Servians Retake Belgrade And Have Turned The Tide

London, Dec. 14.—The Servians, after a fierce battle, have reoccupied Belgrade, according to a Nish dispatch.

The Austrians admit a defeat at the hands of the Servians. In an official despatch the Austrians say: In our offensive movement directed in a south-easterly direction from the River Drina we encountered southeast of Valjevo greatly superior forces of the enemy. Our advance was not merely stopped but we were compelled also to make a more extended retirement.

Our troops which have for many weeks fought obstinately and brilliantly suffered many losses.

CHOICE MADE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

After Long Discussion Last Night Jas. Black Was Selected As Chief With R. Gendall And G. Waddell As Assistants --- A Ballot Was Taken

At the Council meeting last night the matter of the selection of engineers for the electric plant at Shawatlans again came up. The superintendent of light reported that he had placed James Black as engineer in charge. He had also put as assistants R. Gendall and G. Waddell. Mr. Dryer had been secured temporarily as an operator until the permanent governor arrived. The report further recommended that four men be employed if the best work was to be done. There was also submitted the report on the applications of engineers made by Mr. Duncan. The steam plant, it was reported, was in charge of A. Sinclair, with Valentine and Gordon as second and third engineers.

A discussion at once followed upon the general subject.

Ald. Dybhavn moved that the report be adopted.

Ald. Kerr seconded this motion.

Ald. Morrissey said that this report was not asked for. He thought this was taking steps that were not warranted.

Ald. Montgomery said the Council had authorized the superintendent to start up. He reported whom he had to put in charge. He contended that if Mr. Duncan was to be held responsible for the work it was only right he should name those in charge.

Ald. Maitland contended that the people on the street said the Council had pets. What they wanted in this instance was a hydro-electric man. He wanted to know what these applications were. He wanted these applications read.

The mayor explained the reason why he took part in having the applications received.

He had wired to Mr. Ross in Seattle for information in order to see if the local engineers could be employed. He had, in view of the reply of Mr. Ross, come to the conclusion that the local men were qualified. He also felt now that Mr. Duncan was right in contending that four men should be employed. The only objection he had to Mr. Duncan's report was in so far as he said he had installed the staff. He would have preferred to have had the Council pass on it.

Ald. Maitland wanted a vote by the Council on applicants.

Ald. McClymont felt like endorsing the report of the engineer as a competent man. On the other hand there was much to be said for those who favored taking a vote after they had advertised for applications. If

HAYSPORT WANTS PRICE FOR POWER AT THAT POINT

The Question Will Be Looked Into by the Solicitor and Superintendent.

The Skeena River Syndicate has written the mayor relative to getting a supply of electricity for the cold storage plant at Haysport. This was read at the Council last night.

Ald. Montgomery suggested that as this might require a special franchise, being outside the city, it should be referred to the city solicitor.

Ald. Morrissey thought the matter was one in which the Haysport people should be prepared to take the supply at the city gates and transmit the power itself.

It was referred to the city solicitor and the light superintendent.

Propose Water On General Levy

At the Council meeting last night Ald. Dybhavn announced that the Board of Works would likely bring in at the next meeting a bylaw to provide that the water rates of the city be paid out of a general levy the same as the sewerage was done. It was pointed out by others that this matter was not in shape yet. There were other aspects that had to be taken up.

Tokio, Dec. 14.—It is reported that the German armored merchantman Oxford has been captured by the British in the Indian Ocean. The German converted cruiser Cormorant has entered the harbor of Guan in the Ladrone Archipelago.

STEALING CASE IS STILL UNDECIDED

THE COUNTY COURT WILL LIKELY HAVE THE DISPUTE BEFORE IT.

Mr. Justice Clement Allows Money to Be Retained Until Suit Is Entered.

The County Court is likely to have the Comox Avenue stealing case to dispose of. This was decided in the Supreme Court yesterday morning, when Mr. Justice Clement heard an application from L. W. Patmore representing Lily Harris, who had been acquitted of the charge of stealing last Saturday.

Mr. Patmore took objection to the application that the money be retained in court until a civil action should be disposed of. He contended that this matter was not properly before the court. He had not been served with any notice in the matter.

Mr. Justice Clement said he was not going to give the money over. He felt very strongly on the matter of the decision.

Mr. Patmore argued that the woman had been acquitted in two trials.

After further discussion His Lordship said that in a criminal case the situation was different to what it was in other cases. The jury might have been unable to decide and agreed to give the accused the benefit of the doubt.

Mr. Patmore reminded His Lordship of how he charged the jury.

His Lordship said, "I know; but I also mentioned the matter of reasonable doubt."

After further debate as to the right practice His Lordship agreed that he would not tie up the money unless security for costs was put up in view of the verdict. Ordinarily the court put the money back after acquittal in a criminal court to where it was before.

A. M. Manson, counsel for Daisy Lee, said it was quite evident now that the jury went astray. The jury apparently had been guided by the bank book to some extent, which book should not have been before them.

His Lordship said that this phase was not before him. He thought that if the woman could not put up the security for the costs they had better drop it.

He suggested that he direct that the money remain in court for one week. If at the end of that time the case had been transferred to the County Court and $150 be put up for costs the case should be disposed of

NEW LAUNDRY TO BE OPENED HERE

CITY COUNCIL GIVES PERMISSION TO OPENING ONE IN BUCKLEY BLOCK.

The Question of the Regulation Was Discussed at Some Length.

A letter relative to obtaining power from the city for a laundry in the Buckley Block was read at the Council last night from Messrs. A. McDonald and S. Holmquist. It was pointed out in the letter that there were objections in the matter of the city bylaw which worked hardships in various ways.

Ald. Morrissey said that this was something that should be encouraged. These men were both practical men in that line. He did not see why hardship should be put in the way of these people.

Ald. Montgomery seconded the motion.

Ald. Kerr said there were Chinese laundries in the city that had not complied with the bylaw. He could not see why these men should not be encouraged.

Ald. McClymont felt that there was a good deal of force in what was said. They should not ride roughshod over the reports of the sanitary inspector and the health inspector. He thought they should give a little attention to this and investigate.

Ald. Dybhavn pointed out that no laundries could be operated in the laundry block set aside on Ninth Avenue.

Ald. Morrissey said Dr. Cade did not offer any serious objection.

Ald. McClymont said in view of this he would withdraw his opposition.

The motion carried.

G.T.P. Water Supply.

The water committee reported last night to the City Council that it endorsed the proposition made by the city engineer that negotiations should be entered into with the G. T.P. looking to arriving at a rate to be paid by the company for its water supply by putting it on a meter. It was estimated that a quarter of a million gallons was used by the G.T. P. The city engineer was authorized to enter into negotiations.

Lights Out and On.

Fred Chandler complained in a letter to the Council last night of the street lights being out on Ninth Avenue for continued lengths of time. Ald. Morrissey suggested that some lights were on all day. Ald. Montgomery said this was due to private persons not turning off the switches as agreed to. This would be righted with the receiving of the arc lamps.

Allies Making Ground In Belgium And In Alsace

Paris, Dec. 14.—An official statement says that in Belgium there have been several attacks by the French troops which resulted in progress being made along the Ypres canal to the west of Hollebeck.

There have been several violent counter attacks, all of which have been repulsed by our troops.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON RITCHIE SEWER

The City Will Take Over the Undertaking At A Valuation Of $308--- Bylaw Will Be Introduced To Deal With The Subject At Later Date

The Ritchie sewer question has been settled amicably. The sewer will be taken over by the city at a cost of $308. A bylaw will be introduced later to cover this and the sewer where it passes over city property will be owned by the corporation.

This was the agreement reached at a conference between the committee of the Council which met with J. Fred Ritchie and David H. Hays last Friday. The city engineer fixed the value at $308, which was agreeable to the other side.

The City Council last night endorsed the report and the bylaw will be brought in.

A CIVIL ACTION OVER HOTEL EXTRAS

HAZELTON CASE IS BEING TRIED IN THE SUPREME COURT HERE.

Evidence Has Been Heard All Day Before Mr. Justice Clement.

In the Supreme Court the case of Crum vs. McDonnell is being heard by Mr. Justice Clement. This is a civil action connected with the construction of the hotel operated by the plaintiff in New Hazelton. The case arises out of the contract for the building. The contract was originally entered into by Mr. McKinnon. It was, however, taken over later by Mr. McDonnell. The dispute has to do with extras in large part, the defendant claiming that the details of these are lacking, contrary to his demands. The case is rendered more complicated by the fact that the death occurred of Mr. Stephenson of the contracting firm while the work was in progress. Mr. Stephenson, in fact, had more to do with the contract than his partner, Mr. Crum it would appear from the evidence. The case is still in progress. W. E. Fisher appears for the plaintiff and L. W. Patmore for the defendant.

Mr. Fisher in outlining the case said the claim was for $6,280 preferred against the defendant for the erection of an hotel at New Hazelton. McKinnon had come on April 3 and got rough specifications for the building, which was to be a hotel, 72 feet by 92 feet. A large building had to be planned to comply with the Act. The work had been proceeding under the plans, the price being $19,900. McKinnon then after making certain payments got out the matter and induced R. J. McDonnell to take it over. McDonnell became responsible and a new contract was made. He agreed to pay for the building and for the extras.

The first witness called was Mr. Crum. He testified to his knowledge of the contract. He contended that the contract had been taken over by McDonnell and carried out. The defendant had not taken exception to the work as it progressed. Extras were made from time to time at his suggestion.

A. E. Player, the bookkeeper for the plaintiff, gave evidence to having asked for the remainder of the Road To Seal Cove For Post Office

The City Council will recommend to the next council that the roadway across G.T.P. property be built out of general revenues. Members of the Council had been consulted by Assistant Inspector Haynes of the Postoffice Department. Mr. Haynes said that it was impossible to establish a sub-postoffice at Seal Cove without a road. The sub-postoffice is a concession that was obtained some considerable time ago for Seal Cove by H. S. Clements, M.P. for the district, but with no road for taking the mails over it has not been made operative.

A CIVIL ACTION

money due. He testified that no complaint of any account was raised.

W. J. Edgar, who had been foreman at the last, gave evidence.

R. J. McDonnell told of taking over the contract for the building from Mr. McKinnon. Mr. Stephenson and Mr. McKinnon met with witness in the latter's room. It was figured out that $3,500, $4,500 and $2,500 had been paid by McKinnon, making $10,500. It was understood that if witness wanted time for the last $3,500 he should be allowed a year to pay it. The extras were to be paid for as they went along. A payment of $4,000 was made the next day by agreement.

Witness denied that Mr. Crum had ever asked him for money. For the last three payments made to Mr. Player, the bookkeeper, witness made complaints. Witness had finally said he would not pay another cent until the disputes as to the building between the contractors and Mr. McKinnon were settled.

Asked as to his financial position and as to whether he were not able to pay the bill as suggested, witness said he had $4,000 in the bank in the north and $6,000 in Victoria.

Mr. Fisher said it was not there when they garnisheed.

Witness said he took good care it was not there.

Cross-examined by Mr. Fisher, witness said he did not buy out Mr. McKinnon. He believed McKinnon got the lots for nothing.

J. E. Lindquist, who had been foreman for Stephenson & Crum at the start, testified to drawing up the plans. He contended that spruce was substituted for fir in some instances. Some of the rustic was full of knot holes. Some of the joists were spliced where there were not bearings.

His Lordship asked how he as foreman came to pass this.

Witness said that was all that was given him.

His Lordship during the progress of the examination contended that there were a lot of things represented as being left undone that should have been attenedd to at the time. Mr. McKinnon was there to look after it for Mr. McDonnell.

Witness contended that the building was worth $4,000 less than if constructed as designed.

Cross-examined by Mr. Fisher, witness said he was not dismissed. Another man was put in his place. He admitted that the spruce pillars were covered.

Asked if he thought Mr. Crum was tricky, witness said he had not formed an opinion.

Witness admitted that there was no store-room provided for and this should be an extra, although he complained the wainscotting should have been of fir.

The witness was still on the stand when court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

CHOICE MADE.

the vote were taken he could only be guided by the report of the superintendent.

Ald. Morrissey felt this had got down to a farce. The city had advertised for men and before the applications were opened they had decided who were to have the positions. This was a waste of money.

The mayor said he would plead guilty to being one of the main ones in advertising. He did so because there seemed to be a disposition to confine these positions to certain ones in the city. He did not know then whether they were competent.

Ald. Maitland waxed warm over the situation with respect to employing men selected. He wanted to know if the man in charge could fix the machinery if anything went wrong.

Mr. Duncan said he could and if he could not he would do it himself.

Ald. Basso-Bert thought the applications being in they should pass on them.

Mr. Duncan said he had selected these men from those whose applications were in. Mr. Duncan further explained that while he had put these men in charge it was on the understanding that the city approved of it if they were to be continued in office.

It was decided to have all the applications read. They were as follows: Norman Short, E. M. Valentine, J. Black, B. A. Chisholm, A. R. Gordon, A. C. Sinclair, G. Waddell George Klower, John Creen, and John Gendall.

Ald. Maitland pointed out that five of these men were hydro-electric engineers just such as were required there.

Ald. Morrissey proposed to let the question of salaries stand over for a week. He said that from what he understood the City Hall staff would look upon as reasonable a reduction in salary at this time.

"Nothing doing," interjected the city clerk.

The mayor said that he thought it might be wise to lay the salary over until next week.

Ald. Montgomery did not approve of the City Council in its dying days starting in on reductions.

The mayor did not approve of reducing salaries. He did not approve of any increases.

Ald. McClymont thought that perhaps in view of the fact that there was a free house, the salaries might be reduced a little. He proposed $125 for the chief and $110 for the assistants.

Ald. Montgomery contended that the placing of a person out there with a free house was no asset. It was a disadvantage.

Ald. Maitland believed the necessaries of life should be reduced first before wages came down.

The motion of Ald. McClymont as to salaries was lost and the motion carried that the pay be $150 and $125 a month.

A ballot was taken, when it was found that the following had been the result, counting the first name as being a vote for chief where not mentioned: Chief, Black 4, Chisholm 2, Gendall 1, and Waddell 1; for operator, Waddell 5, Gendall 3, Gordon 3, Short 2, Sinclair 2, and Klower 1.

It was decided that Black had been selected for chief and Waddell for operator, and that a vote should be taken for second operator between Gendall and Gordon. The vote resulted in Gendall 5 and Gordon 3, when Gendall was declared elected.

How The Japanese View Present War

Lessons Read To The Occidentals By The Orient---Germany's Position Is Bitterly Attacked By The Writer

The Japanese Magazine sent to the Young Men's Christian Association of this city by Mr. H. S. Sneyd, the local representative in the Orient, contains in the November issue a most interesting article on the European war by Count Okuma, the Premier of Japan. The article is worthy of careful perusal, both because of its own worth and the eminence of the writer, says the Edmonton Journal. He begins:

"As one who has been a life-long friend of peace, I profoundly deplore the unwelcome fact that mankind somehow seems unable as yet to avoid war. But war, it seems to me, is always due to an unevenness of advancement in the progress of civilization. I have often said, and I now repeat it, that civilization, like water, must find its level; and where its force is obstructed, there will be violence and bloodshed. War is a result of the pressure offered in resistance to the growth of civilization. Anything that tends to destroy a balance of power among nations will lead to disturbance.

"The root of the present trouble in Europe, I am inclined to think, lies in the weakness of the Balkan Peninsula. Like China, it is a seething crater in the world's diplomacy. The unequal civilizations of that peninsula are in constant clash and antagonism. Disruption would long ago have come but for the unnatural pressure of the great European powers. The small nations of the Balkan Peninsula are either constantly clamoring about their own rights, or disputing with the larger nations who press them. Consequently from conditions apparently insignificant in themselves half the world can be set on fire and plunged into distress and decimation. Europe is today a hell of exploding shells and poisonous powder fumes, all emanating from a quarrel between little Servia and Austria."

In regard to England, Count Okuma says:

"Britain exerted herself mightily in the cause of peace, trying to bring about an understanding without bloodshed, but the trend of events was against her, and she was obliged to face the conflict against her will. As was seen from the speech of the British foreign minister, Sir Edward Grey, Germany violated the neutrality of Belgium and of the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg, both of which Great Britain had solemnly guaranteed, since the possession of such countries by a sinister power would be a menace to the independence of Britain. As the result, therefore, of great provocation Great Britain was forced to rise to the situation and defend her honor and position by arms."

Coming home to Japan, the premier concludes his able and illuminating article, and voices as follows a stand for national honor which Germany has not learned, though imperiously and unctiously reflecting on Britain for being in alliance with a heathen and pagan nation. Listen to this you German professors and theologians who have issued your manifesto in defence of Germany:

"Japan must maintain the peace of the Far East at all costs; and as Germany has begun to capture and interfere with shipping in these waters our duty is plain. Such is the meaning of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance; it was concluded for just such an emergency as this. We owe it to ourselves and to our ally to take the course we are adopting. Japan has no desire to resort to arms without undoubted necessity. But we must do our duty and sustain peace. We are the on'y people at this moment who can guarantee peace in the Far East. How great then is the mission of Japan!

"It will be our one ambition at this time to show the west what it is slow to believe, that we can work harmoniously with great occidental powers to support and protect the highest ideals of civilization, even to the extent of dying for them. Not only in the Far East but anywhere else that may be necessary, Japan is ready to lay down her life for the principles that the foremost nations will die for. It is to be in line with these nations that she is at this time opposing and fighting what she believes to be opposed to these principles. She entered the alliance with Great Britain to stand for and die for what Anglo-Saxons are everywhere ready to defend even unto death. It is Japan's aim and ambition to participate in all world-movements toward noble diplomacy, international relations and the principle of equal opportunity and peace, and to prevent by the proper means the outbreak or continuance of bloodshed between nations. Japan's relation to the present conflict is as a defender of the things that make for higher civilization and a more permanent peace."

The following editorial is from the same issue:

"The European war now blotting out western civilization with human blood is doubtless the greatest calamity that has befallen the world since man arose above the beast, if he really has done so. It will take at least fifty years to recover from the moral and material decimation wrought by the blundering hate of man; and it is a question whether complete recovery is possible then. It will depend on whether the future mothers of Europe will be able to produce wiser children than are now being killed. If the war strike a fatal blow at despotism and militarism it will, perhaps, not have been wholly in vain; for we have to face the fact that a few individuals have been able to lay the whole of Europe in moral and material ruin. It shows us the immense responsibility of the educator, especially those entrusted with the education of the representatives of the people in Europe. The rulers and representatives of the people have plunged them into this holocaust of blood without their will or consent. The Emperor of Austria set the blaze, the Kaiser fanned the flame, and no efforts of other powers could stay the conflagration. On a few individuals lies the burden of the greatest crime ever committed against man. Yet the people cannot rid themselves of the responsibility of having permitted a system of education calculated to inspire officialdom with a false ideal of national progress. Education that makes possible the outbreak and reign of brute force and savagery over a whole continent is hopelessly retrograde. A nation that can produce nothing more powerful than war lords is a doomed nation. The way of progress can never be through the valley of blood. Perhaps this war will see an end of the war lords. It will prove beyond all doubt to mankind that millions of human lives cannot be safely entrusted to a few men. One fool can destroy in a brief space the good that it has taken millions of honest men centuries to complete. It is only common sense that the few should not be given the opportunity thus to endanger the many. The law of life is that the few should sacrifice themselves for the sake of the many. Europe has reversed the law of life. In trying thus to save her soul she will lose it. A few individuals in Europe have deliberately demolished a thousand years of civilization and sent unnumbered thousands of their fellows to agonizing death. What a fearful price to pay for a few years of gay and devil-may-care materialism! Drive the divine out of life and it must fester and decay. Nietzsche sneered at the slave morality into which Germany had turned Christi-

Prince Rupert, B.C., April 9, 1914.

MR. HARRY HANSON,

"The Reliable Plumber," Prince Rupert, B.C.:

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in certifying to the excellent hot water and heating system that you installed in our parsonage and that after six months of operation through the winter months it has given every satisfaction.

The system heats a thirty-gallon tank of water to boiling temperature in one hour after the fire has been started; it in no way interferes with the oven for baking purposes. In addition to this the wall radiator which you placed in dining room and connected with the range boiler has given us splendid satisfaction, supplying us with ample heating throughou the winter, saving us the cost of a stove and fuel. I most heartily testify to the satisfaction and efficiency of your system and gladly recommend it.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) (REV.) J. F. DIMMICK.

Rexall TRADE MARK

The Rexall Stores of Canada

CONTRIBUTE TO

The Canadian Patriotic Fund

THE Rexall Stores of Canada, 400 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada have unanimously agreed to contribute to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, FIVE PER CENT. of their total purchases of all Rexall Toilet Goods, Rexall Remedies and other merchandise manufactured or sold by he United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, from October 15th o December 31st, 1914.

This action of the Rexall Drug Stores of Canada has been undertaken co-operatively, because as a co-operative organization, they realize ow much more can be done unitedly than individually, and it has been taken for two reasons—to fulfill a humane duty in raising a fund for the relief work of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and a patriotic duty in an endeavor to keep a large staff of Canadian employees busy.

The 400 Rexall Stores of Canada make an appeal to your sympathy and support in their doubly worthy cause for increasing the funds of th Canadian Patriotic Organization and for the support o Canadian workmen because:—The fund that would be raised on the basis of last year's business can be tremendously increased if every man and woman in Canada will help a little by the simple process of purchasing Rexall Goods at the Rexall Stores.

No need to give space in this announcement to emphasize the high quality of Rexall Toilet and Medicinal goods. Sufficient to say that 7,00 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada, Great Britain, and the United States place their personal and collective reputations behind them; that the public in these countries endorse them to the extent of several million dollars worth of purchases a year.

Better goods are not made, and you take no risk in buying, for every Rexall Store will return you your money if any Rexall Product is not entirely satisfactory and do it, too, without the slightest objection.

There's a full list of Rexall products waiting for you at the Rexall Store in your town.

Ask for it—kindly pass he word along to your friends. It is the collective purchases of all that will make this Rexall Store Fund for the Canadian Patriotic Organization work a big one.

The Fund will be collecte from each Rexall Store in Canada by the United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, and will be paid by them direct to the officers of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and the amount so collected will be published in this paper when paid over.

REXALL GOODS ARE MADE IN CANADA and you can procure them in your town only from

Mr. Manson said this was agreeable to him except as to the matter of costs.

His Lordship would not alter this however. He might be wrong in this case in view of the fact that the magistrate had dismissed the case and the jury had done so.

Mr. Manson pointed out that the case before the magistrate differed very materially from the one in the Criminal Court.

HOW THE JAPANESE.

anify. There is a worse slavery than service of God. It is the bondage of free men to the yoke of masters whose only ideal is material conquest. It is good for no man to be lord of himself; for the lord of himself will have a heritage of woe, as Byron wrote long ago. And this heritage he cannot keep to himself. The evil he brings falls upon us all. Until civilization gives the puissance of spiritual personality the right to rule and guide, the future of mankind will be dark and uncertain. The pity of it is that so few persons in all lands see the importance of this side of education. They are too busy with material concerns to bother about it. But see what they have brought upon the world by their neglect! A man cannot permit his neighbor to go wrong without suffering himself. We are all individuals and nations, brothers one of another; and no nation can allow another to cherish and instil principles dangerous to mankind. If this fearful war is to teach us anything, it is that in the past our ideals, and therefore our education have been wrong. We have been fostering a system that does not educe the best that is in man. We are making it easier for youth to go wrong than to go right. His educational environment draws out, not his best, but his worst; his ANIMAL side. This is clearly seen in the fact that the entire world up to the outbreak of blood and murder was engaged in discussion of trifles, all unconscious of the volcano on which it was sitting. Even our peace movement, to which had been specially committed investigation in the direction of causes of war, was largely given up to superficialities, while the real success of a peace movement depends on education. Until the schools and churches of the nations can be changed, peace cannot be assured. Reform the teachers and preachers of the world, and the time will not be far distant when war will be no more! This may mean giving woman a larger share in the management of mankind; but it must come!"
