SEEK TO IMPROVE HERRING INDUSTRY

FISHERIES OFFICIALS ARE STUDYING CONDITIONS LOOKING THAT WAY

It Is Sought To Make That Branch Of Industry More Lucrative.

Mr. W. A. Found, Ottawa, the Dominion Government commissioner of fisheries, Mr. F. H. Cunningham, New Westminster, Dominion Government fisheries inspector for British Columbia, and Mr. D. N. McIntyre, Victoria, deputy head of the fisheries department, are expected here in the course of a few days. They are making a tour of all the fishing grounds, looking into the working out of the fishing regulations and other matters pertaining to the industry.

Before coming north, the officials named, held a conference in Vancouver. They were accompanied to the west coast of Vancouver Island by H. S. Clements, M. P., as their mission in connection with a matter on which the member of parliament has given much study, the development on a larger and more economic scale of the British Columbia fish food products.

It is proposed to make a careful study of the conditions surrounding the herring fishing and see if the industry cannot be developed to a standard similar to that now occupied by the salmon packing establishments. Heretofore the herring, which have been declared by experts to be the equal of any herring in the world, have been marketed in a rough state, little attention being paid to the proper curing or packing. The result has been that the British Columbia herring have been practically confined to the Oriental and West Indian markets, where only the cheapest brands are consumed.

The same fish properly cured and put up in an appetising form would win its way in the high priced markets and make the British Columbia

Darley Has Not Been Killed

Word received from the front by a friend of Mr. Darley, of the First Contingent from here, gives the gratifying information that he is still alive. He had been reported killed, but this is proved to have been incorrect. He writes saying he was wounded at Ypres on April 26, but is recovering.

Allies On Western Front Repelled All Attacks of Germans

Paris, July 6.—An official report says:—"The British troops have repulsed several counter attacks directed against the trenches occupied by them southwest of Pilken. They inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

"The Germans have bombarded Arras, particularly the cathedral. They have also bombarded Rheims.

"In Argonne there has been cannonading, but no infantry actions.

"On the heights of the Meuse, we have retaken the trench work where the Germans had gained a foothold. We have succeeded in maintaining the position, and have pushed forward. The enemy after a violent bombardment, delivered a counter attack which was made under the fire of our machine guns. The Germans retired in disorder, suffering heavy losses.

"In the region of Fey-en-Haye, there has been an intermittent bombardment with shells used of all calibres.

"In the Vosges a renewal of activity by the artillery of the enemy is reported."

AN ELOQUENT TRIBUTE.

Mary Roberts Reinhart, a talented American journalist, concludes a current article on the British army with the following eloquent tribute which will be read with genuine appreciation in all British countries:

"My visit to the English lines was over. I had seen no valiant charges, no hand-to-hand fighting. But in a way I had a larger picture. I had seen the efficiency of the methods behind the lines, the abundance of supplies, the spirit that glowed in the eyes of every fighting man. I had seen the colonial children of England in the field, volunteers who had risen to the call of the mother country. I had seen and talked with the commander-in-chief of the British forces in the field, and had come away convinced that the mother country had placed her honor in fine and capable hands. And I had seen, between the first and second lines of trenches, such an army as for quality has never been seen on the stormy fields of war-ridden old Europe since the Crusaders went forth to Jerusalem to take the Sepulchre from the hands of the unbelievers—an army of gentlemen going out to battle for the right!"

STRENUOUS RIVALRY FOR HALIBUT TRADE

Seattle Making Every Effort To Develop Coastwise Banks.

There is a great rivalry now on between Prince Rupert and Seattle to capture the halibut trade and owing to the new regulations recently introduced by the Dominion Government, the northern port is making great strides, says the News Advertiser of Vancouver. Continuing it says: Because of the scarcity of fish, combined with the cheaper ice and bait offered by the British Columbia port, the majority of the Seattle halibut schooners now fishing in Hecate Strait, have been landing their catches in Prince Rupert for the past week or two. With the scarcity of fish, the schooners find it hardly worth while, it is said, to make the long voyage to Seattle when it is only a short distance to Prince Rupert. The British Columbia port is taking advantage of the situation by supplying ice and bait at a cheaper rate than has been obtainable so far in Seattle.

Seattle fishing companies have been making an effort to regain the lost market by developing new fishing banks off the coast of Washington and Oregon and have enlisted the services of the United States bureau of fisheries, and an official of that department has issued a report show-

After the racing was over, a fine game of football took place, the goal keepers being Captain Gillatt and C. Harrison. The result was a draw.

At 9 p.m. punctually, the dancing commenced in Goulets Hall, and was exceedingly well attended, there being about one hundred present, and all enjoyed themselves until the early hours of the following day. Mr. Harrison intended to give a dance in honor of his wife's return from England, but postponed it until later, so that everybody could unite and have a good time. Professor Thomas presided at the piano and Mr. Orr was master of ceremonies. Our thanks are due to Mr. Wanless for his untiring energy in making every part of the programme a success.

Although we were not so numerous as in previous years, yet the harmony was greater, and there was not a note of discord or anything to mar the pleasantness of the occasion. The "Boys" who last year were with us, but now are fighting in the trenches were also remembered, and if any one thought that we were down-hearted during these strenuous times, had they been with us or near us they would have decided firmly in the negative.

Is Business Slow?

It probably serves you right

You are not letting the public know what you have

Advertise!
Advertise!
Advertise!

That is the Solution

That manufacturers should increase their advertising appropriations during a period of business depression and curtail during the years of prosperity, was the opinion advanced by Roger Babson, the financial and business statistician, at a meeting of the Technical Publicity Association, held in New York.

"Directors of your company regard advertising as a luxury to be cut down when business is poor," said Mr. Babson. "They give you orders what to do rather than you giving them orders.

"If you solved this advertising problem in a scientific way you would tell them what to do, the same as their lawyers and their bankers tell them.

"In a year of prosperity they are willing to give you a big advertising appropriation, and when the reaction comes they cut down to almost nothing. Take the big appropriation in the fat years and salt it away for use in the lean years.

"If you all did this the business of the country would move along more evenly; the business boom would be less, and the reaction, the area of business depression, smaller."

HALIBUT COMING TO PORT STEADILY

THERE WAS ABOUT 60,000 POUNDS RECEIVED YESTERDAY

A Number Are Expected To Reach The Harbor Today.

There is a good supply of halibut being brought into port now. Yesterday the Zrbassa of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company brought about 25,000 pounds in. In addition to this, there were about 30,000 pounds brought by individually owned American boats.

It is expected that with the strong price now prevailing, that quite a large amount will be here in the next few weeks. The weather is reported to have been rough outside. Many boats have their catch and will come in as soon as the weather moderates.

STORM PLAYED HAVOC WITH FISHING GEAR

Skeena On Monday Suffered From The Wind.

The wind that became so troublesome here on Monday, proved equally so among the fishermen on the Skeena. Word has been received that quite a quantity of gear was lost through the storm. There were several narrow escapes from drowning by the capsizing of the boats.

The catch of salmon is very good so far. They are averaging over 50 fish to the boat at this time. This is considered a good catch for the start of the season.

ing the cargoes of fish received daily at Seattle during the first fifteen days of June, from the halibut fisheries on the newly defined banks, which are reported by name as the Newport, the Columbia River, the Willapa Harbor and the Grays Harbor banks. There were taken by the vessels arriving at Seattle during the period stated, a total of 985,000 pounds of halibut, which is more than half of the halibut delivered at that port in this period. The statement in detail is as follows.

	Pounds.
From Newport and Columbia River banks	640,000
From Willapa Harbor banks	225,000
From Grays Harbor banks	120,000

The results are taken as indicating the development of important banks adjoining the North coast and near to the port of Oregon and Washington. It is expected that when the full area of these banks is developed by further surveys, to be taken this summer, this business well be considerably increased.

AN OLD FAVORITE AT THE WESTHOLME

THE MAJESTIC COMPANY WILL STAGE THE OLD HOMESTEAD THIS EVENING

The Company Is Proving Its Ability To Entertain The Public.

The Majestic Stock Company now at the Westholme Theatre, added to their reputation last night. The Deep Purple was perhaps not as good a vehicle for the company to show to its best. Miss Vane Calvert, the leading lady, as Mrs. Fallon an ex-thief, had a difficult role to fill, but succeeded admirably in her work. The support was good, the cast being well balanced in all respects.

Tonight the old-time favorite, The Old Homestead is to be put on. This play, which has been staged throughout the country for years, never loses its charm. Like Way Down East, it is still a drawing one. The wholesome lessons of the play with its simple surroundings is always attractive.

SEEK TO IMPROVE.

herring just as much of a standard food as the British Columbia salmon. In addition the preparation of the fish would establish another large and well paid labor market for the profit of the citizens of the province.

In this connection it is proposed to utilize the new Dominion inspection act, by which all the fish prepared will be inspected by government inspectors and the product branded, the proof of the inspection being also proof of a food product put up under the best conditions that modern science can devise.
