Princess Maquinna Went Ashore Yesterday In Seymour Narrows

Vancouver, Feb. 1.—The C. P. R. steamer Princess Maquinna went ashore on Maud Island, in Seymour Narrows, on Monday. She is on the beach and not making water. The salvage steamer Salvor, from Esquimalt, and the C. P. R. tug Nitinat, formerly the William Jolliffe, have been sent to her assistance.

The Maquinna, when she went ashore, was on her way south from here on her regular run on Sunday evening. The weather along the coast this winter has been specially trying for navigation, owing to the blinding snow storms and specially cold weather.

TELEGRAPH MEN'S LIBERAL RESPONSE

SUPERINTENDENT DOWLING COLLECTED ABOUT $350 FOR PATRIOITC FUND

Ready Donations Given By The Employees Along The Government Line.

In a special effort to raise a good sum for the Patriotic Fund, Superintendent Dowling, of the Dominion Government service, has been in touch with practically all the men in his district. The response was an excellent one, tatalling about $350. The men contributed, in many instances, a day's pay, or in others several days' pay, even up to eight. In the cash contributions, sums from $1 to $25 were given.

The men have been called upon before to aid in the work and have done so readily.

At the initial meeting of the Hospital Board for the year, held last evening in the city hall, officers were elected for the term. For president, the choice fell upon George W. Morrow, Vice-President last year, and one of the original organizers of the Association.

For Vice-President, J. H. Thompson was the choice. The Board is starting in with a determination to make the year a good one for the institution, in as far as that can be done, with the economy that is necessary to practise.

MAYOR McCAFFERY IS URGING WORK

EXECUTIVE HEAD OF CITY ANNOUNCES HE HAS PIPE LINE UP WITH AUTHORITIES

He is Taking Every Precaution To Have Undertaking Advanced.

At the council meeting on Monday evening Ald. Casey, before adjournment, raised the point as to the putting in of the water pipe line to Digby Island. This, he said, would give work in the city if the Dominion Government could be induced to start it.

The Mayor said, in reply, that he had already had this up. He had taken steps to get the matter before the necessary authorities. G. B. Hull, the Government Engineer, had been out of the city and that had prevented the matter being dealt with earlier. Mr. Hull was going to take the matter up with him at once now.

Train Is Late.

The G. T. P. train service is still working a little irregularly owing to the severe storms. The weather conditions on the prairies have been such as to disarrange the schedule very much. The train which should have reached here last evening is not now expected in until some time this afternoon.

Importance Of Fish In Canada's Industries Told By Minister

Hon. J. D. Hazen, K. C., Minister of Fisheries, said in a recent address on Canadian fisheries, too little advertising has been done, consequently our citizens are not even moderate fish eaters. They do not fully appreciate the muscle and mind building qualities of fish. Some interesting facts are taken from his speech, as follows:

Taking a wide survey at the outset we are told that Canadian fisheries are the most extensive in the world. . . . Off the Pacific coast we have by far the richest and largest halibut fishery in the world. The deep seas there are also stocked with many other excellent varieties of food fish, and along the shore line there are over seven thousand miles of coast waters into which flow such large glacier-fed rivers as the Fraser, Skeena, Naas and others, up which every year swarm countless thousands of five different kinds of salmon.

In addition to our sea fisheries, we have over 220,000 square miles of fresh waters, most of which are abundantly stocked with excellent fish, the supply of which is being kept up by our hatcheries.

The annual value of the fisheries now runs from about $21,000,000 to about $34,000,000, depending on the extent of the salmon run to the Pacific rivers.

The approximate total marketed value of all kinds of fish, fish products and marine animals taken by Canadian fishermen from the sea and inland rivers and lakes during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1915, amounted to $31,057,550, the value of the fisheries of each province being as follows:

German Sea Raider Has Been Operating Off African Coast

Newport News, Feb. 1.—The missing British steamer Appam took refuge today in Hampdon Roads flying the German ensign from her stern, and in charge of a German prize crew. The Appan was captured off the Canary Islands by a German raider. Whether this raider was a submarine or an unknown auxiliary cruiser has been undetermined as yet.

It is believed that some German steamer had been fitted out and armed as an auxiliary. She has been raiding commerce off the African coast.

Four hundred and fifty-one are on board the Appan, including the surviving members of the crews of seven other vessels, which were sunk by the raider.

Grave anxiety had been felt regarding the British steamship Appam which left Dakar for Plymouth on January 11, with 166 passengers and 134 in the crew. When about four days out wireless communication with the vessel ceased. A despatch from Hull to Lloyd's said the British steamer Tregantle reported having passed at sea, on January 16, a lifeboat with the name Appam painted on the stern and bow knocked away. The trip from Dakar, Senegal, West Africa, for Plymouth is a ten-day one.

A report from lisbon recently announced that mines had been discovered in the Bay of Biscay.

The Appam was of 7,781 tons gross. She was owned by the British and African Steamship Navigation Company.

ASSURANCES GIVEN THAT PERSIA WAS NOT SUNK BY AUSTRIA

Washington, Feb. 1.—Complete assurances have been given that the P. and O. liner Persia was not sunk by an Austrian submarine. These assurances have been sent from Vienna.

The Persia was sunk off the Island of Crete, December 30, and the last reports of the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company said that 336 persons on board the steamer were missing—119 passengers and 217 members of the crew. Both the German and Austrian Foreign Offices have said previously that they had no information concerning the sinking of the vessel.

MINISTER DEALS WITH F. B. CARVELL

HON. MARTIN BURRELL MET CHARGES LAID BY LIBERAL MEMBERS

Accuser Had Himself Been Mixed Up In Some Strange Dealings.

Continuing the debate to the address in the Commons, Hon. Martin Burrell replied at length to the charges made by F. B. Carvell, in regard to the purchase of hay in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Carvell on that occasion charged that the matter had been so manipulated that the Atlantic Hay Company in paying only $11 to $13 for hay, while it received $23 through the Government acting for the Imperial authorities, had robbed the farmers of $45,000. He also asserted that Mr. Burrell had approached Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Pardee, the Chief Liberal Whip, and himself and asked that the matter should not be brought up in the House.

Nothing To Hide.

Mr. Burrell, in his reply, said that the department had nothing to hide. He had consulted with the Prime Minister and Sir George Foster, and it had been decided to suggest to the Opposition, that in the interest of the war office, and the public matters re-

Eye Troubles Corrected

Mr. Bulger has had over ten years experience in sight testing and fitting glasses, and last mid-summer took a post graduate course, which included the latest discoveries in th science of optometry or eye measuring. One of the most important is dynamic skiametry. The new method of Prof. A. J Cross, of New York, in which the eye is measured by a beam of reflected light and any error is recorded.

But we do not simply rely on one method; each eye is tested separately, in three different ways, besides trying the muscular balance, together and the nervous acuteness.

We use the new drugless methods, no drops in the eye and no heavy frame resting on your face; ours swings from the wall by a bracket.

Of this amount the sea fisheries contributed $27,170,483 and the inland fisheries $3,887,067.

The fishing industry now gives employment to almost 94,000 people over 84,000 of these being engaged in the sea fisheries.

To carry on the fisheries, 282 steam vessels, 1,326 sailing and gasoline vessels, 431 carrying smacks and 38,058 boats are employed. Of the boats, 9,261 are now fitted with gasoline engines.

There is now invested in fishing gear, vessels, etc., about $24,500,000, over $22,000,000 being invested in the sea fisheries.

While the fisheries are now one of the industries of first importance to the country, their present value and importance are merely an index of what they can and will be made in the next few years.

While it is true that the fisheries are now worth from $31,000,000 to $36,000,000 annually, and not so many years ago their value was less than $20,000,000, the fact remains that this increase is practically altogether due to the phenomenal development of the salmon and halibut fisheries of the Pacific coast, and of fresh water fisheries.

Canada itself should afford an exceedingly large and continuously growing market for the product of the fishermen.

We live in the north temperate zone, where fish are in greater abundance and of better quality than in the southern waters, and where consequently, they should form an important portion of the daily food supply of the people. That the day is coming when such will be the case, and when there will be a steady and rapid growth of the fishing industry, is evidenced by the development that has taken place in recent years in the fresh and mildly-cured fish business in this country. While this development has been a rapid one, it is merely a fraction of what there is room for.

It is not surprising that in this new country, with its unsurpassed agricultural resources, and, until recently, with butcher's meat readily available in all portions of it at moderate prices, there has been little demand, away from the immediate water fronts, for fish; but a result of this condition is that the Canadian-born population has grown up without a taste for fish, and what is worse, with little knowledge of our fisheries and of the value of fish as a food. Even more unfortunate is the fact that comparatively few housewives have learned how to cook fish so as to make it attractive and tasty, and at the same time to maintain, and what may be readily done, even enhance its food value.

It is of the utmost importance that people should speedily become informed of the excellence of fish as a food, as well as of its palatability, and of the fact that with the transportation facilities now available, it is quite practicable to lay fresh fish, smoked fish, etc., down in practically all parts of the country in as good condition as when shipped from the starting point.

There seems to be a widespread opinion that fish is not a nourishing food, and that, consequently, it may not, with safety to health and strength, replace meat to any large extent. The sooner this impression is dispelled, the better. Not only is fish, like meat, rich in nitrogenous food—that is, food which supplies the body with the strength to do its work and builds up its tissues, but does not go to the supplying of fat and heat—but high medical authorities advise that it cannot be too strongly insisted on, that for working people of all classes—those who work with their hands as well as those who work with their hands—fish is an economical source of the energy they require to enable them to carry on their work, and it furnishes the very materials that children and young persons need to enable them to grow healthy and strong.

How much more economical it is as a supplier of the bodily needs than meat, keeping in view the price that has to be paid for each, is little appreciated. Without going into the analysis of the different kinds of butcher's meat and fish, it may be stated in a general way, that fish is only about two per cent. richer in nitrogenous constituents than meat; but on account of its greatly cheaper price, it is a much more economical food than meat. For instance, if dressed cod—fish with the entrails removed—can be purchased for eight cents per pound, beefsteak would need to be sold at eight and one-half cents per pound to be as cheap a source of nourishment. If fresh haddock can be bought for eight cents per pound, fresh mutton would require to sell at seven cents to be as cheap a food. If halibut sells at sixteen cents per pound, fresh pork would need to sell at slightly less than fifteen cents to be as economical a food, as halibut is even richer in nitrogen than meats.

SHIPBUILDING AID.

In an editorial distinctly favorable to the granting of some form of state aid to a merchant marine for British Columbia, the B. C. Financial Times says: "No nation or state can permanently succeed in its deep-sea trade with the world that does not own or control tonnage at its own home ports in some considerable proportion to the amount of freight available. The United States, a conspicuous example to the contrary, is forced to see the unenviable position of her deep-sea commerce, when the tonnage of the world is suddenly commandeered by the beligerent states. . . . It takes a cataclysm like the present war to show the real position of world trade and transportation, and in this, British Columbia is as much a sufferer as the United States.

BANKS IN STRONG POSITION.

Bank officials continue to issue optimistic statements regarding the outlook says a financial critic in the Toronto News. Canadian banks were never in such a good position to handle all the legitimate business of the country. Assets of all the financial institutions of the Dominion are in a liquid form. There is plenty of cash on hand to provide for all necessary extensions to plants and sufficient new working capital to purchase raw material for additional orders. The ready capital of the country was never so easily available as it is today, in the shape of increased bank deposits; and this should help business in no small degree.
