ME FOR LILLOOET---LILLOOET FOR MINE

THE LILLOOET PROSPECTOR

Vol. 2 No. 11 FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1913 $2.00 Per Year

WHAT THE MINES ARE DOING

The influx of railroad builders has temporarily pressed the local interest in mining from the public eye, but those who are closely affiliated with the development of Lillooet's mineral resources are not wasting a moment.

From the groups of prospectors and miners that gather in the corners. away from the babel of the grade builders and talk over the outlook, it is gathered that the properties on Cadwallader creek are going ahead this winter with development work and getting affairs in shape to make next season the one that will bring forth fulfillment of their faith in that section..

The Black Bird was sold recently by Mr. Arthur Noel and, it is reported. that the sale of the Pioneer is now pending.

Messrs. Ferguson and Walker arrived last night from Sucker creek and are enronte for the coast, where they will spend the next six weeks. Mr. Ferguson states that they have made good headway with their hydraulic the past season. Two good leads of low grade ore were uncovered and both are confident that before the end of next season they will have tapped the lead for which have been searching. Two pipe lines were installed on the property the past season and by the end of March the plant will be in operation.

Wm. Leach is making good headway on his contract on the old Pioneer claim.

F. Kinder is doing some development work on the Dyke mineral claim, which adjoins his pre-emption on Seton lake. The ledge is of porphyry and Mr. Kinder considers that he has a very promising prospect.

GIRL MURDERED NEAR LYTTON

James Antwine, a young half breed from the Yale district, fatally stabbed Miss Minnie Martin at a dance atthe Stine Creek ranche e last Tuesday. Jealousy was said to be the cause of the killing.

The young man was a resident of this place at one time and was known as a rather violent character, having been mixed up in several scrapes while here.

The victim was well and favorably known around Lytton and the entire community extend their sympathy to her parents and relatives in their sad bereavement.

NEW DAILY STAGE TO LYTTON

Neece and Hinton will run a four-horse stage from Lillooet to Lytton, daily, leaving here at 7:00 a. m., and arriving at 6:00 p. m.

REMODELING THE PHAIR STORE

The work of remodeling the interior of the C. A. Phair store is being pushed rapidly ahead. The store is to be completely overhauled and refitted and when completed will be a neat up-to-date department store with a cash carrier system and all modern appliances to facilitate the handling of their rapidly increasing business.

NEW GENT'S FURNISHING STORE

The new gent's furnishing store is now open and Mr. F. D. Anderson, the proprietor, says it is his intention to keep a stock that will be second to none in this district. A large amount of goods are still at Lytton, but are expected in the first of the week.

Mr and Mrs, Anderson come well recommended and will be warmly welcomed by the citizens here.

Z. Kirby left the first of the week for coast points.

Pat. McDonald is down from the Portage, spending a few days with friends.

Mark Eagleson and son, Jack, left on Sunday for Vancouver, where the former underwent an operation. Word was received here last night that Mr. Eagleson was rapidly recovering.

NEW COMPANY TAKES HOLD

The townsite formerly sold by the Howe Sound and Northern Development Co., have handed all their property to the Merlin Grimm Co,, Ltd., who will act as their selling agents with offices in all the principal cities of Canada. It is the intention of this company to boost Lillooet as much as possible. Branch offices are now being established in the United States and England.

All roads on the subdivisions will be put in good shape, water will be put on the property and, as soon as it is possible to secure material, several business buildings and a number of residences will be under construction.

Messrs, Boultbee, Jacks and Cruickshank have been appointed exclusive local agents and report that the property is selling rapidly, block 6 of this subdivision having been sold to one man.

Mr. E. A. Brownie, manager for the new company, paid Lillooet a visit this week and says there is no doubt but what Lillooet is a town with a great future and he intends to be a frequent visitor here.

POLICE COURT ROUND-UP

Constable Baker took an Italion for a "joy ride" to Kamloops. The latter will do a little time for selling liquor to the Indians.

The cold snap has broken. It has been of a little longer duration and more severe than is usually the case, but reports from outlying districts show that Lillooet has been exceedingly fortunate. The lowest temperature recorded here was 15 below and this was for a few hours only. At the Coronation mine it reached 28 below, while at Grant White's place on Bridge River it registered 30 below. The prolonged cold snap has made the local wood piles look like snowy hill sides after a chinook has been busy for an hour or two.

Word from Mr. F. M. Bateman. who was in charge of the Geological survey made of Lillooet Mining district last summer by the Dominion government, states that he is now lecturing before a class in economic geology at Yale. His reports and maps of this section will be published next spring.

You don't need merit to make sales, but you need it for re-orders.---Munsey's.

BOTH SIDES

Lillooet, B. C.,
Jany. 24, 1913

Editor Prospector:—It may interest you to know that I have heard many persons discussing your stand as regards supporting the Conservative party—all spoke praising you for your decison.

A paper without a party is always held in contempt by both parties. You will undoubtedly hear much against, but the big majority are with you---even if you do not hear about it.

Wishing you well,
A Resident.

Its funny how opinions differ. Above is what a good, whole-souled Conservative has to say about our new political policy and below is the "brainstorm" of a "half-way—on-the-fence"—newspaper, that lacks the nerve to come out fair and square and declare themselves—has to say in regard to our stand politically. Speaking just off-hand, about dimensions of newspapers, one of our employees had the misfortune to be employed on the Journal when it boasted four pages, seven columns per of "boiler plate" and legal notices, and when it did condescend to give forth a little news stuff it was hailed from one end of the Cariboo road to the other as a sort of a joke. Now, it is a fairly good news sheet and, isn't it just barely possible, The Prospector may grow to "bigger dimensions" and may prove a REAL rival to our esteemed contemporary. At any rate we thank the Journal for their little advice and roast for in the words of the modern wise men: "Every knock's a boost."

"The Lillooet Prospector will join the rank and file of the Conservative army. We cannot believe otherwise than that the editor, or the manager, or the proprietor, or the shareholders are joking. It is disastrous for a paper, the dimensions of the Lillooeet Prospector to attach itself to any one color in politics. Our humble advice to the management is to keep their politics up their sleeve and publish the truthful, unpadded, unimpoverished, unbiased news in an unprejudiced manner that it may be the pride of its supporters for all time to come.---Journal.

RAILROAD NOTES

Pete Peterson, who has a piece of station work for James Welch will leave for the lakes Monday.

Fred Sever, who is superintending 13 miles of construction work at the head of Anderson lake, was in town the first of the week. Mr. Severs states that the work is not progressing as fast as expected, owing to the lack of material.

J. Cape and W. McGinnis left Tuesday morning to start work on their contract on Seaton lake. This work consists of cribbing and culverts and one big rock cut.

Dr. W. E. Newcombe, chief physician for the P. G. and E. Ry., has just returned from an inspection trip over the line and reports the camps in excellent condition --the only cases at the Short Portage being from poison encountered by the men while at work cutting right of way.

Hans Thuen, Gust Johnson, Martin Olson and Herman Johnson have taken a contract to remove 37,000 yards of rock near the head of Anderson lake.

Mr. Papas, railroad contractor, was in town Thursday night on his return trip from Vancouver and Seattle, where he has been getting together a gang of about 70 men to work on his three and a half miles of construction on Anderson lake. He fetched through ten men with him and the remainder will follow in the course of a few days.

A SWEDE'S TRIALS

Hy ben Swede from North Dakota,
Work on farm for about two years,
Going down to Minneapolis just to look on big state fair.
I buy me ticket—buy me bottle
Dress up just like out of sight,
Yimminy! I yust feel so jolly,
Feel yust like I want to fight,
I jump on Jim Hill's little "red wagon
And take along my alcohol,
Wake up next morning very early
In the city they call St, Paul.
I walkir g round the streets of St. Paul
Haven't seen many Swede fellers anywhere,
Jump on street car, go to Minneapolis,
You bet your life, I find them there,
I buy drinks for all dem fellers,
Ay skal pay for all dem, too,
I waked up the very next mernning
By a feller what they call "bull."
He say Swede, ten dollars,
'Cause I been so awful full,
I go back to N. Dakota
Get a job on farm somewhere
Ay akal say to all dem fellers—
Ay want no more that big state fair.—Ole Olson.

OPTOMISM PAYS

In our village there's a dealer with a sparkle in his eye, and he's always getting closer to the hearts of those who buy With this cheerful pleasant dealer all the people keep in touch, from the banker to the copper, for he doesn't cost too much. Not a dismal, doleful. grumble does he utter in his store; like the busy bees that bumble, he is hustling evermore. Whether you use prune or prism, calico and one-horse shays, You will find that optomism in the thing that always pays.--Walt Mason.

Pavilion Pointers

The thermometer registered 18 below last Sunday at the 17-mile ranch.

Jack Lilley, who has been employed at the 15-mile ranch for the past six months has accepted a position with Mr. Bryson.

McLeod Bros, managers of the Tiffin ranch, have a force of men at work getting out saw logs on Cole Mountain. The logs will be hauled to the sawmill at the "21." The mill will prove a great convenience to the farmers of this vicinity.

The demand for "Neverslips" is keeping Pete Garrigan busy these days.

No sleighing through this valley yet, although sufficient snow has fallen to justify it, but the high winds have kept sleighing out of business.

"Alfie" Smith made his first trip over the Marble Canyon lake Friday. He reports the ice to be between 8 and 10 inches thick and he can make much better time than heretofore.

Robt. Dickey called at the store yesterday for supplies.

P. Garrigan of the 20-mile house reports 14 below at his place Saturday, but says he has seen it much colder in the early days.

Wm. Davis, manager of the Mitchell ranch made a flying visit to the store Saturday.

Tom McLeod, who has been spending some time at the coast, came in on Friday's stage, and will remain here for the winter.

W. B. Beloud has been laid up for the past few days with a bad cold, but is now getting better.

The Frazer is frozen over for a distance of two miles--this is a new thing in this part of the country.

IN THE DAYS OF OLD

In the Days of Gold
In the Days of Sucker
Creek

This commences a series of short stories of the happenings of the far-famed J. Cullom hostelry, where as fine a bunch of prospectors met as ever drew breath and drank whisky. Now, many have gone to their last Prospecting Ground. Good fellows all. What they had was yours if you needed it—and not for the asking either, but given only too freely with a good heart. To those who are gone, we miss you. To those living but absent, come back to Lillooet for we need you as things are "looking up."

As these are reminisences, we will just wander along any old trail. Do you remember the big fight Joe Russell refereed with Arthur and Billy in the ring—duration of the fight, two seconds. And the night we shook dice till sun-up—seven dollars were the total cash receipts, when that was used up, the bartender took the seven for wages and put a new man on. There were 237 changes of bartenders that night. The bar, oh yes, we had a bar—that is, a few, packing cases nailed to the floor. Do you remember the upstairs, where the boards only covered half the floor? And G. W. after the 237th drink said he guessed he'd go to bed—went upstairs walked past the end of the floor and landed on his head right where he had been shaking dice--looked around, hazily remembered that he'd been there before and called forthe dice.

"Down and out"---no such a thing in those days. These were the days when the arrastras were grinding out $1,000 per day. Three days work and three days to drink it up, then one day to go back to work. She was a great camp then---just as good today.

You watch.--W. H.

OUR POET'S PLAINT

A poet there was of Lillooet town
Prolific, prophetic, but void of renown,
An editor also, kindly but gruff,
Printed through courtesy his abominable stuff.

Each week he appeared with his wretched M. S.,
Till the editor's wrath o'ercame his finesse.
He loudly exclaimed this is -------
junk,
Is described by subscribers
As ------- punk.

Go get me the news--we'll print of the place,
Your poetry, -------- it, "Requieseat in Pace,"
The poet in sorrow then wended his way
In search of the news for the publishing day,

He appeared on the morrow enraptured with glee
The news I have here is news you will see.
Cap. Cox up the lake, his steamboat has sent
Will Elliott to the mines, his way he has went.

The snow has snowed down on the beautiful town,
The sun is now shining, is still shining down.
Thus far read the editor, then rose with a roar,
But what is the use to quote any more.

Where five men are drinking, the poet the fifth,
For five for a half has o'ercame the rift
And somewhere he dreams there may possibly be
A paper that will print its own "poetrie."---W. H.
