Bellingham, Wash., July 19.—News has reached here that Judge Prigmore of Seattle, was fatally shot by his former law partner, R. H. Evans was armed with a high power rifle, and was hiding behind a rock waiting for a shot at a cougar. He saw the motion in the bush, and thinking it was the beast moving fired at it. To his horror he found that he had fired and injured his friend.

Died on the Train

An emergency stretcher was improvised, and Judge Prigmore was carried down the trail in an effort to secure medical attention, but he died before the little party reached Concrete, where they headed for.

WAR TO THE KNIFE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

At Reassembling of Parliament, the Opposition Started Obstruction Tactics, by Wanting to Discuss Fenian Raid Matters ---Rumors are Busy in Regard to Changes in the Cabinet, But No Announcements Were Made---Hon. Frank Oliver May Retire to Railway Board

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, July 19.—Before the smallest attendance at any session of Parliament for many sessions, the House of Commons reassembled yesterday afternoon. The heat was intense, and the political atmosphere became sultry as well.

Obstruction Goes On

The Government proceeded at once to throw down the gage of battle by moving that the House proceed at once to go into committee of ways and means on the reciprocity question. The Opposition responded at once with obstructive tactics, by moving an amendment to the effect that the services rendered the country by the Canadian volunteers during the Fenian Raid be recognised by the Government.

Fight Goes On

Uncompromising hostility was displayed by the Opposition during the proceedings. By a majority of 61 to 45, the smallest attendance and majority for many sessions the amendment was voted down and the House proceeded to discuss reciprocity. For two hours James Arthurs, Conservative member for Parry Sound, spoke against reciprocity. Then J. D. Taylor of New Westminster, spoke against the bill for an hour and a half, until he was cut short by a motion to adjourn at midnight.

No Appointments Made

Expectations that rumored Cabinet changes would be announced were doomed to disappointment as no announcements were made. It is rumored that Hon. Frank Oliver is to be given the seat on the Railroad Commission which has been vacant since the death of Mr. Greenway, and that Hon. Walter Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan, will be taken into the Cabinet.

LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED FOR INDOOR BASEBALL

The Mayor Has Presented a Silver Cup to be Competed for by the Various Clubs—Questions of League Rules Were Thrashed Out Last Night

Through the kindness of the Mayor Prince Rupert Indoor Baseball League has now a handsome silver cup to play for. Without saying anything to anybody about it the Mayor after presiding at the meeting of the "Penpushers" team the other night decided to present a cup to form an incentive for good live effort on the part of the teams and those interested in them to get the League going strong. At last night's meeting of the indoor baseball enthusiasts in the Police Court Chief Vickers made the announcement that the cup had been purchased and was on view at J. S. Gray's store.

Organisation Matters

One or two important points in regard to organisation of the League were discussed last night. Representatives of the Baptist Brotherhood, the Printers, the Penpushers, and the Royal Blue Ribbons, were present. The question of professionalism came up again, and it was decided to leave that matter as decided at last meeting, though there may be more of if later. A motion that new players be signed on for a period of fifteen days, and released players for thirty days before playing for any team was carried by vote of the representatives of teams present. The number of players in a team is altered now from twelve to ten. This meets with approval generally.

New Special Committee

A new special committee under the chairmanship of Mr. George Tite and composed of selected representatives of all existing teams anxious to enter the League is to meet in the Police Court room at 8.30 p.m. on Friday 21st inst. The purpose of this important committee is to line up the men of the teams, to arrange any forther necessary by-law details upon which all teams will be agreed, and to settle upon a suitable place to play, either the Rink or the Kaien Island club rooms being the probable arena. Each team is to appoint its representative, and the managers of the teams are to hand in their line ups of men to Mr. Tite.

Growing Enthusiasm

Growing enthusiasm for the success of the League prevails, and the teams are already showing symptoms of brisk lively rivalry. Rooters and fans will be in crowds all live redbloods. It is astonishing to find so many keen players in the city. They are springing up everywhere, and the organisers of teams have every confidence in their men. So far only one little symptom of dissent has been apparent in the work of organisation of the League. The tiny note of discord comes from the Printers. They have objections to the "unrestricted" selection of men by teams. This objection it is hoped may be overcome, otherwise the League must go ahead without the really cracker jack team of the Printers to whom belongs the credit of having instituted indoor baseball in the city. It will be a pity if they fall out now.

Last night's meeting was held in excellent spirit, and votes of thanks were cordially given for Mayor Manson for his handsome gift of a League Cup. The enthusiastic and unsparing efforts of Alderman Kerr and Chief Vickers who as chairman and secretary of the first organising committee did such good work is very highly appreciated indeed.

WILL RAISE THE INSURANCE RATES

Underwriters will Raise Rates on Vessels Which Use Inside Passage to Alaksa.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Victoria, July 19.—That the insurance rates on vessels using the inside passage to Alaska will be raised shortly was the statement made today by Joseph Lowery, head of the London Salvage Association.

This decision is supposed to be an out come of the several shipping accidents which have occurred lately to vessels using the inside passage.

HAPPY SURPRISE PARTY

Merry Party of Bright Young People Beseiged Residence of Mrs. L. W. Patmore Last Night.

Quite a surprise was successfully sprung on Mrs. L. W. Patmore last night by a merry party of Prince Rupert young people who came prepared to have a happy evening's social entertainment. The party consisted of twenty altogether, ladies and gentlemen, and along with their well laid plans for a successful surprise they included a little arrangement with Gray's Orchestra.

Beyond doubt the surprise was perfect, and beyond doubt the party was a lively success. Mrs. Patmore caught on to the plan in the twinkling of an eye, and had her own arrangements for the entertainment of her guests complete in a flash. With song and dance, and deliciously cool refreshments for the warm summer evening, the party spent the hours merrily. The spacious veranda of Mrs. Patmore's fine residence added greatly to the pleasure of the dancers, and the superb sunset over the harbor added to the pleasures of sitting out.

The party carrying out the surprise included Miss L. Holtby, Miss A. Brown, Miss V. Lockhart, Miss Fulton, Miss Keeley, the Misses Greenwood, and Miss Kinkaid, also Messrs. Vance, Edwards, Arneil, Greer, Helgerson, Tatchell, Dunn, Wood, Morris, Holtby, Fulton and Rogers.

S.P.C.A MEETING

As Large a Number as Possible Invited to be Present Tonight at Courtroom.

Tonight at eight in the Police Court room a meeting is to be held with a view to the organization of a branch of the R.S.P.C.A. in Prince Rupert. As large an attendance of the citizens as possible will greatly aid in making the affair a success. The spirit which led a kindly teamster in the city today to place a large cool leaf over his horse's head to keep the sun from beating down upon it is the spirit which will prevail in the organization of the R.S.P.C.A. branch here.

WILL ASK GOVERNMENT TO INTERVENE IN COAL STRIKE

Boards of Trade of Eastern B. C. Cities Foresee That a Coal Famine Will Occur Next Winter Unless Something is Done to Relieve the Situation

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Nelson, July 19.—The Fernie and Nelson Board of Trades have endorsed the resolution calling for a joint meeting of the Eastern British Columbia Boards of Trade at an early date, to consider passing a resolution asking the Dominion Government to take adtion to relieve the serious situation created by the coal strike.

According to local coal dealers high prices for coal here this winter are inevitable, while a coal famine is greatly to be feared. Even if the strike were settled within the next few weeks it would be impossible to obtain fuel owing to other demands upon the supply and the shortage of cars during the movement of wheat from the prairies.

The Nelson Board will hold a special meeting tomorrow to consider asking the C. P. R. to give a special rate on coal from Vancouver Island mines to relieve the situation, otherwise importations of coal must be made from Pennsylvania.

Fines of $50 and Costs to $15 and Costs Imposed—Chief Vickers Made Out Strong Case.

Chief Vickers has been successful in securing a conviction against the party of seven men found gambling in the Grand Hotel the other night. The leader of the set Jesse Hall was fined $50 and costs this morning by Magistrate Carss. Jesse Ford paid $20 and costs, G. Sampson $20 and costs, H. Burke $20 and costs. These men had all pleaded guilty to having played at least twice. The Jap Tai Kanio who had been winning in the game and had $20 in front of him when the room was raided, was fined $15 and costs. His $20 was returned to him. W. Burnside paid $15 and costs, W. J. Smith $15 and costs. These men had played only once. Jesse Hall, the ringleader, admitted that he had taken a rake-off of two chips out of every hand dealt. It was a poker game, and to make assurance doubly sure Chief Vickers had a constable take a hand in the game unknown to the players. Constable Morrison lost his little all—ten dollars—provided by the Chief in the little game.

DAILY EDITION. WEDNESDAY, JULY 19

"THE FOOLISH VIRGINS"

On the day that Mr. Manson and his colleagues were elected to office—January 12th, 1911—there was a water shortage in Prince Rupert. For several weeks the water shortage continued. In some of the more elevated parts of the city there was not enough pressure to send drinking water to the residents. At a Third avenue fire, there was so little water that the firemen could not after connecting up their hose, get a stream to play upon the flames. In a hundred ways the need of arranging for additional water supply was driven home to the council.

Now in the middle of July, another water shortage confronts the city. The information is given to the citizens, that despite all the warnings and all the dangers that the city passed through last midsummer and last midwinter, no steps have been taken to enlarge the water supply.

Although hundreds of new citizens have entered the city since last midsummer, nothing has been done to even provide for the water needs of the increased population. Plans and estimates were prepared by the City Engineer for obtaining additional water from Morse Creek, but these were simply pigeon holed. Nothing was done to carry the plans into effect.

It is quite true that the city council has been busy with other things. But nothing the aldermen have done has been of so much importance as the providing of an adequate water supply.

Most of us could have managed at a pinch without the extra hour to the hotel bars; we cannot manage without water. Even the appointment of a rat catcher, one of the most useful and distinctive works of the council, is of far less importance than providing the city with proper drinking water.

Our temperance Mayor has been very active in arranging for an adequate supply of bottle licenses in preparation for a thirsty summer. But bottled beer, however good, is a poor substitute for cold water. It is more expensive too. No matter how grateful we may all be to the Mayor for forcing bottled beer and spirit shops upon the citizens, most of us would rather have had the water supply attended to first.

It could have been accomplished with much less bother and excitement, than the work of forcing additional licenses on the city.

The council cannot plead that they have been too busy to attend to the water supply. They could find time—and money too—to fight A. J. Prudhomme in his efforts to earn a living; they could find time enough to make out lists of all the civic employees, with the number of their wives and children, where they were born, how long they have been in the city, etc.; they have had time to consider a host of matters of very negligible importance.

With the ample and repeated warnings they have had, they should have found time to consider the question of an adequate water supply.

If a water famine, a fever epidemic or an outbreak of fire were to visit the city as a result of the water shortage, the citizens would have good grounds for accusing the council of criminal negligence.

ABOUT THE "OPTIMIST JOB"

Recently this paper changed its name from the Optimist to the Daily News. Its job department, accordingly changed its name from Optimist Job to News Job department.

Within the last few days, a new concern has started and assumed the name of the Optimist Job. It is not the job department of any newspaper, and its assumption of this misleading title is an obvious attempt to infringe on the goodwill and patronage of the job department of this paper, earned under its former title.

In assuming the discarded name of this paper's job department, the new concern may be within its legal rights. But on the point of honor which lies behind it, the public is entitled to pass its own judgment.

The entire plant and equipment of the job plant of the Optimist is in the News printshops, and is being operated under skilled management. The youthful optimists who have started operations, under the cast-off title, are in no way connected with the original Optimist job plant.

A REMINISCENCE OF SHERLOCK HOLMES

THE ADVENTURE OF THE DEVIL'S FOOT

BY ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1911, by the Century Syndicate

Synopsis

Brenda Tregennis is found dead in her chair at her home in Cornwall, stricken dead with horror. Her two brothers, Owen and George are found insane from horror. What has caused it? The remaining brother Mortimer Tregennis calls in Sherlock Holmes to investigate "the Cornish Horror?" Holmes questions Mortimer Tregennis closely about the details of the affair, but gets little help. So, in company with Dr. Watson he proceeds to the scene of tragedy.

Our proceedings of that first morning did little to advance the investigation. It was marked, however, at the outset by an incident which left the most sinister impression upon my mind. The approach to the spot at which the tragedy occurred is down a narrow, winding country lane. While we made our way along it we heard the rattle of a carriage coming towards us, and stood aside to let it pass. As it drove by us I caught a glimpse through the closed window of a horribly-contorted, grinning face glaring out at us. Those staring eyes and gnashing teeth flashed past us like a dreadful vision.

"My brothers!" cried Mortimer Tregennis, white to the lips. "They are taking them to Helston."

We looked with horror after the gblack carriage, lumbering upon its way. Then we turned out steps towards this ill-omened house in which they had met their strange fate.

It was a large and bright dwelling, rather a villa than a cottage, with a considerable garden which was already, in that Cornish air, well filled with spring flowers. Towards this garden the window of the sitting-room fronted, and from it, according to Mortimer Tregennis, must have come that thing of evil which had by sheer horror in a single instant blasted their minds. Holmes walked slowly and thoughtfully among the flower-pots and along the path before we entered the porch. So absorbed was he in his thoughts, I remember, the he stumbled over the watering-pot, upset its contents, and deluged both our feet and the garden path. Inside the house we were met by the elderly Cornish housekeeper, Mrs. Porter, who, with the aid of a young girl, looked after the wants of the family. She readily answered all Holmes's questions. She had heard nothing in the night. Her employers had all been in excellent spirits lately, and she had never known them more cheerful and prosperous. She had fainted with horror upon entering the room in the morning and seeing that deadful company round the table. She had, when she recovered, thrown open the window to let the morning air in and had run down to the lane, where she sent a farm hand for the doctor. The lady was on her bed upstairs, if we cared to see her. It took four strong men to get the brothers into the asylum carriage. She would not herself stay in the house another day, and was starting that very afternoon to rejoin her family at St. Ives.

We ascended the stairs and viewed the body. Miss Brenda Tregennis had been a very beautiful girl, though now verging upon middle age. Her dark, clear-cut face was handsome, even in death, but there still lingered upon it something of that convulsion of horror which had been her last human emotion. From her bedroom we descended to the sitting-room where this strange tragedy had actually occurred. The charred ashes of the overnight fire lay in the grate. On the table were the four guttered and burned-out candles, with the cards scattered over its surface. The chairs had been moved back against the walls, but all else was as it had been the night before. Holmes paced with light, swift steps about the room; he sat in the various chairs, drawing them up and reconstructing their positions. He tested how much of the garden was visible; he examined the floor, the ceiling and the fireplace; but never once did I see that sudden brightening of his eyes and tightening of his lips which would have told me that he saw some gleam of light in this utter darkness.

"Why a fire?" he asked. "Had they always a fire in this small room on a spring evening?"

Mortimer Tregennis explained that the night was cold and damp. For that reason, after his arrival, the fire was lit. "What are you going to do, Mr. Holmes?" he said.

My friend smiled and laid his hand upon my arm. "I think Watson, that I shall resume that course of tobacco-poisoning which you have so often and so justly condemned," said he. "With your permission, gentlemen, we will now return to our cottage, for I am not aware that any new factor is likely to come to our notice here. I will turn the facts over in my mind, Mr. Tregennis, and should anything occur to me I will communicate with you. In the meantime I wish tou both good morning."

It was not until long after we were back in Poldhu Cottage that Holmes broke his complete and absorbed silence. He sat coiled in his arm-chair, his haggard and ascetic face hardly visible amid the blue swirl of his tobacco smoke, his black brows drawn down, his forehead contracted, his eyes vacant and far away. Finally, he sprang to his feet.

LUCKY GIRL

Elderly Bachelor Left Her a Fortune Because She Had Low Wages.

Fraulein Wardyss, a girl employed as a saleswoman in a boot and shoe store in the small town of Kisujszallas, in Hungary, has just inherited a fortune of $130,000 under extraordinary circumstances.

Herr Croney, an elderly bachelor, was among the customers at the shop, and expressed indignation at the small wages paid to her. Recently he entered the shop to make some small purchases and siad that he intended to make Fraulein Wardyss heiress to all his property. She laughed, as she believed him to be badly off, but to show that he really meant it he unfastened his cuff, and laying it flat on the counter drew out a fountain pen and wrote a will. He called two apprentices to sign it, and having placed it in his pocket left the shop.

A few minutes later Herr Croney in making a violent effort to avoid a motor car in the roadway, overstrained his heart and fell dead. On the next day the shop girl was informed that she was sole heriess to $130,000.

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

LINEN AND SATIN

A French gown of white linen broderie anglaise forming tunic and bodice ober deep hem of blue satin. Stock and yoke are finely tucked white net. These may be omitted, however, and the finish made with a band of blue satin at top of embroidered bodice.

MUSLIN AND LACE

Hints for Laundering Fragile "Frillies"

For stiffening embroidered muslin collars, blouses trimmed with fine lace, and the like, gum water is to be preferred to starch, as it does not give the fibres of the material the same harsh appearance. To prepare the gum water, put an ounce of the best gum arabic, broken in small bits, into a pitcher and pour over it a cupful of boiling water. Set the pitcher in a warm place and stir the contents frequently with a piece of smooth stick until the gum is entirely dissolved. Strain through fine muslin and bottle for use. If a quantity is made to last for some weeks, it will keep better if prepared with cold water, but it takes rather a long time to dissolve. An average proportion to use for stiffening is a tablespoonful of the solution to a cupful of water.

COLLAR FASHIONS

Styles from New York Designers' Recent Records

There are some indications just now that the next collar to win general acceptance will be one that runs to a deep point at the back, a style probably developed from the long pointed hood worn during the winter.

Indeed various versions of the pointed collar may already be seen on smart costumes, the most modest having the appearance of a sailor collar of moderate dimensions that has been cut away to a sharp point at the back.

Then there is the long, narrow shawl collar, very much wider than formerly at the shoulders, as if it had borrowed some of the dimensions of the popular sailor collar model. This collar, made of satin or silk and bound either with braid or a band of cretonne is splendid for wear with serges, tweeds, cashmeres and other fabrics which are developed into smart tailored suits. Silk and satin tailor mades usually have collars of finer fabrics, though as the summer gets nearer upon us the cretonne bindings are seen in greater number and more charming variety than ever.

After all, the fashionable dressmakers are not getting very far away from the idea of banded trimmings. Frocks of all materials and for all occasions show this form of decoration, only in many of the new satin frocks and several of the latest tub designs, the bands are of the same material instead of a contrasting fabric being used. If further embellishment is desired, one can always resort to the little loops of soutache with handsome buttons of braid or metal to give the desired finish to the fashionable forms of trimming.

Owen Moran will never again be the sturdy fighter that he was when he knocked out Battling Nelson. Now that Champion Wolgast has disposed of the little Briton so easily, sports are recalling the words of Charley Harvey, Moran's manager, who said a month ago that all he expected out of Moran was two or thre more good fights.

Moran, according to those closest to him, tried to keep in conspicuous form and travel the booze route too. His decline dates from the time he whipped Nelson, since which time he has gone a pace that would have made the wildest excesses of Young Corbett seem like a period of abstinence.

☼ ☼ ☼

Harvey knew Moran had played havoc with his inside workings and that is why he put Moran through such a long training siege up in the mountains. Harvey actually thought Moran was in his old-time form, but it didn't take more than a round to show that Moran had retrograded. Right now Moran's friends think he could make the hit of his life as a temperance lecturer, citing himself as the greatest living example of what the cup that cheers will do to one.

FISHERIES INSPECTOR PAYS VISIT TO RUPERT

Chief Inspector Cunningham Pays First Official Visit on the Little Cruiser Restless—Had [a Busy Day's Work Today

Chief Inspector Cunningham of the Fisheries Department, arrived in the city yesterday on board the protection cruiser Restless on a tour of the canneries.

"Our special duties are to do everything possible," says Inspector Cunningham, "to preserve the fisheries of the Pacific Coast, and especially the salmon fisheries of the northern coast of the province, as it is recognised that great development of the northern fisheries is possible. These fisheries are today, and will continue to be if properly conserved, one of the greatest assets in the keeping of the Dominion.

To this end efforts are being made to remove obstructions to the ascent of the fish to their breeding grounds. Both natural and artificial obstructions will be removed, and at the moment favorable considerations is being giving to the improving of the ascent for the fish into Meziadena Lake. This while a difficult operation will open up a large swapning areas for the Naas River fish.

Work in Hatcheries

Operations at the fish hatcheries in this part of the province during the past season were very successful, and operations for the coming season are now under way. Inspector Cunningham found that this district was generally in good shape from the protection standpoint. There were few if any violations of the regulations, and Inspector Williams who has been in charge had affairs well in hand.

Mr. Cunningham returns direct to the Fraser River in the fisheries protection cruiser Restless in charge of Captain Moore, starting without delay as by the time he reaches there the sockeye run on the Fraser River will be at its height.

Familiar With B. C.

Inspector Cunningham is no ttranger to British Columbia shough he is the first Chief Inspector of Fisheries appointed. During the past ten or twelve years he has made several lengthy visits of inspection for the Department of Fisheries with which he has been associated for twenty-eight years. He is thus familiar with the fisheries of the province, as well as with the policy of the Department at Ottawa. During Inspector Cunningham's experience with the Fisheries Department, he has been concerned with the settlement of many very important questions connected with the fisheries of the whole Dominion, and the Government hopes and expects that the policy pursued in creating this new office will remove many objections in connection with the administration of the fisheries in this province, and that all concerned will continue to give Inspector Cunningham every support and assistance.

Ins. Williams Commended

In his inspection tour of District Number Two, the northern coasts and Prince Rupert district, the Chief Inspector was accompanied by Inspector Williams of this district "who owing to his thorough knowledge of the district rendered invaluable assistance, remarked Chief Inspector Cunningham this morning. Last night the fisheries cruiser Falcon, Captain Copp, came into port and is returning to the Skeena today with Inspector Williams.

THIRTEEN SALMON FISHERS DIED WITHIN ONE WEEK

Alarming Death-Rate at One Alaska Canning Station —The Run of Salmon is Very Late This Year Up North, and the Catch Will be Light

Seward, Alaska, July 18.—The steamship Dora, form Nushagak and way ports, brings news that thirteen deaths occurred from various causes in one week of June on Chignik Bay, the great salmon-packing centre on the Alaska coast. Gus Norton, boss fisherman of the Columbia River Packers' Association, was killed at Chignik on June 14 by taking carbolic acid by mistake.

Owing to the late arrival of red salmon the pack will be greatly reduced. No red salmon were running at Bristol Bay, Chignik or Carluk when the Dora passed, and only king salmon were being caught. The reds appeared at Cook Inlet several days ago.

At Bristol Bay it was said that the placer ground at Good News Bay was paying more than $20 a day per man.

DELIGHTFUL AFTERNOON

Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary Will Serve Tea and Cakes Tomorrow to All Comers.

Particularly pleasing sounds the plan just announced by the Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, to have a pretty service of afternoon tea in the Knights of Pythias Hall Helgerson Block, on Thursday afternoon (20th inst.) between the hours of three and six p.m. The, merely nominal charge of 25 cents will be made, and the tea, cakes, and cool refreshments will certainly be most appetising. The ladies are all promising to look especially summery and sweet for the occasion and it is a foregone conclusion that a very bright and pleasant company will attend. Everybody interested is cordially invited to be there. The gentlemen are especially invited to drop in and take tea.
