WHEAT WILL POUR THROUGH THIS PORT

The Increased Production of the Prairies Will Force Heavy Shipments By Way of the Pacific In Order to Get Rid of Crops In Reasonable Time---Lessons Taken From This Years' Handling of Wheat Harvest at Winnipeg.

While it is assured that this port will be the greatest fish centre on the Pacific Coast as soon as the Grand Trunk Pacific is linked up with it, there is an assurance that this line of traffic will be supplemented by the inpouring of the wheat of the prairies. In this way there will be a vast trade passing over the rails each way. Trainloads of grain will be hauled here over the easy grades to be shipped by the Panama Canal and by other routes to the markets of the world. In return trainloads of fish in every form will be hauled back from here to the prairies to aid in feeding the vast population that is filling that part of the Dominion up. As a result of these two factors to trade, the harvest of the seas that lie off here and the harvest of the prairies that will be sent here to find an outlet, there is a tremendous business assured for the Grand Trunk Pacific in the line of freights.

It is estimated that Edmonton this year alone could have been the centre for the shipping by rail to water here for 50,000,000 bushels of grain. Winnipeg is being overstocked with grain this year, and it seems altogether unlikely that there will not be a serious congestion there. The crop this year surpasses all previous records. Winnipeg now mounts to the distinction of being the greatest grain centre in the world. Twelve hundred or thirteen hundred cars pass inspection in that city in a day. At the rate of 1,000 bushels to the car, which is about the average, grain is moving through Winnipeg at the rate of a million and a quarter bushels per day. Crop estimates indicate that the total wheat export for this year is something slightly in excess of two hundred million bushels. Were the present rate maintained, were the lakes open all year round, and were the shipments of wheat only, it would take until next April to get the present wheat crop out of the country. When it is taken into consideration that the production of oats and barley is greater than the total production of wheat, and that the lakes close about the middle of December, allowing only two months of shipment at the present rate, it is easily apparent that all the grain can scarcely be shipped much before the crop of 1913 is ready. Made up into a solid train, the wheat shipment out of Winnipeg yesterday would constitute a string of cars ten miles long. Two weeks of it would fill all the elevators in Fort William and Port Arthur and a month of it would fill the elevators of Duluth as well.

But the production of the Canadian prairies is only beginning. The situation is changing each year. Winnipeg will have to divide with other prairie cities the honor of being the gathering point for the grain. Edmonton, it would appear, will become one of the greatest centres from which wheat will be shipped. The natural outlet for the Edmonton wheat will be Prince Rupert by way of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

This will not mean that Winnipeg will be cut out of its grain supplies. It means that of necessity the grain must in part come west to allow it to get out of the country in reasonable time.

Saskatchewan is now the greatest wheat province and the centre meridian of wheat production is moving constantly westward. It has already passed the Manitoba line and the indications are that ten years from now it will have passed Saskatoon and Regina. Central, Eastern and Southern Alberta are, potentially, as good wheat producing countries as anything to be found in either of the other two prairie provinces. The Peace River country has never yet shipped a bushel of wheat, except toward the Arctic zone.

It is more than probable that the 200,000,000 bushels that are now being shipped by way of Winnipeg will in a few years be supplemented by another 200,000,000 bushels shipped the other way by Edmonton and Prince Rupert. With a port open the year round here the amount of grain that can be handled over the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific is enormous.

This will mean elevators in this port and of necessity flour mills, where the raw material may in part be converted into flour to meet the demands of the world.

HATCHERIES FULL

Large Number of Sockeye Eggs Have Been Put Up This Season.

Fraser River Hatching Grounds, as Well as North Rivers, Are Plentifully Supplied.

As a result of the increased precautions exerted this summer, the salmon hatcheries of both Dominion and provincial fisheries departments are exceptionally well stocked for an off year. At the Pemberton Lake hatchery, spawning operations ceased on September 2, and it is reported by Mr. F. H. Cunningham, chief inspector of Dominion Fisheries that 25,000,000 sockeye eggs have been secured. This large collection is in part due to the arrangements made between the fisheries and Indian departments under which a special officer, stationed at Pemberton, supervised the catching of parent fish on their way to spawn. The Indians catch and put up a big supply for winter use but in this case the fish were handed over to the Indians after the eggs had been taken from them.

The hatchery at Lakelse Lake on the Skeena River, as previously announced in these columns, is filled to capacity. The hatcheries at Babine Lake and Stuart Lake are both full. There are over 15,000,000 sockeye eggs in these two hatcheries alone.

Operations are still in progress for supplying the big hatcheries at Harrison Lake, but operations have not yet begun at Cowichan hatchery, which is more for sporting fish.

The provincial hatcheries are also unusually well filled for an off year, and Mr. Babcock, the inspector, agrees that more sockeye have reached their natural spawning grounds than in any other off year for ten years which is another gratifying feature. The indications are that there will be a large run in four years' time, which is when the salmon hatched from this year's supply return to the spawning grounds.

Social Tonight.

Remember the social in Catholic Hall this evening at 8:30. All are welcome. Admission 25 cents.

J. P. Babcock, the fishery expert of the Provincial Fisheries Department, arrived in the city yesterday on his way to the Naas to inspect operations there.

LEMNOS IS TAKEN

Greeks Have Occupied the Island Displacing the Turks Immediately.

Capture Is Regarded as Strategic Move, As It Forms a Valuable Base of Operations.

London, Oct. 23.—The occupation of the Turkish island of Lemnos in the Aegean Sea by the Greeks is now complete, according to advices received by the Greek legation. Strategists regard the island valuable as a base of operations against Turkey.

Butchers Beaten.

At the Empress Alleys last night the Tinners and Plasterers defeated the Butchers. The score was as follows: Butchers, 1839; Tinners and Plasterers, 1921. W. Sherman of the Butchers was high scorer and also high average.

LUMBER FOR SMELTER.

The barge North Bend is discharging at the Grand Trunk Pacific wharf a quantity of lumber for the Lester David Co. before proceeding to Granby with a quantity of building material for the Granby smelter. The lumber is from the Lester David Company's mills at Ocean Falls which is doing so much to meet the demands of this part of the province in the matter of building material.

FOLLOWS HUSBAND

Wife of Greek Reservist In Edmonton Refused to Remain Behind In Canada.

She Accompanies Her Husband to Their Native Land Determined to Serve as Nurse at War.

Deaf to the entreaties of her husband and mother and friends living in Edmonton, declining to be cajoled or bribed to stay in Canada while her husband is fighting for the honor of Greece, Mrs. Violet Leader, 18-year-old wife of Peter Leader, of the barber shop in the Jasper house, entrained with her husband for Calgary and will go to the front as a nurse, says the Edmonton Capital of a few days ago.

Less than a fortnight ago the Greek girl came to the city from Winnipeg to be married. She knew then that within a few days her husband might receive a call to arms, and she had resolved that if the opportunity should occur she would go with him. She was anxious to be on the firing line, to see her countrymen bearing the standard of Greece against the hated Musselmen. Two or three days ago Pete announced that he was going to Greece with the other reservists resident in Edmonton. She had not revealed her ambition to him at that time, and he was taken aback when she declared that she would not stay in Canada.

He wired to her mother in Winnipeg, and made arrangements for his wife to be taken back to the gateway city during the continuance of the war. All arrangements had been made when the girl wife again flatly refused to be separated from her husband. She declared that if he did not take her she would go to New York of her own accord and seek permission from the Greek consul to be taken back to Greece to nurse the wounded. Pete offered to leave her $1,000 if she would return to Winnipeg, but still she would not agree. A few minutes before the Calgary train pulled out last evening she gained her way.

MEXICAN REBELS FAIL IN ATTEMPTS

Vera Cruz Has Fallen Into the Hands of the Federal Army--General Diaz Has Been Taken Prisoner--Formal Notice Has Been Sent to all the States That the City Is Again In the Hands of the Government---Rebels Handicapped.

Mexico City, Oct. 23.—The capture of Vera Cruz by the federals has been confirmed in all quarters. Madero, the president, has sent a message to all the governors of the states informing them that Vera Cruz is in the hands of loyal troops.

General Diaz has been taken prisoner. The general opinion is that the government success will strengthen the administration in the country.

Diaz, according to a story current, was greatly disappointed in the progress of the revolution which he headed because of the lack of arms and ammunition.

He hoped, it is declared, to equip his volunteers from a shipment intended to be unloaded from a steamship at Vera Cruz for the government. When that port fell into Diaz' hands federal officials communicated with the vessel by wireless and ordered it to make full speed for Tampico.

WINTER SCHEDULE.

Schedule Just Issued Shows Number of Important Changes in C.P.R. Coast Steamers.

The Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday afternoon issued its winter schedule for the Pacific Coast. This shows a number of important alterations.

The following are the changes made: On the Alaska route, terminating at Skagway, the Princess Sophia will be taken off and the Princess May will make the trips alone, leaving every two weeks, commencing from Vancouver on November 2. On the Northern British Columbia coast route, and effective from October 30, a steamer will leave Vancouver for Granby Bay and way points every Wednesday at 10 p.m. On the Vancouver-Hardy Bay logging camp route, Rivers Inlet canneries and Ocean Falls, effective from Tuesday, November 6, at 4 p.m., steamers will leave every Tuesday.

GOLD QUARTZ STRIKE.

Theory that Placer Gold Originated in Adjacent Ore Bodies is Being Confirmed.

Mr. L. T. Burwash, formerly government mining engineer, of Dawson, Y. T., reports that the gold quartz strike on the Eldorado Dome Quartz Mining Company's claims is creating a great stir among the old-timers. It has been the opinion of many visiting geologists and mining men that the great placer finds in Eldorado and Bonanza have come from adjacent quartz ledges.

Mr. Burwash has been in the Yukon fifteen years, and has always maintained that the source of the placer gold would be found in the hills. He believes the strike just made will prove a valuable one, and the beginning of a new era of prosperity for Dawson and the Yukon generally.

C. M. Wilson, of Masset, is in the city.

PROVINCE CARRIES OFF HIGHEST PRIZE

Cup Valued at $400 Captured By B.C. for Fruit Display at the Dry Farming Congress Being Held In Lethbridge---Excellent Showing Made By the Department of Agriculture In Competition With all Other Parts of the West.

Lethbridge, Oct. 23.—British Columbia at the dry farming congress held here won the prize for the best display of boxed fruits. The cup that goes with it it is valued at $400.

The officials of the department of agriculture had prepared an exhibit of the fruits and grains of the Province of British Columbia which it was believed would be the equal, if not the superior as it proved to be, of any similar exhibit no matter whence it came.

The fruit exhibit which was shown at New Westminster, and which gained the chief honors, was transferred to Lethbridge, with changes where the change of the fruit made them necessary, and the province also sent a display of vegetables.

The representation of the province at the congress was in the hands of W. J. Brandrith, of the department of agriculture, and the exhibit gained high praise from those who saw it. The exhibit will be a good advertisement for British Columbia, as the congress is attended by delegates from practically every one of the Central and Western States.

Carpenters Met.

The carpenters' union held a smoker in their hall last night. A pleasant time passed with cards and songs.

Charge of Supplying.

An arrest was made last night of a man who will have to answer a charge of supplying liquor to Indians. The Indian was held in jail yesterday because he was unable to tell where he got the liquor.

He identifies the man arrested last night as the guilty one.

Given a Month.

In the police court yesterday J. Duggan, who has been out on suspended sentence for some time, was brought before Magistrate Carss on a charge of vagrancy. He was sentenced to one month in jail as a reminder that he was to act in a becoming manner.

A Mercurial People.

It is impossible to estimate what effect the attempted assassination of Col. Roosevelt may have on the result of the presidential elections, says the Province. The Americans are a mercurial people, and a sympathetic wave may completely change the political situation. Questions of tariff, trusts and foreign policy are liable to be entirely submerged when a sensational incident obliterates the issues of the campaign.

A Canadian Fleet.

The thing Britain wants—and she wants it more than she needs it—is for Canada to lay hold and take a hand in the building of floating threats that will help to keep the world in order. What Canada need do is to increase the moral hazard of any nation tempted to show hostility to the British Empire. The best way to do this, is, we think, to begin now the gradual production of a fleet of our own—which will grow to be not only a navy in our own waters, but a fleet in the navy of the Empire in the waters of the world.—Toronto Star.

M. R. Jamieson, of Stewart, who has been in the Prince Rupert General Hospital undergoing treatment for a week, is able to be about again.

J. H. Kugler, of Vancouver, so well known in Prince Rupert owing to the unbounding faith he has in this city and New British Columbia, arrived by the Prince Rupert yesterday. He has gone to Hazelton on business.

TO GO ON BENCH

F. W. G. Haultain Leader of Opposition In Saskatchewan to Leave Politics.

He Is to Be Made Chief Justice of the Province by the Government at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—It is understood here that the elevation of F. W. G. Haultain to be chief justice of Saskatchewan has been practically decided upon by the government. All that is now necessary is that the necessary order-in-council be passed, which will be done in the course of a day or two.

The appointment will necessitate the selection of a new leader for the Conservative opposition in the legislature of Saskatchewan.

TO HOLD COURT.

Judge Young Has Gone to Hazelton to Dispose of Judicial Business.

Judge Young left yesterday by train for Hazelton, where he will hold court. There accompanied him on the train several legal gentlemen from here who have business before the sitting there.

W. E. Fisher, crown prosecutor, was among the number. Fred Peters, K.C., A. Carss, L. W. Patmore and I. W. Linnell.

WAS GOOD FOR WEST.

What Defeat of Reciprocity Has Done for a Saskatchewan City.

While Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his little bodyguard are preaching reciprocity in the east, Western Canada is enjoying the benefits directly attributable to the defeat of reciprocity. Take the case of the city of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. Reciprocity would have taken the wheat from Western Canada down into the United States to be ground into flour in the mills of Minneapolis and elsewhere. The defeat of reciprocity has had an exactly opposite effect, says the Hedley Gazette. American millers are building in Western Canada. Minneapolis milling interests have gone to Moose Jaw.

Reciprocity would have sent Canadian grain across the border over American railways to American elevators. The defeat of reciprocity has assured extensive terminal elevator facilities to the city of Moose Jaw. It has brought, or is bringing, a large American automobile and tractor industry to Moose Jaw. It has greatly developed a meat packing plant in Moose Jaw. What is true of Moose Jaw is generally true of the cities and towns of Canada's great and growing west.

GET ON VOTERS' LISTS.

Owing to the fact that the municipal act affects this city in a peculiar way as regards the voters' list it is essential that everyone should take an interest in the matter and see that he is able to vote. There are many that voted as property owners in former years that will not be able to so vote this year. Everyone who has not had his deeds secured to the property that he holds and in addition had the deeds registered in the government office should see that he gets his vote in some other way, either as a householder or as a licenseholder. If there is not a deep personal interest taken in this matter there are going to be a lot of persons who are entitled to vote who will fail to get it at the next election.

It is a duty that every citizen owes to the place to see that he is able to get a vote if entitled to it. There should be no delay, for the time for registering as householder is short, being confined to this month only. Anyone who is in doubt about the matter should seek advice and not allow the time to go by without registering. If there is any doubt about your ability to vote as a property owner take the precaution of paying the poll tax and getting on the list as a householder. The interests of the city demands that there should be a good vote ready to be polled at the next election, so that men may be selected who will be able to show that they have at least ordinary ability in the administration so that the loss of the past twelve months may be in part redeemed.

INCOMING POPULATION.

During the last six months immigrants have been coming into Canada at the average rate of 1500 a day, or 45,000 per month. The census of 1911 establishes an electoral unit of 30,800. That is to say, members of parliament after the next redistribution will represent that number of people, says the News-Advertiser. Thus we have a constituency of new citizens arriving in Canada every twenty days. The immigrants of the last six months call for nine additional members to represent them. They will not get this representation until after the next enumeration, which in the West ought to be in five years or less.

High-priced Potatoes.

Tasmania potato growers have done well this season. Prices opened at about $35 per ton and have steadily increased until midsummer. At Devonport $65.50 was paid, and $62 at Ulverstone and Burnie. Prices are rising higher daily.

RE VOTERS' LIST.

I am instructed by the City Council to publish the following notice with regard to voting at the next Municipal election:

The persons who will be inserted on the voters' lists are as follows:

1. Owners of real estate. This means any person who has a deed of land registered in the Land Registry Office or an agreement for purchase of land registered in the Registry Office.

Many persons have land under agreement from the Grand Trunk or the Government whose title is not registered in the Land Registry Office, and their right to vote is doubtful. Therefore, voters so situated are advised if possible to register either as Householder or Licence holder.

2. Any person holding a trade licence may vote, but before doing so, he must, in October, make a declaration showing his right to vote in Form 1. These forms can be obtained at the City Clerk's office. The declaration must be filed with the City Clerk within forty-eight hours after it is made.

3. Any householder can vote. A householder means a person who has resided in Prince Rupert from the 1st of January, 1912, and who occupies a dwelling, tenement, hotel or boarding house, or any portion of a dwelling house, tenement, hotel or boarding house. He must also pay all rates, taxes or assessments which are not chargeable on land, and which rates, taxes and assessments so paid amount to not less than $2.00. Water rates and dog licences do not count. Practically the only tax that can be paid is the road tax, $2.00, and any person who being a householder as above described has already paid his road tax must also make a declaration before he can be placed on the Voters' List.

All voters must be 21 years of age and British subjects.

ERNEST A. WOODS,
12,13,20,22,27 City Clerk.

ET VIOLENTI.

("Seventy Greeks start for home. Wives and children today bade Godspeed to fighting men."—Vancouver Daily Province, Oct. 19, 1912.)

Up on the hilltops and over the plain,
The tameless bugles blow;
Swathed in soft sunshine, or lashed by the rain,
Forward, the troops they go.
Some would have stayed, for home joys are sweet,
Some there were, longed for rest!
Little thou knowest the thoughts that beat
And surge in a patriot's breast.

Home—and the call of the wild unheard!
Rest—and the glorious game
Left for . . . Go to! When the soul hath stirred
At the sound of His august name
Who ruleth this half-won race of earth,
For His Own high ends unguessed,
And biddeth them out and prove their worth,
What recketh a man of rest!

Celestial music, the bugle call;
"Forward!" a voice divine.
It holdeth the patriot's heart in thrall,
It burneth his brain like wine.
Dead, the soft home-song evermore,
And, till those rhythms cease,
Danger his safety, need his store
And strife his only peace.

Knoweth he not what his end shall be,
Careth he not at all;
Only he followeth passionately
The voice and the bugle call:
Gladdened with vision of golden grain,
Blinded by sweeping snows,
Swathed in soft sunshine, lashed by the rain,
On, on, and on he goes.

SPORTS

THE RING.

A new claimant has appeared for Joe Bayley's title as the Canadian lightweight champion. Kid Alberts, who fought Packy McFarland to a ten-round draw in Cleveland recently, is the individual who has taken the honors now carried by Victoria's hard-hitting lightweight. Just how A'berts can get up enough nerve to come along and openly claim a title for which he has battled several times and lost is hard to understand. Alberts was one of the fighters that Tommy Ryan staged in Toronto last winter, before the lid was dropped upon fistic arguments in the Queen City. He won a couple of battles, but against Billy Allen, for the Canadian title and Flanagan belt, he was clearly outpointed by the clever Ottawa boxer.

Alberts has been fighting in Cleveland and Windsor for the past year, but has never given much promise. He is a hard hitter, but his boxing is a drawback which absolutely nullifies his championship aspirations. That Bayley could beat him handily is a foregone conclussion, and that such a second rater should pose as Canadian champion is but an instance of what steps the unscrupulous eastern fight managers will take to secure a few matches for their proteges. Alberts is nothing more than a fair trial horse for the good boys, but the claim that his manager has put in for the Canadian lightweight championship is of the thinnest variety, with absolutely no foundation.

AT CALGARY.

Over two hundred saw Dick Hyland work out the other day at Calgary, and first betting for the Thanksgiving bout took place, the Hyland backers giving odds of five to four. Hyland was barely shaded by Brown, though the Minnesotan weighed 140 ringside, six or seven pounds more than Hyland.

Bayley has lots of friends here, and the opinion is general that the bout will be very even. Better than the Brown-Hyland affair, and to date the best bout ever staged in Western Canada. Bayley's training quarters have been arranged at the Central Firehall. The ticket sale has opened and house will be packed. Carpenters have started roofing the arena and a heating plant is being installed.

THE LONDON TIMES

Interesting Facts Concerning the History of the Great English Paper.

The Connection of the Walter Family With the Journal that Has Earned Such a High Place.

A few days ago the London Times celebrated its forty-thousandth issue by a special edition dealing particularly with the printing and mechanical improvements of the period covered by the lifetime of this great newspaper, says the Mail and Empire. It is really a historical number, and will be treasured in every library whose owner takes the slightest interest in printing. There are special articles by authorities on the various branches of the arts that are called upon to contribute to the issue of a great newspaper, and among the many admirable contributions it is difficult to select the one of most interest to the general public. Choice is made, however, of the sketch of John Walter, the man who founded the London Times, and thus established one of the greatest political and social influences of the nineteenth century. Walter died before he knew what the Times was to become. Its real maker in a literary sense was his second son, John, but of the first John we learn enough to know that his brilliant son must have inherited some of his most prominent traits, and in studying the father we learn about the son, who was one of the greatest editors, if not the greatest, produced in the earlier decades of modern journalism.

Nearly every founder of a newspaper or magazine is a literary man who desires to control a vehicle for the expression of his own ideas, or a politician who seeks through the press to influence public opinion. From neither of these sources was the Times derived. It came as a result of bankruptcy proceedings brought on by the American war of independence, and produced as a means to an end. John Walter the First had no idea of founding a great newspaper. He was interested in a particular process of printing, and buffeted on every hand, he sought to prove by applying his method to a daily newspaper that it had advantages over the methods then in use. Nor was he a printer, even, although it became necessary for him to study the craft late in life, and he did, in fact, become an authority, though to this day it is a question whether the method he advocated had any particular advantages over the old style which he so vigorously assailed.

Walter was a coal buyer on a large scale, who branched out into the underwriting business, and suffered great losses through the war with the United States. Thus it has been said that had it not been for the American revolution there would have been no Times. Lord North was a friend of Walter, and had he not been retired from office the probability is that he would have given his friend a civil service position, and the world would have never seen the Daily Universal Register, as the Times was first called. Falling upon evil days, however, Walter became acquainted with a printer named Johnson, who had discovered or adapted a new system of printing. This he called logography. Briefly described it consisted of a system whereby the letters of the type were cast in complete words or syllables instead of separately. Johnson argued that a typesetter who wanted to set up the word "altogether" would have to make ten trips to his case under the process then in use, there being ten letters in the word, whereas under his system he would pick up the complete word already cast, and thus save nine-tenths of the time. On the whole he figured that his process would be carried on in one-sixth of the time required by the old method.

The chief objection to the process was that as there are only 26 letters and ten figures in the alphabet, the printers who used the old system could have all their type in comparatively few cases before them, whereas there are thousands of words; and opponents of the idea said that the time a printer would save by finding a word already set up for him would be lost in hunting for the word. After a good deal of labor Johnson had reduced the 90 000 words in the English language to some 5,000 by eliminating obsolete and unusual words, and by further disentegrating the words into syllables, roots, prefixes and terminations Walter was able to arrange all his type in four cases each six and a half feet by four and a half. He soon bought out Johnson's interest in the business, and sought to interest influential men in his venture. Among others he secured the approbation of Benjamin Franklin, himself a practical printer, and a number of other prominent men. Walter realized that if he could get the patronage of the king all would be well.

This he attempted to do, but he failed, and it appears that rival printers had something to do with the cold reception he obtained from George. It is also hinted that the fact that he numbered Franklin as one of his patrons had something to do with his failure. At any rate he failed, and in the face of the combined opposition from the leading printers of the day Walter sought to demonstrate the value of his method by applying it to the printing of a daily newspaper. Thus was founded the Daily Universal Register, underneath whose title were the words "Printed logographically." The first issue was on January 1, 1785, but in three years the cambrous title was abandoned, and the matchless mono-syllabic name of The Times substituted. In a few years more reference to the method of printing was abandoned, and presently it was the newspaper rather than the system that held general attention. Some eighty years later the logographic process was revived, but oddly enough it was opposed nowhere more stoutly than in the Times, unmindful of its own origin. The modern invention of the linotype method of printing has made logography obsolete, whatever its merits may once have been, and only students of printing are aware that such a method was at one time in use.

SHOT HIS FIRST DEER.

Principal Hunter of the Public School Staff Bagged One on Mount Morse.

On Saturday morning last Mr. Hunter, head master of the public school, formed one of a party of four who went over on Morse Mountain to do some deer stalking. It was a perfect day for hunting as the day broke with a clear sky after the heavy night's frost. The party of four made the ascent of the mountain at four different points, the snow-line on Mount Morse being their objective, should no deer be met lower down.

It was left to Mr. Hunter to be the lucky one of the party. About noon, and when 400 yards from the top of the mountain, he came to a small glade, the entrance to which showed fresh marks of deer. He had not long to wait until a fine stag entered this glade from the farther end, and about 40 yards distant. He raised his rifle, fired, and the stag tottered, ran a short distance and fell.

This was Mr. Hunter's first attempt at deer stalking, and, needless to say, he is very pleased with his success.

The work of carrying the stag down the mountain was a laborious undertaking, but by following the bed of the creek Mr. Hunter succeeded in reaching the base at five o'clock. The outing was an agreeable one, and the same party hope to have even a more successful day before the season closes.

ERRORS IN BASEBALL.

There are two kinds of errors in baseball, the mental and the mechanical, says Sanborn in the Chicago Tribune. The former often passes unobserved by the average spectator or the blame is put upon the wrong man. The latter never is overlooked by the public. Among players and managers the mechanical error passes unrebuked, while the mental blunder, if it results advantageously to the team, always brings at least mild censure for the offender if the manager is wise.

The player who thinks out a play but makes a mechanical error in attempting to execute it, usually draws a compliment from his boss and team mates. He is comforted with "That was good stuff and tough luck." The player who awry without having it cost his team anything is sure to be told all about it when he gets his back to the bench and is informed as to the thickness of the bone under his scalp which increases in thickness as each player takes his turn in the serio-comic kidding match—serious because an effort is being made to impress the mistake on the player's mind so thoroughly that he will not make it again with perhaps disastrous results, comic because the criticism usually is tempered with jocose language and tone.

In one game recently there occurred four plays, any one of which was responsible for the defeat of the Chicago White Sox. Two of them were mechanical and two were mental. Easterly and Kuhn, who shared the catching, pulled the mechanical misplays, and Collins, at first, made the mental slips. Although Kuhn's error terminated the game by letting in the winning run in the tenth inning and Easterly lost a chance would have prevented any tenth inning at all, they were held practically blameless for the defeat, which was laid upon the shoulders of John Collins by both manager and teammates, but not by the public.

A Scotchman who posed as a prohibitionist was surprised by a friend drinking a bottle of wine. "I thought you were a teetotaller," said the friend. And the other retorted: "I am, but not a bigoted one."

GRANBY BAY

The Coming Smelter City of the North

Truly, the future of Granby Bay is bright. The absolute permanancy is one of the most gratifying features—as the supply of copper ores in Northern British Columbia is practically inexhaustible.

Only a few choice lots are being offered for sale in the Town of Granby Bay, and there is not much doubt that they will be sold quickly.

Grasp the fact that ore can be produced at Granby Bay much cheaper than in places where large profits are now being made in mining and smelting. Then you can appreciate what an opportunity confronts you in the chance to buy property in such a place at first prices. There is no earthly reason why Granby Bay will not be the big important mining town of British Columbia—and that means a rapid raise in property values.

Property is cheap in Granby Bay now. Get our prices and you will get a lot. For prices, terms and further information, address
