COUNCIL FULFILS THREAT AGAINST CONTRACTORS

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT CAPTURES THE HEARTS OF THE FRENCH-CANADIANS

His Perfect Mastery of Facile French Wins Their Admiration, and the Tact and Earnestness of His Speeches Pleases—He Looks "Every Inch a Soldier"—Duchess of Connaught is Pleased at Being in Canada

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—There is no doubt that the Duke of Connaught has captured the hearts of people who have met him, and promises to make his regime as Governor General memorable in administrative circles.

From the time he set foot on the King's wharf at Quebec until the moment when he crossed the threshold of Rideau Hall, the uncle of King George has been making friends. He has not given the impression that he desired to condescend; on every occasion when he has been given opportunity, he has shown that he has no fear for his dignity by allowing his cordiality to show.

Has Captured the French

He has made a most remarkable impression on French-Canadians. His French is almost perfect, a French spoken with liquidity of pronunciation, a perfect mastery of idiom, and an absence of formality of phrase. "I wish," said the correspondent of a French-Canadian newspaper to your own representative, "that I could speak French like that." The Duke had just concluded his brief reply to the welcome of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, and the thousands who packed Parliament Hill were cheering wildly.

Speeches Have Distinction

None of the speeches which he has defivered has been long, but each has struck a note of earnestness and desire to serve. The first speech in French delivered at Quebec was an excellent example of the manner in which he has been effective and yet "different." He did not say the usual things inspired by the neighboring Plains of Abraham. Instead, by a few deft sentences he showed a deep and old reason for friendship, a friendship for which he wisely inferred there was no reason to plead. England herself, since Norman mingled and married with Saxon was, and had been, largely French by blood and kinship.

Looks the Soldier

The Duke of Connaught is probably the tallest of the de- probably the tallest of the descendants of Queen Victoria. He stands about 5 feet 11 inches, and broad of shoulder and erect of carriage, he does not need the military uniform to proclaim him a soldier by training and by choice. The Duchess, who retains her youthful looks, has taken every opportunity to show her pleasure at being in Canada.

SPORTSMEN GET THAT COUGAR

It was Shot in Stanley Park This Morning by Some Victoria Huntsmen After Long Chase.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Vancouver, Oct. 27.—After a chase lasting for nearly two weeks, the cougar which has been devouring the deer and goats at Stanley Park was hunted down by a party of Victoria huntsmen this morning. They thereby secure the reawrd of fifty dollars offered by the newspapers.

Will Winter at Westminster

BRITISH COLUMBIA IS ENTITLED TO TWELVE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

Interesting Computation Based on Census Returns—Quebec is Stationary—Ontario Loses Four—Four Western Provinces Gain Five Members Each—Winnipeg Gets Four Members and Vancouver Three—Ten Additional Members

According to the census reports issued last week from Ottawa, British Columbia should shortly receive an increase from seven to twelve members. While the figures are not entirely completed, it is not anticipated that any large change will be effected by the final recount.

Unit is 30,780

The unit of representation, obtained by dividing Quebec's population of 2,000,679, by 65 (the fixed representation of that province), is 30,780. On the basis of this unit the future rpresentation of each of the Canadian provinces will be as shown in the following table:

The New House

	New	Present
Alberta	12	7
British Columbia	12	7
Manitoba	15	10
New Brunswick	11	13
Nova Scotia	15	18
Ontario	82	86
Prince Edward Is.	3	4
Quebec	65	65
Saskatchewan	15	10
Yukon	1	1
	231	221

Western Provinces Gain

This gives 231 members, as contrasted with 221 in the present House—an increase of ten seats. The four Western Provinces increase their representation by five members each, while Ontario loses four and the Maritime Provinces six, leaving a net increase of ten.

Vancouver Gets Three

Of the individual cities to gain representation Winnipeg will profit most as she will have her representation increased from one to four members. Vancouver will be entitled to three members instead of one as at present.

City Engineer Late

Alderman Newton wanted to know if the City Engineer had not put in an estimate. Alderman Hilditch explained that it had been intended for the City Engineer to put in an estimate but he had been unable owing to pressure of work.

Alderman Clayton was solicitous on behalf of those bidders who had come to see the tenders opened. He thought they might like to know which tenders were clean out of it at least. (Smiles). He thought the council should sort the tenders out at once and select a short list of likely ones.

The Mayor suggested that it migh be better to have the City Engineer reduce the whole of the tenders to tabulated form from which the bidders could see how they stood at a glance.

This plan Alderman Newton said would be all right if the Engineer also gave an estimate of the cost of the work done by days labor

Alderman Hilditch said he was sorry the City Engineer's bid had not been sent in owing to pressure of work. Personally he didn't mind mentioning that he would have himself bid for Sect. 1, $140 per acre; for Sections 2 and 3, $115; and for the other two sections, $100 per acre.

The tenders were referred to the City Engineer in order that a tabulated statement may be prepared and an estimate submitted for the work done by days labor.

NUMBERING CONTRACT

Arrival of a New Supply of Metal Figures Enables the Contractor to Proceed Again.

A letter reporting progress and renewed activity in the work of bumnering the residences in the city was read at the city council last night from L. Bullock-Webster the contractor for the work. The work has proceeded intermittently, because of the impossibility of obtaining a sufficient supply of numbers to keep the contractor going. More numbers were obtained last week, and Mr. Bullock-Webster is now rapidly placing them. In his letter he regretted the delay which was due to no fault either of his own or of the Thompson Hardware Co., who are supplying the numbers to him, and stated that he had ceased work on houses he was erecting in order to press on with the numbering contract.

WILD COUGAR IS AT LARGE

Vancouver Hunters are Roaming Stanley Park Looking for It—Is Killing the Animals at the Zoo.

Vancouver, Oct. 26.—Hunters skilled in the pursuit of big game, are roaming Stanley Park this afternoon looking for the prowling cougar which last week slaughtered five of the park collection of animals, two deer and three goats.

Although it is several days since the animal did the killing, the general opinion is that it still remains in the park, sleeping off the effects of the gorging. Unless the cougar has been moving around within the past few hours the hunters do not think that their dogs can locate him at any distance. Any scent would not remain strong enough for trailing purposes longer than about twelve hours.

COUNCIL EXACTS PENALTY CLAUSE

Contractors Were Awarded Their Final Payments Last Night—In Every Case Deduction Was Made—Contractors Will Enter Suit Against the City

Amounts due the principal contractors for street grading of Section One were reported by the board of works to the city council last night as follows:

S. P. McMordie & Co.	$17,306.46
E. Horrigan & Co.	7,142.56
S. H. Watson & Co.	1,826.14
N. Gurvich	1,858.77

The report of the board of works says: "We would recommend the payment of these accounts, and in the case of N. Gurvitch, instead of deducting $2,700 and $3,400, only the one item of $2,700 be deducted, paying the additional $3,400—that is $1,858.77, and $3,400—a total of $5,258.77."

In explanation of this latter comment Alderman Hilditch said this morning that N. Gurvich had really only one contract though two time limits had apparently applied to it. This was gone into with the result that the application of one of the time limits was not sustained, and the deduction of $3,400 at the rate of $25 per day for delay under that time limit was not upheld by the board of works.

The report is signed by J. Hilditch, H. Douglas, and J. A. Kirkpatrick, and is accompanied by a letter from F. S. Clements, civil engineer, stating that by a close test he has found the calculations made by the City Engineer for the purpose of fixing these amounts due the contractors to be correct.

In every case the amount had been arrived at by calculating the amount due for work done, and then a deduction of $25 a day was made for every day over the contract time.

It is understood that some of the contractors will enter suit immediately against the city, on the ground that the delay was caused by the council's refusal to provide police protection during the strike.

NEW VESSEL IS DRIVEN BY OIL

First Vessel to be Fitted with Oil Engines Reached the Great Lakes—Another is Building.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—A new departure in the type of vessel navigating Canada's inland waters has been created by the arrival in Canada of the ship "Toiler," as she is the first vessel driven by oil engines that has ever been seen in this country, and is, consequently, the pioneer oil vessel to be employed in Canadian trade.

She will operate between Montreal and Lake Erie.

A Greenock telegram says: The Clyde Shipbuilding Company, Port Glasgow, has contracted to build a steamer 325 feet in length for service on the American lakes. The vessel will have 1000 horse power oil engines. As this is the first contract of the kind in the district the building and trials of the new steamer will be watched with more than ordinary interest.

SQUATTERS EVICTED

Residents of Deadman's Island Turned Out by Sheriff's Men

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—By a surprise attack, Deputy Sheriff Kirk and twelve men this morning took possession of Deadman's Island on behalf of Theodore Ludgate and the Vancouver Lumber Company, whose right to the property has been declared by the privy council.

The deputy sheriff took such a big display of force that the polygot crowd who inhabit the island did not attempt any violent resistance, though there was an attempt at bluster. This afternoon household furniture, fishing nets, and a great quantity of junk, are on floats ready to be transferred to the mainland.

The squatters professed to be taken by surprise, although the proper legal notices had, of course, been given.

FOUND LOST BOAT

Great Story of Supposed Theft Turns out to be a Very Simple Case of Drift Away.

C. Carlsen reported to the police this morning the loss of his 22-ft. sailing sloop fully equipped from the anchorage off Swanson's boathouse the night before last. Investigations were being made by the city police when a prospector named Raymond with his mate blew into the provincial police office with news that they had found a boat which exactly answered the description of the missing one. It seems that the boat had been moored with too short a cable at low tide. The tide rose, the boat yanked at the anchor and went off on her own. She was found six miles from Rupert just off the railway grade. Constable Godson brought her in in tow of a gasoline boat.

President Hays Says They Will Be There by the End of This Year.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—At the adjourned annual meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company held here President C. M. Hays stated that during the year track-laying on the main line of the western division had been extended from Wolf Creek to Fitzhugh, west of the Athabasca river in the Rocky Mountains (which will be the divisional point for that section) and that construction work is under full headwway, with night and day forces, to Tete Jaune Cache, on the Fraser river, beyond the Yellowhead Pass, on the western slope of the Rocky Mountains. It is expected that track-laying will reach this point, which is 1,094 miles west of Winnipeg, before the close of the year.

HOW SPOKANE DID IT—A STUDY IN GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

Among the larger cities of the United States to adopt the commission form of government is the city of Spokane, which at the last census had a population of 104,402.

Spokane had grown up on a "mayor and council" form of civic government. She had inherited most of the evils that grow out of the mayor and council form of government. There was friction between the civic departments. There was a multiplicity of departments and employees. There was inadequate supervision, because it is impossible for a council spending but one evening a week—no matter how honest and competent—to properly administer the affairs of a large and growing city.

Worse than this there was a grevious waste and lax administration of the city's affairs, due to lack of business heads and systems of close checking in the civic departments.

Fortunately Spokane had a progressive mayor in the person of Hon. N. S. Pratt. He realised the failure of the mayor and council system, and in October, 1909, addressed an open letter to the people of Spokane in which after instancing the failure of their existing municipal system, he urged the wisdom of a change to the commission form of government. He followed up the open letter, by appointing a committee of seventeen leading citizens to investigate and report on an advisory charter of the commission type.

The city council of that date were wedded to their idols. They threw every hindrance in the way of Mr. Pratt, and the committee of seventeen. In its later stages, the fight for progressive government in Spokane resolved itself into a fight between the citizens and their unrepresentative representatives.

After the committee of seventeen had made a five months investigation of the charters of all the commission systems then in vogue in the United States, they reported to the mayor, recommending the adoption of commission government for Spokane. The mayor passed the report on to the council, recommending that they appoint a special election to choose freeholders for a charter committee. The city council ignored the recommendation and sat tight.

Next a petition of citizens, backed by the mayor in person, requested the council to act. The council ignored the citizens, too.

Finally a voluntary committee of citizens filed a petition that made the council sit up and take notice. The petition bore the names of five thousand and seventy-five qualified electors of Spokane, and after several delays the city council made a show of consenting.

It was not, however, until angered by a year's delay the citizens' committee obtained a mandamus from the Supreme Court of Washington ordering the appointment of a charter committee, that an election was permitted by the council.

Even after their charter had been adopted by the citizens of Spokane legal proceedings were instituted attacking the validity of the new charter. The Supreme Court, however, in a decision upheld the commission charter' and Spokane, despite the opposition of the interests, was left free to adopt business like mehods for the transaction of civic business.

Although under commission government for less than a year, its benefits have been made very clear in Spokane. Harmony has been brought about between the corporation and its employees. Padded payrolls and needless employees are a thing of the past. Red tape has been abolished. A system of close checking upon expenditures has effected a great saving of public money. The five commissioners devote the whole of the time to the city business, giving it as much attention as if they were working for a private corporation. The credit of the city has been placed on a high basis, saving interest on the city's bonds, and strengthening the city's standing in the bond market. Above all a great public interest, a better public spirit and an improved moral tone in relation to civic affairs has been brought about.

The method whereby this has been achieved will form the subject of several articles in this column in the future.

PASSING COMMENT

The tradesmen in the city are incensed at the action of the council in holding up the checks of certain contractors. Just as in the Prudhomme case the reason why is obvious. Just as in the Prudhomme case, it is likely to end up with the citizens having to pay a legal bill for the council's fun in playing a child's game of politics. The trades men are incensed because it is they, and not the contractors who suffer most from the council's tardiness in paying its bills.

There is no truth in the absurd rumor that the Mayor insists on paying double rates for all the groceries and household goods he buys from party supporters. It is only in civic advertising that he pays double rates—and then of course it's out of the public purse. It isn't his own money.

THE Pillar of Light

By Louis Tracy

So Jones passed four hours with his head and shoulders in the temperature of a Turkish bath and the lower part of his body chilled to the bone.

He thought nothing of it at the time. This was duty. But at intervals, throughout the rest of his life, the sciatic nerve would remind him of that lonely watch. This morning he was convalescent after a painful immobility of two days.

Watching the boat, Jim centered her in the teloscopic field, and looked anxiously for a sharp arrow-shaped ripple on the surface of the sea. The breeze which had vanquished the fog now kissed the smiling water into dimples, and his keen sight was perplexed by the myriad wavelets.

Each minute the condition of affairs on board became more defined. Beneath some oars ranged along the starboard side he could see several tins, such as contain biscuits and compressed beef. The shapeless mass in the bows puzzled him. It was partly covered with broken planks from the damaged portion of the upper works, and it might be a jib-sail fallen there when the mast broke. The birds were busy and excited. He did not like that.

Nearly half an hour passed. The Princess Royal, a fine vessel of yacht-like proportions, sprinting for the afternoon train, was about eight miles away, sou'-west by west. According to present indications steamer and derelict would be abreast of the Gulf Rock Light simultaneously, but the big ship, of course, would give a wide berth to a rock-strewn shoal.

At last the lighthouse-keeper heard ascending footsteps. This was not Stephen Brand, but Jones. Jim, whose rare irritated moods found safety in stolid silence, neither spoke nor looked around when his chief joined him, binoculars in hand.

Jones, a man of whitewash, polish, and rigid adherence to framed rules, found the boat instantly, and recapitulated Jim's inventory, eliciting grunts of agreement as each item was ticked off.

A clang of metal beneath caught their ears—the opening of the stout doors, forty feet above high-water mark, from which a series of iron rungs, sunk into the granite wall, led to the rocky base.

"Brand's goin' to swim out. It's hardly worth while signalin' to the Land's End," commented Jones.

No answer. Jim leaned well over and saw their associate, stripped to his underclothing, with a leather belt supporting a sheath-knife slung across his shoulders, climbing down the ladder.

This taciturnity surprised Jones, for Jim was the cheeriest nurse who ever brought a sufferer a plate of soup.

"It's nothing for a good swimmer, is it?" was the anxious question.

"No. It's no distance to speak of."

"An' the sea's like a mill-pond?"

"Ay, it's smooth enough."

"Don't you think he ought to try it? Every fine morning he has a dip off the rock."

"Well, if it's all right for him an' you it's all right for me.'

Jim had urged his plea to the man whom it chiefly concerned. He was far too sporting a character to obtain the interference of authority, and Jones, whose maritime experiences were confined to the hauling in or paying out of a lightship's cable, had not the slightest suspicion of lurking danger in the blue depths.

A light splash came to them, and, a few seconds later, Brand's head and shoulders swung into view. After a dozen vigorous strokes he rolled over on to his side, and waved his left hand to the two men high above him.

With a sweeping side stroke he made rapid progress. Jones, unencumbered by knowledge, blew through his lips.

"He's a wonderful chap, is Brand," he said, contentedly. "It licks me what a man like him wants messin' about in the service for. He's edducated up to the top notch, an' he has money, too. His lodgin's cost the whole of his pay, the missus says, an' that kid of his has a hospital nuss, if you please."

Jones was grateful to his mates for their recent attentions. He was inclined to genial gossip, but Jim was watching the boat curving towards the lighthouse. The high spring tide was at the full. So he only growled.

"You can see with half an eye he has taken on this job for a change. I wish he was in that blessed boat."

Jones was quite certain now that his subordinate harbored some secret fear of danger.

"What's up?" he cried. "He'll board her in two ticks."

On no account would the sailor mention sharks. He might be mistaken, and Jones would guffaw at his "deep-sea" fancies. Anyhow it was Brand's affair. A friend might advise; he would never tattle.

The head-keeper, vaguely excited, peered through his glass. Both boat and swimmer were in the annular field. Brand had resumed the breast stroke. The swing of the tide carried the broken bow towards him. He was not more than the boat's length distant when he dived suddenly and the cormorants flapped aloft. A black fin darted into sight, leaving a sharply divided trail in the smooth patch of water created by the turning of the derelict.

Jones was genuinely excited now.

"My God!" he cried, "what is it?"

"A shark!" yelled Jim. "I knew it. I warned him. Eh, but he's game is the cap'n."

"Why didn't you tell me?" roared Jones. Under reversed conditions he would have behaved exactly as Jim did.

But it was no time for words. The men peered at the sudden tragedy with an intensity which left them gasping for breath. More than two hundred yards away in reality, the magnifying glasses brought this horror so close that they could see—they almost thought they could hear—its tensely dramatic action. The rapidly moving black signal reached the small eddy caused by the man's disappearance. Instantly a great sinuous shining body rose half out of the water, and a powerful tail struck the side of the boat a resounding whack.

Jim's first expletive died in his throat.

"He's done it!" Jones heard him say. "He's ripped him. Oh, bully! May the Lord grant there's only one."

For a single instant they saw the dark hair and face of the man above the surface. The shark circled about and rushed. Brand sank again, and again the giant man-eater writhed in agonized contortions and the sea showed masses of froth and dark blotches. The flutterings of the birds became irregular and alarmed. Their wheeling flights partly obscured events below. The gulls, screeching their fright, or it might be interest, kept close to the water, and the cormorants sailed in circles aloft.

Jones was pallid and streaming with perspiration.

"I wouldn't have had it happen for fifty quid," he groaned.

"I wouldn't ha' missed it for a hundred," yelped Jim. "It's a fight to the finish, an' the cap'n 'll win. There ain't another sea-lawyer on the job, an' Brand knows how to handle this one."

Their mate's head reappeared and Jim relieved the tension by a mighty shout:

"He'll swim wild now, Brand. Keep out of his track."

Sure enough, the ugly monster began to thrash the water and career around on the surface in frantic convulsions. The second stab of the knife had reached a vital part. Brand, who perhaps had seen a Malay diver handling his life-long enemy, coolly struck out towards the stern of the boat. The shark, churning the sea into a white foam, whirled away in blind pursuit of the death which was rending him. The man, unharmed but somewhat breathless, clambered over the folds of the sail into the boat.

"Glory be!" quavered Jones, who was a Baptist.

Jim was about to chant his thanks in other terms when his attention was caught by Brand's curious actions.

In stepping across the after thwart he stopped as though something had stun ghim. His hesitation was momentary. Pressing his left hand to mouth and nose, he passed rapidly forward, stooped, caught a limp body by the belt which every sailor wears, and, with a mighty effort, slung it into the sea, where it sank instantly. So the shark, like many a human congener of higher intellect, had only missed his opportunity by being too precipitate, whilst the cormorants and gulls, eyeing him ominously, did not know what they had lost.

Then the man returned to the sail and peered beneath. Neither of the onlookers could distinguish anything of special interest under the heavy canvas sheet. Whatever it was Brand apparently resolved to leave it alone for the moment.

He shipped a pair of oars, and, with two vigorous sweeps, impelled the derelict away from the charnel-house atmosphere which evidently clung to it.

Then the shark engaged his attention. It was floating, belly upwards, its white under-skin glistening in the sunlight. Two long gashes were revealed, one transverse, the other lengthwise, proving how coolly and scientifically Brand had done his work. An occasional spasm revealed that life was not yet extinct, but the furtive attack of a dogfish, attracted by the scent of blood, which stirs alike the denizens of the air, land and ocean, was unresisted.

The rower stood up again, drove a boat-hook into the cruel jaws, and lashed the stock to a thorl-pin with a piece of cordage. This accomplished to his satisfaction, he looked toward the Gulf Rock for the first time since he drew the knife from its sheath, gave a cheery hand-wave to the shouting pair on the balcony, and settled down to pull the recovered craft close to the rock.

"He heaved the dead man overboard," he announced, "so there's a live one under the sail."

"Why do you think that?" said Jones, whose nerves were badly shaken.

"Well, you saw what happened to the other pore devil. Either him or the cap'n had to go. It 'ud be the same if there was a funeral wanted aft. Them there birds— But come along, boss. Let's give him a hand."

They hurried down to the iron-barred entrance. Jones shot outward a small crane fitted with a winch, in case it might be needed, whilst the sailor climbed to the narrow platform of rock into which the base-blocks of the lighthouse were sunk and bolted.

Affording but little superficial space at low water, there was now not an inch to spare. Here, at sea-leved, the Atlantic swell, even in calm weather, matter of activity. At this stage of the tide each wave lapped some portion of the granite stones and receded quickly down tht slope of the weed-covered rock.

The gulls and cormorants, filling the air with raucous cries, were rustling in rapid flight in the wake of the boat, darting ever and anon at the water or making daring pecks at the floating carcass.

Soon Brand glanced over his shoulder to measure the distance. With the ease o fa practised oarsman he turned his craft to bring her stern on to the landing-place.

"Lower a basket!" he cried to Jones, and, whilst the others wondered what the urgency in his voice betokened, there reached them the deep strong blast of a steam-whistle blown four times in quick succession.

Each and all, they had forgotten the Princess Royal. She was close in, much nearer than mail steamers usually ventured.

At first they gazed at her with surprise, Brand even suspending his manoeuvres for a moment. Then Jim, knowing that a steamship trumpets the same note to express all sorts of emotion, understood that the officers had witnessed a good deal, if not all, that had taken place, and were offering their congratulations.

"Blow away, my hearties!" crowed Jim, vainly apostrophizing the vessel. "You'll have somethin' to crack about when you go ashore to-night or I'm very much mistaken. Now, cap'n," he went on, "take the cover off. It's alive, I suppose. Is it a man, or a woman?"

CHAPTER II.

A CHRISTENING.

Brand was slow to answer. For one thing, he was exhausted. Refreshing as the long swim was after a night of lonely vigil, itself the culmination of two days of hard work, the fierce battle with the shark had shocked into active existence the reserve of latent engry which every healthy animal unconsciously hoards for life-and-death emergencies.

But there was another reason. Het had scarce gained the comparative safety of the boat before he was, in the same instant, horrified and astounded to a degree hitherto beyond his experience. Not even the stiff pull of two hundred yards sufficed to restore his senses. So Jim's question fell on his ears with the meaningless sound of the steamer's siren.

"What is it, mate?" repeated his fellow-keeper, more insistently. "You ain't hurt anyways, are you?"

"It is a baby," said Brand, in a curiously vacant way.

"A baby!" shrieked Jones, whose crudely developed nervous system was not proof against the jar of incredulity induced by this statement. Had Brand said "a tiger," he could not have exhibited greater concern.

"Yes, a baby—and it is living. I heard it cry," murmured the other, sitting down rather suddenly.

DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING A HARE: FIRST:—"CATCH YOUR HARE"

To produce good printing you must "first catch your good printer. . . You can't get good printing from a poor printer, even if he work with never so good an equipment. If he lacks the "knack," the trained taste, the single-minded fondness for his work which real printers have, he will do poor printing for you. If he has all of these, and in addition to them adequate modern equipment, your printing will have distinction, salesmanship, the lure of type-beauty.

As this office produces good printing you may infer the presence of a good printer—who is "catchable."

The sporting press of Paris is unanimous in its opposition to the further matching of whites and negroes in pugilistic bouts in that city. Writers declare the spectacle presented at such meetings is not only disgusting, but farcical from a sporting standpoint. This means trouble for Jack Johnson if he attempts to fight there. It is known the champion is planning such a move.

Players who will share in the splitting of the receipts for the world's baseball series are assured of enjoying the biggest slice ever handed out. In previous years $1800 was a high water mark, but when the present series ends, indications point to the individual players drawing down as much as $3000 each. For the three games already played the receipts have totaled $195.914. Of this the players are due to receive $105,793, and the next game at Philadelphia, the last in which the players share, added at least $25,000 to the purse. This means close to the $3000 mark for each of the winners and at least $1000 above the previous mark of previous world's series.

That girls can help win football games even if they can't play them was demonstrated recently when the Medford High School team defeated Grant's Pass football team, 39 to 0.

Before the game the football squad was given a luncheon prepared by the high school girls in the domestic science department of the high school. It was cooked according to the advice of the coach and the direction of the teacher in that department and was calculated to contain the maximum of strength-giving power and require the minimum of digestive power.

Bean soup, poached eggs, toast and spring water comprised the menu. The girls cooked the meal, waited on the boys, then went to the game and "rooted" lustily for the warriors they had fed.

Their vocal enthusiasm was superfluous, however, for the soup and poached egg players simply swamped the Giants' Pass eleven, who had to rely for nourishment upon what the Medford restaurants offered.

Maass, secretary of the Benz company, will leave next Saturday for a trip abroad to obtain the most powerful racing Benz ever built, a 300-horse power car, which has been under secret construction for the last three months.

* * *

Not satisfied with holding the world's speed records with the "Blitzen Benz," Burman seeks, with a faster mount specially built for him, to win glory on foreign tracks. It will be the first time that an American driver of note ever invaded foreign fields for the avowed purpose of shattering all speed recoreds now held abroad.

* * *

On his arrival in Germany Burman will ship the "Greater Blitzen Benz," equipped with American tires and accessories, to the Brooklands track in England, where he will make an effort to lower all marks held on that track by the celebrated French driver Memery, with the "Blitzen Benz." After these record trials, and showing what he can do on the English beach at Saltburn-by-the-Sea, Burman will bring the new 300-horse power Benz to the United States and arrangements will be perfected at once for world's speed record trials at Daytona beach, made famous last spring by Burman in his "Blitzen Benz," which will also be taken along. Efforts will be made to arrange for a contest at that time between Burman in his new Benz and the new 300-horse power Fiat or any other car and driver.

= THE COSY CORNER =

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

REPOUSSE LACE

Newest and Nicest Fairy Fashion for Frocks

All the new laces that have a heavy raised design on a net foundation are now called repousse. There is a wide demand for this sort of lacework, although it differs from filet and the ecclesiastical laces that are also in favor. There never was a season like this one for lace, anyway. Whole rooms are given over to it in some of the big shops, and machine-made and hand-made kinds vie with each other in beauty and dignity.

Almost every kind of lace the world has known has been revived. No gown or simple coat suit seems complete without the addition of some pattern. The huge Revolutionary revers are made of marvelous meshes, sailor collars are cut from pieces of square laces that have figures of all sorts woven in the net, and stocks and chemisettes are made from the fine French laces that have been revived this summer.

BREAD-AND-BUTTER HABIT

Avoid It Unless You Want to Grow Fat

Many women become fat merely by what a doctor calls the "bread-and-butter" habit, an apparently simple died, confined in the main to tea and bread and butter, sandwiches and eggs, which, however, is one of the best methods of producing flesh. Those who wish to reduce their weight must abstain from bread and butter, and substitute bran biscuits without butter, though dry toast may be allowed with dinner.

GIRLS GIVE BOYS HOT CAMPAIGN

Students Have to Smash Slates to Keep Athletics in Hands of Masculine Element.

North Yakima, (Special)—After resorting to nearly every political device during a campaign which lasted two weeks, the boys of North Yakima high school joined their forces to defeat Miss Martha Townsend, candidate of the girls for president of the athletic association, and elected Curtiss Gilbert, 95 to 48.

Four tickets were originally put in the field by the boys, the "popular," the "independent," the "school" and the "athletic," each with a complete slate. The girls united their efforts to put Miss Townsend in as head of the association.

ODDITIES OF THE GREAT

Charlemagne would not take an upper berth when travelling.

* * *

Julius Caesar in all his public life did not wear a silk hat or frock coat.

* * *

Marcus Aurelius could not sharpen a lead pencil.

* * *

Alexander the Great could not be induced to allow any one to take a snap-shot of him.

* * *

Nero would not have an automobile.

* * *

Christopher Columbus never trusted himself in a steamboat.

* * *

George III. did not drink ice cream soda.

Henry of Navarre could not smoke a cigar.

Queen Elizabeth would not go to a moving picture show.

WOMAN HOLD-UP LOST HER NERVE

She Apologizes and Disappears When She Hears Other Pedestrians Approach.

Harry and Albert Terry, while walking down Third avenue one night recently in Spokane, were confronted by a woman wearing a gray overocat, a slouch hat and a mask.

With a revolver she compelled the brothers to hold up their hands and backed them thirty feet down a side street.

Then she heard pedestrians approaching, however, and lowered her gun, uttered an apology for disturbing the young men and disappeared.

KILLED BY DUMB WAITER

Young Woman Strangled When Automatic Lif Shoots Upward.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Miss Eva Fotheringham, aged 19 years, was strangled here tonight by an automatic dumb waiter. The young woman was removing groceries from the lift, when it shot upward, pinning her head against the wall. She was alone in the apartment at the time and was dead when discovered by her sister.

A MIND-READING TRICK

Makes an Amusing Interlude at An Evening Party

By means of the table of letters given below it is possible to do some clever mind-reading, to the bewilderment of the person "read." Suppose, for instance, you do not know the full name of the person. Get him to inform you in which of the upright columns, or column, the first letter of his name appears. If it is found in only one column, it is the top letter; if it is found in more than one column, it is found by adding the alphabetical numbers of the top letters of these columns, and the sum will be the number of the letter sought. By taking one letter at a time in this way the whole name, or any word, can be ascertained.

A	B	D	H	P
C	C	E	I	Q
E	F	F	J	R
G	G	G	K	S
I	J	L	L	T
K	K	M	M	U
M	N	N	N	V
O	O	O	O	W
Q	R	T	X	X
S	S	U	Y	Y
U	V	V	Z	Z
W	W	W
Y	Z

For example, take the name Jane. J is found in the two columns beginning with B and H, which are the second and eighth letters of the alphabet; their sum is 10, and the tenth letter of the alphabet is J, the one sought. The next letter, A, appears in only one column, where it stands at the top. N is seen in the columns headed with B, D, and H, the second, fourth, and eighth letters of the alphabet, and their numbers added give fourteen, or N, and so on. By memorizing the respective numbers of the letters of the alphabet, the trick can be worked very quickly, and will excite no little curiosity.

COMPLAINT OF POOR DRAINAGE

City Engineer's Continual Problem. The Need for Sewerage in the Congested Section.

Complaints from the owners of the block in which the Empress Theatre is situated to the effect that an imperfect drain passing near the building was causing a nuisance which it was desired the city should correct, came before the council last night.

City Engineer Davis was present, and explained that this drain was not a sewer proper, but merely a surface water outflow. Owing, however, to the want of sewerage in the district west of Sixth street the residents had to throw waste water on the ground, and this filtering through the drain gave rise to the nuisance which invariably occurs in dry weather. During rainy weather the copious outflow of surface rainwater for which the culvert is intended does not allow of any odor. The drain is not insanitary in the same way as if it were a defective sewer, and the City Engineer promised to see that the residents were convincingly reassured to this effect.

When a proper sewerage system is installed in the congested section there will be no more of the surface water trouble, and the City Engineer mentioned that he was engaged continually in planning towards and carrying out the initial stages of the work of sewer installation for the crowded districts here.

"LET US DIVORCE"

Clever Comedy Hits Off the Follies of Divorce—Special Matinee of "The Marriage of Kitty" on Monday.

The opening play, "Divorcons," of May Roberts and her Company will prove the greatest comedy that has ever been presented to the theatre going public of Prince Rupert. It is a travestry on the present day divorce laws and tendencies. M. Henri Des Runnels is past the forty mark and married to an expensive vivacious wife who falls deeply in love with an impecunious young artist. The husband upon learning this state of affairs decides to assist his wife to procure a divorce. Then when her liberty is in sight the wife sees where she is wrong, and ends by becoming infatuated with her husband.

"Divorcons," or as the English translation has it, "Let us divorce," was written by Victorien Sardou, the greatest of living playwright.

A special matinee of "The Marriage of Kitty" will be given on Monday afternoon it being Thanksgiving Day. Many will remember this play as being one of the cleverest comedies in the May Roberts repertoire.

COUNCIL ARE SHORT OF CASH

Appropriation for Section One is Almost Exhausted—Is up to Finance Committee.

A petition from W. Lynch, and several other residents of the district around the Junction, requesting a seventeen foot plankway from the business district along First avenue to the Junction was read in council last night. This petition with others was referred to the public works department, but Alderman Hilditch remarked that the funds available for such inmprovements this year were already exhausted. The works department, he said, would put in plankways just as soon as the finance committee could give them assurance of the existence of money to do the work.

Alderman Newton made enquiry regarding the completion of streets in the business area where the work seems left incomplete. Alderman Hilditch remarked that as he was connected with the finance committee he should know why these places were not completed.

The Mayor explained that the financial situation briefly is that the city has over a million and a quarter dollar's worth of debentures to sell, but meanwhile the appropriation for the development of Section One has become practically exhausted, and there is hardly any money left for improvements in the outlying sections. Very few of these were now being done. All petitions for plankways were being hung up temporarily until arrangements had been made for the necessary advances from the bank to meet the cost of these.

ABOLISHED BOY SCOUTS

Russia Regards It as Menace to Future Patriotic Aspirations of the Youth of Finland.

(Special to the Daily News)

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—In addition to the annexation and incorporation of part of the Finnish province of Viborg for strategical reasons, the Russian government has now ordered the abolition of the Boy Scouts of Finland as being an unauthorized military organization and a pretext for the dangerous cultivation among young Finlanders of a national patriotic spirit hostile to Russia.

The Finnish press is naturally indignant, and Russian Nationalist and Chauvinist organs like The Novoye Vremya are jubilant. While Russia has only been able to use General Sir R. S. S. Baden-Powell's idea to form a system of "play soldiers," the Finnish boys have turned out real scouts in every sense. Nothing better illustrates the wide difference between the Russians and the Finns than these juvenile organizations of the two countries.

The abolition of the Boy Scout societies in Finland is another severe blow from the heavy hand of Russia. It only remains for Russia now to abolish the Salvation Army in Finland.

The Biggest Yet

One of the largest Halibut ever taken from these waters is being displayed at Shrubsalls' Market. The big fellow weighs 226 pounds and is 6 feet 9 inches long and 42 inches wide.

They are also displaying tempting varieties of fresh fish of all kinds including Grey Cod, Shrimp and Crabs.

OLD JACK SWAM FRASER CANYON

Old Railroad Horse Rivals Captain Webb for Accomplishments—Came Back Alive to Tell the Ta e.

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Old Jack, a horse owned by Burns, Jordan & Welch, railway contractors on the Canadian Northern, was being transferred across the Fraser canyon to the railway grade now under construction. It was suspended in a sling and the rope broke

The horse, which was blindfolded plunged hindfeet first into the angry waters and no one doubted death had quickly followed.

Half an hour later Jack was seen making his way slowly along the grade. He had landed half a mile below and was none the worse for the thrilling dive and journey down the raging Fraser river.

Old Jack will be pensioned by his owners after this season's work. He is regarded as almost a member of the firm. He was raised on a ranch near Lethbridge and entered the service of Foley, Welch & Stewart sixteen years ago. He helped build the Crow's Nest Pass railway and many other lines in the west.

Jack is an animal of unusual intelligence.

HARRY THAW AGAIN

His Friends are Still Trying to Secure His Release from Matteawan.

Newburgh, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Persistent reports that Harry Thaw's release from the Matteawan Asylum is expected within the next three months, are denied by Dr. James V. May, superintendent of the institution.

"I can state most positively that Thaw willl not be released before January 1, or for some time after," said Dr. May.

"Once or twice Mrs. Thaw came to the asylum to see her son, but I have never had anything to say to her nor she to me."

The superintendent gave no opinion upon the sanity of Thaw.
