LILLOOET PROSPECTOR

VOL. 6, NO. 41 LILLOOET, B. C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 11, 1916. $2 PER YEAR

COMMEMORATION DAY LOYALLY OBSERVED BY LILLOOET CITIZENS

Addresses by Capt. Robinson and Well-known Local Men—Large Amount of Money Raised For Red Cross Fund

The citizens of Lillooet fittingly observed the second anniversary of the beginning of the war on Friday last and large crowds were in attendance both in the afternoon and at the Commemoration meeting in the evening.

The ladies of the town were well organized for the occasion, and ice cream and refreshment booths, fancy work and fruit and vegetable stalls. and last, but not least, the different raffles, joy wheel, etc., were eagerly patronized by nearly all present, and the Red Cross Fund benefited to the extent of over $500. A number of the young girls also sold Red Cross tags and a large amount of money was raised in this way.

Last year's gathering on the occasion of the first anniversary was considered to be a big success financially and otherwise, but although money is supposed to be scarcer, the receipts from this year's event are considerably over double that of a year ago.

The Commemoration meeting and concert in the evening was very largely attended, and the stirring speeches by the different gentlemen on the programme were listened to with marked attention and cheered to the echo.

The proceedings were opened by the singing of "O Canada" by the audience. Dr. Sibree Clarke presided and before introducing the speakers of the evening touched briefly on what the citizens of Lillooet and district had done in bearing their share in the war.

Capt. J. T. Robinson, of Kamloops, who had kindly consented to come to Lillooet and deliver an address on "The War," was greeted with applause when he rose to speak. He congratulated the people of Lillooet on the manner in which they had contributed to the different war funds and hoped they would still continue to do their share in helping in the good work. He traced the events of the war from its commencement, showing how Germany had violated her every pledge to the Allies. Capt. Robinson's forceful and inspiring address was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. C. Phair, in a brief speech, moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. W. Adams, a man who has probably done more than any other person in Lillooet in the way of giving to and collecting for the different war funds:

"That on this, the second anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, this meeting of the citizens of Lillooet and District records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of liberty and justice which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

The resolution was passed unanimously.

Mr. J. S. Bell in supporting the resolution, made one of the best speeches of the evening.

During the meeting a fine musical programme was rendered by Mrs. Palmer, Miss Jessie Brown, Corp. McMinn and Mr. W. Oddy, all of Kamloops, who were good enough to come with Capt. Robisnon and help to make the entertainment a success. Their kindness was greatly appreciated. Miss Ellen Bridge and Mr. Martley also contributed a solo and a recitation.

The dance which commenced about 10 o'clock was well patronized and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. Tom Baillie, of Lytton,

GOLD COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

The following office statistics are taken from the report of Mr. C. Phair, gold commissioner, in the Lillooet Mining Division for the year 1915:

Free miners' certificates issued, 240; mineral claims recorded, 133; certificates of work recorded, 145; placer claims recorded and rerecorded, 18; placer and dredging leases in force, 37; conveyances, etc., recorded, 38.

Revenue.—Free miners' certificates, $1,378.50; minining receipts general, $1,655.35; tax, crown-granted mineral claims, $412.75. Total, $3,446.60.

"Kitchener's Own"

None was more appreciative than Lord Kitchener of the part Canada is playing in the war, and we note with sympathy that one of the best of the battalions which Canada is now raising should bear the name of "Kitchener's Own." That would be Canada's best answer to an enemy who hoped that the loss of the maker of new armies would paralyze the empire's fighting arm.—Canada Gazette.

Books captured in the second raid on Logan Billingsley's "Day and Night Store," in Seattle, showed that his profits in the bootlegging business were netting him about $1,000 per day. In comparing the rates of profit in this illcit business and the amount of the fines the Star newspaper calls attention to the futility of the courts attempting to stamp out the evil.

DIED FROM WOUNDS

We regret to see in the casualty lists just published the name of Bruce Forrester, who died from wounds received during the recent great advance. For some time Mr. Forrester worked at the Seton Lake hatchery, and subsequently was a member of Mr. G. M. Downton's survey party. On the completion of his work in the fall of 1914, he joined the Canadian expeditionary forces.

COPELAND ROAD TROUBLE

The trouble between the P. G. E. railway and the Provincial Government over the old Copeland road will likely be settled in the near future. The company claimed the right to close the road and accordingly built a fence across it. This greatly intefered with the farmers on the west side of the Fraser river and they made vigorous protests. The fence was pulled down and then a ditch was dug across the road. Under instructions from the Government, Mr. J. K. More, road superintendent, had the ditch filled up this week, and the P. G. E. people, who have acted like babies in this affair, have the next move. The company will likely ask for a slight diversion in the road, and in the meantime it will be kept open.

BIG GAME HUNTERS

Mr. H. D. Shelden, of Detroit, Mich., accompanied by his two sons, Messrs. Henry and Alger Shelden, arrived in town on Tuesday, afternoon and left on Wednesday morning on a fishing and hunting trip in the Bridge River country. Mr. W. Manson, of Lillooet, a noted hunter and guide, had charge of the party. They will first enjoy some fishing in Gun Creek Lake and will afterwards try their luck at the big game about the middle of September at the head waters of the North Fork and Bridge rivers. Mr. Manson had as assistants three Indians, and 23 pack horses and provisions to last six weeks were taken along.

A Great Chance

"They were two simple-minded Tommies, and they were far from their regiment, bewildered and lost. Suddenly they saw a German division in the distance. Now it happened that on their way up to the front the yarn had been spread that the Colonel had offered to give ten shillings for every German captured, and our Tommies fully believed it, and when they saw the Germans one cheerfully said to the other: Bill, here's twenty thousand Huns, and only you and me to divide them up at 10 bob apiece."—Today.

THE WAR FUND.

The people of Lillooet and district are to be congratulated on the magnificent way they have contributed to the cause of the Empire, both in men and money, since the war began. Over $5,000 has been paid into the different war funds, and about sixty men from this village and surrounding district have answered the call to go to the front and fight for their King and country. We venture to say that in no part of Canada have the people shown more liberality in giving to this righteous cause than right here in our own neighborhood.

This is the spirit that is going to carry the Empire to victory, the spirit of those who are the support of the nation, who have given their dearest possessions for the country, who have sacrificed much and are as quietly determined to sacrifice more.

And when this is said, it might also be said that as the third year of the war is entered, Canada has done much --a promise of the inflexible determination to stand by the guns to the last. An army of over 350,000 men has been raised from an English-speaking population of some four and a half millions. This vast body of troops, for Canada, has been trained and equipped with despatch and efficiency. Today they are showing the stuff they are made of on the Western front, showing that they are the equals of the new armies of the Mother Country.

Canada's finances have been handled with skill and the nation's resources splendidly mobilized for war, munitions in vast quantities have gone forward, and millions of dollars have been provided for the purchase of war materials. But above all, the people are back of this fight, and ready for greater sacrifices. That means victory, for the Empire is united in the determination as the anniversary consecration services everywhere demonstrated.

WAR LORD MUST GO.

Much sympathy should be the share of the little Hohenzollern prince who on his tenth birthday was enrolled in the army as a lieutenant of a guard regiment. As the grandson of the kaiser, as the son of the crown prince, he is the victim of a system cherished by the rulers of Germany. He is in line for the throne, and before he is old enough to realize what it means he has entered upon his training as war lord.

This is militarism, naked and undisguised. It is the perfect Prussian ideal, which, as Moltke said, makes war the national industry. It is the first theory in which the dynasty that holds the destiny of the German Empire in its hands breeds and educates the future rulers of the German people. Before they are out of leading-strings they must be consecrated to the holy cause of the war and shaped for the career of a war lord to whom millions of Germans owe their obedience.

It may be that the ten-year-old Prince William, upon whom the title of lieutenant has been thrust at a time when his country is in the midst of a disastrous war, will live to emulate his grandfather forty years hence by leading Germany through a similar bloody experience. Or, it may be, by that time the German people will have taken control of their own affairs and dispensed with the glorious services of their Hohenzollerns. — New York World.

We notice the following paragraph in the last number of the London Weekly Times:

On July 5th a train with 70 wagons passed through Brussels from the front filled with dead Germans tied up in bundles of five. The bodies were to be cremated at Aix La Chappele.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper joins with H. C. Brewster in addressing the soldiers about the ideals of the Liberals. Why not distribute copies of Sir Charles' speech on F. C. Wade's Yukon ideals? Mr. Wade is the chief exponent of Liberal ideals today just as he was in the Yukon, when Sir Charles discussed them in the commons fifteen years ago. – J.P.'s Weekly.

LILLOOET, - BRITISH COLUMBIA

BRITISH TRADITIONS AND CUSTOMS DEFIED

Prohibition Act Proposes to Introduce Methods Which Are Distinctly Un-British.

British traditions and customs which have been established for centuries, and which are dear to the heart of every Britisher, as they represent in him the very foundation of that Government, which he believes to be the freest on the face of the earth, are thrown to the ground and trampled in the dust by the B.C. Prohibition Act. This phase of the referendum legislation on which the electors will vote on September 14th should be carefully investigated by every loyal British subject.

A fundamental principle of the private life of every Britisher is that "A man's home is his castle," and the sentment expressed by this motto is dear to the heart of every man who enjoys the protection of the British flag. The B.C. Prohibition Act, without the slightest regard for this just and dearly cherished right of the subject, sets this principle absolutely at naught, and tramples it under foot. Clause 48 of the Act provides that any officer of the law, provincial or local, may at any time and without a warrant, forcibly break into the home of any citizen if he has the merest information or the least idea that the occupant of the house possesses liquor. Not only may he break into the home, but, having entered, he may forcibly break open any closet, chest, box or receptacle in the house.

The question as to whether such methods are in accordance with British traditions and custom will be answered at once by one little word which contains only two letters.

Another fundamental rule of British life is that when a man is attacked through the process of law he has a right to know who is behind the prosecution. This just and time-honored custom is absolutely thrown overboard by clause 29 of the Prohibition Act. This provides that when anybody gets the idea in his head that a citizen has liquor in his possession he can go to a constable and tell him what he thinks. On the basis of this casual conversation the constable can make a complaint and enter a prosecution in his own name. The informer runs no risk of his identity being disclosed as the Act specifically provides that the constable need not "Communicate the name of the person giving such information."

What an oppertunity this clause opens up for a man or woman getting square with a neighbor, with whom there may be a neighborhood quarrel, or where a neighborhood grudge exists? What a wide field this clause opens up for the blackmailer, that type of person despised by all honorable men? And yet such methods as these are deliberately outlined in the B.C. Prohibition Act. Is it any wonder that even ardent prohibitionists, who are also true British subjects, are refusing to approve of an Act containing such un-British provisions.

Another fundamental rule of British law is that a man is innocent until he is proven guilty. The B.C. Prohibition Act seeks to overthrow this firmly established principle, its provisions stating that when prosecution is entered against a man on account of his having liquor in his possession, it is up to the accused person to prove that this liquor was legally acquired and legally held. In plain English, this provision means that a man is guilty until he proves himself innocent. Such legislation is certainly not only un-British, but also rank injustice.

Only a few of the un-British provisions of this counterfeit Prohibition Bill are enumerated above. It is believed, however, that the mention of these few instances will arouse the electors to a sense of their duty as loyal subjects, true to British traditions and customs, to such an extent as will cause them to closely investigate the Act. In order that full opportunity be given along this line, the Merchants Protective Association has issued a booklet which contains the full text of the Prohibition Act. Copies of this pamphlet may be obtained on application to the Association at Room 24, Canada Life Building, Vancouver. Send for a copy and learn what this Act really means. —Advt.
