HOW THE TIME IS PASSED AT VERNON

LETTER FROM ROBERT GIBSON RECEIVED BY FRIEND IN THIS CITY

The Prince Rupert Men Are Taking Well To The Hard Training.

A letter has been received by L. Prestley, of the Kaien Island Club, from Robert Gibson, formerly steward of the club, who went to Vernon with the last contingent from here.

In the letter he excuses himself for not writing before, because he has been training hard and has been out on sentry duty for four days. "I am liking this life fine," he says, "and it is sure some change. Fancy being in bed every night at 10 p.m., and glad to get the chance at that.

"We are all being treated fine too and the grub is first class. No eggs or pie or such like, but real good wholesome food. The only real kick we have is the heat; gee but it is hot, it's so hot that it keeps us back a little in our drilling. Lots of excitement going on just now, as a draft has just been picked from our battalion, and they leave some time next week.

"Among the Rupert bunch to go are: Silversides, Scotty Dennis, Henderson, Abbott, Robertson, Sillars, Davie, McVittu, Jimmy Brown—that's about all I can think of just now. It so happened that I was on sentry duty at the time, and as the draft was drawn by lots, someone picked out a blank for me. It was hard lines for me, but still I guess I will be in France as soon as them, as they sure will have to go through a lot of training in England. It stands to reason, because we have only been here a little over a month, and none of us have even handled a rifle yet.

"They sure must be scarce of men over there or they wouldn't be calling for drafts already, at least from a new battalion. It is rumored that the whole battalion will go in six weeks time. Bill Brown is Company Sergeant-Major, so he has a good berth. Marshall is in command of our company. Capt. Partington is in command of "D" Company.

"There are all kinds of sports going on down here, so we don't lack for that. There is a big lake quite close to camp and we are all down

CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS OF FAIR

MOVEMENT MADE TO SECURE ADDITIONAL NAMES IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

An Appeal Is Made To The Citizens To Aid The Exhibition.

The mangement of the Fair has started a campaign for additional membership in the Association. The following facts are commended to the favorable consideration of the public:

Do you believe that your future depends for prosperity on the progress of the town or district in which you dwell? Do you believe that the furnishing of opportunity to the farmer, the miner, the fisherman and all engaged in development work in northern British Columbia, by names of holding yearly advertising displays, known as Fall Fairs, to show what the country is capable of producing, is advisable and profitable?

Do you believe that the expenditure of money to bring still more money into circulation in days when one dollar is expected to do the work of $10 is of benefit to the city or district?

If you do count it a fact that advertising aids development, and that development aids your community and yourself; furnishing profit and payrolls, you will listen:

In the year 1915, 450 citizens enrolled themselves as members of the Northern British Columbia Agricultural & Industrial Association, under whose auspices the Fair is conducted each year. The Directors submitted this list to the Government, when asking for a grant towards 1915 Fair, and the grant they received was practically dollor for dollar subscribed as membership fees.

In the year 1915 the Directors will again submit a list to the Government, and on this list will be based the grant for 1916. Now 450 members may have been all right for 1914, but since then although times have been hard, development has increased fifty times, and the Directors want to be able to say we have 1,000 members on our roll. That means that dollar for dollar the 1916 grant will be so much more.

It is to the interest of every resident of the city and district to do what they can to get this number of new members. Times are hard, there are many other calls on the purse, in lots of cases more obligating, but this is a matter of business. The holding of the Fair each year keeps up interest in development work, advertises it, brings new money into circulation among the business people of Prince Rupert and other residents, and especially in a year like this will help business in a material way.

The actual cost of joining the Association is one dollar per annum, this is the only charge and carries the privilege of two free entries. Badge and voting power at the general meeting each year. Every new member means two dollars towards a better Fair each year.

The prize list, etc., for 1915 amount to $2,220. From all over the district reports have been received, showing that 1915 Fair will be a win-

Russians Appear To Be Holding Their Own Against the Germans

Petrograd, Aug. 14.—An official report says:—"In the region of Riga there has been no essential change. Near Jacobstadt, Dvinsk and Vilkomir the enemy has attempted counter attacks to arrest our offensive. The fighting continues.

"In the front between the Narew and the Bug Rivers, there has been no important change. A desperate action took place in the region southwest of Cischanowice. At Novogeorgievsk during the past two days, besides an artillery duel there have been skirmishes and actions within the approach to the defences. On the left bank of the Bug there has been fighting which increased in obstinacy during Thursday night.

"In the district north of Siedles in the Lukow region on the right bank of the Bug River toward Zlota, Lipa and the Dniester Rivers there has been no change."

GERMAN PLAN TO RAID SUEZ CANAL WAS FRUSTRATED

Paris, Aug. 14.—A German plan to raid the Suez Canal was frustrated by a French cruiser on August 12.

The cruiser bombarded factories at Jaffa, where arms, munitions and boats were under construction, preparatory to the attack. The inhabitants of Jaffa were notified that a bombardment would take place.

TIMBER RESOURCES OF THE PROVINCE

CRUISERS FIND ON VANCOUVER ISLAND VAST AREAS UNALIENATED

One Hundred Thousand Acres Of Crown Wooded Lands Easily Accessible.

Victoria, Aug. 14.—An interesting instance of the extent to which the timber resources of the Province have been under-estimated is given in reports recently submitted to the Honorable W. R. Ross. Cruisers lately returned from an examination of the valleys of the Elk, Salmon, White and Gold Rivers on Vancouver Island, came across one hundred thousand acres of unalienated crown timber, with an average stand of fifteen thousand feet to the acre, representing a total of one and a half billion feet.

This timber is readily accessible, in fact the grades which exist in these valleys render it possible to bring logs across the island from Nootka to Salmon River, crossing the surveys of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways.

WHEN BRITAIN DECIDED ON WAR

HALL CAINE WRITES OF INSIDE SCENES WHEN DECLARATION CAME

As "Big Ben" Ceased Striking 11 O'clock Germany's Chance Passed.

Hall Caine, the celebrated novelist, has written the following article descriptive of the scene prior to Great Britain's declaration of war:

In a room in the Prime Minister's house, in Downing Street, the Prime Minister himself and three principal members of the Cabinet are waiting for a reply to the ultimatum sent to Germany at noon. The time for the reply expires at midnight. It is approaching eleven o'clock, In spite of her "infaamous proposals," the Ministers cannot even yet allow themselves to believe that Germany will break her pledged, word. She has not yet replied, but she will do so; she must.

There is more than an hour left. Even at the last moment the telephone bell may ring and the reply of Germany handed to the British Ambassador in Berlin will reach London. It is a calm autumn evening, the windows are open to St. James' Park, which lies dark and silent as far as Buckingham Palace in the distance. The streets of London round about the official residence are busy enough, quivering with excitement.

We British people do not go in solid masses surging, singing down our corso or light candles along the line of our boulevards, but nevertheless all hearts are beating high. In the theatres, railway stations, railway trains, shops and houses everybody is thinking by 12 o'clock tonight Germany has got to say whether or not she is a perjurer and a thief.

LACK OF NEWS.

There are those who are inclined to believe that in the general absence of news, and the conflict there appears to be in what is received, there are disasters overtaking the Allies in the war. Such a construction cannot reasonably be placed on the news, we believe. It is evident that there is now a censorship placed upon the news from all quarters that is stricter perhaps than it has been during any other period of the war. In the absence of authentic information from the seat of the war, there are sure to be conjectures as to the progress of it. This may account for the unreliable character of a good deal of the news that comes through. The censorship is doubtless necessary, and may cover some strategic moves that are contemplated.

NO TIME FOR PESSIMISM.

This is no time for pessimism in the city of Prince Rupert. It is in reality a time for the city and the district, of which this place is the centre, when "every prospect pleases." It is true that the depression, which is prevalent everywhere, is bound to affect us. Nevertheless the outlook is most promising for the city. The fishing industry is coming forward by leaps and bounds. It is to be hoped that the city will soon be able to get the road to the Cold Storage built, and that the city dock may become an accomplished fact, as it is fondly hoped that this will bring additional vesesls here, owing to the competition that will be created. This city should not look back this coming winter. The winter months may not see as great a tonnage of fish brought in as does the summer season, but there will in all probability be more frequent calls, as a result of the rough weather that is sure to be experienced, driving the bottoms in with smaller catches.

The mining industry is advancing rapidly, and money is being invested in a way that it was never expected to be, during the continuation of the troublous times through which the nations are passing.

But, apart from all these local conditions, there is evidently going to be a general arousing following the tremendous crop in the prairies. There seems to be nothing now to prevent a record crop. This is going onto the market as quickly as it can be got there, and at good prices. The result will be the circulation throughout the country of a tremendous amount of money, which will have its effect here. This is a time to boost for the city, as it never was boosted for before.

Prohibition During The War.

To the Editor:

While the new movement in favor of prohibitions during the war is essentially a business men's movement, yet is open to any citizen to discuss the question.

Up to the present I have never been an advocate of Provincial Prohibition, although I have long worked for the principle of local option. The difference between the two being this—through local option the locality can choose whether it wishes licensed bars or not.

If the community is strongly in favor of a prohibitory measure the authorities will see that the law is properly enforced, because the sentiment of the locality is behind the law, whereas under Privincial Prohibition there are sure to be communities where the people are hostile to the act, and in consequence, the authorities will allow it to become a dead letter. If we were a less democratic country, as for example Russia, we might count upon a more rigid enforcement of a prohibitory law.

There is, undoubtedly, a weakness in local prohibition on account of the limited area affected, but in connection with some other system for the large cities, it has been a valuable stepping stone to a better condition of things in many lands. It is not an extreme measure.

If the time were normal I should still advocate the principal of local option, in connection with a Government Dispensary System for the larger cities but the times are not normal and call for a more sweeping measure.

The patriotic spirit which is impelling our people to make great sacrifices for the welfare of the nation has suddenly turned its attention to the drink evil, our worst enemy—the traitor within our camp who is secretly undermining our strength and impairing our productive energy.

With such an enormous national drink bill, and such an urgent call for national economy, the temperance question is now viewed chiefly from an economic standpoint. Our wholesale merchants want our retail merchants to pay their bills. Our retail merchants want their customers to pay their bills. Prohibition during the war will beyond all doubt help the people of this Province, first to pay their bills for the necessaries of life, and then to give to patriotic funds. With such a wave of sentiment sweeping over the Dominion in favor of this measure, it is not to be expected that loyal British Columbia will lag far behind.

Yours faithfully,
F. H. Du VERNET,
Bishop of Caledonia.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only; but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 per acre.

WHEN BRITAIN DECIDED.

Meanwhile in this silent room overlooking the park the time passes slowly. In spite of the righteousness of our course, it is an awful thing to plunge the great Empire into war. The miseries and horrors of warfare rise before the eyes of the ministers, and the sense of personal responsibility becomes almost unsupportable. Could anything be more awful than to have to ask oneself some day in the future, awakening in the middle of the night perhaps, after rivers of blood have been shed, "Did I do right?"

After all the reply to the ultimatum has not even yet arrived and the absence of a reply is equivalent to a declaration of war. Suddenly one of the little company remembers something that everybody hitherto has forgotten, the difference of an hour between the time of London and Berlin. Midnight, by mid-European time would be 11 o'clock in London. Germany would naturallay understand this demand for a reply by midnight to mean midnight in the country of dispatch, therefore 11 o'clock the London time period for the reply will expire.

It is now approaching 11. As the clock ticks out the remaining minutes the tension becomes terrible, talk slackens, there are long pauses. The whole burden of the frightful issues involved for Great Britain, France, Belgium, Russia, Germany for Europe, for the whole world, for civilization, for religion itself, seems to be gathered up in these last few moments. If war comes now it will be the most frightful tragedy the world ever has witnessed. Twenty millions dead, perhaps, civil life crippled for a hundred years. Which is it to be, peace or war? It is terrible to think of.

As they sit there the electric wires may be flashing the awful tidings like a flying angel of life or death through the dark air all over Europe.

The four men are waiting for the telephone to ring. It does not ring and the fingers of the clock are moving. The world seems on tiptoe listening for the thunder stroke of fate. The ministers at length sit silent and rigid, almost petrified, looking fixedly at the floor or ceiling.

Then through the awful stillness of the room and the park outside comes the deep boom of Big Ben—Boom—boom—boom! No one moves until the last of the eleven strokes has gone reverberating through the night. Then comes a voice heavy with emotion, yet firm with resolve, "It's war!".

When the clock struck again at midnight Great Britain had been at war for one hour without knowing it.

If I have done wrong in lifting the curtain on this private scene I ask forgiveness, for the sake of the purpose I put it to, that of showing it was not in haste, not in anger, but with an awful sense of responsibility to Great Britain and humanity that our responsible ministers drew the sword of our country.
