands a remarkable monument, known as the Balloon Stone. Under a hinged metal flap is a bronze plate bearing an inscription chronicling the first balloon ascent. Lunardi's ascent created a tremendous sensation, all London turning out to witness his departure into the upper atmosphere. His sole companions were a dog, a cat, and a pigeon. When he was nearing the earth in the field where the Balloon Stone stands, five laborers declined to take hold of his mooring ropes, and swearing they would have nothing to do with the "devil's horse," took to their heels. But for the plucky conduct of a young servant girl from an adjoining farm-house, who seized the rope and summoned assistance, the pioneer balloonist would not have effected a landing.

ALL THE DIFFERENCE

"Patience, my dear, patience!" reproved Mr. Bounce complacently. "I'm quite sure Jim didn't mean to upset his cup of tea, and it will be easy to get out a fresh table-cloth. Accidents will happen, you know, in the best regulated families—mind your glass, Willie—and it's no good crying over— Careful, Willie! I always think—

"Great Scott!" he shouted. "There goes Willie's milk all over my trousers—and a new pair, too! Get a cloth, somebody! I'm dripping! Heavens! a man can't sit down at his own table nowadays, it seems, without being peppered from his children's plates, and bespattered from his children's cups. Just look at these trousers, Mary! Ruined! Ah, don't tell me he didn't do it on purpose! I'll teach him to behave himself—

"Willie," he roared, as he left the room, "follow me into the study!"

THE WAY OF A REFORMER

He was one of those sad-faced men who delight in becoming railway-carriage bores, and when he saw a happy-looking stranger smoking contentedly near by he felt compelled to ask a few questions.

"Sir," he began, "will you allow your boy to smoke cigarettes when he grows up?"

"I have never given the question a moment's thought," replied the stranger.

The sad-faced man sighed.

"And," he went on faintly, "I suppose you have never thought about stopping his drinking?"

"I never have," admitted the man.

The sad-faced man positively gasped.

"Can it be true," he muttered, "that there are such monsters living; such hardened, callous—"

"But I think you ought to know," interrupted the stranger, "that I have been a confirmed bachelor all my life."

IT WAS CURIOUS

"Come in."

The door opened to admit a shabby-looking individual, the shine on whise coat would have done credit to the hardest-working shoeblack.

"Are you the gentleman," he began, "who found a purse and advertised the fact in the papers to-day?"

"I am."

"It contained money?"

"Yes, it contained a very large sum of money."

"You mentioned that the owner could recover the purse by giving you a description of it?"

"That is so. But you will have to give an accurate account of the purse, its contents, and how you came to lose it."

"I haven't lost a purse."

"Eh? Then why do you come here and make these inquiries?"

"I called out of curiosity to see what a man looks like who finds a large sum of money and advertises it in the papers instead of having a good time. Good morning, sir!"

GOOD IDEA

Jones was at the theatre, and behind him sat a lady with a child on her lap, which was crying unceasingly.

Unable to stand it any longer, Jones turned smilingly to the lady and asked: "Has that infant of yours been christened yet, ma'am?"

"No, sir," replied the lady.

"If I were you I would call it 'Good Idea,," said Jones.

"And why 'Good Idea'?" said the lady indignantly

"Because," said Jones, "it should be carried out." It was Jones who had to be carried out.

BARS "OFFICE BOY" LAWYERS

Chicago Judge Says He is Tired of Hearing Motions from Attorney's Clerks.

Half a dozen budding lawyers lost several pounds of dignity when Judge Landis, of Chicago, waved them aside and announced that he was through with listening to "office boys" present motions. Several clerks in law offices, not yet admitted to the bar, asked for continuance of cases.

"I am tired of giving up the time of this court to office boys who bon't know that they are talking about," said the judge. "It is not fair. There is not another judge in town that is imposed on by the lawyers as I am, and I am going to put an end to it.

"If the practice can't be stopped any other way, I shall rule that none but a qualified lawyer can present any matter to this court."

F. G. Dawson, Returning Officer at the recent election, is very busy today making the final count of the votes. The official result will be announced shortly.

ITEMS OF .. SPORT

Lynn has reserved two former Nutmeg league pitchers. Freddie Reiger and Red Waller, the latter jumping the team after a short stay. Ivor Swanson is not on the reserve list. It is thus evident that Bridgeport only loaned Swanson to Lynn to finish out the season and that Gene McCann banks on using him again next year.

* * *

Unofficial batting averages in the New York State league for the season just closed rank Chic Hartley, the former Holyoker, who played the outfield for Albany as the third best sticker in the circuit, with a mark of .325. Jack Deal, with Syracuse, hit for .276, and Pete Noonan, with Wilkesbarre, hit for .235.

* * *

The Haverhill club has reserved Third Baseman Ray Campbell, the former Pony, for next season. Haverhill turned Campbell over to Albany in the closing days of the season and claims title to him because of the failure of Albany to pay for him as agreed.

* * *

Frank Connaughton, leader of the Waterbury pennant winners in 1910, and who led the Brockton club the past season, is mentioned as one of the strongest candidates for the job as manager of the New Bedford club next season.

* * *

* * *

George Robey, a comedian, is resting on his laurels after having sent Champion Jack Johnson sprawling to the mat in a bout in the Palladium. Robey swung twice to Johnson's jaw before the champion could counter. After Johnson had picked himself up he knocked Robey into the arms of the timekeeper with a volley of rights and lefts, and then picked his adversary up and carried him off the stage. Robey had challenged Johnson to a bout.

* * *

The first ball game between the east cell house and the west cell house teams at the Atlanta federal prison was played yesterday. The silence rule was lifted and the bleachers rooted as though a world's championship were at stake Behind the players, in front of them, on either side of them, stretched long grey walls, but the men on the sward kept their eyes on the ball. The west cell house team won, 12 to 7.

The "come back" aspirations of Oscar Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, are crushed as the result of a severe beating he received at the hands of Young Sayler, a rising scrapper from Indianapolis. Sayler won decisively in twelve rounds, having the better of every round, and was given the decision. Nelson took one of the worst beatings of his long career.

"LOOKS YOUNGER"

Pretty Compliment to Leading Canadian Nurse

Miss Mary A. Snively, the president of the Canadian National associations of trained nurses who is now on a visit to England, has received a huge compliment from the British Journal of Nursing. It is hoped that she will attend the international meeting, to be held at Cologne next year.

"It is with pleasure that we note how young and bright the late lady superintendent of the General Hospital, Toronto, looks after a year's rest from official life," says the paper named.

= THE COSY CORNER =

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

MANICURE SECRETS

Notes on the Care of the Nails for Pretty Fingered Girls

You may possess a whole case full of pretty things and yet not know how to make your nails behave themselves. To soften the cuticle hold the fingers in a bowl of hot water and soap suds to which a few drops of almond oil have been added. Then cut the nails round or oval and sandpaper the edges. Push back the cuticle till the half-moon at the bottom shows. Use an orange stick for this, never a metal instrument, and don't be too strenuous about it or you will make your hands very sore.

Then apply the red salve, dust with powder, and polish, repeating the process if you have time. Wash the hands in warm water and wipe the nails by pushing back the cuticle with a towel. Last of all, polish with a buffer that has not been dipped in powder.

White spots on the nails are caused by bruises or insufficient nourishment. Cover them at night with a paste made of equal parts of myrrh and turpentine. In the morning rub with olive oil to remove the application.

A sure and easy method for cleaning the finger nails is to make a paste of powdered borax and lemon juice. Rub this on and under the nails and leave for a few minutes, then scrub with a soft brush dipped in warm suds. Where the nails have been discolored by handling fruits, vegetables or simply need a good cleaning this simple method will make them clear and white.

Brittle nails require copious applications of fats. Cover the finger tips at night with vaseline or cold cream and always wipe them over with a little of either after washing the hands.

Grape Jelly

Select the grapes when not fully ripe. Wash and drain, then put them into a preserving kettle; mash well and heat till the skins are broken and the juice flows freely. Strain and use the juice only with an equal weight of sugar.

HOME MAKING HINT

How to Make the Most of the North Room

Should be papered either in pink or a sunny yellow.

White paint and enamel adds greatly to the brightness and should be used generously.

Very thin curtains, of net preferably, are best.

Use as many mirrors as possible.

These give the best results when hung rather low.

An open fireplace is a boon in any room, but most especially in a dark one.

A number of growing and flowering plants scattered about the room add to the cheerful atmosphere.

Window boxes of brass and copper are bright and effective.

Cretonne coverings in gay colors and designs are recommended.

QUEEN COLLECTS MASCOTS

Royal Heart of Alexandra Beats Warmly for Dumb Creatures

Queen Alexandra has always collected mascots. One afternoon lately she was paying a call in Belgravia, and, quite unobserved, a black kitten of a most plebian order climbed up the back of her Majesty's chair and, arriving at the top began to play with her widow's veil. The hostess got up quickly to remove the cheeky intruder, but Queen Alexandra asked to whom the kitten belonged, when it transpired that it was a stray one. Her Majesty requested to be permitted to take it home, and she did. Queen Alexandra has a solemn old owl at Sandringham, which she regards as a mascot. Her friends, knowing this, have from time to time given her numbers of ornaments representing owls, and now she has a table which is devoted to the collection.

FOR WILFUL WIVES

No "Obey" in This Marriage Service

Boston, Mass., Oct. 14.—Members of the Boston suffragette organization have declared in favor of a new marriage service, as drawn up by Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, leading exponent of "votes for women" in this city. The service is as follows:

"I take thee as my wedded husband, to have and to hold, etc., in sickness and in health, to love, honor and cherish, till death do us part.

"I promise to aid and assist my husband (or wife) in every way and to help him (or her) to uphold his (or her) political views and I agree to settle all martial difficulties out of court."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Grease on a wall can generally be eradicated by covering with clean blotting paper, and then passing a warm iron over it.

It is sometimes difficult to understand how clothes come from the wash spotted with iron-rust. This may be caused by the chemical action of a bluing that contains iron, with the soapsuds. There are two ways to prevent it—thorough rinsing and another brand of bluing.

If you want a watertight vessel in which to wash dishcloths, napkins or any small articles of clothing, fold a cloth and lay it over a drain pipe of the sink and turn a saucer upside down over the cloth. This will make an ideal wash basin to use instead of a bucket or pan.

New York, Oct. 14.—No longer will stern parents need to wear their arms out and say, "My boy, this hurts me more than it hurts you."

Science has shown a better way. It has produced the electrical spanking machine, which is now on exhibition at the New York Electrical exposition. Demonstrations will be given with all children caring for the experience. There boys, stop crowding.

STOPPED THE FIGHT

Federated British Churches Claim Credit for Stopping Johnson-Wells Bout.

(Special to the Daily News)

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Speaking to the Ecumenical Conference in support of the church union movement, Mr. R. W. Perks of London, said that the federated churches of England stopped the Johnson-Wells fight.

"If the free churches of England," he said , "could with such ease bring pressure to bear on the government to compel the stopping of a brutal prize-fight in London, notwithstanding the efforts of the society people to the contrary, what could the Methodist and free churches accomplish if federated throughout the world."

G. T. P. PASSENGER AGENT

Mr. E. J. Wearing of the G.T.P. Offices in Liverpool, England, Visits Rupert.

By the Prince George this morning there arrived Mr. E. J. Wearing, passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, who is here on a trip principally to secure information for use in the Liverpool work of the Grand Trunk railway, but also to recreate himself with a visit to Prince Rupert. He spent the morning looking over the city, and was impressed by the advances made in street grading and municipal development. Mr. Wearing will take back with him to England many interesting pictures of his own taking around our streets so that intending tourists and settlers coming this way may have an idea of the place.

AT THE THEATRE

"La Belle Marie" Reveals Miss Pinkie Mullally's Powers to Perfection Last Night.

In "La Belle Marie" staged by the Dave Williams Stock Company last night, Miss Pinkie Mullally certainly fourd a part suiting her to perfection. As the vengeful village girl brilliantly concealing her identity behind a mask of flashing French fascination and dare-devilry, Miss Mullaly excelled herself, and greatly pleased the big audience in the Empress last night.

Most people know the plot of the play. Briefly, it is the pursuit, and final running to earth of a polished wealthy trifler by the girl whom he has terribly wronged. Beside the dead body of her father pretty, ruined Jean Singleside vows to avenge herself. From that hour she plans only to fulfil her vow, and returns as "La Belle Marie" to weild all-compelling power over her unsuspecting betrayer through her extraordinary fascination and flashing French wit and word-play. She is wealthy, a patent of her dead father's having realised a million. She aims to break George Leighton, the villain, on Wall street, and succeeds. But at the finish La Belle Marie, then only revealing herself dramatically in the dress in which he knew Jean Singleside when he betrayed her, is induced by the appeal of George Leighton's wrongfully outcast brother, to be merciful, and spare the family name.

In the frank melodrama of the general fabric of the play all the members of the cast did their work faithfully and with good effect, and the house responded enthusiastically at the striking situations which were well handled. W. S. VanDyke in the role of "George Leighton" proved that he can act the villain effectively as well as the more popular part he took on Thursday night. Arthur Cyril as "Byron Waupingee" the smart American drummer, had a part well suited to him, and made good use of his opportunities. Dave Williams had two parts, that of the old father who dies from shock in Act I, and that of the comical stuttering attendant Stubbs. He did justice to both roles, earning applause. Marguerite Doyle, as "Grace Leighton" with pretty frocks to wear, and a bright attractive part to play showed up to advantage and is well liked by the audience. As "Earl Leighton" the disinherited son, Byron L. Aldenn did excellently, and G. L. Sweatman made a good irate father afterwards repentant. Miss Ora Wolff, also showed that she can carry a popular part well, and the nameless lady who took the part of "Edith Matthews" deserves mention.

Altogether, last night's performance showed that the conscientious efforts of the company are being appreciated very much by Prince Rupert theatre-goers, and a first rate house is assured for them toright at the frankly funny play, "Ole Olsen."

Quarantine Station

In about a fortnight, or three weeks at most, the hospital building and quarantine station buildings will be complete. Messrs. Anderson & McKinnon who have had the work in hand have carried it on rapidly and to the satisfaction of the Dominion Government architect who was here recently.

By the Prince Rupert today Mr Vernor Smith arrived from the south. Mr. Smith's superintendentship of the Foley, Welch & Stewart office management will take him up river now and his services to the city as alderman will shortly cease.

R. J. McDonnell, of Hazelton, was a passenger by the Prince George this morning.

Olier Besner, of the New Knox Hotel, arrived from the south this morning.
